Republicans head back to polls Tuesday

Lovestrand vs. McLain

By VICKI BOGEMAN

SANFORD — If you know where you stand on the issues, you should have no trouble making a choice between the candidates for the District 5 seat on the Seminole County commission.

Incumbent Daryl McLain and challenger Paul Lovestrand are as different as night and day on many of the key issues.

Lovestrand, a strong fiscal conservative, advocates saving money for the county taxpayers at all costs. He has signed the "Contract With the County" which, among other things, advocates no taxes without voter approval and opposes economic incentives to attract new businesses to the county.

"I'd like to bring financial responsibility to the county," Lovestrand said. "I have a record of austerity that I don't

Patricia S. "Pat" Warren, 63, the incumbent in Dist. 1, is seeking re-election to the Seminole County Commission District 1 seat challenged by Maloy, 30. The candidates' philosophies are distinctly different.

The Tuesday, Oct. 1 runoff will decide the race, begun in September when a three-way race left Warren and Maloy at the top. No Democrat qualified to face off in November.

Warren came in first in the Republican primary race September 3, gaining 39 percent of the popular vote. As it was not over 50 percent, she is required to run against the candidate receiving the second most votes.

Maloy obtained 32.5 percent of the votes cast on Sept. 3. Since

ORLANDO — The candidates for office in Seminole County sometimes have the opportunity to take their message to political movers and shakers from across the central Florida area.

At a recent meeting of the Tiger Bay Club at the Radisson Hotel in downtown Orlando, Grant Maloy, Pat Warren, Daryl McLain and Paul Lovestrand, candidates for the Seminole County commission, were among the invited guests debating the issues.

SANFORD — Officials say a runway for touch-and-go landings may be added at Orlando-Sanford airport.

The touch-and-go landings mostly involve flight instruction operations with light or mid-sized aircraft. Aircraft approach the strip, conduct a simulated landing, at times touching the ground, then immediately take off again, circle the field, and practice once again.

Expo showcases local businesses

By NICK PPEFAUF

SANFORD — It is the hope of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce that, "this could be the start of something big." (A Steve Lawrence and Edie Gorme hit of the 70s.)

The chamber, in cooperation with Seminole Towne Center, is scheduling a Business to Business Expo. Basically, it will be for chamber members, but non-members may also participate.

Thursday and Friday, Oct. 10 and 11, chamber business members will have an opportunity to display their products or discuss their services to the thousands of shoppers who visit the mall each day.

The event is actually being co-sponsored by the Chamber Economic Development Committee and Small and Minority Business Council.

Chamber members can obtain a 10 by 5 foot area for $85. One 8-foot table with skirting and two chairs will be provided per space. If a second space is required, the charge is an additional $75.

Non-member businesses that are interested may call the chamber at 322-2212 for information.

The chamber's Sam Silvernell commented, "Most people know that the chamber is comprised of people who own, operate or are employed in various businesses in the Central Florida area, but this expo is going to give members an opportunity to show who they are and what they have to offer."

"Our mall is one year old already," she added, "and this is the first time we have launched into a project at the mall, so we hope we will have good support from the business leaders and citizens of the community, as well as from the shoppers from throughout the area who will be at the mall during these two days."

Word about the expo was revealed to chamber members recently, but plans were only made public Friday. "It is going so well," Silvernell said, "that as of right now, we only have about 40 booths left for the expo."

For information about the Business to Business Expo, Oct. 10 and 11, or to reserve space, phone the chamber office at 322-2212.

Dancers know there is still music like this

By NICK PPEFAUF
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — They step gingerly out of the blinding daylight and glide gracefully into a lovely dreamland.

A 13-man orchestra known as the Deltonians is playing the romantic, "Always."

It is just after 2 on Wednesday afternoon - some enchanted afternoon.

Magically, everyone is young and in love.

The Sanford Civic Center itself is aglow. It's now the Dreamland Ballroom, and for the next two hours it'll get dreamier and dreamier.

Viola Kastner, 92, winks gaily as she dances with Colin Sayer, 81.

She's as vivacious as she was as a teen-age showgirl in the Ziegfeld Follies, and it shows in each step she takes.

"I wouldn't want to be any other place than right here," she says. "The music is live and so are we. Kids. That's who we are. Kids having fun."

Wednesday afternoon dancing for the young at heart began 23 years ago. There's always a two-month break in July and August but come September, everyone's back. More than 200 usually. Sometimes 300 golden age dancers.

The opening songs are usually fox trots but are followed with a rousing rendition of the "Hot Cha Cha Cha."

The women are in cocktail dresses and high-heels. The men are in comfortable short-sleeve shirts and well-pressed trousers.

Usually the women outnumber the men six or seven to one but on this particular afternoon there seems to be a more equal ratio.

"We take care of the ladies with special chair dances," says Sayer, who is the Dance Committee Chairman of the Over 50 Club that sponsors the dances. Some 50 years ago, Sayer was with the Navy on the bloody landings at Iwo Jima and Okinawa.

Today, he's at dreamland. His nickname is Twinkietoes.

"No one is lonely here," he says. "Everyone dances. Each man is required to dance with as many partners as he can in the chair dance."

"He begins at one end and takes his partner to the other end of the floor and begins there with a new partner... This way we make everyone feel good."

Ted Brunelli, 73, and Jack Kaminaky, 82, work the front entrance desk collecting $2 for each admission. This fee includes the afternoon of dancing and a first round of coffee, tea and cupcakes.

Seconds of coffee and tea are a

Governor's aide in scandal

TALLAHASSEE — An aide to the governor is scrambling to explain his actions after he picked up late at night a woman who police say is a known prostitute.

Curtis Richardson, 39, who is running for a Leon County Commission seat, said he found the woman walking along the street Thursday, was concerned for her safety, and gave her a ride to her car.

But confidential police sources said the woman, Tami Kay Flier, 36, told officers she had sex with Richardson in his campaign headquarters on Thursday night, the Tallahassee Democrat reported on Saturday.

When police stopped and questioned Richardson and Flier, he demanded that they call Chief Tom Coe, the Democrat reported, again citing confidential sources. Richardson also kicked over campaign signs in the area, and dropped to his knees to beg officers not to file a report, sources told the newspaper.

Neither Richardson nor Flier were charged with an offense. Lt. Argatha Rigby, watch commander for Tallahassee police, said Saturday that she couldn't confirm or deny the Democrat's report because the information wasn't in the police report filed on the incident.

Police said they stopped Richardson and Flier in an area known for prostitution shortly before midnight. Officers said Flier has a history of arrests for drug possession.

Richardson denied most of what the sources told the newspaper. But he acknowledged he asked the officers to call Coe.

He said he was driving through the Frenchtown area of Tallahassee to check on his campaign signs. He said that after he picked up Flier, they stopped for no more than five minutes at his campaign headquarters to check telephone messages and turn off the air conditioning.

Linda Shelley, chief of staff for Gov. Lawton Chiles, said Richardson's job was not in danger. He also is serving his sixth year as a member of the Leon County School Board.

"I was a kind heart trying to do a good deed," Richardson said at a news conference outside his home Friday, flanked by his wife and minister. "I had no way of knowing this would be the outcome."

Richardson said he would continue his bid in Tuesday's runoff election for the county commission seat.

Arts festival features smooth jazz

From Staff Reports

HEATHROW — A national recording act will this year enhance the arts and other entertainment to be found at the 10th anniversary Lake Mary-Heathrow Festival of the Arts.

On Saturday night, Oct. 3, 108.1 WLOO and the Don Mealy Dealership Group, which includes the local Cadillac-Oldsmobile and Saturn Ford dealerships, will present "Jazz Under The Stars" featuring Russ Freeman and The Rippingtons.

