The dedication services for the sanctuary and educational unit of the First Baptist Church at Altamonte Springs were held Sunday.

Ginger Mann, 8, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Nelson, and Paul Anne Swafford, 7, daughter of Mayor and Mrs. Lawrence Swafford were chosen to cut the ribbon because they were the first children to be enrolled in the Sunday School when it was started three years ago—with but four church members.

Glen Nelson provided organ music. Upon the completion of the ribbon cutting ceremony, Eldred Walden, deacon, spoke a few words of welcome to the waiting people before they entered the edifice. The crowd of over 250 people filed through the vestibule into the large room where services will be held until the church proper is built. Softly tinted green walls, modern light fixtures, and cypress paneling create charming surroundings for the dedicated group of parishioners who have seen a dream become a reality in such a short time.

The decor of the interior of the building was further enhanced by the many bouquets of flowers which had been sent by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Howell, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hates, Mr. and Mrs. George Gilbert, all of Altamonte, and Mrs. J. W. Cramer and Reek & Son of Longwood.

Plane Crash Kills 3 Ocala Residents

OCALA (UPI)—Three prominent Ocala residents, including a veteran newspaperman for the Orlando Sentinel, were killed Monday when a private plane crashed about 12 miles north of here.

The dead were identified as Bob Cooksey, Orlando Sentinel correspondent from Marion County; Cooksey's wife, Wilona, and commercial photographer Harold Robert Piel.

Officers said Piel was believed to have been piloting the Tri-Pacer 125 plane which took off from Taylor Field. It crashed near the Anthony Farms about three miles east of Lowell.

The Cookseys were flying to Jacksonville where Mrs. Cooksey was to catch a plane en route to see her father who is ill at a hospital in Canada.

Cooksey was a native of Columbus, Ga., and served on the Sentinel staff the past four years.

Seems Brooks, who had been released after a week in the jail for drunkenness, had been coming back to visit his still-incarcerated friends.

And on each trip he had been smuggling in moonshine whisky.

WASHINGTON—Sen. George Smathers (R-Fla.) in taking note of President Eisenhower's attacks on "radical" and "harmful" Democratic leadership in Congress:

Nation Votes On Scores Of Proposals

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Voters in six states decide today whether to outlaw the union shop.

Proposed right-to-work laws on the ballots of California, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Ohio and Washington command most of the attention being given scores of election propositions on ballots throughout the nation.

In some states, right-to-work and a variety of other proposals are in the form of constitutional amendments; others call for voter approval or rejection of laws already approved by state legislators.

The propositions before the voters range from giving the vote to 18-year-olds to legalizing bingo.

Right-to-work proposals were the hardest-fought referendum issues, with candidates in several of the states tying their own words to the controversial issue.

The union shop or other labor contract provisions requiring workers to join a union are now outlawed in 18 states. Organized labor pumped money and effort into the battle against increasing the list while business and other groups pushed hard for the proposals.

Some of the other propositions: Taxes: Nearly as controversial as right-to-work is the California proposal to end property tax exemptions for parochial and private grade and high schools. Californians also voted whether to shift the income tax burden more heavily on high income earners and, with Arkansas voters, whether to lower the state sales tax from 3 to 2 percent. Oregon considered a new property tax system to finance veterans farm and home loans.

18-Year-Old Vote: South Dakotans decided whether to lower the voting age from 21. Tennessee elected constitutional convention delegates who will consider the question of lower voting ages.

Gambling: Colorado voted on legal bingo and raffles for churches and charitable groups. Nebraska voted on legalizing bingo in private clubs. Utah decided whether to allow pari-mutuel betting on horse races.

Bond Issues: Illinois voted on a 24-million-dollar bond issue to pay for state-run colleges and other institutions and a 15-million-dollar issue to pay state bonuses for Korean veterans. A one-cent increase in cigarette taxes would repay the Illinois bonus bonds.

California had a 300-million-dollar bond issue to provide veterans with farm and home loans. New York had two bond issues, each worth 100 million dollars, for housing programs. New Jersey voters decided whether $43,350,000 in bonds should be issued for two water supply reservoirs.

Others: Oregon voted whether to abolish capital punishment for first degree murder and establish a state power development agency. North Dakota and Minnesota voters decided whether state officials should serve four-year instead of two-year terms. Kansas voted on a new screening method for choosing state judges. Nevada settled proposals to hold legislative sessions every year instead of every two years, and to make it more difficult to place propositions on the election ballots.

