WALL STREET Money Is There For The Wise Investor

Mention Wall Street to the man on the street and you're most likely going to get a glazed glare if the conversation becomes technical in even the slightest sense.

That's wrong, according to Louis Rubiner, host of "Wall Street Week" on the most popular program on public television.

To explain why The Herald is presenting a five-part series adapted from Rubiner's new book, "How To Make Money In Wall Street."

The editors feel that this entertaining series will help break forever the mystique surrounding the world of high finance and set it into its proper perspective: that a little caution can yield profits to the wise investor.

The series is simple to read and understand, and if the critics are right, a lot of people turning to the market today are hearing with them more knowledge than most first-time investors.

By LOUIS RUBINER
The Herald Services

You can get a lively argument going on Wall Street on the question of whether it is now easier or harder than it used to be for the average investor to pick the right stocks.

On the one hand, the average man has many advantages that were not available to him in times past. The flow of investment information has never been greater. New laws and regulations protect him against some of the more blatant forms of manipulation that poked the market in the past.

On the other hand, the search for truly exceptional results may have become more difficult. Perhaps most important, there is simply very much more competition at every level of investing, as the stock market has changed from the private battleground of a comparative few to an authentic marketplace of the millions.

A generation ago, all you really needed was faith in the future of American industry. You could invest in the major corporations, the so-called blue chips—and, more often than not, your results would be excellent. By the 1960s, however, such "buy-the-blue-chips-and-forget-'em" techniques no longer supplied the magic answer for the average investor.

Part Three

Contrast that with the performance of investors who were shrewd (or fortunate) enough in 1969 to invest $1,000 each in Avon Products, International Business Machines and Xerox, three stocks whose greatest lay not in their past eminence but in their future potential.

What did these stocks have in common? One characteristic was their consistency of earnings increases. Another is that they were leaders in fast-growing industries. Their sales and earnings grew not only consistently, but faster than the economy at large.

This suggests that the alert individual investor may not be as great a disadvantage as is sometimes assumed in locating these supergrowth situations. Some aspects, such as the company's financial position, may not be immediately apparent. Solid growth companies tend to be aggressive in sales, but conservative in finance, without excessive long-term debt.

The initial interest in a potentially great stock, however, often comes simply from keeping your eyes open in everyday life. Brilliant investing stories have been written by ordinary people who just liked the early Polaroid camera and decided that a lot of other people might like them too. Practically any kind of business or profession offers opportunities for insights into potentially growing fields.

The best way to begin is by taking your mind as far as possible from the daily hysteria at Broad Street and Wall.

Think big about this country, where it is going in the world and at home, what changes are affecting its people and the kind of lives they want to live. What will life be like in American five or 10 years from now, what trails will the pursuit of happiness have taken?

In the 1960s, for instance, overwhelming profits were highlighted concern about pollution and ecology?

What is the significance of the rising sales of do-it-yourself equipment such as power tools and one-coat latex paint? Will changing life-styles put more emphasis on such labor-saving devices? Is the liberated woman going to have a smaller clothing bill? Will she buy as many cosmetics? What kind of recreation will these growing numbers of young Americans be seeking?

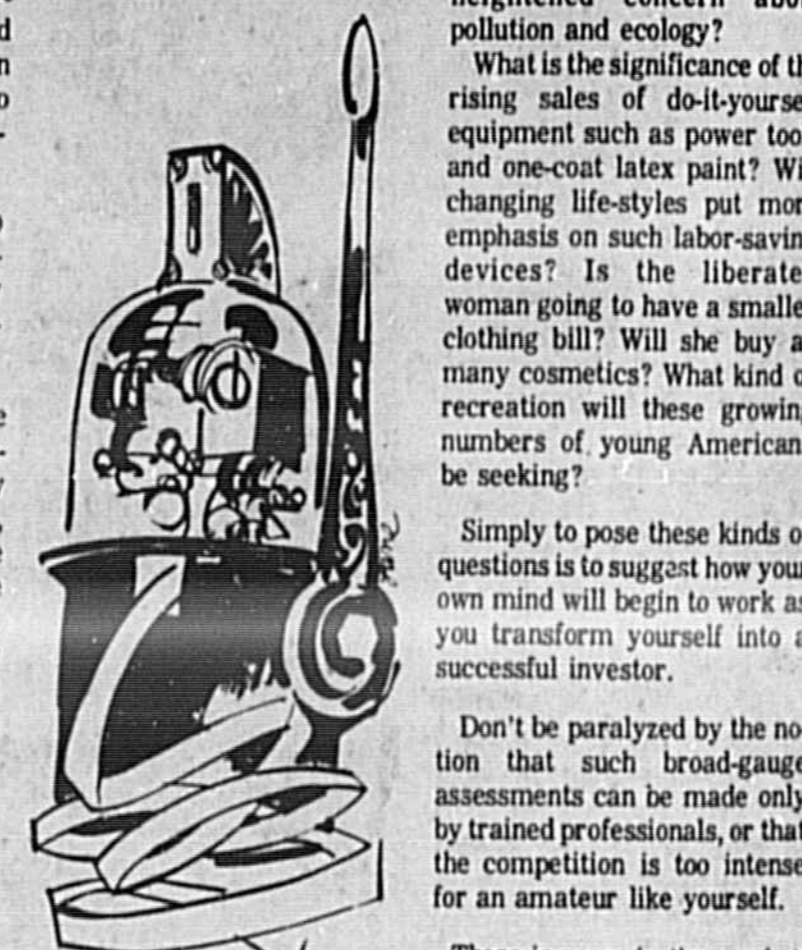

The search for growth is also unlikely to take you into industries that are especially vulnerable to foreign competition.

A similarly jaundiced eye ought to be cast on any industries whose profits rely heavily on their own activities abroad, especially when these take place in areas of probable political volatility.

But enough of this surly negativism. What are the trends that are more likely to lead us to more positive investment conclusions?

The records can tell us which fields are already growing faster than the over-all economy, but what further projection can you make based on your vision of what America will become over the next decade?

What is the significance of the fact that the 25-to-35 years age group will be increasing four times faster than the general population? Will the purchasing

Chenault Indicted

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Marcus Wayne Chenault has been indicted on two murder charges in the shooting deaths at Atlanta's Ebenezer Baptist Church of Mrs. Martin Luther King Sr. and Deacon Edward Boykin. A Fulton County grand jury also indicted the 23-year-old farmer this Saturday student Tuskay on counts of aggravated assault, carrying a pistol without a license and carrying a concealed weapon. The indictments came after Superior Court Judge Sam Phillips McKenzie ordered Chenault to undergo psychiatric examination to determine whether he is mentally competent to stand trial.

Air Fares To Climb

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Air fares between the United States and Europe, already scheduled for a 5 per cent hike in August, appear likely to climb still more on Nov. 1. Forty airlines in the North Atlantic traffic conference of the International Air Transport Association tentatively agreed Tuesday to new scheduled-flight fares 12 to 16 per cent higher than the present ones. Increases averaging 20 per cent previously had been imposed this year. Under the proposed fare boost, the price of a standard economy-class round-trip ticket between New York and London would rise from $922 this summer to $784 next summer. It was $626 last summer.

Tall People Meeting

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bruised heads, knees and feelings are daily hardships. They search out side seats in theaters. They shop by mail or spend exorbitant amounts of money for clothes and shoes. They are tall people in a world designed for the mythical average person. Some 260 members of Tall Clubs International are gathered here to discuss such problems eye to eye with other women 5-foot-10 or taller and other men at least 6-2. Boosting the self esteem of the tall people is a main function of the clubs, which claim 3,000 members.

Rush's Inflation Quip

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's chief economic coordinator, Kenneth Rush, was asked by a newsmen what he tells his wife when she is confronted with inflated food prices and a family checkbook that won't balance.

"I tell her she's eating too much," Rush replied with a smile on Tuesday.

He quickly followed up to tell reporters in the White House press room, "I'm joking. I regret the inflation very, very much."

Turner Says He's Broke

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Supersalesman Glenn W. Turner says he had only $6.90 left after paying the $2,125 qualifying fee as a Democratic candidate for the Senate seat now held by Republican Edward J. Gurney.

"I'm flat broke... After we scraped up the money to pay the fee, we had $6.90 left," Turner said Tuesday.

Turner, who built a fortune selling cosmetics and motivational courses, faces a second trial this fall on mail fraud charges in connection with his operations. He is expected to have at least eight opponents in his Senate nomination bid before filing closes in two weeks.

Turner's first trial at Jacksonville ended with a hung jury on May 31 after nine months of testimony. The date for the second trial has not been set.

Kerner Going To Jail

CHICAGO (AP) — "I hope I can be useful. I've been active in the John Howard Association since 1947," says former Gov. Otto Kerner.

The comments of Kerner, a judge on the 7th U.S. District Court of Appeals, came Tuesday after U.S. District Court Judge Robert L. Taylor refused to reduce Kerner's three-year prison term and ordered him to start serving his sentence July 29.

How President Praised Coverup

WASHINGTON (AP) — The day after President Nixon received a detailed briefing of the Watergate cover-up he commended John W. Dean III and John N. Mitchell for making it work.

The President's remarks were transcribed by the House Judiciary Committee from a section of a March 22, 1974, presidential Watergate tape omitted by the White House when it released its edited version of the conversation two months ago.

The conversation took place shortly after White House Chief of Staff H.R. Haldeman and chief domestic adviser John D. Ehrlichman left the President's office in the Executive Office Building. Dean, the White House counsel, and Mitchell, Nixon's former campaign chief and attorney general, had been discussing future Watergate strategy with Nixon and his other top aides.

"Believe me, it's a lot of work," Mitchell said.

"Oh great," Nixon replied. "I may (unintelligible). Well, let me tell you, you've done a hell of a job here."

The transcript shows an unidentified voice made an unintelligible remark, followed by this comment by Nixon: "I didn't mean for you to do that. I meant for you to, uh, carry a very, very heavy load. Uh, both John as a matter of fact, but, uh, I was going to say, uh, John Dean is, uh, (unintelligible) got — put the fires out, almost got the damn thing nailed down till past the election and is forth."

"We all know what it is. Embarrassing God damn thing the way it went, and so forth. But in my view, uh, some of it will come out; we will survive it. That's the way it is. That's the way you've got to look at it."

Dean, who had told the President the day before that the cover-up was a "cancer growing on the presidency" and had to be cut out, told him March 22, "We were within a few miles months ago, but, uh, we're..."

"The point is, get the God damn thing over with," Nixon broke in.

