Murder trial begins Monday

SANFORD — The first degree murder trial of George Bellamy Jr. is scheduled to begin Monday. Bellamy is accused of shooting to death Isiah Cohen and dumping his body in a Midway parking lot in February, 1991.

By late Friday, prosecutors and defense attorneys had chosen 12 jurors and one alternate to serve with one alternate juror remaining to be chosen. Jury selection began Wednesday with attorneys choosing from a jury pool of approximately 50 people.

Assistant State Attorney Stewart Stone is seeking the death penalty in the case. Bellamy is being defended by attorneys James Figgatt and Gary Anderson, both in the Assistant Public Defender's office.

If convicted, Bellamy faces either the death penalty or a sentence of life in prison. The sentence mandates at least twenty-five years in prison before consideration for probation.

Vatican blasts Clinton

VATICAN CITY — President Clinton's decision to eliminate abortion restrictions is a "humiliating defeat" for humanity, the Vatican said Saturday.

"Those who hoped that Clinton's first acts might be towards 'renewal,' involving above all the protection of human rights, have had a strong disappointment," the Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano said in a brief article.

On Friday, Clinton ended restrictions on abortion counseling and medical research involving fetal tissue. He also permitted abortions at military hospitals and pledged to review a ban on the French abortion pill RU-486.

Shortly after Clinton's election, the newspaper praised former President Bush's anti-abortion stance and warned Clinton not to let liberty turn into "license to strike at the most weak," including "unborn babies."

On Saturday, the newspaper said: "It is not progress for ... humanity that once more it has been forced to undergo a humiliating defeat of life."

'Adult' fun law eased?

County may relax prohibition against lap dancing

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — A proposed revision to the four-year-old county adult entertainment ordinance would relax the prohibition against "straddle dancing," but Sheriff Don Ealinger said he doubts adult entertainers will avail themselves of the changes.

"I've never seen it," said Ealinger. "It's not been an enforcement problem."

The changes are offered in an effort to comply with recent court decisions since the county adopted its adult entertainment ordinance in Expressive conduct is protected by the First Amendment.

1988, said Assistant County Attorney Harlan Wright. The changes are also being proposed to deter the spread of infectious diseases, such as the HIV virus that has been shown to cause AIDS, by limiting contact between performers and the public.

The proposed changes, which will be placed before Seminole County commissioners Tuesday in a discussion session, maintain the current prohibition against straddle and "lap" dancing between performers and customers, but would allow two performers to put on such an exhibition.

Straddle and lap dancing involves the clothed or unclothed contact of genital areas, breasts or buttocks. Typically, a lapdancer squats in the lap of the customer.

The ordinance still prohibits fondling or other "crotic touching."

Wright, who drafted the proposal, said the changes were made in response to a U.S.

Arbor Awareness Day

Triola Thomas and Howard Jettison discuss the importance of trees in landscaping and to the environment.

A day for learning respect for trees

By WICKI DeGORMER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Though the crowd was small at Saturday morning's Arbor Awareness Day at Ft. Mellon Park, those who were there were intensely interested in learning about the part trees play in landscaping and in the environment.

Listening carefully, some taking notes, the participants learned about the kinds of trees that grow well in Florida, about their landscaping qualities and about how to care for trees once they've been planted.

"It's really very interesting," said Mandy Marcus who had come late so that her young daughter could meet Smokey Bear. "I figured it would be some sort of environmentalist propaganda thing, but it's an interesting day."

Abortion ruling affects county health clinics

By WICKI DeGORMER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — On Friday afternoon, President Bill Clinton lifted the "gag order" on federally funded health clinics that had been imposed by his predecessor.

Federally funded clinics, including the Seminole County health department's health unit, were prevented by the order from discussing abortion as an option in a pregnancy.

"That won't be the case any more," said Dr. Jorge Deju, director of the Seminole County health department. "We will now be able to give more detailed advice to women who come in seeking it."

The county health department is federally funded with additional funding from the county.

During the time in which the "gag order" was in effect, Deju said that women who came to the clinic seeking advice were told that "there are a number of clinics in the area." They were told, Deju said, to look in the yellow pages to find the locations of those clinics.

"We could not even tell them the names or show them the yellow

Part 2 of two parts

Good morning! Last Sunday we told you about Texas multi-billionaire H.L. Hunt creating the industrial park in Sanford and establishing the canning factory in the 1960s. It later became the Cardinal plant.

Late in 1969 Hunt closed his cannery. Inspectors from the U.S. Department of Agriculture found minute particles of asbestos in the vegetables. It was determined the foreign objects came from the asbestos ceiling used under the roof when the plant was built. USDA people told Hunt to remove the asbestos ceiling before the plant was to resume operations in February 1970. Hunt told the USDA to forget it. He was going to close the plant anyway. And, he did.

I was told by several sources who knew the whole story behind the factory that Hunt used net proceeds of the canning operation to pay the tab for the "Lifeline" radio programs. Hunt felt, I was told, he had gotten his message to the people and particularly to the Internal Revenue Service.

In 1971, Hunt leased the factory to a mobile home manufacturer out of Alabama. The company was known as Winchester Homes. As

Lake Mary sign codes streamlined

By MIKE PFENFAUF
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — The Lake Mary City Commission began steps to approve a new sign code Thursday night. The proposed ordinance passed unanimously on first reading.

"Up until now," explained City Planner Matt West, "the codes we have been using were often difficult to understand. During the years, some portions had been stricken and others added or amended to the point where they were often confusing or unclear."

"What we are doing here," he said, "is putting everything into a logical order, and covering all aspects of signs that are or could be used in Lake Mary."

The new ordinance was created by the city's Business Advisory Board during many months of work last year. Lowry Rockett, who now serves as mayor of Lake Mary, chaired the board during that time.

When the proposal was first presented to the city commission early this month, it was tabled pending some re-wording by City Attorney Ned Julian, and several changes. "The two main items in the changes were the sections defining awning signs, and the modifications to temporary signs for profit and nonprofit events so they would be treated the same," West said.

During discussion of the far-reaching ordinance, Commissioner George Duryea asked about the use of flags. "What about the size of an American flag that can be used?"

West responded, "The ordinance says U.S. flags with a maximum size of 50 square feet can be used as a display of patriotism," he said. "Anything above that is considered to be an advertising promotional gimmick."

The new sign code will come up for second reading and final adoption at the next Lake Mary City Commission meeting, scheduled for Feb. 4.

During the same meeting, the city commission also approved an extension of time on a temporary waiver of sign regulations along Lake Mary Boulevard.

"The city passed an ordinance last year giving the temporary waiver," West said. "But it was to run out at the conclusion of construction, or Dec. 31st, whichever came first."

"As you know, construction stopped in July, and now we need to have the temporary waiver extended," he said.

The commission agreed by a unanimous vote to extend the waiver of certain regulations on the boulevard from Interstate 4 on the west, to the CSX railroad tracks on the east. The new extension will be continued until the four-laning of the boulevard is completed.

Small businesses and insurance reforms

TALLAHASSEE — Employers are taking advantage of a new law designed to make health care insurance available and affordable for small businesses.

"I've got a lot of hope for it," said Kenney Shipley of the state Department of Insurance. "Right now, it's just getting out and it's starting to work. I think we are at least providing a vehicle."

Three-quarters of the 2.5 million Floridians without health insurance have jobs or are the dependents of workers.

A standard policy pays 80 percent of hospital and physician care and has a lifetime maximum annual benefit of $1 million per person. A basic policy pays 60 percent of hospital and physician bills and has a maximum benefit of $60,000.

The small-group reforms ban insurance companies from dropping employers because of rising claims or bad health and require insurers to cover all workers, even the sickest.

Employees can only be limited on pre-existing conditions once, even if they change jobs and their employers change policies or insurers.

Now Sunshine's employees have coverage — some of the first in the state under the new law.

Peaceful protest by Operation Rescue

MELBOURNE — A protest by the militant anti-abortion group Operation Rescue at an abortion clinic went off Saturday without an arrest.

About 250 anti-abortion demonstrators picketed the Aware Woman Center in Central Florida, and 50 pro-choice pickets also were on hand.

Twenty-five officers were assigned to the clinic, but there was no conflict between the two sides, said police Capt. Gary Algyer.

In fact, he said the two groups were on the same picket line and talking about the issue — something new for such protests.

A few dozen protesters remained outside by mid-afternoon, but clinic founder Patricia Baird-Windle said the clinic functioned normally.

"We had an absolutely typical, average day," she said. Operation Rescue has organized a 12-week "boot camp" in Melbourne to teach protest techniques to about 30 volunteers from across the country.

Eagle chick moving to new nest soon

CLEARWATER — An endangered American bald eagle chick being raised by adoptive parents at a bird center soon may be placed in the wild in an active nest in Florida's County.

The eagle hatched from an egg that fell 40 feet and was found on the ground after a fall pine tree housing the nest near Lake Seminole was cut with a chainsaw Dec. 28.

The egg was incubated by a pair of captive, adult bald eagles at a bird of prey center run by the Florida Audubon Society in Maitland.

When hatched Jan. 3, the chick, since named Seminole Wind, weighed less than one-quarter pound.

Now, less than three weeks later, the eaglet weighs two pounds and has grown larger than a football in size on a diet of fresh fish and minced mice.

Wildlife caretakers think Seminole Wind may be ready to be moved within two weeks.

Judge orders jail or $1.7 million fine

WEEKS BEACH — An attorney who admitted he had face charges for months in jail or a $1.7 million fine for child sexual abuse charges, a judge ordered.

Judge John Wood, high court judge Taylor, visited an injunction by taking a child from Beverly Deane Garcia Barakat and Shipley, where he worked until an angry fight last year.

"I am in no position to raise such an amount," Taylor said. "I don't have the Seminoles whatsoever, and it's an absurd amount anyway."

Wood, judge Taylor, an attorney and doctor, as a highly accomplished but corrupt individual whose former additions to justice and child sexual abuse charges and created "a love and affection" of truth and order in disclosure of matters under oath.

Taylor has demonstrated that he has his own body of rules," Wood wrote. Taylor said he has acted honorably and the judge has an "obscure view" of substance recovery.

Taylor's wrongdoing was being Beverly Deane Garcia Barakat first to Gary Williams Parent and Taylor in Stuart, where Taylor worked briefly after breaking with the West Palm Beach firm, then to Montgomery and Larmoyson, where he works now, Wood said.

The penalty is to pay Beverly $1.7 million in lost fees or spend 180 days in jail.

Taylor, who plans an appeal, says the jail term is the most likely option. At $6,000 a month — the payment schedule ordered by Wood — it would take him more than 28 years to pay off his debt.

Skybus service expands in Florida market

By GEORGE DUNCAN
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The South Florida Skybus, which currently flies out of the Central Florida Regional Airport in Sanford, will expand operations next month by adding a round-trip, jet-service to Tallahassee and Jacksonville.

Skybus officials said this past week that service to the Tallahassee and Jacksonville would begin February 19.

"The decision to fly these routes was based on logical connections with the other Florida cities that we presently service," said Rick Ascott, vice-president of Marketing.

"We feel that there is a tremendous pent-up demand for low cost travel between these cities that will make people leave their cars and get back in the skies."

The expanding schedules will have no immediate effect on Sanford. Flights from the Sanford airport will go to Newark and Ft. Lauderdale daily.

However, Sanford Airport

Director Stephen Cooke said the expansion is good news for the local airport.

"We are very encouraged by the growth of the Skybus operation, it'll have some benefits for travel in our community."

All fares between any of Skybus Florida cities are either $60 or $79. Skybus tickets do not carry any stay-over travel restrictions.

"Skybus also expects to attract many business people traveling to these areas, along with students traveling to colleges located around the state. We felt since our overall marketing plan is to provide all jet service with real cost saving fares to the Florida population, this was a great next step for Skybus' growth."

For Skybus, tickets can be purchased at an airline counter or through an advance reservation system that allows passengers to purchase tickets up to 150 days in advance. Currently, the airline serves Ft. Lauderdale, New York and Tampa/St. Pete in addition to Sanford.

State pays $1 million interest on late bills

By The Associated Press

TALLAHASSEE — Late payments have cost the state $1.03 million in interest in the past three years as agencies paid late on thousands of bills.

"One million dollars is not that much out of a $31 billion budget," said state Sen. Bill Bankhead, R-Ponte Vedra Beach. "But to the perception of the public, it's just another example of waste."

State law gives agencies 40 days to pay contractors for approved goods and services and then adds a penalty of 1 percent a month.

State Comptroller Gerald Lewis began tracking delinquent bills in January 1980 and called for tighter scrutiny of bill paying after finding in June that the state was late on 5.9 percent of its bills.

The late rate climbed to 7.35 percent in the last half of 1982 as 113,128 bills were paid beyond the 40-day limit at an interest cost of $228,151. That's 1 of every 14 bills paid late.

Several agencies, such as the Lottery Department, Board of Regents and Department of Veterans Affairs, are paying more than 90 percent of their bills on time.

But others are lagging. The Commerce Department has been late on one of every five bills.

"We're just short-handed and behind, and we're working very hard to catch up," Commerce spokeswoman April Harrie told The Florida Times-Union of Jacksonville.

Officials in the comptroller's office say they usually cut checks in a week if they have no questions about bills.

Self-donated blood can be expensive

By The Associated Press

TAMPA — A patient transfused with her own blood during knee surgery discovered being a self-donor can be expensive.

Sandra Davis needed all three of her own pints. The bill totaled $2,440 and her insurance company covered $1,533 of the cost.

Her blood was drawn and processed by Personal Blood Storage of America Inc., a private corporation operating in six Southern states and under fire for its fees in Florida and Tennessee.

It costs more to collect and process self-donated blood than to handle blood from donors, said Sally Deane, interim chief executive officer. She said the company can charge upward of $700 a pint.

Blood banks in Central and Southwest Florida charge between $75 and $105 for blood, whether it is from a patient or a donor.

DUI, other charges bring arrest

John Craif Dickson, 30, 790 Sutter Loop, Longwood, was charged with driving under the influence, possession of an open container, failure to possess and display a drivers license, failure to display a registration and having no proof of insurance by Casselberry Police on Thursday.

Police said he was stopped for driving erratically. When he was stopped, he was unable to find his license, his registration and his proof of insurance.

