U.S. Stops Payment In Road Probe

U. S. Bureau of Roads, acting Thursday after the State Road Department fired eight engineers in an alleged payroll scandal, froze payments of federal funds on projects handled by Cone Brothers Construction Co. of Tampa.

Cone and its affiliates were barred from bidding on any future road projects. Some of the fired engineers said they "suspected" anonymous payments to them came from Cone. Cone employees subpoenaed by the Legislative Roads Committee refused to testify on advice of counsel.

The Bureau of Roads said the freeze would apply pending results of a check to see if the work done by Cone was up to standard. The federal government pays 80 percent of the cost on interstate projects.

There was no immediate estimate of how much money was involved. The State Road Department pays interstate contractors 80 percent of the cost of the work done by the federal government. Thursday's action cuts off the reimbursements.

At a Thursday news conference, Gov. LeRoy Collins called revelation of the alleged payroll "shocking, revolting and sickening" and called for prosecution of those involved.

"I expect the courts to proceed vigorously and diligently to punish where punishment is deserved," he said.

Collins said the next legislature might be wise to pass a bill prohibiting political campaign contributions from road contractors. Utilities, liquor dealers and holders of race track franchises are barred under present state law.

Funds Needed

Chamber of Commerce President B. L. Perkins Jr. today called on all Sanford merchants who wish to contribute funds for the annual Christmas parade scheduled Dec. 1 to do so "immediately."

The annual event is supported by the merchants and sponsored by the Jaycees.

All funds should be forwarded to the Chamber of Commerce, Perkins said.

Sanford Host To Florida Civitan Club Saturday

All of Sanford is welcoming the Florida Civitan Club, it was reported at a final meeting of the local club before it hosts the state club here Saturday.

Even the city got in the spirit with printed parking stickers allowing the out-of-town guests free parking all day Saturday.

Reports were given by the committee heads, Dr. A. W. Woodall, general chairman, Dr. B. R. Blaise, Civic Center reservations, Ray Metcalf, door prizes and women's activities, Charlie Kampf, and Gene Estridge, publicity and registration. Bob Branson, printing; Fred Fisher, invitations; Bob Hancock, catering; Jack Erickson, signs; Joe Davis, transportation; Joe Dennison, parking, and Bill Halback, Junior Civitans.

Twelve merchants donated money or prizes: Home Distributors, Florida State Bank, Sanford Atlantic National Bank, Coca Cola, Marion Harman, Junction's Roumillat and Andersons, Faust, Strickland-Morrison, Holler, Capri and Shoemaker Construction Co.

The estimated attendance at the convention of 200 to 300. It could be as high as 400. Registration will start today when those arriving early may register at the Civic Center from 7 p. m. to 9 p. m. Saturday morning, the guests will register from 8 a. m. to 9 a. m.

A complete convention kit will be given to the Civitans when they register with plans donated from the Chamber of Commerce and other businesses in Sanford.

The Saturday program will include a welcome to Sanford by Mayor Earl Higginbotham, several reports by state and local Civitans, drawing for door prizes, luncheon, and in the afternoon, business meetings with presidents and governors conference, a meeting of the district council, and loading of the Civitan's Fruit Cake Gun to start the annual charity project in action.

C of C Directors To Meet Thursday

The Chamber of Commerce board of directors will meet at 7 p. m. next Thursday to elect new officers for the year. President B. L. Perkins Jr. reported today.

Police Investigate Another Break-In

Police today are investigating a break-in at the Sanford Air Station for a 1957 Buick Wildcat. The car was stolen at 1317 W. 13th St. that occurred sometime Thursday night. Carlton told police that a receiver and approximately $5 in change was stolen.

Entry was gained by breaking a window on the side of the building.

Engineers Assure Rush On Water Control Study

The first step in getting a water control project underway for the upper St. Johns River Basin was accomplished today.

The U. S. Corps of Engineers assured Congressman Syd Herlong they will complete an interim feasibility report showing the lands that must be acquired by the state in such a program before the Florida legislature meets in April.

Herlong called Seminole County Commission Chairman John

Krider from Washington after a conference with the chief aides to Maj. Gen. E. C. Itchner, chief of the U. S. Corps of Engineers, this morning.

Herlong also said today that he would be glad to appear before the state legislature committee to explain the need for action on the part of the state as soon as possible.

No action on the project could get started without the legislature getting the feasibility report which would pave the way for a state appropriation to acquire land and flow easements.

Cost of the initial project is expected to be approximately $2 million.

Krider, on learning of the news from Washington, said "we have now overcome the first obstacle in getting the project underway."

Herlong and Krider met with Col. Julian Salicrú, district engineer, in a three-hour session in Jacksonville Thursday.

Krider said that they reviewed plans for the project and efforts to get top priority from Washington for the Corps to start the study as soon as possible.

At Thursday's meeting Herlong and Krider emphasized the importance of getting the report on the project completed before next April when the legislature meets.

City Candidates Give Views

City Commission Group 1 candidate LeRoy Anderson criticized the "wasteful spending of public funds," but declined to elaborate moments later when questioned by a Jaycee at the organization's luncheon Thursday.

Anderson is one of the four City Commission candidates seeking election for two city board posts in the November general election.