"That's right," Dean replied. "The three men then returned to the plan they had discussed earlier in the day with Haldeman and Ehrlichman: a proposal to offer the Senate Watergate committee a report about Watergate to be written by Dean in exchange for the keeping of their investigations secret and challenge the President's claim of executive privilege to prevent his aides from testifying.

Nixon: "... But, I know, we can't make a complete case and have the people go up there and testify. You would agree on that?"

Mitchell: "I agree."

Nixon: "You agree on that, John?"

Dean: "And they've been given out."

Nixon: "And your view about the Dean statement is to give that to the committee and not make it public, however?"

Dean: "That's correct, I think that's..."

Nixon: "And say it's, uh— Mitchell: "Give it to the committee for the purpose —"

Nixon: "... the purpose of their investigations..."

Mitchell: "(Unintelligible) to limit the number of witnesses?"

Nixon: "Yeah. Particularly if, particularly if we have the proposed Dean report had been described by Ehrlich-

Libertarian Earl Warren Dead At 83

WASHINGTON (AP) — The death of Earl Warren, a champion of the Bill of Rights in his 16 years as chief justice, removes a figure indelibly linked with landmark decisions of the Supreme Court in one of its most controversial eras.

Warren, 83, died in Georgetown University Hospital Tuesday night, a little more than five years after his retirement from the nation's highest judicial post. A hospital spokesman said he died of heart failure.

Under his leadership, the court struck down segregated schools, laid out the rule of "one man-one vote" and greatly expanded the rights of the accused in criminal cases.

Tributes came swiftly for the man whose years on the court were marked by criticism, which included demands for his impeachment.

President Nixon, who often was at odds with Warren in their years as California politicians and who criticized many of his court decisions, saluted him as "a partisan for America."

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, named by Nixon to succeed Warren and steer the court toward "strict construction" of the Constitution, said "his contribution was large indeed."

"Parks, the black seamstress whose refusal to give up her seat to a white man started the Montgomery bus boycott, said, 'We have lost a great friend to humanity.'"

Warren was admitted to the hospital July 2, suffering from a heart ailment. It was his second hospitalization in two months.

With him at his death were his wife, Nina, and the youngest of their three daughters, Mrs. Stewart Brien. The Warrens also had two sons.

Only a few hours before, two of the former chief justice's closest associates on the court, Justices William O. Douglas and William J. Brennan, had left his bedside.

A court spokesman said Warren refused to release her on her own recognizance, saying she would return to Illinois and work and live with her parents until required to appear in court.

He said she had no previous record and came from a "solid family background."

Smith said the three girls met Ward in Daytona Beach while on a two-week vacation and went with him to the Gulf Coast.

Smith said the teen-agers did not know Ward robbed the bank until he returned to the car and ordered them to take off with Miss Murphy behind the wheel. The car belongs to her father.

Smith said Ward had done so much bragging that the girls didn't believe he intended to do anything wrong.

But Asst. State Atty. William Walker argued for bond.

Mitchell Facing Questions About Payment To Hunt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell faces more questioning by the House Judiciary Committee about a $75,000 payment to Watergate burglar E. Howard Hunt Jr.

Mitchell, who approved the March 21, 1973 payment, told the committee Tuesday he did so with the understanding it was for legal fees, not to keep Hunt quiet. He returns to the stand today.

He also said there was no mention of the payment in a phone call he received from former White House Chief of Staff H.R. Haldeman shortly after a March 21 meeting between President Nixon, Haldeman and former presidential Counsel John W. Dean III.

Haldeman's call is a key bit of circumstantial evidence in the Watergate grand jury's indictment of Mitchell and Haldeman, and its naming of Nixon as an undisclosed coconspirator in the Watergate cover-up.

Some Democratic committee members objected to being tied to St. Clair's defense strategy in their questioning of Mitchell.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., quipped the argument for the moment by ruling that the questioning by special counsel John Doar be held within Mitchell's guidelines.

But when the time comes for members to ask questions, the dispute is expected to erupt again.

Though Rodino wants to complete taking of evidence and start the committee's deliberations on proposed articles of impeachment next week, still to be called are Dean, Herbert W. Kalmback, who was Nixon's personal lawyer, and Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry E. Petersen.

It also appeared Tuesday that the committee had decided to question former White House Special Counsel Charles W. Colson.

Torture Items Presented In Mass Murder Trial

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The prosecution today attempts to the 18-year-old Elmer Wayne Henley to an assortment of items used in a homosexual torture and murder ring in which 27 teen-agers died.

Henley is on trial for six of those murders. The state expects to call scientific witnesses today to link physical evidence to Henley.

On Tuesday, the jury gazed at a plywood "torture board," 8 feet long and 3 feet wide, to which the victims were handcuffed.

Also brought into the court was a wooden "body box" which, according to Henley's statements introduced at the trial, was used to conceal young men being taken to one of three burial sites where the 27 bodies were discovered last August.

Judge Rules Only Victims Of Syphilis Study Can Sue

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A federal judge has ruled that only those persons who were affected physically by disease as a result of the Tuskegee syphilis study may seek damages.

U.S. District Court Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. issued the ruling Tuesday in setting Dec. 16 as the trial date for a multimillion dollar damage suit in connection with the 40-year-old federal experiment.

Some 40 surviving participants of the now-terminated syphilis experiment are seeking $3 million damages each from the federal government.

They originally asked that the class action include the surviving participants as well as the families of all participants living or dead. About 600 black men from Tuskegee in south-

Lake Mary Fire Chief Hits Council's Grab At Budget

By J. RICHARDS
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY Volunteer Fire Department Chief Charles Smith said Tuesday he is going to ask for state audit of the city's finances and will ask the state to help his fight to retain money budgeted for the fire department that city council is talking about taking away.

Smith, said he has written a letter to Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin asking how he can stop the city from charging the fire department $6,000 to run city hall, when the money was contracted for fire department use as part of a deal with the county for unincorporated area fire protection.

He said the second letter, to State Sen. George Firestone, D-Miami, to set wheels in motion for an audit of Lake Mary's books is to determine why the city needs to get additional money from the fire department.

When the city incorporated it signed an agreement with the county to provide fire protection with Greenbelt and Loch Arbor, two areas outside the city limits, from which the city would receive one mill special tax that was to be used for the fire department.

Part of the contract also stipulated the city would have to furnish a matching mill of its own property taxes for fire department use. The city's share of the fire department money is approximately $11,000, with another $2,000 in revenues coming from the two unincorporated contract areas.

Smith also said council's figures of $165,000 to provide fire protection for a proposed 569 — planned unit development on the city's Southeastern borders is too low.

"I'll cost more than $400,000," he said adding he also thought it could spell the end to the all volunteer department.

"The $167,000 was only for the fighting equipment — a pumper truck capable of fighting a multi-unit or multi-story blaze, and does not include the cost of the building we'd need for the area, the equipment to furnish it, insurance, gas, oil maintenance and salaries for three people to man the area."

Smith said the latest figures available to him have a $240,000 price tag on the boom truck and 750 gallon-a-minute pumper truck.

"That's from the Orlando Fire Department, which just got in bids for two similar trucks. They also said the price on the trucks are expected to escalate at 1 per cent per month for the foreseeable future," he said.

The city's 300 gallon-per-minute pumper truck is inadequate to handle more than one house at a time and nothing over one story, he said.

The Babcock Corp.'s Forest Green PUD, which already has 70 fire trucks outside the city rezoned to fit its purposes, has a large annexation and rezoning request pending before council for approval, but action has been stopped pending the outcome of a July 30 "de-incorporation" vote.

Smith, who said he felt the advent of paid firemen for the city would bring about "mass resignations" from present volunteers. The city has about 40 volunteers on its rolls, about 25 of whom are active firefighters.

When figuring the budget for the city, the fire department funds were to have been "taken off the top" with the rest of the income to be split up by the other city departments, council said.

However, at Monday night's meeting Councilman Harry Terry said he thought the fire department should pay "its

Florida Charges Teens In St. Pete Bank Heist

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Federal bank robbery charges against three Illinois teen-agers have been dropped and the charges picked up by the state.

A Pinellas County Circuit judge set bond at $25,000 Tuesday for Audrey Murphy, 17, and her two companions, Frieda Ann Terry, 18, and Florence Anderson, 17, awaiting hearings. All three remained in the Pinellas County Jail.

The girls, from Carpentersville, Ill., are charged in the June 27 holdup of the Guaranty Savings and Loan Association Bank of St. Petersburg.

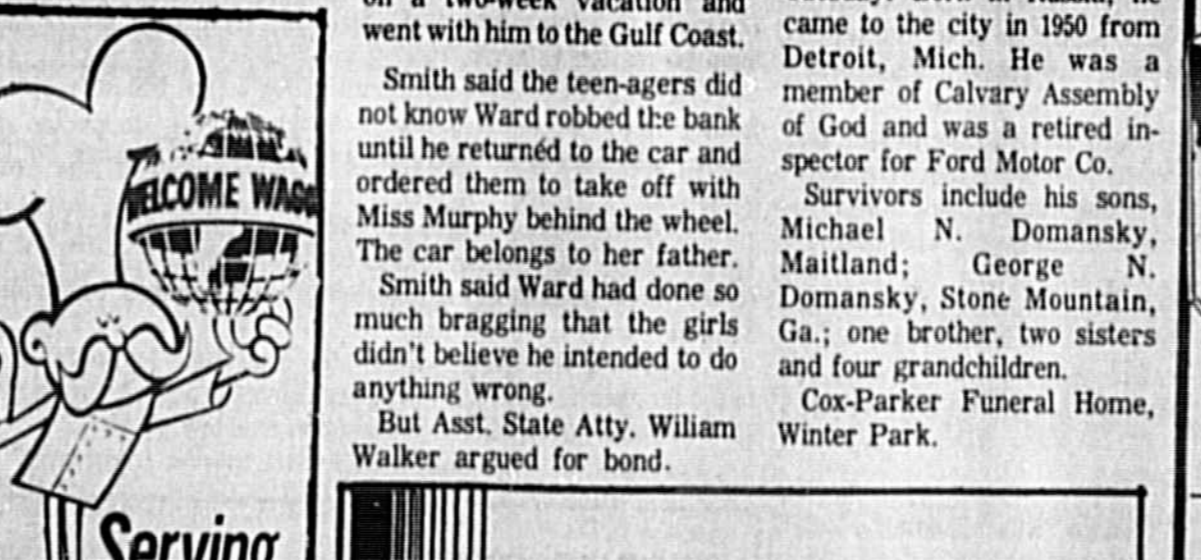

The FBI, which dropped the original charges, said it turned the case over to the St. Petersburg police so the two 17-year-olds could be tried as adults.

