CITY PLANNING BOARD ENGAGES EXPERT ADVICE

IMPORTANT STEPS TAKEN LAST NIGHT ON CITY PLANNING

PHIEFFER TO HELP

Commission Approves Lake Shore Boulevard—Public To Submit Suggestions To Architect

George L. Phieffer, noted landscape architect, of Lemon City, Fla., will serve the City of Sanford in developing a city plan, according to an announcement made last night at a meeting of the City Planning Commission.

The commission also went on record as approving the Lake Shore Boulevard, as fostered by the American Legion.

The City Planning Commission held its third weekly meeting last night at 8 o'clock in the offices of the city hall. This commission was created by a special act of legislation and appointed by the city manager.

At the meeting last night it was announced that the services of George L. Phieffer, of Lemon City, Florida, one of the foremost landscape architects in the south, had been secured in developing a city plan. All information concerning the various sections of the city, the city streets, and all roads leading into the city, will be compiled and sent to Mr. Phieffer at the earliest possible date to assist him in zoning the city into business and residential districts.

A resolution was adopted, asking the city commission not to grant permits for the erection of public buildings without the consent and approval of the City Planning Commission. The subdivision of A. P. Connelly was accepted by the commission as an addition to the city, and the properties of J. L. Ingram and the Lake Shore Improvement Company were submitted as proposed additions.

Perhaps the most important action taken last night by the commission was their approval of the plan for a Lake Shore Boulevard, now being fostered by the American Legion. The boulevard, as proposed by the American Legion, will be paved along the lake front between Myrtle and Park avenues, and the plan includes the improvement of adjacent property.

The members of the City Planning Commission are Fred Williams, A. E. Douglas, S. O. Shinholser, George D. Bishop, Mrs. Harry Heeren, Mr. Shinholser is chairman of the commission and Mrs. Heeren the secretary.

Belgium Ratifies The Agreement Yesterday

BRUSSELS, Nov. 21.—After a meeting of the cabinet this afternoon a telephonic message was sent to Baron d'Hestroy, the Belgian ambassador in Paris, saying that the Belgian government ratified the provisional agreement drafted today by the ambassador's council.

The news from Paris that a rupture of the entente had been avoided brought expressions of the keenest satisfaction in official circles here. These circles ascribed a great share of the credit of this news to the clarity of the declaration from Washington recently regarding American opposition to the restoration of the Hohenzollern regime in Germany.

Occupational Tax Must Be Paid Soon

For many, the occupational tax is long past due—have you paid it yet and secured your new license? Those who haven't paid this tax had better make fast tracks to the tax collector's office and get their license right away. Those who are required by law to pay this tax and who have not done so before December 1st will be arrested and given a chance to explain to the county judge why they haven't attended to it.

BROWN CONVICTED OF USHER MURDER

Brown Still To Be Tried—Judge Sentences Alleged Murderer To B Hanged.

DAYTONA, Nov. 21.—Charles Brown, alias, Charles Piscielli, charged with the murder of Howard Usher, young taxi driver of this city, on the night of October 21, was found guilty by jury in the duSla V county circuit court last night of murder in the first degree. Brown, who claimed to be a resident of Boston, Mass., and to have served two terms in the navy, being shell shocked and gassed in the Battle of the Argonne, during the World War, received the verdict of the jury without any outward display of feeling. He was sentenced to be hanged, the date for the infliction of the penalty to be fixed by the governor of Florida.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Promises that Grover Bergdoll will return to this country from Germany, if Washington government complies with certain stipulated conditions said to amount to virtual immunity for him, have been made to the government officials by attorneys and others speaking for Bergdoll family. MCADOO LEADS PRIMARY RACE SOUTH DAKOTA

SHOWS SENTIMENT

Of West Although Less Than Three Fourths of Voting Power of State Was Represented

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Nov. 21.—Returns today from yesterday's county proposal conventions and which represented approximately three-fourths of the state's voting power gave the McAdoo forces 30,000 votes in the state convention against less than 10,000 for the Ford men, according to leaders in two campaigns.

Republican and Farmer-Labor sentiment was less clearly indicated. The majority of proposal men in all three parties were uninstructed for state convention, but in several important counties presidential preferences were indicated.

Great interest was shown throughout the state in the voting. The Ford forces still believe that the sentiment for the manufacturer will continue to grow.

CAVALRY OFFICER IN ANNUAL REPORT

Says That There Has Been A Marked Deterioration in Cavalry During Last Few Months

Says That There Has Been A Marked Deterioration in Cavalry During Last Few Months.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Readiness for active service and morale among American cavalry regiments has shown distinct improvement "due to the very devoted efforts of the officers and non-commissioned officers," Major General Willard Holbrook, chief of cavalry, declared in his annual report made public today. General Holbrook added, however, the "regrettable observation" that there has been marked deterioration of cavalry mounts due to the advancing age of troop horses and lack of necessary remounts.

The morale of the cavalry "can be characterized, without qualification, as high," General Holbrook said. There was conspicuous esprit during the year in the first cavalry division posted on the border which had attracted attention of the Inspector General, he said. The Inspector General also noted "visible improvement during the year in all border cavalry."

General Holbrook said the work of the cavalry division had already proved this to be an excellent training school for officers and demonstrated that the division occupied "a conspicuous place in our scheme of preparedness."

Among recommendations to the Secretary of War, General Holbrook included one urging the purchase of sufficient cavalry remounts "to replace the shortage which will exist July 1, 1924."

Duff Family Coming To Sanford Tomorrow

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Duff, late of Narragansett Pier and New York, where they are well-known to all the readers of the Metropolitan dailies, will be in Sanford tomorrow for a prolonged sojourn during the winter months.

It was only after considerable expense and correspondence that The Herald was able to induce the Duffs to give up their plan of going to California, as is their custom during the winter months, and come to Sanford instead. Wherever the Duffs are known they have the reputation of being jolly, fun-loving people, who cause a daily laugh for all who know them. Watch The Herald tomorrow and get acquainted with the Duffs. I think you said, 'Rastus, that you had a brother in the mining business in the West?' 'Yeh, boss, that's right' 'What kind of mining—gold mining, silver mining, copper mining?' 'No sah, none o' those; kalsmining.'—Ex.

Peanut Lodged In Windpipe Results In Death of Lad

Efforts of the best medical skill of the state failed to save the life of George Horace Hamrick, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hamrick of this city, who died at the Riverside Hospital in Jacksonville at 5 o'clock last night following an operation.

Last Sunday night the little fellow got a peanut in his windpipe. Every effort was made to extract it but without avail so the parents left immediately for Jacksonville where they placed the boy in the Riverside Hospital for attention.

The peanut was abstracted but complications set in and the little fellow passed away at five o'clock last night. Mr. and Mrs. Hamrick left Jacksonville today for Sanford, where the burial will take place. A host of friends in Sanford and throughout Seminole county sympathize with them in their great loss. Mr. Hamrick is manager of the local Piggy Wiggly store.

Next Tuesday night has been tentatively agreed upon by the committee of the Chamber of Commerce, the Kiwanis Club and the Rotary Club for the dinner at which plans will be discussed for the eleven hundred dollar drive for the Boy Scout fund. The dinner will be in the grill room of the Valdez Hotel, and there will be a cover charge of one dollar.

The present drive is for the purpose of raising eleven hundred dollars to assist in relieving the financial pressure on the leaders of the Boy Scout organization in Seminole county. Karl Lehman, secretary of the Orange County Chamber of Commerce, is expected to be present and will assist with suggestions from experience in the neighboring county.

All the members of the local Chamber of Commerce, the Kiwanis Club and the Rotary Club, as well as the leaders in the Boy Scout organization are invited, and a large attendance is expected.

DECLARES O'RYAN

American Legion Congratulates Committee As Public Sessions Are Brought To A Close

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Startling disclosures, other than what has developed before the open investigation regarding the conduct of the Vets Bureau, have been made and the matters made public are "But Fragments" of what has been disclosed, according to a statement of John F. O'Ryan, made public here last night.

General O'Ryan listed scores of reports of special inquiries which have been made in all sections of the country and which embrace local bureau officers, hospitals, government vocational schools and the work in universities and colleges where former service men are training. He announced that these will be presented to the committee at the coming business sessions at which all of the matters under investigation will be reviewed and a report to the senate formulated.

James E. Easby-Smith, counsel for Forbes, presented to the committee a memorandum of what witnesses he would have called in defense of his client, had there been time, would have testified to. The committee will examine the memorandum and accompanying exhibits and determine what part of it shall be admitted to the public record. Meantime, the whole is withheld.

Recommendations for legislation from the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars were received during the day. Both organizations congratulated the committee on its work. John Thomas Taylor general counsel of the American Legion declaring that the hearings have awakened the country to the seriousness of the situation, not only as it affects the disabled men, but also the government.

Edwin S. Bettleheim, Jr., for the Veterans of Foreign Wars, wrote that his organization feels that the outcome "will be a more careful and efficient management of the Veterans' Bureau and also a lesson and a caution to government officials in charge of other bureaus of the government."

ENTENTE ADMITS FRENCH RIGHTS SINGLE ACTION

PROVIDED GERMANY FAILS TO MEET DEMANDS TO BE MADE

MEETING TODAY

Of Council of Ambassadors—Decision Reached That Ambassadors Will Consult For Further Action

PARIS, Nov. 21.—London is now understood to have agreed to the use of a word which is tacit admission of France's right to take single action in the event of Germany's failure to meet demands, in the note to be sent to Germany.

Consultation by the interested powers is delaying final action by the Allies on the note. The ambassadors have reached the decision, however, that the note would tell Germany that if she failed to comply with the Allies demands, they would consult further regarding action. The French objected to this contending that it implies France must consult Allies before taking any action, thus precluding any separate action.

The British Ambassador received instructions from London this morning regarding the note and it was learned that the Council of Ambassadors would meet this afternoon.

It was accepted as certain in Paris last night that the entente will survive the present crisis, but there is very little enthusiasm for the compromise through which the break was averted.

The provisional character of the accord is one of the reasons for the coolness toward it. The fact that British government was not ready to signify its acceptance after consideration of more than 24 hours, necessitating the postponement of final action by the allied council of ambassadors, is interpreted as evidence that the accord is only moderately pleasing to London.

EVERY GROWER IS ASKED TO MEETING

Urge U. S. Entry Into World Court

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Entry of the United States into the Permanent court of international justice was urged upon President Coolidge and the senate in a resolution adopted today by the Synod Province of Washington, representing the dioceses of the Episcopal church in Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Delaware and the District of Columbia. Bishop Alexander Mann of Pittsburgh proposed the resolution, declaring "if we do not enter the court, what is all our loud-voiced desire for the peace of the world but a futile gesture."

TEACHERS MAKING DRIVE FOR QUOTA MEMBERS OF F. E. A.

Special Effort To Furnish 230 Members in State Association During "Educational Week"

Teachers of the Sanford public schools yesterday inaugurated a campaign to secure Sanford's quota of 230 citizen members for the Florida Educational Association, according to F. W. Lawton, county superintendent of public instruction.

This drive is a feature of "Educational Week" now being celebrated throughout the state and the challenge is issued to every red blooded man and woman of the community interested in the cause of education to come forward and support the great work of the state association.

"Sanford's quota is 230 citizen members," said Mr. Lawton this morning. "It only costs a dollar to join and each member is entitled to a subscription to the F. E. A. Journal for the school year. The Journal is published at Winter Park by the association and is the official organ of the public school system of the state."

The editor is Dr. O. I. Woodley, an educator of national note. He is secretary of the state association. The magazine brings first hand information as to the status of the public school work. As the teachers are so generously donating all of their spare time during the week to this work, it seems little enough for the people of Sanford to take out memberships and show their interest in the schools."

JACKSONVILLE MOVES FOR ATHLETIC STADIUM

JACKSONVILLE—Definite proposal that a modern municipal athletic stadium be established in Jacksonville will probably be made at the city commission in special session late this afternoon by Commissioners Vais and Acosta, who have been especially active in the matter.