Other candidates who spoke were incumbent commissioner A. L. Wilson, Group 1, and Tom McDonald and R. J. Boynton, Group 2.

Anderson, the first candidate to speak, said he would sound business judgment if elected to office and capped wasteful spending of public funds as a heavy burden on the taxpayers.

However, moments later during a question and answer period, one Jaycee asked Anderson if he would elaborate on what he meant by that statement and Anderson said "it is a difficult question and might be embarrassing at this time. It is my personal opinion and is not directed at just one item in particular."

Each candidate was allotted five minutes to discuss his platform, with candidates reporting that they favored no increase in taxes unless it was an absolute necessity and favoring more progress for the community.

Three of the candidates, McDonald, Boynton and Wilson, agreed on the need for a sewerage plant with Anderson saying he had not had an opportunity to study the matter fully.

McDonald said the city should set aside funds for the plant while Boynton said it was a vital need in the community "if we expect to grow."

Wilson said he is for the plant, but "I don't want to force it down people's necks. However, the time is coming when we will have to have it."

In his brief talk, Wilson said he favors the continued and orderly growth of the city and would seek an sweeping tax cut but "we can't deprive our residents the facilities they are entitled to."

Boynton said we must work to get new industry here and one way is to have a sensible tax program.

"We also must do everything to encourage industry here by donating land and perhaps subsidizing the industry," he said.

He also discussed the need for alert leaders "if we are going to progress."

McDonald spent his five minutes talking about what a good commissioner should be, emphasizing leadership, civic interest, business background and character and integrity.

The Campaign

By United Press International

Leading presidential opponents Richard M. Nixon and John F. Kennedy squared off for their radio-TV debate on foreign policy tonight — probably the voters' last chance to see them argue face-to-face before election day.

The candidates set aside most of today for conferences with aides and study in preparation for the fourth encounter.

Nixon was described as "confident and eager."

Kennedy kept up his demands that the vice president agree to a fifth encounter in the historic "Great Debate" series. Aides said the Democratic nominee was considering sending Nixon a telegram in the nature of a formal challenge to another TV meeting.

On the eve of the debate, the rivals engaged in a battle of the mimeograph machines, issuing a series of statements attacking each other on various issues.

In one document, Kennedy charged that Nixon made 13 "glaring errors" in a 13-point "white paper" that accused the Democratic nominee of inaccuracies. Kennedy replied to Nixon point by point. He then posed 10 questions concerning certain Nixon campaign statements.

In another paper, the Massachusetts senator said the U. S. ban on most exports to Cuba was ineffective and described Nixon's "New Cuba policy" as "too little and too late."

Kennedy outlined his own policy, including a proposal for aid to anti-Castro forces inside and outside Cuba.

At almost the same moment, Nixon said on a New York political TV broadcast that Democratic statements that Cuba was lost to the free world were "irresponsible in the extreme."

Nixon also accused Kennedy of trying to arm the president with excessive powers in labor-industry disputes so that he might "club errant management" without chastening errant unions.

"My opponent might as well state the truth," Nixon's state minister said. "As president he would settle major labor disputes himself, hooding in his hands the power of decision."

California Democrats charged today that President Eisenhower made an "openly partisan" attack on Sen. John F. Kennedy. They demanded equal radio and television time to answer it.

Eisenhower in a Thursday night speech at San Francisco indirectly accused the Democratic presidential nominee of degrading the truth in campaign statements that U. S. prestige abroad has fallen sharply in recent years.

Roger Kent, state chairman of the Kennedy forces, immediately labelled the address before the Commonwealth Club as "an attack on Sen. Kennedy and an endorsement of Vice President Richard M. Nixon," the GOP nominee.

"This shows that the Republicans are cravenly using Mr. Eisenhower's office to advance Nixon-Lodge," Kent said in a statement.

It was the first official Democratic anger expressed since the President began taking oblique pokes at the opposition during a cross-country tour called "non-political" by the White House.

Foreign Aid Doesn't Always Mean More Friends For U. S.

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

In the 15 years since the United States began putting together again with men, money and materials a world ripped asunder by World War II, U. S. public opinion has had to absorb many a rude shock.

The first of these, and perhaps the hardest, was the realization that foreign aid poured out by the American people did not necessarily generate friendship for the United States or even gratitude.

A second, of which realization has come more slowly, is the discovery that democracy and political stability as it is known in most Western nations receives only lip service or still is far in the future among other nations also listed as U. S. allies.

