Judge Sentences Walkers: Father 2 Life Terms; Son 25 years

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Spy John Walker was sentenced to two life terms today and his sailor son was given a 25-year sentence for their roles in a family-and-friend espionage ring that sold the nation's most precious defense secrets to the Soviets for nearly two decades.

Father and son never looked at each other during the sentencing.

John Walker, a former Navy communications expert, hung his head during the sentencing. He recently was transferred from a rural Maryland county jail to a maximum security federal prison in Lewisburg, Pa., because he discussed plans to escape with an inmate.

U.S. District Judge Alexander Harvey handed Walker's son Michael, 23, a 25-year prison term under a plea bargain reached Oct. 28, 1985, that hinged on the convicted spy master's agreement to help Pentagon intelligence experts patch up the Navy's shattered communications code system.

Walker told the judge his lawyer "has summarized my feelings satisfactorily. There's nothing I can add." Walker's lawyer, Fred Bennett, said his client felt remorse over his 18 years of espionage.

Beech-Nut Named In Indictments

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Beech-Nut baby-food company and its president have been charged in a 470-count federal indictment with selling millions of jars of apple juice that actually was a caramel-colored concoction of sugar water.

Food and Drug Administration officials said the phony juice might be considered a health risk for infants who are diabetic or on special diets.

U.S. Attorney Andrew Maloney released the indictment Wednesday, charging the Beech-Nut Nutrition Corp., its president and five other individuals sold the concoction of beet sugar, cane sugar, corn syrup, apple flavoring, malic acid and caramel coloring in 20 states, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and five foreign countries from 1978 to 1983.

Niels Hoyvald, the Beech-Nut president and chief executive officer, and John Lavery, the firm's vice president for manufacturing, were charged with violations of the Food, Drug and Cosmetics Act, conspiracy and fraud.

LaRouche Worker Hearing Set

BOSTON (UPI) — A fugitive wanted on charges of covering up a million-dollar credit card fraud scheme by supporters of political extremist Lyndon LaRouche was arrested on his return to the United States from Paris, the FBI says.

Paul Goldstein, 37, of Leesburg, Va., described as LaRouche's chief of security, was taken into custody by FBI agents after he stepped off a plane at Boston's Logan International Airport Wednesday, FBI agent Jack Cloherty said.

Goldstein was to appear at a bail hearing in U.S. District Court today. If convicted, he faces up to five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

His arrest on obstruction of justice charges leaves three other LaRouche workers charged in the same indictment last month still at large.

Reagan To Sign Immigration Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A landmark immigration reform bill, ready for President Reagan's signature today, will give certain illegal aliens a chance at citizenship but will clamp down on undocumented workers trying to enter the United States.

The long-awaited bill, passed in the final hours of the 99th Congress, grants amnesty to otherwise law-abiding illegal aliens who entered the United States before 1982 and are still living here.

Reading The Election: Conundrum Or Mandate

By Arnold Sawisak
UPI Senior Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Perhaps it all depends on who you talk to, and it may help if you don't talk to the experts at all. The results of Tuesday's elections resembled a conundrum rather than a clear mandate. Or did they?

—Was the 1986 election a referendum on Ronald Reagan's presidency?

Yes, say the Democrats, and he was repudiated as reflected by the resounding loss of the Senate after six years of GOP control.

Yes, say the Republicans, and he was vindicated by stunning victories in the governorship races and by the loss of far fewer House seats than usually suffered by the president's party in mid-term voting.

—Did the 1986 election advance the cause of political realignment, the long-predicted transformation of the Republican Party to majority status in the United States?

You bet, say the Republicans, pointing to GOP state race victories in such places as Alabama, Louisiana and Florida, once bulwarks of the Democratic Solid South.

ANALYSIS

No way, say the Democrats, noting that they picked off Republican senators in Alabama, Louisiana and Florida, seats that were supposed to be the advance guard of GOP Southern dominance.

—Did the election signal the end of the conservative resurgence that Reagan's 1980 victory heralded?

Absolutely, say the Democrats, pointing to Reagan-style conservative candidates who got whipped in Maryland, Georgia, Florida and the Dakotas.

Not exactly, say the Republicans, noting that Reagan backers came through in Idaho, Wisconsin, Indiana, Oklahoma and New Hampshire.

On and on this could go, proving perhaps that reading the entrails of an election can be as confusing as the description of an elephant by the proverbial blind men.

Or, it might just mean the voters knew what they were doing — moving the country to the right in 1980, and making course corrections since.

If it does, a lot of political theory about voter behavior might have to be revised. The accepted wisdom is that the public reacts in elections to the immediate "pocketbook" or "lifeboat" issues — jobs, prices, crime, peace — and that the big political trends develop from those "small" personal decisions.

Democrats Plot 100th Congress' Strategies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan vowed not to abandon his conservative agenda during his last two years in office as Democrats mapped their takeover of the Senate following their dramatic election landslide.

While some liberals will take over key committee chairmanships in the new Democratic-led Senate, Sen. Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., who expects to be restored to majority leader after seven years, said Wednesday there will not be major policy changes and specifically ruled out a tax increase.

Democrats will hold a solid 55-45 majority in the Senate next year, a dramatic reversal of the current 53-47 Republican edge. In the process of gaining a net eight seats, the Democrats ousted seven Republican freshmen senators without losing a single incumbent.

At the other end of Pennsylvania Avenue, Reagan defiantly rejected any proposal for a major philosophical switch, declaring: "Washington, you ain't seen nothing yet."

"This is not the outcome we sought, but our agenda remains unchanged," Reagan told his White House staff. "The voters told us in 1984 to keep the revolution alive."

"If he is not obstructionist, we will work together," Byrd told reporters. "I have never seen so partisan a White House as with this president. I hope the president and his people will not be so bitterly partisan."

Despite pledges of cooperation with Reagan, Senate Democrats appear headed for a confrontation with the White House on several issues and there is no indication of an administration give-and-take.

White House chief of staff Donald Regan said on ABC's "Good Morning America" that he thinks Byrd will find "that something he'll have to figure out is where to get enough votes to override a veto."

Voters sent politicians a mixed message by giving Democrats such a strong Senate showing against only modest gains in the House when history predicted the number there would be much higher. They also gave Republicans stunning victories in governorships.

The GOP picked up a net of eight governorships — including Texas, Florida, Wisconsin and Alabama, where the first Republican governor was elected in 112 years — yet lost at least 100 legislative seats to Democrats nationwide.

No president has campaigned harder for his party than Reagan, who stumped 25,000 miles coast to coast in the closing days before this election in a vain effort to keep the Senate in Republican hands.

In the end, his tremendous popularity could not be transferred and 12 of the 18 candidates he campaigned for lost, including six senators who had ridden his coattails to first-term victories in the 1980 landslide.

In the House, where the party in the White House loses an average of 41 seats during its sixth year in office, Democrats only gained a net of at least four seats with four races still undecided Wednesday.

The Democrats held 257 seats, far above the 218 margin for control, and were leading for one more seat. But Republicans won 174 seats and led for three others to make their probable tally 177. A reported Democratic pickup in Indiana was negated when a computer glitch surfaced.

The Democrats' Senate victory took off in the South and swept like brushfire through the Plains states and into the West. In the South, Democratic voters returned to their political roots, dramatically thwarting Republican hopes of major political realignment.

When the final votes were counted, Democrats ousted GOP senators in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, North and South Dakota and Washington.

6,000-Year-Old Village Unearthed

PLYMOUTH, Mass. (UPI) — Land near Plymouth Rock that Indians had believed to be an ancient burial ground is the site of a 6,000-year-old native village abandoned before the Pilgrims arrived but still rich in important relics, archaeologists said.

"It's an extremely important find," Jordan Kerber, an archaeologist for the Massachusetts Historical Commission, said Wednesday.

"We found barbed points made out of bone. That is extremely rare. What we usually find is stone tools, which stand up better in corrosive New England soil."

The 5.5-acre site just outside downtown Plymouth contained arrowheads, pottery shards, crushed sea shells, animal bone fragments, stone and bone tools, charcoal and burned rock, Kerber said.

Nanepashemet, a Wompanoag Indian who works for the Pilgrim Plantation, a recreation of the Pilgrim community, said tribesmen discovered the site in the 1940s, believing it to be an ancient burial ground.

"We believe it could be the historical native village of Pawtuxet," said Nanepashemet. "It is of considerable antiquity."

A housing development on the land was halted because the owners decided to have an archaeological survey conducted when the Indians told them of the site's history.

Instead of graves, archaeologists found an entire Indian village dating back as many as 6,000 years near the spot where the Pilgrims landed in 1620.

"My guess is that this was an abandoned village before the Pilgrims arrived," said Alan Levellie, chief archaeologist for Public Archaeology Laboratories of Providence, R.I., which conducted the $13,000 survey.

Wintry Storm Hits Rockies

United Press International
A gusty, wintry storm swept down out of Canada early today and headed for the northern Rockies and Colorado, threatening up to 8 inches of snow, while storms dumped rain, snow and sleet in New England.

Rain also doused the Ohio Valley, the central Appalachians and the middle Atlantic Coast, the National Weather Service said.

The storm in the Northwest picked up moisture from the Pacific and moved toward the northern Rockies and Colorado, bringing colder temperatures, brisk winds and snow; the weather service said.

"It is really going to bring colder weather down into the Western states," weather service forecaster Scott Tansey said. Temperatures in Idaho and Utah could drop 20 degrees in a "cold and windy" storm, he said.

Up to 8 inches of snow was expected in south central Montana, the northern mountains of Wyoming and the northern and central mountains of Colorado.

In the Northeast, snow, sleet and freezing rain glazed Vermont, New Hampshire and eastern New York state, with up to 3 inches of snow expected. By 2 a.m. EST, Concord, N.H., was blanketed with an inch of snow.

"It has been kind of a messy evening up there," Tansey said Wednesday night. "They've had a mixture of rain and sleet and snow in northern New England."

Tennessee and parts of the lower Ohio Valley.

Frigid air along the northern Atlantic Coast Wednesday pushed the temperature at Caribou, Maine, to 15 degrees, breaking the previous record low of 24 set in 1973.

High temperatures reached the 70s and 80s from the lower Mississippi Valley to the southern Atlantic Coast, where an 87-degree reading in Miami tied the previous record high for Wednesday set in 1959.

The United States, trying to head off major damage to the environment, plans to try to persuade other industrialized nations to limit production of gases that may destroy the Earth's vital ozone radiation shield.

Environmental Protection Agency officials said Wednesday the government's proposal for an international freeze on production of Freon-type gases called chlorofluorocarbons was spelled out in a cable sent to American embassies.

The plan follows the release of a preliminary EPA report predicting that if nothing is done to curb the increase in global production of the gases, a total of 40 million extra skin cancer cases and 800,000 deaths may occur in Americans alive today and those born during the next 68 years.

This skin cancer, in addition to the 400,000 annual cases seen in the United States, would be caused by harmful ultraviolet radiation from the sun allowed to reach the ground by the weakened ozone screen in the stratosphere.

Scientist Seeks Cause Of Deaths

An anthropologist examined the remains of two 31-year-old Altamonte Springs men Tuesday attempting to learn what killed them.

Dr. William Maple, of the Florida State Museum in Gainesville, examined the remains of James G. Tetrault, of 921 First St., and Mitchell A. Tinsley, of 499 Clemson Drive. They died in separate incidents. Tetrault's body was found under a river bridge in east Orange County Saturday and Tinsley's body was found Friday 150 feet north of Ondich Road in Zellwood.

Investigators on the Tetrault case suspect murder because of severe wounds on his upper torso. He was found around 11:30 a.m. under the westbound lane of State Road 50 at the St. Johns River. An autopsy is expected to confirm or deny foul play in his death.

Maple, who last year identified the bones and probable cause of death of the 15th century Spanish explorer Francisco Pizarro, was asked by the Orange County medical examiner to study Tetrault's remains to determine if the wounds could have been made by animals. The cause of death is not expected to be determined for at least a week or perhaps two, an administrative assistant said. She said the examination results will be combined with lab studies before any conclusion is announced.

The assistant said the cause of Tinsley's death should be known by the end of this week. Maple was asked to look at the partially decomposed remains because of the long time between Tinsley's death and the discovery of his body.

Tinsley was found by an unidentified man working on Ondich Road around 11:30 a.m. Friday. The man spotted Tinsley's van off the road and on approaching it saw Tinsley's body about 10 feet from the vehicle, according to an Orange County report.

The van, with a sleeping bag, pillow and cooler in it, was stuck in sand. A side door and passenger window was open.

Foul play is not suspected because Tinsley had a health problem that was mentioned but not identified in the sheriff's report.

Teenage Girls Loneliest?

NEW YORK (UPI) — A 20-year study found high school girls may be the loneliest group in America but advised that rather than succumb to despair, the girls should go out and make some friends. Teen-age magazine reported.

A profile of the loneliest teenage girls was developed by Dr. John C. Woodward, a University of Nebraska professor whose study of loneliness lasted two decades, the magazine reported.

The study found high school girls may be "lonelier than alcoholics, the elderly and even unwed teenage mothers," the magazine said.

The most lonely girls, however, do not necessarily sit at home, curling up with a good book or staring at a telephone that never rings, the study said.

"The loneliest of these students are the ones who have joined a number of activities, but who aren't really involved in any of them," the magazine reported.

"If you think you fit into this group-joining category don't despair, there are ways of coping with and avoiding loneliness," it said.

Woodward's suggestions for lonely teenage female high school students included:

—Make a concentrated effort to get to know other people.
—Lower your expectations for a new relationship because every one will not be perfect.

—Become involved in a few activities in which you are genuinely interested.

—Depend on yourself rather than others for your own happiness.

Contras' Final Test

With $100 million in American aid now on its way, Nicaragua's anti-Sandinista rebels will face the ultimate challenge to their survival during the months ahead. Unless the U.S. backed Contras establish themselves soon as a legitimate democratic alternative to Managua's Marxist regime, the rebel movement will confront an uncertain future, at best, after Ronald Reagan leaves office.

Two factors are working in the Contras' favor. One is Nicaragua's tattered economy, which inflicts such hardships on average workers that the ruling Sandinista Front no longer can credibly blame the civil war for the economic chaos. The other factor is the rising level of repression against the press, the Roman Catholic Church and most other forms of political dissent. Managua's crackdown on its opponents has intensified dissatisfaction among clergymen, academicians, journalists and other intellectuals.

