OHIO'S GREAT SON COMES HOME TO LAST REST

AFTER LAST NIGHT VIGIL NEAR HUSBAND'S CASKET MRS. HARDING STILL BRAVE

NO MARK OF RESPECT
SHOWN LATE PRESIDENT
ESCAPED HER

OFFERS SYMPATHY

From Old Friends at Home Received With Graciousness and Suffers Alone

(By The Associated Press)

MARION, Aug. 10.—After last night of vigil near her husband's casket which rested in little frame home of Dr. George T. Harding, Mrs. Harding continued today watchful attention were still brave and calm. No mark of respect to the memory of the late president escaped her during the early hours. No offer of sympathy from her friends was received without returned act of graciousness. Mrs. Harding reiterated her thanks whenever a plea that some one be allowed to help was heard but steadfastly kept grief in quietude apparently preferring to suffer alone.

In gracious kindness sorrowful woman who longed for the end of public ordeal that has stretched into more than a week of ceremonial and pageant that people of the nation and state claimed him as its son might testify to their grief set aside her own wishes to be alone with her dead at last.

AKRON, Aug. 10.—President Coolidge's special train en route to President Harding's funeral in Marion stopped for five minutes here this morning at 10:31 o'clock. The President and Mrs. Coolidge appeared on the rear platform of their car and were greeted by applause from a delegation approximately of a thousand persons headed by Mayor Rybolt. They also posed for the photographer.

Insect Fighting Methods Introduced by Bureau, Saves Tobacco Growers

TALLAHASSEE, Aug. 10.—Insect fighting methods introduced by the Federal Bureau of Entomology are saving tobacco growers in Florida more than $85,000 a year.

S. E. Crumb, assistant entomologist of the bureau of entomology at Clarksville, Tenn. is authority for the foregoing statement. These figures, he asserted, ought to justify the existence of that branch of the service.

"Figures are available in Florida," he said, "owing to the restricted area in which tobacco is grown, and the small amount that is grown compared with other sections. We are unable to point to any definite sum that we are saving growers in other tobacco growing sections, but we feel that our existence is already justified through a better understanding of our work."

Entomologists have been sadly misunderstood, Mr. Crumb said, many people regarding them as a "crazy creature, continually chasing around with nets in chase of bugs on which to try out experiments."

Other notable work of the Clarksville bureau, to which Mr. Crumb pointed, was the introduction of arsenate of lead and modern dusting machinery in the burley tobacco district as well as in the dark tobacco section. He said that a new lightweight model dust gun, invented by the men in that bureau has just been turned out and will be demonstrated this season. The bureau also is working on experiments toward changing insecticide dusts with electricity, in order to make them stick better to plants.

St. Augustine Sent Special Committee and Floral Offering

(By The Associated Press)
TALLAHASSEE, Aug. 10.—The capital city joins with the rest of Florida in paying final tribute to the late President Harding. Business was suspended in the afternoon and employer and employe alike attended memorial services at which Governor Hardee eulogized the late chief executive. All state business ceased at 1 o'clock for the day at the capitol in respect to the dead president.

MARION, Aug. 10.—St. Augustine today laid her tribute of flowers at the bier of Warren Harding. Traveling two nights and days by automobile a special committee representing the city which Harding personally selected as his winter capital arrived this morning with tribute from the nation's oldest city. It was one of the most massive floral pieces offered. Its design is exact replica of the ancient city gates built by Spaniards four hundred years ago at St. Augustine.

Woman Dies in Orlando From Overdose of Drugs Strangulation Occurred

After murder and suicide theories had been abandoned a coroner's jury decided that Mrs. Rose Nutting, 36, who before noon yesterday, died of strangulation after taking an overdose of bromide, which she used habitually.

Dr. J. S. Chappell and Dr. W. H. Spiers, who were called to examine the body when it was discovered by Ralph Nutting, the dead woman's husband, at first thought she had swallowed poison. Upon closer examination though, Dr. Spiers learned that there was no evidence of poisoning. He afterward explained the death by strangulation to the coroner's jury, which based its verdict largely upon his testimony.

