CHECK CASE HEARING BRINGS OUT EVIDENCE OF ABUSE OF FATHER

Son and Daughter-in-Law Were Inhuman in Treatment

HEARING UNFINISHED

HAS NOT BEEN FINISHED AND HAS NOT BEEN SUBSTANTIATED

Sanford people will be interested in the following allegations made by witnesses in the hearing of Victor Check and wife charged with inhuman treatment of the elder Check that may have caused his death, taken from the Newark (N. J.) News:

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 27.—With the court room jammed to the doors with spectators from every walk of life aquiver with sympathetic feeling for an old man declared by the authorities to have been done to death by his own son and that son's wife that they might take his fortune, the preliminary examination of Victor and Mrs. Belle Check, charged with the murder of Thomas Jefferson Check, formerly of East Orange, N. J., began yesterday before Justice of the Peace Charles Wheeler. There are indications that the hearing will last at least two weeks.

Epitomized, the testimony given yesterday for the most part by cotenants of the Checks in the apartment house known as the New Haven, was that sounds of sobs and blows coming from the Check suite were following by moans and cries of fright with protestations, "You are hurting me. Why are you hurting me?" that legal documents were read and reread to the old man by Victor, and that on one occasion Mrs. Belle Check was heard to suggest that the elder Check be put to bed if he didn't sign some document. Testimony along this line moved many in the court room to tears, weeping women making no effort to hide their emotions.

The hearing had hardly opened when the legal fight between lawyers for the state and the defense began. There were constant objections by the defense, but, despite these, the story of alleged cruel treatment of the aged man was slowly unfolded. There were four lawyers for the defendants, three of these from the Phoenix bar, while the fourth came from Topeka, Kans., where the three Checks resided for a short time after they came from East Orange and before they moved to this city.

Representing the state were County Attorney L. M. Laney and County Attorney-elect R. E. L. Shepard, who will handle the prosecution of the case should it go to the Superior Court, George W. C. McCarter of McCarter & English, Newark, N. J., lawyers, was a spectator as the representative of Mrs. Ethel Check Porter of Rumson, N. J., daughter of the elder Check.

When the case was moved by Justice Wheeler, counsel for the state and the defense agreed to have the charges against the two heard jointly.

The first witness in the presentation of the state's case was Dr. D. L. Dameron. He testified that he was called to the Check apartment on Saturday night, November 13. He found the old man lying across the bed dead. The body, he declared, was still warm, and an examination showed a superficial abrasion on the left hand and a slight laceration at the outer angle of the left eye which, the witness stated, Victor told him was caused by his father running against something in the Check apartment. The doctor said the old man's shirt had been unfastened at the neck and he examined his chest, but found no bruises there. Although he told Victor that his father was dead, the son insisted that he "do something" and the physician gave a hypodermic.

Thomas Nicoll, who lived above the Check apartment, was another witness for the state. He stated that

SOUTHERN COLLEGE NOTES

Thanksgiving Day at Southern College is a memory that will linger long in the minds of all who spent the holiday at the college. If the day could have been made to order, it is doubtful if a more beautiful day could have been selected. The inspiring prayer and praise service conducted by the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. held in the rotunda of the Dormitory before breakfast was an appropriate beginning for the day. Later in the morning, the students and people of the surrounding community gathered in the auditorium for the Thanksgiving Service. Several beautiful musical numbers and a talk by Rev. Scott Reasons for National Thanksgiving, constituted a program which was enjoyed by all.

After the morning service, as the day was ideal for outdoor exercise, the students divided up into groups for hikes to the different points of interest in this community. Soon after returning, the welcome dinner bell was heard and all assembled in the dining room. Each table had been tastefully decorated with a centerpiece of poinsettias and fruit, and the places marked by turkeys made by the primary department. It would be impossible to do full justice to a description of the six course dinner which followed, but suffice it to say that it consisted of turkey and all the fixings.

A pleasant feature of the dinner hour was the college yells and songs and tonets. Among the tonets enjoyed were: "To the Day and the Dinner," "To Our American Bird," "To Our Alma Mater," "To the Athletics of the College," "To the Boys and to the Girls," the last being by Mr. George Walker of Sanford. Another pleasing event of the day was the entertainment presented in the evening by the dramatic club and special students. Among those taking a prominent part was C. L. Irwin, of Sanford.

LEAGUE MAY ELIMINATE ARTICLE TEN

ADOPTION OF SUCH A RESOLUTION WOULD OCCASION NO SURPRISE

Helium From Natural Gas.
Up to a little more than a year ago helium was a laboratory product made at a cost of from $1,500 to $2,000 per cubic foot, but toward the close of the war its production had been simplified to the point that 8,000 cubic feet per day was produced in Texas alone. The commercial production of helium has been stimulated by the need of a substitute for hydrogen, which is so highly inflammable that its value for military purposes in dirigibles and kite balloons is gravely impaired. Although the substitution of helium for this purpose entails a loss of 7 per cent in lifting power, this is more than compensated for by the elimination of all risk of fire and explosion. Helium suffers less loss by diffusion than hydrogen and cannot be made to burn or explode under any conditions.

JOE TINKER TO MANAGE BALL TEAM

FAMOUS CUB, MANAGER OF THE WINNING CINCINNATI REDS AND REAL BALL PLAYER

The Reporter-Star accepts full responsibility for the unequivocal announcement that Joe Tinker, brainy ball player, star shortstop of the Chicago Cubs, of "Tinker to Evers to Chance" stone-wall infield, perhaps the greatest combination of baseball effectiveness ever gotten together on any diamond, is now manager of the Orlando Baseball Club, and that the contract securing the prized service of this brilliant star, is now signed, sealed and delivered for the 1921 season.