The Contras' success or failure in toppling the Sandinistas will hinge on both military and political victories.

Militarily, the U.S. assistance recently approved by Congress will allow the rebels to step up pressure on the much larger Sandinista army. Without a serious military challenge, the nine-member Sandinista junta will never relinquish power.

Among the weapons the Contras expect to acquire with American aid are shoulder-fired surface-to-air missiles to counter the Sandinistas' force of Soviet supplied helicopter gunships. Improved communications gear also will bolster the military effectiveness of the rebel fighters.

Success on the battlefield will depend as well on adequate training in such mundane matters as map reading, command procedures, and radio communications. Establishing Contra training sites is essential, even if the United States must make available its own military bases for this purpose. Costa Rica, Honduras and El Salvador are reluctant to provide training camps, partly out of fear of Nicaragua's military might. This makes it all the more crucial that the Pentagon establish Contra training compounds in Puerto Rico or the continental United States.

Perhaps more important than military success, however, is the need for the Contras to broaden their political base at home.

This can only be achieved by countering the perception among many Nicaraguans that the Contras are purely a product of the American CIA and are bent on restoring a rightist dictatorship modeled after that of the deposed Anastasio Somoza. The highly publicized trial of American flier Eugene Hasenfus has handed the Sandinistas a propaganda victory in their effort to portray the rebels as U.S. agents.

To establish their democratic credentials, the Contra leaders are organizing a 28-member legislative assembly in exile. Its first meeting is set for this month in San Jose, Costa Rica, where the Contra leadership will debate a Nicaraguan bill of rights. During the months ahead, the framework of the democratic government emerging from the assembly in exile will help to legitimize the Contras as an indigenous alternative to the Managua regime.

The conditions for Contra success are not likely to be better, at least in the near term, than they are today. That's why tangible progress in the months ahead is vital to sustain both Nicaraguan and American support for the rebel cause.

Classrooms Should Not Be Used As Pulpits

The fundamentalist Christians in Greenville, Tenn., have a point.

So do Muslim followers of Minister Louis Farrakhan.

Recently, the fundamentalists had their day in court.

Now it's time for all religious groups to be accorded the same constitutional right — assuming that U.S. District Court Judge Thomas Gray Hull's logic applies to all religious Americans.

The key word in Judge Hull's decision was "believe."

"The plaintiffs believe (my emphasis) that, after reading the entire series (of textbooks), a child might adopt the views of a feminist, a humanist, a pacifist, anti-Christian, a vegetarian or an advocate of one world government."

If fundamentalist parents in east Tennessee believe anti-Christian public school textbooks attack their religious beliefs, then it follows that black Muslim parents in south Chicago could believe these same public school textbooks denigrate their religious beliefs.

Any Islamic scholar can document the veiled hostility or contemptuous indifference of American public school textbooks to Islam.

But the east Tennessee fundamentalists rejected the suggestion that any belief — especially Catholicism, Islam, Judaism or animism — was equal to theirs.

Throughout history, such people have surfaced whenever somebody dared to challenge their belief that their religion was the only valid one.

They were the "demonophobes" who started the Inquisition, launched the Crusades, burned witches at the stake, theologically justified slavery and nurtured the climate for the Holocaust.

Today's Christian fundamentalists give short shrift to an omnipotent God. (If Pat Robertson doesn't say "God did it," he ain't done it.)

Such is the right of all fanatics.

But they don't have a right to censor public education or reconstitute it in their religious image.

Judge Hull's decision has allowed both and opened the Pandora's box of Balkanized public education.

His obiter dictum that "the state can achieve literacy and good citizenship for all students without forcing them to read the ... series" must be applied equally to all religious Americans.

That includes Muslims, Buddhists, Catholics, Jews and Native Americans, even though fundamentalists deem them incapable of receiving the word of an equal-opportunity God.

Still, the fundamentalists have a point.

I agree that today's textbooks have gone too far in rewriting history as if religion sometimes were not a constructive catalyst for change.

The religious inspiration behind the Pilgrims' hejira to the New World and the reason they held a Thanksgiving feast have been downgraded.

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr.'s role as Baptist clergyman is usually downplayed today.

The problem is not so much "secular humanists" as it is humanistic bigots who make lousy scholars. The only way to bring this trend to a head is for as many religious groups in America as can afford it to get themselves a brilliant constitutional lawyer, go into court and demand equal time.

NEW YORK (UPI) — There are typical, ambitious executives who live stress-filled lives, but they do not get ulcers and doctors are left wondering why.

Since the 1940s researchers have known that some emotions and stressful incidents, such as taking a test, produce enough stomach acid to possibly cause the painful disorder.

But they have never been able to determine whether certain personality types are more prone to ulcers, characterized by holes in the stomach's lining, than are others.

"We've always wondered why, all things equal, some people get ulcers and others don't," said Dr. Mark Feldman, assistant professor of medicine at the University of Texas Health Science Center in Dallas.

"Many people have similar stress problems, like loss of job or divorce," he said. "But only some develop ulcers."

Feldman recently completed a study at the Veteran's Administration Medical Center in Dallas on 102 people, 49 of whom had ulcers. The two groups, similar in age and life experiences, were given a battery of standardized personality tests and evaluated.

"People with ulcers had many more personality disorders than did the control group," Feldman said. "They also reacted differently to stress factors."

The study showed people with ulcers were more likely to be hypochondriacs and dependent on others, Feldman said.

"They were emotionally weak or feeble, pessimistic about their outlook on life and tended to be very concerned about common aches," he said.

Personality tests also showed the ulcer group tended to shy away from social encounters, he said.

"There were many marked personality disturbances but no one profile," Feldman said. "They may have been hypochondriac but not dependent or vice versa. And the personality disorders did not hold true for every subject with an ulcer."

"There were some who did not have disorders," he said. "But the ulcer group had significantly more personality problems than the control group."

Feldman said the psychological tests taken by the subjects also indicated people with ulcers tended to perceive life's knocks as more terrible than did people who did not have ulcers.

"This might be a clue as to why some people get ulcers and others don't," he said.

Rumbles From Right

MUNICH, West Germany (NEA) — Back in the '80s, some concerned observers thought West German politics might be in a dangerous condition.

The National Party, or NPD, an unabashedly neo-Nazi movement, seemed to be on a roll. There was fear that Germany's fairly young postwar democracy might be in real danger from the unrepentant right.

As it turned out, the NPD soon peaked, without ever gaining much of a constituency. It is still around, but no longer taken as a serious threat.

In the wake of recent local elections in Bavaria, however, observers now wonder if the NPD might have a replacement. A new party, the "Republicans," showed surprising strength, winning 3 percent of the popular vote. That's not enough to gain representation in the Bavarian parliament (5 percent is required), but it is enough to establish the party as a viable political presence.

And to throw the leaderships of the established parties off balance.

The Republicans still appear to be very much the personal vehicle of the founder, Franz Schonhuber. One of the more flamboyant personalities on a lackluster political scene, he is a former television personality with Bavarian Broadcasting. He was ousted after he wrote a best seller, "Ich war dabei" (I Was One of Them), revealing his wartime role with the Waffen SS.

He then threw himself wholeheartedly into politics, and, the national press has pointed out, there are disturbing parallels between his young movement and the rowdy early years of the Nazis. Schonhuber's party, too, has been wracked by feuds, factional infighting and occasional flat fights.

Schonhuber emphatically rejects the comparison. He argues that the open expression of differences within the Republican party is preferable to the situation in Bavaria's governing party, the Christian Social Union, where leader Franz Josef Strauss cracks the whip "and everyone runs."

Schonhuber also rejects any suggestion that he might make common cause with the NPD.

According to Schonhuber, the Republicans are incorrectly labeled extreme rightists. They are, rather, he says, "to the right of center."

Maybe, but they have an unmistakably nationalistic tilt. The party slogan is "Yes to Germany." And among other things, Schonhuber wants changes in the teaching of history regarding German responsibility for World War II.

Meanwhile, his feud with Bavarian Broadcasting is heating up. He is talking legal action because a post-election roundup repeated a play on his name that has been going around. He was referred to as "Schongrubber," an unmistakable allusion to Adolf Hitler's original "Schickelgruber."

Schonhuber says the Republicans' showing in Bavaria indicates widespread public dissatisfaction with the established parties. And he says this is only the beginning.

The Republicans will contest upcoming local elections in at least two other areas — Bremen and Schleswig-Holstein — and could be an upsetting factor in national elections for a new Bundestag on Jan. 25. Immediately after the Bavarian vote, Schonhuber called for a "march on Bonn."

Nazi Records A Threat

By Steve Holland

PARIS (UPI) — A former chief of French intelligence claims he has discovered 10 tons of Gestapo files locked in the Paris secret service building and that they could implicate surviving Nazi collaborators who escaped execution after the war.

The claim by Alexandre de Marenches threatens to resurrect one of France's deepest traumas, its dark history during the German occupation.

In addition, it comes at a time when French authorities are planning to try accused Nazi war criminal Klaus Barbie, the Lyon Gestapo chief who has threatened to identify Nazi sympathizers if he is put on trial.

De Marenches, head of the secret service from 1970 to 1981, made the disclosure in a book-length interview with French media personality Christine Ockrent. He said a quick look at the documents revealed "distracting discoveries" of betrayal by people who now hold respected positions in French life.

"One day ... I was shown enormous bundles that seemed to be papers and were packed together in the bottom of this place," he said. "They were all tied up, in bulk, in a clutter."

"These were the famous Nazi archives of the Gestapo and the Abwehr (German counterespionage), seized in the Liberation, and the Germans had not succeeded in carrying them away when they pulled out."

"I asked, 'how many of them are there?' Ten tons. In 25 years, no one had the idea or the courage to look at them and go through them."

"I found some people who are very well set up now, who seemed to have been patriots and resistance fighters and who in fact were being paid by the Germans," he said without identifying them.

De Marenches supposes the archives were abandoned in Paris by Nazis fleeing the oncoming Allied invaders. Experts, however, said the Nazis had plenty of time to burn everything before finally pulling out in mid-August 1944.

De Marenches' claims have been met by skepticism in various corners. The French counterespionage chief from 1935-1945, Col. Paul Pallolle, said whatever papers have been found had already been used to identify Nazi collaborators and that de Marenches had simply rediscovered them.

He said the resistance leaders left no stone unturned in their zeal to find those who had betrayed their country to the Nazis. In the end, 4,598 men and women were charged with treason and 756 condemned to death.

S-L Execs Thwart Bank Reforms

By Jack Anderson
And
Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — Edwin Gray, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, is trying to save the savings and loan industry from itself by curbing the reckless investment practices that have caused a wave of S&L failures and that threaten to bankrupt the federal government's deposit insurance fund.

But Gray's reform efforts are being systematically opposed by the thrift industry's powerful executives — and they aren't choosy about the methods they use to attack their top regulator. The S&L bigwigs have deep pockets and apparently are willing to go to great lengths to stop Gray.

Last year, a group of Texas S&L executives discussed how to get Gray off their backs, and raised a $20,000 kitty toward achieving that goal, according to banking sources and government officials. Sources also say a private detective was hired by a group of thrift executives in the Southwest, apparently to dig up dirt on Gray as a means of forcing him from office.

There was also a bizarre attempt to unseat Gray: A politically well-connected thrift official tried to hire him, evidently to lure him away from his government job.

The incident was related to Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., ranking minority member of the Senate Banking Committee in two confidential statements — one by Gray himself, who did not attend the November 1985 breakfast meeting where the offer was made, the other by his chief of staff, Shannon Fairbanks, who was present. The job offer was made by Charles H. Keating Jr., board chairman of American Continental Corp., the holding company for Lincoln

Savings & Loan Association of Irvine, Calif.

Wrote Fairbanks: "Mr. Keating told me that he wanted Mr. Gray to come with his organization in a job capacity which he described as 'using Mr. Gray's contacts and skills to further the corporate interests and activities of Lincoln Savings.' Mr. Keating explained his motivation by noting that 'there seems to be a problem in our ability to have our message heard' by the regulators and that he needed someone to help 'get our corporate initiatives past the existing regulatory roadblocks.'"

Gray rejected the offer at once. In his statement to Proxmire, he wrote: "I was frankly very surprised that an institution which had vigorously and continuously opposed key regulatory actions the board had both proposed and adopted would apparently be seeking to get me out of my job."

When Keating, who has long been active in Republican politics, failed to get rid of Gray with the offer of a lucrative job, Lincoln Savings & Loan appears to have tried to tap White House contacts to reach the same goal. Sources told our associate Michael Binstein that Lincoln lobbied intensely to have Gray removed. The effort almost paid off, as White House officials quietly spread the word last year that Gray was about to resign; apparently hoping that he would.

He didn't, though, and recently his opponents tried a new tack: getting him outvoted by new appointments to the three-man regulatory board. In August, the informed the House and Senate Banking committees it was considering two nominees to the board. Atlanta attorney Lee Henkel Jr. and University of Rochester economics professor George Benston.

mission chairman; Michael Vestol, library advisory board chairman; Dave Farr, Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce president, and John Mercer, Sanford city commissioner.

Library Construction Begins

Ground was broken this week for two new Seminole County branch libraries in Sanford and Oviedo.

The two are the first of five to be constructed under a $7 million bond issue approved by voters in 1982, and will replace the two lone county libraries now open.

The four year wait "hasn't been that long," according to county Director of Library Services Jean Rhein.

She said approval of the bond issue was needed by the state legislature because of a technical difficulty in obtaining the funding. That took a year. The rest of the time was spent in site selection and planning. Ms. Rhein said.

"It's not that long if you look at the volume of work and planning."

The county commission approved about $1.75 million in funding for the two new buildings, and awarded a construction contract to Kaco Contracting Company in October. Bids for the next three buildings will be awarded next year.

The new 12,000 square foot North Branch in Sanford will be located at the corner of Palmetto Ave. and Commercial Street. It will replace the branch at First St. and Palmetto in downtown Sanford. The old site will be converted to a library system processing center and headquarters for the libraries computer system.

The second library to be built during phase one will be the 12,000 foot East Branch in Oviedo, at the intersection of State Road 426 and Division Street in downtown Oviedo.