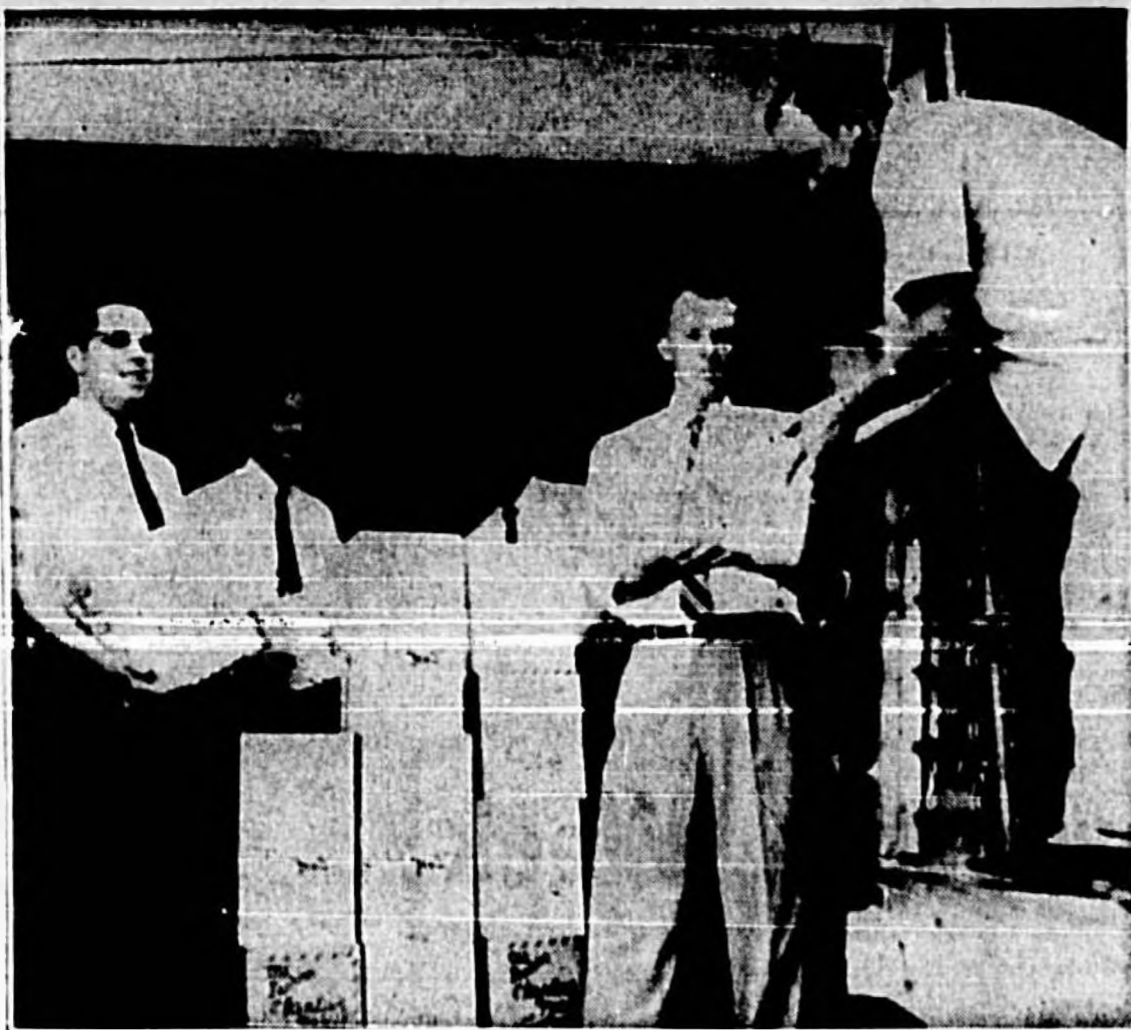

So, in Korea a regime grown old and dictatorial was suddenly toppled in the midst of an internal explosion whose echoes still reverberate.

The aging Syngman Rhee had believed in democracy as a philosophy but obviously distrusted it for his people. The Korean people, who had never known it, became impatient with its processes and substituted rule by fiat.

Japan, under a constitution imposed by Gen. Douglas MacArthur switched with amazing speed and enthusiasm from a harsh military dictatorship to democratic processes which were carried out in practice as well as theory.

Yet in Japan, too, in a moment of crisis, the democratic theory faltered.

Under the whiplash of a tightly organized but small minority which opposed the U. S.-Japan defense treaty, mob rule took over the streets of Tokyo, a visit by

Burke Elected Legion Commander

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—William R. Burke, 43, of Long Beach, Calif., a Navy veteran, is the new national commander of the American Legion.

The Legion elected Burke to succeed Martin B. McKeonally of Newburgh, N. Y., just before ending its 1960 convention here Thursday.

In other business before the close of the convention, the Legion passed resolutions urging the United States to resume nuclear testing "as will enhance our national security program."

It called on the government to establish a national policy encouraging every citizen to have "effective fallout protection as promptly as possible."

The Legion proposed that Army strength be raised to 923,000 men and urged the development of a nuclear-powered airplane.

As the Legion convention ended on Miami Beach, the 40 and 8 Society convention got into full swing in Miami. The fraternal group's annual boisterous parade is scheduled tonight—but the high command has banned the usual firecrackers, electric canes and water pistols.

The 40 and 8 was expected to take up the question of its relationship with the American Legion. The Legion convention voted Wednesday to strip the Society of the Legion emblem because only whites are allowed to join.

Minor Fire Mars Prevention Week

Except for fire damage to Arthur Lambert's automobile on E. Highbanks Rd. last Wednesday, Fire Prevention Week passed unnoticed by residents of DeBary, according to Fire Chief Ed Healy.

This was not the case, however, at the Enterprise Elementary school, where fire prevention in serious business with teachers and pupils. Each second grade pupil wrote an invitation to Chief Healy asking him to visit the school.

