Advisory Panel Proposes Changes In Sanford Charter

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Sweeping changes in Sanford's city charter are tentatively proposed by a citizens advisory committee appointed by the City Commission more than nine months ago.

Thomas Wilson III, chairman of the committee, said today the group has completed its first review of the charter and will begin a final review at its meeting Jan. 5 at 7 p.m. in the city manager's conference room at City Hall on Park Avenue.

Included among the changes are: municipal election times, terms of office, a geographic districting proposal, internal control of the uniformed services (police and fire) departments, and bans on employees' becoming involved in political activities while on the job.

There will be some lengthy discussion over some very key issues before the committee report is given to the City Commission," Wilson said today, noting that the final report could be several months away.

"Basically, all the members of the committee have in mind the interest of the city of Sanford in trying to make the charter as good as possible so that all will benefit," Wilson said.

The changes include:

— Setting municipal election times for the first Tuesday after the second Monday in September. Currently, city elections are held the first Tuesday after the first Monday in December. Wilson noted that December elections are not a good time because of the Christmas holidays, and November elections are not much better, he said, because the major interests of the voters are state and national in scope.

"During those times it's difficult to get the voters out to the polls on city matters," he said.

A September election time would give new city commissioners the opportunity of receiving a comprehensive review of the budget with which they will be working, Wilson said. The new budget year begins Oct. 1.

By calling for an election date of the first Tuesday after the second Monday in September, the Labor Day week also is avoided, he said.

The tentative proposal also calls for two commissioners to be elected in 1982, no election in 1983, and two more commissioners to be elected in 1984, extending Mayor Lee P. Moore's four-year term to five years and calling for his election in 1985. Elections thereafter would be held every two years.

This schedule would avoid having the majority of the commission up for election in any one year.

— A proposal to create four geographic areas as nearly equal in population as possible in the city and require that a city commissioner live in each one, while the commissioners would be elected by all the voters in the city. The mayor could live in any district.

Both Altamonte Springs and Longwood have geographic districts in which city commissioners must live.

— Removing the uniformed services departments from the direct control of the commission, thus requiring both departments to be answerable to the city manager, as all other city departments are.

— Permitting city employees to be politically involved but forbidding their involvement and participation while on duty and banning their wearing city uniforms or using city equipment while working in political campaigns.

Members of the committee, in addition to Wilson, are Chalafont Horrell, Dan Pelham, Dr. Julius Ringling, Dr. Velma Williams, John Leroy, George Willis, Darrell Griener, Robbie Robertson, Eve Crabtree and Dick Barnett.

The City Commission on Monday night agreed to change the number of members on the committee from 11 to 9, so that a quorum of five will be sufficient to hold a meeting.

Salary-Raise Plan Receives Sanford's OK

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

A new, six-point pay plan allowing the city's department heads an opportunity to receive a yearly salary increase based on annual evaluations by the city manager was approved unanimously by the Sanford City Commission on Monday night.

The pay plan, effective next Friday, establishes pay grades and steps for the city's six department heads who are not currently covered by any such policy or pay schedule.

In addition, after the plan goes into effect, five of the six department heads will then receive an increase in salary on their respective hiring dates to "bring them up to the starting rate," said City

Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles. "I'm not saying they don't deserve the pay raises," Yancey said. "I'm only saying I don't see any point in giving any money right now. Everyone just got a five percent cost-of-living increase in April. Maybe I would consider it in October, but not now."

"What we've got is a number of people who have not been given adequate consideration," Mayor Lee P. Moore said. He said that when the pay plan is established, "I will have accomplished my purpose in getting a system" for rewarding department heads for a job well done.

"We've got workers out there making minimum wage getting a merit increase every year, but the man who has been bossing him around for 10 years isn't even being considered," Moore said. "I think it's time he was."

Commissioners did not comment on Knowles' recommendation to shift the responsibility for salary-increase recommendations from the commission to his office.

The new policy says the evaluation should come from the city manager's office, in private and not in public forum before the commission, since an evaluation requires a detailed knowledge of each department head's daily work and performance.

Knowles said the pay increases for department heads, like other city employees, are not automatic.

"About one-third of the city employees are held back and don't get a merit increase each year," he said. "These department heads will be evaluated, but now with the new plan it will mean more than just some conversation in my office. They will have the opportunity for pay increases."

However, Yancey said that with the current economic situation, the recent city support of the one-cent sales-tax increase and the decision to spend over $6,000 on a study concerning double taxation "to save residents money doesn't jive" with the pay-raise increase.

I'm not saying they don't deserve the pay raises.
I'm only saying I don't see any point in giving any money right now.'

Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles. He said the increase, which will amount to about $2,600 for the fiscal year's remaining nine months, is necessary to bring the department-head salaries up to par with the department heads of other cities comparable to Sanford in size.

Mack LaZebny, the city's utility director and engineer, will not be eligible to receive an increase because his salary and pay scale are at the highest level afforded his position on the pay schedule.

The increase in department-head salaries over the next nine months, unlike the initiation of the pay plan, met with some commission opposition.

Commissioners E.A. "Ned" Yancey and Milton E. Smith voted against the raises.

A motorist slows down on Airport Boulevard to carefully maneuver his vehicle across the railroad tracks near the entrance to Sanford Airport. However, the Seaboard Coast Line Railroad will be making the necessary repairs to the track bed beginning Wednesday. Airport Boulevard in the vicinity of the airport will be closed from Wednesday until the work is completed. Railroad officials said they will be paving the area with asphalt Monday at the railroad crossings at Airport Boulevard and E. 20th Street.

Adults accused of felonies — murder, rape, robberies, burglaries — in the circuit courts of Seminole County beginning Friday will no longer have the option of striking a deal for a lesser punishment.

Seminole and Brevard counties — the 18th Judicial Circuit — thus will join a few other Florida counties in halting the plea-bargaining process in adult felony cases, with just a few exceptions.

An exception, according to Chris Ray, chief assistant to State Attorney Douglas Cheshire in Seminole County, will occur when there are co-defendants involved and the testimony of one is needed to clinch the case against the other. Other exceptions will be in matters involving worthless checks and unemployment-compensation fraud, which traditionally have not gone to trial.

The idea of halting plea bargaining — negotiations between assistant state attorneys and defense attorneys to arrive at a plea agreement for a defendant to discourage a trial — is not happening as abruptly as the announced policy indicates, however.

Ray said today that while the policy officially goes into effect Friday, Cheshire "has been toying with the idea for the last four years" and has been stopping plea bargaining gradually for the last two to three years.

The policy began formally shaping up earlier this year after Circuit Judges Kenneth Leffler and Joseph Davis Jr. announced they would not permit "sentence bargaining" in their courtrooms at the County Courthouse.

The usual practice had been for the assistant state attorneys and defense lawyers to enter into plea bargaining, with the state agreeing to recommend a penalty to be handed down by the judge in exchange for a defendant pleading guilty to certain specific charges.

Both judges felt it was inappropriate for the judiciary to be brought into the plea-bargaining process by confirming a sentence agreed on by the two opposing lawyers in advance.

Ray said there are two major reasons for setting a firm policy as this time. "Since the Legislature beefed up our staff, we are able to handle a larger potential number of trials from a manpower standpoint," he said, noting that the felony division in Cheshire's Sanford office has been increased from four lawyers to eight in the last six months.

At the same time, Ray does not foresee the average number of 25 to 30 trials monthly handled by Cheshire's office increasing substantially.

When Cheshire took office more than five years ago, he immediately set a hard and fast rule that plea bargaining would not be permitted on cases involving battery on police officers. From that point, as he gained the confidence of the judiciary and law enforcement, Ray said, he has been implementing harsher standards on plea bargaining.

Ray said Cheshire made the change gradually because as the "new kid on the block" he did not wish to act in an abrupt fashion.

He said Cheshire discussed the policy over the last several months with judges and all the law-enforcement agencies in the county, and with his office staff.

"Doug sat down with each and every law-enforcement department in the county and talked with all supervisory personnel of those departments. He basically told them what he is expecting from an investigative standpoint, and the proposal was received very well from the departments. Some of the law-enforcement agencies might change methods of investigative work as a result, but changes are not going to be widespread," Ray said, adding that for the most part all Seminole's law-enforcement agencies are doing a good job.

Ray agreed the change will require not only law-enforcement agencies but also Cheshire's staff lawyers to "buckle down and do a better job" of case preparation.

He suggested reasons for plea bargaining in the past have been many and varied. "A case might collapse because witnesses were missing. Or my office may have overcharged an individual and a lawyer on reflection might realize the defendant had been overcharged. Or maybe the assistant state attorney wanted to give a break to a first offender," Ray said.

"We will be monitoring the new program. If it doesn't work, Cheshire is not that so inflexible that we cannot go back to square one," he said.

He emphasized that the halt in plea bargaining is not geared to misdemeanor or juvenile cases at this time.

