BELGIUM--ANTWERP

In the I. D. Brewster.

Belgium, in the fall of 1914, has no such houses of worship as we have in this country. The only place of worship in Antwerp is the cathedral. It is a fine building, but it is not a church in the sense that we understand the word. It is a place where the people go to pray, but it is not a place where they go to worship. The people of Antwerp are a very different people from the people of this country. They are a very different race, and they have a very different religion. They are a very different people, and they are a very different race. They are a very different people, and they are a very different race. They are a very different people, and they are a very different race.

THE SANFORD HERALD

Published Every Tuesday and Friday Morn'g by THE HERALD PRINTING COMPANY R. J. HULLY, Editor W. M. HAYNES, Business Manager

Subscription Price, $2.00 a Year in Advance

Delivered in the City by carrier $2.00 per year in advance or 20c per month. Payment in advance must be made at office

Entered as second-class mail matter August 22nd 1908, at the Postoffice at Sanford, Florida, under Act of March 3rd, 1879.

Office at Herald Building Telephone No. 148

Sanford is to have a third bank and Gainesville another one. Such evidences of prosperity speak well for the enterprise and progress of our state.—Palatka Herald.

Headline in Pensacola News says, "Burglars Rob Saloon and Tailor Shop." Those burglars saw winter coming on and wanted to prepare for it with an outside and inside coat.

Now that the vacation schools and colleges are opening up throughout the state it would be well for the parents to remember that we have good colleges in Florida as there are in every state and there is no need to send the sons and daughters out of the state for an education.

If the New Smyrna people will forget about deep water for a few minutes and devote their energies toward building a better road from the St. Johns river to their city and placing sign boards all along the route they will get considerable trade from the winter and summer tourists and the money will go a long way toward increasing the merchant's profits.

The Sanford Herald has been forced to reduce to four pages, owing to an accident to its press. We are glad to have the Herald, even in small doses.—Tampa Tribune.

Bob Holly wants to know if there can be anything more beautiful than September Morn'g in Florida. Yes, the original S. M., in the altogether.—Tampa Tribune.

PEOPLE WE LOVE

The dub who thinks he is in politics and wants to talk over the political situation.

The mutt who paws over the exchanges and lugs away the very paper laid aside for use.

The misguided individual who brings in four pounds of clippings which he offers the editor to fill up with.

The common or garden variety of pest who want somebody roasted, not over his own signature of course, he is willing for the editor to have the glory and the cork incidental to "writing the piece."

The man who thinks that a newspaper is a reading room or debating society.

The bore who has just heard a rich joke and must get it out of his system.—Plant City Courier.

OUR TEMPTATIONS

The editor's temptation to suppress news really comes from his friends:

Troubles visit all of us, and when one has a friend in charge of a newspaper he is very likely to ask him to keep his troubles out of the paper. If one wishes to minimize as far as possible the sorrows of life, he cannot but be generous in this matter. If I have erred in that direction, I do not think it will be one of the subjects that will bother me when I come to the end of my days.

The above is the language of Chas. H. Taylor, editor of the Boston Globe. Yet our embarrassment is very great at times when we have to decide between duty to our readers and the desire to help a friend in need—we being just an ordinary human being so far as our feelings are concerned. Oftimes when we listen to duties' call we lose a friend. But every editor knows that he can count enemies who became such because he would not sacrifice his duty to his personal feelings. Nearly every week this probably presents itself, and if we occasionally yield, it only proves that we have our share of the ordinary imperfections of mankind.—Ft. Meade Leader.

THE SAME OLD STORY

It's the same old story so often told. Lakeland business men subscribe $1,000 for the purpose of advertising that city, and the committee in whose hands the money was placed decided to print 10,000 booklets and gave the order to a Lynchburg, Va., firm; the commissioners of Lee county, set aside $1,000 for the purpose of advertising that county, and decide to issue booklets and pay postage on mailing them out with the money; the citizens of Daytona have decided to print 30,000 booklets, and more than likely will give the job to a foreign printer. In the meantime the local papers in these towns can continue donating three-quarters of their space to boosting their counties and the local merchants, the newspapers don't need any local encouragement in the money line. Newspapers are printed merely as a pleasurable pastime, says the Kissimmee Gazette, which leads the Fort Myers Press to say.

