Miami Concerned Over Smith Visit

Speculates On Possibilities Of 2 Former Opponents Meeting

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 28.—Herbert Hoover resumed the job of being president-elect today. Back at his Belle Isle retreat, bronzed and burned from two days fishing beneath a tropical sun, Mr. Hoover waded into a mass of work which entailed everything from political conferences to getting a start on the inaugural address which he will make on the fourth of March.

Mr. Smith's chief interest, however, lay not in the direction of the President-elect's Republican calling, but in what he will say on March 4th another. He is to receive Al Smith, the man whom he defeated for the presidency. Former Governor Smith arrived in Miami early last night and the whole winter may be speculating upon the prospects of a meeting between the two. They have met only once before, and that reluctantly, and long before either thought of being rival candidates for the presidency.

Smith was not on Mr. Hoover's engagement list today, but it isn't considered likely that he will leave Miami without paying his respects to the victor in the November battle. Smith is here on a vacation, and to see his own ex-president politie is adjourned.

The former governor spent most of yesterday driving into the ocean, accompanied by William F. Kenney and John J. Kaskob, chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Smith's arrival in Miami with chairman Kaskob marked probably the first time in history that rival candidates for the presidency and their respective campaign managers have been domiciled in the same town and the same time.

The Hubert Work, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, is also a Miami visitor at this time, having accompanied Mr. Hoover south.

The controversial question of southern patronage occupied a good part of Mr. Hoover's time today. While he pursued the miffish and the confused among the World's Keys, Miami Beach became cluttered up with captains and lieutenants of the "New South" all willing and eager to point out to the President-elect how to conciliate the gains secured in the November election.

Sharkey Is Hard Pressed To Win Fight From Akron Scrapper In 10 Round Go

Christner Puts Up Remarkable Battle To Swap Blows With Boston Heavy At Madison Square Arena

International News Service
Sports Editor

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Jan. 26—Lightning isn't supposed to strike twice in the same place, but it did at Madison Square Garden last night, thus making an awful tump out of the superstitious. But otherwise, leaving the situation unchanged in a very marked manner, was the same lightning with which K. O. Christner precipitated Knute Hanson a month ago and it struck exactly in the same place to wit, the jaw. But unfortunately it was another jaw. A rather impressive one. Jack Sharkey deftly blocked a lot of those right hands with his left for five rounds last night and then came right on in the last five to win pretty much as he fancied the result being that the battle of the beach front at Miami was saved to posterity.

A gallant soul, this Christner. He has the hide of the vulcanized rubber he handled in the pit at Akron and the will to make the most of his physical assets. Only the heart-would of this life could have stung up under the right hand uppercuts with which Sharkey belabored him in the later rounds. It is to be doubted whether Sharkey himself would have cared very devotedly for his own punches. He probably would have taken an awful licking if he had been in there leading for his own goads.

Being the man he is, Christner's licking wasn't an awful one. In fact, the witnesses seemed to be unduly perturbed by the decision and pratived their way out of the place in a fine frenzy of indignation.

I am unable to account for the demonstration. According to my searing, Sharkey won six rounds, Christner three, and one was even. At the end, Christner was punch weary, with leaving chest and drooping legs.

But this time from the tire shop had made a great fight against one of the ranking heavyweights of the age and needed no part of a palliation for the performance.

The fight he made, indeed, was so good for five rounds that he still got the show. Sharkey apparently thought he was in there with a clump, for he let Christner carry him off his feet with a series of right crosses in the fourth; he was beaten to the punch with alarming regularity. Christner throwing a right near the bell that hurt Sharkey's ears.

The second went to Sharkey because of the punches he dropped in Kaya's sun parlor and the third was even, so that Meyer from Ohoyer was doing right well, indeed, when the fifth round opened. He started this one at the same pace, clipping John's head with right after right in the first two minutes of play. It looked like a washout for the Miami Beach enterprise at this point. But, enough apparently was a great plenty in Sharkey's estimation. He now started a slip punches and counter with hard right uppercuts. If Christner liked this, he gauged the fact with great presence of mind.

Just at the bell, he was hit with a left and right on the door step and I think this incident was the great convincer. It was Christner's round, but, thereafter, it was Sharkey's fight.

Meyer had a hangover from those punches when he came out for the sixth, and Sharkey's two-handed attack smothered him like a steak under so many onions. Kaya rallied sufficiently in the seventh to score with two right hands but he was a weary fighter now, an old dog punch lacked its early authority. Otherwise the round was Sharkey's. He still was slapping, latching, and countering heavily. He continued this performance right on to the final bell, smacking Christner with the best punch of the fight. In the eighth, a right hand uppercut that drove Kaya's head back on his spinal vertebrae. Its only effect was to make the man fight harder, and the same thing happened when he was hit with a hammer left back to the body in the ninth and a right over the heart in the tenth.

