Shirley Temple Plays In "Heidi" At Ritz Sunday

A Shirley Temple more glorious than anyone has ever known and a beloved story that has enthralled millions the world over arrives Sunday on the screen of the Ritz Theatre in the never-to-be-forgotten picture, "Heidi," Johanna Spyri's enchanting tale brought to such laughing, loving life by Twentieth Century-Fox that it touches the deepest corners of the heart.

Everywhere readers in all languages have been charmed by the warmth, tenderness and beauty of the Swiss Alps and all the colorful folk dwelling just under the stars, into whose lives "Heidi" brings tenderness and mirth and courage. An embittered mountain-top exile is reclaimed from his fierce hate of the world by the heroine, who brings him a new seat for life and a young girl is given strength and the will to walk again in the story that has thrilled readers of every country.

"Heidi," one of the world's famous stories, had to wait for its star before it could be brought to the screen, declares Darryl F. Zanuck, and the reason is evident. Shirley was cast in the title role in response to the thousands of movie fans who besieged the studio with requests that she play the part.

The result is a picture for which she will be remembered always. Ideally cast and gloriously portrayed, the screen play by Walter Ferris and Julien Josephson is an achievement in transcribing a familiar and beloved story to the screen.

Heading the cast is Jean Hersholt, famous veteran actor who gives his greatest characterization as the grandfather of "Heidi." A return to the Alps, the character is the most difficult he has ever had to portray, Hersholt says, because the burden of the delineation is placed on physical mannerisms and attention to details of action and dress.

"The Last Gangster"

James Stewart and Rose Stradner, M.G.M.'s latest screen find, are cast with Edward G. Robinson in "The Last Gangster" at the Ritz Theatre Wednesday and Thursday.

New Comedy Team In "Breakfast For Two"

Introducing a brilliant new light comedy team in the persons of Barbara Stanwyck and Herbert Marshall, "Breakfast For Two" is offering repels with witty dialogue, mirth-provoking situations and clever characterizations.

Barbara Stanwyck is cast as a fiery debutante from Texas who becomes interested in a Broadway playboy whom she meets in a night club and escorts home in a tipy stage.

Learning that the charming ne'er-do-well, as played by Marshall, is sadly neglecting a steamship line to which he has fallen heir, and is squandering his income on Glenda Farrell, a dizzy actress, Miss Stanwyck decides to reform him and then marry him, despite his plans to the contrary.

To this end she employs her own vast fortune to gain control of the shipping business, and places Marshall in the position where he has to work for a living. Miss Stanwyck, with Marshall's faithful man-servant, Eric Blore manages to make a man out of the spendthrift in spite of himself.

Edward Robinson Has Stellar Role In Gangster Film

Edward G. Robinson, who played the first gangster in motion pictures, now plays the last. He comes Wednesday to the Ritz Theatre in "The Last Gangster," a dramatic story of a man's term in a penitentiary, with James Stewart, Rose Stradner, glamorous new actress from Vienna, and a notable cast.

"The Last Gangster" tells of the imprisonment of a "public enemy" and the struggle of his wife, who did not know his calling, to lose her identity and save their child from the disgrace attached to his name.

Miss Stradner plays the wife and Stewart the newspaperman, who befriends her and with whom she finally finds happiness. Edward Ludwig directed from a screen play by John Lee Mahin.

A riot in the mess hall of a Federal penitentiary, grim details of prison life, and the armored car train, roaring activity in great newspaper offices, and inner workings and haunts of gangland provide the dramatic background for the central romance.

The dramatic highlight is the scene in prison where Miss Stradner tells Robinson she at last knows the truth, and must leave him and take their baby away forever.

Players include Lionel Stander as the gangster's henchman, Douglas Scott, John Carradine, Sidney Blackmer, Grant Mitchell, Edward S. Brophy, Alan Baxter, Frank Conroy and Louise Beavers.

The superiority of animals to men, said Bernard Shaw recently, is shown in the fact that in fifty years we shall perhaps have invented a machine that will milk cows without the presence of the farmer, but never without the cow. Saucha Guiry in "Vendettaire" (Paris).

SHIRLEY TEMPLE IN "HEIDI"

Joe E. Brown Is Cast As Reporter In "Fit For A King"

Joe E. Brown travels abroad in his latest adventure comedy, "Fit for a King," with the fast action leading from New York into a mythical kingdom where Joe, cast as a newshawk, meets a Missouri girl destined to become a queen.

Joe starts his adventures as a reporter, stowed away on a liner to track down a story. Put in the brig through the efforts of Kelly, a rival correspondent, two objectives immediately become uppermost in Joe's mind. One, revenge on Kelly, the other, a successful conclusion to his assignment.

The story they are covering concerns a plot to restore a princess to the throne of a mythical kingdom. The princess (Helen Mack) has been reared in America. While Joe and the princess become acquainted in the moonlight, Kelly puts the story on the wire and scores an outright scoop.

