Reagan Plans 'Upbeat' State Of The Union Address

By Ira R. Allen
Herald Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan has "a positive, upbeat view" of the state of the union, an administration official says, and that theme is the one Reagan is eager to run on for re-election.

Reagan makes his second trip to Capitol Hill in two days tonight for the constitutionally required State of the Union message to a joint session of Congress at 9 p.m. EST.

The speech comes four days before he is expected to announce his re-election plans and a week before he gives Congress an election-year budget proposal expected to contain $5 billion in spending cuts — compared to a $38 billion request for cuts last year — and a deficit of $130 billion.

Reagan, like his predecessors, is using the 30 to 40 minutes of free network time tonight to lay out not only his legislative blueprint for the year but a vision of his campaign themes of peace and prosperity.

Spokesman Larry Speakes described the speech as "more of a review of accomplishments to date and the need to stay on the job and get it done."

Asked if that assessment referred to the State of the Union speech or his re-election announcement,

Speakes said, "Both."

"It's a positive, upbeat view of the direction America has been taking recently," a top aide said, focusing on domestic issues but also referring to the foreign policy problems of Lebanon, Central America and U.S.-Soviet relations.

Reagan is expected to express his willingness to work with Democrats on a variety of issues, particularly asking for bipartisan support of the Kissinger Commission report on Central America and its $8 billion package of aid in the next five years, the aide said.

There will be a few new initiatives, including plans for a manned space station and a drive for a line-item veto. "As power, many governors, have -- to strike individual expenses in a large spending bill passed by the legislature."

He also is expected to renew his call for a return to prayer in the classroom, anti-abortion legislation and tuition tax credits for parents of private-school children.

Reagan may also mention his pet concern of late, discipline in the schools, and federal plans to help localities deal with classroom violence.

Rezoning Out County Deflates Schools' Plan For Central Complex

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

The county school board's plan to build a transportation/maintenance/food service and distribution complex on a tract near Five Points went out the window Tuesday night.

The Seminole County Commission, after a three-hour public hearing, voted 3 to 2 to refuse rezoning of the 65-acre parcel between U.S. Highway 17-92 and County Road 427 from single family dwelling district to public lands & institutions (PLI) district.

Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn and commissioners Bob Sturm and Barbara Christensen voted against the plan. Commissioners Bill Kirchhoff and Bud Feather voted for the rezoning.

School authorities including Superintendent Bob Hughes and School Board chairman Bill Kroll told the commission of the need to consolidate facilities at a central location for the services now spread out at spots from Sanford to Longwood and the several months' search for an appropriate site before an option was taken on the tract for $840,000 from the Babcock Corp.

And Richard Holiday of the Orlando planning and engineering firm of Post, Buckley, Schuh and Jernigan assured the property would be developed with a 50-foot buffer of greenery, making the tract sight-proof from the outside.

But the opposition to the rezoning of the site from its single family-low density designation to PLI was overwhelming.

Speaking out against the plan was not only Larry Dale, whose development, Cardinal Oaks Estates, a subdivision of large lots with $200,000 and up homes, is located directly across CR 427 from the proposed school service site, but also members of the Catholic Church of the Nativity where a new sanctuary valued at nearly $1 million is under construction down the street.

Also protesting were the city of Lake Mary through its mayor Walter Sorenson; Jim Weinberg for the Seminole County Board of Realtors; Jim Stelling for the Greater Seminole County Chamber of Commerce at Altamonte Springs; Carol Hoffman, president of the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce; Dick Fess, president of the Lake Mary Civic Improvement Association and Kathleen Beale, president of the Lake Mary Women's Club.

The major objection raised was that the school proposal violates the low density development called for in that area by the county's comprehensive land plan.

Early in the hearing, Sturm, commissioner for the district in which the area lies, moved to deny the request, saying

'What I've seen in the last few years with the intensity of traffic going by, this property ultimately will be developed with a commercial use.

Development later may not be as good as the School Board plan.'

that four other suitable sites ranging from 41 acres to 163 acres, costing $18,000 to $40,000 per acre, all centrally located, are available for purchase. He said the proposed rezoning "clearly violates" the county comprehensive land plan. He said 20 acres of the site are unusable because of drainage problems and prohibitive development costs.

Mrs. Christensen seconded the motion. But Kirchhoff warned the opponents that ultimately the property will be rezoned by a succeeding commission in a year or so after Dale has sold out his development and interest in fighting a rezoning of the tract wanes. He predicted the property will not be developed with single family homes.

"What I've seen in the last few years with the intensity of traffic going by, this property ultimately will be developed with a commercial use," he said.

Proposed development of the parcel later may not be as good as the School Board plan, Kirchhoff said, nor may another group down the road be willing to make the same public commitments for the development.

Kirchhoff attempted to amend Sturm's motion to grant the request subject to approval of a site plan by the board showing accesses to the parcel and suitable buffers. The motion died for lack of a second.

Feather, hinting the opposition was politically inspired, said many of the opponents of the zoning are powers within the Republican Party whose support he has never received in elections. "They give time and money and endorse candidates," he said.

Feather also hinted that while the Church of the Nativity was opposing the rezoning, the Catholic Diocese of Orlando, which owns a 24-acre piece of property at CR 427 near C-15, plans to build a school at that site in the future and thus will increase the traffic flow on 427.

Feather searched for a compromise. He asked the school officials if they would be willing to locate their entrance-exit on 427, halfway between Cardinal Oaks Estates and the church property; if they would commit that no more buses would travel 427 when the new facility is built than today; if they would comply with a noise ordinance yet to be adopted by the commission?

Hughes replied "yes" to all the questions.

Mrs. Glenn objected to the commitments Feather was eliciting, saying the county has no power to enforce them.

Hughes also committed, at Feather's behest, that the gates to the 427 side of the facility would be closed after 5 p.m. daily, requiring buses returning from late night activities to use the 17-92 entrance to the property.

Feather then moved to amend Sturm's motion to grant the request including the stipulations committed by Hughes.

Mrs. Glenn said everyone on both sides had prepared their cases well. She said she resented "the implication that the commission is being pressured by the Republican Party," pointing to the major opposition by all segments of the Lake Mary community not involved in party politics.

"I see a small government looking to the county for direction. I have a definite concern about the entrance-exit on 427," she said, announcing that she would vote against the amendment and vote to deny the request.

Some 120 persons were in the commission chamber during the hearing and about two-thirds raised their hands indicating their opposition to the proposed rezoning. Another 80 persons were sitting on folding chairs set up on the second floor mezzanine and about two-thirds of them indicated their opposition to the rezoning. Those on the mezzanine followed the hearing via loudspeaker.

Hughes said today he will make a formal report to the School Board on the issue at the board's Feb. 8 meeting and ask for direction.

Flea World Gets Help On Traffic Woes

Flea World will be allowed to use County Home Road as an exit after all, but not County Road 427.

Despite previous protests from residents in the area, the Seminole County Commission voted after a public hearing Tuesday night to allow traffic to leave the business via County Home Road, but the major entrance-exit will remain U.S. Highway 17-92. Neither exit nor entrance was allowed on CR 427.

The special permission for vehicular exiting on County Home Road was given subject to County owner Syd Levy submitting a redesign of Flea World's interior parking area to the county commission for approval.

Levy was granted a special exception by the county's Board of Adjustment a year ago to permit location of the flea market, but the exception was contingent upon him keeping back gates to the market closed during business hours and using 17-92 as the sole entrance-exit during business hours.

However, at a Dec. 6 meeting, the county commission at Levy's request granted permission for Flea World to use points on CR 427 and County Home Road for entrance and exit.

The decision was appealed by a nearby property owner in January, who claimed the permission for the additional entrance-exits was illegal, and County Attorney Nikki Clayton agreed the permissions violated conditions set by the Board of Adjustment.

The commission rescinded its permissions and Levy appealed in turn for the new hearing Tuesday night.

In other business Tuesday, Ken Hooper, director of the county's environmental services, told commissioners he plans to formally ask the commission to stop private citizens from dumping white goods — old refrigerators, stoves and other heavy appliances — at the transfer stations at Sanlando, Upsala and Oviedo.

Hooper said he'll make the request in about three weeks.

If granted, the white goods will have to be taken to the county's sanitary landfill at the former Osceola Airfield north of Oviedo.

The county commissioners listened to the proposal during a work session Tuesday afternoon and indicated support.

The plan includes a provision banning individuals from using the transfer stations at all Monday through Friday to dispose of their garbage and trash. Instead, private citizens would be permitted to use the facilities exclusively on Saturdays at Upsala, near Sanford, and at Oviedo and on Saturdays and Sundays both at Sanlando, near Altamonte Springs, and Osceola.

Hooper said today the reason for banning the white goods is because they are "tearing up the packers that must carry the compacted materials to the county's landfill at Osceola for burial."

Hooper said the new regulations were early envisioned as a safety program because of the danger of persons falling into the garbage compactors at the transfer station as they dump their garbage and trash while commercial haulers are also using the facilities.

Antone's Fate Rests With Supreme Court

STARKE, Fla. (UPI) — An appeals court refused another hearing for Anthony Antone today only 90 minutes before his stay of execution ran out and his lawyers rushed to the Supreme Court for a reprieve.

Although the 66-year-old death row convict's stay expired at noon EST, there was little likelihood that state authorities would schedule his electrocution before Thursday morning.

The 11th Circuit Court of Appeals in Atlanta — which granted Antone a 36-hour stay early Tuesday morning so his attorneys could appeal to the Supreme Court — rejected at 10:36 a.m. their request for a hearing before the entire court.

Tom McCoun, Antone's attorney, officially filed an appeal at 10:41 a.m. before Justice Lewis Powell.

He said other pleadings were en route to Washington but were encountering travel problems.

McCoun did not explain why, when given a 36-hour stay specifically to appeal to the high court, he instead returned to the 11th Circuit court for the en banc hearing. The three judges of that court, which granted the temporary stay, had done so despite ruling that his plea was worthless and "an abuse of the writ."

Eagle Soars

Eagle Scout Walter Mahaney shares a proud moment with his parents, William S. and Mary Judy of 305 Tangerine Drive, Sanford, at the Eagle Award ceremony for Troop 844. To earn Boy Scouting's highest award, the Bishop Moore High School senior earned 27 merit badges and did special projects such as planning and executing a Fourth of July weekend "Safety Break" at the Interstate-4 rest stop near Epcot. With the help of other Scouts and adults he served doughnuts, coffee, and juice to 5,000 persons from 15 foreign countries and 45 states. The ceremony was held Saturday at First Christian Church, Sanford.

Murder Conviction Stands

Attorneys Argued Act Wasn't Premeditated

A Sanford woman has lost her appeal before the 5th District Court of Appeals of a 1983 first-degree murder conviction.

Susie Mae Davis, 24, of 1410 Williams Ave., had her appeal unanimously turned down Tuesday by three judges of the 5th District Court, according to Nancy Blair, deputy court clerk. The judges made no comment. Davis was convicted in the Jan. 5, 1983 shooting death of her boyfriend, Bryon L. Brooks, of Lake Mary.

As yet, no motion for a rehearing, needed for a higher appeal, has been entered, Ms. Blair said.

Davis' attorneys' appeal maintained the shooting was not premeditated.

Davis was sentenced to life in prison with a minimum of 25 years to serve before she becomes eligible for parole. The State Attorney did not seek the death penalty. Circuit Court Judge Kenneth M. Lefler presided over the murder trial.

According to police reports, Brooks was working at the Sanford Landings apartments construction site on West

Susie Mae Davis

First Street the morning of Aug. 24, 1982, when a Miss Davis drove her car to the site, parked it and walked up to him.

After a discussion, Miss Davis returned to her car, pulled out a .22-caliber pistol and shot Brooks as he tried to run away. As Brooks ran Miss Davis followed, yelling "he lied on me" shooting three more bullets into him.

The attack sent Brooks' co-workers scurrying for cover but one quick-thinking worker chased Miss Davis down in his truck, ramming it into her car as she drove out of the construction site.

Keith King, 40, of Lake Mary, a crew foreman, held a gun on Miss Davis until police arrived at the scene.

Police said the shooting was the result of an apparent lovers' quarrel between Brooks and Miss Davis.

They had been living together until two days before the shooting when he moved out of their house. No reason for Brooks' decision to move out of the house was given and police said they did not know what prompted the shooting.

NATION IN BRIEF

Judge Gives Anti-Draft Groups School Access

CHICAGO (UPI) — Since Chicago high schools let military recruiters in the door, they also must allow anti-military groups to advise students on alternatives to the service, a federal judge has ruled.

U.S. District Judge George N. Leighton ruled Tuesday denying groups equal access to the schools violates provisions of the First and 14th Amendments. He said the Board of Education's "form of censorship cannot be tolerated."

"It is well settled that once a forum is opened for the expression of views, regardless of how unusual the forum, under the dual mandate of the First Amendment and equal protection clause, neither the government nor any private censor may pick and choose between those views which may or may not be expressed," Leighton said.

Phone Charges Delayed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Communications Commission today made final its order to delay until mid-1985 a $2-a-month telephone access charge for residential and small business customers.

Under the order, the flat monthly long-distance surcharges originally scheduled to start April 3 will be phased in gradually until 1990, and will rise no higher than $4 during that period.

A $6-a-month charge for businesses with more than one phone line will go into effect as scheduled April 3.

On Wednesday the Senate postponed a test vote on legislation calling for a two-year moratorium on the access charges to see what the FCC would do. Now it appears likely that the bill will be set aside indefinitely in a Senate vote expected Thursday.

School Rezoning Meeting Set At Lake Mary Tonight

A parents' committee concerned about the possible rezoning of Lake Mary Elementary School's attendance zone for the 1984-85 school year has invited interested parents to attend a meeting at 7 tonight in the school auditorium.

School secretary Dottie Ramsay said a dozen parents have organized to inform parents of children in Groveview, Park Ridge, Hidden Lake, and the Lockhart and Lake Jesup areas that their children may be transferred to another north Seminole school next year. "Lake Mary Elementary School because of its high group rate will be hardest hit in a rezoning," Ms. Ramsay said.

2 Fires Probed; Arson Suspected In 1

Seminole County fire officials are investigating two fires which destroyed one home and caused only minor damage to a rooming house. One of the fires is suspected of being arson.

At 6:49 p.m. Tuesday, four county units responded to a house fire at 201 Station Ave. In the unincorporated area of the county near Altamonte Springs.

The home was destroyed by the fire which reportedly was started by an electrical short. Investigator Dawson Curr was at the scene this morning and further information was not available. No one was injured in the blaze which was brought under control within an hour.

Near Sanford, county fire units reported a small fire at the same address a sheriff's deputy had checked earlier in the day on an arson report.

Three engines, a tanker and a squad of firefighters were dispatched to an unoccupied rooming house at 23 W. 18th St. at 2:27 p.m., though only one engine remained to put the fire out after it was determined to be a small burn.

At 8 a.m. Tuesday, a deputy had gone to the rooming house, owned by Wallace Anderson of Orlando, when his goddaughter, Cheryl Powell, 25, of 1714 Tangerine Ave., Sanford, reported she saw a suspicious person at the building. The man said he was there to spray the house, presumably for bugs.

The deputy reported finding gasoline at the southeast entrance of the house and in the bathroom sink.

RESISTED OFFICERS

An Altamonte Springs man is being held in the Seminole County jail on a charge of resisting arrest with violence after he allegedly tried to keep officers from arresting a woman on charges of resisting arrest with violence, disorderly conduct and battery on an officer.

The arrests came Sunday at 11:48 p.m. when two sheriff's deputies attempted to settle a domestic dispute at a rooming house on the north side of Club 438 on Lake Howell Road at State Road 436, Altamonte Springs.

Janice Laverne Francis, 23, of Orlando, was arrested at the scene after allegedly continuing to argue with witnesses and struggling with the officers. She is being held in jail in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Angel Billy Torres, 23, of Lake Howell Road, was arrested after he allegedly tried to interfere with the arrest of Ms. Francis, a sheriff's report said. He is being held in lieu of $500 bond.

BURGLARIES

Items valued at $1,439, including a radio and stereo equipment, were taken in a break-in at 19 Dot Drive, Altamonte Springs, between 3:45 and 9:30 p.m. Sunday. The thief entered the home of Kevin Tonaselli, 29, and Becky Ott, through a south bedroom window, a sheriff's report said.

A thief took more than $5,000 worth of items including jewelry, a microwave oven and stereo equipment in a Sunday break-in at 913 Longwood Markham Road, Sanford. The thief entered the home of Kimberly Ann Lockhard, 25, by forcing a kitchen window open, a sheriff's report said.

Donna Duda, 17, of Oviedo, reported to the sheriff's Alfred Lashly Barnette, 22, address unknown, was arrested at 5:15 p.m. Friday at the bank. He is being held in the Seminole County jail in lieu of $5,000 bond on charges of forgery and attempted grand theft, the report said.

