

When Race Tracks Shut Down, Many Persons Affected

By FRED HAYDEN
AP Features
 Ever try to follow out all those affected at any one racing track in the case of a shutdown such as occurred in Florida? Here's a list which doubtless is not complete, but gives you an idea:

Racing executives, caterers, admissions and mutuels men, auditors, starter and crew, parking attendants, program printers and sellers, officials, totalisator employees and heads, camera department, track superintendent and crew, engineers, electricians, Pin-kerton men, blacksmiths, feed men, van men, owners, trainers, farriermen, groomers, exercisers, sweepers, jockeys, valets, laundrymen, jock trainers, agents, announcer, publicity staff, and—

Well, that could go on and on, and we didn't even mention horses!

What is to become of the internationally famed Saratoga yearling sales, which saw many thousands of budding racers, barons and the reverse, exchange hands for many millions of dollars? Where will such leading American breeders as A. B. Hancock and Phil Chinn (the latter able to boast that he has sold seven million dollars worth of horses that have won nine million) dispose of their stock?

To compute approximately how much money, how many people, etc., are involved in America's racing and breeding industries during normal times calls for tremendous research. Probably the best picture of the subject is afforded by an annual report of the New York State Racing Commission, issued last year by Chairman Herbert Bayard Swope, for the year 1941.

That report put the value of all the thoroughbred industry ramifications at about $100,000,000. It said thoroughbreds are about 55,000 in number in America, worth roughly $50,000,000; that they consume $11,000,000 of farm produce, cause employment of 55,000 persons who are paid about $50,000,000 yearly and support about 224,000 in their families.

The year 1942, racing's first full wartime season following Pearl Harbor, brought natural changes in statistics, but in many departments there were increases. The number of breeding farms jumped to about 840 in 37 states. Some 1,600 stallions and from 10 to 15 thousand mares were registered; about 14,000 horses were in training.

Horse-owner Horace Wade sums it up this way:

"Owners and trainers are hopeful that the sport will continue to thrive. They know certain tracks, far from the center of population, need a rubber-saving measure. If, on the other hand, such tracks as Aqueduct, Hawthorne, Suffolk Downs and other in-town courses can conserve, they will feel that they can weather the storm. What a number of our horsemen cannot figure out is all the stir regarding racing in the land."

"Why," asked one the other morning, "when the horses continued to run at Cairo with the guns of Rommel's army sounding at the gates of the city? Why, too, when Australia continued to operate in the face of a Jap invasion? And when even the King of England continues to race his horses in England and calls for a continuation of the Epsom Derby during these troubled days?"

Recent survey showed that about 70 per cent of the persons with dominant right hands also were dominant right eyes.

With Armistice Food Rationing Won't Be Ended

By JOHN GROVER
 Food rationing won't end with the armistice. It's considered a certainty in Washington that rationing will continue at least through the first crop year after hostilities cease.

And there's no guarantee it will end then.

From Secretary of Agriculture Wickard's statement that "Food will win the war and write the peace," through Vice President Wallace's post-war plans, there is the clear implication from Administration sources that food will implement our military and diplomatic policies during and after the war.

One announced purpose of the rehabilitation organization headed by Herbert Lehman is feeding the people liberated from the Nazi yoke. Similarly, new drafts of food supplies from our production pool, will have clear claim on further food supplies during the reconstruction period.

It is even probable that the vanquished Axis peoples will have to be fed while the post-war world is being fashioned.

Everything points to a whole world on short rations for at least one crop year after the war, the United States no less than other nations. It could take longer.

No clear formula for food distribution has been advanced in the post-war world suggestions.

Those who have considered the problem suggest that some food items will be taken from the shortage class almost at once. Right now coffee, sugar and cocoa are scarce because of shipping shortages. Huge stocks exist in the producing countries, awaiting only shipping that will be available almost on armistice day.

The mustering out of millions of farm laborers, and the release of farm workers now in war industry, should ease the farm labor problem in the first peacetime crop year.