While the idea meant to be conveyed is correct we do not deny that we cansider, and have said so plainly, that booklets are necessary, although the newspaper is best. The amount available from the county commissioners will likely be well in excess of $1,000, and we practically have the assurance that the value of the press is...

The following, also appearing in the Gazette, is a suggestion which, while we do not expect nor ask to be treated with so much consideration, would in our opinion prove very valuable wherever tried. "It appears to us that the boards of county commissioners, city councils, boards of trade and citizens' committees would do a wise act if they would place all publicity funds at the disposal of those who understand the art of boosting to the best advantage—the newspapers." If there is any one thing a newspaper deals in, more than any other institution, it is publicity, and it is a great mistake for anyone to leave them out of consideration, whether it be the press or any other paper.

THE FAKE ADVERTISING MAN

He comes every fall, and the advance guard has already arrived: The Sentinel has sighted and sensed him already. He is with us, and from now until the close of the winter season he will be here. He is the fake advertising man. The fellow who wants you to give him one dollar or two dollars or maybe five to fill a space of some kind on a folder that he is getting out "for the good of the town." The amount is not much, and the business man "falls" for it. By the end of the season he has paid out a considerable sum, if he has patronized all of the solicitors that come along, and the town in the aggregate has thrown away a large amount of good money. Such money so spent is worse than wasted, for it encourages a vagrant and undesirable lot of transient persons whose most serious purpose is to see the country and make expenses while they are at it, or perhaps their object is not nearly so worthy.

The Sentinel is moved by a purpose not altogether selfish in urging the merchants and other business men of Orlando to refuse to patronize such agents. It is passing strange that many shrewd business men do not carefully consider the means and methods of advertising. They seem to think that their advertisement has performed its mission if it is printed so that they can see it, without giving thought to the character of the medium through which it is circulated or to the extent of the circulation. Advertising through established medium is beyond question the most effective means of reaching the people, and that is what the advertiser wants to do. He should know that it isn't worth two dollars or fifty cents or even one cent to have his business card printed on a folder that has no circulation, or on a barber shop scroll or on a hotel register, or through the various fly up the creek and fly by night schemes that are offered by the itinerant advertising solicitor. All such methods are to be condemned by the business men who have money to spend for advertising. No matter how big the business it never has money to waste. The same amount of money would be better used by taking additional space in the newspapers, or by getting out a lot of personal letters to prospective customers calling their attention to some special sale or price reduction.

The itinerant advertising man should not be upheld, for he is in the last analysis a hold-up man of the polite kind. He strikes a town frequently without money enough to get out of it. He brings nothing into the town and he depends upon his blandishments to secure money enough to get out of it. He has no value to give in return for his wares—for he has no wares. He has a glib tongue and a persuasive way; some times he is nothing more than a plain pest whom people patronize to be rid of and consider themselves lucky at that. But they should remember that every dollar they spend in this wise is a dollar taken from the legitimate channels of trade. The newspapers have a right to object to it, because it cheapens their calling, reduces the amount of business that they might rightfully claim and minimizes the merchant's faith in the productiveness of advertising.—Orlando Sentinel.

CANNOT SELL GAME

New Laws Prevent Pot Hunters From Ruthless Slaughter

Although the laws were published more than a month ago, many of them are little understood, especially the hunting law, and as the open season is near at hand we here produce these sections relating to selling and shipping of protected game as well as the section requiring hunters to procure licenses.

Sec. 12. Selling Game Prohibited.—Any person, firm or corporation, who, at any time of the year, shall barter, sell or offer for sale, any of the game birds or animals protected by the laws of Florida, or under any other name or guise whatsoever, whether lawfully or unlawfully taken, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be fined not less than $10 nor more than $25 for each offense.

Sec. 14. False Statement as to Procuring License.—Any person who shall make to any officer authorized to issue a hunting license a false statement, or alter his or her license in any manner, shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars, but any resident may hunt upon his own lands in season without obtaining a hunting license.

Sec. 15. Shipping or Transporting Game.—Any person who takes, ships or transports out of, or within the state any of the birds or game protected by the laws of this state, unless the same be in personal possession of or carried openly by the owner thereof, or person killing the same who has in his possession a non-resident's license, if the game is to be carried out of the state, or a resident's if the game is to be transported within the state, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be punished by a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $50.

