Strolling In Sanford

How much money would you say the animals in the city zoo were worth? Not a lot, it is estimated. In a recent inventory the City placed a replacement price on the livestock for the first time. It came to $11,267.50.

The Sanford Tourist and Shuttle board club will have a covered dish supper and meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the clubhouse.

The Orlando Navy recruiting office announced today that applications are now being accepted for enlistment in the regular Navy from both men and women. Qualified applicants will be sent to Jacksonville for enlistment, then transferred to a Naval training center in San Diego, Calif. for men and at Bainbridge, Md., for women, for recruit training. To obtain full information about the navy as a career visit the Navy Recruiter located in U. S. Navy Recruiting Substation, 12 E. Central Ave., Orlando, Fla., or see a Navy recruiter at the post office on Mondays at 10 a.m.

The Seminole High School Marching Band and Pep Club put on an amazing exhibition at halftime in the football game Friday night. Emulating a star, the band played in complete darkness as the twinkling of many tiny flashlights swung in unison. As added spice to the event, the spectators donned short dark blue skirts and belted with stars and danced to the music. "Think! Think! Little Star." To cap the performance, a large star was burned atop the stadium. The entire extravaganza rivaled the output of a major state university.

The Southside Primary School Parent Teachers Association will meet Thursday night at 8 o'clock at the school.

Laniel To Testify In Probe Of Spying On French Secrets

PARIS (AP)—The military magistrate investigating the sensational leak of French defense secrets to the Communists prepared today to hear testimony from ex-Premier Joseph Laniel and two of his ministers.

The former Laniel Cabinet members are Pierre-Henri Teitgen, who was deputy premier, and Edmond Barthelemy, formerly minister of defense for constitutional reform.

Information reportedly started filtering to the Reds from high defense councils during the Laniel administration. He took office in June, 1953, and resigned after losing a vote of confidence last June 12.

Police said today the arrest of Andre Baranes, a Communist newspaperman, is bringing to light details on the pipeline by which the Reds obtained top secrets.

Nabbed in Eastern France Saturday as he tried to flee on a second red bicycle to Switzerland, Baranes was charged formally yesterday with endangering the security of the state.

Police sources said the journalist had confessed to being the chief middleman in the transmission to the Communists of secret information on meetings of the National Defense Council.

Though the leaks began during the government of former Premier Joseph Laniel, the former has posed grave new problems for Premier Pierre Mendes-France.

Two high emloyees of the Defense Ministry, Rene Turpin and Roger Labrousse, were arrested Friday on charges of giving secret information to nonqualified persons. The ministry's secretary general, Jean Mons, was suspended—but not jailed—on suspicion of endangering the state security through negligence.

Turpin was chief of Mons' personal secretariat and Labrousse was in charge of "national protection" at the ministry.

The police informants said Baranes, during 15 hours of uninterrupted questioning by four French counterespionage agents, gave this account:

Labrousse dictated the secret information directly to him, or sometimes passed it by intermediaries who have not been identified.

Baranes never met Turpin and had no contact with him. Police said Turpin had admitted being the original source of the leaks but claimed he had no direct connection with Baranes.

Baranes relayed the secrets in the French Communist party command.

North Executed In Chair Today; Claims Innocence

RAIFORD (AP)—A. Elwood North died in the electric chair today still maintaining that he did not kill Mrs. Betty Allison, Central Florida cattlewoman.

North, one of three persons executed today at State's prison, was pronounced dead at 8:41, seven minutes after the switch was thrown.

Forty-one witnesses watched the black-hooded executioner send two charges of electricity through the short Lake Wales underlaker.

North was the first of the trio to die.

The two other men executed were James Henderson and George Bailey, Negroes convicted of the slaying of D. V. Post, Tallahassee filling station owner in 1953.

Ten minutes before he was led from his cell 30 paces from the death chamber North told reporters: "I'm ready to go. I'm absolutely innocent. God knows it. I know it, and my family knows it."

Building Permits Show $149,130 Total

CITY building inspector John Gillon announced today that a total of about $149,130 was being spent for building in the city over the past month, according to building permits issued.

The greatest single amount was a total of $58,000 spent on 11 single family residences. One duplex was built at a cost of $6,000. The five commercial buildings erected over the month of September totaled $8,833. The remainder, $19,237, was spent for repairs, Gillon said.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dr. Lawrence E. Morhouse, professor of physical education at UCLA, said yesterday that 49 per cent of 600 students whose feet were studied turned out to have one foot larger than the other.

Released American Soldiers Tell Of Threats By Commies

NUERNBERG, Germany (AP)—Two American soldiers today accused their Czech Communist captors of threatening them with 10 years imprisonment if they refused to divulge U. S. military secrets.

The men, Capt. Richard H. Dries, 32, of St. Albans, N. Y., and Pfc. George Pisk, 23, of Austin, Tex., talked at a news conference of their two-week confinement. Seized near the border in Bavaria Sept. 17, they were released by Czech army officers Saturday at the West German border point at Waidhaus.

"Czech officials asked me specifically about atomic weapons in Europe," what I said of weapons were here," Dries said.

"I said, 'I know nothing about them.' That's all I told them other than what my name was, my rank and serial number."

The Red inquisitors angrily threatened to have both Dries and Pisk tried before a Communist court "and sentenced to 10 years

Brady Says Still Candidate After Stating To Contrary

E. E. Brady, who last Friday told a Herald reporter he would not be a candidate tomorrow in the race for State senator from the 37th district, said today he was "just kidding them" and would be in the contest.

"I can't get out brother," he said in The Herald office today. "I'm in there to stay." He explained he was "trying to fool that Parrish crowd."

The on-off candidate said the trick had been worked before here and that the slogan, "Let's keep the senator on this side of the river," was a real one.