Easter Cross OK'd For Park

The Sanford City Commission has given its unanimous blessing to a plan to erect a cross at the Veterans' Memorial Park at the lakefront during the Easter season.

Hulon Black, who is heading the planning for the Easter service at the park, asked permission Monday night to erect the cross for a period extending from three weeks before Easter to the week after Easter when the cross will be taken down.

He said "Resurrection Celebration 84," in the planning stage, is supported by the Sanford Ministerial Association and the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

The Star of Sanford cruise ship, sitting just offshore from the park, will be the site of special music and the morning's religious message that those in the park will be able to hear, Black said.

As many as 200 persons are expected to attend the 7 a.m. Easter service, Black said.

Some months ago, the city commission turned down a request from Black that the cross be displayed in the park year round.

Mayor Lee P. Moore said it would not be appropriate to have a cross at the park dedicated to veterans of all faiths.

IN BRIEF

Canadian 'Guinea Pigs' Want U.S. Compensation

OTTAWA (UPI) — Canada will pressure the United States to compensate nine Canadians unwittingly used as human guinea pigs for LSD and electric shock experiments financed by the CIA, a top official said.

External Affairs Minister Allan Rock said Tuesday the "first step" toward winning compensation for the victims was to apply political pressure on the United States for a bilateral settlement. If that fails, he said Canada may turn to the International Court of Justice at the Hague for relief.

Canada is seeking compensation for nine citizens who between 1957 and 1963 were used as human guinea pigs without their knowledge by a doctor working in the Allan Memorial Institute, a Montreal psychiatric hospital.

The nine victims, officials said, were permanently scarred by the illegal brainwashing experiments, which included the administration of large quantities of LSD and massive electric shock treatments.

No Election Supervision

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — A Nicaraguan leader ruled out any international supervision of 1985 presidential elections because it would "harm national sovereignty."

Nicaragua's Marxist government announced last week that elections for president, vice president and a 90-member constituent assembly would be held in 1985.

Members of rightist opposition parties and the Superior Council of Private Industry recently filed a petition demanding the elections be overseen by an outside country to ensure a fair, democratic process.

U.S. To Invade El Salvador?

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — The Salvadoran rebel high command charged the Reagan administration plans to invade El Salvador as part of U.S. military maneuvers in neighboring Honduras in June.

The Salvadoran Defense Ministry said the allegations were a "ridiculous propagandistic invention to distract attention from rebel defeats in Usulután province."

The guerrillas said American troops plan to invade during upcoming Big Pine III war games, which include troops from El Salvador and Guatemala as well as the Hondurans.

Playing The 'Game'

Andropov Says Reagan's Peace Talk Nothing New

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet President Yuri Andropov today rejected President Reagan's recent bid for better U.S.-Soviet relations as a part of a "game" and called for concrete steps toward nuclear arms reduction.

At the same time, the tone of Andropov's interview with the Communist Party newspaper Pravda was much less harsh than that of his recent statements.

Moscow favors dialogue, he said, "but we will not go to talks for the sake of talks and we will not pretend that in Western Europe there are no new missiles targeted on us and our allies."

"This game is not for us," Andropov said, referring to the deployment of new U.S. Pershing and cruise missiles that began last month in West Germany and Britain. The Soviets left the Geneva arms control talks as the deployment began.

Andropov said, "It is by practical deeds that we will judge whether the United States has serious intentions to conduct a dialogue with us."

The remarks, also read on the nightly television news Tuesday, were the ailing Soviet leader's first response to Reagan's speech of Jan. 16 calling for a renewed U.S.-Soviet dialogue.

The remarks seemed to mirror Reagan's approach by turning down the level of rhetoric while taking a firm stand on the issues.

Andropov said, however, that Reagan's speech did not contain a "single new idea, any new proposals either on the question of limiting nuclear arms in Europe or on other questions."

The U.S. leadership "has not given up its intentions to conduct talks with us from positions of strength, from positions of threats and pressure. We resolutely reject such an approach and in general attempts to conduct a power diplomacy in respect to us are a hopeless thing," he said.

Andropov said there was only one solution to the problem of nuclear weapons in Europe.

"Before it is too late, the United States and NATO should display readiness to return to the situation that had existed before the commencement of the deployment of the Pershing-2s and cruise missiles."

The call for the dismantling of the missiles has been Moscow's condition for resumption of the Geneva talks.

Andropov also noted several areas for superpower agreements, but a Western diplomat said they were not new proposals.

The diplomat also said Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko's speech at the European Security Conference in Stockholm last week, "which was far from calm," indicated no easing of tensions between the two superpowers.

In a related development, the official news agency Tass said the administration's charges concerning alleged Soviet arms treaty violations were part of an "odious smear blitz."

Reagan charged the Soviet Union Monday with seven violations and probable violations of treaties limiting strategic arms and chemical and biological weapons.

The administration's charges were made "in the illusory hope to somehow justify in the eyes of world public opinion the violations of existing accords by the United States itself," Tass said.

Legal Needles Would Help Stem The Spread Of AIDS

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — An expert on infectious diseases says legalizing the sale of hypodermic needles to the general public would help "break the train of transmission" of Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome.

Dr. Neil Flynn, an infectious disease specialist at the University of California Medical Center in Sacramento, said hemophiliacs should no longer be treated with blood purchased from the public.

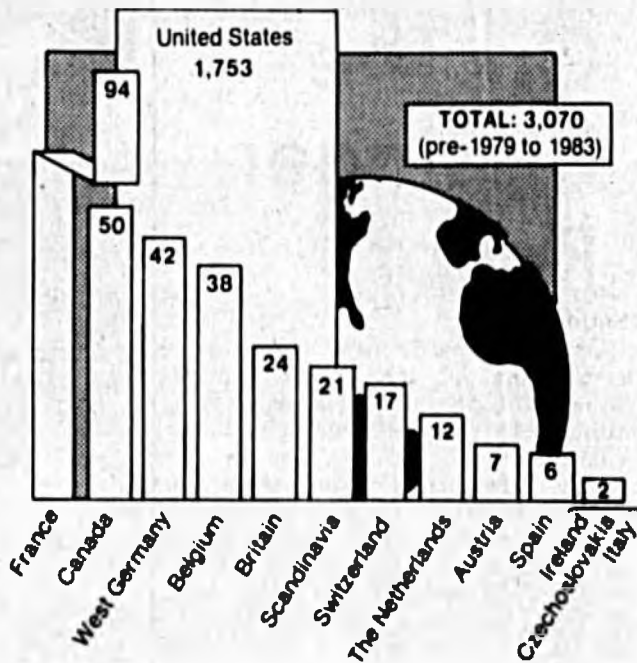

He said a single transfusion for a hemophiliac, whose blood is unable to clot, exposes the patient to the blood of from 2,000 to 20,000 donors and largely comes from purchases made in low-income areas.

Most states ban the sale of hypodermic syringes to keep them from drug users. The result is that addicts usually share needles, facilitating the spread of AIDS, Flynn said.

"Sterile needles would break the train of transmission," said Flynn, who specializes in AIDS treatment. "It would be especially helpful in New York and San Francisco, where there are large concentrations of AIDS."

He said cheap, disposable needles now are available, but "it's up to society whether control of AIDS is worth changing what society has said in the past — that addicts shouldn't have needles."

Among drug users, he said, AIDS is often transmitted by people who harbor the disease but have not yet shown symptoms.

(Source: World Health Organization/ U.S. Centers for Disease Control)

The U.S. leads the world, far and away, in the total number of AIDS cases reported. The World Health Organization says this may be due to incomplete reporting elsewhere, lack of awareness of a relatively new disease, or outright suppression of AIDS figures.

Polls: War, Deficits The Key Issues In '84

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan's chances for re-election could be threatened by rising budget deficits and the threat of war, which are shaping up as the major issues of the 1984 campaign, three prominent pollsters say.

Independent pollster Louis Harris told reporters at a breakfast meeting Tuesday that Reagan "has polarized the nation more than anyone since Franklin D. Roosevelt" and could be vulnerable, because polarization causes a large turnout that usually favors Democrats.

"I'd say Ronald Reagan is vulnerable and can be taken," Harris said. "This looks to me to be very close — a 50-50 election."

Reagan's chief pollster, Richard Wirthlin, joined Peter Hart, who does the same job for Mondale, across town at another breakfast for reporters, and they agreed that deficits and war are critical issues.

Harris said 35 percent of the voters are "hard-core pro-Reagan," while 38 percent are "hard-core anti-Reagan."

Harris also said his latest poll shows 70 percent of the people now want the Marines out of Lebanon and 61 percent are worried about Reagan getting the United States into war.

When it comes to deficits, 72 percent feel the budget will not be balanced if Reagan is re-elected, Harris said.

Lawmakers Promise Fast Action On Child-Support Legislation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lawmakers promise speedy action on a bill backed by the administration that would force absent parents to provide financial support for their children.

Child-support enforcement legislation is expected to be ready for consideration by the full Senate next month, said Robert Dole, R-Kan., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

The House already has approved one version of the legislation, and similar proposals are pending before Dole's committee, which Tuesday heard testimony from Health and Human Services Secretary Margaret Heckler and half a dozen senators and representatives.

New legislation is needed to fight widespread non-payment of child support, Mrs. Heckler said, estimating that absent parents dodge about $4 billion in support payments annually.

She cited Census Bureau statistics showing that in 1981, more than 8.4 million women were raising their children alone. Fathers had been directed to make child-support payments in 4 million cases, but more than half the mothers were receiving only partial payments or no payments at all.

The administration's proposal and the House version of the bill would require states to dock the paychecks of absent parents to collect back child-support payments.

The proposals also would require states to reduce state income-tax refunds in welfare cases and encourage them to make deductions in nonwelfare cases. Other provisions would reward states for improving their child-support enforcement programs and for increasing collections of payments from absent parents.

Quote-Unquote On The Quotas

The U.S. Civil Rights Commission has taken a sharp change of direction with its condemnation of preferential quotas in hiring and promotion. The liberals are reacting as though the commission had come out for the repeal of all the Civil Rights legislation enacted during the last 20 years.

What the commission is doing is urging government agencies to pay more attention to what those civil rights laws really say. They say that discrimination is wrong, period.

Affirmative Action programs that established quota systems for hiring and promoting minorities have been oblivious to that point. In particular, the commission appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court to rethink its recent rejection of an appeal on behalf of white policemen in Detroit who have been the victims of racial discrimination in their jobs.

The court is allowing Detroit to keep separate promotion lists of white officers and black officers, promoting one black officer for every white officer promoted, regardless of merit or seniority. The aim is laudable enough: To create a police force in which the number of black officers in higher ranks is in line with the number of blacks in Detroit's population, as it presumably would be if there had been no racial discrimination on the Detroit police force in the past.

The Civil Rights Commission is now giving formal recognition to what anyone with a sense of simple justice can see: That Detroit is squeezing white officers out of promotions for which they are otherwise qualified, and for no reason except their race. And that, according to any reasonable concept of civil rights, makes them victims of racial discrimination.

The recognition of this "reverse discrimination" has been a long time in coming at high levels of government. Indeed, the courts have been ambiguous at best in defining how far an Affirmative Action program can go in redressing the effects of past discrimination of minorities before it becomes guilty of discrimination against the majority in the here and now. The Civil Rights Commission cannot dictate to the courts or to the Congress, but it can bring its moral suasion to bear on those institutions and others that deal with issues of discrimination and Affirmative Action.

The commission today is more qualified to speak out on the issue as a representative body that it was before the row between Congress and the White House that nearly ended its existence last fall. When Congress balked at President Reagan's attempt to replace members of the commission who disagreed with his views, a compromise was struck. What was formerly a six-member commission appointed by the president has been reconstituted as an eight-member body with four members appointed by the president and four by the two parties in Congress.

Democratic candidates for president who sniff an election issue in the commission's denunciation of quotas should keep this in mind. Walter Mondale, it turns out, was talking through his hat when he said he would fire the commissioners appointed by Mr. Reagan if he were elected president. Under the new legislation, neither the commissioners appointed by a president nor those appointed by Congress can be fired for political reasons.

The commission followed up its 6-2 vote against racial quotas by scolding an anonymous White House official who was quoted as saying the commission is "on our side." Not so, said a message directed to 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue. "The commission will remain independent of all outside wishes or pressures, whether they come from the White House or any other group."

President Reagan, long a critic of the reverse discrimination evident in quota hiring and promotions, obviously has sympathizers on the commission but he can expect to be rebuffed if he tries to control it. The liberal activists who dominated the commission for many years — and led it to the embrace of quotas, mandatory school busing and other doubtful remedies for discrimination — also have been pushed out of the driver's seat.

What does that leave us? It leaves us with a Civil Rights Commission composed of members chosen in equal numbers by the administration and Congress and who are independent-minded enough to resist political pressures from whatever direction. The commission, after all these years, may finally be ready to justify its existence.

"Sorry! We are no longer involved in production, sales and service. Now, all we do is ATTEND MEETINGS!"

By Deane Jordan

A cable television business serving Seminole County has been mentioned in the latest issue of Florida Crime Watch as contributing air time to help locate missing children.

The Orange-Seminole Cablevision, a joint venture with the Americable Associates in Miami, will air a series of 30-minute programs dealing with missing children. The show will have interviews with law enforcement people and with convicted child molesters. The molesters will tell viewers what such a person looks for when committing the crime.

The show will include photographs of missing children and physical descriptions including medical and dental histories of each child. The format is entitled "Wanted" and will air every week with some stations agreeing to air as many as three times per week.

Orange-Seminole Cablevision has not set a date to air the programs.

The Florida Crime Watch bulletin also has a warning this month regarding mail-order religions.

According to the bulletin, most mail order religions are out to empty the pocket book rather than fill the heart.

The report is based on a study by Anson D. Shupe Jr., a University of Texas sociologist.

In a seven-year study of mail order religions, beginning in 1969, Shupe became involved with 27 different groups and found that although some mail order religions are sincere, the majority are designed to bilk people out of money.

He found most leaders of the cults have few credentials for their positions. Shupe came to the conclusion that the cults which succeed offer diplomas or rank.

They give their members a rank or symbol of position which gives them a feeling of progress and stature, he said.

If you are being confronted by someone who is about to or is committing a crime, most police officers suggest the following actions as the best defense available under the circumstances, according to the Crime Watch bulletin.

First, do not suddenly insult, threaten or provoke an assailant, and comply with demands for money and valuables. They can be replaced.

Only if your life is in danger by an attack should one attempt a physical confrontation. If you are apprehensive about a situation, it is better to move or run away if you can, according to the bulletin. If chased, scream if possible. Some authorities feel that yelling "fire" will tend to cause more people to respond.

Further, the carrying of firearms or injurious weapons for use against someone breaking the law can be used by the law-breaker against you and there are often legal restraints on owning, carrying, and using weapons.

The American Bar Association has voted on the critical question of how much confidence a client is entitled to, even if the lawyer knows that the client is engaged in crime, according to the Crime Watch bulletin.

The result is that the lawyer is not required to report a client because of criminal activity or fraud unless such crimes are likely to result in imminent death or substantial bodily harm.

On The Kissinger Report

(Editor's Note: Edward J. Walsh is a staff writer for the USBIC Writer's Group. His column is published in a variety of newspapers throughout the United States.)

The Presidential Commission on Central America, chaired by former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and pretty much named for him, has done its job: It has endorsed most of President Reagan's positions, while creating an acceptable media stir.

The report, presented to the president not long ago, is the result of some painful compromises by the conservative, liberal and allegedly moderate Commission members. It proposes some silly things, such as a Central American Development Organization which would channel U.S. economic aid throughout the region in the manner of the Marshall Plan. That aid, the Commission suggested, should be on the order of $8 billion over the next five years.

Aside from this grandiose scheme to employ international bankers and bureaucrats, the gist of the report is its focus on the strategic, that is, the military situation on the ground in Central America. While the report deals with the entire region, it fixes necessarily on the heart of the crisis, the Marxist-Leninist assault on El Salvador from its Marxist-Leninist nerve center next door in Nicaragua. The conflict among the Commission's members is obvious here: they recommend that continued military aid to El Salvador be made contingent upon improvements in the government's observance of human rights. Chairman Kissinger, however, dissented in an important footnote, stating matter-of-factly that if a choice must be made between strings placed on military aid and a communist victory, the conditions must go.

"It is absurd," he explained after submitting the report to Mr. Reagan, "to allow, in the name of human rights, a victory by a political movement that suppresses human rights."

The President will be satisfied with the Commission's performance, even with the differences it expresses with his policies. A report rubber-stamping the administration's views would be met with cynicism for both the President and his positions. A little controversy, he knows, is a necessary ingredient for political success.