Joe locates the town where the princess and her party will enter their kingdom. He sends Kelly off on a wild goose chase and heads for the spot. But Kelly beats him again. Things look pretty black for Joe until he digs up the biggest story of all, a plot to murder the princess. But there is no time to bother about journalism. The princess must first be saved. The Joe accomplishes in a series of fast events, at the same time gives Kelly a big new beat. Then he gives Kelly another news item. He and the princess are returning to America to be married.

A large cast of favorites in "Fit For a King" include Harry Davenport, Hallmark Hobbs, John Qualen, Frank Rehak and Russell Hicks. Edward Sedgwick directed.

Hugh Herbert, Allen Jenkins In Ritz Film

Those two expert portrayals of screen dummies, Hugh Herbert and Allen Jenkins, will be seen on the screen at the Ritz Theatre next Saturday in what is described as the funniest mystery farce they have ever attempted.

Radio Funsters Make Debut In Picture At Ritz

Mary Livingstone, plus her delightful laugh, and Fibber McGee and Molly, those inimitable funsters of radio fame, make an auspicious screen debut in one of the biggest laugh-getters ever to come out of the Paramount studios, the musical comedy-romance "This Way Please" which plays Tuesday at the Ritz Theatre.

Conceived in the gay tradition which made "Walkie Wedding," "Turn Off the Moon" and other musical comedies the smash hits of the year, "This Way Please" goes all the way in giving a full portion of side-splitting humor, ear-catching melodies and the wholesome brand of romance.

In addition to the three top-notch radio humorists, the comedy brings to the screen Charlie "Buddy" Rogers as a heart-breaking band leader, the young and blond Betty Grable, who can't resist his allure, but perpetually sour-pussed comedian, Ned Sparks in the role of a phony-idea press agent, and Lee Bowman, who made such an impression in "I Met Him in Paris," "Last Train From Madrid" and "Sophie Lang Goes West," as the enterprising theatre manager.

Also add, for generous measure, a quartet of outstanding comedians in Rufe Davis, Romy Vernon, Wally Vernon and Jerry Bergen and a chorus of beautiful girls trained by LaRoy Prins, Paramount dance director.

Charles "Buddy" Rogers, so the story goes, is ripe for romance when along comes Betty Grable, a song and dance girl needing a job. Betty becomes an usherette and falls under the spell of the band leader's spell. The band leader retaliates by falling for her. Ned Sparks is all for making something of this romance. Trouble begins when Rogers gets a lead from his job and believing Betty to blame plans his revenge. He proposes to her and arranges a stage wedding.

SANTA WHITE FOX AND THE WOLF

By SIGRID ARNE

THE STORY SO FAR: Helga, one of Santa's dolls, is warned by a tin soldier against a white fox who wants to take her skin. But Helga slips out with the white fox anyway.

Chapter Six
Midnight Journey
The moon raised both his eyebrows very high and pursed his mouth into a big, round "O-o-o," when he saw Helga skimming over the ice behind the white fox.

The North Wind ran up from the west and scurried about the fox kicking up snow, and the North Star blinked as though he couldn't believe his eyes.

After an hour the fox stopped in a forest path to catch his breath. "How do you like it?" he asked. "It's wonderful," said Helga. "So much more fun than the silly games we play at the toyshop."

"Certainly," said the fox. "You're not like the other dolls."

"That's right," said another little voice, and two fir cones fell into Helga's lap. Helga looked up and saw a young fir tree bowing. It said, "We know you. You're the North Star's doll."

Sharp Claws
Helga thanked the fir for the cones, but then she looked half frightened. The white fox walked up to the tree, stretched up his paws, put his sharp claws and began to scratch the trunk of the tree. The fir shivered and said, "O-o," in a small voice.

"Please, white fox, maybe it hurts," said Helga.

The fox stopped, saying, "It's good for the tree. It will grow tougher bark." Helga felt afraid and remembered what the tin soldier had said, but in a minute the fox bounded toward her saying, "In half an hour we'll reach the sea."

Helga was so excited she forgot about the tree. And the fox did look pretty, and he ran so fast. Just as the fox said, in half an

Fruitmen Advised To "Fire" Groves

Low Readings In Each Town Forecast For 7 O'clock Tuesday

LAKELAND, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The weather bureau forecast sub-freezing temperatures and killing frost for Florida's fruit and vegetable growing areas during the night and advised growers to take all precautions to save their crops.

The bureau's frost warning service here predicted the temperature would fall as low as 19 degrees—32 is freezing—at Lake City in extreme North Florida and as low as 31 degrees at Pahokee in the Lake Okechobee section of the Everglades.

Meteorologist E. S. Ellison advised fruitmen to start firing groves about 9:00 P. M. in extreme North Florida and in some sections of the center of the state.

