Downtown Merchants Group Adopts New Name

The Sanford Downtown Business Association has targeted promoting and capitalizing on the city's attributes by renaming itself the Sanford Historical Downtown Waterfront Association. Accompanying the name change is the association's planning a sweeping campaign to lure local and out of town visitors to the city's core business district. The association's efforts will include aerial advertising and brochures and possibly a combination sock hop antique car parade on First Street. These and other selling strategies were discussed by approximately 30 downtown Sanford merchants and business representatives during a SHDWA planning session Wednesday evening at Christo's Classic Restaurant on First Street. The association will move toward increasing its membership and advertising efforts, and successful development of its new projects will necessitate both internal and external effort, according to Liz McDonald, the group's publicity chairman. "We're tying the historic district to the lakefront (through the name change) and pulling together as a group to promote the city of Sanford," she said. The collective effort should involve "everyone in the core downtown area," Ms. McDonald said. "The large and small businesses; retail, commercial and professional." The association has 71 member businesses, 35 of which actively promote its goals, Ms. McDonald said. Hoped for is a roster containing the names of 150 downtown establishments, she said. Sanford's "core" downtown commercial area runs from Third Street to the Lake Monroe Marina and Sanford Avenue to U.S. Highway See NEW NAME, page 12A

One Vote Gives Farr Chamber Presidency Now, Will He Take The Job?

The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce's board of directors this morning was split right down the middle on hiring City Commissioner Dave Farr as its new executive officer. But before a tie-breaking vote settled the matter in Farr's favor, there was an overall expression of a unified commitment to support the chamber's new executive officer — if Farr agrees to accept the post on the basis of a split vote. Farr said this morning he'll have to give the matter considerable thought and consult his family and some chamber board executives before deciding if he'll take the job. He said he should have a decision by Monday. However, the chamber's chairman says Farr has until the end of the month to decide.

There were just 18 of the 37 directors present this morning when the vote to hire or reject Farr was taken by secret ballot. There apparently is no specific percentage of members who must be present to constitute a quorum, according to Virginia Longwell, chamber secretary. Total count: nine "for" and nine "against." Duke Adamaon, board vice chairman, broke the tie and voted to hire Farr. Vic Arnett, acting chamber president since former president Jack Horner retired June 30, and himself an applicant for the presidency, turned in a letter of resignation, effective immediately, to chamber chairman Shirley Schilke just after the vote to hire Farr was concluded.

In a discussion following the vote, some board members, apparently those who cast "no" votes, indicated they felt Farr might not accept the position because of the split vote; and that the chamber might be better off continuing its search for an applicant who might be more favorably received by a greater majority of the board. There was some concern, according to one dissenting board member, that Farr has had trouble conducting his own business and might carry that over to his chamber duties. Farr has been operating a real estate business in Sanford and said he would give that up, as well as not seek reelection, if he got the chamber presidency.

However, several members, apparently those who voted to hire Farr, pointed out a chamber executive need not necessarily be a successful businessman or woman in order to effectively run a chamber. Those members also noted that even though the vote to hire Farr was not unanimous, it isn't comparable to a political election and that several executives in the private sector are hired by organizations whose

French Diplomat Assassinated; Terrorist Campaign Continues

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Unidentified gunmen killed the French military attache today and a previously unknown group claimed responsibility and vowed more violence against France.

Col. Christian Gouttiere was shot in the head by an undetermined number of men using guns equipped with silencers as he got out of his car after parking outside the French Embassy compound in Christian east Beirut, Police Capt. Ashraf Rifl said.

The assassination in Beirut followed by hours a terrorist bombing in Paris which took the lives of five and injured 52, 18 seriously.

In a telephone call to a Western news agency, the previously unknown Front of Justice and Revenge claimed responsibility for Gouttiere's killing.

The caller indicated the assassination was part of the terror campaign in Paris, where five bombings in 10 days have killed eight people and injured more than 160.

Speaking in Arabic, the anonymous caller said his group was responsible for the "execution of the French military attache." He said French Prime Minister See DIPLOMAT, page 12A

Salfi Bans Politics In Police Building Suit

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

Old law, precise abstract thought and politics mingled during a hearing Wednesday pitting the city of Longwood against a citizens group — with a circuit judge as a reluctant referee.

And Circuit Judge Dominick J. Salfi made it clear to the litigants that his courtroom was not going to become a forum for political exchange. He also told both sides the issue must be thoroughly examined before he would make any rulings.

"I realize there are political not judicial matters involved," he said, but added he was not going to allow politics to creep into the issue.

When Salfi can make a ruling is critical because the city is about to pay $10,000 Monday towards the $125,000 purchase of the land on which the city's police building is being built, an act which the citizens group maintains

The land, dedicated to the city in 1938 by the Episcopal Diocese of Central Florida, has been appraised between $96,500 and $356,000.

The issue came about because the land was deeded to the city with the proviso that if it is used for anything other than a park, it would revert to the diocese.

Aquino Addresses Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Philippine President Corazon Aquino, in an emotional address today to a cheering joint session of Congress, proclaimed a "new beginning" for U.S.-Philippine relations and asked for support in helping her overcome communist insurgency and a $26 billion debt.

Aquino was quick to point out that her government's rise to power in the Philippines seven months ago cost the United States nothing, yet the Philippines still stands as the U.S. bulwark to growing Soviet naval forces in the Western Pacific.

NATION IN BRIEF

Senate Approves Rehnquist As Chief Justice 65 To 33

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate, handing President Reagan a big victory in his fight to reshape the courts, has approved William Rehnquist as the nation's 16th chief justice and conservative Antonin Scalia as an associate justice.

The Senate turned back opposition from Democrats Wednesday night to approve both men, but opponents managed to record the largest number of negative votes ever cast against a Supreme Court nominee who was confirmed.

The vote was 65-33 to approve Rehnquist, 61, who has been on the Supreme Court since 1972 and is considered its most conservative member. Senators also approved Scalia, 50, a federal appeals court judge, on a 98-0 vote to replace Rehnquist as an associate justice.

Democrats and civil rights groups branded Rehnquist a segregationist and a sexist and charged that he violated legal ethics.

But Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, called the opposition a "Rehnquistian" and said the jurist was a brilliant scholar with an impeccable record.

The pair of votes, just 2 1/2 weeks before a new court term begins Oct. 6, ended weeks of bickering over Reagan's choice to replace retiring Chief Justice Warren Burger.

Rehnquist told Cable News Network he was "delighted." "I'm going to be chief justice when I take the oath of office, and I intend to try to do my best to discharge that job," he added. "I'm not going to think about all the things that went on in the confirmation debate."

Coke To Sell S. African Holdings

ATLANTA (UPI) — The Coca-Cola Co.'s decision to sell its South African holdings — in part to black South Africans — is a "strong moral statement" that could prod other corporations into similar action, black leaders said.

Coca-Cola President Donald Keough described the divestment policy Wednesday as a way for the world's largest soft-drink company to protest apartheid and support "the economic aspirations of black South Africans," who make up to vast majority of that country's population.

"Our objective is not solely to disinvest, however," Keough said. "We will disinvest in a way that creates significant multiracial equity participation in the South African soft drink industry."

Garn, Daughter Leave Hospital

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Doctors have sent Sen. Jake Garn, R-Utah, and his diabetic daughter home to complete their recoveries just a week after she received one of his kidneys in a transplant operation termed a complete success.

Garn, 53, and his daughter, Susan Garn Home, 27, walked out of Georgetown University Hospital Wednesday and told reporters they both felt "great."

"I feel fantastic. It's exciting to know she's got that old space kidney working inside her," the senator said, referring to his April 1985 flight aboard the space shuttle Discovery.

"Home needed the transplant because of progressive kidney failure caused by her diabetes. Doctors called the surgery and initial recovery stage a complete success, and said if her body shows no signs of rejecting the new kidney in the next three weeks, her long-term prognosis will be exceptional."

"There's no hint of any rejection activity anywhere," said Dr. G. Baird Helfrich, the hospital's director of transplantation who operated on Home.

Mob 'Controls' Casino Staff

TAMPA (UPI) — Mobsters build and supply casinos and then dominate the labor unions that provide workers for them, New Jersey officials told the Governor's Council on Organized Crime.

The officials were in Tampa Wednesday to testify before the council on casino gambling in Atlantic City, N.J., for a report to be presented to Gov. Bob Graham, an outspoken opponent of the proposal to bring casino gambling to Florida.

The report is expected to provide some background information for casino-regulating legislation if the casino gambling referendum is approved by voters in the Nov. 4 general election.

Mobsters do not own or control the 11 casinos in Atlantic City, said Anthony Parrillo, the director of the New Jersey division of gaming enforcement, because those who apply to own or run a gaming facility "must be suitable by clear and convincing evidence." If not, their licenses will be denied without an avenue for appeal.

But organized crime "gravitates to the points of least resistance, to the service industries and the labor unions," he said.

U.S. To Soviets: Send 25 Home

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department, in a move to increase pressure on the Soviet Union for the release of American reporter Nicholas Daniloff, announced today the names of 25 Soviet U.N. employees to be expelled from the United States by Oct. 1.

Spokesman Bernard Kalb said the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, Vernon Walters, informed the Soviet mission in New York of the action.

Kalb denied the order was connected with efforts to free Daniloff, the Moscow bureau chief of U.S. News & World Report who has been accused of spying.

But Kalb, after completing his opening statement on the Soviet employees, said the Daniloff case continues to have a "negative impact, a negative fallout" and as long as "the Daniloff case festers" it will affect U.S.-Soviet relations.

Kalb said the United States advised the "the Soviet mission to the United Nations that it is requesting the departure from the United States of 25 specific members of the staff of the Soviet mission. Those diplomats identified must leave the United States by Oct. 1.

In Wake Of Development Boom

Sanford Wants Land Plan Complete Before Deadline

Burgeoning development has prompted Sanford to target completion of its Comprehensive Land Use Plan well before the state's April, 1990, submission deadline.

The effort is anticipated to be completed next spring by City Planner Jay Marder with assistance from a private consulting firm the city would pay approximately $20,000.

Commissioners indicated Monday they would approve retaining engineering consultants Ivey, Bennett, Harris and Walls, Inc., of Orlando once City Engineering and Planning Director Bill Simmons has completed contract negotiations with the firm.

Simmons told commissioner on Monday he and the firm's representatives have already agreed its fee will not exceed $20,000.

Simmons also said "development pressures" in Sanford necessitate completion of the plan "as soon as possible."

According to Marder, the comprehensive land use plan "will be the keystone for future land use regulations and all development activities in the city."

The plan "anticipates future development trends" which, in addition to land uses, include traffic circulation, housing, conservation, recreation and open space, sewage and drainage provisions, Marder said.

It will replace the comprehensive plan Sanford adopted in 1977.

The new plan will be subject of public hearings this spring and then submitted to the state Department of Community Affairs, Simmons said.

Commissioners on Monday also endorsed a request from Orange County Sheriff Lawson Lamar, who is at odds with casino gambling in Florida.

Lamar, acting a chairman of No Casinos, Inc., has contacted local government representatives with a request they oppose the proposed constitutional amendment that would allow casino gambling throughout the state.

Sanford commissioners unanimously agreed to formalize their support of the request with adoption of a resolution in regular session.

City Commissioner Dave Farr said as far as he was concerned, the resolution might well "oppose gambling period in the state of Florida."

Commissioners on Monday also introduced the city's new Community Development Block Grant Administrator, who has been retained to monitor the $650,000 housing rehabilitation grant Sanford received last spring. The new staffer, Richard Woods, will receive his salary through grant funds.