Wheat stocks, already overflowing granaries in the cereal belts, will be ample to supply bread to the post-war hungry. That's all to the good. The post-war shortages, however, are sure to be critical in meats, fats and oils and the high vitamin foods. Europe's livestock is going fast. It's doubtful if brood stock remains to supply European needs, even in the most exporting countries, for many years.

The enormity of the post-war feeding problem can be seen from the fact that in 1943, according to the Department of Agriculture, military and lend-lease requirements will probably account for 20 to 25 percent of our total supplies of beef, 35 to 40 percent of pork, 24 to 30 percent of eggs, 10 to 45 percent of cheese, 15 to 20 percent of butter.

From four-tenths to half of our condensed and evaporated milk will go to the fighting forces or lend-lease; slightly more than half of our canned fruits; and 45 to 50 percent of canned vegetables. These shipments will not, of course, take care of the starving millions in the countries now occupied by Hitler, who would be calling on us for help when the Nazis are kicked out.

The production program for the post-war period has not been defined. Congressman Clare Luce urged continuation of lend-lease, which presupposes government purchase of food supplies sent abroad.

Whether the people of the United States will consider, with the war won, that the peace aims are important enough to continue lend-lease to make food transfers a weapon of post-war diplomacy is an untouched question.

Those who are thinking along these lines emphasize that the rationing have barely been formulated, let alone answered.

Droughts In South Florida Increase Number Of Fires

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 2. (Special)—Drought conditions in South Florida have increased the number of forest fires this far in the current fire season.

Assistant State Forester, reports that 3,425 fires had occurred on protected lands by Feb. 1. Approximately 65,300 acres had burned and damage was estimated at $69,000.

In spite of the number of fires, control has been good. Less than 1.3 percent of the 5,088,132 acres under fire control has burned and losses have been held to an average of 27 acres per fire.

Granting states that conditions have been increasingly critical in some parts of the State throughout February. Crows and equipment have been extended to the limit in Hillsborough, Pinellas, Orange and Volusia Counties and in some other sections. He points out that only about one-fourth of the forest acreage in the State is under fire control and that burns have been widespread this season on the unprotected acreage.

Bible Brought Up To Date For First Time In 192 Years

AP Features
 NEW YORK, Mar. 2. The Bible has been brought up to date. For the first time in 192 years, a revised, modernized New Testament and Commentary has been published for Catholics.

Issued by the Catholic Biblical Association, the new work is translated from the Latin Vulgate source.

"Every effort has been made to translate the full meaning of the New Testament in the terms of today in hope that Scripture-reading will become a habit for Christians," says the Rev. John E. Steinhilber, one of the many contributors and translators.

Here are a few of the hundreds of instances of change:

Verb forms such as "hath," "saith" and "doth" are largely eliminated. So is the use of "ye" in the plural, but "thee" and "thou" are retained because of the advantage over "you" in denoting singular.

"Corn" becomes "grain." (Corn is maize to Americans.)

"Script" becomes "walled"; the man "ill of palsy" is a "paralytic"; "flesh" and "doth" are largely eliminated. So is the use of "ye" in the plural, but "thee" and "thou" are retained because of the advantage over "you" in denoting singular.

The familiar verse in three Gospels: "Suffer the little children to come unto me and forbid them not" is now "Let the little children come unto me and do not hinder them."

Allies Slowly Win Back Lost Positions

Communicate Reports Heavy Damage To Axis In Vicinity Of Sedjenane And To North Of Beja

In central Tunisia, British, American and French forces today were slowly winning back all they had lost to Marshal Rommel. The Americans were pressing south of the recaptured Sbeitla. An Allied communique reported heavy damage to an Axis position north of Beja and east of Sedjenane as dispatches from northern Tunisia told of crack German armored and infantry units breaking and burning under terrific artillery barrages of the British. Front dispatches said the Americans nowhere in central Tunisia were meeting Axis resistance other than mines and booby-traps. But in the jagged hills to the northeast sharp fighting still was under way at last reports, with British troops holding the Germans at all points, aided by a concentrated air bombardment of enemy columns.

