Huge Bridge Is Dedicated By President

Symbol Of Change In Human Need Cited, Calling For "Modern Government"

Span Is Erected For $64,000,000

Demonstrations Precede Ceremonies Seen By Officials

NEW YORK, July 11.—(AP)—The sixty-four million dollar tri-borough bridge, financed by a federal grant and loan as part of the public works program, was opened today by President Roosevelt, who dedicated it as a symbol of changing human needs which call for "an up-to-date government in place of an antiquated government."

Accompanied by Gov. Herbert Lehman, Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia, James A. Frazier, Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes and others, the President said: "There are a few among us who still, consciously or unconsciously, live in a state of constant protest against the daily processes of meeting modern needs. Most of us are willing to recognize change and give it reasonable and constant help."

The opening of the bridge across the East River, which with the approaches connects the New York City boroughs of Manhattan, York City boroughs of Manhattan, and the Bronx.

Local Odd Fellows Officers Monday Session

New officers of the Sanford I. O. O. F. lodge number 27 will be installed Monday night at 8 P. M. in the club house, it was announced today.

J. T. Hardy will take the chair of grand noble, while W. M. Van Natta is to assume duties as vice-grand noble. Other officers, with the exception of secretary and treasurer, will be appointed by the new officials.

It was pointed out that the latter officers, now filled by A. J. Long and L. E. Southward, respectively, do not become vacant until later this year.

Mr. Hardy succeeds D. C. Howarth as the head of the local order, while Mr. Van Natta is succeeding Mr. Hardy in the second highest post.

All Sanford members of the organization are especially urged to attend the Monday night session, while visiting Odd Fellows are invited.

Cleveland Plans To Attend Fire School In Daytona Beach

Chief Mack Cleveland will attend the annual state firemen's convention beginning in Daytona Beach Monday morning, the chief announced today.

It will be the fifth consecutive year that the Sanford department has been present at the convention where the latest methods of fire fighting and fire prevention are studied and discussed.

Cleveland said he hoped that other members of the department will be able to attend the City Commission's action as well.

Adjustment Called After Week's Work In Seminole Court

County Court recessed here this afternoon after a full week's work on a docket which totaled 26 cases.

Today's sessions included hearing charges against J. M. Hill, charged with aggravated assault.

John J. O'Neil, accused of reckless driving, attracted a crowd of 200.

Dawson Solicits Participations In Soil Program

Oviedo Indicates 100 Per Cent Patronage In Movement

County Farm Agent C. R. Dawson today moved to solicit Seminole County farmers' participation in the federal soil conservation program.

Mr. Dawson, employed the following persons to contact growers and make a personal explanation of the plan: Edmund Meisch, Hugh Torrance and E. C. Guthrie for the Sanford area, and A. G. Wagner and Earl D. Kneiss in the Oviedo section.

Mr. Dawson said he hoped to send representatives into other communities of the county, pointing out that July 20 is the deadline for signing to participate in the conservation movement.

Mr. Dawson again stressed the point that the entire program is voluntary, placing emphasis on the fact that no obligations are involved other than one of accepting money from the government.

Last night a large delegation of Oviedo growers and farmers heard the county agent explain the plan's operation. There was an indication that nearly 100 per cent of Oviedo's acreage will be included in the conservation movement.

Monday night Mr. Dawson will be in the Lake Monroe school house to again describe the program. The event gets under way at 8 o'clock.

Other schedules are: Tuesday night, Longwood, postoffice; Wednesday night, Altamonte Springs; Thursday night, Geneva postoffice; Friday night, Chuluota at Snyder's Store.

Circuit Court Will Reconvene Monday

Circuit Court will reconvene here Monday morning at 10 o'clock with the trial of Fred Shannon who is alleged to have assaulted with intent to kill George Calahan, a local peddler.

Tuesday morning, C. C. Greedy, charged with second degree murder, will begin trial.

Judge Milton B. Smith yesterday refused to grant a motion that allegations against Greedy be quashed.

Leola Roy's, assistant state's attorney, will prosecute both cases.

Labor Calls Strike Halt On 2 Fronts

Department Officials Watch Outcome Of Efforts To Form Steel Work Union

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(AP)—One strike was called off and one was ended as Labor Department officials anxiously awaited the outcome of a fight in the American Federation of Labor over efforts to unionize the steel industry.

A seven weeks' strike ended at the Wheeling Steel Corporation's Portsmouth, Ohio, plant. A strike of longshoremen in southeastern ports, was postponed today for two weeks. It had been called for Monday and would have affected all ports in Florida.

The deadlock in the internal struggle rocking the American Federation of Labor tightened last night as President William Green demanded complete abandonment of an insurgent unit as the price of peace in the ranks of the trade unionists.

The "rebel" organization is the Committee for the Organization of Industrial Workers, headed by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America. Eleven other international unions are affiliated with the unit which was created to form industrial unions in mass production industries.

The heads of two powerful craft unions—John P. Frey, of the Metal Trades and Herbert Rivers of the Hod Carriers—appeared before the Federation's executive council yesterday and demanded the suspension of the C. I. O. unions unless they abandoned their organization drives including the one in the steel industry.

Both charged that Lewis' organizers were retarding the growth of their unions by seeking to win converts in their jurisdiction to the C. I. O. "one big union" plan.

Police Chief Roy Williams today reported a satisfactory condition exists here in regard to collection of city occupational and professional licenses.

For the past two weeks the police department has been conducting a drive designed to straighten all delinquents who fall under the ordinance governing such fees.

Chief Williams said only a few licenses are now outstanding and many of those are required to pay only half year permits. He said the fiscal year ends Sept. 31.

Under the method of procedure in operation here, the police department is responsible for the collection of occupational licenses, a revenue which is estimated to produce approximately $10,000 annually.

The chief reported that figure is almost reached today, pointing out that with the year but half gone, more occupational and professional fees have been collected than for the entire 12 months of the past fiscal year.

Williams said the greatest difficulty in collections is caused by coin-operated machines, all of which are taxable under the municipal ordinances.

Another great difficulty is found in the itinerant peddlers, and it is against this class of sellers the police direct considerable attention as a protection to local merchants.

The City Commission will meet Monday night at 7:30 o'clock in its monthly session, city officials announced today.

Judge James G. Sharon of Seminole County will leave early next week for Daytona where he will substitute for Judge Toier of Lake County, who is not able to sit in court because of illness.

Officials of the Sanford Baseball Club today appealed to citizens to lend their support to a local team by attending the Florida-Sanford game here tomorrow at 8 P. M.