Sec. 16. Common Carrier Shipping Game.—Any person, company, corporation, or common carrier who shall ship or transport any birds of game without ascertaining if the person offering for shipment or transportation such birds or game is in possession of a hunting license duly issued to him and covering the period when such shipment is offered, and without requiring such person to accompany the shipment, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $100.

Sec. 17. Corporation, Service or Warrant of Arrest Upon.—In cases of violation of the game laws of Florida by a corporation, the warrant may be read to the president, secretary or manager in this state, or to any general or local agent thereof in any county where the action of indictment is pending, and upon the return of such warrant served corporation shall be deemed in court, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, and any fine imposed may be collected by execution against the property of said corporation, but this section shall not be considered to exempt any agent or employee from prosecution.

Cooperation in America

For some reason or reasons cooperation in buying and selling has not proven the success in this country that it has in some other countries. England in particular. Here and there the experiment has been fairly well, but they are the exception. Perhaps one hindrance has been the lack of homogeneity in our American population, due principally to the large influx of foreign peoples. Probably another reason may be found in the characteristic independence of the average citizen, which has its advantages but which also tends occasionally to lack of harmony of working, something very essential to secure success in cooperation. Still, the cooperative movement makes some headway, and the experiment made by some of the Chicago University professors and some business men in that city is attracting considerable interest. The business has been in operation for a year now and the results are said to be very gratifying as there has been a great saving in cost of things purchased. There can be no doubt that the cooperative system when properly managed does cheapen the cost of living, something much to be desired in this day of soaring prices. The main thing is to guard against being too ambitious and plunging too heavily into buying and selling. Cooperation is one of those lines, as the English cooperators found, that has to be extended cautiously—feeling the way, so to speak.—Gainesville Sun.

N. H. Fogg has returned from Jacksonville. Mrs. Fogg will not return for a few days. They went to the metropolis to visit their daughter, Mrs. J. M. Tracy and family and bid them goodbye and Godspeed on their journey to Seattle, Washington, where they will go, intending to make that city their future home. Mr. Tracy and family will go to Manchester, N. H., en route to visit his parents. They were residents of Altamonte Springs for several years before moving to Jacksonville to accept a position with the Wilson & Toomer Purifier Co. as electrical engineer. Mr. Fogg returned via steamer of Clyde Line up the St. Johns river to Sanford, it being the 29th anniversary of his trip up that picturesque river, Sept. 10th, 1884-September 10th, 1913. The city of Sanford on my first arrival was anything but attractive, consisting of but a few wooden buildings on the south-shore of the beautiful Lake Monroe. Today the county seat of Seminole county and one of the most progressive cities in South Florida, with possibilities beyond possibility and optimism with the completion of the Traction R. R. lines sure to be in service in the near future, connecting with river

Wilson, however, was fishing for fish and was disappointed in the catch, consequently he was turned back into the water. Rev. His text at the morning service was "Be strong and work," and at the evening service "Let no man despise thy youth." He emphasized the great need of training the young people of our churches in church work as this is the only way in which we may have a church membership equipped for the most efficient church service. Mr. Hyman is Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. secretary for Florida and strongly advocates the most up to date and practical methods in Sunday school and church work. While in Sanford he organized a Sunday school teacher training class, with a view to having the Sunday school teachers better fitted for their work.

AT THE IMPERIAL THEATRE

Geneva Mixed Minstrels Will Show on Friday Night Next

What promises to be an evening of keen enjoyment is the production of the Geneva Mixed Minstrels at the Imperial Theatre next Friday night. This troupe of Geneva people who are accredited as being the most musical bunch in Seminole county will give a performance for the delectation of a Sanford audience and they will try to surpass their previous performances at Geneva and Orlando, if such a thing is possible. The Reporter-Star of Orlando hands them the following press notice: "A sure enough old fashioned negro minstrel performance will be given at the Lucerne Theatre tomorrow night. It will be put on by Mrs. Endor Curlett of Geneva and her company of artists who gave her a most excellent performance in that city one night last week. Parties from Orlando who witnessed the entertainment say it was highly creditable and very original throughout. Mrs. Curlett is herself the interlocutor, which means that the work of that important part will be well cared for. At the ends will be W. H. Pattishall and W. Adams, celebrities in the fun making world. In the circle will be seen and heard Thosa Tarbell, Addie Greenman, B. Pattishall, Agnes Musselwhite, H. Burley, A. P. Curry, Jeannetta Sheldon, A. Hill, Marlon Tarbell, Blanche Patti-shall. The first part will be very original and interesting. In this Mrs. Curlett will be heard in song, as well as Mr. Curry, Bert Pattishall and others. Mrs. Curlett's songs are said to be alone worth the price of admission. The second part will be too full of good things to enumerate. Go and see for yourself. A seven-piece orchestra will make good music and nothing will be left undone to make the performance interesting from the rise of the curtain until the final fall."