Ms. Rhein said she expects construction to be completed and the two buildings open in late June or early July.

Following completion of the initial two buildings, a new 50,000 square foot Central Library will be built in Casselberry, on Oxford Rd. behind the Seminole Plaza, near the intersection of U.S. Highway 17-92 and State Road 436.

That structure will replace the branch now located in the Seminole Plaza at the intersection.

Besides being a community library, the central location will also house the system's administrative offices, storage area, the home base for the Bookmobile, and The Friends of the Library.

Two other 12,000 square foot structures will follow. The West Branch will be located in Wekiwa at the intersection of Hunt Club Rd. and Needles Trail. The other is in Lake Mary, off Longwood-Lake Mary Rd. on Greenway Blvd., between the new Greenwood Lakes Middle School, and Lake Mary High School.

Ms. Rhein said the $7 million will pay for purchasing the sites, construction and furnishings for the five buildings. She said impact fees or developer commitment funds would be applied to the purchase of books for the expanding system.

"We hope this (expansion) will serve the community for 20 years," Ms. Rhein said, "unless the population growth does a number on us."

Governor-Elect Martinez Plans Meeting With Smith

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Governor-elect Bob Martinez plans to meet during his transition period with Attorney General Jim Smith, a Democrat who snubbed his party's nominee, Steve Pajcic, but said he would consider working in a Martinez administration.

A job would be a likely topic of discussion during such a meeting. But Martinez said Wednesday he would not discuss names of possible appointments until after the current governor's staff provides the organizational plan for the office.

According to custom, the heads of all state agencies tender their resignations effective next January, when the current governor steps down. Martinez will be free to replace them all and hundreds of underlings in the biggest shift in Florida politics in 20 years.

The former Tampa mayor will become Florida's first Republican governor since Claude Kirk was elected to a single term in 1968. Kirk was the first GOP governor since Reconstruction.

Senate President May Change

MIAMI (UPI) — Tuesday's elections may have a long-term impact on the state Senate, where Republicans apparently picked up enough seats to overturn the presidential aspirations Senate President-designate Ken Jenne.

The GOP apparently gained five seats in the state, potentially enough to overthrow Jenne's plans to continue the liberal tradition of exiting President Harry Johnston, D-West Palm Beach. While final results in several counties had not yet been finalized, the GOP also picked up 3-5 seats in the House.

Democrats still have a comfortable majority in both houses, but GOP spokesmen ballyhooed the results as a further indication Florida was on its way to becoming a true two-party state. If the Senate vote stands, the GOP would have enough votes to block veto overrides aimed at Republican Governor-elect Bob Martinez.

Vatican Art Arrives Before Pope

MIAMI (UPI) — The nine-day visit to the United States next year by Pope John Paul II coincides with the premier exhibit of illuminated manuscripts produced over 10 centuries, according to Archbishop Edward McCarthy.

The Pope's visit, which will begin in Miami on Sept. 10.

IN BRIEF

Hostage Mediator Waite Warns About Media Speculation

LONDON (UPI) — Hostage mediator Terry Waite warned reporters that reckless news media speculation is jeopardizing efforts to free kidnapped Westerners in Lebanon and could put his life in danger.

The Church of England envoy earlier this week won the release of American David Jacobsen, held hostage in Lebanon for 17 months, and said he had high hopes that two other American captives — Terry Anderson and Thomas Sutherland — soon would be freed.

Waite, who accompanied Jacobsen from Beirut to Weisbaden, West Germany, where the freed hostage was undergoing examination at a U.S. military hospital, returned to London Wednesday.

He told reporters he had received no new word from his Middle East contacts about the fate of Anderson and Sutherland and said wild news speculation had "made the whole scene extraordinarily more complicated."

Orders: Be On Best Behavior

QINGDAO, China (UPI) — Some 1,000 American sailors, warned to be on their best behavior, began the first full day of an unprecedented U.S. Navy port call to China today.

Three U.S. warships — the guided missile frigate Rentz, the destroyer Oldendorf and the guided missile cruiser Reeves — steamed into the northeastern port city of Qingdao Wednesday for a weeklong ceremonial visit to the area, famous for its beer and beaches.

Many Qingdao residents still remember the American military presence in the city, not all favorably.

Ting Xin, 39, said some of the Americans had a bad reputation because they "grabbed women and didn't follow traffic rules."

To prevent such incidents on the current visit, crewmen were issued a small handbook titled, "A Sailor's Liberty Guide For China." It warns servicemen to stay out of fights, keep sober and be polite to women.

Truce With Communists Sought

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — A government negotiator said today a truce in the 17-year communist insurgency was "closer than ever" and the head of the armed forces warned "military adventurists" against trying to overthrow President Corason Aquino.

Chief government negotiator Ramon Mitra reported to Aquino on Wednesday's four-hour talks with communist representatives and told reporters later Aquino was "pleased with the progress that has been made."

Vienna Meetings Called Failure

VIENNA (UPI) — U.S. Secretary of State George Shultz and Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze both declared their Vienna meetings a failure today without any agreement on further encounters.

Shevardnadze charged that Washington wants to forget the October summit in Reykjavik "as soon as possible" and that his talks with Shultz left him "with a bitter taste."

Shultz told a news conference he came to Vienna "well prepared to build on Reykjavik." But, he added, "I can't report the kind of progress we would like."

He said the Soviets "were fixed on one issue." That issue was Soviet insistence on "crippling our Strategic Defense Initiative."

East-West Split On Human Rights

VIENNA (UPI) — After only two days, East and West were deeply split today over basic objectives at the latest European security conference.

Secretary of State George Shultz led the Western allies in giving priority to communist compliance with human rights obligations under the 1975 Helsinki Accords.

But Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze stressed arms control and called for all-European disarmament negotiations.

In speeches Wednesday, the two men exchanged harsh accusations on nuclear arms reductions and human rights violations.

Hasenfus Wife May Ask Mercy

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Eugene Hasenfus's defense attorney asked the court to allow the captured American's wife to testify, apparently so she can plea for the court's mercy.

Attorney Enrique Sotelo Borgen, in a written statement Wednesday, asked the court to subpoena Sally Hasenfus "immediately." The court has 24 hours to respond.

Former Attorney General Griffin Bell, who is advising the Nicaraguan lawyer, told a news conference that Mrs. Hasenfus's testimony, if allowed, would be aimed at drawing sympathy and asking the court for mercy for her husband.

Butterworth Accepts Win In Shadow Of Son's Death

MIAMI (UPI) — Bob Butterworth accepted political victory in the aftermath of the violent death of his teenage son and former wife as voters elected him Florida attorney general, the highest law enforcement post in the state.

Bob Butterworth

"Bob has asked me to express his gratitude to Florida citizens for their confidence in him," campaign manager Ron Villella said. "He plans to work very hard to meet their expectations."

Butterworth, a Democrat, went into seclusion with his family after he learned of the Monday night death of his former wife, Sandra, 43, and son, Bobby, 16, in an apparent murder-suicide.

Sgt. Mike Gonzalez said letters found in her handbag suggest she timed the shootings to hurt her former husband's political chances.

"This was a very sick woman who did a very, very sick thing in killing her child and killing herself," he said.

Gonzalez said friends of the woman told detectives she had been "quite disturbed" and paranoid in recent months.

Police said the woman, divorced from Butterworth for a decade, apparently killed the boy as he sat in her parked car and then turned the .38-caliber pistol on herself.

She was found lying next to a public telephone on a Miami street with a gunshot in the forehead. The teenager had been shot three times in the chest and once in the neck.

Butterworth has served as a Broward County sheriff, a judge, a prosecutor, and chief of the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles. He is now a private lawyer in Hollywood, Fla.

During the campaign, each candidate tried to portray himself as being tougher on crime than his opponent. Both supported the death penalty.

Butterworth's opponent, Jim Watt, a state representative and lawyer from the West Palm Beach area, sent a telegram Tuesday offering condolences to Butterworth and reportedly suspended last-minute campaigning as voters trooped to the polls.

"Such an event dramatically puts life's priorities in proper focus," Watt said.

Police said they believed Sandra Butterworth shot her son, made a "hysterical" call to police and then committed suicide.

Lake Mary Will Interview Eight For City Manager Job

By Kathy Tyrity
Herald Staff Writer

Two of the eight finalists for the job of Lake Mary city manager have won the preliminary confidence of the mayor and all five city commissioners, although all eight candidates will be interviewed. The commission will consider the list tonight.

Fifty-nine-year-old Arthur B. Preston, former city manager of Kissimmee, and Gary Eugene Parker, 39, assistant town manager of Newington, Conn., both received five votes from the six city officials in the preliminary selection process. The mayor voted for both of them.

Preston and Parker were chosen to be finalists by Mayor Dick Peas and by commissioners Charlie Webster, John Percy, Buzz Petsoas, Paul Tremel and Ken King.

They were chosen from a field of about 45 applicants from 13 states. The job will pay between $25,000 and $30,000 annually, and several of the leading choices were earning more than that, according to their resumes.

The position became vacant in August when three-year city manager Kathy Rice resigned to take a similar position with higher pay. Since her departure, Lake Mary Superintendent of Public Works Jim Orioles has been the acting city manager, but he said he wasn't interested in the job permanently.

While Preston and Parker received the most preliminary votes, sufficient nominating votes also went to (in order of the votes):

— Stephen Patrick Lawson, approximately 34, a budget analyst for the city of Clearwater. He received nominations from the mayor and all commissioners except Percy.

— Nancy Cortes, approximately 34, an Orlando lawyer from Brooklyn, N.Y. She received nominations from the mayor and Commissioners Webster, Petsoas and King.

— Robert L. Norris, 40, former city manager of Richmond, Ky. (population 23,000). He received nominations from Commissioners Tremel, Webster and Percy.

— John L. Klaiber, 29, budget analyst for the city of Plano, Texas. He received nominations from Commissioners Tremel, Webster and Percy.

— Joseph E. Cate, former city administrator for the town of Lake City, Tenn. and a 12-year Army man. He received nominations from Commissioners Percy, Petsoas and Tremel.

Man Invades Auto Teller, Is Foiled By Stolen Deposit Slip, Videotape

Sanford police investigator Paul Little reported the arrest of a man who allegedly used a screwdriver to hold open the draw of an automatic bank teller machine and withdrew a deposit made by a customer. That same man was nabbed after he allegedly brought a deposit slip to the bank, which he tried to turn in for its face value of $252. The deposit slip had come from that same bank machine, police allege.

The suspect was videotaped on Sept. 28 as he allegedly tampered with the machine at Barnett Bank, 3094 S. Orlando Drive, police reported. The video shows the stolen deposit being removed and the envelope that it had been in being discarded in a garbage can.

Police said the suspect was identified as possibly being the man seen on the tape when he tried to claim additional cash from the bank, with the use of the stolen deposit slip.

Dallas Harold Meeks, 42, of 1208 Randolph St., Sanford, was arrested at the Sanford police station at 11:55 a.m. Tuesday. He has been charged with burglary and theft and was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

MOM BURGLARIZED, WOODSMAN NABBED

An 35-year-old Sanford man who has been living in woods near his mother's home at 2036 McCarthy Ave., Sanford, has been charged by sheriff's deputies in connection with two burglaries at his mother's home.

Nedra Mae Willingham, of the above address, reported to deputies that her home was burglarized on both Oct. 28 and 29. On Oct. 28, she said, she saw the suspect leave her home with items belonging to her in his hands. On that date a television, a heater and groceries with a combined value of $470 were stolen. On Oct. 29, she reported that a stereo and linens valued at $100 were taken.

Ulysses Walker, of no address, was arrested at 10:15 a.m. Tuesday at Sanford Forest Products at the Sanford Airport. He has been charged with two counts of grand theft, burglary and petty theft. He was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

BURGLARY ARREST

A Seminole County sheriff's deputy who responded to a call at 648 Deer Run Court found a bathroom window to that home open and a suspect inside the garage.

Kevin Brian Turner, 18, of 611 Ardmore Drive, Winter Park, was charged with burglary at that Deer Run Court home at 10:45 a.m. Tuesday. He was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

BAGGED GUN

Seminole County sheriff's deputies reported charging a 33-year-old Altamonte Springs man with possession of a concealed firearm after they reportedly found a .38-caliber pistol inside a bag on the front floor area of his car.

The man was being questioned on North Street, when he reportedly agreed to give sheriff's deputies access to his vehicle, in which the gun was reportedly found.

Jean Beaulieu of The Grove, North Street, was arrested Tuesday and has been released on $1,000 bond to appear in court Nov. 24.

Wetlands Protection Plan Discussed By County Planners

A county wide program designed to preserve and regulate the use of county wetlands which has taken several years to develop took another step toward final Seminole County commission action. During a Wednesday evening workshop, the county's planning and zoning commission, acting as the local planning agency, reviewed the documents of the program.

The P&Z commission will make recommendations on the plan in a public hearing Dec. 3, which it will send to the county commission Dec. 9.

County planning director Tony VanderWorp told the P&Z board that the plan is designed so development "shall not disturb wetlands in the county," but would regulate the environmentally sensitive wetland areas "according to significance."

VanderWorp said the plan has been designed to be "flexible" to specific sites, and that in some cases, an encroachment in up to ten percent of wetlands near a site could be permitted.

The program is made up of three documents: a wetlands overlay zoning classification, planning guidelines for natural resources, and a field guide.

A portion of the program is based on a University of Florida study.

The overlay zoning classification denotes the soil types, general condition of the area, and takes into consideration nearby water sources, such as rivers, streams and lakes. Permits from the St. Johns Water Management District and the state Department of Environmental Resources would still be required for development, VanderWorp said.

The Planning Guidelines will provide an overview of the county's wetland types, wildlife species, boundaries, and significance based on size and location.

The field guide denotes seven types of wetlands in the county, and identifies trees, hydrology, wildlife, soil diagrams, area photographs, compatibility with development, and state, local and federal regulations. The smallest of the seven wetland types is a tenth-acre. The program also includes an appeal process for decisions on wetland issues to be resolved.

VanderWorp said the program is "simple enough to get right into, and see what is needed to comply" when developing near the wetland areas.

The program has been developed by county planning staff, a Citizen Wetlands Review Committee, and area builders.

