THE BOSS OF BROKEN SPUR

By Nick Summer

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE

AS THE gambler listened, though his poker face showed no change, the indifference drained out of him. He was beginning to see the glimmering of an idea.

The swinging doors pushed open for a moment to admit a gleam of daylight and the figure of a tall, heavily-built young man, a bit red around the eyes and grim as to mouth and chin. Evidently he had some importance in this crowd; his head turned at his entrance, and as he clumped across the room, his progress was halted by hand-claps and low-toned words, accompanied by looks of respectful gravity. He was drawn into the most socially belligerent of the groups, which quieted at his entrance. Heavy hands clapped him on the shoulder; drinks were sympathetically pressed on him.

"When's the funeral going to be, Fred?" Calder heard one of the men ask, and the muttered reply, "Tomorrow. Two o'clock."

"We'll all be there," the speaker assured him, with a solemnity that wasn't altogether sincere. "Nate was a good man—a mighty good man."

"I'll tell the world he was." The grim-faced young man brought a clenched fist down on the table. "A' those murderin' sons that finished him ain't heard the last of the Cattens yet—they ain't!"

His companions groined their approval. Calder signalled the bartender. "Who's that young fellow that just came in?"

"Fred Cullen." The barman eyed him with a touch of uneasiness. "Stranger in town, ain't you?"

"Just riding through," Cullen agreed. "Seems like there's been some trouble here."

"Sure has." The bartender lowered his voice. "Bunch of nesters raided Broken Spur—biggest cattle outfit in the country. Fred, his brother was killed. What's your pleasure, friend?"

"Give me a bottle of your best," Cullen said, and walked over to Cullen's table. "Beg your pardon, the man at the bar's just been telling me about your sad loss. If you wouldn't consider it presuming for a stranger to offer his sympathy, like you, Cullen raised bloodshot, suspicious eyes to the gambler's face. Calder continued smoothly. "I'd take it as an honor if you'd have a drink with me—and your friends."

The others at the table made room for him; glasses were filled. Calder lifted his solemnly. "To the memory of a brave man—God rest his soul!"

His liquor and his toast won his acceptance as a friend. Listening to their talk, he managed to ingrain his sympathy with farmers fighting for their rights against the arrogance of cattlemen.

For once, he didn't try to rush things. Cameron would have approved of his methods. There were still several hours of summer daylight left; for what he had in mind, he knew darkness was best, when men couldn't see each other's faces. And the two men in the jail were safe; they weren't going to run away.

The noise of the nesters crowding into town had reached up even to the cell into which Lacey Farren, looking more like an unhappy bloodhound than ever, had finally admitted Christie, after receiving her assurance that she wasn't going to slip Kerry a weapon or a key. Kerry's fever had gone down, and the pain of his wound was easier, but he was still weak, and content to lie back quietly on the lumpy cot, with Christie's hand in his, until they heard the trampling of horse-shoes and the mutter of voices in the street.

"What's going on?" he demanded fretfully. "Look out the window, Christie."

"Just a lot of nesters riding into town," she reported, keeping her voice as cool as she could. She'd seen the open wagon with a tarpaulin stretched over it, and she didn't need much imagination to guess what lay underneath.

"What's the devil?" Kerry tried to get up to see for himself, and she was almost thankful for the weakness that made him drop back.

"Call Lacey," he insisted. "He'll know what it's all about."

Lacey was a long time answering her call, and when he came at last, it seemed only one more of the heavy rain to know she hadn't been imagining things.

"You'd better go back to the hotel, Christie. The streets might get a little rough in a little while."

"What's happening, Lacey?" Kerry raised himself on an elbow. The sheriff hesitated, then "You'd have to know sooner or later, Kerry. All hell's busted loose," and he told them.

Kerry cursed with futile savagery. Christie demanded, "What are you going to do?"

"I'm riding out to talk to Rob. He's straight about just what did happen. Can't take too much stock in these crazy nesters. And then maybe we can figure out what—Christie," he demanded unhappily, "what you expect one man to do against the crowd? Come on now—you got to leave so I can lock up."

"Are you going to leave the jail unguarded with that crazy mob loose in town?"

"Jim Farrell'll keep an eye on things while I'm gone."

"Jim Farrell!" He was Lacey's deputy, a weak, ineffectual elderly man who had subsided for ten years on his deputy's salary without doing anything visible to earn it. Christie swore her disgust.

"I grant you Jim's no great shakes of an officer," Lacey conceded, "but he's as good as we can get for the salary we pay. Would you want the job?"

NEW CAR TOTAL WRECK

SHAWNEE, Okla. (AP) — J. Paul Jackson, 32, Holdenville, drove his 1955 auto out of a showroom here yesterday.

Twenty minutes later his car and a model 1940 auto collided on U.S. Highway 270, four miles west of here.

Announcing his decision to try Ortolini's d'W's class, Prato said, "With God behind me all my life, I think I will try."

To keep the audience from signaling or calling out any help, Prato was ushered into an "isolation booth" on the stage. He crossed himself as he stepped inside.

Next week he again has the choice of accepting the prize money won to date or taking a chance on the final question. This will again be a question about opera, since that is the category Prato designated when he first appeared on the show.

If he chooses to try the question and misses, he will get an automobile for a consolation prize. Thus far no contestant on the program has tried for the top prize, Prato said he will use his winnings to take his family back to Italy to visit his 92-year-old father, who lives near Genoa.

The grand jury said it could not understand why M. H. Huggles, former principal indicted on 13 charges of forgery and grand larceny, was permitted to continue signing checks after disclosure of shortages were made.

Huggles has made restitution for the shortages totaling $6,618.

NATIONS INVITED LONDON (AP)—Britain has announced it will invite all 60 nations participating in the Geneva atomic conference to take an unrestricted look at its atomic research establishment at Harwell, Russia and several of her satellites are among the 60 nations.

Could You Answer $32,000 Question? Bronx Worker Did

NEW YORK (AP) — Could you answer this question: What Verdi opera started Arturo Toscanini on his career as a conductor; in what country did he conduct it; where was the opera first performed and on the eve of what holiday was that premiere?

The correct answer was worth $32,000 to Geno Prato, an Italian-born Bronx shoemaker, on a television quiz show Tuesday night.

Without hesitation the lifelong opera enthusiast gave the right reply — Aida; Brazil; Cairo, Egypt and Christmas Eve.

This doubled Prato's previous winnings on the CBS show, "The $64,000 Question," and entitled him to come back next week to try for the top prize of $64,000.

Prato, 33, had the choice of taking $16,000 won the week before or risking it on the chance of doubling his money with last night's question.

Hillsborough Jury Critical Of County

TAMPA (AP)—The Hillsborough County grand jury was critical of the county school board's handling of an investigation of fund shortages at Plant High School and criticized the board for holding secret meetings on the matter.

Grand jurors called for closer auditing of school money.

