2 Persons Missing After Collision Of Ferry Boats In Fog

NEW YORK, Jan. 2. (INS)—In a dense fog which obscured New York harbor today, a ferry boat and a tug crashed and within a very short time, the tug sank. Two persons were reported missing. Three ambulances were rushed to the harbor point to the scene of the collision which was in the Erie basin, off the shore of Brooklyn.

Traffic in the harbor, and on Manhattan Island as well was hampered by the fog. Harbor craft moved slowly and street cars and "L" schedules were delayed.

Four persons were injured through rapid transit collisions and two passengers were injured when a southbound six car local train crashed into the rear of another halted six car local at a station in the Pelham Bay division.

The fog blanketed the upper bay, Staten Island and a large section of New Jersey. All ferry lines were crippled and thousands of employees were late reaching their places of employment. Practically all ferry boats, consisting between the Jersey and New York shores were far behind schedule.

Many ferry boats did not move at all, remaining at the pier, as in a lesser condition as the harbor. On the Hudson River ferry traffic also operated at reduced speeds.

Small Donations Add To Dog Fiend Reward

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 2. (INS)—A number of small donations today swelled the reward offered for the capture and return of Atlanta's "dog terrorist" to $25.

So far as was known, however, no leads had been brought to light as to the identity of the person or persons who tied the "dog" of beautiful young English girl dog to a gunny sack, bound their front legs together, and then left it in a ditch to die. The dog, near death from ruffianism, was killed mercifully by police when it was found by passersby.

ONE MAN DIES IN HOTEL FIRE; GUESTS FLEE

Probe Is Begun Of Report That Blast Occurred Shortly Before Flames Began

SHREVEPORT, La., Jan. 2. (INS)—One man was killed and more than a score of other guests were forced to flee from the building clad only in night clothing when flames swept the Talbot Hotel here early today.

Authorities were investigating reports that a mysterious explosion was heard shortly before the flames were discovered on a lower floor at the hotel.

A number of the guests fled by means of fire escapes when other guests were blocked by heavy rolls of smoke rolling up through the top stories.

O'Kedley's body was found on a lower floor near a fire escape. The only body had been trapped when a window in touch of a window leading to safety. His body was located almost beyond recognition.

Sixteen guests were registered at the hotel. A checkup showed all were accounted for.

One Baby Entered In Herald Contest For 5 Dollar Prize

Since the announcement in last Friday's issue of The Herald that this paper had offered a $5.00 prize to the parents of the first white baby born in Seminole county in 1936, only one birth has been reported to the local newspaper.

John Franklin Johnson, son of Mrs. W. H. Johnson, of the 1211 N. W. 1st St., was born at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, and at present is the only contender for the prize.

In addition to the Herald's $5.00 prize, the parents of the first white baby born in Seminole county in 1936 will receive a $100.00 prize from the State of Florida.

The contest is open to all parents of white babies born in Seminole county in 1936. The contest will close on January 31, 1936.

The Poultry Show

The poultry show to be held in Sanford next week should be a splendid thing for encouraging interest in the marketing of chickens and eggs.

"All the schemes for federal farm relief are primarily directed toward the production and marketing of commodities which figure in interstate commerce.

"Yankee farmers are solving this problem for themselves. The six New England states, producing at least less food than they consume, have set up a bar against competition from outside while at the same time raising their own standards and getting better prices.

"Something of a similar nature could be undertaken in many other states and groups of states. With the trend of population to towns, the general farmer's local markets are increasing everywhere.

A Florida Story

We have just received a copy of the January issue of the National Geographic Magazine and have been thoroughly fascinated by the article, "Florida—The Fountain of Youth," written by John Oliver La Gorce.

The pictures include the capitol and some of the buildings of the Women's College in Tallahassee, Fort Marion and the "Fountain of Youth" in St. Augustine, illimitable orange groves at their best, Daytona Beach from the air, underwater life at Silver Springs, a Seminole Indian camp, water hyacinths in full bloom, cerulean island-dotted Biscayne Bay, the mystic domes and minarets of Opa Locka, the celery fields of Sanford, girls galore, picking oranges, and taking sunbaths, a bird's eye view of Tampa, the Bob Tower, magnificently colorful gardens, cacti, birds, fish and plants. Every form of Florida life is fully depicted.

