

Confessed Slayer Sent To Hospital For Mental Check

NEW YORK (AP)—Byard Peakes, confessed slayer of a girl he had never met, was sent to the Psychiatric Hospital for mental examination when he was arraigned today. Peakes, 29-year-old pseudo-scientist, objected to the court appointing a lawyer to defend him for the slaying on the Columbia University campus of Eileen Fehely, 18.

"I don't want this guy. I'm not nuts," Peakes said. The lawyer appointed to defend Peakes agreed with the state's suggestion that Peakes get a mental checkup. He was led away handcuffed to two detectives. Peakes, arrested Wednesday in Boston, said he killed the blonde stenographer for the American Physical Society because the scientist's body had rejected his theories on how to live forever. During his arraignment in Federal court on a charge of homicide, he muttered: "Wait a minute, these fellows in 1949 dropped the electrons."

He did not explain his remark which was apparently connected with his anger at the state's refusal to publish his theory that electronics and physics should be divorced. Peakes' attorney, Benjamin Schmier, told Magistrate Thomas H. Cullen that Peakes was disappointed when early stories of the slaying failed to mention "electrons."

Assistant District Attorney Carl Grebow told the court that Peakes "felt that by killing his girl recipient by the public would be given his belief." Grebow referred to Peakes' previous background of mental instability, and suggested Peakes be sent to Bellevue to determine his present condition. Schmier told the court that "the first factor I looked for was possible remorse because I felt it was the only spark of hope for him but to my deep sadness and regret, he expressed no remorse."

In a law court, Peakes interrupted to say "He never asked me that question. He said I was a mental case anyhow." When Peakes went to Columbia University on Monday, he had marked eight others for death. But the first person he saw in the American Physical Society's office on the ninth floor of the physics laboratory was Miss Fahely.

HEART ATTACK FATAL
MIAMI BEACH (AP)—A 63-year-old Boston doctor died of a heart attack Thursday after a lifeguard pulled him from rough seas kicked up by a rain squall. Then the lifeguard, Walter Baker, 35, turned back and rescued a second swimmer who had gone to the aid of the first.

The furrier was identified as Charles Nadel. He collapsed after he was brought ashore and was dead on arrival at Mt. Sinai Hospital. In the hospital at the time was his sister-in-law, Mrs. Gertrude Nadel, Brookline, Mass., who suffered a fractured skull and other injuries when struck by a car while crossing a street Tuesday night. Pulled from the water and revived by artificial respiration was Christopher Martin, 42, Brooklyn. He was reported in good condition at his hotel.

Halley led a news conference he doesn't think Kefauver, leading in committed delegates, has been stopped in the past. He was voting. Sen. Lester Hill of Alabama told a news conference he thinks Virginia's 28 votes—abruptly whisked out from under Russell's banner after the Georgian's denunciation of Tall-Hartley—will be behind Russell in the convention showdown. Hill predicted that Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia, one of the anti-Truman leaders in the convention, will keep right on backing Russell. Stevenson, the columns of this approaching free-for-all convention, made arrangements to attend the Illinois delegation conference Sunday afternoon and to meet with Democratic governors at breakfast Monday morning.

Despite his many statements that he doesn't want the nomination, die-hard Stevenson backers made it clear they expect increased pressure will be put upon him if the convention fails to turn up a leading candidate in the first few ballots. With platform drafters struggling to arrive at some sort of compromise on the explosive civil rights issue, rampaging Texas traders blazed before the Democratic National Committee's contest panel. Fifty-two nominating votes were at stake. Gov. Allan Shivers, fought to seat a delegation not pledged to support the party nominee. Former Rep. Maury Maverick headed a rival "loyalist" group. Shivers said the Maverick group "got beat by about 95 per cent of the voters" in Texas. Maverick branded the Shivers group a bunch of "Republicans, Democrats, hollers."

A conference between Barkley leaders and Jacob Arvey, Illinois national committeeman, and May or David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania national committeeman, spurred talk of added support for the vice president.