The grand jury said it could not understand why M. H. Huggles, former principal indicted on 13 charges of forgery and grand larceny, was permitted to continue signing checks after disclosure of shortages were made.

Huggles has made restitution for the shortages totaling $6,618.

Information For Veterans

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to four questions of interest to former servicemen and their families:

Q. I am a disabled Korea veteran and I have received vocational training under Public Law 894. Now I want to take further training under the Korean GI Bill. To figure training time, I know I must subtract the training I've already had from 48 months. But do I count the two months during which I received subsistence after I was rehabilitated?

A. No. In computing your remaining entitlement for Korean GI Bill training, you do not count the two months during which you received post-rehabilitation subsistence pay.

Q. I am considering paying my GI insurance premiums in advance on a yearly basis. What would be done with the money in case anything happened to me before my yearly payment had been applied to premiums?

A. The money that had not yet been applied to premiums would be refunded to your beneficiary, in a lump sum.

Q. I am a veteran drawing a VA pension for a non-service-connected disability. Part of my living costs are being borne by a relative. Must I consider the value of these living costs as income, for pension purposes?

CARLISLE, Pa., (AP)—A gun-toting defendant, shouting that justice had deserted him turned a Pennsylvania courtroom into a death chamber Tuesday.

Percy Haines, 60, of Newville R. D. 2, whipped out a pistol shouted he was getting a "raw deal" when ordered to pay his wife $50 monthly for support, and fired four times. He killed a lawyer and injured three others, including the presiding judge.

He was charged with murder and held without bail in Cumberland County Jail.

A. No. The value of maintenance, furnished by your relative, need not be considered as income, for VA pension purposes.

Q. I am taking on-the-job training under the Korean GI Bill. Recently my State Approving Agency lengthened my training program. Will I receive GI training allowances for this extension?

A. No. Under the law, GI training allowances may not be authorized for such extensions of GI job training programs.

Veterans living in Central Florida who wish further information about their benefits, should write the VA office at 42 E. Central Ave. Orlando.

Victim of the bizarre slaying was John D. Falter, 41-year-old Carlisle attorney who was representing Haines' ex-wife Lulu, 60, in the newspaper action.

Juvenile Delinquency Combo Arose When Close Ties Dropped

Someone remarked that the two word combination "juvenile delinquency" didn't come into being until round dining room tables and drop lights went out of style.

We sort of agree with that philosophy, for it was in that era of useful living playtime, was playtime, to study was downright

Wisdom From Giraffes

Science often works in devious ways. Consider, for example, what Dr. Robert H. Goetz of the University of Cape Town has been up to. This South African, now traveling in the United States, has precisely measured the blood pressure of giraffes.

Dr. Goetz found that the pressure of blood at the base of a giraffe's neck is more than twice normal human blood pressure. He gives credit for this to the animal's tremendous heart.

"Useless information? Not a bit of it. These findings may ultimately help cure ailments of the human heart; they may shed light on the "blackout" that airmen suffer in high speed maneuvers.

Scientists are good at putting two and two together. But some of them, like Dr. Goetz, have to provide the two—in this case, the basic information about blood pressure in that gallumping creature with the long neck.

America Has Many Hay Feverites

NEW YORK (AP)—America, which leads the world in telephones and automobiles, also has more hay fever victims than any other country.

Why? Prosperity, good old prosperity.

This is the theory of Dr. Rudolph Mayer, discoverer of pyribenzamine, an antihistamine used in the treatment of hay fever.

In Europe, where every available piece of land is tilled or utilized in some way, there is no room for ragweed, which is blamed for 80 per cent of all hay fever.

"Only in the United States can we afford the luxury of unused open fields and lots, where ragweed grows," said Dr. Mayer.

While hay fever may be a by-product of national prosperity, it gives its victims—whose annual seasonal torture begins this month—anything but a sense of individual well-being.

And the ailment is on the increase.

The U.S. Public Health Service says there are nearly 4 million asthmatics and hay fever sufferers in this country. It is estimated the two diseases cost some $4,750,000 last year.

One of the sorest points with those afflicted with hay fever is that they meet with little sympathy from their nonallergic friends. Their plight is regarded as oddly humorous. The surest way to make an enemy of a man with hay fever

Wherever you find juvenile delinquency, home is just a place to change clothes, go out, and come back to for a couple of hours sleep before taking off for work or other social events.

Sanford and Seminole County should have a special recognition for the low percentage of juvenile delinquency cases within its boundaries. Parents in our good county and city are looking after their children with care. They seem to feel that parental responsibility that apparently parents in other sections of the country don't possess.

We hope that parents will continue to realize that juvenile delinquency is a misnomer. We would like to point out that there are no problem children, but rather there are children with problems. When those problems are solved, preferably by the parents, then juvenile delinquency ceases to be.

TOURISTS IN IOWA

The best-known touring spot in the nation this summer is Iowa because it is the state that has attracted the most celebrated group of sight-seers this nation has seen for many a tourist tramping summer.

The Russian delegation of twelve agriculturists and farmers is finding wonders in Iowa that few Americans, exempting Iowans, have ever found. Corn as high as an elephant's eye, hogs resplendently fattened, farm-hand dinners and the elusive beauty of unromantic farm machinery have made distinct impressions upon our Russian visitors. They've also enjoyed ice cream sodas and sundae, had drive-in movies explained, and investigated the marvels of roadside golf ranges.

On the other side of the globe, the American group has been received with warmth and excitement by the Russians. Despite a decade of antagonism and an uncertain future, the people of both nations seem anxious to prove that as people they are not so bad after all.

An occasional tour is not the final solution to international problems, but the tours do provide the average citizen with a high level conference of his own. At the ground level the prospect of somehow getting along with this strange other fellow is not so remote as it seems when one has only official propaganda reports to go on.

Rising Prices Threaten Buyers

NEW YORK (AP)—Rising prices of industrial materials are creeping in today to threaten the buyer's paradise that consumers have been enjoying.

Example: The price of natural rubber went up some time back. Makers of tires in this country fretted but consumers paid little attention. But now tires are going up 60 to 70 cents at the retail level.

Food prices mostly have been steady to lower. As a whole they'll probably stay that way.

But from Brazil comes a report of a freeze and unprecedented snow. Just two years ago a similar report set off the big inflation in green coffee prices that brought roasted coffee to $1.25 a pound retail. Already coffee "futures" are advancing.

Prices of many of the materials used by manufacturers have risen fairly steadily this year.

Steel prices have gone up $7.50 a ton on the average. A hike in the steel freight rate for both rail and motor carriers has just been recommended by an Interstate Commerce Commission examiner. This puts still more pressure on steel prices.

Copper prices at the refinery hold at 14 cents a pound, but so scarce is the metal that some eager consumers are paying premiums up to 15 cents a pound for any they can find. A copper strike last summer started the scarcity, and another this summer is making it acute.