The girls were arrested on Smith said the three girls met Ward in Daytona Beach while on a two-week vacation and went with him to the Gulf Coast.

Editorial We Need More Of Ralph Nader

For reasons that we've never quite understood a lot of people don't like Ralph Nader. Some Congressmen don't like him, which is understandable. General Motors doesn't like him, and with good reason. A whole gaggle of special interest groups don't like him, and that's predictable.

But in addition to his natural enemies Nader is also disliked by a lot of average Joes — the very people whose banner he carries in the war on secrecy in Washington, D.C. That's not to understand at all.

Everyone agrees that hardly anyone really knows what-in-the-hell is going on in Washington, even up to and including some people we've sent up there to represent us. So Nader's people are trying to dig out and pass the information along to those of us who have neither the time, ability nor resources to conduct such studies on their own.

The difficulty of the job they have undertaken is illustrated by a couple of paragraphs of a Statistical Supplement to Nader's Congress Project Profiles of Members of Congress. In the course of compiling (the supplement) researchers found that eight of 23 House and Senate committees in 1973 either recorded none of their votes, or made public only insignificant or unimportant votes.

Here is what the Nader study found: "A rule of both the House of Representatives and the Senate requires committees to keep a record of all rollcall votes. Some committees circumvent this requirement by taking votes by voice or show of hands. For instance, the House Merchant Marine committee was found to have successfully evaded the rule by acting almost exclusively by voice vote. One Senate committee, Veterans Affairs — recorded not a single vote in 1973. Many committees recorded only their final decision to report out a bill. As a result, researchers found that in many cases only the near unanimous vote at the end of the committee's consideration of a bill was available.

"No committee publishes all its votes so that constituents can see how their representatives voted by merely requesting a list of committee votes. At best, a few committees publish some of their votes in committee reports (although votes on bills never reported out of committee are of course never published). At worst, Congress Project researchers found that they could collect and tabulate votes only by delving through mounds of committee records in the committee's office in Washington, D.C. Making votes available in this way means that distant constituents have no meaningful access to the workings of Congressional committees.

"Where votes were printed in the committee reports, researchers often found the accompanying description inadequate to explain the issues involved. Where the only description of the vote was part of the written tally kept in the committee's office, the explanation often referred only to the member's name or the section of the bill under consideration. Sometimes interpretation of the vote record is hampered by the committee's use of the language of all defeated amendments (cp-pmids tps basoc-rpb, cf-deo-jerom a committee decision).

"When trained researchers have so much trouble learning how a particular official voted on a particular bill, then how in the world can the public be expected to make an intelligent assessment of a public official's performance in office?"

We don't need fewer Naders in this world. We need more — lots more.

Small wonder that a person bathed in such an atmosphere from birth finds it possible to say, "Church doesn't do anything for me." Of course not; it's inconvenient, at least partly inconceivable, and (for all its zany efforts to be to date irredeemably square. It has failed the supreme test to which my friend was taught to put every object in the phenomenological universe, namely, "Does it do anything for me?" One who carries this hedonistic utilitarianism for enough is often quite capable, if only dimly or not at all. And the only true and lasting satisfaction a man can ever have is the intuition that, just maybe, he has served them.

Some of the information in the letters comes from Adams' own knowledge of the administration, but much is supplied by former Askew associates who may be a bridge.

"People are volunteering a lot of information that we don't even know about," Schrader said. "A lot of the information we can't use because we can't substantiate it."

However, Adams has been caught at least once using information that apparently wasn't true. He said he had a Louisville financier John McGuffin and Global Baseball League founder Walter Dilbeck.

They appear to have gotten an option on the 550-acre Mason family estate at Lake Barkley. Agnew recently inspected the estate, then met with McGuffin and Dilbeck at a house not far away.

McGuffin acknowledged the meeting, explaining it was just a "preliminary discussion." The real deal, he said, would have been along the lake, a golf course and riding stables.

"Agnew is the glamor factor, the front man," a source close to the transaction told us. "He doesn't have to put up any money. He'll probably get a cut for lending his name to it."

Footnote: We were unable to reach Agnew for comment.

As the squeeze will not be felt immediately. In fact, the trustees say that in the next five to 10 years, an excess in the hospitalization trust fund could be shifted to make up for anticipated shortages in the old-age and survivors fund and the disability fund.

However, beyond that time, especially after the turn of the century, major increases in the payroll tax will be necessary or benefits will have to hold down.

Most Capital reporters, some of whom went to great lengths to beat Askew to the punch, though the governor would name Sen. Robert Graham of Miami. Some wrote stories to that effect that Askew had already notified Graham and House Speaker Terrell Sessoms of Tampa, another person mentioned in speculation, that he had chosen Williams.

The governor did not confide in Rep. Kenneth Mackay of Ocala, also mentioned as a possible running mate, but Mackay tracked down a rumor in their hometown and learned Williams was the governor's choice in advance of the announcement.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — "Dear Reubin" campaign letters that Lt. Gov. Tom Adams has been sending to Gov. Askew appear to be getting under the governor's skin. While Askew has had little to say in public about the campaign tactics adopted by his former running mate, the reaction of the governor's staff indicates the messages are an irritant.

"We're not going to correct every statement that Tom Adams makes," snapped Don Pride, Askew's press secretary, after the latest epistle from Adams arrived in the governor's office this week.

The five letters issued so far by Adams have been worded skillfully, subtly blending innuendo and implication to lead readers of the inevitable news articles about the letters to the conclusion that Askew is guilty of hypocrisy in his behavior and conduct.

It's a game of media manipulation — and Adams plays it well.

The letters have hit Askew in areas where the governor is or appears vulnerable. Adams criticized Askew for his now-halted policy of accepting free hotel rooms and suggested there may be something wrong with state purchase of 1,486 acres of land on St. George Island for $8.5 million, a deal engineered in large part by Jim Smith, Askew's reelection campaign manager.

"I personally think our regulations have been pretty good for the last few years," said Randy Schrader, Adams' campaign coordinator. "It's given us a way to communicate to the governor where we were allowed no way prior to this."

Although Adams helped Askew win election in 1970, he has fallen as far out of favor with the governor as his decision to oppose Askew in the Democratic primary would indicate. Askew obtained Adams' resignation as commerce secretary in February 1973 after it was disclosed Adams was using a state employe to run his farm.

Some of the information in the letters comes from Adams' own knowledge of the administration, but much is supplied by former Askew associates who may be a bridge.

"People are volunteering a lot of information that we don't even know about," Schrader said. "A lot of the information we can't use because we can't substantiate it."

However, Adams has been caught at least once using information that apparently wasn't true. He said he had a Louisville financier John McGuffin and Global Baseball League founder Walter Dilbeck.

They appear to have gotten an option on the 550-acre Mason family estate at Lake Barkley. Agnew recently inspected the estate, then met with McGuffin and Dilbeck at a house not far away.

Jack Anderson Army Engineers Meet New Obstacle

WASHINGTON — The Army Corps of Engineers have never learned that it's not nice to fool Mother Nature. But they're fast finding out that they shouldn't mess around with Martin Heuvelmans.

For more than a decade, this 71-year-old retired businessman has been investigating the engineer corps' 150-year, $28 billion effort to facillit the American continent. His findings have so rattled the brass hats that they have issued official orders on how to handle him.

This remarkable tale began in 1959, when Heuvelmans, a Belgian immigrant, bought a small plot of land in southern Florida and settled down to fish away his sunset years.

On occasion, he noticed, the river turned muddy and the trout stopped running. He queried his neighbors. "Oh, that's the Army engineers running mud through the dam," they told him.

Heuvelmans thought about it. The more he pondered, the angrier he got. He conducted his own private investigation and concluded that the tons of sludge pouring down the river resulted, he said, from "the incompetent construction" of the St. Lucie Canal by the Army Corps of Engineers.

The corps, however, was too busy damming rivers, filling swamps and digging canals to bother with the protests of a testy old man who couldn't catch enough trout. So Heuvelmans complained to some congressmen. Their form letters thanked him for writing and assured him of the corps' concern for the public welfare.

Inceined, Heuvelmans launched a full-scale probe of corps projects across the nation. After a decade of digging, his findings have now been published in a book, "The River Killers." It is bylined simply "Martin Heuvelmans, Citizen."

The book describes how the corps "defiled Florida's waterways" with silt, sludge and slime. It attacks "the corps' wanton killing of America's rivers" from the Potomac to the Sacramento Delta.

The corps survives, Heuvelmans charges, by spending $1.6 billion annually on port barrel projects dear to the hearts of powerful congressmen. The civil works branch of the corps, Heuvelmans concludes, should be abolished.

Heuvelmans' publisher, Stackpole Books of Harrisburg, Pa., arranged a publicity tour for the septuagenarian author. To everyone's surprise, however, Army Corps of Engineers spokesmen refused to appear on radio or television to reply to Heuvelmans. A general who had been scheduled to appear with Heuvelmans on Metromedia's Panorama television talk show in Washington, for example, backed out at the last minute.

We have now found out why. An internal corps memo, entitled "Policy Guidance on Responding to Inquiries on Book 'The River Killers,'" explains it all.

Balloon Crash Kills 2
TAVARES, Fla. (AP) — Two men died when their hot air balloon plunged 500 feet into an orange grove near this Central Florida town, officials said.

The Lake County sheriff's office identified the victims as Fred Van Edwards, 33, and Jimmy Wayne Hall, 33, both of Casselberry, near Orlando.

Chief Deputy Bob Tanner said the balloon crash Tuesday apparently was caused by a valve used to control altitude sticking in an open position.

"According to witnesses, the balloon rose to about 500 feet and then fell," Tanner said.

The balloon had been used in a furniture store promotion in Orlando over the weekend. He said it was not known why the craft was in the Tavares area.

"We think they just came over here to fly," Tanner said.

Education Leader Retires
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Albert R. Adams, 58, a former Polk County teacher and school superintendent, will retire July 31 after 37 years in education, Education Commissioner Ralph D'Arington says.

Adams has been chief of the state Education Department's Bureau of Teacher Education and Certification for nearly five years.

Lightning Starts Fire
FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Officials say lightning started a fire in a million-gallon gasoline storage tank at Port Everglades.

Firemen said flames leaped 15 feet above the tank for a while, but that the fire was brought under control within an hour by pouring foam on the fire and water on the sides of the tank.

The tank, owned by Standard Oil Corp., had a floating lid which prevented gasoline fumes from collecting inside and minimized the chance of an explosion, officials said.

Federal Grant Awarded
GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Gainesville and Alachua County have been jointly awarded a $2.7-million federal grant for a 35-bus public transportation system, Rep. Don Fuqua, D-Fla., says.