GAMING STAMP BACKFILES
JACKSONVILLE (AP)—City Commission voted Thursday to curtail activity of the airport limousine service after Mayor Hayden Burns said the operator of the firm had bought a federal gambling tax stamp. The commission voted a route for limousines operated by it. W. Brack then eliminated steps at downtown hotels effective Aug. 1. Burns said it was done "in order to freeze him out of business."

Informing of the action, Brack said he would fight it to the highest court, if necessary. He denied ownership of a gambling tax stamp, saying a stamp issued last year which listed him as co-owner was not used.

New Gator Pens Are Being Made At Zoo

New construction at the Sanford Municipal Zoo aims at caging in the zoo's collection of alligators more safely and effectively, B. J. Davis, keeper, said today. The new walls around the gator pens are built of brick and concrete and will be low enough to provide a full range of vision over the pens, they nevertheless make it quite definite that no unexpecting leg or arm will be adopted by the gators. The walls replace wiring which, according to Keeper Davis, was no longer entirely safe since some of the gators were so large they might break through it. Even if the reptiles are kept in the three pens in the center of the zoo, they range in size from six feet to a monstrous 16 feet.

Woman Candidate Has Headquarters 1st Time In History

By RUTH COWAN
CHICAGO (AP)—For the first time in the history of a major political party formal campaign headquarters complete with American flag, portraits, badges, workers and a water cooler—were opened today for a woman candidate for vice president. She is Iulien Edwards, vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee and director of its Women's Division. Ordinarily the idea would get the hush of a stage of feminine political development—except that India is quite a vocal figure in the party. Men, as well as women, besiege her office for appointments. Furthermore, even within the Republican Party at its convention last week there was astonishment when "the lightning bolt" Sen. Richard Nixon of California, as the vice presidential nominee. His wife admitted her surprise—and his. Mrs. Edith G. O'Hern, Mohrbridge, S. D., and Mrs. Frances G. Satterfield, Atlanta, Ga., opened it up and lacked up the portraits of their candidates. They plan a formal opening later. But even now there is action. Volunteers have come in to do typing, get out press releases, an-

FARM PEOPLE CAN AND SHOULD DO SOMETHING TO REDUCE ACCIDENTS

Next week, July 20-26, is National Farm Safety Week, and every farm family in Florida will do well to observe it by eliminating accident hazards and resolving to practice safety at all times.

Just how many farm people are hurt in accidents in Florida every year is not known, but the number certainly runs into the hundreds, probably thousands. Of course, the most serious accidents in which people are killed or badly maimed are usually recorded in the press, and such tragic occurrences are far too numerous, but there are literally hundreds of minor accidents that never get into the papers, but they're costly and painful just the same.

Every year, good Florida farm people are killed or badly injured by tractors turning over, in high-speed accidents, in using kerosene to start fires, trusting "lame" bulls, taking chances near machinery, and in numerous other ways that are well-known to farmers and are avoided by being careful.

Many good folks are hurt painfully when they step on rakes and other tools that are lying around instead of being kept in a safe storage position and place, when they fall from rickety steps or down unlighted stairways, when they use mechanized saws and other equipment without the protection of guards, and when they use even such common tools as axes, knives, and chisels without exercising proper care.

"Farm people should do something about the trouble and suffering and grief caused by accidents, and they can do something about the matter. Accidents not only cause suffering and sorrow, but they are very costly—costly in medical and hospital bills, in loss of property involved, and in valuable time lost from crop work.

Beginning next week, they can carefully and conscientiously check up on their farms and homes and on themselves for their sakes and the sakes of others. They can remove or correct the hazards they find—faulty wiring, broken steps, faulty stoves and flues, unsafe equipment, unsteady ladders, debris over which they may stumble, and other things of this nature—and they can resolve to practice safety throughout 52 weeks of the year.

Too many good farm people get hurt. They can do something about it. It is hoped that they will.

Wabash River Gets Accidental Charge Of Deadly Cyanide

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A quantity of deadly cyanide solution accidentally dumped into the Wabash River at LaFayette thinned out as it flowed downstream today. Three state agencies told residents of the area it was still dangerous, however. They warned against swimming in the river, eating fish taken from it or drinking from wells nearby.