Mr. Nutting told a reporter for the Sentinel that he did not spend Wednesday night in the apartment at No. 318, although he visited his wife until about 9:45 o'clock. He said she had been suffering from injuries received in an automobile accident several weeks ago and that she took paregoric and hypnotics for relief.

He said they had been married for seven years and that his wife had never been entirely free from illness, a fact which led to her using drugs. She had been married before and had two daughters by her first husband, Edna 17, and Leona 15. They live in Bradenton and were immediately notified of the death.

Mrs. Nutting is the second drug victim here within the last few days, a woman having died of like cause in the county jail.—Orlando Sentinel.

CHARLESTON IS SCENE OF TROUBLE

Election Returns Being Counted While Riots Ensur

(By The Associated Press)
CHARLESTON, S. C., Aug. 10.—Congressman Logan, chairman of the city executive committee, clashed with state troops guarding Gibernian Hall here today when he attempted to enter the hall to preside over a committee meeting called to formally declare the result of Tuesday's municipal primary. The chairman resisted efforts of soldiers to search him for arms. The sheriff was directed to arrest Logan by Lieut. Col. Withington, commanding the troops, but former instead prevailed upon Congressman Logan to submit to search. The members of the committee and others were searched by troops as they entered the hall.

More than 30,000 persons passed silently to do President Harding reverence before train's departure from the capital.

FEDERAL JURY AFTER BROKERS IN WALL STREET

Bucket Shops Will Come In For Investigation.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The federal grand jury yesterday started to work on the E. M. Fuller and the W. Frank McGee confessions, which promise to reveal the inside operations of the E. M. Fuller and Company brokerage house, which failed for $6,000,000 and to involve a number of prominent persons.

Several witnesses, whose testimony was based on the revelations of Fuller and McGee were introduced by United States Attorney Hayward, who predicted there would be public developments Monday. He further indicated that 15,000 or more creditors among the bankrupt firm's customers would learn that there would be small chance of their cashing in upon the revelations of the bucket-eteers.

Much secrecy surrounds the visits of two persons, who gave fictitious names and addresses to the bucket-eteers while they were in Ludlow Street jail.

On the jailer's visitors' records they were "G. Shadney" and "H. B. Telefair." Investigation at the addresses given by the two failed to reveal their identification.

INDEMNITIES FOR CAPTURE BY BANDITS

Imprisonment of Foreigners Must Be Paid by Government

(By The Associated Press)
PEKING, Aug. 10.—Indemnities for capture and imprisonment of foreigners by Suchow train bandits last May demanded of Chinese government in communication presented today over signatures of fifteen foreign ministers. Although nationals of only four foreign powers, America, Great Britain, France and Italy were victims of bandits, other diplomatic representatives joined in memorandum which endorsed demands made separately by various legations at the time of brigandage in Honan provinces.

Colonel Hayward announced that the Fuller case would have precedence before the grand jury over all others and that more witnesses would be heard Monday.

FROM COAST TO COAST AND BORDER TO BORDER INDUSTRY BE STILLED

DAY OF MOURNING

And Prayer and Thousands Will Gather in Places of Worship for Services

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The nation will pay tribute of silence to President Harding as the body is entombed at Marion. From coast to coast, border to border, every wheel of the federal government, virtually every one of industry and commerce will stand still. Theaters and other amusement places will be closed, baseball games postponed and other events of sport deferred. As recommended by President Coolidge in proclamation officially announcing the death of the late president, the day will be one of mourning and prayer. Thousands upon thousands will gather in places of worship for services as myriad of church bells toll their mournful message of beloved chief to his last rest.

MARION, Aug. 10.—The day when human eyes would look their last on the face of Warren Harding, twenty-ninth president of the United States dawned with many who loved him still waiting to pass slowly beside his bier resting in his father's home. Before shadows of evening steal across the wide and peaceful fields of valley where he was born the gates of his tomb will have been closed behind him and long way of his funeral ended.

MARION, Ohio, Aug. 10.—A one time country editor came back yesterday to sleep for a night again under his father's roof in Marion. And with him came the grief of the nation, of the world, for he was dead.