In answer to the 24 letters, Healy, dressed in full equipment, spoke to over 100 junior high students and then to first and second grade pupils on the dangers of fire and fire prevention.

The fire chief assured school principal L. O. Hayman that the DeBary department is available for fire call to Enterprise Elementary and to the Methodist Children's Home.

Auxiliary Gets New Members

New members of the DeBary Fire Department Auxiliary, presented at a meeting of the group by Membership Chairman Mrs. Charles Schneider, were Mrs. Margaret Holmes, Mrs. N. Gerstink, Mrs. G. Cushman, Miss Sarah Marshall, Mrs. Gustave King and Mrs. C. E. Pendergast.

During the meeting a report from the first officers on the money raising activities through which the present fire house was built proved of much interest to present officers.

DeBary Auxiliary Planning Supper

Forthcoming events took the spotlight at the regular meeting of the DeBary World War I Auxiliary which was presided over by Mrs. N. Kahoe.

A covered dish supper will be held Thursday at the Community Center at 6:30 p. m. for members and house guests only. Those attending are to bring table service and a covered dish.

The District Seven picnic meeting of the veterans, originally set at Rock Springs and postponed due to the hurricane, will be held Nov. 5 at the DeBary Community Center. Barracks 1197 will host the affair. A 25 cent registration fee will be charged for the picnic and table service should be provided by those attending.

Mrs. Albert Pys joined the auxiliary and was introduced to other members by Mrs. Kahoe.

The next meeting of the women will be held Nov. 11.

SHS, 'Cats' Clash Tonight

The football tussle at Winter Park tonight when Sanford's Seminoles take on the Wildcats in their annual set.

There will be for sure if the week's work pays off for the Seminoles, as Coach Pigott and his staff have been drilling the offensive combination hard on ball handling, with a new series of plays worked in to zip up the attack.

The Wildcats have a heavy ball club, mostly senior lettermen, and figure to be hard to beat on their home grounds.

Tonight's game will be played on Winter Park's new football field near the Winter Park Memorial Hospital on Lakemont Drive.

"Winter Park always is one of our toughest games and we really put the boys through the mill this week trying to iron out the kinks in the offense that slowed us down last Friday," Pigott said.

"We think that if we can hang onto the ball better, we can give them a run for it with our added cross back series," he said.

The Seminoles have been working on the fast breaking cross backs aiming at picking up some yardage through the tackles, with Alex McKibbin, Bill Phagan and Bubba Davis all to be called on by quarterback Mike Roberts for ball handling.

Coach Jim McCoy has been sharpening the linemen on blocking assignments all week, too. The Seminoles have suffered from pass interceptions in their opening games but the coaches hope to give the thrower more time to make the pitch with better blocking.

Co-captains for tonight's game will be Rusty Sims and Tony Gulpsie, who were among the destandouts last week against Seabreeze.

Pigott said he was well pleased with the Seabreeze contest as far as defense went. He called the line play where Seabreeze was held for four downs on the nine yard line, then after an immediate Sanford fumble, stopped for four more downs on the 10 an outstanding defensive effort for a high school eleven.

The squad is in good shape for tonight's game, with Sims apparently ready to go again after twisting an ankle.

Starting lineup for the Seminoles will be Don Harvey and Doug Tahny at the ends; James Markham and Simas, tackles; Glen Hodges and Russ Pierson, guards and John Whelchel, center. Mike Roberts will be at quarterback with John Mann and McKibbin at the halves and Phagan at fullback.

Iowa, Mississippi Put Top Ratings On Line Saturday

United Press International Iowa and Mississippi, the country's top-rated teams, will be hard-pressed to retain their rankings from 1959 national champion Syracuse when college football once again captures the spotlight on Saturday.

Iowa, present kingpin of the powerful Western Conference which boasts four of America's top 10 teams and seven of the first 16, is a ninepoint favorite to down Purdue at home. The Buckeyes are undefeated in four starts and were voted the No. 1 team in the most recent balloting of the United Press International Board of Coaches.

Purdue is rated eighth and will rely on its size and power to off set Iowa's eye-dazzling speed.

Mississippi is also a ninepoint choice against an equally unpredictable foe in Arkansas. The Razorbacks upset Texas by one point last week and have lost only to undefeated Baylor in five games. They also will have the advantage of their home stadium. Ole Miss has won five games without a defeat, its last conquest coming over Tulane.

Syracuse has twice come within a bad bounce of defeat, but should have no difficulty in running roughshod over winless West Virginia. It would take nothing short of a football massacre to satisfy the pride of last year's national champions.

Major contests which are rated close to even by the oddsmakers include the traditional battle for the Little Brown Jug between Michigan and Minnesota, the Southwest Conference game between Rice and Texas and the intersectional meetings of Pittsburgh - Texas Christian and Illinois - Penn State.

Although Minnesota is ranked fifth and Michigan 18th, the Wolverines now are favored by 1 1/2 points to win this 31st contest of a bitter rivalry at Ann Arbor. Michigan was lucky in getting a 14-7 decision from Northwestern last week while Minnesota defeated Illinois, 21-10, to maintain its perfect record.

Texas, which has won three games by shutouts but was beaten the two times its defense was broken, is a one-point underdog in the night game at Houston. Rice has won three of four, including a 47-0 romp over Southern Methodist last week.