They said there was an open beer can on the seat.

They said he failed a road side sobriety test.

He was taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and held on $500 bond.

Disorderly intoxication alleged

Sidney Ray Gore, 26, 300 Airport Blvd., was charged with disorderly intoxication by Seminole County sheriff's officers on Friday.

Deputies said that they were investigating an incident of criminal mischief at the Posttime Bar near Longwood. They said Gore became uncooperative and began to raise his voice.

When he refused to calm down, after repeated warnings, he was placed under arrest and taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility where he was held on $100 bond.

Battery charged

Joseph Billy Bob Solomon, 40, 1603 W. 11th St., Sanford, was charged with battery and domestic violence when he was arrested by Sanford Police on Thursday.

Police said he and his girlfriend were having a verbal dispute when he slapped her across the face, causing some redness.

He was held without bond at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility.

Domestic violence alleged

Stephen Deangelo Russell, 27, was charged with domestic violence by Sanford Police on Thursday.

Police said that he struck his girlfriend during an argument and that the girlfriend told them that there had been other incidents over the last two weeks.

He was taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and held on $1,000 bond.

Resisting arrest charged

Dalton Joseph Jason, Jr., 35, 1018 Maple Ave., Sanford, was charged with disorderly intoxication and resisting arrest with violence.

Police said they arrived at the residence to investigate "an unknown problem" when Jason became belligerent and that he got into the officer's face and began cursing at him.

Officers reported the odor of alcohol on him and that he tried to pull away from officers as he was being arrested.

He was taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and held on $3,500 bond.

Warrant arrests

Donnie Jackson, 31, 1955 2nd Dr., Sanford, was charged in connection with a warrant charging him with failure to appear in court on battery charges. He was held on $1,000 bond.

Crimes reported to authorities

The following crimes have been reported to Seminole County deputies and Sanford police:

• Jewelry and a watch valued at $2,150 were reported taken from a residence in the 300 block of Cypress Landing Drive, Longwood sometime between 11 a.m. Wednesday and 12:30 a.m. Thursday.

• A woman reported she arrived at her home in the 100 block of Anderson Court in Sanford at 1:35 p.m. Wednesday and found her video tape recorder on a sofa and her television on the floor, but nothing missing.

• A woman reported $648 in property had been taken from her home in the 2800 block of Magnolia Avenue of Sanford sometime between 7:30 a.m. and 1:40 p.m. Wednesday.

Jury award hailed as hemophiliacs' victory

By The Associated Press

TAMPA — A verdict against a drug company in the death of an AIDS-infected hemophiliac boy was hailed as a victory for other hemophiliacs who believe they too contracted the virus from tainted blood products.

Parents of Jason Christopher, who died of AIDS last February at age 11, were awarded more than $2 million Friday in their federal legal battle against Armour Pharmaceuticals.

They claimed the company knew for more than two years in the early 1980s their products could transmit the deadly virus but failed to issue warnings.

"Justice was done for all hemophiliacs," Steven Christopher said outside court. "They infected people with AIDS knowingly and they let it go so they could keep making money off their products."

Christopher and his ex-wife Brenda Walls were each awarded $1 million plus $7,200 to defray costs of their son's funeral.

Some 20,000 Americans have hemophilia, a hereditary condition that prevents the normal clotting of blood, and an estimated half have tested positive for the HIV virus that causes acquired immune deficiency syndrome.

5-year-old forgotten at school

By The Associated Press

DEERFIELD BEACH, Fla. — A 5-year-old forgotten by his teacher and classmates was left at school after he was sent to nap in a storage closet for misbehaving in class.

Terrell Lewis' family became frantic when the kindergartner failed to come home from school and employees at Deerfield Park Elementary insisted he was gone. "I thought somebody had abducted my child," said Terrell's mother, Annie Lewis.

The family said school employees told them to search the neighborhood, insisting Terrell wasn't in the school building after classes ended at 3:30 p.m. Thursday.

"I said, 'Check the classroom,' but the custodian refused," said Marci Clark, a cousin who went to look for Terrell. The custodian located the boy about 10 minutes later.

The handling of the incident by 30-year teaching veteran Maggie Hartie has been turned over to the Broward County school investigators, but principal Carolyn Eggleston said it was an honest mistake.

"The teacher was very apologetic," Eggleston said. "She did not do it intentionally."

"That was no consolation to Terrell's family or him."

"I'm mad," Terrell said Friday. "Everybody left me."

The Lewis family consulted attorney Johnny McCray Jr., who said, "If it did happen the way they say it did, that form of punishment is barbaric in today's school system."

Terrell's mother agreed, saying she would have been reported to the state social service agency if she did the same thing.

December recycling efforts rebounded

By J. MARK SANFORD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Seminole County recycling efforts rebounded in December, increasing close to 1 million lbs. over November totals according to a county report.

More than 5.7 million lbs. of garbage was separated for reuse and recycling by Seminole County residents and businesses last month, up from the 4.9 million lb. haul in November. Overall curbside recycling increased slightly from 2.3 million lbs. in November to 2.3 million lbs. in December. Curbside yard waste collections increased from 1.5 million lbs. to 2.4 million lbs. Commercial and residential drop-off recycling slowed from 1.4 million lbs. to 1 million lbs.

The Seminole County recycling office releases monthly collection reports for the unincorporated areas and the cities. The county has been charged by the state to reduce its garbage disposal by 30 percent by Jan. 1, 1995. By June 30, 1992, the county reached the 23 percent reduction mark.

Unincorporated curbside recycling efforts increased slightly during the two months. Recycling of household garbage such as aluminum cans, glass jars and newspapers increased from 1.1 million lbs. to 1.4 million lbs. during the November-December period. Unincorporated yard waste collections increased from 385,130 lbs. in November to 514,740 lbs. last month.

Sanford curbside recycling edged down slightly last month from the November total. A total of 146,509 lbs. of garbage was tossed into curbside recycling bins, compared to 169,780 lbs. during November. Sanford yard waste collections dropped off a bit as well from 406,560 lbs. to 310,860 lbs.

Lake Mary residents improved both their curbside recycling efforts and their yard waste disposal. A total of 59,676 lbs. of recyclables were collected in December, up from 54,806 lbs. collected the month before. Yard waste collections increased from 58,980 lbs. to 67,480 lbs.

Longwood recycling efforts dropped dramatically from 104,319 lbs. to 51,736 lbs. last month. Conversely, city yard waste collections increased from 109,130 lbs. in November to 249,830 lbs. last month.

A condemned house in Midway.

Erasing blight, rehabilitating neighborhoods

of the problems with decaying neighborhoods in Midway, Sanford and southern areas of the county are abandoned, decaying buildings.

These structures scar neighborhoods. They become a convenient dumping ground for the less-neighborly, and provide a breeding ground for all kinds of vermin, both crawling and criminal. Often in these havens, crack users smoke their brain cells away and prostitutes ply their trade. They have become the "blighted centers" of the '80s.

This month, Seminole County commissioners began what promises to be a stepped-up assault on this plague. Nearly a dozen structures, mostly abandoned homes, were declared public nuisances last week. It was the first step in what may lead to condemnation and removal of the buildings in two to three months. County clearance inspector Albert Flores promises to enter a similar number of abandoned buildings into the condemnation process next week.

A review is necessary because some of the structures may be candidates for repair by Golden Rule or a similar agency. Commissioner Darryl McLain suggested one such potential rehabilitation project on McCarthy Avenue in Midway. Good. We hope the property owner, the county and some housing rehabilitation agency can work together to create something positive from something negative. Maybe some of the other nuisances can be similarly scrutinized before the wrecker's ball swings in.

We encourage the steady process of review and removal of this blight to free land for new homes and businesses. Neighborhood rehabilitation breeds pride and progress.

Amendment bigoted

Stop that Colorado ski vacation. Pick another destination. Colorado doesn't deserve your money, and neither do residents can accept, as they did last November, a bigoted constitutional amendment that states it illegal for any unit of government to outlaw discrimination against gay people.

Supporters of the measure, Amendment 2, writes that they've not acted negatively against anybody. They claim that anti-discrimination laws give gay people special protection, above all others.

That's baloney and they know it. Such laws merely recognize that gays all too often are singled out and treated unfairly because of who they are. Laws to prevent discrimination aren't adopted to give them any additional rights, but to ensure that they have the same rights that everyone else takes for granted — the right to rent an apartment, the right to find a job and to be in other ways treated as equals.

Those leading the crusade to deny gays their civil rights are fundamentalist Christians, like Pat Buchanan. It shows me a way to see people who call themselves Christian take up shields and spears to defend discrimination.

Even if they do believe homosexuality is sinful, do they really think it is right for a boss to fire an employee for this reason alone? Would a fundamentalist person think it is right if his boss fired him for attending the "wrong" church?

Now what you please, but all gay people really want is the right to live a free and equal life like the rest of us without discrimination. If the bigots can't stand without their hatred a part of the state constitution in Colorado, you can bet they will try to do so in other states.

King celebration was a success

The Martin Luther King Jr. celebration held in the city of Sanford Jan. 12-18, 1993 met expectations resoundingly.

The Martin Luther King Celebration Choir was comprised of many of the members who participated in the very first MLK Celebration Choir. The choir performed outstandingly under the direction of Mary Whitehurst. Assisting Whitehurst were directors Faye Williams, Gloria Williams and Vincent Smith.

Governor Lawton Chiles attended the Unity Prayer Breakfast and gave autographs and was photographed with many of the children and the assembled guests. The spirituality that enveloped the unity breakfast continued with the Inter-Faith Religious Observance and the Commemorative Banquet. At the Unity Breakfast, Mrs. Willie Gary was a most able substitute for her husband, attorney Willie Gary.

Sunday, the Inter-Faith Religious Observance was truly a holy experience. The MLK Celebration Choir never sang better. The speaker of the hour, the Rev. Wayne G. Thompson, pastor of the First Baptist Institutional Church, St. Petersburg, came with many members of his congregation. He delivered a rousing sermon reliving his days as a student in Atlanta during Dr. King's lifetime. He also invited us to examine how Dr. Martin Luther King might react to the pervasive problems confronting us today.

The keynote speaker for the banquet, attorney

SERMOON OPINION

LURLENE SWEETING

Jesse J. McCrary Jr. spoke not only of what the Civil Rights Movement had accomplished but the current status. There is need for each of us to assume responsibility in the struggle. He closed with the familiar hymn "This Little Light of Mine, I'm Going to Let It Shine."

Musical selections by Cynthia Brown and Latisha Dixon were stirring. Cynthia Brown was a member of the first MLK Celebration Choir and is employed by Universal Studios. Brown sang the Rev. Martin Luther King's favorite hymn "If I Can Help Somebody" and brought the audience to its feet.

Johnell Johnson of Midway was the recipient of the 1993 Brotherhood Award.

The Seventh Annual MLK Commemorative Celebration was a historical series of events; the booklet published for the banquet by the Florida

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Commemorative Commission was its first historical commemorative edition. Sanford was the first city in this state selected to launch the state's commitment to the philosophies of Dr. Martin Luther King.

Members of the Florida Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Commemorative Commission are: Professor James Eaton, chairperson; Phyllis Berry, Larry Ellis, Commissioner Haveri Fenn; Ed Holt, Celestine Lewis, Senator Carrie Meek, Gerri Thompson, Reggie Coachman, Regina Falson, Roosevelt Harris, James Huger, Shaurie Mathews, Marie Palmer and Elizabeth Wealey. Nina Martinez is the staff director.

Members of the State Commemorative Commission came from cities throughout the state.

The advent of the MLK Steering Committee came about accordingly. Commissioner Robert Thoman Jr. had advocated that the city of Sanford have a Human Relations Advisory Board. This board was established by the city commissioners. Later Mayor Betty Smith communicated her desire for the city of Sanford to celebrate MLK's birthday; yours truly was serving as chairman of the Human Relations Advisory Board. It appeared to be a natural way to promote positive race relations. Hence members of the Human Relations Advisory Board members desiring to become members of the first MLK Steering Committee volunteered along with other community members.

Child care issue is critical

WASHINGTON — Just when everyone had finished putting through the carry-on baggage the baby boomers were bringing to Washington, just when we embraced the subjects of the drink, sex, drugs, rock 'n' roll, along comes an extra steamer trunk full of generational issues. This one is labeled child care.

On Tuesday, the first mother of a pre-school child ever mentioned in the Cabinet came up to Capitol Hill for hearings. And for the first time in American history, the central ethical question about her contribution was child care. Never before has a group of prospective employers cared so deeply about one woman's baby-sitting arrangements.

For the past 30 years, the best-tracked aspect of social change has been the emergence of the two-woman family as the norm. The least publicized story is precisely how these families care for their children. What corners are cut, what compromises are made in order to take care of the kids while we are taking care of business?

In the early 1980s, however, it is to say that every household was left home alone — not by parents vacationing in Mexico. Add them all together and you get a pretty good picture of child care in America. It's a mess for parents. It's a mess for caregivers who are underpaid, unprotected, and overworked.

This is not to say that what Zoe Baird did was as meaningless as a parking ticket. Moreover the story adds to the perception that there are rules for the rich and rules for the rest.

As Baird said at the hearing, "People are fairly questioning whether there are classes of individuals who hold themselves above the law." She added, "And I assure you I do not."

Coming right after the announcement that Chelsea Clinton is headed for private school, it also heightens the cynicism about yuppieism among the new populists. It highlights class divisions within the ranks of the would-be establishment. Half-a-million-dollar insurance executives don't get many tears when they talk about their troubles with "help."

When all is said and done, this is another issue that comes with the new generation of two-woman families. We didn't see it in Senate hearing rooms before; we didn't see mothers of young children facing confirmation before. The men who held these offices had the sort of child care that came with the marriage license.

But Zoe Baird didn't commit an offense that should taint the title of attorney general. Hiring an illegal nanny in the '90s is a crime on par with smoking dope in the '60s. The fact that she treated the couple well, filed papers for them, and sponsored them for citizenship, reduces even that charge.

She is guilty, yes. But guilty of smoking without lighting.

As Baird told the commission, "I was acting more as a mother than an attorney who would be sitting here designated to be attorney general."