Longwood Crackdown On Code Scofflaws Pays Off

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Longwood's new hard line toward code violators is paying off, according to City Attorney Ann Colby. She said since the crackdown began on Oct. 1 there were 77 cases filed and 71 of them have been settled by compliance. Four are pending a re-inspection and the two that have not been settled are set for hearings before the city's code enforcement board in early December.

Ms. Colby, who was hired as the city's first full-time attorney on July 7, will act in an advisory capacity to the board and will not be prosecuting the individual cases. She has been briefing the code board members on the new Code Enforcement Law which went into effect July 1.

She said the new code enforcement officer Peter Butt, with the help her secretary, are working hard at processing cases in a way that will stand up and enable the board to prosecute them.

"I am tremendously pleased with the number of cases and the very good compliance record," Ms. Colby said.

When Ms. Colby came on staff she found the reason the code board was ineffective was that no cases had been brought to it by former code enforcement officer Ed Rossi since February.

Butt, who also works in the city's water department, replaced Rossi, who has returned to his patrol duties with the police department.

One of the cases being cited in that of a roofing business being operated out of a residence at 483 Springwood Court by Otis Osborne. A petition signed by 17 residents of Springwood Court stated that during the day workers leave their vehicles at the house rented by Osborne and a tar machine is located in the back yard. Presented Monday, the petition stated that although repeated complaints have been made to city hall, Osborne continues to operate a business from his home.

Tim Jones of 456 Springwood Court, one of those who signed the petition, thanked the commission Monday night for the quick action on the matter since the petition was submitted.

He said the tar truck has been removed and two other trucks.

Police Chief Greg Manning was asked to provide more frequent patrols in the neighborhood.

Ms. Colby said Osborne has no occupational license in Seminole so he may be cited by the county as well.

A letter has been received by City Administrator Ron Waller from Allen R. Weiss of Kissimmee, Osborne's landlord, who stated Osborne has "agreed that the best thing for all would be for him to find another place to live. He has assured me he would diligently seek to find another place to rent and set Dec. 8 as the date he would move if another place is found." Weiss said he had not been aware that Osborne was operating his roofing business from the residence.

New members named at Monday night's city commission meeting to fill vacancies on the code board are: Pat Corbin of 487 Overstreet Ave., named to District 2 by Deputy Mayor June Lormann, and Don Faulkner, reappointed to the District 3 opening by Commissioner Perry Faulkner (no relation).

Accident Victim Aided

Christine Reedy, 18, of 1027 Manchester Circle in Winter Park, is treated at the scene of an accident by Lake Mary Fire Department rescue workers. She was driving a car that collided with a car driven by Dennis L. Burden, 44, of 1382 White Oak Drive in Winter Springs. The accident happened shortly before 5 p.m. Tuesday at the intersection of U.S. Highway 17-92 and Weldon Boulevard, across from Seminole Community College. Fire Capt. Dave Dovan said Ms. Reedy was treated for neck, back, and head injuries and transported to a Naval hospital in Orlando.

Attacks Allegedly Spanned 13 Years

Man Charged With Sexual Abuse Of Girl

A 41-year-old Forest City man was being held without bond accused of 13 years of sexual abuse of a woman who is now 19.

The man may also face charges related to the production and possession of child pornography, because he allegedly photographed the woman in sexual poses when she was a child and also allegedly videotaped himself having sex with the victim.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies have seized the tapes as evidence and early Wednesday sheriff's Capt. Roy Hughey said investigators were deciding if the suspect will face pornography charges.

Sheriff's Sgt. Ron Gilbert, who arrested the suspect at 2:53 p.m. Tuesday, reported that the woman accused the suspect of assaulting her since she was about 6-years-old. The assaults allegedly began when the man had contact with the victim when they lived in another state.

The sexual activity allegedly continued after they both moved to Florida in 1977, Gilbert reported. The man allegedly began having sexual intercourse with the girl when she was 15. That came after years of other types of sexual contact and continued until Oct. 4. During the four years that the suspect has lived in Seminole County, Gilbert reported, the suspect allegedly had intercourse with the woman about 30 times at his home.

Hughey said the woman delayed in reporting her allegations because she feared the suspect.

Thomas Louis Kriston, of 1068 Martex Drive, a service manager for Krystal Kleen Water Co., has been charged in the case. He was arrested at Forest Lake Academy in Forest City.

Campaign Funds Contributed, Spent

While incumbent Republican Seminole County commissioner Bob Sturm's campaign fund contributions amounted to only $775 during the final 18 days before Tuesday's election, more than $20,000 was spent during the final push for the re-election to his third term won handsily.

The $20,685.78 spent by his campaign between Oct. 18 and Oct. 31 brings the cost of his re-election bid to $73,785. He has raised over $81,000.

In House Data Solutions, Winter Park, got about half of the money recently spent for direct mailings. About $3,000 was spent on newspaper ads, $2,600 went to H&M Printing, Longwood, for brochures, and another $2,000 was spent on radio spots.

Sturm's wife, Margaret, was paid $318.84 for her secretarial services during the period, bringing the total she has been paid by the campaign to over $1,200. Mrs. Sturm is the secretary and deputy treasurer.

Thirteen contributions of the legal maximum of $1,000 are included in Sturm's overall report. The 13 include: The Seminole County Republican Executive Committee; Gary D. Adams, President, NTS Corp.; Michael J. Paulucci, Sanford; Paulucci Enterprises, Sanford; The Crossings, Ltd., Orlando; Glenridge Properties, Inc., Atlanta, Ga.; Alan Keen, Winter Park; Glenn Martin, Orlando; Del-American Properties, Casselberry; Del-Construction Corp., Casselberry; Toby Hardy, Longwood; Gallimore Homes, Inc., Altamonte Springs; and Heathrow Land and Development Company.

Sturm's campaign has spent about $18,000 on the services of professional marketing and consulting firms during the campaign, including Strauss-Morrison Associates, Inc., Casselberry, and Public Relations Consultants, Winter Park.

Meanwhile, Sturm's Democratic challenger, Bob French, has taken in a total of $4,450 during the campaign. Included in that amount is a $611 "in-kind" contribution of T-shirts from Dick Joyce Well Drilling, and a $100 loan from himself.

French took in $380 during the most recent period, and spent $938. His total expenditures on the campaign are $3,825. Sports Graphics, Casselberry got most of the most recent spending with $700 spent on signs.

French has a single $1,000 contribution from T.J. and Margaret Durrance, Longwood. The next largest contributions are $300 each from Gary Siegel of Fern Park and Doris Brown, Lake Mary.

County school board District 5 winner Ann Neiswender's fund cracked the $10,000 mark, with $10,024.50. She has spent $9,661.37. During the reporting period, she raised $532 and spent $2,465. About $800 was spent on ads and signs through Attract-Ad, Sanford, and another $800 was spent on brochure printing at H&M Printing, Longwood.

Mrs. Neiswender has received $550 from unions representing county school employees. Her largest single contributor is Heathrow Land and Development Corp., Sanford, with $500. She also donated $500 to herself, and her husband Roger loaned the campaign $750.

The District 5 incumbent Jean Bryant raised $6,613 and spent $6,579. She spent about $1,800 on newspaper ads in the final days of the campaign. She also spent $2,000 on brochures from Tree Dimensions Printing, Longwood.

Mrs. Bryant's single largest contributor was Realtors Political Action Committee, Tallahassee, which donated $500 during the period.

Incumbent District 1 school board member Bill Kroll, who lost his bid to retain his seat, was slightly behind challenger Larry Betsinger in contributions.

Kroll raised $7,877, to Betsinger's $8,614.

Kroll raised $2,212 during the period and spent 3,295. During the period, he received $500 contributions from the Realtors Political Action Committee, Tallahassee, and developers R.S. Futch, Jr., Michael Jones, & Robert Gualiewicz. Other large contributors to Kroll's campaign include his employer, Commercial Chemical, Sanford, with $700, and Central Produce and Equipment Company with $500.

During the period Kroll spent $1,000 on newspaper ads and $1,200 on brochures from H&M Printing, Longwood.

Betsinger raised $2,347 during the period, and spent $3,455, to bring his total expenditures to $6,972.

During the period, Betsinger added a $300 contribution from the Seminole Education Association Political Action Committee, representing the county teachers union. SEA has donated a total of $1,300 to Betsinger's effort. Also contributing were Homart Enterprises, Inc., Melbourne with $500, Richard Pihhorn, Longwood with $475, and Larry McCorkle, a high school teacher and coach with $415.

Betsinger spent about $900 on newspaper ads, and paid himself $300 out of petty cash.

Damn The Critics, Just Give Your Best Effort

When you play a high-pressure position and don't live up to the exaggerated expectations of critics, you're going to take a lot of heat.

On the football field, the quarterback is almost always viewed as the make or break player on offense. Two young men who have been highly criticized for their performances this season are Lake Mary's Shane Letterio and Lyman's Darren Boyesen.

Letterio, a senior, was Seminole County's second-leading passer in 1985 when he threw for more than 1,000 yards and was a key figure in Lake Mary's conference, district and regional championships.

After the first five weeks this season, Letterio was well below his passing and running averages of a year ago. Last year, Letterio and the Rams always found a way to win the close games. In three consecutive losses in 1986, no matter what or how hard Lake Mary tried, it could not come up with the big play.

And, with the losses, the criticism began to mount.

ago, Letterio suffered a fractured collarbone that kept him out of the team's next two games. Letterio, though, has healed quickly and could be ready to play if he's needed Friday against Lake Brantley. It is the last home game for the Rams and Letterio is hoping he can get in somehow, even if it's just to hold for field goals or extra points.

Lyman senior Boyesen, meanwhile, has had his share of good and bad games this season. Unfortunately, it's the bad ones that most fans and critics remember.

In a crucial Seminole Athletic Conference game against Oviedo, Boyesen directed a 74-yard scoring drive in the waning moments that gave the Greyhounds a thrilling comeback victory. Two weeks later, neither Boyesen nor backup John Burton could get the 'Hounds going in a 9-0 loss over Spruce Creek. Making the loss even worse was a neck injury that may sideline Boyesen the remainder of the season.

Having been in a high-pressure position before, this reporter can sympathize with Letterio and Boyesen. As a pitcher for Spring Hill Springstead High School, I had a career record of zero wins and 33 losses.

Letterio and Boyesen think the heat is pretty hard to handle now. Imagine what it was like for me over a four-year winless period.

Fans and parents were constantly on my back. Some asked why I just didn't quit the team and some even wished I would break my pitching arm. There was only one other player on the team who could pitch and he couldn't pitch every game so the manager had to go with me.

Baseball was my game and I enjoyed playing it. And my teammates always encouraged me and never questioned my ability or the manager's de-

Down 13-9, Seminole Rallies To Oust Mary

By Chris Fister

PORT ORANGE — For much of the 1986 season, it didn't take much to break the confidence of Seminole High. But, after winning two of their last three matches, the Lady Seminoles went into the 4A-9 District Tournament with a positive attitude.

Even when the Lady Tribe was two points from elimination Wednesday night, its spirit could not be broken. The determined Seminole squad rallied from a 13-9 third-game deficit to stun third-seeded Lake Mary, 15-7, 8-15, 15-13 in a first-round thriller at Spruce Creek High.

"Beating them (Lake Mary) on Monday gave us the confidence we needed," Seminole sophomore Aretha Riggins said. "Even when we lost the second game and were behind in the third game, we knew we could come back and win."

With its first opening-round district win in three years, Seminole, seeded sixth in the tourney, advances to tonight's semifinals, starting at 6:15, against second-seeded DeLand, Lake Howell and Spruce Creek square off in the 5 p.m. semifinal match. The two winners will meet for the championship tonight at 8.

Seminole improved to 4-13 with the win while Lake Mary finished the season with four straight losses and a 13-8 record.

"We had a pretty good team last year but we came out for the first match in districts and just froze," Seminole coach Beth Corso said. "This year, we came in with the attitude that it didn't matter who we played or when we played, we just wanted to win."

Behind the strong front row play of Sharon Bonaventure, Lake Mary took an early 3-2 lead. Liz Long then pounded a spike through the Lady Rams' block for a side out and Long then went on an impressive serving spree.

Not even two Lake Mary time outs could faze Long as the 6-2 sophomore served 11 straight points to give the Lady 'Noles a commanding 13-3 lead. Long started the string with an ace and Riggins came through with three dinks for winners to ignite the rally.

"Serving was my strongest point last year, but I haven't been that consistent this year," Long said. "I was really happy with the way I served tonight."

Lake Mary fought back to within 13-7, but Seminole won the first game as Adrian Hillman served two points.

Seminole kept on the warpath in the early going of game two. Holding a 1-0 lead, a Cindy Bengé spike gave the Lady Tribe a side out and Bengé then served four straight for a 5-0 lead. Bengé had one ace during the rally and Hillman floated a nice dink into the open court for the fifth point.

The momentum then slid right out from underneath the Lady Seminoles as Val Smith came on to serve Lake Mary right back into the match. Smith, who had an impressive service string against Seminole on Monday, cranked out 13 consecutive serves as the Lady Rams took a 13-5 lead. Smith had two aces during the binge while Bonaventure's play at the net accounted for three of the points.

Lake Mary made it 14-5 on Marnie Frey's serve and Seminole battled back within 14-8 before Bonaventure nailed a spike to the floor for a side out. Bonaventure then served the 15th point to force a third and deciding game.

"After the second game, we got together and said 'don't let it happen again,'" Seminole senior

Sheri Peterson said. "If we came back and played like the first game, we'd be okay."

Peterson's fantastic all-around play was a key for the Lady 'Noles in game three while Long put down some key spikes and the bench also helped keep the Lady Tribe alive.

With the score tied, 8-8, Smith went back to the serving line and Lake Mary reeled off four points for a 12-8 lead. Marcie Dalziel's offspeed hit was good for the 11th point. Seminole made it 12-9 on Bengé's spike, but Lake Mary got the serve back and took a 13-9 lead on Bonaventure's block.

Long's hit gave Seminole the serve but a Bonaventure spike gave it right back to the Lady Rams. The play that got the Seminole comeback started then occurred as Peterson, the Tribe's setter, rose up and unloaded a devastating spike that the Lake Mary defense could not touch.

Peterson then served an ace to pull Seminole within 13-10 but Lake Mary coach Cindy Henry then called a timeout and Peterson missed her next serve. Lake Mary returned the favor as Angela Capps hit her serve into the net. Lake Mary had another chance to extend its lead but couldn't do it as a tip by Hillman kept the Rams from scoring.