Commissioner Vais stated today he favors taking the premium from bonds totaling more than $5,000 and using it as the initial payment on suitable property for a centrally located stadium. Commissioner Acosta has already expressed approval of the plan and other members of the commission are understood to be favorable to it, provided the money can be legally used for this purpose. The city attorney will be called upon for an opinion.

Thanksgiving Proclamation Is Issued by Governor Cary Hardee

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Nov. 21.—Let us unite in Thanksgiving that we have been free from epidemic and disaster destructive of life; that we have been spared catastrophe destructive of property; that we have garnered abundant and profitable harvests; that we have felt the glow of great industrial growth; that we have known the joy of general prosperity; that we have given freely of this prosperity to relieve suffering in less happy lands.

Prayer that "we may prove ourselves worthy recipients" of these "bounteous blessings" is suggested in the document which enjoins the further petition that prayer should be offered "that our whole citizenship may assume with zeal such duties of the day as will make Florida of the morrow a home of untold beauty and richness of civic living; that "all our officials may be imbued with higher ideals of their personal responsibility for the quick coming of a day of universal law and order," and that "our educators may have the unselfish support of material business in their work to banish ignorance and universalize education."

The proclamation follows:
STATE OF FLORIDA

I do earnestly urge all of our people to assemble at our usual places of worship and in appropriate manner give thanks to God for His many blessings so generously measured out to us.

This will be the first good hard road from this city to Lake Okechobee, according to the directors, in addition to being an important link in the cross-state highway between this place and Fort Myers.

GOVERNMENT INSPECTION WILL BE MADE OF ALL PERISHABLES SHIPPED FROM THIS SECTION

SHIPPERS WILL BE PROTECTED AGAINST LOOSE PLAN

INCREASE VALUES

And Will Mean Money To The Grower—Classifications Are Outlined

An agreement has been reached by the distributing concerns in Sanford to have government inspection on all cars of perishables shipped from this section. This announcement is made as a result of a recent meeting, at which time it was agreed that this, more than anything else, would act as a form of protection against the loose plan of operation which, at present, is one of the greatest evils of the industry.

Inspection is made at the cars and certificates are issued showing grade, condition and quality, as well as the condition of the car and equipment. This certificate is valuable to the shipper and grower in making sales, in presenting claims to the railroad, and in making adjustments on cars that are off grade. In differentiating between the various qualities the following grades have been scheduled by the United States Department of Agriculture:

U. S. No. 1 shall consist of heads of lettuce of similar varietal characteristics which are fresh, well trimmed and fairly firm; which are not wilted, decayed or burst, and which are free from stems and doubles and from damage caused by freezing, tip burn, disease, insects or mechanical or other means.

In order to allow for variations incident to proper grading and handling not more than 10 per cent, by count, of any lot may be below the requirements of this grade.

U. S. No. 2 shall consist of heads of lettuce of similar varietal characteristics which are fresh, well trimmed, and which are free from seed stems and from damage caused by freezing injury, tip burn, disease, insects or mechanical or other means.

In order to allow for variations incident to proper grading and handling not more than 10 per cent, by count, of any lot may be below the requirements of this grade.

U. S. No. 3 shall consist of heads of lettuce which do not meet the requirements of any of the foregoing grades.

The definition of terms as used in these grades may be of assistance to the growers and are as follows:

"Similar varietal characteristics" means that the heads of any container have the same color and characteristic leaf growth. For example, lettuce of the Iceberg and Big Boston types must not be mixed.

"Fresh" means crisp and green. "Well trimmed" means that the head is protected by green wrapper leaves but those wrapper leaves which have been noticeably injured by decay, worms, tip burn or other means have been removed.

"Firm" means that the head is compact and feels solid.

"Seed stems" means those heads which have seed stems showing or in which the formation of seed stems has plainly begun.

"Fairly Firm" means that the head yields readily to pressure but is not soft or spongy.

While government inspection is to a certain extent an innovation in Sanford, it is in general practice at other large shipping centers in the United States. The benefit to be derived from government inspection is a feeling of confidence in the product of the grower.

PROSPERITY OF STATE EXCEEDS ALL ESTIMATES

STATE SURVEY SHOWS ACTIVITY IN ALL LINES

NO UNEMPLOYMENT

Hostelry Construction Particularly Noticed—Labor Shortage Is Threatened

Conclusions reached by the department of labor from a general survey of industrial conditions in the largest Florida cities show a period of even prosperity and much progress in building, hostelry construction being noted especially. Little or no unemployment situations are noted in the various cities of the state, while on the other hand a number of instances are given where there is a noticeable shortage of workmen.

A very favorable report is given of conditions in Jacksonville, the state's largest city. The survey shows that in this city all manufacturing plants are running, some overtime, while there is little unemployment evident in any section of the city. Pensacola, Tampa, Miami, Key West and others are also discussed in the labor department's survey.

The following report was made by the department regarding the conditions in Sanford and neighboring cities:

Sanford—All plants are operating on a full-time basis, with very little unemployment noticeable in this city, and a slight shortage of common labor is reported. Approximately 300 building tradesmen are employed on a large construction program which shows no signs of abatement at the present time.

Orlando—There is beginning to be seen the usual influx of workers and job hunters at this time of the year. The opening of the orange season within two weeks will give employment to many in the picking and packing of this fruit. Practically all industrial activities are operating and a tremendous building program is affording employment to the available supply of this class of workers.

NEW BUS SLINE BEGINS MONDAY

Pullman Type Cars of Latest Design To Be Used and Reliable Schedule Maintained.

W. H. Andrews, of Miami, was a business visitor to Sanford Monday. While here Mr. Andrews completed arrangements for his bus line which will start operating Monday between Orlando, Sanford, and Daytona. There will be six cars a day each way and every bus will be of the latest design, Pullman type, enclosed and heated. Every comfort for the passenger will be provided for and nothing ticks a dog more than seeing a little mouse chase one of these long-legged cats.

Miami Herald: Billy Sunday called on the president the other day and it is a safe bet that Mr. Coolidge did not get in a word edgewise.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Upon the editorial page of today's issue will be found R. J. Holly's farewell to the people he has served for fifteen years, as proprietor and editor of The Sanford Herald.

With this issue, Mr. Holly brings his connection with The Herald to a close. He and his associates have sold the paper to a group of newspapermen who will assume full charge of its publication, Monday, November 19.

Miamians who are seeing in Sanford and its surrounding territory opportunities similar to those that have been responsible for the amazing growth of their East Coast city, the new owners of The Herald say they have come to take a hand in the good development work already underway, and to give their best efforts toward keeping Sanford in the forefront of progress.

The president of the new company is Reese Combs, already known to many people of this section of Florida inasmuch as he is, so-to-speak, a "native son." Mr. Combs' birthplace was Apopka and he spent his early boyhood there, and attended grammar school in Sanford, until he went with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Combs, to live in Miami. There he attended High school, going immediately after his graduation in 1911, into the news department of The Miami Metropolis, with which publication he was connected in various responsible positions until the sale of that paper last April. Mr. Combs, in addition to his newspaper work, has been one of the leaders in the Boy Scout activities of the state, his skillful and sympathetic work among boys making him a much-sought and trusted counselor. His fine camp at Chimney Rock, which is one of the most successful and most popular in the Carolina mountains, has been greatly enjoyed by several Sanford lads who will hear with delight that Mr. Combs is to be a Sanford man.

The vice-president of the new company is R. L. Dean who has spent much of his life, outside of school and college hours, in a newspaper office. The son of S. Bobo Dean, for many years owner and editor of The Miami Metropolis, Mr. Dean has had a newspaper environment which has guided him into choosing the publishing business as a natural career, receiving his practical experience on the Miami Metropolis and Detroit News. At Yale University, Mr. Dean specialized in subjects that would best fit him for the newspaper business. He also took keen interest in athletics and as captain of the Yale Polo Team, won laurels for his Alma Mater. Like Mr. Combs, Mr. Dean is a native Floridian. Palm Beach was his birthplace.

The secretary and treasurer of the company is R. H. Berg who also was a member of the Miami Metropolis staff while that paper was owned by S. Bobo Dean. He had been with The Metropolis, first as circulation manager and then as manager of both the circulation and advertising departments, for twelve years when the paper was sold, and is said to be equipped with exceptional business ability. Following the sale of the Miami paper, at which time Mr. Berg severed his connection with the publication, Mr. Berg took over the circulation of six Florida newspapers, including The Sanford Herald, and it was while looking after his interests in this connection that he was aroused to the attractive business opportunities of Sanford, and the advantages offered for the publication of the live newspaper, The Herald has endeavored to be. Mr. Berg is planning to bring his family to make their home in Sanford as soon as suitable living arrangements can be made.

JOINT COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO AID PARK COMMISSION IN SELECTING NEW PARK

To Be Used For Baseball And Athletic Field

A special joint committee consisting of members of the Rotary Club, Kiwanis Club and the Chamber of Commerce has been appointed to assist the Park Commission in securing a location for Sanford's new athletic field and ball park, which was authorized in a recent bond issue. There have been several sites submitted and members of the Committee together with the Commission made a personal inspection of several of them last Friday. In as much as it is proposed to have the park used by some one of the Major League Clubs as spring training quarters it is deemed advisable to have a field as near the center of the town as possible. The Commissioners are also desirous of locating a site that has trackage facilities for fairs, circuses, etc., and a sufficient area to permit amusements of the kind to have exhibits. The Commission is also interested in locating a modern auto tourist camp on any site selected. Unfortunately, however, there are no sites available in Sanford that are close in and it may develop that it will be necessary to secure some large tract of land outside of the corporate limits. None of the sites met with the approval of the Commission or of the joint committee. All of them were not within walking distance from the center of town, some of them were without trackage facilities, others were not located on a hard surfaced road, while the prices asked for those that were not at all desirable, were not exorbitant. The bond issue provides for $35,000 to be spent for an athletic field and the Park Commission are determined to secure a location that will meet with the general approval of the tax payer and will be so located and constructed that it will become a permanent training camp for some of the big league clubs. An invitation has already been extended to two of the big league teams to use the park as their spring training quarters. The field will also be used by local high school teams and any team that may be organized in Sanford.

The Committee from the Chamber of Commerce comprises E. F. Householder, R. C. Bower, A. P. Connelly, Rotary Club; W. R. Stevens, Dr. S. Pelestin, and W. C. Dalrose. Kiwanis Club; A. T. Rossiter, Dr. W. T. Langley, and S. M. Lloyd. Park Commissioners are: Edward Higgins, chairman, H. B. Lewis, G. W. Knight, A. E. Yowell, W. C. Hill.

ESTIMATES ON LAKE FRONT COMPLETED NEXT WEEK MEETING OF PROPERTY OWNERS

Sentiment For Hard Surfaced Roads in Seminole County

SANFORD, Fla., Nov. 17.—At last Friday's membership meeting of the Chamber of Commerce which was unusually well attended, City Engineer Fred T. Williams reported that estimates for the lake front drive would be completed in time to submit to the City Commissioners at their next meeting. The latter intend calling all owners of property adjacent to the proposed improvement to be present at the meeting. According to Mr. Williams, the amount of bill to be made at some points along the lake front will be considerable and while the cost may appear high it will be more than offset by the value of the reclaimed land. It is expected that some definite action on this matter will be taken following the conference of the Commissioners and property owners.

The sentiment for additional hard surfaced roads in Seminole County is becoming stronger, as indicated by requests from various sections of the county to the Good Roads Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. This committee will shortly hold a meeting to which will be invited the representatives from these sections.

A special map has been prepared by the committee showing the present and proposed hard surfaced roads in the county. Several additional petitions were presented at Friday's meeting from different sections with the request that these roads be shown on

State Press Lauds Work of R. J. Holly

R. J. Holly, who retired Saturday as editor and controlling editor of The Sanford Herald, and who is proclaimed by the state press as the man who "put Sanford on the map." The Lakeland Star-Telegram asks the question, will Sanford ever realize what she owes to "Bob Holly?"

the map and if possible included in any bond issue which may subsequently be voted. The Geneva district is anxious to have the Geneva-Titusville road put in a passable condition. They have been successful in securing appropriations from the County Commissioners of both Volusia and Brevard counties, and received the permission of the Commission of the state and Volusia counties to establish a toll ferry where this road crosses the St. Johns River, the proceeds to be equally proportioned in maintaining the roads in these counties. Commissioner Blodgett advised the meeting that the County Commissioners would make no further expenditures for the maintenance of the Sanford-Orlando road on the State Road Department has agreed to take over this road.