Warren Harding was back among the neighborly folk of his home town. The brief day of his greatness was but a memory treasured by the nation. His life work was done; the aloofness of his high place ended. His home folks who had held back when last he came among them, awed by the majesty "that doth hedge a King" now came eagerly to look their last on his dead face, peaceful with calm of eternity.

It was easy to believe that the genial soul that has fled might even burst the bounds of death and move the still lips to happy greetings of the old friends in the modest parlor of his father's house.

To him they were always "Jack" and "Tom" and "Bill," while he had been "W. G." and the "Boss" in the glad, wholesome, simple days before a people claimed him for highest service to the flag. It was thus he would have hailed them today had the big kindly heart still stirred with life. Time was when he told them face to face of the "heavy heart" with which he realized that they held aloof from Harding the man.

It was Harding the man, not the President, who came home yesterday. And it is Harding the man who will be laid to sleep today within a stone's throw from the plot where his mother lies. Where his final resting place will be is still undecided for he is, too, Marion's greatest son. But no plan has been proposed that will take him from the close vicinity of his own dead in that pleasant, quiet burial ground with neighbors all about taking their long ease from life.

A thronged home town waited in silence for this second coming of a neighbor called by destiny since he went out, two years ago, amid shouting and joyous acclaim to take his place in Washington and guide a mighty nation through troubled waters. Only one brief visit to help the home folk to celebrate Marion's centennial had been possible for him before.

THE BEAUTY ABOUT US
Sweet is the breath of morn, her rising sweet,
With charm of earliest birds; pleasant the sun
When first on this delightful land he spreads
His orient beams on herb, tree, fruit, and flower, Glist'ning while dew; fragrant and sweet the coming on
Of grateful evening mild; then silent night
With this her solem bird and this fair morn,
And these the gems of heaven her starry train.

WARREN HARDING GIVEN BACK TO NATIVE STATE TODAY—AFTER NATIONAL CEREMONY

For it ran in men's minds that this brave woman had waited long to be alone with her dead, had even, because of the greatness of his place, found courage to loan him here, the nation whose service had demanded his life that he might be rendered the honors men would do him.

But it could not be dead the nation calmed him as living it swept him to his high office. And there was no mark of honor denied throughout the long hours that the pages of history could recall for his acclaim.

He was carried from the White House which had sheltered his sleep for those last brief hours, with all the military pomp and glory that dead presidents or such heroes as the unknown soldier alone may know. Not in the memory of living man has such high honor been paid save at the death of such martyrs to the cause of freedom symbolized and glorified in the flag.

From the dim east room and its heavy scented flowers, the dead President was borne out into a day vivified with sunshine. The clear pealing of a trumpet sent long lines of steel flashing to salute. A moment later it marshaled the ordered array of soldiers, sailors and marines down the long avenue to the Capitol with John Pershing riding ahead in command, his only actual command since the First Division, home from France, trudged westward over the same route in victory. Band by band, the old hymns of courage and devotion rose in the still air, as they passed. Rank by rank khaki, blue or white, the sturdy youngsters who serve the flag moved by their sabres and bayonets flitting in the sun, their dull hued guns rolling slowly. A tolling church bell, swinging with solemn slow strokes, pierced the harmonies of the bands at intervals; distant minute guns from Ft. Myer across the Potomac, thudded faintly over the miles.

But along the way, banked motionless and in silence, were thousands upon thousands who had stood there waiting since daylight to add to the great tribute to the dead. The hushed reverence of these told more strikingly the sorrowful nature of the pageant than even the crepe that streamed from the passing standards or the mourning bands or uniform jackets or the knots of black at the sword hilts of the officers.

Down through that long valley of sorrow the cortege wound to the Capitol with that other, living President, up thrust overnight to high responsibility first among the nation's mourners after the family of the dead. President Coolidge was there both to symbolize the sorrow of the nation and to show his own great personal grief for his dead chief. And behind him rode two other men who have known the hard services of that high office; one of whom was stricken almost as was he to whom such honor was paid today. Chief Justice Taft followed President Coolidge, then Woodrow Wilson, coming from his retirement once again for a brief moment to give reverent homage beside the bier of an honor laden American.

All the great folks of Washington followed after. Among them were the diplomats who speak here with the voices of their King or governments to testify that human sympathy to a nation in grief knows no barrier of sea or land. There also were the great Judges and the sorrowful cabinet officers; the Senators and the members of the House.