He added vegetable growers should use precautions to prevent killing frost from destroying their crops.

Forecasters said the low reading in each community probably would be registered about 7:00 A. M. tomorrow.

Their forecast for tomorrow and Wednesday was "fair and cool with frost in Florida districts Wednesday night and Thursday morning."

The cold wave which covered most of the eastern half of the country today and was especially severe in the South was reported to be moving slowly eastward.

Pensacola, in extreme North-west Florida had a low reading of 34 this morning.

The forecast for low readings included Crescent City 28, Plover 26, DeLand 26, Sanford 28, Orlando 27, Fern Park 29, Forest City 26, Plymouth 28, Winter Garden 28, Conway 27, Doctor Phillips 27, Kissimmee 29, Umatilla 26, Howey 26.

Lindberghs Return For Visit In U.S.

Famous Pair Arrive Unexpectedly Yesterday On Liner President Harding

ENGLEWOOD, New Jersey, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh are home from a two-year exile abroad but the guarded acres of the Morrow estate hold the secret of why they have come and how long they will stay.

The hero of American aviation and his wife, Anne, alighted unheralded into New York yesterday morning aboard the United States liner President Harding.

The return of the Lindberghs—a stunning surprise to the small contingent of ship news reporters and cameramen who had gone to meet the ship on their routine assignments, little expecting to find the flier and his wife—marked another chapter in the strange saga of flight that began December 22, 1935.

His home-coming was almost as secretive as his departure. Only a sharp-eyed cameraman, who happened to be lingering near the third-class gangplank and spotted the slim, serious-faced colonel hurrying down the plank, disclosed his presence.

On his departure two years ago he was far out at sea before the news became known. At that time the tidings, as the London Daily Herald expressed it, "astonished the United States."

The shock received by millions of Americans reading the news is comparable only to that which would occur in England should the Prince of Wales announce he no longer felt secure in his own country.

The report, which Lindbergh never denied or confirmed, was that he had taken his small family to seek a haven in England because life in America had become "unbearable." Grounds for the charge were an aftermath of the kidnap-murder of his first-born son and the trial of Hauptmann.

Brief visit indicated. Ship's officers said today that Colonel Lindbergh boarded the President Harding at Southampton wearing dark sun glasses with his coat collar turned up and covering the lower part of his face with his arms. He appeared worried, they said, but he is recognized before the ship left harbor.

"Their visit will be brief," one of the liner's officers said. "They plan to return abroad immediately after Christmas."

Emil Berstappen, night steward, who attended the Lindberghs, said the colonel was "quite liberal," handing out $5 tips.

The famous couple sat at the "honor place" at the captain's table throughout the trip, with the 36-year-old aviator, who made the first solo flight across the Atlantic in 1927, wearing a tuxedo and black tie.

Once his identity became known, nearly all the passengers asked Colonel Lindbergh for his autograph, which he declined to give. He did sign the menus of the guests at the captain's table, however, on the last night of the voyage.

On boarding the ship at Southampton, the colonel and his wife secluded themselves in their cabin, behind locked doors, for four hours until the vessel left Queenstown—the last port before setting out to sea.

Not a policeman was present today, however, and by now an expert at dodging crowds, the colonel made his "escape" in a matter of minutes.

On board the vessel, which sailed November 27 from Southampton, the Lindberghs occupied the suite recently used by Gen. John J. Pershing when he went to France.

Balked Photographer's Efforts. Fred H. Mann, the ship's photographer, as usual, balked persistent efforts to photograph him. At last, he said, he succeeded in getting a hastily-snapped and consequently blurred picture.

Mann said he concealed his camera under his coat and waited for the Lindberghs' arrival in the dining room.

Cuba Tickets Are Seized In Lottery Raid

Establishments Of Adams And Parramore Produce Evidence Of Lotteries

City and County law enforcement officers, armed with a search warrant sworn out by Assistant State Attorney Lloyd F. Boyle, pounced simultaneously on the two business establishments at the intersection of French Avenue and Thirteenth Street early Saturday afternoon as a result of the sale of "Cuba" tickets earlier in the day, it was reported at the Sheriff's office this morning.

As a result of the raid the proprietors of the two establishments, J. H. Parramore and R. A. Adams, brother of Ross Adams, were arrested after numerous lottery books were found in their possession. The men were released later, however, on their own recognizance, awaiting further action by the State Attorney or the Grand Jury.

Mr. Parramore, the Herald was reliably informed, was selling tickets in a lottery said to be conducted by Joseph Jarrell who was recently indicted by the Grand Jury on charges of operating a lottery and whose trial has been set for Dec. 13.

Reliable statements also connected R. A. Adams as a seller in a lottery conducted by Ross Adams, who is said to be one of the largest operators in the County. No search warrant was needed in the raid on the Adams' filling station because of its license to sell beer.