Australia acts on skin cancer woes

SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA — Halfway across the globe, this nation of sun worshipers is undergoing a 1990s version of a polo scare.

Just as children in 1940s America were warned to stay out of public areas for fear of catching polio, Australia has altered its national agenda to cope with its most serious public health threat in decades: skin cancer. Its citizens have become living guinea pigs for a disease that is growing to epidemic proportions as the earth's ozone layer depletes.

Australia's skyrocketing cancer rate has spawned a minor cultural revolution here, where nearly everyone lives by the coast, and beaches mean more to the local culture than shopping malls do to American suburbia. A persistent campaign by local and national government as well as non-profit groups has been spreading the word about the dangers of overexposure.

As a result, the beaches today are dotted with sunscreen bottles, with sales up 400 percent in the last four years. The lifeguards wear hats, long-sleeved shirts, and long pants to shield themselves from the sun. Hat sales have increased 190 percent in the last year alone.

"We're trying to change a behavior that's been around for 50 to 70 years," Susie Murray, a spokesperson for the Cancer Institute here, told our associate Melinda Maas. "In a decade we've done a lot to turn things around."

Partly as a result of these efforts, school children are now required to wear hats outdoors, practice times for sports teams have been moved from midday to the late afternoon, and the fashion magazines counsel Australians on how to look and feel beautiful without a tan. Ultraviolet radiation levels are announced on the local news in the same manner that Americans are told about air quality. Cancer checks are available for free on many local beaches.

Researchers now predict that two out of three people who spent their childhood and adolescence in Australia will develop some form of skin cancer during their lives. It has the highest rate of skin cancer in the world, with 140,000 new cases diagnosed each year. About 1,000 people die from the disease annually, nearly four-fifths of whom have melanoma, the most dangerous form of skin cancer. Melanoma cases have doubled in Australia in the past seven years.

The skin cancer epidemic has put Australia at the cutting edge of the ozone controversy, which blew up in 1985 after scientists discovered a large hole developing in the ozone layer over Antarctica. The hole was traced to the global proliferation of Chlorofluorocarbons. After years of doubt about the merits of the ozone studies, the evidence in Australia appears to seal the argument that the sun's ultraviolet rays can be deadly if not filtered through the ozone layer.

Environmentalists and scientists do have some hope. The new White House team of Bill Clinton and Al Gore promises to breathe new life into the battle to reduce the world's dependence on CFCs and other "greenhouse gases."

While George Bush scored some last-minute campaign points by referring to Vice President Al Gore as the "ozone man," 1992 went down as the worst year on record for ozone levels. Scientists say the hole over Antarctica grew to more than 9 million square miles. Though much of this was due to the eruption of Mount Pinatubo in the Philippines, it's mostly the result of CFCs released into the atmosphere, some as far back as the 1960s.

The central ethical question about her confirmation was child care.

long as I live I will never forget the first mobile home to come out of the plant.

After a brief ceremony, Sanford Mayor Lee Moore was handed a bottle of champagne to "christen" the initial unit. Moore hit the corner of the mobile home. The bottle didn't break but it left a half moon dent in the corner of the home. Moore tried it again. Same result! Finally, Moore bent way down and smashed the bottle against an iron rail under the mobile home.

About a year and a half later Winchester moved back to Alabama.

In 1974, Austin Guiringer, after getting his Cardinal factory in Columbus, Ohio rolling, decided to do in Florida what he had started so successfully in Ohio. He hired a young man, Paul Jarvis, as his assistant. He directed him to find a vacant building that could be used as a plant or a site where a factory could be built.

Jarvis and Guiringer spent several months searching Central Florida. It was Jarvis who "discovered" the Hunt plant. They continued searching for a couple more months but always came back to the Hunt plant. While all this was going on Cardinal had established a small office in DeLand.

Finally, Guiringer decided the Hunt plant was the best move for him to make. He contacted Hunt Oil folks in Dallas. Hunt officials took a night flight to Orlando. Early the following morning Hunt and Cardinal came to an agreement and put the plant under contract. In September the deal was closed. In October Cardinal moved its offices to the little brick building in front of the factory.

It took Cardinal two years to get the factory ready. It went into production in October 1976 and started manufacturing modules for the company's first Florida project - Sanford Court Apartments. A grand opening of the first apartment project was held in December and Cardinal took off like a shot from the Cape.

Most of you know the rest of the story. You realize that when Congress enacted the Tax Reform Act of 1986 it did away with tax shelters that "clipped the wings" of the "redbird" and the Cardinal could fly no longer.

Let me ask you a question: what was the longest nighttime television "soap opera" in the history of TV? The show captivated audiences in America and half the nations of the world. Have you figured it out? It was "Dallas!" It turned out "Dallas" was a take-off on the Hunt family!

Hunt Oil Company was based in Dallas. TV's Ewing Oil Company was based in Dallas. The Hunt mansion was 19 miles out of Dallas. Ewing's "Southfork" ranch was 19 miles out of Dallas. The Hunt mansion was in Braddock County. "Southfork" was in Braddock County. Hunt had three sons. Ewing had three sons. The Hunt sons were Bunker, Lawrence Edward and Lamar. The three Ewing sons were J.R., Bobby and Gary.

Two of the Hunt sons lived in Texas. Two of the Ewing sons lived in Texas. One Hunt son, Lamar, resides in Kansas City and owns the Kansas City Chiefs of the National Football League. One Ewing son resides in California and plays the Gary Ewing role on "Knots Landing."

Not long after Hunt died the actor who played Josh Ewing, (the father) passed away. The Hunt brothers you will recall started oil explorations in Libya which were confiscated by Colonel Qaddafi. Meanwhile, Bunker tried to corner the silver market. On TV, J.R. got involved in trying to corner oil production in the Far East and nearly lost the Ewing fortune.

After Hunt's death a woman in Shreveport claimed her son was fathered by H.L. Hunt. She sued Hunt's estate in a federal court in Atlanta and was awarded several million dollars. After Ewing's death it came to light that before Josh married "Miss Ellie" he had an affair with a woman who bore him a son - Ray Kreba, the foreman of the Southfork Ranch. Ray then became a stepbrother to the Ewing boys.

As I learned more and more about the Hunts I began to see a similar situation between the real Hunt family and TV's Ewing family. I wrote letters to news organizations. One morning the papers carried a story that Lorimar Productions admitted "Dallas" was a "take-off" on the Hunt family.

This yarn would not be complete without this: When Bunker was called before a congressional committee to testify about the silver scandal, the chairman at one point posed this question: "It isn't necessary for you to answer but would you tell us how much you're worth?"

"Mr. Chairman," Bunker replied, "I don't really know. Daddy would tell us if a man knew what he was worth. He wasn't worth very much."

Finally, NBC's Edwin Newman did an hour radio documentary on the Hunt family before the patriarch died. Everything went well. About eight months later Harry Reasoner, now deceased, did a CBS-TV documentary on the life and times of H.L. Hunt. Everything went well until the final seconds. Reasoner summing up the shows, asked "Can you imagine a man with all that money brown-bagging his lunch to his Dallas office?"

It's said Hunt went to his grave without forgiving Reasoner for his offensive remark.

So, folks, when you look at that old Hunt plant on South Sanford Avenue and Silver Lake Drive you now know there's a lot of history behind it.

During the first part of this two-part yarn we told you that products canned at Hunt's plant carried the "Saxel" label. I wonder how many of you figured out where the name "Saxel" came from. Good for you if you did. If you didn't "Saxel" is not a thing in this world but "Texna" spelled backward.

pages where they were listed," Deju said.

Though a federal court order signed in November prevented the federal government from actually enforcing the "gag order," Deju said that the order was enforced here in Seminole County.

Abortions can not be done at the county health unit as there are no surgical facilities at the unit.

"But now [that the "gag order" has been lifted] we will probably be able to give them more detailed advice," Deju said.

He added that he is glad the "gag order" has been lifted. "There will be less limitations on what we will be able to tell the women who come to us," he noted.

Women will be able to find out what an abortion entails, to learn about the costs and to find out what their other options might be, Deju said.

"It makes things easier," he explained. "And I believe that it offers more options to the women we see."

On Friday, Clinton also rolled back restrictions on medical research using fetal tissue.

Clinton also gave permission for abortions at military hospitals and pledged to review a ban on importing the French abortion pill RU-486.

Supreme Court decision in 1991 that determined local governments could not target specific behavior or performances simply because it involves nudity.

"Expressive conduct is protected by the First Amendment," said Wright. "One lower court raised the question of how could certain kinds of activity be prohibited in one establishment when a person could go next door and see essentially the same behavior being conducted between people dancing the Lambada."

The Lambada is a Latin-influenced dance where the couple often dance with thighs tightly together.

Wright said the changes are being recommended to assure the ordinance can withstand a constitutional challenge.

Another change sought by Eslinger drops the current permitting of adult entertainment performers, but requires establishment owners to maintain records of their employees, including photographs. The records must be kept not only on performers, but management, stockpersons and tellers.

Eslinger said the change was needed in response to court decisions prohibiting permits as a condition of employment. The case involved the city of Palm Beach which required photographic identification cards for all domestic laborers that worked on the island.

Another change to the ordinance would require nonporous flooring and seating in adult movie theaters and regular cleaning with "industrial strength cleaning agents." As he knows of no adult movie theaters in Seminole County, Eslinger said the provision would have no immediate effect.

Wright said other cities and counties have often harbored unsanitary conditions not found at movie houses frequented by the public at large. Such a provision would assure the health, safety and welfare of the public, he said.

4C observes week for working parents

By NICK PFEIFER
Herald Staff Writer

County commissions have declared next week as "The Week of the Working Parent" in Seminole, Orange and Ocala Counties. Special observances will be held.

One of the big events is planned for Friday, Jan. 29, when 4C, the Community Coordinated Child Care for Central Florida will hold an awards ceremony at Church Street Marketplace in Orlando, from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. The event will pay recognition to employers who provide child care benefits for their employees through 4C.

"Working parents and a good economy guarantee the future for our children," said Phoebe Carpenter, 4C president. "Employers make it possible for parents to earn a living and support their children."

During next week, each of the 4C facilities will hold open house every day. Employers are encouraged to distribute "Week of the Working Parent" flyers to their employees. Each features a cut-out paper doll for parents to wear to work on Jan. 29 in support of the event.

"We are hoping that parents will take the doll home, have their children decorate it and write the child's name and age on it, then pin the doll to their lapels," Carpenter explained. Employers who wish to distribute the flyers may obtain them by contacting Debi Weitzel, 4C assistant, at 894-8393, ext. 114.

Seminole County.

The press conference will be held at the Hopper Head Start Program office at 1101 Bay Avenue in Sanford. Among special guests will be Phoebe Carpenter, president of 4C.

The event will also launch the beginning of "Week of the Working Parent," a celebration conducted by 4C to pay tribute to parents and employers in the Seminole, Orange and Ocala County areas who rely on child day care in order to become involved in financial support for families.

Carpenter explained 4C, "A community-based, non-profit services coordination agency, 4C is dedicated to improving the quality of life for children in Central Florida by forming linkages between agencies, services and families with young children.

She continued, "With our financial assistance, over 13,000 children in the tri-county area receive child day care that their parents could not otherwise afford. This means, of course, that the parents of these children are able to remain in the workplace, knowing that their children are taken care of in their absence."

Regarding the future of Head Start, Carpenter has said, "Head Start must be expanded to reach all eligible children for whom it was intended. Expansion of HRS-subsidized child care for all eligible families must occur as well, with technical assistance and resource development of the private industry."

Specific details on taking over the Head Start program are expected to be announced during Monday morning's press conference.

the same capacity by the city of Winter Garden as well as two others, in successfully obtaining funds from the Mainstreet Program.

The contract calls for Frita to be paid $10,000 for his work. "It's a contract agreement," Cranias said. "It's not an hourly salary or limited to a specific time period for work. It's for getting the work done."

Several months ago, the City of Sanford granted $10,000 in matching funds to the Historic Sanford Association to be used in helping get the grant applications filed. The money was to be matched by the SHA.

Cranias has previously commented that the matching funds came in the form of a three year free rental of an office at 101-B W. First Street, which will be used as a Welcome Center, and as Frita's base of operations in Sanford.

"We haven't finalized this yet," Cranias said, "so we don't know what hours he will be at the center. That's something we will still have to discuss in the near future."

The Florida Mainstreet Program is part of the national Mainstreet Program which provides money for improvements in downtown areas, based on many requirements.

be a lasting memorial that everyone can enjoy."

Mike Martin, the county's urban forester, spoke briefly about the types of trees that do well in the unique Central Florida climate and soil.

Several examples of the trees best suited for the area are found throughout the city park and Martin pointed them out. Many more will be planted over the course of the next few years in the city's new memorial grove.

"I love the opportunity to come out here and tell people about the trees that can be grown successfully in this area," Martin said.

"It's a wonderful concept," said Howard Jeffries, maintenance coordinator for the city. "These trees, which can be purchased through the city, will be a lasting memorial that everyone can enjoy."

She spoke about how to care for trees during the first year transition period, which is the most critical to their survival.

Thompson invited those who are considering a landscaping project on their property to visit the county extension service to take advantage of the computer program which will help select the best trees for the area in which they will be planted.

"It's a useful program," she said. "It's free and we're excited about it."

Jeffries is planning another Arbor Awareness Day on Feb. 8 which will also be at Port Mellon Park.

New search for attorney general

WASHINGTON — President Clinton is beginning a new search for an attorney general to replace controversial nominee Zoe Baird, but administration officials say he isn't looking only at women candidates.

"The president is going to look for the best person to fill the post," George Stephanopoulos, the White House communications director, said Friday.

Baird, who withdrew her name early Friday amid a political storm that erupted when she admitted hiring two illegal aliens to work in her home, was the first woman nominated to be attorney general. And women's groups are urging that another woman be appointed.

Vice President Al Gore, asked if the next nominee would be a woman, said Clinton would choose "the most qualified candidate."

Those mentioned as possible nominees included: U.S. District Judge Patricia Wald, who turned down the job in November; New York State Appeals Judge Judith Kaye; 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Judge Amalya Kearse; and Stanford University professor and former Carter administration Justice Department official Barbara Babcock.

Black man torched, white woman killed: Could race be the motive?