Politics aside, the Commission on Central America faced a near-impossible task. Consensus on solutions to the crisis of Central America simply does not exist. That crisis is a morass of economic, social, and political antagonisms, long bathed in blood. The abuses of human rights by death squads, the incredible, almost Stone Age-level poverty, the endemic political hatred and mistrust are not the habits of recent years, but the traditions of centuries. They will not be dispelled by five years of U.S. economic aid, or 25.

President Not Paying Enough For Space

WASHINGTON — Unlike most of the nation's renters, President Reagan has an understanding and compassionate landlord — the General Services Administration. The president pays for his office space in the White House and the annual rent for the East and West Wings covers less and less each year of the actual maintenance and operating costs.

But that's no problem: the landlord eats the difference.

The care and maintenance of the first family's living quarters and the White House grounds are taken care of by the Interior Department. For cleaning, repairs and other services in the two office wings, the GSA collects a "standard-level user's charge."

Internal projections estimate it will cost $1,411,900 to keep the wings in shape this year. But the rent authorized by Congress is only $617,000. That will leave a deficit of $794,000.

In 1982, the rent deficit was $782,371; in 1981, it was a stiff $962,382. John Rodgers, presidential assistant for management administra-

Karen Silkwood Story

I wonder if we have at last reached the point where people have decided that they do not want to pay money and sit in a movie theater and be lied to. We may have reached that point, judging by what the critics and commentators have been saying about the new Meryl Streep film based on the Karen Silkwood story.

I saw the movie the other night, and it is a well-acted thriller. The trouble is that the actual Silkwood story is a matter of public record — the latest entry being a Supreme Court ruling that a $10 million award won by the estate of Karen Silkwood is not barred by federal law — and the movie is a fraud.

For example, the movie strongly suggests that Karen Silkwood was murdered while driving to an interview with a New York Times reporter, at which she was prepared to document her allegations that the Kerr-McGee Corporation was covering up its dangerous mismanagement of plutonium reprocessing.

That is nice melodrama, but the truth appears to be that Karen Silkwood died when she crashed her car in a drug-induced daze. The quantity of Qualudes in her system was very high, as determined at the autopsy.

The movie states that no documents were present in the death car, and leaves with us the suggestion that agents of Kerr-McGee lifted them after the accident. This is false. Documents were found in the car, but they do not substantiate Silkwood's charges.

The movie asks us to believe that Kerr-McGee was doctoring X-ray photographs to cover up defects in its plutonium-reprocessed nuclear fuel rods. This is false. The technicians merely removed dust spots from the photos. There were in fact no defects in the fuel rods, and more than 3,000 Kerr-McGee rods have functioned perfectly as nuclear fuel.

At one point in the film, a character states that defects in the fuel rods could blow up the entire state, killing millions of people. This is false, though perhaps the character actually does believe that. Plutonium is a very deadly poison if it enters the body, but in the form being processed by Kerr-McGee it does not blow up, and its radioactivity is minimal.

Some mysteries do remain as regards the real Karen Silkwood, most notably how she herself came to be internally infected with plutonium. The movie leaves that question open, but suggests strongly that Kerr-McGee was responsible. There is no evidence to support that notion. I myself lean to the opinion that she accidentally poisoned herself while trying to concoct a case against Kerr-McGee. But, in truth, we simply do not know.

The movie also misrepresents the known facts concerning Karen Silkwood's personal life. She was not monogamous, and was not devoted either to her lover or to her children by a former marriage, contrary to the movie. One of the bright spots of the movie, however, is the performance of the actress Cher, who plays Silkwood's lesbian consort.

This movie is merely the latest in a recent and corrupt tradition that consciously falsifies history, and delivers checkable lies to its gullible audiences.

We have had "The China Syndrome," devoted to the notion that corrupt atomic power officials are willing to risk the deaths of millions of people to cover up their mistakes, a thesis for which there is no evidence whatsoever.

Watching Population Trends

The long-range capabilities of any nation are shaped by the character of its population. For this reason, Americans ought to follow demographic trends in the Soviet Union with the keenest interest.

A very interesting discussion of these trends appeared in a recent issue of The World, a British journal. The article made a number of significant points.

1. The total population of the Soviet Union is growing much less rapidly than anticipated and may be in a state of stagnation or even decline by the end of the century. This will reduce the labor force.

2. In terms of ethnic distribution, the native populations of Soviet Central Asia — most of whom retain loyalty to their Muslim heritage — are increasing in numbers at a rate more than three times that of other Soviet ethnic groups. They live in the less industrialized zones of the USSR.

3. The proportion of Slavs in the Soviet Union is declining. By the year 2000, the Russian share of the USSR population will be only about 46 or 48 percent.

4. These demographic developments are, apparently, a result of both deteriorating health care and differences in Muslim and non-Muslim lifestyles.

This article points out that the Soviet medicine has failed to keep pace with rapid advances in the West. Problems include poorly paid physicians, a severe shortage of skilled nurses, corruption among medical care professionals, and a shortage of medical equipment and supplies. This impacts on the birthrate. Moreover, Soviet budget allocations for health have been cut back since 1965. The Soviet Union also has an acute problem with widespread alcoholism.

The impact of these developments will be felt in the Soviet military establishment. The Soviet armed forces will encounter great difficulty in filling their ranks with adequately educated young men. By the turn of the century, Central Asians will account for two-thirds of Soviet conscripts. According to the Proceedings of the U.S. Naval Institute, the Soviets already have severe language problems in their armed forces.

The World Today also notes that "USSR defense efforts are hardly enhanced by recruits who cannot comprehend a common language, who have ethnic loyalties that cross Soviet borders, and who identify neither with a Slavic society nor with its Russian and Ukrainian officers. The loyalty of such troops to Moscow is especially uncertain when confronted with pan-Islamic, Third World issues in Asia where Soviet Muslims have ethnic counterparts in several countries bordering on the USSR."

Also, for several months in 1982 the troublesome tenant refused to pay the $32,400 salary of a paper-shredder operator and $35,000 for the White House briefing room electrician and "the standby elevator operator." But now, the White House and Secret Service pay these salaries from their funds.

HEADLINES AND FOOTNOTES: Tape-happy Charles Wick, director of the U.S. Information Agency, embarrassed embassy officials in Bonn recently when he insisted on videotaping his half-hour meeting with West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl. The chancellor went along with the odd request like a trouper.

— The Polish government is trying to play down the discovery of 28 bodies by a building crew in Gdansk last year, claiming that they date back to World War II. But there are rumors that the bodies were found in plastic bags — which weren't available then. This means the bodies could be victims of widespread police shootings in 1970.

Can an auto repair shop charge more than their original estimate without my knowledge?

ANSWER:
Under the protection of the 1981 Florida Motor Vehicle Repair Act, no. But, unfortunately many consumers are still not aware of this law and through it recently celebrated its third birthday... there are still some shops in non-compliance.

Let's review what protection the law provides when you take a car in for repair, and how to report a violation. As a consumer you no longer have to second guess what your rights are — you will be shown. As a businessperson you will have written proof of what was ordered. Here are some of the main benefits:

*The law provides a mandatory written estimate be offered if the work will cost over $50. The shop may not exceed this by more than 10% or $10, whichever is greater, up to a maximum of $50. If it becomes necessary to charge more, the shop must contact you and get your permission to proceed. You may cancel the work at any time by paying what is owed in parts and labor to that point.

*It is mandatory that the estimate contain the name, address and phone number of both the shop and customer. The work description must also include details of the customer's repair request, the year, make, model, odometer reading and license tag of the vehicle, whether the charge is based on flat rate or hourly (or a combination of both), and many details regarding work guarantees (if any), intended method of payment and the proposed work completion date.

*If the work is going to exceed $50, the shop must give you a copy of the repair order and the disclosure statement, even if you do not request an estimate. The disclosure statement may appear on the repair order or the estimate form... but you must be given a copy.

*The final bill must include a full description of the work, a breakdown of the charges for labor, parts or other merchandise and services, and contain the date and odometer reading. (This provides the consumer with "in" and "out" odometer information.)

The law is enforced through the state attorney in the circuit where the transaction has taken place. If you feel a violation has occurred, you should contact the state attorney in your area for further information on how to proceed.

You may wish to bring action against the shop through Small Claims Court... or seek release of the vehicle by posting a bond in the Clerk of the Circuit Court's office for the amount of the final bill. Though the bond will include any disputed amount (if you were overcharged), the money will be returned to you within 60 days if the shops brings no further action to recover the bond for payment of the repair.

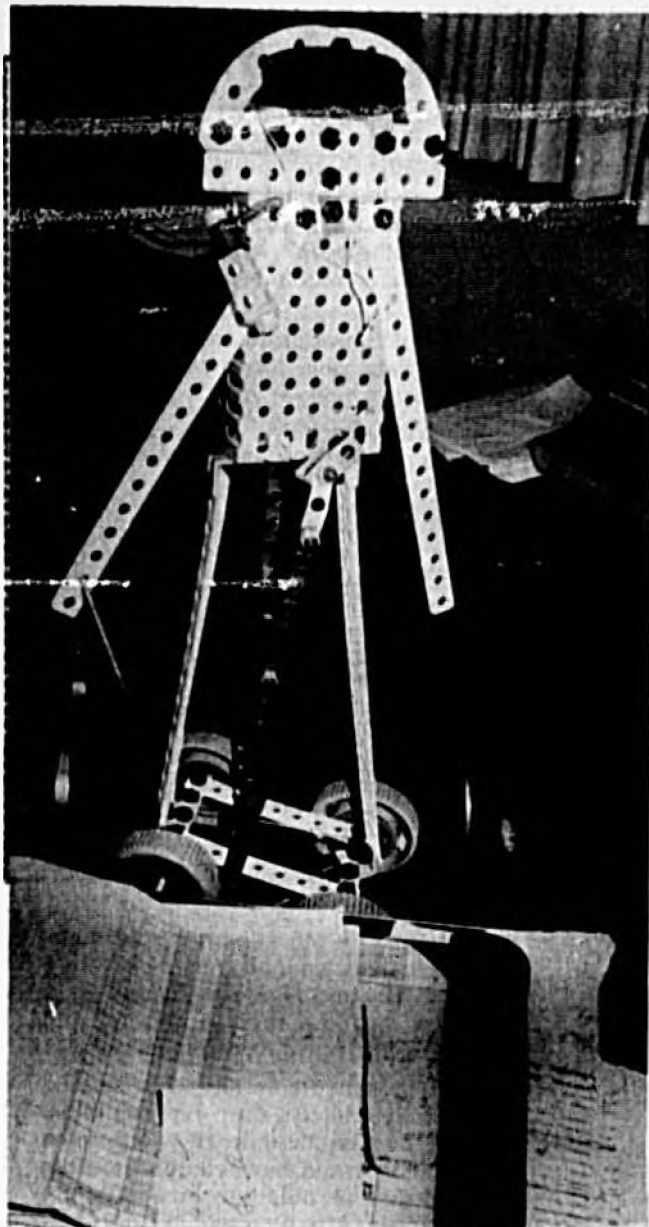

For further details on what protection you can expect under this law, our office has a supply of "the Florida Motor Vehicle Repair Act," a brochure from the Department of Legal Affairs. For your free copy, call or write the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, 508 Mayo Building, Tallahassee, FL 32301 (toll-free) 1-800-342-2176.

...for your information:
Make your plans for National Consumers Week (NCW), April 23-29 now. Activities suggested by the U.S. Office of Consumer Affairs include workshops, town meetings, community forums, fairs, poster contests, proclamations, and dissemination of informational flyers. In addition to sponsoring and participating in NCW'84 forums, the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services will again coordinate a statewide poster contest, sponsored by the National Coalition for Consumer Education. Elementary, middle and high school students can participate, choosing as the theme of their posters the NCW'84 theme "Consumers Mean Business" or any topic within the consumer education curriculum... such as financial management, credit, consumer rights, or citizen participation. The deadline for submitting entries is March 1, 1984.

Posters will be judged in three categories — grades K-3, 4-8, 9-12 — for overall design, creativity, clarity, and neatness. For specific details, contact Marie Foster, Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, Division of Consumer Services, 508 Mayo Building, Tallahassee, Florida 32301.

The state first place winners' posters will automatically be entered in the national competition where a $100 bond and a trip to Washington are the grand prize.

IN BRIEF

Conviction Upheld In 'William Tell' Shooting

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — An appeals court refused to set aside the manslaughter conviction of a man who killed an intoxicated friend while trying to shoot a can off his head.

The three-judge 1st District Court of Appeal Tuesday unanimously upheld the conviction of Otis McMullen, who was sentenced to one year in prison and 15 years probation for the fatal shooting of Mark Ehrbar on July 20, 1982.

McMullen claimed he did not know the gun was loaded, but the court said he should nonetheless have known better.

Ehrbar placed a bottle on his head and asked McMullen to shoot it off, which McMullen did from a distance of about 5 feet.

Another man, James Forehand, placed a can on his head. McMullen shot that off. Then Ehrbar again placed a can on his head and moved back 30 feet from McMullen "to make it harder."

2nd Operation For Lucky

ISLAMORADA (UPI) — Lucky, who received the world's first artificial flippers, will go back into the operating room at Theater of the Sea Saturday so surgeons can try to reattach one of the giant sea turtle's rubber limbs.

Lucky lost both front legs in April when a hammerhead shark attacked her during a romantic tryst in the Atlantic with her mate. Her boyfriend escaped the attack and boaters rescued Lucky and took her to the Theater of the Sea.

Surgeons attached the new $200,000 flippers Jan. 17. Lucky suffered a setback Monday when her left front flipper fell off. Doctors had said there was a chance Lucky's left flipper would come off because it had to be attached to brittle bone.

Flotilla Boats Freed

MIAMI (UPI) — A federal judge has overturned the seizure of 31 boats used in the 1980 "freedom flotilla" and canceled millions of dollars in fines and liens the government slapped on the boat captains who ferried Cuban refugees to Florida in the mass exodus.

U.S. District Judge Sidney Aronovitz said the government had no right to seize the boats of U.S. citizens who participated in the boatlift. His ruling Tuesday also said the captains became victims when they were virtually held captive in the confusion at Mariel harbor and later when their boats were confiscated in Key West.

More than 1,100 boats were confiscated during the seafit that ferried more than 125,000 Cuban refugees to freedom in 1980.

Train Hits Truck Stopped At Red Light

PLANT CITY, Fla. (UPI) — A truck driver faces charges for the derailment of a Tampa-to-New York Amtrak Silver Meteor passenger train carrying 73 people, including about 40 high school students, police say.

A police spokesman said truck driver Timothy O. Ditmore, 24, of Ruskin, Fla., will be charged for stopping on the tracks Tuesday to wait for a red traffic light to change.

"He was going north on Park Road and the light changed and instead of him stopping prior to going up on the railroad tracks, he pulled up on them. Other cars pulled in behind him and he had no place to go," the spokesman said.

The train was derailed partially in the collision. In which 10 people were injured. Four people, including the train's engineer and the driver of the truck — were taken to South Florida Baptist Hospital. The others were treated at the scene.

Train engineer H.R. Keeling, 61, had to be cut free of the wreckage. Keeling, of Sanford, was admitted to the hospital for observation of head injuries and was in fair and stable condition Tuesday night, a hospital spokeswoman said.

Treated and released at the hospital were Amtrak bartender Norman Joseph Lawrence, 32, of St. Albans, N.Y., passenger Ann Meldrin, 52, of Clearwater, and Ditmore, she said.

The high school students and their chaperons were heading back from Washington after participating in a National Right-To-Life demonstration. None of the students were hurt.

Inside the train, passengers were thrown before skelter as the engineer braked, passengers said.

"There was a bang, but I'm not sure if it was the truck being hit or the brakes," passenger Phil Pique of Clearwater said. "A lot of people were shaken but no one fell in our car. There was no panic but a lot of confusion."

Jesuit High student Sam Corson said, "This was my first long distance train ride. I'm not sure if I'll take another one soon."

Amtrak spokeswoman Cathy Goldstein originally reported the train carried 92 passengers, but later lowered it to 73.

She said the train was traveling about 55 mph but had started to slow down for its approach to Tampa, 16 miles to the west, when it struck the truck loaded with pre-stressed concrete.

23-Year-Old Murder Solved

MIAMI (UPI) — Detectives say they have solved the 23-year-old case of Charles Mourey, Gen. George Patton's wartime chauffeur who was found shot to death 23 years ago on a secluded lover's lane in western Dade County.

Metro-Dade County detectives announced late Monday that 40-year-old Earle A. Bernath, also known as Bradley Fordham, has been charged with first-degree murder in the 1960 slaying.

A tip from a friend that Bernath had information about an old murder led to the break in the case, detectives said. They said they also had an arrest form filed in circuit court which shows Bernath confessed to killing Mourey, who also had been a butler for silent screen movie queen Hope Hampton.

Bernath was 17 when the slaying took place. Ethyl Bernath, the defendant's mother, said her son was forced into admitting he participated in the murder.