Again block after block behind stretched the ranks of all the civilian organizations of Washington; the men who head the bureaus and divisions of the great government departments; the army and navy, a marine corps officers serving here.

A great army band played "Lead Kindly Light," as the flag-wound casket was lifted slowly up the long, wide stone steps.

Flanked by its honor guard of high Generals and Admirals, the heavy casket was carried slowly to its place, a single wreath of bright colors resting above the quiet sleeper. Then from the Senate side the erect slender figure of the sorrowful widow moved with her escort of those who served most intimately with the dead chieftain to a place near the head of the bier. Her face was almost invisible behind the black veil she wore, but no man who saw her carriage could doubt the courage that had brought her through the bitter weal that filled her heart.

The religious services were striking in their simplicity against the background of military pomp and grandeur given by the funeral parade. Just the short prayers, the murmuring of low voices joined in the old, old words of the Lord's Prayer, the Scripture readings and the blending voices of a male quartette in the same hymn that marked this funeral everywhere, "Lead Kindly Light," the hymn best beloved by the dead President and at the end, "Nearer My God to Thee."

George Roedding Writes on Truck Growing and Florida

Well Known Californian Who Visited Here Has Something To Say About Us.

The following letter from George Roedding, one of the most prominent growers in California who was here last year on the trip from California to Florida writes to the Chamber of Commerce as follows:

San Francisco, Cal., July 19, 1923.
R. W. Pearmon, Jr., Executive Secretary, Sanford Chamber of Commerce, Sanford, Florida.

My dear Mr. Pearmon: Your valued favor of the 29th ult. received. I am very sorry to learn that your celery industry did not turn out as well as it has in former years. Such set-backs as this must be expected when one is engaged in farming or, for that matter, in almost any line of business. There is no question in my mind that truck gardening has a wonderful future in Florida. It is important that you should diversify your winter crop, furthermore that growers should not allow themselves to run away with the idea that they can keep on producing a product at a constantly increasing scale and realize the same profits that they would when there was a scarcity of the article on which they are specializing.

We are having the same experience in California. The Raisin industry has received a very severe set-back, largely on account of the fact that growers insisted on doubling and trebling their acreage because of their immense returns and figuring that the marketing of their product was an easy matter. If more farmers when they make money would stick to the acreage they had and put their surplus in government bonds or other good securities, they would be in a far better position to take care of themselves when prices are in the dumps.

I am enclosing herewith another article which just recently appeared in the "Los Angeles Times," which I thought would be of interest to you. Please present my very best wishes to Messrs. Holly, Connelly and others whom I had the pleasure of meeting in Sanford. I hope I will be able to get back again to Florida some day and renew the many acquaintances I made on my recent trip.

With very best regards to yourself, I beg to remain,
Yours very sincerely,
GEO. C. ROEDDING.

Charleston Quiet After Its Hectic Election of Mayor

(By The Associated Press)
CHARLESTON, S. C., Aug. 9.—Charleston last night was quiet after a hectic election period including the period from 6 a. m. when the polls opened to 7 p. m. yesterday when they were closed, during which time approximately 14,000 voters cast their ballot in the municipal primary election which on the face of semi-official returns with three boxes missing resulted in a majority of 592 votes for Thomas P. Stoney, candidate for mayor, over John P. Grace, incumbent. The count was Stoney, 6,542; Grace 5,950.

During the voting four companies of South Carolina guardsmen were on duty eventually, but the occasion for military intervention did not arise except in minor instances where the militia was sent to the polling places to supplement the force of special state deputies and special police assigned there.

Yesterday's democratic primary which is equivalent to election was to choose besides the next mayor, 24 aldermen and six school commissioners. On the face of the returns today in nearly every case the Stoney candidates on the aldermanic ticket was leading.

Mrs. Clella P. McGowan, also on the Stoney ticket, won over Daniel L. Sinkler for alderman at large.

Neither Kiss Nor Wedding at End Of a New Film

Unique Though Happy Finish Marks Picture, "The Rustle of Silk"

A happy motion picture story ending that doesn't include a marriage or an embrace!