He came into the office today and attempted to get an advertisement on the front page. It was during a discourse on advertising that it was learned he intended to be a candidate, and that such was his intention all along.

Other candidates in this race are Douglas Stenstrom, who has been endorsed by The Herald and by the Brevard county weekly, the East Coast Trade Winds, and J. J. Parrish, Titusville, chairman of the State Citizens Commission.

Stenstrom resigned as County judge, after six years of service, in that office, to be a senatorial candidate.

The County judge's office is at stake in the race tomorrow. Candidates in this contest are Gordon Frederick, Ernest Housholder and Hugh Duncan, all of Sanford.

Frederick is a local attorney and former commander of the Campbell-Lessing post of the American Legion here.

Housholder also is a local attorney and holds the office of County judge on an appointment by Acting Governor Charley Johns. He has held the office previously.

Housholder earlier this year was an unsuccessful candidate for circuit judge. His son, Kaylie, is the County prosecuting attorney.

Duncan holds the elective office of justice of the peace.

The polls in the special Democratic primary election will be held Oct. 12.

Brownsville Gets 6 Inches Of Rain

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—A tropical disturbance spawned in the Gulf of Mexico blew inland at Texas' south tip this morning, dumping 6.99 inches of rain on Brownsville in six hours and kicking up much sand and high tides.

The squalls, patches not of hurricane intensity, were expected to blow itself out as it pushed deeper inland. But the Weather Bureau said it after effects might spread water-fresh breezes—and good showers—as far as west and north Texas by Tuesday.

The tropical disturbance moved inland near Brownsville about 6 a. m. and started up the bay, palm tree-lined and water-needy—Rio Grande valley.

The Brownsville rain, averaging an inch an hour, was the heaviest rain here since June, 1950.

FIRE WRECKS NIGHT CLUB

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Fire practically destroyed this island city's plush beachfront club, the Ballenee Room, before dawn yesterday. Fire Marshal J. C. Kelso put damage at $150,000 to $200,000.

White Students Demonstrate Against Negroes In Capital

Officials In W. Germany Today Foregoing Occupation Rights

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles, returning from London in an evidently jubilant mood, said today the agreement reached there gave the Atlantic community a "hard core of European unity."

Dulles said in a statement on his arrival at the airport: "The United States will, I hope, cooperate with the result, because to do so will be very much in our national interest."

Dulles said the agreement under which West Germany will remain a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization means the federal republic's sovereignty will be restored, and beginning today the Allied high commissioners will forego the exercise of most of their occupation rights.

Dulles said in his statement read for television: "The London conference produced a hard core of European unity. In this way, he said, the new plan for West Germany to join its neighbors in a four-power pact and the broader community of North Atlantic Treaty powers, 'brings many of the features of the E.W. plan to life.'"

The plan, rejected by the French Parliament, could have set up German troops as part of a tightly unified European army.

Aside from expected leftist opposition, statements and newspaper articles greeted Dulles' return. The historic London pact, signed here yesterday by the nine foreign ministers, will be put speedily into final treaty form and will carry approval from the British French Assembly and other member parliaments.

Investigating officers charged Atkinson with driving under the influence of intoxicating beverages and careless and negligent driving. The other drivers were charged with careless and negligent driving. Involving other officers were J. D. Johnston and Joe Hickson.

DR. J. D. COOPER, who had a serious traffic accident against the E. J. Housholder, charged on Co. claiming smoking caused him to have lung cancer, died of cancer at his home here Saturday.

Trieste Dispute To End Tomorrow After Nine Years

ROME (AP)—The Italian government announced today the smoldering nine-year-old Trieste dispute between Italy and Yugoslavia never again will be to be divided between the two countries largely along present demarcation lines.

Under the agreement, as Kardelj described it, as it has been reported in Rome, Trieste will be divided between Italy and Yugoslavia.

Italy would get the Allied-occupied Zone A and the port city of Trieste—66 square miles, with a population of 390,000. Since World War II this zone has been occupied by British and American troops.

Yugoslavia would get Zone B—119 square miles of hinterland with a population of 75,000, which Yugoslav troops have occupied since the war.

Money Allotted For School Milk

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department today allotted $9.5 million dollars among the states and the District of Columbia to help boost the consumption of milk under the government-sponsored school lunch program.

The biggest allotment—$3,037,048—went to the state of New York. Texas was second with $2,588,823 and Pennsylvania third with $2,446,512.

The states in turn will pay schools for fluid milk consumed above last year's levels. Schools starting the sale of milk to children for the first time will get 3 cents for each half pint. Schools which served milk last year will get 4 cents a half pint. The U. S. Embassy pushed for their release through their confinement, but the Czechs ignored these overtures and even kept secret where the men were held.

Mixing Is Tried 1st Time

Displays Given In Baltimore

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hundreds of white students demonstrated at two Washington high schools today in protest against the admission of Negroes.

About 400 out of 1,250 students at Anacostia High milled across the street from the school, pointing and boing at girls by their principal to go to classes.

The school's 41 Negro students were bused to City entered the building. More boys went up as their white pupils went to their classrooms in orderly fashion.

At McKinley High, about 150 boys and girls staged a similar demonstration but were persuaded they protest meeting in a classroom.

The McKinley High meeting later broke up in confusion, with some students apparently walking out on strike and others agreeing to let a committee discuss the situation.

Sheriff McCall Speaks In North Against Mixing

MIAMI (AP)—Sheriff Willis McCall of Florida, who made headlines in 1951 when he shot two Negro prisoners, flew to Delaware last week to make a speech opposing the admission of Negroes to white schools.

Introduced as a "famous man" who knows how to handle Negroes, McCall told a group fighting integration of the races in Delaware public schools to "keep up the good work."