Golf Winners

Jimmie Livingston and Ann Marsh took first place in a Blind Partner Handicap tourney at the Mayfair Golf Course Wednesday. The winning team had a net of 76.

In second place was the team of Gladys Brown and Mildred Smith. Tied for third place was the team of Barbara Rowell and Harriet Williams and the team of Augie Russell and Jane McKibbin.

The golfing association plans a two ball, beat play tourney next Wednesday and have set Nov. 2 as the qualifying date for the Florida State Bank Tourney.

Monroe Paces Hi-Nooners Loop

Wednesday was Monroe Harbor day again as the team continued its phenomenal climb in the Hi-Nooners League with a 600 actual game and a 1700 scratch series. Ann Dean's 176 scratch led the team to another four point win with all of the team scoring well in their first match with Shoemaker Construction.

The North Orlando Homes team had its first bad day of the season and in spite of Kate Littleton's 180 game which was high for the day, the team lost the lead to Second place Al's Barberhop by one point.

Gerry White's 110 conversion and Dottie Palmer's 8-7 pickup helped move C. P. O. Wives into third place. Ann Herbert's 203-10 and Margorie Kipp's 2-7 conversion helped Big Dip post a 669 handicap game and pick up three points for the team from Smith's Amoco. Jane Spolaki also picked up the 2-3-10 and the Stenstrom Realty team scored a 578 scratch single, while Capri spent the afternoon winning three hard-fought points at the expense of Dawn's Beauty Shop.

Riser Leads Sanford B Team To Easy Victory Over Ocoee

Butch Riser scored two touch downs and passed for another to lead the Sanford B Squad gridders to an easy 19-0 victory over Ocoee Thursday night.

It was the fourth straight win of the season for the locals.

Riser scored the first TD on a pass from Hinson and scooted some 80 yards for the marker. A short time later he pledged four yards for another score.

Riser also passed to Ron Gattman for a score late in the contest.

The first change indicated by the 41-year-old new boss of the American League champions was the possibility of some coaching switches. Houk is understood to want to hire ex-Yankee Hank Bauer as one of his coaches.

Lyman Shoots For Fourth Win

The Lyman Greyhounds, shooting for their fourth win of the campaign, host Russell at 8 p. m. today.

Coach Bill Proctor plans to go with the same starting lineup that has compiled an impressive 3-1-1 mark this season.

Ron Huggins and Jim Goldman will be at the ends; Buddy Howton and John Simmel, tackles; Clarence Hood and Rickey McCanna at guards and Griffith Landress at center.

In the backfield Mike Brown will be at the signal calling post; Carl Pressley at left half and Jim Williams, who rolled up over 160 yards rushing last week, at the other halfback slot.

At fullback will be Paul Blackford.

Chrysler Corporation's low-price compact at reduced prices for 1961!

Valiant is running around with other men's wives all over town. Why not yours?

What makes Valiant such a matinee idol? Good looks, of course. A case of love at first sight for most women. Courty manner. Caters to a lady's slightest whim, skipping through tangled traffic or scooting into a size 7 parking space. Valiant's the strong, silent type—as you'd expect of its unitized body.

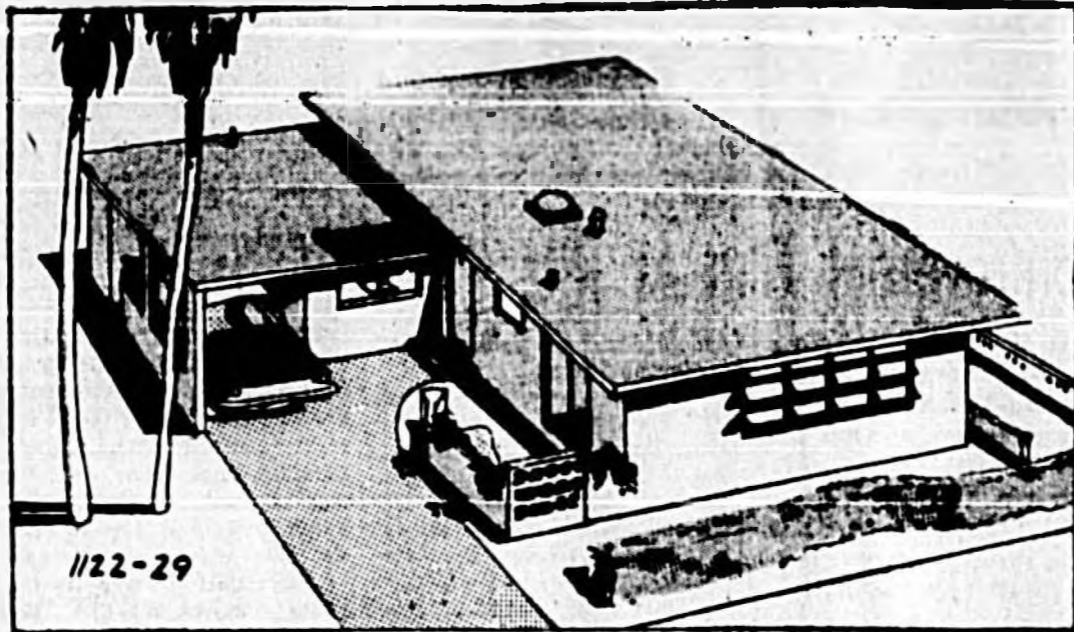

Valiant's Torsion-Aire suspension carpets the roughest roads around. And what a beautiful bargain. Valiant—a low-priced compact last year—has reduced prices for 1961! And its inclined engine sips fuel so sparingly, it often seems Valiant is running on its good looks alone. Wouldn't it be a good idea to introduce your bride to Valiant right now?