That is one of the unique distinctions claimed for "The Rustle of Silk," Herbert Brenon's Paramount picture featuring Betty Compson and Conway Tearle, which will be the feature of the bill at the Princess Theatre Friday and Saturday, August 10th and 11th.

The story, adapted from Cosmo Hamilton's novel by Sada Cowan and Ouida Bergere, centers about a humble English girl who falls in love with a great British statesman who is already married. The girl, serving the statesman's wife, adores the husband from afar.

By accident the man learns of the girl's love. Unhappy with his wife and disheartened by the course of political events, he offers to get a divorce and marry the girl.

But a crisis in the affairs of state requires all of his attention. If he resigns, chaos threatens to engulf the government. The girl, because she loves him, sacrifices her love and sends him back to fight his cause against overwhelming odds. Her compensation is found in the fact that the man who loves her faces his duty because he loved her. He wins his fight but for the time being, at least, he fails to win the girl who spurred him on to victory.

Unlike so many screen plays of the day, "The Rustle of Silk" does not introduce an episode five or ten years later showing the principals happily married. It ends as real life stories so often end—in happiness achieved through sacrifice, but with promise of happiness to both in the future.

Private John Coolidge as Sentry

Private John Coolidge comes to "port arms" after saluting Lieut. Col. George Henry at the Citizens Military Training Camp at Camp Devens, Mass. His daughter, you also might have smiled while walking past if you're the one just become a part of the United States.

"DAD WILL MAKE GOOD", STATES JOHN COOLIDGE, AGED NEARLY 17

CAMP DEVENS, Mass., Aug. 10.—John Coolidge is a "regular feller". That is the unanimous verdict of the buddies of the president's oldest son whom they have come to know since he entered training at the Citizen's Military Training Camp here August 1. A bit reticent and retiring, but withal a good mixer young Coolidge who inherits his father's boldness, and who will be 17 years old on September 7, has entered enthusiastically into camp activities.

At first he avoided recognition. He arrived in camp unostentatiously aboard an army truck which carried him from Ayer station with forty other young Americans. Since his father was elevated to the presidency, however, he has been besieged by photographers and interviewers.

An inevitable question has been: "How does it feel to be the son of the president?" And young Coolidge confesses that he doesn't feel a bit different than when he was the son of a Massachusetts senator or governor. Cordial and courteous to all who meet him, his principal fear seems to be that because he is the president's son he may be held in awe rather than as a good pal.

He says that naturally his father will do his best, in his new office and he hopes that his best will be good enough. "Of course it is a great honor," he said, "but it's dad's duty and he'll face it and make good."

Coolidge is enthusiastic about training and military camps. "I like the camp immensely," he said. "There is a wonderful bunch of fellows here, all clean minded, fun making boys, who like a good time but still recognize the serious side of life and tackle the more important problems like men."

Accustomed to hard work by reason of vacations spent on the ancestral farm in Plymouth, Vt., and another vacation passed in laying gravel on a road job, young Coolidge does not find the camp life arduous.

He confesses to a fondness for baseball and swimming and is one of the catchers on his company team. He also admits that he likes Northampton better than Washington and thinks that at the conclusion of his training period, on August 31, he will probably stay there until Mercersburg Academy opens for the fall term, September 19.

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Aug. 8.—Favorable conditions are reported by county agents in all parts of the state in their weekly summary of county activities during the week just closed. Extracts from these reports follow:

Palm Beach—(J. A. Dew, agent)—Over 800 acres of avocados are being replanted. Farmers are putting in seedbeds for fall truck crops. Outlook very favorable from Canal Point to South Bay for large acreage and crops this fall.

Dade—(J. S. Rainey)—Two outstanding features here are the rapid growth of the dairy industry and the avocado. A trip over the county this week divulged new dairies being established and a heavy acreage being prepared for avocados. Money interests are investing heavily in this fruit.

Jefferson—(H. H. Rothe)—The nut crop in this county promises to be the best ever harvested.

Polk—(Wm. Gomme)—Good prospects for large strawberry acreage.

Taylor—(R. J. Dorsett)—Visited four cotton fields where the Florida method was applied and no signs of weevils seen.

