

Soot, Ash Roll Over Seminole

A massive cloud of soot and ash — the by-product of a major swamp fire in southeast Volusia County — blocked out the sun and gave much of Seminole County a dirty dusting Tuesday.

Fire investigators today said residents in Seminole and Orange counties could expect the smoky haze to continue at least for the next day or two.

While there were no major fires reported in Seminole County, a 6,000-acre blaze just across Lake Monroe in neighboring Volusia sent up billowing clouds of smoke that caused teary eyes, dirty cars, and a temporary blockage of the sun Tuesday afternoon.

Lightning started the fire at Crane Swamp, four miles west of Edgewater, a month ago and the flames have been smoldering ever since. However, dry weather and steady winds gave the blaze new strength Tuesday.

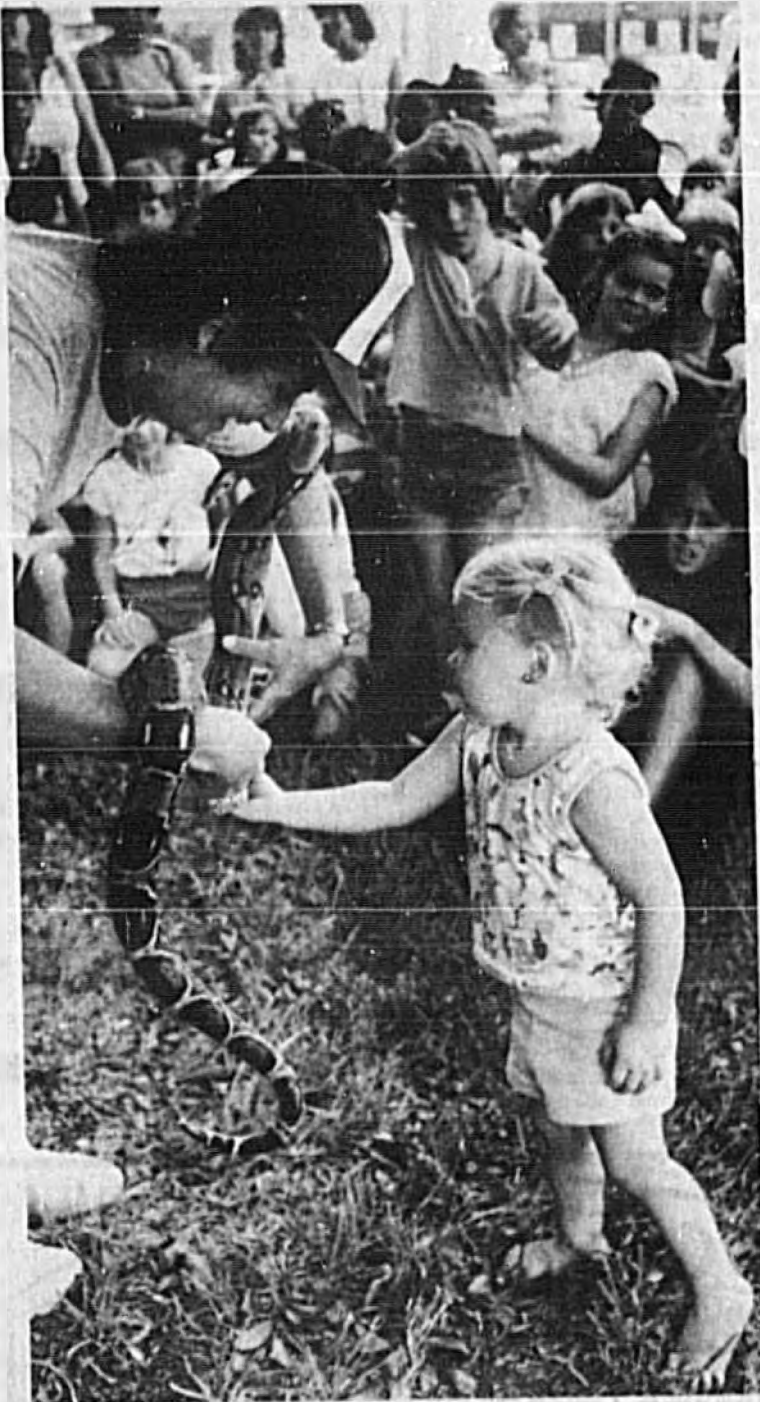

Forty state firefighters are working with Volusia County firefighters to bring the flames under control, according to county Fire Marshal Arthur Wilson. "What we really need is a lot of rain for several days," Wilson said. "It's really dry out there."

So dry, in fact, that fire was not limited to Crane Swamp. A 1,000-acre fire off Hunting Camp Road in southeast Volusia County was continuing to burn today, as well as a 500-acre blaze near the intersection of State Roads 40 and 11 in northwest Volusia, Wilson said.

Monday night, a 200-acre fire south of Oak Hill in the south end of the county prompted firefighters to evacuate five homes and the Florida Highway Patrol to close U.S. 1 from State Road 443 in Volusia County to State Road 5A in Brevard County from 10:49 p.m. Monday to 5:45 a.m. Tuesday because of smoke.

Six volunteer firefighting units from Brevard responded to help fight the blaze, preventing any of the evacuated homes from being damaged.

In east Orange County, two brush fires covering an estimated 800 acres sprang up Monday afternoon, but had been contained by Tuesday night. The blazes were located near Young Pine and Curry Ford roads near the county landfill, the other about a mile south of the Bee Line Expressway. — BRITT SMITH

$9 Billion Package

Graham Accepts Most Of Budget

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Gov. Bob Graham agonized until nearly midnight, but then accepted most of a $9 billion state budget, including a cutoff of money to colleges and universities promoting out-of-marriage sex.

Graham vetoed 19 items totaling $3.5 million, but accepted the vast majority of the $9 billion-plus spending proposal. He formally acted on the budget at 11:45 p.m. Tuesday, 15 minutes before it took effect with the beginning of the new fiscal year.

The budget emphasizes law enforcement and transportation and requires a $7 increase in the average homeowner's property taxes to generate additional money for schools.

The governor vetoed a 50 percent surcharge on university tuition for foreign students, but decided he couldn't legally veto a provision cutting off state funds to universities and colleges assisting groups that promote sex among unmarried persons.

Tom Herndon, state director of budgeting and planning, said Graham believes the provision on out-of-marriage sex, which also covers homosexual relations, is unconstitutional, but that it couldn't be vetoed without a veto of all educational appropriations in the budget.

Graham's use of the "line item veto" authority he has only on the budget — the right to reject specific items without rejecting the entire bill — was far less than in previous budgets.

He said earlier the bulk of the proposal was acceptable and some legislative leaders said it contained 80 to 90 percent of his spending recommendations.

Graham vetoed $1.4 million to increase the class size of the University of South Florida's medical school from 73 to 96, noting that officials vowed when the school was established they wouldn't seek an enrollment increase and that the university system's total medical school enrollment is adequate.

He rejected the foreign student surcharge which, on top of other increases in tuition for all students, would have meant an 80 percent boost in fees paid by persons not in this country on a permanent basis.

Foreign students petitioned Graham earlier this week to veto the surcharge, saying it was discriminatory and would force many of them to drop out of college.

Graham did accept 20 percent across-the-board increases in university tuition. Florida residents will pay an extra $45 a semester beginning next January.

The governor accepted language authorizing an engineering school for Florida State and Florida A&M universities in Tallahassee, even though he had been concerned that a Board of Regents study on the need for the program has not been completed.

Graham accepted $2.5 million to convert an old air base in Pensacola to an industrial park, a pet project of Senate President W.D. Childers, and $150,000 to assist in construction of an industrial park in Brevard County, but with reservations.

He will accept such items in the future only if the Legislature establishes a clear policy on the use of state funds for local industrial parks, he said.

He vetoed $195,000 for an institute of government at Palm Beach Community College; $100,000 for an art school at St. Johns River Community College; $100,000 for "the Emphasis on Excellence Program" at Miami-Dade Community College; $360,000 for out-patient clinics at the University of Florida health center; $150,000 for the town of Century in Santa Rosa County to cover costs resulting from a recent annexation; $50,000 to fund St. Petersburg's Pallasades Theater; and $400,000 to centralize Manatee County's emergency and law enforcement communications systems.

County Budget Reviewed

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Commissioners concluded a 10-day series of workshops at 10:30 p.m. Tuesday on a $32 million proposed budget for fiscal 1982, beginning Oct. 1.

County Administrator Roger Neiswender said the commissioners gave county staff "breathing time" for a few days — until next Monday — to put on paper the results of decisions it has made. The most important information commissioners want is whether they have been successful in whittling department requests to the point where no increase in the property tax rate will be necessary, he said.

Despite inflation and the loss of $133 million in the tax base from increased homestead exemptions, four of the commissioners — Sandra Glenn, Barbara Christensen, Bill Kirchhoff and Robert Feather — decided early in the sessions to hold the line on taxes at three-tenths of a cent less than $5.24 per $1000 assessed valuation.

The county will receive, however, slightly more revenue in the new year from new construction. New construction added to the tax rolls is valued at $164 million.

Neiswender said the budget cutting sessions the commissioners decided:

— To discontinue motor vehicle inspections — the Legislature repealed the law mandating MVI but gave counties the option of continuing the program on its own. Neiswender said today that while the revenues from motor vehicle inspections would have been sufficient to pay for its operations with about a $20,000 surplus, continuing the program would have cost the county money.

He said the only way of enforcing the program would have been through the sale of license plates, adding if an adjacent county did not continue MVI motorists would only have to purchase their license plates in another county to avoid MVI here. The result would then have been the county losing money from the sale of license plates. The 14 persons employed in MVI in Seminole County are losing their jobs.

— To reduce the staff in the manpower program to match the cutback in federal funds for the program. While 42 positions in the program were budgeted, only 23 of those jobs were filled. Twenty-two jobs were continued, eliminating 11 jobs.

— To reduce one full-time county funded employee from the personnel office. Personnel Director Lois Martin said, however, another vacancy exists in her office and that person may be hired there.

"Generally the commissioners haven't done anything to affect services in a major way," Neiswender said.

4th Of July Activities Scheduled

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

For Seminole County residents who opt to stay closer to home this Fourth of July weekend there will be parades, sky divers, barbecues, fireworks and other activities at several area events.

Some people such as employees of Seminole County, the seven municipalities, and the banks, will not have to wait until Saturday to begin celebrating their holiday. Their offices will be closed all day Friday.

There also will be no garbage pick up on Friday in Altamonte Springs and those who usually have garbage picked up on that day will have it collected Thursday.

Garbage was picked up today for residents who usually have their refuse collected on Thursday. The city hall will be closed except for emergency services.

In Sanford, garbage collection will be on the usual schedule.

Post offices will remain open Friday, but will be closed on Saturday. There will be no mail delivery and no mail will be put up in lock boxes.

The annual Fourth of July Fun Fair in Sanford will be held in Fort Mellon Park from 11 a.m. to dark when a spectacular fireworks display will take place at Monroe Harbour Marina.

There will be fun and games for all ages and food ranging from hot dogs to "Soul Food" — barbecued ribs, collard greens and fish. There will be pony rides, a dunking machine, rope climb, cak' walk, greased pole, penny pitch, dai' game, ball games, fish pond, games and races. The Sanford Aero Modelers will demonstrate model planes. The Red Cross will take blood pressures and have a first aid van.

Other groups participating in the event will include the Knights of Pythias, Order of the Feather, the Italian American Club, Telephone Pioneers, Seminole Youth Baseball, the Good Samaritan Home, the Sanford-Seminole Jaycees, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Georgetown Improvement Association, Muscular Dystrophy, Sanford Lions Club, the Golden Age Games Committee, Kappa Sigma Chapter, and Beta Sigma.

Lake Mary will be the scene of the fun-filled Family Fourth of July celebration beginning with a Pinto Baseball League playoff game at the Lake Mary Elementary School at 10 a.m. followed by a softball game between the Lake Mary fire and police departments at 11 a.m.

At 12:30 p.m. the scene will shift to Crystal Lake Beach at Grand Bend and Country Club Road for a brief patriotic program featuring State Rep. Bobby Brantley, R-Longwood as keynote speaker and Lake Mary High School Principal Don Reynolds as featured speaker. The Lake Mary CIA (Rotary Club Community Improvement Association Inc.) will sponsor an afternoon of festivities to raise money to build a community center and emergency shelter.

Featured events will include a karate demonstration by students of Lake Mary Police Officer Linda Paine at 2 p.m.; a parachute show by the Paragators Sky Divers of Eustis at 3 p.m.; Tracy Rhall and her Dixieland Cloggers at 4 p.m.; Belly dancers from the Art of Belly Dancing Studio at 5 p.m.; and the "tar and feathering" of Mayor Walt Sorenson at 6 p.m.

Activities will be held throughout the day including demonstrations by the Lake Mary Volunteer Fire Department featuring their new engine, which will be dedicated at 1:15 p.m.

Geneva will celebrate with a Fourth of July parade beginning at 10:30 a.m. and festivities at Fort Lane Park beginning at 11:30 with a flag raising ceremony. The parade route will include First Street, Pine Street, Second Avenue, Avenue C, Lake Geneva Drive, Lake Harney Road, Whitcomb Drive, Fort Lane Road and Jungle Road North.

Oviedo Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 10139 and Auxiliary will sponsor a Fourth of July barbecue from 4-8 p.m., Saturday at the Oviedo High School grounds on King Street. There will be free fun and games beginning at 2 p.m.

Altamonte-South Seminole Jaycees will sponsor the Little Miss Firecracker pageant at 1 p.m. in Altamonte Mall. The Altamonte-South Seminole Jaycees will sponsor a Fourth of July festival behind the Altamonte Mall from 2:30-10 p.m. featuring music, food, games and fireworks.

Maitland-South Seminole Chamber of Commerce will sponsor its 24th Independence Day celebration Saturday in Maitland beginning with a parade at 2 a.m. from Sandspur Road to the Maitland Civic Center on Maitland Avenue. Children with costumes and decorated bikes will join the parade at Real Estate One building.

Opening ceremonies will begin at 10 a.m. at the Civic Center with flag raising and awards.

Joke's On Smothers This Time

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Comedian Tom Smothers paid two prostitutes $200 to join him in his hotel room, but one of the women got "sick" while there and reportedly fled with the contents of his wallet.

"Don't make me look too silly," the 44-year-old entertainer said Monday night after describing what police call a "trick-roll" early Sunday at the Aladdin Hotel-Casino, where he is performing with his brother, Dick.

Smothers said he lost an additional $400 to one of the prostitutes — a petite woman in a red dress.

"I was walking around with my road manager and a couple of girls came up and said our act was kinda slow and were we interested in a couple of jokes?" Smothers recalled. "I said, 'Sure.'"

"We went up to my room and had a couple of drinks and I asked them for the jokes. Then they said, 'We can show you a trick for $200.'"

"I didn't know the trick was that they would take my money."

Auto Inspections May Stop Sooner Than Oct. 1 In Seminole

By SYBIL MITCHELL GANDY
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County is planning to phase out its auto inspection stations way before October 1, as is Orange County, but whether motorists whose inspection stickers have expired will run the risk of a ticket depends on several factors.

October 1 is the official date auto inspections no longer are required in Florida, according to recent legislation, but counties will still have the option of continuing the inspections at the local level. So far, however, most counties in Florida, including Seminole, have voted to discontinue them.

And, to save some money, Orange County this week agreed to close down their auto inspection stations by August 31, instead of waiting until October 1. Now Seminole County is thinking of doing the same thing by the end of July.

State Highway Department officials say there's nothing they can do to counties which close their motor inspection programs before October 1, but law enforcement officers are divided on how they'll treat the matter.

Seminole County is waiting for attorneys to complete legal research before closing dates are decided, said County Administrator Roger Neiswender.

"We can legally close October 1 according to the new state law that was passed," he said, "but paying 19 employees for one more month is going to cost the county quite a bit."

The monthly cost in salaries alone for the 19 full-time employees and three part-time workers is approximately $15,000, county officials said.

Two of the regular full-time employees have already left for other positions. And the county is seeking to incorporate remaining employees into other departments of county government, according to Don Maitton, supervisor of the Seminole County Motor Vehicle Inspection Program.

If Seminole County won't be liable in some way for closing down before October 1, the three inspection stations will phase down operations in July, Neiswender said.

According to officials in the Florida state division of Motor Vehicle & Highway Safety, no county can be forced to stay open until the October 1 date.

"We don't have the authority to do anything if some counties choose to close early," said Bob McSmith, District 1 supervisor of the state's Motor Vehicle Inspection Program.

Should the county decide to shut down the inspection stations before October 1, will motorists with expired stickers get ticketed? Depends where the motorist is driving and which law enforcement agency spots the violation.

If the violation occurs in Sanford, the motorist will have nothing to worry about.