Neither Tinker, Baxter or Gerrard would confirm the story—but every one of them grinned in a way that was unmistakable and displayed so much white dining room furniture intermingled with their laughs, that the sporting editor of The Reporter-Star bets his bank roll that it is a fact. Joe Tinker was formerly manager of the world's champion Cincinnati Reds and during the past season has had the destinies of the Columbia, O., team in his keeping, as president.

Securing Joe Tinker, however, dates back of the effort that has recently been made to land him for Orlando by the controlling shareholders of the local club. It is simply a practical demonstration of the forceful truth of the saying in which every Floridian takes pride "Once get the sands of Florida in your shoes, and you never can shape it off your feet." And the Florida sand has been tickling Joe's feet ever since he spent the training season of 1919 at St. Petersburg and Tampa with the old Chicago Cubs.

Since that visit, it has been talk among his cronies and close pals that Joe Tinker was one of those Florida "nuts"—that he dreamed of a home some day in sunny Florida, and his tales of its wonderful warm, winds in winter and its cooling summer breezes were accepted as the vagaries of a vacationist rather than the honest yearnings of a man who knew the truth of his talpa.

Mr. and Mrs. Tinker and their daughter are now making arrangements to secure a home in Orlando, and will be welcomed with the warmth that is characteristic of the denizens of Florida's inland metropolis.—Orlando Reporter-Star.

LOOKS LIKE AMERICA WILL TAKE PLACE OF ENGLAND IN THIS LINE

(By The Associated Press.)

Emergency Call.
"We've got lizards in our basement, and I just killed a snake in the front yard. Can't you send some one out right away to kill them?" wailed a voice over the telephone to William F. Cleary, clerk of the board of public works.
It was a woman's voice, or Mr. Cleary would have sent a request to the board of public safety that one of the morals squads be sent out with a suggestion that they might find whatever it was that made people "see snakes." However, he asked the board to send out an ordinary policeman to kill the reptiles.—Indianapolis News.

NEW RESTAURANT OPENS MONDAY

Sanford is growing so rapidly that more hotels and more restaurants are made necessary by the crowds that throng the city every day looking for a good place to eat. Among the new restaurants to open is the Welaka Dining Rooms that will serve their first meal next Monday at lunch and their menu is tasty enough to tempt the most blasé appetite. The Welaka will be operated by Misses May Richmond, Stella and Maude Nelson all of them having been with the Valdez Hotel and know the business of serving good meals from the kitchen to the cash register in front. They are hustling business women and promise to give the people of this city and the transients the best that the market affords at all times and at a price that will make you a constant customer. Remember the place is in the Welaka Block on Railroad Way and it will be the Welaka Dining Rooms.

When you pass the Herald office glance in at the window and see that new line of box stationary for the Christmas trade. You will want it "pronto" and also "depeche vous."

In these days even a soft bodomed shirt commands a stiff price.

Several Builders Get Busy On Moderate Price Houses ARE BUILDING NOW

E. A. QUIGG COMPANY STARTS THREE BUNGALOWS ON SANFORD HEIGHTS

Sanford will soon have houses for the hundreds of people who are here looking for them and in a few more months there will be buildings going up in all parts of the city where lots can be purchased and right now is the time for the owners of vacant lots to loosen up and make the price right for quick sales.

Col. G. W. Knight started the ball rolling in the building line and has already built three elegant bungalows on Magnolia avenue and has several more started. The Melisch Realty Co. is building several fine bungalows on Oak avenue and adjoining property, Lew Fisher has built four new houses on West First street and there are cottages, bungalows and houses of all kinds going up everywhere. The very latest company to start in the building line is the E. A. Quigg Co., that has recently purchased some valuable building lots on Sanford Heights and today start their first bungalow and they will build three of these fine structures at once on the corner of Hughely avenue and Sanford avenue. These fine homes will sell at a reasonable figure as Mr. Quigg thinks the average man wants something in the realm of between $3,000 and $5,000 and his plans will be laid along these lines. He does not know at this time just what his houses will cost but they will be around the $3,000 mark to move quick. Ed. Quigg is a builder and will erect these houses of good materials and built on modern plans and he will build them at a figure that will allow their quick sale at a small profit.

There are several other builders in the city at the present time looking for lots upon which to erect moderate priced bungalows and if they can buy lots at a reasonable figure they will erect at least twenty-five or thirty bungalows and it is sure and certain that when they do they will be able to sell them at a profit the minute they are ready for occupancy for there is no city in the United States where homes are as badly needed at the present time as Sanford.

The first house to be built has already been sold to Vice-President Smith of the Peoples Bank who thinks so much of Sanford that he has decided to remain here and make this city his future home. The new bungalow starts today and before the first bricks were laid it was sold demonstrating that Sanford needs houses and many hundreds of them to fill the need.

Who will be the next lucky man to start building homes here?

HOOVER TO FEED DESTITUTE EUROPE

 RHODA ROYAL CIRCUS
 Big Show Playing Sanford on Friday,
 Dec. 10th, Noted for Its Fun-Makers.