The New Industries Committee of the Chamber are working on several attractive propositions, as was noted from correspondence read at the meeting. One of these propositions in particular is of considerable magnitude and if the Committee is successful in having it located in Sanford a most profitable addition to the industrial development of the city will have been secured.

The new booklet are still in course of preparation and should be ready for distribution within thirty days, according to the report of the Publicity Committee. A large number of road signs have been posted on the main arteries of travel and the Committee is now preparing to complete its schedule of newspaper and periodical advertising.

The County Commissioners at the request of the Publicity Committee have agreed to make an appropriation toward the expense in preparing an exhibit for the Florida Exposition at Madison Square Garden next February. A portion of the budget allotted to this Committee has been given to the Tourist and Convention Committee for the same. This latter Committee have completed arrangements to have a weekly concert in Sanford during the winter months.

With the appointment of a Park Commission it was moved that the Golf Course Committee be discharged with the thanks of the organization for the work they have accomplished. It was the opinion of the meeting that as Seminole County would exhibit at the South Florida Fair and at Madison Garden that the County Commissioners be requested to notify the management of the Orlando Fair that Seminole County would not exhibit there this season.

The newly appointed City Planning Commission meets every Tuesday night.

SUFFICIENCY OF MUNITIONS WILL DECIDE NEXT WAR

Major General Clarence Williams Says That If U. S., Develops Resourced Need Fear No Enemy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The next major war "will be won or lost on the sufficiency of munitions reserves," Major General Clarence C. Williams, chief of Army ordnance, predicted in his annual report made public today at the War Department.

"I wish to emphasize the preponderant importance of adequate emergency reserves," General Williams said, adding that in view of the isolated position, highly developed specialized industries and immense resources of the United States it seemed "fairly certain that no power or combination of powers now in existence," could successfully invade the country after American man power and industry had been fully mobilized.

"The possible rate of mobilization will always be determined by the state of our reserves," the report said, "since man power can be mobilized much more rapidly than industry. From this point of view, taking into account the present economic development of the world, it may be said that the next major war will be won or lost on the sufficiency of munitions reserve."

Report is interesting. The war situation may involve a large stock of reserves on hand. General Williams continued, but with the passage of time the value of these is decreasing "due to development of improved and more powerful types." There is also, he added, a deterioration in stocks of ammunition which "is very much more pressing" than the question of obsolescence of material.

The report said that lack of funds during the last two years has prevented completion of the military development program worked out at the close of the war and that it has been possible "to cover reasonably well" in a contracted program only the gun equipment for infantry, divisional batteries and small caliber anti-aircraft weapons together with one type of tank. Even the contract program cannot proceed "to an effective degree" during the coming year under budget limitations, the report said.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew will have a first rate basketball team this year according to all reports. They will have Geo. McElroy at their helm and with the excellent material on hand they propose to put out a team that will excel any of the Brotherhood has had in previous years. The team will be composed of members of the Senior Chapter, most of whom go to High school and have had much experience at the game. Last year the Brotherhood of St. Andrew was reputed for the wonderful baseball team that they had and it is expected that they can make reputation of this in basketball.

COMMISSIONERS TO CONSIDER ESTIMATES AT NEXT MEETING

PUBLIC INVITED

To Express Views Regarding This Important Development Program

Citizens of Sanford and interested property owners along the route of the proposed lake front boulevard will soon be given an opportunity to go before the City Commissioners to express their views regarding the big development.

Since the publication of the fact that City Engineer F. T. Williams would complete estimates in time to submit to the City Commissioners at their next regular meeting, considerable interest has been aroused throughout Sanford and Seminole county in the project.

The City Commissioners expect to bulkhead the lake front from the present bulkhead west to the city limits. The remainder of the bulkhead to Lake Monroe will be built under authority of bill passed by the last legislature and fathered by Representative Forest Lake. This bill provides that pursuant to a request from property owners on the lake front, an election may be called to provide a bond issue to build the bulkhead and boulevard from the West limits of the City of Sanford to the town of Lake Monroe.

This will give Sanford and Lake Monroe a continuous driveway 100 feet wide along the beautiful shores of Lake Monroe and through one of the most beautiful sections of natural scenery in the state of Florida.

Plans and specifications of the new boulevard will comply with all requirements of the State Highway Commission and Federal Government and will receive aid from both and will be a component part of the St. Johns Scene Highway between Sanford and Jacksonville.

Advocates of the big improvement point out that aside from good roads factors of this proposition, the benefits from the standpoint of health and sanitation cannot be ignored, and that much of the land through which the new road will be built is low and swampy, unavailable for farming purposes and of no value to the owners in its present state.

It is also stated that everyone directly effected should seriously consider the plan from the standpoint of health as well as wealth and should lead every aid and encouragement to those behind the move to make its completion possible at the earliest possible date.

FIRE TRUCK IN COLLISION SUNDAY

No One Hurt, Car Badly Damaged, Happened On Corner French And Third Street

While responding to a call from the gas plant yesterday afternoon about three-thirty o'clock, local fire truck number one, crashed into a auto owned and driven by Justin Van-Brakke, realtor of Orlando.

It seems if the Van-Brakke car was driving north on French avenue, and just before reaching third street, seeing the fire truck turning the corner to come on French from First, he immediately applied the brakes of his car. As the truck neared the intersection, the driver seeing another car coming down third street, fixing to cross French, swerved to the left so as to miss this machine and at the same time crashed into the Van-Brakke car, a Hipmobile.

The Hipmobile was damaged considerably in front especially, both fenders being torn off, and the right hand wheel broken to pieces, bumper and headlights smashed up.

No one in either car was injured seriously, the occupants of the Hipmobile having, however, a few bruises. There were five in the wrecked car.

The fire at the gas plant was extinguished before the department arrived.

The daily deficiency in temperature ranged from 6 degrees to 10 degrees over most of the northern and western divisions, and as much as 8 degrees in the central and southern divisions. The temperature to the coast is, but the minimum degree and below the western and central divisions.

ain of moment was the Section, being the weeks without frosts, the need of some relief. The is appreciated rainfall to date of last year. The and Miami districts date, about 20 inches for the same at the same conditions to Fort Meyers.

The only expectations that tele. Bartow and Titus rainfall to date 2. The dry autumn sequence of the west Division, as cold, dry, and sun- active farm work, advanced in so far as for spring crops is it was unfavorable berries, and ranges, progress, especially planting was suspended in some localities, owing to the lack of soil moisture. Frost damaged some seed cane, beans, and other tender truck. Celery and lettuce made good progress—the latter is being shipped in car lots. Strawberries are in fair to good condition, but need rain; plants are being worked and fertilized. Citrus fruits are coloring and maturing rapidly; large shipments continued during the week.

Central Division. There was much sunshine, and several light frosts, except on the 18th, when it was locally heavy, doing some damage to tender truck. Sweet potato vines were killed, and fall beans were damaged as much as 50 per cent in some instances. The grinding of cane and harvesting of sweet potatoes continued under favorable conditions. The work of preparing land for spring crops made good progress; much seeding was done in the Everglades district, where such work was previously delayed. Shipping of beans, peppers, eggplants and other truck continued from various localities. Citrus fruits are maturing nicely; ranges are poor, owing to dry weather.

Western Division. The weather was unseasonably cool with frosts on several days, resulting in some damage to truck and seed cane. Fall truck generally needs rain and moderate temperature. Digging sweet potatoes and syrup-making continued. Satsuma oranges are in good condition, and shipping continued with favorable results to the grower. Ranges are getting thin.

Southern Division. Dry, cool, and sunshiny—ideal conditions for the shipping of citrus fruits, but unfavorable for the setting of tomatoes and other truck, except on low lands. Land is drying rapidly in the Everglades district, and farm work made good progress; in fact, moderate quantities of peppers, eggplants, beans, and other truck were moved during the week from the vicinity of Clewiston; low temperature, however, on the 18th was unfavorable.

SANFORD WILL RALLY TO SUPPORT OF RED CROSS CAMPAIGN FOR MEMBERSHIP

Everyone Asked To Be Ready To Contribute For Membership In The World's Greatest Relief Agency

Aptly entitled the "Greatest Mother in the World," the American Red Cross is again making appeal for support so that in turn the world's afflicted can be provided for.

Unfortunately, the majority of people have been wont to think of the Red Cross as a war organization, which during peace times is called on to relieve the suffering of individuals and communities afflicted by natural catastrophes.

The belief that this class of relief, while handled by the Red Cross, does not properly come under its jurisdiction, but is done as an emergency measure, until such time as some other organization can step in, is erroneous. The truth of the matter is that the Red Cross does more actual work during peace times than ever called on for during war times. While the majority of us are familiar with its work in the Halifax disaster, the pueblo, Colorado floods, and other great natural catastrophes, there are thousands of instances where individual relief has been rendered, where every day commonplace misery has been alleviated.

In Seminole county last year the local chapter handled about fifty cases, among which were three funerals, care and hospital treatment for several, clothing for one dozen or more, fitting out two children so that they could attend school, writing and aid for ex-soldiers. A great deal more work could have been accomplished had the local chapter been the recipient of greater funds.

The American Red Cross numbers four million American men and women in its leadership. In addition there is an excellent force of five million junior members active in an incessant battle against disease, disaster, misery and suffering in peace as well as in war, and is still providing comfort and good cheer for the enlisted personnel of the army and navy. For wounded ex-service men who are struggling to readjust their lives to post-war conditions.

TEACHERS MAKING DRIVE FOR QUOTA MEMBERS OF F. E. A.

Sanford Expected To Furnish 280 Memberships in State Association During "Educational Week"

Teachers of the Sanford public schools yesterday inaugurated a campaign to secure Sanford's quota of 280 citizen members for the Florida Educational Association, according to T. W. Lawton, county superintendent of public instruction.

This drive is a feature of "Educational Week" now being celebrated throughout the state and the challenge is issued to every red blooded man and woman of the community interested in the cause of education to come forward and support the great work of the state association.

"Sanford's quota is 280 citizen members," said Mr. Lawton this morning. "It only costs a dollar to join and each member is entitled to a subscription to the F. E. A. Journal for the school year. The Journal is published at Winter Park by the association and is the official organ of the public school system of the state.

"The editor is Dr. O. I. Woolley, an educator of national note. He is secretary of the state association. The magazine brings first hand information as to the status of the public school work. As the teachers are so generously donating all of their spare time during the week to this work, it seems little enough for the people of Sanford to take out memberships and show their interest in the schools."

HIRAM JOHNSON PLANS CAMPAIGN

Candidate Hopes to Assure Popular Choice in 1924 Primary Elections

HIRAM W. JOHNSON WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—A "popular choice" by Republican voters of the candidate for president in 1924 was demanded today by Hiram Johnson.

Over a desk piled high with telegrams and letters offering support for his candidacy, Senator Johnson told callers today he would make a fight in every state possible against the "hand picking" of delegates to the national convention.

"My plans are crystallizing," he said, "but are not at present entirely definite. For that reason I will not discuss details now. But I believe the rank and file of the Republican party has the right to express their preference for their presidential candidate.

"I am seeking to have that preference expressed. I'll accept the result with equanimity, but I insist that the rank and file shall determine the candidate of that party rather than a few politicians."

After conference here and elsewhere during the next fortnight, Senator Johnson said he hoped to announce the details of his campaign, including the establishment of headquarters and managers.

Mrs. Archie Betts and party motored to DeLand yesterday, where they spent the day most pleasantly.

Mrs. Julius Hackach left yesterday for West Palm Beach where she will attend the State Federation of Women's Club meeting. Mrs. Takach will sing at a number of the social affairs with which the delegates will be honored.