Aluminum this week is advancing one cent a pound. Talk of lead and zinc prices going up again is being revived.

As metal prices go up the makers of countless consumer items weigh their chances of passing the costs along to the ultimate buyer of manufactured products.

Some building materials have inched higher this year, helped along by higher wage rates and by shortages brought on by the building boom on which government officials are now laying a mild curb.

Full lines of furniture tend to carry higher price tags.

All these price hikes has brought the government's index of wholesale nonfarm commodities almost to the high level set in March 1951 at the peak of the Korean War inflation.

If a new inflation should be in the making it apparently will be in man-made goods, while the things nature provides will lag behind.

Too Late To Classify

By RUSSELL KAY

If you have never visited the Pacific Northwest, by all means do so at the first opportunity for it is truly a wonderful country with scenic beauty unsurpassed. The Western Rockies in Canada and Oregon are magnificent.

During the last three days I have been touring points of interest in this fabulous area and every minute has been a thrill. This column is written from Eugene, Oregon, a city about the size of Orlando, lying between the Coast and the Cascades.

Oregon is still a pioneer state with a marvelous future ahead of it. Folks here don't seem to realize what they have in the way of natural beauty and resources. No state, not even Florida, can boast better fishing and hunting; game and fish are abundant everywhere and yet very little effort is being made to promote this natural advantage.

From the standpoint of scenic beauty such natural attractions as Crater Lake National Park and the numerous National Forest areas are unsurpassed. Roads are exceptionally good even in the mountains, and while tourist travel here is picking up each year, it is small compared to Florida. I checked hundreds of cars on the highway and in the cities and was surprised at how few out-of-state licenses I saw, mostly from adjoining states.

While most towns have one or more modern motor courts, there are not enough and many more could be operated with profit. The entire ocean coast line of Oregon is owned by the state with no private beaches such as we find in Florida. All of them are open to the public. The same holds true of much of the forest and mountain area. State parks and recreation areas are numerous and available to the visitors without cost. In spite of terrific legislative pressure, the state has managed to keep vast forest areas intact and free of the woodman's axe.

The country is truly a sportsman's paradise and although thousands of deer are killed each season, their number increases each year. The lakes and streams are filled with fish and the Game Department keeps a close watch, restocking where necessary and working with sportsmen's clubs to protect all game and replenish it in such areas as is necessary.

On a trip of several hundred miles through the National Forest and Crater Lake National Park, we found excellent camp and recreation sites where motorists and

Three Dominant Figures Produced

WASHINGTON (AP)—Every session of Congress produces at least one dominant figure, dominant in the sense of being effective or being in the spotlight. This year's session produced three dominant men who were outstandingly effective.

All three were Democrats: Sen. Walter George, 77, of Georgia; Sam Rayburn, 73, of Texas, speaker of the House; and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, 47, of Texas, Democratic majority leader of the Senate.

Democrat George was Republican President Eisenhower's chief reliance in Congress on foreign affairs. George is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Johnson and Rayburn, as bosses of their respective houses, ran Congress.

They, more than anyone else in Congress, steered through to passage the year's bundle of legislation with a minimum of fuss and feathers.

That these three men—all quiet, undramatic, unseasonal—should be the outstanding men in the Capitol in 1955 is the best evidence that this was a peaceful and businesslike year in Congress.

All three were creative in the sense that they were for something; they backed programs.

Very often it's the men who make a record for being against something—like Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), who cheerfully attacked both the Truman and Eisenhower administration—who are dominant in the sense that they monopolize the spotlight.

The spotlight's full glow was on McCarthy last year as it was ever since 1950 when he began making his charges of Communists in government. Last year, however, he had to share the center of the stage with the two men who put the "skids under him": Flanders of Vermont and Watkins of Utah, both Republicans.

This year McCarthy, Flanders and Watkins all disappeared back into the comparative obscurity from which they had emerged.

George's influence and prestige on the side of Eisenhower came at a handy time for the President.

whose own Republican Senate leader, Knowland of California, was frequently critical of his ideas on foreign affairs.

As George, without bluster, took full control in the foreign field in the Senate, Knowland had less and less to say and disappeared further into the background.

George went down the line for Eisenhower and at least once seemed to provide the nudge that pushed Eisenhower into action. It was George who first suggested the President meet with the Russians a few weeks before Eisenhower agreed to it.

Johnson and Rayburn are as fine a pair of professionals—in getting legislation passed or blocked—as Congress has seen in at least a generation. Both work quietly behind the scenes lining up votes and agreements.

Under Johnson's guidance the Senate astonished itself with the amount of work it got done with a minimum of argument.

Capital's Dignity Dissolves Into Fun As Session Closes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional dignity and lawmakers' tensions dissolved into hijinks, harmony and rollicking high spirits in the closing hours of the 1955 House session Tuesday night.

Old-timers said they had seldom if ever have seen a boisterous outburst of monkeyshines in the traditionally sedate House chamber.

Over in the Senate things were quieter. Up almost to the last minute Sen. Morse (D-Ore.) was reading a long speech on federal aid to education, while one by one his colleagues slipped away.

Morse kept on, even when Sen. Lehman (D-NY) came up for a farewell handclasp.

In the House the joint was jumping. Members had cleared their calendars, and about 100 of them hung around waiting on the Senate.

Florida Cabinet Agrees To Go Slow

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—Because the state of Florida is expected to have to watch its dollars closely the next two years, the cabinet has agreed to go slow on letting contracts for major building projects.

The 1955 Legislature approved a $19 million dollar first priority construction program in its record breaking 404 million dollar general Appropriations Act.

The Cabinet decided to go ahead with planning work on the projects but to make a careful analysis of state functions before awarding contracts.

The action was recommended by Terry Lee, head of the Construction Division of the Cabinet Board of Commissioners of State Institutions.

Lee suggested funds for actual construction be held up "until we're sure the state can pay them off."

Three New Medicines That Make Life Safer

By HERMAN H. DUNNICK, M.D.

NEW drugs and new medical techniques are constantly making our lives safer and much more comfortable.

New Drug

Our monthly report on medical progress from the laboratory to the clinic: Cistina Maleate, a new antihistamine agent with little side effect. This drug is reported effective in alleviating symptoms of allergic rhinitis, ataxia and other allergies.

Reporting in a recent issue of the Journal of Allergy, three Toledo doctors, Henry D. Neale, Frank F. A. Havang and Earl D. Frig, said oral administration of Cistina Maleate usually provides relief against symptoms within 30 minutes to one hour. Duration of the action is about four hours.

Most common side effects, according to tests, is drowsiness, but only a small number of patients reported even moderate sedation.

Heart Stimulant

University of Chicago medical scientists have determined that the heart stimulant, digitoxin, can be given safely to pregnant women without being transmitted in large doses to their unborn children.