A dispatch from Edward W. Beattie of the United Press on the north front said that the Germans scored one minor success in four attacks yesterday but appeared on the verge of withdrawing from the "Hunt's Gap" sector 15 miles north of Beja.

The powerful Allied air offensive spread over the Mediterranean yesterday to Palermo, Sicily, where Flying Fortresses carried out four attacks on the city, where American Liberators made a heavy daylight raid. Allied planes and bombers dropped 87 tons of bombs on the city, which they lost only five of their own. The American bombers actually had penetrated the important railroad point which was being cleared by hundreds of mines and booby-traps set in narrow ravine and cañon.

There was no sign of enemy activity at Feriana or at Sbeitla, into which American armor yesterday had withdrawn all the way to Fald Pass and Gafsa, leaving only a rear guard on the central plain.

Scouts Collected 4,500 Pounds Of Metal Last Year

Collection of 4,500 pounds of metal, and 14,000 pounds of rubber were among the accomplishments of Boy Scouts of Seminole County during the past year, it was announced today by Ralph A. Smith, scout chairman.

In addition, a large quantity of war surplus was collected, and 1,100 price control leaflets were issued by the scouts. Club activities include: several meetings, also courses of honor, 800 medals and merit badge awards, and during the year, membership increased from 308 to 420, with 118 new scouts added to the rolls.

The membership was made up of 114 white boys, 77 negro boys, 100 girls, 4 explorers and 187 new scouts. One campout was held at the Boy Scout Camp, and a number of Seminole County Boy Scouts attended the Florida County Campout at the Seminole County Camp, which was held at the Seminole County Camp, which was held at the Seminole County Camp.

79 Inch Rainfall Last Night Beneficial To County Crops

Dr. R.W. Ruprecht of the State Agriculture Experiment Station recorded 79 of an inch of rainfall last night and reported that the intermittent rains, breaking a drought of several weeks proved beneficial to celery and cabbage. M.L. Cullum, sales manager for a produce concern, submitted a report agreeing that the rain was good for remaining cabbage and celery and disclosed that "celery shipments last week and this week will be about the same, the peak of the winter deal. The half-way mark was passed last week, and we figure Seminole County has received an average of only 190 cars a week for five weeks during the winter deal. Probably the decline will be gradual, with the shortage showing up toward the end of March. Quality is improving rapidly.

"Other districts will contribute about 200 cars a week during the same period, possibly less. Celery was hurt by the freeze, and is in light supply at present. We will have greater supplies after this week, but not normal at any time. "Potatoes were again knocked to the ground by a frost Sunday and since will be small, the crop set back. Some crops have been abandoned. It now looks as if Sanford will not have shipments before late April.

"Escarole also suffered from the freeze, but only slightly, though late plantings may be lost as a result of the shock. Shimmerys are light, but should pick up slightly. "If dry weather continues, I forecast an short Spring crop of all vegetables. "Valencia Oranges, and some miscellaneous oranges are available, with demand exceeding supply. We are shipping straight cars, also quite a few mixed with celery and cabbage. Quality is excellent, price at ceiling, where it is likely to remain."

Casualty Rate For Navy Estimated At 10 Percent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3. (AP)—Plans for a Navy "big enough to dominate all the seas over the world" are under present plans, according to a report by Navy Secretary Knox that the loss of time and production in war plants has been increasing. An estimate of 10 percent Navy casualty rate also was revealed.

The pleasure driving ban in the east may be lifted about Mar. 22, but no definite decision has been made. No. 5 fuel oil rations will be worth about one to two gallons more.

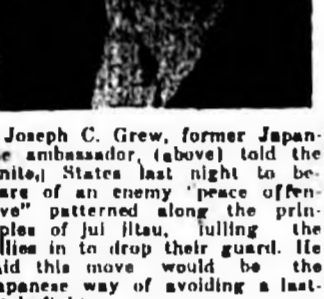

The rationing of meats, cheese, butter, cooking fats and oils will begin Apr. 1 under present plans and meat rations probably will amount to about 1 1/2 pounds per person weekly.