Police Direct Effort Chiefly To Prevent Itinerant Operation

Robert Boone Pays Over Fee To Enter Senate Race

Deadline For Qualifications Falls Today; Pepper Apparently To Have No Opposition In Campaign

TALLAHASSEE, July 11.—(AP)—Robert J. Boone, Miami, today gave Secretary of State R. A. Gray a $300 fee to qualify as a candidate for the nomination as a successor to the late Senator Trammell.

Gray is awaiting a ruling from Attorney General Landis on the legality of the Aug. 11 special primary, as the question of whether a primary can be legally conducted to name Democratic nominees for two United States Senate vacancies in Florida remained unanswered.

Today was the last day to qualify.

So far, Claude Pepper, candidate for the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Fletcher, has no opposition.

Finley Moore of Lake City qualified yesterday in the contest for the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Trammell, making three in that race. Doyle Carlton of Tampa, first to qualify, also is opposed by Judge C. O. Andrews of Orlando.

Secretary of State Gray has put the primary question up to Attorney General Landis as a formality to get it into a court contest. If the attorney general rules the qualifying fees of candidates may be accepted, Florida Republicans have said they would challenge the legality of the primary set for Aug. 11. If the attorney general holds the fees cannot be accepted, the case also will be taken to the Supreme Court.

In event no primary is held for a race carrying opposition, the nominee would be chosen by the state Democratic executive committee.

Three prospective candidates for the Trammell vacancy announced yesterday they would not make the race. They were James M. Carlson, Miami attorney, Circuit Judge Worth Trammell of Miami, brother of the late Senator Trammell, and Charles A. Mitchell of Vero Beach, president of the Florida junior chamber of commerce.

Mitchell, in a statement at Vero Beach, said he had been offered financial assistance to make the race, but would not neglect his junior chamber office to enter a campaign.

Four Route Bids Meet Rejection By County Board

Sanford Schools Will Begin September 14, Body Decides

The Seminole County School Board last night accepted a recommendation by Sanford school trustees that four bids for bus routes in the Sanford area be rejected.

Taking the initiative in the movement, the local group pointed out that two bidders were unsatisfactory to patrons, the bids were submitted on one route, and a fourth estimate was in excess of the budget.

Immediately after taking the action, it was voted to receive new bids at 2 P. M. Thursday, July 16.

With the rejection of last night's estimates, approximately 35 bids are still in the hands of local trustees in various parts of the county. A report is expected early next week and the county board probably will award contracts within ten days.

Another recommendation made by the Sanford board and accepted by the county body was that this city's schools open September 14.

T. W. Lawton, county superintendent, said the matter had been undecided for several weeks.

The local unit also submitted its annual estimate of expenditures which will be forwarded to the state comptroller.

Representing the county last night were Fred T. Williams and L. E. Jordan, while W. M. Hayes, R. E. Chapman, and Mrs. Walter Morgan participated as Sanford trustees.

Albert E. Mitchell Dies After Illness Of Short Duration

Albert E. Mitchell, 64, died in Sanford early this morning following an illness of short duration.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Erickson Funeral Home. The Rev. W. B. Queen is to officiate.

Mr. Mitchell is a native of Sanford and the vicinity, and he has resided here all his life.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Emma Mitchell; four daughters, Mrs. Harry Patterson, Miss Evelyn Mitchell and Miss Joyce Mitchell of Sanford, and Mrs. Fred Lewis of Tampa; four brothers, D. A. Mitchell, J. O. Mitchell, W. P. Mitchell, all of Sanford, and G. A. Mitchell of Ft. Christman.

Interment will be in Lakeview Cemetery.

Torrid Wave Break Is Seen By Forecaster

Promise Of Showers Out Of Northwest Brings Cheers From Farms And Cities

Price Of Grain Drops Suddenly

Crop Damage Said To Reach $300,000,000 Throughout Nation

(Copyright 1936 By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, July 11.—The end of the heat wave was sighted today and millions cheered. Cool weather around began to sweep eastward from the northwest tonight.

Forecaster J. R. Lloyd of the Chicago Weather Bureau said the torrid blanket which has spread death to humans and growing things over the southern half of the nation from the Rockies east last night dispelled in the northwest by rain tonight.

The parched population hailed the news with delight. Weary farmers felt encouraged that some of their crops would be saved. Heat driven city folks sighed with relief.

On the Chicago Board of Trade the weather forecaster's prediction caused a stampeding loss in corn and wheat. The former fell four cents and the price was down seven cents a bushel from today's high.

The price of wheat collapsed five cents a bushel, the limit allowed under trading rules.

The middle west has suffered from record-breaking high temperatures for nine consecutive days, and virtually three weeks from lack of ample precipitation. Heat and drought in some have

Sons Of The Legion Organize Nucleus For Rifle Team

Twenty-three members of the Sanford Sons of the Legion last night formed the nucleus of a rifle team which hopes to compete against similar organizations throughout the state.

Percy Mero, chairman of the American Legion Boys' Work Committee, said the unit will be ready for actual competition within six weeks. He pointed out that 30 days of preliminary operations are necessary before actual firing begins.

Two officers of the Sanford National Guard unit, Capt. H. C. Washburn and Lt. W. D. Hoffmann, gave their full support to the project and said they would stand behind the movement.

W. G. Cook, member of the local Legion, is appointed rifle instructor.

Police Will Work On Traffic Plans

Traffic problems will occupy the center of the police stage when the department's new Indian motorcycle arrives, Chief Roy Williams said today.

He pointed out that there were several difficulties now in existence which could be solved if the proper motorized force is available.

A new machine has been ordered from Tampa and should arrive here early next week.

Build Your Own Home

Most important to Sanford was yesterday's announcement that arrangements have been completed for the financing of home construction after a lapse of nearly ten years. The Stockton Mortgage Company of Jacksonville is prepared to extend an unlimited amount of credit for such purposes in this city under the provisions of the Federal Housing Act wherever an applicant can qualify.

What an extensive program of home construction will mean to this city goes almost without saying. It has been for the past two years the primary advantage which other Florida cities have enjoyed over this one in the return to prosperity. Credit turned loose here for home construction will immediately be reflected in a reduction of unemployment, increased sales at local stores, and larger earnings for all business enterprises.

For the prospective home owner it affords an opportunity for building and owning a home which it would be foolish to overlook. The carrying charges on a minimum loan of $2,500 are only $16.80 a month and that includes principal and interest. It costs more to pay rent.

In order to qualify for a loan, one must have a reputation for paying his bills, a regular income of at least four times the amount of his monthly payments on the mortgage, and either a lot, or cash, amounting to 20 per cent of the cost of the completed house and lot. In the case of a minimum loan of $2,500, one must have a lot worth $625, or that amount in cash.