ATROCITIES IN MEXICO

Americans are Being Murdered and Otherwise Mistreated

News of the murder of Morris P. Root, American superintendent at the El Tigre mines at Tepic, Mexico, was brought here yesterday by the steamer Peru, which had nearly 100 refugees from Mexico aboard. The mining engineer was intercepted by a few bandits as he was on his way to join employees of the company who were preparing to defend the mine property. He was disarmed and shot. Root was 59 years old and had been in Mexico about sixteen years. Max Lambert, another American engineer, who arrived on the Peru, was left for dead by bandits who attacked his home in the state of Tepic. Lambert's wife and child escaped by crawling through a rear window, and he remained to greet the bandits, whose approach was noticed when they were a mile away. They fractured his skull and left him for dead. When they departed Mrs. Lambert returned and secured aid. The refugees were from points along the west coast of Mexico, and they brought recitations of stories of refugees who preceded them. Western Mexico is in a state of anarchy, they said. Rebel chiefs do not recognize each other, and when they are not looting and committing murder they are fighting among themselves. Americans from the state of Durango asserted conditions that are beyond description. They said the country is overrun with bands of drunken peons who commit unspeakable crimes.

Palatka Daily Papers

Palatka had long been peacefully sleeping on the shores of the majestic St. Johns, lulled into the somnolent state by the water softly rippling through the blue hyacinths. Then all of a sudden she awoke and began to realize that she lay down one of the best locations in the state and that the homestead was worth improving. She began to hustle to make up for lost time, had a roaring success of July celebration, then a convocation of Spanish War veterans that made the rest of the world see that she was awake. Now she wants her citizens to keep her fit and to give them no rest. She intends to start three daily papers. The Times-Herald of Palatka says: "Well founded report has it that 'a long felt want' in Palatka is to be more than filled this winter, when three daily papers will be published in the city. Plans looking to that end are now being laid by the various publishers here. It is probable that one will be a morning paper and the other two will be afternoon sheets. As Jacksonville, Tampa, Pensacola, Macon, Savannah, Augusta and other 'towns' have two dailies, progressive Palatkans see no reason why a 'city' of this size, should not have at least three. This means that the papers having no typesetting machines will have to order more capital's, so that everybody may be 'colonized'. 'A short time is soon turned' by the reporters, but then there is left a reserve force of citizens in the lumber walks of life, who 'never got into the papers before,' whose doings will suddenly become important, and if Col. Jones, the drayman, hauls a sack of potatoes for Col. Smith, the stump digger, and the managing editor of one daily finds that the other dailies have 'scooped' him on that important item, woe to his reporter. The cost of issuing dailies, and the small demand for them have hitherto caused them to be few and far between. It will be interesting to watch the Palatka experiment, and here's good luck to you, brethren. — Bradford Telegraph.

They crawl through sewers and drains and then over drains and cables and scatter disease germs and a filthy poisonous odor. Don't use a paste for killing roaches for roaches travel through it till it about your home or their wings and legs and the least speck of phosphorus paste will kill a person. Many persons die in this way and 'tis never known what killed them. The magnificent location of this property on the great tributaries of the St. Johns river, where the channel runs almost direct east from Riverview to the Atlantic Ocean, where the city of Jacksonville has built its great quarter million dollar electric light plant. Where the great municipal docks are going to be built. Where there are going to be millions upon millions of dollars spent by private capital in the near future for great manufacturing plants, all are situated by or near to Riverview, lying just to the east of us. This all goes to make Riverview the most classy and desirable property to the great city of Jacksonville.

City politics will not open some way or other and it seems that the dengue fever has gotten into the systems of the politicians and taken all the ambition out of them.

F. L. Woodruff is being urged to make the race for mayor, but he has troubles enough as county commissioner and will probably resign his city toga to another.