Led by the gifted composer/producer/guitarist Russ Freeman, The Rippingtons' dynamic stage show has earned them honors as one of the music world's top live attractions. According to Freeman, having an opportunity to experience a variety of cultures has significantly affected the way he creates music. "We travel the world, not just certain areas," he explains. "We play together, we see the world, and I think because we travel and because we go to these different cultures, I can only speak for myself, but I've been impressed greatly musically by some of our travels. When you are just a studio organization, you don't see that. You don't get that reaction."

To The Rippingtons, innovation is merely business as usual. For the past ten years the group's signature sophisticated - yet - accessible sound - combining jazz, pop, R&B, Latin and world music elements - has defined and shaped contemporary jazz. It has made The Rippingtons one of the most popular instrumental ensembles in the world. Always at the technological forefront, utilize the most state-of-the-art instruments and recording techniques available to create each album. It's no surprise, then, that this forward looking group decided to investigate the burgeoning realm of cyberspace on their eighth and latest album, Brave New World.

The world of computers and cyberspace isn't new to The Rippingtons, who have been exploring the possibilities offered by computers for years. Last December they launched their own home page on the World Wide Web. Co-designed by drummer Tony Morales and Denise DiPaola, the head of their fan club who also works at Silicon Graphics, the website is a visual and aural treat for any Rippingtons fan. Access the site (<http://www.magicaland.com/rippingtons>) and you'll be able to gather all kinds of information about the group, sample their music, learn tour dates, contribute to the interactive guestbook - and even watch movies!

Freeman borrowed the album title from Aldous Huxley's classic novel "Brave New World," but where Huxley took a dark view of the future, The Rippingtons decided to look forward with optimism. Considers Freeman, "What I wanted to do was humanize the whole element (of computers) a little bit with Brave New World. Instead of having it be so mechanical and removed from humanity, I thought, what if we warm it up a little bit and show some humanity."

The result is a lush collection of the kind of intricate, yet-catchy compositions expected from the six-member group, which also includes percussionist Steve Reid, saxophonist Jeff Kashiwa, bassist Kim Stone and keyboardist Dave Kochanski. Renowned saxophonist Eric Marienthal and Brandon Fields (himself a former Rippington) appear on two tracks apiece of Brave New World. The Rippingtons call on some powerhouse singers for

The way we were: Hospital moves to the Naval Air Base

At the annual meeting of the hospital association on January 15, 1948, Randall Chase, chairman of the executive committee, reported the new building at the Naval Air Base.

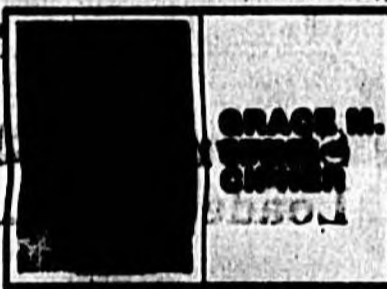

A membership drive and campaign for funds had been conducted by Mr. A. B. Peterson which produced a grand total of $17,100.13.

Thanks was extended to Mrs. John L. Galloway who served as head of the nursing staff during the transition period. Miss Elizabeth Longfellow was commended for her efficient management as present superintendent.

It was announced that the hospital had been approved as a participant in the Blue Cross/Blue Shield Hospital Services.

There were 13 rooms in the new hospital that were dedicated. The services of a graduate dietitian had been secured and there was a full staff of nurses.

Mr. Edwin Shephard had had several conferences with the War Assets Administration relative to the status of the Association's application for possession of the building.

There was a total of 1900 cases who had received care during 1947. Average bed occupancy was 87%; there were 80 beds available. There were 15 basins and average occupancy was 96%. An average of $7.11 was charged per person per day.

By law changes were made. Ten directors would now be elected at large instead of six and the executive committee would consist of not more than seven members.

A committee was appointed to work with the Chamber of Commerce toward the organization of a Community Chest. These members were J.N. Batten, W.A. Morrison, and Edwin Shephard.

Quit Claim Deed Approved

There was a called meeting of the hospital board on May 10, 1948, to approve a resolution pertaining to the acquisition of the building.

According to the resolution and the quit claim deed, both of which are included in entirety in the minutes, the new owner of the land, building and equipment was the Fernald Loughran Memorial Hospital Association, not the city or county. The War Assets Administration gave them 11 acres of land, three buildings, and certain personal property - all to be used for hospital purposes. All this was given at no cost whatsoever.

The quit claim deed was dated March 31, 1948. There were certain provisions. The property was to be used for health purposes for 10 years. During those ten years, the association would submit semi-annual reports to the War Assets Administration. The association could not recall any of the property within ten years without the written authority of the War Assets Administration.

Deputy fired over criminal charges

By ROBERT HARRISON
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Seminole County Sheriff Don Ealinger announced Friday that Deputy Tom Livingston will be on unpaid leave for 90 days and then fired following his arrest Friday for shooting his estranged wife.

Livingston is charged with attempted second-degree murder. That charge stems from the April 9 shooting, in which Deputy Livingston has said he mistook his estranged wife, Jennifer, for an intruder and shot her in the chest at his Chuluota home.

Mrs. Livingston, however, disputes the details of the shooting. According to a statement she made to deputies, she went to the Chuluota residence to pick up the couple's three-year-old daughter, Whitney.

She told deputies that she and her husband argued, but she does not remember being shot. She remembers only walking up in the hospital a month later. Mrs. Livingston was paralyzed from the neck down in the shooting.

Following his arrest Friday, Livingston posted the $15,000 bond and was released from jail. He has 10 days to request an appeal hearing on his suspension without pay and firing.

The couple is divorcing and both are requesting custody of their daughter. Mrs. Livingston has moved out of state with her parents.

Sheriff's Office policy, however, allows the sheriff to fire any deputy who is indicted or convicted of a crime.

Sexual attack

Mary Bradley Bryant, 44, listed as living in a restroom in the 1800 block of S. French Avenue, was arrested by Sanford police Thursday. The woman was taken to Columbia Medical Center-Sanford for treatment. Bryant was arrested at his place of residence on charges of aggravated battery, sexual battery, and false imprisonment.

QUAD arrests

Members of the Sanford police QUAD-Squad arrested Carlos Paul Verdala, 44, of 605 Thruway Avenue, Longwood, following a traffic stop in a parking lot in the 1800 block of French Avenue for a cracked windshield. Following a search of the vehicle, Verdala was arrested on two counts of possession of drug paraphernalia.

Robert Buchanan, 37, of 1107 E. Ninth Street, Sanford, was arrested by QUAD-Squad officers Thursday at Edward Higgins Terrace. After officers said they saw her with a can of beer, she was charged with violation of the open container law and resisting an officer without violence.

Michael L. Jones, 30, 1708 W. 18th Street, was located by QUAD officers Thursday at the rear of the 1000 block of W. 18th Street. He was charged with possession of drug paraphernalia.

Traffic stops

Michael J. Smith, 38, of Deltona, was stopped by sheriff's deputies Thursday at Jit Way and Right Way in Midway. He was charged with possession of under 30 grams of cannabis.

Jacky Lee Stancil, 48, 398 Goodheart, Lake Mary, was stopped by Lake Mary police on Country Club Road Wednesday. He was charged with driving with a suspended/revoked license, having an altered tag, and having an expired tag.

Retail theft

Carlos M. Cruz, 23, of 3716 Ridgewood Avenue, Sanford, was arrested by Sanford police Thursday at a retail store in the 3800 block of Orlando Drive. Police said he attempted to take a $84.94 laser game from the store without paying. He was charged with retail theft.