"Laugh and the world laughs with you; weep, and you weep alone."
 It is said that Jupiter laughed for seven days after he was born. If you want to experience a fellow-feeling for Jupiter, you should go to a performance of the Rhoda Royal big three-ring circus, hippodrome and menagerie, combined with the old Buffalo Bill Wild West, which will exhibit in Sanford, Friday, December 10th and witness the antics of the army of clowns; for, if you do see these funny fellows, you will surely laugh for many a day thereafter. Rhoda Royal's clown coterie is composed of the most competent producing clowns in the realms of circusdom.

The big show display, proper, is one of remarkable magnitude and merit. The program is calculated to suit every arenic taste and preference, being composed of every conceivable species of circus act. But the whole is diversified, frequently, by the crowd of clowns, who, by their original and spontaneous humor, cause the spectators to emit veritable volcanic eruptions of laughter, which loudly reverberate in the dome of the huge amphitheatre.

Some persons are of the opinion that the clown is no longer an essential or important part of the circus. However, nothing could be farther from the truth, for, as a matter of fact, much of the success of the circus depends on these fun-makers. The little folk simply demand them—and everybody knows that the circus must give the small boy and girl whatever they demand. The clowns must be furnished, and the famous Rhoda Royal Circus furnishes them. Years ago, in the palmy days of the one-ring circus, a single singing or Shakespearean clown would suffice; at the present time, with a large railroad show, two score or more up-to-date clowns are required.

If you are feeling blue on Friday, Dec. 10th, or have that tired feeling, the Rhoda Royal Circus clowns can cure you. Remember the day and date.

ARMY MEN HIT HARD

50,000 Former German Officers Are in Bad Way.

Many Compelled to Toss at Hard Labor and Others Try to Exist on Small Pensions.

Berlin.—Many of the 50,000 former German officers discharged since the signing of the armistice have joined the great army of unemployed in Germany, a few have gone to work at hard labor, and others are trying to make small pensions pay for the expensive necessities of mere existence. Officers belonging to old, aristocratic, once wealthy families, are in no better situation than their comrades who relied for a living on their army pay. They have long since disposed of most of their personal property, and it is not uncommon to see one offering to some foreigner a family heirloom for enough money to pay a grocery bill.

Those who are doing hard labor must work half a day for the price of a pound of meat, and all day for a pound of butter. Many have been unable to buy civilian clothes, and are working in thin and frayed uniforms.

The wives and sisters of some of these men have gone into the shops, where they earn 350 marks a month, a sum a guest at any of the international hotels frequently pays for a single meal. The widow of a colonel killed at the front is supporting four children on a pension of less than 700 marks a month.

Former soldiers, and particularly the wounded, whose pensions are inadequate to supply them with food, have been hard hit. Day and night they may be seen standing on the streets with cap in hand, begging or selling matches. They still wear their uniforms, or parts of uniforms, and some of them, to incite pity, exhibit their wounds.

A party of Americans walking down Unter den Linden one night saw a former soldier stagger and fall to the pavement, unconscious. City physicians said he had fainted from hunger.

WAR ON ILLITERACY IN SPAIN

Former Boy Scouts to Start Campaign Throughout Country for Education.

Madrid.—Former boy scouts in Spain have decided to inaugurate a campaign throughout the country to combat the prevalent illiteracy.

The resolution founding a society just formed for that purpose says: "We consider the existence in Spain of 60 per cent of the population who can neither read nor write constitutes a veritable scandal for the nation. After carefully analyzing the problem we have reached the conclusion that a modern of good will on the part of the governing classes would be sufficient to solve it."

The society resolved to form free classes in every big city, where boys will be given instruction in the elements of reading, writing and arithmetic. Later similar classes are to be started for adults of both sexes. The teachers will be chosen from volunteers among educated people, and the society hopes to enlist the services also of professional teachers from the national schools to give instruction in the evening.

WEATHER AND CROP CONDITIONS IN FLORIDA FOR THE WEEK ENDING NOVEMBER 29

Temperature: The temperature averaged from 2 to 3 degrees below the normal, except the Miami section, where it was about the normal. Temperature of 32 degrees or slightly below occurred in the extreme northwestern portion of the section on several days, and 35 to 38 degrees in the interior of the northern and central divisions.

Precipitation: The rainfall was less than the normal, except on the southeast coast, where the total was an inch or more in excess. Rain is needed, however, over small areas, but it is not urgent.

Condition of Crops: The weather, on the whole, was favorable for the growth of winter crops, except that several nights were rather too cool for the advancement of tender truck. The cool weather benefited celery, lettuce, cabbage, and citrus fruits, but retarded beans, tomatoes, and the more tender truck to some extent. The soil is in good condition. The planting of oats continues in some localities; the early planted is doing well. Some early strawberries are maturing. Most of the sweet potato crop has been harvested. Seed cane has been banked, and syrup making continues. Citrus fruits are maturing more rapidly; as a result of the recent cool weather. Ranges are in fair condition.

HORSEWHIPPED HER RIVAL

Actress Lured Girl Who "Vamped" Her Husband to Stage Entrance and Then Beat Her.

New York.—Her pleas to Miss Bertha Mackie "not to break up her home" proving of no avail, Mrs. Katherine O'Brien, 24 years old, an actress, appearing with her husband in an elephant act at the Hippodrome, New York city, produced a horsewhip and, luring Miss Mackie to the stage entrance, lashed her rival about the face and body in the presence of a large crowd.

Mrs. O'Brien was freed by Magistrate Levine when she told how Miss Mackie had attempted to "vamp" her husband at a party and how the girl had declared she intended going after Mr. O'Brien because, as she said, he loved her.