Police Chief Sam Powell of Milford, Del., said McCall's speech at the rally in suburban Lincoln was "voluntarily accepted Negroes."

McCall reached at his home in Atlanta and there were 3,000 at the rally and it was very gratified to see that kind of a turnout about the "Hixon Dixon line."

"Those people are going about it in an orderly fashion but they're not going to put up with any of this 'mixing,'" McCall said.

McCall said he is president of the 14,000 Sheriff's Assn., killed Samuel Shepherd and wounded Walter Lee Brown defendants in the famous "Greenville Rape case, on a locally reported in November, 1951.

It was the first sign of trouble over the issue in the nation's capital, which has mixed white and Negro students this year for the first time in its history.

President Eisenhower and other leaders have said they hoped the district's plan for ending racial segregation would become a model for action under the Supreme Court's desegregation law. McCall's desegregation is unconstitutional.

McKinley High, a vocational school in northern Washington, has an enrollment of about 400 Negroes and 650 white pupils. The area once was a fashionable residential section.

At the classroom protest meeting there was considerable stamping of feet and applause as speaker after speaker criticized the admission of Negroes to the schools.

One girl told the gathering she was "afraid to walk down the hall. They walk right up behind me and say things I wouldn't read."

Although there were demonstrations today at eight Baltimore public schools, two more than were affected last Friday, there were no reports of angry disturbances and violence like the demonstration by several hundred persons at Southern High School last week.

Police made two arrests at Southern this morning.

Attendance reports from the various schools ranged from very light to normal.

The Delaware State Board of Education today assigned 11 Negro pupils—counted last week from the all-white Milford High School—to the all-Negro high school at Dover, 18 miles north of Milford.

The board took the action as attendance at the Milford school reached its normal figure of 96 per cent of enrollment for the first time since the school had been closed and then boycotted as a result of the integration of the Negroes in the 10th grade at Milford.

Ship Passengers Continue Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Twenty-eight passengers continued aboard in a sit-down strike today as the damaged liner Washington prepared to go into drydock.

The 28, including three children, were left from more than 400 who originally took over the vessel's promenade deck lounge yesterday when informed they would have to pay their own hotel bills while waiting in get out of town.

In Brooklyn waters as the Washington prepared to dock today, the hotelists signed a petition, they objected, they said, to being "stranded in a strange city" and "lack of adequate maintenance."

They reportedly were without food, although phone service to shore was restored.

The Holland-America Line said it would provide only toilet facilities.

Teacher Kills Family, Self With 22 Rifle

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—A middle-aged mother, a terrifying fear of a fading memory is blamed for a family tragedy in which she methodically wiped out her entire family, including two teen-agers, with a 22 rifle.

Police said Mrs. Olive Louise Anderson today shot her husband and killed her two sons, Donald, 14, and Richard, 12, yesterday. They had set for hours in the living room of her fashionable oakland home, waiting.

At first her husband Milton, 52, prosperous manager of an appliance company, opened the front door, the rifle barked Eugene Anderson fell, fatally wounded in the head.

Mrs. Anderson, a final bullet aimed for herself, dashed into the street and fired it into her own head.

Stunned neighbors, who later described the slaying as a "murder" which never "quarrelled" and moved police.

Inside the home, police found an open case of 22 cartridges and seven remaining, incriminating notes scattered in pencil on cheap paper. Only one gasp, a low "oh, oh," came from the neighbors.

"I can't teach. Something is wrong with my memory. I don't know what else to do."

Donald, a sophomore engineering student at the University of California at nearby Berkeley, was found in the bathroom. He had been apparently had been covered with a bullet to the chest.

Richard, a high school senior, was found in a basement bathroom. The bullet had entered his brain as he slept.

In a surprise move, the French leader called a National Assembly session Tuesday afternoon to hear his report on the London meeting. The deputies had been on vacation since their rejection of the European Defense Community Pact Aug. 30 set off the chain of crisis events which culminated in yesterday's agreement.
Mendes-France was reported "four fifths sure" the Chamber of Deputies would approve the sweeping new plan to rearm West Germany. One high French source said the Premier would stake his government's life on the outcome by forcing the Assembly into an issue of confidence, something he refused to do for EDC.
Adenauer scheduled a report to his Cabinet today and to Parliament tomorrow. None of the parliaments can act, however, until experts incorporate the London agreements into treaties for signing, probably late this month.

Similar approval is anticipated from the other six NATO members: Norway, Denmark, Turkey, Greece, Iceland and Portugal.
The Communists, as anticipated, blasted the parley's outcome. The government-controlled East German radio accused U. S. Secretary of State Dulles of using the strongest possible pressure and blackmail on his allies.
Adenauer's chief opposition at home, the Socialists, stuck to their guns. Germany still has not unified behind any alliance with the West. Socialist Chairman Erich Ollenhauer said the London declarations contain nothing calculated to unify the divided nation.
But the general West European reaction was summed up by the independent Times of London. It termed the agreements the "most practical and promising scheme thus far devised for building a free Europe in peace and security."
"The dream of European unity is started on the way to reality," said Dulles in a statement issued as he took off from London for Washington.
"We have built well for the future of Europe," said British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, the organizer of the conference.
The blueprint pointed out by the nine powers in their six-day meeting calls for an end to the American-British-French occupation of West Germany "as quickly as possible." The Allies will remain in Communist-occupied West Berlin, however.
A Germany army of 500,000 men, 1,500 plane air force and a small navy—no ships over 3,000 tons—will be created within the next 18 to 24 months.
West Germany, with its traditional military skills and massive industrial potential, will become the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's fifth member. Its territory stretches from the Arctic to the Aegean.
But there will be ironclad international controls to prevent a new resurgent Germany from menacing her neighbors, especially often-invaded France.