The Herald cannot too strongly emphasize the importance of taking advantage of this opportunity to build a home just like you want it, and to own it.

A Lot Of Government

With all the public knowledge of waste, inefficiency, duplication of effort in our various governmental units, it did come as somewhat of a surprise to most of us to learn that there are now 175,000 separate federal, state, and local governments to which the people of this country must pay tribute.

Geasler at his worst could not equal this! Five members of President Roosevelt's cabinet, in submitting their report on overlapping governmental functions, described the situation as an "almost unlimited chance for confusion, cross purposes and wasted effort."

Almost at the same time came a report from a senatorial committee headed by Senator Byrd of Virginia that boards, bureaus, and commissions within the federal government itself were overlapping in their functions and often working at cross purposes.

A part of the report of the cabinet members read as follows: "Some departments are directed to do scientific work, others carry out engineering operations, such as building dams or controlling soil erosion. The operations of one department often overlap those of another to some extent; sometimes their policies are in apparent conflict."

But imagine, 175,000 governments within the United States for the taxpayers to support! The Boston Tea Party was held too soon.

Five Meals A Day

The recent ninety-seventh birthday of John D. Rockefeller has again re-emphasized the annual lesson that the road to longevity can best be traversed on an empty stomach.

So one reads with added interest the statement of Dr. William D. Sansum, dietetics authority of Santa Barbara, California, that most of us don't eat enough, and that the way to get rid of that tired feeling, banish distemper, and rejuvenate ourselves in general, is to eat five meals a day instead of three.

Perhaps, Dr. Sansum, since his practice is confined largely to Hollywood screen stars, is preaching a lesson for his own peculiarly individualistic patients, and his warnings to eat more do not apply to most of us. We suppose there is danger of a stream-lined screen star overdoing her reducing diet and consequently depleting the sugar content of her blood until she reaches the point of a nervous breakdown.

But for most of us five meals a day sounds like a lot of propaganda for the farming interests. No doubt if the American public would increase its food consumption by two-fifths, the farm problem would be solved. But how many stomachs could stand the strain?

With another drought sweeping through the middle west, the problem of over-production may solve itself, and the old fashioned formula of "three squares a day" will survive.

SANFORD TWENTY YEARS AGO

On Thursday evening the Modern Woodmen will open its meeting in the Ninth Street Park for the election of 20 candidates in its new "Forest Degree." This will be the first time in the history of any fraternal order to put on one of its degrees before the public.

Among those who will receive degrees are: C. C. Morris, Oscar Vernon, F. L. Miller, Royce Babcock, John Stumper, W. A. Lindsay, J. E. Plowden, George Hyman, C. W. Rivers, E. W. Howard, T. J. Bell, Homer Wynne, A. G. Williams, Sidney Cox, J. W. South, Nolan Graves, W. E. Lynn, Justice Butler, C. E. Ward, and A. E. Gibson.

One of the most enjoyable events of the Fourth was the picnic and the 2000 participants, by a number of sections, including the July party in the city park at the home of James Smith. It was a most enjoyable occasion and the picnic was held at the home of James Smith.

CANDLELIGHT

"It is a night of stars—"
 It certainly was on Thursday night when the Kivansians went up the St. Johns on the "Laini Dexter." In fact, there were so many stars in the sky that they didn't all have room and roomer. And here's a memory for Kivansians Arthur Zachary, Jr., who chairmaned so efficiently that the supper deserves a handful of praise.

From Georgia comes an old bread trick that's now to be "monobelles," these delicious round balls that look as if they were made of coffee and turn out to be corn meal. And, by the way, the Georgia operators say that they must be made of personally selected corn water ground by an old mill wheel. I don't know whether the corn has to be ground at the fall of the moon or not, but I suspect it.

With the "monobelles" we had golden brown fried trout from over Titusville way and corn relish (another old family recipe) served on a rustic table in a Florida garden. The talk of "monobelles" made everybody present think of the most exciting bread they ever tasted. There was a New Englander who championed Boston brown: a Texan who paid homage to tortillas; an Alabamian who grew lyrical about corn pone—the kind that isn't authentic unless it bears the unmistakable finger prints of a shrewy mammy! A cosmopolitan who yearned for French croissants and brioche, and I, of course, "went down the line" for Boston brioche, that crisp, vanishing glory of the Old South.

John Steele, the Elginfield Falls tinner, recently came back along with some "members of the Pretty Girl in Lila A. Maloney" that haunts you after it is gone. A memorable dish is like that too. There was that shrimp Croûte at the Louisiana in New Orleans. Was it just because of sailing all day at Elgin that there never has been any since that tasted quite like it? Anyway this was what was in it:

two pounds of cooked shrimp
 three cups of boiled rice
 one green pepper
 two onions
 two stalks of celery
 one-half cup olive oil
 one-half bottle chili sauce
 one egg mushrooms
 Worcestershire sauce, cayenne pepper, paprika, salt.

Chop vegetables and brown in oil in skillet. Put one-half water in, cover and let simmer until tender (about ten to fifteen minutes). Add chili sauce and shrimp and get all in top of double boiler and let simmer forty-five minutes. Just before serving add mushrooms. Put rice on platter and shrimp around it.

I do not promise that this will taste exactly as it does at the Louisiana where the tradition of perfect cooking is handed down from father to son with true Gallic reverence. For the French not only appreciate good cooking, they honor it. Does not the French government award its greatest chefs the Cordon Bleu?

And the rich subtleties of the marron glacés at Frunier's in Paris! It could not have been just the fact that I realized that the ghosts of the great gourmets of France—Bavaria, Beauvilliers, and Dumas looked down upon us with gustatory approval. There was the truffled turkey at Pouchan's, the perfectly cooked joints of beef and chicken at Simpson's-in-the-Strand, the fillet of sole—stuffed with mushrooms and baked with white wine with butter at the Marguery, such glorified fish that it must have come from some magic stream in a Utopian land.

There is a memory too of a beef steak we cooked over charcoal on a picnic after a swim in a cold Florida spring—done enough, but not too done, brown enough, but not too brown, the kind of steak that makes my husband say to my wife, "Why can't we have steaks like this at home?" There was the chicken Vienneise at the home of one of Florida's finest housewives. It was the kind of fish that makes husbands wonder their wives and whisper, "Why don't you get for the trout?"

Once when we were driving through the valley in Virginia we had our truffle near a farm house and they gave us lunch—old South field lunch that I know had been field lunch served with eleven courses, swished with heavy sugar, flavored with cherry and sliced paper like. There was hot butter, that made one think they were made with butter-milk from a spring house and a pot of home-made hot butter with that delightful sweet salt taste.