Jail Trusty Files Suit Over His Unpaid Work

By LEE DANCY
Herald Staff Writer

Asserting that Sheriff John Polk should have paid him while he worked as a kitchen trusty within the jail, a Seminole County Correctional Facility inmate is suing the county's top lawman.

Lewis R. Dowda, 44, is seeking damages of more than $200,000. The former jail trusty and work-release program participant is serving a one-year sentence at the jail for burglary, armed assault, battery and probation violation, said Steven Saunders, chief jail administrator.

Dowda will complete his sentence on those charges on March 5. He is scheduled for trial on escape charges in February, however.

In early October Dowda walked away from his work-release job at the Foxfire restaurant on U.S. Highway 17-92 in Sanford. He was apprehended a short time later and his trusty status was canceled Oct. 9, Polk said.

Dowda is asserting that while he worked as a cook, baker and menu planner at the county jail's kitchen, he should have been paid for his work. A regular county employee doing Dowda's job would be paid approximately $700 a month, Polk said.

No trusty working in the confines of the jail is actually paid for his work. Instead, the inmate granted the special status receives 11 days off his sentence each month, Polk said.

A regular inmate receives five days off his sentence each month for good behavior.

Other privileges granted trusties include permission to dine in a special trusties dining room, movement within the jail doing chores, and the ability to meet visitors in the courtroom facility at the jail rather than through the regular visitors' windows, Polk said.

Dowda also is asserting he should have been credited with the time he served in the jail waiting to be tried and sentenced. He says he was in jail about eight months before being sentenced.

Polk said giving a convicted criminal credit for time served prior to being sentenced is a choice made by the judge. Circuit Court Judge Kenneth M. Leffler decided not to credit Dowda with the eight months served prior to sentencing, Polk said.

For Sanford Employees

Insurance-Policy Switch Planned

Sanford employees and their dependents covered by the city's health and life insurance policy will soon switch to a policy sponsored by the Florida League of Cities.

At Monday night's City Commission meeting, the commission voted unanimously to switch from the current policy with Tampa-based Gulf Group Service Corp. to the league's plan because of impending insurance premium increases by Gulf.

After a two-month study of the policies and insurance rates because of the possibility of a 75 percent increase in premiums to the city under the current coverage, City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles recommended the city change over to the league's insurance plan.

"It is difficult to leave a good company such as Gulf, which has provided good service for many years," Knowles said. "However, when you study the dollars and cents there is no way you can truthfully say Gulf is best."

The new plan, tentatively set to begin Feb. 1, provides employee coverage at a monthly premium of $43.63, compared to the proposed $72.22 by Gulf. Monthly dependent coverage under the new policy is $72.35, as opposed to Gulf's $127.38.

The city pays the cost of the monthly premium for city employees. However, dependent coverage is paid solely by the employee.

'It is difficult to leave a good company such as Gulf, which has provided good service for many years. However, when you study the dollars and cents there is no way you can truthfully say Gulf is the best.'

The league's plan, which is co-insured and underwritten by London-based Cayzer Steel Bowatti International Ltd., will be administered by Winter Park-based Hill, Richard and Cos. Inc., Knowles said.

"Sure, this year they're (the league) using a come-on rate and then they'll hit you with the real rate next year, up about 20-25 percent," Knowles said. "But even with that increase, the league's cost will be lower than Gulf's."

Knowles said the league used the city's current policy with Gulf to model the new policy providing "exactly the same coverage as before."

"Really, we have no options," he said. "The city needs to go to a full, non-profit policy."

In other action Monday night, the commission authorized an agreement between the city and the DeLand-based Kellon & Associates consulting firm to study Seminole County financial records to determine whether city residents are being taxed double for county services they may not be receiving.

The six-month study slated to be entered into by at least five other area cities — Casselberry, Longwood, Altamonte Springs, Winter Springs and Lake Mary — will cost Sanford about $6,167.

NATION IN BRIEF

Reagan Plans To 'Tighten The Screws' On Soviets

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — President Reagan prepared today to announce a series of political and economic sanctions against the Soviet Union in reprisal for the crisis in Poland.

Aides said Reagan intends to "tighten the screws" against the Soviets, who he blames for instigating the military crackdown against the Polish people. But they said the escalation of pressure on the Soviets to force an end to martial law in Poland would involve only "light and measured" steps.

Test-Tube Baby Doing OK

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — America's first test-tube baby, Elizabeth Jordan Carr, and her mother were doing fine today, giving hope to some three million infertile couples. Doctors say five more test-tube babies may be born in the United States in the coming year.

The 5-pound, 13-ounce baby girl was born by Caesarean section at 7:54 a.m. Monday at Norfolk General Hospital, just a short distance from where she was conceived in a laboratory dish nearly nine months ago. Her pediatrician pronounced her "perfectly healthy" and in very satisfactory condition today.

Jury Selection Continues

ATLANTA (UPI) — Fear that his wife and two children might become "targets" was not enough to excuse a construction foreman from serving on the jury that must try Wayne B. Williams, accused of two of the 28 murders of young blacks in Atlanta.

By the time the first day of jury selection concluded Monday, Superior Court Judge Clarence Cooper excused 19 of the first batch of 47 potential jurors — 16 for medical or family reasons and three because they had formed firm opinions in the case. Seventeen remained to be questioned by attorneys today.

Farming Decline Halted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The number of American farms rose this year for the first time since the Great Depression, ending a migration from the farm and a sharp decline in farm numbers over the past 45 years.

The number of farms rose 0.3 percent in 1981 to 2.436 million. The peak was 6.8 million farms in 1935, when the last increase was recorded.

Eastern Cuts Fares

MIAMI (UPI) — Eastern Airlines has announced a new round of fare cuts in the northeast and midwest air rate war, trimming week day coach seats between New York and Miami to $114 beginning Jan. 6.

The fares, effective Monday through Thursday, also apply to flights between Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington and Miami. They also allow travel between the same northeast cities and New York and West Palm Beach, Fort Lauderdale, Orlando, Daytona Beach, Jacksonville, Sarasota, Tampa, Fort Myers, Gainesville, or Melbourne, Fla., for the same $114 fare.

NATIONAL REPORT: With more than 2 feet of snow blanketing parts of the Midwest, winter storms moved east toward the Atlantic seaboard today. In snowbound Colorado, vacationers were cautioned to watch for deadly avalanches in the mountains. Travelers' advisories were issued from the Ohio Valley to western New York state, with up to 4 inches of new snow expected in some areas. A mixture of rain, sleet and snow pelted northwestern Maryland Monday and forecasters said it would change completely to snow as temperatures dropped today, covering the area with up to 2 inches. Between 2 to 10 inches of wet, slippery snow has blanketed the Northeast and the Midwest in the last two days. New Hampshire reported 7 to 10 inches of new snow Monday, while Vermont had 9. Parts of the Midwest had up to 14 inches. Because of icing, Washington, D.C., was forced to close its roads to Virginia Monday. Rain and fog shrouded portions of the southern Atlantic coastal region, especially southeastern Georgia where visibilities were near zero.

Was Fire At Duff's An 'Inside Job'?

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

An investigation was continuing today in what fire officials term an "inside job" concerning a fire and burglary at Duff's Smorgasbord restaurant, 965 W. State Road 436, Altamonte Springs, early Monday morning.

"We've got some boys (restaurant employees) up in Ocala today taking some polygraph tests," Altamonte Springs Fire Chief Thomas Siegfried said. "Because there were no apparent signs of forced entry, we feel this incident may have been an inside job."

Police and fire officials said they feel the two fires set inside the restaurant were used to cover up a burglary to two of the restaurant's safes. It has not yet been determined how much money was stolen from the safes.

"They used whatever they could find there in the restaurant such as napkins and paper, and ignited the two, 2-foot high piles with matches," said Altamonte Springs Police Lt. Edward Overman.

The fires were extinguished by the restaurant's internal sprinkler system before police and fire officials responded at about 1:30 a.m. The flames did only minor damage to the restaurant.

Duff's alarm system had been turned off by the perpetrators, Overman said.

SOUTH COUNTY HOME ROBBED

Burglars broke into a south Seminole County man's home at noon Saturday, stealing about $70 cash, a diamond and sapphire ring and an emerald and diamond necklace.

Edward L. Prizer, 56, of 320 Woodlake Dr., Maitland, told sheriff's deputies someone broke into his home by shattering a glass door pane with a hammer and unlocking the door. Once inside, the perpetrators made off with the ring, necklace and $16 in quarters, $5 in Kennedy half dollars and $50 in U.S. currency.

SLEEPING WOMAN ROBBED

A Sanford woman, asleep on her sofa, was robbed at about 2:30 a.m. Saturday when someone entered her home and took money from her purse and coins from a jar in the home.

Mary J. Season, 27, of 813 Magnolia Ave. told Sanford police she was asleep on her couch with her purse beside her. When she awakened, the money was missing from her purse and a large amount of coins had been stolen from a jar in her home. The thieves made off with approximately $285 in currency and coins, police said.