"If the county phases out the inspection program here before October 1, I'll instruct my men not to issue any tickets for See INSPECTIONS, Page 5A

WORLD IN BRIEF

Israeli Election Tied; Begin Best Bet To Stay

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — Shimon Peres battled Prime Minister Menachem Begin for tie-breaking votes today in Israel's deadlocked national election, but Begin emerged in the strongest position to form a coalition government and lead the Jewish state for four more years.

With 50 percent of the votes counted, Shimon Peres' Labor Party led Begin's Likud 49 to 48 seats in the 120-member parliament but both sides claimed victories in the tightest election in Israel's history.

Nine smaller parties split the remaining approximate 20 Knesset seats, but the strongest among those was Josef Burg's National Religious Party expected to win six seats, and it was committed "in principle" to staying on as a partner in a new coalition led by Begin, political sources said.

Mass Abduction-Slaying

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — Laborers unearthed the bodies of 15 men who were dragged from their homes in a midnight raid, shot to death, then hastily buried in a garbage dump in an attempt to cover up the massacre.

Relatives Tuesday said gunmen dragged the victims from their homes at midnight Sunday in San Salvador's Soyapango suburb — the same working-class neighborhood where 23 people were murdered in April, allegedly by government security forces.

The coordinated raid was carried out during a strictly enforced 11 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew when government troops patrol the streets of the capital with orders to shoot curfew breakers on sight.

Leaning Tower Not Kidding

PISA, Italy (UPI) — The Leaning Tower of Pisa tilted another three-thousandths of an inch in the past year and is in greater danger of toppling over, a team of experts says.

Two specialists from the Institute of Topography at the University of Pisa and a surveyor who made their annual check of the landmark said Tuesday the marble tower is in need of special care to prevent further tilting.

They said it had moved another three-thousandths of an inch since last year.

The 179-foot tower, one of the world's leading tourist attractions, was built 807 years ago by Bonannus of Pisa.

Over the years it has settled 8.2 feet into its clay foundation on one side, tilting 14 feet off the perpendicular at its summit.

Ulster Made Top Priority

DUBLIN, Ireland (UPI) — With 2,000 demonstrators chanting support for IRA hunger strikers, newly elected Irish Prime Minister Garret Fitz-Gerald vowed to make an end to violence in Northern Ireland his top priority.

"Nothing in this state can take precedence over trying to resolve the tragedy in the north," Fitz-Gerald told the lower house of parliament Tuesday after it selected him to replace former Prime Minister Charles Haughey. Neither had won a majority in the June 11 election.

Mullahs Strike Back, Executing 10 Foes

United Press International
Ten leftist opponents of the Iran's Islamic regime were executed in Tabriz, while black-clad Iranians screaming "Death to America" filled the streets of the capital in a funeral procession for their 74 leaders killed by a terrorist bomb.

A firing squad in the western Iranian city executed the 10 people Tuesday after they were convicted of links with the Marxist Fedayeen, the radical Moslem Mujahideen and the rebel Kurdish organization Komalah, Tehran Radio said.

The shootings raised to about 80 the number of opponents known executed by the Moslem militants since they ousted moderate President Abolhasan Bani-Sadr and forced him into hiding three weeks ago.

While the Tabriz firing squad was eliminating opponents, "millions of inhabitants of Tehran dressed in black" surged through the streets mourning the Sunday bombing deaths of 74 Islamic leaders, including Ayatollah Khomeini's heir apparent Ayatollah Mohammed Beheshti, the official Pars news agency said.

In addition, the funeral honored Mohammad Kachouei, the head of notorious Evin Jail — Tehran's main prison for political prisoners. He was shot in the prison compound Monday, and the revolutionary prosecutors office blamed "U.S. agents" but others said he was gunned down by a former revolutionary guard.

He was buried with the bomb victims, whose bodies were carried 10 miles under a blazing sun to the "martyr's section" of the Beheshti-Zehra Cemetery.

Walls of grief mingled with the chants of slogans of revolutionary Iran as a black tide of mourners moved through the streets, led by motorcyclists trailing black banners.

The bombing was a severe blow to Iran's Islamic regime, killing Beheshti, at least four Cabinet ministers, six deputy ministers and 23 members of parliament.

31 Dead; 100,000 Stricken

Unusual Fever Strikes Cuba

MIAMI (UPI) — An unusual dengue fever epidemic in Cuba has stricken 100,000 people and left 31 dead across the island nation, Cuban health officials reported Tuesday.

Most of those affected by the disease are children under 15 years old, the Cuban Health Ministry said.

"At this time, all the provinces are reporting (dengue) cases," Havana Radio monitored in Miami reported. "The estimate of the total number of persons afflicted is about 100,000 ... Among those, 31 deaths have occurred, mostly among children under 15."

Dengue is an infectious tropical disease transmitted by mosquitoes and characterized by severe pains in the joints and back, fever and rash. However, Cuban health officials said the current epidemic has also produced "severe hemorrhaging" in many cases.

"This type of severe hemorrhaging usually occurs among people — mostly children — who have had other types of dengue fever in recent years," the report said.

U.S. officials in Havana confirmed the outbreak and said it was severe.

The Havana Radio broadcast said dengue cases were first reported in this outbreak May 29 by officials at a Havana pediatric hospital. Since then, a group of specialists has determined that the current epidemic is "different from the one that appeared in 1977-78."

Officials said Tuesday they think it very unlikely the disease will spread the 95 miles across the Florida Straits from Cuba to the United States.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Local Exchange Telephone Rates are partly based on the number of telephone subscribers that can be called without having to pay a toll charge. The present Sanford rate schedule is based on being able to call more than 55,000 but less than 120,001 telephones toll free.

The number of telephone users in Sanford has grown to the point that subscribers may now call more than 120,310 telephones without a long distance charge.

Southern Bell Telephone Company has petitioned the Florida Public Service Commission for approval to apply in the Sanford exchange the rate schedule applicable to those subscribers who may call from 120,001 to 195,000 telephones without a toll charge, in accordance with their approved grouping plan.

The following basic rate schedule will become effective on the first billing cycle following approval by the Florida Public Service Commission:

Residence	Classes of Service
	Ind.	2-Party	4-Party
	$	$	$
Present	$10.25	$7.90	$6.45
Proposed	10.65	8.25	6.70
Increase	.40	.35	.25

Economy Sending Conflicting Signals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An economy in transition still is sending conflicting signals, leaving the experts guessing about what's immediately ahead for unemployment and production. A monthly drop in the leading economic indicators reported Tuesday by the Commerce Department triggered no alarm bells in or out of government, but also did little to establish any trends.

The index fell 1.8 percent for May — a relatively sharp drop, but less significant because it follows two months of positive movement.

The lone administration figure reacting to the figures, Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige, used the occasion to promote the president's economic proposals, suggesting they would provide a "boost" for the economy. Baldrige said the figures indicate the "economic recovery that began last summer has stalled."

At the same time, the department measured the pace of new business and found new orders and shipments of manufactured goods improved somewhat in May. Inventory levels, often an early warning sign of slackening demand, remained about the same with inflationary price rises accounting for most of the increase in the value of backlogs.

Although there are no bombshells in the latest economic statistics, there isn't much good news either.

Unemployment figures to be released Thursday are not expected to show any improvement. Among the unemployed are more than 800,000 construction workers, who, with auto workers, are among the hardest hit victims of high interest rates.

The Federal Reserve is not expected to consider a change in its present tight money policy until after a July 7 meeting. Even then, any hard evidence of a loosening process could be a long time coming, since new policy is not formally disclosed until weeks afterward.

In the background of all the current economic news are two new factors that keep growing in importance — the progress of the administration's budget and tax cuts through Congress, and what appears to be diminishing inflation.

Administration budget victories so far are already being counted as influences driving down the price of gold and silver and, along with high interest rates, making the dollar stronger overseas.

And private analysts are busy advising their clients inflation has turned around and is shrinking. But it remains to be seen how long it will take for that prospect to become an article of faith.

Holiday Traffic Toll Could Reach 500 Mark

CHICAGO (UPI) — The National Safety Council estimated today between 450 and 500 people traveling during the Fourth of July holiday weekend will be killed in traffic accidents.

Another 21,000 to 25,000 people may suffer disabling injuries in holiday auto wrecks, the council said.

The July 4th holiday weekend begins at 6 p.m. local time Thursday and ends at midnight Sunday.

Last year, 463 people were killed and 21,300 people were seriously injured in Fourth of July automobile accidents.

State police in many states, hoping to avert similar figures this year, said they will increase patrols and watch carefully for drunk and reckless driving.

Tinker To Head NBC

NEW YORK (UPI) — Producer Grant Tinker, the TV industry's hottest new superstar, will take over as NBC president from one-time programming wizard Fred Silverman, whose resignation became effective today.

Silverman's plan to leave NBC, announced Tuesday, went into effect the same day Thornton Bradshaw became chairman of the network's parent company, RCA.

In another change, John Chancellor announced Tuesday he would leave as anchor of "NBC Nightly News." He will be replaced by Tom Brokaw, the host of the "Today" show, and Roger Mudd, the network's chief Washington correspondent.

Record Drug Bust Noted

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Narcotics officers lured to a van by the strong chemical smell found an estimated $27 million worth of hallucinogenic PCP — the biggest seizure of angel dust in the city's history.

"They knew this van belonged to a suspected PCP manufacturer," Detective Roger Langner said following Tuesday's bust.

Booked on suspicion of manufacturing PCP were Harold Jones, 33, and Willie Ray Washington, 32, who were ordered held on $50,000 bail each.

Langner said 8.5 gallons of refined PCP liquid, 30 pounds of crystals and another 30 pounds of ingredient chemicals were found in the van.

Plane Crash Kills Five

NORTON SHORES, Mich. (UPI) — A twin-engine plane developed engine trouble minutes after takeoff from Muskegon Airport and crashed, bursting into flames and killing the pilot and four passengers.

Authorities said the victims, all from the Muskegon area, died when the Cessna 401, owned by C&W Charter Service, crashed in a field about 600 feet southeast of the runway Tuesday night.

The victims, whose remains were scattered over a 200-yard area along with burning debris from the plane, were not immediately identified, pending notification of their relatives.

Noted Auctioneer Dies

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — David Weisz, an auctioneer who sold everything from shipyards to movie sets, died Tuesday following a lengthy illness. He was 70.

Weisz, who owned International Fastener Research Corp., bought assets and businesses and resold them at his own auctions.

Among his acquisitions were Harland & Wolf Shipyards of Glasgow, Scotland, builder of the Queen Mary; all the props, costumes and special-effects gear of MGM, and the bankrupt Robert Hall chain of 468 clothing stores, which he sold as individual units.

Storm Ravages Boats

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — Coast Guard cutters today rushed to rescue more than six people in small pleasure boats battered by Tropical Storm Bret, while the weakened storm blustered ashore in northern Virginia.

The National Weather Service in Norfolk said Bret, the second tropical storm of the season, had dwindled to "a very small storm" and was weakening rapidly.

Bret's leading edge slammed Norfolk with rain and scattered 50-mph wind squalls early today, but as it moved inland, the center became "diffused" and winds diminished to 35 mph, below tropical storm strength, NWS spokesman Robert Bottom said.

Reagan Still Seeks High Court Justice

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan still is sitting through a list of names to fill an approaching Supreme Court vacancy and aides are seeking to discourage speculation on the possible nominee.

David Gergen, director of White House communications, told reporters Reagan has "not narrowed down" the list, as reported in some quarters, in the search for a replacement for Justice Potter Stewart, whose retirement is effective Friday.

"It's not fruitful to speculate about names and dates," Gergen said. "It's not helpful to take the temperature every day."

Reagan's political adviser, Lyn Nofziger, has counseled the president he would make points by naming the first woman to the Supreme Court. Last October, during the campaign, Reagan pledged to make the appointment of a woman to the high court a top priority.

Regardless of sex, the president's nominee is expected to be a political and philosophical conservative, aides indicated.

Reagan had a meeting with members of the Board of Directors of the National Association of Counties on lap today, apparently to seek more support for his proposal for block federal grants to the states, instead of categorical grants.

He also planned a Cabinet meeting to discuss immigration law revisions. Some aspects of the program relating to illegal aliens were discussed with Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo during his recent visit to Washington.

The president had no appointments this afternoon and planned to remain at the White House this weekend with a celebration of his wife Nancy's 58th birthday planned for Saturday.

'Quiet' Diplomats Should Sound Off

The Reagan administration is so preoccupied these days with its budget and tax-cutting priorities that it has all but yielded the rhetorical field to critics of its foreign policy views and initiatives.

Consider, for example, the matter of human rights policy. The Reagan team has stated a clear preference for quiet diplomacy rather than the public posturing favored by the Carter administration as the most effective way to encourage greater respect for human rights.

But having stated this preference, administration officials haven't done much to counter the charges of those who argue, first, that quiet diplomacy is only a fig leaf for forgetting about human rights altogether, and, second, that even if the administration were sincere, the discreet pressures it proposes wouldn't be effective.

The first charge is palpable nonsense. The two dozen countries in the world with the best record on human rights are all either U.S. allies or friendly neutrals. The core of the Reagan foreign policy consists of political, diplomatic, and military efforts to strengthen these alliances and thus counter the global threat to human rights posed by the totalitarian left and particularly by an aggressively expansionist Soviet Union.

This confrontation between East and West—more precisely between a totalitarian ideology and a system of humane, democratic values—is about nothing so much as human rights. To argue that an administration fervently committed to defending the West is unconcerned about human rights is, on its face, absurd.

But that still leaves the question of whether low key diplomacy, what some might call friendly persuasion, can in fact be more successful in promoting human rights than the public lectures preferred by so many of the departed Carterites.

The question is particularly relevant when applied to those countries whose governments are authoritarian but nonetheless friendly, or even allied, to the United States. It is these nations that are most susceptible to pressure from Washington on human rights matters.

Latin America provides any number of examples. The Carter administration's public moralizing shattered U.S. relations with two of the hemisphere's most important Latin countries—Argentina and Brazil. Both broke longstanding military alliances with Washington when Carterites began subjecting them to loud lectures on human rights.

And when the Argentine government jailed newspaper publisher Jacobo Timerman in 1977, it was quiet lobbying by U.S. Ambassador Raul Castro and not the public scolding of Carter's human rights activist, Pat Derian, that helped secure Timerman's eventual release.

In Asia, the Carter administration's posturing didn't prevent the South Korean government from sentencing dissident Kim Dae Jung to death following his conviction on questionable evidence of treason. But the sentence was commuted early this year after Reagan administration officials privately persuaded Seoul that Kim's execution would damage U.S.-Korean relations. Other examples could be cited, but the point should be self-evident: Governments, and especially those in the Third World, rarely respond positively to what they regard as self-righteous lectures from the United States.

That being the case, Mr. Reagan's quiet diplomacy is far more likely to achieve the desired results than the well-intentioned but usually counter-productive tactics of his predecessor.

Those who represent the administration shouldn't hesitate to say this. If they don't, critics who would paint the administration with an anti-human rights brush will gain credence they hardly deserve.

It's this way! The other day, I read that Ronald Reagan does not want to be ostentatious — neither do I!

Around

The Clock

By JANE CASSELBERRY

"THE ROCKETS' RED GLARE, THE BOMBS BURSTING IN AIR, GAVE PROOF THROUGH THE NIGHT THAT OUR FLAG WAS STILL THERE."

Again this Fourth of July Seminole central Floridians will join Americans all over the world in celebrating our nation's Independence Day. Climaxing the day for many of us will be the excitement of watching fireworks displays celebrating the fact that our flag was, and still is, here.

Hand-held sparklers in chubby hands draw circles of light in the dark, while magnificent bursts of red, white and blue explode across the sky. Unlike the war time battle scene Francis Scott Key described, these rockets and "bombs" are a happy celebration in a time of peace.

If used properly no one will be hurt by them, but it's no secret that fireworks can be very dangerous when misused, as emphasized by George Plimpton, chairman of the National Council on Fireworks Safety. However, when used with common sense and caution, they are as harmless as they are spectacular.

The National Council on Fireworks Safety and the US Consumer Product Safety Commission encourage you to:

- read directions
- have an adult present
- buy from reliable fireworks stands
- ignite outdoors
- have water handy
- never experiment
- light one at a time
- never relight malfunctioning fireworks
- keep at a safe distance
- keep fireworks from small children
- store fireworks in a cool, dry place
- dispose of them properly

To enjoy fireworks as an expert, note the quality of colors (blue and white are especially difficult to produce); count the number of blasts from one firework; pay attention to the ground displays of pinwheels, fountains, and Roman candles; and note the time lapse between each event (it takes a clever operator to keep the audience entertained).

Finally, the best view can be had from at least 500 feet from the site, which also happens to be the safest distance. Designated watching areas are chosen with these two facts in mind, so it is doubly wise to stay within them.

Speaking of Fireworks... For the record, "Be sure to get the tape on right," quipped Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff at the beginning of a county commission workshop on Sheriff John Polk's budget request Monday night. "The Sheriff may need it if he goes to Tallahassee."

"What do you mean IF he goes, you mean WHEN he goes," retorted County Commissioner Sandra Glenn.