Woods comes to Sanford "with tremendous experience" gained from a regional planning council position in Ocala, Simmons said.

The $650,000 grant will be used to rehabilitate homes in Sanford's Georgetown community.

New Twist On Bond Of Matrimony

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (UPI) — A convicted robber and his wife wanted to spend as much time together as possible during her jail visit so they came up with a way to seal their love — three tubes of "super glue."

Authorities at Auckland's Mount Eden jail said Wednesday that prisoner Mitchell King, 24, and his wife, Neenah, 23, secretly bonded their hands together with the fast-drying glue during visiting hours at the jail earlier this week.

"It looked more comical than romantic when they were taken to hospital," said jail deputy superintendent Russ Woods. "He had to be handcuffed to an officer and she just tagged along. All three of them rode in the back of a prison van."

Woods said the couple finally was separated after 1 1/2 hours of scrubbing at the hospital.

King is serving 6 1/2 years for armed robbery. His wife, who is from Thailand, is expected to leave New Zealand within the next few weeks when her visitor's permit expires.

Murdered Man's Identity Sought

Seminole County sheriff's investigators today continued to try to identify a murdered man found Tuesday in an abandoned boxcar west of Sanford off Rand Yard Road.

The man was beaten to death and, according to a Wednesday autopsy, suffered severe blows to the head. He is believed to have been between 50 and 60 years old with light brown, thinning hair and blue eyes, sheriff's Capt. Roy Hughey said.

The victim was 6-foot tall and weighed 170 pounds. He was dressed in expensive clothing, a pink, pullover shirt and khaki pants. There was no identification or personal effects on the body. The man had been dead from two to four days before he was found by a Seminole County road worker making a check in that isolated area behind a burned-out ice house.

The murdered man had a wart on the knuckle of the middle finger of his right hand and a one-inch, oval shaped mole on the inside of his left ankle, Hughey said.

Any one with information that might lead to the identification of this man or of the person or persons who killed him should call the sheriff's department at 322-5115.

NATIONAL REPORT: Canadian air brought the Northeast an early taste of winter, shattering record-low temperatures in nine cities, but the sun later peaked through the clouds to gradually return the region to a more traditional late summer. Surprise snowstorms that dropped as much as 5 inches of snow on the region Tuesday gave way Wednesday afternoon to mostly sunny skies that took the chill out of New England and upstate New York, raising temperatures into the 60s. Overnight temperatures dipped into the 40s, but the mercury was expected to reach the 60s and 70s later today, the National Weather Service said. Wilkes-Barre, Pa., hit 36, and both Syracuse, N.Y., and Atlantic City, N.J., set records with 40-degree readings. Smoking Causes Strokes; Quitting Helps, Study Says

BOSTON (UPI) — Cigarette smokers are two to three times more likely than non-smokers to suffer a stroke, but nicotine addicts can reduce that risk by more than half by kicking the habit, government researchers said Wednesday.

"The message is first of all don't start smoking," said Robert D. Abbott of the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute in Bethesda, Md. "The second message is, if you do smoke, stop because it is not too late. If you quit there are real benefits."

In the largest study of its kind and the first to examine the stroke-prevention value of quitting smoking, researchers followed 7,872 men of Japanese ancestry in Hawaii for 12 years, including 3,435 who smoked and 4,437 who were non-smokers when the study began.

While 117 — or 2.5 percent — of the non-smokers suffered a stroke, 171 — or 5.2 percent — of the smokers had a stroke. But smokers who had quit six years after the study began reduced their risk by more than half.

"A lot of people say, 'I've been smoking for a long time and if I quit it won't help,'" Abbott said in a telephone interview. "Here is evidence that says if you actually stop there are real benefits."

Researchers are unsure how a cigarette habit increases the chances of having a stroke. But Abbott said smoking may cause arteries in the brain to become narrowed or weakened, making them vulnerable to blockage or bursting.

A spokeswoman for the Tobacco Institute in Washington declined to comment on the study, published in The New England Journal of Medicine.

After adjusting for a variety of risk factors including the possibility that heart disease caused by smoking was causing the strokes, the researchers also found that smoking appears to play a role in the type of stroke suffered.

Smokers were four to six times more likely than non-smokers to have a hemorrhagic stroke, a less common but the most lethal type of stroke in which a blood vessel bursts in the brain.

Quitting smoking, however, cut the risk of hemorrhagic strokes by two-thirds, Abbott said.

Smokers were two to three times more likely than non-smokers to have a thromboembolic stroke, the most common form in which a blood clot forms elsewhere and lodges in a blood vessel in the brain.

Panel: High Dioxin Levels Found In Agent Orange Victims

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The New Jersey Agent Orange Commission said Wednesday it had found abnormal dioxin levels could be detected in the blood of Vietnam veterans exposed to the herbicide — a possible breakthrough in learning if exposure caused health problems.

Commission members, releasing in Washington the results of a three-year study, cautioned that the findings did not prove the dioxin levels found in the veterans were the cause of health problems.

However, they stressed that the fact the dioxin levels were detected 11 years after the end of the Vietnam War could be a crucial step in determining if exposure to Agent Orange, a defoliant used during the war, was responsible for a variety of health problems suffered by some veterans years later.

Reps. Tom Daschle, D-S.D., James Florio, D-N.J., and Bob Edgar, D-Pa., said they would ask the congressional Office of Technology Assessment to review the New Jersey study, labeled "The Pointman Project."

Daschle, a member of the House Veterans Affairs Committee, said officials from the Centers for Disease Control, which is conducting its own Agent Orange study, told Congress three weeks ago that it seemed impossible to determine if exposure to the herbicide had caused health problems.

Commission Chairman Allen Falk said he hoped the results could help change a May 1984 settlement of an Agent Orange lawsuit. That settlement, he said, was based on the presumption that there was no litmus test for determining if exposure to Agent Orange had caused health problems.

"Agent Orange victims are the first cousins of prisoners of war," added Daschle.

Children Can Be Tested For Heart Attack Risk

BOSTON (UPI) — A relatively simple blood test apparently can identify children who have an increased risk of having a heart attack when they become adults, researchers said Wednesday.

A new study found that children whose parents had heart attacks tend to have unusual levels of a two proteins associated with cholesterol, which can build up in arteries and set the stage for heart attacks.

"We know family history is an important factor in the risk of heart disease," said Dr. Frank A. Franklin, a pediatrician at the Louisiana State University Medical Center, where the study was conducted.

"In those families already struck by lightning, we saw that some of these children are little lightning rods," said Franklin in a telephone interview.

The study, published in The New England Journal of Medicine, involved testing the blood of 2,416 children ages 5 through 17 and comparing those whose parents had heart attacks to those who had not.

While no significant difference in cholesterol levels were found, children whose mother or father had a heart attack had an average of 2 percent higher levels of a protein known as apolipoprotein B and an average of 3 percent lower levels of a protein called apolipoprotein A-1.

Apolipoprotein B is associated with a "bad" form of cholesterol known as low-density lipoprotein (LDL), which tends to accumulate in arteries. Apolipoprotein A-1 is associated with a "good" form of cholesterol known as high-density lipoprotein (HDL), which helps rid the body of LDL.

"In the families where there is a history of early heart disease, the way to discriminate those children who are at increased risk of developing heart disease appears to be the measurement of apolipoproteins," said Franklin. "We assume these children who have those altered apolipoproteins may be at increased risk as adults."

Although the blood test for apolipoproteins is relatively inexpensive and easy to administer, it is not currently widely available, Franklin said.

"Ultimately it may be useful as a screening method," said Franklin.

A Second U.S. Foreign Policy?

A chuckle of satisfaction wouldn't have been surprising if heard in the Kremlin after the U.S. House of Representatives completed its work on the defense appropriations bill for next year. The bill includes some of the very things the Soviets might otherwise feel compelled to seek at the negotiating table.

Among them are an extension of a previous House ban on anti-satellite weapons, a requirement that President Reagan continue to follow the provisions of the unratified and expired SALT II treaty, a delay in the production of chemical weapons and a virtual freeze on the overall defense budget as well as funds for research on the Strategic Defense Initiative.

The president rightly said he will veto any bill that undercuts the administration's defense and arms control policies. In its current form, he said, the bill would "pull the rug out from under our arms negotiators and eventually imperil the national security of the United States."

An apparent attempt has been made by the chairman of the House Armed Services Committee to avoid the allegation that the bill undercuts the nation's foreign policy. Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., said that Mr. Reagan — not the House — is seeking to change U.S. policies and that the House, in most cases, is following a course consistent with current policies.

He said Mr. Reagan is trying to change current policies by proposing to drop SALT II and proposing larger increases in funding for space-defense research.

Aspin can't hide the fact, however, that the House bill, if it became law in its current form, would reduce the ability of the executive branch to pursue the policies it believes are in the national interest. That is why the House deserves the president's criticism.

Moscow walked out of the Geneva arms-control talks several years ago when NATO began setting up U.S. Pershing 2 and cruise missiles to counter an increase in Soviet intermediate-range missiles. The Soviets vowed not to return to the negotiating table until the missiles were removed.

But the Soviets returned to the table after Western Europe refused to back down and the United States moved ahead with its defense modernization program. Now that the talks have been resumed, the White House understandably wants to continue policies that have kept the pressure on the Soviets to negotiate a realistic arms-control agreement.

These policies have shown preliminary results. But Moscow and Washington are unlikely to resolve their differences quickly and completely. Significant progress toward stabilizing the relationship could take years to achieve.

If the United States is to make concessions in matters of interest to the Soviet Union, the administration should have the option of doing it at the conference table, not having the decision made unilaterally on the floor of the House.

Censorship Fails

We're pleased to report that the non-sighted won a victory over the shortsighted recently. A federal district judge ruled that the Library of Congress violated the First Amendment rights of blind people by eliminating Braille editions of Playboy magazine. The library ceased production of Braille editions of Playboy last December, after Congress withheld $109,000 in library funds, the exact amount it costs to print 1,000 copies of the magazine for the blind.

The ban of Playboy in Braille was instigated by Rep. Chalmers P. Wylie, an Ohio Republican. A spokesman for the American Council for the Blind called it a "back door" method of censorship.

Since the Braille edition of the magazine, which comes in four volumes, contains no pictures or advertisements, its readers are the only ones we know of who can truthfully say they peruse Playboy for its articles.

How Much Is That Frisbee In The Window?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Well, why not? Why not a national competition to determine the best Frisbee-catching dog in the land?

After all, we have a national competition to determine the best professional football team. So why not one for dogs with as much leaping ability as cornerbacks?

Much the same question must have occurred to Irving Lander of Encino, Calif., back in 1974 as he was watching a baseball game in Dodger Stadium in Los Angeles.

Suddenly, in the eighth inning, a strange object appeared on the playing field.

Was it a bird? Was it a plane?

No, it was Alex Stein, an Ohio State student, and his Frisbee-catching dog, Ashley Whippet.

For a few moments, while a pitcher was taking warm-up tosses, using a baseball, man and dog held the crowd enthralled. Then they were hustled off the field and Stein was thrown in jail.

Small wonder, he was arrested. As Lander described the incident, the dog didn't have a ticket. But Stein arranged to pay the $250 bail and the rest, as they say, is history.

Ashley went on to win the Frisbee-throwing championship, staged by Lander, three times.

I had lunch with Lander before Sunday's finals of the 1986 Gaines Cycle Ashley Whippet Invitational, which he directed at RPK Stadium during halftime of a pro football game between the Washington Redskins and the Los Angeles Raiders.

Stein was one of the judges, as was Peter Bloeme, a professional Frisbee thrower. (Yes, Virginia, there are Americans who make a living that way.)