The memories include a New England apple at the "Wagon Inn" in Salisbury, Massachusetts—a cherry made by a friend in Elgin, the kind you cook with a fork and a buttered hot water crisp caught up in a party.

There were the savory shrimps on the half shell to a bowl of crushed ice at Charlie's Cove—so simple that the only mistake I made was to eat it all. There was the first one of the old Parker House in Boston for saying that he felt as if he had swallowed a baby.

California makes me think of the St. Francis and a great basket of purple figs in the hotel room. The memory has entirely vanished as I ate too many. And then there's the pot in Elgin, that odd group of figs and probably don't like it at first but end by liking it very much indeed. I had it at a dinner in Elgin and the host said I have ever tasted cooking in the south, wrapped in leaves. Tasting in the soup were round bits of ham, delicately delicious, that suggested chicken. I was sorry I was so curious when I discovered it was tepid.

I think that for all of us the food we had at home is remembered with a very special flavor, different from anything that we ever taste afterwards, partly, of course, because of the excitement that lies upon the world "when we are very young." At any rate I only know that there has never been any cooking in my life quite so good as a Sunday morning breakfast of fried chicken and waffles, an old fashioned supper with spoonbread, and a lunch of Brunswick stew—with tomatoes, corn, bits of bacon and pieces of the white meat of chicken floating—combining to make a flavour that is unforgettable.

Sets Steel Traps To Catch Children

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11—(AP)—Seymour Gervais, 56, second hand shirt peddler, was arrested today on a charge of setting steel snare traps in an attempt to catch children who steal his shirts.

Inspector Walter Harrington and Chief Kennedy, who made the arrest, said Gervais had been in the trap for some time when they caught him. The traps were set in a narrow alleyway between buildings. Gervais was charged with setting traps to catch children who steal his shirts.

We often speak of the merits of our country going from bad to worse. I believe this is because we look at the evils about us and forget the good that is being accomplished.

During the boom period we were no doubt running down hill morally and spiritually. Our thoughts were of material things and we forgot about our fellow man except insofar as they could help to advance us materially. The opposing camps were almost disappeared, however it brought us to our senses and we took stock of ourselves. The result is that the politicians in swinging the other way. We are improving morally and spiritually. Crime and dishonesty are decreasing and more commendation is being given to our fellow men.

We have a notable example of this in our city, in the campaign that is being waged to stamp out Cuba and Bolita. The Junior Chamber of Commerce has not had the support in this movement that it should have, nevertheless the campaign has had its effect. Our citizens are thinking

U. S. May Spend 30 Millions For Drought Cattle

GREEN MOUNTAIN FALLS, Col., July 11—Henry A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, said yesterday, "It may be necessary to purchase as much as $30,000,000 of drought cattle with federal funds unless general relief comes over the emergency of the corn belt during July and August."

The cattle so purchased, Mr. Wallace said, "will be slaughtered and turned into canned beef to be distributed by state relief agencies."

In a statement issued from his vacation home in this village, Mr. Wallace said the Department of Agriculture, under the power of the Agricultural Adjustment Act has had allotted to it by President Roosevelt the sum of $30,000,000 "with which to buy cattle to ease the thin cattle from the Northwest should drop in price to a point which widens unduly the margin between this and finished cattle."

Powell-Arthur Head Players In Mystery

With more than 20 prominent players on its roll, an imposing cast of all-star caliber has been assembled for "The Ex-Mrs. Bradford," RKO Radio's romantic mystery drama at the Ritz Sunday and Monday.
William Powell and Jean Arthur play the starring roles. Comedy is provided by Eric Blore, seen as Powell's Butler, and James Gleason, portraying a police inspector. Robert Armstrong, Grant Mitchell and Erin O'Brien-Moore have important parts.
Others include Frank M. Thomas, New York stage favorite; Lila Lee, famed star of the silent films; Frankie Darro, John Sheehan, Paul Kelly, Johnny Arthur, Dorothy Gange and Sid Saylor.
Powell and Miss Arthur are appearing together for the first time since they did "The Greene Murder Case" in 1929. The married Gleasons, James and Lucille, are doing their first picture together since "The Shinnons of Broadway," Jimmy Gleason and Armstrong, who teamed with signal success on the stage, also are united for the first time in a long period. And Lila Lee is making her first motion picture appearance in more than a year.
Los Angeles is the locale of the story, which presents Powell as a physician who becomes so deeply involved in a murder case that he must solve the mystery to save his own neck.

the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The divine must overcome the human at every point. The science Jesus taught and lived must triumph over all material beliefs, about life, substance, and intelligence, and the multitudinous errors growing from such beliefs. Love must triumph over hate. Truth and Life must seal the victory over error and death, before the thorns can be laid aside for a crown, the benediction follow. 'Well done, good and faithful servant,' and the supremacy of Spirit be demonstrated."

American-Russian Party Given In Honor Trade Agreement Of Miss Puleston Renewed One Year

MOSCOW, July 11.—(AP)—The Soviet-American trade agreement, under which the Soviet Union more than doubled its purchases from the United States in the past year, was extended today for another year.
The Russians promised to buy at least $30,000 worth of American goods last year but actually purchased more than $15,000,000 worth as compared to $12,000,000 worth in each of the three previous years.
Oriental Clash
TIENSTIN, July 11.—(AP)—Japanese and Chinese detachments met in an armed clash but there were no casualties and an early settlement of the incident is expected. Japanese soldiers at Taku sought to hold target practice in a public park but Chinese troops objected. The argument between the soldiers reached an explosion point and both sides opened fire. Nobody was killed or wounded.
Agreement Made
BERLIN, July 11.—(AP)—Far reaching agreement between Germany and Austria, a usually reliable source said, will be proclaimed to the world tonight by Minister of Propaganda Paul Josef Goebbels. While the text of tonight's announcement was carefully guarded, enough became known to indicate the two nations had buried the hatchet.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Puleston of Boston, Mass., who is visiting her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Puleston, was honor guest at a bridge luncheon given Friday morning by Mrs. R. J. Holly at her home in Mayfair. Bridge was played in the morning and luncheon was served at noon.