Mrs. D. L. Thrasher left last evening for Eustis where she will spend the week as the guest of her mother, Mrs. E. L. Ferran.

Robt Calomel of Nausea and Danger

Medicinal Virtues Retained and Improved—Dangers Removed and Bitterness Qualities Removed. Perfected Tablet Called "Calotab"

The latest triumph of modern science is a "re-natured" calomel tablet known to the drug trade as "Calotab." Calomel, the most generally useful of all medicines thus enters upon a wider field of popularity—purified and refined from those objectionable qualities which have heretofore limited its use. In biliousness, constipation, headache and indigestion, and in a great variety of liver, stomach and kidney troubles calomel was the most successful remedy, but its use was often neglected on account of its sickening qualities. Now it is the easiest and most pleasant of medicines to take. One Calotab at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No taste, no griping, no nausea, no pain. A good night's sleep and the next morning you are feeling fine, with a clean liver, a purified system and a big appetite. Eat what you please. No danger. Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents for the large family package; ten cents for the small, trial size. Your druggist is the authorized retailer. GOVERNMENT INSPECTION WILL BE MADE OF ALL PERISHABLES SHIPPED FROM THIS SECTION

SHIPMERS WILL BE PROTECTED AGAINST LOOSE PLAN

INCREASE VALUES

And Will Mean Money To The Grower—Classifications Are Outlined

An agreement has been reached by the distributing concerns in Sanford to have government inspection on all cars of perishables shipped from this section. This announcement is made as a result of a recent meeting, at which time it was agreed that this, more than anything else, would act as a form of protection against the loose plan of operation which, at present, is one of the greatest evils of the industry. Inspection is made at the cars and certificates are issued showing grade, condition and quality, as well as the condition of the car and equipment. This certificate is valuable to the shipper and grower in making sales, in presenting claims to the railroad, and in making adjustments on cars that are off grade. In differentiating between the various qualities the following grades have been scheduled by the United States Department of Agriculture:

U. S. No. 1 shall consist of heads of lettuce of similar varietal characteristics which are fresh, well trimmed and fairly firm; which are not wilted, decayed or burst, and which are free from stems and doubles and from damage caused by freezing, tip burn, disease, insects or mechanical or other means.

In order to allow for variations incident to proper grading and handling not more than 10 per cent, by count, of any lot may be below the requirements of this grade.

U. S. No. 2 shall consist of heads of lettuce of similar varietal characteristics which are fresh, well trimmed, and which are free from seed stems and from damage caused by freezing injury, tip burn, disease, insects or mechanical or other means.

In order to allow for variations incident to proper grading and handling not more than 10 per cent, by count, of any lot may be below the requirements of this grade.

U. S. No. 3 shall consist of heads of lettuce which do not meet the requirements of any of the foregoing grades.

The definition of terms as used in these grades may be of assistance to the growers and are as follows:

"Similar varietal characteristics" means that the heads of any container have the same color and characteristic leaf growth. For example, lettuce of the Iceberg and Big Boston types must not be mixed.

"Fresh" means crisp and green.

"Well trimmed" means that the head is protected by green wrapper leaves but those wrapper leaves which have been noticeably injured by decay, worms, tip burn or other means have been removed.

"Firm" means that the head is compact and feels solid.

"Seed stems" means those heads which have seed stems showing or in which the formation of seed stems has plainly begun.

"Fairly firm" means that the head yields readily to pressure but is not soft or spongy.

While government inspection is to a certain extent an innovation in Sanford, it is in general practice at other large shipping centers in the United States. The benefit to be derived from government inspection at point of origin is to create in the buyer a feeling of confidence in the product of the grower.

PROSPERITY OF STATE EXCEEDS ALL ESTIMATES

STATE SURVEY SHOWS ACTIVITY IN ALL LINES

NO UNEMPLOYMENT

Hostelry Construction Particularly Noticed—Labor Shortage Is Threatened

Conclusions reached by the department of labor from a general survey of industrial conditions in the largest Florida cities show a period of even prosperity and much progress in building, hostelry construction being noted especially. Little or no unemployment situations are noted in the various cities of the state, while on the other hand a number of instances are given where there is a noticeable shortage of workmen.

A very favorable report is given of conditions in Jacksonville, the state's largest city. The survey shows that in this city all manufacturing plants are running, some overtime, while there is little unemployment evident in any section of the city. Pensacola, Tampa, Miami, Key West and others are also discussed in the labor department's survey, show unharnessed activity.

The following report was made by the department regarding the conditions in Sanford and neighboring cities:

Sanford—All plants are operating on a full-time basis, with very little unemployment noticeable in this city, and a slight shortage of common labor is reported. Approximately 300 building tradesmen are employed on a large construction program which shows no signs of abatement at the present time.

Tavares—All plants are operating on a practically full-time basis, conditions existing for those who might be temporarily released in their own lines. Very little unemployment is apparent, and there is a shortage of first-class farm hands. Large buildings program continues and includes the erection of a bank, two 10-story buildings, and a large warehouse, which is affording employment to the local supply of these tradesmen.

ORLANDO—There is beginning to be seen the usual influx of workers and job hunters at this time of the year. The opening of the orange season within two weeks will give employment to many in the picking and packing of this fruit. Practically all industrial activities are operating and a tremendous building program is affording employment to the available supply of this class of workers.

Every comfort for the passenger will be provided for and nothing ticks a dog more than seeing a little mouse chase one of these long-pedigree cats.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Upon the editorial page of today's issue will be found R. J. Holly's farewell to the people he has served for fifteen years, as proprietor and editor of The Sanford Herald.

With this issue, Mr. Holly brings his connection with The Herald to a close. He and his associates have sold the paper to a group of newspapermen who will assume full charge of its publication. Monday, November 19.

Miamians who are seeing in Sanford and its surrounding territory opportunities similar to those that have been responsible for the amazing growth of their East Coast city, the new owners of The Herald say they have come to take a hand in the good development work already underway, and to give their best efforts toward keeping Sanford in the forefront of progress.

The president of the new company is Reece Combs, already known to many people of this section of Florida inasmuch as he is, so-to-speak, a "native son." Mr. Combs' birthplace was Apopka and he spent his early boyhood there, and attended grammar school in Sanford, until he went with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Combs, to live in Miami. There he attended High school, going immediately after his graduation in 1911, into the news department of The Miami Metropolis with which publication he was connected in various responsible positions until the sale of that paper last April. Mr. Combs, in addition to his newspaper work, has been one of the leaders in the Boy Scout activities of the state, his skillful and sympathetic work among boys making him a much-sought and trusted counselor. His fine camp at Chimney Rock, which is one of the most successful and most popular in the Carolina mountains, has been greatly enjoyed by several Sanford lads who will hear with delight that Mr. Combs is to be a Sanford man.

The vice-president of the new company is R. L. Dean who has spent much of his life, outside of school and college hours, in a newspaper office. The son of S. Bobo Dean, for many years owner and editor of The Miami Metropolis. Mr. Dean has had a newspaper environment which has guided him into choosing the publishing business as a natural career, receiving his practical experience on the Miami Metropolis and Detroit News. At Yale University, Mr. Dean specialized in subjects that would best fit him for the newspaper business. He also took keen interest in athletics and as captain of the Yale Polo Team, won laurels for his Alma Mater. Like Mr. Combs, Mr. Dean is a native Floridian. Palm Beach was his birthplace.

The secretary and treasurer of the company is R. H. Berg who also was a member of the Miami Metropolis staff while that paper was owned by S. Bobo Dean. He had been with The Metropolis, first as circulation manager and then as manager of both the circulation and advertising departments, for twelve years when the paper was sold, and is said to be equipped with exceptional business ability. Following the sale of the Miami paper, at which time Mr. Berg severed his connection with the publication, Mr. Berg took over the circulation of six Florida newspapers, including The Sanford Herald, and it was while looking after his interests in this connection that he was aroused to the attractive business opportunities of Sanford, and the advantages offered for the publication of the live newspaper, the Herald has endeavored to be. Mr. Berg is planning to bring his family to make their home in Sanford as soon as suitable living arrangements can be made.

JOINT COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO AID PARK COMMISSION IN SELECTING NEW PARK

To Be Used For Baseball And Athletic Field

A special joint committee consisting of members of the Rotary Club, Kiwanis Club and the Chamber of Commerce has been appointed to assist the Park Commission in securing a location for Sanford's new athletic field and ball park, which was authorized in a recent bond issue. There have been several sites submitted and members of the committee together with the Commission made a personal inspection of several of them last Friday. In as much as it is proposed to have the park used by some one of the Major League Clubs as spring training quarters it is deemed advisable to have a field as near the center of the town as possible. The Commissioners are also desirous of locating a site that has trackage facilities for fairs, circuses, etc., and a sufficient area to permit amusements of the kind to have exhibits. The Commission is also interested in locating a modern auto tourist camp on any site selected. Unfortunately, however, there are no sites available in Sanford that are close in and it may develop that it will be necessary to secure some large tract of land outside of the corporate limits. None of the sites met with the approval of the Commission or of the joint

ESTIMATES ON LAKE FRONT COMPLETED NEXT WEEK MEETING OF PROPERTY OWNERS

Sentiment For Hard Surfaced Roads in Seminole County

SANFORD, Fla., Nov. 17.—At last Friday's membership meeting of the Chamber of Commerce which was unusually well attended, City Engineer, Fred T. Williams reported that estimates for the lake front drive would be completed in time to submit to the City Commissioners at their next meeting. The latter intend calling all owners of property adjacent to the proposed improvement to be present at the meeting. According to Mr. Williams, the amount of fill to be made at some points along the lake front will be considerable and while the cost may appear high it will be more than off set by the value of the reclaimed land. It is expected that some definite action on this matter will be taken following the conference of the Commissioners and property owners. The sentiment for additional hard surfaced roads in Seminole County is becoming stronger, as indicated by requests from various sections of the county to the Good Roads Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. This Committee will shortly hold a meeting to which will be invited the representatives from these sections. A special map has been prepared by the Committee showing the present and proposed hard surfaced roads in the county. Several additional petitions were presented at Friday's meeting from different sections with the request that these roads be shown on the map and if possible included in any bond issue which may subsequently be voted. The Geneva district is anxious to have the Geneva-Titusville road put in a passable condition. They have been successful in securing appropriations from the County Commissioners of both Volusia and Brevard counties, and received the permission of the Commissioners of Seminole and Volusia counties to establish a toll ferry where this road crosses the St. Johns River, the proceeds to be equally proportioned in maintaining the roads in these counties. Commissioner Bledsoe advised the meeting that the County Commissioners would make no further expenditures for the maintenance of the Sanford-Orlando road as the State Road Department has agreed to take over this road.

State Press Lauds Work of R. J. Holly

The new Industries Committee of the Chamber are working on several attractive propositions, as was noted from correspondence read at the meeting. One of these propositions in particular is of considerable magnitude and if the Committee is successful in having it located in Sanford a most profitable addition to the industrial development of the city will have been secured.

The new booklets are still in course of preparation and should be ready for distribution within thirty days, according to the report of the Publicity Committee. A large number of road signs have been posted on the main arteries of travel and the Committee is now preparing to complete its schedule of newspaper and periodical advertising.

The County Commissioners at the request of the Publicity Committee have agreed to make an appropriation toward the expense in preparing an exhibit for the Florida Exposition at Madison Square Garden next February. A portion of the budget allotted to this Committee has been given to the Tourist and Convention Committee for the band. This latter Committee have completed arrangements to have a weekly concert in Sanford during the winter months.

With the appointment of a Park Commission it was moved that the Golf Course Committee be discharged with the thanks of the organization for the work they have accomplished.

It was the opinion of the meeting that as Seminole County would exhibit at the South Florida Fair and at Madison Garden that the County Commissioners be requested to notify the management of the Orlando Fair that Seminole County would not exhibit there this season.

The newly appointed City Planning Commission meets every Tuesday night.

SUFFICIENCY OF MUNITIONS WILL DECIDE NEXT WAR

Major General Clarence Williams Says That If U. S. Develops Resourced Need Fear No Enemy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The next major war "will be won or lost on the sufficiency of munitions reserves," Major General Clarence C. Williams, chief of Army ordnance, predicted in his annual report made public today at the War Department.