Chief of Police Roy G. Williams and Deputy Sheriff Jack Hickson raided the Adams' filling station while Deputy Sheriff Carl Williams and Sgt. J. A. Howard of the Police Department entered the Parramore Store and seized the lottery books.

Negro Boy Injured In Auto Accident

A negro boy Dan Jackson, was seriously injured Saturday near the intersection of French Avenue and Thirteenth Street when he ran in front of an auto driven by Jerry Bentley, negro, Chief of Police Roy G. Williams reported today.

The lad dashed across the street from the packing house located at the Sanford State Farmers Wholesale Market in the path of the moving car which knocked him down and ran over his body.

Bentley picked up the injured boy and carried him to the local hospital where he was found to be suffering from a fractured skull and a dislocated shoulder and according to reports received today the lad has not regained consciousness.

FLORIDA STOPS KENTUCKY BY 6 POINT MARGIN

Walter Hodge (21), Kentucky halfback, went down hard in this play, but not until he had gained seven yards against Florida on a rifle pass. It was not until the third quarter that Florida broke the scoreless deadlock on a touchdown by Delaney, and then fought tooth-and-nail to keep their six point margin. The final score was: Florida 6, Kentucky 0. The game was played in Gainesville.

Police Continue Clean-up Drive On Bootleggers

Federal Authorities Assist Local Aims To Curb Moonshine

Since the extensive operations of "Cuba" racketeers have been slowed in Sanford following the investigations of the Grand Jury, Chief of Police Roy G. Williams has turned his attention to ridding Sanford of "bootleggers" who still sell liquor in this City.

In his drive against the "moonshine peddlers," Chief Williams is securing the co-operation of Federal authorities who are investigating the various cases and conviction of the offenders in Federal Courts may follow, it was intimated.

Late Saturday night Chief Williams, with his lieutenants, Sgt. J. A. Howard and R. B. Wilcox, confiscated 16 gallons of moonshine and arrested two negroes, Jerry Martin and Charlie Burke, as they were unloading their goods in Goldsboro.

Martin is an old offender while Burke is alleged to have been connected with the sale of the illicit goods for some time. Both will be tried before City Judge Frank L. Miller in the Municipal Court session this afternoon.

Earlier in the week Zeb Townsend and George Burton were given stiff fines by the City Judge for similar offenses. In this arrest members of the Sanford Police Department confiscated 10 gallons of "moonshine."

The 25 gallons of illicit liquor now held by the Police Department on which there is no Federal stamp, together with all other evidence and information against the law violators will be turned over to the Federal officials to be used as convicting evidence against the violators.

Up to the present time Chief Williams' operations have been confined to the arrest of transporters of the illicit goods which is apparently made in territory out of his jurisdiction, however, efforts are being made to secure the aid of County law enforcing officers in Seminole and nearby counties in an effort to completely quash the illegal operations by nabbing and convicting the makers.

Japs Advance Within Sight Of Nanking

Columns Of Smoke Are Seen Rising As Demoralized Chinese Flee Capital

British Warship Bombed By Japs

Four British Cargo Ships Also Hit In Japanese Air Raid

SHANGHAI, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The vanguard of Japanese troops approached today within the sight of the ancient walls of Nanking, China's evacuated capital.

(Dispatches to the Tokyo newspaper Asahi said the Japanese had captured Takahashi, Gate, two miles from the Nanking walls and that columns of smoke were visible for a great distance from fires within the capital.

A Japanese army spokesman announced an advance tonight. He added that there probably would be fighting within the city tomorrow.

A force of troops, he said, had carried Japan's "rising sun" banner to within three miles of Nanking. He said the unit was advancing from Tsungyuan on the Grand Canal about 45 miles east of Nanking.

He announced also that the Japanese had advanced toward Wuhu, a Yangtze River port, about 60 miles southwest of Nanking and toward Chinking where the Grand Canal and the Yangtze merge about 40 miles east of Nanking.

Japanese planes, meanwhile, were reported making heavy attacks on the allegedly beautiful Chinese retreat both from Nanking and Wuhu.

A British warship and four merchant vessels were bombed in a terrific aerial raid on Wuhu early today.

The whole Nanking area was in confusion. Americans sought refuge on the United States gunboat Pansy and other foreigners on British and French ships.

The bombed British ships all were hit when Japanese planes rained the air field at Wuhu, about 50 miles south and southwest of Nanking on the Yangtze River, in an effort to destroy Chinese communications and Soviet Russian planes which had been flown in over the Chinese-Russian air line from Siberia.

U. S. M. S. Ladybird, anchored off Wuhu, was showered with bomb splinters.

One report was that the Ladybird's commander, Lieut. Comdr. H. D. Barlow, was injured slightly in the thigh.