The Sanford Herald a few days ago had a very good picture of the Seminole Hotel, as a front page attraction. This is a very attractive building and as the Herald says, "is one of the finest among the smaller hotels in the state."

The Sanford Herald talks of the lettuce crop, now being gathered and declares that a little cool weather would be welcomed by the growers of that fine vegetable. Last week Sanford shipped 119 carloads of lettuce and the returns were very satisfactory.

NOW COMES THE HOMES

The Herald usually gets what it goes after and though it may take years to accomplish the purpose the people finally tumble and fall in and take up the propositions that mean much to the city of Sanford. We have been talking some about houses in Sanford. We have been talking it ever since the editor came back from the transport service where he visited many countries and many home ports and saw everywhere the great interest people were taking in Florida and saw that this season would find more people here than ever before.

FLORIDA YACHTING

Many methods of travel are employed to bring the millions of people to Florida each winter season, but it is probable that those who come in private yachts enjoy the trip from the frozen north to the smiling, sun-kissed seas of the South, more than any of the others.

harbor in Florida will be crowded with the greyhounds of the Atlantic coast, carrying the flags of the principal yacht clubs and providing comfort and pleasure for the owners and their friends. Mingling with guests of the great hotels, entertaining and being entertained, the yachtsmen form an interesting coterie, adding zest to the brilliance of the season and putting into circulation hundreds of thousands of dollars.

With the opening up of cross-state waterways, so that many of the interior beauty spots can be reached by boats, it is safe to predict that the number of private yachts to visit Florida waters each year will be many times as great as this year and the atmosphere created by these pretty, modern ships, as they glide gracefully through our rivers and canals, and over the bosom of our placid lakes, will lend color and life to our rapidly expanding resort features.

And when it comes to yachting through Florida they will find the St. John's river and the Upper St. Johns river the greatest spots in the state for fine boating, fishing, and hunting and they will find a basin for their yachts and the Rod and Gun Club ready with a nice building and all the comforts of a home ready to receive them and make their stay in the city pleasant. All of these things are coming and it only takes a united pull from the business men of Sanford to get these improvements. And then it takes the united efforts of the business men of Sanford working through the Chamber of Commerce to get the St. Johns river made into the Inland Waterway through Florida which will mean that hundreds of pleasure craft will be tied up at our wharf every day during the winter season and spending their good money in this city.

What a wonderful thing it will be when the time comes that people can see a trifle farther than their nose.

HAD YOU EVER THOUGHT OF THIS? Why don't the editors of these smaller dailies give us the big, brainy powerful editorials that we read in the larger papers? That question might be asked, and probably is, every day by readers of the smaller city newspapers.

Out in Iowa the other day Congressman Bois asked the editors at Sheldon why they did not write more editorials. John W. Carey, editor of the Rock Rapids Review, formerly editor of the Sioux City Journal, answers him in the Review. Mr. Carey says that before he became a country editor he wrote editorials on a city paper—and only editorials.

CHECK CASE REARING BRINGS OUT EVIDENCE OF ABUSE OF FATHER

he had been awakened early in the morning on several occasions by the sounds of "rows" in the Check home. He had heard Victor swear at his father, but did not recall any sounds or blows. He followed this with a statement that on the night of the old man's death, about one hour before the Checks left the house with their father, he went downstairs to answer the telephone in the hall and heard the sound of a chair striking the floor, followed immediately by a noise as of a body falling. He did not see any of the Checks that night. The elder Check died about 8 o'clock that night in an automobile driven by his daughter-in-law.

During a recess in the hearing Nicolls talked with a detective in the court room, and when he again took the stand, he admitted that the detective had given him some typewritten testimony to read. He was cautioned not to discuss the case.

It is expected that much of the testimony given before Justice Wheeler will be a reiteration of that presented when the circumstances alleged to have preceded the death of Check were detailed at the coroner's inquest.

A witness called during the first day of the inquest was Lillian A. Warner, who lives in the New Haven apartments. She told of one occasion when she met the old man on the porch and how he pleaded with her to have his situation in the Check home brought to the notice of police officials.

"Don't you help me tell the police about this?" he pleaded, she said, but before she could answer, Mrs. Check rushed out and dragged her father-in-law back into the apartment. Seven other witnesses also testified to cruel treatment received by Check from his son and daughter-in-law.

During the second day of the inquest, Emil S. Galster, a local insurance agent, who lived across from the Checks, told a story of inhuman treatment accorded the father. Answering a question of the county attorney he told the following story:

"About three weeks ago around 9:30 o'clock in the morning, I heard a woman's voice whom I believed to be Belle Check, saying to her husband, 'If he doesn't sign these papers we'll put him to bed and keep him there.' They evidently carried out their intention, he said, and when the husband came home later in the day he heard him ask his wife, 'Belle, what'll we give pop for dinner?' 'Ah we'll give him is a glass of milk,' his wife answered, according to the witness.

Galster declared that he had never heard either of the Checks give one kindword to the old man. Their treatment was always harsh and abusive, he said. He declared that one night recently he was disturbed by the sound of some one being beaten in the Check apartment.