Bengé then went on to serve three straight to tie the score at 13-13. Long's spike got the rally started. Lake Mary again got the serve back but couldn't do anything with it as Long put down a booming spike off a perfect set by Peterson. Hillman then served a point for a 14-10 lead.

Lake Mary had one last breath left though as Lora Splatt's spike gave the Rams a side out. Again, though, Seminole rose to the occasion as a Long spike returned the serve to the Tribe and

Lady Lions, St. Cloud Vie In 3A-6 Final

By Mark Blythe

Oviedo's Lady Lions bounced back from a poor showing in their opening game to sweep Orlando Jones, 17-15, 15-5, in District 3A-6 volleyball before 101 fans Wednesday night at Oviedo High School.

Oviedo upped its record to 22-2 with its 13th consecutive victory and will now face St. Cloud in the district final tonight at 6:30. St. Cloud swept Kissimmee Osceola, 15-12, 15-7. St. Cloud dealt Oviedo one of its two losses this season and Oviedo coach and Oviedo coach Anita Carlson believes tonight's match will come down to a serving game.

"St. Cloud serves the ball very well," Carlson said. "Our serving game needs to be on. I think we have an edge in our setting, net play and spiking so if we serve well we should play well." The Lady Lions didn't serve well in their match Wednesday playing along with the sloppy style of Jones.

In the first game, Jones gave Oviedo all it could handle before giving way to the much stronger Lions. Oviedo used the strong front line play of Suzanne Hughes and the serves of Barbara Malone to finally overtake Jones in a match that could of gone either way.

The Lady Lions jumped out to an early 3-0 lead but let up and fell behind 4-3 putting the upset thought in Jones' mind. The match was played point for point until Jodie Switzer served the final two points to give Oviedo the victory in the opening game.

The Lady Lion's didn't sparkle in their second game, although it was obvious that Oviedo would prevail as Jones was unable to get any kind of rally going.

After Malone put a point up for Oviedo, Switzer followed for three more giving Oviedo a 4-2 lead.

Jones could pull no closer and the Lady Lions' missed serves prevented them from breaking away. Knutson, though, came back and served up four more points to put Oviedo up, 12-5, icing the victory.

Kelly Price turned in a fine all around performance with three kills, a block and four service points, including the last three of the match, all of which were not returned.

Tribe Gets Win?

Seminole's quest for a 500 football season may not be over. Titusville disclosed Wednesday that it had used an ineligible player (too old) in its first seven games and will forfeit all wins.

One victory was over Seminole, 16-9, in the second game of the season.

A forfeit would improve the Tribe's mark to 3-5 with two games remaining (New Smyrna Beach and DeLand) and give it a chance to finish 5-5.

Lewis Hustles Lady Hawks Into Semifinals

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer
PORT ORANGE — Usually, the only time a setter gets noticed is when she's called for an illegal set, lofts the ball over the net for the other team's hitters to kill or sets the ball into the stands.

When the sets are on target, and the spikes are put down, it's the hitter that usually gets the applause.

Wednesday night, though, the performance of Lake Howell High setter Tammy Lewis was pretty noticeable. And it wasn't because she made a lot of mistakes. The talented junior's all-around hustle, along with her excellent setting, ignited the Lady Hawks to a 15-12, 15-3 victory over Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots in the first round of the 4A-9 District Tournament at Spruce Creek High.

"The hitters get most of the recognition, but it takes a good setter to make a good hitter," Lewis said. "I think I had one of my best matches of the season today."

Lake Howell coach Jo Luciano said Lewis' play was one of the highlights in what was otherwise a not-too-exciting victory for the Lady Hawks.

"Both teams had trouble getting started tonight," Luciano said. "But we got loosened up in the second game and Tammy's (Lewis') setting and hustle helped get us going."

The victory improved Lake Howell to 14-7 for the season while the young Lake Brantley team finished at 6-18. Fourth-seeded Lake Howell advances to tonight's semifinals against number one seed Spruce Creek. The match will start at 5 with Seminole taking on DeLand at 6:15. The tournament final will be held tonight and is scheduled to start at 8.

In game one Wednesday, Lake Howell had a 3-2 lead when Jaudon Jonas came on to serve 10 straight points for a 13-2 lead.

Lake Brantley's Renee Upson then had a dynamic serving string of her own as she served six straight to pull the Lady Patriots within 13-8.

Lake Howell upped the lead to 14-8 before the Lady Patriots made a late charge. Dawn Gebhart's hit cut the lead to 14-9 and it stayed that way until Jennifer Rippard came on to serve three straight, one an ace, to trim Howell's lead to 14-12.

Lewis then put a perfect set up to the net where Debbie McDonough smacked a spike in to give Lake Howell a side out. Stormi Littrell then served the 15th point for the Lady Hawks which came on a tip by Monica Scheider.

Johnson Can't Win, Astros' Lanier Can

N.L. Baseball

NEW YORK (UPI) — Davey Johnson must wonder what he has to do to be named Manager of the Year.

Two years ago, he took the New York Mets from last place to second in the National League East. Jim Frey of the Chicago Cubs was named Manager of the Year.

This season, Johnson's team won the NL East by 2 1/2 games, then beat the Houston Astros in the playoffs and the Boston Red Sox in the World Series. The Mets won 116 games, tying a major-league record for victories in a season.

So who wins the award? Hal Lanier of Houston.

"I didn't really expect to win," said Johnson, who finished second in voting by the Baseball Writers' Association of America. "I congratulate Hal Lanier. He did a great job all year and his team battled us in the playoffs."

Obviously, the more talented team, the less likely its manager is to win the award. In contrast to Lanier, Johnson was expected to win his division with a talented lineup and the top pitching staff in baseball.

"The way the award has been going, it seems really hard for the manager of the team who's picked to win (the league) to win the award," Johnson said.

In balloting conducted by 24 members of the BBWAA — two from each NL city — Lanier received 19 first-place votes and 108 points while Johnson picked up three first-place votes and 62 points.

Seminole Boys Finish Second

Lake Howell swept both divisions, Seminole's boys improved and Cissy Burgess continued her assault on the record book in tri-meet swimming action Wednesday at the Sanora Pool.

While the Hawks won the meet easily (127 points), Seminole's boys beat Evans, 49-27.

Scott Lewis led the way for the Seminoles with a win in the 100 backstroke with a time of 1:10.4. Lewis finished second in the 200 free at 1:59.4.

Kirby Swinehart backed up Lewis with a second-place finish in the 100 back with a 1:12.6. Matt Chock also contributed greatly with a second place finish in the 100 breaststroke with a 1:11.3.

Burgess, just a freshman, set the school record in the 100 breast with a first-place time of 1:17.3 and she also won the 200 free with a 2:10 effort.

Chrissy Sparrow backed up Burgess, winning the diving competition, and Kristy Keeling won both the 50 free at 28.2 and the 100 free 1:03.7.

The District 4A-5 meet will be held at Justus Aquatic Center in Longwood beginning Thursday with the diving competition. Preliminaries will be Friday at 5 p.m. and the finals Saturday at 2 p.m.

Smiling Pats Relish 'War' At Lake Mary

By Scott Sander
Herald Sports Writer
ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — One would think that a football team that is 0-7 and has lost 15 out of its last 16 games would be anything but happy.

But all of the Lake Brantley Patriots have smiles on their faces this week. This week is different than any other week of the season for the Pats. It is the most important game which Brantley plays. Even though the Pats are winless, a win in this game could make their season.

It is the fifth chapter of a rivalry that is undoubtedly the fiercest in Seminole County. Every time that these two teams meet it is not a football game, but a "war." It has produced some of the most exciting games during the past three years.

The Lake Brantley Patriots and the Lake Mary Rams will renew the rivalry Friday night in a Seminole Athletic Conference game at Lake Mary High School. Kickoff is at 8 p.m.

"I have been so nervous all week that I haven't gotten a wink of sleep," Lake Brantley coach Fred Almon said. "We want to win this game more than any other game that we play."

"This is a game where the kids on both teams know each other very well. It is a true rivalry and that is what high school football is all about."

The Pats and the Rams have met four times. The series stands tied at two. The Pats won the games in 1982 and 1983 before the Rams have evened the series with victories in 1984 and 1985. Last year, Lake Mary came from behind in the fourth quarter to edge the Patriots, 14-13. A missed extra point proved costly for Lake Brantley.

The year before, the Rams defeated Brantley in a thriller, 20-13. The game was so crowded that fans had to come on the field since there were no seats left.

Almon was an assistant coach in 1982 at Lake Mary when the Pats drilled the Rams, 32-6. "Whenever these two teams get together it is an all out dogfight," Almon said. "I have seen it from both sides and it is always a very tough football game no matter what the records are."

The Patriots are counting off a 17-7 loss to Apopka in which the team played two different games, according to Almon. "In the first half we stunk," Almon said. "In the second half we played the best defense that I have seen us play in the two years that I have been here."

The Rams have won their last three games and are now 4-3 overall and 1-2 in the SAC.

The Patriot offense has struggled throughout the season as they have scored just 33 points. Almon said that the Ram defense presents a big problem for his offense. "They have really been shutting people down in their last few games," Almon said. "In order for us to be successful on offense, our offensive line is going to have to be the best of the year."

Almon said the junior Greg Ebbert will get the start at quarterback this week. Ebbert and Jason Lanham have shared the signal calling duties this season. "I believe that he can get the job done," Almon said of the lanky lefty who has thrown for 404 yards. "He has been throwing the ball really well lately and I'm confident that he will do a good job on Friday night."

Defensive coach Gary Smith said a victory over Lake Mary can turn Brantley's program around. "We have been going through hell for the past two years," Smith said. "We are going to get back on track in this game."

Senior offensive tackle Chris Mull, who played in the Ram-Pat game last year, said that the Pats would love to beat the Rams in their own back yard. "We all want to beat them in front of their fans," Mull said. "If we win this game it will make our whole team feel like the season has not been an entire loss. I think that we are going to upset them."

Bucky Chambers, the Pats' hard-hitting linebacker, said the frustration of the first seven games is behind the team. "Nothing else that has happened matters right now," Chambers said. "We are anxious to get out there and fight. This game is for our pride and that is something worth fighting for."

Almon said the game may come down to pride. "It is going to be a hard-fought football game," Almon said. "It always is. It is the attitude of the players that makes the difference in a game like this."

"Whoever wants it more will win. In games like this coaching doesn't have a lot to do with the outcome of the game. We are all really looking forward to playing them," Almon said.

Brantley-Lake Mary: Rivalry Remembered

Scott Sander
SPORTS WRITER

Playing high school football was a rewarding experience and brought with it a great deal of memories. There are a lot of games played in a season but each team has one game that means more than any other on the schedule.

While playing offensive tackle for Lake Brantley the past two years, and the game that meant more to us than any other one was the Lake Mary game. It is the Mayor's Cup game and we worked overtime to get ready for the Rams.

Before the season, the team would sweat through fall workouts in the intense August sun and look at the schedule wondering how the season would go. Players would give their opinion of each game but when Lake Mary came up there was always a simultaneous smile. Everyone knew that we had to win that game since a loss would be humiliating.

But when Lake Mary and Lake Brantley play a football game, it is not only the pride of the players that is at stake, but the pride of the entire school and community. A loss humiliates the team and school. Losing to your fiercest rival is tough to swallow. I know because both times that I played in a Lake Mary game, I lost.

The tension began as early as Monday. It was very difficult to keep your mind on anything but the game. We would practice long and hard on Monday and Tuesday. We would watch so much film of our opponent that we got sick of it. The week went so slow. It seemed like the game would never come around.

Faculty and students alike were all talking about "the big game." The team was nervous but still confident. Wednesday would roll around and things started to get serious. We would have a light practice with no contact and start to mentally prepare for the game.

The day before the game we would fine-tune the offense as we were dressed in shorts. Nothing more had to be said. All of the assignments were learned and it time to get it on.

Each time that we played Lake Mary some kind of stunt was pulled under the guise of "school spirit." There were spray painting incidents at both schools where several obscenities were painted on the schools. I always felt that it was too bad that students couldn't settle their differences on the field.

Friday was the day that everybody was waiting for. Players would wear their jerseys to school and be on cloud nine for the entire day. Students and teachers would all wear their red, white, and blue, demonstrating school spirit.

At the end of the day, it was time for the pep rally. The pep rally was a time where players could relax and enjoy the festivities. The crowd would cheer for the team as players promised a victory.

After the pep rally concluded, it was time for the team meal. The team would gather and eat a steak dinner. The mood was mellow but each player knew that it would soon change.

Players went home to relax after the meal. I always watched the tube in an effort to get my mind off of the game but it never worked. Coaches instructed us to be at school at 5 p.m.

The players met in the training room, waiting to be taped. There were no smiles, no jokes, no horseplay. Players had their "game faces" on as it would soon be time to go to war.

When all of the players were dressed, we gathered in the cafeteria. It was about an hour before kickoff. This was the time where all of us got emotionally psyched up. There was no talking even though the coaches were not watching over us. It was so quiet that the dropping of a contact lens could have been heard.

By the time we took the field for warm-ups everyone was really pumped up. As we took the field the adrenalin was flowing like a stream. We warmed up and went back into the locker room.

We got a pep talk from the coach that made us so mad that we all could have screamed. It was finally time to play. There was a tremendous ovation as we took the field.

When the game finally got underway, players recognized the people that they were playing against because they were all from the same area that we were from. It made us want to beat them that much more.

Both of the games that I played in were very clean and tough. In both games the winner was not decided until the fourth quarter. Even though I lost in both of them I will still remember them as being the highlights of my career.

To this day, I am still hassled and reminded by former players who are now my close friends of how the big rivalry went.

To those of you who play for Mary or Brantley, give it your best effort this Friday because you'll remember this game in particular for the rest of your life.

My experience isn't far removed, but the memory will stay with me for years to come.

THERE'S MORE — Brantley-Lake Mary isn't the only intense meeting Friday night. Lyman entertains Lake Howell for its homecoming in a game which could decide the Seminole Athletic Conference champion. Lyman is 3-0 and Howell is 2-0. Lyman still has Lake Mary to play while Howell has Lake Brantley and Oviedo left. Oviedo, meanwhile, hosts underdog Cocoa Beach Friday. The Lions, 4-3, are looking to momentum going into a big District 4A-5 clash with Titusville on Nov. 14.

