The Key Saga: Cities' Workers Get, Use Them

By DORNA EYERS Herald Staff Writer

Every employee who needs a key, wants a key or has asked for a key, as a necessity of doing his work, in the city halls of the seven cities of Seminole County has one, according to a survey conducted this morning by The Evening Herald.

The inquiry was sought as County Commissioner William Kirchhoff, official courthouse custodian, contacted today to Andy Clark of the County Clerk's Office, Kirchhoff Jr., a key to the County Courthouse which he has used to access the city hall of his office after normal office hours.

Currently, Kirchhoff may gain entrance access to the county facility, after hours and on weekends, through a security guard.

But, Kirchhoff has said the security guard doesn't always promptly answer the bell at the courthouse front door.

"These people who need keys to the building have keys," commented Richard Kirshoff, assistant to the city manager of Sanford. "They have no time hours and we feel it is incumbent upon us to have them be able to reach their place of work."

In Kissimmee Springs, Wayne Collins, secretary to Mayor Norman Floyd, said all those who need keys have them in the city hall. In addition, he said, a key is available at the police station and at the fire department for emergency use.

County Clerk Mary Hawthorne said in addition to the keys to the front door of city hall which all employees, the mayor and various agencies have, access is available from the police station to those who may have misplaced or lost their keys.

"Our city hall, because the police department is part of it, is never closed. Anyone who has a good reason for getting into city hall can do so," she said.

The same holds true in Longwood, Water Springs and Oviedo.

"Anyone who has a need to get into city hall can do so either with his own key or with the one at the police station," said Longwood City Clerk Cecil R. Shumate.

"Everybody who works in city hall has a key," Oviedo City Clerk Nancy Cox said, "I've made the decision to let the technician over at the city hall."

"Any conditions who needs a key has one or do the department heads and others who need them," Water Springs City Clerk Mary Norton said.

In Lake Mary, the elected officials, the city clerk, the city clerk's clerk, the city planner, the building administrator and Change Bus Routes To Help Commuters?

The county commission has approved and set out on the Orange-Seminole-Osceola Transportation Authority (OSOTA) a suggestion by changing its early morning Sanford bus routes to provide a way for persons to get to their jobs.

County Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff recommended the changes whereby one of the buses rather than two, leaves Sanford Plaza at 6:30 a.m. Monday through Friday to the courthouse would be changed to a run from the Midway area to the industrial area at Pinebrook Egg Processing Plant and Cardinal Industries and then to Sanford Plaza.

"People in the industrial area who work in the industrial area could then catch a bus to work," Kirchhoff said.

In addition to bus riders in the early morning could instead be shifted to the County Club Road area for the Continental Food plant, again to provide a way for employees to ride a bus to work.

Kirchhoff said, "Few passengers are getting on this bus with its stop at the cemetery."

The normal process, the commissioner, who is the county's representative on OSOTA, is to make a recommendation to the OSOTA staff which will look over the routing recommendation.

Kirchhoff said to expect a response to the suggestion from OSOTA by the first part of the week.

Meanwhile, bus service will be extended Saturday and Dec. 22 to accommodate Christmas shoppers.

All routes will run their normal through-the-week schedules both Saturdays from 6:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Bus stop signs were erected Thursday.

According to Pat Hinchrich of OSOTA, the signs primarily will be changed to meet rider needs.

Israel Rejects Egypt-U.S. Peace Proposals, Raps U.S.

United Press International

Israel today rejected the proposals made by the United States and Egypt for a cease-fire in the Middle East, saying the proposals were "inconsistent with the Camp David frameworks."

Secretary of State Cyrus Vance, who failed in his efforts to get the two nations to sign the pact by Wednesday, U.S. officials said there would be no comment on the Israeli decision until they have seen the full text of the cabinet statement.

The Israeli cabinet decision put Israel on a collision course with the United States because the U.S. has been pushing for a cease-fire since the outbreak of the Yom Kippur war in October.

The cabinet, in a statement read by Prime Minister Menachem Begin, issued Egypt for the ability to continue a treaty signed on the territory of the Golan Heights peace agreement signed in September.

"I have said the Egyptian withdrawal is a necessary condition for the U.S. to be able to negotiate a treaty with Egypt," Begin said.

Begin today continued Israel's opposition to sign a U.S. draft treaty on November 11 and approved Nov. 21.

Israel's rejection of the proposals brought Begin's government to a new crisis. But it meant Begin's government was far from being a united front.

Begin said he expected the negotiations will be resumed because "we need to sign a peace treaty with Egypt."

TURIN, Italy (UPI) — A Red Brigades urban guerrilla attack squad killed two policemen in Turin today and a bank president and another policeman were wounded elsewhere in a new explosion of political violence.

The two policemen were gunned down by submachinegun fire as they patrolled near the main entrance of Turin's New Prison. The attack occurred one day after charges were filed against gang members in the kidnap-slaying of former Premier Aldo Moro.

Officials said two or three men in a compact automobile opened fire on the policemen in the northwestern city then sped away.

MADRID (UPI) — Official publication of the new Spanish Constitution will be delayed at least one day from Dec. 28, to avoid being put out on Spain's equivalent of "April Fools Day," legislative sources disclosed. Dec. 28 is the "Day of the Holy Innocents," a day on which Spaniards play jokes on each other in the same style as April 1, April Fools Day, in other parts of the world.

Train-Truck Hit; Gas Kills Three

BOULDER, La. (UPI) — A train slammed into a tank truck carrying deadly liquid ammonia today, spraying a mile-wide cloud of the noxious gas that killed three persons and hospitalized 28 in the remote community of Mena.