Price Administrator Franklin Brown today said community wide ceiling prices would be set shortly for pork and beef is a blow at small market.

Small daily newspapers as well as newsstands are being closed by the wage-hour law under legislation introduced by Senator Reed (R-Kan.).

Warns Against Japs

Joseph C. Grew, former Japanese ambassador, (above) told the United States last night to beware of an enemy "peace offensive" patterned after the principles of Jui Itau, killing the Allies in to drop their guard. He said the move would be the Japanese way of avoiding a last ditch fight.

7479 Households Registered For War Ration Books

483 More Registrants Sign Up Than For Sugar Rationing

According to consumer declaration forms filed for War Ration Book E, there are 7,479 family units in Seminole County, and of these, there were 483 more registrations taken than in the initial registration for War Ration Book I, statistics from the rationing board show.

In Oviedo, 2118 persons were issued "sugar" books and only 1718 persons were issued books last week, while in Sanford, 1132 more people received second war ration books, because negro labor and wash houses at the time of sugar rationing registration. A. Peterson, rationing executive, remarked:

"In other county towns, there were 649 fewer war ration books than sugar books issued (but not with 1684 turned in to the main ration office the same number of registrants after each registration)."

There were 5,144 excess cans of rationed foods in the county, about 1 1/4 of a can per capita. Mr. Peterson said. Blame for all but 358 cans was removed from ration books. Stamps for the remaining number will be taken out of the next ration book from notations made in the ration books.

One hundred and forty-eight excess cans of coffee were discovered and stamps for all but four cans of these were removed from ration books. The number of coffee stamps removed from minor ration books included: There are 4,980 children under 14 years of age in the county, Mr. Peterson revealed.

He ended the report commending his voluntary helpers in the registration, as he said only one ration book was misplaced.

Red Offensive Forces Nazis To Withdraw

Fascist Army Fighting Russia Smashed As Italy Says 20 Divisions Removed

The new Russian offensive had forced the Germans to withdraw from temporarily held neighboring fortress of Ribes, 130 miles northwest of Moscow, the Nazis acknowledged today, describing the action as "according to plan". This suggested the Germans might be engaged in a far-reaching retreat on northern fronts.

Only plodding progress of Red army was recorded in the Soviet communique. Tanks, mud and equally weather were slowing operations. The Moscow radio declared the Italian Expeditionary Army in Russia had been smashed and the Italians and to divisions had been recalled.

Katifer, Russian announced fresh gains on four main southern battlefronts, while in the north the Russian broke into an enemy defense system, according to the Russian Tuesday midnight communique, recorded here from the Moscow radio.

West of Kharkov, where the Germans had thrown in fresh reserves, including the 17th Infantry Division, the Russians smashed counter-attacks and advanced to take a large inhabited place in one sector, while in other, in a five-day fight, they captured another town, the communique said.

The Moscow radio, in a special broadcast, announced the capture of a large village 25 miles south of Orel, junction point of the southern and central fronts.

This poem reached the United States last week from the Near East. Its author, Sergeant Hugh Brodie of the Royal Australian
Air Force, onetime Melbourne University student, is now "missing in action."

Allmighty and all present Power,
Short is the prayer I make to Thee.

I do not ask in battle hour,
For any shield to cover me.

The vast unalterable way,
From which the stars do not depart.

May not be turned aside to stay
The bullet flying to my heart.

I ask no help to strike my foe,
I seek no petty victory here,
The enemy I hate, I know,
To Thee is also dear.

But this I pray, be at my side
When death is drawing through the sky,
Almighty God who also died
Teach me the way that I should go.

for its attitude toward the govern-

Dangerous Inflation

Although point rationing and price ceilings appear to be uppermost in the minds of everyone, the number one problem on the domestic front continues to be inflation. Nothing new in origin, dating back to the early days of the unbalanced budget, inflation has since the war began, reached such proportions as to frighten even some of the more radical leaders in the country.