By CHRISTOPHER SULLIVAN
Associated Press Writer

NORTH CHARLESTON, S.C. — People can't stop talking about the crimes, partly because of their brutality — a woman here gang-raped and murdered, a man in Florida doused with gasoline and set afire — but also because of a question that makes folks shudder.

Were the victims singled out because of their race?

In the Tampa case, the victim was black and all three suspects white. Here, the victim was white and all eight suspects black.

"I'd like to know what they were thinking," said Mike Kelley of North Charleston, who lives a few trailers down from the scene of the rape and knew some of the suspects as neighbors. He and others shook their heads while discussing the case on a recent rainy evening.

To many in the South and elsewhere, racially motivated crimes seem like throwbacks to the days of lynchings. Generations ago, racial segregation created suspicion, tension and hatred between blacks and whites.

"We've come a long way," insisted Frank Blinn, another disbelieving neighbor here. "Whites and blacks get along."

Even if that is broadly true, racially motivated violence is nonetheless on the rise, the numbers indicate.

More than 90 murders across the United States in 1991 and '92 were classified as hate crimes by Klanwatch, a research group in Birmingham, Ala., that has monitored hate group activity since 1979.

"Hate crimes used to be strictly white on black. Now, it's every racial group," said Klanwatch researcher Angie Lowry. As she worked on an analysis of 1992 data, she said, "Hate crimes in just about every category are up."

A just-released study of 10 cities' 1992 police figures found a 24 percent rise in hate crimes from '91. The study, prepared for the Los Angeles law firm Stroock & Stroock & Lavan, was part of a U.S. Supreme Court brief in defense of a Wisconsin law increasing penalties for hate-motivated crimes.

In some ways, the Florida and South Carolina crimes were mirror images, with numerous eerie parallels but the races of victim and attackers reversed.

Both victims, authorities say, were chosen at random.

Christopher Wilson, 31, a black New York tourist, was abducted at gunpoint from a Tampa-area shopping center on New Year's Day. Police say he was driven to an isolated area, robbed, doused with gasoline and set afire.

Burned over 40 percent of his body, he remains hospitalized. Three white men who worked in a local labor pool have been charged with attempted murder.

Just two days earlier in North Charleston, police say, 25-year-old Melissa McLachlan was abducted while walking across a street, taken to a trailer park, raped by at least five men, then driven out of town, shot six times and dumped on a rural road.

Five men have been arrested and a sixth is being sought on murder, rape and related charges; two women have been charged as accessories. All the suspects are black.

In each case, there is chilling evidence that race was at least part of the motive.

In Florida and South Carolina, reaction to the crimes — from both blacks and whites — has been the same: revulsion.

"One of the leads that came in early and helped break this case wide open was a telephone call — and it came from a black female," Henery said.

"Black," said Pam Baldwin, a black customer at a coffee shop, when asked her thoughts on a possible racial reason behind the rape-killing. "How could somebody go around with such an attitude?"

Researchers have tried for years to find answers. Hate crimes differ in many ways from other crimes, they've found.

First, they are more personal. While only 11 percent of all crimes are assaults, the rest being against property, more than a third of hate crimes are assaults, according to Brian Levin, a lawyer and bias crime researcher in Los Angeles.

And research has shown bias-motivated assaults are more brutal, their victims three times as likely to require hospitalization.

"I think there's a reason for that: With this crime, the violent act is not the byproduct, but the goal," Levin said.

Sending a message is the deeper goal, said Jack McDevitt, a criminologist at Northeastern University in Boston who has helped the FBI train police in handling hate crimes. When victims are chosen at random because of their race, he said, "The message is to everyone in that group: 'You don't belong.'"

Hate crimes are most often committed by people who feel that their "turf" — neighborhood, workplace, school — is being invaded, or because of a sense of losing social or economic status, McDevitt said. "People look for somebody to blame," he said.

Other triggering factors cited by Levin include the Rodney King case in Los Angeles, continuing negative racial stereotypes and a growing acceptance of violence to settle disputes.

Data indicate about two-thirds of hate crime offenders are white and one-third black, McDevitt said.

"People want to believe this is something we've left behind, but we haven't," he said.

In the Florida and South Carolina cases, the victims' parents spoke out but were unable to make sense of the crimes.

IN BRIEF

Learn 'Baby Care' at CFRH

SANFORD — HCA Central Florida Regional Hospital Women's Center is presenting a class on "Baby Care," as one of a series of free prenatal classes offered at the hospital. The class will be held Thursday from 7:30-9:30 p.m., in the hospital classroom.

The class will answer questions for parents-to-be and those who have recently become parents. The class will cover the characteristics of the newborn, bottlefeeding, bathing, temperature taking, and will feature a visit from one of the hospital's pediatricians. Sibling preparation will also be discussed.

For more information or to register for the classes, call the hospital at 321-4500, ext. 5607.

Babysaver course offered

ALTA MONTE SPRINGS — CPR for Citizens is offering a Babysaver course on Thursday from 6:30 to 10 p.m. at Florida Hospital Altamonte. The class will be held in the Conference Center, rooms 103 and 104 at the hospital, 601 E. Altamonte Dr.

Babysaver is an American Heart Association training course, taught in two sessions, which covers CPR and the choking maneuver on both infants and children, as well as home safety and first aid information. Class fees are $19 per person.

To register, call 679-4377.

Senior aerobics available

ALTA MONTE SPRINGS — Florida Hospital Premier Health offers low-impact aerobics for senior citizens at The Family Resource Center at Florida Hospital Altamonte, 601 E. Altamonte Drive, Altamonte Springs, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 9:30 a.m.

The cost is $24 for 24 classes.

Manic depression: A treatable illness

Bipolar disorder, commonly known as manic-depressive illness, at times can be a devastating and incapacitating illness affecting one in 100 people at some point in their lives. It differs from other depressive disorders in that patients have significant mood swings, ranging from depression to mania, usually with periods of normal moods (some patients, however, cycle from mania to depression and back within a few days, without intervals of normal mood and are called rapid cyclers).

Bipolar disorder usually appears before age 35 and the disease is known to run in families. In certain population groups, such as the Old Order Amish, genetic markers have recently been identified which can cause the disease.

Symptoms of the manic phase in which elation or euphoria are present include unwarranted optimism and delusions of grandeur (a person feels he or she has a special connection with celebrities, political leaders or has extraordinary powers such as the ability to fly).

Hyperactivity and excessive plans or participation in activities that are often impulsive and have a good chance for painful impairment concentration, low self-esteem, crying spells, withdrawal from former pleasures such as social contacts, hobbies, and sex and even suicidal thoughts.

Often illnesses such as multiple sclerosis, thyroid disease and use of steroids and stimulants (such as amphetamines and cocaine) can mimic manic depression. Treatment of bipolar disorder usually consists of medications such as Lithium Carbonate, Tegretol and Valproic Acid in combination with psychotherapy to reduce stress which can trigger recurrence of the illness. With proper psychiatric treatment, the vast majority of sufferers can obtain relief from their symptoms and have normal and productive lives.

Dudley the Dinosaur to visit local schools to promote healthy teeth

Local school children will be making posters about how they can get on the path to a healthy smile as they take part in the Florida Dental Association's Children's Dental Health Month Poster Contest in February.

With a toothbrush toting dinosaur as inspiration, children in schools throughout Florida will make posters during February depicting the theme, "Get on the Path to a Healthy Smile." The statewide event, combined with local dental health month activities, is designed to help children learn how to keep their smiles healthy.

During the month-long National Children's Dental Health Month Celebration, children, and their parents, will also be invited to attend dental health fairs and dental screenings and take part in activities such as skating parties and a Smile Mile fun run. Dentists and dental hygienists will also be going into elementary schools to distribute dental goody bags and tell children about dental health.

Every child who participates in the dental health month poster contest will receive a certificate of appreciation, featuring Dudley the dental health dinosaur and a dental health message. Children whose posters are chosen as school winners will receive award certificates from the Florida Dental Association.

After judging at the local and district levels, state winners will be selected by representatives of the Ringling School of Art and Design. Children whose posters are judged best in the state will receive $100 savings bonds and Olympic-like medallions.

The poster contest is funded by an educational grant to the Florida Dental Health Foundation by Procter & Gamble. Last year 60,000 children took part in this statewide event.

February 1993 marks the 44th observance of National Children's Dental Health Month.

Volunteer program provides hope for abused children

CASSELBERRY — The Perinatal Program of the Children's Home Society of Florida provides an opportunity for caring, committed women to do something toward preventing incidences of child abuse and neglect in Seminole County.

Formerly known as The Sunshine Connection, the support program for first time pregnant teenagers and young mothers under age 25 who live in Seminole County, is administered by the Children's Home Society of Central Florida, 400 E. Semoran Blvd., #215.

The Perinatal Program staff trains women to work one-on-one with pregnant teens to provide emotional and practical support in preparing for the birth of their baby and coping with the demands of an infant during the first years of life. Through ongoing services provided by the volunteer and the Perinatal Program Staff, the teens have an improved chance of completing their education and becoming productive, self-supporting members of society.

Low birthweight babies and babies born to teen mothers are more likely to have short and long term medical problems are more difficult to care for and comfort, and are more likely to be abused and neglected. Only through the early intervention and education of teenage at-risk mothers can we help ensure that these babies have a healthy start. Without providing support, many of the babies of teen parents born in Seminole County will face a difficult and uncertain future with families with few resources. The program encourages teen mothers to obtain early and comprehensive prenatal care in order to increase the chances of giving birth to healthy full-term babies.

During the 1991-92 program year, the group provided education and support to 110 young mothers and their babies.

Current services are to:

- provide opportunity for clients to be matched with carefully selected and trained volunteers to provide support and guidance.
- refer clients to existing community agencies and services for individual needs.
- provide opportunity for clients to meet with their peers to learn about prenatal and postnatal care, infant and toddler care and positive parenting.

- lend library and information pamphlets, magazines and video tapes.
- keep a mothers store, consisting of community donated infant, toddler and maternity items.

Offer a listening ear and moral support to young first time moms who need a friend. Training will be provided for new volunteers during an Orientation Training on Monday, Jan. 25, at 10 a.m. or 5 p.m. at the society.

Volunteers are an important component of the program. Interested persons should call the Perinatal Program Office at 830-5774 for details of the next training session.

Cold-sore virus found to play in heart disease

By PAUL HANCOCK
AP Science Writer

MONTREY, Calif. — The herpes virus that gives people cold sores promotes cholesterol deposits in the arteries and leads to blood clots, researchers say.

Researchers have known for 15 years that herpes infections can increase the risk of atherosclerosis, or hardening of the arteries. Now, they have determined precisely how the virus does it.

"The virus changes the structure of blood-clotting proteins so they stick to our arteries," said David P. Hajjar of Cornell University Medical College in New York. "We now know what that change is."

Hajjar said his research dealt with atherosclerosis in the coronary arteries that nurture the heart. Blockage of those arteries by cholesterol and clots can cause a heart attack.

The findings do not mean that everyone who gets cold sores is at high risk of heart disease.

But Hajjar said the findings suggest that people who get cold sores might want to be especially careful about controlling their heart disease risk factors, which include smoking, high blood pressure and obesity.

And he said the discovery could lead to new drugs to prevent heart disease.

Hajjar said he would put the herpes virus "in the category of environmental agents which could make the disease worse."

The virus is probably not a causative factor. It's probably involved later on, after cholesterol deposits have begun to form.

He reported the findings at the American Heart Association's annual conference for science writers.

Dr. Edward S. Cooper, the heart association's president, said, "I think it's interesting new information, but the significance is not known at this point. This is why research is so important."

Strokes rival Alzheimer's disease as cause of senility

By DANIEL G. HARRY
AP Science Writer

BOSTON — Most strokes may cause even more senility among the elderly than Alzheimer's disease, a study today concludes.

The findings challenge the widely held view that Alzheimer's contributes to more than half of all cases of dementia. The study may also give hopes of staving off senility, because unlike Alzheimer's, strokes can be prevented.

The study in The New England Journal of Medicine was conducted on 495 men and women, all age 65 and living in Sweden. The researchers said they believe it is the most comprehensive study ever on the causes of dementia in this age group.

Dementia is a major hazard of growing old. In the United States, it strikes half of those who live past 85. Caring for victims costs more than $90 billion annually.

Experts have long known that strokes — often multiple small ones — can damage memory and other intellectual functions. But like Alzheimer's, a stroke is often hard to diagnose with certainty.

The latest study was conducted by Dr. Ingmar Skoog and colleagues from Sahlgrenska Hospital in Gothenburg, Sweden.

IN BRIEF

Softball touney planned

CASSELBERRY — Men's softball teams are being sought to play in a tournament at Red Bug Lake Park the weekend of Feb. 6.

The entry is $120 per team. Play will follow a double elimination format and a 4-3 count. Each team will be allowed one home run hitter. Any home runs hit by any other player will go as singles.

Entry deadline is 6 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 4, with the draw to be conducted immediately afterward.

For more information, contact Rod at 787-2476 or Todd at 382-3183.

Boating class offered

SANFORD — The Seminole County Flotilla of the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary will offer a free safe boating class at the Seminole County Port Authority building, located at 1510 Kastner Place.

Classes, which will be conducted on Monday and Thursday nights beginning at 7 p.m., will be offered from Thursday, Feb. 11, through Monday, March 8.

Instruction covers boating skills and safety. Included in the class will be skills practices and an on-the-water practical and safety demonstration.

Class size is limited. While there is no cost for the class, books and materials cost $25.

For registration or more information, contact Bill Binkley at (904) 789-8973 or Charles Hoek at (407) 831-2109.

Tulane overtakes USF

TAMPA — Tulane's bench, led by Carlin Hartman's 17 points, spurred a second half surge as the Green Wave rolled to a 71-53 victory Saturday over South Florida.

The victory was Tulane's ninth straight, and it improved their record to 14-3. South Florida (3-10) lost its sixth in a row.

Tulane's 3-2 zone defense held South Florida to just six field goals and 25 percent shooting, while the Green Wave offense hit 62 on percent of its second-half shots.

The Bulls took their final lead, 40-39, on a Chucky Atkins 10-foot jumper early in the second half. But then, a 19-3 run gave Tulane a 51-43 edge.

South Florida got no closer than five points the rest of the way.

