

Guy Lacy Named As Manager Of Sanford Entry In State League For Season Of 1938

Lacy Was Formerly With Boston Braves, New York Giants And Cleveland Indians During Extensive Ball Career

Guy Lacy, former American and National League baseball player, has been named to manage the Sanford entry in the Florida State League for the season of 1938, it was announced yesterday through a newspaper release from Americus, Ga.

The Herald sports editor this morning contacted Zinn Beck, scout of the Detroit Tigers in the American League, and learned of Lacy's baseball career. It was learned that he has seen action with three major league clubs, the Boston Bees of the National League, the Cleveland Indians of the American circuit and also the New York Giants.

Lacy broke into the national pastime in 1919 when he signed to play for the Columbia, S. C., entry in the Piedmont loop under the managerial reigns of Zinn Beck. At the end of the 1919 season, Lacy looked so promising that the Boston Braves bought him from Columbia. Fred Mitchell, pilot of the Braves at that time, thought it would be best for Lacy to stay in lower ball for several more seasons. Lacy was returned to Columbia the next season.

During the Spring of 1921, he was sold by Columbia by permission of the Braves, to New Haven, Conn., of the Eastern League.

New Haven kept him during the year and in 1923 he was sold to Greenville, S. C., in the Piedmont loop. Beck was also named pilot of the Greenville outfit that season and Lacy spent another year under the guidance of present Detroit talent hunter.

Sanford entry in the Florida State League for the season of 1938, it was announced yesterday through a newspaper release from Americus, Ga.

Greenville, in 1924, sold Lacy to the Richmond club in the Virginia League. In 1925, he got his second major league break when he was bought as a second baseman by the New York Giants of the National circuit. The Giants, as did Boston, returned him to Richmond in 1926 and late in the 1926 season, Richmond sold him to the Cleveland Indians of the American League.

He spent a season with Cleveland and later returned to Richmond where he managed three years and ended his stay there by winning two pennants. Lacy in 1931, moved down to Charlotte where he managed for three seasons. Lacy was sent to Jackson, Miss., to manage for two seasons before he came to Americus last year.

Lacy led the American Cardinals last season and ended in second place. He was recommended by Beck to pilot the local entry and he signed last week to do so. Lacy is a playing manager as he holds down the first base position and he is a right-handed batsman and thrower. Lacy has won six championship flags while managing Class "B" and "D" baseball.

It was not learned when Lacy would come to Sanford to take over his duties but it is expected that he will arrive about March 15.

Apaches Back In Wampum On Finish Of 15-Year Plan

SAN CARLOS, Ariz.—(AP)—"The poorest, saddest people on earth 15 years ago; today, operators of their own $1,000,000 cattle industry."

That's the metamorphosis of the Apache Indians in the phrase of James B. Kitch, Kitch is superintendent of the reservation here and the ancestor of his charges were, half a century ago, the scourge of the Southwest.

From 1890 to 1923 the Apaches degenerated, economically and spiritually. A third of their number was on the federal ration roll, the rest floundering in dismal lethargy.

In 1918, Kitch was superintendent of the Cheyenne Sioux reservation in Wyoming. He came to the San Carlos reservation to buy cattle. This, he says, is what he found:

A vast reservation of bountiful range; while men operating seven big outfits with 45,000 head of cattle; Indians owning less than 2,000 head of cattle and those almost worthless.

Kitch says that right then he determined to start a rehabilitation movement. He says he kept at it for five years with his plan to make independent cattlemen of the Apaches. In 1923 he was made superintendent of the San Carlos reservation.

He says his first move was to pacify suspicious tribal leaders and draft with them a 15-year program to drive out the white cattlemen and set up the Indians in business. The Apaches, he found, were natural cowboys and cattlemen.

The fifteen years ended last January 1. On that day Kitch and his Indian cattlemen drove from the reservation the herds of the last white cattle outfit that had operated on the lands of the Apaches.

Castling up their accounts they found this:

Cattle sales by tribesmen amounted to $318,000 in 1937; their herds were valued at $958,000 and there were 572 individual cattle owners.

Since 1923 the tribal population increased from 2,600 to 1,000. Fifteen years ago the tribe got $80,000 a year in grazing fees; last year the revenue from cattle and earnings from federal projects approached $500,000.