A gallant soul, indeed. The ring can stand all the Christners that can be mustered and it would never sell the few, or that. They don't make money, the big boys. After Sharkey's bed to be a good nose to you and it is a natural result that he remains in the ring. He has had nothing with his left, in fact, he has had nothing. Other, a few heavy punches that they were, in fact, both him last night. He'll all have to have some more.

SOUTH'S DRIVE FOR PLACE ON CABINET GAINS

Knows, called both men to his office and explained the situation to them and observed that whereas he had expected to have two posts he finally got only one, the Navy.

In that case, Mr. Cramer is reported to have said, "there is only one candidate, my friend, Judge Willcox." Willcox received the appointment, and Cramer returned to North Carolina to continue his manufacturing activities, but not until he had spent a month with his old-time friends and bunk-mates, helping station organized and under way.

New sponsors of Cramer for a post in the Hoover cabinet are not naming it as is up to Secretary Wilcox to return the act of self-allegation, retire voluntarily, and await the next vacancy on the bench of the supreme court of the United States.

This is only one of the many perplexing patronage problems that Mr. Hoover is trying to thresh out between fishing trips through the Florida Keys. The southern clans have gathered at Miami Beach in numbers and in earnest.

A mile away from Belle Isle, where the President-elect has set up pre-inaugural headquarters, there has been established in a hotel what amounts virtually to southern patronage headquarters. Presiding over it is Col. Horace A. Mann of Tennessee and Washington, who was the so-called "mystery man" of the Hoover campaign. Mann organized and directed the Hoover campaign in every southern state save Virginia. Whether due to his efforts or not, North Carolina-Texas, Tennessee, and Florida besides Virginia, did cast their electoral vote for Hoover.

WORKING GIRLS IN WINDY CITY HAVE DIFFICULT TIME

Existence Has a Little Happiness To Offer For Factory Hands

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—(INS)—Pity the poor working girl! And that isn't the name of a new movie or new song—it's a statement covering the conclusion reached by 21 college-trained girls who worked in Chicago factories last summer in an experiment conducted under the auspices of the Young Women's Christian Assoc.

Here is what the girls reported at the end of their working period:

1. Wages paid most girls in Chicago do not permit the purchase of the necessary clothing and "extras" needed in young women.
2. There is no romance in the life of the average working girl.
3. It is often necessary for the working girl to eat only 10 and 15-cent lunches, the 25-cent lunch being considered a great extravagance.
4. Most of the work done by girls in Chicago is extremely tiresome mentally and physically.
5. Girls of life's value, including health, are certain to be reaped by the working girl.
6. The unskilled working girl has a hard time—a life almost too hard to live.

All Found Jobs

The 24 girls came to Chicago last summer, all found jobs immediately and all worked for three weeks. They were employed at packing, loom weaving, washing and feeding animals, making ice cream, icing cakes, making paper bags, carding hog's hair, sorting and marking laundry, inserting in a library, working in a paint shop, working in lamp shops, bleaching soles on shoes, soldering radio connections, carding socks, mending dresses and feeding various types of fish.

They found that the average wage was $1.25 a week.

Shoe factories paid only 50 cents a day, the highest wage received was $1.50 weekly for such a hard factory.

By pooling their expenses and living in groups, the girls found they could get along on less than $100 a month.

The girls recruited by the Indiana state council of the University of Illinois, reported that she shamed her personality completely shrouded while at work here in a trackless, dark interior.

Ten Cent Lunches

Miss Elsie Granlich, of Omaha, said she learned she could live a ten-cent-a-day existence. She worked at packing, and on days when she worked the girls more like a machine.

"After a while," she said, "I began to feel weak to the soul because of life, which hitherto had been entirely foreign to me. They I began to hate people who valued things merely by their cost."

Others who took part in the experiments here were:

Miss Elizabeth Shennadial, Iowa; Goldie White, Russell, Ind.; Anna Ladd, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Mary McFee, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Josephine Norton, Marion, Ind.; Eddie Dissen, Minneapolis; Fay Howard, North Farfield, Conn.; Louis M. Meyer, Neb.; Mary Bentler, Burton, O.; Mary Markey, Fort Wayne, Ind.; Mary Hamilton, Detroit, Mich.; Mary McFee, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Virginia Helm, Kansas City, Mo.; George Howard, Jefferson, Iowa; Dorothy Jones, Fayetteville, Ark.; Eddie Ladd, Fort Wayne, Ind.; Mary Bish, O.; Paul Hill, Fremont, Neb.; Denver; Vera Woods, Indianapolis, Indiana.

Labor Leaders Of Indiana Will Seek Help For Strikers

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 26.—(INS)—Labor leaders of Indiana are to obtain pledges of a million dollars from labor organizations all over the country to sustain the miners' strike.

A former Indiana state senator in the legislature, who is president of the Indiana Miners Association, has called a meeting of all miners in the state to consider the miners' demands.

KING IMPROVES