Fuqua's office here said Tuesday that the grant from the Department of Transportation's Urban Mass Transit Administration will provide funds for a transfer center and maintenance facilities as well as the purchase of new 45-passenger buses.

Askew Forecasts First Primary Victory

By JOHN VAN GIESON
Associated Press Writer
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — State election qualifying has begun with Gov. Reubin Askew forecasting a renomination victory in the first primary and seven Democrats elbowing into position to run against Sen. Edward Gurney, R-Fla.

Those were the highlights Tuesday as qualifying for 232 state and local offices opened in the secretary of state's office. Dozens of candidates signed up on the first day of the two-week qualifying period.

Democrats who qualified Tuesday to run against Gurney were former secretary of state Tom Adams and Hialeah Gardens Mayor Burt McCormick, signed up a little later.

Clearwater attorney Norman Bie is expected to qualify for governor later.

President Thomas, former Senate member from Jupiter, said he would name his running mate in a few days and qualify for the Republican gubernatorial primary next week. He said party officials had helped him reduce the field of lieutenant governor choices to 10. He did not discuss names. "As any incumbent seeks to do, we hope we could wind it up in the first primary."

The team expected to give Askew the most trouble in the Democratic primary, Lt. Gov. Tom Adams and Hialeah Gardens Mayor Burt McCormick, signed up a little later.

Smathers: Resignation Is Beyond Requirements

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Bruce Smathers says his resignation as a state Senator, effective last Monday, went beyond the requirements of the law in order for him to qualify as a Democratic candidate for secretary of state.

But Bill David, Florida Republican party executive director, has questioned whether Smathers fully met the law he would be charged with enforcing if he is elected.

Smathers "at least violated the spirit of the resign-or-run law" by failing to submit his resignation to Gov. Reubin Askew 10 days before qualifying, David said.

Smathers, 30, said that when he announced last March that he would run for secretary of state, he gave plenty of notice to potential candidates for the remaining two years on his Senate term.

Secretary of State Dorothy Glisson, who accepted Smathers' qualification papers Tuesday, said, "When he takes the (candidate) oath, if I don't believe I have a right to refuse his papers."

The resign-or-run law requires that a candidate for a state office with a term overlapping his present term submit his resignation to the governor 10 days before qualifying. The resignation is to take effect on election day.

Because of a mix-up, Smathers submitted four resignations in the past 10 days — three by letter and one by telegram — Gannett News Service newspaper Bill Purvis reported.

Smathers, whose Senate term has two years to run, sent the resign-or-run letter addressed to the Secretary of State Richard Stone by a June 28 date, two days before this year's deadline. It carried an effective date two days after the election.

But the letter was mis-addressed to Senate Secretary former Senate President Mallery Horne, candidates for the Democratic Senate nomination.

David said that if a candidate could meet the law's requirements by resigning immediately, he could wait until 30 minutes before qualifying closes, and then only those he informed could qualify for his old office.

Smathers said two persons already had announced for his Senate seat as a result of his March announcement.

Parasites Killing Pelicans

NAPLES, Fla. (AP) — More than 60 pelicans have died in the past two weeks near this southern Florida Gulf Coast city and more deaths are expected, officials say.

A report from the Florida State Agriculture Diagnostic Laboratories in Gainesville indicates the pelicans have succumbed to infections from parasitic organisms transmitted by fish.

Dr. Gary Schmelz, director of the Big Cypress Nature Center, said Monday that after the birds are infected they do not eat, and soon die.

Schmelz said the deaths periodically occur after storms and that infected birds were noticed shortly after high winds and rains struck the Gulf Coast on June 24.

Smathers said two persons already had announced for his Senate seat as a result of his March announcement.

David said that if a candidate could meet the law's requirements by resigning immediately, he could wait until 30 minutes before qualifying closes, and then only those he informed could qualify for his old office.

We Must Serve Church, Despite Madison Avenue

By WILLIAM A. RUSHER
The Herald Services

A friend of mine, from a fairly typical religious background, remarked not long ago that he no longer goes to church. "Church," he explained, "doesn't do anything for me."

Well, to be perfectly frank, I'm hardly a diligent churchgoer myself these days. The relentlessly liberal atmosphere in many churches, the wild overemphasis on the "social gospel," the desperate effort to ascertain the point at issue. That no record is kept in the language of all defeated amendments (cp-pmids tps basoc-rpb, cf-deo-jerom a committee decision).

When trained researchers have so much trouble learning how a particular official voted on a particular bill, then how in the world can the public be expected to make an intelligent assessment of a public official's performance in office?"

We don't need fewer Naders in this world. We need more — lots more.

There are financing problems just ahead.

By DANIEL F. FOLEY
The Herald Services

Until now, Social Security planners have assumed that the funds for the sick and elderly could depend on increasingly more workers earning increasingly higher salaries. That is why there are problems ahead.

With the trend toward ZPG, there will not always be an increasingly higher number of workers. Eventually, over a period of decades, the ratio of workers to beneficiaries will decline.

There Are Financing Problems Just Ahead

By DANIEL F. FOLEY
The Herald Services

WASHINGTON — The Social Security system is heading for long-range financial problems, according to the system's trustees, and the main reason is the trend toward ZPG-zero population growth.

In a report sent to Congress several weeks ago, the trustees—the secretaries of Treasury, Labor, and Health, Education and Welfare—and the commissioner of Social Security—acknowledged that over the long-range the funds for old-age and survivors and disability insurance are not on a sound financial footing.

Contrary to the belief of many, the Social Security system is not like a normal insurance system, in which contributions (premiums) are placed in a fund to be drawn on later for payment of benefits.

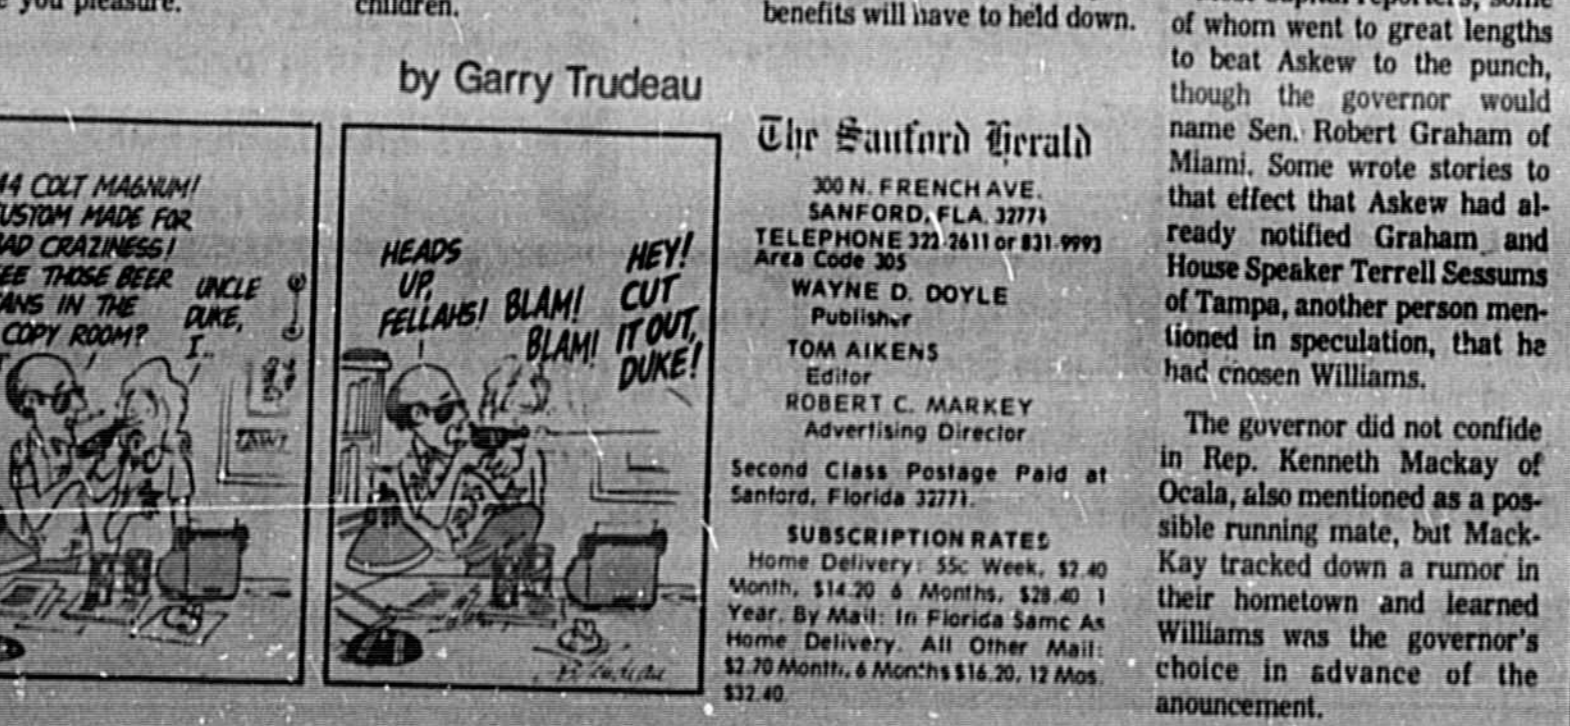

Instead, Social Security is pretty much on a pay-as-you-go basis. The funds have assets of almost $50 billion, which will pay less than one year's worth of benefits.

Today's Social Security beneficiaries are being paid from the payroll taxes assessed on those now working. Today's workers, in turn, will depend for their retirement benefits on contributions from their children.