And the article which accompanies these pictures is no less illuminating. We venture to say that there are many Floridians who have lived in this state all their lives who do not know one half as much about their native state as is told in this month's issue of the National Geographic. But whether they do, or whether they don't, they should not fail to buy a copy. Everyone should read it and every one should file a copy away for future reference. It's a good number to keep.

Agriculture In 1929

Despite the fact that much of Sanford's celery was plowed under last year, the total farm products of the United States reached an amazing figure. If they had all been converted into cash, there would have been sufficient funds available to have paid off half the national debt, or to have built four railroad systems as large as the Pennsylvania, or to have paid the interest on Sanford's bonded debt.

According to figures prepared by the Department of agriculture, the total crop value for 1929 was $8,580,528,000, which was an increase of $84,740,000 over the previous year. There were 367,082,000 acres harvested, but the crop yields were five percent below 1928 on an out-of-the-widespread drought. Grain crop values went down from $4,008,000,000 in 1928 to $3,800,000,000 last year, and cotton from $1,535,000,000 to $1,426,000,000.

Hay climbed. In 1928 it brought in $1,240,000,000 but last year the sum of $1,340,000,000 was realized. Potatoes went from $25,000,000 in 1928 to $470,000,000 last year. Garden truck, which is where we figure, also rose from $300,000,000 to $322,000,000. Fruit went up too, bringing in $480,000,000 in 1928 and $506,000,000 in 1929. The tin derby goes to tomatoes for the most valuable truck. They were worth $50,777,000, while the most valuable fruit was apples bringing in some $184,107,000. The tobacco crop was valued at $285,583,000.

TELLING THE WORLD BY NEAL O'HARA

Having listened to the urgings of relatives and friends, we have decided to announce our candidacy for the first office we can get. Our platform is simple, to match the electorate. We stand for the people, by the people, of the people. We also stand for these reforms:

Lower rates for taxis, including death rates. When our ancestors tired of life, they turned on the gas. Taxi drivers are trying to improve on this system. They step on the gas and strive for the same results. Today every cab carries two spare tires. The two that are in the air while the other two are taking the corners. Taxi drivers concede no chance to pedestrians. They seem to think a person has no right to walk except with a limp. We also stand unequivocally for improving the rates. A straight line is the shortest distance between two points. Make the taxi men drive according to Euclid. And even when the cab is going straight, the meter may be registering crooked.

Censorship for slot and weighing machines. Economists claim you can't get anything with a penny to-day. The slot machines prove it. Gum machines have cheated millions of stenographers out of their daily rations. All the hold-ups in the subway aren't committed by yeggs. All you get from a slot machine is a look. They put mirrors on top so you can see yourself get

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY By Robert Barry

Mount Weather is on its way out as a week-end White House. The good ship U. S. S. Olympia is having difficulty getting in as a permanent Spanish War memorial.

Mount Weather was chosen by President Coolidge as an ideal site for a week-end White House, near enough to have contact with Washington and distant enough to afford the Chief Executive a breath of fresh air away from business care.

The Olympia was Dewey's flagship. Representative Cochran of Missouri has proposed a bill to bring the old cruiser to the national capital for a permanent berth where she might be visited annually by thousands of school children who come here. The navy is against the Cochran project.

President Hoover decided against the Mount Weather site. He picked his own on the Rapidan. One of Mr. Coolidge's last acts was to sign a bill transferring the Weather Bureau Observatory to the Executive. The pending Agricultural Department Appropriation Bill repeals the authorization. It restores the site and buildings to the Weather Bureau.

Mount Weather is in the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia about forty-seven miles due west of Washington. Its elevation is greater than that of President Hoover's camp. There him there, the Rapidan level him there.

A proposal is pending to convert the buildings into a sanitarium for tubercular children in and near the District of Columbia. The Commissioners of the District have been authorized by Congress to find a site and $500,000 has been appropriated for the erection of suitable buildings and for proper equipment. If Congress decides it has no other use for Mount Weather, it is likely the hospital will go there.

There are eighty-five acres in the site and ten buildings on it are reported to be in good condition and adapted to housing purposes of the staff. It has an elevation of 1,730 feet. The establishment has not been used by the Weather Bureau since 1915.