Small Risk

Past studies with animals raised a serious question as to whether digitoxin could be administered to humans without damaging effects on unborn children. But experiments, in which doses of radiolabeled digitoxin were given to women whose pregnancy had to be surgically terminated for medical reasons, showed the drug may be given to pregnant heart patients without running undue risks.

On Trial Basis

Pitressin Tannate in Oil has been used on a trial basis to control gastrointestinal bleeding. Dr. R. C. Morthill reports in the Harper Hospital Bulletin that two cc. were administered intramuscularly each day.

While waiting for the slower acting Pitressin Tannate in Oil to take effect, one cc. of aqueous posterior pituitary extract was injected the first day.

He reports that bleeding of ulcerative colitis and peptic ulcer was usually checked within two days.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Mrs. B. R. is a woman who has been treated for trichomonas vaginitis to be plagued with the rest of her life?

Answer: Since this condition is one that is difficult to clear up and the treatment for it varies in different instances, it is important that treatment be carried out persistently under the direction of a physician until relief from it has been obtained.

As a general rule, this condition can be completely cleared up.

Filmland Jumps To Swing Music; Bands Reunite

HOLLYWOOD — Drama makes this town the world's jazz capital this week.

Hollywood's jumping to some of the best swing music heard in 20 years—and no wonder. Two of the greatest bands of the swing era are reunited.

The reunion is only temporary, but while it lasts some great music is being made.

At Universal-International, they are making "The Benny Goodman Story" and most of the original members of that greatest of swing bands are rocking the sound stages. Gene Krupa, Teddy Wilson, Harry James, Lionel Hampton and Goodman, the King of Swing himself, seem to be playing better than ever, if that is possible.

On tonight's Climax show over CBS-TV, the original Bob Crosby Bobcats will be reunited. This band, one of the greatest of all Dixieland styles, will perform their old arrangements of "Muskrat Ramble," "Cin Mill Blues," "Little Rock Getaway" and other Dixieland classics.

The play "One Night Stand" will dramatize a true incident in the history of the Bobcats. Playing themselves will be such Dixieland experts as Eddie Miller, Nappy LaMar, Mitty Matlock, Bobby Haggart, Billy Butterfield, Charlie Teagarden and Crosby.

It's hard to believe that the world came close to missing Goodman's music.

Krupa disclosed how Goodman once despaired of ever getting the public to buy his ideas in swing. When the band started on its first one-nighter trip west, often there were more musicians in the ballrooms than paying customers," he said. "Business was so bad that Goodman called a meeting to suggest that perhaps the band had better give up swing and start playing the commercial, Mickey Mouse-type music that was the rage then.

"We talked him out of that fast. We all told him that we could make more money elsewhere but that we were with him because of his ideas—not his commercial appeal."

So the Goodman band stuck with swing and finally—at the old Palyomar Ballroom here in Los Angeles—the new type music hit. The rest is history, and it would not be making a movie about Benny Goodman.

Shower Given Bride-Elect Of August 7

Miss Sandra Dunn, bride-elect of Robert E. Berg, was honored last night with a kitchen shower, given by Mrs. L. P. Payton and Mrs. H. A. Hall at Mrs. Hall's home on E. First St. at 8 o'clock.

Mixed bouquets of flowers were placed in appropriate spots around the room and were interspersed with natural greenery. A bouquet of open pink roses was placed in a silver bowl at the entrance and on a table in the center of the room was an antique silver bowl centered with one rose. On the dining room table where the honeymoon gifts were placed was another arrangement of mixed flowers.

Games were played and the winners presented the prizes to Miss Dunn which were kitchen articles. Many lovely gifts were received by the honoree. Refreshments of open-face sandwiches, lemonade, cake, a gelatin salad, and mints were served.

Those invited to be with the bride-elect included her mother, Mrs. Sam Dunn, the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. L. J. Berg, his sisters, Mrs. F. T. Remaley, Mrs. Charles Dunn Sr., Mrs. John Gordon Dunn, Miss Katherine Brown,

Ice Cream Lamb A-Gamboling!

Lamb chops gambol over the buffet table to make the gayest dessert imaginable! These sprightly barbigers of spring are made easily with spoonful of strawberry ice cream, coconut and assorted confections for coat, ears, eyes and nose. To make 12 of the lamb, buy ice cream in the half-gallon size carton. Spritzes of mimosas bloom in the linen bellas where these lambs play—but my blossom—even dendelions—will create a happy springtime background for the party lambs.

PART LAMBS
Form a ball of strawberry ice cream with spoon or scoop. Quickly roll in shredded coconut, press with hands into egg shape. About a third of the way from the smaller end, press in with finger tips to form lamb's cheeks and jaw. Put on dessert platter.

Use 2 red wedge-shaped jelly candies for ears; 2 chocolate bits, pointed side in, for eyes; a red macarino cherry half for tongue. For nose, cut a marshmallow in half to 3/8" half-circle, place cut side against ice cream. A half-gallon carton of ice cream will make 12-16 lambs. 103

Too Many People Never Learn To Like Fruits, Vegetables

BY MARJORIE M. MORRISON
Florida State Board of Health
Last week we stressed the need for eating a variety of foods. We also mentioned the fact that Florida was blessed with a wide variety of fruits and vegetables but suggested that people living here do not use them to the extent that seems nutritionally desirable. Why?

Many people have never learned to like fruits and vegetables and are unwilling to try to evaluate a thing for them. The common reason we hear, however, is, "foods grown on poor Florida soil are no good anyway, so why bother?" This is a fallacy, not a fact!

Current research seems to indicate that if the plant will grow, it will have the desired food value present. What happens is that poor soil produces a smaller crop than good soil. Soil fertility does not change the composition of food value of the crop materially. We know, however, that many factors which seem to affect the nutritive value of plants, the prevailing winds, the amount of rainfall all may play a part in the total nutritive value of the product.

Most of us today do not rely on a single source for food. In other words, few of us attempt a total "live at home" program. The vegetables and fruits we buy are shipped in from many areas. Frozen foods are packed in many sections of the country. We will need variety, but not because we may be worried about the food value of our Florida-grown produce.

And, along this same line, one is fooled by the faddist claim that nothing is good that is not organically grown. We do not mean to discredit the use of organic fertilizers, but merely wish to indicate that commercial fertilizers have their place in present-day living. You won't start to die, nutritionally speaking, because you use commercial fertilizer in your garden.

Research by the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, indicates that the food most often lacking in the American diets of milk, Vitamin A and Vitamin C rich foods. Green leafy vegetables are good sources of Vitamin A; raw cabbage, green peppers, tomatoes, citrus fruits, papaya, guavas, barbados, chilies, and many others are excellent sources of Vitamin C. There is little or no reason for Florida folks to be short on Vitamin A and C rich foods.