J. D. Davison is also spoken of as a candidate for the position of alderman and may decide to enter the lists.

There will be several candidates from the A. C. L. according to reports and they will put up a strong fight.

Although opening up slow, politics may yet cause considerable noise.

From time to time I have talked about a city market house, where the farmers could bring in their produce, fruits, etc., and sell them fresh to the people of Sanford.

These functions might very well be outlined in two divisions: first, the preservation and safe-guarding of public health; and, second, the restoration of public health when, as in an epidemic, the situation in any section goes beyond the control of local physicians and health authorities.

Pensacola's first public market day was an unqualified success.

Notwithstanding the rain yesterday morning a large number of farmers were present with wagon loads of vegetables, poultry, eggs, fruit, pickles, preserves and scores of table necessities.

The town people were there also in generous numbers and they found the market a great advantage in point of fresh supplies, variety, to select from, price and other features.

The public market will do much to encourage the farmers back of Pensacola and to develop our soil resources.

The Money Value Of Health

(By the State Board of Health)

What is the money value of good health by the year?

Is it worth ten cents? The population of Florida by the census of 1910 was something more than seven hundred and fifty thousand, but it was nearly three and a half years ago when that count was made.

Florida's State Board of Health spends every year about one hundred thousand dollars in the administration of its duties. This fund is raised by a half-mill tax upon all the accessible property in the state—five cents on every hundred dollars valuation.

It costs therefore ten cents a year for every man, woman and child, white, black, red or yellow to finance the state Board of Health.

What do the people of Florida get for this dime?

To answer the question would be to list all the lines of endeavor in which this great organization is the prime mover, and these are described in detail in the annual reports of the board which are to be had for the asking.

The history of Florida records disastrous epidemics of yellow fever, started always by importation from Cuba or the West Indian islands.

Smallpox, like the poor, is always with us somewhere in Florida. It never has been completely wiped out because the people of Florida have refused, or failed to cooperate with the board.

Rumors of bubonic plague or of cholera in any part of the world arouse these same health officers to a keen sense of alertness.

Smallpox, like the poor, is always with us somewhere in Florida. It never has been completely wiped out because the people of Florida have refused, or failed to cooperate with the board.

It exercises a general and very close oversight of the existence of communicable diseases in every part of the state, to rid that section of its troubles and to prevent their spread into other parts.

For the past two or three years the State Board has been studying how to relieve the people of Florida, particularly the children, of the debilitating effect of hookworm.

people through the State Board of Health in a practical way, as already described, for these are only a part.

Nor is the work of the board confined to the health of human beings. It is extended to aid their pocketbooks as well as their physical well-being.

Hog cholera is not such a menace, but it brings serious financial loss to the farmer, therefore the free distribution of hog cholera serum is made to the owners of this class of property.

An important feature of the work of the state board is its campaign for education among the people of the state along the lines of sanitation and general information regarding health matters.

The State Board of Health has established and maintains three splendidly equipped laboratories at Jacksonville, Pensacola and Tampa, for the bacteriological study of diseases.

These studios of science are manned by workers of the highest ability, and through them every Floridian is or may be in touch with the latest discoveries and the greater benefits of applied medical research.

Seven days every week these laboratories are open to help the people of Florida, whether they be taxpayers or not.

The treatment of indigent crippled children, under the direction of the State Board and through an annual appropriation by the legislature, is one of Florida's greatest benefactions.

Such is a brief outline of the services for which the average citizen of Florida pays ten cents a year—the price of a fairly good cigar, or one admission to a moving picture show, and it is safe to say that every man, woman or child goes to a picture show at least once a year.

Mrs. M. L. Allen Dead. News was received in the city this morning of the death of Mrs. M. L. Allen at Rutland, Vermont, where she had gone in an effort to regain her health.

It is hoped Harry Brown will open up the craniums of a few Florida editors during the Cost Congress at Ocala and infect a little gray matter into their brains that will teach them how to estimate on the cost of even so small a job as the printing of fifty calling cards.

When the grasshopper ceases to hop and the old cow quits her bawling; when the fishes no longer flop and the baby stops its squawking when the dunce no longer stum—and the hoot owl quits its hooting; when the rivers cease to run and the burglar stops his looting; when the vine no longer runs and the skylark stops its larking; when the sun no longer shines and the young man quits his sparking; when the heavens begin to drop and the old maids stop advising, then it is time to shut up shop and quit your advertising.