"We have already confirmed three fatalities," a state police spokesman said.

John Lucas, the director of the St. Charles Parish Civil Defense, said police radio reports indicated at least two of the fatalities occurred in a nearby trailer park. Lucas said the parish coroner's office was called to the scene at about 9:30 a.m. to pick up the bodies, as yet unidentified.

The mile-wide cloud of noxious ammonia gas wafted over the isolated community about 6:45 a.m. just after a train slammed into the trailer of the tank truck, another witness said. Residents within a half-mile radius of the spill fled their homes.

Officials at St. Charles Hospital in Lake, La., report of treating 28 persons for inhaling fumes. Two others were taken to St. Ann Hospital in Bogalusa, La.

"These are very toxic fumes. Area volunteer fire departments are there right now to spray the spill with heavy water fog to make fumes drop to the ground so they don't spread," St. Charles Civil Defense director John Lucas said.

State police said the tank truck was hit about 6:42 a.m. by a train on Louisiana 217, a new highway cut through the sparsely populated region. Liquid ammonia began spilling "all over the ground" immediately, police said.

SECA: All's Well, Sally Harvey's Named President

"This one will be a dull meeting," said Patsy Wilkison, a clerk at Millers Middle School, adding, "But it will be a good one."

This was the prevailing mood Thursday as a unified Seminole Educational Clerical Association (SECA) met and elected its new officers for the next year.

For the past several months the organization had been split into two factions, divided over who actually represents the SECA membership.

The split had caused a delay in the employment contract negotiations between SECA and the Seminole County School Board.

However, last week, leaders of the two sides, Sally Harvey and Ann Flach agreed to sit down together as part of the team that would bargain with the school board.

After about an hour of negotiating agreement was reached, on the contract which now still has to be ratified by the 400 clerical employees and then by the school board.

At Thursday night's meeting, Mrs. Harvey was elected to a one-year term as president and now takes over the duties from Mrs. Flach.

In addition to Mrs. Harvey other officers were elected.

Arla Wright, elected vice president, an executive secretary at the district office; Joyce Adams, elected member secretary who works as a secretary at Lake Orista.

NATION IN BRIEF

Recession? New Figures Contradict Forecasts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Industrial production rose 0.7 percent last month, the Federal Reserve Board said today, a strong performance that contradicted forecasts the nation could be headed for a mild recession next year.

When coupled with the latest government reports on retail sales and employment gains, the industrial production report could prompt forecasters to revise their economic projections upward.

Sub-Stealing Plot Convicted

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — A federal court jury has convicted a Rochester, N.Y., insurance salesman of wire fraud in a scheme to swindle $300,000 in bond money from a businessman in a plot to steal a nuclear submarine. The jury deliberated 17 minutes before returning the guilty verdict Thursday night against Edward J. Mendenhall, who could receive up to five years in prison and a $1,000 fine. The maximum penalty is the same as on the original charge against Mendenhall and James W. Cosgrove, 26, of Geneva, N.Y. Both had been accused of conspiracy to steal the nuclear submarine Trepan from New London, Conn.

Cleveland Default Nears

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Unless Cleveland Mayor Dennis Kucinich convinces a half-dozen local banks he has a sound financial plan to put the city back on its feet, and has the clout to pull it off, Cleveland will default on $18.5 million in short-term notes at 11:01 a.m. Saturday. It would be the first major U.S. city to go into default since the Great Depression.

TVA Cleaning Steam Plants

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — The Tennessee Valley Authority Board of Directors has voted to spend $1 billion to clean up 10 of its 12 coal-fired steam plants, marking the settlement of the largest air pollution lawsuit in history. The settlement ends a six-year battle between TVA and the Environmental Protection Agency, the states of Alabama and Kentucky and a coalition of 10 health, consumer and environmental groups.

Head Tests For 'Skyjacker'

CHARLESTON, S.C. (UPI) — A U.S. magistrate has ordered Gerald Casey, 53, of Albany, N.Y., to undergo 30 days' psychiatric evaluation before setting bond on charges he tried to hijack a New York-to-Miami airplane flight. Casey, a janitor in an Albany state office complex, told federal authorities he was drinking and the entire incident was a joke. He boarded the National Airlines 727 aircraft in New York without luggage and had about $30 cash in his possession at the time of his arrest.

Half-Ton Hashish Recovered

CUTLER, Maine (UPI) — State and federal officials have now recovered more than a half-ton of hashish in the area where law enforcement agents broke up an alleged drug smuggling operation earlier this week. Divers and land searchers recovered 450 pounds of hashish near Cutler, bringing the haul of the drug seized to 1,050 pounds, which officials said was worth more than $1.5 million.

Venus: 'Greenhouse' Theory

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (UPI) — Scientists say the first analysis of data returned from the Pioneer Venus Mission supports the "greenhouse" theory about the Venusian climate, but raises questions about the planet's origin. The greenhouse theory holds that the hot Venusian temperatures, which reach 900 degrees at the surface, can be explained by a very dense atmosphere and the cloud layer, which holds heat in.

Volusia Pursuing Drug Ring

DAYTONA BEACH (UPI) — The combined state-Volusia County-city police narcotics squad today is making a dent in a drug ring, which one officer said has been distributing $5 million worth of illegal narcotics a year.

It, said the Daytona Beach Police Department said the special squad has been working on the case for a year and has seized an estimated $10 million worth of illegal drugs in the past six months.