In fact, if we would eat more of these, perhaps fewer of us would be concerned about the problem of obesity facing us today. The next three weeks, we shall be considering this problem of weight control in terms of good food habits.

Newlyweds Feted At Eola Plaza

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Baron, newlyweds, were honored Tuesday evening with a dinner party given at the Eola Plaza Hotel in Orlando. The party was given by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Lula Miller of Orlando.

Enjoying the happy occasion with Mr. and Mrs. Baron were the Rev. and Mrs. John L. Miller, Mrs. Christine Woodruff Jackie Miller, David Miller and Mrs. Lula Miller.

WSCS Enjoys Skit Given By Circle 4

Canasta Party Given In Honor Of Sandra Dunn

The general business meeting of the WSCS of the First Methodist Church was held Tuesday morning at 9:45 o'clock in McKinley Hall, with Mrs. W. A. Hunter, president, presiding.

The meeting opened with a hymn "Take Time To Be Holy," followed by prayer led by Mrs. Hunter. In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. J. N. Azzarello read the minutes of the previous meeting, communications and board recommendations. Mrs. R. W. Turner, treasurer, gave her monthly report.

It was announced that the Society would sponsor its bazaar on Thursday, Nov. 17, beginning at 2 p. m. The group voted to serve supper that evening in McKinley Hall and recommended that children's portions be served as well as adults.

Mrs. J. C. Davis announced that the following circles would be responsible for mid-week prayer service in September: Sept. 7, Circle Ten; Sept. 14, Circle Nine; Sept. 21, Circle Eight; and Sept. 28, Circle No. Seven.

Mrs. W. M. Colbert Jr., announced that the following circles would be in charge of the designated activities for September: program, Circle Three; communion, Circle Ten; and USO, Circle Four.

Mrs. Colbert then presented Mrs. Alex Vaughan with a life membership pin and certificate on behalf of the WSCS.

Mrs. Hunter then turned the meeting over to Mrs. Marvin Leddon, chairman of Circle Four, who had charge of the program. The program was opened with the hymn, "The Church's One Foundation," after which Mrs. Leddon read the scripture, "Rise Up O' Men Of God" was sung and Mrs. Leddon introduced Mrs. James Board, who gave a brief introduction to an original and entertaining skit on "Home Missions." Mrs. Board was assisted by Mrs. Adam Miller, Mrs. Ralph Goodspeed and Mrs. Blake Sawyer.

At the conclusion of the skit, the meeting was adjourned.

Mrs. Vandergriff Chosen President Of Ladies Group

Mrs. Roy Vandergriff Jr., Palmetto, was appointed chairman of the Ladies Activities Committee for the 12th Annual Convention of the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association, according to an announcement by Convention Chairman George H. Cooper, Princeton.

The Convention is being held this year at the Fontainebleau Hotel, Miami Beach on Oct. 4, 5, and 6.

"It is with pleasure that I announce the appointment of Mrs. Vandergriff and her acceptance of the chairmanship of the Ladies Activities Committee. Guests at our 12th Convention may well look forward to an excellent social program and real southern hospitality," said Cooper.

The Ladies Activities Committee, appointed annually by the Convention Chairman, functions as official hostesses during the Convention and is in charge of entertainment for the visiting ladies and guests, according to Cooper.

Mrs. Vandergriff is the wife of Roy Vandergriff Jr., a director of the Association.

Indians Doing Fine In Spite Of Injury To Useful Players

Auto Officials Will Withdraw Racing Sanction

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two automobile racing tragedies this year were given as factors in the decision of the American Automobile Assn. to withdraw its sanction of auto racing in the United States after this year.

Indications came that the National Assn. of Stock Car Auto Racing (NASCAR) may try to take the role AAA is leaving.

At Daytona Beach, Fla., Bill France, NASCAR president, said all AAA drivers and car owners are welcome to compete in NASCAR-sanctioned events if they meet qualifications.

The Sports Car Club of America was mentioned as a possibility of taking over sponsorship of the annual Memorial Day race at Indianapolis.

The death of Bill Vukovich, popular racing figure, at the 500-mile Indianapolis race this year was one of the tragedies mentioned in the AAA decision yesterday. The other was that at Lemans, France, where 79 persons were killed and 91 injured in a racing accident that spilled into spectators.

The AAA has nothing against automobile racing itself, AAA president Andrew J. Sordani, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., said in announcing the decision.

He added that the AAA felt that racing, with emphasis on speed, contributed little to one of the main objectives of the AAA: promotion of street and highway safety.

The AAA has given its sanction to only about 10 per cent of the auto races in this country, officials said, but these were the major ones, including the Indianapolis classic.

Anton Hulman Jr., owner of the Indianapolis Speedway, said the 40th annual 500-mile race will go on as scheduled next May 30.

Park Bench Proves Lucky For Angler; Big Tarpon Prize

TAMPA, — Tampa's park benches are usually used for sunning, carrying on conversations, viewing scenery and for romance. But now a Tampa angler has discovered a new use—catching big tarpon.

Edward Van Horn was quietly fishing from his favorite park bench last week and enjoying Tampa Bay scenery when he hooked into a 99-pound Silver King. For the next 40 minutes Van Horn had little time to enjoy scenery or anything else as he battled the giant Tarpon.

Finally the huge fish was worn out and Van Horn was able to reel it in to the sea wall in front of the bench. But this presented another problem—how to get the Tarpon out of the water without a gaff. Van Horn decided to take a chance and pull it in by the leader.

The leader held and Van Horn rushed the big fish to the nearby official weighing station of the Tournament and entered his "park bench" catch. He won the daily prize offered in the tournament.

The tournament is fast approaching the August 31 Derby-Day fish off when the eight weekly winners vie for a new station wagon and other valuable prizes.

The six weekly winners already decided are: James F. Kelley, St. Petersburg; H. R. Danford, Dunedin; Dr. Ken Wadsworth, Tampa; Oren Adams, Wimauma; H. A. Hagadorn, Limona and Mrs. Virginia Will of Tampa.

For a club that's just marking time, waiting for lightning to strike, those Cleveland Indians aren't doing bad at all.

They haven't had a chance to catch fire yet, not with Bob Lemon ailing and Al Rosen, Larry Doby and Vic Wertz in slumps, yet Manager Al Lopez has his defending champs in a second-place tie with the New York Yankees in the brawling American League race.

On top of injuries, Lopez had to wait until little more than a month ago before he could count on Mike Garcia again. But after losing six straight, Big Mike has won five of six decisions, including a dandy four-hit job against New York for a 2-1 victory.

With Boston thumping first-place Chicago 6-4, the Indians and Yanks are just one game shy of the White Sox. Boston is three games back. Detroit stayed 3½ behind Boston, beating Washington 3-0. Kansas City split with Baltimore, winning 3-1 after a 4-3 defeat.