Secretary of the Navy Adam has reported against the Cochran bill respecting the Olympia on recommendation of the Bureau of the Budget that the proposal was not in accordance with the President's financial program. The navy proposes to dispose of the Olympia as a ship of the line.

Let them try to dispose of the Olympia instead of having her here as a permanent memorial to the men and women of the Spanish American War and they'll hear such a protest from the far corners of the country that they will desist. The scrap metal from St. Louis, the historic ship will never leave the custody of the United States.

The Secretary of the Navy says as well realize that now. They say it would cost $250,000 to condition the Olympia and to tow her to Washington, and that ten or twelve men would have to be assigned to keep her in condition for visitors. Let the Secretary of the Navy tell how much it is going to keep her now.

There are two Sleeping Beauty vessels anchored down at the mouth of the Patuxent River, the Mount Vernon and the Montpelier, both former transports. Not long ago Lewis informed it was costing $50,000 a year to keep them in port. It cost money as much to keep them at anchor as it does when they are in commission.

The navy proposes to sell the Olympia for junk. While we are on the subject, backward though she may be in politics, Pennsylvania is setting an example for other States in proposing a fine State memorial as part of the beautification of the capital program.

Under the leadership of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, Gov. Fisher and members of the Senate and House delegations from the Keystone State are present at the city what is described as "the most beautiful fountain in the world." That description covers a lot of territory, but it is said that the fore you cast your vote. A child can drop a penny in the slot and chew gum. His big sister should be able to drop a nickel in the slot and chew the rag.

The root of this evil is the telephone exchange, where you exchange wrong numbers for worse ones. We are therefore, against the telephone service. Unequivocally they cut us off!

We also promise to prosecute the Derby Hat Trust. What has this trust ever given us besides derby hats? Do not be deceived, gentle voters. The derby hat, hat, one give us the same thing year after year, only it costs more. This year we are being gypped again. They are furnishing 22-calf birches in the derbies when we should be getting 32's. We promise reforms in this direction if it is possible to reform a derby hat. Otherwise it will be overlooked.

The Social Season In Full Swing In New York

Pennsylvania leaders are willing to spend an unlimited amount of money for the purpose. They attach but one condition. They desire the fountain to adorn Pennsylvania Avenue at some point. That seems appropriate, capital by that, according to a headed gag, the States were named after the avenues in Washington, and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania picked the most widely traveled of all the thoroughfares to name itself after.

Several sites are suggested. The date only one seems most appropriate. If you ever have been in Washington, you will remember it. Beginning at Fifteenth Street, the south end of the Treasury Building on one side of 14th Street and the Washington Hotel on the opposite side of the street.

Well, you walk east along the north side of Pennsylvania Avenue and you come to Childs, the Occidental, a splendid sea of fire and the Willard.

Do you locate yourself? Now look across the street. There is Pull's Theatre, the Occidental Hotel, and a row of four shabby structures with a front porch on the corner of 14th and Pennsylvania Avenue. The old party has remained one of the very few low moral establishments operated on the sacred property of a sanctimonious Uncle Sam. That implies no reflection on the "Bright Young Men" agreement. In either day a few books or a couple of telephone books in a suitcase gained admittance. Some of the "mums" took those old registers would make interesting reading to statesmen, but they were not there to read all those nights because they were registered under other names elsewhere.

Pull's Theatre should have been razed years ago. It has been a fire trap from the beginning and just after the Knickerbocker Hotel disaster in 1922, taking 100 lives, this house on Government property never removed the tarp of steps in the long finger that grazed the ancient fingers of rusty fire escapes.

That whole disreputable mess is to be torn away.