Ashley, who could jump 9 feet in the air after a flying disc, died last year of old age. But Lander assured me a dog doesn't have to be a whippet to compete.

Entries come in all sizes and shapes and breeds, he said, and at least three ex-champs spent time in dog pounds.

As a matter of fact, Lander got his own two dogs from a pound. One, he said, is pretty good at catching flying discs if there aren't too many distractions, such as squirrels.

Lander, who is writing Ashley's biography, is the author of a booklet titled "Teaching Your Dog To Catch a Flying Disc."

A dog, he said, has to become attached to a disc, as it would to "a ball or an old sock." One way to accomplish that is to substitute a disc for "the usual feeding and watering" bowl, he added.

Not many owners feed their dogs balls and old socks.

"Some dogs, Lander cautioned, "take more patience than others." Some, apparently, go for squirrels, instead.

He suggested engaging the canine in a tug of war with a disc "just as you would with an old sock or rag," and rolling it (the disc, not the dog) along the ground in the beginning.

He also pointed out that successful "teamwork" may depend on the owner's throwing arm.

He recommended the "basic backhand" but conceded a "power grip" may be needed in competition.

Lander said nothing about a Frisbee-catching child but I recommend teaching your offspring to crash gates.

Gehrig's Disease Not Aided

By United Press International
Interferon, which has shown some promise as a cancer treatment, does not seem to slow the progress of Lou Gehrig's disease, government researchers say.

Scientists at the National Institutes of Health said they saw no improvement in six patients with the disease who were given interferon three times a week for four months.

The type of interferon used was recombinant leukocyte alpha-2 interferon, and the researchers said it was uncertain whether different doses, or different types of interferon, would also be ineffective.

Amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, the medical name for Lou Gehrig's disease, is a progressive nervous disorder that usually strikes in middle age. The disease killed Gehrig, the "Iron Man" of baseball, in 1941 just short of his 38th birthday.

The results were reported in the Archives of Neurology, a publication of the American Medical Association.

Caffeine has been blamed for starting or promoting growths in the breasts of premenopausal women, but researchers say the relationship is weak at best.

A 1979 report first raised the possibility of a link between caffeine and fibrocystic breast disease, the rapid development of large cysts in the breasts of women during their 30s and 40s.

But Dr. Wendy Levinson and her colleagues at the Good Samaritan Hospital and Medical Center in Portland, Ore., examined nine studies conducted since then and found only two established even a weak link between caffeine consumption and the disease.

Heart patients should have no fear that supervised exercise is going to give them another heart attack, doctors say.

A recent report in the Journal of the American Medical Association has found that heart attacks during cardiac rehabilitation programs are extremely rare.

A four-year study of 167 such programs showed 21 cardiac arrests in 51,303 patients who exercised 2,351,916 hours. Only three of those heart attacks were fatal.

The researchers from San Diego State University attributed the low rate of heart problems to the current high standards attached to cardiac rehabilitation.

Peregrinating Pressler Reports On Junket

By Jack Anderson
And Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — Any collection of gabfags, poseurs and egotists that cherishes the self-imposed title of "The World's Greatest Deliberative Body" probably has earned all the guffaws that come its way. But does the U.S. Senate really deserve Larry Pressler, the Dapper Dan of Dakota?

We've already awarded the South Dakota Republican the Allen Ellender Memorial Trophy in recognition of his pointless peregrinations around the "mini-states" of Europe last Easter. But the full flavor of this exercise in lightweight senatorial diplomacy can be savored only by sampling Pressler's own report on his 10-day junket, which cost $4,642 in transportation and miscellaneous expenses alone. (Who said there are bargain airfares to Europe?)

The senator's debt to his Rhodes Scholarship at Oxford and his days as an honors student at Harvard is clear at the very outset. Under the

WILLIAM RUSHER

It's Called Murder

Suppose there lived in your neighborhood a man named Mr. Jones — an irascible old geezer on bad terms with just about everybody. Suppose further that he was notoriously irritable about anyone trespassing on his property — above all his next-door neighbor and worst enemy, Mr. Smith.

Late one night, Jones looks out of his bedroom window and sees somebody crossing his lawn. Grabbing his shotgun, he blazes away and kills the trespasser, who turns out to be another nearby resident, Mr. Brown. It seems that Brown had been drinking, and was inadvertently crossing Jones' lawn on the way to his own house.

Well, naturally there is a considerable uproar. Jones charges that Brown was trying to break into his house, at Smith's instigation. Smith replies that Jones knew perfectly well that Brown was making an innocent mistake and killed him anyway, just to punish him for daring to set foot on Jones' lawn. Finally a newspaper reporter writes an article asserting that Jones didn't realize that the figure on his lawn was Brown — he just didn't know who it was.

Question: Does that exculpate Jones? Of course not. Civilized people don't shoot unidentified trespassers unless they represent a far greater threat than any that Brown conceivably posed to Jones. Jones would probably face indictment for second-degree murder.

Yet investigative reporter Seymour Hersh has written a book that is widely regarded as excusing the Russians for shooting down Korean Air Lines flight 007, though, adopting Hersh's version of the facts, their conduct is no more justifiable than Jones's.

The situations are precisely parallel. According to Hersh, KAL 007 simply made a navigational error that took the airliner first across the Kamchatka Peninsula and then across Sakhalin Island — both, and particularly the latter, containing sensitive Soviet military installations. Basing himself on Soviet military communications recorded by the United States at the time (but only decoded and/or listened to later), Hersh concludes that the Soviet authorities never identified the intruding plane as a civilian airliner before ordering its destruction. At the time they shot it down, he argues, they simply didn't know what it was.

Hersh further contends that although U.S. intelligence officials were aware of all this within a matter of days after the Boeing 747 plunged into the Sea of Japan, carrying 269 innocent people to their deaths, the United States continued, presumably for propaganda reasons, to accuse the Russians of deliberately gunning down what they knew was a civilian airliner.

It has long been apparent that the decision to shoot down the plane was made by some local Soviet official in the Far East. From his standpoint, the bad news was that an unidentified plane had entered Soviet airspace for whose defense he was responsible, flown over important military installations, and was now about to fly out of Soviet reach altogether. No doubt he tried, unsuccessfully, to rouse someone in Moscow to whom he could pass the buck. (Hersh's investigations appear to confirm this.) But it required no great exercise of imagination to picture what would happen to him if he allowed this intruder to slip through his fingers altogether.

Perhaps, as Hersh argues, the Russians never identified the plane and didn't realize that it was a civilian airliner. But evidently that didn't matter, because they also didn't know that it wasn't one. They shot it down anyway, neither knowing nor caring. And that was murder.

Strongest Supporters Critical

By Helen Thomas

UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan's strongest supporters have become his most irate critics — temporarily at least.

The supporters, including newspaper columnists George Will and William Safire, expressed their outrage over Reagan's decision to make a deal with the Kremlin to relieve the "mental torture" of American reporter Nick Daniloff who was confined to an 8-by-10 KGB jail cell on trumped up charges of espionage.

But Reagan rejects their argument that it was a sign of superpower weakness and said he acted out of humanitarian concern for the reporter.

Others on Capitol Hill such as Sens. Richard Lugar, R-Ind., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Daniel Moynihan, D-N.Y., have taken Reagan to task over the arrangement.

Former national security advisers Henry Kissinger and Zbigniew Brzezinski, who have made Soviet affairs their specialty, were indignant.

Reagan is not usually put on the defensive in his dealings in foreign relations. He has acted tough.

And it is doubtful that the Soviets now think of the United States as a paper tiger because it agreed to a swap. Compromise is the name of the game in diplomacy and world affairs and swaps of prisoners have been going for a long time.

Vice President George Bush says Reagan "did the right thing" and has the support of the American people.

In many ways, Reagan is being subjected to the same perception of caving in that his predecessor, Jimmy Carter, suffered when he sought ways to bring the American hostages in Iran back alive. The price was heavy in terms of his political image.

As Carter moved into the election mode, his opponents skewered him. Still, Carter, who believed that human rights is a key element to foreign policy, held out to assure the safety of the Americans in Teheran.

Although Reagan is taking a lashing from his traditional conservative supporters in the maneuvering to bring Daniloff home safe, the Soviets have to be concerned about their image. At a time when they are seeking detente and to put a cap on the arms race, they are playing hard ball.

provocative heading, "What Is a Small State?," Pressler quotes a little-known British historian who expressed doubt "whether, however viable the small state might be in international politics, it really is a viable subject of study." Pressler offers no enlightenment on this crucial point. After all, he's already made the trip.

"Life in these smallest states offers major compensations for a lack of major world political impact," Pressler writes. "Andorra, for example, has no prisons." Liechtenstein, he informs us, has neither an army nor any unemployed.

Pressler's debt to the encyclopedia is also clear. San Marino, he writes, is "the world's smallest and oldest independent republic; it had its own constitution by the 10th century." Monaco is "one of the safest places on Earth," while Malta's residents have "a life expectancy of 73 years."

But the senator is surely on his own when he writes that the United States and the Soviet Union "have risen like Popocatepetl and Ixtacihuatl above their surroundings."

Actually, a check of Capitol Hill sources and our own files by our associate Lucette Lagnado revealed that Pressler's mini-state meanderings were pretty much par for the course he has followed since he came to the Senate nearly eight years ago. For example:

— Senate staffers gleefully recall the day Pressler was in the Senate gym when a roll-call vote was announced. He had to place a frantic call to the cloakroom and ask that the vote be delayed — while he tried to figure out which locker he had put his clothes in.

— Pressler watchers have been fascinated by his constantly changing hair. The dashing young sultan "has changed hair color more often than George Bush changes watchbands," remarked one awed observer. Sometimes the Pressler topknot sports a reddish tint; at other times, it is a dignified brown; most intriguing is what one staffer called "the wet look, as if he put on a lot of gel."

— Recently Pressler ordered Senate Republican staffers not to smoke while he was presiding on the dais, because the smoke bothered him. Then he appeared smoking a long cigar.

— In 1981, Pressler led our list of "least effective senators." That was also the year we caught him plagiarizing a Washington Post series on farm problems for an article under his name in a tabloid published by the Rural Electric Association in South Dakota. He claimed a staffer was responsible.

— In 1982, despite earnest warnings from then-Secretary of State Alexander Haig urging him not to visit Poland, Pressler did — and made headlines by getting himself collared by a cop briefly for taking pictures of a food line in Warsaw. He insisted that the trip "was beneficial to the (State) Department, and it was very beneficial to me."

Longwood Postpones Park Tax

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

The Longwood City Commission has tabled an ordinance that would place the question of a tax to fund purchases and development of land for parks on the Dec. 2 ballot. It unanimously voted to delay the ordinance until they can come up with a plan on how the money would be spent.

The commissioners were scheduled to vote on the ordinance Monday night and set an Oct. 6 public hearing, but they agreed the referendum would have a better chance for passage if the voters knew exactly how the money the money would be spent. The proposed referendum would have provided for a tax of $1 per $1,000 assessed property valuation for two years.

Commissioner Harvey Smerlison said the people are likely to turn down the tax without a plan as in the past when voters defeated a proposed $1 per thousand assessed value property tax increases to finance construction of a police station and a community building.

"Voters are not going to give you one mill without a plan. The commission needs to get together with the parks and recreation commission and come up with a plan. People didn't turn down the police station or the community building, they turned down a one mill tax."

Mayor Larry Goldberg said, "I would like to see a real good plan to bring to the voters. There is not enough time to get a worthwhile plan before the election."

City Clerk Don Terry said the deadline for getting the tax referendum on the ballot would be Oct. 6.