House Plans with a Florida Flavor!

Many Unique Features In This Ideal Retirement Home

The architectural make-up of house 1122-29 is visible at first glance because its two elements are so clearly defined. First, there is the 24 x 38 ft. "living unit" which faces the street with its narrow end, and then there is the 20 x 28 foot kitchen-carport unit, set further from the street and joining the first unit to form an "L" whose total frontage is only 44 feet. This house is therefore ideally suited for a narrow lot.

Roof units are topped with shed roofs covered with white marble chips. The roof over the living room has its highest point at the rear (in order to thus repeat the motif of the trellis work on the other side of the front door. The decorative grille-work in front of the centrally located heater (marked H) is visible in the hall.

Two 8-foot-wide sliding glass doors open the living-dining area toward the screen porch and the garden. Optically, the porch and the living room together form a space 22 by 20 feet. A 22-foot-long trough of indirect lighting extends in one sweeping line over the two sliding doors and gives this area an unusual touch of illumination. This space is further enlarged (again optically) by the 4-foot-wide serving window which joins the kitchen space with that of the dining end of this room.

The kitchen (marked K) has two distinct parts: the front "working kitchen," 8 ft. 8 inches x 12 feet in size, has a shaped work counter, and the 6 x 8 foot breakfast alcove with a double window facing the garden and away from kitchen traffic. The work counter includes the sink (S) also under a double window, the refrigerator (RF) on the right and the range (R) and built-in oven on the left. Happily for the homemaker, the "through traffic" between the carport and the rest of the house does not interfere with cooking.

Adjacent to the dining alcove, but still handy to the work counter, is a washer-dryer combination (marked W), a half bath with a shower stall (marked with diagonal cross-lines) and a hot-water heater (marked with dotted circle). Behind this water heater and facing the kitchen is a series of shelves for canned goods and breakfast foods — which should stay crisp longer. There is a double storage space at the back of the carport, part of it opening on the garden side.

The 11 foot 4 inch x 13 foot master bedroom has cross-ventilation and a 6 foot closet with bi-fold doors for better access. The second bedroom also has a 6-foot closet and a sliding glass door to a private patio which contains a small pool (P) with decorative masonry wall around it. A 3-foot closet is planned for the third bedroom and a 3-foot linen closet is located in the corridor.

The bathroom has the tub away from the window, a walling toilet and a wash-basin built into a 42-inch wide counter, with cabinet space underneath.

And for guest towels there is a series of shelves (12 inches wide) right next to the door and adjacent to the washbasin.

Architect-prepared plans for Home No. 1122-29 contain 1/4-inch scale floor plan, four exterior elevations, large-scale cross-section through the house, kitchen and bathroom interiors, and structural and framing details.

Blueprints are available from Jan Reiner, Box 96, New Port Richey, "Florida Homes" magazine is available on newsstands and at the local book stores.

59 Negro Sit-Ins Jailed

ATLANTA (UPI) — Negroes faced darkened eating facilities today, with 59 of their number in jail and others threatened with the same penalty if they staged a third consecutive day of sit-in demonstrations.

More demonstrations were expected at downtown Atlanta stores as part of a stepped-up program to break down segregation of lunch counters in the South. Negroes attempted Wednesday and Thursday to integrate eating facilities in department, variety and dime stores here.

More than 100 Negroes, mostly students at local colleges, participated Wednesday and over 200 Thursday as the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee apparently attempted to carry out a plan formulated during a meeting here five days ago.

Forty Negroes, including the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., were bound over to criminal court as a result of the demonstrations but two posted bonds. The others said they preferred to remain in jail until their trials to dramatize their efforts against segregation.

Municipal Judge James F. Webb sentenced 22 of the youthful demonstrators to 10 days in jail on charges of disorderly conduct. The others were charged with violation of Georgia's anti-trespass law, enacted to combat sit-in demonstrators.

The law makes it a misdemeanor for anyone to refuse to leave a business establishment after he has been asked to do so by the owner.

A white youth, identified as Harold Eugene Sprayberry, was sentenced to 10 days in jail on charge of inciting to riot. Police said he purchased an anti-bug insecticide bomb and a deodorant bomb in a variety store and sprayed Negroes sitting at a lunch counter.

At least four stores were closed, including a huge F. W. Woolworth five and dime near Rich's Department store in downtown Atlanta. Rich's closed all its tea rooms and other eating facilities. The Negroes, after the attempt Wednesday, returned Thursday to and most of the previously hit eating facilities closed, lights out and signs posted saying the counters and lunch rooms would be closed until further notice.

Finch Murder Jury Still Out

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — "Did you sleep?" asked Dr. R. Bernard Finch.