LARGE CROWD—The shrimp boil held by the civilian fire department at the Naval Auxiliary Air Station Friday night at the NAAS Chiefs' Club was attended by a large crowd of people as

Former Newsmen Succumb In Dallas

DALLAS (AP)—George F. Smith, who in his lifetime was a big league baseball player, newspaperman and publicist, will be buried here today.
Smith died here Saturday night after a long illness. He was 66.
A native of Lepus, Ohio, Smith at one time pitched for the Washington Senators.
Later, he joined his father in the publishing business and in 1927 bought the Scurry County Times in Snyder, Tex. He came to Dallas from Snyder and organized the Texas Newsprinters' Association, which distributed exposed dramatizations of the lives of many outstanding Texas and national leaders.

Many Defense Jobs Dropped As Useless

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some 17,500 Defense Department jobs have been abolished in the past five months as useless, the House Civil Service Committee said yesterday, and the action will save 95 million dollars yearly.
The committee made public a preliminary report on its campaign, waged by a subcommittee headed by Rep. Consett (R-Pa.), against the practice of assigning both untrained and civilian personnel to the same job.

SERVING TABLE—Boiled shrimp was larded out by the plentiful Friday night at the shrimp boil held at the Naval Auxiliary Air Station. Potato salad, pickles, olives and crackers were served with the shrimp. Fire Chief C. M. Whitten of the NAAS civilian fire department, sponsor of the boil, said it was the last one which will be held this year and that it is hoped one will be held again early next year. (Staff Photo)

Youth Hacks Woman To Death On Subway In New York City

NEW YORK (AP)—A youth, accused of stabbing a 70-year-old practical nurse to death in a subway train in Brooklyn, says he didn't know the woman and doesn't remember a thing about the slaying, police report.
The woman, who was planning her retirement after 25 years service, was killed early yesterday.
"It was the most methodical, awful murder you can imagine," reported subway motorman John S. Hough.

Poultryman Shoots Boy In Henhouse

DADE CITY (AP)—A Dade City poultryman fatally wounded a Massachusetts teenager who reportedly failed to obey a warning to come out of the farmer's henhouse Saturday night.
D. A. Smith said he intended only to shoot Justin Clifford Bassett, 17, of Westwood, Mass., in the legs. Instead the shotgun load hit the boy in the stomach.

Formosa Now Safe, Navy Chief Says

DALLAS (AP)—The U. S. chief of naval operations says, "I don't think the Chinese fleet could effectuate a capture of Formosa at this time."
Admiral Robert Carney said in a press conference yesterday the Nationalist Chinese island bastion must be prepared for the possibility that the Chinese are not bluffing, he said.
Carney was inspecting the Dallas Naval Air Station.

"Start Counting," Holdup Man Orders

BALTIMORE (AP)—A holdup man forced four persons into the prescription room of Thomas H. Caldwell's drug store last night and told them to "start counting and hand it over."
Then the gunman picked up the day's receipts which Caldwell had been counting and headed for the cash register in the front of the store.

FIVE KILLED IN CAR WRECK

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—Five persons died in a car collision five miles south of here yesterday.
The victims were G. W. Melton, 61, and Thomas Edward Carroll, 59, both of Corsicana, and Myrtle Carter Fife, 38, Ruth Wadley, 25, and Charley Mae Wadley, 12 months old, all of Dallas. Doris Hammond, 21, of Dallas was critically hurt.

A Letter To Judge Housholder

DAYTONA BEACH, Sept. 18, 1951
Judge Ernest Housholder, Sanford, Florida
Dear Judge Housholder:
My husband and I have talked a great deal about you, since we were there. I have never had a moment to appear in court, and since over 64 I became nervous, worried and sick. Of course, I realize that I violated the traffic laws of the highway south of Sanford. It was not intentional as you know, but I understood I was wrong the first time in driving a car for about 30 years.
As you know we got in Sanford before 9 o'clock when the summons said 1:30. I think I would have gone wild if you had not decided to handle our case when you contacted our attorney, so we could come back to our home.
After I got you and realized how kind and considerate you are, my fear of coming to court passed away. I had to pay the fine you gave me, as we live on a retirement pension, yet we are thankful to you when I realize you could have had me go to jail, and there I would have had to go.
I believe in our courts and our traffic laws, yet I had a fear of the Court not knowing what might happen to me.
It never Judge as a kind and understanding as you were, then the people should never have any fear of a serious matter in court. I hope I will never have to go to Court again, but if I do I certainly hope you will be my Judge.
We both want to thank you for your kindness and consideration and wish for you a long and happy life.
Yours very truly,
Mrs. ...

"One More Try"

Jim Streeter had always lived in Cedarville, a not too thriving town in the Southeast. Since people could remember, Jim had been running for Mayor, but was never elected. He wasn't looked upon exactly as a simpleton, but people just didn't take him seriously.

Jim talked a lot. He had lots of ideas, but they didn't bring him votes. He ran for mayor 12 times, unsuccessfully. But on the 13th try, to the amazement of everyone, and probably to Jim's amazement too, he was elected. Everyone wondered what would happen to their town now.

Things did begin to happen . . . and they were all to the good. His Honor, Mayor Jim Streeter, was sobered by the responsibility he had accepted. He threw politics and personalities out the window, and started doing a down-to-earth, commonsense, bang-up job of running the City of Cedarville. The town was cleaner, business was getting better, and the community spirit was running high.

In the Washington "go-around" there are too few people conscientiously trying to help President Eisenhower do a good job, and there are too many dealing in politics and personalities.

Getting back to Jim Streeter . . . eventually, he served his community in an even higher office. He was an outstanding public servant and was loved and respected by everyone. If he hadn't made that "one more try," he would have remained a failure. But that "one more try" made him an outstanding leader of inestimable service to his community.