Some people are so fond of hearing themselves talk that they don't know the difference between a conversation and a monologue.

Some people believe in doing only one thing at a time—and then do the wrong thing.

Bethel's Party

Miss Terheun Jr. was the happy little bride at the wedding of her daughter to Mr. J. H. Hagan, which took place at the home of the bride's parents, Saturday afternoon, Sept. 13th, 1913.

The tables spread upon the lawn were very attractive in their decorations of red, white and blue, the class colors, and large bowls of red and white flowers. The favors were dainty little, red, white and blue baskets filled with candies.

Assisting Mrs. Terheun were Mrs. C. E. Walker and Miss Beatrice Hutchinson.

The girls and boys enjoying Dick's hospitality were Margaret Peters, Olive Renfro, Katherine Turner, Florence and Helen Witte, Evelyn Biggers, Edna Williams, Bertha Macey, Ruth Iseman, Gussie Frank, Leila Hutchinson, Vera Terheun, Stella and Eugene Johnson, Edmond and John Meisch, Earl Waldron, Clifford Walker, Billy Fitts, Max Stewart, Newton Lovell, Johnnie Musson, Lawrence Randall and Zeb Thomas.

Chicken Pillau

The boys of Sanford Heights entertained some of their friends very pleasantly on Tuesday evening with a chicken pillau given at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Pope. The young folks from town greatly enjoyed the straw ride out to the Heights and were chaperoned by Mrs. Allan Jones. The appetizing refreshments were cooked and served out of doors in the moonlight, and the merry crowd of boys and girls were sorry when the time came for them to leave.

Seminole County Leads With Brick Roads

Bonds Have Been Disposed Of And Work Will Start

The Greatest Step In The History Of The New County Putting Seminole First

Tuesday will go down in history as one of the most important days in the past history of Seminole county. A large quantity of bonds for the sale of $200,000 worth of bonds with which to construct approximately 26 miles of brick roads. The brick manufacturers, the concrete workers and those who make a business of laying brick roads were here in good force and in a business like mood. They came to do things and do them they did.

Chairman of the board of county commissioners, Frank L. Woodruff, had the bonds sold to a firm last fall but the market dropped out of the bonds market and this concern turned down its contract. In the meantime Mr. Woodruff had another made him on a basis of six per cent for the issue, but he deemed this too high and went into the matter with more depth and the results amount to a saving to Seminole county amounting to $1,000 per year in interest for a period of thirty years as the bonds were sold at par and on a basis of five and one-half per cent, all of which redounds to the credit of Mr. Woodruff and his work that it does not always pay to rush things. Immediately upon the sale of the bonds contracts were placed with brick manufacturers for sufficient brick to lay twenty-five miles of brick road radiating from Sanford to the various points around the city.

The contract was awarded to Nathaniel W. Hagan of Augusta, Ga., for a large line of road the roads. This contract will amount to about $100,000. Mr. Wilson informed the writer that he would begin to assemble his equipment here at once and would be ready to make the dirt fly within the next week. He will work two gangs of probably 25 men each and will be able to lay about two miles of the road per month.

Hand Brothers of Sanford took the contract to construct the other half of the roads, but will take no action or part in the installing of the concrete work. Hand Bros. are well equipped to take care of their part of the work as they have ample mules and wagons to get busy on the job at once.

When Sanford has completed this brick roads project it will give to this county more miles of brick roads without the city limits than are to be had in any other county in Florida with the exception of Duval county.

It is the aim and purpose of the board of county commissioners to extend the trunk lines of brick roads to such portions of the county as have sufficient traffic to justify the expenditure and in turn these trunk lines will be connected up with the laterals to the isolated sections of the county, thus furnishing every portion of the county with ample good roads for immediate needs.

We are reliably informed that the baby county of Seminole has let the largest contract for brick country roads that has ever been let in Florida. This is biding pretty strong for a county that was organized and brought into actual existence as late as the fourth day of last August.

The board of bond trustees which will have the handling of these bonds will be M. F. Robinson, P. M. Elder and A. T. Rossetter.

Bonds Sold And Great Work Will Start Now

Will Drain One Of The Finest Farming Sections In The Entire South, All Muck Land

One of the greatest moves in the development of the farming lands of Seminole county has been the sale of bonds when the bonds for the drainage of Black Hammock were sold. Not only were the bonds sold, but they were purchased by home people who have faith in the community to that large extent.