"Uh-uh," Carolie Tregott answered negatively.

The brief exchange late Thursday summed up the tensions the illicit lovers must feel as they await the murder retrial jury to decide their fate.

The 11 women and 1 man making up the jury returned to their third day of deliberations today, attempting to wade through testimony given by 99 witnesses in 17 weeks of trial.

The state has asked that Finch, 43, and Carolie, 23, be found guilty of first degree murder in the death of the surgeon's wife, Barbara, 33.

The defense demanded they be freed, claiming the July 18, 1958, gunshot death was accidental.

While the jurors deliberated, Finch appeared outwardly calm as he had in the first trial.

Carolie, however, sought extra work in county jail as a dishwasher so she "wouldn't have time lagging on her hands."

The couple had to wait eight suspenseful days at the end of their first trial before the jury announced on March 12 K was hopelessly deadlocked.

We Stand Pat . . .

The City Commission Tuesday, by a 3-1 majority, agreed to recall its resolution supporting the Atlantic Coast Line-Seaboard Air Line merger.

Earlier one commissioner stated that he had been assured that the ACL would never try off the 300 some odd workers in Sanford if the merger received the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Now, he feels he is not so sure. It seems rumors have been circulating to the effect that if the merger is completed, the Sanford rail terminal will be disbanded and employees laid off.

Now, the Herald came out a month ago supporting the merger. At that time we were assured, as was this commissioner, that Sanford would not be hurt by the merger and we still feel it won't be hurt.

This paper would never support, unconditionally, anything that would kill an industry here.

ACL officials contacted Wednesday reaffirmed that they have no intention of laying off any people . . . and the Herald feels that opposition of the merger will stop free enterprise.

Our Youths Take First Journalistic Steps

As Newspaper Week comes to a close it's good to see our county schools beginning to recognize the importance of journalism.

Sanford Junior High is in the process of organizing a newspaper and Lyman High and Longwood Elementary Schools already have newspapers in circulation.

We hope other schools in the county, especially Seminole High, takes this step so that our youngsters can learn the importance of "keeping the public informed" on happenings . . . whether it be a commission meeting or a project in an elementary science class.

We wish these young newspaper people the best of luck . . .

WASHINGTON CALLING

By Marquis Childs

WITH NIXON CAMPAIGN—An observer who traveled extensively with Vice President Nixon during the 1968 campaign in 1968 recalls an incident that throws light on his position at this climactic point in the race for the Presidency.

At an early background breakfast for correspondents touring with him he said that in the heat of a contest with pressures from every side he invariably found himself taking stands that were more conservative than his position in fact was. A little later he met for a second breakfast with important contributors to the Republican campaign chest. He is reported to have told them that in the heat of a contest he was invariably pushed into taking stands more liberal than his normal outlook.

Today, as the Presidential campaign warms up, Nixon is being pushed rapidly toward the right. Increasingly as he applies such epithets as "war party" and "appeaser" to the Democrats and his opponent, Senator Kennedy, he is moving over onto the side of those in the right wing of his party who have always given him his principal support.

A striking instance of this is his shift on the Connally Amendment restricting American acceptance of the jurisdiction of the International Court of Justice at The Hague. President Eisenhower has several times called for repeal of the amendment as had Nixon. Such Nixon backers as Charles Rhyne, former president of the American Bar Association, have made it a cardinal point in their appeal for the rule of law in the world.

But at the same time the old isolationist, nationalist forces on the Republican right have been sharpening at Nixon for joining with those who would sacrifice any smallest share of America's sovereignty to a world court. And so a week ago Sen. Barry Goldwater, the darling of these forces, let it be known that the Vice-President had altered his position. This was done through a letter sent to those inquiring about his stand on the controversial amendment.

It is the kind of letter that lawyers can happily con over in interpreting its possible meanings. The layman, however, will be somewhat puzzled by language that says:

"I believe the Connally Amendment should be replaced by a new reservation which should be so phrased that the declaration will not apply to disputes which are essentially within the domestic jurisdiction of the United States of America or to disputes involving the national security of the United States of America. With such a declaration we will protect our sovereignty through protective provisions that the Connally Amendment does not give and at the same time strengthen our world position by taking the leadership in indicating our willingness, under proper safeguards, to settle our disputes with other nations through the rule of law rather than resort to force."

But if this is a significant indicator of the shift it is comparatively unimportant when put alongside the way in which progressively Nixon has impudently deliberated amendment to Kennedy on the Quoy-Matsu issue. He began by saying that he knew his opponent's aims were the same as his—peace without surrender. With increasing intensity from step to step that has become something quite different.

The vice president went a long way in that direction when at the rally at Iruena Park this week he said: "But we left that policy of retreat and defeat the loss of China, the Korean War) behind in 1953 and we're not going back to

"TRUTH CRUSHED TO EARTH—!" BUT DON'T BET ON IT!

THE REAL LYING CHAMPION WILL NOW STAND UP!

THE WORRY CLINIC by Dr. George Crane

CASE G-101: Sam S., aged 47, is a prominent business executive. "But he is excessively jealous," his wife began.

"And he makes the most outlandish charges, right in front of our children."

"He claims I am untrue to him and I am having an affair with some other man, which is so obviously false that nobody believes him."