The Apaches are looking forward to making 25,000 cattle grow where 23,000 grew now.

books are in the various precincts. Mr. Thigpen pointed out that such will be of a convenience both to the persons registering and to his office, in that the 1937 Legislature in advancing the primary election dates from June to May failed to change the registration law, so that books will not now close until almost on the eve of the first primary, placing an additional amount of work on the Supervisor in getting the books in readiness for the election day.

The law requiring payment of poll taxes as a prerequisite for voting was repealed by an act of the 1937 Legislature, hence, would-be voters will not have to make a visit to the Court House to pay neither their delinquent or current poll taxes before registering, the Supervisor stated.

Places for registration will be open each morning from 9:00 until 12:00 o'clock and each afternoon from 2:00 until 5:00 o'clock. Mr. Thigpen stated, with the exception of Sunday's.

The Forest City precinct, No. 12, was recently divided by the County Commissioners and precinct No. 16 was created for persons in Bear Lake vicinity.

The first primary election will be held on the first Tuesday following the first Monday in May, which is May 3, and the second primary will be held on the fourth Tuesday following the first Monday which is May 24. The general election will be held on the first Tuesday following the first Monday in November which is Nov. 6.

W P A Boat Basin Project Receives Commission Okey Tentative Proposal Calls For Expenditure Of $36,000

Declaring it to be one of the most needed developments in Sanford at the present time, the City Commission at their regular meeting of the City Hall last night unanimously agreed to authorize City Engineer Fred T. Williams to secure data and submit a WPA project for construction of a municipal boat basin to follow the lines of the old project.

A tentative program discussed by the City Engineer called for a total expenditure of approximately $36,000 with the City's share, approximately $15,000, to provide for the construction of 850 feet of reinforced concrete wall similar to the 125 foot wall, which is all that remains of the old basin.

The protective wall for the old basin was constructed of piling driven into the river bottom but after several years the breakwater was in such a dilapidated condition that the Commissioners order the removal of the piling. The reinforced concrete wall will replace the piling which the City Engineer declared never furnished adequate protection for boats anchoring in the basin.

Work On Fort Mellon Park To Begin Soon

Commissioners Lease Baseball Park To Henry Watson For Five-Year Period

Declaring that work on the $33,000 WPA improvement project for Fort Mellon is scheduled to begin about Mar. 10 and that covering the seven acres included in the project with five inches of muck is one of the initial steps in the improvement of the park, City Engineer Fred T. Williams, discussed with the City Commissioners last night the acquisition of muck for use on the park property.

No definite action was taken on the matter last night but Superintendent of Parks James Moughton and Mr. Williams were instructed to obtain tests of muck in various locations, and also to obtain prices for the 5000 yards required for the park.

Commissioners negotiated a contract with Henry Watson, president of the Sanford Baseball League, leasing the Municipal Baseball Park to the latter for a period of five years and for the consideration of $4,000 to be paid in installments during the playing season. The lease will be required to pay all incidental expenses in the operation of the park and will also be allowed to make any improvements.

The act as approved did not last night from relief. It required the money to be appropriated over a four months period. The Works Progress Administration ordered an increase of 50,000 jobs thus raising the total to about 2,500,000.

Chautemps' Reign Is Threatened By Salary Deadlock

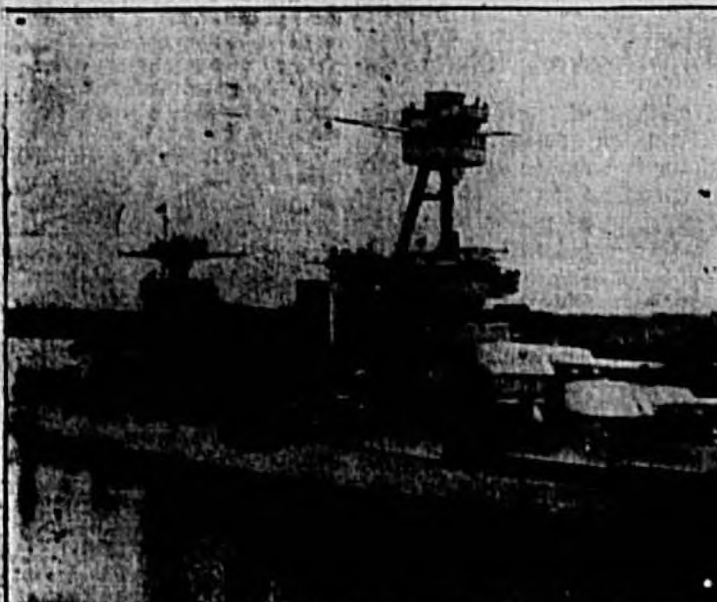

PARIS, Mar. 1.—(AP)—The government of Premier Camille Chautemps was threatened last night by a lightning deadlock between the Senate and the chamber of deputies over how closely the French workman's salary should be tied to the cost of living.