MAGAZINE SALESMEN ROBBED

Two magazine salesmen reported they were robbed at gunpoint at 8:50 p.m. Tuesday in a parking lot at the intersection of 25th Street and Holly Avenue in Sanford.

Hannibal Jay, 25, of Lakeland and Michael M. Fahoum, 22, of Denver told Sanford police they were waiting for their supervisor to pick them up at the parking lot when two men came up to them with a shotgun and knife and forced them to lie face down on the ground. The robbers stole an undetermined amount of money, checks and identification cards from the men.

Police said the bandits also stole the wooden crutches belonging to Jay. The robbers were last seen fleeing north on foot down Holly Avenue.

SANFORD MAN CHARGED WITH ARSON

A Sanford man was being held on $8,000 reduced bond today at the Seminole County jail after he was charged Saturday with arson. Bond was originally set at $10,000.

Lewis W. Hardy, 21, of 2441 Crawford Dr., is being held following his arrest at 9 p.m. Saturday at his grandmother's home on First Drive, near Summerlin Avenue in Sanford.

Marie Hardy, 74, told sheriff's deputies she opened the back door of her home and saw her grandson pouring a liquid from a 16 oz. soft drink bottle onto a pile of clothing on her back porch. She said the man then lit the clothing with a match causing the clothes to burn and charring the wooden porch.

When Ms. Hardy attempted to pour water on the flaming blaze, the man would not allow her to do so, deputies said. After a few minutes, the man left and Ms. Hardy extinguished the flame and called the sheriff's department.

Upon their arrival, deputies discovered a soft drink bottle which smelled of gasoline. While the deputies were processing the scene, Hardy approached the home and after being identified by Ms. Hardy as the perpetrator, was arrested and charged with arson.

TIRE THEFT CHARGED

An Altamonte Springs man is free on $5,000 bond today following his arrest at 2:30 p.m. Monday on charges of grand theft.

Jerry A. Barnes, 40, of 242 Orienta Point, Altamonte Springs, was transported to the Seminole County jail Monday to face charges that he stole several used tires from the Sears and Roebuck Co. store in Altamonte Springs, according to Chief Assistant State Attorney Chris Ray.

Ray said Barnes has since made restitution to the store for the tires, adding that the store has indicated they wish to drop the charges against Barnes.

SANFORD HOME ROBBED

A Sanford woman's home was robbed at about 7:30 p.m. Saturday, with the thieves making off with about $455 in jewelry and coins.

Harriett G. DeBree, 39, of Stable Road, off County Road 47 in Sanford, told sheriff's deputies someone broke into her home after prying the rear door latch loose. Once inside the burglar stole a $400 diamond engagement ring, $15 rhinestone pin and $40 in coins.

Deputies said several coins were found outside of the home and it is believed they were dropped by the perpetrators as they fled.

GUNS STOLEN FROM HOME

Thieves broke into a Sanford man's home at about 8:30 p.m. Sunday stealing about $1,550 worth of rifles and shotguns from the home.

Richard R. Butler, 47, of 500 Valencia St. told Sanford police someone entered his home through a window on the southeast side of his home. Once inside, the burglars broke the glass on a gun cabinet and stole several rifles and shotguns from the cabinet.

Police said a girl's bicycle was also stolen from the garage behind Butler's home.

COKE PROBATION

A 25-year-old Cocoa Beach man, the nephew of convicted drug financier Robert Taccia, has been sentenced in Circuit Court in Sanford to five years probation for possession of cocaine.

Robert F. Bolesta, who was convicted of the charge in mid-October, will begin serving the sentence after his release from the Seminole County Jail where he is serving a 22-month sentence on a Brevard County conviction for cocaine possession.

Miami Youth Just Couldn't Outrun Tragedy

BOYNTON BEACH (UPI) — After five years of battling back from one tragedy, 18-year-old Aaron Witherpoon was looking forward to a day of relaxation and fishing Sunday. Instead, tragedy struck again.

Five years ago, while recovering from the death of his mother, Aaron was run over by a train. He lost his left arm, left leg and right foot. More than 150 operations later, overcoming what doctors called insurmountable odds, he lived to enjoy his 18th birthday.

During his struggle, Aaron won the hearts of south Florida. Friends organized a walkathon and raised enough money to pay for a special van.

A North Carolina man who read of his plight set out on a one-man crusade to equip the van. A Boca Raton couple then volunteered to install the equipment. And a fund set up in his name raised more than $50,000.

Sunday, the youth, his uncle and two cousins went for a fishing expedition on his brother-in-law's 22-foot boat. Aaron Witherpoon's first love was the water and his relatives said he was looking forward to the trip.

Tragedy struck when the seas kicked up and the youth drowned.

"It wouldn't be so hard if it weren't for the struggle," Aaron's father, Al Witherpoon said Monday.

"At least he was in the sea, where he always wanted to be." The five, including boat owner George Armas, set out aboard the boat at 2 p.m. About three hours later, they decided to head back the three miles to the shore.

"George went to start the boat," said Aaron's uncle, Patrick Morton. "It wouldn't start. The seas kicked up and the boat began taking water."

"Then two large waves struck and the boat capsized." Armas grabbed Aaron when the second wave hit. In the confusion, he lost his grip and sight of Aaron.

"George had a hold of Aaron and Aaron wouldn't let go of the wheelchair," said Holly. "He held onto it like it was his savior. His security was that wheelchair."

Morton and Armas dove into the water looking for Aaron, but could spot only his wheelchair.

"I knew within five minutes that we'd never save him," said Morton.

Armas, Morton and Morton's two sons hung to the capsized boat as they drifted toward shore. Their shouts were finally heard by fisherman at the Lake Worth pier and a Coast Guard cutter rescued the survivors.

Several hours later, Aaron's body was found in the boat's cabin.

The family gathered Monday at the family house — and remembered.

Aaron was due for more surgery to clear up bladder problems, but otherwise, things looked good.

"He was doing fine," his sister Holly, 20, said. "Emotionally, however, Aaron appeared to be getting tired. He had been getting bored. He had been really quiet. There were so many days he would sit in his room and watch television."

But his father was optimistic. Aaron was thinking about going to school and getting a captain's license to run a charter fishing boat.

"He would have eventually bought his own boat. He just loved the ocean."

Gang Rapists Sentenced

CHICAGO (UPI) — A judge said six youths convicted in the gang rape of a 15-year-old girl are beyond rehabilitation and sentenced the leader of the attack to 238 years in prison.

"I am not sentencing in this case with rehabilitation in my mind," said Judge Earl Strayhorn, who will sentence three other youths Thursday for the attack. "All the sentences in this case are punishment only."

Kenneth Gohston, 25, the ringleader of the attack, Monday received the longest sentence of 238 years. He would not be eligible for parole for 114 years. The others received sentences ranging from 133 years to 18 years.

"I feel you are a danger to society and should never be allowed to walk as a free man," Strayhorn told Gohston. Gohston's family gasped when Strayhorn announced the sentence and ordered the terms to be served consecutively.

"I hope you creak in your bed tonight, you bastard," Gohston yelled at the judge.

Gohston was sentenced to 80 years for rape, 60 years for deviate sexual assault, 30 years for indecent liberties with a child, 20 years on two counts of robbery and 10 years for five counts of aggravated battery.

Two of Gohston's cousins were also convicted in the Dec. 28, 1980, attack on the girl who lived in suburban Evanston.

Miami's Famed King Orange Parade May Have An Unexpected 'Entry'

MIAMI (UPI) — A Haitian activist says he is planning to disrupt Miami's famed lighted and nationally-televised King Orange Parade New Year's eve by staging a demonstration along the parade route.

The demonstration would be held to support demands for freeing hundreds of Haitians held in federal detention camps around the country, the Rev. Gerard Jean-Juste said Monday. He said he would ask followers of his Haitian Refugee Center Inc. to demonstrate peacefully.

A Haitian demonstration that started peacefully at Miami's Krome Avenue Detention Center Sunday quickly turned into violence. Up to 200 of the protesters broke through a roadway barricade and stormed the front gate of the camp on the edge of the Everglades.

Immigration Service guards and riot-equipped county police fired tear gas canisters into the crowd when demonstrators tried to break through the gate and began hurling rocks and bottles at officers and setting fires in the drought-perched brush around the camp.

Police arrested nine demonstrators but there were no serious injuries reported.

During the melee, up to 150 Haitian inmates of the center escaped over the chain link and barbed wire fences. About 50 were rounded up and returned to the center late Sunday and Monday, authorities said.

Jean-Juste and his group, along with an organization calling itself Combat Liberte, sponsored that demonstration.

Jean-Juste made several veiled threats late Sunday and Monday. He said he was giving President Reagan until Jan. 1 to

"If people die in there (detention center), we are going to have problems in Miami. I hope officials do something. Don't let the city burn" free Haitians from the Immigration Service detention centers. He described the mood of Miami's "Little Haiti" section as one of anger and warned that more violent demonstrations could erupt.