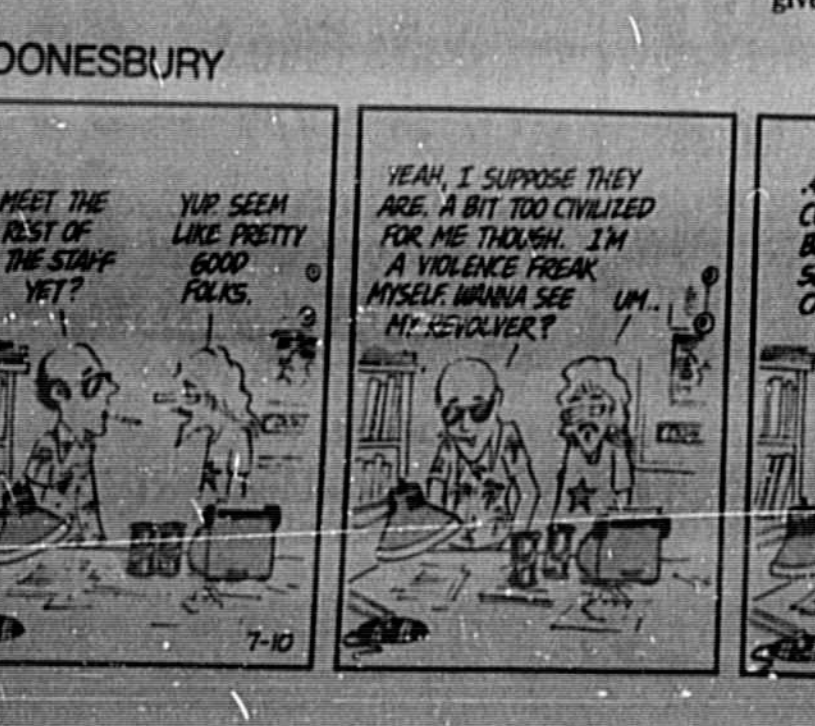

The squeeze will not be felt immediately. In fact, the trustees say that in the next five to 10 years, an excess in the hospitalization trust fund could be shifted to make up for anticipated shortages in the old-age and survivors fund and the disability fund.

However, beyond that time, especially after the turn of the century, major increases in the payroll tax will be necessary or benefits will have to hold down.

Most Capital reporters, some of whom went to great lengths to beat Askew to the punch, though the governor would name Sen. Robert Graham of Miami. Some wrote stories to that effect that Askew had already notified Graham and House Speaker Terrell Sessoms of Tampa, another person mentioned in speculation, that he had chosen Williams.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Two men under arrest in Arkansas have been charged with kidnaping a Gainesville man last week, the FBI says.
W. M. Alexander, head of the Jacksonville FBI office, identified the pair Tuesday as Ricky Dean Horton, 21, and Steve Baldwin Sones, 21, both of Mount Holly, N.C.
Alexander said Horton and Sones are accused of the July 2 abduction of Paul Thayer Thurston Jr. at Gainesville.
Horton and Sones were arrested in Arkansas on charges of defrauding an innkeeper by running out on room-rent bills. Alexander said Thurston told agents he picked up two hitchhikers in Gainesville and they forced him at gunpoint to drive to Gastonia, N.C., where they took his money and left him.

Probe Of Sheriff Has Lull

By MARK WEINZEL Herald Staff Writer

The authority for the investigation into the Seminole County Sheriff's department is now officially in the hands of the special prosecutor. Eugene T. Whitworth, state attorney for the Eighth Judicial Circuit in Gainesville, said he will be a lull before any headway is made according to the prosecutor.

"I will not be able to really get the investigation underway until next week because I have an important matter to clear up in another district, the special prosecutor appointed by Gov. Reubin Askew said Tuesday.

Whitworth, state attorney for the Eighth Judicial Circuit in Gainesville, said he had relieved Seminole state attorney Abbott Herring of all involvement in the investigation.

Herring, who helped state auditors gather information to complete a standard audit, asked Askew to relieve him after an investigation was recommended.

"We will use Herring's facilities, but I will use my own investigators," Whitworth explained, adding, he will meet with the state auditors in Orlando, Thursday.

However, that will be the last action taken until the trial of the sheriff and chief deputy of Baker County is completed, said Whitworth, who is also the prosecutor for that case.

The Baker County case, he said, will take at least a week to finish. The two Baker officials face charges of accepting a bribe and conspiracy to accept a bribe.

The controversial hospital has spawned 42 critical letters from citizens to various county offices.

Personnel director, another open position, has a request for a $14,500 annual salary.

Pollution Control officer Langley Adair is asking the county to pay his existing $15,200 salary annually.

Adair has been acting as a state pollution control officer in addition to his county duties and the state has been picking up the major portion of his pay. The county had been paying him only $4,026.

J. C. Lavender, long-time road chief has requested a raise of $1,800 to $17,500 from $15,700.

Elections Supervisor Camilla Bruce's salary is set by law at $16,747.

"The present administration has adopted a policy of increasing costs of a commodity to balance the demand with the supply," Mayo said in a statement. "We raised the cost of gasoline to a balancing point and now we want to do the same thing with the utility industry."

Sawhill sent a letter to Askew and apparently other governors calling for an "automatic pass-through" for increased operating costs, "the same way rates are automatically raised for higher fuel oil costs in Florida and 30 other states."

"While we need an energy rate structure that provides an equitable base for the consumer, we cannot afford to let utility rates remain at levels which place a disproportionate demand on a sector of the energy industry that faces severe financial constraints," Sawhill wrote.

Planning Council Nixes Abortion Hospital Plans

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

Plans for a South Seminole County hospital that have provided gynecological services, including abortion during the fourth, fifth and sixth months of pregnancy, have been nixed by the Seminole County Health Planning Council.

The council declined to approve construction of the hospital by a 13-1 vote yet failed to formally make a motion to reject a "certificate of need" which is actually required to construct the facility, according to project planner David Farr.

The hospital, to be built at the corner of Dike and Tuskuville roads, would have offered gynecological and out-patient care under the direction of Dr. Samuel Barr, a Titusville obstetrics and gynecology specialist.

Farr said that he will return to the county health council with a revision of the original proposal, or appeal directly to the higher authority of the regional health council.

The county board of adjustment has granted a variance to permit hospital construction on the proposed site, but that motion has been appealed to the county commission.

The controversial hospital has spawned 42 critical letters from citizens to various county offices.

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Philippine ground and air forces have driven back Moslem rebels threatening Cotabato, the largest city in central Mindanao, travelers arriving from the southern island reported today. Other sources said the fighting has spread to Christian communities to the east of Cotabato, and one mayor reported 4,000 refugees from four communities in his locale, rice-growing area. About 100 persons were reported killed since the end of June.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The Irish Republican Army's Provisional wing today rejected a British government plan for the gradual release of suspected terrorists without trial in Northern Ireland. Seamus Loughran of the Provisional Sinn Fein, the IRA's political arm, said the guerrilla movement still demands an end, "completely and totally, to internment without trial."

Blazer Vets Test Hawaii's Kiddy Korps Sharks Debut On TV

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—The Florida Blazers' aging veterans match their experience against the youthful enthusiasm of the Hawaiians' "Kiddy Korps" of rookies here tonight in a World Football League season opener.

"The difference is they (the Blazers) have a bunch of pros and we have a bunch of kids," says Giddings, who coined the nickname "Kiddy Korps" for his squad. "I just hope our kids can play."

Hawaii Coach Mike Giddings says he has the least-experienced team in the WFL, with only five players with previous professional playing time.

In contrast, Blazers' Coach Jack Pardee has recruited a team which includes 20 veterans and 135 young combined experience.

"The difference is they (the Blazers) have a bunch of pros and we have a bunch of kids," says Giddings, who coined the nickname "Kiddy Korps" for his squad. "I just hope our kids can play."

Hawaii Coach Mike Giddings says he has the least-experienced team in the WFL, with only five players with previous professional playing time.

Club officials are advising fans to leave their cars at Colonial Plaza, Parkwood Plaza, and Downtown Orlando under Interstate 4.

Buses will transfer spectators from these areas to the stadium—about a seven minute ride—at a cost of $1.50 for a roundtrip.

There will be temporary signs posted at key intersections in the city telling motorists when no more parking space is available at the stadium and directing them to the nearest parking spots.

An Orlando police spokesman said 35 officers, including 28 "positioned posts" have been assigned to keep the traffic moving.

Giddings, a former San Francisco 49er assistant, is candid about his team's chances against the Blazers, saying, "We come into the game as distinct underdogs."

"Our only chance is to stay in the game early," he says. "We've got to come on with poise and hope we have enough athletes who are eager."

A position-by-position matchup gives the Blazers the advantage on both offense and defense.

Giddings will send rookie quarterback Norris Weese of Ole Miss against the Blazers' Bob Davis, a seven-year veteran who in his best season threw 10 touchdown passes for the New York Jets while filling in for an injured Joe Namath in 1971.

Weese will be throwing to rookie receivers Tim Delaney of San Diego State and Jerry Power of California State at Northridge. Davis will be passing to the experienced hands of four-year veteran Matt Masouki and Lennie Crittenden of the University of Texas at El Paso, the single rookie in the Blazers' backfield.

The lone veteran in the Hawaiian backfield will be running back Dave Buchanan, a two-year veteran of the Canadian Football League. Other Hawaiian carriers are rookies

Larry Eric of San Jose State and Derrick Williams of the University of California at Riverside.

Packing the ball for the Blazers will be A.D. Whitfield, an eight-year pro, and Him Strong, a four-year veteran.

Giddings says his team's performance will depend largely on his defensive line, built around Ron East, a seven-year veteran, linebacker Greg Slough and tackle Greg Wojcik, four-year veterans.

Sanford LL Wins Two, Loses One

There was reason to celebrate for two of three Sanford little league teams entered in post season play in Central Florida Tuesday night.

Behind the superb pitching of Senior League All-Star hurler Randy Brown, who missed striking out every batter he faced from Ormond Beach by five men in the District Four home run in Ormond Beach, the local 16-17-year olds took a 3-1 second round verdict to place them in the finals against the winners to tonight's Ormond Beach Holy Hill game.

The Centennial League 8-12-year-olds, behind the pitching of Mike Link and a grand slam home run from Billy Cosgrave in the fourth inning, waited to a first round victory over the Kissimmee American League All-Stars.

However, the Sanford National League all-stars found themselves on the wrong end of an 11-0 one-hitter at the hands of St. Cloud in the same age group district playoffs in Kissimmee.

Brown, who played left field in Monday night's 2-1 win over Holy Hill, fanned 18 of the 23 Ormond Beach batters he faced and gave up one single in his first post-season pitching verdict. The young Seminoles High School star hurler who already has received one professional baseball tryout, did not allow a single walk in the game.

But it was the last two-innings of clutch play by his teammates who broke a 1-1 tie in the sixth inning with a run and scored another tally in the top of the seventh that brought the victory.

Sanford went ahead, 1-0 in the first, but Ormond Beach came back with a tying run in the second.

George Simkanich doubled and Jim Brodie added a pair of singles. Preston Richardson, Danny Boy and Benny Mills, all added base hits. All three played for Seminoles High last season.

It was Richard and Robert Smith who kept the Sanford team out of trouble in the last of the seventh in the local team's first win over Holy Hill.

Link and Bryan Townsend scored in the final inning for Sanford to killify a two-run sixth inning for Kissimmee.

Link, who owns a perfect game in Sanford city championships and averaged double-digit strikeouts throughout the season, fanned 14 batters and walked six, giving up a single and double.