"I know he could not have done it," she said. "He's just not built that way."

Bernath was a student at North Miami High School when Mourey, 56, was killed on Aug. 10, 1960.

Mourey, a Frenchman who was vacationing in a $2.50-a-day room at the downtown Miami YMCA, was shot three times with a .22-caliber pistol or rifle, police said. His body was found on a secluded lover's lane.

After the slaying, 32 detectives and four lieutenants were assigned to the investigation. At least 30 men were questioned, but none were charged.

The case was all but forgotten until last May when Bernath and Lee Max Hyder, a fugitive from a Tampa work-release program, were arrested in a grocery store.

The two alleged gunman held store employees and customers hostage, then hid the weapons, pointing in classic "they-went-that-a-way" style, when police arrived.

But the ruse failed and Bernath was jailed.

Reagan: World's Seen An American Miracle

By Helen Thomas
UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan told Senate Republicans Tuesday that during his 36 months in office "the world has seen an American miracle," marked by a resurgence of confidence, vitality and courage both at home and abroad.

"I believe together we've changed American history," Reagan told the GOP Senate Policy Committee, chaired by Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, during a luncheon meeting.

Reagan brought along $5 to pay for his meal, having been reminded, he said, by Tower and Senate Republican leader Howard Baker that there is "no free lunch."

The president's remarks appeared to lay the groundwork for his anticipated announcement Sunday evening that he will seek a second term, as well as the State of the Union address he will deliver to a joint session of Congress at 9 p.m. EST today.

Reagan also carried some words of conciliation to Congress, where there is growing opposition to the continued American military presence in Lebanon and concern among conservatives over the $180 billion deficit expected in his new budget.

"Where we have honest differences," Reagan said, "you can count on me to be a willing listener and an honest partner."

Reagan noted that he had assumed the presidency 36 months ago and Republicans had regained control of the Senate, holding 55 seats. Recalling the time of his inauguration, Reagan pointed to "inflation in double digits, prime interest rates at the highest level since the Civil War, economic growth disappearing."

"At the same time, our defenses were weak. ... Military equipment was growing obsolete, real military pay was too low and morale among our uniformed men and women was sagging."

"In foreign policy, America had become known the world over for hesitation, vacillation and self-doubt," Reagan said. "And our great nation stood by as if paralyzed as the Soviets amassed a vast military might."

"In the past 36 months, the world has seen an American miracle," Reagan said. "Time has marched on, but instead of growing older and more tired — I'm not talking about me, now — our country has recaptured the vitality, self-confidence and courage of the youthful nation that she still is."

Reagan also told the assembled GOP lawmakers, "In 1984, nothing matters more than keeping the Senate (Republican) and I plan to do just that."

In telephone conversations with Republican and Democratic leaders marking the return of Congress for the new session Monday, Reagan said he hopes "to work with Congress in a true bipartisan spirit." White House spokesman Larry Speakes reported.

However, Reagan's unchanging commitment to keeping Marines in Lebanon and adamant objection to taxes to help ease the deficit are certain to generate conflict.

Reagan has summoned the bipartisan leaders to the White House this morning for a preview of the address, which has gone through several drafts with the president rewriting a portion.

Most of the work has been done on the speech, a philosophical overview of his accomplishments in the past three years and goals he still hopes to achieve.

No major new initiatives are contemplated except for a request for funding for a permanent space station. Proposed spending cuts are expected to be around $6 billion, much lower than the past and more realistic for an election year.

The address also may be somewhat of a campaign blueprint with Reagan's anticipated announcement Sunday evening that he will seek a second term.

The president also will send his budget package to Congress next Wednesday and an economic report within a couple of weeks.

He will hit the campaign trail even before his Sunday announcement, flying to Atlanta to address a "Spirit of America" rally and to meet with Republican leaders of 14 South and Southwestern states.

ERA Touches On Abortion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Adoption of the Equal Rights Amendment would give new strength to the "terrible scourge of legalized abortion," a law professor told a Senate Judiciary subcommittee Tuesday.

But another legal expert disagreed, saying the proposed amendment would have "no practical impact" on existing abortion laws.

"I believe the issue of abortion is not germane to congressional consideration of the ERA," Ann Freedman, associate professor of law at Rutgers University Law School in Camden, N.J., told the subcommittee on the constitution.

John Noonan, law professor at the University of California in Berkeley, argued that adoption of the ERA would eliminate all existing legal restrictions on abortion.

"I am a believer in the equality of men and women and a defender of the rights of both sexes," Noonan said. "My only concern — and I admit it at the start — is that the terrible scourge of legalized abortion which now devastates our country not be wittingly or unwittingly given new strength by any formal amendment of the Constitution."

Noonan spoke during a hearing, conducted by Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, on the ERA-abortion connection. The session was arranged to follow Monday's anti-abortion demonstration in Washington to mark the 11th anniversary of the Supreme Court decision legalizing most abortions.

"Pro-life groups oppose ERA, as currently worded, because it would likely invalidate restrictions on abortion funding and otherwise reinforce abortion rights," said Douglas Johnson, legislative director of the National Right to Life Committee, the nation's largest anti-abortion organization.

Noonan told the subcommittee that if the ERA is adopted, it could require federal and state funding of elective abortions; require doctors, nurses and hospitals to perform abortions even if they objected to the procedure, and even threaten the tax exemption of schools that discourage their students from having abortions.

Most anti-abortion leaders, including the dozen senators and House members who addressed the rally Monday, made it plain that hearings are not needed for them to see a link between abortion and the ERA.

"ERA does not ban abortions," march organizer Nellie Gray told the crowd. "They are trying to put abortion in the Constitution through the ERA."

"The ERA is the most dangerous threat" to the anti-abortion movement in Congress, Rep. Barbara Vucanovich, R-Nev., told the rally. "This time, the job of killing ERA will be harder. We must hope and pray that America will never accept an ERA if neutral abortion language isn't attached."

The Problems Of Non-replaced Missing Teeth

Facial collapse is one of the aging elements and occurs when the teeth are lost and not replaced.

In the dental arch, teeth depend on other teeth for stability and mutual support. The muscles of the face also depend upon the teeth for stability and support.

When teeth are missing, they must be replaced if the patient wishes to maintain the health of the dental arch and normal facial contours.

Replacing lost teeth involves the use of a fixed bridge or partial denture - depending on the circumstances.

Incidentally, behavioral studies on persons who have lost a part of their body - combat casualties, accident victims, amputation or similar operations - have revealed that they feel a profound sense of loss, of being incomplete. These individuals may be repaired physically - but, psychologically, many of them never heal.

We now realize that persons who have lost their teeth share this painful syndrome. But the real tragedy is this, that loss of teeth is almost always preventable. Indeed, there is a devastating impact of being without teeth - the extent to which the loss of teeth can cripple the victim physically, physiologically - and most important, emotionally.

Take good care of your natural teeth. Let's avoid "old age" facial collapse.

Two Astronauts Will Fly Out Without Safety Lines

By Al Rosalter Jr.
UPI Science Editor

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — Two astronauts will put on jet backpacks, leave the space shuttle Challenger and become the first human satellites Feb. 7, orbiting Earth free of their mothership at 17,000 mph.

They will repeat the Buck Rogers performance 175 miles high two days later.

It is all part of a crucial rehearsal for an even bolder mission two months later when two shuttle fliers will attempt to capture and repair a crippled sun-watching satellite in orbit.

The upcoming mission, the 10th shuttle flight in less than three years, is scheduled to begin with the Challenger rocketing away from its ocean-side launch stand at 8 a.m. EST Friday, Feb. 3.

Astronauts Vance Brand, Robert Gibson, Bruce McCandless, Robert Stewart and Ronald McNair are scheduled to return to the Kennedy Space Center landing strip 12 minutes after sunrise on Saturday, Feb. 11. It will be the first shuttle landing at the Florida spaceport.

The primary goal of the eight-day mission is to launch two communications satellites — one for the government of Indonesia and one for Western Union. The astronauts plan to do this on the first two days of flight.

Then the crew of Challenger will turn its attention to preparing for April's satellite repair mission. On the third day of flight, the astronauts will kick out a 6-foot plastic balloon as a target for a series of orbital rendezvous maneuvers starting from 120 miles away.

The unprecedented spacewalks are scheduled for the fifth and seventh days of flight.

It is the most ambitious mission yet in the shuttle program.

Not only will the flight pave the way for April's satellite repair, but the spacewalkers will lay the foundation for construction and repair operations outside the permanent orbiting space station NASA is planning to develop.

"I think we are beating a pathway into the future in that we're going to find out how to repair and refuel satellites in orbit, which has tremendous significance for the future," said Brand, who will be making his second shuttle flight.

Stewart, an Army pilot who is 41, views the jet backpack operations as an evolutionary step in the space program.

"This is the first step toward a greatly enhanced capability to do work outside of the spacecraft or a space station," he said in an interview in Houston.

"As you look forward a couple of years to space station-type activities, it's really the only practical way for doing work on the outside of a space station or for assembling large structures in space."

McCandless, a 46-year-old bespectacled former Navy jet pilot who has worked on the jet backpacks for more than a decade, will be the first to fly away from the shuttle without a safety line, venturing up to 150 feet and later 300 feet away.

Stewart will go out next, using a second $10 million manned maneuvering unit to soar up and away from the winged spaceship.

"I imagine my heart rate will be pretty high," Stewart said. "But boy, won't it be worth it — the thought of going out and flying free."

"It'll be the smallest spaceship in the history of man when I come back. You know, I'm smaller than Bruce. He's got 10 pounds on me."

'I think we are beating a pathway into the future in that we're going to find out how to repair and refuel satellites in orbit...'

Only one astronaut will venture away from the shuttle at a time wearing the jet pack. His buddy will remain in the Challenger's open cargo bay, tethered to the ship.

The manned maneuvering unit is a refined version of one that flew inside the Skylab space station in 1973 and National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials consider it well tested and reliable.

The MMU's, as they are called by NASA, are mostly aluminum assemblies that latch on the back of the astronauts' spacewalking suits. The astronaut controls movement with two hand controllers — the left governs forward-backward, up-down and right-left moves, and the right controls roll, pitch and yaw motions.

Each MMU is powered by two sets of 12 nitrogen gas jets with thrust of only 1.7 pounds apiece. Each MMU has two gas tanks and two batteries so if something goes wrong, the second set can take over, similar to dual brake systems in an automobile.

If one of the jets sticks open, the astronauts will be prepared to shut down the whole system.

Ground simulations have shown the fliers can do this in one to two seconds "so you can't get into a whole lot of trouble," said Charles Whitsett Jr., subsystem manager for the jet pack in Houston.

If two failures occur in a row, Whitsett said, the worst that could happen is that the spacewalker drifts slowly and will have to be rescued by his colleagues in the Challenger. The jetbacks do not have enough gas to move to an orbit that cannot be reached by the shuttle.

"We will be watching the spacewalking crewmen very carefully and we'll be in communication with them," Brand said.

He said if a spacewalker appears to be having difficulty, or says he is, the Challenger pilots will maneuver the shuttle over to the stranded space flier and literally scoop him up in the open cargo bay.

"We have the capability to make their landing in the payload bay very soft," Brand said. "We can actually approach them at perhaps a tenth of a mile per hour so they would hardly feel it."

The astronauts also could use the ship's mechanical arm to reach out and pick up the spacewalker, or his colleague could fly out using the second jet pack to bring him back to the safety of the shuttle.

Brand said there is some extra risk to the spacewalks, but he said the risk "is mainly due to the fact that it's the first time we've tried it."

"I think there's an element of risk, of danger, but I think it's very acceptable and we've been able to minimize it like we do for everything else we try for the first time."

The 300 foot maximum distance for the spacewalks was selected because that is how close the Challenger will come to the crippled Solar Maximum Mission satellite in April.

In addition to the free flying operations, both

McCandless and Stewart will use an instrument package mounted on the end of the ship's mechanical arm as a stand-in for the sun-watching satellite.

The German-built instrument assembly will be rotated slowly — one revolution every six minutes — on the end of the arm to simulate the satellite's rotation.

Each spacewalker will use a jetpack to rotate at the same rate and then move in to hook a special docking device to the instrument assembly.

Both astronauts also will ride a special platform on the end of the arm in another series of tests and McCandless, using the instrument package as a stand-in again, will practice removing a faulty electronics box of the kind that must be replaced on the solar satellite.

Stewart on the second spacewalk will simulate refueling a satellite, making fuel line connections to an assembly similar to the fueling apparatus on the government's Landsat 4 satellite. That $250 million satellite is having power problems and NASA is planning a repair mission to fix it on the first shuttle launch from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., in 1986.

The upcoming flight is the first of 10 shuttle missions planned this year for the Challenger, Columbia and the third shuttle, Discovery. It also will mark the fourth flight of the Challenger.

Challenger originally was scheduled to land at the Cape last June, but bad weather forced astronaut Robert Crippen and his crew of four to land instead at the California landing base.

This time, NASA is prepared to keep the Challenger in orbit an extra day if necessary to achieve the Florida landing. However, if bad weather closes the cape for two days, the ship will again be diverted to a landing at Edwards.

Such a landing would have to come before sunrise and Brand has practiced night landings.

Tribe's 5-Star Hopes Evaporate With 67-63 Loss To Mainland

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

DAYTONA BEACH — There is something about the Mainland Bucs which brings out the best in Seminole eaglers Kenny Gordon and James Rouse.

For the second time this season, Gordon and Rouse blistered the nets from the outside against coach Dick Toth's fourth-ranked powerhouse, but their best wasn't good enough as Mainland used a plethora of free throws — 27 of 41 compared to Seminole's 9 of 12 — to hold off the Tribe, 67-63. In Five Star Conference basketball at Mainland High School.

"That Rouse and Gordon are big-time shooters, that's for sure," said Toth about the junior duo which totaled 16 points each. "Rouse threw a couple of them in from the cheap seats. He's got some range."

The victory was a shot in the arm for Mainland, which was blown away at DeLand by 21 points and barely got by Apopka. "I didn't know if we were still a ball team or not," said Toth. "I was hoping it was just mid-season doldrums. This will definitely help us in the conference and district race."

And, it will definitely hurt Sanford. Any visions of the school's first Five Star Conference pretty much evaporated Tuesday. Seminole now stands 7-4 in the Five Star, three games behind 10-1 Spruce Creek. Mainland is 9-2 while Seabreeze is 8-3.

Both teams played with good intensity from the outset. Mainland's battle plan was to shackle 6-3 Willie Mitchell, who had been over 20 points in his past few games. The Bucs did so by placing 6-4 David Hinson on Tribe point guard Bruce Franklin, thereby shutting off the inside lane to Mitchell and urging Franklin to take the 15-footer.

"What's Mitchell get five or six points?" asked Toth after the game. When informed he had 16, Toth said he still thought he did "a good job on him." "I'm glad this is the last time Mitchell walks in this gym. He usually gets 30 against us," said Toth.

Mainland jumped to a 12-8 lead early, but four turnovers in the last two minutes allowed the Tribe to pull within 14-12 on a 20-footer by Mitchell. The second quarter followed the same pattern, Mainland moving ahead behind the outside shooting of junior George McCloud only to have Seminole fight back behind Gordon, Mitchell and Rouse.

Senior Jimmy Gilchrist blocked a shot in the closing seconds to send Seminole on a two-basket run with 1:25 left in the half. Mitchell then blocked another shot and third-guard Steve Grey rolled one around the rim and in to close the Mainland margin to 27-25 at halftime.

McCloud, a smooth 6-4 swingman, had 11

while Mitchell totaled 10 in the first half. Gordon and Rouse each had six.

Mainland made its move early in the fourth quarter while Gordon was taking a breather. "We went with Grey to get a little more quickness and put some pressure on their guards," said Seminole coach Chris Marlette.

In Gordon's absence, the Bucs took advantage of the foul line, hitting six free throws during a three-minute span while the Tribe was held scoreless to take a 42-33 lead with 2:15 to play.

Gordon returned and hit a basket along with Mitchell to stay within nine at the end of three quarters.

In the fourth quarter, Mainland had the 'Noles on the ropes when McCloud converted a three-point play after a nice feed from point guard Kevin Morris.

Then the Tribe got hot. Rouse fired in an 18-footer, Gordon stole the ball and fed Rouse for another jumper and then Franklin picked off another pass and scored to pull Sanford within 48-43 with 6:11 to play.

Mainland called a time-out and regrouped. The Bucs put together four straight free throws by Morris and Hinson to take a 52-45 lead.

Gordon then tossed in two jumper around free throws by Mitchell and Tracy Holloman stole the ball and then scored to pull the Tribe within 56-53 with 3:04 to go.

McCloud, though, couldn't be stopped. He scored on a nice head fake, then Morris and Leonard Barmore combined for four points as the Bucs went back ahead by 63-57.