"People are calling. They want to go for more action," Jean-Juste said. "If people die in there (detention center), we are going to have problems in Miami. I hope officials do something. Don't let the city burn."

Meanwhile, Beverly McFarland, Miami spokeswoman for the Immigration Service, reported that 51 Haitian women at Krome Sunday joined a hunger strike started by about 650 Haitian men Christmas Eve. The fasting continued Monday.

Ms. McFarland said there now are about 600 Haitian men and women refusing to eat. But she said that for the first time, some of the hunger strikers talked Monday with officials about their fasting.

"We have opened a dialogue with the people on the hunger strike," she said. "This is something they haven't done before. We are hopeful the strike will end soon."

The hunger strikers Monday told a service man not to fill the empty vending machines that dispense soft drinks and snacks in the men's dormitory. The machines had been filled and emptied twice since the hunger strike began.

Jean-Juste accused federal authorities of refusing medical attention to hunger strikers, but officials denied the charge. They said four men had received glucose after complaining of faintness.

"We have seen no adverse health effects from the hunger strike," Ms. McFarland said. "Four people were treated very briefly with glucose."

Haitians End Hunger Strike; Get Amnesty

MIAMI (UPI) — A five-day hunger strike by more than 600 Haitians in a federal detention center ended Monday night with government officials assuring refugees they would not be punished for recent disturbances.

The Rev. Gerard Jean-Juste, a Haitian activist, reported the end of the hunger strike one day after about 300 Haitian refugees stormed the front gate of the Krome Avenue Detention Center to support demands for freeing Haitians held in camps around the county.

Divers Search For Body

WEEKI WACHEE (UPI)—Divers searched the 320-foot-deep Eagles Nest sinkhole today for the body of a second scuba diver who drowned during a nighttime expedition over the weekend.

The missing man was identified as James Bentz, 31, manager of the Port Paradise Diving Shop in Crystal River. The body of Terri Collins, 29, of Gainesville, was recovered by divers Monday at the 265-foot level of the murky, treacherous sinkhole.

Rare Birds Stolen

MIAMI (UPI) — Six rare performing birds valued at about $10,000 each were discovered stolen Monday by Metrozoos officials who found their cages empty.

Thieves had reached the birds by cutting through the chain-link fence surrounding the zoo in three places, breaking through a metal door into the room where the birds were kept and prying open the cages.

Insurers Contest Refunds

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Some Florida auto insurance policyholders can expect refunds or credits in coming weeks, but two-thirds of 39 insurers ordered by the state to return excess profits are continuing to balk, according to Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter.

Gunter said Monday that 13 companies have agreed to refund the excess profits he identified but 26 others have requested administrative hearings to challenge the excess profits assigned to them.

Iron Bridge Sewage Funding Finalized

By LEEDANCY
Herald Staff Writer

Funding for a new source of sewage treatment for Seminole County and certain municipalities will be finalized tomorrow.

Ernest "Pat" West, executive director of the South Seminole and North Orange County Wastewater Transmission Authority, said closing on the sale of $7 million in short-term bond anticipation notes is scheduled for tomorrow in New York City.

The money will be used to construct 24 miles of pipeline which will connect to the new Iron Bridge Regional Sewage Treatment Plant in south Seminole County.

Sewage treatment service to Seminole County and the cities of Casselberry, Winter Springs, Maitland and Winter Park will be provided by the pipeline.

The five customers of the authority decided to pursue short-term funding through the bond anticipation notes because of current high interest rates on long-term sewage revenue bonds. West said the interest rate on the short-term notes would be 10 1/4 percent.

Members of the transmission authority originally hoped for a lower interest rate and better rating on the bonds from Moody's Investment Service. Representatives of William R. Hough & Co., the authority's financial agent for the note sales, originally said the notes would be tagged with a 9 1/2 percent interest rate and a "1", Moody's best rating for bond anticipation notes.

When Moody's did issue its rating for the notes, it was a "2," which probably contributed heavily to the established interest rate of 10 1/4, rather than 9 1/2, West said.

One primary fact that probably contributed to the lower rating and higher interest rates was the authority's inexperience on the bond market, West said.

"I wish I knew why we got the lower rating," he said. "It's probably because we're a brand new entity and have never been on the market before."

West said many other municipalities throughout the country were given Moody's "2" rating on their notes. Buyers for the authority's $7 million in bond anticipation notes already have been confirmed, he said.

"We're in pretty good company with other municipalities holding notes rated ("2")", West said. "We are a brand-new operation, and I feel pretty comfortable."

On Oct. 1, 1983, payment on the notes will come due. The authority may either reissue the notes for another two years or go to market on a long-term sewage revenue bond issue at that time, West said.

Approval on all construction contracts for the pipeline by federal Environmental Protection Agency officials is still pending. West said he hopes the EPA will approve the contracts before the Thursday deadline.

Two banks, Marine Midland, of New York, and Southeast Bank, of Miami, have agreed to purchase the notes if they do not sell within the maximum five-year payback period, said Robert S. Middlemas, vice president in charge of municipal bonds at Hough & Co.

The authority would prefer to enter into a long-term, 30-year bond sales project as soon as possible, however. If bond interest rates drop to an acceptable level before the maximum five-year term on the short-term notes expires, the authority will arrange to finance long-term bonds, Middlemas said.

Current bond interest rates are approximately 14 percent. The authority could assume long-term bonds if interest rates dropped to 11 or 12 percent before the notes come due and save a significant amount of interest costs, West said.

As the market stands currently, the authority can save approximately $1 million in interest costs by selling short-term bond anticipation notes rather than long-term bonds, West said.

Casselberry will be the primary beneficiary in Seminole County from the new sewage treatment plant once it is in operation.

West said Casselberry will receive about three million gallons of capacity per day, while Seminole County is in for about 500,000 gallons per day.

Winter Springs does not have a designated capacity level yet. City officials currently are negotiating for a percentage of the total 24-million-gallon initial capacity for the plant.

Snowflakes In Space

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The Japanese will take their centuries old curiosity and fascination with snowflakes into space next fall.

The first Japanese experiment to fly on the space shuttle is destined to be a snow maker. A NASA official said it may go into space as early as the fifth shuttle flight, now set for September 1982.

The experiment will be paid for and sponsored by Asahi Shimbun of Tokyo, one of Japan's largest newspapers with a circulation of 8 million. The snow machine will weigh about 200 pounds and be stored in a locker inside the Columbia's crew compartment. The experiment will be automated and require no involvement of the shuttle crew.

It will cost Asahi Shimbun about $10,000 for space on the shuttle and several thousand dollars more to build the snowmaking canister to NASA's specifications.

Of the 320 small, privately sponsored payloads scheduled for shuttle flight, the Japanese are fifth in line after making a $500 down payment, said Donna Miller, a NASA administrator for the shuttle's small payloads.

The snow machine was among 17,000 suggestions solicited by the newspaper. Two readers, mindful of their country's past, suggested making snow crystals in the weightlessness of space, said Toyo Tanaka, the newspaper's Washington bureau chief.

"Snow is a familiar thing in our country. Samurai scientists 200 years ago sketched the many shapes of snow crystals," Tanaka said.

And in 1936, physicist Dr. Ukichiro Nakaya of Hokkaido University, made some of the first artificial snow.

"In Japan, snow is a traditional target of interest," said Tanaka.

The five-cubic-foot snow canister will produce and preserve pure artificial snow crystals from a gas as the Columbia circles Earth 150 miles up. Officials of the National Space Development Agency of Japan said, aside from making the first snow in space, the canister may be a forerunner of experiments that will grow crystals for another Japanese specialty, the electronics industry.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Polish Workers Fight Back With Industrial Sabotage

United Press International
Polish workers are fighting the martial-law regime with industrial sabotage and key factories across the country remain closed, according to reports coming out of Poland today only hours after the government broke a 15-day miners strike.

The official Warsaw Radio assured Poles the country was stabilizing under the third week of martial law, but reports reaching the West indicated widespread discontent at Baltic shipyards and said key factories were kept shut Monday.

ROME (UPI) — Crime experts began an examination today to try to determine whether Red Brigades terrorists faked the photograph of kidnapped American Brig. Gen. James L. Dozier, raising new fears about his safety.

Italian anti-terrorist police believe the photograph, which showed the 50-year-old Dozier under an elongated five-pointed star, the symbol of Italy's most feared terrorist gang, could be a montage.

Percy Avoids Golan Heights

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Sen. Charles Percy, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, asked his Israeli hosts to avoid a flight over the annexed Golan Heights in a helicopter inspection tour today of the tense Israeli-Lebanese frontier.

Percy scheduled a later meeting in Jerusalem with Prime Minister Menachem Begin — the first with a top U.S. official since relations between the two countries plummeted to their lowest point ever. A subsequent session with Defense Minister Ariel Sharon also was planned.

Tax Packages In The Mail

Approximately four million Florida taxpayers will be receiving their 1981 federal income tax packages within the next two weeks.