"But he jumps around in his charges, claiming that it is first one man, then another."

"For example, he is now jealous of my doctor. Later, he may accuse me of loving my clergyman. Next, it may be an insurance man, etc."

"I have been true to Sam all my life and I am sure he knows that. But two weeks ago, I learned he had even hired detectives to trail me, so he is losing his mind or what?"

Sam's case is a classical example of the middle age husband whose waning sex desires are producing a platonic condition.

"How can I hold my wife's devotion?" is then the haunting question that terrifies such a man.

"I can't offer as much as other males, so I must be suspicious of everybody else."

Coupled with this secret inferiority complex, is usually another false notion of men, namely, that wives are passionate creatures.

Although the average husband knows better as a result of the comparative frigidity of his wife for the previous 25 years, he suddenly seems to magnify his wife's erotic hunger as soon as he wanes in his own ardor.

Moreover, if he accuses her unmercifully and constantly, this forces her to protest that "You know I love you and have never even looked at any other man." That is sweet solace to his tormented ego.

But there is another secret reason why an aging husband often becomes a chronic accuser of his innocent wife.

It diverts her attention so she is not so likely to suspect that he is platonic.

For when he angrily charges her with clandestine affairs, he subconsciously figures that she will—

(1) Be so concerned with denying and defending herself that she will overlook his lack of ardor.

(2) If she does wonder at his lack of physical affection, she will assume it is due to his anger, since everybody knows that anger checkmates love.

The subconscious mind can concoct the cleverest stratagems and smoke screens imaginable.

In fact, it will do such a splendid camouflage job that it often hoodwinks the victim himself.

"Let not your right hand know what your left hand doeth," is a Biblical statement that perfectly describes the apparent barrier between the conscious mind and the subconscious.

But this barrier is not as complete as the patient would believe for we psychiatrists can break it down quickly by hypnosis or more slowly by the personal interview.

And that was how I obtained Sam's shameful confession, as outlined tomorrow. Scrapbook this classical case of a jealous middle aged husband.

WASHINGTON — This thing, automation, has brought some strange human problems. . . .

Not included is the problem of whether robot machines are putting people out of work.

Automation is bringing on gasping, emotional street scenes, lower conditions and loneliness. At least, that's what the experts said.

Victims of these 20th Century pitfalls are the people whose job it is to stand among seas of machines and just watch things go by.

Three Minutes A Day

By JAMES KELLER

Few fishermen ever landed anything but fish. But one angler made a catch at Seneca Lake, N. Y., that will not often be duplicated.

While waiting patiently for a bite, he suddenly noticed an interesting object floating by. It rowed his little boat near enough to pick it out of the water.

It turned out to be a wallet containing $114. An investigation turned up the owner who had lost it several hours earlier.

Many a valuable lesson can be learned from the art of fishing. Read the Gospels and note how Christ not only selected fishermen to be his closest associates but repeatedly pointed out how as "fishers of men" they could put such hope, patience and devoted persistence to supernatural use. You may never fish a wallet out of the water, but you can be a "fisher of men" by bringing God to man and man to God.

"Come follow Me, and I will make you fishers of men." And at once they left the nets and followed Him.

(Mark 1:19) Help me, O divine Master to be on the lookout for ways to be of service to others.

Youthful 68

NEW YORK (UPI)—"Bernie," said his old friend James F. Byrnes to Bernard B. Baruch, who was then beating the drums for World War II preparedness, "why does a man of your age want to get into a thing like this?"

Baruch, now 68, recalls the incident in his newly published memoirs of public life with only a parenthetical answer: "It was then only 68."

HAPPINESS THROUGH HEALTH (BY DR. F. LEO KERWIN)

Bursitis:

In order for the arm to move freely in the shoulder joint nature has placed a sack of fluid at the point of articulation. The articular sack is called the bursal sack. A lack of fluid in the bursal sack will allow the two bones to rub together without lubrication, causing severe painful inflammation of the shoulder joint.

The bursal fluids is produced by small glands in the walls of the sack. The main reason for lack of production for these glands is poor nerve supply. By adjusting the spinal misalignments, the Chiropractor is able to restore the nerve supply to the bursal glands, allowing a reduction of the inflammation.

One of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of scientific Chiropractic, written by Dr. F. Leo Kerwin whose office is located at 201 S. French Ave. and his telephone number is FAirfax 2-7442.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Eugene O'Neill's father James was a great matinee idol in his day, who starred for years in "The Count of Monte Cristo." He was standing in the lobby of a Washington, D. C., hotel one day when a man stepped up to assure him, "I admire your acting, Mr. I intend to see you perform this evening." O'Neill politely brushed him aside, then asked the doorman, "Who is that fellow who just spoke to me?"

The doorman answered, "President McKinley."

Wilson Miner, recalls Boyce House, was one of the most colorful figures in Alaska's gold-rush days. Miner liked to tell of the time he broke three front teeth on a frozen doughnut—also the night someone stole the only typewriter in town and sold it to the butcher, who thought it was a cash register.

"Tragedy struck," reported Miner, "the day the thermometer went down to 60 below zero. The president of the bank bent over to tie his shoe, and froze in that position. We had to bury the poor fellow in a drum!"