The two commissioners took turns taking shots at Polk's budget while Commission Chairman Bob Sturm came up with "compromises."

Commissioners Barbara Christensen and Bud Feather sat glassy-eyed, obviously victims of budgetitis, a condition brought on by wall-to-wall budget workshops this time of year.

Discussing the new state guidelines that require more visitation time for prisoners, Kirchhoff queried "Did they consider the yelling up from the parking lot to prisoners upstairs visitation?"

Fertile Fields Of Fertilizer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Foreign aid is seldom one-way traffic. When it was reported the other day that the United States was resuming military and economic assistance to Pakistan, I was pretty sure America would be getting something in return. I just didn't know what.

That mystery may now have been cleared up by an Agriculture Department press release.

It reveals that Pakistan is receiving a $60,000 U.S. research grant to finance a study of plants that fertilize themselves.

I'm not suggesting there was a direct quid pro quo at work here — that the Pakistanis will supply us with information about self-fertilizing plants in exchange for our selling them F-16 fighter planes.

There is, however, no doubt that the renewal of the aid program creates a climate in which mutually advantageous deals can flourish.

Self-fertilization is a quality much to be desired, as you well know if you have bought any "lawn food" lately. That stuff is really getting expensive.

If Pakistan can help Americans grow plants that generate their own fertilizer, it obviously will provide huge economic benefits, plus a boon in energy conservation.

The biological process by which certain plants fertilize themselves is not easy for a layman to grasp. I almost gave up in the second paragraph of the press release when I read that such plants have a "nitrogen fixation."

Sounds like something an agro-psychiatrist should be treating.

If, however, you pursue the matter through proper reference channels you can learn that a nitrogen "fix" doesn't necessarily mean what you and I and the neighborhood junkie might envision.

Fixing can mean "to make a fertilizer element insoluble by combination with soil minerals." What happens is that certain plants "generate part of their own requirements by fixing nitrogen — an essential element for plant growth — from the air into the soil." Here is where the Pakistanis come in.

"Of the 15 major known subdivisions of non-leguminous plants which fix nitrogen in the soil, five are located in Pakistan," the department tells us.

"One important future application of the research," it adds, "could be in the revegetation of strip-mined land." Do you get the picture?

Any soil left after strip mining is unlikely to be rich enough to support vegetation and fertilizing it could be prohibitively expensive. But if planted with flora that generates its own fertilizer... aha!

And if it works on strip-mined land, it should work on war-ravaged land as well. So there you see the beautiful balance of the Pakistan aid agreement.

'No' To The Poor, 'Yes' To Big Oil

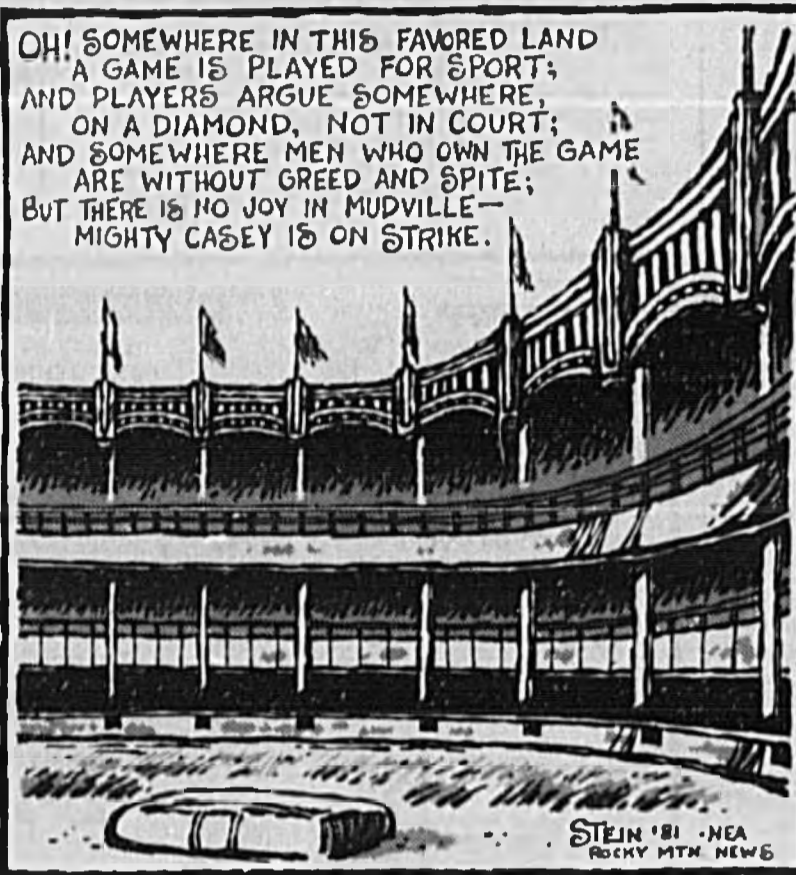

WASHINGTON — The scrooges who now control the federal purse strings could hardly wait to cut off benefits for the poor. But they failed to shut down a subsidy program for oil operators after the reason for it had ended. Some oil barons happily went on applying for multimillion-dollar benefits that were no longer justified. These abuses became so obvious that federal officials finally woke up and cut off the handouts. But their tardiness will cost the taxpayers millions.

What the administration was so slow to abolish was a subsidy that had been added to the fine print to encourage domestic oil production. Under this program, oil companies could collect up to $20 million for each project that recovered oil that otherwise would have been prohibitively costly to extract.

The subsidies, known as "tertiary incentives," were available in the form of credits. They were approved with virtually no oversight and quickly ran up to almost $1 billion, my associate Jack Mitchell has learned.

The incentive program made sense when oil price controls were in effect. Without a government subsidy, no oil producer would spend more to extract a barrel of crude than he could sell it for.

But the need for such a program disap-

JEFFREY HART

On The Skyscraper

My friend and conservative colleague George Will has written an essay about the Empire State Building. It seems to me as eloquent as it is mistaken. The essay is heavily under the influence of a new anti-modernist book by Robert Hughes, art editor of Time magazine — an informative, intelligent, but, again, centrally mistaken book.

The Robert Hughes book, it seems to me, is riding a current of anti-modernist sentiment in the arts. This reflects the passing of the great modernists, Pound, Picasso, Eliot, Joyce, Yeats, and Proust.

There is no one around today quite on that heroic scale.

To Mr. Hughes, therefore, modernism looks to be a "period" style, like baroque. There, I think, is his mistake.

To George Will, the Empire State Building is an example of architectural arrogance. Its ancestor was the more modest Eiffel Tower, which opened in 1889 — was itself, as a matter of fact, the center of intense controversy.

To aesthetic traditionalists, the Eiffel Tower represented an invasion of civilized Paris by mechanical barbarism.

They were wrong. The Golden Gate Bridge, the Verrazano Bridge, the George Washington Bridge are aesthetic marvels in the vein of the Eiffel Tower, and the poet Hart Crane — a great modernist — made the Brooklyn Bridge the central metaphor for a major poem in 1930, called "The Bridge."

"More, even, than the Statue of Liberty, the Empire State Building," writes Will, "50 years old this spring, expresses the basic American urge: for more... Fifty years ago the building also expressed central ideas of the modernist movement: freedom as the absence of limits, and a future of limitless possibilities."

Will, apparently, thinks that notion is folly. Now the modernists and their publicists were — quite true — often given to bursts of rhetorical enthusiasms. But it is doubtful that they believed in "the absence of limits," or in a future of absolutely limitless possibilities. What they did experience was a sudden sense of release from limits that had existed for as long as human memory.

The Empire State Building opened the way for even taller skyscrapers that could not have been built much earlier. They require structural steel and plate glass. Traditional walls and foundations would have been crushed by the weight of masonry for such tall structures.

The Empire State Building is not an example of man's over-reaching. His skills have literally reached precisely far.

At the same time, the visual and poetic and musical arts are experiencing an explosion of possibility. Picasso painted in a new way, and exploited new materials. Pound and Eliot and others broke with the traditions of Victorian poetry, ransacking the ages for adaptable verse forms.

The whole modernist movement seems to me to have a metaphorical quality. It expresses the way it feels to live in a world of expanding cultural and scientific possibility. Nor is that world likely to be replaced by something more "limited."

After about 1907, the date of Picasso's first cubist painting, the modernist style was not the style of a period, but that style which expressed the new sense of human possibility.

Demo Tax Plan Strategies

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Congressional Democrats are caught up in a major behind-the-scenes debate over President Reagan's tax-cutting proposals.

Although the Democrats are still in the majority in the House, it is the kind of debate traditionally engaged in by members of the minority party. Simply put, they are trying to decide whether to respond to the plan in a purely political manner or to work with the administration in producing the best tax bill possible.

One option is for the Democrats to let Reagan have his way and then to hope that his economic plan falls flat on its face by 1984.

Democrats — especially the younger, more liberal members of the party and their counselors — doubt that Reagan's deep across-the-board tax cut would have the effect on the economy that he and his conservative economists predict.

These Democrats — who include House Speaker Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill, Senate Minority Leader Robert Byrd and such young turks as Rep. Toby Moffett of Connecticut — say that the tax cut would give the wealthy a lot of extra money that would not be spent in ways that would benefit the economy. Instead, they say, inflation would worsen and the federal deficit would deepen as tax receipts decreased substantially. In short, they say the tax cut would have exactly the opposite effect to what Reagan intends.

These Democrats would welcome the failure of the tax plan because it would provide them with a gold-plated political issue with which to try to regain the White House in 1984. So, they are urging that their party offer only token resistance and give the Republicans enough rope to hang themselves.

In the other corner are those Democrats who favor working with the administration to shape the best possible tax cut.

This group is subdivided into two camps. One is composed of conservatives and those from districts with many conservative voters. They either support the president philosophically or think that their constituents do.

The other faction is made up of Democrats who, like their liberal counterparts, think that the president's plan is doomed to failure. However, they feel a responsibility to try to minimize the economic pain that they anticipate would result from the Reagan plan or simply to see that bad legislation is not passed.

The leader of this faction is Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, who as chairman of the Ways and Means Committee is emerging as the Democrats' chief tax writer. He insists that the way for his party to gain the upper hand in 1984 is by acting responsibly to produce a good tax bill and to prevent the Republicans from following their worst instincts.

the tobacco companies' request.

Here's an excerpt from an internal B&W memo — sealed by the courts — dated Aug. 21, 1980: "Doubt is our product, since it is the best means of competing with the 'body of fact' that exists in the mind of the general public."

As the FTC staff noted: "Documents pertaining to the marketing of Kool cigarettes demonstrate that the company is aware of the consumer misperception about the relative safety of menthol cigarettes, and utilizes it in the development of advertising strategies for Kool."

Sure enough, a B&W internal document refers to the "pseudo-health image" that menthol has achieved. Notes the FTC staff: "By characterizing the health image of mentholated cigarettes as 'pseudo,' B&W admits its knowledge that menthol is of no health benefit to smokers."

A 1971 marketing plan for B&W's Viceroy cigarettes makes this candid recommendation on the health issue: "Start out from the basic assumption that cigarette smoking is dangerous to your health — try to get around it in an elegant manner, but don't try to fight it — it's a losing war."

No wonder the cigarette companies didn't want their internal documents made public.

PEOPLE IN BRIEF

Presidential Congratulations For World's Oldest Man

By United Press International
Arthur Reed has lived many a day! BUT Sunday was a special one for him. Reed, the world's oldest man, turned 121 and celebrated the day by receiving a special telegram of congratulations from President Reagan. Reed, whose birth certificate on file with the Social Security Administration lists his date of birth as June 28, 1860, is five years older than the Guinness Book of Records' "oldest" man of "authenticated age" Shigechiyo Izumi who celebrates his 116th birthday today in Kagoshima in southern Japan. Reed, a resident of Oakland, Calif., explained his longevity, saying: "They made me out of good dirt."

Canadian Heroine

Zena Sheardown, who helped her diplomat husband John Sheardown to whisk six Americans out of Iran 18 months ago, has been appointed an honorary member of the prestigious Order of Canada, that country's highest civilian award. Mrs. Sheardown was not given the prestigious order when her husband got it last year because she is not yet a Canadian citizen. She had to be made an honorary member. John Sheardown, who was an officer in the Canadian Embassy in Tehran, aided Ambassador Ken Taylor in harboring the six U.S. diplomats for two months in their homes, then spirited them to safety in West Germany on Jan. 28, 1981.

Man Of Many Parts

Cliff Robertson is a man of many parts these days. He even wrote one of them himself. Right now he's out in the fashionable Hamptons, New York's area of beautiful beaches and beautiful people, but he's no idle vacationer. Robertson is doing previews of "The V.I.P.'s," a play he wrote, is directing and stars in with wife Dina Merrill. The show opens July 4 at the John Drew Theater at East Hampton's Guild Hall, a cultural center celebrating its 50th anniversary this year. Robertson also will be seen and heard narrating one of the episodes of "American Lifestyles" that will be seen on 132 television stations in 1981-2. Robertson's chapter deals with George Eastman, reuniting him with Kodak which sponsored his award-winning "The Man Without a Country" in 1973.

...Inspections

expired inspection stickers," said Sanford's Police Chief Ben Butler today.

"Why should we penalize the people? If the state wants to do its job and continue the program, that's different, but since the state did away with inspection, if the county stops them before the October 1 deadline, why should we make people suffer for it? With the stations closed, I can't see where it's the motorist's fault," Chief Butler explained.

Col. Eldridge Beach of the Florida Highway Patrol, however, sees the issue in a slightly different light: "We've had no word from the governor's office that we're not to enforce that law while it's still in effect," Col. Beach said this morning.

"We're not going to look over our troopers' shoulders to see that they enforce it, but if a motorist gets into an accident and there's an expired sticker, the trooper's got to enforce the law," Beach added. He couldn't say, however, if a judge would levy the usual $15 fine to a motorist who gets ticketed for an expired sticker whose county had closed their inspection stations.

Sheriff John Polk's position seemed to incorporate a little bit of Butler's and Beach's philosophy.

"We're not going to tell our people to look for expired stickers, either, but if there's an accident and the sticker is expired before the county closes down the stations, we'll ticket them. But once the stations are closed, any sticker that expires after that, and before October 1, we'll leave them alone," Polk added.

Meanwhile, in Longwood the police department hasn't decided exactly what it will do. The current department policy, said Police Capt. Joe Palumbo, is to cite motorists with expired inspection stickers through July or August. "That is what Orange County is doing," Palumbo said.

Of course, any motorist whose sticker expires the end of September has nothing to worry about anyway, because there's no violation until October, and at that point the law is invalid.

In an unusual turn, Evon Morris, an employee at the Sanford motor vehicle inspection station, said she can't explain why 249 motorists brought their cars through the station Tuesday for inspection stickers.

"Most of June it was relatively calm, and only a few cars came through, but Tuesday we were loaded down. I guess people were reading in early June about the inspections no longer being required, but then it was out of the news and people just started bringing their cars in again," said Morris.

When told the county is considering closing the stations by the end of July, Morris said she had heard from "some county officials," that Seminole County was considering closing them around September 1.

"I certainly hope that's (September) the case. I don't know that too many of us who work at these stations have other jobs to go to. We've got kids to feed, too. We need some time to look around if the county can't give us other jobs."

Morris also doesn't feel the inspections should have been halted: "I really feel sad. I know it's the wrong thing, because people just won't take care of their cars properly. They wait now until inspection time to get tires and other things, but without inspections, I don't know..."

The three inspection stations are located in Sanford, Casselberry, and Altamonte Springs. And they each inspect about 3,000 cars per month.

Neiswender said no county in the immediate Central Florida area will attempt to maintain its inspection program.

"All the representatives I've been in touch with are eliminating the program, not because it isn't considered necessary," he said.

"But the entire purpose of car inspection was to keep potentially dangerous vehicles off the road in a comprehensive safety precaution throughout the state."

"One county keeping the program among surrounding counties that are eliminating inspection won't do much good, he contended.

"The county commission in its upcoming Tuesday meeting on July 7 will probably announce some determination on Seminole County's inspection closing date, Neiswender said. By that time, all legal research is expected to be concluded.

Voyager 2 Zooms Toward Saturn

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — The Voyager 2 space probe makes its closest approach to Saturn next month, focusing its cameras on the puzzling rings during a pass 63,000 miles above the planet.

"Probably the most important observation it will make," said Don Bane of the Jet Propulsion Laboratories, "isn't through pictures but through the photopolarimeter" — an instrument that measures the way light is polarized by particles as it passes through an atmosphere.

Bane said the spacecraft will follow a star called Delta Scorpion, the fourth star in the constellation Scorpius. As the Voyager approaches, it will see the star move from behind the planet and traverse the sky behind the rings.

Voyager will see the light blink off and on as it passes the rings and the spaces between them.

It will measure the light every hundredth of a second for two hours, Bane said, just before the spacecraft makes its closest approach to the planet.

It will get a better count of the number of rings and the variations in their density.

Voyager 2 is taking a total of 18,500 pictures with its two television-type cameras during the observation approach to Saturn, which began June 5 and ends Sept. 28.