The Bulls were led by Jesse Balters' 13 points and 10 rebounds.

Stamp to bear Bryant?

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Tuesday is the 10th anniversary of Paul "Bear" Bryant death, and his longtime friends are campaigning for a postage stamp honoring him.

The U.S. Postal Service requires that anyone pictured on a stamp be dead a decade.

Robin Minard, a spokeswoman for the U.S. Postal Service, said postal officials have already received letters requesting the late Alabama coach be honored with a stamp.

"I think it's an excellent idea," Alabama coach Gene Stallings said. "It would be a very appropriate honor for a man who deserves it more than any coach I can think of."

The decision on who is honored on stamps is made by the 13-member Citizens' Stamp Advisory Committee, which makes its announcements once a year. Only the president and postmaster general can override its decisions, but they rarely do.

Edberg defaults in doubles

MELBOURNE, Australia — Stefan Edberg's injury problems in the Australian Open, which forced him to default in the 1989 quarterfinals and 1990 final, are threatening his chances at a third championship.

The second-seeded Edberg defaulted from a doubles match Sunday, citing back spasms that made him wince in pain on overheads and affected his serves in a tough third-round victory over Amos Mandorff.

Edberg's coach said his withdrawal from doubles with partner Jan Siemerink was "precautionary," but the Swede might have trouble recovering fully in time to play a fourth-round match Monday against Arnaud Boetsch. If Edberg gets through that match, he would still have to win three more if he is to regain the title he captured in 1985 and 1987.

Lake Mary cagers sweep Lyman

From Staff Reports

LONGWOOD — As ye sweep, so shall ye be swept.

The Lyman High School varsity girls and boys basketball teams, who won both ends of a doubleheader with Seminole on Wednesday, suffered a similar fate at the hands of the visiting Lake Mary Rams Friday night.

In the opening game, Karen Morris scored a game-high 19 points before fouling out with nearly seven minutes remaining in the game as the Lake Mary girls held on for a 57-49 victory.

The nightcap redefined ugliness as it applies to basketball as the Lake Mary boys converted 27 of 45 free throws to beat the Greyhounds 63-58.

Lyman was called for 31 fouls while Lake Mary was whistled for 16. Four players (three from Lyman) fouled out.

"They pressed man-to-man and we pressed zone," said Lake Mary coach Willie Richardson. "We did some trapping, but we didn't foul near as much they did. It was really rough."

Lyman, led by Shawn Ready (18 points before fouling out) and DeWayne Bell (14 points), outscored Lake Mary 55-36 from the floor. While the Greyhounds made just three of their 14 free throws, they did have five three-point goals, four by Ready.

Up until the third quarter, it looked like the Lyman boys would give the Greyhounds a split □ See Sweep, Page 5B

Daniels leads

Arrow Force in upset of Oviedo

By DEAN SMITH
Herald Sports Writer

SANFORD — It was like the storyline of a bad movie: a star suffers an injury and is not supposed to play, yet comes off the bench to lead his team to upset victory.

Seminole High School's Deon Daniels, who hurt his hip late in Thursday night's game against the Alumini, was not expected to play against Oviedo in Friday night's Seminole Athletic Conference contest.

But the junior forward entered the contest less than two minutes into the game and scored 28 points in helping Arrow Force One edge the defending Class 4A state champions 68-65 at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium.

"I told Deon that I would watch him in warmups and see how he did," said Seminole head coach Bob Traina. "He was holding his side all through warmups, so I told him to just sit down and we started someone else."

"But a couple of minutes later, he comes running by me, wanting to know who he should get, so I told him to give it a try. His (Daniels') game is so dependent on what kind of mental state he is in. When his mind is right, he dominates the game."

Daniels came off the bench to hit seven of 11 field goal tries, including three of four from three-point range, for 19 points in the first half as Arrow Force One built a 10-point lead, 42-32, at the intermission.

But he was far from the only star for Seminole in the first half as the home team played a near-flawless first 16 minutes. Travis Perkins ran the Arrow Force One offense to perfection as the senior point guard had five of Seminole's 11 first half assists and the team only committed two first half turnovers.

The defense also played well, forcing 10 Lion □ See Upset, Page 5B

Deon Daniels shook off the effects of a sore hip to collect 28 points, six rebounds, and two blocked two shots Friday in Seminole's 68-65 upset of Oviedo.

Pats grab share of SAC lead

By RYAN ANDERSON
Herald Correspondent

LONGWOOD — In a defensive duel, little things make the difference.

The Lyman Greyhounds, ranked No. 1 in the Florida Athletic Coaches Association's Class 4A state soccer poll, found this to be true as they saw their undefeated status vanish at the feet of the Lake Brantley Patriots in a 1-0 loss Friday night.

Lake Brantley's win creates a bit of a logjam at the top of the Seminole Athletic Conference standings. Lake Brantley (14-1-6 when counting shootout losses during tournaments as ties) and Lyman (14-1-3) share the top spot at 5-1-1 with Lake Mary (13-4-1) a game back at 4-2-1.

After dueling defensively for most of the first half, the Patriots finally found the goal with 9:24 left in the opening period when Sean McClafferty drilled the shot up the middle past three Lyman defenders, including Greyhound keeper Chris Lewis, who saw the ball just sail past his reach.

"You really don't have to get them motivated to play teams like Lyman and Lake Mary," Lake Brantley coach Jim Brody said of his team. "We lost to them (Lyman) 4-0 at our place earlier in the season. They wanted to show everyone tonight that what happened earlier in the season was a fluke. They came out and played hard and made the one goal stand up."

Earlier in the first half, it looked like Lyman had a goal of its own when Brantley □ See SAC, Page 5B keeper Sean Seaver appeared to take the ball into the goal after a Brantley player kicked it back to him. However, no goal was called by the officials.

The Greyhounds outshot the Patriots 18-7, with most of the Lyman shots sailing over the top of the goal.

Lyman controlled the ball for much of the second half but the Patriot defense was able to weather the onslaught, rejecting shot after shot.

The Greyhounds also had multiple opportunities to score on corner kicks as well, taking seven while the Patriots had just two. But once again, the Lake Brantley defense proved up to the task.

"This is a team that wants to go real far," said Brody. "We have a lot of seniors, a lot of experience, and they want to show what they really have."

"The season has been great so far. These kids have really done a great job, and it ain't over yet. We're hoping to go as far as we can and make it a really long season.

The Patriots will travel to Lake Mary High School to play the Rams in a key SAC contest this Wednesday night while the Greyhounds travel to Oviedo on Wednesday.

LAKE MARY V. SEMINOLE

SANFORD — Three different players scored two goals each as the Lake Mary Rams romped to a 9-0 win over the host Seminole Fighting Seminoles in a Seminole Athletic Conference boys' soccer match Friday night at Thomas E. Whigham Stadium.

Keith Baranowski, Jody DeBruin, and Brandon Mahana were the multiple goal scorers for the Rams (13-4-1, 4-2-1 in the SAC). Mike Deaver, John Martin and Aren Cook each added one goal.

Defensively, Lake Mary limited Seminole (4-8-2, 0-7 in the conference) to just a pair of shots on goal.

Lake Mary will host Lake Brantley in a key SAC contest this Wednesday night. Seminole will also be at home Wednesday, entertaining the Lake Howell Silver Hawks.

Christian, Gable top honor roll

Special to the Herald

SANFORD — Dee Christian and Ken Gable posted the week's top women's and men's series in action reported by News America-Sanford.

Christian, bowling with the High Flyers, turned in a 569 to top the women's honor roll while Gable rolled a 671 during Sun Bank league play to lead the men.

Trailing Christian among the High Flyers were Marshall Genterman, who registered a 509, and the 508 effort of Dottie Hagan.

Lin McKean trailed Gable among the Sun Bank men, turning in a 625 total. Ruth Rodrigues and Nancy Johnson paced the league's women with series of 585 and 585, respectively.

In the Wednesday Ladies Handicap league, Bev Westgaard posted a 516 to lead the way. Juanita Dryden rolled a 479 and Jean Jameson totaled a 473.

Curtis Bearberg had the top series in the News America Classic league last week, putting together a 631. Roy Jacobs was next with his 628 while Bobby Meyer turned in a 615 effort.

Ed Jackson rolled a 614 to lead the men in the Ball and Chain league. He was trailed by Danny Phillips, who came in at 606. Deanna paced the women with her 437. Marianne Landberg backed her up with a 432.

In Porsig Realty league action, Pete Campbell and Doreen Harrington had the top series, Campbell besting the men with his 655 while Harrington led the women with her 543. Trailing the leaders were Danny Cotton, who rolled a 582, and Casey Atcherson, who posted a 519.

Roger Sparks put together a 652 series to lead play in the Beachtime league. Pat Johnson was next in line with a 648 total.

Two pins separated the top two women's series in the Thursday Nite Mixed League. Joetta West led the way with her 525 with Jill Harper close behind at 523. Among the league's men, George Mansfield rolled a 575 while Rich Fiancee put together a 559.

on the evening, building a 30-22 lead by halftime. But in the third quarter, the Rams went on a 22-11 binge and followed that up with a 19-17 fourth quarter.

Who knows how had it may have been had Lake Mary not missed 18 free throws, including the front end of four one-and-one opportunities in the fourth quarter?

"We always find a way to keep a team in the game and we did it again," said Richardson. "We didn't shoot free throws well, but some other things came together for us."

"I feel pretty good about the way the kids played. They're learning what they can do and what they can't. It was ugly, but it was a good effort after the drumming Lake Howell gave us on Wednesday. This win was a confidence builder for us."

Jimmy Newberry led Lake

Mary with 18 points. Kent Pritchard added 14 while Ian Saunders added 12. Taylor Joregaen had nine rebounds for the Rams with Truck Wakefield grabbing eight catoms.

The girls' game wasn't quite so dramatic. Lake Mary jumping out to a 19-10 lead and protecting it the rest of the way despite losing Morris and Kately Beitel to fouls.

"We jumped out ahead at the beginning and just held our own," said Lake Mary coach Anna Van Landingham. "Every time they would make a run at us, we'd get our heads back together and play good, tough defense. The girls did a good job of staying focused and getting the job done."

"On offense, we kept working hard. We know that Lyman tries to control the boards, so I told girls that we had to work for rebounds."

Diane Duber added 10 points and six rebounds for the Rams while LaShawn Merrick collected nine points, six assists, seven steals, and three rebounds. Morris also had three rebounds, two steals and four assists.

For Lyman, LaTicia Smith had 16 points while Carolyn Crager added 10.

"Karen Morris did a great job," said Lyman coach Steve Carmichael. "Lake Mary just outplayed us from the get go."

Now 16-3 overall and 3-1 in the Seminole Athletic Conference, the Lake Mary girls will host Seminole this Tuesday night. The Lake Mary boys, 3-10 overall and 1-1 in the SAC, play at Seminole on Wednesday night.

Lyman's girls, 10-5 and 2-2 in the conference, play at Lake Brantley Tuesday night while the Greyhound boys, 3-9 and 1-1 in the SAC, travel to Lake Brantley on Wednesday.

Keep new bass rules in mind

On the fringe of spawning season for largemouth bass, the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission wants to remind anglers of new bass fishing regulations.

Last July, the Commission placed a special daily bag limit on black bass. Anglers now are allowed to keep only one fish 22 inches or longer in an effort to restore the quality of Florida's bass fishing.

The basis for the rule change is that trophy bass have become increasingly rare, said Scott Hardin, a Commission fisheries biologist. These big fish, primarily females, need to be protected.

"The new regulation should help reduce overharvest of rare trophy bass during certain times of the year," Hardin said. "Bass become most vulnerable during the spring spawning season when anglers seek large female bass in shallow water."

Hardin said it's important when catching large bass to use proper catch-and-release techniques to help ensure the fish survives after it is released. Most fish caught and released properly do survive and many are caught again.

The Commission sponsors a Big Catch program to recognize anglers for catching fish that meet minimum qualifying weights. Anglers who catch a largemouth bass over 10 pounds are eligible to receive a four-color fish citation.

Also, special recognition is given on the citation to anglers for releasing their fish unharmed. For more information on the program contact the Commission's regional offices.

Other new fishing regulations include:

- A statewide five-fish daily bag limit.
- A 14-inch minimum length limit for all waters south and east of the Suwannee River.
- A 12-inch minimum length limit for the Suwannee River and its tributary rivers; creek and streams and all other waters north and west of the Suwannee River. (The Santa Fe and Withlacoochee rivers in Madison and Hamilton counties, Alapaha, New and Ichetucknee rivers and Otustee and Swift creeks are tributaries of the Suwannee River).

Fish may not be filleted, nor their heads or tail fins removed, until after the angler has completed fishing for the day.

SHUPE'S SCOOP

If you want to catch a really big bass, concentrate on the period of time immediately before or immediately after the full moon. Big bass are on the move at this time, and they gravitate towards shoreline structures for spawning activities.

If you catch a trophy, take a picture, measure the length, then carefully release the fish. Good taxidermists can make excellent replica mounts from your measurements. Such replica mounts are much more durable than actual skin mounts.

the way of offshore action due to high seas. Expect plenty of cobia, grouper and snapper on inshore wrecks and reefs when seas subside. There will also be some king mackerel on Pelican Flats, Wahoo and dolphin will be in short supply.

Inside the Port, expect mainly flounder, sheepshead and bluefish. Trout and redfish are rated as good on the flats of the Indian and Banana rivers.

Pompano Inlet has been active with big sheepshead at the tip of the north jetties and with bluefish everywhere.

turnovers, keyed by three Matt Parker steals.

During halftime the crowd was treated to a dance exhibition by "Hot Mix," a group of young ladies that includes Seminole High School student Jill Gruby that recently was a $100,000 winner on "Star Search."

Oviedo outscored Arrow Force One 16-8 over the first six minutes of the third period to cut the lead to two, 50-48. But Daniels came up with a dunk and a layup and Neville Fuller scored on another layup, to give Seminole a 56-48 lead entering the final quarter.

With the momentum up for grabs, the Lions went to their senior center Chris Braxton. The 6-foot, 9-inch, 280-pounder dominated both ends of the floor as Oviedo outscored Arrow Force One 13-3 to take its first lead of the night, 61-50, with 4:18 remaining.