"Mrs. Check was beating her father-in-law," he said, "and it sounded as if she had him down on the bed. The blows seemed to be dealt with a closed fist and were rained on the old man while he begged the woman to have mercy on him. 'Have mercy on me! Don't do that! Why are you hitting me?'" were some of the disconnected cries that came through the door, while the beating continued and the old man begged for mercy, Galster said. He continued his account, telling how, on another night, he was awakened after midnight by the sound of Victor Check beating his father on the porch, where both of them slept. "He hit the old man pretty hard," said Galster, "and about ten minutes later I heard him shout, 'Didn't I tell you to quit that?' Then he took the old man out of bed to the bath room or some place inside the house and pounded him until he pleaded for mercy. Sometimes from the sound of the blows it seemed as if they were struck with an open hand on the bare skin and then like they were given with a closed fist."

Another instance where Check ill-treated his father was detailed by Galster on the stand when he told how one morning he heard Check slapping the old man and urging him to get up. "I can't," Check told his son, but the latter kept goading him, Galster declared, and finally, after about five minutes of this, the father tried to do as he was told. "He seemed to stagger against the door," said Galster, "and Check called to him, 'That's all put on, Pop; you don't need anything to lean against.'"

Physicians who performed the autopsy on the body of Check still decline to tell their finds, stating these will be given out in the course of the preliminary hearing. Attorneys for the defense assert that the examination did not disclose the bruise-covered body to be expected if the stories of the witnesses were true.

PLAN AIRSHIPS 800 FEET LONG

Prediction Is Made That Huge
Craft Will Be Used in Regular Transatlantic Trips.

AIR LINER IS ON THE WAY

Long-Distance Craft of the Future May
Be Plane, but Experts at London
Conference Predict Lighter-
Than-Air Type.

London.—In awarding prizes recently for new types of airplanes built by British manufacturers, the government took occasion to deplore what it viewed as a retrogression in the field of aerial research. Manufacturers of aircraft, in answering the criticism, replied that one could not hope, in times of peace, for as rapid developments as were possible when the exigencies of war made expense and human life comparatively of little importance.

Nevertheless, some bold predictions have been made at the air conference which met at the Guildhall. There were, of course, speeches which embodied the dreams of every reader of Jules Verne or H. G. Wells, and there were graphic pictures of the great air liners of the future. But there also were sober talks by distinguished scientists, who paid more attention to such practical details as wing tips and automatic controls than to visions.

The air liner is on the way, there is no doubt about that; but it is going to come as a result of tireless and patient research and experimenting; it is going to embody a detail here and a suggestion there, and when it is finally turned out on a profitable basis it will provide a mode of travel as safe as and infinitely more swift than any land transport.

Craft Eight Hundred Feet Long.
The long distance aircraft of the future may be an airplane, but it is more likely that a lighter-than-air type will prevail.

What are the requirements for a craft capable of carrying out a sustained flight, say, from England to Australia?

According to the experts at the Guildhall, each craft would be about 800 feet long, with a gas capacity of at least 4,000,000 cubic feet. The "R" dirigibles already constructed in England hold more than 3,000,000 cubic feet, so that this seems by no means an impossible provision. An average speed of 60 miles an hour would be required—something already achieved. It is estimated that a dirigible constructed on this basis would carry 100 passengers, for whom comfortable, properly heated and well ventilated living, dining and sleeping quarters would be provided.

Inasmuch as the dirigible would fly in a direct line, it would be able to make the London-Cape Town journey in five days, whereas the ocean trip now requires 18 days. India might be reached in four days, as against 10 at present.

Even though passenger-carrying at first might not prove practicable, it seems probable that before long, mails for the fringes of the British empire may be carried by the air route. It is calculated that the whole weekly mail from Britain for Egypt, South Africa, India, Australia and New Zealand could be transported in one dirigible for each route. Sir Trevor Dawson, vice-chairman of Vickers, Limited, the great aeronautic firm, is authority for the statement that the dire danger for a dirigible is really no greater than that of any ocean liner.

One of the great drawbacks to the use of the dirigibles—the difficulty of housing them in storms—may be avoided by mooring them to great masts and allowing them to float at the end of their cables. It is said that a skillful captain can, in still weather, bring a huge dirigible to her mooring with the aid of only half a dozen men, and that even in heavy winds nothing like the small army which now is necessary to place a dirigible in its hangar will be needed safely to moor the great airships.

A great mast, to be fitted with lifts, petrol and water mains, and with powerful cables and hauling apparatus, is to be erected at Howden, Yorkshire, to test the practicability of this arrangement.

It is obvious that English aircraft firms are much interested in the German bid for air supremacy, and apparently a little worried by it. The rumor of an early service of super-Zeppelins from Berlin to New York, Chicago and San Francisco, which has been bandied about for a month or so, was seriously treated at the Guildhall conference; in fact, it was made the basis for an appeal for prompt British embarkation upon a policy of the construction of similar or greater airships.

Dirigible Floats Over London.

The appeal finds the more response because London recently has witnessed the sight, unusual since the days of Zeppelin raids of huge dirigibles floating far above it. On the occasion of the Prince of Wales' homecoming the R-32, manned by the American crew which will take the 4-38 back to America next spring, sailed gracefully above the procession made up by the prince's carriage and his escort. Later other large ships from the airroads at Croydon were employed to give the delegates to the air conference a demonstration of their ability.

It is computed that the cost of carrying passengers in one of the great dirigible airships of the future would be about 20 cents a passenger-mile, or approximately twice the present average first-class steamship rate. The rate for carrying mails would be from ten to sixteen cents an ounce for 3,000 miles.

Interesting prophecies also were made at the Guildhall conference regarding the future of the heavier-than-air machine. The constantly increasing size of these aircraft is calling serious attention to the possibility that the ordinary gasoline engine may have eventually to be replaced either by the Diesel type or by the steam turbine.