"We expect that nearly all packages will be in the hands of taxpayers by January 7," according to Charles DeWitt, Internal Revenue Service district director for Florida. Based on the forms filed last year, the IRS is mailing 2.3 million 1040 "long form" packages and 1.7 million 1040A "short form" packages to Floridians.

Although there have been some changes as a result of recent tax legislation, Floridians will find that most of the lines on the 1040 and 1040A forms and the related schedules are the same as last year. Fifty-four percent of the state's taxpayers made out their own returns last year, DeWitt said, adding that most persons should be able to prepare their own for 1981.

The most significant change in this year's tax package is that it now features only one tax table to be used by all taxpayers, regardless of filing status. Previously, there were four separate tables. Because of this change, an extra step, in which the taxpayer subtracts $1,000 from gross income for each exemption, has been added to the computations.

DeWitt said the tax tables, which include the tax rate reduction credit, have also been expanded and now cover adjusted gross incomes up to $80,000. Previously, the tax tables only went up to $20,000 for individual taxpayers and $40,000 for marrieds filing jointly.

Another significant change will be found on the 1040A "short form," which can now be used to report any amount of interest and dividend income. Previously, this form could only be used for amounts up to $400.

For taxpayers who received income during 1981 on the All-Savers Certificates, new sections have been added to the 1040A and to Schedule E of Form 1040, DeWitt said. Finally, retirees will be interested to note that Schedule E is no longer needed to report pension and annuity income. This can now be reported on page one of Form 1040.

Some Floridians may need to file a form different from the one received due to a change in their tax status, DeWitt said. These individuals can order forms and tax schedules by using the order blank in the tax packages or by calling the toll-free forms distribution number, 1-800-241-3880. Persons who have moved since filing their 1980 tax return will not be receiving a tax package and should also call the toll-free forms number to order necessary forms.

The tax package received in the mail has a pre-addressed, peel-off label and return envelope which taxpayers should use. The label and envelope help to speed up the processing of the return, decrease the chance of errors and often produce a refund faster, according to DeWitt.

The tax package contains complete instructions that the taxpayer needs to complete the forms in the package. If additional information is needed on credits, exemptions, deductions or income, the IRS has more than 90 free publications on a wide range of subjects. These publications can also be requested by using the ordering procedures listed above.

Bear Loose In London

LONDON (UPI) — Some 50 policemen armed with automatic rifles and helped by a helicopter and a zoo expert failed to track down a bear that was sighted in the East End of London.

The bear was seen Sunday evening by three boys after they had seen prints in the snow and heard growling.

"We were really terrified," said Tommy Murray, 12. "It was close and just looked huge."

Fresh tracks were discovered Monday morning but the snow began to melt during the day. "It will certainly make our search more difficult," police said.

A police spokesman said "It's either genuine or an elaborate hoax" but explained the search in the Hackney Marshes area of East London would continue "because if there is one it could be very dangerous in a densely populated area of London."

No circuses or zoos in the country have reported losing any bears, but three weeks ago the headless skinned bodies of two bears were found floating in a nearby canal.

Social Security: Serious, Manageable

In the final hours before the Congress completed its work for 1981 and adjourned until Jan. 25, two significant actions were taken relative to Social Security. Together they assure adequate funding through 1982 while postponing for at least a year hard decisions on how to resolve long-term funding problems too large to be dealt with in makeshift fashion.

To get through 1982 the Congress authorized borrowing from Medicare and disability accounts, which have modest surpluses, to pay retirement benefits. Although the authorization is only for one year, it could be extended. However, with hospital and other health care costs climbing, the Medicare account could have troubles of its own in a few years, if not sooner, and cannot be relied on for long to provide retirement funds.

The other action was appointment of a 15-member National Commission on Social Security by President Reagan, House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. and Senate Majority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr. (five appointments each). Under the chairmanship of economist Alan Greenspan, a Reagan appointee, the commission is to submit a report by the end of 1982 recommending ways to keep Social Security on a sound financial footing through the 1980s and for decades beyond.

It undoubtedly has not escaped notice on Capitol Hill and in the White House that the two actions virtually guarantee keeping Social Security problems on a back burner until after the congressional elections next November. Members of the Congress would do their constituents a disservice, however, if they campaigned on demagogic promises to keep everything the way it is in Social Security benefits and eligibility.

Changes will have to be made. President Reagan, although his tactics and statements sometimes have done more to create confusion than to dispel it, is correct in his basic premise that the nation must face up to Social Security problems while there is still time to resolve them in an orderly way.

Short-term problems are caused by the combination of high unemployment, which reduces Social Security tax revenues, and continuing inflation, which increases Social Security benefits through indexed cost-of-living provisions. If necessary, Congress could authorize borrowing from the general fund to meet obligations to beneficiaries.

Long-term problems run deeper and do not lend themselves to stopgap remedies. Americans are retiring earlier and living longer. When the post-World War II baby boom generation starts retiring in large numbers early in the next century there will not be enough Americans working to come anywhere near meeting Social Security funding requirements — even if Social Security taxes, a burden now, were raised substantially higher than the future increases already scheduled.

Although the problems are serious, they are also manageable if corrective steps are taken soon. It has been calculated, for example, that raising the standard retirement age gradually from 65 to 68 — just a month or two a year — while also gradually raising the early retirement age from 62 to 65, would solve long-term problems. Short-term savings could be achieved by modifying the formula on which cost-of-living increases for retirees are calculated, to reflect more accurately the living costs of the elderly.

The danger is in doing nothing and pretending the problems will go away. They won't. Members of the Congress, or candidates running next year, who tell voters that nothing has to change in Social Security will be perpetrating a cruel hoax on present and future retirees.

AROUND THE CLOCK

By SAM COOK

Although boys basketball action for Seminole County is on vacation in this area, it would be worth your while to travel to Ocala this week. Ocala Vanguard's Kingdom of the Sun Basketball Tournament once again has an outstanding field of 16 teams vying for the prestigious championship.

It's not uncommon for the 3A or 4A state champions to come from this tournament and this year should be no exception.

Lakeland Kathleen, number one in the state for the 4A and winner of last week's Oviedo Outlook Christmas Tournament, is among the field with its all-stater George Almones.

Kathleen opened the tournament Monday against Zeke Kinney's tall Colonial ballclub. Kathleen should be the favorite to pick up some more tournament hardware.

Turning to the 3A entries, Kissimmee-Osceola, who figures to battle it out with Bishop Moore and Oviedo for the Orange Belt crown, played defending champion Clearwater Monday.

Coach Dale Phillips' Lions, meanwhile, are in the Vero Beach Tournament this week. But the Lion coach would like this opportunity to catch a look at the speedy Kowboys.

Junior guard Jimmy McCrimmon leads the Kissimmee bunch. McCrimmon along with power forward Frank Ford helped the Kowboys to the Crooms Christmas Tournament title two years ago as freshmen.

In addition to being great scorers—both had 40-point games already this year—the pair are outstanding jumpers. McCrimmon, 5-10, had four dunks in his 40-point effort.

While the area high school grapplers have taken a break since the Lyman Christmas Tournament, fans can get a look at some top-notch wrestling action this Wednesday and Thursday when Mike Aspesi's University of Central Florida Knights host the 13th Annual Sunshine Open Tournament.

At least 13 schools, including defending champion Central State (Okla.) and 350 wrestlers will be on hand for all the action which gets underway in the gym 9:30 a.m. Dec. 30. UCF finished third in the Open last year.

In the Knights first dual match of the season against Hiram, seven of ten UCF wrestlers collected wins on decisions en route to the vic-

Some of the schools expected to be on hand for the Sunshine Open include John Carroll (O.), Navy, Rutgers, Appalachian State, Cornell (Iowa), Old Dominion, University of Pacific (Ore.) and Albany State (N.Y.).

With Aspesi as a first year head coach, the UCF wrestling program continues to actively participate despite being the only college wrestling team in the state of Florida.

Following the Open, UCF is back in action on Jan. 2 with the Orlando Holiday Tri-Matches featuring at least six schools.

ROBERT WALTERS Sun Belt Is Not Immune

DALLAS (NEA) — The area's largest auto assembly plant is about to lay off 20 percent of its work force, other employers already have furloughed thousands of workers and housing starts have plunged to their lowest level in 20 years.

That dismal news comes not from Detroit or Dayton but from right here in Dallas — "Big D," the city that epitomized the surging growth and booming economy of the Sun Belt throughout the 1960s and 1970s.

Similar reports from across the nation suggest that the country is promoting a false dichotomy by contrasting the supposedly robust growth of the Sun Belt, encompassing the South and West, with the presumably stagnant economy of the Frost Belt, embracing the East and Midwest.

Accounts of a mass exodus of unemployed workers fleeing Detroit and relocating in Houston, where job opportunities are plentiful, tend to oversimplify a very complex situation.

Because it is the center of the severely troubled automobile industry, Detroit currently is suffering under the most adverse economic conditions experienced in any major city.