Dale Lilly of Longwood Groves, a member of the parks board, spoke of the need for a park. "We have only one park (Reiter Park) that meets state guidelines for a neighborhood park and none that qualify as a city park," he said. "We need land, we need equipment and we need parks. We have a bad community building and it needs to be replaced. People want things, but they can't be done under the budget."

"Things like having to pay out $125,000 to appease the Episcopal Diocese of Central Florida takes $10 per every resident when the money should be serving the people in the community," he said.

The city has agreed to pay the sum as part of a settlement with the diocese in order to clear the title on park land on which the new city police station is being built.

Lilly said the parks and recreation commission had presented the recommendations on park development, but the commission always said funds were not available.

No funds are included in the 1986-87 Capital Improvements program for acquisition of land for parks or a community building, but there is $5,000 for playground equipment and improvements. Parks and recreation fares better in the 1987-88 fiscal year when $130,000 is proposed for land, $300,000 for a community building, and $5,000 for playground equipment and improvements. There is $75,000 for land and $5,000 for playground equipment and improvements included projected budgets for each of the three following years.

Lilly later agreed the commissioners were right to postpone action. "We need to develop a plan. I'm not unhappy to set things aside until we know what we want."

Woman Charged In Forgery

A 25-year-old Sanford woman who allegedly forged and cashed three checks drawn on a B & S Sod Sales, of County Club Road, Sanford, account, has been charged with three counts each of forgery, uttering a forged and petty theft.

The checks were cashed at Freedom Bank, 201 N. Park Ave., Sanford, between Sept. 2 and Tuesday, a Sanford police report said.

The woman was questioned at the police station and arrested there at about 3 p.m. Tuesday.

Charged was Terri Anne Woosley, of 1235 S. Pine Ridge Road, Sanford, who has been released on $1,000 bond to appear in court Oct. 6.

TRIFL DESCRIBED

Sanford police have the description of a man who allegedly wrestled a Sanford woman's purse from her while she was in the parking lot of South East Bank, 181 Airport Blvd., on Tuesday afternoon. Terri Hackney, 25, of 2855 Magnolia Ave., received a large bruise on her arm as a result of the incident, which occurred at 3:25 p.m., a Sanford police report said. Ms. Hackney reported the purse contained $600 in cash.

WINDOW WASHER FALLS

At about 9:30 a.m. Tuesday Seminole County sheriff's Lt. Matt Stewart heard a clatter and a thud outside his office window. He thought, "That sounds just like somebody fell off a ladder." Stewart looked out and was surprised to see that's just what had happened.

Anthony Forstner, 22, of Winter Park, was lying face down on the ground about 10 feet from the building, outside the first floor window of Stewart's office.

Forstner was part of an Orange Cleaning Service crew that was washing windows at the Sheriff's Department at 1345 28th St., in Sanford.

Apparently Forstner was washing third-floor windows when his latter slipped on mildew on a ledge. He was treated at the scene by Sanford Fire Department rescue workers and transported to Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford, where he was treated for minor injuries and released, a sheriff's report said.

About $1,600 worth of items including metal beams, two tires and a generator were stolen from the home of Laurian Spankie, 45, of 1800 N. State Road 426, Oviedo, between Aug. 1 and Tuesday, a sheriff's report said.

Bennett Is A Name That Will Ring A Bell

Cornelius Bennett. Does that name ring a bell? Yes, and the name of the Bell is Kerwin Bennett, a two-time All-America linebacker for the University of Alabama, will be harrasing Bell and the Florida Gators all afternoon Saturday. It will be the first game of the season that Bennett is expected to be at 100 percent so look for him to make the best of it with Bell as his target.

The fourth-ranked Crimson Tide rolls into Gainesville with a 3-0 record and driving toward a shot at the Southeastern Conference and national titles. Bama has enough weapons in its artillery to obliterate the Middle East and right this moment they are constructing some extra fallout shelters at Florida Field.

In the "Gabb'n' With Galen" section of the Gators' weekly football press release, the grizzled head Gator said of the Crimson Tide: "They are balanced in every area. They can beat you with their running game, passing game, defense or kicking game. They remind me of Miami in that you can't find a weakness anywhere."

Hall is hoping Alabama doesn't remind him too much of Miami on the gridiron Saturday.

Florida, 1-1, is coming off a tough loss to the Miami Hurricanes and can't afford another one, especially in its Southeastern Conference opener.

"One of our goals is to go to the Sugar Bowl," Florida middle guard Jeff Roth said. "And this is our first step. But it's a big first step."

Since it doesn't have momentum going from a victory in its last game, maybe the Gators can look at their past record against Bama. Let's see here... Uh-oh, maybe not.

Bama has dominated the series against the Gators, leading, 15-5. The last time the two teams met, in 1979, the Tide swallowed the Gators, 40-0. Alabama has won the last seven meetings and the last time Florida beat the Tide was in 1963. So much for past success.

But, since the last time the two teams met, Florida has gained respectability on the football field. And the Gators rarely lose at Florida Field (once in the last 22 meetings), so that should keep it close for a while anyway.

In the inaugural week of the 1986 season, the Fearless Fister Forecast posted a 5-0 record in preps, 2-0 in pros and 0-3 in college although Notre Dame beat Michigan in my book. That's 7-3 for the week. What kind of percentage is that? Don't make me laugh, okay.

Here's a look at week number two:

Seminole at Titusville

The 'Noles proved they can play defense with anybody last week, holding third-ranked (3A) Titusville Astronaut scoreless for much of the game. Offensively, Seminole sputtered but look for coach Dave Mosure to make some changes and get the Tribe cranked up. In a mild upset...
Seminole by 6

DeLand at Lake Mary

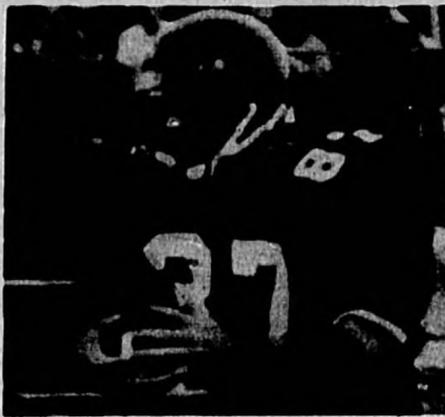

Two years ago, they arrived for one game in army trucks and coach Dave Hiss decked out in camouflage outfit. Last year, the team came out on some hay wagons pulled by tractors. In 1986, the DeLand High football team might as well come in camouflage outfits and bring along the hay to hide in because the Bulldogs are in for a beating. DeLand is not as big in numbers or in size than last year while Lake Mary's Rams are as strong as ever and proved that by ripping then fifth-ranked Apopka, 19-7, last week...

Lewis Preaches Patience As Titusville Approaches

(Sanford's WUEZ-AM (1400) will broadcast tonight's football game between Seminole and Titusville from Titusville's Draa Field. Steve Luba will be mike side at 7:20 p.m.)

By Sam Cook Herald Sports Editor

Earnie "Sackman" Lewis is a patient young man. Although he's a furious Lawrence Taylor play-alike on the football field, the Seminole High junior linebacker slows his blitz when it comes to offensive philosophy.

One of Lewis' hobbies is fishing. Is there any greater testimony to patience than sitting on the seaway and waiting for some hungry fish to gobble up the bait?

The articulate 6-2, 195-pound outside backer displayed that same calm Wednesday while he and senior Dwayne Willis were luncheon guests of the Optimist Club of Sanford as its players of the week.

"It always takes the offense a little longer to get it together,"

Football

Lewis told the Optimist members at Sanford's Western Sizzlin. "We know the offense is going to come around. We'll just do our job until it does."

Seminole's defense has another big job tonight. Coach Dave Mosure and the 'Noles return to Titusville's Draa Field to take on the southside team — Titusville High's Terriers. Kickoff is 7:30 p.m.

Unlike last week when the Tribe dropped a 16-7 season-opening decision to Titusville Astronaut, this game is for keeps. It is the first District 4A-5 encounter. Tonight's winner could be a victory over Daytona Beach Seabreeze from the state playoffs.

"If we had beaten Seabreeze last year, we would have gone to the state playoffs," Lewis, who registered 20 tackles and two sacks last week, said. "We'd like to be in that position again."

Seabreeze finished 4-0 last year. Seminole was just 2-2. But a reversal of the 7-0 setback at Daytona Beach would have left the Sand Crabs and the 'Noles with identical 3-1 marks. Seminole, since it won the head-to-head confrontation, would have been playoff bound.

But those are ifs and couldas. District titles aren't won on what might have been. The simplest way for the Tribe and the Terriers to take a big step toward that post-season berth is to win tonight.

"I'd say Seabreeze was the favorite just because they won it last year," Mike Dickey, Titusville's third-year coach, said Wednesday. "They have a real fine defense again. They look like the same team as they did last year."

Which means offensively, the Sand Crabs aren't going to blow any scoreboard fuses. They shut out Spruce Creek, 13-0, last Thursday. "Sanford, Seabreeze

Lady Rams Blow Serves But Find Victory In Opener

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

LAKE MARY — The 12 missed serves in the last two games didn't sit too well with coach Cindy Henry. However, the solid play in every other aspect of the game had to have her thinking this could be the year volleyball takes a turn for the better at Lake Mary High.

Offensively, Lake Mary set up and converted on a good number of its opportunities while the back-row play was superb most of the match. Missed serves were the only thing that kept the Lady Rams from completely dominating as they opened the season with a 15-1, 11-15, 15-12 victory over Winter Park's Lady Wildcats Wednesday night at Lake Mary High.

Lake Mary returns to action Monday at Spruce Creek in the first of three matches next week. Lake Mary starts its Seminole Athletic Conference slate Tuesday, Sept. 30, at Lake Brantley.

"If we had been serving well, we would have won it in two games," Henry said of Wednesday's win. "We looked pretty good for our first game. We got some strong play at the net and the setting was real good."

Lake Mary could do no wrong in the opening game as, with the score tied at 1-1, it ran off 14 straight points. Marcie Dalziel led the offensive attack as she converted three spikes while Lora Splatt and Angie Cappa converted one apiece, all coming off good sets from Marcy Lazar.

Dalziel also served a string of five points, one an ace, as Lake Mary built an 8-1 lead and never looked back. Lazar served the final two points of the opening game for the Lady Rams.

"We looked really good in the first game," Henry said. "We had some excellent hits and some good play all the way around."

Winter Park regrouped and came back strong in game two as the Lady Wildcats jumped out to a 10-1 lead behind the net play of Tonya Rivers and Lora Splatt goes to her knees to return the ball against Winter Park. Splatt and Marcy Lazar, left, helped Lake Mary to a season-opening win Wednesday over Winter Park.

Mets Win East

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Mets, who needed six attempts to clinch the National League East title, have 17 games to prepare for their next big game.

Unless Houston suffers a terrible collapse, the Mets will face the Astros for the pennant beginning Oct. 8 in the Astrodome. The Mets assured their playoff spot last night with a 4-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

"It was good to have a letdown at that point," Darryl Strawberry said of the team's four-game losing streak with the opportunity to clinch. "We hadn't had one all year. We found ourselves in the situation where we couldn't get the big win."

"We were really hungry and just tried too hard to win one game. It's good to get it out of the way, to come home and clinch. Now we can get ready for the playoffs. Getting into the World Series is our dream. We've got our work cut out for

Hunting Season Opens Waterways For Anglers

Many Central Florida sportsmen like to fish and hunt. Fall and winter seasons are excellent times to fish because many of our fellow outdoorsmen are in the woods in pursuit of game. Thus, waterways are much less crowded.