It also is probable that in the multi-motored machine to be built in the time to come, the pilot will not have to occupy his time with the care of the machinery or the actual steering of the plane, but will telegraph his orders to the engine room, much as the captain of a ship now communicates with the engineer from the bridge.

A device which attracted much attention from the experts was one designed to "flatten" out a machine automatically as it nears the ground. This appliance consists simply of a trailer-arm which, touching the ground before the wheels of the undercarriage come in contact with it, automatically sets the controls for a landing. Planes to be controlled by wireless, and to carry no pilots, also were predicted.

The problem of landing in fogs and at night came in for its due share of attention. At present the energies of the investigators are directed toward seeking artificial means to dispel the fogs; while lights on the wingtips of the planes, both as signals and to light the space where the machine may be about to land, were advocated.

LAND A MAN-EATING SHARK

Fishermen Get Huge Fish on Hook
Off California Coast and Play It Out.

Eureka, Cal.—While the government dredge San Pablo was moored at its dock here, two of the crew, John Newton and Mike Herdo, sighted a huge man-eating shark swimming near the stern of the vessel and decided to capture it.

They got into a rowboat and, armed with a sharp hook, started to outmaneuver their prey. The shark came too near the boat and the hook was sunk into his back. For nearly an hour he towed the little craft about the bay at high speed. It was soon nearly filled with water and the men drenched to the skin, but they held on. Finally the shark became exhausted and was towed to the dock, where he was dragged ashore by 20 men. He measured 8 feet 8 inches and weighed over 500 pounds, being the only one, so far as known, ever captured in the bay.

DUTCH QUEEN KAISER AID?

German Officer Says William Had Permission of Holland Ruler to Enter Country.

The Hague.—The often repeated and often denied statement that the former German Emperor William came to Holland with the prearranged consent of the Dutch Queen Wilhelmina is now made by one of the German officers. Lieut. Count Detif Moltke, who said he himself accompanied the emperor from Spa to Amerongen.

Moltke's article in the Journal of the National Bund of German soldiers, reprinted in the Dutch press, says that the Dutch consul in Brussels warned his government on the night of November 10, 1918, of William's plan, and the emperor, by telegraph, asked permission of the queen to enter her country.

On arrival in Holland William was informed that the queen had put Bentinck's castle at his disposal, asserts Moltke.

ARC DE TRIOMPHE FOR HERO

Will Be Last Resting Place for "Unknown French Soldier," Decision of Chamber of Deputies.

Paris.—The Arc de Triomphe will be the last resting place of "an unknown French soldier."

The chamber of deputies so decided by unanimous vote.

The vote came after an acrimonious discussion of the government bill, providing for the transfer of the body of an unknown soldier from the Verdun battle zone to a last resting place, either in the Pantheon or the Arc de Triomphe. So violent was the debate that the president of the chamber was obliged to suspend the sitting for a time. The Socialists advocated the Pantheon, while the remainder of the chamber advocated the Arc de Triomphe.

Ages of Man and His Bride-to-Be Total 136

New York.—The combined ages of Chester Osterhauer of 49 Willow street, Brooklyn, and Lulu Alice Robbins of 125 Fort Greene place, who appeared before the marriage license clerk in Brooklyn, is 136 years. Osterhauer, a retired farmer, formerly of Kingston, N. Y., said he was aged eighty-three, and this would be his fourth marriage. The bride-to-be gave her age as fifty-three.

AIDED ITS BLIND COMPANION

Australian Stockman Tells of Bullock That Took Care of Another Which Was Sightless.

Peter S. Mitchell, a stock raiser from Melbourne, Australia, says that the cattle business is at present the best in the history of Australia. He says that his people are hard at work restoring the country to normal and that they are very anxious to get the world trade back to pre-war conditions.

"My father was first to bring the Black Poll cattle into Australia 40 years ago," said Mr. Mitchell at New York, "and they have developed to be the best for our section. They are hardy, flourish on ferns, tree leaves and bark, where other cattle would starve, and they grow to great size, with weight evenly distributed, and the fat running in hair lines through the rump steaks even. There is a quick market for anything on the hoof that is fairly fat, and prices are very good."

"We discovered a blind bullock in one of the herds that came in, and another bullock had adopted it and fathered it all the time. It was found to be blind only when we noticed that its companion signaled to it constantly and led it to water, through gates and narrow runs. If at any time it got lost its friend would never rest until he had located it."

"None of the other bullocks paid any attention to the blind one and the protection the foster parent gave to the unfortunate bullock was a never ending source of comment and speculation. When both, fattened after 18 months on our place, were driven to the shipping station 60 miles distant the blind one was led through the difficult places by his friend and generally cared for day and night."

The Woman's Club is to be congratulated upon securing the Million Dollar Band for Sanford. This is a real first class attraction and should be liberally patronized. The band will give a concert Wednesday afternoon and night at the corner of First street and Magnolia avenue.

The Herald carries the live merchants advertisements. The live merchants are catering to you for your trade. Moral—Patronize the live merchants who advertise in Sanford's live daily paper.

Some of the finest lettuce that has ever been raised in the Sanford section is being shipped from here now. The price is not as good as it was a week ago but is holding very well considering the amount of leafy stuff that was dumped on the market several days ago.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Brumley, of Chuluota, were in with the grand children today from Chuluota on a shopping tour. They have opened the splendid Chuluota Inn at Chuluota and have a nice patronage for the first of the season.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church are holding a very successful bazaar today and expect to continue it until tomorrow in the Jones' Cash Store. Tomorrow they will have a Cooked Food Sale that will have the well known Presbyterian brands of cooking. They have everything in the line of Christmas novelties and fancy work for sale.