Houston, enjoying an unprecedented boom in petroleum-industry profits, is the country's fastest-growing major city.

Between those extremes, however, generalizations about a particular metropolitan area's potential for future growth based solely on geography can often be incorrect.

There is no doubt that the South and West continue to sustain long-term growth at a faster pace than the East and Midwest, but a region of the country is immune to the adverse impact of the current economic recession.

In addition, the halcyon period of spectacular growth has come and gone in many of the older Sun Belt cities, which now must be content with a modest rate of growth at best or a sluggish economy at worst.

Item: The current three-year-long housing depression, according to the National Association of Realtors, has led to a loss of almost 2.7 million sales of existing homes with a value of 188.8 billion.

The three biggest Sun Belt states — California, Texas and Florida — collectively account for more than one-third of all the country's lost sales and lost dollar volume.

Item: Construction of new homes also has been depressed to the lowest level since the end of World War II, according to the National Association of Home Builders, which notes that the unemployment rate in the construction industry now stands at a disturbing 18.2 percent.

Among the cities where the number of housing starts this year is expected to be even lower than the generally dismal 1980 levels are Daytona Beach, Tampa, St. Petersburg, Fort Lauderdale, Hollywood, Sarasota and Bradenton, Fla.; Riverside, San Bernardino, Ontario, Sacramento and Fresno, Calif.; Albuquerque, N.M.; Las Vegas and New Orleans.

Housing starts in San Diego, Calif., averaged 28,000 per year throughout the booming 1970s, but this year they will number only about 7,000. Construction of new homes in that city is down almost 80 percent compared with last year.

Qaddafi's Petrodollars Help Terrorists

WASHINGTON — Libyan dictator Muammar Qaddafi has vehemently denied that he sent a "hit squad" into this country to assassinate President Reagan, but U.S. intelligence agencies have evidence linking Qaddafi's freely dispensed petrodollars to the terrorist gang that kidnapped American Army Gen. James Dozier.

So far, there is no direct link between Dozier's kidnapping by the Italian Red Brigades and Qaddafi's terrorist campaign against U.S. officials in this country and abroad.

But Qaddafi has lavished millions of Libya's oil dollars on terrorist groups like the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine (PFLP), the moribund Baader-Meinhof Gang in West Germany, the Irish Republican Army — and the Red Brigades. Qaddafi has provided these outlaw groups with money, weapons and training. Our intelligence

DON GRAFF The Story Will Out

When Poland's Communist chiefs brought the country to heel with martial law, they took every precaution to ensure that their moves would come as complete surprises to both Poles and the outside world.

Internal radio and television broadcasts were terminated or limited to the briefest official statements. Overseas transmissions ceased.

International telephone and telex connections were interrupted, cutting off foreign journalists from their home offices. The Warsaw airport was sealed, mail held up, gasoline sales banned to restrict movements of foreigners and Poles and jamming of foreign broadcasts to Poland abruptly stepped up.

It was an impressive, if negative, testimonial to the importance of information and informed publics, an exercise in information control carried out with an efficiency that was stunning in contrast to the Polish leadership's performance at almost every other turn during the long crises.

And one that was well worth observing with special interest by a number of governments to whom the political aspects of the Polish crisis are of only peripheral concern, if that much.

These are the governments of the Third World who have been pressing to change what they regard as the domination and distortion of the worldwide flow of information by a handful of Western-based multinational news organizations.

Their complaints are that their countries are not sufficiently and accurately reported to the world, that the Western agencies focus on the crises rather than the accomplishments, and that the flow of information into their own countries through these same Western channels is too heavily of the West and not enough concerned with their own interests.

Their chosen vehicle for correcting this perceived imbalance has been UNESCO — the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

What they would do is establish "a new world information and communications order" that would impose international codes of journalistic ethics, sanction extension of control over news gathering and processing through such measures as licensing of reporters, inhibit advertising and in general give governments tighter control over news leaving and coming into their countries.

They have had the steady support of the Soviet bloc, and in 1978 UNESCO went on record with a resolution on the goals of the "new order."

The West, where many countries have traditions of press freedom from direct government control, was slow in responding. Relatively late in the game, the alarm was raised that acquiescence would in effect be committing Western governments to supporting a system of worldwide censorship and some of the very techniques of information control and suppression for which they had long attacked the Communist regimes.

They went on record last year at a conference at Talloires, France, with their opposition, while acknowledging that the developing nations were at a genuine communications disadvantage and entitled to redress. The upshot was an International Program for Development of Communications, under which the news-gathering and dispensing "haves" have agreed to assist the "have nots" through training journalists and technicians, providing advanced equipment and improving local communication facilities.

The arrangement has not yet been implemented to any significant extent, however, in large part due to lingering suspicions on both sides as to the real intentions of the other.

Back to Poland, what is most interesting about the news suppression phase of the crackdown is how rapidly the story got out. Through the ingenuity of reporters on the spot and outside and the inevitable seepage of bits and pieces of information (East German television provided one of the earliest breaks), the world knew the story in its essential aspects if not complete detail within 24 hours.

The impressively efficient effort at information control could not prevent the news from being known.

JEFFERY HART U.S.S. Corpus Christi

By a unanimous vote, the American Catholic bishops have endorsed the proposition that naming a new U.S. submarine the Corpus Christi is objectionable and borders on sacrilege.

The phrase Corpus Christi refers to the Mystical Body of Christ and also is the name of a well known city in Texas. Since the bishops have never asked the city to change its name, their objections, plainly enough, is to the warship.

Evidently it is acceptable for American and Christian values to be defended, for example, under the name of George Washington. Now, as a Christian, Washington was part of the Mystical Body of Christ. So, inferentially, the seamen on a ship named the Washington would be symbolically connected with that Mystical Body. In registering their objection to the use of the name directly, the bishops were on shaky theological grounds.

It would certainly be inappropriate for a Soviet warship to be named the Corpus Christi, and they know it. Their ships are called things like the Alexander Nevsky, the October Revolution, the Lenin. If, in the event of a conflict, the Corpus Christi went into action against the Lenin, the values at issue would receive perfect symbolic representation in those names.

Italian bishops have not objected to calling a warship the San Giorgio. Portuguese bishops have not protested to Sao Gabriel, or French bishops the Jeanne d'Arc.

If the American bishops have access to naval history, they might learn that in 1806 a Spanish flagship named (presumably with ecclesiastical blessing) the Santissima Trinidad (Most Holy Trinity) led a fleet into action against the British off Trafalgar. The Spanish fleet included the San Francisco de Assisi, the Santa Ana, the San Augustino, and the San Idefonso. The Spanish in that battle, incidentally, went against the best of British ships named the Mars, the Minotaur and the Agamemnon.

It does not seem to have occurred to the bishops that submarines are full of human beings, and it is surely very doubtful, to say the least, that Jesus Christ would withhold his spiritual favor from men going into battle and invoking his name.

I have discussed all of this with well informed Catholic priests, and have received the explanation that the American bishops are intellectually the prisoners of their staffs — and that their staffs are little different ideologically from the staff, say, of Teddy Kennedy. Their staffs are composed of both clergy and laymen. But the distinction makes little practical difference, since all are academics and bureaucrats and share the fashionable values of the new social class to which they belong.

The U.S. Navy correctly brushed off the whole matter, noting that the Corpus Christi is named after the city, and that ships are often named after American cities. And that's that, a neat solution to the issue.

But the solution to the Catholic bishops is not so obvious or neat. Whether the dupes of their staffs or not, the bishops are responsible for the positions they take. In this instance, plainly, they wished to symbolically dissociate the Catholic Church in America from the defense of America. And that is morally outrageous.

Official Irish Republican Army and the like," the OSI report says.

—Today's terrorist groups have become more street-smart and less ideologically oriented, the OSI experts warn. Recognizing the vulnerability that attaches to identification with a particular leader, the groups have become more loosely structured and autonomous. They have realized that "personality cults are not conducive to operational security nor to decisive action when the opportunity presents itself."

—A final alarming note in the OSI report indicates that the terrorist groups have become less ideologically "pure." They now welcome hardened criminals into their ranks, evidently willing to forgo revolutionary zeal for the practical rewards of professional expertise.

For modern terrorists, the Air Force experts warn, "nothing is too extreme, nothing is unattainable."

—For most terrorist groups, like the Palestinians and the Italian Red Brigades, Americans constitute a favorite target. (The report was issued before Gen. Dozier's kidnapping.)

The perceived representation of evil within the U.S. business, diplomatic, military and assistance communities located abroad is essentially the same for today's terrorists," the OSI report warns, adding that "softer tactics of protest rallies, posters and the occasional Molotov cocktail" have escalated. . . to disruption, destruction and death."

—Although the terrorist groups have a wide range of political viewpoints, the secret report notes, they feel a "revolutionary kinship" in their hostility toward "imperialism" in general and the United States in particular.