Whether we call it persistence or perseverance, it is something we need to reach our goal . . . something which makes us try "one more time" . . . the "one more try" that puts us over.

History is full of accounts of the successful lives of those who believed in the old adage: "If at first you don't succeed, try and try again." They tried and tried, some times for years and years. They had that "internal fortitude" to make that "one more try," and that is why their names made history.

It is said that Thomas A. Edison worked on the electric light for years and years, making literally hundreds of thousands of experiments, but with that "one last try" he brought light to the world.

Carlyle wrote: "Every noble work is at first impossible." Edward Eggleston said: "Persistent people begin their success where others end in failure."

Whatever you desire . . . whatever you wish to accomplish . . . BE PERSISTENT. Keep on trying; make "one more try." Remember, Jim Streeter's "one more try" brought him from failure to brilliant success.

If you keep on swimming, you will not drown. If you keep on succeeding, you will not fail. If you always make "one more try," you will win every time.

Make "one more try." Let's not depend on luck. Let's make "one more try." Editorial in the Americanizer, by Walter L. Hays, president of American Fire and Casualty Company Orlando.

Education Costing Much More

NEW YORK, (AP)—The three R's are getting more expensive. And as a taxpayer you haven't seen anything yet. You'll have to dig still deeper into your pocket to educate the oncoming generation.

Financing is already swamping some local school districts. So states increasingly are taking over more of the burden. And the federal government is under pressure for more funds. Tax experts say it adds up to a revolution in American public school tradition.

This year it is costing around nine billion dollars to run the public schools, from kindergarten through high school—more than three times what it cost 25 years ago.

In the next six years, the U. S. Office of Education predicts, there will be nine million more pupils answering the school bells. To house them adequately the taxpayers will have to find, or underwrite, some 20 billion dollars for new classrooms—in addition to the cost of running the schools themselves.

This year the public school systems are spending about 2½ billion dollars for new schools and other capital outlays. That is seven times what they spent 25 years ago.

Great shifts in population since

World War II complicate the problem. Booming suburbs are flooded with young fry more or less receptive to being educated. And, conversely, some big city school buildings, like some city church buildings, are getting on the empty side. Some regions of the country have grown enormously in population and industry—and haven't caught up yet in school facilities. Bumper baby crops are a main factor. But also children are spending more years in school than they used to—at both ends of the school setup. Kindergarten attendance has more than doubled in the last 30 years. High school rolls have more than tripled. Enrollment in the intermediate grades hasn't changed as notably.

Colleges have problems too. Education-seeking veterans sent college enrollment to a 2½ million peak in 1949. There's a breather right now, but the first of the World

OLD DOG, NEW TRICKS

Barkley Opens His Campaign With Blast At Administration

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Charging the Eisenhower administration with "ineptitude," veteran Democrat Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky has opened his campaign for a fifth Senate term with a frontal assault on Republican domestic and foreign policies.

The 76-year-old Barkley told a rally at Shelbyville, Ky., last week the Republican regime "seems dedicated to big business" as he took aim at Eisenhower administration policies in the farm, labor, business, power and foreign fields.

But in Montclair, N.J., Richard M. Nixon, who succeeded Barkley as vice president, said that "for the first time in 12 years the world is at peace and that's a great accomplishment for the Eisenhower administration."

Nixon, who has been slumping the country for GOP candidates for Congress, spoke at a reception for himself and Clifford P. Case, Republican nominee for the Senate in New Jersey.

The Vice President claimed Eisenhower administration gains in social security and unemployment compensation legislation, and he said: "We believe that we can do these things that help people without socializing America."

Barkley, who resigned a Senate seat after 22 years service to become vice president in 1949, is seeking to unseat Sen. John Sherman Cooper, a strong Republican vote-getter.

The former vice president in the Truman administration said the nation has been spared a major depression because "an enormous program of constructive and far-reaching legislation" was enacted during the 20 years the Democrats held sway in Washington.

Nixon came under attack by Democratic Sen. Olin Johnson of South Carolina who said in Tallahassee, Fla., last night that the Eisenhower administration's second in command has been "disgracing the high office he holds" in campaign speeches.

Johnson said Nixon has been claiming the Eisenhower administration has fired Communists, risked low travelers and security risks from the federal payroll "by the thousands." But, said the South Carolinian, Nixon's statements do not jibe with sworn testimony of Philip Young, Civil Service Commission chairman, Johnson ac-

Federal Employees Being Probed

By ED CREAIGN
(For James Marlow)
WASHINGTON (AP)—That touchy question of secrecy on the part of your government has cropped up again.

Last June the Eisenhower administration set up a new system of keeping tabs on government employees—to prevent such things as the housing scandals which have been in the public eye.

On the face of it, this sounded praiseworthy enough. Or at least it probably would have if the public had heard about it. But except for top people in the government nobody did hear about it. The story never reached the public until the Washington Star "broke" it a few days ago.

Then, right away, the very secrecy of the program stirred up doubt about it. The White House 'ell it necessary to deny it was some sort of "super-snooper, Gestapo-like" system for poking into the private lives of federal work-ers.

Just what is the program? Well, the text of the order setting it up now has been published—though not with official sanction. It shows the program would (1) set up investigation general officers, like the Army has, throughout the executive branch, and (2) allow the inspectors to investigate the "conduct" of government employees.

The order went out—with President Eisenhower's approval, the White House says—in the name of Budget Director Rowland Hughes. Hughes still won't talk about it and neither will the people who work for him.

But Philip Young, chairman of the Civil Service Commission and a White House adviser, says it's nothing to get excited about—"just a routine operation."

Young says many government agencies already have their own inspection systems. And the Budget Bureau, he says, was only calling to the attention of the agency heads the necessity for maintaining "the proper and appropriate conduct of employees."