"I wish to emphasize the preponderance of importance of adequate emergency reserves," General Williams said, adding that in view of the isolated position, highly developed specialized industries and immense resources of the United States it seemed "fairly certain that no power or combination of powers now in existence," could successfully invade the country after American man power and industry had been fully mobilized.

"The possible rate of mobilization will always be determined by the state of our reserves," the report said, "since man power can be mobilized much more rapidly than industry. From this point of view, taking into account the present economic development of the world, it may be said that the next major war will be won or lost on the sufficiency of munitions reserve."

Report is interesting.

The war department today with a large stock of reserves on hand, General Williams continued, but with the passage of time the value of these is decreasing "due to development of improved and more powerful types." There is also, he added, a deterioration in stocks of ammunition which "is very much more pressing" than the question of obsolescence of material.

The report said that lack of funds during the last two years has prevented completion of the artillery development program worked out at the close of the war and that it has been possible "to cover reasonably well" in a contracted program only the gun equipment for infantry, divisional batteries and small caliber anti-aircraft weapons together with one type of tank. Even the contracted program cannot proceed "to an effective degree" during the coming year under budget limitations, the report said.

The Department has now been working on the program for four years and can see no hopes of developing for the service and getting certain designs under the limited program ready for production without substantial increase in the funds available," said General Williams. He added that work which could be done in one year by his department now required three years time to complete.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew will have a first rate basketball team this year according to all reports. They will have Geo. McRory at their helm and with the excellent material on hand they propose to put out a team that will excel any the Brotherhood has had in previous years.

The team will be composed of members of the Senior Chapter, most of whom go to High school and have had much experience at the game. Last year the Brotherhood of St. Andrew was reputed for the wonderful basketball team that they had and it is expected that they can make repetition of this in basketball.

COMMISSIONERS TO CONSIDER ESTIMATES AT NEXT MEETING

PUBLIC INVITED

To Express Views Regarding This Important Development Program

Citizens of Sanford and interested property owners along the route of the proposed lake front boulevard will soon be given an opportunity to go before the City Commissioners to express their views regarding the big development.

Since the publication of the fact that City Engineer F. T. Williams would complete estimates in time to submit to the City Commissioners at their next regular meeting, considerable interest has been aroused throughout Sanford and Seminole county in the project.

The City Commissioners expect to bulkhead the lake front from the present bulkhead west to the city limits. The remainder of the bulkhead to Lake Monroe will be built under authority of bill passed by the last legislature and fathered by Representative Forest Lake. This bill provides that persistent to a request from property owners on the lake front, an election may be called to provide a bond issue to build the bulkhead and boulevard from the West limits of the City of Sanford to the town of Lake Monroe. This will give Sanford and Lake Monroe a continuous driveway 100 feet wide along the beautiful shores of Lake Monroe and through one of the most beautiful sections of natural scenery in the state of Florida.

Plans and specifications of the new boulevard will comply with all requirements of the State Highway Commission and Federal Government and will receive aid from both and will be a component part of the St. Johns Scenic Highway between Sanford and Jacksonville.

Advocates of the big improvement point out that aside from good roads feature of the proposition, the benefits from the standpoint of health and sanitation cannot be ignored, and that much of the land through which the new road will be built is low and swampy, unavailable for farming purposes and of no value to the owners in its present state.

It is also stated that everyone directly effected should seriously consider the plan from the standpoint of health as well as wealth and should lend every aid and encouragement to those behind the move to make its completion possible at the earliest possible date.

FIRE TRUCK IN COLLISION SUNDAY

No One Hurt, Car Badly Damaged, Happened On Corner French And Third Street

While responding to a call from the gas plant yesterday afternoon about three-thirty o'clock, local fire truck number one, crashed into an auto owned and driven by Justin Van-Buskirk, realtor of Orlando.

It seems if the Van-Buskirk car was driving north on French avenue, and just before reaching third street, seeing the fire truck turning the corner to come on French from First, he immediately applied the brakes of his car. As the truck neared the intersection, the driver seeing another car coming down third street, fixing to cross French, swerved to the left so as to miss this machine and at the same time crashed into the Van-Buskirk car, a Hupmobile.

The Hupmobile was damaged considerably in front especially, both fenders being torn off, and the right hand wheel broken to pieces, bumper and headlights smashed up.

No one in either car was injured seriously, the occupants of the Hupmobile having, however, a few bruises. There were five in the wrecked car.

The fire at the gas plant was extinguished before the department arrived.

THE WEATHER

The weather, as during the previous week, continued dry and cold with frosts on several days—locally heavy on the 18th. The daily deficiency in temperature ranged from 6 degrees to 10 degrees over most of the northern and western divisions, and as much as 8 degrees in the central and southern divisions. The lowest temperature adjacent to the coast was above freezing, but the minima approximated that degree and below over portions of the western and northern divisions.

The absence of rain of moment was general throughout the Section, being the third and fourth weeks without rain, over some districts, the need of which is now becoming acute. The droughty conditions are appreciated by comparing the rainfall to date with the same period last year. The Fort Lauderdale and Miami districts have received, to date, about 30 inches less rain than for the same period of 1922; and the same conditions are applicable to Fort Meyers on the west coast. The only exceptions noted from stations that telegraph reports are Bartow and Titusville, where the rainfall to date exceeds that of 1922. The dry autumn seems to be the sequence of the west spring.

Northern Division. The weather was cold, dry, and sunny—ideal for active farm work, which was well advanced in so far as preparing land for spring crops is concerned, but it was unfavorable for fall truck, berries, and ranges. Oats made slow progress, especially on uplands, and planting was suspended in some localities, owing to the lack of soil moisture. Frost damaged some seed cane, beans, and other tender truck. Celery and lettuce made good progress—the latter is being shipped in car lots. Strawberries are in fair to good condition, but need rain; plants are being worked and fertilized. Citrus fruits are coloring and maturing rapidly; large shipments continued during the week.

Central Division. There was much sunshine, and several light frosts, except on the 18th, when it was locally heavy, doing some damage to tender truck. Sweet potato vines were killed, and fall beans were damaged as much as 50 per cent in some instances. The low temperature was unfavorable for truck and strawberries, but it was beneficial to celery and lettuce—both, however, need rain, as do the various truck crops, especially on uplands. The grinding of cane and harvesting of sweet potatoes continued under favorable conditions. The work of preparing land for spring crops made good progress; much seeding was done in the Everglades district, where such work was previously delayed. Shipping of beans, peppers, eggplants and other truck continued from various localities. Citrus fruits are maturing nicely; ranges are poor, owing to dry weather.

Western Division. The weather was unseasonably cool with frosts on several days, resulting in some damage to truck and seed cane. Fall truck generally needs rain and moderate temperature. Digging sweet potatoes and syrup-making continued. Satsuna oranges are in good condition, and shipping continued with favorable results to the grower. Ranges are getting thin.

Southern Division. Dry, cool, and sunny—ideal conditions for the shipping of citrus fruits, but unfavorable for the setting of tomatoes and other truck, except on low lands. Land is drying rapidly in the Everglades district, and farm work made good progress; in fact, moderate quantities of peppers,

SANFORD WILL RALLY TO SUPPORT OF RED CROSS CAMPAIGN FOR MEMBERSHIP

Everyone Asked To Be Ready To Contribute For Membership In The World's Greatest Relief Agency

Aptly entitled the "Greatest Mother in the World," the American Red Cross is again making appeal for support so that in turn the world's afflicted can be provided for.

Unfortunately, the majority of people have been wont to think of the Red Cross as a war organization, which during peace times is called on to relieve the suffering of individuals and communities afflicted by natural catastrophes.

The belief that this class of relief, while handled by the Red Cross, does not properly come under its jurisdiction, but is done as an emergency measure, until such time as some other organization can step in, is erroneous. The truth of the matter is that the Red Cross does more actual work during peace times than ever called on for during war times.

While the majority of us are familiar with its work in the Halifax disaster, the pueblo, Colorado floods, and other great natural catastrophes, there are thousands of instances where individual relief has been rendered, where every day commonplace misery has been alleviated.

In Seminole county last year the local chapter handled about fifty cases, among which were three funerals, care and hospital treatment for several, clothing for one dozen or more, fitting out two children so that they could attend school, writing and aid for ex-soldiers. A great deal more work could have been accomplished had the local chapter been the recipient of greater funds.

The American Red Cross numbers four million American men and women in its leadership. In addition there is an excellent force of five mil-

Out-of-Door Advantages for Youth In Sanford Unequaled in Florida

Sanford, for its size, has some of the best advantages that a city can have for its youth. Boys and girls of Sanford should never be at loss as to what they can do to keep themselves busy during their spare hours.

In other words, Sanford is chock full of things that delight and help its younger element. With the High school athletic teams, Brotherhood of St. Andrew, two troops of Boy Scouts, a Girl's Friendly Society and various other clubs, including private societies all offer something in the way of amusement and profitable spending of time.

TEACHERS MAKING DRIVE FOR QUOTA MEMBERS OF F. E. A.

Sanford Expected To Furnish 280 Memberships in State Association During "Educational Week"

Teachers of the Sanford public schools yesterday inaugurated a campaign to secure Sanford's quota of 280 citizen members for the Florida Educational Association, according to T. W. Lawton, county superintendent of public instruction.

This drive is a feature of "Educational Week" now being celebrated throughout the state and the challenge is issued to every red blooded man and woman of the community interested in the cause of education to come forward and support the great work of the state association.

"Sanford's quota is 280 citizen members" said Mr. Lawton this morning. "It only costs a dollar to join and each member is entitled to a subscription to the F. E. A. Journal for the school year. The Journal is published at Winter Park by the association and is the official organ of the public school system of the state."

The editor is Dr. O. I. Woodley, an educator of national note. He is secretary of the state association. The magazine brings first hand information as to the status of the public school work. As the teachers are so generously donating all of their spare time during the week to this work, it seems little enough for the people of Sanford to take out memberships and show their interest in the schools.

HIRAM JOHNSON PLANS CAMPAIGN

Candidate Hopes to Assure Popular Choice in 1924 Primary Elections.

HIRAM W. JOHNSON WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—A "popular choice" by Republican voters of the candidate for president in 1924 was demanded today by Hiram Johnson.

Over a desk piled high with telegrams and letters offering support for his candidacy, Senator Johnson told callers today he would make a fight in every state possible against the "hand picking" of delegates to the national convention.

"My plans are crystallizing," he said, "but are not at present entirely definite. For that reason I will not discuss details now. But I believe the rank and file of the Republican party has the right to express their preference for their presidential candidate."

"I am seeking to have that preference expressed. I'll accept the result with equanimity, but I insist that the rank and file shall determine the candidate of that party rather than a few politicians."

After conference here and elsewhere during the next fortnight, Senator Johnson said he hoped to announce the details of his campaign, including the establishment of headquarters and managers.

Mrs. Archie Betts and party motored to DeLand yesterday, where they spent the day most pleasantly.

Mrs. Julius Hackach left yesterday for West Palm Beach where she will attend the State Federation of Women's Club meeting. Mrs. Takach will sing at a number of the social affairs with which the delegates will be honored.

Mrs. D. L. Thrasher left last evening for Eustis where she will spend the week as the guest of her mother, Mrs. E. L. Ferran.