Listed adjacently is the hunting calendar for the 1986-87 hunting season. It will not only let the hunters know what game is in season, but it will also let the fishermen know when to fish in peace and quiet.

Questions you may have concerning hunting dates, or commission regulations and rules, can be answered by Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission personnel throughout the state. Its toll-free telephone numbers are:

GOING FISHING?

WEEKEND FORECAST — Rick Rowling from Highland Park Fish Camp said that fishing is still slow due to the hot weather. He is not looking for things to improve until after the first cool snap.

Dell Abernethy from DeLeon Bridge reports that anglers are catching bass, but that they are running from 1-3 pounds. There is a lot of schooling activity in areas of moving water. Spots and bluegill are being caught around the new bridges on grass shrimp. Stop by and see Dell for the places to catch the most fish.

Snook fishing at Sebastian is slow for this time of year. The inlet is receiving a lot of pressure due to the opening of snook season. Seasoned anglers are waiting for the novelty to wear off before they take the bait.

Captain Jack from Port Canaveral said that offshore trolling is really hot. Lindsay Smith of Lake Mary caught two sailfin and lost a blue marlin after being hooked up over an hour. The sail was caught in 140 feet of water and the marlin was hooked in 340 feet. Dolphins are being caught as close in as Polk's Place. The marlin was slow, with only a few small cuts being caught. Redfish are biting in the Banana and Indian rivers for fishermen who are willing to brave the heat. The best bet is to use live pinfish or mullet on the sliding sinker rig for the redfish. Fish the edges of ledges and channels for the redfish and be willing to wait for several hours before some crabs by the bait.

The New Smyrna Inlet is a good bet for anglers wanting to have a lot of action. Use live shrimp on the north side of the north jetty with the smallest possible sinker. Sheepshead, drum, redfish, flounder, and other assorted species will be more than willing to try to take your bait.

Lake Mary's Stacked Relay Trims Greyhounds, 151-150

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

Three school records and one stacked relay paved the way as Lake Mary's Rams trimmed Lyman's Greyhounds, 151-150, for the top spot at a triangular meet Wednesday night at the Sharidan Aquatic Club in Longwood.

Lyman held a 136-133 lead going into the final event, with Orlando Bishop Moore a distant third, but Lake Mary stacked the 400 free relay with Steve Kostowicz, Jaime Bojanowski, Mark Russell and Doug Dittmer and sailed to a time of 3:31.85 to clinch the win.

"The final event wasn't really close," Lake Mary coach Walt Morgan said. "Lyman stacked their first relay and won it and we stacked our last one and won it."

Lake Mary also took first place in the girls meet with a team score of 154 compared to 129 for Lyman and 103 for Bishop Moore.

While it was the relay that gave the Rams the victory, it was a pair of school records by Kostowicz and one by Bojanowski that highlighted the meet. Kostowicz, only a sophomore, established records in the 200 free with a time of 1:48.91 and the 100 free at 49.01. Bojanowski, a junior transfer from Seminole High, set a record in the 500 free with a time of 4:58.76 and he also swam a personal best of 2:05.43 in taking second in the 200 individual medley.

"Kostowicz is swimming tremendously for this early in the year," Morgan said. "And Bojanowski swam a super race."

Lake Mary also got a first place from Wea Simichek in the 100 fly. Simichek touched in with a time of 58.03.

Lyman, competing without top returnee and state champion Charlie Rose who is out of town, got off to a good start in the meet by winning the 200 medley relay. The team of Tom Mooney, Rich Ott, Nick Radkewich and Sam Rennard turned in a time of 1:47.35.

Chuck Reinighaus claimed a pair of firsts for the 'Hounds including the 200 IM (2:04.17) and the 100 breaststroke (1:04.02). Also taking first places for Lyman were Rennard in the 50 free (23.79), Chris Hebert in the diving competition (160.2) and Mooney in the 100 breaststroke (56.42).

In the girls meet, Lake Mary won both relays and also got a pair of first places from Kelly Wise.

The 200 medley relay team of Angie Odom, Cindy Greenan, Alice Reese and Elisea Maher combined for a time of 2:05.34 while the 400 free relay foursome of Stasi Bojanowski, Lesa Dittmer, Reese and Wise won with a time of 4:06.74.

Wise, the team's top returning swimmer, also took firsts in the 200 IM (2:20.17) and the 100 back (1:07.82). Other first places for the Lady Rams included Bojanowski in the 200 free (2:12.82), Dittmer in the 500 free (6:21.27) and Greenan in the 100 breaststroke (1:14.88).

Dannica Jaffin, only a sophomore, had an outstanding meet for Lyman as she claimed first place in the 50 free (27.66) and 100 free (1:02.44). Also taking first for the Lady Greyhounds was Karen Long in the 100 fly (1:06.10).

The teams will now prepare for the first big area meet, the Bishop Moore Invitational, which is being held Saturday, Sept. 27 at the Sharidan Aquatic Club.

Gators, Bama Scratch 7-Year Itch With Key SEC Game

United Press International
Alabama and Florida meet for the first time in seven years Saturday in what could be the key game in this year's Southeastern Conference grid-iron race.

Alabama, the preseason SEC favorite, is 3-0 and ranked No. 4 nationally. Florida, which had the league's best record the past two years, is 1-1 and unranked because of NCAA probation. But those figures don't fool the oddmakers, especially since the game is in Gainesville, Fla., and the Crimson Tide is only a slim 1-point favorite.

The two last met in 1979 with Alabama, unbeaten and national champion that year, winning 40-0. The Gators, 23-15 losers to No. 2 Miami in their most recent outing, have never beaten Alabama in Gainesville.

The Gators, who have never been "official" SEC champions, would have won the league title in 1984 and 1985 if it hadn't been for the probation. If they come off probation at the end of this season, as expected, they will be eligible for this year's SEC crown and the berth in the Sugar Bowl which goes with it.

"We're excited about opening SEC play," said Gators wide receiver Eric Hodges. "We've put the (non-conference) Miami loss behind us. The Sugar Bowl is still within our reach and we know it. But Alabama is a great team, just as good as Miami, and we will have to be ready."

"We will be going against one of the top teams in the nation in Alabama," said Florida quarterback Kerwin Bell. "They probably have more talent and depth than anyone else in our conference. I believe Alabama will try to put the same type of pressure on me that Miami did."

Alabama Coach Ray Perkins wasn't pleased with his team's performance against Southern Mississippi, despite a 31-17 victory. "Now we're going to find out how good we are," said Perkins. "because we know how good Florida is."

Oil Can Dries Up Brewers

United Press International
Boston Red Sox pitcher Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd earlier in the season claimed he had two pitching personalities — Dennis' and Oil Can's. Dennis had no emotion and gave up too many runs, but the Oil Can was an excitable young pitcher with star potential.

Boyd now must be in his Oil Can frame of mind. He has won four straight starts and Wednesday night at Fenway Park allowed only eight hits to lead the Red Sox past the Milwaukee Brewers, 4-1. With only 16 games left, Boston leads New York and Toronto by 10 games.

The Red Sox have won 15 of their last 18 and lowered their magic number to seven. Any combination of Red Sox victories and losses by those second-place teams totalling seven will give Boston its first division title since 1975.

Don Baylor and Dwight Evans stroked back-to-back home runs as Boston won its 11th straight home game.

Boyd, 15-9, hasn't uttered a word to the media since returning from a suspension and medical testing on Aug. 5. But Baylor says Boyd is a new man.

"I think he's looking at it more as a team game now, and not the Oil Can Boyd Show," Baylor said. "I think he is a little more relaxed. He's got the same intensity, but he's not jumping around as much and he's not as animated."

After being undone by runners on base earlier in the season, Boyd is concentrating. The Brewers had runners on second and third with nobody out in the first, but Boyd retired the next three batters.

"That was the killer," Milwaukee Manager George Bamberger said. "You can't let a good pitcher get away like that, it gives him new life."

"The first two guys get on and that pitcher asks, 'Do I have my good stuff tonight?' Then he gets him out and he says, 'I do. You've got to get him when you give him a chance.'"

In other games, Detroit beat Toronto 8-6, Baltimore defeated New York 8-3, Texas shut out Oakland 4-0, Cleveland beat Minnesota 5-2, and Chicago blanked Seattle, 3-0.

Tigers 8, Blue Jays 6

At Toronto, Larry Herndon's pinch-hit, three-run homer capped a four-run seventh inning for Detroit. Jack Morris, 18-8, earned his sixth victory in his last seven decisions before Willie Hernandez got the last out for his 32nd save. Jim Clancy, 14-11, took the loss.

Orioles 8, Yankees 3

At New York, Jim Traher drove in three runs, Larry Sheets hit a two-run homer and Eric Bell won in his first major-league start to lead Baltimore. The decision snapped Baltimore's five-game losing streak and stopped the Yankees' four-game winning streak. Bell, 1-0, allowed six hits.

Rangers 4, A's 0

At Oakland, Calif., Pete Incaignola drove in three runs with two homers, and rookies Ed Correa and Mitch Williams combined on a six-hitter to spark the Rangers. Correa, 10-13, struck out a career-high 10 batters. Oakland starter Rick Rodriguez lost in his major-league debut.

Indians 5, Twins 2

At Cleveland, Pat Tabler singled home Joe Carter with the go-ahead run in the sixth inning for the Indians. Greg Swindell, 3-1, was the winner and Frank Wills picked up his fourth save. Minnesota's Mike Smithson fell to 10-14 in his first major-league relief appearance after 144 starts.

White Sox 3, Mariners 0

At Seattle, Floyd Bannister and Bob Thigpen combined on a four-hitter to lead Chicago. Bannister, 10-11, worked the first six innings and Thigpen picked up his seventh save as he retired all nine batters he faced. Seattle left-hander Mark Langston, 12-12, struck out 14.

SPORTS

IN BRIEF

Ex-Ram Carbia Turns Natural Talent Into Weightlifting Golds

Longwood's Ivan Carbia, an outstanding wrestler for Lake Mary during his prep years, has turned to throwing around weights instead of grapplers. The 19-year-old Carbia recently won six weightlifting goal medals in two national competitions in Chicago.

"Ivan was always a very competitive guy," Lake Mary weightlifting coach Bill McDaniel said. "After he finished his wrestling, I talked him into trying weightlifting. He's made tremendous progress."

Carbia, a student at the University of Central Florida, competed in the 130-pound class last Sunday. He snatched 185 pounds and cleaned and jerked 242 pounds for a 427 total. The lifts won him three golds in the American 20 and Under Championship class and three more in the National 23 and Under class.

"Ivan still has another year of junior competition and he's already right near the top," McDaniel said. "He beat a lot of people with international experience at Chicago."

McDaniel said Carbia's next competition will be the national championships in Buffalo in May. "If he can get in the top four there, he would qualify for the sports festival in South Carolina," McDaniel said about his protege. "He can do it. He's a natural."

Bowden: Practices Are Better

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The 18th-ranked Florida State Seminoles, coming off a week off, are improving in their practice preparations for Saturday's game with North Carolina. Coach Bobby Bowden said Wednesday.

"Practice was a little better than (Tuesday)," he said. "We had fewer busted assignments."

Trainer Randy Oravetz did not report any major injuries, but several players returned to practice. The status of flanker Phillip Bryant, who underwent surgery to repair a torn tendon in his finger, will be determined Thursday.

Center Jim Hendley has been moved to the tackle slot left vacant by the death of Pablo Lopez, and David Schrenker will move to the starting center spot. Lopez was shot to death in an argument on the FSU campus Saturday.