The life of the government was at stake on reaching a compromise. But neither branch of parliament appeared willing to make concessions on the first of two bills designed to replace the arbitration law and collective contracts expiring at midnight tonight.

The principal point of difference was over a change the Senate made in the measure yesterday despite the premier's warning that such action might block agreement with the chamber of deputies and force his government to resign.

As approved by the Senate the bill authorizes an adjustment of workers' wages every six months in the event living costs increase 10 per cent. The chamber previously had passed a similar measure fixing a 5 per cent on the living cost increase at which wages would be readjusted.

Court Denies Mandamus In Flogging Case

Majority Holds Trial Judge Cannot Be Compelled To Preside Over Retrial

Judge Dewell Disqualified

Decision Opens Way For Appointment Of New Judge In Case

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 1.—(AP)—The Supreme Court decided today that Judge Robert T. Dewell of the Polk county criminal court could not be required to continue as presiding judge in the Tampa flogging case trials. It was a four to two decision with Chief Justice W. H. Ellis and Justice Rivers Buford saying Judge Dewell should continue to preside.

The court refused to issue a mandamus which would have compelled Judge Dewell to preside at the retrial of C. A. Brown, Sam E. Crosby, John P. Bridges, F. W. Switzer and C. W. Carlisle.

The decision said Judge Dewell properly disqualified himself when State Attorney Rex Farrow of Tampa, acting as special assistant county solicitor in Polk County filed a suggestion that the judge was prejudiced and biased against the state's case.

The flogging case was transferred from Tampa to Bartow on a change of venue asked by the defendants. The Supreme Court said the defense had no right to demand that Judge Dewell continue as presiding judge.

Justice Ellis wrote the dissenting opinion for himself and Justice Buford, saying Farrow had no right to move for disqualifying the judge and presented no showing of bias or prejudice in his petition.

The court's decision opens the way for Gov. Cone to assign some other judge to preside in the case where five former policemen are charged with kidnaping Eugene F. Donohue, Paulnet, Sam Rogers and Joseph Shoemaker were abducted outside the Tampa police station on Nov. 20, 1935 and flogged. Shoemaker died later.

Criminal court judges who are eligible to appointment to preside in trials are Ben C. Willard of Miami, William J. Porter of Jacksonville, John R. Himes of Tampa, William V. Albury of Keywest, W. H. Murphy of Orlando and John L. Moore of West Palm Beach.

A Sound Warning

Bernard Baruch told the Senate Unemployment Committee yesterday that the present recession and increase in unemployment is directly traceable to government policies and that there is no hope for an improvement in business conditions unless these policies are changed.

The thing that prevents a business upturn, he said, is a feeling of insecurity, a fear that reasonable profits may be confiscated by taxation, that intangible assets may be drastically reduced by arbitrary changes in the value of money.

"It is the combination of millions of cautions," he declared, "that holds back the spending and development which could do 10 times more for re-employment than any government action or all the spending for relief in any year of this depression."

Though this was said by an "economic royalist," it was said none the less by a friend of the President whose support of Mr. Roosevelt dates to the Chicago convention in 1932.

More than that Mr. Baruch is a life long Democrat. He first came into prominence in the political world in 1917 when Woodrow Wilson made him chairman of the War Industries Board.

Baruch comes by his Democratic background naturally. He was born in Camden, South Carolina. His father, Dr. Simon Baruch, had been a surgeon in the Confederate army.

Bernard's first job was as a clerk in a brokerage firm where he made three dollars a week. From this small beginning he began buying and selling stocks, a game at which he had made and lost a million dollars before he was thirty.

So when he warns that business and unemployment will continue bad unless government policies are changed, it is only fair to presume that he speaks with more than ordinary foresight.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK, Mar. 1.—It does seem at times that the theater moves in mysterious ways.

Whether feast or famine, chicken or pea soup, there is always some curious circumstance that invites wonder or calls for the talents of a Hans Christian Andersen to explain.

I have in mind that cornucopia of good things that poured out its sweetmeats a few weeks back. For new plays came to Broadway in one week, and all were hits.

The other night, sitting in the dusky glow of a nightclub, I was talking with Billy Rose about the why and wherefore of success and failure on Broadway.