But Parker, a senior who had missed the last two games with an injury, keyed a defensive stand by Seminole as he scored a pair of baskets off steals and sophomore Eric Roberts hit a pair of free throws after coming up with another steal to make the score 67-65 with 0:21 left.

The Lions had a chance to tie the score on an inbound play after time out, but the ball rolled off the rim and Parker was fouled after collecting the rebound.

Parker hit the front end of the one-and-one with 0:19 on the clock to make the score 68-65. Oviedo got a pair of three-point attempts off in the time remaining but both rimmed out and Arrow Force One had the upset.

"We have to carry on from here," said Traina. "We've been up and down, which is not entirely the kids' fault. We thought we were ready to win and Matt (Parker) and Andrea (Key) get hurt on a freak play in which they didn't even touch one another. But Parker had to miss two games and Key breaks his leg."

"We're not even worried about winning and losing, we just want to take it one step at a time. The longer we stay in the game with the good teams will help us build confidence and building our confidence is how we will get to the next step."

The night ended up on a positive note all around for the home team as the junior varsity won its fifth straight game, 60-52.

In addition to his 28 points Daniels also had a team high six rebounds and blocked two shots. Also having good night's for Arrow Force One were Parker (10 points, three rebounds, six steals, four assists) and Roberts (10 points, four steals, four assists).

Oviedo was led by its three senior returnees from last year's championship team, Braxton, Devon Green and Randy Wright, plus sophomore Ben Boss. Green had 20 points, 13 rebounds, two blocked shots, three steals and two assists. Braxton had 16 points, 11 rebounds, three blocked shots and two steals; Wright had 11 points and six rebounds and Boss had 11 points and three assists.

Once prime game, squirrels now mainly pests

By BILL SCHULZ Associated Press Writer

ATLANTA — Squirrels can have the same effect on both hunters and homeowners.

They drive 'em nuts.

Buskys tails can sound like a deer rustling in dry leaves, do a clown act on the "squirrel proof" birdfeeder or play havoc in the attic.

Half a century ago, the squirrel was the country's most popular game animal.

Today few city or suburb dwellers hunt them but many rural people continue hunting them "and using the same recipes they have made for years," said Peter Weigl, a biologist at Wake Forest University who has studied squirrels for nearly 30 years.

"In the past, almost every kid had a rifle to go squirrel hunting," he said.

Many dishes that once were made with squirrel now are made with chicken by cooks who have no idea how the dish originated, he said.

"Squirrels are out of favor as food," he said. "Fashion comes and goes."

"When I was a student in grad school I had an instructor from Nova Scotia. He said when he was growing up, nobody ate lobster. It was considered trash."

There are 10 kinds of tree squirrels in North America, including two types of flying squirrels.

The largest is the fox squirrel, which can reach 3 pounds in the Southeast. One variety can have a black head or black and white markings.

It seems to be in decline and biologists don't know why. Some subspecies are threatened or endangered. Weigl suspects they need old growth forest, although they seem to have adapted to younger forests with adjacent corn or soybean fields.

The most common is the gray, which is spread out from Florida to Canada east of the Great Plains.

The red squirrel is found in the North and West and its close cousin, the Douglas squirrel, scurries around the western Rockies.

The kit fox squirrel, a version of the Abert squirrel, but with fancy white markings, intrigues visitors to the Grand Canyon and the Western gray squirrel, a separate species from the gray, is found in California.

All squirrels collect food for the winter. Eastern squirrels, the fox and gray, collect nuts and hide them in leaf litter or in small batches in hollow trees.

The red and some western squirrels collect big mounds of pine cones and will fight any other squirrel that tries to get too close to its larder, Weigl said.

Squirrels have found homes with man and in one case followed humans west.

The fox squirrel lived along the edge of the prairie, Weigl said, and when man moved west, building shelters and planting trees, "the squirrels moved along the river systems with them and they're in Colorado now."

Gray squirrels, particularly, love suburbs, "residential areas where trees are maintained, especially nut and seed trees, and where they have supplemental food from bird feeders."

"They also raid fruit trees and tomato vines."

Keeping squirrels out of bird feeders can be a lifelong battle, Weigl said.

"I know of some people who have resurrected their recipe for Brunswick stew" which originally was made with squirrel, because of raids on their bird feeders, Weigl said.

Some squirrel-proof feeders work, some don't, he said, experiment with type and location.

Many people, he said, just feed both types of animals, putting corn out for the squirrels where it is easy for them to get at and bird seed out in harder-to-reach feeders.

Squirrels in the attic usually are one of the continent's two varieties of flying squirrels — so named because they have flaps of skin between each pair of side legs, which helps them glide.

There are commercial squirrel repellents to spray in the attic or some times just a few handfuls of mothballs thrown up there will convince them to leave, Weigl said.

PROMOTIONS

BellSouth names Fuller

Veteran communications administrator N. Mark Fuller has been promoted to director of sales and marketing for BellSouth Mobility's Orlando region.

Previously BellSouth's Orlando general manager, Fuller will oversee all BellSouth regional cellular communications operations, administration and marketing in the company's Orlando region which includes Orange, Seminole, Lake and Ocala counties.

Fuller previously served as general manager for BellSouth Mobility's Dade County office. He has been with the company since 1973.

GOOD YEAR

Pizzuti sets record

Pizzuti Realty reported commercial brokerage sales of $111 million, with 157 transactions during 1992. Bill Jones, president and chief executive officer reported the amount was a new record.

"Sales for 1992 more than doubled 1991 figures of $50 million and 106 transactions," he said. Transactions include leases and sales.

One of the major transactions handled during the year by Pizzuti included the Lake Mary Retail Center, at a cost of $5.9 million.

Another major acquisition was the 300 International Parkway building in Heathrow. The $6.3 million purchase included 14.5 undeveloped acres in Heathrow's International Business Park, adjacent to the AAA building.

Pizzuti, headquartered in Columbus, Ohio, owns and manages shopping centers and other properties in Orange, Seminole and St. Lucie Counties.

Barnett has excellent year

Barnett Banks, Inc., has reported 1992 earnings, consolidated with First Florida Banks, Inc., of $275.1 million, or $2.68 per share before the special restructuring charge arising from the merger of the two companies.

Excluding First Florida's results and the restructuring charge, Barnett earned $221.6 million, or $2.77 per share.

"The year was one of the most significant in Barnett history," said Charles E. Rice, chairman and chief executive officer. "Our earnings recovery accelerated, credit quality improved significantly and we completed the largest acquisition in our history."

MEETINGS

Chamber business meeting

Karen Scott, marketing director and property manager for Trammell Crow Company, will be special guest speaker at the January meeting of the Longwood/Winter Springs area Chamber of Commerce. Scott will discuss creativity and the changes she has brought to the Longwood Village Shopping Center. She will also be leading a discussion on ways other businesses can use creativity to increase sales and improve exposure in 1993.

The meeting will be held at Quality Inn, Longwood, Interstate-4 at S.R. 434, Mon. Jan. 25, at 12 noon.

Wekiva Springs talk

Park Manager Jim Murrian will speak to the Citizens for Wekiva Springs State Park, Thursday, Jan. 28th at the Youth Camp Meeting Hall at the park. Dave Sukkert, the group's president, invites the public to the meeting for an update on the proposed land acquisitions along the river basin, which could create a Central Florida park system of statewide significance.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m., Jan. 28. Refreshments will be served prior to the meeting. For further information, contact Shirley Lippi, 682-2600.

Honored for service

Lewis Bell was recently honored by United Parcel Service for completing 20 years of service with the company. Bell, who is a delivery driver with the UPS operation in Longwood, was cited for his loyal service contributions to UPS. He began his career as a delivery driver in 1972. Bell and his wife Ruth live in Casselberry. They have two children, Sheri, 36, and Jeff, 31.

Push for better business math

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Seminole County Public School system is planning to revise the math curriculum from kindergarten through 12th grade. The changes will be designed in keeping with the changing workplaces.

In order to help facilitate the changes, a questionnaire is being sent out throughout Seminole County.

In all, five questions are being asked of area business owners and/or operators. They seek input regarding the type of business, level of math skills needed, skill levels of present student age employees, and examples of math problems employees may face during the average work day.

The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce has sent copies of the questionnaire to its membership in its January publication of Liaison. The Longwood/Winter Springs area Chamber of Commerce has also included copies in its January newsletter.

Responses are to be sent to the Seminole County Public Schools administrative office, 1211 Mellonville Avenue as soon as possible.

For further information, or for business leaders who are not chamber members to be involved in this mathematic course determination, contact Bob Falatic at the School Board, 322-1252, ext. 340.

Ribbon cutting

Computer board focus is business

By DEL FREEMAN
Herald Correspondent

Hewie Poplock operates FABulous BBS, at FABulous PC's, and shares facilities with Jim Daly at TSD in Longwood. Poplock first developed his board in Clearwater while employed in the Food and Beverage industry, hence the FAB anagram. When he retired, he kept his logo by devoting his board to Finance and Business, and moved his board to Longwood in 1987.

For business devotees, Poplock provides programs and information on business in general, tracking stocks and investments, real estate information, wordprocessing, spreadsheet, and utility programs, and conferences devoted to business.

"A business might call FAB to find out how to make a program work properly, or to seek an individualized modification of a program specific to their needs," Poplock said.

A business also might call FAB if it wanted to obtain computer programs called shareware, which are programs written by individuals who first provide them for "testing" before making any charge to the public.

One of the programs available on FAB, ASEASY, is a spreadsheet program which has been reviewed as superior to Lotus 1.2.3. A user who picks up ASEASY, or other programs from FAB, would ultimately pay what is called a registration fee of anywhere from $15 to $35. ASEASY has recently come out with an updated version and is enacting a $50 registration fee, but the user now receives an instruction manual for his fee, still a considerable savings over the $695 the user could expect to pay for the Lotus program.

Another benefit to a business that seeks its utilities programs from FAB, is the ability to join a conference devoted to that shareware program, where he might readily encounter the author of the program. If there is a glitch, the programmer who wrote the program is available to assist in working it out. If a specific modification is needed, the same expertise is available to the user. Commercial programs generally provide some support assistance via an 800 number, but users say speaking with the programmer via BBS is both a faster and easier solution.

Poplock estimates he has about $10,000 invested in equipment, and 35,000 programs on line for downloading.

Aside from getting new, perhaps better programs for business use at nominal cost, the average business can expect to find numerous conferences devoted to each type of software and shareware, where experts will advise on problems incurred. Poplock said FAB is an excellent source of business contacts, and often results in job placement between participants. He discourages games and messaging for social purposes, he said, and concentrates on business needs and solutions.

Somewhere among Poplock's thousands of available shareware programs, (which increase on a daily basis), a business can find comments from commercial programmers as to a specific program's value and/or ease of use. And the business can find the program that does exactly what needs doing at about one-tenth the cost of a commercial program.

Any business considering a computer investment can save both time and money, Poplock said, by first consulting with the experts on the FAB board. The program needed could well be readily available, along with the expertise to implement it.

Poplock can be reached at 625 Oxford St., Longwood, 331-0130.

Remember to heed recall of safety seat

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

Florida Agriculture and Consumer Services Commissioner Bob Crawford is concerned over child safety seats. Recalls to repair defects have not proven successful.

Crawford believes possibly over 8 million children could be at risk because free recommended repairs to correct automobile safety seat defects have not been made.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, NHTSA, has reported that response, from 11 of 16 safety recalls, has proven to be less than 10 percent.

"The recommended repairs are free," Crawford said, "but owners of the seats are either unaware of the hazard or do not view the problem as serious."

He continued, "I urge all owners of child safety seats to examine the products, determine if they are involved in a recall, and take appropriate action." He added, "Don't take chances with child safety."

According to the NHTSA, 19 models of child safety seats produced by seven companies were determined to have defects. The 16 recalls involve over 9 million seats, but repairs have been made on only 420,000.

Manufacturers with outstanding recalls include the following: Evenflo Juvenile Products, 4 million seats; Fisher-Price, 3 million; Century Products, 2 million; World Toys, 720 seats; Virco Manufacturing, 298 seats.

The problems vary from latch defects and unclear directions for threading shoulder harnesses to flammability hazards and risk of injury from parts broken during accidents.

"Properly designed and manufactured child safety seats are extremely effective and their use is required by law in every state," Crawford said.

Crawford's department is the state's main agency for consumer matters, and serves as a clearinghouse for inquiries and complaints from consumers as well as regulating certain businesses.

For dancer, New York was a direct leap from Sanford

By ED KORBAN
Herald Correspondent

SANFORD — She is leading a life every girl dreams about. At age 20, her goal is no longer a dream. She's made it. She's Jenny Gruby of Sanford.

Jenny, a 1990 graduate of Seminole High School and daughter of Marsha and James Gruby, got the chance of a lifetime last March when the officials of "Will Rogers Follies" called and invited her to New York City for a second audition and a chance to dance in the very popular Broadway show.

She had already auditioned in Orlando in January and had made the second call back. She felt like she had had a fun time and her dancing seemed to please the auditors. While talking with the auditors they had told her that they were possibly looking for dancers to replace dancers who had left the New York show.

Jenny said, "I had pretty much forgotten about the audition because it was kind of a big dream. You know it is something that you always want and you always see but it is something like ten steps down the road. I was just starting out in professional dancing and I kind of could see my way up to New York but I never dreamed of a direct leap from Sanford to New York. I also had many other things happening to me at that time including working at Disney World."

"And then I got a call. The day after Christmas last year. What a Christmas present! Actually it was so weird because I was at work when the call came in. So my mom called me at work and she had to tell me. I remember I was so excited I ran until I found a phone to call these people. It was the casting agency asking me if I could come up for another audition in New York. I told them okay, sure I can."

Jenny continued, "I flew up last year on the first of January and auditioned on the second, which was a Thursday. When I was asked to go up there I didn't really know what the situation was so I planned on staying through the weekend with a couple of friends and just playing around. They hired me on the spot and I had to be back in New York to start rehearsals Monday morning. Within a matter of an hour I had gone through all the nerves of getting ready for an audition and auditioning for all those people including the musical composer and the people from the casting agency, hmmm. There were about eight people out there. I went through the singing, the famous walk used by the company, and the kicks. Then they said 'okay, you're hired.' I was going like 'whoaaa, okay, slow down, world.'"