Black Hammock, comprising 6,500 acres of rich soil lies between the little city of Oviedo and the shore of Big Lake Jessup and the south shore affords a fine protection from early frosts that sometimes nip down the early vegetables of the less protected winter gardens.

The soil is of the rich black loam that grows in the bottom lands of the state and is also found in a few places in the south. Heavy wells can be had every acre of this land and at a depth that makes the ordinary cost of a well about $40, a well that will supply the house and barn and a five acre farm for irrigation without no more cost after the well is driven and the farm is piped. This land is judged by experts to be the best that has ever been put upon the market for winter gardens and it only remained for the drainage system to make it the ideal spot for the raising of vegetables, fruits and all farm products.

Miss Margaret Camp

The death of Miss Margaret Camp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hagan, which took place at the home of the bride's parents, Saturday afternoon, Sept. 13th, 1913.

The funeral was held from the home Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock Rev. F. P. Strong officiating.

There were many beautiful floral tributes, among them offerings of love from the Sunday school and Cradle Roll, testifying to the warm sympathy of the many friends of the family.

Those from our midst, a darling face, "Gone from our midst, a darling face, That claimed our deepest love, And left in the home an empty place, To fill one in the cradle above. Long may we cherish those sweet charms Which won with winning grace, And only to the Savior's arms, Unfold our fond embrace. A LOVING FRIEND.

Birthday Party

Little Miss Olive Renfro celebrated her fifth birthday with a charming little party Friday afternoon, which was greatly enjoyed by the young folks gathered to help along the celebration. Out under the trees of the beautiful lawn the children danced and played until the "party" was served. The color scheme of pink and white was colored out in the table decorations, cakes and candies. The favors were fancy white and pink paper bon bon bags, tied with white ribbons. The birthday cake was lovely in its pink and white icing and candles, and Olive declared she "wouldn't be five until that cake was cut."

The little guests were Margaret and Jack Peters, Katherine Turner, Evelyn Biggers, Florence and Helen Witte, Charlotte and Irma Smith, Vera and Dick Terheun and Pattie Renfro.

Arcadia, the prosperous county seat of DeSoto county, has just done herself proud by voting 122 to 44 in favor of a bond issue of $75,000 for additional buildings and equipment for schools, showing that the people are determined to keep abreast of the times in having the best that can be secured in the way of educational facilities. One other precinct, Venus, voted on the issue, giving five out of six in favor.

What's A Suffragette?

Here are some prize winning descriptive originals submitted in a recent contest in which short definitions of a suffragette were asked for:

A suffragette is a woman who thinks she has a right to vote, though she also wants to be a mother.

She is a woman who needs the "poll" for her vaulting ambition.

A suffragette is a sting of beauty and jawer forever.

A woman who would rather break windows than clean them.

A woman whose troubles are certainly not "little ones."

One who spends more time airing her views than showing her heels.

A woman who will spare no pains to get her rights.

A woman who would rather rock the cradle than the cradle. Philadelphia Record.

Still Coming Our Way

The county commissioners yesterday ordered that warrants be drawn in favor of the incorporated towns for fifty per cent of the road and bridge taxes collected from them for the year 1912. This will amount to a considerable sum to each of the towns and will be used to put the roads in condition. The pro rata of each for which warrants were directed to be drawn are as follows: Taft, $183.38; Winter Park, $853.63; Winter Garden, $158.00; Maitland, $359.29; Apopka, $198.29; Sanford, $3,285.08; Orlando, $6,187.34; Oakland, $80.64.

The statement goes into full detail in reference to every item shown on the statement under the usual headings. With the amounts and concise "Tolar" explanations of what each amount contributes to the bank's strength, laid before a customer, an insight into the bank's condition is easy. Tolar has a good bank, and his statement figures always reflect a growth both in business and strength, possibly that's one reason he "goes so strong" in making the figures talk.

Death of John Sauls

A report early this morning confirmed the death of John Sauls at his home in Enterprise. As yet nothing can be learned of the funeral arrangements.

Mr. Sauls was one of the oldest and most respected citizens of Volusia county, having resided in Enterprise for many years. He leaves a son, Ralph, who is an employee of the Peoples Bank of this city and one daughter, Mrs. L. W. Wright of Lake Helen.