After several progressions of bridge high score prize, a beach bag, was presented to Mrs. L. F. Boyle while second high score prize, novelty glasses, was given to Mrs. F. D. Scott. Mrs. Glenn Lingle received "screen" prize, toilet soap, and Miss Puleston was presented with linen sports handkerchiefs as guest prize.
Luncheon was served in courses by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Samuel Puleston. Those present were: Miss Mary Elizabeth Puleston, honor guest, Mrs. Edwin Strobbeln of New Haven, Conn., Mrs. Frank W. Chase of Windemere, Mrs. Samuel Puleston, Mrs. W. A. Adams, Mrs. L. F. Boyle, Mrs. Joseph A. Meisch, Mrs. F. D. Scott, Mrs. Roy F. Mann, Mrs. Glenn Lingle, Mrs. John Meisch, Jr., Mrs. Andrew Carraway, Mrs. T. I. Harris, Jr., of Macon, Ga., bridge guests, and Miss Margaret Peters, luncheon guest.

Aerial Militia For State Is Advocated In Orlando Session

ORLANDO, July 11.—(AP)—Establishment of a state aerial militia for the patrol of Florida's coast lines was recommended yesterday by the newly organized Florida Aviation Association which adjourned yesterday after a two day session here.
The recommendation will be formally presented to Gov. Dave Sholtz and Adjut.-Gen. Vivian Collins. The association recommended that old type Army and Navy planes be acquired by the state for the service but that they be in good mechanical condition. Assistance in financing the project would be sought of the federal government.
The association recommended that gasoline sold to the military units on government reservations be exempt from state tax.
The association would attempt to crack down on seasonal barnstorming visitors in a resolution asking passage of laws restricting seasonal aircraft operation for profit. Another resolution would give counties the same opportunity as municipalities in acquiring land and developing airports.

Relief Is Denied Pennsylvanians For Third Day

Needy Again Without As Deadlock On State Funds Lasts

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 11.—(AP)—More than a half million persons on Pennsylvania's relief rolls went without food orders and cash yesterday for the third successive day.

New Dealers and Republicans in the state senate, battling over the amount needed for the next six months, were uncompromising. The Democratic governor, George H. Earle, demanded $65,000,000. The senate controlled by Republicans, offered $38,000,000, an offer which it was said might be increased to $45,000,000.

Above the din of partisan controversy, Karl De Schweinitz, director of the emergency relief board, pleaded for action. He wrote to John J. McClure, Republican chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

The State Emergency Relief Board was unable to grant any relief yesterday to any needy person or family in the state. The same condition holds today.

We shall not be able to send either checks or orders for food, milk or any other form of relief to the unemployed. Our relief roll is now 175,000 families, representing 567,000 persons.

Expressing hope for an early solution, the director said, checks have been drawn and orders written so that as soon as we are authorized we can immediately re-establish relief.

Some of the state's most powerful political leaders, including former United States Senator Joseph R. Grundy, Joseph N. Pew and Mayor S. Davis Wilson of Philadelphia, watched from the sidelines as the Republican majority and the New Deal forces directed by Governor Earle jockeyed for an advantage.

The senate consented to release several of Governor Earle's tax measures, long pent up in committee. They hold a potential yield of more than $30,000,000.

Some saw hope in the Democratic House, where a proposal went forward for the state to sell notes based on expected revenues for $85,000,000. Leaders pointed out part of these notes could be sold quickly and the money poured into the empty relief chest.

The senate, preparing to push the revenue measure and expecting the tax anticipation bill, decided to meet at 12:01 A. M. today to deal with the emergency. It takes three days to pass a bill.

Record Heat Wave Break Is Forecast As 536 Are Dead

In dozens of cities many perishing residents slept in parks or yards. In a convention hall at Troy, N. Y., 20 women fainted. The heat caused 600,000 dollars' worth of damage to highways in Ohio. But that was only a drop in the bucket compared to the $2,000,000 which weather and flood cost.

Water passages and new records in lakes of places where it was available. Chicago's 24-hour draft on Lake Michigan broke a five-year record at one and a third billion gallons.

Lack of water, or the threat of it, caused a furrowing of brows in the offices of New York's state health department at Albany. It warned that a shortage was imminent unless steps are taken immediately to curtail its use.

The government crop estimate reflected drought conditions with predictions of sharply curtailed crops in spring wheat and corn.

President Roosevelt expanded the relief program by providing 75,000 additional WPA jobs for unemployed farmers.

The heat stretched east to the Atlantic seaboard and suffering was intense in New York and other eastern cities.

July 11.—(AP)—The worst famine in modern times is spreading in China, and death is taking its toll.

Millions more are considered doomed to death by the plague of hunger and white heat, which has brought frightful reports of cannibalism, child-selling and banditry.

National and provincial authorities were taking heroic measures to relieve distress, but it was considered inevitable there must be additional suffering before new and urgently needed crops mature.

Banks of the national government were financing rehabilitation work on roads never before witnessed in this country.

CHICAGO, July 11.—(AP)—Drought, which sooner or later touches the consumer's pocket-books as it does the farmer's crops, has increased wholesale food commodity prices in some cases as much as fifty percent in the past three weeks.

Statisticians said this development would affect the cost of food at retail counters in varying degrees. In prices of some articles, such as butter, eggs, and a few vegetables the influence of drought already is apparent.

Lookouts Take 11-Inning Game From St. Augustine

Langston's Hit Scoring Malby Gives Local Win

Mate, Wright Touched For 10 Safe Blows In Prolonged Game

Langston's single in the eleventh inning, scoring Malby from second, broke up a pitchers' duel here yesterday afternoon in the Lookouts' defense of the game.

Wright started for Sanford and although continuously in the hole, he managed to hold the Saints' offense for the first four innings. He opened the fifth inning with a roller to Wright who threw wide to first. Bennett going to second on the error, advancing to third on Kinard's single to center and scoring on Fitzgerald's flyout to center.

Sanford's Lookouts will meet Palatka's entry in the Florida State League here at 3 P. M. tomorrow. Today the locals are playing in Palatka.

Islanders Drop 9 To 7 Contest To DeLand Reds

Leaders Fall Back On Outstanding Hurler To Halt Scoring

DELAND, July 11.—The DeLand Reds bested the Daytona Beach Islanders, 9 to 7, in a wild game here yesterday afternoon, which saw 18 batters reach home plate on bases. Both clubs collected 10 sacrifices but the Islanders were forced to call Moose Fralick to the mound in the third after Jack Hall had passed four batters.

The Islanders, with a brace of hits and a DeLand error, scored twice in the first, but the Reds rapped Hall for four consecutive blows in their half of the frame which were good for three runs.

In a wild second inning, Jake Bunch passed four men; one of them forcing in a run as the Islanders connected for two more base blows, which with a DeLand error, gave them four runs.

With Hall's wildness, and an Islander error, the Reds scored three in the third to knot the count, but the Islanders forged ahead in the fourth, combining a pair of blows with another Red error for another run. However, the Reds went ahead to add two more in their half of the fifth, and another in the fifth.