Hamilton—(J. J. Sechrest)—Our first shipment of new sweet potatoes went out this week.

Seminole—(B. F. Whitner, Jr.)—Probably more celery sown here to date than ever before.

Ocala—(R. J. Hart)—Laurel Hill truckers bought their seed cooperatively this week, saving 25 per cent on the cost.

St. Lucie—(A. Warren)—Prospects are for the largest citrus crops ever. Growers mowing their groves and controlling the rust mite by the sulphur dust method.

MICHIGAN MAN PULLS OFF TRIPLE KILLING: SELF AND TWO WOMEN

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Aug. 8.—The body of Mrs. B. W. Stewart, 58 years old, was found by a posse of searchers late today 10 miles southeast of this city, bringing to three the number of persons whose deaths are blamed on John R. Wells, 70, retired merchant, and reputed to be wealthy.

Wells early today shot and killed his wife, Ella, 68, and himself. He left word with a nephew that he had killed Mrs. Stewart and placed her body in a clump of bushes some distance from this city.

The body of Wells and his wife were found in their apartment when detectives, called by neighbors, broke down the doors. Both the man and women had been shot through the head, and a revolver was gripped in Wells' lifeless hand.

Mrs. Stewart was last seen this morning when, according to those living near the home, she drove away in an automobile with "an elderly man."

Police are working on the theory that Wells drove the woman to the woods, shot and killed her, and then returned, killing his wife and himself.

Mrs. Stewart was the wife of an electrician, Bert Stewart. Wells came to Battle Creek two years ago from Oklahoma.

FLORIDA HAS LOWEST DEATH RATE FROM PNEUMONIA OF ALL STATES ACCORDING TO THE LATEST STATISTICS

Gathered By Development Board to Refute Statement From New York

JACKSONVILLE, Aug. 9.—Florida has the lowest death rate from pneumonia of any state in the United States Registration Area, according to information compiled by A. A. Coult, secretary of the Florida Development Board, which he has sent a New York daily newspaper in refutation of an article on malarial conditions.

Not only has the state a low death rate from pneumonia, Mr. Coult pointed out, but the death rate from malaria has been reduced about fifty per cent in the last two years for which reports were available. The information contained in a letter written the newspaper was based on government records.

"Recently you published an article on 'The Malaria Problem,' the letter reads, 'containing some data on the death rate from malaria in certain specified states including Florida, and some observations by the author, who went far afield from the facts, so far as Florida is concerned when he stated: 'The survey also reveals x x x that in some parts of the country the disease seems to be on the increase rather than decrease x x x particularly in certain sections in various southern states.'"

"The facts are," the letter continues, "that Florida has experienced a most encouraging decrease of nearly fifty per cent in death rate caused by malaria, the official figures of the United States Public Health Service being as follows per 100,000 population: Year 1919, 43.6; 1920, 35.1; and 1921, 23.7. The figures for 1922 have not been announced by the government. For white population only the figures for respective years are: 38.4, 30.1 and 18.6.

"The Florida State Board of Health is making mosquito control one of their major activities this year, and the results will be shown in a further decrease in death rate for this and future years."

Mr. Coult quotes vital statistics compiled by the Florida health board, showing that 32½ times as many people were killed by pneumonia in the United States in 1919 as were killed by malaria. "Notwithstanding the fact that many persons come to Florida with a lowered resistance, advanced age and many other handicaps," the letter reads, "the pneumonia rate is lower in Florida than in any other state in the United States Registration states, notably x x x and Florida."

NOTES ABOUT THE FUNERAL OF LATE CHIEF EXECUTIVE

MARION, O., Aug. 10.—Countless numbers of floral offerings reached the Harding home yesterday. They were sent by people in every walk of life, and from nearly every country in the world. Their value was estimated in thousands of dollars.

The funeral train brought two full carloads of flowers and four other carloads arrived by express on another train. Other offerings continued to arrive during the day and throughout the night in great profusion.

Flowers soon filled every downstairs room and corner of the Harding home. It was not long before they were banked all over the front lawn. As evening approached they filled the side and back yards and indications were that today the yards of several neighbors would be needed to hold the floral tributes.