The latest seizure came in raids Wednesday night and early Thursday morning when officers arrested 11 persons, confiscated $20,000 worth of narcotics and 13 weapons.

Smith said narcotics investigators believe Daytona Beach has become the distribution point for illegal drugs to an area bounded by Jacksonville, Orlando and Cocoa. He said the drug ring are believed to be based in Daytona Beach. About $1 million worth of narcotics a year.

Lake Mary: Only 2 Show For Hearing

The city of Lake Mary is seeking a federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) community block grant to correct drainage problems and pave seven streets south of Lake Mary Elementary School.

One of the projects would probably be between $200,000 to $275,000, according to city officials.

The city held the first of two public hearings designed to gain citizen input into the grant request Thursday night at city hall. The second hearing is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Dec. 20. Only two persons turned out for Thursday's meeting.

Neither of them lived in the area affected by the grant proposal.

The grant would create ground water and a holding pond to handle drainage, according to Phil Kubler, city grants coordinator. In addition the grant would provide funds for paving the following streets south of the school: Third, Fourth, Short, Ruskin, Washington, Moore and Van Buren.

To create the holding pond, the city would have to purchase an as-yet undesignated amount of land to create the holding pond, said Kubler.

Before the grant application can be made, a survey of the area affected will have to be made, according to Randy Lankford, president of Lankford Consultants, the firm retained by the city to help it acquire federal grants.

HUD will be looking at the need for the project and the amount of low to moderate-income families affected by the improvements, according to Lankford. The more such families are helped by the project, the better its chances of approval, he explained.

"What we have to do is give them a neighborhood where they can make a drastic difference, so when they go before Congress to justify their existence they can show what a difference they've made in Lake Mary," said Lankford.

The survey of the area affected by this proposed project is part of a city-wide survey Lankford will do for the city at a cost of $2,500. The survey will be designed to gain information about income levels to aid in developing information for grant applications.

'Government Must Lead' Graham Outlines Inflation Battle

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Government must step out and show the public it's serious about fighting inflation, says Gov.-elect Bob Graham.

"If government won't follow (President Carter's) wage and price standards it doesn't give the private sector much incentive to do so," Graham told reporters Thursday.

Graham said his administration is going to keep total state expenditures in line with the president's proposals which call for government to cut business to cap spending and price hikes at 7 percent.

The governor-elect said he doesn't want Florida to suffer as it did earlier this decade when inflation forced a crippling recession, shutting down the construction industry and forcing senior citizens to dig into their savings to pay bills.

"It is critical that we do not repeat the circumstances of the early 1970s," he said, while announcing the formation of a high-powered group of business and community leaders from around Florida to help his administration shape anti-inflation policy.

St. Petersburg savings and loan executive Raleigh Greene will lead the task force that begins work Tuesday and probably will use its considerable muscle to help bring local government and businesses into line.

"The role of persuasion might be an important one," Graham said.

Graham said components of his anti-inflation plan will include:

- Asking the Cabinet to require vendors supplying the state to comply with the guidelines or else lose state business.
- Reviewing regulatory laws and eliminating those that stifle competition and are not in the public interest.
- Looking at ways the state can cut its health care costs. He denied the anti-inflation measures will penalize the poor.
- "We are going to be sensitive... to the programs that have an impact on the poor and need who depend on them," Graham said, when the question of budget cuts was raised.

Graham indicated, however, the real victims of high inflation are middle-class folks like the ones he worked with during his workdays campaign for governor.

"Let us not forget that inflation has already taken a very deep toll on many of our people," he said.

Give Him That Key

You would think the gentleman wanted a pass to the executive washroom. Or a trip to the moon.

Not the case. All Art Beckwith Jr. wants is a key to the Seminole County Courthouse so he can do his job as clerk of the circuit court.

A simple request? Sure seems like it. But he has been refused three times after time for that several years by the county commission.

The explanation: According to Commissioner Dick Williams, immediate past commission chairman, "one of the reasons Beckwith hasn't been given a key is because keys then would have to be given to the tax collector, the property appraiser and judges."

Probably right. And so what? Shouldn't these officials have the ability and opportunity to do their jobs anytime they want... unless he has been granted to visit the courthouses or passed to get into the building?

Mr. Beckwith calls it "harassment by the county commission." We call it juvenile behavior by the county commission.

Deserves Chairman Bob French: "The bottom line is who is responsible if there is some damage to the courthouse. That is the county commission," he informs us.

Again, so what? Are the commissioners dealing with delinquents who will be using the keys to enter the courthouse at all hours to throw a disco party or a barbecue in the hallways and aisles of commission chambers?

Common sense, folks! Officials outside the county—including Mr. Beckwith's Orange County counterpart, Randall Kirkland, and B.Y. Smith, Volusia County clerk of the circuit court—cannot believe the hassle here in Seminole.

"You gotta be kidding," Mr. Smith commented. "How does Beckwith get his work done?" Good question.

Last we heard there were no wild parties being thrown by either of these two gentlemen in Orange or Volusia courthouses.

Around

Count your blessings. The following letter did not appear in the regularly scheduled "Dear Alky" column. Alky has it now.

DEAR ALCY: Would you like to have your 25-year-old child make Christmas?

I'd like to exchange gifts between myself and my 25-year-old child. I'll give you a gift if you give me a gift. I'll give you a gift if you give me a gift.

I can't go shopping myself, so I have to depend on others to shop for me, which is embarrassing. I'm a single mother and I don't want to be a burden on anyone.

It doesn't seem like Christmas is just around the corner. I'm starting to feel like I'm in the middle of a long war.