This completed the scoring for the day as both Fralick and Bunch settled down after the fifth, allowing only one hit each after this inning.

HERO DEAN AND 'GOAT' DIMAGGIO

Forguson Blasts Pair Of Homers, Gets Seven Hits

Locals Whip Saints But Lose To South Jacksonville Team

Sanford's Junior American Legion baseball team literally ran itself dizzy in Jacksonville yesterday when it piled up the astounding total of 30 runs to down St. Augustine, that scored a mere seven, in the first day's play of the Legion fourth district elimination tournament.

However, the local boys fared somewhat for the worse in the second game of the day when they lost to the South Side Cardinals of South Jacksonville by a 10 to 8 count.

The fray was marked by home runs, with Pitcher Forgunson lambasting a pair of spheroid goods for the circuit. Zachry and Adams accounted for the other two.

All in all, the Sanfordites cracked out a total of 22 hits.

In the other tilt, Forgunson, after chalking up three hits in the previous game, came back to wallop out four more for a total of seven throughout the day.

Osdam was good for four safeties in the field day affair. Colbert slammed a trio against the Cardinals.

This afternoon Sanford is to meet Daytona Beach.

In other district games yesterday, Suwannee Life defeated Daytona Beach, 3 to 2, but the Volusia county lads came back to whip St. Augustine, 15 to 2, in another game.

Final Field Tryouts For Olympics Under Way Today

Three Hundred American Athletes Compete For Sixty Berths And Trip To Games At Berlin

NEW YORK, July 11.—(AP)—Nearly 300 of Uncle Sam's foremost track and field athletes started the qualifying trail that leads to the Olympic games in Berlin.

The final American trials, quadrupled the greatest carnival of its kind in the country are being held in the new municipal stadium on Randall's Island today and Sunday.

With only 600 berths available, four athletes will fall for every one that makes the grade.

Twenty-two members of the 1932 team will be in the field. Among them, Frank Wykoff, who went to the 100 meters final at Amsterdam in 1928 and ran on the winning 400 meter relay team in 1932; John Anderson and Eddie Gordon, diacus and broad jump champions, respectively.

Coffee-colored Jesse Owens, Ohio State's star sprinter and jumper, will have the spotlight on the opening day's program.

Ed negro is entered in the century and the broad jump and rules head and shoulders above the field in these events.

The 800 meter run apparently offers the best prospect for a new world record. Ben Eastman co-holder of the universal mark of 1:49.8 may be driven to even faster time to clinch an Olympic berth.

The competition again will bring together America's outstanding "metric mile" rivals in the 1500 meters with the possibility that one or two of the transvire, Glenn Cunningham, Gene Venzke and Bill Lonstrom may be squeezed out by Archie San Romani, of Emporia, (Kan.) Teachers, the national collegiate champion, or Charles Penak, Wisconsin star.

The 400 meter race loomed a dog fight among the Californians Jimmy Luvall, Archie Williams, Harold Smallwood and Al Fitch, with Syracuse's Eddie O'Brien and Jack Hoffmeister, of Datsmouth, also making bids.

George Varoff, San Francisco's 22-year-old pole-vaulting fanitor who soared to a new world record height of 14 feet, 6 1/2 inches last Saturday, figures to top the field but it is unlikely he or the others will approach that mark.

In the high jump, Walter Marty, who holds the world record of 6 feet, 9 1/8 inches, will meet formidable competition from Cornelius Johnson of Los Angeles, Dave Albritton and Mel Walker of Ohio State, and Ed Burke of Marquette.

The South has a clear cut edge in the hurdles. Georgia's Forrest (Spec) Lewis, clocked five times in 14.1, ruled the favorite at 110 meters, and Glenn Hardin of Louisiana State, appeared the No. 1 man at 400 meters.

Klein Smashes Four Homers To Set New Record

Waner Backs Against Outfield Wall To Kill Fifth Effort

PITTSBURGH, July 11.—(AP)—Chuck Klein, slugging Philadelphia outfielder, batted the Phillies to a 10-inning 9-6 victory over the Pirates yesterday by smashing out four home runs to set a new modern National League record for circuit blows in one game.

By pounding the ball into the right field stands in the first, fifth, seventh and tenth innings, Klein equalled the major league record and became the fourth player to do the trick. Lou Gehrig of the New York Yankees hit four homers on July 3, 1932. Bob Lowe of the Boston Nationals and Ed Delahanty of the Phillies both turned in the feat, but neither performance is listed in modern records.

The Philly outfielder, who batted in six runs with his wallops, came close to hitting another homer in the second inning when Paul Waner backed up against the wall in right to pull in his drive.

Klein's fourth smash broke a 6-6 deadlock in the tenth inning and proved to be the winning run although the Phillies scored two more markers off Bill Swift in the extra frame.

Klein hit his first homer in the opening inning with two on base. His other three drives, which run his season total to 14, came with the bases empty.

Palatka Defeats Gainesville, 2-1, To Break Streak

GAINESVILLE, July 11.—The Palatka Aces defeated the Gainesville G-Men, 2-1, here yesterday afternoon at Harris Field, the victory breaking a 3-game winning streak of the G-Men.

Bill Henderson, the Aces' hurler, won his second game over his former team mates in two starts against them. In each contest the G-Men have managed to get only one run a game off him.

Henderson gave up seven hits, walked one, and fanned three. Joe McNamara, the Gainesville moundsman, was touched for eight hits. He walked one and had one strike out.

The two runs scored by the Palatka team came in the second inning. Henderson's error gave the Aces a base on balls, a fielder's choice, a single and a double.

Gainesville's lone score came in the fifth inning, when McMullen tripled to deep right center, and then scored on a wild pitch.

The G-Men had an excellent chance in the sixth inning to tie and perhaps win the game when they had the bases loaded with only one man down, but Ferrazzi allowed himself to be caught off first, and Buck grounded out, no score being made in that frame by the locals.

English Golf Exponents Not Offered Opportunities To Cash In On Wins As Americans Are

LONDON, July 11.—(AP)—After the British open, championship is nearly a clean sweep in British prize-money golf tournaments, viz Alfred Padgham, the newly-crowned British open champion, looks wistfully at the "rich" rewards harvested by American pros.

Victor in five major tournaments, thereby setting up the greatest competitive record Britain has seen in many years, Padgham won only $7,075 for all his work—and his biggest triumph, in the open, netted the smallest return.

The open title, once valued by Gene Sarazen at $100,000, carries with it a check for only $500, and the additional revenue to be reaped on exhibition matches, advertisements, and teaching totals about the same amount—at least to a British winner. Sarazen this year estimated the potential value of the open crown at $50,000—if he had won it. But he was counting on gleaming most of that sum through an exhibition tour of Australia. Padgham probably won't profit by a twentieth of that.