In a stupendous effort to combat the menace of uncontrolled prices, the government has clamped price ceilings on almost everything produced for sale and has at the same time resorted to rationing of a good many of the essentials of life so that everyone may have a fair share. Trying to control inflation in this manner, however, is like trying to keep a bath-tub from running over without turning off the faucet.

The rise in prices is attributable to two principal causes. The first and most important is the enormous amount of money now in circulation resulting from the high wages being paid by the government and from private industry profiting from government contracts. The other is the shortage of supplies due to the transformation of consumer industries to war industries.

So while there is less and less of everything to buy, there is more and more money in the pockets of the people with which to purchase dwindling stocks and commodities. The old economic law of supply and demand goes to work, people bid against each other for the things they want, and prices tend to skyrocket. That they haven't so far has been due largely to price ceilings.

A simple and sensible way of eliminating this dangerous situation is for the government to put less money into circulation. It could do this easily enough by rewriting its contracts with war industries so as to cut government expenses to the bone. This would, of course, mean smaller profits for firms engaged in making armaments, and smaller wages for those working in war factories.

Another way the government could avoid inflation would be by levying heavier taxes. If the government made its taxes high enough to recapture from the people the large wages and profits resulting from war contracts so that the federal budget was balanced and no excess money was put into circulation there would be no danger of inflation.

But both high taxes and low wages are extremely un- popular, so without a doubt we will continue to avoid both and we will continue to resort to the doubtful expedient of price ceilings and point rationing in an effort to control prices. If these do not work, we may yet find ourselves paying two or three dollars for a loaf of bread.

After the last war it took several billion marks in Germany to buy a cup of coffee.

Burning Decks

The facts about the American battle at Casablanca, on the Moroccan coast of northwestern Africa, have been slow in coming out. That fight occurred last Nov. 8, and involved the sinking of ten warships, according to disclosures made by Capt. W.A. Sullivan, U.S. Navy salvage chief.

There must have been many a stirring incident in that big sea fight, which will be told eventually. And there may well have been many another Casablanca going down with his ship.

The suggestion arises naturally, because the name "Casablanca" is really the same as "Casablanca." He was the naval hero celebrated by Felicia Hemans in her famous poem, which begins, "The boy stood on the burning deck" and ends with the "burst of thunder sound" that strewed the sea with fighting men and wreckage.

That was in the famous Battle of the Nile in 1798, and the father of the young hero, Louis Casablanca, had fought for American freedom and was an officer at the siege of Yorktown. It is odd how such things hang to- gether.

Important Information

Here's one that was going the rounds in the last war and is equally applicable to this one:

Absolute knowledge I have none,
But my aunt's washerwoman's sister's son,
Heard a policeman on his beat
Say to a laborer on the street
That he had a letter just last week
Written in the finest Greek,
From a Chinese coolie in Timbuctoo,
Who said the natives in Cuba knew
Of a one-legged man in a Texas town,
Who got it straight from a circus clown
That a man in the Klondike heard the tip
Straight from a South American lip,
About somebody in Borneo who
Had heard of a man who claimed he knew
WHEN THE WAR IS GOING TO END.

Allies Drive To Site Three Miles From Faid Pass

Rommel Shifts Part Of Armored Units To Southern Line To Meet British

(By Associated Press) American troops were reported within three miles of Faid Pass where they began their recent 66-mile retreat in Tunisia.

Marshall Rommel has shifted at least part of his armored forces to southern Tunisia to meet the British along the March Line, Allied headquarters announced today, but in the north a German drive forced a four-mile Allied withdrawal near the sea.

Field reports said American and British forces, retreating the path of their central sector retreat, had occupied El Beida, only about 10 miles from Faid Pass, without opposition.

Destruction of seven Axis vessels on the damage of one by a British submarine in the Mediterranean sea of supply lines was announced.

American forces were reported sweeping unopposed across the central Tunisia plain last night toward Faid Pass, vital doorway to the Axis coastal corridor, while British troops had driven the enemy back two miles in the battle for the region further north.