"It is this ingredient. . . which unites groups. . . as diverse as the PFLP, the Japanese Red Army, the Red Brigades,

Pell Expects Knock-Down, Drag-Out Vs. W. Virginia

DAVID GALLOWAY ...on the move

ATLANTA (UPI) — Florida Coach Charlie Pell says he expects "a knock-down, drag-out shootout" when his Gators take on West Virginia in the Peach Bowl on New Year's Eve.

"We're going to have two great quarterbacks facing each other with two good teams," said Pell. "It's going to be a wide-open shootout. We just hope we get the last shot."

West Virginia Coach Don Nehlen agreed, saying, "I would guess the ball will be in the air Thursday. We like to throw it."

The 14th annual Peach Bowl, which will be televised by CBS will start at 3 p.m. in Fulton County Stadium. The Gators, who finished the regular season with a 7-4 record, are favored by 7 1/2 points over the B-J Mountaineers.

Both West Virginia and Florida were primarily passing teams this year. The Mountaineers rushed for an average of only 137.7 yards per game while passing for an average of 220 yards. Florida rushed for 124.4 and passed for 202.9.

Quarterback Oliver Luck passed for 15 touchdowns and had 2,341 yards of West Virginia's 2,420 air yards this year. Florida's quarterback, Wayne Peace, threw for 11 touchdowns.

"We know we have a difficult assignment playing Florida," Nehlen said. "They will be the best team we've played all year. They have improved and they play with a lot of confidence."

Nehlen said Florida is as good as Pitt or Penn State, both of whom defeated West Virginia this year. But he said "all teams develop a personality. We run everything and hopefully a few things that haven't been invented we'll come up with Thursday."

Pell said, "I see the chain crew working real hard Thursday. It should be a wide-open football game unless you can talk Coach Nehlen into not throwing as much." Pell compared West Virginia with Miami, which defeated Florida 21-20 in the Gators' first game of the 1981 season.

Both coaches say their teams are in excellent shape with no one on the injured list. Pell disclaimed Florida's favored role. "I wouldn't have been surprised if West Virginia had been favored by five or six points," he said.

The Peach Bowl has been plagued by bad weather in the past and both coaches agreed that a rainy day will hurt the defense more than the offense. "The defense comes under a great disadvantage in the rain," said Pell.

Nehlen said, "We've played some good football teams. Florida is a great football team but they're not going to intimidate us." "I think it's going to be a knock-down, drag-out shootout," said Pell.

Starr Gets 2 More Years

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — He took the job seven years and five days ago because, he said, he shared in the humiliation of the Green Bay Packers' demise.

And now, Bryan Bartlett Starr, has two more years to accomplish the one goal that has eluded him: To restore the glory he brought as a player to the place they once called Tittleton.

"Obviously, we're very pleased," Starr said Monday after Judge Robert J. Parins, the club's chief executive officer, announced a two-year contract extension for the embattled coach.

Starr's future with the team was to have been decided last week by the club's 44-man board of directors.

Anniversary

The Oglesbys Married 50 Years

By DORIS DIETRICH
OURSELVES Editor
"It was love at first sight," Mary Lee Oglesby of Sanford said with a twinkle in her eye when speaking of her husband, Wilbur, and their 50-year marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Oglesby: "Love at first sight."

Mrs. Oglesby went on to say they "went together" less than two weeks prior to their marriage on Nov. 25, 1931 in Sanford.

The Oglesbys have been living at the home where they met, 908 Elm Ave., except for a brief period when they moved and later returned.

They are active in the Church of God of Prophecy, Sanford. Mrs. Oglesby, who says she enjoys gardening, retired from Winn-Dixie in 1971. Mr. Oglesby is a retired commercial fisherman.

The Oglesbys have five children: Douglas Oglesby and Delmuse Oglesby, Sanford; Katherine Cheatham, Deerfield; Martha Kay Dobson, West Palm Beach; and Jamie Jacquet, Biloxi, Miss. They have 11 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The couple visited with their daughter, Mrs. Jacquet and her family for two weeks. They were entertained on their anniversary at the home of a granddaughter, Kathy Jacquet Thompson, in Biloxi.

Sanford home. The couple visited his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Oglesby at Long Beach, Miss.

Boxer Shorts Bear Blessings

DEAR ABBY: Around the first of the year you had a lot of letters in your column advising men to wear boxer shorts, instead of the tight kind that hugged the body, if they wanted to become fathers.

It so happened that my wife and I had been trying unsuccessfully for years to have a child. The doctors found nothing wrong with either one of us, but none could help us. The last doctor told us to give up and adopt a baby.

Then we saw the letters in your column recommending boxer shorts to increase fertility. We both laughed, but my wife said, "Let's try Abby's suggestion for just one month," so I bought three pair of boxer shorts and started to wear them. Guess what? The second month my wife got pregnant!

On Nov. 19 she gave birth to a beautiful baby girl. She weighed 7 pounds 6 ounces and we named her Catherine Ann-Marie. (I'm enclosing her picture.)

God bless you, Abby. My wife, Carol, and I both love you for your wonderful column in the Cedar Rapids Gazette.

GALEN A. LUKE, CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA
DEAR GALEN: Congratulations to you and Carol. Catherine Ann-Marie is indeed a beautiful baby. May the Lord richly bless you and your family.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a bachelor living alone. There's another bachelor in my budding who drops in often, and we rap. He seems like a nice guy, but all he talks about is his sex life — which according to him is terrific! His biggest complaint is that once he scores with a woman he can't get rid of her.

I don't know whether to believe him or not. He certainly doesn't look like a ladies' man, and I've never even seen him with a date.

What is your opinion of a guy who is always talking about sex?

DOUBTING THOMAS IN THOMASVILLE, GA.
DEAR THOMAS: He's probably doing what he does best. Talking.

DEAR ABBY: You said you couldn't understand why anybody would refuse to share a recipe. The enclosed poem may give you a clue:

She didn't have potatoes
So she used a cup of rice.
She couldn't find paprika
So she used some other spice.
Tomatoes weren't in season

Dear Abby

So she used tomato paste. The whole can — not a cup, dear. She couldn't bear to waste. And now she isn't speaking; She's convinced I pulled a fast one. So don't ask me for a recipe — That one was my last one!

MT. VERNON, OHIO

CONFIDENTIAL TO ART B. IN SEAL BEACH, CALIF.: A mistress is something between a mister and a mattress.

DEAR ABBY: I'm all for sharing, but how about this? Recently I was asked if I would lend my wedding gown to a girl I have never met. (Her mother is a friend of my aunt.)

It seems the bride's parents are putting on a big, formal wedding with all the trimmings, and believe me, they can afford it, but they want to "cut a few corners."

My wedding gown was expensive and exceptionally beautiful, and I hope that someday one of my daughters will wear it. I had it cleaned and boxed professionally in order to preserve it properly.

Abby, I don't want to appear selfish, but I just don't want to let a stranger wear my wedding gown. I'm concerned about careless people with food and drinks, or someone with a cigarette accidentally bumping into it. Also, it might require a few alterations that the bride might consider "minor," but I might consider major.

When I was approached about letting this girl wear my wedding dress, I reacted negatively and mentioned all the advantages of renting bridal wear — a wide selection, no worrying about alterations or damages — but they didn't take the hint.

Am I being selfish to refuse? And what should I say?

SELFISH OR NOT?
DEAR OR NOT: Selfish? No way. Be honest. Say, "Sorry. It's boxed and put away until one of my daughters wears it." Everybody needs friends. For some practical tips on how to be popular, get Abby's Popularity booklet. Send $1 plus a long, self-addressed stamped (37 cents) envelope to Abby, Popularity, 12060 Hawthorne Blvd., Suite 5000, Hawthorne, Calif. 90250.

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple, "do-your-own-thing" ceremony, get Abby's new booklet. Send $1 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped (37 cents) envelope to: Abby's Wedding Booklet, 12060 Hawthorne Blvd., Suite 5000, Hawthorne, Calif. 90250.

Thomas Lively

Happy Anniversary, Darling,
Is you from me. Thanks for loving me throughout the year. I wanted

For A New You In 1982 Try The Pampered Look

Make a New Year's resolution to look your best and make it come true by coming to The Pampered Look for a new you in 1982.
To help you get the New Year started right The Pampered Look is offering a special on perms, which are normally $35, for only $27.50 including cut, styling and set.
Wednesdays are senior citizen days at The Pampered Look with a 15 percent discount (excluding specials).
Conveniently located in the west end of Zayre Plaza, at Highway 17-92 and Airport Boulevard, Sanford, The Pampered Look is a full service salon for men, women and children.
It can be reached by the Transit Authority buses from many parts of Sanford and South Seminole.
Owner and manager Delorus Brooks, of Casselberry, is pleased to announce the addition of two new hairstylists to her staff.
Paula Tompkins, who formerly worked at the salon, is back in Sanford after a year in West Palm Beach, and is anxious to renew acquaintances with her old customers here.
Sally Holder, a graduate of Romar Hairstyling Academy is a newcomer to Sanford and came to Florida from Tennessee a year ago.
Delorus, who purchased the hairstyling salon in February, is a graduate of Wilfred Beauty Academy.