Commission Sets New Limits For Saltwater Fish

Many species of saltwater fish in Florida are suffering drastic population declines due to unrestricted commercial fishing. King mackerel, Spanish mackerel, spotted seatrout, redfish, snapper, grouper, swordfish, and tilefish are a few of the species which have been overharvested from Florida waters.

The Marine Fisheries Commission, an appointed group of men representing both commercial and sportfishing interests, is charged with regulating Florida's marine fish species.

Most members of the Florida Marine Fisheries Commission recognize the need for stricter management of Florida's saltwater fishes. As a result of this concern, new size limits and possession limits have been set for many popular species.

Listed below is current information concerning the new size limits and possession limits for Florida saltwater fishes as listed in the November issue of the Florida Fish Finder.

In order to keep you abreast of changes in the fishing regulations, here is the latest report from the Marine Fisheries Commission of the Department of Natural Resources.

Spanish Mackerel — a limit of 4 spanish per day per angler has just gone into effect. Minimum length is 12 inches.

King Mackerel — a limit of 2 kings per person per trip in state waters from Alabama/Florida border south to Monroe/Collier counties border all year, and also in state waters around the south tip of Florida (including the Keys) northward to the Volusia/Flagler counties border from Nov. 1 through March 31. Minimum length of 12 inches.

Cobia — minimum size limit of 37 inches total length (equivalent to 33 inches fork length).

Snook — bag limit of two in possession with a minimum size of 24 inches (22 inches fork length). Only one snook of 34 inches or greater allowed.

Snapper — minimum size limit on red, mutton & yellowtail of 12 inches.

Redfish — minimum size limit of 18 inches total length in state waters from Fla/Ala border east and south to a straight line drawn from Bowlegs Point in Dixie County southwesterly through marker 18; 18 inches total length in all other state waters. Limit of one over 32 inches.

Bluefish — minimum length 10 inches.

Weakfish — minimum length 15 inches, two in possession.

Fleander — minimum length

Pompano — minimum length of 9 1/2 inches.

Striped Bass — minimum length of 15 inches with 6 in possession.

Tarpon — two in possession.

Spotted Sea Trout (Weakfish) — minimum length of 12 inches except there is no size limit.

SHUPE'S SCOOP — Speckled perch are very popular this time of year. They are plentiful and it doesn't take sophisticated equipment and a high level of fishing expertise to catch these tasty panfish. Remember to keep moving until you find specks, but once you find them, stay in the area and fish it thoroughly. These fish tend to congregate, and you will have better results fishing areas where they are located.

FISHING FORECAST — Ron Rawlins from Highland Park Fish Camp reported that bass fishing is continually improving. Wild shiners (fished near floating cover) are producing the best fish. Specks are being caught in Lake Weir and in the run. You can either jig the lily pads or troll in the lake with bottle spins or Hal Flies. Dell Abernathy at Ocoon Bridge said that the specks are really starting to make their move. Three men caught over 125 last Thursday. J.D. Jones and his brother Phil caught 53 near Marker 5 last Saturday. Specks are also biting near the fish attractors in Lake Monroe. (They are marked by floating buoys.) Dell reported that bass fishing has improved a great deal, with the average fish running from 15-20 pounds. Fish underwater points, and the mouths of sloughs for sure action.

The snook are still hot at Sebastian Inlet. It is elbow to elbow on the weekend, so it is better to fish during the week if you can. The average snook are between 18-24 pounds, with a few fish over 30 pounds. One-ounce bucktail jigs are accounting for most of the fish, and red and white is the best color combination. Chartreuse Mavericks are also very effective.

Capitan Jack from Port Canaveral reported that offshore fishing has been spotty due to the rough weather on the weekend. Boats that are able to get out during the week are catching sailfin, king mackerel, wahoo, and dolphin. The buoy line has been slow, but a few big tripletails are being caught on medium-sized jigs. In side the Port, action has been good at the jetties with small snook up to about 14 pounds. Finger mullet and plugs are accounting for most of the snook. Trout and redfish have been moody in the Banana and Indian rivers. They should be jumping in the best this time of year, but most anglers are finding the fishing very tough.

Fishing has been good at the New Smyrna jetties when the seas have been down. Bluefish, redfish, flounder, drum, sheepshead, and a few trout are being caught. Both jetties are producing redfish and trout, the north jetty is better for sheepshead, drum and bluefish. Live shrimp and finger mullet are good baits. Big floating-diving plugs fished near the rocks on the north side of the north jetties are good for big bluefish.

Tide Can Gain Title Tie; Florida, Georgia In Jax

United Press International
The No. 6 Alabama Crimson Tide is expected Saturday to clinch at least a tie for the Southeastern Conference championship.

The Tide is a commanding 10-point favorite over No. 18 Louisiana State for their meeting in Birmingham, Ala. That victory would guarantee Alabama would wind up no worse than 5-1 in conference play — a mark no other SEC team can beat.

Three teams — No. 10 Auburn, Georgia and Ole Miss — all have a shot at winding up 5-1 and it's expected the SEC race won't be decided until Nov. 29 when Alabama and Auburn tangle in Birmingham. If LSU pulls off an upset Saturday, there could be a five-way tie for the lead in the 10-team conference.

Auburn, stepping outside the conference this week to host Cincinnati, hosts Georgia on Nov. 16. Georgia meets Florida Saturday in Jacksonville; and Ole Miss, which has an open date Saturday, will play Tennessee and Mississippi State in Jackson.

In other Southeast action Saturday, No. 1 Miami of Florida is at Pitt, Vanderbilt at Kentucky, Memphis State at Tennessee, Florida State at South Carolina, Louisville at Tulane, and Southwestern Louisiana at Southern Miss.

Georgia Coach Vince Dooley feels his 6-2 Bulldogs are catching Florida at the wrong time.

"Their win against Auburn has given them more confidence," said Dooley. "Their record (4-4) is really deceiving. Florida has already played three of the top football teams in the country (Miami, Alabama and Auburn). The only opponent we've both played in LSU, and we both lost to them."

It concerns Dooley that Bell, who was out with an injury, is back at quarterback for Florida.

"Kerwin Bell was a Heisman Trophy candidate before this season and his performance against Auburn was a Heisman

Seminole High School's freshman football squad ended its first ever unbeaten season with a bang Wednesday night as it crushed Titusville, 48-0, at Draa Field in Titusville to complete the season with a perfect 6-0 mark.

Coaches Bill Zeas and John McNamara watched their gridgers achieve all three preseason goals.

"We wanted to end with a winning record first," Seminole coach Bill Zeas said. "After that, we wanted to win the Seminole County Championship and then go undefeated if possible."

The Seminoles scored 38 points in the first half and cruised in the second with its entire squad getting into the action.

In the first quarter, Ralph Anderson began the scoring with a six-yard touchdown run up the middle. The point after attempt failed and the Seminoles took a 6-0 lead.

James Cox also scored in the first period on an 18-yard run and "Orange Julius" Bennett ran in the two-point conversion to up the score to 14-0.

Anderson scored again in the first quarter on a 20-yard sweep, and quarterback Paul Thomas ran in the two-point PAT giving Seminole a 22-0 lead.

Bennett scored in the second quarter on a three-yard run up the middle. Thomas ran in the PAT for a 30-0 Seminole advantage.

TD of the half on a 47-yard interception return and Thomas again ran in the PAT and the Seminoles held a commanding 38-0 lead.

Fritton intercepted another pass in the third quarter that led to another Seminole score. An inside reverse to Derek Lewis accounted for the last TD of the night as Lewis raced in from 37 yards out. Seminole used the same play on the PAT attempt and scored to push the lead to 48-0.

A safety in the fourth accounted for the last score of the night. Both Isiah Williams and Willie "Sugar Tex" McCloud hit the Titusville quarterback in the end zone to register the final two points.

Zeas was happy with the play of the offensive line which paved the way to 225 yards rushing. The Seminoles were only forced to pass once all night as they had complete control off the line of scrimmage.

The Seminole defense was only pressured once in the third but managed to hold on for the shutout.

Zeas was happy with the play of the entire defense and pointed out the efforts of Fritton, Lester Bobb and Freddie Bass.

"The entire team put forth a great effort, tonight," Zeas said. "We can be thankful to our good athletes for achieving our goals."

TRC, Turner Take Out Wrath On Winless Bill Knapp's, 24-10

The Tim Raines Connection, stung by a loss to Six Flags Nursery Monday, took out its wrath on winless Bill Knapp's Wednesday, pounding out a 24-10 victory in Sanford Men's Softball League play at Pinehurst Field.

TRC upped its record to 7-1 and held its one-game lead over Six Flags. Knapp's fell to 0-8. Six Flags drilled All-Sports Program, 11-3, to improve to 6-2. ASP dropped to 3-5.

TRC used a 12-run third inning to erase a 2-1 deficit. Rodney Turner, who rapped a two-run double in the third, slugged a three-run homer in the fourth to complete a three-hit, 5-RBI night. Ned Raines slugged a three-run homer while Tommy and Levi Raines each added a two-run single during the onslaught.

Eddie Jackson, Tim Raines, Sam Raines and Thaad Brooks each chipped in two hits. Harry McCarty homered and doubled, Tim Olger roped three hits while Mike Nieman and Mike Reeder added two apiece. Jeff Smith drove in three runs.

In Wednesday's first game, winning pitcher John Emerson blanked ASP for four innings as Six Flags built an 11-0 bulge. Scott Williams ripped a three-run homer and Emerson had a two-run single. Emerson and John Whigham finished with three singles while Williams and Ted Miller and John Emerson III had two apiece.

Junior Johnson doubled and singled twice for the losers.

Jones, Morkerson Lift Cowboys

Terry Jones and Craig Morkerson scored touchdowns in a wild second half that lifted the Cowboys to a 19-15 victory over the Bulldogs in Sanford Recreation Flag Football Junior League action Wednesday night.

The Cowboys took a 6-0 lead in the first half when Jimmy Carraway tossed a 40-yard touchdown pass to Morkerson. While only six points were scored in the opening half, there were 28 points put up in the second stanza.

The Bulldogs drew first blood as Sylvester Walker pulled Morkerson's flag in the end zone for a safety that cut the Cowboys' lead to 6-2. The Bulldogs then took an 8-6 lead when Britt Henderson bolted for a 10-yard touchdown.

The Cowboys then came back with two touchdowns to take a 19-8 lead. Carraway hooked up with Jones on a 15-yard scoring pass to up the lead to 12-8 and Morkerson then intercepted a pass and returned it 60 yards for a TD. Carraway ran in the extra point to make it 19-8.

The Bulldogs came back to make it 19-15 when Richard Washington broke loose for a 40-yard touchdown and Johnny Davis ran in the extra point.

'Kind' Martina Drops Fernandez

WORCESTER, Mass. (UPI) — Kindness, though a wonderful quality in people, is a lousy strategy in tennis, as Martina Navratilova angrily reminds herself.

In a first-round match at a $250,000 women's tennis tournament, the world's top-ranked woman made her thoughtful mistake during a second-set battle with Gigi Fernandez, while leading 6-3, 4-2 on break point.

Fernandez badly mis-hit a volley, popping it up short. But as Navratilova rushed in for the putaway, Fernandez didn't budge from her position at net. Navratilova decided against the obvious body shot. Instead, she tried a crosscourt backhand which Fernandez blocked back for a winner. Thus inspired, the Puerto Rican went on to hold serve and later tie the set at 5-5 before losing the next two games and the match.

Davis Upsets No. 4 Pernfors

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) — American Scott Davis upset fourth-seed Mikael Pernfors 7-6, 6-4 Wednesday in the second round of the $435,000 Stockholm Open Grand Prix tennis tournament.

Davis used a hard serve to defeat Pernfors, a French Open finalist and a two-time NCAA singles champion for the University of Georgia.

In other matches, Mats Wilander, shaking off the rustiness of a seven-week layoff, scored a 6-4, 7-6 (7-5) victory over American Mike DePalmer. Also, Australia's Pat Cash outlasted Karel Novacek of Czechoslovakia 6-3, 6-7, 6-1.

serving then fell apart and Spruce Creek went on to claim a 15-10, 15-3 victory.

Nikki Jarrett served four straight points, one an ace, as Lyman built a 4-0 lead but Spruce Creek dynamo Sam Osterman then put down a spike for a side out and the Creek tied it on Heidi Andersen's serve. Osterman then went on to serve the Lady Hawks to a 7-6 lead before a Julia Callerman spike on a set by Melissa Gold returned the serve to Lyman.

Callerman then went on to serve four straight as Lyman put a scare into the Creek by taking a 10-7 lead. Ana Machuca's diving save, which fell over the net for a point, highlighted the rally.

Just when Lyman seemed to have things going its way, though, the roof caved in on the Lady Greyhounds. Lyman's serve return went awry as Spruce Creek reeled off eight straight to win the first game.

Long then served the final point, which came on a Lake Mary net foul.

"Even when we got behind in that third game, we kept up our attack and went after them (Lake Mary)," Corso said. "That and our bench is what kept us alive."

While Long, Hillman and Peterson made some big plays on offense, the defense of Faronda "Ferocious" Brown, Lisa McGrotha and Maryann Calibus kept Lake Mary from scoring the winning points. Diana Mitchell also came in off

It was hard to put up with the fans and parents, and my feelings were hurt a number of times, but I could always walk away from those people and continue to play the game that I loved because I knew that every time I stepped on that mound I gave 100 percent. If I wasn't planning on giving 100 percent every time, I never would have went out for the team.

Now, I can look back and laugh at those numbskulls and even joke about my record. I have seen Shane Letterio and Darren Boyesen compete in a lot of games in football and baseball over the past few years, and not once has either one of them failed to give it his best shot. As long as they give 100 percent, Letterio, Boyesen and everyone who competes in high school athletics is a winner in my book.

It's easy to understand why those fans, parents and fellow students are so critical. There are limits on a person's wisdom, but there are no limits on stupidity.

The Fearless Fister Forecast has gone on the respirator after compiling a 7-13 record over the past two weeks. The season record stands at 41-31. What kind of percentage is that? How can I figure that out when I can hardly breathe?