The British steamers Tatung, of the Butterfield and Swire interests, and the Tuckwo, of the Jardine Lines, and two steamer hulks were reported to have suffered direct hits.

Sectional Issues Seen As Dividing Special Session

Paramount Question Is Economic But Morals Play Part

By MORGAN M. BEATTY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The 1937 Congress is getting a taste of sectional controversies which smack of the issues that once led America into civil war.

Again a question of dollars and cents is paramount. The north and the south, the east and west, all want to be sure of their economic pieces in the sun.

But now, as in antebellum days, there is a moral side issue besides. Then it was slavery. Today it's lynch law.

Two highly important pieces of legislation before congress can illustrate the main squabble. They are—

First, the wage and hour bill. This plan would guarantee workers a wage of at least 40 cents an hour in a 40 hour week.

Northern congressmen, especially those who have a heavy labor vote in their districts, are all for it. Southern congressmen have bottled up the scheme in the house rules committee.

Why? One answer appears in a department of labor survey. This little pamphlet says nearly half the unskilled labor in the south is paid less than 40 cents an hour. If 40 cent pay should become universal, southern employers would have to shell out wage increases to nearly half their workers. On the other hand, the new law wouldn't cut much ice in the north.

Perhaps that explains why Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., from textile-making New England voted for the wage and hour bill. It's no secret that New England textile mills have been moving south.

Second of the sectional controversies raging around the farm bill. This measure has been battered about in congress for weeks.

The trouble is the bill requires farmers to devote less of their land to five basic crops—wheat, corn, cotton, rice and tobacco. Farmers in every section of the country are wondering what is going to happen to the land that will be released in other sections for new purposes.

For instance, a Wisconsin dairy farmer asks his congressman:—

"Will the land left idle by cotton control go into milk and butter fat production? And if it does, will that flood the milk and butter fat market and demoralize prices?"

Then there's the moral side issue just as there was in civil war days. You can trace it in modern form to the anti-lynching bill that soon will be tearing the hearts out of congressmen.

 My master takes the open road,
 No need has he of other guide
 His journeyings to aid.

Another Sewer Project

There were no loud hisses heard in Sanford the other day with the announcement of the approval by WPA officials of a $30,000 sewer project in Sanford. To the best of our recollection something like $110,000 has already gone into sewers for Sanford since the work relief program began, and some of us are beginning to wonder if a little more of this money couldn't be spent on top of the ground. It may be true that the part of Sanford's sewers which have not been repaired in the last few years is in a poor condition and should be replaced and of course it cannot be denied that the expenditure of this sum of money here will help local business and relieve unemployment, but there are many other things which need to be done in this city too, other things which will also furnish jobs and stimulate business. So far as we can recall not one cent has been spent on beautification here since the WPA began—at least there has been no well defined project, such as Leaning's Venetian Gardens, or the Ravine Gardens at Palatka, which attract visitors from all over the state. An attempt was made to get an appropriation for the beautification and improvement of the zoo and for the construction of an aquarium, but it fell through. And there is still a project calling for the development of a beautiful lake front park, but it has never been approved.

Perhaps even more important is the hospital project which has been hanging fire ever since the New Deal began spending federal money on local improvements. If it is said that the sewer project is needed for the health of the community, it can also be said that the hospital project is necessary for the same reason. Seminole County is in vital need of a bigger and more modern hospital. The present one is hopelessly inadequate to the needs of the hour, and yet for some strange reason this project has been in the bag for nearly five years and has never been finally approved. We have no fault to find with the work which has been done on sewers in Sanford by the WPA, but in view of the anticipated curtailment of government's expenditures, we believe the time has come when, if we are ever to get anything besides sewers, we must get it now.

Straws In The Wind

That Judge Millard B. Smith of Titusville will be a candidate for Congress against the incumbent "Little Joe" Hendricks, comes from no less an authority on state politics than Kenneth Ballinger, political editor of the Miami Herald, with headquarters in Tallahassee. There is no "may be" in Mr. Ballinger's remarks when he says, "Congressman Hendricks is opposed by Judge Millard Smith of Titusville, one of the best circuit judges in the state. Mr. Hendricks had counted strongly upon Stetson University support. Imagine his confusion when Judge Smith recently was elected president of the Stetson Alumni Association, thus, check-mating that advantage." Judge Smith has not officially announced his candidacy for Congress yet, but it has been known for some time that his friends have been trying to induce him to make the race. There is a rather widespread feeling throughout the district that he is the type of man who could give Central Florida the kind of representation which it deserves in the House of Representatives. With a few Millard Smiths in Congress that great deliberative body might find some way out of its now apparently hopeless snarl.