On the contrary, a series of Supreme Court rulings make it clear that the IRS has a positive responsibility to ensure that a valuable public benefit—tax-exempt status—is not accorded to private schools that practice racial discrimination.

The problem, as is so often the case, lies in the drafting of the new provisions. In an attempt to achieve guidelines that are uniform and comprehensive, the IRS has inadvertently broadened the tax-exempt status—which is to say, the financial lifeline—of these schools.

The speaker concerns the second part of the IRS proposal, which would single out for special scrutiny all private schools established or specifically expanded during a period of public school desegregation in the community.

Any school which lacks a minority enrollment equal to at least 30 percent of the community's total population of the community would be presumed to be discriminatory unless it could prove otherwise through a series of tests involving minority recruitment efforts, employment of minority teachers, scholarship aid to minority students and so forth.

Once a school was put in this "reviewable" category, the IRS would expect administrative officials to determine if the school would be treated as tax deductible—thereby denying tax contributions—until a determination has been made that the school actually desegregated.

ANGEL-WALTERS Better Try Again Old IRS

WASHINGTON - In the interest of common sense and political prudence, the Internal Revenue Service had best head back to the drawing board with its proposed new procedure for reviewing the tax-exempt status of racially discriminatory private schools.

There is absolutely nothing wrong with the intent of the new guidelines, not withstanding the may have been some quarters that racial policies of private and church-related schools are not of the IRS' business.

WASHINGTON - When a politician or a government agency has an unfavorable position to push, they usually use a public relations firm to be certain to do the job.

That is what happened when the United States Navy faced the loss of its favorite Caribbean island, Vieques. The Navy's public relations campaign was led by P. T. Sherman, who there's another way to say it, the Navy made plans for an elaborate public relations campaign that included the Navy's public relations campaign.

For years, the Navy has used Vieques and its offshore waters for aerial gunnery practice. This use has been the subject of the Navy's public relations campaign.

VIEWPOINT The Saga Of Spanish Cliff-Hanger

There is an impulse to hold one's breath in observing developments these days in Spain. The same theme is repeated in the story of a contemporary world audience, the story of that country in this historically very short period since Francisco Franco's departure has been a progression from one crisis point to another.

The latest happy chapter concludes in the doctor's approval of a new constitution ending the state of political limbo which has prevailed since Franco's authority passed to his chosen heir, Juan Carlos de Borbone, who took over as king but waited, in the legal sense at least, pretty much the same dictatorial powers as had his predecessor.

Spain has now become a parliamentary monarchy with sovereignty vested in the Spanish people. The 18-article constitution, Spain's seventh in less than two centuries, declares the advent of the Spanish to create "an advanced democratic state," guarantees a wide range of individual rights and explicitly renounces the principles and political machinery of Franco's corporate state.

It's significance is not limited to Spain. It is also of great importance to the United States, in that it is a geographical part. Formalized association with the Common Market and even NATO may not be too much to hope for.

There is, however, still a cloud or two in the Spanish horizon. The vote on the constitution registered an overwhelming 5.7 million to favor against 1.4 million opposed. But almost a third of the electorate abstained, prompting some democratic opinionated that the stability of the new national charter and the survival prospects of the minority government of Prime Minister Adolfo Suarez which brought it into being.

The bulk of the opposition is based in the northern Basque provinces, where absorption averaged 85 percent. Basque nationalists of various degrees of extremism, hardly surprised from Franco and pursuing something close to guerrilla warfare against his successors, were adamantly opposed to the constitution's recognition of special regional interests.

The most immediate danger would appear to be in the possibility of Basque violence in reaction to the new constitution. It is a possibility, but that it may prove constructive from another viewpoint, the far-right ideological hater of Franco with strong army ties who are not at all happy with developments since his death.

It was designed to convince the islanders of "the outstanding requirement for Vieques land for national security." The same entitled "Virgin Community Action Plan," suggests "radio & TV. sports, recreation, health, education, medical, social, and other services." (and) Navy produced weekly newsletter "Newspaper" to spread the message.

Under "Plan to be implemented," the same report includes a list of projects to be implemented on Vieques, including: health, education, medical, social, and other services.

'Coming Out Of The Cults'

Former Members Listen, Believe, Obey

(The members and some addressees at the People's Temple in Guyana have focused attention on two questions: Why does a person join a cult? What is the aftermath for those who have left?)

From the time prospects are invited to the cult's domicile, they are caught up in a round of long, repetitive lectures couched in hypnotic metaphors and exalted ideas, hours of chanting while half-awake, standing-focusing songs and games, and meditating. These activities continue after initiation as well. Several groups send their members to bed wearing headsets that pipe sermons into their ears as they sleep.

Headsets pipe sermons into their ears as they sleep

That's after hours of listening to tapes of the leader's exhortations while awake. All these practices lead to produce states of altered consciousness, exaltation and suggestibility.

When they leave the cult, many members find that a variety of conditions — stress and conflict, a depressive low, certain significant words or ideas — can trigger a return to the trance-like state they knew in cult days.

They report falling into the familiar, unshakable lethargy and seeming to hear bits or exhortations from cult speakers. These episodes of "floating" even if the person does not feel like doing the bidding — or even abhors it. Headsets work hard to prevent defections. Some ex-members cite warnings from the cult of heavenly damnation for themselves, their ancestors and their children. Since many cult veterans retain some residual belief in the cult doctrine, this alone can be a horrifying burden.

When members do leave efforts to get them back reportedly range from moderate harassment to incidents involving the use of force.