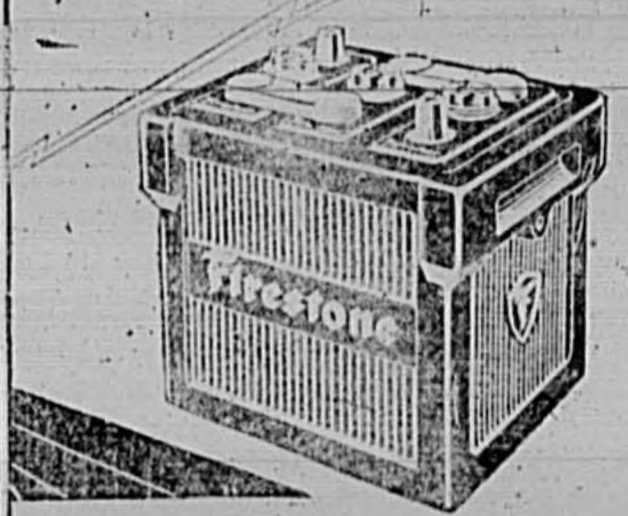

There will be left a quadrangle bounded by 14th Street, Pennsylvania Avenue, 17th Street and B Street. It offers possibilities as a park and it is to be the everlasting credit of the Commission on Fine Arts that it has been reserved as a setting for the Sherman Monument, the Hamilton statue and the south end of the Treasury Building.

It will do more for Pennsylvania Avenue than all the stately Government buildings now visible on the Mall and in the so-called Triangle.

No greater improvement is in process, save possibly the parkway development between the Union Station and the Capitol on the one side, and the Peace Monument at the base of the Capitol on the other.

Should the State of Pennsylvania desire to erect "the most beautiful fountain in the world" in a pretty park, where Pull's Theatre and Knickerbocker Avenue at a keypoint, more power to Pennsylvania, Secretary Mellon, Gov. Fisher and the rest of them, says Washington, says I.

The chain promoter of the Pompano race track is missing. Someone should have held him in escrow.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Yates of Orlando won the National's "1930 baby contest" with a vengeance. They produced twins.

Why is it that young men are always advised to begin at the bottom and work up when it is so much easier to begin at the top and work down?

Now that Henry Ford is building cars with longer bodies, we suppose Florida will have to inaugurate another highway construction campaign.

The New York policemen have added two airplanes to their equipment, but we don't see how that's going to help them with the underworld.

It is about this time of year that business letters are torn up by the thousands, because of the inadvertent pinching at the top the figure "1929."

As some anonymous paragrapher points out: "Many a man keeps his wife to the grindstone so that his wife can turn him up at the neighbors."

President Hoover shook hands with the new year on New Year's Day. Now another reason some people could never be president is because they haven't the physical strength.

Florida spends ten million dollars a year for out-of-state eggs, but Sanford is going to have a poultry show next week which will prove beyond all question of doubt that chickens do well in Florida.

Internationally, disarmament seems to be the prime movement of the year; nationally, prohibition; locally, if we get the problem with the bond houses ironed out, 1930 will have seen much accomplished.

Truth is stranger than fiction. Many interesting stories have been written about the Ozark mountains, but none was more thrilling or fascinating than the one the newspapers published recently on the Connie Franklin murder case.

With former President Coolidge visiting in Mount Dora this winter, it might not be impossible to induce him to come to Sanford for a short time. Perhaps the "Chamber of Commerce" could arrange a banquet in his honor, at which he would be the principal speaker of the evening.

There should be some particular kind of punishment invented, and some particular laws passed, for such persons as the Atlanta "fiend" who tied a gunny sack over a dog's head and left him in the gutter to suffocate. For instance, such a person might be forced to sit for fifteen minutes on a red hot stove.

The Pitt Panthers didn't do so badly in the East where football originated, winning all of its games last season and placing four men on the various All-American teams, but when they went west to meet Southern California, they simply couldn't get accustomed to the western way of passing, kicking, and running.

According to the collector of internal revenue, the income tax statements show that the average income in Florida was higher in 1928 than in 1927. Now if they were only higher in 1929 than in 1928, we may safely hope that they will be higher in 1930 than in 1929, and after all, that's what most of us are interested in.

SEARCH MADE FOR 7 BODIES LOST IN CRASH

Director; Capt. Ross Cook and Hallock Rouse, pilots; George Eastman, Otto Jordan, Hank Johannes and Tom Harris of the Fox company.

The tragedy occurred late yesterday afternoon shortly after three planes flew away from Grove Field and circled over the ocean, where an air scene for a motion picture was to be filmed. The first ship, piloted by Col. Wallace Turner, famous aviator, was in the lead. With him were Jacob Triebwasser, movie stunt man; Fred White and Fred O. Hein. Triebwasser was to have made a parachute jump from the plane.