Mystery Disease Killing Off Minks

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (UPI)—A mysterious disease has been killing off a number of minks on Idaho and Utah fur farms recently.

This will be Miss Raye's sixth marriage and O'Shea's second.

Probers Hit 'Administration Secrecy'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Information Subcommittee charged today some administration officials still "worship at the shrine of secrecy."

The statement came as the subcommittee prepared to open two days of hearings next week involving the Air Force and charges of withholding information from Congress.

The subcommittee said in a report on two years of legislative action aimed at furthering freedom of information in government:

"As the extent of excessive secrecy in the federal government has been unfolded in subcommittee hearings, the Air Force has acted to protect the right of access to information in specific areas."

However, it said congressional action in specific areas does not mean "federal officials are free to set themselves up as censors."

State Turns Down Package Revision

MIAMI (UPI)—Florida voters have made it clear that if a new state constitution is proposed, they prefer to vote on it article-by-article—not in one lump package.

The controversial "daisy chain" amendment, which had Gov. LeRoy Collins' outspoken opposition, failed Tuesday by more than 100,000 votes.

Another constitutional amendment was approved to eliminate the Hillsborough County solicitor's office and turn its duties over to the state's attorney in that county.

The daisy chain amendment would have set up a procedure by which a new state constitution would be presented to voters in one piece, to take it or reject it.

The proposal had the backing of opponents to a reappointment to the Legislature, the biggest thorn in attempts to revise Florida's 12th Century constitution.

The daisy chain proposal was regarded as a means of pulling through an article enabling small counties to retain control of the Legislature.

New York Bought 'Bill of Goods,' Butler Declares

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler said today New York had "bought a bill of goods" based on a propaganda buildup in electing millionaire Nelson A. Rockefeller governor.

"At the same time he said California is en route to becoming a top power in Democratic politics. He said 'people will automatically start talking' about victorious Edmund G. (Pat) Brown for national office such as the presidency or vice presidency."

Reviewing the Democrats' midterm election sweep at Democratic headquarters here, Butler attributed the GOP defeat to lack of White House leadership and GOP "obstructionism" in Congress.

He predicted the incoming 86th Congress will be "more progressive and liberal" and forecast "beneficial developments."

"Substantial revision" of the Senate filibuster rule to put a lighter rein on filibusters, he said, "is a very good" chance for a labor bill similar or better than the defeated Kennedy-Ives labor reform bill.

Junior Varsity Defeats Leesburg in Final Game

By JERRY COVINGTON

The Seminole JV's rebounded last night after suffering their first defeat last week to Sebring and rolled over the JV's from Leesburg, 19-0.

In the opening game of the season these two squads battled to a no tie and the Seminole made it very obvious last night which was the better squad.

Coaches Bud Loyer and Dick Silvers guided the team to a 4-1 record, one of the best in the history of the school.

As the season ended, Coaches predicted that several players are destined to do great things in years to come, they are Alex McKibbin, quarterback; freshman John Bonifase, line halfback prospect, and John Mann, most aggressive back on the squad.

The big forward wall of the JV is the best that the school has ever seen, Charles Fox, Johnny Wheelchel, Doug Toney and Charles Fawley are destined to find a spot on the varsity next season. Fox is a great defensive tackle and a very powerful place kicker. Wheelchel is following family tradition and should be able to take

Mike was awarded the Peter Schall and Best Blocker trophy while playing for Seminole and their father is a former coach at Seminole and All-American at the University of Georgia.

In the opening quarter last night both squads exchanged two fumbles each and the game stayed at midfield. At the opening of the second period, Fawley pounced on a Yellow Jacket fumble and the Seminole were on the march.

Four plays later, Bonifase ripped off tackle and went 11 yards for the TD. Fox missed the PAT.

The second score came in the third period as McKibbin led his charges down to the 18. Mann broke through the middle for a TD and this time the kick by Fox was good.

The final score came in the fourth period after the Seminole recovered another fumble on the Leesburg 30. With the ball resting on the eight, McKibbin sneaked it over and that was the end of the scoring for the evening. Fox missed the kick.

Police Seek Clue In Hoax Bomb Call

TAMPA (UPI)—Police sought today the anonymous telephone caller who warned a bomb had been planted in Chamberlain High School, causing the building to be evacuated and searched.

Some 1,600 students, ignorant of a bomb threat, filed out in orderly fashion thinking they were taking part in a fire drill.