Front dispatches said the Americans now were well east of re-occupied Sidi el Barrani and military centers believed they had enough chance to retake the vital Faid Pass line as it was before Marshal Erwin Rommel began his offensive on Feb. 18.

A British American column was reported working down toward Gafsa, 50 miles south of Kennerly Pass, at a slower pace as they cleared away thousands of Axis tanks and armor.

It was reported that the British had captured the strategic Faid Pass and that the British had spent two days on the battlefield west of Kennerly Pass.

Frontier dispatches broadcast by the American radio said that units of the French combat corps had reached Meftah behind the Marsa Matruh, reported British troops had captured the strategic position stretching across the salt marshes to Gafsa. The commander indicated the French had captured Meftah rather than capture it.

Jap Threat To Australia Cut By Big Victory

Bismarck Sea Battle Described As Best Fighting Of Land Forces During War

(By Associated Press) With almost to a man 15,000 Japanese warriors bound for New Guinea "complete disaster" the Japanese campaign, an Allied communique today said, and the threat to Australia obviously was reduced.

The battle of the Bismarck sea in which the Japanese lost 22 ships sunk or left in a sinking condition appeared to represent the greatest victory in the war of land-based planes over surface vessels, an AP tabulation showed. The total of all Jap ships announced since Pearl Harbor was 510.

The convoy was smashed in assaults throughout Tuesday and yesterday despite bad weather as it headed toward New Guinea in reinforced Japanese troops at Lae, and although the communique declared that all the ships "are sunk or sinking," it did not disclose the names of the vessels.

A spokesman at headquarters estimated that possibly several thousand Japanese naval personnel and the wreckage of the Bismarck, in addition to the 15,000 troops aboard, as the Allied planes hurled down more than 100 tons of bombs upon the ships.

"We have achieved victory of such completeness as to assume the preparations of a major disaster to the enemy," the communique declared, and the whole convoy "was practically destroyed."

Enemy air coverage became weaker and his forces more scattered and dispersed; and finally his remnants, isolated and surrounded, were gradually annihilated by our superior air formations as we sent them into total annihilation," the communique declared in graphic account.

The communique asserted that the decisive success cannot fail to have most important results on the enemy's strategic and tactical situation. It is completely disoriented.

Recapture Of Vital Ukraine Rail Hub Claimed By Nazis

(By Associated Press) Two Red army offensives northwest and south of Moscow gained momentum as the Red army drove southwestward from Rbeev, capturing 11 planes, and raised an increasing threat to Kiev in evident determination to wipe out the menace to the capital.

The Germans claimed the recapture of the Dnepet valley rail hub of Slavutsk in a morning counter offensive in the Ukraine. Russian troops, storming and capturing Rbeev, anchor point of the German salient north-west of Moscow, have smashed the heart of the enemy's defensive system on the central front and have opened a vital army gateway to the west, the Moscow radio said earlier today.

Capturing two key railroad cities on the Kursk-Orel front for a total of three first-rank victories in a single day, the Russians also had put the German Bryansk-Orel salient in jeopardy, the Moscow radio said.

"We have achieved victory of such completeness as to assume the preparations of a major disaster to the enemy," the communique declared, and the whole convoy "was practically destroyed."

Enemy air coverage became weaker and his forces more scattered and dispersed; and finally his remnants, isolated and surrounded, were gradually annihilated by our superior air formations as we sent them into total annihilation," the communique declared in graphic account.

Meat And Butter Rationing May Begin April 15

(By Associated Press) The government plans to ration meat, butter, margarine, cheese, and other cooking fats and oils, under a single set of coupons in Eastern Bore, it was learned from informed authorities today, perhaps beginning April 15.

The assigned points will be interchangeable.

More than three billion pounds of meat is missing from the expected civilian supply, it was learned on the heels of the rationing plan.

Possible explanations of the deficit are: production may be below expectations; military and lend-lease demands may be up; an extra large supply may be hoarded on farms and in cold storage lockers.

A 10 percent increase in the rationing plan for the month of March 1, 1943, as a means of providing more vegetable oil for food and livestock feeds will be announced, it was learned from authoritative officials today.