Seminole, though, wouldn't die as Rouse tossed in one from the outer limits with 57 seconds to play. One official then ruled that Mainland had turned the ball over, but he was overruled by his partner.

Mainland then ran the clock down and Seminole fouled Wayne Manning, who just entered the game. Manning, nevertheless, knocked in both free throws and when Morris hit two more with eight seconds to play — it was all over.

"You better win when you go to the line 41 times," said Marlette. "We played a good game. We hustled right to the end. We just couldn't overcome all those free throws." Seminole had 27 field goals and Mainland had just 20.

Seminole, 13-6, hosts Lyman Friday. The Tribe didn't lose any players to poor grades.

Seminole's junior varsity continued to take its lumps, dropping a 50-39 decision to the Bucs.

Seminole, 7-7 and 6-5, fell behind at halftime, 28-22, but then rallied in the third quarter behind Mike Wright, Dexter Franklin and Alvin Jones to pull ahead, 34-31, on the strong of a 12-3 blitz.

Mainland, though, turned it around in the fourth quarter, outscoring Seminole, 19-5, to run away with the victory.

Wright led the Tribe with 10 points while Jones and Franklin each had nine. Robert Hill tossed in seven, and point guard Daryl Williams, who was hampered by the flu, added four.

Rams Overcome Brooks With 4 In Double Figures

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

Lake Mary's Rams had enough problems going into Tuesday's game against Lake Howell Silver Hawks without having the Hawks' Efrem Brooks go on one of his scoring sprees.

The Rams were not only without head coach Willie Richardson, who is in the hospital with a back injury, but they also lost Ray Hartsfield and Neal Wejlon, two key players off the bench to academic ineligibility. Student-athletes had to pass four subjects for the nine weeks and have a 1.5 grade point average for the first semester to retain their eligibility.

Brooks got hot early Tuesday and wound up with a game-high 30 points, including 12 of 16 shooting from the floor, but four Lake Mary players scored in double figures to offset Brooks' impressive effort as the Rams claimed a 67-57 victory in Five Star Conference basketball action at Lake Mary High.

Lake Mary improved to 9-7 overall and 6-5 in the conference while Lake Howell fell to 2-14 overall and 0-11 in the conference. Lake Mary travels to Port Orange Friday to take on conference power Spruce Creek while the Hawks are at DeLand Friday.

"We let him (Brooks) do what he wanted in the first half," Lake Mary assistant coach, and head coach in Richardson's absence, Fred Tombras said. "We tried to deny him the ball in the second half and it worked pretty well in the third quarter."

Barma Lifts Lady Hawks Past Lake Mary

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks have three players averaging in double figures. So, when another player comes along and scores in double figures, especially one that averages only about two points per game, that makes the Lady Hawks even tougher to beat.

Kathy Barma, who hadn't scored in double figures all season, connected on a career-high 13 points Tuesday night and came up with a clutch steal down the stretch to boost the Lady Hawks to a 66-56 victory over Lake Mary's Lady Rams in Five Star Conference basketball action at Lake Mary High.

Lake Howell improved to 16-6 overall and 9-3 in the conference while Lake Mary fell to 11-7 overall and 6-6 in the conference. The Lady Hawks are back in action Thursday in a key Five Star matchup at DeLand. The Lady Rams will try to snap a three-game losing streak Friday at Spruce Creek.

Lake Howell bolted out to a big lead early and held it the entire game, but Lake Mary made a comeback attempt late in the fourth quarter. Lake Howell led by 19, 53-33, going into the fourth quarter, but Lake Mary shaved it to nine, 61-52, with 1:18 remaining on a jumper by Kim Averill.

The Lady Rams later shaved it to seven, 63-56, and had a chance to pull within five with 53 seconds left as Lake Howell committed a turnover. However, Barma came up with a steal and passed off to Mary Johnson who was fouled. Johnson hit one of two free throws and, instead of Lake Mary being up down by just five, the Lady Hawks were back up by eight. Barma's steal proved to be the clincher for Lake Howell.

Tammy Johnson led Lake Howell in the scoring department Tuesday with a game-high 18 points and was joined in double figures by Barma with 13 and Mary Johnson and Janene Brown with 10 each. Monica McNeil led Lake Howell underneath with 11 rebounds and Brown pulled down 10. Elizabeth Dietrich did a good job off the bench with eight points.

Laura Glass led Lake Mary with 12 points and a game-high 13 rebounds while Lisa Gregory also popped in 12 points and Andrea Fenning added 10.

Lake Mary took an early 4-2 lead, but that was the last lead of the game for the Lady Rams as Lake Howell reeled off 13 straight points to take a 15-4 lead with 2:25 remaining in the quarter. Lake Howell went on to outscore Lake Mary, 10-4, the remainder of the quarter to take a 18-point lead, 23-8, going into the second.

The Lady Hawks hit 9 of 18 shots from the floor in the first quarter while the Lady Rams were ice cold, hitting just 3 of 19. Lake Howell continued to sizzle in the second quarter, going up by as much as 23 points. The Lady Hawks maintained a 18-point lead, 43-25, at halftime. Brown led Lake Howell with nine points in the first half and Tammy Johnson added eight. Fenning's eight first-half points kept Lake Mary from being deeper in the hole.

Lake Howell was a bit sluggish in the third quarter, but the Lady Rams failed to capitalize. Lake Howell hit only 4 of 12 shots in the quarter, but Lake Mary was a meager 4 of 20. Tammy Johnson's jumper at the end of the quarter gave Lake Howell a 19-point lead, 52-33, going into the fourth.

In other girls action Tuesday, four players scored in double figures as Daytona Beach Seabreeze's Lady Sand Crabs upended Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots, 66-56, in Five Star Conference action at Lake Brantley High.

Michelle Brown and Linda Nunez tossed in 12 points apiece for Lake Brantley and Kim Wain and Tracey Meikle added eight apiece. Lake Brantley now stands at 5-12 overall and 3-9 in the conference. The Lady Patriots are back in action Thursday at Daytona Beach Mainland.

Raiders Need 'Big' Help Vs. Timberwolves

Before coach Bill Payne began the 1983-84 cage season, he reasoned his Seminole Community College Raiders would be strong inside. With 6-6 all-stater Luis Phelps and 6-5 Delvin Everett returning, Payne planned to slow things down, play tempo basketball and turn Phelps and Everett loose underneath.

Twenty-three games into the season, however, the strong inside play hasn't materialized. On given nights, Phelps and Everett have played up to their major-college potential, but more than not they haven't.

"I don't know what the problem is," said Payne about his two sputtering big guns. "They both are working very hard, so it's not for lack of effort."

"They may be pressing, trying too hard. They know how much we need them and they're trying to hard to do well."

Both Phelps and Everett will be needed tonight. Lake City's powerful Timberwolves invade the SCC Health Center for what Payne terms as "maybe the biggest game of the season." Tip-off for the Mid-Florida Conference and Division II game is 7:30 p.m.

The Timberwolves, 18-5 and 3-2, are limping. They haven't played to their preseason ranking and have lost several players to off-the-court problems.

SCC is 14-9 and 3-2. Another loss would severely hamper the Raiders chances to win the conference.

Although Phelps (13.5 ppg) and Everett (10.9) haven't played up to form, Payne couldn't ask any more of his other three starters — Jimmy Payton, Mike Tolbert and Lenny Grace.

Payton has come out of his shooting shell to average 12.3 ppg, along with his usual good floor game. Tolbert, a streak-shooting freshman from Oak Ridge, moved into the starting lineup several games ago and has been in double figures each time out.

Grace, a member of Boone's state championship squad last year, has lived up to billing all year. The silky-smooth guard is averaging 11.8 points and 4.3 assists for game.

Lake City has a couple of sweet shooters returning in 6-4 Donald Johnson and 6-5 Ben Bailey. Ronnie Williams, a 6-0 guard who played for state runnersup Jacksonville Jackson last year, is a good playmaker. Roland Shelton, a 6-7 horse, really hits the boards, according to Payne.

Area High Schools, Colleges Crank Up For '84 Tennis Season

Well, it's that time of year again. Time for area colleges and high schools to start their tennis seasons. Most have been practicing since early September but now the workouts are getting more intense and more meaningful with opening matches just a few days off.

Down Winter Park way Norm Copeland is cranking up another top flight NCAA Division II club. Rollins always has a very fine men's program, finishing in the top three in the nation in Division II almost every year. The home schedule is always very attractive as many northern and eastern colleges and universities make Rollins a regular stop on their spring trip.

Most of the time they find Rollins a rude host as Norm's boys have won over 90 percent of their home matches over the past 10 or 15 years. This year's lineup is loaded with talented and seasoned performers. Playing No. 1 will be Brian Talgo, a superb all-court player. No. 2 will be All-American Rob Bates, No. 3 is Diki Cody, No. 4 is former Lyman standout Brian Morrissy, No. 5 is David Feher, and No. 6 is Jonas Motensson from Sweden.

With that outstanding line-up, it's no wonder Coach Copeland is smiling these days. It should be a banner year for the Tars on the collegiate tennis scene.

The Rollins women, coached by Ginny Mack, are, of course, once again one of the top women's teams in America.

With the addition of Winter Park's Mary Dincen Rollins women seem to have one of their better teams in recent years and should break into the top ten in the nation. Long known as a powerhouse among college and university teams, Rollins plays one of the best schedules in the U.S. and always finishes with a winning record. This year should prove to be no exception.

The University of Central Florida has a new men's and women's coach this year. Jay Williams takes over the men's and women's programs. Coach Williams takes over a strong group of players in his first ever tennis coaching experience.

Larry Castle
BCC Tennis
Instructor

On the men's team this year are such standouts as Mike DeFranco, Lenny Engle, Tony Snoyenboyes and Tony Marshall. U.C.F. seems equipped to challenge Rollins for area tennis supremacy if they can find some depth to go with the solid group of holdovers.

Some of the most exciting college matches of the season occur when Rollins and UCF meet each other in a dual match.

On the high school scene, Seminole High coach Jim Edmonds has his troops working hard getting ready for their Jan. 31 opening match. At this time the men's team seems to be a bit shorthanded as only three or four boys have shown an interest in coming out for the team. Coach Edmonds hopes to recruit at least two more for his men's team so that the schedule can be played.

The women's team at Seminole seems to be in a little better situation. Six girls are out for the team and hopes are high for a good season. The girls on this year's Seminole team are Susana Huaman, Tracy McNeill, Britney Tyre, Judy White, Kelly Castle and Paula Voulté. This team possess good overall talent and could be a darkhorse contender in the Five Star Conference.

Perhaps one of the strongest women teams in all of Central Florida is the Lake Mary High School women's team. Coach Karen Layer has a very experienced and talented group led by Suzie Stewert, Robin Pinnock, Grace Roeger, Reva Ryerson, Mickey Reynolds and Gina Caputo. Lake Mary's women are the odds on favorite to win the conference and maybe even district and regionals.

Doug Maliczowski also has a strong group of players on his men's team at Lake Mary. Doug has Mark Viner, Carston Bastle, Shea Whigham, Andy McNeill, Todd McDonald and Robbie Shakar to pick his lineup from. This is a very talented and experienced group that should have a great season. Tennis is very strong at Lake Mary.

The stronger women's teams in the area appear to be Lake Mary, Lake Howell, Lyman, Winter Park and Trinity. The stronger men's teams seem to be Lyman, Lake Mary, and Winter Park.

Jackson Pops 31 Points, Lyman Wins 7th Straight

By Lou Stefano
Herald Sports Writer

Just a warning to the rest of the Five Star Conference girls basketball squads. The Lyman girls are on a roll and look like they're only half way down the hill.

The latest team that rolled over for the Lady Greyhounds were the Apopka Blue Darters. The Lady 'Hounds steam rolled Apopka, 88-36. The win was the seventh in a row for Lyman and boosted its record to 13-4 and 8-4 in the conference.

Pam Jackson led the Lady Hounds with 31 points, scoring from everywhere on the court except the bench; and that was only because Lyman coach Dick Copeland kept jumping in the way.

"In my opinion there's not another individual player in Central Florida who is any better than Pam Jackson," said Copeland. "She is just a super individual."

Lyman's Kim Forsyth wasn't far behind Jackson in scoring honors, picking up 28 points. Most came the hard way as she repeatedly planted herself under the offensive boards and picked up the basket inside.

Apopka stayed close, the Darters were only behind 15-10 in the middle of the first period, until Lyman went on a 26-10 spurt to ice the game with still a half left to play.

The Lady Greyhounds did it the easy way. The got 10 points on steals created by their full-court press and most of the balance by cleaning the defensive boards and running the fast break.

When Jackson wasn't leading the break, little 5-3 point guard Kim Goroum would slow down the offense long enough to pose for a picture and score a bucket inside.

The little court general looked like a coach on the floor. "It's a shame she's not taller," said Copeland shaking his head. "She's 5-3 and if she was 5-8 or 5-7 she could play any place."

"She does direct us and we're lost without her. If she gets in foul trouble we're in trouble," Copeland added.

The second half was much like the first as Lyman outscored Apopka 20-2 to send their parents out for an early cup of celebration coffee.

Denise Stevens and Forsyth scored 11 and 12 points in the second half respectively to add to Lyman's depth. But Copeland's not yet satisfied.

Prep Basketball

"The big thing we have to look at is that we lost a starter (Kim Lemon who didn't make grades)," said Copeland. "That's gonna kill us when we play teams like Sanford. They're so big and strong. They have so many girls who can get off the floor..."

Student-athletes had to pass four subjects for the nine weeks and have a 1.5 grade point average for the first semester.

Not to leave anyone with a totally pessimistic feeling, Copeland did add, "The young kids came through against Lake Howell, who knows, if they get up you never know."

In the midst of a 7-0 streak — look next for number eight.

What a difference a half makes. In the first half of Tuesday night's Lyman boys' basketball game against a much larger Apopka team, the Greyhounds played under control, played excellent defense and on the whole looked like winners.

But the second half was the back breaker as the Greyhounds fell to the Blue Darters 62-51.

"It looked like they (Lyman) just got tired to me," said Greyhound coach Tom Lawrence about his 2-12 and 2-9 Greyhounds. There is a good reason for that. Lyman went into the game with only eight players, losing starter James Stewart and sixth man Lavechee Nelson to grade problems (didn't have 1.5 semester grade point average and pass four subjects for the nine weeks). That leaves only three to come off the bench. And that leaves Lawrence with some awfully tired players in the fourth quarter.

Apopka came into the game with what looked like the starting line up their football team — which two were, all-state wide receiver James Jones and tight end Derrick Fenchel. Most had shoulders that looked like they did their share of farm work in the off season. They warmed up with confidence and the smell of a blowout was in the air.

Except the Greyhounds didn't smell it. Greg Pilot took the opening tip and hit a jumper to put Lyman up, 2-0, a lead that it would not relinquish until 1:11 was left in the first half when Apopka went up, 25-24.

But they came right back like bloodhounds as Ralph Philpot hit two free throws and yanked down a defensive rebound and the halftime buzzer went off to preserve Lyman's one point lead, 26-25.

The Greyhounds played a 1-3-1 defense in the first half and kept the clamps on Apopka's inside game. They were up by as many as seven points in the second quarter when Greg Pilot's layup gave them a 22-15 lead.

But the Blue Darter's Fenchel asserted himself as he scored four of Apopka's next six points to bring Apopka to within one.

In the second half, the teams traded baskets and the one point lead until Apopka opened the lead to three points with 3:50 left in the third quarter. As it turned out Lyman couldn't get closer than three for the rest of the game.