One of the largest and most beautiful of the floral pieces was sent by Henry Ford, Thomas A. Edison, Harvey S. Firestone and Bishop William P. Anderson, of the Methodist church—members of the camping party of which Mr. Harding was a member last summer. This piece was placed in the room with the coffin.

George H. Van Fleet, general manager of the Marion Star, which was owned and published for years by Mr. Harding, arrived from Washington early yesterday afternoon, went to the Harding home with the body and then returned to the Star office, where he made up the regular afternoon edition of the paper. He was associated with Mr. Harding as editor of the Star for many years.

Special trains arrived this morning including one from Washington bringing President Coolidge, Chief Justice Taft and other high government officials.

The Erie alone announced that it would run thirty special trains into Marion today. Other railroads entering the city are the Big Four, the Pennsylvania and the Hocking Valley and all will handle numerous specials.

Employees of the Marion Star, for years published by Mr. Harding, will be the only group that will march in the funeral procession as a body.

At Mrs. Harding's wish they will meet at 1:45 p. m. today at the Harding home. No edition of the Star will be published.

According to stories going the round of the railroad men the funeral car will not return to Washington with the funeral train party but will be taken to Mansfield and thence to Chicago, over the Pennsylvania railroad lines.

One of the scenes of greatest interest in Marion yesterday was the private office of Mr. Harding in the editorial rooms of the Star. All day long visitors passed through the office, eager to see the draped casket and desk at which Mr. Harding did his editorial work.

During the afternoon and evening an average of 35 persons a minute passed through the front room of the Harding home to view the body of the dead president. Secret service men estimated that at 10 o'clock last night approximately 17,000 people had viewed the body.

Approximately 100 newspapermen from all sections of the country are in Marion to report the news of the funeral. Scores of extra wires had been installed to handle the hundreds of thousands of words of press matter.

Polk Bigamist Gets One Year for Each of His Three Wives terpiece, if time, care, and a great story count for something; a cinema version of the intensely popular stage play, "A Tailor Made Man." For this is the excellent production Charles Ray has ever made, and is in keeping with his announced policy of two super-productions a year for United Artists. In fact, "A Tailor Made Man" is Ray's first screen play under his new alignment.

According to critics who previewed this photoplay, Charles Ray has been provided with a vehicle which allows him full scope for his ever delightful humor, wit, and tenderness. "A Tailor Made Man" is said to rank with the highest achievements of the motion picture art. The supporting cast is of all-star calibre, and includes such artists as Ethel Grandin, Jacqueline Logan, Thomas Ricketts, Douglas Gerrard, Victor Potel, Thomas Jefferson, Stanton Heck, Edyth Chapman, Kate Lester and Frank Beiler. "A Tailor Made Man" was adapted to the screen by Albert Ray from the stage play by Harry James Smith. Joseph De Grasse is the director.

According to the St. Cloud Tribune, the city valuation at St. Cloud has increased $124,061.20 over last year. "The new list shows increases in the number of new buildings and increases in other developments." The figures given were not added to last year's list, but brought into view by construction and improvement.

Quite a good deal of clearing has been going on this summer and a considerably larger acreage will be planted than ever before. Some of the farmers have already set their celery and the farms generally are taking on a prosperous appearance much earlier than usual.

Railroad Earnings In June Reach Total Sum of $87,742,000

This Is Eleven Million More Than Last June.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Railroad earnings during June amounted to $87,742,000, as estimated Thursday by the American Railway Association, and represented an annual return rate of 5.47 per cent on the theoretical value of property investment in transportation. The figures were the composite returned by 194 railroad system which operate 235,400 miles of main line out of the 260,000 mile total located in the United States.

During June last year, the net operating income of the same roads was $76,271,000—June of this year demonstrating a much better profit showing. However, earnings during last June were smaller than they were in May, during which month the railway association estimated that the annual return rate attained was 6.33 per cent.

During June, the profit of the railroads was not evenly distributed over the country. Roads in the eastern district had $52,372,000 out of the month's total net, this representing a return rate of 6.39 per cent on the value of railroad property in that district, the roads had a net of $26,519,000 representing an annual rate of 4.20 per cent.