There's that word "conduct" again. What does it mean? (Official conduct? Or what an employee does in his spare time? Or what? Murray Snider, assistant White House press secretary, says: "There is nothing in the Budget Bureau that deals with the private lives of government employees."

But Snider also says the order "deals with the manner in which employees do their jobs, and anything that relates to that."

And another government official, who doesn't want his name used, says:

"The primary purpose of the order is to have a dignified check made on those employees with outside interests and activities to make certain they don't conflict with those of the agencies in which they are employed."

In spite of official reassurances, the Washington Star still finds "two big flaws" in the program: "Inspection were a flow of enough leeway to pry into government employees' private lives."

"The whole operation was kept secret."

And the Star complains it is powerless to make clear just what sort of "employee conduct" the inspectors are free to inspect. "Conceivably they could knock on the employee's door in the night and ask impertinent questions."

Maybe this is borrowing trouble

And maybe such questions would be impertinent if the employee happened to be shooting craps with handful of the taxpayers' money. But somebody, it would seem borrowed some unnecessary trouble by trying to keep the whole program hush-hush.

QUESTION: Just how much Bodily Injury and Property Damage Insurance is a person supposed to carry these days in order to feel safe in driving?

ANSWER: Any competent insurance agent would want to know something of your individual circumstances before stating an exact amount. However the higher limits cost very little more than basic coverage which in these days doesn't give enough protection to anyone.

"If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office, we'll try to give you the correct answer. And there will be no charge or obligation of any kind."

Purdue Breaks Winning Streak Of Irish Again

By ED CORRIGAN
AP Sports Writer

Four years ago Purdue snapped a Notre Dame unbeaten streak of 29 games. That Boilermaker club won only one more game that season, so the suspicion was that it was one of those flukes that happen every so often.

This year they broke a modest Notre Dame unbeaten streak of 13 games and to the process handed 20-year-old Terry Brennan his first defeat as a varsity college coach. This one, you may be sure, was no fluke.

Coach Stu Holcomb has a solid club, several good veterans and a fine crop of sophomores headed by the fantastic Len Dawson, who in his first two games has pitched eight touchdown passes. He completed 7 of 12 in the Boilermaker's 21-14 conquest of the Irish.

After whipping both Missouri and Notre Dame, the Boilermakers play host this week to Duke, which also has won both its games. The Blue Devils beat Penn in their opener and topped Tennessee 7-0 Saturday. On that basis, Purdue should rule the solid favorite.

The Irish will try to pick up the pieces this week against Pitt.

Notre Dame has plenty of company. Maryland, the 1953 national champion, was flattened by UCLA last Friday. Texas, Illinois, Michigan State and Georgia Tech also have fallen.

Illinois dropped a 12-2 decision to Stanford Saturday and the Spartans were beaten by Wisconsin 6-0. AP this weekend's nothing, but the trouble ahead for Oklahoma, the perennial Big Seven champion and No. 2 team behind Notre Dame in last week's Associated Press poll.

The Sooners have a clean slate, having taken the measure of both California and Texas. Christian Their date this week is with Texas, which rebounded smartly from its Notre Dame loss to overwhelm Washington State 50-14.

Iowa, the third-ranking team in the country, faces Michigan this week after an easy 48-6 conquest of Montana. The Wolverines themselves were victims of one of the big upsets of the day when they dropped a 20-7 decision to Army.

UCLA, Maryland's conqueror, visits Washington, while the dejected Treps will try to regain some prestige at Wake Forest.

Mississippi, the eighth-rated team in the AP poll, looked powerful thrashing Villanova 52-0 and should do just as well against Vanderbilt.

Southern California, a pretender to the Pacific Coast crown, still is unbeaten after three games and figures to do a 2-0 with a streak against Texas Christian Friday night.

Penn State, which looks like about the best the East has to offer, dropped Syracuse 13-0 and goes after its third straight against Virginia.

Outstanding Catch Snatched Opener From Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Oct. 4—They were saying in the stricken city today that the World Series would have been an entirely different proposition if Willie Mays hadn't made that outstanding catch of Vic Wertz's potential game wrecker on the first day at the Polo Grounds.

Even General Manager Hank Greenberg of the Indians subsided to his sentiment. The suffering citizens could be right to some extent.

But for Willie's tremendous feat the Tribe almost certainly would have won the opener, and with that one under their belts Al Lopez's athletes might not have looked quite so terrible as they did in the succeeding games. But to suggest that they might have beaten the New York Giants under any circumstances borders on the ridiculous.

The giants are a very fine ball team from stem to stern, while the American League champions simply are not a solid outfit. After you've said that they have two of the game's best pitchers in Bob Lemon and Early Wynn, you've just about exhausted the subject.

After watching the Indians roll over and play dead against Leo Durocher's last pitcher's club, one can only wonder again how they won 111 ball games in any league.

The Indians were supposed to have bench strength, yet at the very end with only one more out to go before decomposition set in, Lopez found himself forced to send up a lefty swinger, Dale Mitchell, against one of the game's finest southpaws, Johnny Antonelli. Mitchell ended the agony with a pop foul to Henry Thompson.

"The most significant thing we heard in the winners' happy press conference was Durocher's explanation of why he relieved with Antonelli in the eighth inning of the clincher after Hoyt Wilhelm had wavered, instead of bringing on his other short-term specialist, Marv Grason, who had proved his ability to throttle the Tribe in the opener. Leo snorted at a suggestion that he had planned all along to relieve with his top hand if such a situation arose.

"If you want to know something, it wasn't my idea at all," he said. "It was Al Durocher's. After hitting against their left-hander, Mays, in the sixth Al told me the shadows made it very difficult to see a southpaw at all and suggested that I get Johnny in there as quickly as possible. If it hadn't been for that I probably would have gone on with Wilhelm. Hoyt's only trouble was that he had too much stuff."