Police, who received the call, fired in and technical officials searched the building, including 1,700 lockers, but found no trace of a bomb.

Police termed the call a hoax and sought to determine its origin.

Thor Is Launched, Destroyed After Going Off Course

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—An intermediate range Thor missile twisted out of control a few hundred feet off the launching stand early today and was destroyed after only 30 seconds of flight.

Fiery fragments showered the edge of the cape and the ocean, and ambulances and fire trucks raced to the impact area. But no one was injured.

The stubby, cigar-shaped Thor, designed to hurt a hydrogen warhead at targets up to 1,500 miles away, blasted off at 2:42 a. m., but began tilting over too soon on its flight down the Atlantic tracking range.

Then, like an airplane "peeling off" into a dive, it began veering off to its left and at the same time turning on its back. It was at this point that the range safety officer flipped a switch to destroy the missile.

"A malfunction occurred approximately 30 seconds after liftoff and the missile was destroyed by the range safety officer," the Air Force said. It did not elaborate.

It was the fifth unsuccessful ballistic missile test in a row since the first all-the-way attempt with an intercontinental Atlas ended in explosion Sept. 18. Others that failed were two Polaris test rockets and an Army Jupiter.

The failure came as a Pentagon decision was pending on whether the Thor or the Jupiter will be used as the nation's intermediate range ballistic missile.

The Defense Department said Sept. 2 that it still had to make "intensive studies" before deciding between the Thor and the Jupiter, both of which will be employed by the Air Force.

Local Business Needs Strong Organization

Sanford merchants again will attempt to form an association. Organizational work is being done through a newly-created Retail Merchants Division of the Seminole Chamber of Commerce.

The idea behind the drive is to protect Sanford merchants. Some of the city's leading businessmen recognize the need of a strong organization to promote Sanford as a shopping center.

Heading the new organization will be Francis Roumillat. To achieve any measure of success, he must have the cooperation and backing of fellow merchants. He accepted the job reluctantly. Not because he opposed the idea, or that he shuns this type of work. He was reluctant because of the general feeling among some merchants that such an organization can do little good.

Some of Sanford's leading businessmen believe that now is the time for downtown stores to get busy. In addition to the ever-present threat presented by larger cities in this area, shopping centers are beginning to take shape around the city's outskirts. These, too, will lure customers away from the downtown stores.

It is to be expected that some Sanford and Seminole County shoppers will go to larger cities. It has ever been so. No matter what local merchants do, it always will be the case.

Sanford merchants can reduce the number of local shoppers who spend their money out-of-town. It wouldn't be too difficult if all the businessmen joined hands in this effort. Community pride, promotion and elimination of a defeatist attitude would get the job done.

As the Florida Development Commission pointed out in its analysis of Seminole County last week, one gets out of something just about what he puts into it. Sanford can expect a return in direct relation to its work. If local merchants want to roll up their sleeves and go to work with the idea that they won't take a back seat to any city, there is little doubt that dividends will be much greater.

There is strength in numbers. Cooperative effort by local business houses, we believe, will benefit each and all. These thoughts have been expressed by the man who has agreed to head the Retail Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce.

The Herald offers its support to such an undertaking.

Support Peanut Bowl

The annual Peanut Bowl football game will be played at Memorial Stadium on Nov. 13.

Funds from the annual game will be used by the elementary school Parent-Teacher Association. This is the big fund-raising project for this association. Other schools stage carnivals or other special events to get money.

One significant change has been made in the game for this year. The young football stars at Sanford Junior High will be tackling each other. In years past, the game was one of "touch" football.

James W. Buckler and J. B. Phillips, co-chairmen for the event, said that the queen candidates would be selected this week. The identity of the young lady who will reign over the festivities will remain secret until the night of the game.

These and other sideline events have been planned in an effort to boost attendance at the game. Tickets are now on sale.

The Herald urges support of the game. In the past, Sanford citizens have responded enthusiastically. More of the same is needed.

APPLE DUCKING TIME

Fred Othman Says

BY FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
WASHINGTON — The 25th anniversary of repeal rapidly is approaching and all I can say is that a lot of booze has gone down the hatch since that cold night in 1933 when the management sent me out to check on how legal drinking worked.

I set up my observation post first in Child's restaurant (now a parking lot) on Pennsylvania Ave. and I never shall forget how wobbly some of the customers got when they got their first drink again. Trouble was that bartenders all had died out. Child's had to settle for a gent who said frankly that he was a snot jerk.