Sheriff reports

An estimated $845 in lawn equipment was reported stolen Wednesday from a garage at a residence in the 400 block of Lakeshore Drive near Lake Mary.

Sanford police reports

A CD player, cellular phone and other items with a total value of $420 were reported stolen Thursday from a vehicle parked in the 100 block of Drew Avenue in Sanford.

An estimated $98 was reported stolen Thursday from a cash register at a store in the Seminole Towne Center.

A man reported to police that he and four friends were approached by three men in a vehicle shortly before 3 a.m. Friday in the 1100 block of Florida Avenue. He said one of the men had a handgun and ordered all five to give them money. Twenty dollars was said to have been taken from the reporting victim, with an unknown amount from the others before the three returned to their vehicle and left the area.

Farmland money

American Farmland Trust (AFT) has praised the federal government's commitment of nearly $15 million in farmland protection program funds to 18 states. Florida has been allocated $433,000 in federal funds.

This is the first time that the money, authorized by the 1996 Farm Bill, has been awarded.

AFT says the federal assistance funds will help spare 50,000 acres of key agricultural land from development throughout the country.

AFT President Ralph Gross said state and local programs have struggled to find the resources to assure the continuation of agriculture near growing metropolitan areas. He said the federal money would provide a sorely needed source of new support.

Teen sex, elderly abuse laws to take effect

By BILL GIBSON
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — Adults who have sex with girls under 18 — even if the youngsters consent — face prison time starting Tuesday under new get-tough laws designed to reduce teen-age pregnancies in Florida.

One law makes it a felony for a man age 21 or older to get a girl under 16 pregnant, whether she consents or not. A first offense can mean up to 18 months in prison.

Another statute makes it a third-degree felony, punishable by up to five years in prison and a $5,000 fine, for anyone age 24 or older to have sexual intercourse or oral sex with anyone 16 or 17 years old.

Lawmakers acted after child advocates like Virginia Foy of Jensen Beach cited studies showing that 77 percent of pregnancies among high school age or younger girls result from sex with adult men.

"Whatever happened to the commonly held view of jail bait?" Foy said. "It was needed. It worked. There was a hands-off thing."

In addition to attacking sexual predators, new laws that take effect Tuesday make abuse that causes the death of an elderly or disabled person a capital crime, and make it a crime to sexually abuse or mutilate a corpse.

Seventy-six laws take effect, a fraction of the 563 that the 1990 Legislature passed and Gov. Lawton Chiles signed or let become law without his signature.

Many bills become effective July 1, the start of the state's fiscal year. Others kick in Oct. 1 when the federal budget year begins or Jan. 1 with the start of the calendar year. Still others begin on a variety of dates for various reasons.

Sex and violence aren't the only targets of the newest laws. Some deal with safe boating, trimming bureaucratic rules, and protecting elderly people confined under the Baker Act and terminally ill people who sell life insurance policies for cash settlements.

The teen sex laws are in addition to Florida's current statutory rape law, which forbids anyone over 21 to have sex with a girl under 16, but does not apply if the girl says she consented.

Under the new laws, whether the teen consents, the teen's sexual history, or a mistake about the teen's age is no defense. And if the teen has a child, the adult must pay child support.

Rep. Tom Warner, R-Stuart, sponsor of one bill, cited a growing number of girls between ages 13 and 15 becoming pregnant by men in their 20s and 30s who consider it a "badge of honor."

Adult men pursue middle-school and high-school girls for two reasons: they are "clean" and "easy," say those who deal with pregnant teen-agers.

At least 80 percent of the teen-agers coming to the Indiantown Teen Parent Center are pregnant as a result of sex with men over 21. Often the fathers are in their 30s, said Miriam Wheeler, who runs the center for the Martin County School District.

"The reason it has increased is the fact that there are so many sexually transmitted diseases — AIDS, not to mention all the others," she said.

"Men have bragged about the fact that these girls are — quote — clean, and they don't have to worry about it. They are protecting themselves," said Wheeler.

"Besides being a social problem, it's also a financial problem. Teen parenting is costing us all," she said. "These 13- and 14- and 15-year-old girls of course are completely unable to support themselves or the baby, so we have two dependent people who suddenly need to be taken care of, who are just children."

Sex with corpses also became an issue last session, to the amazement of lawmakers like

Sen. Charlie Crist, R-St. Petersburg, who said, "I can't believe this isn't already against the law."

Leon County law enforcement officials had discovered they couldn't charge a murder defendant with raping the corpse of his victim.

The case involved the June 1986 murder of Kathryn Moore. Her 18-year-old son, Aaron Moore, and his 22-year-old friend, David Balty, have been sentenced to life in prison in the slaying.

Balty admitted he sexually assaulted the body before he threw it down an abandoned well shaft, but authorities couldn't bring additional charges. Now it will be a felony to mutilate or sexually abuse a dead human body.

Boating safety got headlines during the season when Miami singer Gladys Estefan traveled to the Capitol to lobby for tougher laws.

Florida led the nation last year with 1,337 boating accidents and 78 deaths.

Estefan got involved after a tourist died when his personal watercraft smashed into her yacht the year before.

The new law requires safety training for anyone 16 or under to operate a boat with a motor of 10 horsepower or more. The age will increase by one year each year until the requirement covers all operators 21 or younger.

Best at watching one's waste

By The Associated Press
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Katie's Wehiva River Landing, on Wehiva Park Drive in Sanford, has been presented with the "Waste Watcher" award.

The award, presented by the Seminole County Commission and Solid Waste Division, is for "...providing leadership in the county's Reduce, Recycle, Reuse campaign and to encourage other businesses to develop in-house recycling programs."

According to the announcement, Katie's Wehiva River Landing is located in an environmentally sensitive area, along the banks of the Wehiva River. With these environmental concerns in mind, owner-operator Katie Moncrief established an in-house recycling program for her business.

The effort has been in operation for eight years, since the inception of recycling. Since that time, Solid Waste Division employees say they have noticed a 50 percent drop in the amount of waste generated.

Employees and customers recycle clear, brown and green glass, aluminum and tin cans, plastic bottles and newspapers. They sort and separate the recyclables and deliver the items to a nearby recycling center.

To help generate more recycling, Katie has added a pay-back program for patrons 15 years and under. She pays her young customers a nickel for each recyclable item collected from the river.

Another of her projects is the litter removal program, which is in cooperation with several water sports organizations. The program provides nets to sports persons and are used to help remove litter from the Wehiva River.

The programs are all supported and paid for by Katie Moncrief's business. No monies are provided from other agencies.

According to Andrew Cardona, recycling assistant for the county, Katie's recycling programs are beneficial to the environment and to her business. The river is safe for wildlife and recreational use and as a result, business is good.

Mixed decision on ethics

WASHINGTON — The House ethics committee refused today to dismiss key parts of a Democratic ethics complaint against Speaker Newt Gingrich, saying it needed more information on allegations he received prohibited gifts and illegal campaign contributions.

Parts of the complaint against Gingrich were dismissed. At the same time, the committee dismissed a complaint against House Democratic leader Dick Gephardt. A Republican complaint contended he provided contradictory information about his North Carolina vacation properties on financial disclosure statements and other official documents.

The committee dismissed counts accusing Gingrich of violating bribery and gratuity statutes by intervening for financial supporters in a quid pro quo arrangement.

Gingrich had sought dismissal of all counts of the complaint. The action by the committee today is separate from an ongoing investigation of the speaker's college course, which was broadened earlier this week.

Gingrich spokesman Tony Blankley, reacting to the decision, said, "Once again, the ethics committee today dismissed another two allegations filed against the speaker by the same band of House Democrats who remain bitter about their fall from power in 1994."