Delorus Brooks, owner-manager of The Pampered Look salon with hairstylists Paula Tompkins and Sally Holder (inset).
When customers come to The Pampered Look they don't just get a quick assembly cut or curl. They are counseled about their hair and any problems they may have with it so that the stylists can take the proper procedure for their particular hair. They will advise you, but will do what you want in any case when it comes to styling your hair.
They always want their customers to be satisfied and guarantee their work on color and perms. Quality Redkin and Kenra hair products are used at The Pampered Look. They feature Apple Pectin, Zotos and Tressa perms.
In addition to perms, style cuts, hair coloring and tints, manicures and eyebrow plucking are offered.
Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday, and evenings by appointment.
Appointments are not always necessary during daytime hours. Call 323-7530 for an appointment.

Marvin Wright, owner of Volkshop, specializing in repairs and parts for Volkswagens, Toyotas and Datsuns.

Free Safety Inspection Is Offered By Volkshop

Now that the county's Motor Vehicle Inspection Stations are closed and inspection stickers no longer required, it is your responsibility to see that the car you are driving is in safe condition for your own sake and that of your passengers.

Volkshop at 214 Palmetto Ave., Sanford, will give your Volkswagen, Datsun or Toyota a free safety check. So for safety's sake start the New Year out right and have your car checked.

They will also check your battery and if you have a Toyota or Datsun check your anti-freeze free of charge to make sure your car is ready to face winter weather.

Volkshop's owner Marvin Wright and his experienced mechanics have an old-fashioned concern for you and your car. Bring in your car for a free visual checkup and the trained mechanics Ralph Landress, Ray Eland and Jaff Lackey will check it for oil, fan belt, transmission leaks underneath and even jack it up to check the front end. Volkshop specializes in the repair and serving of VW's Toyotas, Datsuns and 4-6 cylinder American compacts.

Your small car will perform better if tuned up properly and save on your fuel bill.

If your Volkswagen has seen better days and you're considering investing in a new car, think twice. The tried and true VW "Bug" is no longer being manufactured, but the Volkshop can completely recondition and refurbish your VW like new for only a fraction of what a new car would cost.

That includes tires, paint job, a new engine and brakes, according to Wright. "Isn't it worth it to think about reconditioning that old Volkswagen, considering the price of a new car today?" he asks.

Come into Volkshop for an estimate. Financing is available for persons with approved credit.

Volkshop also specializes in new and used parts for VWs, Toyotas, and Datsuns and rebuilding engines. If you like to work on your own car on weekends, you will find Treuhaff and Bosch parts, Continental line of belts and hoses and Castrol motor oils to help you do the job right. They also have hard to find metric hardware and Bug Pack kits for Baja Buggies.

Real Estate, Insurance At SCC

Seminole Community College will offer the following insurance and real estate courses beginning Jan. 5.

— INSURANCE 2-20 FOR AGENTS is an evening Florida Insurance Commission mandatory program for individuals seeking to take the Florida Casualty Insurance Agent's examination. The program is designed to prepare individuals in the fields of fire, automobile, general liability, workers compensation, fidelity & surety, and other miscellaneous lines of insurance coverages. This course covers two terms and begins January 6. Classes meet 7-10 p.m., Monday, Wednesday and Thursday.

— INSURANCE 21 (INS-0221) is an evening course for those entering careers in the insurance industry. It is designed to increase understanding of insurance so that concepts and principles which are fundamental to all types of insurance are understood. The course will present the concepts relative to property and liability insurance contracts, life and health insurance contracts, and the basic forms of groups and social insurance. This course is presented under the guidance of the Insurance Institute of America. Classes will be held Wednesday evenings 7-10 p.m. ending April 14. Registration, $11.

— INSURANCE 22 (INS-0222) is an evening course for those furthering careers in the insurance industry. It is a continuation and companion course to INS-21 and the objective is to increase the knowledge of property insurance for the insurance industry worker. This course is presented under the guidelines of the Insurance Institute of America. Classes will be held Tuesday evenings 7-10 p.m. ending March 13. Registration, $11.

— INSURANCE 23 (INS-0223) is an evening course which is designed to increase understanding of coverages. Registration, $11. Classes will be held Thursday evening 7-10 p.m. beginning Jan. 1 and ending April 15.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL
For Wednesday, December 30, 1981

YOUR BIRTHDAY December 30, 1981
Deals this coming year with friends who think on your same wavelength should work out successfully for all concerned. Involvements with persons whose ideals clash with yours could prove bothersome.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't have a short memory and forget persons who have been helpful to you recently, especially if they are in the need of your assistance now. Predictions of what's in store for you in each season following your birth date and where your luck and opportunities lie are in your new Astro-Graph. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If money is a factor in plans you are conceiving at this time, it's better to project the cost higher and allow for contingencies.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Certain persons with whom you'll be associated today will be impossible to please, no matter what you do. Do your best. Let the chips fall where they may.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You are likely to handle matters extremely well up to a point today, but there is a chance your interest may wane. You could undo that which you've accomplished.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If everything does not come out exactly as you'd hoped today, try not to blame others for something you should have attended to.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Timing is extremely important today, so don't press your plans into action prematurely. Think things through. Move at a cautious pace.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) This is not a good day to leave essential tasks to the last minute. By scheduling your workload properly, you can be both productive and efficient.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Subdue impulses today to take risks where you could get in over your head if you miscalculate. Erratic behavior spells trouble.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be careful about making commitments today moneywise. Later, you may want to back out of an impulsive promise and find that you can't do so gracefully.

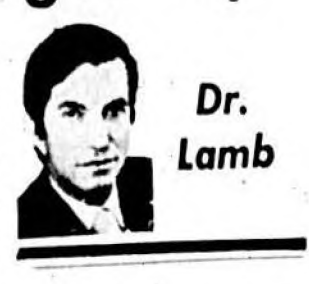

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Do things pleasurable to you today, but don't make them your top priority. Activities which interfere with duties should be postponed.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) On a whim today, you could buy something or enter into a financial arrangement which may not serve your best interests. Prudent analysis will enable you to avoid this mistake.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your friends might find you a trifle hard to read today. You could say one thing and mean another. Let your actions represent your thoughts.

Avoid Heat Loss, Wear A Night Cap

DEAR DR. LAMB—I'm a female, 57 years old. Quite often I awaken early in the morning because my head is cold. Can you explain the reason for this? If this is poor circulation, what can be done about it? I keep the temperature in my home at 68 degrees during the night. What is the right temperature anyway?

DEAR READER—There is a surprising amount of heat lost from the head. That is why it is important to cover your head when you are out in the cold. You can safely lower the room temperature at night but it is a good idea to wear a night cap if the room is fairly cold. In these days when energy prices are so high it helps to dress for bed. That means having something warm, like a wool garment that covers the shoulders and arms in case you stick out of the covers and even wear warm socks to keep the feet warm. A night cap is just part of the attire.

DEAR DR. LAMB—Sugar is tearing our family apart. My daughter-in-law will not allow our three grandchildren to eat or drink anything with sugar in it. They are allowed only to use honey. So they can't attend family reunions or Christmas dinner.

DEAR READER—Your daughter-in-law is misinformed. Table sugar contains the same two single sugars that are in honey: glucose and fructose. The only difference as far as sugars are concerned is that the glucose and fructose in table sugar are hooked together. Enzymes in our intestine separate them. In honey they are already separated. When either honey or table sugar is absorbed across the intestinal wall, both provide the same two single sugars, glucose and fructose.

People feel warm or cold because of the amount of blood flow through the skin. That may not have much to do with your actual body temperature as taken by mouth but, of course, it will affect skin temperature.

The room temperature should be at a level that enables you to be comfortable and maintain the proper body temperature, which is affected by what you wear and what kind of physical activity you do.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 7-6, Body Temperature and Fever, to help you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Either try to help her understand or make pies with honey. The latter may be easier.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Edith has been at the top for 40 years. Her style is aggressive. Hence, when East stuck in a non-vulnerable three-spade pre-empt Edith decided to overbid and got to six notrump on her own momentum.

West opened the seven of diamonds and Edith studied that lead. Why not lead partner's bid suit? Obviously, because you hold the guarded king. Why lead dummy's bid suit? Probably because you have the other two kings. What did that leave East for his three-spade bid? Favorable vulnerability and mild insanity.

So, Edith decided to play West for all three missing kings. At trick two she led her queen of hearts. West's king fell to dummy's ace. The nine of clubs was led and allowed to ride to West's king.

A second diamond was led. Edith won in her hand, cashed her ace of spades and last three clubs while discarding a heart from dummy. Then she ran dummy's diamonds. West had to throw two hearts in order to keep the king of spades. Edith had chucked her queen on one of the diamonds and the J-9 of hearts were the 11th and 12th tricks.