When she had gone, he turned to me. "Know who that was? ... No, I don't," I replied.

"That was a long time ago. ... I hadn't been done anything since? ... No, he hasn't."

Probing the matter further, we discovered that every one of the man's major hits had been written in conjunction with Abbott.

MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE serves clam chowder as a final thing in Old Man Winter. It's filling, enough to be a meal in itself, it's easy and economical to make. What's more, it's a suitable substitute for meat during Lent.

There are two types of clam chowder, each quite different from the other. One is the New England, and its devotees scoff at the rival, Manhattan clam chowder. The Manhattan, they say, is nothing but vegetable soup with a clam or two added to change its name.

We'll not take sides. Here are recipes for each. Try them your self. First, in New England chowder to serve four persons:

Heat a fourth of a cup of chopped salt pork in butter or cooking oil. Add two tablespoons of minced onions and cook until they're light brown. Then add a fourth of a cup each of chopped celery and green pepper.

Next mix in one cup of diced raw potatoes, a third of a teaspoon of salt and two cups of boiling water. Cover and let boil gently until the potatoes are tender when tested with a fork.

Use No. 1 cans of clam or pink of fresh ones, drain off the liquor, heat and add to the cooking potato mixture. (Note: never cook the clams with the potatoes.)

Chop the clams or cut them in small pieces and add them to a sauce made in this manner: Mix two tablespoons of flour with two tablespoons of butter. Add a fourth of a teaspoon of paprika and two cups of milk. Cook sauce and clams together slowly for five minutes. Add to the potato mixture and serve at once.

Manhattan, sometimes called New York, chowder involves using tomato juice in place of the milk in the sauce mixture. Leftover cooked vegetables—corn, peas, green beans, rice or pimientos—may be added but care should be taken not to add so much that the clam flavor will be obscured.

Clams and oysters may be combined 50-50 in chowder. For a richer chowder use a third of a cup of cream as a substitute for that amount of milk in the regular recipe.

Sprinkle a tablespoon of minced parsley or green onions over the top of each bowlful of chowder as you serve it.

WPA Boat Basin Project Receives Commission Okey

It was decided that entrance will be provided by extending the proposed wall parallel to the concrete projection which remains of the old wall.

This project does not provide for any additional docks. When Commissioners indicated these could be added by the City after completion of the project if it is approved by Washington authorities.

The concrete wall will rest on piling which will be driven into the bottom of the lake. Mr. Williams explained, and added that the tentative project had been drawn up requiring 8 months for completion.

Regarding the matter of keeping basin clean Mr. Williams stated that this could be solved by the drilling of one or more large artesian wells which would raise the water in the basin enough to create an outward flow. He also mentioned that this water might first be piped to the fish pool and run over the spillway before being drained into the basin, thereby eliminating the use of water pumped from City wells for the pool.