Blankley said the Democrats seek to regain control of the House "by filing bogus ethics allegations" and predicted, "I am confident these allegations will be deemed groundless by the committee."

Gephardt said the complaint against him was filed "for transparently partisan and retaliatory purposes...."

"From the beginning I said, simply, that there was nothing to these claims. Today, I was vindicated by a bipartisan decision of the ethics committee," he said in a statement.

The Democratic complaint filed a year ago asked for a broad probe of Gingrich's activities when he led a conservative Republican political action committee — GOPAC.

"The committee is in the process of obtaining additional information concerning Counts IV through VII of the complaint, and has not reached any conclusions regarding any of these counts," it wrote Gingrich.

These counts accused Gingrich of receiving $250,000 from GOPAC for personal use, a prohibited gift; receiving illegal campaign contributions from the PAC; and conduct unbecoming a House member.

The committee wrote Gephardt that it determined "the complaint does not merit further inquiry and is hereby dismissed."

However, the committee also criticized Gephardt for acting just Friday to correct his financial disclosure statements, to include rental income from his Outer Banks, N.C. vacation property.

"You have disclosed this income to the committee more than three years after the original disclosure form was filed and only after a complaint was filed against you in connection with this matter," Gephardt was told in the committee letter.

"A review of your financial disclosure statements reflects that this is not the first occasion you have filed amendments to your disclosure records of 1991 and 1992 in connection with these transactions," it said.

"The committee expects you will be more diligent in the future and adhere strictly to the requirements to file timely and accurate financial disclosure statements," the committee said.

UCF student government back after scandal on spending on cars, parties

By The Associated Press

ORLANDO — Six months ago, the president of the University of Central Florida shut the student government down and ousted its leadership because of a spending scandal involving student funds.

This week, the Orlando school is again holding elections to pick a student body president. Also being allowed to operate again will be a 50-member Student Senate.

The new leadership will be operating under new rules to govern spending of thousands of dollars in activity fees.

UCF President John Hitt removed student leaders from office last March because an audit showed they spent more than $100,000 of activity fees on questionable items such as laptop computers for their personal use, limousines and after-game parties, dinners and trips.

Activity fees are supposed to pay for student unions, concerts, guest speakers and other activities to benefit the student body.

State rules don't let university administrators dictate how students spend the money other than making sure the purchases benefit all students. Some of those removed from office earlier this year noted that their purchases had been approved by administrators, who signed off on paperwork.

To prevent problems, UCF will follow the advice of a committee of former student government presidents. The group recommended stricter administrative oversight and more training for student leaders on purchasing procedures.

"I have confidence in the future of student government at UCF," said LeVester Tubbs, UCF vice president of student affairs. "There's no doubt in my mind that we'll have... a very effective student government. Things got out of control last year."

High speed rail gets a boost

By The Associated Press

MIAMI — Backers of Florida's high-speed train project have been promised help by US Transportation Secretary Federico Pena in their effort to get federal funding.

Pena told Florida Transportation Secretary Ben Watts at a meeting in Miami this week that he will work to convince Congress the project is worthy of federal money. Watts said last month that the $5 billion project needed federal help in order to become a reality.

"Pena's promise is significant to the project," said Steve Johnson, a board member with Florida Overland Express, the company selected to build the 320-mile rail link between Tampa, Orlando and Miami.

"I think it is a very positive first step towards determining whether we can obtain federal funds," Johnson said Friday. He noted that there has been no commitment for money.

One strategy, Pena said, would be to get Congress to declare the Florida high-speed rail system "a project of national interest."

"The project is visionary," Pena said. FOX wants to start service between Miami and Orlando in 2004, at $54 for the 1-hour, 25-minute trip. Service between Tampa and Orlando would begin in 2006 and cost $21 for the less than one hour trip.

Florida has promised $70 million subsidy over 30 years to the project. Backers hope the federal government can contribute another $300 million over six years. They also want federal officials to provide guarantees that would help investors recover any revenue shortfalls once the rail line is in business.

"I'm cautiously optimistic that the Congress will see this project as a project of national significance," Johnson said.

The meeting Wednesday with Watts was one of 13 Pena has convened across the country in anticipation of congressional reauthorization next year of the Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act. That legislation finances major transportation projects.

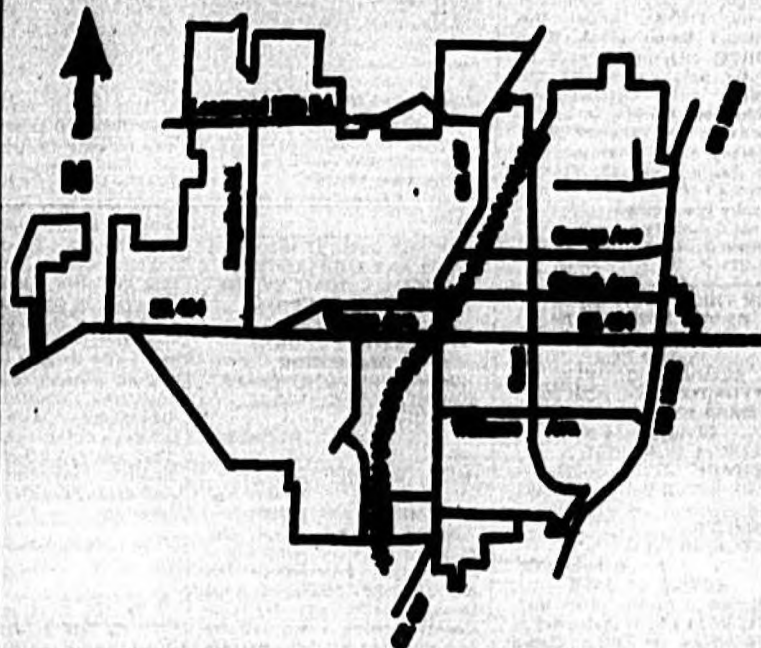

During the meeting Watts also asked for help with the beleaguered Tri-Rail commuter rail system that serves Dade, Broward and Palm Beach counties. Dade County commissioners voted last week to discontinue their $976,000 subsidy of the system, which suffers from low ridership.

Jazz

The album's two vocal tracks. The veteran R&B group, The Whippers, along with jazz vocalist Phil Perry lend their talents to a spirited version of the late Brother's 'Caravan of Love' and The Whippers are again featured on the McFadden and Whitehead classic 'Ain't No Stopping Us Now.' The group's present incarnation is very different from the way Freeman initially envisioned it. Originally a solo artist whose 1966 debut release, Nocturnal Playground, established him as a potent force on the contemporary jazz scene, Freeman conceived of a group with a revolving door of players. The first Rippingtons line-up included pianist David Benoit and saxophonists Brandon Fields, Dave Roe and Kenny G, and their 1988 debut release, Moonlighting, became an instant classic. Since then, the group has featured many different guest musicians on the subsequent albums, Kilimanjaro, Tourist in Paradise, Welcome to The St. James Club, Curve Ahead, Weekend in Monaco, Live in L.A., and Sahara, all receiving tremendous commercial success. The touring band, while changing through the years with the participation of featured artists, has been together in its present line-up for over three years. Drummer Tony Morales and percussionist Steve Reid have been with the group since the beginning.

The Rippingtons' concert is being coordinated in conjunction with the festival and is also sponsored by Corona Beer and Red Lobster. Admission to the festival does not include concert admission, although proceeds from both events will go to the festival and to the scholarships that benefit from the event. Palestinians crack down RAMALLAH, West Bank — In a clear message that days of bloodshed must end, Yasser Arafat's policemen clubbed, seized and dragged away Palestinian protesters marching Saturday on Israeli army posts and Jewish settlements in the West Bank and Gaza Strip.