When he got his first order for brandy he hauled down one of the large siffers on the back bar and filled it to the brim with French cognac. When the customer sighted that, the restaurant soon ran out of brandy.

Some of the drinking liquor in those early days was simply terrible, though I do remember a tolerable grade of Scotch that sold here for $2.20 a fifth. The more horrid concoctions eventually went off the market, but some of the brands then sold still have such unpleasant memories that I doubt they ever can be revived again.

Today it is almost impossible to buy a legitimate brand of whiskey that'll make you sick — if taken in moderation — or that even has a brushy flavor. And yet Americans seem to be drinking less than ever.

I'll not bore you with many statistics, but 10 years ago a survey indicated that 37 percent of adult Americans sometimes poured themselves a small snort. As of now the folks who admit even to taking an occasional drink are down to 45 percent of the population.

I'd think, myself, the dregs would take this as a good sign and let nature (coupled with high taxes and higher prices) take its course. They are campaigning against the demon rum harder than before.

however, and I'm not the man to ridicule them. The ladies of the WCTU and the members of the Board of Temperance are truly good citizens and I've come to respect them, even though I still believe they are mistaken.

Some of them are my good friends and in another couple of months, I'll be seeing them again when they make their annual appearance before Congress in hope of suppressing liquor advertising. In the past, incidentally, they held up the Saturday Evening Post as a shining example of a publication that needed no whiskey ads to succeed. What they'll do now, since the Post is extolling in its pages the virtues of a wide variety of schnapps, I don't know.

Only dry states left are Mississippi and Oklahoma and, as it happens, I know something about those. Along the Gulf coast of teetotaling Mississippi I don't believe I've ever seen so many wideopen saloons per mile. Outside Biloxi I dined for the first time in my life in a restaurant which advertised the first Martini free with dinner.

Now have I ever had trouble getting a drink in Oklahoma. My late father, who lived his last years in Henryetta, claimed that prohibition to him was a boon. He drank occasionally from a bottle of bonded Bourbon and he said that a phone call whenever he ran out brought another jug at a reasonable price to his front door.

The legal liquor distillers insist that, as of now, more moonshine actually is being consumed than tax-paid whiskey. This is impossible to confirm, but I will report that I met a respectable, elderly lady from Georgia, who had in her suitcase a bottle of white moonshine I sampled it and it was as bad as I remember it from 25 years ago, but she said she liked the flavor.

Case To Organize County Radio Unit

Eibert H. Case, Lake Mary amateur radio operator, has been selected to set up an organization of Seminole County operators to furnish emergency communications in time of disaster.

The assignment was announced by Communications Manager F. E. Handy of the American Radio Relay League, national association of radio amateurs.

As an emergency co-ordinator Case will establish common operating procedures and liaison with local relief and protective services. Handy pointed out that radio amateurs traditionally have had the responsibility of constant readiness to offer assistance in time of need with skill, emergency-powered transmitters and community spirit.

Students May Get U. S. Loans Soon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—College students can begin drawing on a new multi-million dollar federal loan fund by next February.

Other school aids authorized by the last Congress also are being hurried into operation by the government in an effort to meet the challenge of Soviet technological competition.

Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of health, education and welfare said money for most of the programs would be available to states and educational institutions by January or February. This includes funds for the college student loans, guidance and counseling services and for science and mathematics teaching equipment.

Flemming said federal outlays for awarding graduate fellowships and for operation of foreign language centers and institutes would be available in the spring of 1959.

The secretary told a news conference Monday that the program was one of the "most exciting" developments that has taken place in education, going far beyond original expectations.

Flemming said he could not foretell whether the National Defense Education Act of 1958 would be the complete answer to Soviet technological competition. But he added, "It does represent a real contribution toward strengthening our educational system."

He strongly advocated an agreement on "national goals" in education on federal, state and local levels.

Seminoles To Host Leesburg

By Jerry Covington

The Sanford Seminoles Friday night will play host to the Leesburg Yellow Jackets in an OBC contest.

The Seminoles were idle last week. The contest with the New Smyrna Barracudas was postponed because of rainy weather. It is expected to be held on Nov. 14.

The Seminoles go into the contest this Friday as heavy favorites and should have little trouble disposing of the hapless Yellow Jackets. The Jackets have had their troubles thus far in the season and have failed to impress in the OBC.