Behind the plane piloted by Turner were the two other planes, each carrying five men—pilots and directors and cameramen who were to direct and photograph the parachute jump which was never made.

Captain Cook was at the controls of one of the ships; Hallock Rouse at the other. The director, Kenneth Hawks, husband of Mary Astor, film actress, was in one of the planes. Max Gold, the assistant director, was in the other. Each of the ships carried a cameraman, an assistant and a property man.

It was planned to have Turner bring his ship between the other two planes. Triebwasser was to have made his parachute leap, and the cameramen in the two planes were going to "shoot" his descent.

Flying into the sun, perhaps 500 feet above the water, the planes jockeyed for position. Observers nervously watched the two planes draw closer together. Whether the pilots were blinded by the sun is not known, but suddenly they brushed each other along together for an instant and separated. One of the ships whirled crazily in the air, swung around and crashed the second plane head on.

A deafening roar, a flash of flame and the two ships with their doomed men fell into the sea. Another flare when the ship struck the water—and then they day, January 10th.

12. All entries entered in this show, either for exhibition, or to compete for prizes, will be cooped and fed by the Association.

13. All entries should be delivered to the Secretary of the Seminole County Poultry Show and all entrance fees made payable to same.

Mr. Johnson further announced that there would be a meeting of the Seminole County Evening class of poultry producers in the middle High School tonight at 7:30. He said that it would be to the advantage of those contemplating entering specimens in the coming show to be present in order to be further informed along his subject by a man that is internationally known as a breeder and raiser of birds, J. A. Bistline, of Longwood.

A speed boat roared to the rescue but it only succeeded in recovering the bodies of three. Unaware of what was happening, but missing the two ships, Turner, in the third plane, circled back. One of the men in his ship cried out that the two planes had hit and Turner, helpless, watched his friends fall in a twisted mass of burning wreckage.

Heartbroken, Turner returned to Grove Field, where he made a sharp landing. He stumbled out of his machine and cried like a child.

After the bodies of three of the victims had been brought ashore, craft began combing the waters in the hopes of recovering the bodies. As the door had been removed from the cabin planes, in order to allow the cameramen to peer play, it was hoped that the bodies would be released.

ANOTHER VICTIM CLAIMED SEAT PLEASANT, Md., Jan. 3.—(INS)—The friend who sent a bomb to Mrs. Naomi Hall Brady, 8, expectant mother, in the form of a Christmas box, which killed her and almost wiped out the Hall family New Year's Day, claimed another victim with the death of Samuel Hall, 19 months old.

Unified Marketing Will Be Considered At Orlando Meet

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 3.—Unified marketing of Florida products will be considered by a conference at Orlando, in the chamber of commerce building, Tuesday, Jan. 7, at 2 o'clock P. M., to which the presidents of state-wide business and civic organizations as well as cooperative marketing associations have been invited.

Dr. Theodore Macklin, formerly of the University of Wisconsin, is to be present and take part in the official representative of the Federal Farm Board, with which he is now associated. At noon, Dr. Macklin is to address the luncheon of the Orlando chamber of commerce, which will broadcast his remarks through Station WDBO. Delegates will be the guests of the chamber for lunch.

SEEK STOLEN BOAT

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 3.—(INS)—United States custom patrol agents today continued an intensive search for the daring rum runners who are believed to have stolen the Victory II, a rum boat which disappeared from the coast guard base here Wednesday night after it had been captured in a thrilling chase a day before.

From the unification of marketing in its application to the principal agricultural production of the state, will be considered by the conference, it is announced. While the Florida Citrus Exchange, the oldest and the largest cooperative agency in the state has taken the initiative in arranging for the meeting, its status here will be the same as that of other similar bodies, according to President E. L. Wirt.

Billie Dove Admits Marital Discontent

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 3.—(INS)—That Billie Dove, film actress and her husband, Irvin Willat, director, have decided to separate, was revealed here today when the motion picture star admitted that she and her husband would travel different paths in the future.

"We have simply reached the place where we can't agree" explained Miss Dove. "It is a case of responsibility, such as often exists when people have been married for a number of years." Miss Dove was reluctant to discuss the matter of a possible divorce, other than to remark "I suppose fate will naturally get a divorce." The actress declared there was no other man in her life and expressed the opinion that her husband was not interested in any other woman.