St. Cloud jumped on the Sanford National's early, scoring two runs in the first inning while pitcher Eric Reed held Sanford to a single by Justin Hunt. Reed struck out six and walked 11, but shrap defensive play from the near side situation in the bottom of the seventh when the two infielders made clutch defensive plays to save the game.

Is Marshall Dodgers Only Pitch?

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN AP Sports Writer

Today's Quickie Quiz, sports fans, is a multiple-choice question that's really not a multiple-choice question.

Q: Mike Marshall (a did, b) did not, pitch in the Los Angeles Dodgers' 8-4 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies Tuesday night.

Even the class dunce knows there's only one answer to that. Of course Marshall pitched ... for the 58th time this season. But don't get the idea the Dodgers' relief ace is overworked.

"He had a day of rest," explained Manager Walter Alton.

Reds 4, Cubs 5

The Reds smashed six home runs, including a three-run shot by George Foster in the sixth inning after five solo shots in the first three innings—Joe Morgan in the first, Tony Perez and Cesar Geronimo in the second and Dan Driessen and Johnny Bench in the third. The first five all came off Steve Stone. Rick Monday and Jose Arredon homered for the Cubs.

"They didn't pick on any one pitcher," sighed Stone. "They hit them all."

Astros 5, Cardinals 2

Lee May hammered two home runs and Dave Roberts fired a six-hitter as Houston fanned St. Louis its fourth consecutive setback.

The Cardinals staked John Curtis to a 2-0 lead in the first two innings, but May smashed his first home run in the bottom of the second and Curtis was chased in the fourth when the Astros scored twice more.

Expos 5, Giants 4

Tim Foli's two-run single capped a four-run third inning for Montreal and Mike Jorgensen pitched in the fifth for what proved to be the winning run.

Winning pitcher Dennis Blair started the uprising with a single off loser Tom Bradley. Pirates 5, Braves 4

Manny Sanguillen's two-run double keyed a four-run fourth inning outburst that helped Ken Brett to his 11th victory.

Brett, who is known as much—if not more—for his hitting than his pitching, set up what proved to be the winning run with a hit-and-run single in the seventh.

Padres 5, Mets 4

Fred Kendall drove in three runs with a double and single and Dave Roberts socked a two-run homer for San Diego.

The Padres built a 3-0 lead and then withstood a three-run homer in the ninth by New York's Ron Hodges.

Gary Player of South Africa, hitting the ball better than he's done in a decade, was listed at 8-1 second favorite along with grim-featured Johnny Miller of San Francisco, who tops the U.S. money list with $50,000 after five major 1974 victories.

Trevino, the fast-talker from El Paso, was listed at 10-1 to crash back into the British golf scene that he dominated as an Open winner at Royal Birkfield in 1971 and Scotland's Muirfield the following year.

"I just hope it rains and keeps cold and the wind blows all day

"I hit the ball so well that no one can keep up with my company."

Weiskopf, nursing a hairline fracture of a bone in his left wrist, was defending his title against doctors orders.

Weiskopf said that winning the British Open changed his life.

"It altered my whole outlook about the game," he said. "I used to be mean and moody but I'm not like that any more."

"You see, now I know I can win the British Open."

"At Tooton last year I finally achieved something important in golf."

They explain an owner's apparent ability to absorb huge losses, to ignore empty stands, often to ride roughshod over his handful of loyal fans.

Sports franchises are the nation's most glamorous tax shelters. And they offer fringe benefits that conventional tax shelters such as real estate developments do not. A governor or a senator is a bush league celebrity compared to the man who sits in the owner's box.

All it really takes to create a new league is a copying machine, a fertile imagination and detailed understanding of the whims of the Internal Revenue Service (IRS).

U. S. Downs Cuba In Basketball

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP)—Coach Gene Bartow said the United States couldn't afford to look ahead to Yugoslavia and proved himself a prophet when the Americans had to battle hard to down Cuba 83-79 in the World Basketball Championships.

Bartow, sitting with his team in the still-darkest Roberto Clemente Coliseum 45 minutes before the game with Cuba Tuesday night, wasn't prepared to look ahead to the Saturday-Sunday clashes with defending champion Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union.

Yugoslavia beat the Russians 83-79 a couple of hours earlier leaving the Americans and Yugoslavians as the only unbeaten teams.

"This is the only game I'm worried about," said Bartow of Cuba. Cuba battled the U.S. on nearly even terms for the first half. The lead changed hands twice before the Americans finally forged a 47-41 halftime lead on two straight long shots by other Burden of Utah and a basket by Eugene Short of Jackson State.

An unusually poor shooting performance by flashy guard John Lucas of Maryland against Cuba's zone was a big reason for the tight score. He made only four of 13 field shots in the first half, and starting forwards Gus Gerard and Tom Boswell were equally frustrated with identical two for seven shooting totals.

The breaking point came early in the second half when 7-foot Richard Kelly of Stanford blocked a shot, the Stanford guard grabbed a rebound, and grabbed a rebound on three successive plays.

Kelly threw three long passes to Lucas for layups. The three scores shot the U.S. ahead 67-54 and Cuba never rallied.

The U.S. is idle until Friday night, when it plays Brazil.

Dear Abby

Cat Food No-No For Human Diet

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1974 by Chicago Tribune. N.Y. Times Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: There is something I need to know but I'm too embarrassed to ask anyone else, so I'm asking you: For years I've heard that in order for catfood and dogfood to be sold in grocery stores, it has to be fit for human consumption.

Well, I know that tuna fish is rich in protein, and with regular tuna so expensive, I tried making a casserole with catfood tuna. My family really went for it. I hit the cans so many of them would know what I had done.

My family has been asking me to make that special tuna casserole "like last time," but I'm worried. Is there something in catfood that will harm humans? The price is certainly right, but I don't want to take any chances with my family's health. Please advise me.

SLIGHTLY WORRIED

DEAR SLIGHTLY: I didn't pussyfoot around, I went right to the leading catfood manufacturers and the word from them is "Don't serve catfood to humans."

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think this is a stupid question, but can an unweaned mother join Parents Without Partners? And if so, how do I go about finding out if there is a chapter near me? Thank you.

INTERESTED

DEAR INTERESTED: Parents Without Partners, Inc. is for divorced parents, unweaned separated parents, unweaned

There are none so blind as those who will not see. This is particularly true about bridge players who are blinded by their high cards and fail to see that maybe something bad may happen to their rock crusher.

We can't find any fault with East's bidding. His partner would probably go down at four hearts, but East certainly held enough values to get there. Likewise, his double of five clubs was a correct defense, but his defense left South making 10 tricks.

West got off to the fine lead of the six of spades. Dummy's jack lost to East's king and it was up to East to proceed from that point.

The simple, safe defense would be to cash a heart and the second high spade and settle for that point.

DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve is that it is almost impossible to purchase clothing in sizes such as 42, 44 etc. BUT one is forced to buy half sizes that are frequently priced one to three dollars more because they are larger. I do not see the real sizes which are lower in price so what is the justification for this—LAURA

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Delays and disappointments can haunt your path early in the day. Keep cheerful and expect to have some problems to solve that are not easy. Later you can make long-range plans that will include many changes. Keep alert.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You can now relax about what is holding you back from doing the aims that are important to you. Don't make any rash decisions.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Attend to routine chores although they may be boring and soon you'll receive the recognition you desire. Think constructively.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Your friendships are deepening now but make sure they are the ones who can help you to advance more quickly in the future. Keep calm.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Others are very critical today so make sure you do nothing to give them cause to criticize you. You can impress others now.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have good ideas and want to make some radical changes, but first make sure they are practical. Try to clear their eyes if you've made.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have made arrangements to handle credit properly so do it before you get pushed further. Come to an agreement with loved one.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Use tact in finding out what your true position is with an associate who has a bad temper. Avoid one who strongly opposes you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Finish difficult work early in the day so you have time for more important matters later. Take the exercise you need.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You are not in the right position financially to engage in expensive amusement, so postpone for the time being. Be thrifty.

By POLLY CRAMER

flowers are great as they can spread all around the pool—KATHY.

DEAR POLLY—Mr. and Mrs. R.B.—When I make bids out of wash cloths I buy the lighter-weight, less-expensive ones and then make them tight. Midway along one side cut a slit one-inch-half inch deep and continue to cut a small circle opening for the neck. Cut two cloths and then with right sides together stitch the cut neck edges in a narrow seam. Turn right side out and stitch remaining edges of the cloths together. Sew small tabs of velcro (buy it in notion counters) at the back edges for closing.

Easy to do, strong, absorbent and they launder beautifully.—A.H.P.

DEAR POLLY—My P.L.B. wanted to know how to remove stamped pattern lines left on material. A few years ago I was given a beautiful banquet cloth with a monogram stamped on it but not worked. It had been stamped on at least 30 years ago. I sent the cloth to the dry cleaner and for the regular price of cleaning the marks were removed. Since that time I have washed and ironed the cloth a number of times and the marks have never re-appeared.

Couple Team Up To Fight For Nation

By GEORGE W. CRANE Ph. D., M.D.

CASE A-61: Sarkes Tarzian and his dynamic wife, Dr. Mary Tarzian, should thrill every red-blooded American.

His father escaped to America from the Turkish massacres of Armenians, and got a job as a weaver.

As soon as he could amass passage money, he managed to get the rest of his family brought over here, too.

Sarkes was a little boy at the time, but worked, studied and graduated as a talented engineer from the University of Pennsylvania.

There he met Mary, who has been his copartner in all sorts of their radio, publishing, TV and industrial firm enterprises.

"Dr. Crane," they enthusiastically began, "we feel that our 'Free Enterprise' system should be maintained by aiding self-reliant students with college scholarships.

"So we have become ardent advocates of the Eisenhower Scholarship Foundation.

"It is a tax-exempt foundation which selects young men and women who believe in high moral principles, patriotism and the defense of our wonderful economic system.

When we select students, we initially grant them a scholarship of $1,000 for the first year. "This may later be increased to $2,000 annually as they demonstrate good grades and enough initiative to supplement their Eisenhower scholarship by their own earnings.

"For we believe that true Americans should not wish to be totally dependent on outside generosity.

Sarkes and Mary Tarzian are such enthusiastic rotters for our Republic and its wonderful 'Free Enterprise' system, that they really inspired Mrs. Crane and me.

For we were having dinner with them at a party being held at Indianapolis after the recent Governor's Prayer Breakfast. They told us there are these 3 people involved in the scholarship competition, after an application has been made:

(1) An essay of approximately 2,000 words on a topic announced each year that involves Christianity and patriotism;

(2) From the winning essays, the top candidates are then given personal interviews by Foundation Representatives;

(3) Finally, these applicants are to deliver a brief extemporaneous speech before a panel of the Foundation Representatives and the public.