With a rest over the weekend, in top form. Coach Jim Pigott is anxious to see what his offense can do against the Jackets. The backfield finally came into its own against Winter Park two weeks ago and is all set to open fast against this OBC opponent.

The biggest improvement in the backfield is the impressive play of junior halfback Ray Lundquist. He was promoted to the first unit after his fine showing against Fort Myers and has continued to crack through the line for good yardage on every run.

Vernon Kirk has also come into his own and looked great against the Parkers two weeks ago. The lean junior halfback has been very effective defensively, as well as being the outstanding ball carrier for the Seminoles. He should be set to put on quite a running show against the Jackets.

Big Harold Stone continues to show power through the middle of the line and should see plenty of action at the fullback slot. He is a standout at the linebacker spot on defense.

Quarterback Cecil Dandrige continues to throw well to ends Gerald Jones and Allan Swain and this phase of the offense continues to be the bright spot. Dandrige has been hitting well and the big ends show great talent in taking in near-impossible catches. The "Little General" also calls the plays, handles the punting and his share of the running chores.

The forward wall is expected to completely bottle up the Jacket attack, with stalwarts Duke Stanley, Ross Neely, Duke Schirard and Kelly Lake leading the way. Don Carter also will be counted on heavily at a tackle spot, in addition to being called upon to use his talented legs for blocking.

Stanley continues to show his All-Conference form. Although the play of Stanley has been outstanding, the others are not to be overlooked. Ross and Lake have shared the spotlight with Stanley in the last two contests and should be able to do the same here Friday night.

Other lads who are sometimes overlooked are Walter Middleton, Cliff McKibbin and Schirard. All three have been strong defensively and have averaged many scores for the Seminoles. The work of McKibbin at the defensive halfback this season has stopped many threats around his side of the field. Middleton fills in for Gerald Jones at defensive end and has been a big help on his side of the line.

Schirard probably is overlooked more than any player on the squad. He has developed into a first-rate center for the fast split-T formation and has been a stalwart at the linebacker spot. He moves well with the play and stops many threats that might reach into the secondary.

The entire squad found the way in the contest against Winter Park. If it continues to play that type of ball, the youngsters could go all the way. With four important contests remaining on the schedule and an OBC title at stake, it's a cliché that they will be giving it all that they have. They look like a championship contender.

Georgia Gunning For Gator Upset

United Press International

The revenge-minded Georgia Bulldogs hit their full midweek practice stride today, gunning for an upset of the Florida Gators at Jacksonville.

Georgia defeated Florida in 1954, but since then the Gators have roared, winning the last two by scores of 28-0 and 22-0.

Coach Wally Butts reported Tuesday that the squad was in top physical shape, with tackle George Hansen and Nat Dye reaching their stride again after being out with injuries.

Coach Bobby Dodd made some lineup changes in the Georgia Tech squad, including a shift of Ronnie Lewis to fullback to bolster the defensive unit. The Yellow Jackets brushed up on offensive patterns in the Tuesday workout, and did some passing.

The Louisiana State Tigers, an undefeated ruler of the Southeastern Conference, held an all-round practice session in damp weather. The accent was on goal line defense and the passing game.

There was a tough defensive scrimmage at Vanderbilt and the Commodores boned up on Kentucky patterns. The backfield worked on both pass offense and defense.

Auburn Coach Ralph Jordan reported that Jimmy Pettus will fill in for injured halfback Tommy Lortino against Mississippi State Saturday and will share punting chores with fullback Ed Dyer.

The Tulane squad went out at full speed in the school's big fieldhouse, wearing basketball shoes. Offensive formations got most attention.

Mississippi dodged heavy contact work and worked at length on its passing attack. Defensive strategy also was on the agenda.

Florida scrimmaged for an hour and Coach Bob Woodruff reported the Gators need "a lot more work on Georgia's passing game." Another heavy workout was scheduled today.

Brown Is Favored To Defeat Busso

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Lightweight champion Joe Brown is a heavy favorite to whip Johnny Busso tonight in a non-title fight that will open this city's new $5 million - dollar Exhibition Hall.

The titleholder from Baton Rouge, La., hopes to settle an old score for an old friend in the nationally-televised 10-rounder.

Brown claims Busso knocked out one of his closest friends, Tommy Elder, in a fight last year.

"Tommy's been waiting a year for me to knock out Busso," Brown said. "I don't think he would be mad if I did it in one round."