A heavy patrol was set up along the river Thursday as authorities tried to follow the progress of the poison downstream. The cyanide killed fish by the thousands south of LaFayette. The fish slaughter was expected to end by the time the cyanide reached Montezuma some time today as it gradually became diluted.

The Indiana Health Board issued the warnings. The Conservation Department said the solution was dumped into a sewer accidentally at the Peerless Wire Goods Co. plant in LaFayette.

Terre Haute is the only city which gets its water supply from the river. Arthur Blood, manager of the Terre Haute Water Works, said chemical treatment would neutralize the cyanide and no harmful effects were expected. The polluted water is expected to reach Terre Haute some time Saturday.

COACH FARES REDUCED
JACKSONVILLE (AP)—The Jacksonville Coach Co. will try to increase its passenger load with reduced prices on weekly passes and lower fares on three suburban lines beginning Monday.

General Manager James M. Moore said weekly passes would be cut from $2.50 to $1.25 and daily fares to Lakewood, Arlington and Southside Estates would be trimmed from 30 to 25 cents.

Teenage New York Boys Are Held In Death Of Student

NEW YORK (AP)—Two teenage boys who attempted to sell a rifle to replenish their depleted funds were held today in the slaying of a young Brooklyn rabbinical student last month.

District Attorney Miles F. McDonald said Donald Ferrick, 17, Brooklyn, and Edward Baldwin, 16, Bronx, confessed the killing and said they had planned a holdup. The prosecutor named Ferrick as the one who fired the shot from a .22 caliber rifle that killed Samuel B. London, 23, as he was returning from prayer and meditation at a synagogue.

Both boys were booked on charges of homicide. Ferrick and Baldwin, despite their youth, have a record of several encounters with police. They became friends when both were confined to an upstate correctional institution.

Recently Baldwin ran away from his Bronx home, and spent his nights sleeping in cellars in the Greenpoint section of Brooklyn. Both boys obtained funds by stealing from small candy stores and luncheonettes, the district attorney added.

On June 26, they bought the rifle for $3 from another boy, and decided to increase their take by robbery and holdups in the Williamsburg and Greenpoint sections of Brooklyn.

At 8 p. m., London came along from his home in the Williamsburg section. When he was 40 feet away, McDonald claimed, Ferrick fired a bullet that struck him in the back of the neck. When he fell, the boys fled, not stopping to rob the victim.

News of the World in Pictures

DUNELLAN: Rainbow Springs, by virtue of its crystal-clear water and specially designed submarine boats, was selected by the Army to test the newest ordnance equipment, the "Workhorse," a rugged truck that is as much at home under water as it is on land.

About a year ago the Army and Reo Truck engineers made similar tests here of the "Eager Beaver," another underwater vehicle. Now General Motors and Army Ordnance have released photographs of the latest vehicle of this type. It is shown above, plowing through wooded areas and running completely submerged with snorkels above water.

These snorkel devices permit the truck to operate under water. Special sealing features prevent water from entering the motor and provide air intake and exhaust necessary for its submerged operation.

Powered by an entirely new engine, this GMC truck carries five tons and can tow an additional five tons on the highway. To demonstrate this, a 155mm howitzer was towed under water during the amazing Rainbow Springs demonstration.

Rainbow Springs submarine boats were used in these tests for photographing the new truck under water. These same boats each year carry thousands of visitors through the fascinating underwater flower gardens for which the Springs are famed.

Klan Wizard Goes On Trial Today On Flogging Charges

WHITEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—Thomas L. Hamilton, imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, stands trial today on flogging charges. Hamilton is charged with conspiracy to kidnap and assault in incidents involving white men and Negro women. Sixty-four alleged members of his order are accused in a total of 144 cases, including cross burnings and indictments, to comprise one of the largest court hearings on record in the state. The indictments are the outgrowth of floggings in Columbus County and nearby areas. The accused are charged with ordering their victims out, usually in the dead of night, and chastising them for some action that did not meet with Klan approval. Arrests have been made in all except one of 13 flogging incidents which started Jan. 18, 1951, and ended Jan. 8, 1952. Hamilton surrendered to North and South Carolina officers at Florence, S. C., May 24 after an all-night search for him. He came here today contending that the charges against him were "harped up."