"Five minutes after that I was in their office. They were trying shoes and hats on me and doing all my measurements. The same time I was calling my mom to tell her I got the job." Everything went so fast and Jenny was so excited in what was happening to her. It was like a dream come true, she said. She flew back home on Friday but returned Monday to begin rehearsals and was put in the show the following Friday

Vans stopped

RSVP vehicles absorbed over half annual budget

By ED KORBAN
Herald Correspondent

In December, Beverly Wells, director of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP), Seminole County, regretfully announced the discontinuation of the van service which provided transportation for senior volunteers to volunteer job stations throughout the county. She said it was the culmination of a 3-year conflict between the board of directors, ACTION and her.

In 1975, when Seminole Community College discontinued sponsorship of RSVP, a corporation was formed for the sole purpose of sponsoring RSVP. The corporation, Seminole Community Volunteer Program, Inc. and its board of directors became the governing body of RSVP. The board of directors consists of Seminole County businessmen and residents and sit-in meetings are held once a month. The board's position on the transportation problem had been slowly deteriorating for the past three years and finally in December the decision was made to discontinue the van service.

ACTION, a federal agency, operates out of Washington and provides approximately 23 percent of the funding received by RSVP. In the last site visit by the state program officer based in Orlando, the officer again urged RSVP to eliminate the vans because they were costing too much to operate. It was pointed out that over one-half of the general funds was being spent on the transportation problem.

The Sechrests honored on golden wedding anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. James Sechrest celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Wednesday, Dec. 23, 1992. James and the former Gertie E. Hutchins were married in Miami while he was stationed there with the U.S. Navy.

They were honored at a dinner party at Shoney's on Lee Road in Orlando when 17 family members and close friends gathered to help the couple celebrate.

The Sechrests have lived in Sanford since 1965 where he worked for Shoemaker Construction until his retirement. He has a home workshop and his hobby is woodcrafting. Gertie has always been a homemaker and kept the home fires burning for her husband and four children.

They are: Linda Barber, Midland, Texas; Nancy Spears, Sanford; Ellen Gibson, Orlando; and Jim Sechrest, Sanford. There are 12 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Star-studded trip

Marsha Gruby was on Cloud Nine this week in anticipation of traveling to San Francisco, along with other moms and chaperones, to see "Hot Mix" perform. The dazzling dance troupe recently won the top honors of $100,000 in Star Search competition.

The dancers, including

James and Gertie Sechrest

Marsha's daughter, Jill, are in San Francisco to entertain at a convention of the National Association of Television and Film Producers.

Marsha said, "It's going to be a lot of fun...a wonderful opportunity to perform and be seen." The entourage expects to return Wednesday after an exciting trip — compliments of Star Search.

Marsha and Jill will arrive from San Francisco after daughter and sister, Jenny, opens in Orlando, in "Will Rogers Follies." They will miss opening night (Tuesday), but will probably catch at least two performances to see Jenny strut her stuff.

Charline Morgan Allen turns 100

A century ago on Jan. 23, a special baby girl was born to Charlie and Nellie Morgan in the town of Plymouth, Fla. She was Charline Morgan Allen who celebrated her 100th birthday with her family and friends at a gala affair held at the Sanford Garden Club.

Mrs. Allen, the oldest of eight children and the only child living, moved to Sanford in 1905 when she was 12 years of age. The Morgans moved to (Canaan City), a part of East Sanford where Mrs. Allen said there were only three houses at the time. Her schooling as she recalls began in Plymouth and then she attended school in Midway.

Mrs. Allen's mother was the first schoolteacher in Midway where there were no schools or churches but the children were taught at the home of the Morgans. Deacon Charlie Morgan, father of Charline Morgan Allen, founded the first church in the community of Canaan City as it was called. St. Matthew Missionary Baptist Church is still serving that East Sanford community which has grown tremendously.

Mrs. Morgan-Allen met and married the Rev. E.J. Allen and they celebrated 50 years of marital bliss before his death in 1968. Throughout her many years she was a lovable, smiling Christian who was always thinking of others. Mrs. Allen at the age of 100, still remembers the very active life she lived with her minister husband who served as pastor of Macedonia Primitive Baptist Church, Sanford.

She has fond memories of her life as a minister's wife, the many churches, associations and conventions she attended. She says her life has been one of dedication and love toward her three nieces she reared: Lucille Walker who lives with her and cares for her daily; also her nieces Cora Lee Morgan, Millie Jones; and grandson Rickey

Couple reaffirm vows on their 2nd anniversary

COCOA, Fla. — Cynthia J. Flanders and Loran F. Smith were married Dec. 19, 1990, at San Angelo, Texas. The bride is formerly of Sanford and the bridegroom is from Geneva.

As an Army reservist, the bride was attending a military specialty school in Texas. When she graduated in December, 1990, she expected to be sent back to Orlando to be deployed to Saudi Arabia.

But during her stay in Texas, the bridegroom proposed and flew to Texas where they were married that day.

The bride dressed in a shopping mall restroom and they were married by a judge in a small courtroom next to a holding cell at the sheriff's department. Their honeymoon was a trip back to Florida.

And now, two years later, the couple decided they wanted to reaffirm their vows in a formal ceremony which took place on their second anniversary, Dec. 19, 1992, at 7:30 p.m., at the Porcher House, a historic landmark of Cocoa Village, Cocoa. A friend and director of the ceremony, Helen Scrivener, married the couple.

The bride is the daughter of C.B. Flanders of Geneva and Grace and James Benton of Oak Hill.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Lee Smith of Huntsville, Ala., and the late Mr. Loran Smith.

The bride was met at the front door and escorted up the aisle by the groom. She wore an ivory antique lace gown in the style of the 1920s. The gown was high necked, with pearls scattered throughout the gown. The gown featured a small train with ruffles to mid-length skirt in front. The spaghetti-strap underdress was ivory satin. Her headpiece of illusion veil was caught by an open circular band of lace and pearls. She carried a bouquet of longstemmed off-white bridal roses interspersed with greenery, pearls and ivory bows.

Bridal attendants were Deborah Thompson, Teresa Hancock, Coral Landry, Jessica Ciancotto and Cheryn Hall. Also, Tammy and Danielle Smith, daughters of the groom. All wore black, off-the-shoulder, knee-length dresses with white pearl necklaces and white pearl earrings.

Flower girls were Amber Yvette and Charmaine Cynthia Flanders, the bride's nieces. A reception followed the wedding ceremony at Porcher House. Songs dedicated to the bride and groom were "So Amazing" by Carolyn McClellan, "Unforgettable" by Lester Smith and "Love in Any Language" by Mary Kelly.

Following a wedding trip to Huntsville and Savannah, Ga., the couple are residing in Kissimmee. Both the bride and groom are security police at Cape Canaveral Air Force Station where the bride has been stationed for 11 years and the bridegroom for 10 years.

SCC leisure programs

Leisure Programs at Seminole Community College announces that the following courses will begin during the week of Feb. 1:

How to Manage Anger — Mondays, 2/1-3/8, 7-9 p.m. Learn how to identify anger and cope with the painful effects it generates. Learn ways to intervene with anger and convert it from a negative response to a creative and powerful source of energy. Cost: $35/per person.

Landscape Painting — Tuesdays, 2/3-2/23, 1-4 p.m. Paint in any medium you choose. Most sessions will be held "on location" in the Central Florida area. The concentration will be on painting plus developing drawing and composition skills. Designed to increase the student's ability to observe while creating visual excitement. Cost: $40/per person.

Oil and Acrylics Painting — Thursdays, 2/4-2/25, 11:15 a.m.-2:15 p.m. Basic to advanced techniques with emphasis on use of color, composition and perspective as applied to portrait, figure, still life, and landscape painting. Call for a list of supplies. Cost: $40/per person.

Assertiveness Training I — Saturdays, 2/6-3/13, 9-11 a.m. Designed to help participants identify present day, non-effective communication skills, this course includes teaching alternative assertiveness communication techniques and skills. Cost: $35/per person.

Vans

ACTION also pointed out that of the 35 RSVP organizations in the state of Florida, Seminole was the only organization that was trying to fund transportation for its members.

Wells stated, "We have tried to keep these vans going all these years. The last three years or so, because of rising costs of everything, it has been a constant problem getting the funds to keep them up. Everytime the board of directors or the council or anybody said 'you have got to get rid of the vans I would fight to keep them.' I said many times these people depend on these vans and we have just got to figure out some way to keep them. But nobody raised enough money. I applied to five different foundations and corporations to raise money to keep the vans. So far I haven't got anything. Money is just tight all over. Even businesses and corporations are having trouble financially."

The RSVP Transportation system has become a very expensive item and money was the determining factor in the elimination of the program. The main expenses of the vans are as follows: To run four vans and be completely covered by insurance cost $8,000 yearly.

The cost of drivers was broken down as follows: Salaries for drivers working approximately 100 hours per week totalled annually $28,000. Workman's Compensation insurance for the drivers cost $12 per $100 of salary or annually $3,500. Gas for the vans was averaging $1,300 per month which figured annually to be $15,600.

The combined figure for the cost of the vans totalled $55,700. This figure didn't even include the cost of maintenance, upkeep, cleaning and licensing of the vans and the drivers. All the vans are out of warranty and all repairs are paid by RSVP.

There are 774 enrolled members of Seminole County RSVP and approximately 110 were using the transportation. The purpose of the vans was to transport members who had no way to get to their work stations. It is known that many of the members who were transported could possibly have had a way to the stations but chose the van service because it was free transportation directly to the door of the work station.

An 86-year-old man was asked how he felt about the problem. He was riding the van to go to lunch every day and would occasionally help at the senior citizens center in Caselberry. He had no hard feelings about the discontinuance of the van because he found another bus that would pick him up and take him to the center.

A woman member of RSVP said her group that got together in the afternoons would miss the service. She is going to have to find another way to get her groceries on Tuesday afternoon. She also felt that maybe the people who rode the vans could pay for the service that was provided. When she was informed that materials she needed to do her volunteer work could be delivered to her home she felt that the more important thing was to be able to get together with her group to do her volunteer work.

Wells stated, "It seems that some dissatisfaction came from those who have been going to sewing groups. Essentially that is all they have to do. They have centered their life around that group. I am sorry socialization is not the purpose of RSVP. I am afraid many of our members think RSVP will fold without the vans. Of course that is not true."

RSVP's budget for the year is approximately $130,000. The vans had been budgeted at approximately $80,000 for the year. RSVP owns the vans. Two were purchased from money from the foundations. One came from United Way and the other came from Seminole County. The van from the county will be turned back to the county and two of the other vans will be sold. RSVP plans to keep one van to carry supplies back and forth from homes and to assist in the big project, the Christmas Store.

Seminole County provides RSVP with approximately 35 percent of its funding and United Way provides approximately 21 percent.

Bridge in session

Something new has been added to the Sanford Women's Club - monthly bridge games which began Jan. 13.

According to Libby Prevatt, organizer, high score for the day was won by Shirley Mills, second high by Audrey Roush and third by Emy Sobel.

The next bridge game will be held Feb. 10, at 1 p.m., at the woman's club. Members and their guests are asked to make reservations through Libby.

Other participants in this month's games were Carolyn Cornelius, Isabel Wilson, Shirley Schilke, Toni Hobson, Rose Jacobson, Fran Wilson, Ester Herbst, Emy Bill and Libby.

According to Libby, beginning bridge lessons are in the works. She said the club's Carrie Greene, Silver Medal winner in the Golden Age Games Bridge Tournament, promises to be present at the February session.

Celebrity gala

In celebration of the 25th anniversary of Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole, the board of directors has scheduled a silver anniversary tribute to the founders of BGS, the Rye sisters, Miriam Doktor and Valerie Weld.

The event, a dinner, celebrity roast and other entertainment, will be held at the Omni Hotel in Orlando, Saturday, April 3, beginning at 6 p.m.

Tickets are priced at $35 per person, adults, and $15 for each child, with a choice of a vegetable or a beef and chicken dual entree. Those who wish to attend may place their reservation by sending a check for the appropriate amount, payable to Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole, to: BGS, C/O Ken Doktor, PO Box 1381, Sanford 32772-1381. Please include your name and address and indicate your choice of entree.

This event is the climax to the BGS silver anniversary year which will conclude with the Silver Anniversary Ballet on April 24 and 25.

Do Do Day

Save the day - Feb. 13. That's when the First United Methodist Church will hold its annual Do Do Day. There will be a variety of items for sale as well as a fish fry, from 4 to 7 p.m., for $5.

Some old flames never die; the embers keep on glowing

DEAR ABBY: Can you stand another "lost love" story like the one about the woman and her American airman? (She signed her letter with the name of a popular song of the '40s, "It's Been a Long, Long Time.") She asked if she should try to locate her old love whom she had not seen since World War II. It was about the same time I was involved in a very intense, but brief, relationship. It ended because I had a commitment that had to take precedence over our love.

ADVICE
ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

For the next 40 years, my old love was never very far from my mind, even though I had no idea whether he was dead or alive. Then recently, in an unbelievable stroke of fate, we met face to face, and all the intensity of our feelings for each other came flooding back!

Sounds like a happy ending, right? Wrong! We are still committed to others. Nevertheless, we are both aware that the old flame never went out completely.

No city or state, please. Sign me with the name of another popular song of that era...

"THAT OLD FEELING"
DEAR OLD FEELING: This is the stuff of which dreams (and nightmares) are made. Read on:
DEAR ABBY: "Bill" and I have been married for more than 40 years. About two years ago, he received a long-distance telephone call at home. It was a voice from out of the past! It seems a woman he had known had been recently widowed and was calling to inquire about Bill's marital status — maybe hoping he was also alone, and they could take up where they had left off many years ago. Can you imagine the nerve?

Bill was practically tongue-tied, but he told her politely that he had been very much married for a good many years.

I realize that times have changed, and women are much more aggressive these days and anything goes, but calling a man at his home not knowing the circumstances is a little too much, don't you think?

UPSET ON LONG ISLAND
DEAR UPSET: Don't be upset

— the poor woman probably was alone and reminiscing. You can't blame a woman for inquiring. Nothing ventured, nothing gained.