TODAY'S BIBLE THOUGHT

The Precious Jewels—There is gold and a multitude of rubies; but the lips of knowledge are a precious jewel.—Proverbs 20:15. Properous Sanford! All roads lead to Sanford. Wise buyers are already shopping for Christmas. Visitors are prospective citizens—treat them well. Winter Park has just passed another bond issue for improvements. Willis Powell says that most girls' idea of being smart is to look chic. Know Florida. Visit the state fair and get acquainted with what other sections are producing. Tampa will be known as the New Orleans of Florida in ten years, according to the Tampa Tribune. Hunters should remember that it is unlawful to kill a wild turkey until 1927. Secretary Mellon says that to save a part of what one earns is a vital element in successful life. Gov. Walton found out that the state constitution was far more important than he first estimated. Germany must be good if financial aid is forthcoming, according to a decision made by American and British financiers. Experience is a valuable by-product of every undertaking in which we engage, remarks the Leesburg Commercial. List your vacant room with the Chamber of Commerce, make it produce a revenue and help Sanford entertain her visitors. State Health Officers are compiling statistics preparatory to waging a campaign to eradicate the mosquito. If the Orlando detour continues to deteriorate at its present rate, it won't be long before it will be unpassable for all save whippet tanks and tractors. Press reports indicate that Uncle Sam expects to wage a strong campaign to enforce the prohibition laws. More than ten million dollars, according to recent estimates, will be provided for this purpose. Herbert Felkel in his "Sunshine" urges all loyal Floridians to spell out the word Florida. "Florida is a trademark that business men of the state cannot over-use. It is our best advertising slogan," he advises. Know the South—and let the South know you. The Manufacturers' Record believes that the South does not adequately know itself and that Southern people should spend more time finding out about their vast natural resources. The proposal to issue fifty million dollars in road bonds is gaining support every day. Florida will, no doubt, follow the lead of North Carolina and will profit thereby even to a greater extent than the old North State. Florida is enjoying the greatest prosperity in the history of the state. With everybody busy and prospective residents arriving every day from northern states, no part of the state will have cause for complaint this season. Growers are expressing great satisfaction over the plan for government inspection of all perishables shipped from this section. It is believed this plan will raise the standard of local products and will mean more money to the growers. William Wrigley, Jr., is to be campaign manager for Hiram Johnson and the Tampa Tribune takes consolation on the fact that the stand-patters will have something to chew on.

Three Wishes For Sanford.

The Herald would be pleased to receive communications for publication on the subject, "What I should like to see in Sanford." The articles must be brief. Not exceeding, let us say, five hundred words, and must be signed by the name of the writer for publication. Desiring to be frank with its readers, the managers of The Herald will openly confess here that their main idea in asking for these communications is to "get a line" on what the people of Sanford want for their city. It would be ever so helpful to The Herald's new pilots if they could receive letters from many of The Herald readers, either for publication or for their personal reading. If you could make three wishes for Sanford, what would they be?

This Day in "Education Week."

"School and Teachers' Day." Slogans: "Better trained and better paid teachers." "More adequate buildings and equipment." That is the outline for today's program in "Education Week." It offers a theme for volumes of earnest writing and for oratory that should go straight to the heart of the nation. We all have had acquaintance with incompetent teachers. We all have known of shabby work in the schools. We have all seen children's minds warped and their characters ruined by the sorry training they have received in the "cheap" class room. And we have used that word "cheap" advisedly. Under our strange conception of the value of our children's teachers, we have been perfectly willing to pay them less than we pay our washwomen and our street-cleaners. A man will cheerfully pay thirty dollars a month for the care of his automobile, but would be overwhelmed with indignation if asked to join nineteen other men to pay his children's teacher six hundred dollars a month. That does sound extravagant, doesn't it? But why not? Why not six hundred dollars a month for the teacher who handles the training of twenty children in expert fashion? We have maintained the custom of underpaying teachers because it has happened that there are fine teachers, wonderful women and men, who sacrifice their material interests and accept the teacher's pittance as pay for work too valuable for any money to recompense. We all have had acquaintance with great teachers. We all have known of superior work in the schools. We all have seen children's minds developed in almost miraculous fashion and their characters made sturdy and beautiful by the influence of the fine class room. And so we have been willing to accept the sacrifice. So we have been blind to the fact that it is only the rare person willing to forego the material comforts of life who will continue to teach for a livelihood. The inferior teacher is paid as much as the expert because there are not enough of the expert teachers to fill the demand. And this will become more and more the case unless the people awaken to what a good school and a good teacher is worth to them in actual dollars. Pay well and demand good service. Pay well and command good service. Brilliant men and women would gladly spend years of training for the teaching profession, if that profession were given the financial attractiveness it should justly possess. Today's program in "Education Week" is the sort of program that should make business for every civic organization in the country. The school training of America's boys and girls is just about the most important matter that concerns the American people.

THE COST OF FEAR.

Fear costs too much. As courage is the greatest asset, so fear is the greatest liability. There have been many failures in business on account of rashness, but there have been many more on account of timidity. Fear is expensive for the body. It is courage that makes effort and drives one to adventure, and activity and health follow these things. The stoical man, according to the proverb, says: "There is a lion in the street." Fat, liver complaint and forty other diseases all enter by the door of fear. Fear is an enemy to the mind, for it is the father of delusion. Fear is expensive for the soul, for it drowns its victim in the well of superstition. It is hard for the soul that always wants to be safe to be always just and honest. For righteousness is a tremendous adventure. To "let not your heart be troubled" is good business.—Exchange.

THE KINDLY WARRIOR IN FLORIDA.

Florida was honored in entertaining another in the long line of her famous guests when on Armistice Day this year Admiral William Souden Sims, of world-wide fame as war-time commander of the American Naval Forces operating in European waters, came to this state expressly to dedicate the new Legion Home of the Edward C. DeSausure Post No. 9 of Jacksonville. The entire state will be proud of the new Legion headquarters, which will be the handsome home of the late Joseph R. Parrott, former President of the Florida East Coast Railway. Through the generosity of Mrs. Parrott, his widow, this property was acquired upon terms most favorable to the Legionnaires. "I have always wanted to come to Florida," says the great naval chief, writing to Lieut. Gilchrist B. Stockton, a Florida man who served as an aide to Admiral Sims in London, and through whom the invitation to Florida was extended. Stockton was with the admiral from the time his staff consisted of only one regular officer until after the armistice was signed. Newspaper readers have a mental picture of Admiral Sims as "six-foot two," of aggressiveness and fighting spirit; but Lieut. Stockton, speaking from a more intimate association, relates interesting anecdotes of the admiral's kindly and lovable personality. One of these incidents concerns the American Commander and the "Commander's Commander" as he was known, the latter being young "Reg" Gillmor, the little son of Lieut. R. E. Gillmor. The admiral is himself the father of six children, and during the week-ends which he spent with the Gillmors at their country places at Cobham, near London, he and little "Reg" became devoted

FLORIDA OPPORTUNITIES.

By Roger W. Babson.

I WANT to say that there is no state in the Union that has such opportunities, and such a bright future as Florida. You have the sunshine, the water and the phosphate, the three basic fundamentals of agriculture. New Mexico and Arizona have the sunshine, but not the moisture; California and certain other sections have the sunshine and moisture without the phosphate. You have got here those three fundamentals, the only state in the Union which has the three fundamentals of agriculture. Secondly, you have the strategic location, you are near the great markets, only 24 hours, more or less, to Washington, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, the great markets. There is a third factor which is very important. The farmer in the Central West is up against this proposition: As the people become more prosperous, they eat less wheat, rye, corn and other cereals, which are the great basic crops of the Central West, but the reverse is true of fruit. As people become more prosperous, they consume more fruit.

Women's Clubs Doing Great Work

This is an important week for the women of Florida. The twenty-ninth annual convention of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs opens this evening at the West Palm Beach Woman's Club with a program that will be far-reaching in its good effects. More and more have the Women's Clubs gotten away from the purely literary and social features that characterized them only a few years ago. The Woman's Club of today is a workers' organization, with social betterment the chief aim. To achieve social betterment, the Woman's Club is broad in its scope. From international politics down to questions of the best way of providing a nourishing school lunch for every youngster in the community, the alert club woman of today finds opportunity to use her brains, with the problem of the school lunch and the problem of better conditions for the boys and girls hand-somely outweighing the so-called great issues. In West Palm Beach this week the various Women's Clubs of the state will report much fine work that has been accomplished since the twenty-eighth convention of the Federation. And at this year's gathering some more big plans for club activities will be launched. The Herald sends greetings and best wishes. The club women of Florida are doing great work.

STATE PRESS COMMENT

Lakeland Star-Telegram: If it were not for the personal confirmation brought to Lakeland yesterday by two of the three purchasers, the published announcement appearing in the Sanford Herald of Saturday to the effect that The Herald has passed from the ownership of Robert J. Holly to Reese Combs, Rollin L. Dean and R. H. Berg, all of Miami, could scarcely be credited. The two last named young men were in Lakeland yesterday, happy over the consummation of a deal which places them in possession of one of the most valuable and most promising newspaper properties in central Florida. While these three aggressive young publishers, all formerly connected with the Miami Metropolis when was owned by Mr. Dean's father, S. Bobo Dean who sold the paper to James M. Cox, will receive a cordial welcome into the fold of Florida journalism, it will be difficult to separate in thought, the Sanford Herald and Bob Holly. Bob has striven in bad weather and in fair, for the upbuilding of Sanford. His heart has been in his work and his personality has counted for much in winning the fight, sometimes against great odds. Whatever financial reward has come to Mr. and Mrs. Holly, because the latter has had a great part in the Herald's success, is more than deserved. The most gratifying circumstance is that Bob Holly will not leave Sanford nor will he give up the publishing business because he now intends to devote his entire time and attention to another of his enterprises, the Florida Truckee, a magazine which has been making steady headway these recent months. So he therefore does not become disqualified as a publisher and will still be entitled to all the "rights, title, privileges and emoluments" incident to membership in the several press associations with which he has for so long been prominently connected. The new owners have planned to make some extensions and improvements in the Herald plant and to add to its usefulness as one of the best assets possessed by the city of Sanford. The question might properly be asked: "Does Sanford realize how much it owes Bob Holly?" If it does not, this much may in all truth be said that the Herald has been a potent agency in the growth and development of that splendid city. The Daily Herald has in cooperation with celery and lettuce put Sanford on the map.

AU REVOIR BUT NOT GOOD BYE

With a feeling of mingled satisfaction and sorrow the editor of the Herald pens these lines to his friends today. We are about to leave our child—the Sanford Herald and take up magazine work but not to leave Sanford and Seminole county. No one knows just what our feelings are as we write these few lines of farewell to the subscribers and friends of the Herald. For the past fifteen years we have struggled with the big undertaking not only of printing a paper but of putting Sanford and Seminole county on the map. From the first day of our entrance into the newspaper field in Sanford we have been surrounded with a bunch of friends whose loyalty never wavered and through whose faith we have been able to keep the paper and the city and county moving. Our first venture was a weekly in 1908 and this developed into a twice a week paper until the war came along and forced the paper into the weekly class again. Coming back from our work as transport secretary after the war was over we were imbued with the idea that Sanford should have a daily paper and upon the advice and the earnest solicitation of many of our friends and against the wishes of others we started the Daily Herald about four years ago. Its first year was a bad one handicapped as we were with the breaking down of the power plant and the stopping of all operations in the office for many weeks. We withstood these losses and heart breaks and aches and with varying success brought the Daily Herald to where it stands today—a going institution ready to make money for its new owners and with a name second to none in the state in the small daily paper fields. We part with the Daily Herald and Weekly Herald only because we have decided to give up this field for the larger one of editing the Florida Truckee—something that has been on our mind for many years and we enter this field feeling that with a larger vision of usefulness to the farmers of Florida we can reach more people and assist those who are the backbone of this great state and whose welfare have ever been our problem. We are turning the Daily and Weekly Herald over to a fine bunch of young men from the growing and bustling city of Miami. They are bringing the proper amount of push and pep and spirit here that will make the Daily Herald a much better paper than it has ever been and if we did not think this were so we would not sell out to them for our heart and soul is still with Sanford and ever will be. We want them to carry out our policy of boosting this city and county and state and we know they will do all this and more. They are young men whom we can commend to the people of this city as being of the very best and if we had looked the whole state over we could not have found any more worthy successors. We are not leaving Sanford and the publishing business but will still be with you in person, in spirit and in deeds and for his fact the subject of this farewell from the editor is a revoir and not good bye. To all those who have stood by us loyally we wish to thank you and to ask for our successors the same friendship, the same courtesy and the same loyalty that you have shown us in the past. They are worthy and they will demonstrate this to you in the future.