New Typhoon Hits Philippine Islands

MANILA, Dec. 6.—(AP)— A new typhoon isolated a huge area in the northern Visayan Islands of Philippines group today while reports reached Manila of a serious dysentery epidemic in Sorsogon Province, the aftermath of a previous typhoon ravaged day. The current disturbance, the third in two weeks to sweep the Archipelago, was reported almost stationary over the southern Mindoro Island. However, the Weather Bureau forecasters believed the storm was intensifying in fury and might pass into the China Sea before morning. Leyte Province which was hard hit by the Armistice Day typhoon, had been unharmed for 24 hours. Romblon Island, directly in the path of the high winds and torrential rainfall, was isolated by the prostrated communications.

WHITE PLAINS, New York, Dec. 6.—(AP)— Reports that a wealthy and grand family, had been kidnapped and was being held for $100,000 ransom, brought federal agents to White Plains today. Fried vanished Saturday. Reports said Fried's five brothers had made contact with the gang believed to be holding the ransom man and were trying to argue them into reducing the amount of ransom. Telephone calls to the home of Fried's mother, Mrs. Emma Fried, who lives in a palatial house were being intercepted at the Central Telephone Agency and callers' numbers relayed to police headquarters. Fried has been missing since Saturday night.

SANTA WHITE FOX AND THE

THE STORY SO FAR:
 Helga returns to Toyland at dawn after a midnight stinging trip with the dangerous white fox that Santa has ordered to sixty away from Toyland because he steals Christmas gifts.
 Chapter Seven
 Wise Santa
 Santa woke up that morning full of plans. He thought he'd ask the tin soldiers to drill first. The tinpots he thought he'd call the captain.
 You can see he had got ideas that Helga had been away from the toyshop all night.
 "Ho, Guardsman," he shouted. "Bring up your men. We'll have an hour of drill."
 The poor little captain was so tired from sitting up for Helga all night that he groaned to himself. His men looked very fine in bright red coats and tall black hats and silver swords.
 "Ha-amp!" shouted the captain. "Forward-march!"
 Forward-marched the troops. But the farther they marched the more clumsy grew the captain. He stumbled sleepily over his sword, and he turned right when he should have turned left.
 A Clue
 Santa said nothing, but he scratched his beard and began to look around the toyshop. He saw nothing disturbed. But his eye lit on a clue. There in a doll's carriage lay Helga asleep.
 "M-m-m," said Santa. "This bears looking into."
 He turned to the soldiers and shouted, "All out!" The poor

Parisians Out For Lark Stopped By Police

PARIS, Dec. 6.—(AP)— The prospect of lark pie will even make Frenchmen fight police reserves. A swarm of larks, flying south for the winter, passed over the International Exposition. Dazzled by the rays from the lighthouse set up in the exposition, the birds fell to the ground. Hundreds of visitors rushed to grab the birds and a free-for-all fight developed. Police reserves were called, but the lark hunters turned on them. By the time the police had emerged victorious, most of the larks had made their getaway. "You to stand guard then?" said Santa. "Quite, Sir," said the tin soldier. So that night a guard of toy soldiers was set to wait for the call of the white fox at midnight. Tomorrow: The Fox Returns.

Jack Benny Plays Extra In New Film

One of the most expensive extras ever to take part in a scene in the new Paramount picture, "This Way Please," which appears Tuesday at the Ritz Theatre-Paramount, pays him $100,000 a year for his services, but he got just sixty cents for his bit in "This Way Please." The actor is Jack Benny, who happened to be on the set to watch his wife and radio teammate, Mary Livingston, while she was playing her role in the film.

Benny, accompanied by comedian Benny Baker, was just looking on, and wandered into a theatre foyer crowd scene in which Mary was an uninvited guest. On meeting her husband unexpectedly she blew up in her lines. Robert Florey fixed it up, though, to make the scene with Benny and Baker in it, and to give Benny a line to speak. They ran through the scene and went on about their business and the studio felt duty bound to pay both actors for their efforts.

Two checks, for sixty cents each, were made out; to Jack O'Benny and Benny O'Baker.

All the names in "This Way Please" are not in the extra ranks, however. Fibber McGee and Molly of radio fame, Charles "Buddy" Rogers, Ned "Pickles" Sparks,

The Girl Scouts of Troop No. 1 enjoyed a talk, and demonstration on the Japanese way of arranging flowers at their meeting which was held Friday afternoon. At their meeting the week before Mrs. C. M. Berry taught the girls how to make candy containers for Christmas presents.

A number of girl scouts from Sanford attended the Girl Scouts Court of Awards which was held in Orlando Friday night. The meeting was opened by the mistress of ceremonies, Mrs. June Smedley.

Mrs. Kathryn Park, national girl scout commissioner, gave an interesting talk after which the awards were presented. Nine troops were represented including six from Orlando, one from Sanford, one from Eustis and one from Lake Mary.