Applications should be sent to the Eisenhower Memorial Scholarship Foundation, Inc., P.O. Box 124, Bloomington, Indiana, 47401.

This foundation was created in tribute to the late President Eisenhower, plus a desire to support the best qualified and most deserving of the coming generation, thus strengthening our country and ensuring a free world.

It furnishes an ideal method by which small as well as large business firms and all patriotic Americans can help guarantee a corps of future leaders, trained in basic Americanism.

Instead of donating future funds to such colleges where hippies congregate and liberal professors sabotage business firms, you now have a chance to back the deserving students and also send them to selected schools that don't tolerate nonsense by faculty or students.

So I commend it most highly and thus salute Sarkes Tarzian, who can appreciate our freedoms even better than we who have been accustomed to them all our lives.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Sanford Herald, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25¢ to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Secret Of Success Is Misspelling Words

STANTON, Mo. (AP) — Throughout the country there are billboards for Meramec Caverns on U.S. 66 here.

"What catches the eyes of the motorists most is that there are misspelled words on each of the billboards," points out Lester B. Dill, cave owner. "Motorists keep telling me that I should learn to spell."

Kissinger Will Testify On Ehrlichman's Behalf

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger makes an unprecedented appearance in a criminal proceeding today, testifying as a witness for John D. Ehrlichman in the plumbers trial.

Ehrlichman's attorneys called upon Kissinger to shake the credibility of a principal prosecution witness, David R. Young, who worked separately in the White House for both Kissinger and Ehrlichman.

Kissinger, just back from Europe where he consulted with NATO allies about President Nixon's Moscow trip, is expected to be under oath for only a few minutes.

A CIA official has testified Young told him Kissinger and Ehrlichman in August 1971 had requested that the agency prepare a psychological profile on the Pentagon Papers figure Daniel Ellsberg.

Kissinger, then President Nixon's chief national security adviser, is expected to deny ever asking for such a profile. The trial is in its tenth day. There also has been testimony that Kissinger was among those in the White House who sought to have Ellsberg's name smeared through leaks of derogatory information to sympathetic journalists.

Ellsberg leaked the Pentagon Papers study of the Vietnam war to The New York Times in June 1971, an incident that led to creation of the plumbers, a special White House investigative unit of which Young was codirector.

Young testified last week in exchange for immunity from prosecution. The plumbers planned and carried out the Sept. 3, 1971, break-in at the Beverly Hills, Cal. I, office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist, Dr. Lewis J. Fielding, in an unsuccessful search for Ellsberg's psychiatric records.

Through the approval of the entry, Ehrlichman, 49, is accused of conspiring to violate Fielding's rights. He also faces four counts of lying to the FBI and a grand jury.

G. Gordon Liddy and Miami's Bernard L. Barker and Eugenio R. Martinez, also are charged in the conspiracy count.

Finnish Cook Masters American Kitchen

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Aune Marikello and her husband came to the United States from Finland more than 30 years ago. Both enjoyed their Finnish-American friends whom they met when they settled in the Bronx and both did well.

Now, years later, Aune faces the problems of many widows with a slight difference. Should she sell her home in the Bronx and move to Florida, for example? Or go home to Finland?

The neighborhood is changing and she no longer feels as safe as she once did — or as much at home. Yet, her life has been tied to the area. Can she give up, she asks, the seasonal changes all Easterners gripe about for the promised Florida sunshine? Is she getting the right financial advice?

Aune still prepares foods she enjoyed as a child in Hameenlinna in southern Finland.

DESSERT OVEN PANCAKES (Uuni-Pannukakut)

1 1/2 cups unsifted flour
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 1/2 cups milk
2 eggs
1/2 cup margarine

Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Stir together flour, sugar and salt in mixing bowl. Add milk and eggs. Beat until smooth. Melt margarine in one (15 and a half x 10 and a half x 14-inch) jelly roll pan in oven, about 2 minutes. Spread to cover bottom of pan. When completely melted, immediately pour in batter. Bake until golden brown and puffy, 25 to 30 minutes. Cut into large squares and serve sprinkled with confectioners sugar and serve with fruit jam. Makes 6 servings.

FINNISH CARDAMOM COOKIES (Suomalaiset Pikkuleivat)

1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
1/2 teaspoon ground clove
1 egg

Stir together flour, sugar and baking soda. In a saucpan mix (2 and a half-inch) cookies.

together corn syrup, margarine, orange rind, cardamom, ginger and clove. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until margarine is melted and mixture comes to boil. Remove from heat. In large bowl beat egg until thick and lemon colored. Slowly stir in syrup. Add dry ingredients all at once. Mix until well blended. Drop batter by small teaspoonfuls onto well-greased baking sheet. Bake in 350-degree oven 8 to 10 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove from baking sheet immediately. Makes about 5 dozen

Using Whole Chicken Can Prove To Be Economical

By CECILY BROWNSTONE, Associated Press Food Editor

Cooking chicken parts — whether breasts, drumsticks, thighs or wings — has become a way of life in American kitchens. The parts may be bought separately or the birds may be bought whole, halved or quartered and cut into individual parts at home. If you have an eye on economy — and who doesn't these days? — we suggest buying whole chickens, dissecting them yourself and freezing the parts to have on hand. An informal countrywide survey showed that worthwhile savings may be made by this procedure.

A friend of ours uses it regularly when whole chickens are a "special" at her markets. She says that parts take much less space in the freezer than whole birds; parts are easier to wrap excluding air (air in a package discolors and dries the food and this in turn affects flavor); they're of similar thickness and cook evenly; and they may be seasoned and cooked in a wide variety of ways. Here's her assembly-line method for managing this maneuver:

Buy 3 to 4-pound broiler-fryers because they offer more meat than the lighter birds.

Wash chickens under cold running water, inside and out; drain and pat dry.

Set up a production line including chopping board, sturdy sharp knife, kitchen scissors, shallow rectangular foil trays, heavy-duty foil wrap, include a saucepot and put pieces of skin, necks, backbones, wing tips and giblets in it. Gather together the livers and use them for pate or some other dish right then and there.

Disjoint chickens, putting similar parts in separate foil trays and arranging them compactly so the trays will be flat after they are wrapped.

You will know the amount you need for a meal for your family, but you may want to wrap some larger size packages for company.

Wrap each tray in heavy-duty foil, using the dragstore wrap. Label each package with the month, year and number of its particular contents. Freeze.

Back to the saucepot! My friend adds water to the chicken odds and ends plus scallions, fresh ginger root and bay leaf; she simmers the broth about 1 hour, then cools it before straining. If she wants fat-free broth, she refrigerates it before freezing the broth in jars or ice-cube trays; the frozen broth cubes are stored in a plastic bag and removed a few at a time when just a little broth is needed.

Here is her recipe for pungent Chicken Wings, a delightful

Chinese appetizer. After trying it in my test kitchen, I liked it so much that I plan to make it again from time to time. The wings may be served hot or cold, but I prefer them cold.

PUNGENT CHICKEN WINGS

1 1/2 pounds broiler-fryer chicken wings (8 to 10)
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 1/2 teaspoons five-spice powder
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon peanut oil
2 tablespoons dry, medium or sweet sherry
1/4 teaspoon dried hot red

pepper flakes
1 tablespoon minced fresh ginger root
1 star anise
1/2 cup soy sauce
1/2 cup water

Wash wings, drain and dry; cut each into 2 or 3 parts (depending on whether tips are attached) at joints; do not use tips in this recipe. In a medium saucepan stir together the cornstarch, spice powder, sugar, oil and sherry until blended; stir in all the remaining ingredients except the wings. Bring to a

By CECILY BROWNSTONE, AP Food Editor

For a jellied salad that won't make any real dent in the food budget, you can use canned beefs as the base with a little aromatic bitters added for pizzazz. This salad looks attractive, serves eight or nine and is delicious offered with its easy-to-prepare creamy dressing.

JELLIED BEEF SALAD
1-pound can diced beefs
1 envelope plus 1 1/2 teaspoons unflavored gelatin
2 chicken bouillon cubes
1/4 cup distilled white vinegar
1/4 cup minced onion
1 tablespoon aromatic bitters
Salad greens
Small onion rings
Horseshadish Dressing, see below

Drain beefs and reserve. Add enough cold water to the beef juice to make 1 1/2 cups; pour into a medium saucepan; sprinkle with the gelatin and allow to soften — about 5 minutes; add the bouillon cubes; stir over low heat until gelatin and cubes are dissolved. Remove from heat. Stir in 1 cup cold water, the vinegar, onion and bitters; chill until slightly thickened, stirring several times. Fold in beefs. Turn into a 5-cup mold or nine 1/2 cup molds or custard cups. Chill until firm. Unmold by dipping into lukewarm water and surround with salad greens; if desired garnish with small onion rings. Serve with Horseshadish Dressing. Makes 8 or 9 servings.

Horseshadish Dressing: Stir together 1/2 pint commercial sour cream, 2 tablespoons undrained white or red bottled horseradish and salt to taste.

SALAD SUPPER
Egg and Salami Salad
Garlic Bread
Blueberry Pudding
EGG AND SALAMI SALAD
We suggest using Genoa salami.

Watercress or other salad greens
6 hard-cooked eggs, halved and stuffed
1/2 pound sliced salami
Sweet roasted red peppers, from a jar
Radishes and carrot sticks or curls

Arrange the watercress at one side of each individual salad plate; top with eggs — 3 halves for each plate. Place the salami at other side of plate and top with remaining ingredients. Makes 4 servings. For the stuffed eggs, mash yolks with mayonnaise, lemon juice, salt and pepper to taste; spoon back into egg-white cavities and sprinkle with paprika.

DINNER FOR FOUR
Broiled Pork Chops
Hash Brown Potatoes
Snap Beans TomatoSalad
Custard Fruit Beverage

CUSTARD FRUIT
Make the most of fresh fruit.
1 tablespoon cornstarch
3 tablespoons sugar
Dash of salt
1 cup milk
1 egg yolk
1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract

In a 1-quart saucepan thoroughly stir together the cornstarch, sugar and salt. Add a few tablespoons of the milk and stir until smooth; gradually stir in remaining milk. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. In a small mixing bowl whisk egg yolks and vanilla slightly; whisk in a few tablespoons of the milk mixture; gradually whisk in remaining hot mixture — no further cooking is necessary. Lightly cover surface with plastic wrap and chill. Serve over the fruit. Makes 4 servings.