Convention

It is expected that the convention will be stopped by a filibuster. Southern senators have in the past been stopped by prolonged debate which prevented it from coming to a vote. Hanging over the convention is the threat that some Southern delegations may walk out if they do not like the "civil rights" plank. A bill in 1948 cost President Truman the 30 electoral votes of four Southern states which gave them, instead of a state's right ticket. The convention will get around to picking its presidential nominee before Friday, at the earliest. In the meantime, the delegates are waiting.

A dozen "favorite sons" and others mentioned in lobby gossip as possibilities hung around waiting for a possible stroke of lightning. President Truman could turn loose some bolts of underdetermined power. He kept his preferences for the nominee secret even from his cabinet members, although Thomas J. Gavin of Kansas City, his convention alternate, professed to know Gavin wasn't talking. Tech feeling here seemed to be that Mr. Truman is biding his time, putting on pressure to get the kind of "fair deal" platform he wants and putting off making up his mind finally until the situation shakes down somewhat. Secretary of Agriculture BRAN- naman, a favored cabinet member, filed a reporter he thinks the word from the President would influence at least a third of the convention delegates. Whether he could swing the nomination remained doubtful, but Mr. Truman's influence was being felt keenly in the fight over civil rights and the seating of delegates from Southern States who have refused to pledge in advance that they will support the ultimate nominee. A program juggling change by the Democratic National Committee was delayed any show-down on this issue until Tuesday. Sam Brightman, committee publicity director, insisted that the use of temporary convention rules had been listed in the session only through a clerical error. Whatever the origin, the change offered a 24-hour cooling off period in which compromise efforts were certain to be made on a proposed "fiat play" rule similar to that which broke the back of the Robert A. Taft's forces in the Republican convention.

Out of the wide-ranging field of candidates there emerged at one man with a convention strategy plan — Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee. Winner of most of the Democratic primaries and self-styled people's choice for the nomination, Kefauver appeared to have a political works on an effort to win the nomination by the fourth ballot. His self-propelled bandwagon stalled as many in opposing camps were speculating it would — that open runners for No. 1 place on the ticket seemed to be 74-year-old Vice President Charles McNary of Oregon Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois. Stevenson, who repeated Sunday night that "I just don't want to be nominated for the presidency," still was a hot prospect for a draft movement if the convention deadlocks.

Under it any delegation which had been challenged before the national committee — in this case Texas and Mississippi — could not demand the seating of a contested delegate. Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, one of the chief advocates of this rule change, said he considered the delay "a great psychological victory for our side." Significantly, however, Humphrey and others proposed an acceptance as a "loyalty pledge" in the credentials committee that each delegation and each delegate would work toward gaining a place on their state's ballot for the nomination. The committee, which was organized by the national committee, said the unions can't support Barkley because of his age. George Harrison, AFL vice president, and Jack Kroll, director of the CIO's Political Action Committee, said the unions can't support Barkley because of his age. Several states, including Texas, Mississippi, South Carolina and Virginia, have left the matter open. Their state party organizations could pick another nominee if they are displeased with the convention's choice or its platform. Forces of Kefauver and Harrison backed the proposed rule change and the loyalty test. They also were working for a strong civil rights plank cast in the mold of the one which caused a Dixie walkout at the 1948 convention and Mr. Truman's loss of 20 electoral votes in the South.

What counts now is not just what we are against but what we are for," he declared in a prepared address. "The issue is not what we are against but what we are for — what convictions, what courage, what faith — win or lose. A man doesn't save a century or a civilization, but a militant party wedded to a principle can."

However, Gov. Paul Dever of Massachusetts, who keynote the convention tonight with an attack on the Republicans, seemed to have spoken the views of many responsible leaders when he said that while he wants a strong plank he doesn't want to go so far as to split the party again. This advice might not stop Sen. Humphrey and Herbert H. Lehman of New York from carrying in the floor a battle for a plan to amend the filibuster killing change in Senate rules. Sen. James Eastland of Mississippi called all of these moves part of a campaign by "liberal groups" to take control of the American people.