Stocks Open Lower

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened lower today in new trading of New York Stock Exchange issues.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which rose 6.60 Wednesday, was down 7.87 to 1891.17 shortly after the market opened.

Declines led advances 519-343 among the 1,314 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 9,926,000 shares.

The stock market advanced in heavy trading Wednesday, as investors yawned in the face of the decisive Democratic Party victory for control of the Senate and focused, instead, on a strong bond market, takeover activity, and a more optimistic view of the economy. Monte Gordon, the research director of Dreyfus Corp., said the market is taking a more hopeful view of the economy and generally, did not jump to conclusions about the meaning of Tuesday's Democratic victory.

"The stock market is not treating the Democrats' takeover of the Senate as an immediate threat," Gordon said. "No one believes Reagan will really be a lame duck."

Larry Wachtell, market analyst at Prudential-Bache, had a similar assessment.

Wachtell said selling right after the opening bell came from foreigners who were not as attuned to American politics as U.S. investors.

Chrysler Reportedly Seeking AMC's Assembly Operations

DETROIT (UPI) — Chrysler Corp. reportedly is considering asking its board of directors for approval to acquire a major portion of American Motors Corp.

In today's edition, the Detroit Free Press said the Chrysler plan would involve AMC's U.S.

assembly operations in Ohio and Wisconsin.

AMC officials told the newspaper the Chrysler board, which is meeting Thursday in New York, is not expected to examine the acquisition idea until it meets Dec. 4 in Boca Raton, Fla., for a regularly scheduled meeting.

the charter, calling it a real opportunity to have home rule and get a more efficient government from the county. "That can only mean savings to the taxpayer," he said.

In other action, the council discussed providing voter registration at all five libraries under construction. That idea was brought up by Casaelberry, Mayor Owen Shepard. He said the ideal situation would be to have volunteers staff the registration tables. Hooper said he would look into the possibility, but room at the libraries for this function may present a problem.

The council also discussed road impact fees, which would be the largest of the county's proposed impact fees. Other impact fees are proposed for fire services, libraries and parks. They will be discussed in full at a county workshop Nov. 10 at 10 a.m. at the Board of County Commissioners meeting room.

Joined at the session by the mayor, city staff and scenic improvement board members. It was agreed representatives of the ad hoc committee will meet again to review a proposed site plan, drawn up by a scenic board landscape architect, for the park's relocation. The plan will be presented to city commissioners for final approval, which Mayor Smith said is virtually guaranteed.

The park's removal was noted on a site plan a scenic board sub-committee drew up in July. Commissioners approved the plan when it was presented to them by City Manager Frank Faison last month.

Following subsequent fallout from the park's removal, Commissioner Dave Farr accused the scenic board of commandeering the removal without proper contact of commissioners and contributors. Farr said the removal should have been "specifically pointed out" to commissioners, and this would have prompted formal contact of contributors. The site plan shows lines through 12 of Heart Park's 20 exercise stations, accompanied by the word "eliminated." The same notations are evident for other planned removals, such as trees and flower beds.

Also removed from the lakefront during the last month were a number of Purple Martin birdhouses. They are being refurbished for reinstallation as the project progresses, Faison said.

Ms. Jacobson disputed Farr's charges, which came after he said a number of Junior Woman's Club members called him, asking "What happened to the park."

According to Ms. Jacobson, "the city, not the SIB" has authority over the project and all scenic board efforts "were done properly, in accordance with the way they should have."

Ms. Jacobson also said she contacted Junior Woman's Club president Beth Freeman "out of courtesy" in late September to tell her of the park's removal and ask if the club "wanted to participate in its relocation."

Mrs. Freeman asked for a delay until a new site was agreed to, but the removal had already started. The Junior Woman's Club followed up with a letter to all commissioners and scenic board members asking for a commitment and the setting of "a time certain" for the reinstallation. Before receiving the letter, Mayor Smith called for Wednesday's session.

Mayor Smith opened the meeting by saying she did not "want to dwell on the past, but to work together from today to come up with a solution agreeable to all."

The outcome apparently accomplished the mayor's objectives, but a bit of tension was evident when Ms. Jacobson said the scenic board did not recommend Heart Park's relocation in Fort Mellon Park. The scenic board plans to solicit designs for Ft. Mellon Park through a national competition. "And we're told," Ms. Jacobson said, "the best way to do this is by putting very few restrictions on the design to avoid choking their (applicants) talent."

"So now your choking the people who donated Heart Park to the city," Mrs. Freeman interjected.

"Wait, let me finish, that's our recommendation, but first and foremost we're behind your putting the park wherever you want, and we want to offer our assistance to you," Ms. Jacobson said.

After the meeting Ms. Jacobson said, "We're in favor of it going in Ft. Mellon Park at least temporarily, but we just don't want the Junior Woman's Club to be disappointed if our redesign of Ft. Mellon Park calling for the relocation of Heart Park. I'm not predicting that will happen, it's simply a very live possibility."

However, during the session, Mayor Smith said certain restrictions should probably be imposed to avoid loss of the park's "people appeal."

"Maybe you'll have fewer applicants," say I want Ft. Mellon Park to be used by people, whether this involves playgrounds or Heart Park, along with plans for flowers and landscaping. We want to upgrade the park, but not at the expense of people activities."

Ft. Mellon Park's redesign is strongly slated for at least two years and it was strongly inferred Wednesday by the mayor and Junior Woman's Club members the project could be prohibited from removing Heart Park, but could rearrange its stations within Ft. Mellon Park if necessary.

The lakefront project, meanwhile, is expected to be complete by the end of this month. It runs along the marina entrance, which received 50 drake elms this week, and down the north side of Seminole Boulevard, from French to Mellonville avenues.

Additional plantings are planned and Ms. Jacobson said Wednesday the three lessors of city owned marina land have all agreed to contribute $1,000 to the scenic board to further its downtown beautification efforts.

The contributors are Monroe Harbour Marine operator Chuck Volk, Holiday Inn co-owner Ed Welch, and John Smith, whose commercial Harbor Front Village is soon slated to open.

Election Clarifications

Because of a reporting error, the final unofficial totals from the District 1 Seminole County commission election were inaccurate in Wednesday's Sanford Herald. Republican commissioner Bob Sturm won the election with 33,144 votes. Democratic challenger Bob French 21,717, in the unofficial totals.

A Wednesday story on the senate race, should have read "exceeding the Republicans, 53-47 majority."

In the story on the results of the vote on casino and lottery amendments, it should have read "the lottery is only expected to raise $300 million out of the $14 billion needed for education."

was not damaged.

Though the Hillsborough County Fire Department was credited with saying there was a fatality in the crash, Jim Brady, Fire Chief for Hillsborough County, said his firefighters did not respond to the accident — which is in the city of Tampa — and did not originate the death report.

An information recording at the Tampa Fire Department said a fatality had been confirmed but did not say who confirmed the report or give any particulars. United Press International confirmed there was a death but attributed it to Hillsborough County Fire Department. The medical examiners office of Hillsborough County confirmed one fatality.

One accident witness, Brian Brewer of WFLA Radio, reported that the small plane was destroyed by fire. He said there appeared to be no damage to the larger plane.

Paul McAllister, spokesman for Tampa International Airport, said the collision occurred in the fog on a runway. Fire personnel said it occurred on a runway called Whiskey 3. Representatives from the FAA and the Tampa Fire Department were on the still-foggy scene at mid-morning investigation the crash.

"There was a heavy ground fog this morning and at 7:05 Pan American Flight 301 to Miami, a Boeing 727 with 17 passengers and seven crew members aboard, taxiing for takeoff," McAllister said. "It was nearing the end of the runway when it was struck to the right of its nose by a twin engine plane which was landing." The collision was apparently almost head-on and the pilot of the larger plane saw it coming because he braked twice, passengers said.

The Tampa Fire Department reported several minor injuries such as sprained ankles from passengers on the larger aircraft.

"It appears the smaller craft slid totally and completely under and past the larger aircraft before it caught fire. So there was no fire in the larger plane," McAllister said.

The crew members and passengers on the airliner left by emergency chutes.

Another collision was reported on a runway that parallels the taxi way the accident occurred on but it was not confirmed as of press time.

—Wire reports were used in this story.

pleaded guilty earlier this year to a state charge of conspiracy involving 32 other defendants in a scheme involving sales of bogus futures certificates for gold, silver and other precious metals.

His request for a transfer to a low-security prison camp at Lompoc in Southern California was granted, and on Oct. 28, he was escorted by Pleasanton guards to a bus depot for the "unsupervised furlough transfer."

He never showed up at Lompoc. "Unsupervised furlough transfer is federal bureaucratic gobbledeygook for putting a three-time loser on a bus and expecting him to report — on his honor — to Lompoc," said Frederick Storm, an attorney for investors who lost millions in the precious metals scam.

San Francisco prosecutors said they believed McIntosh, co-founder of the bankrupt First International Trading Co. that once employed some 200 people in California and Texas, had in cash and as much as $8 million in assets and precious metals.

"We're afraid he's going to look for — and get — some of those missing assets and flee," District Attorney Arlo Smith said.

Lopez was convicted in Georgia in 1981 of extortion after his husband, Carl, and three other men held a Mobile, Ala., banker's family hostage, took the banker to his office to collect money and escaped, the FBI said.

The five attempted a similar robbery in Orange Park, Fla., but were foiled, the FBI said.

Seminole County vote or more. He got 43.1 percent. In Brevard County he got 54.7 percent.

Eaton, a trial attorney and former prosecutor, credited his win to realistic assessment of voter patterns and organizing to get them.

"It was getting to Brevard early and setting organized early," he said. "How organized you are does not mean much as being more organized than the other guy."

Eaton, who has been practicing law for 18, said he has been thinking about running for judge for several years. Julian has been practicing law for 19 years.

The position pays $67,276 a year. Eaton will not have to run for re-election until 1992.

Julian said, if he lost, it would be "sun up, sun down, back to work."

There's Usually Only One Side To Girlfriends' Talk On Phone

DEAR ABBY: I have a girlfriend who calls me on the phone. I call her, too, and we talk. (I am also a girl.) The trouble is she does most of the talking. Like last night she called and asked what I was doing over the weekend. I told her, "Nothing special." Then she said, "Well, I'm going camping with so-and-so and then we're going here and there," and on and on and on. Then I started to tell her what I had done a few days ago and she said, "Sorry, I have to go now — my favorite TV show is coming on."

This girl lays all her problems on me. What do I do when I have problems and want to tell her about them and she doesn't have time to listen? She's never interested in what I do; she just wants to talk about herself.

HURT IN SAN ANTONIO

DEAR HURT: Don't phone; tell her in person exactly what you have told me. Let her know that you feel hurt, used and frustrated when she wants to talk only about herself and never has time to listen to you. Having said that, if she changes her tune and makes your relationship one of give and take, you'll know she's a friend worth having. If not, you won't have to look far to find a more considerate and generous friend.

DEAR ABBY: My cousin and I have been arguing about something for years and I think you are the one who can settle it. How do people figure out how old a dog is? I say when a dog lives 10 years, he is a 10-year-old dog.

My cousin insists that we do not calculate a dog's age the same way we calculate a person's age. For example, a dog who lives for 20 years is ready to die of old age. Please explain this.

REP IN SAVANNAH, GA.

DEAR REP: According to my veterinary expert, Dr. James Isaacs of Encino, Calif., the first year of a dog's life is equal to 15 in a human's. The second year brings the dog to a "human" age of 24. After that, each year is equal to four years more of human life. Interestingly, the smaller the dog, the longer the life. So if your pup has been with you for 16 years, you have an 80-year-old dog.

Some Good Doctors Just Don't Listen

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — I began to lose my hair, and also became impotent. Doctors told me that it was all in my head and that I needed a psychiatrist, that it was caused by a problem between my wife and me, etc. Then I found out that the medication I was taking was the culprit. Why don't doctors believe their patients?

DEAR READER — No. Weight gain after gynecological surgery is almost always due to diet. The woman consumes more calories than she burns up. To give you more information, I'm sending you a free copy of my new Health Report, WEIGHT CONTROL THROUGH CALORIE CONTROL, which offers healthy

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
Today's deal is adapted from one of the many instructive hands in Mike Lawrence's "How to Read Your Opponent's Cards," published more than 10 years ago. The opening lead against your four-heart contract is a spade, and you hopefully put up the queen. East plays the king and you win the ace. How do you proceed? The answer is an exercise in logic and bridge common sense. If West held the A-K of diamonds, he would very possibly have chosen that king for his opening lead. If he did not hold one of those high diamond honors, and you already know that he lacked the king of spades, then he most likely opened the bidding. So there is not much point in trying a heart finess. But what about the club queen? Surely it is highly likely that this card will be in the opening bidder's hand. The right play then, although you risk being set an extra trick, is apparent. At trick two, you should play a club to dummy's 10. When that holds, cash the club ace. You can even look for an extra reward when you play a heart back to your ace, since the king might come down. No such luck, but you are now able to discard dummy's low spade on your club king and make your contract. What if West had opened the bidding on jack of spades, king of hearts, A-Q-J of diamonds and nothing in clubs — a miserable 11 high-card points? Too bad, since you'd go set an extra trick, but take heart — at least you took the best play.

Following Michael's Footsteps

By Vernon Scott
 UPI Hollywood Reporter

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Nobody succeeds better at starring in a weekly TV series and making hit movies than Michael J. Fox of "Family Ties," but he may find some competition right on his own show.

Scott Valentine, who plays beatnik artist Nick on the popular weekly sitcom, currently is starring in "My Demon Lover," a feature film for New Line Cinema.

Fox's dazzling success on the tube and big screen has encouraged Valentine to seek careers in both TV and movies.

"Michael has really been exceptionally successful," said Valentine, a handsome young dude from Saratoga, N.Y. "So I'm branching out into movies too."

"Of course, I don't have to carry a weekly show like Michael is doing, but the character of Nick is supposed to spin off into his own series next season.

"Last season NBC spun Nick off into his own series with a pilot show co-starring Herschel Bernardi. But after we finished the show Herschel passed away. The episode was broadcast but, of course, it could never be a series."

"Now NBC has asked me to play Nick in another spinoff next spring. The sets are already being built on the Paramount lot."

"The premise of the show has Nick working as a counselor, a big brother figure, at a recreational center for young kids. They're even talking about having some of the characters from 'Family Ties' appear in some of the segments."