But gunbattles subsided in Palestinian areas, where only a day before Palestinian police and Israeli soldiers fought their worst clashes in decades.

For the first time since the violence erupted Wednesday over the opening of a tunnel near Jerusalem's Al Aqsa Mosque, no one was killed on either side.

But Israel's army, fearing the situation was still too volatile, laid siege Saturday to West Bank towns and villages. Soldiers barred Palestinians from leaving their communities, tanks were deployed near Palestinian towns, and troop reinforcements were sent into the 144 Jewish settlements in the West Bank and Gaza.

"There are no assurances that the violence will not erupt anew," said Maj. Gen. Uzi Dayan, the West Bank commander.

Israel's decision came despite efforts by Arafat's armed men — sometimes reluctantly — to separate protesters from Israeli troops.

"Lara, Lara," yelled one young demonstrator in the West Bank town of Ramallah as helmeted Palestinian police swung black clubs when a smoldering crowd of hundreds tried to push through the wall of uniformed men.

Fightings broke out and police dragged away some men before the protesters dispersed after about two hours.

"Look at the way they're behaving," said a 20-year-old protester who gave his name only as Dawud. "They're acting like the Israelis."

The United States, meanwhile, pressured Arafat and Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu to meet soon to rescue peace agreements that may already be lost. As part of the contacts, Edward Abington, the U.S. consul general in Jerusalem, met Arafat on Saturday.

However, Arafat, when asked whether he would meet with the Israeli leader, grumbled, "Why for?"

Israeli officials said they preferred to meet at the Gaza-Israeli border. But Palestinians insisted on a meeting in Cairo, Egypt, with President Hosni Mubarak and perhaps European and American officials present to guarantee any agreement.

Nabli Shnath, a senior member of Arafat's Cabinet, said Saturday such guarantees were needed in light of Netanyahu's record since his election in May.

"The violations of the (peace) agreements have been rampant, and we'd like to see action," Shnath said.

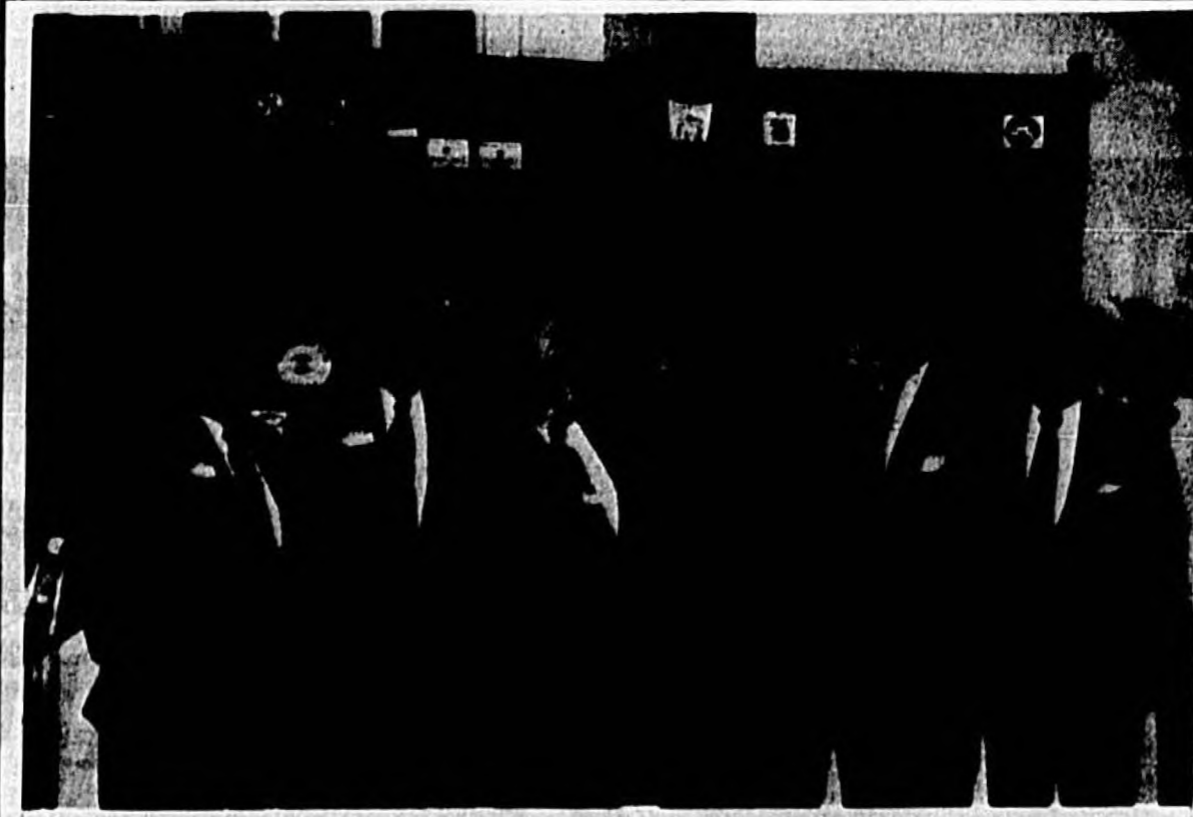

Netanyahu has not given a date for a long-overdue troop pullback from the West Bank town of Hebron, has sidestepped Israel's commitment to withdraw from West Bank rural areas and has postponed negotiations on a permanent peace agreement.

Palestinian frustration over the delays exploded into violence after Netanyahu's decision Tuesday to complete a tunnel near the Al Aqsa compound, one of Islam's holiest sites.

Palestinians see the tunnel as a challenge to their claims on Jerusalem. Netanyahu called the tunnel a "non-issue" because, he said, Israel would always respect Muslim holy places.

Since the tunnel was opened, 56 Palestinians, 14 Israelis and two Egyptians have been killed. Riyad Zanzoun, the Palestinian health minister, said Saturday that 1,600 Palestinians were wounded.

Even though the gun battles had stopped, stone-throwing clashes erupted in several refugee camps and villages. From Jerusalem to Hebron, the landscape Saturday was littered with rocks, overturned dumpsters and burned trees.

Utility bill fund needs more support

By MARK PERRIN
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Good Neighbor Utility Fund sponsored by the City of Sanford has been successful, but there is always a need for more citizen support.

"We've helped a lot of people so far," said Utility Department Project Coordinator Bill Marcous, "but we need more people to join in and help us give this emergency assistance."

Money for the fund is donated by willing utility bill payees. All that is asked is one dollar, which is to be included in mailing a utility bill payment to the city. Marcous also suggests people drop a note about the donation in their payment envelope.

"We also have a special Good Neighbor Utility Fund box on the counter of the Customer Service area in the second floor of City Hall," he added.

Marcous said he could (but would not) relate specific cases where money donated to this fund by concerned citizens, have been of unbelievable assistance.

Mothers with young children, senior citizens, large families, each facing the prospect of having their utilities turned off because of a lack of bill payment, have been able to survive through this fund, and get back on their feet to the point where they can again pay their own bills.

Marcous said the fund has been in operation for a considerable length of time, and while he is very pleased with being allowed to help those in need, there is always a need to obtain people, "who have," and ask them to donate one dollar, to help those, "who have not."

For information on the Good Neighbor Utility Fund, please call the city at 330-8800.

Topless bar plan axed, vow to try again

Staff and Wire Report

EATONVILLE, Fla. — Two men who wanted to open a topless club in this central Florida town between Orlando and Sanford have withdrawn their legal fight against local officials opposed to the strip bar.

But the businessmen say they haven't given up their fight to bring adult entertainment to Eatonville.

An attorney for the town proclaimed victory.

"I would say the case is over," said Philip "Hugh" Trees.