"The hard truth," says Geoffrey Simpson, sports columnist of the London Daily Mail, "is that

Interest Reduction For Business Firms Announced By RFC

HYDE PARK, N. Y., July 13. — (AP) — Representatives of half a dozen eastern and inland states asked President Roosevelt to set aside a large chunk of the 1936 relief act funds for emergency flood control reservoirs and other works.

Spokesmen for the group said many projects could not wait until Congress appropriates money to carry out authorizations recently approved under the $200,000,000 flood relief act. The President met with the delegates before leaving for Maine where he will cruise off the coast with his sons.

RFC Rates Cut

WASHINGTON, July 13. — (AP) — The $11,000,000,000 Reconstruction Finance Corporation, in an effort to hasten further recovery, last night announced widespread reduction in interest rates to business, banks and farm organizations.

The action, anticipated for some time in financial circles, promptly caused speculation as to whether the federal government and private lending institutions were entering an era of open competition for the business administration is carrying out its broad policy of allowing private enterprise a free rein when it can take up "slack."

RFC Chairman Jesse H. Jones said the reduction should enable banks to liquidate their debts to the corporation without unduly cramping their operations. Some interpreted this to indicate the Administration's decision to take up "slack."

Shannon Assault Trial Under Way In Circuit Court

Circuit court adjourned at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon during the trial of Fred Shannon, charged with assault with intent to kill, when the defense attorney, S. A. E. Wilkinson, was suddenly taken ill.

Fred Shannon, Sanford youth, was on trial here this afternoon charged with assaulting George Calhoun, local engineer, with intent to kill.

Testimony given by the victim, his wife, Mrs. Calhoun and a son, James, showed that the defendant is alleged to have come to Mr. Calhoun's home and shot him twice with no apparent reason. Charles Shaffer, police officer, also testified in the hearing, saying that he arrested young Shannon after the incident and took from him a gun which bore two empty shells.

A decision is expected to be reached this afternoon. Lloyd Boyle is the state's attorney, while S. A. E. Wilkinson is the defense lawyer.

Jury For Circuit Court Activity Reports For Duty

Gracey Case Is Set For Trial Tuesday Morning At 9:30

Twenty-seven Seminole County citizens to serve on the circuit court jury had been summoned today and reported for duty at the Court House.

The regular panel is composed of H. C. Parker, C. T. McCaulley, C. E. Hawke, J. St. Clair White, Jr., Morgan McClelland, Fred Forward, Otis Fouraker, W. B. Graycraft, W. H. Allen, A. W. Davis, M. W. Temple, George Smith and H. M. Gleason.

Special jurors are F. D. Scott, Burgess McMahon, Roy Venable, Henry F. McGowan, A. B. Kimball, T. W. Jones, Gus Schmah, Jon S. Bates, H. E. Fuller, W. L. Tyler, N. J. Stenstrom, F. J. Tackach, R. F. Hudson and A. J. McCaulley.

The principal case to come before the July circuit court is that of C. C. Gracey, charged with second degree murder in the death of Odell Bumbalough. Trial is set for 9:30 Tuesday morning.

Today's activities were to have centered around the trial of Fred Shannon, youth alleged to have assaulted George Calhoun, a local engineer, with intent to kill.

There are other minor cases to be heard, including two where grand larceny is charged, according to Chief Deputy O. S. Estridge.

Young Local Girl Dies Sunday After Lingering Illness

Funeral services for Betty Ann Harrison, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harrison, were scheduled to have been held at 3 P. M. today from the Erickson Funeral Home. The Rev. Dr. K. D. Brownlee was to officiate.

Miss Harrison died yesterday in the family home at Sanford and Geneva Avenue after a lingering illness.

Burial services are J. M. Wilson, C. P. Ford, E. L. Copeland and Morris Mays.

Miss Harrison was born at East Decker, Ga., on Sept. 24, 1925. She and her family had been residents of Sanford for eight years.

Surviving are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison, and three brothers, Ford Harrison, Lawrence Harrison and Eugene Harrison.

Interment will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

13,000 Seminole Acres Covered In U. S. Farm Plan

Conservation Plan Gains Rapidly In Agriculture Circles

Thirteen thousand acres of Seminole County farms today had been included under the federal government's soil conservation program, County Agent C. R. Dawson announced.

He said 178 work sheets, indicating participation in the plan, were on file at his office this morning.

Mr. Dawson said he was highly satisfied with the late results and declared that he expected 85 percent of the county's agricultural industry to have signed with the program before the deadline falls on July 20.

A force of nearly half a dozen persons this week are covering the county, making personal explanations of the conservation movement and are endeavoring to obtain support from every grower.

The county agent said he had received but one flat refusal on the part of a farmer to sign a work sheet.

Late last week some of the county's largest farming interests complied with the routine of the conservation plan and the remainder of a larger scope are expected to enter shortly, according to Mr. Dawson.

Re-emphasizing that money paid by the government for conservation participation is not a loan, the agent pointed out that receipt of funds bound a grower to no obligations.

Tonight Mr. Dawson will hold a public meeting at the Lake Monroe school house to explain the plan. Activity will begin at 8 o'clock. Tuesday night he will be at the Longwood postoffice.

Gracey Is Returned For Court Activity

Sheriff J. F. McClelland returned today from Marianna bringing Virgil Gracey, inmate of the state school for boys, to testify in the Tuesday trial of his father, C. C. Gracey, facing second degree murder charges.

Court proceedings are scheduled to get under way tomorrow at 9:30 A. M. Lloyd Boyle, assistant state's attorney, is prosecutor.

County Stops Gratis Screw Worm Dope

The county farm agent's office has discontinued the practice of giving away boxes and pins for all for the treatment of the screw worm. It was announced today by Roy C. Tanner, in charge of the work in several Central Florida counties.

He said the material will be available to farmers through private stores. Ferry Mays, according to Mr. Tanner, will be a dealer here and should have a full stock within ten days.

Senate Vote Ruling To Be Given Tonight

Pepper Has Field To Himself As Four Seek Post Vacated By Park Trammell

TALLAHASSEE, July 13. — (AP) — The attorney general's office today said it could not complete before tonight an opinion on the legality of the special nominating primary called by the Democratic Executive Committee for Aug. 11 to name candidates to succeed the late United States senators, Fletcher and Trammell.

Secretary of State R. A. Gray requested the opinion when five candidates for the office filed qualifying fees with him before the deadline last Saturday at midnight.