Now, who do you suppose was chief of staff of the Army when this military adviser was removed? It was Dwight D. Eisenhower. As to the other candidates, Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia, W. Averell Harriman, a New York banker, and Robert A. Taft, a Republican, remained only outside possibilities for the nomination.

Sen. Edwin Johnson of Colorado, Russell's campaign manager, told the press that the death toll from the quake was higher. His force was left, mostly in a rolling motion, from San Francisco on the north to the Mexican border on the south, and toward into Nevada. As dawn came, clouds of dust could be seen rising back in the mountains, indicating landslides deep in the canyon. A city of 25,000 was hard hit. A railway was alive, the downtown business dis-

John Ford Resigns From Farm Bureau

WINTER PARK (Special) — Directors of the Florida Farm Bureau, meeting here today, received the resignation of their executive vice president, John Ford, widely known in state agricultural circles for the past decade. The announcement was released by E. H. Finlayson, Greenville, president of the big farm organization. Mr. Ford said he had accepted the post of Executive Director of the Alabama Rural Electric Association of Cooperatives. He agreed to remain in his present position until Sept. 15, if necessary, in order to give directors reasonable time to select a successor. Mr. and Mrs. Ford have made Orlando their residence, since coming to Florida in 1942. They will move to Montgomery, Ala. In his new position Ford will work closely with 10 local RFA Cooperatives in Alabama, with the power companies, the telephone companies, the Agricultural Extension Services, the TVA, the Alabama Farm Bureau and with all others who can be helpful to farmers who need telephone and electric service," he said. Continuing he added: "I am glad that the organization I am to serve serves three RFA cooperatives in Florida (Jay, DeFuniak Springs and at Greenville). This should give me and me the pleasure of at least occasional trips back home to Florida."

Blues In The News

Today is the beginning of another very busy week here around the station. A week which will include examinations for all new recruits in the military service, artificial respiration classes, survival training classes and a three-hour open house. Tomorrow will be the big day for all second class petty officers eligible to take the step to first class. They will be attending the change when they complete in the three-hour service-wide competitive examinations which will be held throughout the Naval Station. Most of the men have studied for months and anticipating tomorrow's exams so to them we say good luck and smooth sailing through your examination. A loss of instruction in the art of artificial respiration began today for all hands. Artificial respiration is the newest method to be used in place of the old known as artificial respiration. The NAAS Medical Department is conducting the classes and Dr. R. L. King (Medical Corps) is the instructor. Classes will be held each day until everyone aboard the station has had an opportunity to learn this new, improved system. Another event about the station this week will be classes in survival training. Survival training is an all-important subject for a man in the navy and by offering these classes, NAAS is keeping up one of the highest traditions of the U. S. Navy — that of taking good care of her men. The course aboard the station is a seven-day course for all hands and is being conducted by the Aviation Training Department. Russell Denton is the instructor. Perhaps the biggest event of this week will be held Friday when NAAS will open their gates to the public in honor of Sanford's All-Star Baseball Day. NAAS will be cooperating with the Sanford Chamber of Commerce, Jaycees, and the Baseball Committee in making Friday, July 25 one of the biggest days in the history of Sanford. The men's house will be from 12:30 to 3:30 Friday afternoon. That night the North and South All-Star baseball teams will battle it out in Sanford's Memorial Stadium in the first All-Star game of the Florida State League to be played in Sanford since 1930. Let's all turn out and make it a really gala affair. Fred Green, Donald Koch and Joe North left NAAS over the weekend on leave. Fred is on his way to his home in the "Hall of Fame" city of Cooperstown, N. Y. while Joe will be going over deeper into "Yan-

UN Forces Drive Reds Off Old Baldy Crest

By MILO FARNETH
SEKOU, P. — United Nations forces today drove Chinese Communists off the crest of Old Baldy in the wake of a tremendous barrage by artillery, tanks and war planes. Mark Clark's headquarters in Tokyo said the latterly crest of height west of Chosin was captured. But from line dispatches it appeared the crest of the hill was a no man's land with U. N. troops dug in below the crest. A U. S. Eighth Army staff officer said the hill definitely was not secured. Associated Press Correspondent George McArthur at the front said the Chinese had not given up their bid for the vital hill Thursday. He said "thousands of soldiers were observed sneaking back toward the hill in the afternoon despite intense Allied fire. The Eighth Army nightily snuffily said "The enemy was believed to still in the immediate area." Allied infantrymen, stopped cold in eight earlier charges up the muddy hill, reached the crest at dawn. They reported that the Allied barrage had forced the Reds to withdraw. The U. N. troops then pulled back off the crest.