Brooklyn went 14½ games ahead again in the National, beating Milwaukee 9-6. New York knocked St. Louis 5-3; Philadelphia whipped Cincinnati 8-4, and Chicago split with Pittsburgh, winning 5-4 in 12 innings after losing 3-2.

Garcia, the league's earned run leader in '54, who lost his touch at season's start, needed help from Don Mossi and Ray Narjeski after Mickey Mantle led off the ninth with a single. But the two relief acts wrapped it up in short order to protect the decision that ex-proctored the Yankees' Woodling manufactured a two-run homer in the fourth.

Bob Turley lost his 10th, giving him a 3-10 record, but he struck out eight in his eighth frame, but again got wild. He walked eight, five of them in the first three innings when he stranded seven runners, and gave Al Smith a free ride ahead of Woodling's shot.

Boston three times battled back to tie the White Sox before Jackie Jensen delivered a two-out double for two runs in the eighth. Ted Williams, passed intentionally by reliever Milard Howell after Billy Goodman reached second on a single and error, scored all the way from first on the extra-base hit. Minnie Miñoso snapped his slump with two homers for the Sox, but Chicago couldn't do a thing as Tom Hurd wrapped it up with 2½ innings of one-hit relief.

Detroit remained in contention on rookie Frank Lary's two-hitter. He didn't give a hit in the last 5-3 innings, riding in on Fred Hatfield's homer and two RBIs by Frank House.

The Phils banged across eight runs in the sixth, seven unearned, after being blanked for 2½ innings by Reddy pitching. Robin Roberts hung up his 17th victory. Bill Virdon homered twice for all the Cardinals' runs, but they took their sixth straight defeat as New York scored four in the fifth on four singles and Don Mueller's double.

Harry Chitt's RBM single with two out in the 12th gave the Cubs their nighttime decision after Jerry Lynch's pinch double counted two runs for the Bucs in the ninth inning of the opener.

Rookie Bob Hale came through with a two-run pinch double in the ninth for the Orioles, who pulled a triple play in their first game success. The A's nailed three runs in the first inning to take the after-noon.

National dues for the Women's International Bowling Congress have been raised from 25 cents to 30 cents per member effective Aug. 1. In summer leagues, however, the raise is effective immediately.

Bill Dietrich Jr., son of the former Athletics and White Sox pitcher, is hurrying for the Monroe, La., Cotton States League farm club of the Yankees.

And Then The Rains Came - C-S- It Is Hoped By Grandpa Charlie

By SAM LONTZMAN
(Staff Writer)

Some poet, unknown and therefore unnamed, once said, "Whether we have rain or whether we have snow, we must have weather, whether or not." Mark Twain then came along with his oft-quoted gem, "Everyone is talking about the weather but no one is doing anything about it." All of which is just a rambling preamble to the fact that some folks here think there has been too much rain and one well known local tennis veteran is hoping Jupiter Pluvius will send another downpour Sunday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock to cause a postponement in the "challenge" tennis match scheduled for that time on the Mayfair Inn courts between the challenger, Fred Hatfield, and the defending champ, Wally Wally.

Wally Wally, anxious and ready to go to work on the old timer, keeps scanning the heavens and phoning the several weather bureaus in Central Florida as to weather predictions for the weekend to the extent that his father and mother are becoming concerned with the telephone bill soon to come.

On the other hand, Charlie has enjoyed the rest the rains have brought about. He has tried to keep in training by walking several more miles daily than his duties as an ad man for The Herald necessitate. He has also, it has been rumored, tried to evade the playing of the match by claiming that young Wally is actually older than he first stated. Charlie has been trying to secure evidence to the effect that his challenger is not 18 years of age but 14. What difference that one year would make is not clear to this writer for Wally Jr., it is well known, just recently took up tennis.

Now it appears that both the Phillips family and the John Ivey family want to get into the act because Little Miss Kay Ivey is doing a terrific amount of concentrating on young Wally to help him win the match. Kay's little brother Jack is teaching her about pullers for Wally for a reason that doesn't appear on the surface.

Managers Hollering 'Rematch'

By JACK WAND

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—The Hurricane Jackson camp is singing "We told you so" and Ezzard Charles' managers are yelling for a rematch after last night's furious heavyweight scrap at War Memorial Auditorium.

Jackson, the 23-year-old perpetual motion man from Far Rockaway, N.Y., showed why they call him Hurricane in winning a unanimous 10-round decision. After the first three rounds, he poured punches at the former champion, flapped an annoying jab into his face and danced a jig between rounds.

Trim at 194½, Jackson was in the best condition of his 27-bout career. Charles, now 34, weighed 181½ pounds.

Judge Dick Fazio scored the match a lopsided 5-2. Judge Ted Shea saw it 6-2 and Referee Ruby Goldstein 6-1.

There were no knockdowns, although Jackson balanced precariously face down on the ropes in the second after being rushed by Charles.

Down the stretch, a tired Charles tried to concentrate on landing one final bomb that would stop his opponent. Jackson merely shook off the heavy punches and came back for more.

"We told you so," said trainer Freddie Brown in Jackson's dressing room. "He was in his best shape because he listened to people and stayed in the country at training camp. How'd you like that job? He always had it but he wouldn't use it. Now he's grown up."

Charles said he had underrated his opponent. "I heard a lot about him but I figured I'd be able to catch up to him. When I did catch up I couldn't get off. Next time I'll know how to fight a swarm of bees."

There will be a next time, probably in October, if Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, agrees with his matchmaker Billy Brown.

Stock Car Races To Be Held Sunday

DELAND — The Daytona Beach Sports Car Club will be in attendance at the Deland stock car races this Sunday, Aug. 7. This is a newly formed organization and to date has 58 members.

They will stage an event before the stock car races and several different Foreign makes of sports cars such as Jaguars, Alfas, Volkswagens, T.R.'s, Porsches, MG's, etc. will be on exhibition for the race fans inspection. Race time is 3 p.m.

Twenty-two stock cars were on hand last week and a larger field is expected this Sunday. Local drivers hold representation from all the surrounding communities.

Hoot Mon Holding Head Bit Higher

GOSHEN, N.Y. (AP)—You'll have to pardon Hoot Mon, an 11-year-old stallion, if he holds his head a little higher as he enters around the pasture at Hanover, Pa., today. For his son Scott Frost is the toast of the trotting world after winning the 30th Hambletonian.

But Scott Frost couldn't quite match his old man's 1947 performance as he whirled around Good Time Park's triangular-shaped track in 2:01 3/5 and 2:00 3/5 Wednesday for a straight heat victory in the glimmer race of harness racing.

Hoot Mon himself won the 1947 renewal in two minutes flat but Scott Frost's second heat time was the second fastest in the history of the Kentucky Derby of trotting.

Daytona Trounces Sanford Men 13-0

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pitchers held the starring roles in last night's Florida State League game. There were three shutouts.

Gasper del Monte of last place St. Petersburg turned in the most brilliant performance, a one-hitter that blanked West Palm Beach 2-0.