In addition to its Aug. 25 pass-by of the planet, it also will examine eight of the planet's moons, some of them from a much closer point of view than was possible with Voyager 1.

Voyager 2 will approach Saturn above its ring plane with the sun behind it and cross the ring plane during occultation, or while the planet is between the spacecraft and Earth.

Bane said Voyager 2 has been reprogrammed completely in the light of findings of its sister-ship which approached the planet last year.

Bane said the spacecraft will be concentrated on the rings and the moons and will make three-dimensional pictures of the rings in an effort to help scientists determine the nature of the more puzzling characteristics of some of them.

Premature Baby 'Getting Better'

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — A baby weighing less than two pounds and born three months early "is getting better" despite three days of life endangered by red tape, indifference and mechanical problems in life-saving equipment.

Stephanie Marie McElrath was born Saturday night in a small Miami hospital. She tipped the scales at only one pound, 11 ounces and the Southeastern Medical Center quickly recognized it could not provide the sophisticated care the infant needed to survive.

The Florida hospital immediately began contacting facilities which had special equipment needed to sustain the infant — who suffers from a number of medical complications stemming from her premature birth and small size.

Becky Burke, public relations director at Southeastern, said she tried to get the baby admitted to four Miami-area hospitals without success.

Gary McElrath, Stephanie's father, had not had medical insurance benefits long enough to meet eligibility requirements for maternity benefits. None of the hospitals contacted blamed insurance problems directly for their refusal to admit the infant, but Ms. Burke believes insurance was at least part of the problem.

"One in particular, Hollywood Memorial," said Ms. Burke said.

We're fast approaching the heat exhaustion season, and now is the time to be aware of what to do. Heat exhaustion occurs when the body loses excessive amounts of water and salts. The temperature may be normal or slightly raised and you may experience a feeling of faintness, exhaustion, nausea, a fast, feeble pulse and, possibly cramps. First of all, get the person into a cool area, and have him lay down. Loosen clothing and raise the feet. Give fluids with salt at a rate of one leaspoon of salt per glass of fresh fruit juice or similar fluid. This should be sipped at the rate of about a half glass every fifteen minutes. If symptoms persist for any length of time, call your doctor.

Americans Ignorant Of Protocol?

LONDON (UPI) — With a royal wedding occurring in four weeks, Debrett's, arbiter of etiquette and protocol since 1769, is hearing increasingly from Americans wondering how to behave.

The trans-Atlantic telephone inquiries begin "from the moment they wake up over there," said Harold BrooksBaker, managing director of Debrett's, a firm that provides the final word on the pecking order of royalty and lists all biographical details of members of the royal family, the peerage, baronetage, knightage and companionship in its Who's Who of the British upper crust.

Brooks-Baker fairly gushes on the topic, giving low marks to the U.S. State Department in particular.

"In my opinion," BrooksBaker says, "It is unbelievably unfair to send people like Mrs. Reagan and before her Mrs. Carter and Chip Carter and various other people who fly across the Atlantic, without the right guidelines. It is putting the Americans in a — it is very unfair to the American people not to have representatives who know what they are doing."

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Two Killed As Plane Crashes Near Palatka

PALATKA, Fla. (UPI) — A single-engine Cessna Skyhawk, under lease to Florida Power & Light, clipped a private communications tower eight miles west of Palatka Tuesday and crashed behind a shopping center, killing the female pilot and an FP&L line inspector.

Marvin Boos, a spokesman for the Putnam County sheriff's office, identified the victims as Helen N. Baldwin, 56, Titusville, a contract pilot employed by Layne's Flying Service of Titusville, and Robert E. Ford, 54, of Bunnell.

Witnesses told investigators that the plane was flying eastbound at a low altitude along State Road 20. Apparently the pilot did not see the tower, owned by Mid-Florida Development Co. and used for company radio communications.

'Private School' Okayed

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — A North Lauderdale couple can establish a private school in their home for their two children and avoid forced busing to a public school, a judge has ruled.

But Circuit Judge Linda Vitale said Ronald and Sandra Pohl should not have taken their teen-agers out of Ely High School last February. The judge found the children guilty of truancy and made them dependents of the court — setting up conditions for their education next year at the "Pohl Private School."

Prince Gets Royal Treatment...$1,000 Fine

By BRITT SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

A 20-year-old member of the Saudi Arabian royal family pleaded guilty in absentia in Seminole County Court Tuesday to two misdemeanor traffic offenses and was fined the maximum of $500 on each charge.

However, Prince Nawaf Abdul Rahman Al-Sudiri, a former Altamonte Springs resident, will not serve time in jail for his part in a Feb. 10 accident on State Road 436 near the Altamonte Mall which resulted in his being charged with careless driving and leaving the scene of an accident.

Al-Sudiri, who returned to his home country in early May, was originally charged with a felony — leaving the scene of an accident involving injuries — but the charges were later downgraded to misdemeanors.

If he had been convicted of the initial charge, the Saudi prince could have been jailed for up to one year and may have had his passport revoked. Tuesday's action will have no effect on Al-Sudiri's possible re-entry into this country, according to Seminole-Brevard State Attorney Douglas Cheshire.

On April 28, Al-Sudiri pleaded guilty in county court to leaving the scene of an accident, then withdrew his plea the following day. Hours later, the charge was dropped altogether.

It was speculated at the time that the prince would be given a deferred prosecution in which he would agree to a probationary term in return for no formal charges being filed against him.

Cheshire said the charges were juggled because "I was concerned about how I was going to keep him (Al-Sudiri) in the country. And there was no witness that could put him behind the wheel of the car involved in the accident" except for a childhood friend — Mansour Bin Mobarak — who returned to Saudi Arabia shortly after the incident.

The injuries suffered by one of the crash victims were so slight, Cheshire said, as to not warrant pressing of the leaving the scene of an accident involving injuries charge. Al-Sudiri later agreed to plead guilty to the lesser charges. The $1,000 fine was paid by his defense attorney immediately following Tuesday's hearing.

Action Reports

- ★ Fires
- ★ Courts
- ★ Police Beat

The prince's troubles with the law began about 6:30 p.m. Feb. 10 when his rented 1981 Cadillac was involved in a three-car wreck at SR 436 and Essex Drive in which the driver of one car received a minor cut to the head.

Police said Al-Sudiri left the scene of the accident and drove to the Escondido condominiums on Hattaway Drive where he lived. Altamonte Springs police arrested the prince minutes later at his home, having been directed there by a wreck witness who had followed Al-Sudiri to his apartment.

The prince had claimed diplomatic immunity from arrest, but a State Department spokesman later said Al-Sudiri had no diplomatic privileges.

"This case was no different than any other fender-bender we have here in Seminole County except for the driver," Cheshire said Tuesday. "There was no pressure by the State Department or any other government agency brought on me. I didn't seek jail time in this case because there was nothing in his (Al-Sudiri's) past to indicate he was a candidate for jail."

A student at the Montverde Academy in Lake County at the time of the wreck, Al-Sudiri "was using the fruits of our country, but he wasn't a taxpayer," Cheshire said. "That's why we asked for and got the maximum fine."

"The victims have been compensated by the insurance company, the state has gotten its due, and Mr. Al-Sudiri has been punished. He now has a criminal record," he said. "If he comes back into this country, all we ask is that he get a Florida driver's license," which he didn't have at the time of the accident.

MAN CHARGED WITH MURDER

A 32-year-old Altamonte Springs man has been indicted for murder in connection with the shooting death of a Fern Park man in a motel room four months ago.

Columbus "Sonny Boy" Edwards of 668 Darwin Court, was charged in a sealed indictment Friday by the Seminole County Grand Jury after meeting for 3½ hours. Learning of the indictment through his attorney, Edwards turned himself in at the county jail at 8:25 a.m. Tuesday. He was being held today without bond.

Two juveniles — Homer Lee and Jackie Poole, 16 and 15 respectively, of 120 Jackson St., Altamonte Springs — have also been indicted for the Feb. 7 murder of 24-year-old James Bullock who lived at the Oak Ridge Motel on U.S. Highway 17-92 in Fern Park.

Bullock was beaten, robbed of $10 and shot once in the head with a small-caliber pistol. His body was found hours after the shooting in the Oak Ridge motel room in which Edwards was staying.

PAIR INNOCENT OF CRUELTY?

Kenneth and Elaine Beth Garner, owners of the defunct Lotza Pride Farms in Osteen where 25 dead greyhounds were found in early June, pleaded innocent in Volusia County Court Tuesday to 25 counts of cruelty to animals.

The Garners were arrested June 6 in Sanford on a warrant charging them with two counts of cruelty to animals and confinement of animals without food or water.

But last week, Assistant State Attorney Jeff Dees filed the additional charges which carry a maximum penalty of one year in jail, a $1,000 fine or both.

The charges correspond with the number of dead dogs found on the Garner's southwest Volusia County breeding-training farm three weeks ago.

An additional 34 emaciated greyhounds, two German shepherds, and a horse which were also found at the farm have been turned over to the West Volusia Humane Society. Homes for most of the animals have been found, according to a humane society spokesman.

Death Camp Atrocities

Former U.S. Citizen Convicted Of War Crimes

DUSSELDORF, West Germany (UPI) — A West German court sentenced a former New York housewife to life imprisonment today for her part in the extermination of 250,000 people at a Nazi death camp. Seven other former guards received terms ranging from three to 12 years.

One of the nine defendants was acquitted as West Germany's longest and costliest war crimes trial ended amid boos and shouts of "A scandal!" and "An insult to Nazi victims!" by spectators angered at what they considered light sentences for some of the defendants.

The former New York woman, Hermine Braunsteiner Ryan, 61, was sentenced to life for taking part in the extermination campaign during which at least 250,000 people were killed at the Maidanek concentration camp in Nazi-occupied Poland.

The prosecution had demanded life for five of the defendants, including Mrs. Ryan, who lived in the Maspeth district of the New York City until stripped of her American citizenship and deported to West Germany.

Witnesses had testified Mrs. Ryan was behind the cynically named November 1943 "Harvest Festival" in which guards shot 17,000 inmates in open graves. She received the most severe sentence possible since there is no death penalty in West Germany.

Mrs. Ryan, a white-haired woman who looks older than her 61 years, took notes with a red pen as the verdict was pronounced. Her head was lowered and her facial expression could not be seen. The defendants covered their faces with their hands when photographers were allowed to take photos for 10 minutes before the sentencing.

The court sentenced seven other former SS guards to prison sentences ranging from three to 12 years despite the prosecution's demand for life sentences for four other defendants besides Mrs. Ryan.

Capt. Hermann Heckmann, 67, the only known living camp commandant, was sentenced to 10 years instead of a life sentence as the prosecution had demanded. Hildegard Laechert, known as "Bloody Brigida" to camp inmates, was given a 12-year sentence.

The prosecution also had demanded life sentences for Emil Laurich, 60, and Fritz Petrick, 68. Laurich was given 8 years and Petrick 4 years.

Mrs. Ryan served one year in jail in her native Austria 1949-50 for torturing prisoners at the Ravensbrueck concentration camp.

She later married Ryan and settled in

New York City, where neighbors described her as a model housewife until by her past until Nazi hunter Simon Wiesenthal of Vienna alerted a reporter to it in 1972.

Army Discharges Former Hostage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Staff Sgt. Joseph Subic Jr., who made a controversial appearance on Iranian television while one of 32 American hostages in Tehran, is being discharged from the Army — about a year early, officials say.

Subic, the only soldier among the hostages not to receive a military commendation, is receiving an administrative discharge today at Fort Meyer in nearby Arlington, Va., Army spokesman Lt. Col. William McClain said Tuesday night.

Subic was reported to have appeared on Iranian television during his captivity and said several other hostages had engaged in spying. He also was said to have described U.S. surveillance flights over Iran.

ERA Backers Plan Widespread Rallies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With only a year to go for ratification, supporters of the Equal Rights Amendment scheduled "ERA count-down rallies" today in 161 cities across the United States.

Eleanor Smeal, head of the National Organization for Women, which organized the noon rallies in 42 states, said the current conservative political climate and President Reagan's opposition to the amendment may help its chances.

"One of the problems we've been having is that people think that it will come," she said on NBC's "Today" show. "Now, people realize we can go backward unless they do something."

"The backlash to the antiwomen's rights proposals is actually creating the momentum for this last year."

"People's lives are at stake with the Equal Rights Amendment," said actor Alan Alda, a prominent backer who appeared with Ms. Smeal on NBC.

Ms. Smeal said the amendment's toughest opponents are not women who oppose it, but key legislators in a few states. "There's between six and a dozen men who are standing in the way of progress for women," she said.

"These rallies are to serve notice to our opponents that we will not quit," Ms. Smeal said. "To put it bluntly, we intend to fight like hell."

The amendment has been ratified in 35 states. Only three more states are needed to make the amendment part of the Constitution, but the going has been slow.

Phyllis Schlafly, whose Eagle Forum and STOP ERA groups have led the fight against it, said today the proposed amendment is a "hopeless cause" and "there is no prospect of getting another state."

"The American people do not want the women's lib ideology and scale of values forced on the rest of us," Mrs. Schlafly told a news conference.

Boy Survives Flooded Storm Sewer

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI) — While authorities were preparing to drag the Iowa River for his body, 11-year-old Steve Schmitz was holding on to ladder rungs in a storm sewer awaiting his rescue.

The Cedar Rapids youngster escaped death after he fell into a drainage ditch and was swept several hundred feet through a rain-choked storm sewer late Monday.

"I thought I was a goner," the boy said. Steve, who lives with his mother, Connie Schmitz, was walking along the side of Rocky Shore Drive with his 13-year-old cousin, Brad Sedlacek of Hills, Iowa, when he stumbled into the flooded ditch and was pulled into the storm sewer.

"There's no way he could have survived that current," Iowa City Fire Lt. Ronald G. Whittaker said — just minutes before the boy was discovered alive.

Steve said he dog-paddled to keep his head in an air pocket on top of the storm sewer while he was sucked through the swirling current.

He saw a shaft of light through a manhole cover and grabbed onto ladder rungs at a sewer intersection near Highway 6 and Rocky Shore Drive. He hung on for nearly a half an hour while authorities prepared to drag the Iowa River — about a quarter mile away — in search of his body.

A heavy thunderstorm that dumped 1.6 inches of rain in parts of Iowa City early Monday afternoon caused the storm sewer to back up and fill the ditch and part of a gravel parking lot.

Cooper's Pub Dunks Burger Chef For Title

By BENTON WOOD
Herald Sports Writer

It didn't rain Tuesday night at Pinehurst Field where the second half of the Sanford "B" softball league was decided. However, if Burger Chef could turn back the clock it would perform a rain dance.

In the end, though, it was Cooper's Pub that was doing the dancing as they drowned Burger Chef's hopes of a league title with three-run downpours in the fourth and fifth innings for a division title.

The win earned Cooper's Pub the right to face first half champ Riggs Realty in a two-of-three series to determine the league crown Thursday night at Pinehurst at 6:30.

Burger Chef, who tied Cooper's Pub with an 8-2 second half mark, sprinkled in single runs in the first, second, fourth and fifth frames. But it was Cooper's Pub that came up with the thunderstorm to wash up Burger Chef.

Trailing 3-2, second baseman Bennie Butler started the bottom of the fourth for Cooper's Pub with a single between third and short. Leadoff hitter Lonnie Taylor followed with a hit up the middle but was forced at second on Don Cannon's fielder's choice.

A Ken Kroesser single to right scored Butler with the tying run and when Cannon beat the relay to third Kroesser scrambled to second. Both runners scored when a ground ball scooted under the glove of Burger Chef shortstop Bob Montalvo into left field.

Burger Chef closed the gap to 5-4 with a run in the top of the fifth. Catcher Jim Courtematch reached base on an infield hit and moved to second on a single to right by left-handed swinger Gary Muse.

One out later, Tom English pushed Courtematch across the plate with an RBI single to left.

The storm wasn't over for Burger Chef, however. Cooper's Pub struck for three more runs in the bottom half of the fifth to take an 8-4 lead.

Catcher Robbie LeFils slapped a single to left to pen the inning and first baseman Bo Bridges got aboard when Montalvo couldn't force LeFils at second on Bridges' ground ball.

Butler delivered his second straight hit, this time a double to left center, to score LeFils and move Bridges to third. A sacrifice fly by Cooper's Pub's Tony Blaile is told the way to go home by his third base coach. Cooper's Pub whipped Burger Chef 9-4 for the second half title in the Sanford "B" softball league. Thursday they play Riggs Realty the best two-of-three for the league title at 6:30 p.m.

Taylor and a Cannon single up the middle accounted for the other two runs in the inning.

Cooper's Pub added insult in the sixth when a Tony Blaile triple to left center resulted in the final run of the evening.

Winning pitcher Tom Szabo dried out Burger Chef in the late innings, retiring eight of the last nine hitters he faced. All told, they could only muster seven hits off Szabo while Cooper's Pub showered 16 safeties off loser Tom English.