From a Sanford source we learned that George Hinchliffe, of New York, died of a heart attack a few days after he and his wife, Marion, left Miami, where they spent the last week. Mr. Hinchliffe was a nephew of the late George F. Hinchliffe and often visited in Sanford in the wake of a tremendous barrage by artillery, tanks and war planes. SKYWATCH SUCCESS
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force says the first week of round the clock skywatch operations by observers was successful, but more personnel are needed if the gaps in the nation's radar net are to be plugged successfully. An estimated 10,000 to 15,000 observers last week reported that they had spotted hundreds of planes flying low for a total of 100 hours. The Air Force said during the week end the round the clock operation has not forced the nation's air defenses to that it added the number of volunteers who turned out during the past week of the operation is just all the legal needed.

Young Couple United In Garden Wedding

A garden setting formed the background for the wedding which united Carlen Lois Hollenbeck and Bobby Lee Franklin in marriage on Saturday at 5:00 o'clock in the afternoon. The ceremony was held in the beautiful gardens at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Leslie Hollenbeck at 2468 Sanford Avenue, and was performed by Dr. J. B. Root of the Congregational Church. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Franklin also of Sanford.

The double ring ceremony was performed beneath an arch decorated with white gauldii and fern. On either side of the arch were large baskets of white gauldii with potted palms. Small sprays of gauldii and white satin ribbons marked the section reserved for the family and close friends. The traditional wedding marches were used prior to and following the nuptial service.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of white lace and nylon net. The fitted lace bodice was finished with a Peter Pan collar and cap sleeves with wide white-satin grille at the waistline. Her bouffant skirt was of accordion pleated net over tulle. She wore a matching lace tiara from which fell a fingertip veil of imported illusion, and her short mitts were of matching lace and satin. Her bouffant bouquet was of white roses.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Dorell Galeme, wore a ballerina length dress of pale green pucker-ed nylon fashioned similar to the bride's gown, with a Peter Pan collar, cap sleeves and full gathered skirt. On her head was a small-calloped tiara of soft green and her accessories were white. She carried a bouquet of pale-pink and white roses and carnations.

Bridesmaids, Miss Kathryn Cullum and Mrs. LeLand Roid, were gowned alike in soft pink nylon fashioned like the matron of honor's. They also carried pink and white nosegays and wore pink tiaras.

Serving as best man for the bridegroom was Morris Metts of Sanford and Waycross, Ga.; and ushers were Darrell Grime and LeLand Roid.

Little Miss Kathy Roun, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Braun of Orlando, and cousin of the bride, served as flower girl and was dressed in pale yellow and carried a satin and lace trimmed basket of petals. Young Terry Phelps, another young cousin of the bride, was the ring bearer. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Phelps, also of Orlando.

A reception followed the wedding in the garden. Strauss waltzes were softly played in the background. The bride's table was overlaid with a white linen cloth and on a reflector at one end of the table was placed a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Entertaining the cake were baby's breath and gauldii with fern. Punch was served from a crystal bowl at the other end of the table.

Presiding at the bride's table was Mrs. Galeme and serving the cake were baby's breath and gauldii and others assisting were Mrs. O. R. Smith, Miss Cullum, Miss Barbara McNab, Mrs. Charles Grime and Mrs. T. H. Middleton.

Later the bridal couple left in a wedding trip through South Florida during which they plan to make their home in Ft. Lauderdale where Mr. Franklin is employed by the Gulf Oil Corporation. The traveling Mrs. Franklin wore an aqua noire suit with white lace.

HIGHLIGHTS
By VOLIE WILLIAMS, JR.

CHICAGO, Ill. (Special)—As delegates make their way to the international amphitheatre for their second day's deliberations, the weather is as hot as the fight over civil rights and the temper of a lot of Southerners after last night's fiasco about the "party loyalty oath."