Bob Arendt, flinging as Daytona Beach punted Sanford 13-0, sided his own cause with a two-run homer. He allowed just six hits and didn't walk a man.

In another 2-0 game, Cocoa whipped Lakeland with Craig Hoyal notching his sixth shutout of the season.

Del Monte missed a no-hitter when Warren Kilmer, the second man at bat in the first, drove a grounder through the pitcher's box. Kilmer stole second base but was put out at the plate on a fielder's choice. No other West Palm man got beyond first base.

Three doubles helped Del Monte get his 13th victory against 8 losses. John Cuesta batted in both runs.

Arendt's victory was his 17th. His teammates also did some lusty hitting as a home crowd of 480 watched. Dan Keith, Winny Langano, Ken Hefel and Gene Bennett all tripled. Bennett knocked in four runs with a pair of three baggers.

Hoyal, who hasn't been scored on in 25 innings on his home field at Cocoa, kept six hits wild scattered and struck out eight. He did not issue a single base on balls as he picked up his 12th victory. The attendance at Cocoa was 401.

The triumph boosted Cocoa into a tie for second place with Sanford which now has lost seven straight. League leading Orlando was the victim of Gainesville for the second night in a row. The fourth place G-men won 10-3 for their fourth consecutive triumph. Orlando's Howie Tress allowed 13 hits but he also was hurt by errors, three of them in Gainesville's six-run eighth inning. A Gainesville crowd of 800 watched the action.

Board Heads Chosen

A new, five-member, Sanford Civil Service Board held its first meeting last night at the City Hall. Officers of the board were elected with Harry Lee renamed as chairman and Mack N. Cleveland Jr. renamed secretary. Other members of the group are Roy Holler, John Ivey and Hugh Wheelchel Sr. N. O. Garner is the assistant secretary of the group.

In its first item of business the board considered the request of Jim Hardy to be reinstated to his civil service status. Hardy resigned in 1952 at the climax of a squabble with former city manager Tom Lemon over a salary cut. Action on the matter was tabled until the September meeting. Attorney Fred Wilson represented Hardy before the board in the formal request for reinstatement.

Action on two items were taken when employment of Forrest Lee as truck driver was denied. The board approved the employment, with a waiver of examination, as a sewer foreman.

The frequency of reports of "reprimands" were discussed by the board. The lack of supervisory "reprimands," according to one member "disturbs me." As a result of the discussion, entered into by every member of the board, department heads will meet with the Civil Service Board at its next regular meeting to discuss a new system of grading each employee under civil service.

City Recreation Closes With Dance

MRS. THELMA RUNNELS MAKES a point with an illustration during her talk at the Jaycee luncheon yesterday. (Staff Photo)

Interesting Illustrations Shown Jaycees By Mrs. Thelma Runnels

"I am a fashion illustrator and portrait artist by trade," Mrs. Thelma Runnels, a Navy wife of Sanford, told the Junior Chamber of Commerce group meeting at Jim Spencer's yesterday.

She asked for her description, however, that "I am a talkative woman by nature."

"Illustrated lectures were a natural for me," Mrs. Runnels told the Jaycees. "Beginning in Sunday School by drawing Biblical figures to illustrate the lessons, I found I could hold even the worst little monster's attention." This she "welcomed," she said, "in story hours for children's groups and schools. I finally began to have as many adults as children attending, so I found myself on an adult program. I hit on the theme of using human foibles, as Americans are great ones for laughing at themselves."

"I've done talks on politicians, weekend guests, the aging human, and many others. And of all these, 'snobbism,' in a democracy has proved its popularity again and again," she said.

She told the Jaycee group, "I've had no formal training whatever, but have drawn and painted almost from infancy. I began painting in oils at ten years of age and started to paint portraits at 14," she told them. "My father, an author and lecturer, put me in the Texas Little Theatre when I was 11 and during the ensuing years I learned to love an audience, especially a large one," she said.

"Since marriage," Mrs. Runnels explained, "I've confined my art work to portrait and free lance drawings for small magazines." And she concluded, "And of course, humorous lectures which I love to do."

The unusual artist, during her talk to the Jaycees, explained her "snobbisms" with likenesses of Jaycee members and pointed illustrations of various characters drawn into her explanations.

Drivers Charged After Accident

A two-car collision this morning brought police charges against two drivers pending City Court this afternoon.

According to Sanford Police Department reports, the two cars collided at the intersection of Fourth St. and Laurel Ave. The investigating officer was patrolman Arnold Williams.

John Boyd Threatt, 37-year-old mechanic of 1813 Summerlin Ave. driver of a Chevrolet sedan and George Taylor Holt Jr., 25-year-old Navy man of 704 W. 4th Street were charged with careless and negligent driving and were released under $27 bond pending a hearing this afternoon, before City Judge John Leonard.

The accident occurred at 8:40 a. m.

LOT OF PEOPLE! LOS ANGELES (AP)— Nearly 1 1/2 million persons enter and leave downtown Los Angeles daily the City Traffic Department reports. The exact figure, determined by a check from 6 a. m. to 10 p. m., is 1,528,811.

State Farmers Market Ready For New Season

Extensive Additions, Repairs Are Made To Already Expansive Area

The Sanford State Farmers Market is in readiness for the 1955-56 season following extensive repairs and additions to the already huge area providing a convenient and dependable outlet through which the farmer can market his produce.

Sandy Anderson, the treasurer of the Sanford State Farmers Market, spent many hours planning the needed repairs and additions for the year "round market facility.

Leo Butner, assistant manager of the market, said yesterday that nearly $15,000 have been spent in putting the market in top condition for the new season which begins on Oct. 1.

Included in the extensive repairs and additions were a concrete loading platform four feet wide and 600 feet long, extensive repairs to the roofing of three units at the market, the adding of two restrooms at the restaurant, the paving of a parking strip 20 feet wide and 800 feet long, plus repairs to the present platform and general repairs to the entire plant.

"There are 41 stalls in the entire Sanford State Farmers Market plant," Butner said, "and we are expecting the same dealers here next year and anticipating some new dealers for the new season."

Vegetables and fruits valued at over six million dollars moved over the platforms of the Sanford State Farmers Market, Anderson announced at the close of the last season. And he explained that this was the second year in the history of the Sanford market that the valuation exceeded the $6 million mark.

An average of 53 varieties of vegetables and fruits move over through the Sanford State Farmers Market, Butner explained yesterday to make this market the third largest in the State, topped only by Pompano and Ft. Pierce.

Asked for the possibilities of the new season to begin Oct. 1, Butner stated, "Unpredictable is the only word to use when looking forward to the outcome of a vegetable and fruit season."

With French Ave. widened and paved, the Sanford State Farmers Market will be in readiness for the thousands of trucks that ply back and forth between Florida and the trade centers of the world.