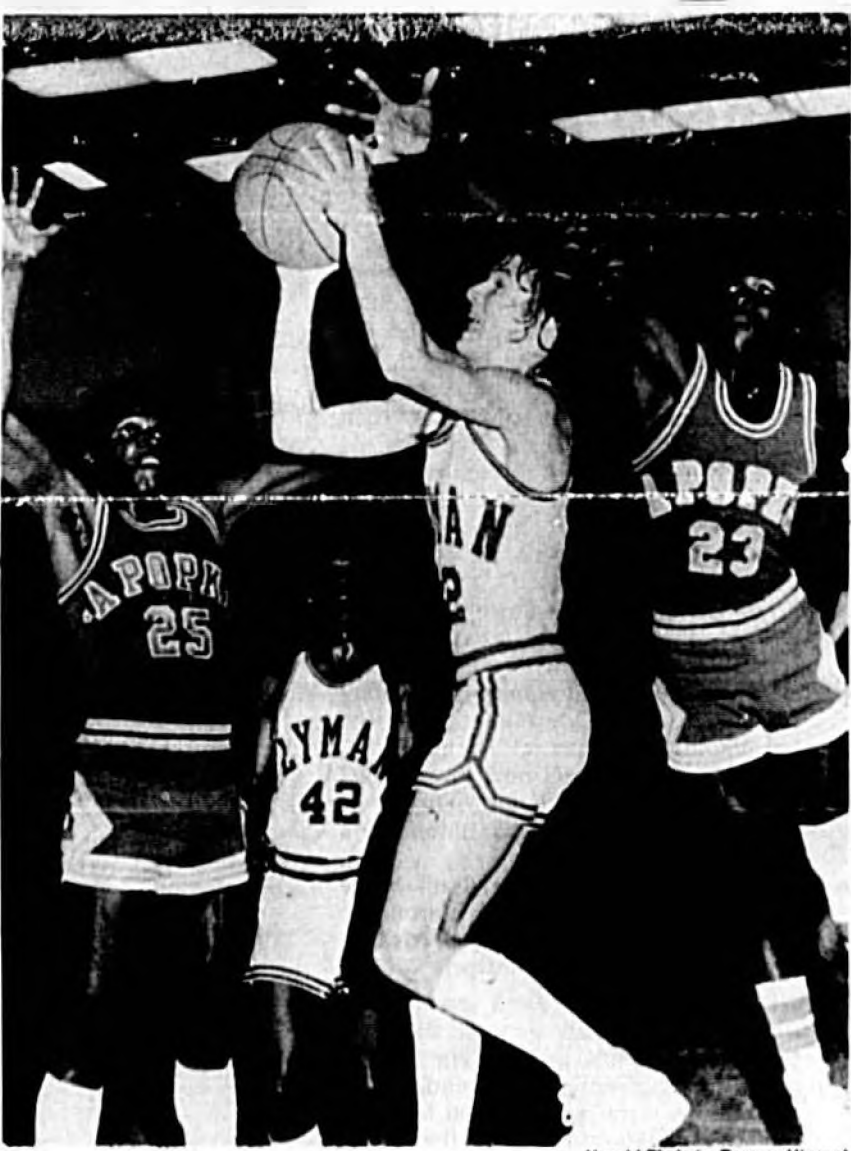

Greg Walker led the way for Lyman, scoring 15 points, most on jump shots from in the paint or long jumpers from the baseline. "I thought Walker did a good job," said Lawrence.

Lyman's schedule doesn't get any easier as it has games upcoming against Seminole, Lake Mary, Mainland and Spruce Creek. Lawrence plans to move some of his junior varsity players up to the varsity squad to try to alleviate the depth problem.

"We may shuffle some players from the junior varsity to the varsity. We can't continue to play eight players on varsity. We need more substitutes for rest," Lawrence indicated that Brett Marshall and Alan Unroe will move up to the varsity squad.

Oviedo basketball coach Dale Phillips will be the first to admit this year's Lions are a streaky bunch.

"Win a few. Lose a few. Unfortunately for Phillips and his Lions, it's been the latter instead of the former the past few games. After running off three straight victories two weeks ago, Oviedo has stumbled the last four times out.

New Smyrna Beach was the latest team to outblink the Lions on the scoreboard, punting a 65-52 setback on Oviedo Tuesday night at Oviedo High School.

"We didn't play a bad ball game tonight," said Phillips. "We were really hurt on the boards. Good golly, we only got 17 rebounds. And we missed some crucial breakaways."

"It seems that when we get close it's almost like we're afraid to win."

The Lions did get close. They pulled within 51-47 on two buckets by 6-6 senior Mike Schwab, but then fell apart as NSB took advantage of its ability to hit the boards to grind out a 13-point victory.

"We made a run at them in the fourth quarter," said Phillips. "Klukis had another good game (5 of 7 from the field), but we went kind of went dry the rest of the quarter."

Oviedo, 7-10, travels to Orlando to play Bishop Moore Friday. The Lions didn't have any players who didn't pass four classes for the nine weeks and have a 1.5 grade point average for the first semester, thus remaining eligible for the second semester.

Patriots Nip 'Hounds, 2-1

By Lou Stefano

Herald Sports Writer

In a wild-and-wooly Five Star Conference soccer match Tuesday night at Lyman High School, Lake Brantley defeated Lyman 2-1 with the aid of a shootout. The win ups the Patriots record to 8-2. Lyman drops to 6-4.

Lyman opened the scoring when Steve Wilson buzzed a shot past Patriot goalie Darrell Sowers for a 1-0 Greyhound lead. Brantley came right back on a goal by Joe Pledger to even the score at one a piece.

The game ended 1-1 and on came the shootout. Goals by John Roberts, Mo Moghaddam, Steve Earl, and Stan Putegnant kept Brantley even with Lyman. Lyman kept pace with goals by Brian Ocacek, Tal Hamilton, Pat Walden, and Greg Gullick.

But Lake Brantley's Chad Marlen, just a freshman, poked in goal number five in the overtime, and Sowers' save on the last Lyman kick sent the Patriots home happy.

"We're very young," said Patriot head coach Bob Streadman. "We're not real physical and sometimes we don't play the game the way we are supposed to. That's what happened tonight."

For his part, Lyman coach Jim Buckman wasn't happy about the outcome of the game and was critical of the officiating. Brantley's first goal was a controversial one, according to Buckman, as Pledger's goal came after he kicked it out of the hands of Lyman goalie Ben Ritter.

"I'm upset because our players played the best 80 minutes that they played all year. They didn't lose the game; the referees took it from them. Brantley is one of the best teams in the area but they didn't beat us."

Lake Brantley is 6-0 in the conference, tied with Lake Howell and Seabreeze. The Patriots are getting for their Feb. 10 game against Lake Howell with a warmup against Oakridge this weekend.

Upstart Gators Surprise 'Dogs SCORECARD

United Press International

The University of Florida is fast becoming one of the power brokers of the Southeastern Conference.

Having lost 13 of 18 league games last year, the Gators were in no odds to mingle with such conference aristocrats as Kentucky, LSU and Georgia. But this season is another matter.

Just over a week ago Florida shocked No. 3 Kentucky

69-57 and on Tuesday night the Gators made another move up college basketball's ladder with a 77-69 victory on the road over No. 18 Georgia.

"We're making progress now," said Florida coach

Norm Sloan. "This is a big, big step forward. We've been in this situation in the past and sometimes we folded."

Florida got its strength from its most reliable source — its front line. Ronnie Williams scored 22 points (9-of-10 shooting) and Eugene McDowell finished with 18 and swept the boards for 18 rebounds.

"Florida dominated us on the boards," said Georgia

coach Hugh Durham, whose team was outrebounded

39-27. "We just didn't have the conviction to get after

Basketball

them in that area of the game."

The Gators led 33-32 at the half and refused to let the Bulldogs push by them in the final 20 minutes. Gerald Crosby led Georgia with 18 points and Vern Fleming added 17.

"We just didn't get Florida out of their flow and their big guys just killed us," Durham said. "It's a disappointing loss for us."

In other Florida basketball, the University of Central Florida used 14 points by Dan Faison to hold off Biscayne, 48-44, in Sunshine State Conference play. Rollins College fell to Saint Leo, 82-76, as former Seminole High standout Glenn Stambaugh tallied eight points for the Tars, and Tampa University upset Eckert, 74-72, also in Sunshine State play.

In the only other Top 20 game, Oklahoma defeated Oklahoma State 115-100.

At Norman, Okla., Wayman Tisdale scored 26 of his 36 points in the second half and the Sooners ran their record to 16-2 with the Big Eight victory. Oklahoma scored 71 points over the final 20 minutes, a league mark for most points in a half. Joe Atkinson had 30 points for Oklahoma State.

Ineligible players, we did a good job tonight," Tombron said. "Outside shooting and offensive rebounding were our strengths tonight."

In Five Star Conference action Tuesday night at Lake Brantley High, Daytona Beach Seabreeze's Sand Crabs hit a blazing 29 of 52 shots from the floor en route to a 76-63 victory over Lake Brantley's Patriots.

Lake Brantley fell to 5-13 overall and 1-10 in the conference while Seabreeze improved to 14-5 overall and 9-2 in the conference. Lake Brantley is back action Friday at Daytona Beach Mainland.

"They (Seabreeze) were making shots from (State Road) 434," Lake Brantley coach Bob Peterson said. "They were making some incredible shots. Darrell Robinson made four bank shots from at least 20 feet out."

Robinson led the way for Seabreeze with a game-high 18 points and was joined in double figures by Robert Gould with 16, Terry Johnson with 14 and Terry White with 11. Mike Garriques led Lake Brantley with a season-high 17 points while Dennis Groseclose added 14. Garriques also handed out four assists and came up with four steals.

Seabreeze rode its deadly outside shooting to a 14-point lead by halftime, 38-24. The Sand Crabs held onto a 13-point lead, 54-41, after the third quarter, but Lake Brantley made its bid for a comeback midway through the fourth.

The Patriots cut Seabreeze's lead to eight points, 61-53, with 2:25 remaining, but could get no closer as the Sand Crabs sealed the victory by hitting 7 of 8 free throws down the stretch.

"It could have gone right down to the wire if we handed the ball better," Peterson said. "We self-destructed 10 times on layups."

...Double Figures

Brooks poured in 20 of his 30 points in the first half as Lake Howell built a three-point lead, 32-29. Lake Mary went to a triangle and two in the second half to try and shut down Brooks and it worked in the third quarter as the Lake Howell scoring ace had only four points. Lake Mary rode the hot shooting of Dunn and Darryl Merthie to take a 45-41 lead into the fourth quarter.

Miller got the hot hand for Lake Mary in the fourth quarter as he hit three straight jumpers from long range, but Brooks started hitting again to keep the Hawks within striking distance. Lake Mary took its biggest lead of the game, eight points, with 1:30 remaining as Jeff Reynolds tipped in a missed shot by Albert Flores and the Rams clinched the victory with some clutch offensive rebounding down the stretch.

With 42 seconds left and Lake Mary leading by seven, 64-57, Flores missed the front end of a one-and-one, but Merthie grabbed the rebound and was fouled on the follow up. Merthie hit the first shot to put the Rams up by eight, 65-57, but he missed the second. However, Donald Grayson came up with a key offensive rebound and Lake Howell then sent Miller to the line with 35 seconds remaining and the score still 65-57. Miller too missed the front end of a one-and-one. Merthie grabbed the rebound and that was all she wrote for Lake Howell.

"We let them get four offensive rebounds on missed free throws down the stretch," Lake Howell coach Greg Robinson said. "That really hurt us. We let it get away in the second half, we were our own worst enemy."

Miller was high man for Lake Mary with 17 points and was joined in double figures by Merthie with 12 and Dunn and Reynolds with 10 apiece. Reynolds also pulled down a game-high nine rebounds and Merthie grabbed eight boards.

Behind Brooks for the Hawks, Keith Wooldridge scored 10 points and Hayward Beasley led Lake Howell underneath with seven rebounds. Lake Howell was also stung by the ineligibility bug as power forward James Williams didn't make the grades. Williams had just become eligible for the second half of the season and played only two games for the Hawks.

"Under the circumstances, with the coach out and the

Mayfair's 'Old Guard' Recalls Days Of Palmer, Snead At Open

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Turn back the clock 26 years and the Mayfair Open was in its infancy — and ecstasy. Jim Spencer, Sanford's most-celebrated restaurateur, was serving all the lobster you could eat for $2.95.

And he was winning as many Mayfairclub titles as he was serving lobster. "I was club champion so long I quit playing," laughed Spencer the other day while reminiscing about days gone by.

Spencer held the club record until a guy named Sam Snead rolled into town. Snead fired a 64 to eclipse Spencer's mark by 1 stroke.

Later in the 1858 Mayfair Open, Art Mozell shot a 62, which still stands as Mayfair's best.

"I still remember the day," said Spencer, who also has eight holes in one at Mayfair, including one on a sudden-death hole which he had to have to win a tournament. "It was cold as hell. I teed off with an overcoat and two handwarmers."

"I lent my handwarmers to (former New York Giants' manager) Paul Richards and (Hall-of-Fame pitcher) Carl Hubbell. Richards dropped his in the trash can and almost set the clubhouse on fire."

Big names were commonplace at Mayfair then. For four years, Sanford was a major tour stop. A look at the Dec. 14, 1958 tee times reads like a Who's Who of famous golfers. Arnold Palmer, Johnny Bolt, Julius Boros, Dave Marr, Tommy Bolt, Art Wall Jr., Gay Brewer, Dow Finsterwald, George Bayer, Jody Hebert and Doug Sanders all played.

Mayfair Open

Grover Todd, a 67-year-old Lake Mary resident who was club pro from 1962-66, remembers that cold day in 1958, too. "The greens were like ice it was so cold," he said. "I hit my drive on two and then hit a five iron and broke my finger."

He also remembers a struggling young pro named Palmer. "There was one year Arnold Palmer didn't make the cut," said Todd. "He wasn't as prominent then as he is now."

It's been a long time since the Mayfair course has been dotted with the celebrities like the late '50s. But who's to say in 25 years that some of the young pros in this year's tournament won't be household names.

The Sanford stop is now just one on the North Florida Tour for young pros, but Palmer, Snead and Boros were young once, too.

The Mayfair Pro-Am teed off today with 144 golfers in a shotgun start and 1 p.m. Thursday and Friday, the pros take over for the annual Mayfair Open.

Mayfair owners Jack and Alice Daniels, along with general manager Rudy Sells, club pro William "Red" Addison and greens superintendent Ted Daum, have done quite a job at bringing the old course around. Now, they're like to show you the fruits of their labors.

"We're expecting a great tournament," said Sells. "Come on out and take a look."

The first tee time is 7:05 a.m. Thursday in the 36-hole tournament.

'There was one year Arnold Palmer didn't make the cut. He wasn't as prominent then as his is now.' — Grover Todd, Former Club Pro for Mayfair Titville's Steve Thomas blasts out of a trap, left, and then admires his effort which rolled within a foot of the pin. Thomas is one of many young pros who hope to use the Mayfair Open as a stepping stone to future success. The field of 192 golfers tee off Thursday morning at 7:15 a.m. The public is encouraged to come out and watch the two-day, 36-hole event said Mayfair Country Club owner Jack Daniels.

Mary Elmore's cooking expertise dates back to the farm where she was raised in McCullough, Ala.

And Mary has had her share of KP detail. She is one of 16 children born to her mother (two died). Mary has eight sisters and last week, two of her sisters from Alabama visited her at her Vinewood Drive home in Sanford.

Mary says she has been cooking since she was "very young." She added, "I liked to cook whereas I didn't do other things. But I am not a gourmet cook."

Mary and her husband, P.L., a retired navy chief, have been living in Sanford since 1957. She was a widow with one child and he had two children when they were married in Pensacola.

Before moving to Sanford in 1957 from Jacksonville when P.L. was separated from the navy, the family spent about a year in the Philippine Islands which Mary says was the good life, complete with a maid.

"We chose Sanford because it was small and had a small Naval Air Station," Mary explained. "We bought a home the second day we were here from Bratley Odham." That home where the family lived for 12 years was on Grove Manor Drive.

The three Elmore children are all graduates of Seminole High School and attended Pinecrest Baptist Church where their mother still teaches a fifth grade Sunday School class. "My main interest is the church," Mary says.

But she has other interests, too.

Mary has been a member of the Garden Club of Sanford Inc. since 1958. She has held several offices and now is the club president. She is an avid bowler with the High Nooners League and has bowled weekly with a league since 1959 when Sanford's first bowling alley opened.

A graduate of Troy State University, Troy, Ala., Mary taught school for a number of years in Alabama and Florida and she was also employed by the Florida State Welfare Department. She has served as a substitute teacher in Seminole County and fondly recalls, "I taught five weeks for Karen Coleman when she had her first baby." Mrs. Coleman went on to receive the "Florida Teacher of the Year" award.

Mary's favorite dessert is Pecan Pie. She said when her sisters were visiting, she made two pecan pies and a carrot cake.

But the big Christmas freeze of 1983 played havoc with Central Florida citrus. Holiday Ambrosia was at a premium. Mary remembers grating fresh coconut for Mama's Ambrosia. She said the only ingredients her mother used in ambrosia were oranges, fresh coconut and pecans.

Mary shares her favorite recipes with Herald readers.

Girl Scout Cookie Sale Starts Today

It is an American tradition in the Seminole community — the Girl Scout Cookie Sale. Girls in Citrus Council of Girl Scouts, Inc., will sell cookies from Jan. 25 through Feb. 12.

This year there are seven varieties of cookies available to the public. Included are Scot-Teas, Savannahs, Hoedowns, Coconut Creams, Kookaburras, the traditional mint, and Yangles, a cheddar cheese cracker. Girls will be selling door-to-door and at cookie booths all around town. Selling price is $1.75 per box.

Girls use the profits earned by their troop during the cookie sale for camping trips, equipment, and other troop program activities. Profits earned by the council provide funds for maintaining and improving camping properties, financial assistance for girls and other council operations.