Lewis, Rigby Pick Up Whoppers

Seminole's Earnie "Sackman" Lewis and Lake Howell's Cornel Rigby were voted the first Seminole County Burger King Football Players of the Week Tuesday by the selection committee.

Lewis, a junior linebacker, picked up the defensive award with nine tackles, 11 assists and two sacks in a 16-7 loss to Titusville Astronaut. Rigby, a senior running back, took offensive honors with 144 yards and two touchdowns in a 27-8 victory over Orlando Edgewater.

Other offensive nominees were Lake Brantley's Johnnie Griffin, Lyman's Robert Thomas, Oviedo's Willie Gainey and Oviedo's Andy Palmer. Other defensive nominees were Lake Howell's Steve Trier and Terry Gammage, Oviedo's Palmer and Karl Wright.

UCF, Rudy To Host Soccer Night

The University of Central Florida and soccer coach Jim Rudy will host a "College Soccer Prep Night" in the UCF Student Center Thursday, Sept. 25 at 7:30 p.m. All high school soccer players and their parents are invited to attend.

The two-hour seminar will be designed to inform prospective college student-athlete soccer players about recruiting procedures, scholarships and academics.

Speakers at the event will include Tom Fleck, the Florida State Youth Soccer Association coach and the former men's soccer coach at Lehigh University, Gary McKinley, soccer coach at Stetson University, Hugh Beasley, soccer coach at Rollins College and Rudy.

UCF (10th) Hits Division II Poll

Coach Gene McDowell's University of Central Florida football team received its first national ranking ever Wednesday when the Knights were voted to the 10th position in the NCAA Division II poll.

UCF, 2-0, opened the season with victories over Bethune-Cookman College and West Georgia. The Knights go for their third in a row Saturday at home against Valdosta State.

PREDICTIONS

By JOEL SHERMAN/UPI Sports Writer

Alabama (minus 1) over Florida — The Gators have done an excellent job of slowing down two excellent quarterbacks so far this season — Georgia Southern's Tracy Ham and Miami's Vinny Testaverde. They face another good one this week in Mike Shula. Shula's statistics this season are only fair, but his forte is winning and the Crimson Tide are 3-0. Alabama must slow the throwing of standout junior Kerwin Bell. Tide star linebacker Cornelius Bennett played well in his first game back from a hamstring injury in last week's triumph over Southern Mississippi and will be the key in stopping Bell. These Southeastern Conference foes have not met since 1979. Alabama holds a 15-5 advantage in the series and has never lost at Florida. The Gators had their 21-game home unbeaten streak snapped by Miami in their last game. The contest is likely to come down to the running game, and with Gene Jelks and Bobby Humphrey, Alabama has the superior ground attack. Alabama 23, Florida 17.

Georgia (minus 7 1/2) over Clemson — The Tigers will be hungry following a season-opening loss to Virginia Tech. But Bulldogs have too much rushing for Clemson, and QB James Jackson showed surprising aerial success last week. Georgia 31, Clemson 20.

Florida State (minus 9 1/2) over North Carolina — Bobby Bowden will have his Seminoles ready after week off following loss to Nebraska. Florida State 24, North Carolina 12.

and us have a real good a chance." Dickey said about the district race. "I don't know about Oviedo."

A year ago, Titusville struck early and held on for a 20-13 win over the Seminoles. Dickey said his team has more speed this year but not quite as much size.

Sophomore quarterback Lamar Campbell ran for 74 yards in 14 carries in last week's 17-6 loss to fourth-ranked Merritt Island. "We doubled their yardage and first downs but lost the football game," Dickey said. "We moved from 20 to 20 with ease, but nine penalties and four fumbles hurt us."

Although Campbell is an elusive runner, Dickey said he is not much of a threat to pass.

Fullback Ray Griffin (8-0, 205) and halfback Leon Hamilton (5-11, 178) complement Campbell. Tackle Pete Antonio (6-2, 260) and guard Joe Collura (6-3, 215) are the mainstays in the offensive line. Tommy Harvey (5-11, 175), who missed last year with an injury, is a hitter at linebacker. Defensive end Griffin and linebacker Nate Straw are his henchmen.

"Titusville is a like like Astronaut only they're not as polished," Mosure said about tonight's opponent. "They are big and strong. The quarterback (Campbell) is a good athlete. They don't have a lot of variety, but what they do, they do well."

Last year, the Terriers had a 14-0 lead within 11 minutes. Hamilton accounted for two touchdowns and 127 yards and killed the Tribe with his cutback running style.

"They hurt us with the trap last year," Mosure said. "Our 50-Eagle defense should take care of that. We slip the middle linebacker (Steve Warren) in at nose guard. The tackles stay over the guards which plugs the inside trap hole. Then, the linebackers step in over the outside shoulders of the tackle."

Mosure said he made one defensive change. Bernard Burke will switch positions with Ron Blake. Burke moves to monsterback where his all-systems-go style will be more effective. Blake, a more cautious player, goes to safety. His return of a lateral 35 yards last week set up the lone Tribe TD.

Defensively, the 'Noles were perfect for 28 minutes against Astronaut until Joe Britt broke a punt 85 yards to tie the score. Mosure said he has made several changes on the punt team (more defensive people) to see that doesn't happen again.

"We spend time on punt coverage. We work on it every damn day," Mosure, still upset about the lapse, said. "Don't follow the same color jerseys and stay in your lane. You can go half speed and give up some yardage and not give up a touchdown."

Offensively, Willis, who twisted his ankle Monday, is doubtful. "I'm going to do everything I can do to play," Willis said Wednesday. "It's a lot better than it was Monday."

Willis, who played quarterback and running back last week, will concentrate on tailback most of the time this week. Jerry Governali, who completed 1 of 6 passes for 15 yards, will step in as signal caller.

"Jerry has had a good week of practice," Mosure said. "He's not making mental mistakes and his play-calling is better."

Mosure said he expects continued improvement from center Kevin Straub along with tackles Wen Springfield and Randy Bryant. He was satisfied with guards Wilton Hooks and Keith Denton last week.

"I was pleasantly surprised with our offensive line for 30 minutes," Mosure said. "If we improved as much this week as we have been, we could triple our yardage."

Which would be welcome news to Willis (37 yards), Curtis Rudolph (10 yards) and Ed Banks (23 yards).

Seminole has two pretty good-sized backs," Dickey said about Banks (205) and Rudolph (180) and that No. 5 (Willis) is a threat because of his speed.

"We're just going to force them to run at us and hope our defensive line has a good game."

Dickey said Seminole's defensive quickness is his biggest worry. "With all the things they do at the line of scrimmage, they're tough to block," he said. "I know we aren't going to throw much. This game could be over by 8:48."

And one time will be a quick step toward a district title.

Sanford's WUEZ-AM (1400) was fouled up by United Telephone for last week's broadcast from Draa Field.

"The relay system from Titusville to Sanford didn't work," Z-14 general manager Mitch Carroll said. "It should be okay this week."

Seminole Frosh Use 30-Point Quarter To Bury Howell

Seminole erupted for 30 points in the second quarter en route to a 30-7 victory over Lake Howell in the opening freshman football game of the season for both teams Wednesday night at Lake Howell High School.

"We dominated defensively just about the whole game," Seminole coach Bill Zeiss said. "The offense really did a good job after it got over the first-period jitters."

Seminole, 1-0, hosts Oviedo Tuesday, Sept. 30. Lake Howell, 0-1, plays at Lake Mary next Tuesday.

Football

After a scoreless first quarter, Sanford's Ralph Anderson scooted 70 yards for the first TD. Anderson also ran in the two-point conversion for an 8-0 bulge.

"Our offensive line really did a good job of blocking," Zeiss said. "Center Robert Howington and tackles John Wilks and Dan Barany opened the holes."

Seminole struck again minutes later when Robert Moore fielded a punt and returned it 67 yards for a score. Anderson again ran in the PAT for a 16-0 lead.

Julius Bennett capped the scoring with two more runs. Bennett, a husky fullback, powered 10 yards for one TD and added the second on a four-yard burst to give Seminole a commanding 30-0 lead. Bennett ran over the PAT after the first score.

"Julius is hard to bring down when he gets rolling," Zeiss said. "The backs really ran hard after the first quarter."

Zeiss, who is assisted by John McNamara, said the defensive standouts for the Tribe were Brandon Cash, Duke Grayson and Bernard Eaddy.

Lake Howell scored its TD on an alley-oop pass in the fourth quarter.

Shawna Lowery, Lake Mary didn't give up though and rallied back within 12-9, led by the booming serve of Spiatt. The Lady Rams got within 12-11 but missed serves kept them from getting any closer. Lake Mary had six missed serves in the second game, compared to just two in game one.

Lake Mary took a 4-0 lead in game three behind the serve of Val Smith, but Winter Park hung tough and came back later to draw within 7-5. Lake Mary would not relinquish the lead though as it built up a 12-6 cushion behind the powerful front row play of Sharon Bonaventure, a transfer from Winter Park.

The scrappy Winter Park team came back to get as close as two points, 14-12, before Lake Mary regained the serve and Lazar served the final point which came on a Winter Park missed spike.

"Bonaventure was strong at the net, especially in that third game," Henry said. "She's probably the most powerful player we've ever had. Angie (Capps) and Marcie (Dalziel) got some good hits in and Lora (Spiatt) had some excellent saves."

APOPKA TOPS LAKE HOWELL 15-11, 15-8

Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks stayed close most of the way, but Apopka pulled away down the stretch in both games to claim a 15-11, 15-8 victory Wednesday night at Apopka High.

Lake Howell dropped to 0-2 with the loss while Apopka improved to 2-0. The Lady Hawks travel to Orlando to take on Boone's Lady Braves Monday.

"We didn't take advantage of the opportunities given to us by Apopka," Lake Howell coach Jo Luciano said. "We had much improved team play from Tuesday (loss to DeLand) but you have to take advantage of the opportunities and we failed to do so."

In the opening game, Luciano said there was never more than a two-point spread until the end. Susan Hayden's ace serve, tying the score at 6-6, highlighted the early play for the Hawks and Tammy Lewis also had a service ace in the opening game.

Apopka had a 12-10 lead when a block by Kelly Dean returned service to Lake Howell and the Hawks cut the lead to 12-11 on Dean's serve. A line violation, though, gave the serve back to Apopka which scored three straight points to win the game.

The Darters jumped out to a 4-1 lead in the second game but Hayden came on to serve three straight points to tie it at 4-4. Lake Howell stayed within three points until, at 11-8, Apopka pulled away.

Memphis State Cans Kirk — No Specifics

Basketball

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Memphis State basketball coach Dana Kirk, the winningest coach in the school's history, has been fired after more than a year of controversy surrounding his personal finances and NCAA rules violations.

Memphis State President Thomas Carpenter announced Kirk's dismissal Wednesday without specifying a reason. Kirk could be reached for comment.

Assistant Coach Larry Finch was named interim head coach, but said, "It's a sad moment for me."

Kirk, 51, compiled a 158-58 record since 1979 and led the team to three Metro Conference championships, but the flamboyant coach spend the past year under a cloud of controversy.

Kirk's personal finances have been under federal investigation and he appeared last September before a grand jury investigating sports gambling. That investigation began in the spring of 1985 and is still underway.

Kirk has refused to discuss his legal troubles except to issue a brief written statement following his grand jury appearance. It read in part:

"I will confirm that my financial affairs and tax liabilities are being reviewed. I am comfortable that there will be no finding of illegal conduct in connection with this.

WORLD IN BRIEF

French United Nations Troops Attacked In Southern Lebanon

BEIRUT (UPI) — French U.N. troops today came under rocket attack in southern Lebanon, less than a day after the commander of the U.N. force warned it might be pulled out and the Shiite Moslem Amal militia vowed to kill anyone caught attacking peacekeeping troops.