But an attorney for partners Doug Bangle and Joseph Youssouf said he withdrew from Friday's hearing in Orange Circuit Court because there are too many uncertainties about the case.

Tampa lawyer Luke Lirot said his clients plan to continue to fight.

"I am very confident that they will prevail," he said.

One of the uncertainties that Lirot mentioned is a case on appeal to the state district court. A lower court ruled that because Eatonville has no specific ordinance on adult entertainment, Orange County's strict law applies.

Lirot claims it's illegal to completely ban adult entertainment.

Municipalities may limit and regulate it, he said, but Orange County's ordinance is tantamount to a complete ban.

Tribe top Titusville

Seminole wins first game of year 13-7

By JEFF BERLINER
Lake Mary Life Sports Editor

TITUSVILLE — Any patriotism could clearly hear the shouts coming out of the Seminole meeting room prior to their meeting with Titusville.

The passionate screams reflected the Seminoles' 0-3 start which has been shadowed by a pair of blowouts in the past two games.

"WE WORK TOO HARD HERE," coach Ernie McPherson yelled and his players responded back. It's a good thing the doors were opened when it came time to take the field; if they hadn't been, the Tribe would have just run right through them.

Over the next three, sometimes ugly hours, they ran over Titusville, 13-7 for their first win of the season.

It wasn't easy. Titusville was launching passes at the end zone right down to the final gun but when the clock hit 0:00, the Seminole players stormed the field, some rolling around the ground, others tossing their helmets into the air and coaches hugging everyone in sight.

High school football doesn't get any better. "It just feels great," said running back Walter Bryant who played the hero with 89-yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter.

"It was a long time coming," McPherson said after the Tribe won its third game in the last 14 contests. "We never gave up all year. This was just a big for our program and what we're trying to do."

Actually, the Seminoles gave every indication last week that they were ready to respond. They lost to Lake Howell 18-0 but played tenacious defense throughout after being embarrassed by Ocoola the week before.

The mood was so bright after the game that the two turnovers and 15 penalties were forgotten. An omen of things to come came when Titusville walked on the field wearing some of the ugliest uniforms in football history, an all-yellow ensemble that had them looking like 45 tweety birds. It was the first time the team had worn all yellow which, ironically, blended in nicely with the penalty flags that flew through the Titusville night the entire game.

Several of the 15 against Seminole came on unsportsmanlike conduct calls and punt returner Rod Hudson had several long gains called back as flags showered the field.

"Early in the game the referees told the players on both teams to stop talking and be quiet," McPherson said. "We have an intense rivalry with Titusville and I guess we got overexcited."

The penalty problem actually culminated in the fourth quarter when Bryant was deahing downfield with his touchdown run. A referee, trailing the play by about 50 yards, accidentally bumped McPherson's arm as he, too, was closely following the play. A yellow flag flew about the time Bryant went in for the score.

Seminole led 13-0, they just didn't realize it. McPherson said after the game that he didn't realize the penalty would be assessed on the extra point as the ball was moved to the 15. Thinking the touchdown was nullified, the Tribe offense stayed on the field, looking for a touchdown, not the two-point conversion. After the play failed, Seminole had only 13 and that was in danger after Titusville struck back away firing for the endzone, down by just six in the closing seconds.

Seminole took the lead late in the second quarter when Hudson returned a punt from the Tribe 45 to the Terrier 22 for 33 yards. Joe Knight, one of five backs to carry the ball for Seminole, went 10 yards to the 12 and a pair of runs by Deon Howard placed the ball on the one. Big man Steve Brown rumbled in and it was 7-0. Seminole almost wrapped it up on the last play of the half when, deep in his own territory, Titusville quarterback Imari Williams decided to go ahead with a play instead of letting the clock tick away. His pass was picked off by

Head coach Ernie McPherson led Seminole High School to its first victory of the season Friday night, an important Class 6A-District 6 road victory 13-6 over Titusville.

Young, Wright 'murder' Hounds

By TONY BOGGS

LAKE MARY — Drew Young and Justin Wright were guilty of nothing less than murder in the first degree Friday night at Lake Mary High School's Don T. Reynolds Stadium.

While Young was killing the clock for the Lake Mary Rams (rushing 25 times for two touchdowns and 147 yards), Wright was busy killing drives (intercepting three passes in the second half) as Lake Mary hung on to beat the visiting Lyman Greyhounds, 27-19, in a 6A-District 4

Lions rally past Patriots take lead in Class 6A-4

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — It ain't over 'til it's over.

The Lake Brantley Patriots almost accomplished something no other football team has managed to do so far this season, defeat the Oviedo Lions. The upset plans were thwarted by only one thing; the fourth quarter. Instead of an upset, the Patriots were on the receiving end of a 45-20 trouncing at the hands of the Lions in a Class 6A-District 4 and Seminole Athletic Conference football contest.

The Patriots seemed poised for the upset in the third quarter when they chalked up 14 unanswered points on route to a 20-15 lead at the start of the fourth quarter, and it looked like the Oviedo offense had stalled and the defenders had lost Lake Brantley's number.

The Lions offense came out of hibernation late in the third quarter, stealing Lake Brantley's thunder by scoring 28 unanswered points in the last 13:00 of the game, and making the Patriots first home game of the season a nightmare.

"Our defense really came up big for us in the second half," Oviedo coach Jack Blanton said. "Our offense really made some big plays for us as well. It was a team effort tonight."

Although the Oviedo win was accomplished as a team, two players: Jaimie Scott and Christian Sanders, had stellar individual nights pacing the Lions cause.

Carvers mark 72-year marriage Pooles renew vows on 50th anniversary

Ethel and John Carver are the epitome of what "love story" is all about. The Carvers have carved a truly remarkable love story which has gained momentum every year during their memorable 72-year marriage.

Although time may have taken its physical toll on the genial couple, they still have twinkling eyes for only each other which nothing can dim. And as always, they may have sung to each other through the challenging years words from the immortal tune, "When your hair has turned to silver, I will love you just the same..."

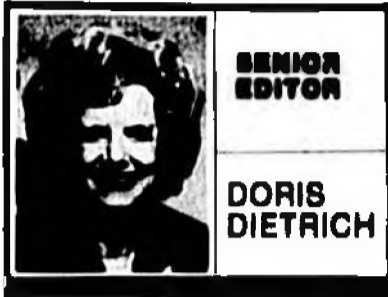

The Carvers were married on Sept. 24, 1924, by the Rev. Roberts in the parsonage at Willacoochee, Ga. and have spent their entire married life in Sanford.

John came to Sanford in search of work and on June 1, 1924, landed a job as a barber at the J.K. Smith Barber Shop located behind Roulmillat-Anderson's Drug Store. He traveled back to Georgia to marry the girl of his dreams and they have lived happily ever after in Sanford.

After working at the barber shop for 20 years, John purchased the shop and relocated to 108 S. Park Ave., the present site of Sanford Hairstyling Salon. John is a legend among barbers — he cut, trimmed and shaped the hair of Sanford's esteemed citizens for 47 years.

Ethel was employed at Sanford Naval Air station until it closed and later was employed as department head in the water department of the City of Sanford located at the old Sanford City Hall on Fulton Street until her retirement.

The couple have enjoyed living in Sanford. Each is 90 years old. Her birthday is Jan. 1 and John's is June 4. They reflect back on their life together. They recall a bustling downtown Sanford which included several banks, drug stores, furniture stores, women's boutiques, men's stores and hardware stores. The greatest changes they have seen are "so many more cars" and the computer age which has "cut back on jobs."

Today, the Carvers are still quite active and are members of the First United Methodist Church. John still drives and they go grocery shopping together and prepare all their meals.