Reverend Toases Pennies Into Street

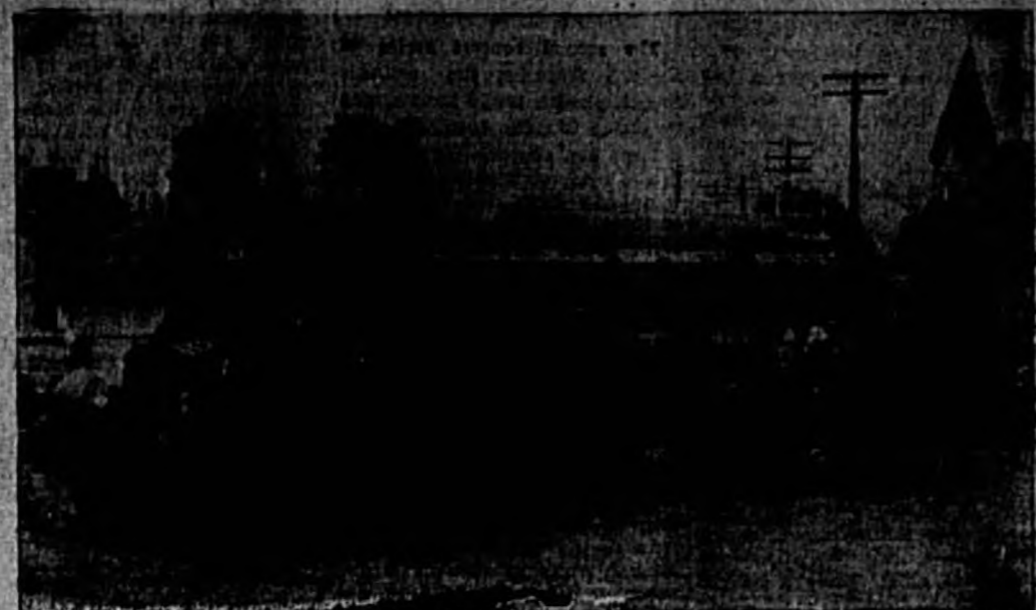

POPLAR, England, Mar. 1.—(AP)—The Rev. Mr. Kenneth Ashcroft has no use for people who put a half penny (one cent) in the collection plate when they can afford more.

"Such people should be shut out of the church, just as they would be shut out of any society if they refused to pay their dues (dues), he declared recently.

He adopted a less severe way dealing with the situation, however, than the clergymen who would shut them out. He merely asked that they should be given a penny.

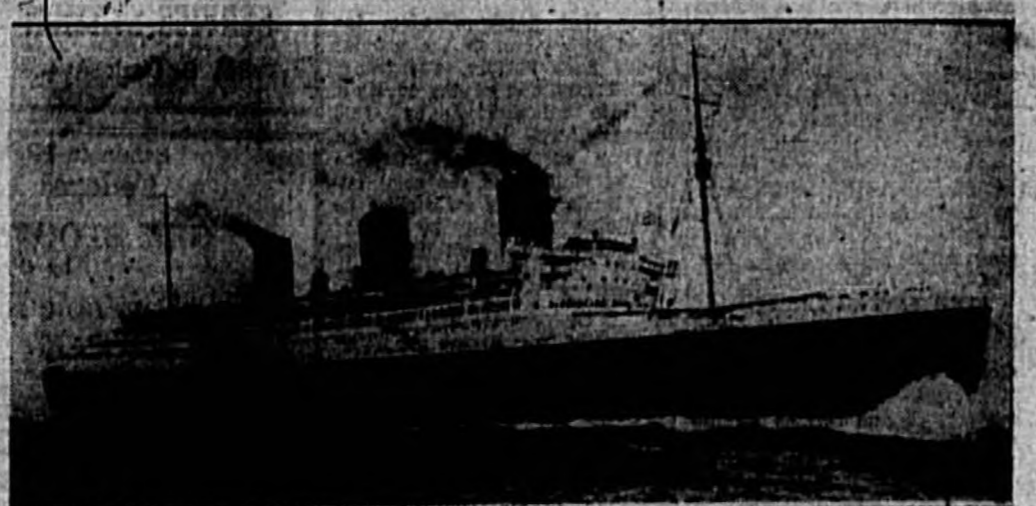

Mr. Ashcroft recently mentioned on the radio that he was planning to open a collection plate for the traditional collection and that which remains the common currency, and that he would give a penny to anyone who gave a half penny.

Work On Port

John H. Hintersmaster, manager of the Mayfair Hotel, requested permission to erect several attractive replicas of access on the hotel on the parkway near the Chamber of Commerce building. The Commissioners granted his request.

Superintendent of Parks James Moughtin advised that the material application on the WPA project for the Municipal Ball Park had been consumed, but that labor for further work was available in the project. In order to complete the contemplated work, the Commissioners approved the purchase of a small amount of lumber to be used for reflooring the front section of the grand stand.

Commissioner A. W. Lee and Police Chief Williams were instructed to investigate various positions for installation of a traffic light at the intersection of Sanford and Geneva Avenues and to act according to their findings.

The Commission adjourned to meet later as a Delinquent Tax Adjustment Board and consider matters as come up before them in this regard.

Mr. Hintersmaster also asked about progress made toward submitting a WPA project for improvement of remaining nine holes at the Sanford Country Club and was advised that the project as yet had not been submitted but that the members of the Commission desired an appointment with officials of the club so that contemplated improvements may be discussed with the City Engineer who will be instructed to draw up a project.

Traveling Around America

GUARDIAN OF MILLIONS IN GOLD

THIS battered looking fortification once guarded a city to which gold and silver were brought in such amazing quantities that the bars were piled up like wood in the central plaza. It stands at the entrance to Porto Bello, a little town twenty miles from Colon and a favorite objective of travelers stopping off in the Canal Zone on the cruises to California and to South America.