Dag Leraand, a spokesman for the U.N. Interim Force in Lebanon, said that "two Katyusha rockets were fired at a French post at 8 a.m. near Abbaslyeh," about 46 miles south of Beirut.

"One of the rockets hit the position and one missed," Leraand said. He said one French soldier was "slightly wounded and treated on the spot by French medical officers."

Maj. Gen. Gustav Hagglund, commander of the U.N. force, Wednesday warned that the troops could be withdrawn if the attacks continue.

The attack came at almost the same time that unidentified gunmen killed the military attache at the French Embassy in Beirut and one day after the population of southern Lebanon rallied in support of the U.N. troops.

Some 3,500 people, holding banners and chanting slogans supporting the United Nations' Interim Force mission in Lebanon, marched through the port city of Tyre on Wednesday during a one-day general strike called by Amal leader Nabih Berri to express support for the peace-keeping soldiers.

Search Continues For Miners

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Rescue teams today searched for five miners still unaccounted for in the Kinross gold mine disaster, but there was almost no hope they would be found alive.

Teams of experts began trying to determine why 177 people were killed in a mine shaft fire nearly a mile beneath the ground in South Africa's worst gold mine disaster in 100 years.

According to one mining official Wednesday, there was virtually no hope for the missing five miners. "The mine is clear of the toxic smoke that killed so many. If anyone was still alive, he could walk out," the official who asked to remain anonymous said.

The fire, caused by a welding accident Tuesday morning, spread to a plastic foam coating on the mine-shaft walls and sent clouds of deadly gases along a mile-long, mile-deep tunnel connecting the two main shafts of the Kinross gold mine.

Although 2,200 miners escaped to safety, 182 others were trapped in the underground maze.

Peres: Gadhafi 'A Killer, Liar'

MONTREAL (UPI) — Israeli Prime Minister Shimon Peres called Libyan leader Moammar Gadhafi "a killer and a liar" who poses a threat to all moderate Arab countries and said Egyptian officials believe Gadhafi is insane.

Peres, on the first day of a two-day visit to Canada Wednesday, met with Canadian Prime Minister Brian Mulroney in Ottawa to discuss his idea of forming an international anti-terrorist organization and later spoke to a crowd of 2,800 people at a Montreal synagogue.

At a news conference, Peres said his anti-terrorist idea was to have an organization "to fight terrorists, not against countries" that spawn them.

"We must plan for the future because we have not seen the end of the story," he said. "We are confronting a future that will be more dangerous."

The Israeli leader will meet today with Quebec Premier Robert Bourassa before returning to Israel.

Peres raised his anti-terrorist idea with President Reagan in Washington this week but declined to say what response he received.

Arms Talks Underway Again

GENEVA (UPI) — The United States and Soviet Union resumed arms talks today with the new round seen as crucial if a second major power summit is held before the end of the year.

The latest round at the "Negotiations on Nuclear and Space Arms" was the sixth since the talks first began March 12, 1985.

The talks got underway at 11 a.m. with a joint plenary meeting at the Soviet delegation in the absence of chief Soviet negotiator Viktor Karpov.

Karpov is scheduled to return to Geneva next week after assisting Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze in talks in the United States Friday and Saturday with U.S. Secretary of State George Shultz.

U.S. chief arms delegate Max Kampelman was on hand in Geneva and did not stay behind for the Shultz-Shevardnadze meeting, expected to center on a possible new summit before year's end.

Diana Rolls Back The Clock

LONDON (UPI) — The Princess of Wales had the London fashion world agog today with her revival of the 1950s D.A. hairstyle. Clean, slick and swept back just a little more than usual, Diana has again proved herself a trendy hit.

As far as the London papers are concerned, she now has an attractive, feminine version of the 1950s Ducktail, or Teddy Boy look.

With her new hairdo, the daily Today said the princess had "turned the clock back."

"The D.A. in polite company, stands for Duck Anatomy," the Daily Express said today. The Times agreed with that description. But the Sun, which carried a page-and-a-half spread with photographs from all angles, was more explicit in specifying the posterior portion of the duck's anatomy from which the hairstyle derives its acronym.

Freed Solidarity Leaders Warned

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski told Solidarity activists recently freed from jail that the outlawed trade union movement will never be legalized and cautioned them against resuming their illegal activities.

He invited them, instead, to cooperate with the government in efforts to revive the country.

"The hide-and-seek game is over," the Polish leader said, referring to the fact that some of the 225 Solidarity activists freed under a government amnesty by Sept. 15 had been released from prisons under the 1984 amnesty.

boards may be split on the applicant.

When it was pointed out that the chamber's bylaws are not specific on what is required or expected of its executive officer, it was agreed to set up a committee to review the bylaws and change or add to them to correct what board members apparently see as a weakness. But, when it was suggested that a committee also be established to create specific duties and criteria by which the chamber president should function and be evaluated, the idea was quickly tossed aside. Most board members seemed to agree that to tie the chamber president's hands with various requirements would render him or her ineffective. The chamber president, one board member pointed out, should be allowed to run the show and if the directors are dissatisfied with the executive's performance, it can remove him.

"I'll have to talk to my family, to Shirley (Mrs. Schilke) and Duke (Admanson) before I make a decision to accept the job under these circumstances. I'd like to know what Shirley perceives is the attitude of those who were against the motion. Were they against Dave Farr, or were there underlying reasons? I'm at a quizzical point. I'm trying to figure out what their reasoning was. I don't want to take the position without the full and unequivocal support of the entire board," Farr said.

When it was noted he doesn't appear to have that unanimous support, Farr acknowledged that and said, "I don't have it of those who were present today, but I understand there's something like 35 board members, so I don't know how those who weren't there feel."

Farr said he had no indications that the vote would be split. Seven executive committee members who had been charged to review applicants for the post had voted unanimously Sept. 11 to recommend to the board that it hire Farr as the new president.

Should Farr accept, he'll be paid $33,240 a year, which includes roughly $3,000 in auto expense allowance.

her predecessor, longtime U.S. ally Ferdinand Marcos.

"Many conditions imposed on the previous government that stole this debt continue to be imposed on us who never benefited from it," she said. "And no assistance or liberality commensurate with the calamity that was visited on us has been extended."

"Yet ours must have been the cheapest revolution ever. With little help from others, we Filipinos fulfilled the first and most difficult condition of the debt negotiation: the full restoration of democracy and responsible government."

Senators and representatives gave Aquino a lengthy, warm reception when she entered the House chamber and periodically interrupted her address with applause.

She became the fifth woman to address a joint session of Congress.

The other women who spoke to a joint session of Congress were British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher in 1985, Queen Beatrix of the Netherlands in 1982, Queen Juliana of the Netherlands in 1952 and Madam Chiang Kai-Shek in 1943.

She called her meeting with President Reagan Wednesday — the symbolic highlight of a nine-day official visit — an "important dialogue about cooperation and the strengthening of the friendship between our two countries."

"That meeting was both a confirmation and a new beginning and should lead to positive results in all areas of common concern."

The Philippine leader spoke emotionally of her husband, slain opposition leader Benigno Aquino, calling him the "sacrifice that answered (the nation's) prayers for freedom."

Reagan gave his unqualified endorsement to Aquino's government Wednesday and pledged to help restore her country to democracy and prosperity.

Aquino said she was "gratified that President Reagan understands and supports what we are trying to do."

"From this meeting today, both our governments will go out with a clear sense of priorities — with a recognition that we must both work hard to strengthen the bonds between us," Aquino said. "I hope we have set the tone and direction for a new relationship."

That means Ann Colby, attorney for Longwood, and Gary E. Massey, of Altamonte Springs, representing the citizens group headed by David Gunter of Longwood, must crack the ancient legal books to present briefs to Salfi by Friday on law relevant to the dispute.

Riding into court in the legal vehicle of state-church separation are the political overtures of different groups in Longwood and old law pertaining to reversion clauses.

David Gunter said his group's major complaint is that the city fathers are not handling the city well as demonstrated by a lack of good planning, of which the police building issue stands as a good example.

The purpose of the litigation is "to bring to attention to the city fathers that there is a watchdog outfit of citizens, and that they (the city fathers) shouldn't go outside or violate state statutes or the city charter," said Gunter.

"It is not a political issue. It is a people issue... a police station will be built," he said.

The city maintains that it has not violated the law, that it has right to the property. The city's position is that it is, as approved by the city commission, clearing up a reverter clause not a purchase of property.

Massey, however, disagreed. "It was a purchase of property. It looks like it, smells like it — no matter what the city of Longwood calls it," he said.

The briefs to be submitted to Salfi by Friday are to help him decide if there is a legal issue to resolve, that is whether Gunter's group has a legal right to complain about what the city is doing and whether something needs to be done about it.

If he finds Gunter's group does have legal standing — it maintains it does on constitutional grounds, a public body buying church property — then the next issue to resolve is the essential facts in the case. After that Salfi could issue a temporary injunction to stop building and other activity pertaining to the property or make some other ruling.

An injunction would cost the city about $800 a day in payments to the station contractor. If would also increase damages that company would seek if it sued the city for halting construction, Ms. Colby told Salfi.

Technically, the city is maintaining it has conditional "fee simple" rights to the land, meaning the city has the land until it does something or fails to do something according to the deed. In this case, the undoing act is the use of land designated as a park for a police station.

However, the reversion may not be automatic and may not happen until the original owners assert their right to the land based on the violation of the deed restriction. The city maintains the diocese did not assert its right to the property and was in fact sought out by the city. It also believes a 30-year statute of limitations negates the reverter clause.

Massey, however, counters that the fact the diocese is willing to accept $125,000, whether for purchase or to clear up the reverter clause, constitutes a step by the diocese to assert its right to the land thus thrusting the city into the position of spending public money to improve church property.

Whether purchase or clause clearing, Massey argues, the city is spending public funds in connection with church-related land and doing so without proper public hearings.

Salfi said such clauses, pertaining to "future interests" is an area of law not often litigated today and that he needs more case law, perhaps from the last few hundred years, to help him make a correct legal decision. He said the lawyers may have to go to Gainesville to a large law library to research the issue since it is a rarely researched topic.

Besides the $10,000 payment on Monday, the city has agreed to make a $40,000 payment around Oct. 3, when it closes on a bond issue to pay for the station's construction. The rest of the money is to be paid off in three payments of $25,000 each on or before Dec. 15 or 1987, 1988, and 1989.

The suit by Gunter states the city administrator can not certify the funds for the payments will be available without knowing what budgets would be passed at that time.

The city was put in a bind after the suit was filed when Sun Bank held up closing on a $1 million loan for construction until the title could be cleared.

Jacques Chirac "should know that our next retaliation would be even more terrible."

Arab extremists continued the terrorist activities directed against France claiming responsibility for a series of bombings in Paris and threatening to extend the terror campaign to the United States following a bombing on the Left Bank that killed five people and injured 52.

"We will meet soon your venerable state. We will get acquainted with your cities, skyscrapers, and Statue of Liberty. American streets will know us soon," the Committee of Solidarity with Arab and Middle Eastern Political Prisoners warned in a statement delivered Wednesday to the An Nahar newspaper in Beirut.

The typewritten statement was delivered to the newspaper's Beirut office after a bomb blew up Wednesday in front of a popular clothing store on Paris's Left Bank, killing five people and injuring 52. 18 of them seriously. It was the fifth and deadliest bombing in 10 days of terror in Paris. Eight people have been killed and more than 160 injured in the five bombings.