R. J. HOLLY.

In disposing of my interests in the Herald Publishing Company, I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to the good people of Sanford for their unflinching loyalty and support of this paper.

My interest in the welfare of Sanford and Seminole county will be no less and as a citizen I expect to continue in business activity here and do my best to merit a continuance of the good will of the people of this section.

Sanford's prospects were never brighter than today. Friendships formed here during my years of association with Mr. Holly on the Herald will be long cherished. Again I wish to thank every reader of this paper and every resident of this section for what has been done to make the success of the Herald possible.

H. A. NEEL.

GOV. WALTON IMPEACHED BY STATE SENATE

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 20.—Governor Trapp succeeded Walton when he was impeached, said he would ask legislature today that it now adjourn, in house, however, there was introduced resolution seeking to expel Murray Gibbons speaker during ninth regular session on grounds he commercialized his influence as speaker to obtain executive clemency and had interfered with special election October 2 resolution was to be discussed this afternoon.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 20.—After a stormy session the State Senate Court of Impeachment last night removed Jack Walton as governor of Oklahoma. The vote was unanimous. Charges against the governor included corruption in office, neglect of duty, moral turpitude and general incompetence.

A formal verdict was returned after the executive had been found guilty of 11 of the 16 charges presented. The vote was 41 to 0.

Six of the original 22 charges constituting the impeachment bill were dismissed by order of the court.

The court, by a standing vote, denied a motion for a new trial which Governor Walton's counsel filed immediately after the verdict was announced.

The governor's removal, although not formally ordered until after a verdict had been returned on each charge was made certain this afternoon when the court found him guilty of abusing his pardon and parole authority, the first charge to be voted upon.

Forty-one senators, lacking only one of the total membership of the body, voted for conviction. Senator Jack Barker, who has consistently voted in the governor's favor throughout the 16 days of the trial, was absent.

The articles of impeachment were filed by the lower House of the state legislature, which less than two months ago the executive had dispersed by military force.

Police Apprehend Theatre Prowlers

Large Sum of Money Alleged To Have Been Stolen From Theatre Last Night

An attempt to rob the dressing rooms of the Milane theatre last evening during the performance was frustrated when the police apprehended several suspects after a they had dropped a purse containing a large sum of money which was taken from the theatre.

By fast and efficient work of Chief Roy Williams and Officers Beckwith and Walker, the money was recovered and returned to the owner this morning.

Several boys who have been hanging around the theatres lately were nabbed during the night and from them the information was gleaned that one of their number had stolen the money and started down the alley with it. Upon hearing the scream of the little girl who was in the musical entertainment he dropped the money in the alley, where it was found early this morning.

Chief Williams and Officer Beckwith were standing in the front door of the theatre at the time it happened and were immediately informed by an attendant. They rushed around to the dressing room of the Milane where they were told by one of the Hawaiians where it happened and how. It seems as if the little girl who was the leading dancer of the evening had started to her dressing room and as she neared the door someone ran out. She immediately signaled to her mother who was on the stage at the time and together they entered the room where they discovered the loss of the purse.

The little girl hadn't noticed anything about the intruder except that his hand was white, confirming the officer's opinion that it was a white person. This was the only clue that the officers could possibly find and from this they started out.

During the night several white boys, all minors, were brought to Well, a Washington expert claims rats talk. Then they say "That's a woman. Let's jump at her."

Hunting License Case Before Supreme Court

TALLAHASSEE, Nov. 20.—Hugh Hale of Brooksville, representing the county Judge of Hernando county, today filed with the supreme court an answer to the writ of mandamus sworn out several days ago by Karl K. Eychanger of Tampa, to force the Hernando county judge to issue him a hunting license for $3.50.

Eychanger charged that the act of the legislature requiring a license fee of $50 for non-residents to hunt in Hernando county is unreasonable and unconstitutional. In his answer, Mr. Hale contends that the legislature has a right to enact special laws regulating issuance of hunting licenses, regardless of whether the applicants are residents or non-residents of any county, and he holds, therefore, that the law is valid.

News of Decision of Council of Ambassadors Created Disturbance In Exchange

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Cable reports that the council of ambassadors had reached an accord that would prevent the threatened break between France and Great Britain today caused a sharp upturn of foreign bills in what was described as one of the "wildest" foreign exchange markets on record. A part of the gain was forfeited in the afternoon when later private dispatches indicated only partial approval of the agreement by the French cabinet.

Stocks and bonds also moved briskly. European government securities particularly displaying strength and recovering much of the ground lost last week. Gains in the market ranged from one to four points. More than a score of foreign government bonds recorded advances of from one to more than three points.

There was a sensational rise in demand sterling which jumped from $2.26 1-4 to $1.36, and then reacted to $1.32 1-2. Traders declared the market for exchanges was highly disorganized and unusually nervous.

Sportsmen Hear "Call of the Wild" Opening Season

"Can't you hear the wild—it's calling you?"

Sportsmen are hearing the call of the "Open Season" and are leaving for the hunting grounds of Lake, Orange, Osceola and Brevard, where tomorrow they may hunt to their hearts content.

On account of the fact that the hunting season for Seminole county does not open until December 1 only 61 hunting licenses have been issued by the county judge's office.

Volusia county which has long been one of the most popular hunting places in the state is now closed against the sportsmen, a local game law prohibiting hunting in that county for several years.

It is understood that the sheriff's office of this county is on the alert to see that the law is enforced and that no hunting is done until after December 1.

INCOME TAXES BE REDUCED IS PLAN

Reduction Will Include All Branches If Plans Carry When Congress Meets

ANDREW W. MELLON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Income taxes from the highest to the lowest will be materially reduced by the congress that meets two weeks from today, but not at the expense of the soldier's bonus.

This apparently was the consensus of opinion among leaders of both house and senate today after a week's conference inaugurated by the announcement of the Mellon reduction program. The secretary of the treasury, an implacable foe of the bonus, made his recommendation contingent upon congress not passing the bonus bill.

Members of congress, however, plan to do both—reduce taxes and pass the bonus. Most of them are committed to both actions and they promised the veterans adjusted compensation in their campaigns, and they promised lower taxes generally to their constituents when seeking re-election.

Secretary Mellon proposed that income taxes be reduced generally from 30 to 40 per cent, which reduced from 20 to 40 per cent, which reduced to dollars means more than $300,000,000.

Bonus advocates believe it will be possible to work out an adjusted compensation bill that will cost the government only about $100,000,000 in each annually. They further believe such a bill will be acceptable to veterans, and at the same time permit a tax cut so substantial as to make it felt in the pocket of every taxpayer in the country, whether he earns $2,000 a year or $100,000.

Thanksgiving Proclamation Is Issued by Governor Cary Hardee

(By The Associated Press) TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Nov. 21.—Providence for the many blessings He has bestowed upon us. We of Florida have received in plentiful riches His generous favors: Therefore, I, Cary A. Hardee, Governor, do hereby designate Thursday, November the twenty-ninth, 1923, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer.

I do earnestly urge all of our people to assemble at our usual places of worship and in appropriate manner give thanks to God for His many blessings so generously measured out to us. Let us unite in Thanksgiving that we have been free from epidemic and disaster destructive of life; that we have been spared catastrophic destructive of property; that we have garnered abundant and profitable harvests; that we have felt the glow of great industrial growth; that we have known the joy of general prosperity; that we have given freely in less happy lands.

Truly we have cause to join in a day of Thanksgiving and Gladness. It behooves us, too, on this day so characteristic of American life and so significant of American institutions to give expression to our gratitude for the rich blessings bequeathed unto us by our Forefathers; Gratitude for the sturdy souls and deep piety of those hardy pioneers who established the thanksgiving custom while laying foundations for the future Republic.

FORT MYERS, Nov. 21.—The Woman's Division of the Fort Myers Chamber of Commerce has been permanently organized, with Mrs. Conrad Mengo as president; Miss Kate L. Jeffcott, first vice-president; Miss M. Flossie Hill, second vice-president; and Miss Kato C. Roberts, secretary-treasurer.

The board of directors consists of Mrs. Clint Bolick, Miss Alta Evans, Mrs. Effie Winkler Henderson, Mrs. F. C. DesRochers, Mrs. Anna Blaise, Mrs. Katherine Harley, Mrs. Charles Miles, Mrs. Morton M. MIAMI, Nov. 21.—It is not likely that Miami will have a season of bicycle and motorcycle racing this winter, according to present indications. The manager who operated a cyclotron track here two years ago has advised local men that he will arrive here within a few days, and advance information has it that he is making the trip to look over the ground to see if interest in such races warrants their resumption.

An important work awaits the new child welfare commission recently appointed by Gov. Hardee. Many changes in existing laws will no doubt be made to the next legislature.

Alfred Robison, of Orlando, spent the day here yesterday attending to business.

Limit—one deer, two turkeys, twenty quail, and twenty-five other birds in one day. Limit for party of three or more during one camping—two deer, five turkeys, three hundred other birds—penalty $500. Limit for season: One person—two deer, five turkeys, three hundred other birds—penalty $500.

Pray that our whole citizenship may assume with zeal such duties of the day as will make Florida of the morrow a home of untold beauty and richness of civic living;

Pray that all our officials may be imbued with higher ideals of their personal responsibility for the quick coming of a day of universal law and order.

Pray that our educators may have the unselfish support of material business in their work to banish ignorance and universalize education;

Pray that our pulpits may have full co-operation of the layment in its crusade against evil and for the spread of a deeper moral sense and a more devout religious spirit;

Pray that every citizen may be inspired to approach every civic duty in the spirit of this sacred vow: "All that I have, All that I am, All that I may be, All for Florida and for All Florida."

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of Florida to be affixed at Tallahassee, the Capitol, this 19th day of November, A. D. 1923. (Signed) CARY A. HARDEE, Attest: H. CLAY CRAWFORD, Secretary of State.

HEALTH OFFICERS WOULD ERADICATE MOSQUITO IN FLA.

Will Have Authoritative Information Before Them At Meeting In Bartow Next Month—Plan Exhaustive Campaign

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Nov. 20.—When health officers of Florida, and others interested in ridding the state of the rest, assemble at Bartow on December 6-7 for the second annual Anti-Mosquito Conference, they will have before them information compiled by the federal authorities to the effect that the so-called yellow-fever mosquito, which is said to be perhaps the commonest household mosquito in the Gulf States, has been shown to be responsible for the carriage of dengue or "breakbone" fever. The future occurrence of yellow fever in this country is said to be most unlikely, however.

Immediate justification of the statement that this mosquito carries the dengue fever is said to be the fact that during the summer of 1922 it was estimated there were 600,000 cases of this fever in the southern states.

Dengue is seldom fatal, but it is the cause of total incapacity of the patient for a number of days which may extend into weeks. The federal authorities call attention to the economic loss to the South during the summer of 1922 which it is suggested might have been avoided at an absurdly low cost and with comparatively little trouble. With the view of aiding in the control of this pest, special control measures are outlined in a new publication issued by the agricultural department at Washington, Farmers' Bulletin 1351, in which a description is given of the life history, habits, and distribution of the yellow fever mosquito, its relation to dangerous diseases of warm countries, and the best remedies against it. In discussing means to combat this mosquito, the department says:

"It was conclusively shown in 1900 by scientific experiments under the direction of Dr. Walter Reed, that this mosquito is solely responsible for the spread of yellow fever, and it has since been demonstrated that the mosquito also carries dengue fever. The yellow fever mosquito is essentially a house mosquito and its larvae are found practically exclusively in artificial receptacles in and about houses. Large earthen jars for drinking water are, in the tropics, its unfailing habitat. Rain-water barrels and tanks are common sources of abundant supplies of these mosquitoes. The larvae also occur in sagging gutters containing rain water, tin cans, cesspools, horse troughs, water-closet tanks, drain traps, cemetery urns, holy water fountains in churches, water pans in chicken yards, and water receptacles of grindstones."