At the root of ex-members' fears of their former cults is often the memory of old humiliations administered for stepping out of line. Kathy, who had been in a group for more than five years, said: "Some of the older members might still be able to get to me and crush my spirit like they did when I became depressed and couldn't go out and fund raise or recruit."

Former cult members frequently report they accept almost everything they hear, as if their pre-cult skills for evaluating and criticizing were in relative abeyance.

They cannot listen and judge; instead, they listen, believe and obey. Simple remarks of friends, dates, co-workers and roommates are taken as commands, colleagues, expecting them to try to stir up feelings of guilt over leaving and condemn their present life.

Did They Talk To Ancestors?

PORT MORESBY, Papua New Guinea (UPI) — Police are questioning eight members of a cult who claim they talked to spirits via a "telephone" line made from 60 yards of cane.

The case ran from the cult headquarters in a remote area of eastern Papua New Guinea to a tree trunk, a police spokesman said. Police launched the investigation because of the country's law against spreading false rumors likely to cause unrest.

The headquarters were found crammed with empty suitcases and socks, which cult followers believed would be filled with money if the right arrangements were made over their cane line.

Earlier this week the town of Aitani was connected to the microwave automatic telephone service that serves most of the country. Police said the cult appeared to have been inspired by the new service.

The cultists claimed they talked to ancestors in heaven on their "telephone" and if pleased by the reports, money would be sent by the spirits.

A police spokesman explained the situation appeared to stem from a community with insufficient knowledge to comprehend technological changes, falling back on supernatural beliefs.

He said, however, such cults often are led by more sophisticated members tricking their followers.

The Rev. Sun Myung Moon, head of one of the larger cults — the Unification Church — addresses a "Bicentennial God Bless America Festival" in New York's Yankee Stadium. "They get you to believing that they alone know how to save the world," recalled one cult member.

Chamber Hosts Ladies Brunch

About 100 Sanford business women showed up for the Annual Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce Ladies Brunch at the Sanford Civic Center Thursday morning.

Local women took job breaks to attend the luncheon to imbibe the spirit of the season and hopefully win a door prize donated by local businesses.

Hostess Virginia Longwell rounded up 71 prizes to delight the winners with a warm, hospitable preview of the yuletide season.

Jack Horner was on hand to assist Mrs. Longwell, along with his wife, Peg, and Martha Yancy.

The brass quartet from Crooms High School, under the direction of Wayne Eberhardt, heralded the occasion with a medley of Christmas music—the group's first public appearance.

Shirley Ryan led the ladies on a brunch break in a roving stargazing of favorite Christmas tunes.

Clutching a door prize and wearing a broad smile, an unidentified woman beamed, "How delightful! Working women could really get spoiled to days like these."

In And Around Lake Mary Couple Home After Happy Holiday On Pacific Tour

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. (Maryon) Monzing, residents of the Forest are back home after a very happy 28 day tour to New Zealand, Australia and the Pacific Islands.

The couple left for Los Angeles, Cal., where they met with a group of members of their club, the A.A.R.P. (American Association of Retired Persons) who were the organizers for this tour of 28 days.

They flew from Los Angeles to Tahiti, their first stop, where according to Maryon: the French own the land, the Chinese own the business and the Tahitians just fish, swim and love everybody.

From there they flew to the island of Auckland in New Zealand, and also they made a stop in the cities of Roturua, Te Anau, Mount Cook and Christchurch where the weather was mostly rainy and cold, but the hospitality of the people made up for it; they welcomed everybody with open arms.

Their next stop was Australia, where they visited the cities of Canberra, the capital, and Sydney. Later on they flew to the Fiji Islands and Western Samoa where Maryon learned that their biggest productions are: babies, coconuts and bananas. In that order.

Their final stop was in American Samoa and its capital Pago-Pago, from there it was flying back to Honolulu, Los Angeles and Orlando. What a trip!

Also from the "Virus" and back home too, are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth M. (Sophie) Chapman and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. (Jane) Becker. They took a gorgeous two weeks

Happy weekenders were Sandy and Glenn Owen. They flew to New York to visit their good friend Susan Langley, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Largent of Sanford.

While up there, Sandy and Glenn saw the Broadway show "On the 9th Century" and spent practically all day Sunday Christmas shopping at the very famous Macy's.

Congratulations are in order for Barbara Beckhorn, a Lake Mary resident and very active in civic organizations. She was installed last week of 1976 President of the Orlando-Winter Park Board of Realtors in ceremonies held at the Holiday Inn on International Drive in Orlando.

Our congratulations also to Barbara Beckhorn. She graduated from the Riding Academy "Meredit Manor" in West Virginia this month. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Deloris) Beckhorn, are residents of Lake Mary.

Hasta la vista

With Christmas so close to us, everybody is partying and having a good time. The sales management and the staff members of the Forest gave a Christmas party in honor of all the residents and the newcomers. A buffet style dinner was served in their clubhouse.

Also the Kennagers Club had the "Trim the tree party" at the clubhouse Sunday. Refreshments were served and about 60 people attended the gathering.

The Lake Mary Homeowners Club had its traditional Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Ethel Scott in Geneva, according to Mrs. Mildred Sandusky, the club's vice president.

Gifts were exchanged and special guest was Mrs. Louise Poole (Homes Economics Club). A complete turkey dinner will all the trimmings was served afterwards.

Square Mom Can't See Son And Girl In Bed At Home

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN DEAR ABBY: I never thought I'd be writing to you, but I am. David, our son, a junior in an eastern college, phoned to tell us that he's bringing his girlfriend Judy home for Christmas. She's a sophomore and we've never met her.