Some of the Cleveland supporters we talked with after the final game were inclined to be critical of the way Lopez handled his team during the rout. That is, they didn't think he looked quite as sharp as Durocher did in the game. We were forced to disagree.

It is true that Leo managed a terrific series, but he had the better club, the faster and smarter club. Lopez directed such talent as he had at his disposal in the exact manner he did during the season, and that was good enough to overwhelm the five weak teams in his league. No manager who ever lived could have driven the Indians to victory in this World Series.

Leo Durocher Will Continue

NEW YORK (AP)—Leo Durocher, manager of the world champion New York Giants, will be back at the helm in 1955.

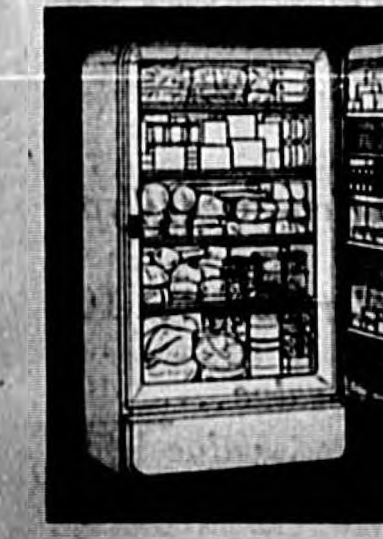

Scuttling all rumors he intended to quit the Giants and leave baseball entirely, Durocher promises he'll be back seeking a second straight pennant next year.

The triumphant manager left last night for his Beverly Hills, Calif., home for a rest. He was accompanied by his actress wife Laraine and their two children, Mitchell and Chris.

"I have absolutely no plans of doing anything other than holding the job I have," he said before leaving.

"I don't know how those rumors started. I am not considering any other offers. Right now all I'm interested in is to take a good rest and be with my family."

Second-Stringers Show Well In SEC Contests Saturday

By MERRILL BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

A substitute on a football team often is a forgotten man, but at least half a dozen others shared the limelight with established stars in Southeastern Conference games last weekend.

And while these unsung heroes were making their grade for grid glory, Florida's underrated Gators scrambled into the center of the SEC championship picture.

Just a week after topping Georgia Tech's Sugar Bowl champions, Florida surprised the experts by topping Auburn's Gator Bowl boys 19-13. The Gators' only loss this season was a 34-14 setback by Cotton Bowl champion Rice.

Only three other teams are battling 1-0 in conference competition so far—Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee. The Vols play both Alabama and Florida later and those games should narrow the field considerably. Mississippi, through no fault of the Vols, doesn't meet either of the other three prime contenders.

But back to those subs: Jim Tait and Frank Sabatini, a pair of third string halfbacks, each scored a touchdown on a nice run to ignite Mississippi's faltering offense against Arkansas State. After that, the Maroon regulars, perhaps fearful of losing their starting roles, began to click and ground out a 46-13 victory.

Sophomore back Freddie Wilcox, third stringer at the start of the season, took charge of Tulane in the final period, returned a punt 32 yards to the North Carolina 16 and shortly thereafter passed seven yards for a touchdown which tied the highly favored Tar Heels 7-7.

Delmar Hughes, a sub signal caller who started in Kentucky's loss to Maryland, provided the all-important extra point in the Wildcats' 7-6 victory over Louisiana State.

Florida Golfer Wins Tourney

THOMASVILLE, Ga.—Vannie Colby, 22-year-old Hollywood, Fla. golfer, is the new Women's Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament champion.

Miss Colby, a relative darkhorse, defeated the more experienced Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Tex., one-up yesterday in the 36-hole final.

Miss Riley and Mary Lenz Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., were favored to take the title. But Miss Colby won medalist honors last Tuesday and played Miss Riley on even terms in the final over the par 76 Glen Arven Country Club course.

They wound up the morning 18 all square as each shot an 89. Both had 70s on the afternoon round.

On the 33rd, Miss Riley missed a putt of less than three feet and Miss Colby pocketed one of the most cherished prizes for women golfers as they halted the 36th.

Frances Rich of Bainbridge captured the first flight crown with a 6 and 4 victory over Minnie Lee Ashley of Gadsden. Ala. Grace De Moss Smith of Coral Gables, Fla., won the championship consolation over Mary Burns of Greensboro, N. C., 5 and 3.

Seminole Eleven Tramples Leesburg Yellow Jackets

Wins 3rd Contest 25 To 0

SHS Outclasses Its Opponents

By GENE LEGETT
With Aid of Carl Overstreet

Sparked by the playing of back Johnny Jones and Jim Hawkins, the Sanford Seminoles overcame a completely outclassed Leesburg 11-25-0, Friday night at the Memorial Stadium.

After a scoreless first quarter, the Seminoles drove a 25-yard touchdown for each remaining quarter except the fourth, when they scored twice.

Sanford controlled the ball almost the entire game, and was in complete control during the second half. Even a stunning series of penalties in the fourth quarter—16 yards for illegal use of hands and on the next play an additional 15 yards penalty for an illegal receiver—failed to stop and Seminoles from scoring their fourth tally.

The Seminoles were weak in the extra point department, scoring their single one after the final TD on Jones to Harper pass.

Sanford scored first late in the second quarter after taking over a Leesburg kick on the Jackets' 40 yard line. Five plays and one first down later Johnny Jones hit Bob Shoemaker with a 25-yard pass and the locals had their first tally. The try for the extra point was blocked. Back Ralph Flowers suffered a head-on collision on the play and was taken out temporarily.