There is nothing but trouble ahead for the woman who marries a man she can not love, and the man who loves a woman he can not marry.

METHODIST NOTES

Miss Ella Switzer, of Orlando, District Secretary of the Woman's Missionary Society was here Tuesday and presided at the ladies meeting. She was here in the interest of relief for one of our Cuban ministers in Ybor City and of the "Near East." The ladies responded heartily to the call and will soon help these deserving people.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Atkins were the week end guests of Mrs. Adkins' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Brown, of the West Side.

Dr. J. P. Hilburn was in Sanford Tuesday, his business being to hold the 4th quarterly conference Tuesday night which met at 7 o'clock with a full attendance. Splendid reports were read from all departments of the church work showing a decided progress in the church.

The Epworth League gave a musical Tuesday evening for the benefit of the Centenary fund. Much talent was exhibited and the young folks are to be congratulated on the good work they are doing. They have an attendance of over a hundred at their Sunday night meetings and a more enthusiastic company can't be found. Everybody invited to come next Sunday night at 6:30 and see. You will enjoy it.

Miss Bolen, a former teacher of the grammar school, was in Sanford for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Allen, who spent several weeks down the East Coast, have returned reporting a most delightful trip.

Rev. and Mrs. S. W. Walker cordially invite all members of the church and all the friends to a reception at the parsonage tonight, Friday, December 3rd to rejoice with them and the Methodists over the completion of the remodeling of the parsonage, both inside and out and incidentally to see how nice it looks.

Mr. W. E. Blount and baby of Ft. Myers is visiting her parents, Rev. and Mrs. S. W. Walkers.

The services for Sunday as follows: Sunday school at 9:30 a. m.; preaching at 11 a. m. Sunday by Dr. S. W. Walker, subject: "The Shepherd Psalm." Epworth League at 6:30 p. m.; preaching 7:30 by the pastor. Subject: "Report for the Year's Work in Every Department, and sermon on "Looking Backward and Forward."

The church has done exceptionally well this year and it will be gratifying and interesting to hear these reports. Every member should be there and all others cordially invited.

YOUNG SANFORD ARTIST

In the window of the Yowell Co. are two sketches of the human head and mouth drawn by Byron Stevens, a Sanford artist who is one of the High school pupils. The drawings were made for Dr. Caswell, who wanted an enlargement for dental purposes and had Byron do the work. It shows remarkable talent in this young man who should be encouraged to take up this work for a profession. Byron has never taken any lessons in art and makes some wonderful drawings in his school work from time to time.

What is your idea of a practical joke? One I can sell for a dollar and buy a pork chop.

Upsala and Grapeville

The Krell and Bertleson babies are still under the doctor's care.

There are a good many bad colds about, though the weather is beautiful.

Two more large rattlers were killed lately and little Raymond Lundquist narrowly escaped being bitten, stepping over a large one that afterwards got away.

The oranges are moving rapidly now, out this way. Mr. Betts has been carrying from his grove for a couple of weeks and now Chase & Co. are taking them from the Haines grove, Belair and the DeForest groves. They are prettily colored up.

We are all sorry to hear of the serious illness of Mrs. Leonard Vihlen from what is feared to be blood poison caused from a sand spur in her finger, which has been very painful. She has been under the doctor's care for some time. Her daughter, Miss Olga, is home caring for her.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Lundquist and mother, Mrs. Swanson, were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Beck recently.

Miss Eunice Tyner has been with her relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Nash Fray at the Isleworth grove for a month and will remain for the packing season.

Mrs. Ed. Randall and Mrs. Campbell and children are spending the day (Wednesday) with their friend, Mrs. Volle Williams.

Upsala Sunday School, of which Alfred Ericson is superintendent, and which meets at 3:00 every Sunday afternoon, responded to the call for the starving little ones of Europe, sending $3 to the Near East fund.

We are hoping to have with us Rev. Albertson again next Sunday, his friend, Dr. Conway, will preach in the morning at Lake Mary. Come out for both services.

Mrs. Emil Magnuson was a dinner guest of her sister, Mrs. John Borell.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Collier, of Sanford, and their sister, Mrs. Jennie Gleason and son, Clyde of Canton, N. Y., were our guests for the day. Mr. Collier spent some of the morning hours on the St. Johns treating us to a share of his game.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lundquist also kept Thanksgiving at home and about 20 of their children and grandchildren sat down with them for a feast of good things for dinner and supper.

Mr. and Mrs. August Swanson and son, Archie, were also present as was also Mrs. Magnuson at the supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Volle Williams entertained a number of friends from Orlando for the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Lundquist and son, Raymond, Clarence Berquist and John Henry Lundquist spent a pleasant Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Berquist at Tiger Bay, calling also on their brother, Hillmer. They returned home Sunday evening in their car.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Westudick, Frankie Woodruff, Judge Benton and family of Maitland were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Beck.

Judge Benton and George, Jr., and the girls, Alice and Helen, of Rochester, N. Y., arrived at Maitland safely, coming through in their Chandler car, making the trip in 11 days. They had a good deal of trouble. George, Jr., drove and he will return soon to finish his studies at Cornell. He was one of our boys "over there" in a department of the airplane service. The whole family are delighted with Florida.