Taylor, Cannon, Kroesser, Blaile and Butler had two hits each for Cooper's Pub. Muse and Courtematch combined for four of Burger Chef's seven singles.

O-Twins Gear Up For Sanford Visit By Dulling Sounds

Orlando's Twins geared up their power show for Saturday's special appearance at Sanford Memorial Stadium with two home runs Tuesday and a 4-3 victory over Nashville at Tinker Field.

Tonight, the O-Twins host Nashville again with John Hobbs looking for his fifth victory. He has lost four. He will be opposed by John Wever (0-0).

Second baseman Tim Teufel shook off a slump with his 12th round tripper of the year in the seventh inning to snap a 3-3 tie for the Twins second straight win.

Catcher Tim Laudner — who leads the Southern League with 22 blasts — slammed a solo homer in the fourth. Leadoff man Steve Douglas smacked a two-bagger to open the fifth and eventually score on a sacrifice fly by Randy Bush.

Frank Viola picked up his first professional victory for the O-Twins. Steve Green administered ninth inning relief help for the former St. John's left-hander. It was Green's eighth save.

The Twins host Knoxville at 11 a.m. Saturday at Memorial Stadium. Tickets are $2 for adults, $1 for children. Little Leaguers will be admitted for 50 cents with their coach.

Wes Rinker, operator of the Florida Baseball School, will give away bats, balls, helmets and spikes to the Little Leaguers on a special ticket plan.

Strike Deters Rose, Phillies

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The baseball strike couldn't have come at a worse time for the city of the world champion Phillies.

Interest in Pete Rose's efforts to surpass Stan Musial's career hits record was at its peak. A crowd of 57,396 poured into Veterans Stadium June 10 to watch Rose battle Houston pitcher Nolan Ryan and tie Musial's National League record.

Then came the strike, and the city's baseball-related business stopped.

Five of the eight Phillies' games canceled because of the dispute were home games. The 1,200 part-time employees such as ushers,

Shriver Hopes To End 2nd Jinx (Evert) Today

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Pam Shriver hopes to end her second jinx within a 48-hour span today when the women's semifinals are played at the $650,000 Wimbledon Tennis Championships.

Shriver scored her first victory over American Tracy Austin Monday to reach the semifinals and today, the No. 7 seed aims to overcome another player she has never beaten, Chris Evert-Lloyd, and reach Friday's finals.

To offset that all-American semifinal, the other matchup is an almost all-Czechoslovak clash; second-seeded Hana Mandlikova, who still lives in her native Prague, meets exiled Czech Martina Navratilova, the No. 4 seed who says of her nationality, "I don't know what I am."

Seventh-seeded Shriver's task is immense: she has played Evert, the top seed and two-time champion, seven times and has never even won a set.

She surprised the third-seeded Austin — whose baseline game is a copy of Evert's — by playing the right game, and she will aim to repeat it Wednesday.

"I played almost the perfect match against Tracy," she explained.

However, Evert attributed Shriver's success to Austin's nervousness and said she was looking forward to playing the 18-year-old from Baltimore.

"I have never lost to Pam, and I enjoy playing against a serve and volley player," she said.

Right-handed Mandlikova, 19, meets the powerful 24-year-old left-handed Navratilova, a powerful serve and volley player.

Although seeded two places below her opponent at No. 4, Navratilova has plenty of experience to help her through. She won the title in 1978 and 1979, and reached the last four in 1976 and 1980.

But Mandlikova currently holds both the Australian and the French titles. She scored a major upset when she ended Evert's remarkable run of 125 clay-court games without defeat in the semifinals in Paris — Evert's only defeat this year.

The men wait until Thursday to challenge for places in the final. Five-time champion Bjorn Borg faces old adversary Jimmy Connors, the third seed from Belleville, Ill., while last year's beaten finalist, John McEnroe, seeded No. 2, takes on unseeded Australian Rod Frawley.

Connors had the toughest fight to reach the last four Tuesday, having to rally from two sets down to beat unseeded Indian Vijay Amritraj in a 3½-hour Center Court duel.

The 28-year-old American needed his best passing shots to beat the lithe Indian, 2-6, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2.

Borg was troubled in the first set, when Australian Peter McNamara's serve and volley game was at its best. But after taking that opener in a tiebreak, the Swede swept through the match in an hour and 46 minutes, 7-6, 6-2, 6-3, to preserve his record of not dropping a set at this year's tournament.

Borg Waltzes Into Semifinals

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Bjorn Borg waltzed past 12th seeded Australian Peter McNamara, 7-6, 6-2, 6-3, today, his 40th successive singles victim, to reach the semifinals of the $650,000 Wimbledon Tennis Championships.

The top seeded Swede's triumph on court No. 1 took one hour and 46 minutes, during which McNamara produced some of his best tennis but could not keep up with the five-time champion when he stepped up the pace.

Battling on Center Court for the right to play Borg were third seeded American Jimmy Connors and unseeded Indian Vijay Amritraj. Connors looked likely to miss out on his fifth successive semifinal when he trailed by two sets, 6-2, 7-5.

But the 28-year-old Connors came back to take the third set 6-4.

Borg, who has yet to drop a set in this year's tournament, was stretched only in the first set, when the 26-year-old Australian broke back in the sixth game and forced a tiebreak.

But McNamara, who has beaten Connors this season during an impressive run while using an oversized racket, opened the tiebreak with a double fault, and when he was passed down his forehand side off a short second service, he slipped to 0-4.

Borg went on to take the first set at 7-2 in the tiebreak when the Australian put a forehand wide.

Borg's difficulties in the 43-minute opening set stemmed from a failure to get his first service in consistently and the irregular bounce from the grass. McNamara took the Swede to duce on one serve and to 30 on two others by forcing 25-year-old Borg into errors, but once the first set slipped away, the Australian's challenge was waning.

McNamara was never ready to attack on the major points where Borg's experience told.

The defending champion gradually was working his serve into good running order, and in all he produced 10 aces, saving them for the games when the Australian looked threatening. But he also threw in three double faults.

Chiles Disturbs Fellow Owners

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — When the baseball strike is finally settled, some of Eddie Chiles' disturbed fellow owners are going to settle with him, and that "settlement" quite likely will cost the Texas Rangers' board chairman and president anywhere from $50,000 to $500,000.

It seems the outspoken Chiles has angered a number of other owners over some of the remarks he has made in regard to the baseball strike. They feel his actions have been divisive in their stalemate with the players.

All it takes is one complaint by any member club to the owners' disciplinary committee and that committee of six owners is empowered, upon review, to levy a fine of from $50,000 to $500,000 against the offender.

Chiles isn't happy over the way the strike has been going and hasn't been bashful about saying so. He even made a special trip to New York two weeks ago to make his displeasure known to Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn at a luncheon George Steinbrenner of the New York Yankees and Edward Bennett Williams also attended. Chiles openly said he felt Kuhn wasn't doing enough, and some of the other owners characterized that and his trip East as "a grandstand play."

Ray Grebey, spokesman for the owners, also has come in for criticism from Chiles in past weeks. This has upset some of Chiles' peers. They feel he should leave the driving to Grebey, who has more experience at it. As recently as last Monday, Chiles said he felt his fellow owners had to be concerned over the presentation Grebey has been making at the negotiation table.

"I haven't been calling around the country asking owners how they feel ... but I do know if they are human they've certainly got to be worried about the quality of his (Grebeys) performance in this thing," Chiles said.

Grebeys has purposely avoided getting into any personal confrontation with Chiles although he did make an oblique reference to him during a TV interview last weekend. Asked if he believed he had the owners' support in the strike, Grebey answered, "I have their support, 24 to 2."

Grebeys said he didn't pay much attention to the two the interviewer correctly identified as Chiles and Williams, and when asked if he would call them "renegades," Grebey said:

"Mr. Williams is not a renegade. He disagrees with the approach I'm taking but I don't think that makes him a renegade."

Rather pointedly, Grebey had no comment on Chiles, thereby revealing rather clearly how he felt about him.

Until now, the $100,000 fine imposed by Kuhn two years ago against San Diego owner Ray Kroc for seemingly innocuous statements he made regarding his desire to bid for Joe Morgan and Graig Nettles in the free-agent market rank as the heaviest financial penalty ever imposed on anyone in baseball. Chiles could become the new record-holder from what I hear.

Chiles, who made barrels of money in oil, is a bright man and a generally likable sort of fellow. Some time ago, he made a number of radio and TV commercials that were carried by more than 650 stations in 14 states. The commercials dealt with his opposition to such things as over-taxation, governmental interference in private industry and spiraling inflation caused by the excessive printing of currency.

Each of the commercials began with someone asking him: "What are you mad about today, Eddie?"

And then he'd give his answer. Wait'll they tell him how much he's going to be fined. He'll be so mad, he may go out and do another commercial.

Altamonte Sends Marcello Against Jacksonville Tonight

Seminole Community College right-hander Rick Marcello will be on the mound tonight at 8:30 when the Altamonte Springs Legion 183 faces Jacksonville 233 in the opening round of the Firecracker tournament at DeLand.

Altamonte leads the Central Florida area league with a 6-1 mark and Lyman baseball Coach Bob McCullough hopes the team's mid-season prosperity will carry into the tournament.

"I've been real pleased with our hitting," said McCullough Tuesday night. "But the pitching will determine how we fair in the tournament."

The annual tournament, which draws major league and college scouts from everywhere, is bolstered this year by several out-of-state additions. Albany (Ga.), Athens (Ga.) and St. Louis (Mo.) will compete along with in-state powers Altamonte, DeLand, Lake Worth and Miami.

Marcello, who mixed his pitches

well, will get the nod tonight with his hard-throwing teammate from SCC—Bob Parker—slated for short relief.

An Altamonte victory would send Lake Howell ace Charlie Miller against the winner of Miami and Lehigh Acres Friday at 1:30 p.m. A loss would send the Legion into a loser's bracket game Friday.

"It's kind of a semi-double elimination tournament," pointed out McCullough. "But if you lose an early round game, you can't come back and win the tournament."

Parker, who led SCC in batting last year, will leadoff for Altamonte and play shortstop. Another Silver Hawk, Dave Martinez, is batting second and playing left field. Martinez clubbed a home run in Monday's 5-1 victory over Winter Park.

Miller will bat third and play second base. Ex-Lyman outfielder Rob Reich is in center field and batting cleanup, while another ex-Greyhound Brian Holzworth will catch and bat fifth.

Designated hitter Gary Smith, who pitched Monday's win, will bat sixth. Mike Andriano will play right field and hit seventh. John Reich—Rob's younger brother—is at first base and in the eighth spot. Third baseman Jerry Winterhalter bats ninth.

Altamonte backups include Jeff Kerr, Brent Smartt, Benton Wood, Doug Chiodini, Tom Perkins and Jerry Chickowski. Another Silver Hawk, Tony Dimavro, was lost for the season with a back injury.

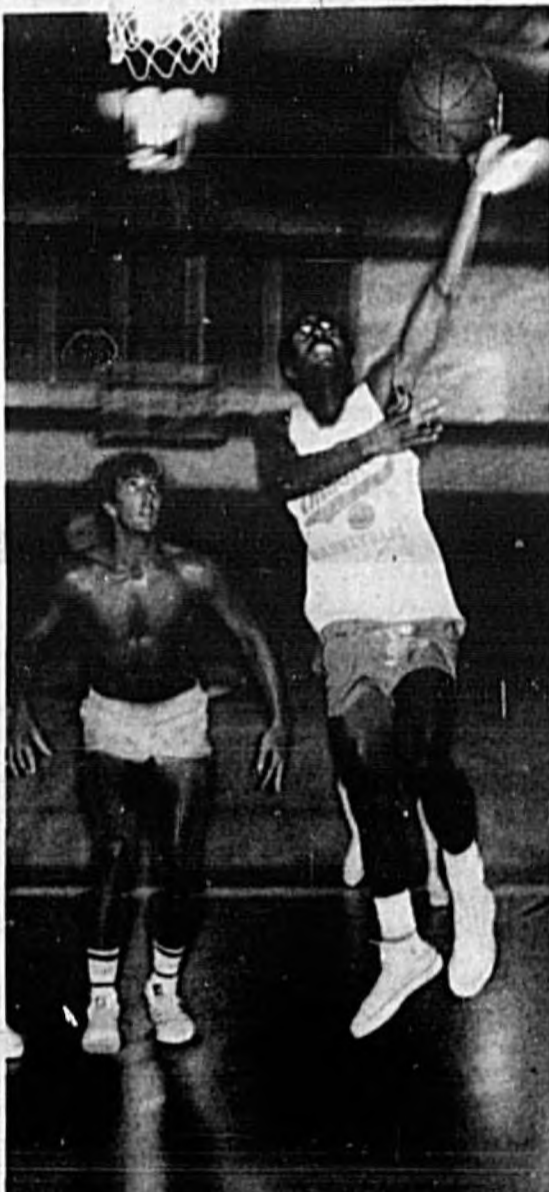

Strike Pinches Players

NEW YORK (UPI) — Major-league baseball negotiations resume today with the players beginning to feel the pinch of the strike where it hurts most — in the wallet.

Federal Mediator Kenneth Moffett called representatives of the owners and players together for a meeting at 2 p.m. EDT, in an effort to resolve the compensation issue that brought about the strike that has shut down the nation's big league parks since June 12.

Today marks the first full payday missed by the players since they went out, but at least eight players are claiming they should be getting paid in spite of the strike and have asked the Players Association to file default notices on their behalf.

The eight are Joel Youngblood of the New York Mets, Steve Rogers and David Palmer of the Montreal Expos, Bill Madlock of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Larry Hise of the Milwaukee Brewers, John Montefusco of the Atlanta Braves, Bert Blyleven of the Cleveland Indians and Bruce Robinson of the New York Yankees.

San Francisco Dispatches Wiggins To Shreveport (AA)

The "numbers game" finally caught up with Sanford's Dave Wiggins.

The San Francisco Giants sent the Former Seminole standout to their (AA) farm team at Shreveport (La.). He had made the (AAA) club at Phoenix and was starting and leading the Pacific Coast League in hitting early in the season.

Two many big names and salaries, however, moved into the Phoenix outfield. "Dave was pretty disappointed," said Wiggins' father Jack. "But they felt it would be better for him to play every day."

Wiggins was hitting .320 at the time of his demotion last Saturday. Former major leaguers Jeff Leonard, Chili Davis and Max Venable moved ahead of Wiggins in the outfield. Leonard makes $80-90,000, while Venable and Davis are in the $30-40,000 range. Wiggins was earning $1,300 a month at Phoenix. — SAM COOK

Lloyd's Could Lose $30 Million

LONDON (UPI) — Lloyd's of London, the insurers for the major-league baseball owners, stands to lose up to $30 million because of the players' strike.

"Look at it this way," said David Lainer of Lloyd's. "It's not going to cost any more than the hull of a Jumbo jet. We might stand to lose on this one, but that's how the insurance business is."

Strike May Go Into August

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Baltimore Orioles' pitcher Jim Palmer said Tuesday he thinks there is a good chance the current baseball strike will continue into August.

Palmer was in Milwaukee promoting underwear at a downtown department store. He said other than participating in the walkout, he is not heavily involved with the strike. "I think our reasons for striking are valid. It's sad that we can't settle our differences any other way because this doesn't do anybody any good."

Patterson Sues Magazine

KINGSTON, N.Y. (UPI) — Former heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson has sued Sport magazine for $900,000 damages in state Supreme Court, saying an article in the periodical falsely connected him with Top Rank boxing promoters.

Patterson, of New Paltz, N.Y., is a state athletic commissioner and as such is not allowed to work for anyone licensed to promote boxing in New York state. Kierse stood by his article, telling the Kingston Daily Freeman newspaper "sources in South Africa also said he (Patterson) was working for Arum."

Cook Of The Week: Stephen Baker

Dairyman Sets An Example Of Health

Meeting 'The Voice' Was End Of Line

DEAR ABBY: Concerning the women who fell in love with a voice on the telephone: A few years ago a gentleman called me from 3,000 miles away to discuss my late husband's book. I loved his voice. We had a wonderful, long conversation and had so much to say to each other that we continued to exchange phone calls every day for weeks — then months! With every conversation we fell more deeply in love with each other.

After eight months we arranged to meet in Chicago at the home of a mutual friend. I was 70, a little overweight, no great beauty, but not too bad. He was 58, "Mr 5 X 5," diabetic and smoked five packs of cigarettes and drank a fifth of Scotch a day. End of affair.

But oh, what a heavenly eight months I experienced on the other end of a telephone with this fascinating conversationalist!

L. IN SUN CITY, CALIF.

DEAR L: Read on for a similar story — with a different ending:

DEAR ABBY: A reader asked if it was possible to fall in love with a voice on the phone. I know it is, because I did.

I was a telephone operator in a small town in Ohio in 1931. A traveling salesman — just passing through — got me on the line, and I fell in love with the sound of his voice. Then I did something that was against the rules. I made a date with him. And from love at first sound, it was love at first sight!

This September we will celebrate our 50th wedding anniversary.