According to interstate commerce commission standards, railroads are entitled to earn 5.75 per cent on the estimated value of their capital investment.

THE PERILS OF CONSTIPATION

The Disease That Wrecks the Whole Body. Quickest Way to Get Well is Through New Treatment Containing Seventeen Ingredients That Renew Every Part of the Body.

Constipation affects directly every organ in the body, due to the fact that the liver does not carry the bile out of the system, thus putting an extra burden on the kidneys that overtaxes and weakens them, filling the blood with all manner of disease germs that are carried through the veins into every nook and corner of the body. That is why any remedy that merely temporarily relieves constipation is insufficient and you become addicted to the constant use of strong purgatives that weaken and deplete the system. In order to get permanent relief, a complete systematic treatment is necessary.

This complete treatment is found only in a prescription called Re-Cu-Ma, which contains seventeen well known and thoroughly tested medicines, so skillfully compounded that each one performs its function on the various parts of the body perfectly and harmoniously.

This remarkable prescription goes right to work on a torpid liver, immediately cleanses the colon of its accumulation of poisonous refuse which, according to Prof. Metchnikoff of the Pasteur Institute, Paris, is the direct cause of all our aches and pains. In addition, Re-Cu-Ma improves the digestion, relieves the kidneys of their over-burden, purifies the blood stream and you are soon aware of an absence of those dull headaches, back pains, nervousness, dizziness, inertia and rheumatic pains—you feel full of vigor and pep, eat anything you like without bad after effects and sleep like a log.

Re-Cu-Ma is sold and recommended by the Union Pharmacy and other good drug stores and if you don't feel a decided change in your condition after taking according to directions, you get your money back.—Adv.

CURRY SIGHTS
100 MILLIONS CITRUS CROPS

GROWERS PROFITS ARE MUCH TOO SMALL—ANDERSON ASKS BETTER FRUITS

GAINESVILLE, Aug. 8.—Farmers and fruit growers week at the university here opened with an attendance of approximately 300 farm people, this number being reached by Monday night.
The citrus industry had its inning during the first day, the practice court room in the law building being crowded to its capacity to hear J. Reed Curry, representative of the Florida Citrus Exchange, and Frank Kay Anderson discuss the citrus industry and new marketing problems.
Mr. Curry declared that the citrus industry is Florida's biggest business. He said that last year we produced 16,000,000 boxes of citrus fruit and this year will probably produce 20,000,000 boxes. The fruit crop, he says, is worth $105,000,000 to the consumers but the producers get only $55,000,000. However, the producers' profit is not more than $27,000,000.
"Obviously, there is a big leak somewhere; carriers or middlemen or somebody are getting a big rakeoff. When the citrus growers of this state combine and co-operate, this situation will no doubt be reversed," declared Mr. Curry. The speaker believes that this is a business which affects in some way, at least, every citizen and every business of Florida.

Mr. Anderson stressed the question of production, speaking for F. L. Skelly, manager of the American Fruit Growers, Inc., of Orlando. He said that he has no fear of an over-production of citrus fruit in any reasonable length of time. Rather, it is safe to say that increased efforts toward the production of better fruit can be made. Along with production, growers should strive to raise the average standards of grading and packing. Freight charges must be reduced in order to make wider distribution possible and at all times of the year.

"The continuing increase in production may be expected, so the necessity for these things should be emphasized, so that they shall be accomplished in short order. Then, too, growers probably will come to an early realization of the necessity for selecting some large and capably administered organization which is in the position, through advertising and aggressive selling methods, to effect the widest distribution of the fruit it handles; creating new markets while holding the old, and in many ways, stimulating the consumption of both oranges and grapefruit. We have in Florida the natural home of citrus fruits. Let's make the most of it," said Mr. Anderson.

The livestock program reverted into a round-table discussion of cattle testing and the organization of co-operative bull associations.
A. C. Brown, of the state plant board, addressed the farm crops group on how the state plant board is aiding sweet potato growers.
General A. H. Handing, member of the state board of control, President

A. A. Murphree, dean and director; Wilmon Newell and Miss Flavia Gleason, state home demonstration agent, addressed the general gathering in the university gymnasium. The program was supplemented by musical selections.