A niece, Libby Mossman of Altamonte Springs, said about her uncle and aunt, "They just look like they belong together. They work together so well and look out for each other."

In earlier years, John liked to fish and hunt and Ethel did exquisite needlework. Today, Ethel is legally blind and enjoys her reading machine and tapes. They watch a lot of television, including ball games and their favorite team, the Atlanta Braves.

The Carvers are parents of three children, all deceased. They also have three grandchildren whom they enjoy.

In celebration of their 72nd wedding anniversary, the Carvers had a few friends over for refreshments. They included Libby's husband, Eddie Mossman, Herman Schroeder, Ginny and George Chapman, Hazel Cash, Esther Caaldy and Katherine Milley.

With a keen sense of humor, Ethel good-naturedly talks about life. She said the secret to a happy marriage is, "Try to be thankful for what you have. I can't remember when I didn't know John."

She added, "We have been happy...and get along better than a lot of old people. I am so glad we have each other."

Pooles observe 50th anniversary

In celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary, W. Wayne and Dorothy E. Poole renewed their wedding vows on Saturday, Sept. 14, 1996, at the Sanford Church of God, 801 Holly Ave. The Rev. Wesley L. Baker, church pastor, performed the impressive ceremony.

'Leaders Light the Way' on Business Women's Day

A national observance of Business Women's Day is held each year during the month of September. Congressional resolutions in 1983 and 1988 and a proclamation from the President of the United States recognized working women around the country for their achievements in business.

Central Florida Area Council, American Business Women's Association, gathered on Saturday, Sept. 21, and joined businesswomen across the nation to celebrate this year's theme, "Leaders Light the Way". A theme is selected each year which represents the spirit and effort of ABWA members. The theme enables chapters to plan events around one unified idea, with members nationwide leading the drive for a strong association. It also encourages members to shine as role models for women in their chapters and in the workplace.

SANFORD

Church Street Station Presidential Ballroom was the setting for this year's celebration of ABWA Day. Jo Cantrell, Chairwoman of the council presided, and area chapters joined in "Reflection, Reunion, Reward," the local sub-theme.

The National Anthem was signed by "New Friends, Inc.," a club for hearing impaired children. Mayor Glenda Hood's proclamation for ABWA Day was presented by Bobbi Economy.

After a delicious luncheon, the keynote message was given by Lee Knapp, national and international motivational speaker and training specialist.

Her speech, "Giving Yourself Permission", challenged the audience to re-discover, re-program and re-charge themselves; to focus on their needs and do something about it. She said it's alright to feel good about your accomplishments. She challenged the attendees to "skim the scum,"—it's not so much what happens to you but how you handle it.

In other words, have a positive mental attitude. She further suggested, "dump the frump," which means "wear nice clothing and feel good about ourselves." Her parting message was to "set goals, believe in yourself and make it happen." The 10 steps to follow in giving yourself permission are: seize the moment, don't be judgmental; cultivate friendships; laugh it off; plan to have fun-regularly; don't spend your life getting ready; be assertive and like it; eliminate guilt-now; like yourself; live your life for you.

The nine chapters of the Central Florida Council are fine examples of the ideals of the American Business Women's Association. Each year ABWA women take time to reflect upon the challenges met and overcome in their history, enjoying the reunion with old friends, and working to meet new ones... "celebrating our well-deserved rewards, and giving ourselves permission to bask in the spotlight of our own contributions and accomplishments."

The 1996 Top Ten nominees for "woman of the year" from Central Florida area chapters are Victoria Nathan Murphy, Central Florida Chapter; Katherine Winehead, Futura Chapter, Jo Cantrell, New Visions Chapter, Cathy Canniff-Gilliam, Orlando Action Chapter and Ruth Breen, Seminole Sunrise Chapter.

We salute the working women of America!

Hobbyist of the Week

Wood art going to state fair

By SUSAN WORMAN
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Bob Rougt now takes retirement in a fury of activity. He doesn't spend a lot of time rocking in his chair and swinging in a hammock, but instead he works from almost sun-up to sun-down on his hobby of woodworking.

A retired highway worker, Rougt has enjoyed woodworking for over 20 years. He originally began the art while still in school years ago.

"I really took up woodworking as a class in school," he said. "Then later in years I took it up again out of boredom. It's better than sitting around and doing nothing all day. I might as well pick up a piece of wood and make something."

Although his wife, Cathy, does pitch in, Rougt does the cutting and sanding. His wife then begins the painting and detail work.

"My daughter is an artist," he said. "She designs everything for me." Rougt did mention that some of his patterns are retrieved from children's coloring books.

First in the series of wood projects was named as an end table made many years ago. The table is now owned by a relative.

Black and Decker or Sears saws were cited as the instruments of choice. "I use power, hand, table and coping saws," said Rougt. "I always wear safety glasses so the sawdust and chipping won't hurt my eyes and a safety mask."

Wood lawn ornaments of Tas, bulldogs, Yosemite Sam and bird feeders grace the small yard of the Rougt. "The bulldogs can wear a sign 'beware of dog' or a name plate," he said. "The bird feeder has a cat in it with feather in its mouth."

Bob Rougt stands in small yard decorated with ornate wood lawn ornaments he has created.

Most unusual of the lawn ornaments Rougt said was a 22-inch high clown he made. The smallest of the crew was a set of baby ducks only 8 inches high that accompany a mama duck.

In addition to the many dogs and birdfeeders Rougt said he makes ducks, chickens, cats and turtles. Most have been sold or given away but he can make any pattern to suit those interested.

The couple do have plans to enter some of their work in the state fair. Rougt said that he thought the fair was in November in Volusia County.

His woodworking gives him get-up-and-go to get his day started. With the price of wood rising Rougt says he has slowed down a bit but he still looks forward to his hobby.

Rougt and his wife, Cathy, have been married for 30 years. They have lived in Sanford for 12 of those years.

They have 10 children, Harold, Arthur, Robert, Claude, Jamie, Kenneth, Kitty, Melinda, Kathleen, Gladys Mary and Sovilla. They also have 19 grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Alvis, Jacksonville, Ark.; Pamela Nelson, Minneapolis, Minn.; and Nancy Kniffen and Roberta Abernathy, both of Sanford. Standing with the bridegroom were their sons-in-law, Richard Nelson and Jasper Abernathy.

Ushers were five of the eight grandsons: James and Lewis Walker, JW Nelson, and Danny and Michael Abernathy. Other grandchildren participating in the ceremony were: David Abernathy, ringbearer; Rachael Abernathy, flower girl; and Johanna Nelson, guest book attendant. Gary Alvis, son-in-law, and two grandsons, Sean and Thomas Alvis, of Jacksonville, were unable to attend.

Attending the ceremony were: Wayne's brother, Bill and his wife, Jean Poole, of Sanford; Dottie's sister, Ode and her husband, Ed Bentley, Lake Helen, along with Ode's son Fred and family Lori and Joshua Bowery.

Attending from Ohio were Dottie's sisters, Martha Lenigar, Lois Sharp and Mildred Shaw, and her brother, Charles McNitt and wife, Jo, and niece and nephew, Donna and June Exline.

A number of Church of God brothers and sisters attended the ceremony and reception immediately following.

Fifty years ago, Wayne and Dottie were married by the Rev. E.W. Cole in his parlor which was witnessed by the couple's parents, Ellen R. Poole and the Rev. and Mrs. John Wesley McNitt. The first 12 years of their life together were spent in Ohio and on Sept. 29, 1956, the couple moved their family to Sanford.

Wayne retired from the Florida Public Utilities in 1986 and Dottie retired as Sanford Church of God secretary last year.