Porto Bello was once one of the most famous cities in the New World yet strangely it comes to life only once a year when the Spanish merchant fleet and its convoy arrive over here to bring supplies to the colonies and pick up the Royal Fifth of the treasure collected by the conquistadores. While the galleons were in port a great fair was held in Porto Bello and traders by the thousands arrived to open up shop. Accommodations were so scarce that hundreds lived in tents and many were forced to pay as much as $500 in gold per month as rental for a small shop. In the meantime gold and silver from mines such as the fantastically productive one at Potosi, Bolivia, were started on their way by ship up the West Coast from Arica and intermediate ports to Panama and thence transferred by multistage caravans across the isthmus to Porto Bello for shipment. For many days droves of mules poured into the city, often as many as 200 in a day, laden to the limit with gold and silver ingots—some years the total amount taken back to Spain by the fleet was as much as three million dollars.

Cattle Field Day Proves Effective Education Feature

GAINESVILLE, Fla.—Following large attendance at two recent beef cattle field days, Dr. A. L. Shady, head of the State Experiment Station animal husbandry department, expressed the opinion that this form of showing Florida cattlemen the efficacy of improved methods of breeding, feeding, and management has become more effective than it has ever been.

The first field day was held at the main Experiment Station here and the second was held at the Experimental Station in Belle Glade. Features of the events were exhibitions of cattle which had been on feeding tests, talks by workers of the Experiment Station and State Agricultural Extension Service, and conferences between cattlemen and research and extension workers.

"The purpose of the field day," Dr. Shady explained, "is to show cattlemen the results of our work in feeding, breeding, and management and to give them the opportunity to confer with each other and with us on their problems."

Hearing falsely from a schoolmate that she had failed in her examination, a thirteen-year-old girl left a schoolroom in Sobeg, Egypt, and drowned herself.

Two cups—one grand prize for high scoring egg entry and another grand prize for high scoring baby chick entry—will be awarded.

The show is being sponsored by the Duval County Poultry Producers' Association, the poultry division and Extension Service of the University of Florida, the State Marketing Bureau, the State Department of Agriculture and the State Live Stock Sanitary Board.

COLLOSSUS OF THE AIR... An ingenious Yankee was Hiram Stevens Maxim, born in Bangor, Maine, in 1840. Maxim's inventions and gifts to science, to mention a few, were confined not to any one field. One of his greatest claims to fame is the Maxim gun, the first repeating rifle ever known. Because of alleged unfair treatment of this and other inventions by the American government, Maxim forsook the United States to become a naturalized British subject. Maxim's interests turned to aviation in the latter part of the nineteenth century. Ten years before the Wright Brothers first managed to lift an airplane from the ground in successful powered flight, Maxim, strange as it seems, hurled a four-ton, steam-powered airplane through the air in actual self-sustained flight! Hiram Maxim was famed for his improvement in steam engines, and it is noteworthy that he was the first man to build one into an airplane. The engine he constructed was capable of developing 26 horsepower, sufficient to raise the 3,000-pound craft from the ground. Yet Maxim, a cautious scientific investigator, wished to take no foolhardy chances on his new venture. Accordingly, his giant craft was weighted down, and a long timber gantry was built above it so that should it rise from the ground tracks, it would not reach a dangerous height. Time and again Maxim carefully piloted the airplane down the sloping runway, checking each detail and noting the ship's action under motion so that he would know what to expect if it should happen to rise from the ground. In 1894 that day arrived. The giant machine stood atop the runway, its wings spreading 104 feet like a giant condor. Maxim and his two assistants stepped to their places. The engine was warmed. With a roar the two 17-foot propellers beat the air. From their positions behind the steam boiler, Maxim and his assistants waved to a watchful crowd and the airplane started off down the track. Gaining speed, her throttle wide open, the machine suddenly lifted from the ground. The crowd cheered. Up it rose, then with a grating crash it struck the top guard rail. Frightened, Maxim cut off the throttle and his colossus crashed to earth. Like the "Ono Hoos Shay" it literally fell to pieces—the last of the first powered airplane to take man into the air!

POISON TO CORN WEEVILS

JACKSONVILLE, Mar. 1.—Carbon monoxide is poisonous to corn weevils the same as to people, says George R. Mason of the Home Community who recently fumigated 400 bushels of corn by running exhaust gases from his automobile into a sealed crib. Fumigation with carbon bisulphide, the standard remedy, would have cost $15, he told County Agent A. S. Lawton, but with monoxide it cost him only two gallons of gasoline. Results were instantaneous.