Prohibition Row Shows No Signs Of Moderating

ment set-up, Borah contending that it is industrial alcohol diversion, which he characterized as "a national disgrace," a contention Dr. J. M. Doran, the prohibition commissioner, hotly denied. Alcohol diversion, Doran continued, is now a negligible factor.

4. Senator Jones, author of the federal law, took to the air last night with a radio speech to the country, defending prohibition and appealing for public support at this critical time.

5. Senator Fessenden, Ohio, announced he will introduce a bill for continuation of the new joint congression committee which is to consider methods of tightening the prohibitory law. This is regarded as a move to silence Pa. Johnson by putting the responsibility for changes upon his shoulders. Borah's friend, will be surprised if he accepts the postor, while he has always been a dry, he has scrupulously refrained from putting the Borah label on any specific legislation. He prefers the role of critic.

Borah, who was President Hoover's chief prohibition orator during the last campaign, is definitely on the war-path against the enforcement and prosecuting per cent of the present regime. He has carried his case first to the White House, but being far President Hoover has been left to keep hands off.

"The President has in his possession the preliminary report of the law enforcement commission which Senator Jones said he would announce" did not express any opinion concerning the violation or amendment of the Eighteenth Amendment. The President also has a long report from Borah, elaborating upon his charges that the department is inefficient and the prohibition bureau itself "a national disgrace." It is this report that is understood to contain the ammunition which Mrs. Willebrandt, now in private law practice, supplied the Idahoan.

Shooting Of Maid By Boy Said Accidental

SEEKONK, Mass., Jan. 3.—(INS)—Officials today had decided that the fatal shooting of Miss Margaret M. Ahearn, a 17-year-old daughter of the oil magnate and his wife of Newport divorce fame, was accidental.

Young Budlong, playing with a new rifle at the home of Claude B. Branch, first assistant to the collector general of the United States, entered the front parlor. With eyes dancing Budlong called to the maid: "Hark up." Miss Ahearn laughed back. The rifle was accidentally discharged and the maid pitched forward, wounded in her throat.

GIMBEL DEATH MOURNED

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—(INS)—The mercantile world and hundreds of friends, today mourned the passing of Louis S. Gimbel, 62. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Julia M. Gimbel, and two sons, Leo Adam Gimbel and Louis S. Gimbel Jr.

VICTIMS ARE BURIED

PAISLEY, Scotland, Jan. 3.—(INS)—Fifty little victims of the terrible paroxysm which resulted in the deaths of 70 children at the Glen Cinema here on New Year's Eve, were buried in separate services here today.

SUGAR CATTLE LOOMS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—(INS)—The most important cattle order "ever" ever entered on Capitol Hill leaped on the congressional horizon today as opposing factions in the senate prepared for the coming tariff war on sugar duties.

RALLY HELD BACK

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—(INS)—The rally in the stock market was held back today by president selling of the industrial and utilities whatever they appeared to be gathering strength for a march up the price scale. Less than 900,000 shares of stock had changed hands up to the noon period.

POLITICAL WAR IS BREWING IN DIXIE STATES

yesterday when one of the several state leaders mentioned for a candidacy—Josh Williams of Raleigh attorney—announced his opposition to Simmons. Thus the seat held by Senator Simmons for more than 30 years was challenged for the first time since 1912.

Bailey has a not-to-be overlooked constituency in the old north state, as evidenced by the close race he gave Anzu W. MeLes, the candidate of the Simmons machine, for the governorship in 1924. He is a Baptist and a dry, and for some years edited the Biblical Recorder, the organ of the denomination in Tarheelia. He has long been a powerful figure in North Carolina's political activities.

Possibility of a powerful Simon-Republican coalition was seen in a statement of W. H. Hall, Charlotte, N. C., politician, that a Mecklenburg county organization composed of Hoovercrats and Republicans is planning to nominate candidates for county office, and support Simmons and Rep. Charles A. Jones, a Republican, for re-election in that district.

In Alabama, the intra-party conflict has assumed a little different complexion and is more advanced by several weeks. The fight, however, is intrinsically the same, with John M. Bankhead, of Birmingham, backed by the regular Democrats for the seat of Senator Heflin, who is being compelled to run on an independent ticket as a result of his exclusion from the Democratic primary.