Police said the latest explosion occurred about 5:25 p.m. at Tall, a popular store for inexpensive clothing on the Rue de Rennes, about two blocks from the city's tallest building, Montparnasse Tower.

King Honoree Nominations Requested

Martin Luther King tribute planners are calling on the Sanford community, to submit the names of city residents whose efforts and achievements personify King's ideals.

These residents will be honored during Sanford's January 11-17 King celebration. Those who know someone deserving "a celebration in the name of Dr. King" can write the tribute committee at PO Box 1255 or call Ariene Davidson at Sanford City Hall, 322-3161.

17-92, she said.

The association has targeted First Street, between Park and Palmetto avenues, for the outdoor sock hop-car show during a weekend night in November.

The event would be co-sponsored with radio station Z-14 and is contingent on city commissioners approving the First Street closing.

If commission approval is not secured, the sock hop may be moved inside to Christo's.

The association also plans to spend $3,600 during the next few months to deliver its message. "Shop Downtown Sanford," by renting a billboard at the Interstate 4 exit on State Road 46, preparing brochures and distributing them to state tourist bureaus and chartering a bi-plane to trail a banner over Lake Monroe during the Sunday, Sept. 28, Seminole County Water

Festival Triathlon.

The bi-plane will also pass over the Altamonte Mall, Ms. McDonald said.

The Sept. 28 triathlon is itself a promotional venture, sponsored through cooperative efforts of the Greater Seminole County and Sanford chambers of commerce. The contest will involve a combination of canoeing, foot and bike races and be based at the Lake Monroe marina the morning of Sept. 28.

In addition to new efforts, the SHDWA is also gearing up to deck the downtown district with its annual showing of Christmas decorations.

"A healthy, thriving downtown is important to Sanford," Ms. McDonald said, and to achieve this the association "is going to promote an aggressive business climate."

"We'll be more specific and goal oriented than we were in the past," she said. "We're focusing on a broad based marketing campaign to reach the maximum number of consumers and bring them into the city."

Five Minutes In A Closed Car Is A Matter Of Life And Death

DEAR ABBY: Recently a mailman approached my car, concerned for my infant son who had been left alone in his car seat. I had parked my car in a shaded spot and was within six feet of it, maintaining visual contact while I was on the phone getting directions to my doctor's office. I saw this mailman starting to open my car door when I yelled at him! That's when he told me never to leave a child in a closed car — that he could die in this Arizona heat. I was almost hysterical anyway, then defensive to get a lecture like that! Me — an educated person.

Last week I heard in a newscast that two children had died after being left in a closed car for what their mother said was "only a few minutes." The newscaster went on to say that in a hot climate, the temperature can rise to 200 degrees within minutes, and a child — or a pet — can be dead within five minutes.

Thank God and that mailman I didn't have to learn the hard way, Abby, warn other readers, but please don't use my name. I'm a school teacher and people might think I'm irresponsible. I'm not. I was only ignorant.

Dear Abby

ARIZONA READER

DEAR READER: I have warned my readers about this danger several times, but I'll repeat it for those who may have missed it: On a hot summer day, the inside of a car heats very quickly. On an 85-degree day, for example, the temperature inside your car — with the windows slightly open — will reach 102 within 10 minutes. In 30 minutes, it will go up to 120 degrees. On warmer days, it will go even higher! A child can easily be overcome by heat exhaustion in such conditions.

So please do not leave a child or a pet in a closed car — ever, for even a few minutes. Should you be detained for any reason, those "few minutes" could run into 10 or 20 minutes, and the delay could be tragic!

DEAR ABBY: Will you please add this to your collection of letters complaining about the misuse of the English language? This is not a grammatical error, it's a moral one. I would like to begin a campaign against the use of the expression "killing two birds with one stone."

Abby, why would anyone want to kill even one bird with a stone? I can hear the retort: "But it's only a figure of speech." That's not true. I'm a great believer in the theory that language reflects our values, so if we nonchalantly talk about killing two birds, how far are we from actually doing it? Couldn't we just say, "Do two things at the same time"? It means the same thing.

As a bird lover, I find that expression very offensive. Thanks for providing a forum for us complainers.

A BLEEDING HEART LIBERAL VEGETARIAN

DEAR VEGETARIAN: Although I'm guilty of using that expression, I would never kill a bird. But now that you've called my attention to its offensiveness, you'll never hear a peep out of me.

DEAR ABBY: Here's a new one. Is it possible for a woman who is past childbearing age to have a fertile egg implanted in her womb and be able to nourish and deliver a normal, healthy baby?

Doesn't that sound exciting for all the grandmothers like me with eight children and 10 grandchildren? Wow!

HOPING IN OTTAWA

DEAR HOPING: Alas, it's not possible, so enjoy your grandchildren, and leave the childbearing to your children. It's their turn to propagate.

Better See Specialist About Scabies Problem

DEAR DR. GOTT — I contracted scabies two months ago from my dog, who had mange. She's been treated by the vet. I've used Kwell three or four times, and I spray my house weekly with a malathion mixture. I still have scabs, and when I sweat, it feels as if I have a new breakout. What can I do?

DEAR READER — Scabies is a violently itchy skin rash caused by the itch mite. It usually responds quite promptly to the application of Kwell lotion. I suggest that you stop all spraying and see a dermatologist to determine if your continuing skin problems are due to scabies or some other condition.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Thirteen years ago, I had colon cancer and I now wear a stomach bag. For the last year, if I eat something that causes my bowel to back up, I wake up in the morning with a black tongue. What causes this?

DEAR READER — Black tongue usually is caused by a fungus infection of the tongue. I doubt that the problem is due to your bowel habits; however, the use of a mouthwash may relieve the condition. Ordinarily, black tongue is not serious; it may come and go, depending on variations in the tongue's resistance to infection.

DEAR DR. GOTT — What are some of the problems associated with Hashimoto's thyroiditis? Once treatment is started, how long is it before relief is felt?

DEAR READER — Hashimoto's thyroiditis is an unusual form of thyroid malfunction. Experts now believe that patients with this condition develop an allergy to their own thyroid glands, which are attacked by the body's immune system. Thyroid deficiency results. In some people, the disease is associated with other autoimmune (self-allergy) disorders, such as pernicious anemia, Sjogren's syndrome and lupus. The diagnosis is established by blood tests that show thyroid underactivity and the presence of thyroid antibodies. Treatment consists of administering thyroid hormone to overcome the deficiency. Improvement usually occurs within weeks of hormone replacement.

Like thyroid deficiency from other causes, Hashimoto's thyroiditis causes fatigue, menstrual irregularities, coarsening of the skin, intolerance to cold weather, hair loss and constipation. If left untreated, the disease can produce heart disease and a general physical deterioration. Dr. Gott's new Health Report on ALZHEIMER'S DISEASE discusses symptoms, management and new studies of this tragic and irreversible disease. For your copy, send $1 and your name and address to P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to mention the title.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
South knew it was right to give up a trick to the jack of diamonds early, but he relied too much on the defenders' continuing with their original plan of attack. After winning the spade ace, declarer came to his hand with the ace of clubs, played the seven of diamonds and let it ride. It was easy for East to win the jack and come back with the queen of clubs. The unhappy upshot of all this was that South took only six tricks.

But what if the diamond 10 were played immediately at trick two? Now East performance must take the jack, and declarer has plenty of time to next force out the ace while dummy still holds the club king for an entry.

Declarer's error was in assuming that East would automatically continue spades after winning a diamond. The lesson is simple: Don't rely on the opponents making a mistake if you can guarantee your contract another way. Worth noting is the correct play by East if he held one more small diamond. Under those circumstances he should refuse to win the diamond jack when the 10 is first led from dummy.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY
SEPTEMBER 19, 1968
From time to time in the year ahead there will be sudden changes that will affect your basic lifestyle. Most of them won't be solicited, but they will still turn out to your advantage.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your luck has its limits today, so don't push it to the brink. If you take too many foolish chances, one may misfire. Major changes are ahead for Virgos in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail C1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, PO Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Today you might not be too cooperative with those who love you the most. Yet, you're apt to go out of your way to be helpful to casual acquaintances.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You will be justly compensated today in proportion to the efforts you expend. If you're performing work for another, don't expect a week's salary for a day's labor.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You can make a good time for yourself today, but you can't buy one. Just because a certain activity is expensive is no assurance that it'll be enjoyable.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You have a low kindling point today and things that normally don't disturb you could fan the flames of anger. Laugh them off as you usually do.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) When dealing with others today, you could read more into their actions than they intend. Instead of looking for hidden meanings, take people at face value.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your companions will have a strong influence over your spending patterns today. If you pal around with high rollers, you could blow more than you should.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't take anything for granted in important career matters today. The opposition could develop into something stiffer than you anticipate.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Conditions look fruitful for you today where your finances are concerned, but there's a possibility something unpleasant could ensue with an associate.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Try not to make mountains out of molehills today. You may be a trifle too sensitive with pals and treat minor infractions too seriously.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You can advance a personal ambition today, provided you act free from the restraining influences of others. Be your own person.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Allocate your time wisely today so that you will be able to participate in pleasurable pursuits without ignoring your responsibilities.

Zimbalist Unretires, Returns To Work

By Vernon Scott
UPI Hollywood Reporter
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Efram Zimbalist has come out of semi-retirement to return to work after a curious 10-year odyssey that involved a detour through religious TV programs.

Zimbalist, white-haired, 82 and distinguished, still possesses a mellifluous baritone and the demeanor of a deacon.

He devoted much of his career to two of television's most popular early action series, "77 Sunset Strip" (1958-64) and "The FBI" (1965-74).

Always a devout Christian, Zimbalist became publicly involved in religion through The Church On The Way, a fundamentalist group that has attracted the support of singer Pat Boone and other celebrities.

Ten years ago the actor began making television appearances on religious shows and became a part of "Praise The Lord" and the PTL network for preacher Jim Bakker in Charlotte, N.C.

Zimbalist also appeared regularly on "The 700 Club" with preacher Pat Robertson of the Christian Broadcast Network.

When he wasn't involved with religious broadcasting, Zimbalist was playing golf — his favorite avocation — or relaxing at his San Fernando Valley estate. He thought of himself as semi-retired, appearing occasionally in such episodic TV series as "The Love Boat."

About a year ago Zimbalist began cutting down his appearances on behalf of religion and today he limits such work to a four-minute weekly reading of the Bible for CBN.

"I still go to church on Sundays," Zimbalist said the other day. "but the church no longer plays such a dominating force in my life."

This season Zimbalist will be seen in seven episodes of the "Hotel" TV series and as a recurring character in his daughter Stephanie's series, "Remington Steele."

Thanks to his chiseled features and cultivated voice, Zimbalist has almost always played heroes. But in "Hotel" he plays Charles Cabot, a sinister villain who attempts to wrest the ownership of the establishment from Peter McDermott. Jim Brolin's character.

"I love working regularly again," Zimbalist said. "I finally got tired of semi-retirement. I still like to play golf, but not on a daily basis."

"Since the end of 'The FBI,' I've done a great deal of traveling around the country and abroad, some of it to appear in celebrity golf tournaments, which are a lot of fun."

"I suppose I needed a rest after doing two long-running series back-to-back. It amounted to a tremendous amount of work, 241 episodes of 'The FBI' in nine years and about 200 segments of 'Sunset Strip' in seven years."

Zimbalist said action is afoot at Warner Bros. to produce a new two-hour movie of "77 Sunset Strip" with himself, Roger Moore and Ed (Kooky) Byrnes reprising their old roles.

"I'd love to be a part of it but only if the project is well done," he said. "There are too many such specials that have been superlily produced not to measure up to them."