SMALL-TOWN OPERATOR

DEAR ABBY: I have been reading you for years and put a lot of stock in your advice, but lately I have soured on you because you keep recommending "counseling." My experience with counseling has been as follows:

My wife and I are both 34. We've been married 11 years and have three great kids. We both work and have a nice home, cars, etc.

Three years ago my wife told me she had fallen in love with a fellow at work and she wanted a divorce. She admitted to sleeping with him. I was heartbroken. A friend recommended a marriage counselor.

The wife and I both went, and he turned out to be a very handsome guy. He didn't take his eyes off my wife. He listened to our story, then announced that I could not prevent my wife from divorcing me. He made no attempt to solve our problems — just told her what her "rights" were. A few days later he called my wife at work and asked her for a date! She started seeing him regularly and they had an affair.

I went to my pastor and he got her to listen to reason. She was fine for a few months, then she got moody, clammed up and wouldn't talk. Finally she announced that she needed to "find herself," and she moved to an apartment.

I begged her to see another marriage counselor. We went, and this one was even better looking than the first one. The same thing happened. He directed all his conversation to her, and as we were leaving he called her back to tell her he would like to see her alone. Now she is seeing him.

I'm waiting with the kids at home for her to "find herself." I still love her. The kids and I miss her. How can I get her back? Please hurry.

CONFUSED IN CALIF.

DEAR CONFUSED: Ask the pastor who got her to listen to reason once if he will try again. But don't turn thumbs down on all counseling because you pulled two duds. Next time, choose a female counselor.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HEARD IT ALL IN HOUSTON": You are mistaken. I have no ex-husband. I have been married for 41 years to the same man.

"I like milk, cheese and all dairy products," says Stephen Baker, who looks like he could step right into a television commercial for milk. Stephen has that all-American, healthy, wholesome appearance, which, he attributes to drinking at least three gallons of milk per week.

Stephen is a part owner and has managed the Baker Dairy Farm on South Sanford Avenue for the past three and a half years. The Baker family has operated their dairy here since 1930.

"I have learned the business literally from the ground up," explains Stephen. "When I was a child, I worked summers and weekends on the farm doing everything from ditch digging, to cleaning, to delivering calves."

Stephen proudly admits, "The dairy now has 559 Holstein cows. We mostly have women milk our cows. They are gentler, more patient and seem to better understand the cows' moods and that can affect their milk output."

According to Dairyman's News, says Stephen "The cow has been a symbol of nature from earliest mythology. Folklore about cows and their milk has been handed down for centuries. The ancient Egyptians depicted their honored "Sky goddesses" as cows. Isis, the mother of them all, was present at the birth of royal princes, who were then nursed by sacred cows. Today, we know that milk is nature's most nearly perfect food — a fact discovered by Hippocrates, the Greek Father of Medicine."

"I like to eat anything with cheese in it especially casseroles and vegetables," says Stephen. He provides some of his favorite recipes.

CHEESE ZUCCHINI

- 3 medium sized zucchini, unpeeled
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 cup chopped fresh mushrooms
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon oregano
- 1 cup (4 ounces) shredded Provolone cheese
- 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento

Cook zucchini in boiling, salted water about 10 minutes, or until tender, drain. Cut in half lengthwise. Scoop out centers, leaving a 1/4 inch shell; chop center portion. Melt butter in a large skillet; saute mushrooms until tender, about 3 minutes. Stir in flour and seasonings. Remove from heat and stir in cheese and pimiento; stir in chopped zucchini. Fill shells, using about 1/4 cup filling for each. Broil several inches from heat until hot and bubbly, 3 to 5 minutes. Serve immediately. Yield: 6 servings.

VEGETABLE MEDLEY

- 2 cups chopped cabbage
 - 1 cup onion slices
 - 1 cup celery slices
 - 1 cup frozen peas, thawed
 - 1 cup thin carrot slices
 - 1/2 cup (1 stick) butter
 - 1 can (16 oz.) creamstyle corn
 - 2 1/2 cups milk
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1 teaspoon pepper
 - 1/2 teaspoon thyme
 - 2 1/2 cups (10 oz.) shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
- Saute cabbage, onion, celery, peas and carrots in butter in 3 quart saucepan 8 to 10 minutes or until vegetables are tender, stirring frequently. Add corn, milk and seasonings; heat over low temperature 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add cheese, stir until melted. Yield: Approximately 2 quarts.

OVEN FRIED HERB CHICKEN WITH COUNTRY GRAVY

- Chicken:
- 1/2 cup (1 1/2 sticks) butter
 - 1 cup all purpose flour
 - 1 1/2 teaspoons paprika
 - 1 1/2 teaspoons rosemary, crushed
 - 1 teaspoon chervil
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 - 2 broiler-fryer chickens (about 2 1/2 pounds each), cut up
 - Gravy: 2 1/3 cups Reserved pan drippings
 - 1 1/2 cups milk

Herald Photo by Lois Smith

Stephen Baker, above, says he drinks at least three gallons of milk per week.

- 1/2 cup milk
- 3 tablespoons reserved seasoned flour

Preheat oven to 400 degrees F. Place butter in 15 1/2" x 10" pan; place in oven, melt butter. Combine flour and seasonings in bowl; reserve 3 tablespoons of mixture for gravy. Dip chicken pieces in butter, then flour, coat well. Arrange chicken, skin side down in single layer in remaining butter in pan. Bake 20 minutes; turn chicken, continue baking 35 to 40 minutes 'til tender. Baste with drippings. Remove chicken and keep warm. For gravy, combine pan drippings with 1 1/2 cups milk in a 1 quart saucepan; heat over medium heat. Gradually add 1/2 cup milk to reserved flour, stir 'til very smooth. Gradually stir flour mixture into hot milk. Cook over medium heat, stir constantly, 'til thickened. Boil and stir 1 minute. Serve over chicken. Yield: 6 servings.

SEAFOOD CUSTARD CASSEROLE

- 1 cup uncooked elbow macaroni
- 1 can (8 1/2 oz.) minced clams
- 1 1/2 cups milk

- 1/2 cup chopped onion
 - 1 package (9 oz.) frozen green beans, thawed and drained
 - 1 can (8 oz.) crab meat, drained and broken into pieces
 - 3 eggs
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 cup (2 oz.) shredded Swiss cheese
- Preheat oven to 375 degrees F. Cook macaroni according to package directions, drain. Drain clams, adding liquid (1/2 cup) to milk; scald. Place half of the macaroni in bottom of buttered 1 1/2 quart rectangular covered casserole; add 1/2 onion, half of the green beans and drained clams. Add remaining macaroni, onion, green beans and crab. Beat eggs 'til whites and yolks are blended; stir in hot milk mixture and salt. Pour over ingredients in casserole. Cover and bake 30 to 40 minutes or 'til a knife inserted at center comes out clean. Sprinkle with cheese; let stand covered 5 minutes before serving. Yield: 6 servings.

SPICY SPREAD

Cut top from Edam cheese (7 oz.); do not remove wax from bottom portion of cheese. Scoop out center leaving a thin wall to maintain shape. Mash cheese thoroughly with a fork and add 1 teaspoon each, Worcestershire sauce and Italian seasonings, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard and 3 tablespoons sour cream. Refill cheese. Serve spread on crackers.

Stock Up! The Peak Summer Season Is Just Around Corner

If you're planning a summer celebration or birthday party for a younger member of the household, chances are it's an outdoor affair. With energy levels high and attention spans short, planning engaging activities can be a challenge. A recent unscientific poll of neighborhood youngsters revealed old-fashioned games rather than expensive excursions, are high on the list of favorite "things to do."

Treasure hunts with guests working as a team to find clues hidden in the mailbox, under a cushion, stuck in a gate, poking from beneath a rock get everyone in a jovial mood. Of course, prizes at the end make it even more exciting. Pin the Tail on the Donkey and relay races always bring cheers from the little crowd. For a variation on the traditional relay race, make two teams and give the first person in each team a tablespoon with a fresh whole lime. They must run with the lime balanced on the spoon, up to a line and then back and hand it to the next person in line. The team to finish first wins. Of course, if the lime rolls off they must put it back on and try to catch up!

"Quiet games" help mothers make it through the afternoon, and calm an active group. Gossip or Pass the Word, 20 Questions and bingo are good choices. Now it's time for treats!

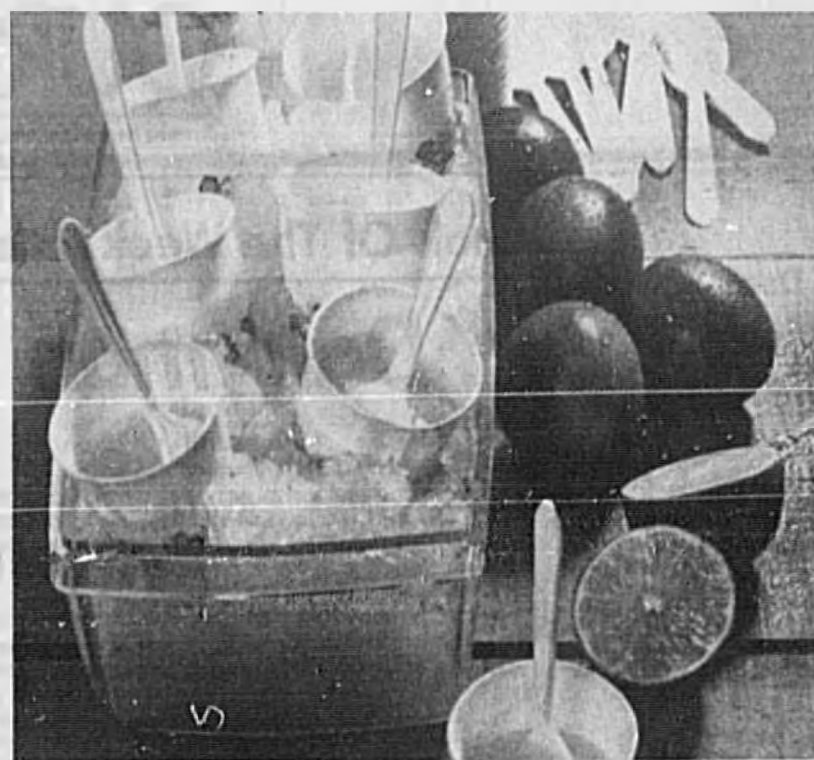

Florida icycles make superb thirst quenchers and great outdoor eating for crowds of all ages. The flavor is sweet and has a tropical tang which makes them very appealing and refreshing on a hot day. For little people use small (3 ounce size) paper cups to freeze lime mixture. When partially frozen, add wooden sticks or plastic spoons.

For adults, freeze lime mixture without spoons and let stand in serving dishes until it has a slushy consistency.

FLORIDA ICYCLE

1 cup water
 1/2 cup sugar
 1 tablespoon grated lime peel
 1-3 cup fresh Florida lime juice (about 3 limes)
 In saucepan, combine water and sugar; cool. Stir in lime peel and juice. Pour into 3-ounce paper cups, allowing 1/4 cup limeade per cup. Set in freezer until partially frozen, about 1 hour. Insert plastic spoon into center of each popsicle. Freeze firm. To serve, peel paper cup away. Makes 6 popsicles (about 14 cups limeade).

About That Controversial Key Lime Pie...

By DOROTHY WILLIAMSON
 Home Economist

Florida Department of Agriculture

Do you know the interesting story of the origin of Key Lime Pie? In this article I refuse to settle the controversy over the exact place where Key Lime Pie originated.

The ladies in Marathon claim it as their own, some of the people in Tavernier say it started there, and the stories go on and on. To keep everybody happy, we can safely say that this world famous dessert originated in the Florida Keys over a century ago.

The so-called "wild lime groves" found on the lower east coast keys of Florida were planted by Henry Perrine, to whom Congress granted a tract of land on Biscayne Bay in 1838 for the establishment of economic tropical plants.

Looking further back into history, we find that Spanish settlers brought lime seed or seedlings to St. Augustine in 1565, more than 400 years ago.

The early settlers on the Keys rarely had fresh milk because refrigeration was practically unknown at this time. The advent of condensed milk in 1856 was not only a sorely needed food but the inspiration for the Key Lime Pie recipe. Using Key limes, eggs and the new milk product, the pioneers in this once isolated part of Florida developed a recipe adapted to their particular conditions.

What a success this pie has been! Not only is it extremely popular in Florida but restaurants all over the world feature it as one of their specialties.

Some native Floridians will argue that you cannot make Key Lime Pie without Key limes. Key limes certainly add their special touch to a pie and you are indeed lucky if you have a tree in the backyard. However, Key limes are not always readily available. In our Test Kitchen we have also had great success using more common and larger Persian (often called Tahitian) limes in various pies.

A plus for Florida's large emerald green Persian lime is that it is not only bursting with juice, but it's seedless. These fresh Florida grown Persian limes must meet minimum grades and standards that are set by law under our Federal Marketing Order. This Marketing Order states that before shipping Florida limes must be at least 1 1/4 inches in diameter and must be at least 42 percent juice by volume.

To get a big squeeze of fresh juice, remove limes from the refrigerator an hour ahead since they'll deliver more juice at the warmer room temperature. Roll limes between the palm of your hand and the counter, pressing down firmly. This loosens the pulp which in turn releases the juice. While limes come in different sizes, an average Florida lime will yield about 2 tablespoons of juice and 2 teaspoons grated peel.

For those of you who prefer to "leave the squeezing to us" you'll be glad to know that a large portion of Florida's lime crop is processed. Look next time you buy a can of frozen limeade and you'll no doubt find that it is made from Florida limes.

One of the Florida Department of Agriculture's most popular recipes is Florida Lime Pie. Chances are that Key lime fans will confess that it is "almost as good" as the authentic Key Lime Pie. Just like the true Key Lime Pie, we do not add green food color. We think you will like it.

FLORIDA KEY LIME PIE

1 8-inch graham cracker or pastry pie shell, baked
 3 egg yolks
 1 can sweetened condensed milk (14 oz.)
 1/2 cup Florida Key (or Persian) lime juice
 Grated rind of one Florida lime
 Prepare pie shell, bake and allow to cool. Beat egg yolks until pale yellow. Slowly add lime juice and lime rind and blend until smooth. Pour this filling into pie shell. Top with meringue mixture (below) if desired.

Meringue:

3 egg whites
 Scant 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
 4 to 6 Tablespoons of sugar

In a small, deep bowl beat the egg whites at high speed until foamy. Add the cream of tartar. Beat until very soft peaks form when the beater is withdrawn. Reduce speed to medium and gradually add the sugar, 1 Tablespoon at a time. Return speed to high and beat until soft, glossy peaks again form. Heap in several mounds on the edge of the filling. With a narrow spatula, push meringue against crust, sealing well. Swirl remainder of meringue from edge to center. Bake in 350 degrees oven 10 to 15 minutes. Cool at room temperature. Chill thoroughly. Serves 6

QUICK LIMEADE PIE

1 small container refrigerated non-dairy topping
 1 14-ounce can sweetened condensed milk
 1 small can frozen limeade, thawed
 1 to 2 tablespoons fresh Florida lime juice
 3 drops green food coloring
 1 8-inch graham cracker crust
 Mix condensed milk into non-dairy topping. Stir in thawed limeade, lime juice and food coloring. Pour mixture into graham crust and refrigerate for several hours or until firm. Yield: 1 8-inch pie

Entertain At All-American Barbecue

Light up the grill. It's time to invite family and friends to a spectacular, all-American backyard barbecue.

Summertime entertaining can be hassle free if you follow a few simple menu planning rules. Start by selecting a menu that uses products that shortcut much of the work. Concentrate on foods that are easy to cook and that can be partially or entirely prepared in advance.

The menu shown here is easy to prepare and all-American. It features foods grown in the United States, perhaps even in your own back yard.

Ease of preparation starts with a deep-basted turkey. Basted turkeys are easy to barbecue since there is no need to hand baste during cooking. The result is a juicy bird that requires little attention from the backyard chef. Buy a frozen turkey that will easily fit beneath the cover on your grill. Then thaw it on a tray in the refrigerator. A 12 pound turkey takes about 2 to 3 days to defrost, so buy ahead accordingly.

Summer Cranberry Cooler is a refreshing drink that's sure to be popular on a hot day. You can combine most of the ingredients ahead, then add chilled lemon-lime soft drink just before serving.

Advance planning is also possible with Garden Ribbon Salad. Prepare the ingredients the day before and store in the refrigerator. Then early in the day assemble the salad and cover with a damp paper towel and plastic wrap. Return to the refrigerator until serving time. The Blue Cheese Vinaigrette can also be made ahead and refrigerated, but for fullest flavor remove from the refrigerator 1 hour before serving.

Luscious frozen lime pie makes a delicious and attractive grand finale to the meal. This no bake pie can be made several days in advance and frozen. There's no need to turn on the oven to prepare the crust when you use a ready-to-fill crust. The butter-flavored crust recommended tastes like a butter cookie and makes the pie easy and so delicious that if you're expecting a crowd, double the recipe and make two pies.