For Busso, the incentive goes deeper. The young fighter from New York has never had a big money fight, and he is virtually assured a title shot this winter if he can take Brown.

Brown is a solid 12-3 favorite to win, but Busso insists he isn't impressed.

Carolina Powers In Gulf Coast

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES

RALEIGH, N. C. (UPI)—The schedule-makers certainly didn't dream of it happening — adding to the troubles of "unlucky" Duke and North Carolina State this way.

But as it turned out, the Atlantic Coast Conference teams, both feeling "anklebit," got out to play the nation's only major unbeaten power and the nation's No. 1 "small college" team on the same day.

Duke, no stranger to big-time powers, plays Louisiana State Saturday night at Baton Rouge, La. Not far away on the Gulf Coast, North Carolina State plays Mississippi Southern at Mobile, Ala.

LSU's record is tops in the country among major powers. Mississippi Southern, with a firm grip on the No. 1 small college rating, will be trying to prove its claims to "major" status against the injury-riddled Wolfpack.

Duke has lost four games already — and the prospect of a few more defeats adds up to the worst Blue Devil season in years.

Two of the losses, in Notre Dame and Georgia Tech, were by margins of only a couple of points, 9-7 and 10-6, but two of Duke's victories were squeakers, too — over Illinois and Baylor.

North Carolina State, shaky from the loss of at least a dozen regulars by injuries, has managed just two wins and a tie against four defeats.

Before the injury hit, but promised State followers that "We'll surprise somebody else before the season is over." It's qualified that prediction some now, but has nothing but praise for the skeletonized squad the Wolfpack fields these days.

Seminoles Work On Pass Defense

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Florida State is sharpening its pass defense to offset the threat posed by Miami's "new" quarterback, Bonnie Yarbrough.

The Seminoles meet Miami Friday night in the Orange Bowl and Yarbrough is expected to start for the Hurricanes, replacing Fran Curti. Against Vanderbilt last week, Yarbrough passed for 103 yards in the final quarter.

Sophomore Bud Whitehead was switched Tuesday to FSU's left halfback position, replacing Bobby Conrad who has a sore ankle.

Guard Terry Moran returned to the first team after being sidelined with a shoulder injury since the Georgia game nearly a month ago.

Italy Seeking Bout

Top-Ranked Teams Favored Saturday

NEW YORK (UPI)—College football's top-ranked teams, with only one exception, are strong favorites for their weekend engagements.

Iowa, ranked No. 1 in the nation, is a 14-point choice over Minnesota while second-ranked Louisiana State is a 13-point favorite over Duke.

However, Ohio State, which has added from first to ninth in the UPI ratings, is a one-point underdog for its Big Ten battle against Purdue.

Third-ranked Army is favored by seven points over Rice in Saturday's leading intercollegiate game and fourth-ranked Auburn is picked to defeat Mississippi State by the same margin.

Golf's Top Pros Tackle Odds In Carling Tourney

By DAVID M. MOFFET

ATLANTA (UPI)—Unfavorable weather and the golfers' unfamiliarity with the new Cherokee Town and Country Club course braced on to keep scores high in the $25,000 Carling Open tournament, scheduled to start today.

A field of 122, headed by most of the nation's top pros, will enter in the sixth annual Carling event, expected to get underway on a soggy course.

Many of the same pros—including Masters Champion Arnold Palmer, defending Carling Champion Paul Barnes, and former PGA Champion Walter Burkemper—predicted that par golf, 288 for the 72 holes, would be good enough to win.

The Cherokee course was completed last fall. Its 7,000 yard, par-72 span is liberally covered with natural and man-made obstacles and has been labeled by the pros as one of the PGA winter tour.

Most of the entries never saw the course before last Sunday. At that time a 40-mile-per-hour wind was an added handicap and an 11-over-par 83 was low enough to qualify for 63 non-exempt golfers.

All but a handful of the top pros are included among the 59 exempt golfers who were able to bypass Sunday's qualifying round. These included National Open Champion Tommy Bolt, National PGA Champion Don Finsterwald, former Masters and PGA Champion Doug Ford, Billy Casper, Art Wall, Frank Stranahan, Mike Soucek and a host of others.

First prize money will be $3,800. But if the winner is one ranked team, is the biggest favorite on this week's line." The Sooners are expected to clothe Iowa State by at least 20 points.