Mrs. C. D. Christie, regional committee member, introduced the main speaker of the evening, a girl scout from Savannah, Ga., who attended the international girl scout jamboree at Camp Ardre in New York. The meeting was closed with a song.

WPA Play Will Be Presented Tonight

The blending and contrasting costume colors are an outstanding feature of the Federal Theatre Project's Christmas plays to be presented in Sanford, Seminole High Auditorium at 8:15 P. M. on Monday evening, December 8, under the sponsorship of Seminole High Faculty.

Shoppers in rags and skins, kinks in royal robes, Joseph in comber brown, Mary in sky blue and the Angel in Jeanne d'Arc blue set the color theme in the olden Christmas. Christmas Cycles first part of the two-bill performance.

In "Everyman," famous morality play, the costume department is riot with brilliant coloring. Robert Folsom, as Priest, wears chaubale of lavender over monsignore purple; Tyler Carpenter as Death is in mottled green mask and plum colored robe; William Orison, Everyman, wears scarlet trimmed with gold, over segments of purple and grey.

With colorful settings against black curtains, lighted by flood and spot lights accentuating color values, these plays already have drawn the enthusiastic approval of every audience privileged to see them.

Japs Advance Within Sight Of Nanking

house on the waterfront at Wu-hu also was bombed but foreign residents of the city, who had sought refuge in it escaped.

The steamer hulks used by the Butterfield and Jardine Lines on the river banks were partly destroyed.

Headquarters of the British companies here had only bare details of the disaster. It was said that both the Tatum and the Tuckow had been operating between Chinkiang, above the barricades the Chinese have built across the Yangtze above Hankow, and up river ports.

All the ships had the British Union Jack painted conspicuously on them.

The Tatum and the Tuckow, recently used for evacuating refugees from Nanking, were reported to have been tied up beside the bombed hulks which were used as pontoons—rising and falling with high and low water in the river.

It was feared that refugees on some of the ships might have been injured.

The Tatum was in service of the China Steam Navigation Company, a Butterfield and Swire subsidiary, and the Tuckow under the flag of the Indochina Navigation Company, a subsidiary of the Jardine interests.

All the British ships were hit at approximately 12:30 P. M. Sunday.

Frost Is Predicted Here Again Tonight; Little Damage Yet

Temperatures As Low As 29 Are Expected In Sanford Section With More Frost

Florida's Citrus Is Little Damaged

Freezing Weather Hits All Parts Of South Causing Suffering

State Does Not Need Wage-Hour Law, Says Wilson

Sanford Representatives Attend State Chamber Meeting

Citrus And Celery In This Area Unharmed But Tender Vegetables Are Destroyed

Although sub-freezing temperatures prevailed throughout Seminole County for most of the night very little damage was reported in vegetables and citrus growing in this locality. G. P. Paxton, local meteorologist, reported that the mercury plunged to 28 degrees during the night and failed to hit the 30 degree mark any time during the day yesterday.

LAKELAND, Dec. 7.—(AP)—The Weather Bureau today warned Florida fruit and vegetable growers to prepare for a second night and an early morning of sub-freezing temperatures and killing frost.

Florida's many million dollar crop of oranges, grapefruit, tangerines and winter vegetables suffered some damage yesterday. Growers and marketing authorities said they feared another night and early morning of sub-freezing weather would cause heavy loss.

Several representatives from Sanford and Seminole County heard State Marketing Director William L. Wilson of Jacksonville tell the twenty-first annual business conference of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce that Florida does not need the wages and hour law. Seminole County Chamber of Commerce officials who attended the meeting reported today.

Reliable reports indicated that some damage had been done to citrus in the low places but no accurate estimate as to the extent of the damage could be obtained.

Those close to the industry, however, expressed fears that considerable damage may be done tonight if the steady winds abate and the mercury fails to rise.

The Weather Bureau's frost warning service station here urged growers in north and central Florida to fire their groves and cover vegetable areas again tomorrow. It warned of a "quite rapid fall in temperature after sundown."

Frost again was forecast for the night of the 7th. Winds apparently prevented frost deposits in the meadows of the Everglades last night and this morning but the Weather Bureau said "there will be very little wind tonight."

Speaking before a near capacity audience in the Colonial Orange Court Hotel in Orlando yesterday, Mr. Wilson drew a prolonged applause as he outlined "why the state needs labor legislation. Florida can fare better by taking advantage of the God-given advantages for labor that are evident in this State as in no other section of the Nation."

The entire state was gripped in the frigid temperature which accompanied the northwest wind but, according to reports from points in the southern part of the State today, very little damage was done to citrus.

A few of it was reported at Winter Haven, one degree colder than Sanford's low, with 28 in Arcadia, but no damage to the present citrus crop was found.

The State Marketing Bureau said its reports indicated such truck crops as berries, beans, cabbage, celery and peppers suffered severely this morning but that tomatoes, potatoes and fruit escaped with light damage.