And, oh yes, the Pooles would do it all over again which they proved. According to Dottie, "We stay busy and active by devoting our lives to God, to our family and to our church."

Members and guests enjoyed luncheon and fellowship before the first general meeting of the year Wednesday.

Students from Seminole County middle schools line up to compete in Talent Connection 1996 held at Indian Trails School.

Greenwood Lakes students qualify for Honors Choir

Twenty-one students from Greenwood Lakes Middle School were among the 179 students from Seminole County who were chosen to be part of the Honors Choir. Each year, chorus students audition to take part in the Honors Choir. You must make an "A" to be considered. Each of the 10 middle schools is allowed to bring 18 students. Several middle schools did not have 18 students who qualified, so Greenwood was able to bring more of their qualifying students.

Talent Connection 1996 was the name of this year's Honors Choir day, Indian Trails Middle School was the host for the second year in a row. The students began the day by being the audience. The Seminole High School Jazz Band came to perform. So did the Seminole High School Show Choirs. Seminole High has three show choirs. Fantasy and Destiny are both mixed choirs. Destiny has been National Champions for three out of the last seven years. Pizazz is the school's all girl show choir. Pizazz will be performing at Disney's 25th Anniversary on September 30. ABC will air it in January. The students were very impressed by the performances.

After the performance, the students were divided into four groups. There were four or five students from each school in each group. The students attended four workshops. There was mime, movement, vocal production and handbells. Mime, for those who aren't familiar with it, is telling stories without words. While in the mime class, students worked on mirroring others and learned the differences between fluid and static movement.

The movement class learned dance steps for the evening's performance. In vocal production, the students rehearsed the songs they would sing for the evening.

One of the favorite workshops for most of the students, because it was completely new to them, was handbells. A good set of handbells costs $5,000, which is why very few schools have them. Many of the handbells that were used on Friday were on loan from Asbury United Methodist Church and Tuskawilla United Methodist Church.

After the day full of workshops, the students enjoyed pizza, courtesy of Pizza Hut of Lake Mary, Tuskawilla and Casselberry. Other businesses that helped out with the day were Publix of Lake Mary, Casselberry, Tuskawilla and Sanford; Winn Dixie of Sanford; Target of Lake Mary and Oviedo; and Chili's of Oviedo.

Before the students put on their concert, they were treated to a concert by Disney's Voices of Liberty. The group, who sing patriotic songs, sang acappella.

Each of the four groups then performed the songs they had learned on the handbells, and one of the mime exercises. The four groups then sang and danced together for the first time.

Gardeners' project: School walkway

The Lake Mary Garden Club held its first meeting of the year on Thursday, Sept. 26 at the Frank Evans Center. The meeting was a "get acquainted" for all the new members. Francis Abell updated everyone on the status of the club's latest project — an effort to make the walkway to school more attractive and safer for the children and parents who walk to school along Country Club Road.

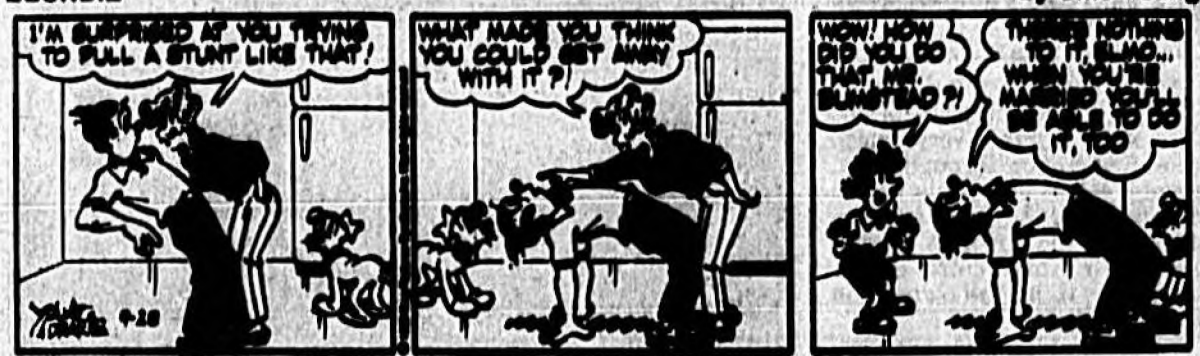

Garden Club President Connie Bennett visualized this project and contacted City Manager John Litton about the site. Joan in turn, contacted Seminole County and had them repair a storm drain at the site that had become a safety hazard. The city agreed to keep the grass cut in the area if the Garden Club kept up the plants. The club has planted seasonal flowers and ornamental grass.

No water is available at the site, so neighbors Dave and Barbara Waltman have agreed to keep it watered with a hose supplied by the club. Dave and Frances Wester donated and delivered the "rock" which has become the centerpiece for the garden. Dave installed a plaque on the rock which reads "To Lake Mary's Children from the Garden Club, 1996." The school crossing guard protects the site from litter and destruction.

Sunday, Sept. 29, 1986

A relationship you established last year has taken root and will bear fruit soon. This person will do everything he or she can do to help you, and you will return the favor.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Even though you think you know what's best for the one you love, you must give him or her enough latitude to make personal decisions today. Libra, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $2 and $35 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1788, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10118. Make sure to state your zodiac sign.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You might be an unwitting pawn in a chess game played by two other people today. They will take advantage of you if you are not careful.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It will be easy for you to see someone else's flaws today, but try to avoid criticizing this person if you are not perfect yourself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A game should be played for fun, so don't take it too seriously today. If you can't handle the pressure, try to avoid competition.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) You will get a harsh reaction today if you try to blame a poor decision on someone else. Concentrate on correcting the error.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Use caution today if you have to perform an unpleasant task that requires tools. Do not put your thumb in the way of your hammer.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If your favorite team is playing today, take care not to get too emotionally involved. Cheer as loudly as you want, but don't bet on the outcome.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) The person you love the most might be the object of your wrath today. This person will be forgiving, but the wound will take a long time to heal.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Try not to read too much into what people say today. If you listen attentively, you won't hear insults where none were intended.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Before taking on a special assignment at the suggestion of your peers today, assess what it will cost you in time and money.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Usually, you're an agreeable individual, but today you might try to do everything your way. If so, this could frustrate both you and your companions.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A companion might do something that could make you feel uncomfortable today. This issue won't be resolved unless you bring it out into the open.

Try to keep a straight face

By Phillip Alder

Suppose you bid one heart when you meant to say one club. What can you do to rectify the situation? Well, according to the laws, you may correct yourself only if it is "without pause for thought." However, if your change wouldn't be immediate, you do best to keep quiet and hope things work out.

Today's deal occurred during the Regional in Rye, N.Y., last January. It was reported by Kenneth Abelson, from Greenwich, Conn., in the May issue of the American Contract Bridge League's Bulletin. He was South, partnering his wife, Sallie.

Opposite Sallie's one-spade opening, Kenneth wisely responded two hearts, calling that a five-card suit. Then, when Sallie bid four hearts, Kenneth passed. And the 4-3 fit was the perfect contract! Even if West switched to a trump at trick two, declarer could finesse dummy's spade queen for his 10th trick.

Strangely, one other pair reached four hearts - with North the declarer! Richard DeMartino, from Riverside, Conn., opened with one spade. South responded two no-trump, the Jacoby forcing raise. Then, looking down, DeMartino saw that he had bid one heart, not one spade! (They were using bidding boxes and DeMartino had pulled the wrong card from the box.) Rather than try to remedy the situation, DeMartino rebid three hearts. South raised to four hearts, DeMartino passed and there they were, in the ideal contract!

Finally, Abelson claims that four hearts is the only makeable game, but five diamonds is easy, and four spades