When a Girl Scout knocks on your front door, buy Girl Scout Cookies. Giving never tasted better. If you would like to purchase Girl Scout Cookies and no one offers you the opportunity, please call the Girl Scout office (645-1020) to arrange for a Girl Scout to call on you.

seasoned with salt and pepper. In a large chicken frying pan or skillet, heat about one cup of shortening or oil. Drop chicken pieces in hot shortening, cover and cook about 15 minutes on medium heat. Turn each piece of chicken once during the 15 minutes. Uncover and brown chicken on all sides to a golden brown. Remove from pan to warm platter. Drain off about half the remaining shortening. Make gravy in the drippings, using the flour that was left after dredging chicken. Serve alongside the chicken with rice.

Round steak may also be cooked and served this way.

ZUCCHINI CASSEROLE

3 tablespoons olive oil
1 medium onion, thinly sliced
1 pound ground beef
3 8-oz. cans tomato sauce
1 cup burgundy, claret or other red dinner wine
1 teaspoon mixed Italian-style seasoning — dash garlic powder

1 tablespoon sugar, salt, pepper
2 pounds zucchini
grated Parmesan cheese

Heat oil in large, heavy skillet or Dutch oven. Add onion and beef. Cook, stirring frequently, until meat is browned. Add tomato sauce, wine and seasonings. Cover. Simmer gently for one hour, stirring occasionally. While sauce is cooking, wash zucchini and trim off ends. Cook whole in boiling salted water for about 15 minutes, or just until tender. Drain. When cool enough to handle, cut lengthwise in halves and arrange, cut side up, in a single layer in a 2 quart greased shallow baking pan.

Pour sauce over zucchini. Bake at 350° for 45 minutes. Serve with grated Parmesan cheese.

PECAN PIE

¾ cup brown sugar
1 cup light corn syrup
3 eggs, slightly beaten
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup pecans, coarsely broken

Bolt sugar and syrup together for about 2 minutes. Pour slowly over eggs, stirring vigorously. Add butter or margarine, vanilla, nuts and a pinch of salt. Pour into unbaked 9-inch pastry-lined pie plate. Bake 45-50 minutes in 350° preheated oven.

TUNA PIE

- 1 green pepper, finely chopped
- 1 7 oz. can tuna
- 1 small onion, finely chopped
- 1/4 cup bread crumbs
- 1/2 cup ketchup
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 1 cup all purpose biscuit mix
- 4 ounces process American cheese slices
- 1/2 cup milk

Mix biscuit with milk into a soft ball. Spread dough over bottom of well-greased one quart casserole dish. Cover with layer of cheese.

Combine first 8 ingredients and spoon over cheese cover and bake in 400° oven 20 to 30 minutes.

Tasty Strata Can Be Made In Advance

A mushroom-spinach strata has a soufflélike texture and a meaty flavor, although no meat is used.

This high-protein dish may be made ahead — just pour the egg-milk mixture over the layered ingredients and refrigerate.

Serve with a mixed green salad and stewed tomatoes.

MUSHROOM-SPINACH STRATA

- 1 pound fresh mushrooms
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 cup chopped onions
- 8 slices firm-textured white bread
- 1 cup shredded Swiss cheese
- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach, thawed or 2 cups cooked, chopped fresh spinach
- 3 eggs
- 2 cups milk
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper

Grease a 10-inch quiche or pie pan (1 1/2 quarts); set aside. Rinse, pat dry and slice mushrooms (makes about 5 1/2 cups). In large skillet, melt butter. Add mushrooms and onions; saute until tender, about 5 min set aside.

Remove crusts from bread; cut in halves diagonally. On the bottom of the prepared pan, arrange 6 of the bread halves. Top with the mushrooms and onions (removing and refrigerating a few mushrooms for garnish, if desired), cheese and spinach. Arrange 8 bread halves overlapping in a circle on top of the spinach; place remaining 2 halves in center. In a medium bowl, beat eggs; mix in milk, salt, nutmeg and black pepper. Pour over mushroom-spinach mixture. Cover and refrigerate overnight. Preheat oven to 350-degrees. Bake, uncovered, until almost firm, about 40 minutes. Placed reserved sauteed mushrooms in center; bake until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean, about 5 minutes. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 portions.

Senate Endorses National Meat Week

Washington, D.C. — The U.S. Senate has officially endorsed the celebration of National Meat Week Jan. 22-28. In a November 10 voice vote, the members of the Senate resolved unanimously "that it is the sense of the Senate that Jan. 22 through Jan. 28, 1984, be designated as 'National Meat Week,' and that all citizens should be encouraged to observe such week with appropriate ceremonies and activities."

The resolution was introduced by Senator Jesse Helms (R-NC), who chairs the Senate Agriculture Committee. "I am very pleased that the senate has adopted a resolution calling for the nation's attention to one of the most important components of our diet — meat. I encourage consumers and the meat industry to give special recognition to the nutritional significance of meat during 'National Meat Week,'" Helms said.

"Not only is meat an excellent source of nutrients necessary for a healthy body, but it is a significant part of a healthy agricultural economy. 'National Meat Week' will strengthen the successful partnership between consumers and suppliers of meat products," he added.

Senator Walter Huddleston (D-KY), a co-sponsor of the resolution and ranking minority member of the Senate Agriculture Committee, praised his colleagues for their support of National Meat Week. "Through my contacts with representatives of the meat packing industry in Kentucky, I have learned how vital this industry is to our nation, and how important meat is to the American diet. I was pleased to vote for the passage of the National Meat Week resolution, and I hope Americans all around the country will participate in National Meat Week activities this January."

National Meat Week is an opportunity for meat producers, meat packers, food retailers, and consumers to celebrate meat's contribution to the American diet. The theme of National Meat Week for 1984 is "Meat: A Food for Fitness."

In addition to AMI (American Meat Institute), National Meat Week has been endorsed by the American Association of Meat Processors, National Cattlemen's Association, the National Live Stock and Meat Board, National Pork Producers Council, the National Association of Meat Purveyors, the American Sheep Producers Council and the National Restaurant Association, as well as many state-level industry groups.

The American Meat Institute is the oldest national trade association of the meat packing and processing industry. Headquartered in Washington, D.C., the Institute engages in economic and scientific research and educational programs, as well as public, consumer, and government relations on behalf of the U.S. meat industry.

Unwed Mom Has No Regrets Over Decision On Adoption

DEAR ABBY: I recently found myself pregnant, and like many other young girls in this situation with no marriage in sight, I had a very big decision to make. I was in no position to support myself and a child.

I considered having an abortion, but when the time came, I couldn't do it. I knew that I had to give that little life a chance.

I then considered adoption, and with my parents' support, I placed my baby for adoption. The unhappiness I suffered was a small sacrifice for the joy I gave a childless couple.

Abby, I want to tell others facing what I faced that there is an alternative to abortion that can make someone happy at the same time.

The pain I suffered was worthwhile in the end. I know that my baby is being raised by parents who really want a child and are able to handle the responsibility of being parents. I couldn't

NO REGRETS IN MISSOURI

DEAR NO REGRETS: You are to be congratulated for your courage, maturity and unselfishness. Thousands of childless couples are praying for the kind of gift you have made possible. God bless you.

DEAR ABBY: I am a divorced woman with two daughters, ages 8 and 11. I have custody of the girls, but their father has them every other weekend.

My "ex" has recently remarried and joined his wife's church (Baptist). Our children were baptized Catholic and have always attended Mass every Sunday with me.

My "ex" now wants to take the girls to Baptist services on the weekends he has them. He says that neither he nor his pastor sees anything wrong with this. I think consistency in their religious upbringing is very important — that going back and forth between the Catholic church and the Baptist church will confuse them, so my "ex" should take the girls to Catholic services when he has them for the weekend.

He doesn't see this as a workable solution. Your opinion is needed.

CONSCIENTIOUS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I agree that consistency in religious upbringing is essential. The minutest your ex-husband proposes between the Catholic and Baptist churches could get your daughters off on the wrong foot.

DEAR ABBY: You stated that the widow of "John Smith" should call herself "Mrs. John Smith." I don't agree with you. I have a name, and I am a person in my own right. In the wedding ceremony it says, "Till death do you part." Well, if your husband dies, you are no longer married. I don't want to feel like I belong to someone who is dead. I am not his possession.

Of course, I will still use his last name, which became our family name, but if there is no "John Smith," how can there be a "Mrs. John Smith?" It doesn't make any sense at all.

I prefer to use my first name and his last name. I wonder if anyone else feels the way I do.

JOHN IS DEAD; I AM LIVING IN OHIO

DEAR LIVING: You may call yourself anything you wish, but the rule of etiquette is: A widow is "Mrs. John Smith" until she dies, unless she marries again. A divorcee is "Mrs. Mary Smith."

Bratwurst Combo Makes A Hearty, Healthy Dinner

What guides your meat purchases when you step in front of the meat counter — health issues, convenience, price, creativity, or taste? An increasing number of Americans let health issues, such as food containing "empty calories," determine their food selections.

To avoid food with "empty calories" serve "nutrient dense" food. Nutrient dense food provides a lot of essential nutrients for a comparatively small number of calories. Pork, like smoked bratwurst, provides more nutrients per calorie than almost any other basic food.

A bratwurst link is equal to one, three-ounce serving of meat. It contains just 256 calories in each link and supplies the same nutrients found in pork. The sausage meat includes high-quality protein which provides all the essential amino acids our body needs for growth, maintenance and repair. Other important nutrients found in the sausage are iron, zinc, thiamin, riboflavin, niacin and Vitamin B-12.

Not only is smoked bratwurst a valuable nutrient source, this processed meat is very much in line with today's lifestyle. The processing makes it convenient, ready to eat, portable, and provides longer shelf life.

To make a complete hearty and healthy dinner, complement bratwurst with fresh vegetables and whole-grain cereals. In Sausage and Glazed Vegetables, the unique flavor of "fully-cooked" smoked bratwurst is complemented by seasoned baby carrots and pearl onions served over kasha. Kasha, or toasted buckwheat groats, has a more intense flavor than other whole grains. As the grains cook they absorb liquid and soften.

Being healthy and fit is extremely important to Americans today. And meat, such as the nutrient dense smoked bratwurst, is a vital part of a healthy, contemporary diet.

SAUSAGE AND GLAZED VEGETABLES

- 4 "fully-cooked" smoked bratwurst (about 12 ounces)
- 24 pearl onions
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 package (12 ounces) fresh carrots (baby carrots)
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 bay leaf
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon dried thyme leaves
- Dash pepper
- 1 cup white wine
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon water
- 2 teaspoons cornstarch
- Kasha*

Cut several 1/8-inch deep diagonal cuts on each sausage. Brown onion in butter in frying pan over low heat. Remove to small bowl; cover and reserve. Add carrots, 1/4 cup water, bay leaf, salt, thyme and pepper to pan. Cover tightly and cook slowly 15 minutes. Add onions, wine and brown sugar and continue cooking, covered, 15 minutes. Meanwhile prepare Kasha. Add sausage and continue cooking, covered, 8 minutes.

Remove bay leaf. Combine 1 tablespoon water and cornstarch; stir into sausage and vegetables and continue cooking 2 minutes. Serve sausage and vegetables over kasha, 4 servings.

KASHA*

- 1 1/2 cups water
  - 3/4 cups coarse kasha (buckwheat)
  - 1 tablespoon butter
  - 1 teaspoon salt
- Bring water to boil in medium saucepan. Stir in kasha, butter and salt. Cover tightly and cook slowly 10 to 15 minutes or until water is absorbed and kasha is tender. Yield: 2 cups.

Fully-cooked smoked bratwurst is served over vegetables and Kasha (buckwheat)

These patties are served on toasted rye bread slices, open faced and topped with a mixture of mayonnaise, sour cream, onion and parsley. With a tossed green salad, you'll have an easy-to-make, dressed up meal that will satisfy hungry appetites.

BALBOA PARTY BURGERS

Combine mayonnaise, sour cream, onion and parsley; mix well.

Rediscover Goodness, Versatility Of Whole Wheat

Remember tawny, crusty loaves of whole wheat bread cooling in the kitchen?

Remember plump, beige-colored rolls, piping hot and crying for sweet cream butter?

Here they are awaiting your rediscovery in this collection of Betty Crocker recipes called The Whole Wheat Baking Book. You'll find yeast breads, quick breads, pastry, cakes and cookies - the whole versatile world of baking with whole wheat flour.

Some of the recipes from the book are as follows:

HONEY-WHOLE WHEAT BREAD

2 packages active dry yeast
 1/2 cup warm water (105 to 115 degrees)
 1 tablespoon salt
 1/2 cup honey
 1/4 cup shortening
 1 3/4 cups warm water
 6 to 7 cups whole wheat flour
 Butter or margarine, softened

Dissolve yeast in 1/2 cup warm water. Stir in salt, honey, shortening, 1 3/4 cups warm water and 3 1/2 cups of the flour. Beat until smooth. Mix in enough remaining flour to make dough easy to handle.

Turn dough onto lightly floured surface; knead until smooth and elastic, about 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl; turn greased side up. Cover; let rise in warm place until double, about 1 hour. (Dough is ready if impression remains when touched.)

Punch down dough; divide into halves. Roll each half into rectangle, 18 by 9 inches. Roll up, beginning at short side. Press each end with side of hand to seal. Fold ends under loaf. Place seam side down in greased loaf pan, 9 by 5 by 3 or 8 1/2 by 4 1/2 by 2 1/2 inches. Cover; let rise until double, about 1 hour.

Heat oven to 375-degrees. Place loaves on low rack so that tops of pans are in center of oven. Pans should not touch each other or sides of oven. Bake until deep golden brown and loaves sound hollow when tapped, 40 to 45 minutes; remove from pans. Brush loaves with butter; cool on wire rack, 2 loaves.

Storing Yeast Bread: Bread maintains its freshness at room temperature longer than in the refrigerator. In hot, humid weather, however, refrigeration inhibits the growth of mold. To store bread for short or long periods of time, cool bread thoroughly and wrap in a moisture- and vapor-proof material such as aluminum foil or a plastic bag. Frozen bread can be stored up to 12 months. To thaw, leave in original wrap and let stand at room temperature for about 3 hours.

STREUSEL

1/2 cup chopped salted peanuts
 1/2 cup brown sugar (packed)

1/4 cup whole wheat flour
 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
 3 tablespoons creamy peanut butter

Mix all ingredients until crumbly.

Frosting: Mix 1 cup powdered sugar and 2 to 3 tablespoons water until of desired consistency.

Facts About Fruit

Fruit is the structure that develops from the ovary of a flower after fertilization. Vegetable is a general term for plants whose leaves, flowers, fruits, roots or stems are edible. The term vegetable is used for those plants that are eaten in the main courses of meals. The general term fruit applies to plants used as appetizers or desserts, or eaten from the hand. Botanically, a tomato is a fruit and so is a bean.

Store slightly underripe apples for two weeks or less in temperatures of no more than 60 to 70 degrees to ripen them. Only perfect apples should be stored. Those with bruises will spoil.

Pears ripen from the inside out. When a pear seems ripe on the outside, it may well be mushy inside. Choose fruit that is a little firm and has just a bit of aroma.

Neither strawberries nor pineapples ripen beyond the state at which they were picked, so don't buy these fruits with a view to trying them until they reach perfection. Avocados that are very green and rock hard will soften, but may rot in the process, so select fruits that are already soft without being mushy.

There are many orange varieties, most of them grown in either Florida or California. Generally, you can tell California oranges from Florida oranges because the West Coast varieties have a thicker skin. The thick skin was bred in deliberate to enable the fruit to travel the long distance from the West to the East Coast where the greatest number of orange eaters live.

The Florida oranges are excellent for eating, too, but these thinner-skinned varieties are exceptionally good for juice.

The navel orange is California's main citrus crop and the most important variety for eating out of hand.

Buy A Whole Loin To Trim Food Bill

Shoppers with an eye for value can save substantially by buying a whole pork loin rather than the individual cuts it yields — chops, ribs, and roast. And you don't have to be a butcher to take advantage of the bargain. The meat department will usually cut the loin into the desired cuts, or at least make the initial saw cuts so only simple knife work is required.

Many stores feature large cuts of meats in "family packs." Depending on the retailer, it may be displayed in individual cuts, or left as the whole "subprimal." Often, cutting instructions are featured on the package of a subprimal.

The most popular way to divide a whole pork loin yields chops, country-style ribs, and a loin end roast. Any lean trimmings can be used for ground pork, cubes for kabobs, or strips for stir-frying.

Country-style ribs are the meatiest of all ribs, yielding more servings per pound than other ribs. They are equally delicious grilled or baked in the oven. Smoky Country-Style Ribs are basted with a tangy barbecue sauce while baking.

Pork chops are one of the most versatile pork cuts. While they can be cut into a variety of thicknesses, a 1- to 1½-inch chop is best for dinner. Herbed Pork Chops are marinated in a pineapple-sherry mixture, then broiled.