The Kentucky-Vanderbilt struggle was listed as a "pick 'em" game, while Pennsylvania was a slim one-point choice over Yale and Washington State was a one-point pick over Oregon State.

In Friday night games, Syracuse was picked by 12 over Boston College; Florida State was the choice by one over Miami (Fla.) and Alabama was picked by one over Tulane.

Here are the point spreads on other leading Saturday games:

Intercollegiate: Boston College 13 over Detroit, Villanova 10 over Dayton, Mississippi 11 over Houston, Notre Dame 6 over Pitt.

East: Cornell 3 over Brown, Penn State 6 over West Virginia, Princeton 8 over Harvard, Holy Cross 13 over Colgate, Dartmouth 12 over Columbia.

South: Georgia Tech 6 over Clemson, Navy 3 over Maryland, Florida 7 over Georgia, North Carolina 13 over Virginia.

Hampshire Hamlet Backs Republicans

WATERVILLE, N.H. (UPI)—This mountain hamlet voted first in the nation Tuesday, with residents staying up to midnight to back the Republicans, 154.

First voter in the land was a woman, Miss Jacyln Osborn stepped up at exactly midnight to cast her vote into the century-old ballot box.

Outside, the temperature was above zero in this ski resort village in the White Mountains.

Some time later, the ballots were spread on a table in the home of Town Clerk Wendell Stevenson, who offered his house as a polling place because the town hall has no electric lights.

Waterville won the race to be first in the nation because the election clerk overslept in nearby Ellsworth.

About 20 minutes after the vote was reported here, Ellsworth voted.

"There's been kind of a rivalry for years about voting first," town clerk Stevenson said.

"Somebody's got to be first. We thought it would be kind of nice for our town."

"There's no real reason—it's just kinda nice to be first."

Half-Million Watch Pope John Crowned

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope John XXIII, the humble son of an Italian farmer, was crowned 22nd pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church Tuesday in a ceremony of devout and regal splendor.

Five hundred thousand persons massed on the cobble-stoned square of St. Peter's thundered an ovation of "Viva il Papa" when the three-tiered crown of gold, silver, and diamonds was placed upon his head.

The 76-year-old man who was born Angelo Giuseppe Roncalli had assumed the full powers of leadership of the world's 500 million Catholics at the time the College of Cardinals elected him as successor to Pope Pius XII.

Tuesday he was crowned at the end of a four-hour ceremony that emphasized publicly his servitude to God and reminded him that he is a mortal man and all things of this world pass as does wax consumed by the flame of a candle.

Crowned On Balcony

The ceremony of crowning the new pope took place on the main balcony of St. Peter's Basilica where Nicola Cardinal Canali placed the golden tiara on his head with these words:

"Receive this tiara adorned with three crowns and know that thou art the father of princes and kings, guide of the world, vicar upon earth of Jesus Christ our Lord to Whom let there be glory and honor without end."

A tremendous roar from the crowd echoed from the seven hills of Rome as the Pope arose and bestowed upon it his blessing from below the red velvet and gold-trimmed canopy set up to protect him from rain or sun.

New York City Comptroller Lawrence E. Gessa said the city came out with a profit of $129,502 and that when all the money is counted, the figure might reach two million dollars. Operating revenues amounted to nearly two billion dollars.

Space Agency Head Says Rocket Could Be Sent To Planets

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A top official of the new civilian space agency declared today that America has the capability "right now" to fire rockets to the planets Mars and Venus.

Dr. Newell D. Sanders, assistant director for advanced technology in the National Aeronautics and Space Agency, said the same Thor Able rocket combination being used in shots at the moon could send instrumented probes to the nearby planets.

Sanders said a favorable time for launching a rocket toward Venus would be mid-1959. If successful, the rocket would travel about 250 million miles in 151 days. The launching time for Mars would be late 1960, to reach the planet 247 days later in 1961.

Sanders who took office last month, said he did not know that plans were being made for planetary launches at the times he mentioned. He pointed out that radio transmission from the rocket to the earth over the planetary distances would present a problem.

But he said that if the Venus launching is not attempted in 1959, it will have to be delayed for another year and a half. The delay for Mars, to await a time when that planet will be in a favorable position, would be much longer.

Proper Position
The scientist explained that the launches must be attempted when Mars, Venus and the earth are on the same side of the sun and somewhere near their closest position to each other. Venus orbits around the sun in 225 days, while the earth takes 365 and Mars 687 days.