Whether the attorney general says yes or no, the whole thing will go to the Supreme Court. It has final authority to determine whether public funds may be expended in conducting special primaries.

Legal opinion is somewhat divided on whether there is sufficient authority for the special nominating primary. The Democratic executive committee set for Aug. 11 and Sept. 1. If they cannot be held, nomination of senatorial candidates must be made by political party executive committees.

If the attorney general finds statutory authority for such a primary, it will be attacked by Florida Republicans. If he finds no authority, the nominations probably would be made by the party.

Unidentified Auto Driver Crashes 3 Vehicles Saturday

An unidentified driver, apparently drunk, late Saturday night crashed into three automobiles in the vicinity of 20th Street and crashed into three automobiles, doing considerable damage.

Witnesses to the incident said the crashes occurred so suddenly that the only description possible to obtain was that the wild, driven car is a Ford coupe.

The owner of one car involved gave chase immediately after the crash, but because of the coupe's head start was unable to keep it in sight.

Police today were working on the case, although they had only the barest details and leads.

One of the automobiles belonged to B. L. Perkins, local merchant, and it was so badly damaged he purchased a new vehicle to make a vacation trip which he had planned.

Owners of the other automobiles had not been reported to police this morning.

Sanford Odd Fellows Seat Heads Tonight

Sanford Odd Fellows, Lodge Number 27, tonight will install officers for the coming year. Ceremonies are to begin at 8 P. M. in the organization's lodge hall.

J. T. Hardy is the incoming noble grand while W. W. Van Ness has been elected vice-noble grand. Other officers, with the exception of the secretary and treasurer, will be appointed by the chair.

All local members of the fraternity are urged to attend tonight's activities. Out-of-town lodge members are also invited.

Department of Commerce Officials Look Over Field

Two U. S. Department of Commerce representatives who inspected the Sanford airport late Saturday were particularly pleased with the facilities offered at the flying field, Volie Williams, local aviation enthusiast, said today.

The men, J. R. Puckett and Wiley Heitz, offered two suggestions: that the landing area be rolled with a heavy machine and that four trees growing on the south end be removed.

A formal report of the inspection should be received here this week, since Mr. Heitz left immediately for Washington to catalogue his official opinion.

Three planes were in the touring party, composed of individuals who had attended the state-wide aviation conference in Orlando last week. Among the personnel were A. Jensen of Miami, C. E. Millson and Harold Mueller of Orlando.

Sanford persons interested in aviation indicated some time ago that a favorable department of Commerce report would be a boon.

Mutilator Of Girl Sought By Cops

WASHINGTON, July 13. — (AP) Police said today they hoped to make two arrests in connection with the mutilation of Jean Bell, 23, who testified recently before a grand jury investigating vice charges against Charles "Lucky" Luciano.

The girl was found yesterday in a gas filled apartment. She said a man forced his way into the room, cut off her hair, cut the initials "C. L." and figures "1-12" on her thigh and abdomen, then bound and left her in her room with the gas turned on. The girl formerly lived in Lakeland, Fla.

Indian Is Hanged Despite Failure Of Trap Trigger

SAN CARLOS, Ariz., July 13. — (AP) — Hoastful Earl Gardner, an Apache Indian who killed his wife, infant child, and another Indian, was hanged from government gallows for 33 minutes while armed men stood guard as a warning to tribesmen not to interfere.

Gardner, 31, who insisted the government "get rope" and hang him without delay and boasted he would die "like an Apache" met a horrible death. The body struck the side of the trap as the trigger was sprung. It dangled there while the helpless victim groaned and kicked.

Those directing the execution talked of dropping him again but decided against it. Every minute for fully 20 minutes the attending physician made an examination and shook his head. Thirty-three minutes after the trap was sprung, Gardner was finally pronounced dead.

There had been talk of a tribal uprising to prevent the execution but not an Indian appeared in sight. Guards watched in every direction.

Governor Sholtz To Be Nominated For Highest Elk Office

Governor Dave Sholtz tomorrow is scheduled to be nominated for the position of grand exalted ruler of the Elks who are holding their national convention in Los Angeles.

Judge Herbert B. Frederick, exalted ruler of the Daytona Beach lodge, to which Sholtz belongs, is to place the governor's name in nomination. Another Floridian will second the move.

Because he was scheduled to become head of the Elk organization, the governor recently announced a decision not to run for one of the U. S. Senate seats made vacant through the death of Florida's two veteran senators, the late Duncan U. Fletcher and Park Trammell.

Heat Clings To Mid-West As Rains Fail

Nation's Death Toll Hits 1,247 Persons; Crop, Stock Losses Pass $300,000,000

Showers Relieve Some Dry Areas

Hailstorms Destroy Farming Products, Houses In Georgia

CHICAGO, July 13. — (AP) — Drought and record-shattering heat clung to the long suffering middle west and east in the northern half of the nation today as life-giving rains in some portions of the northwest and south over the week-end were expected toward other affected sections but "frayed out."

Deaths from prostration and drowning mounted to at least 1,247 and crop destruction was estimated at a staggering price with damage in excess of $300,000,000.

The government meteorologist J. R. Lloyd, here made this "Blue Monday" for harassed farmers in the breadbasket of America and gasping urban dwellers when he announced no new rains were in sight for the northwest or for any other heat-baked area.

He said generally fair weather with torrid temperatures would continue today and tomorrow for the drought areas, in general but cooler weather was likely in the eastern section of the northwest Tuesday.

Purely local showers were forecast for North Dakota, Northwestern Minnesota, Northwestern Wisconsin and upper Michigan. "Where it did rain in the drought area, men and women laughed with relief and children played in mud puddles. Farmers continued to fight herds of grasshoppers and crickets.

The worst of the drought country needed a soaking downpour, but corn would be greatly benefited by any fair amount of rain. Colder weather alone would slow the daily onslaught of destruction, which has cost farmers

Papworth Tenders C Of C Resignation From Market Body

H. M. Papworth, Seminole Chamber of Commerce representative on the Controlling Committee of the State Market, will submit his resignation to the Chamber board meeting tomorrow night, it was announced today.

The following statement was issued by Mr. Papworth: "Since the organization of the Sanford State Market I have held the office of chairman on the Controlling Board representing the Chamber of Commerce. The market is now a well established institution and will always be for the good benefit of Seminole and South Florida farmers providing policies are not permitted to control.

"When resigning as your president I was persuaded to retain office on the Market Controlling Board until the end of our fiscal year, July, 1936. This time has now arrived and not desiring to represent your honorable board further will you kindly appoint my successor at your convenience."

The statement was signed by Mr. Papworth.