Valentine admitted that starring in his own show would severely limit his availability for feature films, but he's willing to take that chance.

"I have to keep a cash flow going because that gives me the financial security to be selective about the kind of pictures I accept. That's what Michael does, and look what happened with 'Back to the Future.'"

"Also I have a new family to support, Kym (his wife) and my 6-month-old son Trevin John."

Valentine has some second thoughts about his role in "My Demon Lover," the story of a gentle New York City street derelict who becomes a monster whenever he is sexually aroused by a woman.

The sci-fi spoof requires Valentine to wear monster makeup for about half the picture, a difficult feat for the young actor.

"The makeup takes between six and eight hours to apply, depending on the transition of the character from human to monster," he said. "Sometimes I have to arrive at the studio at 3 o'clock in the morning to be ready for work at 9 or 10 a.m."

"Then I start filming and after 16 hours or more in makeup I begin to itch like you wouldn't believe. Throughout the day I'm unable to eat solid food and it takes two hours to remove the makeup at the end of the day."

"Believe me, I'll never do another movie like this one."

Despite the ordeal, Valentine is already looking for another film project.

"The old dividing line between movies and TV is disappearing," he said. "Not that movie stars are doing more work in TV — which they are — but because audiences are willing to pay to see TV stars in feature films."

Hollywood Rivalry: Mother Vs. Son

By Frank Canello

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — It was not a traditional Mother's Day outing.

Corbin Bernsen, one of the stars of NBC's new hit TV show "L.A. Law" (which airs Thursdays), decided to take his mom, Jeanne Cooper, one of the stars of CBS' "The Young and the Restless," to the beach.

Cooper, who has played the scheming Katherine Chancellor on the daytime soap for the last 13 years, recalls the day.

"We drove to the beach in his jeep," she says. "My guts are being rumbled up to my brain, and Corbin says to me, 'Do you realize I'm making more money per show than you are?'"

"I said, 'Yes, and I hate you for it!'"

"Happy Mother's Day!"

Although the incident is true, Cooper's anger was feigned.

"We're rivals, but it's fun," she says.

Her solicitous son, however, wanted to be sure she wasn't genuinely upset. So she reassured him by saying, "You've worked for it, and you deserve it."

This mother-son rivalry isn't the first time the two-generation acting dynasty has gone tusk to tusk on the tube.

Two years ago, Bernsen, 32, had a six-month stint as a policeman on "Ryan's Hope." The soap aired opposite his mother's daytime series in many cities — and Mom's soap consistently beat her son's in the ratings.

"I told him," says Cooper, "I play collectively to 70 million people a week. Take that, Corbin!"

Although rivals, they once shared the same turf in Canada. Cooper was starring in a production of Neil Simon's "Plaza Suite," and she arranged for her son to have a small part as a bellhop.

"It was the first time he was on stage with me. It was the strangest thing... when Corbin looked at me on stage, he had this strange look in his eyes. I could tell he was thinking, 'I'm on your turf, and I like it.'"

On "L.A. Law," NBC's lavishly praised new series created by former "Hill Street Blues" head honcho Steven Bochco, Bernsen plays Arnold Becker, a sleazy divorce lawyer who looks like a surfer in a Giorgio Armani suit.

In the opening episode, a senior partner died on the job, and Becker's first reaction was, "I've got dibs on his office." But as the show has progressed, Arnold Becker has softened.

His mother, however, continues to play a full-blown villainess on "The Young and the Restless." "She was Alexis Carrington 10 years ago," says Bernsen. "She really created the character of the beautiful bitch with diamonds." (On an upcoming episode of "L.A. Law," Cooper will play Bernsen's mother, but the details are being kept under wraps.)

Before she became the Alexis of the daytime soaps, the actress guest-starred on just about every nighttime series, going all the way back to "Gunsmoke."

It was on the set of "Daniel Boone" — where his mother had a guest spot — that the acting bug bit Bernsen. He decided to give up his pre-law studies at UCLA and transfer to the theater department, where he eventually earned a master's degree in play writing.

His first film role was not an auspicious occasion. He played the part of "naked limbs thrashing in the back seat of a Rolls Royce" in the black exploitation film "Three the Hard Way," produced by his father Harry Bernsen.

After college and graduate school, during which he had a five-year relationship with Heather Thomas ("The Fall Guy"). Bernsen moved to New York. He built his own tiny theater (it was temporarily shut down by the Fire Department for safety violations) and supported himself as a model, including a stint as the Winston cigarette man.

"It helped support my acting career so I don't feel bad about pushing cigarettes," he says.

Bernsen almost didn't get his big break on "L.A. Law." When he first read for the part of Arnold Becker, he was living in New York, had the flu and looked paler than white. The producers passed. They wanted a tanned beach boy. Bernsen moved back to L.A., got a tan and on his fourth reading, got the part.

Although Bernsen has done some nasty things as Arnold Becker, such as having an affair with his pretty legal assistant and then getting her fired, his mom insists that off screen he's a nice guy who wouldn't hurt a fly — literally.

Glacier Man Mystery Solved

ZERMATT, Switzerland (UPI) — Ski teacher Annemarie Julen-Lehner found the first bones. They were on the side of the Theodul Glacier which was softening in the hot sun.

It wasn't of course the first time that the glacier was reluctantly releasing a victim from its frozen depths of blue and green ice.

"Lichenbretter," or "corpse slab," is the local Swiss German dialect name for the huge mass of ice winding around the Matterhorn mountain.

For centuries it was a treacherous crossing at 10,880 feet between Switzerland and Italy for those brave enough and too pressed for time to spend weeks traveling through the valley.

Merchants and messengers in a hurry would use it, for example, or soldiers and mercenaries who were willing to risk the deep crevasses concealed by a deceptively thin layer of snow.

Usually the glacier would give up entire bodies perfectly preserved by the ice, making identification a fairly simple matter.

But this time was different because Annemarie at first found only bones.

Collecting some of them, she took them down to the village and called her brother, Peter Lehner, who happens to be a biologist in Richterswil close to Zurich.

"They were the bones of a human being, a man, and of an animal which was probably a mule," Lehner recounted. "The man and the animal had obviously been exposed at one time but were then taken in by the glacier once again."

Local records indeed show that the Theodul Glacier grew enormously at the end of the 16th century, in what was known as a "little Ice Age."

Almost certainly, the preserved bodies of man and mule had emerged during a previous retreat of the ice and decomposed in the air and sun. But the bones which were left were then covered again when the glacier advanced anew.

Scientifically, glaciers are masses of ice and snow that are formed in regions where snow falls at a greater rate than it melts.

They can be hundreds of feet deep and move down valleys and mountainsides sometimes as fast as several feet a year, sometimes only inches.

Victims preserved in the moving ice are disgorged after tens of years — or in this case even centuries — when the glacier gets down to lower altitudes where the ice melts at a faster rate than it accumulates. Most thawing occurs at the bottom and sides, but sometimes a glacier will simply break off on reaching the edge of a cliff.

So who was this mystery man of the glacier? When did he die and why had he tried to make the crossing?

A search through Zermatt chronicles showed that a certain Anton Fux disappeared on the glacier in 1584. His body has never been found.

That wasn't the right man, however, as Peter and Annemarie Lehner discovered in further searching up on the glacier.

They found pieces of clothing but more importantly they found 35 small bronze and copper coins. Three of them bore the picture of Bishop Hildrebrand I of Riedmatten on the Swiss side of the pass: The others had been minted in northern Italy.

The oldest coin was dated 1585 so that meant the bones could not be those of Anton Fux who had disappeared a year earlier.

So the initial conclusion was that the bones were those of a merchant and his mule who had fallen into the depths of the glacier while on the way from Italy to Switzerland. Only Peter Lehner had a nagging doubt.

"Why," he says, "would a presumably wealthy merchant have been carrying only the equivalent in those days of loose change?"

In September, he returned to the glacier and there stuck in the ice was the man's skull, complete with brown hair and parts of the brain — "Just like a coconut at first glance."

Close by were a fencing sword, a flint musket, and two silver coins dating from 1588. The coins showed the face of Philipp II, the Habsburg ruler at that time in Spain and northern Italy.

The weapons and coins seemed to prove that the man was a soldier, rather than a merchant who would not have been so armed. He may well have been a Swiss soldier in a hurry to return home after fighting in Italy.

But there again, an ordinary soldier was unlikely to have been able to afford a mule so the search continued for additional clues. They were soon found — a coat with gold bordering, expensive footwear, parts of a pleated silk shirt.

That expensive clothing, plus the weapons and silver coins, provided the final clue.

There is now little doubt that the man was a mercenary and an officer as well in the pay of Philipp II, who ruled from 1586 to 1590. He was an avid defender of Roman Catholicism against the protestant reformation in the north.

It would have been only logical for the king to have sent an officer as fast as possible to the north with money to help finance the anti-reform movement.

Until now, no one ever knew why he never made it.

Longwood, Seminole County Sewer Agreement Said Near

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Negotiations between Longwood and Seminole County concerning the city's proposed sewer-hook up to the county's Greenwood Lakes Wastewater Treatment Plant have reached a crucial stage and a contract may soon be in the offing, according to Longwood Mayor Larry Goldberg.

Goldberg said Wednesday, after his latest meeting with County Commission Chairman Bob Sturm, "It looks like the city and county will come to an agreement and Longwood will be sending its sewage to Seminole's Greenwood Lakes."

Goldberg's said figures for the various options offered by the county have been turned over to the city's engineer for recommendation and a contract is being put together. "It looks good," he added.

"I will bring the commission up-to-date at the special 6:30 p.m. meeting on Nov. 10 at city hall and hopefully I will have a contract ready to present before the regular commission meeting on Nov. 17," the mayor said.

The city's consulting engineer Dyer, Riddle, Mills and Precourt is studying bids received Oct. 22 on the city's proposed 600,000-gallon-per-day Grant Street treatment facility so that it can make a recommendation to the commission. The apparent low bidder was Wharton-Smith with a bid of $1,515,200 for the lump-sum base bid.

The city, which borrowed $2.5 million from Sun Bank to build a new sewage treatment plant, has 90 days in which to choose the way it will go.

Costs on the Grant Street plant are estimated by City Administrator Ron Waller to exceed $100,000 for plans, tests and engineering. He said the $200,000 force main being built between Columbus Harbour and Skylark will be needed either way.

According to Jim Bible, director of Environmental Services for the county, the project is feasible. The county acquired the 1.5 million gallons per day Greenwood Lakes facility in 1984, but only recently completed the design for the $9 million expansion which will give it a 3.5 million gpd capacity.

Bible has said there would be sufficient capacity to provide Longwood with the 600,000 gpd capacity it needs and if an agreement is reached the city could connect to the county system right away. Sturm told the Sanford Herald last month that, "The county will look favorably on a pre-sale arrangement with Longwood."

If the county contracts to treat Longwood's sewage, there will be no need for the plant. "With the Skylark plant we would have been locked in a big way, but the county could give the city a greater capacity at Greenwood Lakes. We would have a full-fledged plant and the city would be out of the sewage business," Goldberg said. "and Skylark subdivision would have its park back."

The necessity to expand the treatment facilities and additional percolation ponds have taken over the city park that was located there.

Goldberg and other officials have met with Sturm several times and staff members from the city and county have been working out the details. He praised the county for the positive way it has been cooperating with the city this past year.

"There have been a lot of positive things and it is starting to show," Goldberg said. "County staff has worked hard in hand with Longwood to correct some of the city's drainage problems."

Sanford Paves Way For Roadwork

Sanford will spend more than $1 million during the coming months in what is only the beginning of an ambitious and perpetual road repair and rebuilding.

The city engineering staff has mapped out the first projects, some of which are already under way, by combining $400,000 in reserve budget funds with $977,350 in gas tax accruals.

The funding formula benefits the city's streets as well as its subsequent gas tax receipts by rerouting $400,000 in budget reserves to the city's paving efforts. By adding the $400,000, the city's shares of gas tax accruals will increase because the accruals' distribution formula considers how much municipal money goes into road work, exclusive of gas tax accruals, said Engineering and Planning Director Bill Simmons.

As the additional receipts come in, they'll be applied to new projects to perpetuate the road rehabilitation program, Simmons said.

Already planned for completion within the next four months are 14 miles of road paving and the rebuilding of McCracken Road from Airport Boulevard to persimmon Avenue, Simmons said.

The $654,250 contract for this work came in lower than expected when bid were opened last month and will now be amended with $125,000 in gas tax accruals to get another 65,000 square yards of roadwork under way, Simmons said.

Another contract, using $100,000 in additional available gas tax accruals and $400,000 in budget reserves is also planned. The $400,000 in reserve spending was originally discussed for road needs last summer.

The funds were to be added to $585,000 in gas tax receipts Sanford had banked last year, before further accruals, which the city estimated to be around $400,000, were frozen by the state while Seminole County and its cities disagreed over the funds' distribution formula.

The agreement came in August, freeing all

Seminole governments' accruals and implementing the new formula for subsequent distributions.

Sanford ended up with $977,350, in previously banked and recently received accruals, and staff planned the expenditures to cover various projects, Simmons said.

The 14 mile paving and McCracken Road contract, with its 65,000 square yard amendment total $779,750. Another $95,000 will go for reconstruction of First Street between Park and French avenues, although this bid award has yet to be made.

Commissioners approved the First Street work last summer, but said it should wait until the first of the year to avoid an adverse impact on downtown Christmas shopping.

The $874,250 total for these projects still leaves the city with roughly $100,000 in available accruals, Simmons said by adding the $400,000 in budget reserves to the $100,000, to create another bid proposal, Sanford will not only step up its road efforts, but also save money because contractors' discount larger project awards.

This $500,000 contract will be bid in tandem with the $95,000 First Street contract, with work on both beginning early next year. Roadway under the $500,000 contract will be selected from a list of road needs the city has compiled.

The 14 miles and additional 65,000 square yards were culled from the top of this list, "and there's plenty more available," Simmons said.

In addition to the planned $500,000 contract, breakdown of committed spendings covers the $95,000 First Street project, $539,000 for the 14 miles of roadway, $115,250 for the rebuilding of McCracken Road, and the $125,000 amendment, for the additional 65,000 square yards of roadway which lie along 25 city streets.
