LET'S GET THE FACTS RIGHT ABOUT THE WHISKEY SITUATION!

Simple questions and direct answers that will explain what's happening ... and why.

part of the war. All distillers' facilities were ted to the production of war alcohol. tinued to bottle whiskey from their warehouse inventories, reducing supplies of aging whiskies to a low point.

. Haven't distillers replenished their whiskey stocks since the war? A. No. Because of the shortage of grain, the amounts dvailable to distillers have been drastically reduced. Therefore whiskey has been produced only intermittently ... currently at the rate of three days a month. And, of course, whiskey distilled now cannot be used until properly matured.

Q. How long will the shortage last? A. It will be three or four years before the whiskey distilled since the war is ade-quately aged and ready to drink. Straight whiskies of "Bondable" age (4 years or more) won't be plentiful until after 1949... younger straight whiskles not much sooner. Scotch may be scarce even longer. The shortage of better quality Blends will also continue for at least 3 or 4 years.

A. To be called "Straight", whiskey must be aged at least two years. To be called "bottled-in-bond", whiskey must be aged four years. Good Blends usually contain blending whiskies aged 4 to 8 years.

Q. Is "bottled-in-bond" whiskey of better quality than other types? No. The U.S. Government Itself, in Treasury Decision No. 1299 says: "Bottled-in-bond stamp not a guarantee of quality." The "bottled-in-bond" stamp guarantees only quantity...that the whiskey is 100 proof and not less than 4 years old. All whiskey is made under government supervision and

Why is more blended whiskey on the available than straight whiskles. Like the grain spirit whiskies of Scotland used in Scotch whisky, and the highly refined grain distillate used in Canadian whisky, grain neutral spirits when properly produced make for a lighter, milder-tasting whiskey.

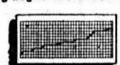

Q. Are grain neutral spirits ever aged A. Yes. But in America, the law does not allow a distiller to advertise that his grain neutral spirits have been aged. Despite this, some distillers mature grain neutral spirits in barrels to the exact point where they can contribute the utmost in flavor, mellowness,

Q. Is blended whiskey "cut" whiskey? A. No! At Calvert it is just the opposite. It is built up...a whiskey created to meet exacting standards of uniformity, bouquet, flavor and mellowness. Various carefully selected. aged base whiskies and grain neutral spirits are blended together scientifically to achieve the exact qualities and char-

No. Blending is not "mixing", but is a scientific procedure in which compatible stroight whiskies and grain neutral spirits are brought together to arrive at a predetermined, uniform taste. Successful blending depends upon "know how," based on long experience and the use of costly special equipment. For instance, at Calvert's distillery there is a "library" of hundreds of whiskies and grain neutral spirits, each catalogued according to its characteristics, compatibility, etc. Calvert specializes in Blends...markets no other types.

the beginning-of the long process through which Calvert whiskies pass. In other words,

Q. Are Blends more popular than other types of whiskey?

A. Deeidedly! After Repeal, only 10% of all whiskey sold was blended whiskey. By 1942, before the whiskey shortage, the trend to Blends wasso great that the figurewas 50%. Today, 80% of all whiskey sold is blended whiskey...and undoubtedly, many distillers who are making blended whiskey for the first time will continue to produce it to meet the popular demand.

Q. What does blending accomplish? A. Three things. It creates a product with a distinctive character, Impossible without blending. It assures uniformity that could not be achieved in any other way. And it makes possible a definitely lighter product. Cigarettes, coffee, tea-dozens of products standards vary. Huge resources in plants, equipment, and expert personnel enable Calvert to produce whiskles which have made the name CALVERT a hallmark of quality. Out of Calvert's extensive laboratories have come exclusive processes that have made possible whiskies of unmatched

Q. Do Blends vary in quality?

Q. Are Calvert Blends superior to others? A. We think so, because Calvert has blended more fine whiskey in its time than any other distiller. In America, Calvert's matchless Inventories, greater experience, and devo-tion to high quality products during the shortage period give ample evidence that the House of Blends can be relied upon to

Holy Land Would Be Divided Into Four Parts Including One Jewish Area

A new Anglo-American proposal for settlement of the Palestine problem has been announced in the House of Lords by Lord Addison. Under the new plan, Palestine would be divided into four areas, including a Jewish province. Inhabitants of this Jewah province would decide how many of their wandering fellow lews could migrate to the Hilly transfer regulations. In the Jewish and Arab provin-🖢 ces, the inhabitanta would have the power to limit the number and determine the qualifications of persons who might wish to live permanently in those areas. Lord Addison says the British government has accepted the plan ng a basis for negotiation. However, President Truman is said to have dreided to talk the matter over with the American delegation of experts before accepting the

Meanwhile, Lord Addison say the plan will be discussed with