SUMMER CRANBERRY COOLER

(Yield: 3 quarts)

- 1 quart cranberry juice
- 3/4 cup lemon juice
- 2 cups unsweetened orange juice
- 1 cup unsweetened pineapple juice
- 1-4 cup light corn syrup
- 2 cans (12 ounces each) lemon-lime soft drink orange slices

Mix together fruit juices and corn syrup. Chill. Just before serving add lemon-lime soft drink. Serve over ice and garnish each glass with an orange slice.

TURKEY ON THE GRILL.

To prepare covered grill (kettle or wagon): Open all dampers and leave open during cooking. Make a drip pan using a double thickness of heavy duty foil or use a disposable foil pan. Put pan on bottom rack or to one side of firebox. Place 25 to 30 briquets on each side of drip pan. Ignite briquets and burn 15 to 20 minutes or until covered with gray ash.

To prepare turkey: Thaw turkey according to directions in folder. Free legs and tail from tucked position. Remove neck and giblets. Rinse turkey and drain. Draw skin over neck and hold in place by twisting wing tips behind back. Do not stuff. (stuffing can be baked in a disposable foil pan on the grill beside the turkey during the last hour of cooking.) Retuck legs and tail. Brush turkey with oil. Insert roast meat thermometer into the center of the thickest part of the thigh, not touching the bone.

To cook turkey: Place unstuffed turkey on top rack. Put lid on grill. Add 4 or 5 briquets to each side every hour of cooking to maintain heat. (If grill is equipped with a thermometer, use enough briquets to maintain a temperature of 300 to 350 degrees F.) Check for doneness after 2 1/2 hours for a 12 to 14 pound turkey; the internal temperature should be 180 to 185 degrees F.

Covered electric or gas grills: Follow manufacturer's directions for setting up grill. Set temperature control at 300 to 350 degrees F. Preheat 15 to 20 minutes. Place turkey on a rack in a shallow pan and put on grill rack. Close grill lid. Adjust heat controls to maintain desired temperature. Check for doneness after 2 1/2 hours.

GARDEN RIBBON SALAD

(Yield: 10 servings)

- 6 cups finely chopped iceberg lettuce (about 1/2 pound)
- 2 cups seeded and chopped tomato (about 2 medium tomatoes)
- 1 cup finely chopped broccoli (1 stalk)
- 1-3 cup chopped zucchini (1 medium zucchini)
- 2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
- Freshly ground black pepper
- Blue Cheese Vinaigrette

Spread chopped lettuce evenly over bottom of a shallow, large salad bowl. Arrange remaining ingredients (except pepper and vinaigrette) in rows over lettuce with tomato in center and broccoli and onion on one side, zucchini and egg on other side. Cover salad with damp paper towel and plastic wrap. Refrigerate.

To serve, grind pepper over salad; add Blue Cheese Vinaigrette and toss.

BLUE CHEESE VINAIGRETTE

- 1 cup oil
 - 3 tablespoons white vinegar
 - 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
 - 1/4 teaspoon basil leaves
 - 2 ounces blue cheese, crumbled
- Combine all ingredients in blender container. Blend until smooth.

FROZEN LIME PIE

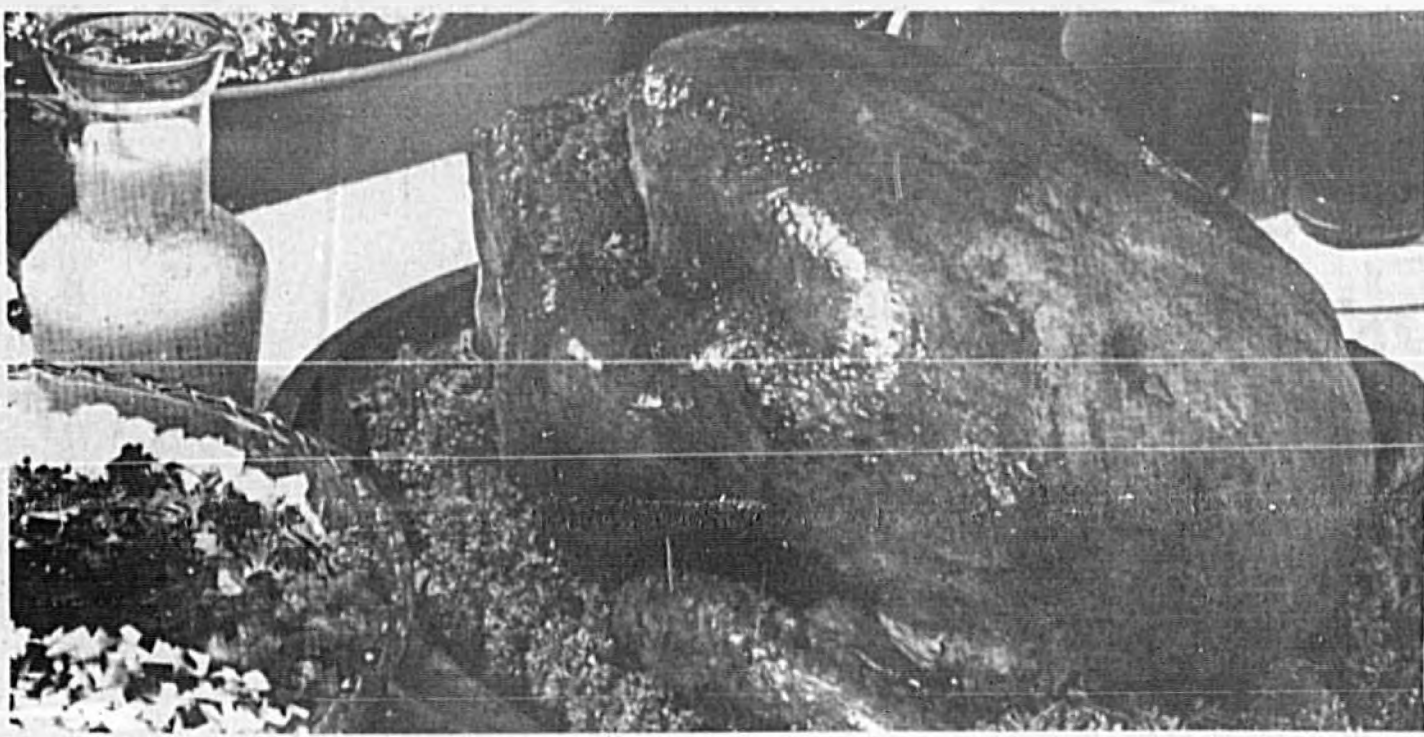

(Yield: 1 pie)

- 1 1/2 teaspoons grated lime peel
- 2 tablespoons lime juice
- 3 egg yolks
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 3 egg whites, stiffly beaten
- 1 cup (1/2 pint) whipping cream whipped
- Few drops green food coloring
- 1 ready crust butter flavored pie crust
- butter flavored pie crust
- Additional whipped cream for garnish (optional)
- Lime slices for garnish (optional)

Combine lime peel, juice, egg yolks and sugar in the top of a double boiler. Stir and cook over hot water until the mixture is thick. Cool slightly.

Fold stiffly beaten egg whites, whipped cream and food coloring into egg yolk mixture. Pour into butter flavored ready-to-fill crust.

Variation: For Frozen Lemon Pie, substitute lemon peel and juice for lime peel and juice. Use yellow food coloring, if desired, in place of green food coloring.

Deep-basted turkeys are easy to barbecue since there is no need to hand baste during cooking. The result is a juicy bird that requires little attention from the backyard chef.

Pork Chops A Favorite At Cookout

What better way to celebrate a beautiful summer day than to gather family and friends for a backyard cookout! Fortunately, it's possible for an outdoor meal to be old-fashioned in spirit and goodness yet timed for today's busy cook.

Many of the wonderful foods of summer can easily be styled to fit conveniently into modern schedules. With careful planning and a little advance preparation, the cook can relax and enjoy the outdoor festivities along with the family and guests.

For a cookout that's exciting yet easy, from appetizers, to entree, to dessert, make it a pork chop barbecue. Get the meal off to a delicious start by grilling Creamy Dill Sauce to serve with assorted crisp vegetables. You'll save time and effort by preparing and serving the dip in a saucepan fashioned from heavy duty aluminum foil, eliminating using your good kitchen cookware.

Thick, flavorful Broiled Pork Chops cooked over the coals are truly one of the joys of summer. Pork is an excellent grill selection and is especially appreciated by those with an interest in keeping the food budget balanced as well as in providing an appetizing entree. The supply of this fine meat is high and prices are attractive.

A tasty addition to pork chops is Spinach Stuffed Onions. They are a cook's delight for there is no last minute fuss. The onion shells are stuffed with the spinach-bacon filling, well in advance, and wrapped in heavy duty aluminum foil for heating on the grill along with the chops. For quick and convenient cleanup and even heat distribution, line the grill fire bowl with heavy duty aluminum foil so the ashes can be easily removed when the fire has cooled.

A memorable ending to the cookout is homemade German Chocolate Ice Cream. Double-rich evaporated milk adds creaminess and blends with the caramel and chocolate for a delicious rich flavor that will probably call for seconds. You may want to make this extra special ice cream in advance and keep it frozen, or consider freezing it during the cookout, letting guests join in the fun.

CREAMY DILL SAUCE

3 tablespoons butter
1 1/2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon instant bouillon
1/4 teaspoon seasoned salt
1/4 teaspoon white pepper
1/2 cup boiling water
12 ounces sour cream
1 1/2 teaspoons dill weed
Assorted vegetables for dipping
Tear off 3 1/2-inch lengths of heavy duty aluminum foil. Using a 5-inch diameter, 1-quart saucepan, mold foil layers tightly around outer pan surface. Remove foil and crimp down edges to make a rim. Melt butter in foil-shaped pan over medium-hot coals. Stir in flour, instant bouillon, seasoned salt and pepper. Gradually add water, and cook, stirring constantly until thickening. Remove from heat. Fold in sour cream and dill weed. Serve hot with assorted vegetables. Makes: 2 cups sauce.

BROILED PORK CHOPS

6 to 8 pork rib or loin chops, cut 1 to 1 1/4 inches thick
Salt and pepper
Place chops on grill over ash-covered coals (or on rack in broiler pan) so surface of meat is 4 to 5 inches from heat. Broil at low to moderate temperature 8 minutes on each side. Continue broiling, turning occasionally, about 10 minutes longer or until well done. Season to taste. Makes: 6 to 8 servings.

SPINACH STUFFED ONIONS

8 medium onions, peeled
3 slices bacon, finely chopped
one-third cup finely chopped onion
1 large clove garlic, minced
3 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon white pepper
1 1/2 cups milk
1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach, thawed and well-drained one-third cup grated Parmesan cheese
one-third cup dry bread crumbs
Tear off 8 lengths of heavy duty aluminum foil large enough to permit adequate wrapping. Cut off the top of each onion; place onions in boiling water for 5 minutes. Remove from water; drain. Scoop out the centers with a metal spoon, leaving two or three layers to form a shell. Place onion in center of each foil sheet. In large skillet, fry bacon, add onion and garlic and cook until tender. Stir in flour, salt and pepper. Gradually add milk and cook, stirring until thickened. Fold in spinach, Parmesan cheese and bread crumbs, mixing well. Stuff spinach mixture into each onion shell. Bring four corners of foil up together in pyramid shape. Fold the openings together loosely to allow for heat circulation and expansion. Seal by folding over ends and pressing to package. Cook on grill over ash-covered coals, 4 to 5 inches from heat 20 to 25 minutes or until heated through. Makes: 8 servings.

GERMAN CHOCOLATE ICE CREAM

2 can (13 fluid ounces each) evaporated milk, divided usage
2 squared (1 ounce each) unsweetened chocolate
1 jar (12 ounces) caramel topping
2 eggs
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup shredded or flaked coconut, blended or processed
1 cup pecans, chopped
Combine 1 cup evaporated milk and chocolate in small saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring frequently, until chocolate melts and mixture is smooth. Add caramel and cook until melted. Remove from heat. Meanwhile, beat eggs and sugar in large mixing bowl until well blended. Stir in hot chocolate mixture. Add coconut. Stir in remaining 2 and one-third cups evaporated milk. Refrigerate until well chilled. Churn and freeze according to manufacturer's directions. When ice cream is finished, stir in pecans. Makes: 2 quarts.

SERVER'S CUP

1 1/4 cups boiling water
6 orange & spice flavored tea bags
2 tablespoons sugar
3 cups pineapple-pink grapefruit juice drink
In large saucepan, pour boiling water over orange & spice flavor tea bags; cover and brew 5 minutes. Remove tea bags. Stir in sugar and juice; heat through, but do not boil. Serve in cups or mugs and garnish, if desired, with pineapple. Makes about 6 servings.

SMASHING SUNRISE PITCHEK

one-third cup sugar
1/4 cup instant tea powder
1 bottle (four-fifths qt.) Rhine wine
3 cups water
1 can (6 oz.) frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
In large pitcher, combine all ingredients. Serve in ice-filled glasses and garnish, if desired, with orange slices. Makes about 6 servings.

Easy German Chocolate Ice Cream is the delicious finale to a cookout that stars pork chops as the main dish.

Enjoy Real Star-Spangled Celebration

For a festive Independence Day touch, crown a salad with stars cut from pimientos, left photo. Crunchy Tuna Salad, right, offers complete appetite satisfaction when served with cheese sticks and cheese slices.

Relax and enjoy a very special main dish salad for this year's July 4th celebration. Whether you plan to picnic indoors or out, luscious "Fifty Star-Spangled Salad" is ideal. Prepared with julienne-cut ham and Monterey jack cheese, hard-cooked eggs and vegetables, the special dressing is the secret - a delicious blend of creamy cucumber dressing and mashed avocado. The lively flavor of cucumber and spices in the bottled dressing adds zest to the mild flavor of the avocado; no other seasoning is necessary.

For a festive Independence Day touch, top the salad with pimientos, cut into star shapes. What a great no fuss meal!

FIFTY STAR-SPANGLED SALAD

CUCUMBER AVOCADO DRESSING:

- 1 cup (8 oz.) creamy cucumber dressing
1 cup mashed avocado (about 1 medium)

LAYERED SALAD:

- 1 pound spinach leaves, torn into pieces
1 package (9 oz.) frozen artichokes, cooked and drained
1/4 pound Monterey jack cheese, julienne-cut
2 tomatoes, cut into wedges
1/4 pound mushrooms, sliced
1/4 pound cooked ham, julienne-cut
3 hard-cooked eggs, sliced

In medium bowl, blend creamy cucumber dressing with avocado.

In 3-quart salad bowl, layer 1/2 spinach, artichokes, cheese, tomatoes, mushrooms, ham, eggs and remaining spinach. Spoon dressing over salad. Cover and chill several hours or overnight. Garnish, if desired with whole pimientos, cut into star shapes. Makes about 4 servings.

CRUNCHY TUNA SALAD (6 to 8 servings)

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup water
1 can (10 3/4 oz.) condensed cream of asparagus soup
2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1/4 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 cup dairy sour cream
1 can (9 1/2 oz.) tuna, drained and flaked
1 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup grated unpeeled cucumber, drained
1/2 cup toasted slivered almonds
1/4 cup chopped green pepper

Soften gelatin in water in a 2-quart saucepan; add soup. Heat, stirring until gelatin is dissolved. Add lemon juice, mustard, salt and pepper. Chill until partially set. Fold in sour cream, tuna, celery, cucumber, almonds and green pepper. Turn into 5-cup mold; chill until set. Unmold salad, top with a dollop of sour cream and serve with pieces of assorted cheeses.

GERMAN CHICKEN SALAD

- 2 c. cabbage cut in long thin shreds
One-third c. thinly sliced onion
1/4 c. bottled creamy Russian dressing
2 tblsp. real bacon bits
1 tsp. caraway seed
1 can (5 oz.) chunk chicken
Shredded mild processed cheese
In bowl, lightly toss all ingredients except cheese; chill. Garnish with cheese. Makes about 2 cups, 2 servings.

CHUCK WAGON BEAN-POTATO SALAD

- 1 1/2 cups small medium-size potatoes
4 slices bacon
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped dill pickle
3 tablespoons vinegar
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon sugar
1 can (16-ounce) pork and beans in tomato sauce
Cook potatoes with skins in boiling water until tender, about 35 minutes. Peel and slice while hot. Meanwhile, cook bacon in a skillet until crisp; remove, crumble and set aside. Pour off all but 2 tablespoons fat. Add onion, celery and pickle and saute until tender. Blend in vinegar, mustard, salt, pepper and sugar. Gently stir in beans and bacon; heat through. Turn beans into serving bowl; add hot sliced potatoes. Toss and serve immediately. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 servings.