It had been rumored that a compromise settlement on the "loyalty oath" was being worked out; however, it was Senator Blair Moody and Rep. F. D. Roosevelt, Jr., knew nothing about it. Some delegates here from Florida are of the opinion that the passage of the "loyalty oath" rule last night is but a prelude to the inclusion of a strong civil rights plank in the platform. They are inclined to believe that last night's fight was a test of strength.

There is a feeling among many of the members of the Florida delegation that while there may not have been the necessary one-fifth of the delegates standing to demand a roll call on the final passage of the Moody amendment, Governor Paul Devereux was not exactly impartial in his demand. They also complained that on the final vote many of the visitors in the balconies cast their ballots too.

Coming in to the city last night after it was over, three delegates from Massachusetts stated to us that they thought the matter could have been better handled, and that Governor Devereux was not fair in some of his rulings.

For the first time in 54 years old bachelor Dick Russell entertained the delegates at a reception in the Conrad Hilton Hotel yesterday afternoon. His house was his dining room and he came into the room, Jo Adamson, one of the Senator's press representatives, placed a blue-brimmed white sailor's cap on his head. As ornaments, there were about 20 medals, Dick Russell President, buttons scattered over the top and bottom of the hat, and two large "Nominattee" badges on top. You would think that such a hat would be worn with a bow tie; however, it was quite becoming on this gracious lady, Mrs. Spensard L. Holland and Mrs. John Sparkman poured coffee for the guests.

Senator and Nancy Kefauver also entertained at reception in the grand ballroom of the Conrad Hilton yesterday afternoon, and several hundred of the delegates and well-wishers attended.

Mrs. Kefauver appears to be a stateside politician as an ex-convict husband. Kefauver still leads in pledged delegates and yesterday he broke another political rule of long standing by setting himself as a delegate on the floor and stating that he would handle his campaign from there.

Former Senator Claude Pepper today denied that he was seeking the vice-presidential post as had been reported by some of the press. He stated that although he would seek the post, he was not a candidate. He added that he was not a candidate because he was working within the Florida delegation in support of a candidate who had previously endorsed the candidate and he is active in his behalf at the convention. The purported compromise hinges on the Russell delegate supporting Kefauver, if after several ballots it appears that Russell will be eliminated, and if the five Kefauver delegates will swing their support to Russell if

At a business meeting following the Legion fish fry and preceding Mr. Falsone's address, two new members, Robert T. Bryan and Samuel U. Norris, were accepted for membership.

The Legion baseball team which was introduced to the group by Deputy Commander C. J. Wilkinson was the post, who presided over the business meeting.

Bomber Crash Takes 6 Lives At Marianna

B-47 Jet Plane From MacDill Explodes Killing 4 In Crew, 2 Children In Yard

MARIANNA (AP)—A B-47 jet bomber exploded in flight here today, killed its crew of four and set a suburban home fire that took the lives of two children. The children were Peggy Diane Williams, 5, and her 3-year-old brother, Rufus. They were playing in the yard of their home and suffered burns when a motor of the big plane crashed into the house and set it afire about 7:30 a. m. CST. They died almost simultaneously five hours later at the Jackson County Hospital, just a block from the scene of the crash. A 6-year-old brother, first thought to be missing, was found unharmed. They were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Williams. The house which burned was the home of the Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Fort, Mrs. Fort, 61, and Mrs. W. C. Segers were hospitalized with burns.

It was the second fatal crash of one of the Air Force's latest, fastest and biggest jet bombers in three weeks. It was followed promptly by an order calling in all B-47s from training flights out of MacDill Field at Tampa for temporary grounding.

An Air Force official at Maxwell Field, Ala., said the big Tampa-based Stratofort exploded at an altitude of about 7,500 feet.

The concussion shook and alarmed this city of about 3,000, and wreckage of the plane was scattered over a wide area.

A wing fell on the high school campus, the engine struck the Fort House near the hospital. A freight train engineer said another piece of the plane nearly hit his engine several miles away.

Bodies of the three airmen were found in part of the fuselage which landed about 200 yards from the burning house. Their names were not immediately disclosed by the Air Force.