Parents Receive Commendation On Their Son

Sanford parents have received a commendation on their son as he serves in the U. S. Army at his station in France. Army at his station in France.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Abney, 604 West 12th St., received a letter from 1st Lt. Curtis M. Bean, Chaplain, stationed with the 469th Engineer Aviation Battalion, in which he says, "the purpose of this letter is to inform you of the good conduct of your son, PFC Delbert L. Abney."

The chaplain's letter continues, "I have seen Delbert almost every day and I am happy to say that his conduct appears beyond reproach." Bean says, "We have had Delbert in our home on two occasions and all of us like him very much."

The unusual letter from overseas explains, "He attends all of our Protestant services and last Sunday filled in for us as our Sunday School Superintendent, and the chaplain adds, 'if there were a manager for a Chaplain's Assistant in my office I would make every effort to get Delbert assigned to me.'"

"You should feel good about the religious and moral training you have given your son and be happy that he conducts himself as a Christian gentleman," the chaplain said. He concludes his letter, "I will do all I can to enrich his devotional life while he is with us and if you know of any way I can serve him, I hope you will let me know."

Mrs. Abney says in her letter to The Herald that her son is a member of the Central Baptist Church and enjoys The Sanford Herald very much.

Hawkins Attending Uoff Workshop

Local teenagers attending the Florida Youth Workshop at the University of Florida this week are being kept busy and happy.

Nationally known consultants, faculty members from the state's universities and services, and youth specialists of the General Extension Division of Florida are putting a year's planning into effect.

Workshop programs for youngsters feature their development in the social, educational, sports, recreation and other areas of interest to them.

In Gainesville for the week-long workshop from this area is Jim Hawkins of Lake Monroe.

Britain Protests To Chinese Nats Against Attack

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)— Great Britain today protested to Nationalist China against an alleged attack by two of Chiang Kai-shek's planes on the British freighter Inchewell near the mainland port of Foochow Wednesday.

British Consul Alexander Hermann made a personal call on Gov. C. K. Yen for the purpose. The consul said a written protest will be delivered tomorrow.

The press officer of the Nationalist air force headquarters in Taipei told newsmen he had not heard of the incident.

British reports said the Inchewell (1,800 tons) was attacked while at the Min River bar, west of the Matsui.

Four bombs were near misses that caused shock damage. The freighter was also machine-gunned. A Chinese seaman suffered serious stomach injuries, and the second mate was slightly injured.

Garbage Schedule Will Be Changed

The City Manager's office said today that the schedule for garbage collections will be changed immediately for one of the city sections.

The area from the Lakeshore south to Eighth street and east of Mellonville Avenue has been changed from a Wednesday and Saturday collection to Tuesdays and Fridays.

This does not include the Wynwood subdivision.

List of Charter Members Received By Edward Lane

Edward F. Lane, the "man who knows Sanford," and a prominent Kiwanian, received this morning from Kiwanis International office in Chicago, Ill., a complete list of the charter members of the Sanford Kiwanis Club.

Lane, said this morning, that he intends to present the club with a scroll on which every name of the original charter group will appear. The parchment will include the following names: A. F. THREATS TO CELEBRATE DAVE CROCKETT BIRTHDAY SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)— San Antonio is going to celebrate Dave Crockett's birthday for six days. It will begin with a parade Aug. 10 in the Alamo, the heroes' headquarters and Crockett's tomb.

Children Invade Ft. Mellon

Hundreds of children invaded Fort Mellon Park this morning to participate in the last day activities of the city-wide summer recreation program.

Recreation Director W. W. Christensen, under whose guidance the entire program has been presented, was on hand this morning when the children began invading the park for the many games and activities to take place. With Christensen were Coach Howard Jordan and the young ladies who have served as playground leaders throughout the vacation time program: the Misses Gail Biting, Caroline Melton, Margaret Malloy, Peggy Wilson and Beatrice Bishop.

Field day exercises and games, along with softball games and group play were the plan of the day. However, the city swimming pool, thrown open for the day for the festivities, was packed and jammed with youngsters on hand for the time of their lives.

At noon, a picnic lunch was served in the youngsters and their parents. Hot dogs and cold drinks were the chief items on the menu and by noontime, tired children were ready to eat and rest before resuming the program that brought the city's playtime full of life to a close for the summer.

The climax to the summer recreation program will be a dance for teenagers tonight at the City Club at the city hall. Paul Krabham's orchestra will furnish "top" music for the dances. Recreation Director Christensen has banned shorts and T-shirts for this evening's affair that will begin at a weak and continue until midnight.

Police Are Told Of Truck In Hole; Heat Gets Blamed

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— Police really leaped into action yesterday when they received a telephone call from a motorist reporting a truck in a hole.

Police cars rushed to the deserted spot. The Water Bureau was alerted in case a main had been snapped. The fire rescue squad was told to stand ready for a call.

There was a hole in the street all right. And there was a truck—about eight inches long and four inches high.

The 50-year-old owner, Charles Taruti, said he didn't know anything about a report to police. He was just playing with his toy truck around that hole in the street.

"Maybe the heat got one of the citizens," theorized a cop.

Bandit Says Guard Much Too Brave To Protect Money

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—The guard who killed a holdup of a Brink's armored car carrying half a million dollars in "too brave to be protecting just money," one of the captured bandits says.

Silvestro Marzella, seized with a companion Wednesday after a dramatic holdup, said yesterday that guard Eugene Chloebay "should be protecting lives, which are something you can't replace."

Chloebay, 27, alerted police despite a shoulder wound he suffered when a trio of masked men cut loose with a submachinegun at Brink's garage.

Marzella, 38, of the Home, and Anthony Pattenio, 39, of Baltimore, traded shots with arms of police but were caught within an hour.

"We wanted to hurt nobody," Marzella told police. "It's ironic that we're here because of one man's courageous act."

Antitrust Division Now Probes Unpaid Government Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP)— Asst. Atty. Gen. Stanley N. Barnes says his Antitrust Division has started a new probe into the kind of unpaid government jobs held by businessmen.

He coupled the announcement to a House Judiciary subcommittee yesterday with disclosure that an oil company official had been removed as head of an Interior Department advisory group on foreign oil supplies.

Chairman Philip Young of the Civil Service Commission, appearing before the same subcommittee, said three other businessmen at least from their private companies had been found in "operating" positions where they should not have been.

He said these were the only three cases of the kind found under the Eisenhower administration and "all three were corrected voluntarily when called to the agencies' attention by the Civil Service Commission."

Railroad Tracks Taken From Street

Railroad track, crossing First St. at Oak Ave., has been removed and the street smoothed with asphalt during the last two days, making driving a little smoother at the busy intersection.

Atlantic Coast Line maintenance crews have been taking the rails of two strings from the street leaving only one siding for local switch engines to move back and forth across First Street to their present building at Commercial Ave.