We have only one guest room with twin beds. My husband and I sleep in a king-sized bed, so I said, "You and Dad can sleep together in our room, and Judy can sleep with me in the guest room."

David laughed and replied, "No way. You and Dad can sleep in the twin beds, and Judy and I will sleep in your room."

Dear Abby

Abby, I don't tell our 30-year-old son how to live when he's away in college, but I just can't see him sleeping with this girlfriend in our home — especially with his Dad and me right in the next room.

He thinks I'm square. Am I? MENOMINIE MOM DEAR MOM: If you're square, I'm in all four of your corners.

DEAR ABBY: This is the second marriage for both of us. We both have grown children, so we had papers drawn up to be sure that everything from our first marriages will go to our own children.

I sold my house (at his request) and moved into his with the understanding that if anything happened to him the house would promptly go to his children.

I do all the cooking, cleaning and laundry — in addition to holding down an outside job. I buy all the groceries, had cable TV installed, and even take turns paying for meals when we eat out. We bought all new furniture for which I paid half. I also pay for any long distance calls I make.

He agreed to pay the water and electric bills, but now he wants me to pay half because he says the bills are too high. When we have work (always about money) he either goes to his daughter's house for two or three days, or leaves town.

Do you think I'm getting a fair deal, Abby? I'm tired of being a party. What should I do?

NO NAMES PLEASE DEAR NO NAMES: Since you make no mention of your feelings for this man, your marriage sounds like a business deal — a bad one. All you have to invest is time and money. And at this stage of your life, time is more important than money. Walk.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter was married recently. She had a lovely church wedding, followed by a dinner and reception attended by 124 guests.

All the wedding festivities were planned carefully, and everything ran smoothly. The only part that caused us a great deal of trouble was the fact that several of the guests brought wedding gifts to the wedding. Abby, the bride's family has enough to do without worrying about how to get a cartload of gifts home after the wedding reception!

Please say something in your column about this. Why, oh, why do people bring gifts to the wedding? MOTHER OF THE BRIDE DEAR MOTHER: Being the mother — for THEM. Wedding gifts should either be sent to the bride's home before the wedding, or to the couple's home after they return from the honeymoon.

PAINTED, VARNISHED READY

TERESA SHAW ADDS PAINT TO CANDY CANE

They Work From Dough To Decorative Delight

Flour, salt and water are the main ingredients in bread but the dough formed can be used for items that are decorative rather than digestive.

School children have used those ingredients to make relief maps, but Mary Fetchet uses the dough to create delightful Christmas tree ornaments.

Mixing the flour, salt and water into a stiff dough resembling modeling clay, Mrs. Fetchet of Sweetwater Oaks, rolls, cuts, and shapes pieces into angels, candy canes, miniature Santas, wreaths, and dozens of other holiday items.

Inserting a wire into the top they can later be hung on the Christmas tree.

After baking in an oven, the decorations are left to cool and are given a festive coat of paint.

Santa gets a red coat, rosy cheeks and a shiny black belt. Green leaves and red berries are added to wreaths.

Angels get golden wings and a bright robe. A protective coat of varnish is then added to seal out moisture and to give it a bright glossy look.

What started as a hobby four years ago has grown into teaching classes through the Seminole Community College's Leisure Time program. Mrs. Fetchet has taught 3 sessions this fall and plans to continue the course after Christmas. Plaques, breadbaskets and many other decorative items can be made using this same technique.

"I was interested in doing my own ornaments this year," said Linda Herring, one of Mrs. Fetchet's students from Altamonte Springs. "The traditional look is neater." If not pleased with the shaped figure she added, "You can wad it up if you make a mistake."

Her roommate Teresa Shaw had a different reason for taking the class.

"After 4 years of college academics I wanted to get out and take some crafts. I told myself if I graduate I'm going to enroll again and do nothing but fun things."

Pam: It Started As Lark

Pam Dawber is Mandy in Robin Williams' Mark in ABC's "Mark and Mandy." An actress-singer with a four-octave soprano voice, she began performing in stock musical production as a high school student in Farmington, Mich. The daughter of Thomas Dawber, operator of a stock photo company agency, and Gene Dawber, a commercial artist, Pam was born in Detroit. In 1971, Pam went to New York City to visit a friend, and, as a lark, "accompany" her to a model agency and was hired. While modeling and appearing in television commercials for a number of national products, she also was taking acting and voice lessons. Her first professional performance was in a lead role (Jennie) in "Sweet Adeline" at the Goodspeed Opera House in East Haddam, Conn. During the run-she met with Robert Altman in New York City and was immediately signed for his feature, "A Wedding." After performing in a mini-version of "Sweet Adeline" in New York City at the Players Club, Gramercy Park, she went to the West Coast to screen test for the "Tabbies" series. Although she did not get the part, this led to other auditions, a contract in June 1977, and the lead in ABC's comedy special presentation, "Sister Turtl." Although she plans to maintain apartments in New York City and Los Angeles,

Wright Brothers: 75 Years Ago

NEW YORK (UPI) — While scientists are trying to decode the latest information space probes have brought back from the planet Venus, the earthbound will celebrate the 75th anniversary of the first powered flight.

Incredible, it seems, that only 75 years ago, on Dec. 17, 1903, Wilbur and Orville Wright conceived gravity-braked flight at Kitty Hawk, N.C.