To start the march for their third TD, Sanford took over on their own 21. On the next play Jones picked up a needed block from tackle David Gallaway and went 25 yards. On the following play, Jim Hawkins carried the ball to the left, cut back through the entire Jacket team, and went 48 yards for the Seminoles' second touchdown. The extra point pass was incomplete, and Sanford led 12-0.

The beginning of the fourth quarter found the locals again knocking at the Jacket's goal. A drive paid off in five plays. Hawkins twisted and turned through a host of Leesburg players to score from the eight. The extra point kick was blocked on the second attempt, after an off side penalty neutralized the first blocked attempt, and the score stood 18-0.

The final touchdown was set up when Harold Pate recovered a Leesburg fumble in midfield. The Seminoles worked the ball to the Leesburg 40, completed a pass deeper into Leesburg territory and then drew two 15-yard penalties. Then Hawkins hit Alan Maffet with a 63-yard pass to score.

The Taming of Carney Wilde

by BART SPICER

When Charles Alexander Stewart...
CHAPTER THREE
I CUT IN again. I didn't want Grodnik to hear any of the things that were going on in my mind. I call him a fool, a man—just because he's got that kind of a face. But he's only two or three years younger than I am. He's a right, captain. I'm a captain.

"Mary," he muttered. "Do you think she knew?"
"I hope so," I said. "I hope that she—"
"Mary bought a new dress," Grodnik said in a dull voice. "Bought it just last week. A silk one, very fancy for her. First new dress in over a year. Maybe she'll let me see it."

I reached in my pocket for the Delta Line paper. "Do you really think this is worth following up?"
"I'm sending a man to check the boat at Cincinnati," Grodnik said non-committally. "And I'll have the complete passenger list screened as soon as I can find it. Probably I'll send someone to meet the boat at New Orleans, if Cincinnati is a blank. But actually taking the boat trip would be a long shot. It would cost a lot of dough, but it might..."
He let the implication hang.

What stopped him then I don't know. Maybe he looked at my face. I was quiet, but my eyes were closed off and I had a look that said I was not to be trifled with. He looked at me, then he looked at the door and then he looked at me again.

"That jerk Mackey," I said bitterly.
"Yes, Captain Hannebman gave me an official reprimand. But you made yourself some friends in the bureau. They wanted to see you move you managed to find out where Stewart was hiding."
"Maybe I had better not tell you."

Charles Alexander Stewart had the job of receiving and counting the money that made up the Jones store payroll. When it had been checked, Stewart took it upstairs and delivered it to the cashier of the store. He used a private elevator that went only from the bank to the cashier's office. The elevator had no exits on the floors between the street-corner bank and the ninth-floor cashier office. Because of that, no guard was considered necessary to protect Stewart on the trip. Five weeks ago, Stewart had been escorted into the elevator, the payroll money compressed into a big canvas satchel. The guard closed the door, Stewart pushed the button and the elevator rose slowly toward the ninth floor. Somewhere on route Stewart disappeared.

"I used to think so, too, captain," I said, as if there had been no interruption. "But things got in the way. I had to spend a lot of time out of town, sometimes I went for a month or more without leaving a day off. I liked it. I guess maybe it would be a good idea if I was used to it. And then I got shot. Nobody in my racket has any business with a wife, anyway."

"But Maxwell is in the same..."
"He hasn't been out of town for a year or more. He's got a talent for detail work. I need him in the office. And now he's staying in all the time. That's not his can commit on the 9-10 every night if he wants to."

It was a mystery—for about ten minutes. The elevator had an escape hatch installed, to be used in case of fire or power failure. The hatch led through a wooden break-away partition to the fire stairs. Stewart had gimmicked the alarm system, shorting out the terminals with a short length of copper wire. He stopped the elevator, crawled out the escape hatch, went down the fire stairs and outside, taking his canvas bag with some $200,000 in small bills inside.

"You didn't do anything to make that necessary?" I asked. "You didn't somehow let her know what you thought of her, so much that she didn't want you blabbing around when she was getting married? You just think about it, captain. It's supposed to be a happy time, you know. Maybe Jane figured it couldn't be happy if you were there."

"That's what. Fast working stuff. Faked about 15 minutes to get it permanent, at least until the hair grows out again. No Stewart isn't a blonde any more. That's now. I know about the fair, about the color of your hair."
"How far did you trace him?" I asked.

"The biggest mystery to me was why he hadn't run. For some reason he stayed in town afterward. It was 3 in the afternoon when he walked out of the Jones store with his bag and he was still in that old parkside town house at 7 that evening. Of course he had to change his appearance, pick up whatever he meant to take with him, and he would have to reappear in the city in a coat and tie, noticeable than the Jones bank's canvas satchel. But even so, he spent a lot of time and ultimately he had to show his wits out."

"Forget it," I said. "They were keeping it from me as much as you."
"She's my kid," Grodnik said tightly, and I guess I got a right to—"
"Your kid and my girl, captain. I broke in. And now she's dumped the bait. You can't change that now. They're married. They're going to try to build something something like you and Mrs. Grodnik saw. I'm just as surprised about this as you are, but I don't think I've got much right to complain. And I don't think you have, either."

"Any leads to him?"
Grodnik shrugged slightly. "He had a girl friend who works in the advertising department at the Jones store. Name of Mary Mackey. We've got a 24-hour tail on her, but she hasn't made a move. Except for her, Stewart stayed pretty close to himself. He belonged to a health club on Ninth st., but nobody there seems to know him very well. He just showed up twice a week for a game of handball, took a shower and went home. He had a one-on-one efficiency on Delaney St. been there four years and doesn't have a friend in the building. He lived a very quiet life."

Less than two per cent of the land for the protection of the Florida Forest Service was burned last year while over 47 per cent of the unprotected land felt the ravages of wildfire.

"I guess maybe it would be a good idea if I was used to it. And then I got shot. Nobody in my racket has any business with a wife, anyway."