The Bureau said its reports were meager and that the surveys would require several days. County farm agents, however, made hasty checks and their unofficial reports agreed with the State Bureau's Summary of conditions.

The afternoon session ended with a brief memorial service for the late Alfred Warg of West Palm Beach, former State legislator and a past president of the State chamber.

Other speakers included Earl W. Brown of DeLand, vice president and manager of Florida National Exhibits, Inc., who outlined plans for a State exhibit at the New York World's Fair of 1939; Clarence Dilling of Clearwater, and New York, who as president of the United States Sugar Corporation, told of the possibilities of the industry in Florida; and Stephen McCready of Ocala, president of the Florida Association of Real Estate Boards, who told of the real estate possibilities offered by the State.

The forecast for the Orlando district tonight was clear and quiet, rapid temperature fall after sunset, lowest temperature 6 A. M. Clearwater City 29, Pierson 27, Sanford 29, Oviedo 29, Fern Park 26, Forest City 27, Plymouth 29, Winter Garden 30, Conway 27, Doctor Phillips 28, Kissimmee 25, Umatilla 27, Honey 24.

Later the group motored to the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Woodamer, near here, for an inspection.

The first day's session ended at a banquet at which Nina Wilcox Putnam, noted writer, discussed Florida. O. G. Ware of Leesburg acted as toastmaster in the absence of Harold Cole of Jacksonville, president.

Reports from Belle Glade indicate that a heavy frost had done considerable damage to truck crops in that section.

Alachua Game Is Won 7 To 0 By Local Blackcats

Touchdown Made By Harnage After Series Of Line Bucks

The Sanford Semi-Pro Blackcats won their first game by a 7 to 0 score in a tilt with the Alachua Semi-Pro team there last night.

Both teams were held scoreless throughout three quarters of the game but early in the fourth period the Sanford outfit broke the deadlock when they took the ball on their own 20 yard mark and in a series of brilliant line plunges, placed the ball on the Alachua 3 yard stripe where Harnage drove over the marker in an off tackle plunge. A short pass from Harnage to Purdon was good for the conversion.

Dr. Roy Reports 5 Animals Are Victims Of Strychnine Dose

Two dogs are dead and three are under treatment as the result of an epidemic of poisoning which has occurred in Sanford during the past 24 hours, according to Peter S. Roy, local veterinarian, who described the death tolling poison as strychnine.

Dr. Roy performed an autopsy on one of the dead dogs and found that strychnine had been mixed with regular canned dog food, but he pointed out that it is possible that this mixture had been prepared for rats and may not have been deliberately placed by someone intent on killing dogs.

Dupont Plans Huge Program For Recovery

Would Have Industry Finance Recovery Sum Of 25 Billion; Three Million Jobs

Asks Government For Opportunity

Elimination Of Poverty Is Seen As Part Of Program

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(AP)—A planned recovery financed by industry itself to the amount of $25,000,000,000 or more to create 3,000,000 new jobs was proposed today by Laurence DuPont, president of E. I. DuPont de Nemours and Company in an address to the National Association of Manufacturers.

DuPont pictured the creation of a new era with the eventual elimination of poverty and unemployment through this three-fold program.

(1) Development and popularization of new products.

(2) Vastly broadening the market for existing products through lowering their costs.

(3) Maintaining the rule of a fair return for all effort, not excepting capital effort.

Industry can put this into effect, he said, if given a fair opportunity by government pledges.

The plan was outlined in a letter written by William B. Warner, president of the association, to the American people through a Nation-wide program to counteract "propaganda against manufacturing."

It was announced last night by the National Association of Manufacturers.

The plan was outlined in a letter written by William B. Warner, president of the association, to the manufacturers and employees in which he pointed out the need of undertaking a positive advertising campaign to "sell" cities and towns on the importance of their manufacturing assets.

Warner said the depression and its "resultant effects" had installed in the average American the notion that there was "something wrong about industry" and that it had become necessary to take positive steps to counteract this belief.

The campaign will be inaugurated tomorrow at the annual Congress of American Industry, meeting in New York December 7, 8, and 9.

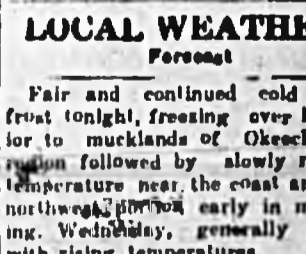

"Industry is the servant of the people," Warner wrote in the letter distributed to manufacturers. "It's job is to produce more and better goods at constantly lowered prices, so that more people can buy."

LOCAL WEATHER Forecast

Fair and continued cold with frost tonight, freezing over tomorrow to northlands of Okechobee region followed by slowly rising temperature near the coast and in north-west Florida early in morning. Wednesday, generally fair with rising temperatures.