County Moves To Correct Juvenile Facility Fire Risk

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Five Points, saying the deficiencies are only minor. The board agreed to spend $800 correcting problems including lack of fire rated doors while investigation is underway to determine who is responsible for permitting the deficiencies.

Commissioner Mike Hartway brought the matter to the board's attention and made the motions authorizing installation of emergency lights, exit signs, special doors, and clips on ceiling tiles to receive a one hour fire rating.

Contracts were awarded to Tri-County Electric and C. H. Accouac for most of the work with the county maintenance department completing the job.

Hartway hinted the facility might be closed for two to three years while the building was reconstructed.

Hartway, who is in charge of the park and recreation, said the land will be used for the county's park in Chulohota, and the house, which he says is habitable can accommodate a ranger.

Two cyclists were injured this morning in separate accidents involving automobiles. Bicycle above was driven by David Magda, 21, of 2832 Gale Place. He received a broken leg and facial cuts after he collided with a Volkswagen driven by Randall Dwight Brown of 206 E. 24th St. The accident occurred at 25th Street and Palmetto Avenue. Donna Jane Goodall of 2416 Summerlin Ave., was treated and released from Seminole Memorial Hospital after her bike collided with a car driven by Betty Paulk Ferral, 32, of 143 Scott Dr. The accident occurred at the corner of Fourth Street and Sanford Avenue.

State And Counties Want Green Swamp Authority

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Polk County officials claim should the vast Green Swamp be designated an area of critical concern and be placed under the protective wing of the state or should local government handle the problem of protecting the vital water recharge area?

Ken Oertel, general counsel for the Cabinet in its role as Trustee of the Internal Improvement Fund, presided over public hearings on the issue of controlling the 229,000 acres in Polk and Lake counties being expressed.

Resources of the swamp "are of greater than local concern," argued Robert M. Rhodes, state Land and Water Management sounding out sentiment about bringing the swamp under state control, the Polk County commission was taking testimony on a proposed ordinance to regulate it at the local level.

The state Department of Planning wants the swamp designated an area of critical state concern because it is a vital recharge point for much of Central Florida's underground water supply and head waters for the Oklawaha, Peace, Hillsborough, Withlacoochee and a part of the Kissimmee Rivers.

"I have heard no responsible comment that the Green Swamp does not need protection," insisted Dr. John Betz of the University of South Florida.

"Why doesn't the state help the aquifer by providing additional (technical) help, and retain the problem at the local level," asked state Rep. Richard Langley of Clermont.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — When a student thunderstorm hit, Jack Pickens scolded at a warning by his golfing partner that they might be in danger. Seconds later he was flipped more than eight feet by a bolt.

"I read a while back about golf clubs being hit by lightning rods," said partner Bob Boehmer afterwards. "I mentioned it to Jack. But he said, 'Oh, that's nothing to worry about. The chances of getting hit are one in a trillion.' Five seconds later he got struck."

Pickens was listed in satisfactory condition with chest soreness today in a hospital.

But it appeared unlikely that the counsel, Ollie Evans Jr., would return in time to appear. Leon County Grand Jury subpoena commanding him to testify today.

"As soon as Mr. Evans returns to Tallahassee, either Wednesday, Thursday or Friday of this week, he will be most happy to honor the subpoena and appear," O'Malley said Tuesday.

The panel apparently intended to question Roberts about his role in state purchase of a number of insurance contracts recommended to the cabinet by O'Malley.

The grand jury and the special prosecutor's office have subpoenaed Evans five times since his general counsel, absent from the state for two weeks, may testify this week before the grand jury investigating O'Malley's financial affairs.

Gurney 1st Senator Indicted In 50 Years

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Sen. Edward J. Gurney has been indicted by a federal grand jury in connection with a $233,000 fund-raising effort involving contractors and developers seeking U.S. housing contract influence.

The Florida Republican was charged with bribery, conspiracy, taking part in a cover-up and lying to the special grand jury. The panel returned the indictment Wednesday after a 10-month investigation. Conviction on all counts could bring up to a 42-year prison term.

No arraignment date was set for Gurney or six other men indicted. Gurney, the first U.S. senator in 50 years to be indicted while in office, said he is innocent: "I have an abiding faith in the American system of justice and firmly believe that I will be proved innocent of any wrongdoing in this affair."

Gurney, 60, of Winter Park, a member of the Senate Watergate committee and a staunch supporter of President Nixon both on the committee and off, is up for re-election this year. Florida Republican Chairman L.E. Thomas said the indictment "dealt a mortal blow" to Gurney's re-election bid.

The grand jury probe began after The Miami Herald reported that a Gurney aide obtained funds in Gurney's name from builders hoping to win his influence with the Federal Housing Administration.

Indicted with Gurney were: James Lee Groat of Washington, Gurney's former administrative assistant; Earl M. Crittenden of Orlando, former Florida GOP chairman; George Anderson of Winter Park, the senator's 1968 campaign treasurer; Joseph Bastien, the head of Gurney's field office in Winter Park; and FHA officials Wayne Swiger of Tampa and Ralph M. Kooz of Jacksonville.

The 33-page indictment also lists 42 unindicted coconspirators. They include contractors and developers, housing officials and the chief fund-raiser, Larry E. Williams of Orlando.

Williams pleaded guilty early this year to channeling a bribe and attempting to avoid income taxes. He was sentenced to six months in prison.

John Priestes, a builder, and William Pabst, a former FHA official, also were sentenced on guilty pleas stemming from the investigation. Both are from Miami.

The indictment says Williams approached Crittenden on Jan. 9, 1971, about raising money and had further discussion with Crittenden and Anderson a week later.

On or about Jan. 19, 1971, Edward J. Gurney, James L. Groat, Earl M. Crittenden, Joseph Bastien and George Anderson met at the home of Edward J. Gurney in Winter Park, at which time they discussed the setting up of a fund-raising operation for the benefit of Edward J. Gurney and decided to hire Larry E. Williams as the fund-raiser," the indictment says.

The grand jury said Gurney lied when he testified under oath before the grand jury on May 13-14 that he didn't know until June 1972 that Williams was raising money for him and when he said he didn't learn until the summer of 1972 that money raised by Williams was spent on his Florida field offices.

It lists 115 overt acts, including the gift of a condominium to Gurney by the late John Dye of Orlando.

Rep. Mooney May Run To Clear His Name

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — A state legislator who was named as an unindicted co-conspirator in the federal indictment of Sen. Edward Gurney, R-Fla., says he'll probably have to run for re-election to clear his name.

Rep. Eugene Mooney, R-Fern Park, said he had been planning to get out of politics. But he said the fact that he was named in the Wednesday indictment would probably force him to reverse those plans.

Mooney, 31, was one of 42 people named as unindicted co-conspirators in the indictment returned by a federal grand jury in Jacksonville.

"I had about six or eight months ago made the decision not to run again because of my wife's health," Mooney said. "But this is just about going to force me back into the race to prove my integrity."

Charges lodged against Gurney include perjury and bribery counts in connection with an alleged scheme to collect $233,000 in kickbacks from contractors hoping for Gurney's influence in getting federal contracts. "I don't know why I was in-

PROFESSIONAL FOOTBALL COMES TO CENTRAL FLORIDA

The Democratic vice president-elect, John Polk, said he has no plans for national political office.

"I just want to do the job I'm doing, and serve the people of Florida," he continued. "I have the biggest regret from the last legislative session stems from the controversial public disclosure law, which is aimed at compelling public officials to reveal their sources of income."

"It's just not tough enough," Askew said, adding that those officials who are resigning rather than complying with the new law "are making a decision they must feel is right for them."

He said the state now has a $165 million working capital reserve, more than $200 million in state taxes have been repealed during the past four years.

Williams said he won't be completely satisfied with the tax structure until he gets rid of the old remnants — the municipal utility tax.

For goodness sake. Look at what Ole Blue Eyes (Frank Sinatra) has started down here in Australia.

Tsk, tsk...you shouldn't call press by such names Frankie, boy!

He's kissed-and-made-up with the Aussies — but now he's getting it from the folks back home.

Broadcast executive Stan Kaplan said Sinatra records will never again be played by three radio stations in Florida and North Carolina as a result of the singer's run-in with Australian unions.

They've even editorialized against Sinatra by saying "he's a national disgrace."

Seminole County Commissioners have moved one step closer to confrontation with Sheriff John Polk over Polk's proposed record budget of $2.5 million for fiscal 1975 beginning Oct. 1.

Commissioners agreed unanimously to kick the proposal back to Polk with a polite but firm request that the 37 page document be resubmitted in the same form as other county departments.

The action came after board members spent nearly four hours wrestling with Polk's figures, attempting to compare approved spending for the current year with the department's requests and the amounts the sheriff's department has actually spent.

After some juggling with last summer's budget hearing records, the board found it had approved salaries for three captains last year while the sheriff hired four, that seven lieutenants were approved but only six names, that 11 sergeants were approved while 15 were employed and that 41 deputies were approved but only 36 were hired. Polk is requesting seven more deputies in addition to the 51.

The check by Jones and Commissioner Dick Williams also showed that no corrections sergeants were approved but five were hired and Polk wants four more. The request for Correction II officers remained at the currently approved eight. Polk is asking for 12 new "correction officers" in another category while the 12 "confinement personnel" approved have not been hired. His request for four matrons remains the same as currently on officers remained. At the communications officers are five more to the 14 employed and approved.

The commissioners were somewhat miffed

Askew: Power Costs May Take Dip

By DAVID BRYANT Managing Editor

Gov. Reubin Askew, in San Francisco Wednesday with his new running mate Sen. James Williams (D-Orla.), revealed a ray of hope for beleaguered state residents reeling from astronomical electric bills — the cost for power might soon take a dip.

Askew, on a subdued campaign swing through Central Florida, told The Herald, the state's tough anti-spill law aimed at tankers, had been modified during the last legislative session.

"This means," said the governor, "that insurance rates went down for the carriers, and those few ships and firms who boycotted Florida's ports while the law was so stringent are coming back."

The newly-modified bill, Askew explained, means more oil will be coming into Florida, and with the transporters and suppliers paying smaller insurance rates, the price of fuel oil should soon drop.

Askew also took a swipe at the Nixon Administration's handling of the fuel crisis, and delivered a scathing condemnation of the Venezuelan government, which he says used the Middle East crisis to drive up the price of crude oil. "Venezuela is where most Florida electric firms get their oil, and when they backed the Arab boycott, we in Florida suffered immediately," he said. "It's the most important commodity we're offering Venezuela so if they want to play hardball, well, we just ought to tell them that unless they lower the oil price, they can't any of our food."