DEAR ABBY: Your "Operation Abby" is a big hit here in Korea. I have picked up several letters that your readers have sent, and I am currently corresponding with 10 people from the U.S.A. I am even writing to a class of schoolchildren.

Without Operation Abby, it would have been a very lonely holiday for many of us. I am a 32-year-old single man, and this isn't my first time being far from home during the holidays.

I want to let the folks back home know that they can sleep soundly at night because there are a lot of dedicated men and women here who are willing to lay down their lives for their country.

And I want to express my heartfelt thanks to you and wish all the caring people of the greatest nation on earth a Happy New Year. Thank you, Abby, from the bottom of our collective hearts.

GRATEFUL IN KOREA

Jenny

New York was so great, Jenny said. She continued, "While I was there I took many, many dance classes. It was really great because I could get into different programs with different teachers. Our show was at night so I had many days to do anything I wanted. If there was an audition I was interested in, I would do the audition just to get myself seen and everything. It is so important. It takes a good two to three months to start getting seen and getting noticed and then to build a name and a reputation. It takes a very long time. I was actually at the point where I think I was building a name and reputation and getting myself known a little bit more when I left."

Jenny is so excited when she talks about the famous people she has met so far. She worked with Mac Davis before she left New York. He is the male lead in the Broadway production. The male lead in the traveling company is Keith Carradine. Through the many parties and benefits she has attended she has met Donald Trump, Cyd Charisse, Tommy Tune and many others. She exclaimed, "They are all just such wonderful and beautiful people. I am enjoying every minute of this dream."

Jenny left the New York company because she was only contracted for six months to replace an injured dancer. When it came time to cast the road company she was invited to join that company as one of the swing dancers. She wanted to stay in New York but there were so many more advantages to going on the road. It was a tough decision for her to make.

Jenny related, "They asked me, 'Would you prefer to stay here or would you like to go on the road?' I didn't know. That was a hard decision to make! In New York I was doing so much and I was just seeing a lot of different things. I could definitely tell my dancing strength was getting better and every show I improved on the stage. But there were so many cities I had never been to and known really nothing about and so I decided it could be pretty much fun if I chose the road show."

The show opened in San Francisco which Jenny said was great. "We have been in Florida since Christmas week and we are here, until the end of January. So even though I am not actually home I can come home on the weekends. I have been coming home on Sundays and staying through Tuesday morning."

Jenny Gruby shows off her Will Rogers Follies jacket while visiting at her Sanford home before the show opens Tuesday in Orlando.

Traveling has taken her to many different theaters. Jenny finds them fascinating. She said, "It is very interesting, playing in all those theaters is one of the neatest things about this job. They have some really old ones in St. Louis and Memphis and they are incredible. Just the way the house is built just fascinates me."

"Oh! They are so neat. You just go into the audience seats and look around you and not even see the show. In those places when you get out front and in the lobby everything is so ornate and beautiful and so huge. Even the people who have worked in those theaters for years and years are interesting. They tell us ghost stories and all the different things that have happened in the theater."

backstage. Everything is so crowded. In Florida we have new theaters and the backstage area is just as large as the front of the house. It's like some weeks we just have the width of our bodies to dress and some weeks you can just spread out."

The show is also scheduled to play in Atlanta, Nashville, Richmond, Pittsburgh and Raleigh for the next months. It is scheduled until July 1993 and will play the final three months in Los Angeles. Jenny will then get another chance to further her career as she is planning to look around before she finally decides in what direction to go. You can bet the movies are in this girl's mind.

"Will Rogers Follies" opens in Orlando on Jan. 26 and runs through the Jan. 31 at Bob Carr Performing Arts Center. Tuesday through Saturday evening performances begin at 8 p.m. and Thursday, Saturday and Sunday matinee performances begin at 2 p.m.

Optimists plan golf tournament

Dale Coppock, center, of the Sanford Optimist Club welcomes two local visitors to a recent meeting. Tim Raines, left, has been playing major league baseball for 12 years, the last two with the Chicago White Sox. Jeff Blake, right, is a quarterback with the New York Jets. Also visiting was Blake's father, Emory Blake, football coach at Seminole High School. The club plans a golf tournament to be held soon at the DeBary Plantation. For information, call Coppock at 324-1277.

Crenshaw, Chiles take center stage in session

By GUY ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — This year's legislative session could offer a glimpse of the 1994 governor's race as Republican Senate President Ander Crenshaw spars with Democrat Gov. Lawton Chiles over taxes and the budget.

The two are among the major players at the Capitol, which finds itself with a Senate under Republican management for the first time in 118 years when lawmakers convene Feb. 2.

The Democratic-dominated House is led by Speaker Bolley "Bo" Johnson, D-Milton, and a host of freshmen in both chambers will be more prominent than usual because of the huge turnover rate last year.

In 1992, Crenshaw led efforts to block Chiles' $2.5 billion plan to end dozens of tax exemptions, and this year promises to be little different with the governor's new, slimmed-down $630 million tax plan.

"We're trying to kind of pioneer a new way of doing the budget," said Sen. William "Doc" Myers, R-Hobe Sound. "Pay as you go."

Chiles will counter with a brand-new team of aides: Chief of Staff Tom Herndon, Budget Director David Coburn, Communications Director Ron Sachs and lobbyist Bebe Blount. Former Chief of Staff Jim Krog has returned to the private lobbying ranks with the Steel, Hector and Davis law firm.

Crenshaw, considered a likely 1994 GOP candidate for governor, lost a major ally when veteran Sen. Richard Langley of Clermont was defeated for re-election.

There are four senators Crenshaw wants in the room when he makes a major decision: Rules Committee Chairwoman Toni Jennings of Orlando, Appropriations Committee Chairman Jim Scott of Fort Lauderdale, Finance and Taxation Committee Chairman Curt Kiser of Palm Harbor and Bill Bankhead of Jacksonville, aides and senators said.

The five of them will largely control the flow of legislation in the Senate, but there's a wild card this year.

Eight freshmen already have gained committee chairmanships in the Senate and are pushing for a number of rules changes to reduce the control of the majority party.

Sen. Daryl Jones, D-Miami, gained prominence by sponsoring Hurricane Andrew relief bills in December and Sen. Gary Siegel, R-Altamonte Springs, made headlines statewide when he successfully fought to keep convicted murderer Donald McDougall from being released because of overcrowding.

Siegel, who's not shy about publicity and never seems to let his fax machine lie dormant for long, has already gained the admiration of his colleagues.

"Senator Siegel is going to give a lecture on how to become a household word in your first three months in office," joked Sen. Robert Wexler, D-Boca Raton.

Gov. Lawton Chiles spoke in Sanford recently at the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Unity Prayer Breakfast.

Write A Want Ad That Sells!

YOUR CLASSIFIED AD works best when it contains what the reader wants to know.

GIVE FACTS
Put yourself in the buyer's place. What would you want to know? List the item's age, condition, size, brand name, model and approximate value. If you're selling a car, state the type of transmission, mileage (if it's low) and special equipment.

DON'T EMBELLISH
It's risky business to exaggerate and it won't increase your chance of success. Misleading information may get a buyer to your home. It may also get you a Greek in the mail.

AVOID ABBREVIATIONS
While a few abbreviations can save you space, too many of them string together and create confusion. A confused reader won't take time to sort out your meaning.

INCLUDE PRICE
Buyers indicate that buyers are more interested in the merchandise when they know the price. This applies to everything from household furnishings to automobiles. Good merchandise, priced fairly, is the best guarantee of success.

BE AVAILABLE
A telephone number is fine if you're at home when your ad runs. If you're not going to be home, state the time you will be. Most people won't call back twice.

USE YOUR NAME
Put your name in your ad. It gives credibility to the item you are advertising. You may even get a letter from someone who has read your ad and has a question about the item. These letters are a great way to get a sale.

IF YOU NEED ADDITIONAL HELP, CALL THE SANFORD HERALD AND WE WILL HELP YOU WORD YOUR AD.

FREEBIE ADS

Take advantage of this special offer

This is a great opportunity for you to enjoy the same great results as our regular classified customers at no cost to you. Just follow these instructions.

1. Ads will be scheduled to run for 10 days.
2. Price of item must be stated in the ad and be $100 or less.
3. Only 1 item per ad and 1 ad per household per week.
4. You should call and cancel as soon as item sells.
5. Available to individuals (non Commercial) only. Does not apply to rentals or garage & yard sales.
6. The ad must be on the form shown below and either be mailed in or presented in person fully prepared to the Sanford Herald Classified Department.
7. Ad will start as soon as possible.
8. Classified Managements decision on copy acceptability will be final.

SANFORD — Starting tomorrow, the Fine Arts Gallery at Seminole Community College will be featuring an exhibit of recent works by New York Thomas Germano. The exhibit will be from Jan. 25 through Feb. 28. Germano will be teaching several of the art classes at SCC through this Wednesday. On Tuesday, Jan. 26, he will be presenting a slide lecture at 7:30 p.m. in the Fine Arts Building, Room G-105. The lecture is free and open to the public. There will also be a welcoming reception for Germano tomorrow from 3 to 5 p.m. For more information, call the Fine Arts Gallery at 323-1450, ext. 438.

Talent show planned at Midway

SANFORD — The students at Midway Elementary School will be presenting a cornucopia of talents at their annual talent show on Thursday, Jan. 28. Beginning at 6:30 p.m. in the school auditorium, 10 students will show off what they can do. At intermission there will be additional entertainment as well. There is a $1 donation required at the door. The money raised will be used to help pay for educational programs at the school. For more information, call the school at 322-1791.

Miss SHS contest set

SANFORD — The annual Miss Seminole High School competition has been scheduled for Jan. 30. The 7:30 p.m. contest is designed to select an ambassador for the school from the senior girls who have qualified as superior in talent, leadership, service and academics. Jon Land, senior representative of Walt Disney World community affairs, will serve as a judge at that competition. The contest is open to the public and will take place in the school auditorium.

Rams debate team roll on to success

LAKE MARY — Adventurous bus trips all over Florida, eating out, juicy gossip, arguing all weekend and sweet victories.

These words sum up the last three years of forensics competition at Lake Mary High School. Lake Mary's debate club is on a roll, this year especially, as the popularity and interest in forensics continues to spread throughout Florida. In addition, LMHS debate has also become a member of the National Forensics League, bringing honor to both the school and the community.

And what is forensics anyway?

Forensics consists of many different forms of intellectual and artistic competition. From team debate to oral interpretation, students compete against one another and are judged against one another and are judged based on technicality and speaking ability.

This takes work, effort and time on the part of the competitors and their coaches, but the effort is rewarded by trophies and team glory.

The biggest advantage of forensics, however, is that it is fun and exciting while challenging the intellect and expanding the students' knowledge in diverse fields.

Lake Mary's most recent success came earlier this month at the Gainesville-Buchholz High School Tournament. The LMHS debate team dominated almost every area of competition and emerged with the most victories.

The team of Dave Carmandy and Chris Johnson took first place in the team debate, Nikki Penne captured first in the Lincoln-Douglas Debate and Marcy Bour took third place in the Oral Interpretation division of individual events.

Lake Mary High School debate will be hosting the next statewide tournament.

Anyone who is interested in finding out what forensics are all about is welcome to attend.

Busy week ahead at Seminole High

SANFORD — Exams are finally over for this semester. Thank goodness! Students all over Seminole High School are releasing a sigh of relief. Soon, Jan. 26, to be exact, report cards are coming out. For some students it's a good thing, for others, a not so good thing. With the beginning of a new semester, though, many exciting and entertaining events are scheduled.

To begin with, the Seminole music and drama department will be presenting Medea, The Contemporary Musical. This present-day version of Medea will be performed by some of the many talented students at Seminole High School.

Thus Greek drama will feature a variety of music from heavy metal to gospel. For those who wish to see this promising-to-be entertaining and enjoyable play, it will be performed on Jan. 27 and 28 at 7:30 p.m. in Seminole High School's auditorium. The admission price is $3 and well worth it.

Also during this busy week, the job fair will be coming to town, so to speak. On Jan. 28, during the English classes, representatives from 30 different companies will be a part of the fair. They will provide the students with information about various careers. Information includes skills needed for that particular career and the benefits that come with pursuing that career.

The fair offers undecided students a chance to survey their options in the job field and those who are decided to gather more information on their intended career.

This is an exciting opportunity for the students.

At the end of the week, on Saturday, Jan. 30, is the Miss SHS competition. This tasteful and attractive affair will be at 7:30 p.m. in Seminole's auditorium. Young ladies of Seminole High will have the chance to show off their talents and make known their accomplishments and goals. Each candidate is nominated by one of the numerous clubs on campus.

Know Your School:

Rock Lake Middle School

School goes into the future as well as back to the basics

LONGWOOD — Paul Cave said that the students at Rock Lake Middle School are well behaved, responsible and academically gifted.

He's lucky, yes. But the school also promotes such qualities in their students through a variety of activities that teach the students to respect themselves and one another.

"You walk around this facility and you see that it's clean and in good condition for a campus that is not that new," Cave said. "The students are very aware of that sort of thing and have a lot of respect for the school."

The students are involved in a number of incentive programs at the school that help enhance their behavior and their self-esteem.

Among the programs that are being done at the school are a monthly video news program shown over closed circuit television in the school and a peer intervention program.

"Good Morning, Rock Lake" is produced by a rotating staff of students who gather the news, videotape the events, interview teachers and other students and serve as on-air anchors.

"They let the whole school in on events that might only have involved a small number of students," Cave explained. "It's a sharing experience and it teaches them some basic technical skills as well."

The peer intervention students act as mediators in minor disputes between students.

Specially trained students sit down with other students who have a disagreement and help them work out their differences.

Busy learning

Sandra Newton, an employee with Seminole Bradley Elswick and Jason Hudson, learn their National Bank helps fifth graders Samantha Vann, lessons.

Goldsboro kids learn economics

SANFORD — Junior Achievement will be training volunteers to present programs introducing the economic system to first, second and third grade students at Goldsboro Elementary School in Sanford.

The focus of the presentations will be helping the students understand the connection between learning in school and participation in the U.S. economy and the contribution of individual workers and consumers within our economy.

The training will be held at Wal-Mart, 3863 Orlando Ave., Sanford.

For more information about how to be a part of the program, call the Dividends office at 834-8211.