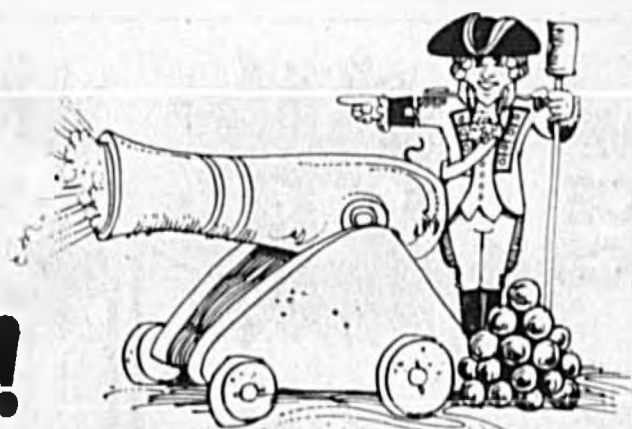

GAZPACHO SHRIMP MOLD

- Shrimp Layer:
1 1/2 cups water
2 envelopes instant chicken-flavored broth
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 pound medium shrimp, shelled, deveined and cooked or 1 (10 ounce) package frozen medium shrimp, thawed
Gaspacho Layer:
1 1/2 cups water
1 envelope instant chicken-flavored broth
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 cup tomato juice
1/2 cup red wine vinegar
2 to 3 drops liquid hot pepper seasoning
1/2 cup diced cucumber
1/2 cup diced green pepper
1/2 cup sliced scallions
3 hard-cooked eggs, quartered
Lettuce leaves
Triscuit wafers
1. Lightly oil 8 1/2-cup mold.
2. Make Shrimp Layer: In medium saucepan, combine 1 cup water and instant broth. Sprinkle gelatin over mixture; let stand 5 minutes. Heat over very low heat, stirring constantly, to dissolve. Stir in remaining water and lemon juice.
3. Refrigerate until mixture is consistency of unbeaten egg white, about 20 to 30 minutes. Arrange shrimp in bottom of mold; gently spoon gelatin over shrimp; chill 10 minutes.
4. Make Gaspacho Layer:
In medium saucepan, combine 1 cup water and instant broth; sprinkle gelatin over mixture; let stand 5 minutes. Heat over very low heat, stirring constantly, to dissolve. Stir in remaining water, tomato juice, wine vinegar and pepper seasoning. Refrigerate until mixture is consistency of unbeaten egg white, about 30 minutes. Fold in cucumber, green pepper and scallions. Spoon into mold; chill 4 hours or overnight.
5. To Serve: Dip mold quickly into hot water and invert onto serving platter. Garnish with eggs and lettuce. Serve with Triscuit wafers. Serves 8.

Shrimp Mold is elegant.

Omelet filling has an oriental flavor.

Gingered Omelets Please Dieters

How can you please both the dieter and the non-dieter at your table?

Serve Gingered Garden Omelets! They're taste-tempting, yet will help calorie counters keep a clear conscience.

Each omelet, made with two large eggs, has only about 160 calories and contains plenty of high-quality protein.

The filling of spinach, mushrooms, bean sprouts and onions is seasoned with ginger and soy sauce for an oriental flavor. The ingredients may be basic, but the results are spectacular! And, if you saute the vegetables and cook the omelets in a non-stick pan sprayed with a vegetable coating in place of the butter, the savory filling adds only 54 calories per serving to the omelets.

If time is what counts, you can count on Gingered Garden Omelets for a light, but filling entree in minutes. The omelets cook so quickly, neither the kitchen nor the cook will have time to heat up.

If you've got a tight timetable or a too-tight belt, try Gingered Garden Omelets. They're so tasty, waist-watchers might forget about the calories they're saving.

GINGERED GARDEN OMELETS

- (2 servings)
 2 cups chopped fresh spinach
 2 cups sliced fresh mushrooms
 1/4 cup drained bean sprouts

- 2 tablespoons chopped green onions with tops
 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
 3 tablespoons butter, divided
 1 tablespoon soy sauce
 1/2 teaspoon cornstarch
 4 eggs
 1/4 cup water

In large omelet pan or skillet over medium heat, cook spinach, mushrooms, bean sprouts and onions with ginger in 1 tablespoon butter until vegetables are crisp-tender, about 2 to 3 minutes. Mix soy sauce and cornstarch. Stir into vegetable mixture. Cook until sauce boils and thickens. Keep warm while preparing omelets. Mix eggs and water until blended. For each omelet, in 7- to 10-inch omelet pan or skillet over medium high heat, heat 1 tablespoon butter until just hot enough to sizzle a drop of water. Pour in about 1/2 cup of egg mixture. (Mixture should immediately set at edges.) With an inverted pancake turner, carefully push cooked portions at edges toward center so uncooked portions can reach hot pan surface, tilting pan and moving cooked portions as necessary. While top is still moist and creamy looking, fill with half of vegetable mixture. With pancake turner, fold omelet in half, and invert onto plate with a quick flip of the wrist or slide from pan onto plate. Keep warm while preparing second omelet.

Note: It is better to fill omelet when it is slightly underdone. Heat retained in eggs completes the cooking.

Reliable White Sauce Makes Souffles So Easy

Making a souffle is much easier with a reliable white sauce to use as a base. Here, a tuna or cheese 'n' pepper souffle uses the same white sauce base.

Using a collar on the souffle dish to rise above the dish helps turn out an attractive souffle. To do this — when using a 1 1/2-quart straight-sided souffle dish — fold a 26-inch sheet of waxed paper or aluminum foil in half, lengthwise. Wrap it around the souffle dish with a 3-inch rim extending above top edge. Tie with string.

Serve with sugar snap peas or steamed green beans and water chestnuts and sliced tomatoes with basil.

TUNA SOUFFLE

- 1 recipe White Sauce Base
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 1/4 teaspoon celery salt
- 1/4 teaspoon leaf thyme, crumbled
- 4 egg yolks, lightly beaten
- 1 can (6 1/2 or 7 ounces) tuna in vegetable oil
- 4 egg whites
- 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar

Prepare a 1 1/2-quart straight-sided souffle dish with a collar. In medium saucepan, prepare one recipe White Sauce Base. Add parsley, celery salt and thyme. Quickly stir white sauce into egg yolks. Add tuna; cool slightly. Beat egg whites with cream of tartar until stiff but not dry. Fold in tuna mixture. Turn into ungreased, prepared souffle dish. Bake in 375 degree oven 35 to 40 minutes or until golden brown. Serve immediately. If desired, serve with additional pepper sauce. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

White Sauce Base

- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce
- 1 cup milk

Melt butter in saucepan over low heat. Blend in flour, salt and pepper sauce. Gradually stir in milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens and comes to a boil. Simmer for 1 minute, continuing to stir. This kitchen-tested recipe makes about 1 cup.

CHEESE 'N' PEPPER SOUFFLE

- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 medium-size green pepper, seeded and diced
- 1 medium-size red pepper, seeded and diced
- 1 recipe White Sauce Base
- 1 cup (4 ounces) shredded Cheddar cheese
- 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
- 4 egg yolks, lightly beaten
- 4 egg whites
- 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar

Prepare a 1 1/2-quart straight-sided souffle dish with a collar. In small skillet, melt butter, saute peppers until soft; set aside. In medium saucepan, make 1 recipe White Sauce Base; add cheese and mustard. Stir over low heat until cheese is melted; remove from heat. Quickly stir white sauce into egg yolks. Add peppers; cool slightly. Beat egg whites with cream of tartar until stiff, but not dry. Fold in cheese mixture. Turn into ungreased, prepared souffle dish. Bake in 350 degree oven 30 minutes or until golden brown. Serve immediately. If desired, serve with additional pepper sauce. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

TWENTY-MINUTE LEMON MOUSSE

- 2 envelopes gelatin
 - 1/2 cup cold water
 - 1 cup boiling water
 - 2 cups (1 pint) lemon sherbet
 - 1 container (9 ounces) frozen whipped topping, thawed
- In a large bowl, mix unflavored gelatin with cold water. Add boiling water and stir until gelatin is completely dissolved. Gradually add sherbet; stir until completely melted. Blend in whipped topping. Spoon into dessert dishes; chill 15 minutes. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 8 servings.

FRESH PLUM SHERBET

- 1 cup buttermilk
- 1/4 cup concentrated orange juice, undiluted
- 3 cups sliced fresh plums
- 1 1/4 cups sugar

Combine all ingredients in blender. Blend at highest until mixture is smooth. Pour into freezer tray and freeze as quickly as possible with refrigerator at coldest setting. When mixture is frozen 1/2-inch from the edges, remove from freezer, pour into mixing bowl, a little at a time, and beat until smooth. Return to tray and continue freezing until firm. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 1 quart or 6 to 8 servings.

RIPE OLIVE STUFFED PORK LOIN

- 1/4 cup pitted ripe olives
- 2 cups sliced onions
- 1 tablespoon margarine or butter
- 2-3 cup chopped redskinned cooking apple
- 1/2 cup finely chopped ham
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon thyme, crumbled
- 1 (5 pound) pork loin roast

Preheat oven to 325 degrees F. Chop ripe olives. Melt margarine. Add onions and cook until soft, but not brown. Mix together olives, ripe olives, apple, ham, salt and thyme. Stand pork roast, then cut deep slit from top to bone, down the center of each chop, forming a pocket. Fill the pockets with ripe olive-apple stuffing. Place roast on shallow baking pan. Roast in preheated oven for about 2 hours, or until meat thermometer registers 180 degrees F. Remove from oven and let stand 10 minutes before cutting. To serve, cut chops between stuffing pockets. Makes about 8 servings.

Kebabs: An Exotic Meal On A Skewer

The kebab is a Turkish delight that has found a home in America's kitchen.

The popularity of cooking chunks of skewered meat over hot charcoals is still wide-spread. The idea spread throughout the Balkan countries generations ago. It is a favorite way of preparing meat in Greece, for example.

Although lamb or mutton initially was the meat used most, kebabs have been made with game, liver, poultry, fish, fruits and vegetables, singly or in combination.

Ground meat formed into solid meatballs make tasty kebabs. Extending them with oats, for example, helps cut down on the cost.

For a shish kebab with a Greek flavor, use lemon, garlic and mint for the sauce base. Skewered with the Greek-flavored meat-balls and black olives are zucchini, onion and tomato.

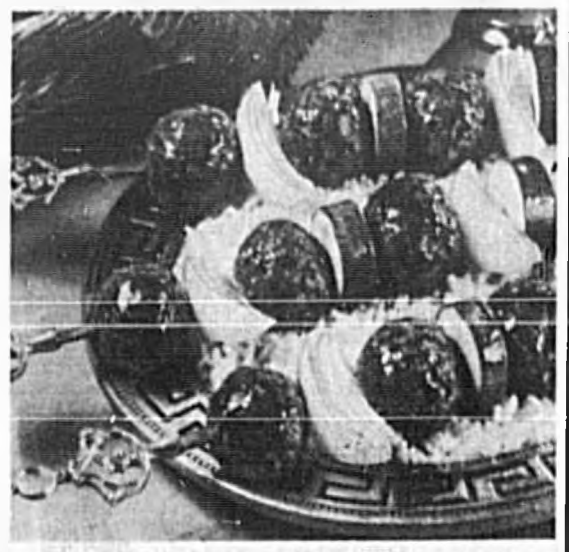

KEBABS

- 1 pound ground beef
- 1/2 cup quick or old-fashioned oats, uncooked
- 1/2 cup Greek Barbecue Sauce
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
- 18 large pitted ripe olives
- 1 small zucchini, cut into 1/2-inch slices, blanched
- 1 medium onion, cut into thin wedges
- 1 medium tomato, cut into wedges

For Greek barbecue sauce, combine all ingredients in medium saucepan; bring to a boil. Reduce heat; simmer for 15 minutes, stirring occasionally.

For kebabs, combine meat, oats, sauce, salt and garlic; mix well. Shape mixture around olives to form 18 meatballs. Thread meatballs alternately with zucchini and onion on six 11-inch skewers.

Place kebabs on rack of broiler pan or over ash-covered coals on outdoor grill so kebabs are 5 to 6 inches from heat. Cook about 15 minutes, turning frequently. Add tomato wedges to skewers; baste kebabs with sauce. Continue cooking about 5 minutes or until desired doneness, turning frequently and basting with sauce. Serve with any remaining sauce. Serve with rice, if desired. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 servings.

For a shish kebab with a Greek flavor, garlic, lemon and mint are used for the sauce base. Black olives and zucchini are alternated with the flavorful meatballs on skewers.

Sublime Summer Repasts

In summer appetites can often be fussy. More than likely you'd opt for a light repast that is simple to make, has out-of-the-ordinary flavor and doesn't heat up the kitchen.

If you're searching for the right idea for a light-hearted brunch or supper you can prepare two savory dishes that bring ordinary scrambled eggs one step beyond in sublime flavor.

Scotch Woodcock and Far East Beef and Eggs certainly fit the bill with extraordinary taste, fluffy texture and preparation as easy as a breeze. Just as important, their ingredients can easily be found in your kitchen cupboard or refrigerator.

Because of its name, Scotch Woodcock may seem like an exotic game dish — but it's really a simple combination of piquant ingredients that lends new excitement to egg fare. Scallion, parsley and garnishes of anchovy and caper create classic continental overtones in this dish, while Tabasco pepper sauce perks up the flavors and completes the fanciful mixture. Serve the eggs attractively over toast and you'll have an ideal summer brunch.

Another dish that take scrambled eggs one step further is Far East Beef and Eggs. Imparting authentic Oriental flavor, these eggs quickly mix with sesame oil, tangy teriyaki sauce and marinated strips of beef for a light, moist texture. When zesty Tabasco pepper sauce is added to this dish, you'll be tempted to keep tasting it.

Fussy summer appetites can easily be quenched with these imaginative approaches to light-hearted scrambled eggs.

SCOTCH WOODCOCK

- 8 eggs
 - 1/2 cup milk
 - 1/4 cup chopped fresh parsley
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce
 - 1/4 cup butter or margarine
 - 8 slices toast, buttered
 - 1 can (2 ounces) anchovies fillets, drained
 - 1 tablespoon capers, drained
- In large bowl combine eggs, milk, parsley, salt and Tabasco sauce; beat with a fork. In large skillet melt butter over medium heat. Pour in egg mixture. As mixture sets, gently draw pancake turner across bottom, forming large soft curds. Continue cooking until eggs are thickened but still moist. Arrange 2 slices of toast on a serving plate for each portion; spoon eggs over toast. Garnish with anchovies and capers. If desired, serve with additional Tabasco sauce. Yield: 4 servings.

FAR EAST BEEF AND EGGS

- 3 tablespoons Teriyaki sauce or marinade
 - 2 1/2 tablespoons salad oil, divided
 - 2 teaspoons cornstarch
 - 1/2 teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce, divided
 - 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
 - 1/2 pound top round, cut in very thin strips
 - 4 eggs
 - 1/4 cup milk
 - Pinch salt
 - 1/2 cup thinly sliced scallions, divided
 - 1/4 teaspoon sesame oil
- In small bowl combine marinade, 1 tablespoon salad oil, cornstarch, 1/4 teaspoon Tabasco sauce and ginger; mix well. Add beef. Cover. Marinate at room temperature about 1 hour. In medium bowl, beat eggs, milk and salt; add 1/2 cup scallions. In medium skillet heat 1/2 tablespoon salad oil, add eggs, lifting from bottom and sides of pan as mixture thickens. Cook until eggs are thickened but still moist; remove and set aside. In same skillet heat remaining 1 tablespoon salad oil; stir-fry beef and marinade 1 to 2 minutes until beef is cooked. Add eggs and remaining 1/4 cup scallions; sprinkle with sesame oil. Toss gently and heat through. If desired, serve with additional Tabasco sauce. Yield: 4 servings.

Silent Gallstones Getting 'Noisy'

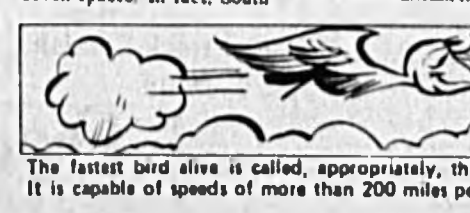

DEAR DR. LAMB — When I was in the hospital for a disc operation, X-rays showed that I have gallstones. I never had any problems with them and never knew I had them. Now my doctors say I should have them operated on. I figured if they didn't bother me I wouldn't go to the hospital till they did. But lately I am feeling bloated and have an uncomfortable feeling below my right rib.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Please advise me if the vitamin, pangamate, described in the enclosed newspaper article would be of any benefit to me. I am 67 years of age and did have a heart attack almost a year ago and am at present under the care of a cardiologist. I was told my problem was a left blockage to the heart.

DEAR READER — Forget about pangamate. It is another one of those apricot pit products. It has a checkered past, even including connections with the Mafia in its marketing. It is not a vitamin. When the Food and Drug Administration started cracking down, Food Science, one of the marketers, dropped the term vitamin from its label. Recently in an article in Medical World News, Dr. Victor Herbert, a hematologist from New York Downstate Medical Center in Brooklyn, was quoted as saying one of these products (DMG) when mixed with saliva is mutagenic, meaning a 90 percent chance of its being carcinogenic.