Orange-Ginger Pork Roast is rubbed with a dry mustard mixture, then brushed with an orange marmalade glaze while baking. Use leftover for sandwiches or slice into strips and add to a chef's salad.

Fresh pork that won't be used within two days should be wrapped in moisture vaporproof freezer wrap and sealed with freezer tape. Always label packages with contents and date before freezing. Ground pork should be used within three months. Other fresh pork can be frozen up to six months.

¼ cup ketchup
¾ cup firmly packed brown sugar
½ cup chili sauce
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons liquid smoke
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Sprinkle ribs with garlic salt and freshly ground pepper.

In a medium saucepan combine the remaining ingredients. Cook over medium heat about 10 minutes, stirring occasionally; keep warm.

Place ribs, rib bones down, on a rack in a shallow roasting pan. Baste with sauce. Bake in a 325 degree oven for 1½ to 2½ hours, turning and basting with sauce every 30 minutes. Cut into serving size portions. Heat the remaining sauce and serve with ribs. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

2 tablespoons brown sugar
½ teaspoon dried rosemary leaves, crushed
1 clove garlic, minced
4 pork chops, about 1-inch thick

Spicy Yogurt Frosting On Pound Cake

Pound cakes are popular because they are easy to make and have a pleasing texture. Here is a version that has added tang from apple pie spice and a spicy yogurt frosting.

SPICED YOGURT POUND CAKE

2 ½ cups all-purpose flour
1 ½ teaspoons apple pie spice
½ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup butter or margarine, softened
2 cups sugar
4 eggs
1 cup plain yogurt
Spiced Yogurt Frosting + a

In medium bowl, combine flour, apple pie spice, baking soda and salt; set aside. In large bowl of electric mixer, beat butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Stir in flour mixture alternately with yogurt. Stir just until blended. Pour into a greased and floured 10-inch (12-cup) bundt or tube pan. Bake in preheated, 325-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean, about 1 hour. Cool in pan on wire rack 10 minutes. Remove cake from pan; cool completely. Spoon about half of the Spiced Yogurt Frosting over the cake. Serve remaining over sliced cake. Sprinkle with chopped nuts, if desired. This kitchen-tested recipe makes one 10-inch tube cake.

SPICED YOGURT FROSTING: In small bowl, combine 1 cup plain yo ½ cup firmly-packed brown sugar and ½ teaspoon apple pie spice. Stir until all of the sugar is dissolved.

Microwave Magic

Turkey Parts
Inexpensive
Main Dish

Maybe you have noticed as I have that there is available in the poultry section of the meat counter various packages of turkey parts. Turkey thighs, wings, and drumsticks I found at a very reasonable price. The meat can be removed from the bone and used in combination with vegetables and other foods stuff or the individual pieces can be prepared as an inexpensive entree. Either way, the microwave oven can shorten the cooking time.

A three pound package of turkey thighs will provide the meat for this vegetable-turkey, low calorie, main dish. The cost of the turkey is 49 cents per pound.

BRAISED TURKEY AND VEGETABLES

- 1 large tomato, chopped
  - 1 large onion, sliced and separated into rings
  - 1 large green pepper, cut into strips
  - 2 turkey thighs (2 1/2-3 lbs.) boned and skinned
  - 1/4 cup hot water
  - 1/2 teaspoon instant chicken bouillon
  - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
  - 1/4 teaspoon salt
  - 1/2 teaspoon red wine vinegar
- Combine tomato, onion, and green pepper in an 8 by 8 baking dish. Place turkey thighs on top of vegetables with meatiest portions to outside of the dish.

In a 1-quart measure combine remaining ingredients. Pour over turkey and vegetables. Cover with plastic wrap. Microwave at 100% power for three minutes. Rotate and rearrange pieces. Reduce power to 50% and microwave for 30-35 minutes, or until meat is no longer pink. Rotate and rearrange meat twice during cooking.

Serves 4; 184 calories per serving.

This recipe would make good use of frozen leftover turkey or meat from turkey parts.

SWEET AND SOUR TURKEY

- 1 package of frozen pea pods
- 2 tablespoons water
- 1 small onion, sliced
- 1/4 cup green pepper, chopped
- 1 large rib of celery, sliced diagonally
- 2 cups cooked, cubed turkey
- 1 can (15 1/2 oz.) pineapple chunks, reserve juice
- 4 teaspoons cornstarch

1 teaspoon instant chicken bouillon
1/4 teaspoon salt — can be omitted
1 teaspoon brown sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons soy sauce
1 tablespoon vinegar
Dash of ground ginger

Place pea pods and water in a 2-quart casserole; cover. Microwave at 100% power for 2-3 minutes or until defrosted. Break apart and drain. Stir in onion, green pepper, celery, turkey, and pineapple chunks. Set aside.

In a 4-cup measure combine cornstarch, bouillon, ginger, salt, and brown sugar. Stir in soy sauce, vinegar, and reserved pineapple juice. Microwave at 100% power for 2-4 minutes or until sauce is clear and thickened. Stir frequently. Fold sauce into the turkey mixture; cover. Microwave at 100% for 4-6 minutes or until well heated. Serve with rice.

Serves 4; 188 calories per serving.
A favorite to use leftover sliced turkey or ham or the two in combination is Divan.

TURKEY DIVAN

Place broccoli and water in a 2-quart casserole; cover. Microwave at 100% power for 6-8 minutes, break apart spears. Set aside.

In a 4-cup measure combine flour, salt, pepper, onion powder, parsley flakes, and dry mustard. Stir in sherry. Blend in milk. Microwave at 100% power for 3 1/2-5 minutes, or until slightly thickened. Stir frequently. Blend in cheese until melted. Set aside.

Stir-fry beef, vegetables
Beef Dish Ready In 10 Minutes

Staying fit means more than exercise. It means eating a well-balanced meal, too. But providing a balanced meal can become a juggling act between today's busy schedules and the right health-filled foods. So when it's time to decide what to put on the dinner table you'll want something fast and easy.

For on-the-go dining try Beef and Vegetable Stir-Fry. The Chinese stir-fry method of cooking is known for its ease of preparation. Small portions of meat and vegetables are cooked in a small amount of oil in less than ten minutes for this recipe.

Another attractive feature of this dish is the number of nutrients per calorie you receive. The beef round steak provides more nutrients per calorie than almost any other basic food. For example, a three-ounce serving of beef contains nearly one-half of the recommended daily allowance of protein. And the protein provided by meat is complete, containing all eight essential amino acids in the proper ratio for human nutrition.

Beef also contributes substantial amounts of the recommended daily allowance of other essential nutrients, such as 79 percent of vitamin B-12, 38 percent of zinc, 26 percent of iron and 19 percent of niacin.

And how many calories does this three-ounce serving of beef top round steak contribute? Just 165 calories! By providing a lot of essential nutrients for a comparatively small number of calories, beef is considered a "nutrient dense" food. That makes beef a healthy food bargain, and definitely a food for fitness.

BEEF AND VEGETABLE STIR-FRY

- 1 pound beef top round steak, cut 1 inch thick
  - 1 teaspoon cornstarch
  - 3 tablespoons water
  - 1 1/2 cups cauliflowerettes
  - 2 tablespoons cooking oil
  - 1 large clove garlic, minced
  - 2 cups zucchini, cut into 2-inch long sticks
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - 1/2 teaspoon ground fennel
  - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
  - 1 large tomato, cut into 8 wedges
- Partially freeze steak to firm and slice into strips 1/4-inch thick. Dissolve cornstarch in water; reserve. Blanch cauliflower 2 minutes; reserve. Stir-fry beef strips (1/4 at a time) in hot oil in wok or large frying pan 3 to 4 minutes. Add zucchini, salt, fennel and pepper and stir-fry 2 minutes. Add reserved cornstarch mixture and cauliflower and stir-fry 2 minutes. Stir in tomato wedges. Serve immediately, 4 servings.

Operation May Not Cure Hearing Loss

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm 63 and in fairly good health, but I am hard of hearing. At first I thought people spoke in low voices and their enunciation was poor. Finally I realized the problem was me.

My doctor recommended a hearing aid and told me I would have to live with my problem the rest of my life. It's very frustrating. I use the hearing aid, but it has limitations. The sound is louder, but I often don't completely understand what is said. Also, when two or more persons are talking at the same time, the hearing aid becomes a nuisance.

Recently I read about an operation called a stapedectomy to restore hearing. Could this be true? Is this the miracle I've been waiting for? DEAR READER — A stapedectomy is helpful in many cases for the hearing loss called otosclerosis. The tiny bones in the middle ear are frozen together. Freeing them and allowing them to vibrate may indeed restore the hearing in some patients.

But many people have a different form of hearing loss that is related to special hearing cells in the inner ear, the hearing nerve itself or the hearing cells in the brain. When this is the problem, a stapedectomy will not help at all.

When surgery cannot correct a hearing loss, hearing aids often are of great value. There are some differences in the types of hearing aids that should be used. A good ear, nose and throat specialist or audiologist should be able to match the proper type of hearing aid with the form of hearing loss that is present. I regretfully must add that not every person who has severe hearing loss can be helped.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm a 20-year-old, 5-foot-4-inch woman. Since I was 13 I've weighed 110 pounds, but recently I've lost 10 pounds.

Friends and family comment on how skinny and ill I'm beginning to look. I've gone down one bra size and my pants barely stay on. I eat three meals a day. Other than chasing my two children around, I'm not very active. I'm losing about two pounds a month. I also feel run down and when I stand up I feel like I'm going to faint. I take vitamins and prescription iron pills.

The doctor just says I should be happy I don't have a weight problem. DEAR READER — Better see a different doctor. Unexplained weight loss is usually because of a medical disorder. High on the list are an overactive thyroid and diabetes, though there are other causes.

Meanwhile, do the opposite of what we recommend for losing body fat. Eat more and eat between meals. Eat high-calorie foods and decrease your physical activity if you can. All of this is temporary, of course, until the cause of your weight loss is explained.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

WIN AT BRIDGE

to stop. The high card asks partner to continue.

We watched South drop his jack of spades in a mistaken attempt to cause declarer to shift to some other suit. Unfortunately for South, West merely laughed and continued with the ace and four-spot of spades. East ruffed and, since the ace of diamonds was a sure winner for the defense, another game had gone to Valhalla.

South was victim of his lack of knowledge. The way to encourage a continuation is to play a high card. A low card may discourage a continuation. West had not seen the deuce. Therefore his partner must have held that card or the tray and clearly was showing a doubleton.

Suppose South had made his correct play of the deuce. West might well have played South for holding 3-2, whereupon East's five-spot would not be a come-on. West might lead the diamond ace. East would play the four, and now South could drop the five, concealing the deuce. West might still lead more spades, but he might also play a second diamond. We don't know what he would do, but at least South would have had a chance.

One of the tricks of the trade is to know which low card you should play when following suit. This applies to both declarer and defender.

The Sailor's Return: Love And Prejudice

By Julianne Hastings
UPI TV Reporter

— Tom Bell and Nigerian actress Shope Shodeinde star on PBS at 9 p.m. today in "The Sailor's Return," a moving love story about a sea captain who marries a black African princess and brings her home to Victorian England.

The movie is based on the 50-year-old novel of the same name by David Garnett about prejudice and its consequences.

Bell plays Targett, a sea captain who marries an African princess named Tulp (Shodeinde), and brings the young woman and their son (Elton Charles) back to his home in Dorset, England.

The couple's arrival in the little town causes a great stir. A parade of stunned residents quickly forms and follows them through the streets.

"I never knew they got black so young," one woman comments, referring to the couple's son.

With Tulp's dowry of pearls, Targett is able to lease an inn. He considers himself a rich man, but business quickly begins to slump.

One night Targett arrives home to find torch-bearing residents of the adjoining village shouting for his barman Tom (Mick Ford) to turn over Tulp.

Targett, like a captain taking charge of his unruly hands, rides in front of the crowd, dismounts and sends them home.

The captain learns that his snob of a sister Lucy (Lucy Sturme) is behind much of the campaign against his wife and goes to pay her a visit.

"You'd rather have a black woman than your good name?" Lucy asks him.

"A good name never kept anyone warm in bed," Targett replies.

To Lucy's even greater consternation he continues, "Back in Africa, Tulp was a grander lady than you'd ever hope to be."

The war is on.

Targett's landlord attempts to oust him for living with a lady to whom he isn't married — African weddings don't count. The local minister is after Tulp to get her son baptised, "washed white" as he unfortunately puts it.

Then there are the sporadic incidents involving common ruffians.

Through it all, the couple manages to find happiness in one another and the viewer manages to maintain hope that they can overcome the odds.

Bell, who played the father in the "Masterpiece Theater" presentation of "Sons and Lovers" last season, gives a winning performance as the handsome sea captain and Shodeinde's Tulp is beautiful to watch as she marvels at the often cruel mysteries.

Anaya Stands Behind Mondale; Attacks Reagan's Policy Of Pain

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New Mexico Gov. Toney Anaya, the nation's highest ranking elected Hispanic, Tuesday attacked President Reagan's "policy of pain" and endorsed Walter Mondale for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Anaya announced his support for the former vice president during a speech to the United Auto Workers annual political-legislative conference. The union has endorsed Mondale, who told the group a few minutes after Anaya spoke. "This is the most anti-union administration in history."

Mondale said the White House has allowed too much freedom to business, while ignoring employees.

"We see management using King Kong tactics to make their workers accept Hong Kong wages," he said, citing the recent Greyhound Bus strike as an example.

Anaya said, "Ronald Reagan is the most anti-Hispanic, anti-black, anti-women, and anti-labor president since Herbert Hoover."

"Ronald Reagan's reign has poured down upon us a policy of pain. He gave millions of working men and women unemployment,

He gave us drastic domestic spending cuts. ... He cut retirement programs, Medicaid ... and other benefits," the governor said.

The attack cut directly into Reagan political strategy, which has tried to foster an image of the president being sensitive to the needs of Hispanics — the nation's fastest growing minority group and a potent electoral force, particularly in the Southwest.

"The hands that pick the lettuce and the hands that pick the cotton are the same hands that will pick the next president, and that man will be Walter Mondale," Anaya declared.

On Monday, AFL-CIO chief Lane Kirkland told the UAW gathering to push for Mondale's election to begin "the work of repairing the damage of the last four years."

"We have no illusion of easy victory, but our movement was not built on easy victories," the labor leader told cheering delegates.

"All of us welcome any sign of recovery. With every worker who is called back to a protected job and with every new car that rolls off the line, the country recovers by that much from the depths of its most recent despair."

"But in human terms, real recovery is going to take a long, long time," Kirkland warned, pointing out that those "lucky enough to be back on the job, stripped of their homes and their savings and their possessions, recovery is years away."

"For more than 10 million Americans who desperately need and want jobs, recovery is not even in sight," he said.

"For all Americans, the danger of a new collapse into an even worse and deeper Reagan recession will remain until there are changes in the policies that brought us to the brink of disaster."

"For three years, our nation has been in retreat from the goals of social and economic justice. Tens of thousands of your members and millions of other Americans have been the victims of the deepest recession and the highest unemployment since the days of Herbert Hoover."

The four-day union session opened Sunday with UAW President Owen Bieber calling Mondale the only Democrat who can defeat Reagan.

Republicans Challenge The Democrats To Post-Talk Debate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Conservative Republicans Tuesday challenged Democrats to a debate on major issues following President Reagan's State of the Union address tonight.

Rep. Newt Gingrich, R-Ga., told reporters the debate should include issues such as school prayer, a balanced budget and allowing the president to veto specific items in the budget.

"As a first step toward a serious dialogue with both sides of the aisle represented, we propose a debate on the floor of the House after the president's State of the Union address," Gingrich said.

"We suggest the time be divided fairly, and that together both parties begin the process of talking seriously about our agreements and disagreements."

Rep. Judd Gregg, R-N.H., said other issues that could be debated are crime, drugs and bankruptcy.

Rep. Barbara Vucanovich, R-Nev., said the public believes Congress "won't do anything this year." That, she said, "would not be fair to the American people."

Asked what they expect to gain from such a debate, Rep. Vin Weber, R-Minn., said, "We are trying to influence the calendar for the coming year."

Democrats appeared unlikely to accept the challenge, however. House Speaker Tip O'Neill, D-Mass., told reporters, "I don't think much of that group who say at any time. I think that about sums it up."

On Monday, several conservative Republicans tried to reserve four hours of House debate time every day for the rest of the year, but Democrats blocked the plan, touching off angry charges of "steamrolling."

In the ensuing shouting, the Republicans promised to object to every special speech request made by the Democrats from now on.

Weber even objected to a request by Rep. Patricia Schroeder, D-Colo., for time to eulogize two dead members, Clement Zablocki of Wisconsin and Byron Rogers of Colorado.