The event will be celebrated this Dec. 17 by "The Winds of Kitty Hawk," to be shown on NBC 8-10 p.m., Eastern time, with Michael Moriarty (last seen as the man you loved to hate in "Holocaust") playing Wilbur, and David Hoffman (most recently in "F.I.S.T.") as Orville.

Textbook history tends to differentiate as little between the Wright brothers as between the cough drop Smith brothers, but the two actors see their characters quite differently.

"I was the bold one," Moriarty said of Wilbur Wright during an interview, but almost immediately turned serious, describing Wilbur as "a loner, withdrawn, a little obsessive."

"The one picture of him I saw in which he looked at home and at peace was when he was getting an award from President Taft," Moriarty said. "Otherwise there was a lot of anger in the man."

Hoffman saw Orville, on the other hand, as "the brother with the sense of humor, who took things easily — even curiosity." (Orville was at the stick for the first passenger fatality of the aviation age.) "He was supportive, once he was drawn to Wilbur's idea, and more demonstrative than his brother.

"After Wilbur died," Hoffman added, "Orville became the withdrawn reclusive that Wilbur had been."

The driving force behind the Wright brothers' work in their Dayton, Ohio, bicycle shop, their preliminary glider flights and the first 13-second powered flight, was Wilbur. Moriarty isn't entirely comfortable with his portrayal.

"I'm not as proud of this one as Eric is 'Holocaust,'" Moriarty said. "I think I play Wilbur with too much respect — I don't make him human enough. I want to be nice to him."

"The best aspect of the film is as a documentary of flight," Moriarty said.

'Stubby Pringle' Rides Off To Dance

By JOAN GEOGHEGAN production. She plays the sharecropper's careworn wife, Mrs. Henderson. It's the third Hallmark production for actress Kim Hunter, who makes a cameo appearance as the comfortably-off rancher's wife. Although she didn't travel to Colorado for the outside scenes, Kim spent four days shooting in Toronto. It was a happy reunion for her and Julie Harris, they both, Kim claims, have haunted each other's careers. "The last time Julie and I were in Toronto we were on tour together," she says. Of Beau Bridges' Stubby, Kim says, "He's terribly endearing, someone you want to hug." Stubby saves up all his earnings to buy a new shirt, a bolt of cloth, a batch of ribbons for Elizabeth, the girl who caught his fancy at the last Christmas dance.

'STUBBY' AND FRIENDS
Beau Bridges (rear) is cowboy Stubby Pringle and Julie Harris (left) and Kim Hunter are two frontier women who influence him in "Stubby Pringle's Christmas."

'He's terribly endearing, someone you want to hug'

He picks up his mail-order package from Montgomery Ward at the Rancher's house. Their domestic comfort conjures up images of an equally cozy home for him and Elizabeth. Dejected out in his new shirt, Stubby rides off to the dance. Enroute he finds a ramshackle cabin inhabited by a sharecropper, his wife (Julie Harris), and their two children. He gives them the cloth, the ribbons and the chocolate, then carves a hobby horse for the little boy. By the time Stubby reaches the Christmas dance, he's parted with all his gifts. One almost thinks Stubby avoids the dance and Elizabeth when he stops at the sharecropper's cabin and plays Santa to his children. Kim agrees, in part, saying, "He's desperate to go, but he is a little worried about it." Kim also says that "Stubby Pringle's Christmas" is "designed as a tearjerker." but it has such a good producer and such a good cast. "The special presents a heart-warming and unique vision of Christmas. Kim Hunter had major roles in the Hallmark features "Give Us Barabbus" and "Lamp at Midnight." Her theater and film career encompasses some of Broadway's and Hollywood's finest — including her Academy Award-winning role of Stella in "A Streetcar Named Desire." She recently completed a stage production of "The Belle of Amherst" in New Jersey and hints that another play will be her next project. Bridges had a major role in the NBC-TV special, "The Four Feathers." His recent television credits include "The President's Mistress" and "The Runner Stumbles." Among his films are

"Grossed Lightning," "The Other Side of the Mountain" and "Two Minute Warning." "Stubby Pringle's Christmas," a Cates Brothers Production, was adapted for television by Tony Award winner James Lee Barrett from a story by Jack Schaefer. The executive producers are Gilbert and Joseph Cates. Peter Dobanos is the producer. This is the third production set for the 28th consecutive season on NBC-TV of the Hallmark Hall of Fame, network television's longest-running and most-honored drama series.

KAREN AND JOHN HAWKINS

5 Months Of Agony—And Love

Lightning Struck Just Once, But...

By MELISSA EDGEMONT
 Herald Correspondent

Karen Barber Hawkins of Forest City wasn't sure she'd see this Christmas.
 Struck down by what experts estimate was a 100-million-watt bolt of lightning, two months ago, it has been a long hard road to recovery, but with the help of a loving and supportive family she has made it.
 Karen has no memory of the traumatic incident, but her twin sister, Kathy Barber Shover, of Altamonte Springs, who was with her, remembers it well.
 She doesn't like to talk about the terrifying experience, because it is too close to her memory something she would like to forget.
 They were outdoors when lightning can provide a storm by night to 10 miles as they jogged along New Smyrna Beach about a half mile from their condominium on that fateful July 2. A storm was moving in from the direction of Daytona Beach.