Men Dodge Age Proposition. Service of women citizens on the registration boards leads to interesting personal revelations about their neighbors.

A man who holds a position in the city government had always given his real age, now 43, before women sat on the boards. When his wife went in to register for the first time one of the women on the board said to her: "Oh, Mrs. Blank, isn't your husband an old codger?"

"Why, no," said Mrs. Blank. "I don't think 41 is so very old."

"But he registered as 47," Silence fell and Mrs. Blank entered the booth to fill out her enrollment ballot.

Next year, when the husband entered the registration place and was asked by a man on the board his age, he replied, "42."

The woman whose undue interest had evidently caused a family Bible meeting looked at him and her look said volumes. But he stared her down, and so the record stands.—New York Evening Post.

BEAUTIFUL POST CARDS AT THE HERALD. EACH... 1c

Aged Aviation Devotee.

France's younger generation has been encouraged to use air locomotion by an old lady of eighty-three. says a Paris correspondent of the London Times. She is Mme. Hemery, a charwoman, who lives in the country, where airplanes pass every day. It was in 1878 when she first left the ground, when she tasted the delights of ballooning, and, seeing, as she did, the new airbird daily above her, she could not resist trying the new sensation. Thus one day she had saved sufficient money from her meager earnings and took a trip in the air. She did this without the knowledge of her many grandchildren, who were completely shocked when the news reached them. She is in no way perturbed and is determined to see as funds allow to try looping the loop.

And Dew Drops.

Struck by the notice "Iron sinks" in a hardware shop window, a wag went inside and said that he was perfectly aware of the fact that "iron sank."

Alive to the occasion, the smart shopkeeper retailed: "Yes, and time flies, but wine vaults, sulphur springs, jam rolls, grass slopes, music stands, Niagara falls, moonlight walks and holiday trips, scandal spreads, standard weights, India rubber tires, the organ stops, trade returns, and--"

But the visitor had bolted. After collecting his thoughts he returned, and showing his head at the doorway, shouted:

"Yes, I know, and marble busts!"—Science and Invention Magazine.

Trust Controls Chinese Oye.

That the manufacture of the red dye used by the Chinese to color firecrackers for export to America is controlled by a native "trust" with headquarters in Hongkong is the intelligence brought to this country by a Filipino now studying at the New York State College of Forestry, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. The dye is used also in making the florid seals with which the Chinese certify their more important documents.

Send in your locals to the Herald office. Phone the news to 148. We want every bit of it. Tell us the news each day.

COQUETTE SET NEW FASHION

Favorite of French Monarch Responsible for Coiffure Which Became a Universal Style.

Styles have had queer origins, and none more unique than the fontagne, a style of hair dressing popular in the early part of the eighteenth century. The dressing consisted largely of doing the hair high and binding it in place with a jeweled fillet or ribbon. At one time it was worn by every lady in the court of Louis XIV, and from there it spread to all parts of the civilized world where fashion reigned. The manner of its origin is this:

The king went for a ride one morning with Mlle. de Fontagne, a lovely girl with whom the king was madly in love, and who was not cold to his advances. In fact she shortly took her place as his favorite. As they rode, her hair came tumbling down, and there is reason to believe the little comedy that followed had been staged in advance, even to the loosening of the pins that allowed her beautiful tresses to escape. At any rate, the lady slipped from her horse, and with a laugh lifted her skirts and took off a jeweled garter which she bound around her hastily replied hair. The king was delighted with the by-play, and upon arriving at the palace announced the mode the most becoming in the world. Within 24 hours every coquette and matron in the court had adopted the fashion.

Learn From Lazy Man.

At last some use has been found for a lazy man. The secret was revealed by F. B. Gilbreth, an efficiency expert, in a recent lecture before the polytechnic section of the American Institute.

"When we go to investigate a factory," he said, "and wish to find the swiftest worker, we naturally ask to see the men or girls who have the fattest pay envelopes."

"But when we want to see the man who accomplishes a task with the least amount of lost motion, we hunt out the laziest man in the factory. By instinct, he learns to do things without loss of motion, otherwise he could not hold his job."

"We study that man's movements and take motion pictures of him in action. Then we show these pictures to the rapid, energetic worker, and by studying them he learns shorter methods and becomes much more efficient at his own work.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Playing at Soldiering.

Some Australian Wellington will probably trace a modern Waterloo to the playing fields of Melbourne or Sydney. Australia has recognized as the result of her war lessons that intelligence, not monotony, is an invaluable test of the soldier. The old wearisome drill-ground system of training cadets is fast giving way to the new plan which makes a play of work. While the boys are taught discipline and drill they are mainly shown how to play basket ball and to compete in jumping, tug of war and swimming. Those entrusted with the making of a new Australian army are confident that the best soldier will be the happy, well-trained sportsman, who has learned to play for his side, to keep his temper and to think intelligently. There can be little doubt that the change is keenly appreciated by young Australia.—Christian Science Monitor.

Hunt in Autos in Alaska.

Times have changed in Alaska from the days when trappers mushed over the snow fields to hunt for game. Citizens of Fairbanks are hunting caribou by automobile, so say recent arrivals at Seattle. Automobiles are coming into their own in the territory and the bureau is advised that "the days of real sport" around the northern Alaska town are featured by motoring out to the herd where thousands of caribou are leisurely grazing, bagging a few animals, dumping the carcasses into the tonneau of the car and driving back with the winter's meat supply.