Suddenly, without warning the lightning struck from a slightly overcast sky, knocking the sisters to the ground. Power from the bolt was enough to light a small city, experts later told them.
 While Kathy only received shined knees and a ringing sensation in her ears, Karen lay motionless and not breathing. Her sister had turned blue and her talking unit was turned off.
 When Jean Latham, health service advisor of Volusia Community College, was summoned to the scene by an eyewitness she and her two daughters began administering cardiopulmonary resuscitation to Karen.
 "They thought her all practical purposes she was dead and there was little chance of reviving her," said Helen Barber of Canaberry, Karen's mother, "but they kept trying until her heart began beating and she started breathing again."
 Taken to Orange Memorial Hospital in Orlando by ambulance, Karen did not regain consciousness for 10 days and was in the intensive care unit for 13 days.

Why one of the twins absorbed the full force of the bolt, while the other was minimal, is a mystery. Both girls were wearing jogging shoes at the time and were away from the water.
 However, Volusia counties with their popular beaches are among the most central Florida counties known as the lightning corridor because of the frequency of thunderstorms. The deaths attributed to lightning occurred in Brevard and 10 in Volusia during the period of 1970-77.
 Following her 15-day hospital stay, Karen underwent extensive physical therapy for a month as all of her coordination had to be relearned. "She was a very good patient," said her mother, Mrs. Barber.
 During Karen's recovery her close knit family was always nearby.
 Her mother, sister, and husband spent hours visiting in the hospital, driving her to therapy, and cooking and

Delay Testing
Certificates?
Reaction Mixed

By LEONARD KRANSDORF
 Herald Staff Writer

A move to delay for one year the awarding of certificates instead of diplomas to students who fail the state assessment test met with mixed reaction Thursday from some Seminole County school officials.
 A task force headed by Secretary of State Jesse McCarty voted 7-4 to reaffirm a recommendation passed by a narrow 6-5 margin Thursday urging the legislature to postpone by one year the June 1979 requirement that youngsters demonstrate minimum reading, writing and math abilities by passing the exam in a given subject.
 "I have seen no evidence to warrant any delay," Education Commissioner Ralph Wirtington said.

 "To the contrary, the dramatic improvement in scores this year strongly demonstrates the program is sound, is working well and should be continued."
 The vote taken Friday by a special Cabinet task force would mean that until June 1980 students would continue to receive a diploma whether they pass the state student assessment test or not, that was to go into effect June, 1979.
 The move to change it came in the form of a 7-4 vote in a recommendation which still needs to be approved by the Cabinet which sits on the Board of Education and then by the legislature when it meets again early in 1979.
 In Seminole County last year 25,513 students failed some portion of the test and in 12th grade this year had to retake those parts. Of the 25,513 failed this time and will have the chance to take it again in April. Those who fail again, would get certificates instead of diplomas in June unless the law is changed.
 The state assessment test, formerly called the Functional Literacy test, was established by the legislature to combat the problem of students graduating from school and not having proper knowledge of the basic skills.
 The move is getting different reactions from county education officials contacted about the task force vote.
 "I really see no reason to delay giving the test," said Dan Dodd, assistant superintendent of instruction for the school district.
 "I think the students had enough time to get prepared and for those who didn't do well we gave them intensive remediation which has been effective," he added.
 Superintendent William Layer took a somewhat different view saying "I really don't believe in the concept of certificate of completion, and if it were delayed it would not be

A PEDESTRIAN, A CAR: HIT AND RUN

Sanford police today urged anyone who may have witnessed the hit-and-run accident or who knows the driver of the vehicle to contact police.

Emergency personnel work on 20-year-old James Smith of Sanford, victim of a hit-and-run accident early Saturday morning. Smith, of 3417 Key Ave., was transported to the Orlando Regional Medical Center's intensive care unit after treatment at Seminole Memorial Hospital's emergency room. Police said Smith was walking on Commercial Street between Sanford and Palmetto avenues when he was hit at 7:15 a.m. Police believe the car involved in the accident is white with black stripes. The car's rear view mirror was broken off at impact.

Taiwanese At U.S. Embassy: 'Carter Is A Coward'

What Carter Did, Said

President Carter made three points in his 15-minute U.S.-China relations.
 —Seminole and Peking will establish full diplomatic relations Jan. 1 and exchange ambassadors March 1.
 —U.S. will suspend China's diplomatic relations with the PRC and Taiwan regarded as "part of China" and permitted only cultural and commercial relations with "the Chinese people."
 —The 1955 Sino-American Trade Agreement will be allowed to expire at the end of 1980 in keeping with one-year automatic renewals. The remaining U.S. military personnel will be withdrawn from Taiwan within four months.
 —China's vice premier, Tang Shao-gang, will visit Washington at the end of January—the first Peking leader of his rank to officially visit the United States.

TAIPEI, Taiwan (UPI)—Hundreds of Taiwanese, angry about the "cowardly Carter," protested today against the U.S. decision to recognize mainland China. The government changed martial law on the island and postponed parliamentary elections.
 A crowd of more than 100 people gathered outside the U.S. Embassy in downtown Taipei and chanted "Carter is a coward" while hours of the announcement speech by President Carter that Washington would establish diplomatic ties with Peking.

One man tried to shove a bouquet of eggs at the embassy and another on the other side of the street with other demonstrators by a strong force of police and tear gas.
 "Carter has sold us out to the Communists!" the crowd called.

 U.S. Ambassador Leonard Unger made no statement on the American decision to establish relations with Peking next month and cut ties with Taiwan.
 Self-immolation had erupted in the streets. One U.S. Army officer was attacked, but escaped his assailants.

 Taiwan President Chiang Ching-kuo, in a nationwide television and radio address, issued at the "coward" damage done not only to Taiwan but the entire free world.
 "Extending diplomatic recognition to the Chinese Communist regime, which even so very reluctant to sever all ties with us, is not in accordance with our principles," he said.