"The most important remedy suggested is the abolishing of standing water wherever possible, in order to eliminate breeding places. This includes every imaginable receptacle that may contain even a little water. Where standing water can not be abolished, openings to such receptacles as rain-water barrels, tanks, and cisterns should be screened to prevent mosquitoes from laying their eggs in them. Surface water that can not be drained away should be sprinkled at least every two weeks with ordinary low-grade kerosene or fuel oil. This will cover the surface and suffocate immature forms, and also protect the water from egg-laying by mosquitoes. The introduction of fish into fountains and artificial pools is beneficial where such receptacles can not be screened or treated with kerosene. "The use of wire screens with not less than 20 strands to the inch excludes mosquitoes from houses, and other buildings, rooms and porches. Bed canopies are advisable in un-screened houses. Houses may be cleared of adult mosquitoes by burning in tightly closed rooms one pound of pyrethrum powder or two pounds of sulphur for each 1,000 cubic feet of contained space."

Celery Seed

Well, we're back again after an absence of a few days, during which time we were trying to understand what the St. Augustine sport writer meant by his assertion that the Saints taught the Sanford boys how to play football last Saturday.

Seems to us like the teaching that was done, was under the supervision of the Sanford squad, with Quarterback Bach as principal and the rest of "the gang" as his corps of teachers.

The yellow uniforms of the Saint players ought to have been given for anyone to distinguish the difference between them and the Sanford boys who had black uniforms.

Coach Wilkerson is hard at work getting his Celery Seeds in shape for the game with Orlando Saturday. The locals will meet the Memorial Tigers in Orlando this year.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 21.—There's been a double christening in the Ford car family. When the newest member, a smart sedan with two doors, arrived on the scene, announcement of which is just made, there came with it the question of a name.

For several days the folks just couldn't decide what to call the baby of the family until, from quite an unexpected source, there came the happy suggestion: "Let's call it Tudor."

And Tudor it was christened, a name quite in keeping with the aristocratic appearance of the new car. "How about re-naming the other sedan?" some one asked and then came this reply: "We might call it the four-door Ford or—Ah, that's it! Ford—or Fordor. Simple and expressive, isn't it?"

So we have two Ford cars with brand new names, the Tudor and the Fordor.

LONGWOOD—THE POULTRY CENTER OF FLORIDA

By HARRIET McWORKMAN

There was a time when some good farmers of New England (and I think there must have been some poultry raisers among them) "fired the shot heard round the world." At any rate, it started the Revolutionary War. And now, along comes Longwood, Florida, with the reputation (oh, no, not of starting another war) but of actually starting "the cackle that is heard round the world." At least I am fully convinced after visiting the Longwood poultry farm, that they are the real starters of the quality cackle in the poultry business.

Just take your map of the United States and note the rivers, the lakes, the prairies if one wishes to go from Longwood, Florida to Tacoma, Washington. It's just about the longest straight-line journey that can be made in this big country of ours; and a journey that even an experienced globetrotter would take thought about before attempting. But that is the journey that 15 sleek and shiny three-months-old, Barred Plymouth Rocks made a few weeks ago. And they arrived in good condition, too. Nor are these poultry aristocrats afraid of a little thing like an ocean voyage. Not they. Mexico needed some real "Quality." Cuba had to have hers. Even Europe decided that here was something just too good to miss.

And so I found Longwood, surely and certainly embarked on a big crusade of "High Quality Poultry." This crusade started many years ago, now enables anybody, anywhere, to obtain the highest grade stock right here in Florida, when a very few years ago all poultry-men were buying their good birds from northern breeders.

Longwood immediately impressed me as an ideal location for the poultry business. It is situated on the main line of the Atlantic Coast Line railway, about halfway between Sanford and Orlando, and the Dixie Highway runs through the town. This it has the advantage of being near an unlimited market, with excellent shipping facilities. The soil and drainage are very good in this section.

Another reason for the outstanding section and the fine old oaks and other trees give an abundance of shade. success of the poultrymen in this section is the feeling of good will and friendliness which exists among them. Each one is developing his own chosen breed and putting in his best efforts to keep it high grade, but they are all pulling together for Longwood poultry. By clubbing together they are able to get their feed at jobbers' prices, which means quite a saving to the individual buyers. Incidentally, they buy only the best feeds that are obtainable. They all take special pride in keeping their places attractive, as well as clean and sanitary, and Longwood is very fortunate to have them in her community.

The poultrymen of Longwood sent a whole carload of exhibition birds to the Tampa Fair last winter, and they attracted a great deal of attention, too. There were a large number of prize winners among them. In fact, there were very few that did not receive some kind of an honor.

I found a very interesting condition here in regard to sorehead. Longwood and vicinity is practically free from this disease, while many nearby sections have to fight it continually. This may be due to the location, or to the sanitary conditions which are found here, or maybe to the sturdiness and vigor of the stock; but whatever the cause, it is a fact which cannot be overlooked.

Keystone Poultry Yards.

I had looked forward, with much pleasure to my visit to the Keystone Poultry Yards, and was certainly not disappointed. Standing on the porch of the large, comfortable home, one can look in any direction through the beautiful trees and see the nicely-kept yards which are the homes of the well known Keystone strain of poultry. After talking with Mr. and Mrs. Niemeyer, the owners, it is easy to see why they have made such a success of it. They are at work among their chickens from early morning until night, and get real pleasure out of every detail of the work. They have both given a lot of time to the studying of their birds, and are justly proud of what they have accomplished in building up this fine strain.

It was in the spring of 1917 that Mr. and Mrs. Niemeyer entered their first bird in a show. At that time they had very little conception of what it meant to put a bird in condition for the showroom. They were much surprised and gratified when they learned that some of their birds had won the blue ribbons. This little encouragement was what they needed, and they started in then to build up a strain of Barred Plymouth Rocks which would be a credit to Florida, and what they have done is not only a credit to Florida but to the whole poultry industry, for now their pens are full of birds which have taken prizes all over the country. They have several hundred which are worthy of entering any show. Mr. Niemeyer showed me a letter from a customer in New York which stated that the cockerel and pullet bought from the Keystone Yards had won first and second. This long list of satisfied customers can all tell of the fine birds they have received from the Keystone Yards, but only Mr. and Mrs. Niemeyer know of the years of hard work it has taken to produce them.

When they felt that they had the Barred Rocks well in hand, on account of the growing demand they decided to try the White Wyandottes. Of course, each breed has its own problems. They had to learn how to mate to produce good quality and heavy layers, but they made a complete study of the characteristics of this particular breed and as a result have been very successful with them.

The farm is well equipped with comfortable, sanitary houses, and spacious yards which give the chickens plenty of good range. Mr. Niemeyer has a workshop where he builds much of his own equipment, such as mash hoppers, etc. He enjoys doing this, just as he does his other tasks. In fact, it would be difficult to find two people more happy and contented in their work than Mr. and Mrs. Niemeyer.

The Keystone Poultry Yard is prepared to supply day old chicks, hatching eggs and stock. They were, you might say, forced into the baby chick business by their customers and friends, who did not want to hatch eggs. They supply only chicks hatched from their own eggs and cannot therefore turn out as many chicks as the large hatcheries. Although last year was their first year in the baby chick business, they were always sold from one to two months ahead. This branch of their business is assured of success, for they are putting their usual forethought and determination into it. They will begin hatching early in September and will have a hatch coming off every five days thereafter.

I had an unusually interesting visit at the Longwood Squab Farm, owned by Mr. J. A. Bistline. This business was started in a small way about twelve years ago and has grown steadily until Longwood squabs are being served in nearly all of the high-class hotels in this and other states. The quality of these squabs is so excellent that the New York commission men have been paying Mr. Bistline a special premium above the market price for the last six years.

Mr. Bistline makes two regular shipments to New York each week throughout the summer. The squabs are dressed one day, put on ice that night and the next morning they are packed in refrigerated boxes (which are returnable). In the ten years that he has been shipping, he has never had a shipment arriving in bad condition if it was delivered by the express company in a reasonable time. The lowest average price for squabs is $5.00 per dozen in the summer, and this goes up as high as $12.00 per dozen in the winter.

Mr. Bistline has a large number of birds, but he made the statement that it really takes very little time to care for them. Their houses are equipped with self-feeders, which gives them access to plenty of clean feed at all times. There are also automatic fountains, where clean, fresh water is always ready for them. Pigeons require green food twice a week, and a good pigeon health grit. It is important that their simple conditions are maintained, there is very little danger of disease, and the pigeons will work diligently hatching and feeding squabs for the market.

Mr. Bistline has in his lofts the White Kings, Carneax and Homers, which are generally admitted to be the best varieties for squab breeding. While he has been breeding mainly for squab production, he has not overlooked type and color, and his lofts contain many high-class show birds. He has built up a strain of Homers that are all blue-barred, and that produce practically all white skinned squabs. The Homer although the fastest breeder, was becoming unpopular because of the large percentage of dark skinned squabs which they produced. This new strain has eliminated that objection, and has become very popular.

Mr. Bistline is also interested in fine chickens, and his Silver Wyandottes are known by poultry fanciers all over the country. They have won in nearly all of the quality shows of America, such as Washington, Hagerstown, Md., New York State Fair, Hanover, Pa., Roanoke, Va., Nashville, Tenn. and Chicago Colliseum. In fact, they have never been defeated, where ever they have been shown. They won the grand and best display, all varieties competing, at the South Florida Fair, every time they have been shown. At the last show they won nearly twice as many points as the nearest competitor.

Mr. Bistline has many unusually high grade birds, of fine Wyandotte type and with snappy black and white lacing. He is now conditioning a fine display for the Silver Wyandotte Jubilee at Hanover, Pa., the fanciers' show of America.

The demand for Bistline squabs and Silver Wyandottes has become so heavy that he has already begun work on his new thirty-acre poultry and squab farm. It is beautifully situated on Lakes Wildmere and Evergreen, and when completed, a few years hence will be one of the best, if not the very best, squab and poultry farms in Florida.

Following the road directly west from the station, at the second turn, the Sunnyside Hatchery comes into view. The cozy white house, situated on the edge of a young orange grove, immediately gives one the feeling of hospitality and cheerfulness. Mr. George Stuart, the owner, selected a very appropriate name, for the buildings in which the incubators are placed and where all the baby chicks are handled, are located where they will get the full benefit of the sunshine. In these hot days it is hard to appreciate any of the benefits of the sunshine, when our main concern is to keep out of it, but in the days when the baby chicks are hatching, sunshine is a real luxury. Many a basket of chicks just out of the incubator has been kept as warm and comfortable by the soft rays of sunshine, as they would have been, tucked under their mother's wing.

Mr. Stuart has made a complete study of the hatching of baby chicks, and has built up an enviable reputation for quality and service. The demands for Sunnyside baby chicks have been so heavy that he has been compelled to increase his hatching capacity three-fold. He is now installing another Buckeye Mammoth incubator, of the very latest design and will have this ready for use in a short time.

Sunnyside baby chicks are hatched from high-quality, pure-bred stock only. Mr. Stuart is specializing in Single Comb Rhode Island Reds of the well known Over Farm strain. Sunnyside R. I. Red chicks are all hatched from this excellent stock. Only a short walk from the hatchery is the spirit of the Bistline Silver Wyandottes and nearby is the Keystone Poultry Yards, where the Keystone Barred Rocks and White Wyandottes are raised. Mr. Stuart therefore hatches all of his Sunnyside chicks of these breeds from this high-quality stock. It means everything to a purchaser to know that the baby chicks he buys are from pure bred stock, and Mr. Stuart realized that and built up his business to meet that demand. He knows just where his eggs come from, and that they are absolutely of the kind and quality represented. He also does custom hatching and will hatch all general purpose breeds, such as Leghorns, Minorcas and Anconas, on request. Many people now prefer to have their hatching done by an expert, who has studied his incubators thoroughly, instead of risking expensive eggs with a hen or a small incubator, which they may not quite understand.

Chicks hatched in the Sunnyside Hatchery are unusually strong and vigorous. This may be due to the fact that Mr. Stuart takes a personal interest in every tray that comes off, and handles them with the utmost care. It is a very unusual thing for a crippled chick to be found in a Sunnyside hatch.

Last year Mr. Stuart did all the hatching for Mr. Niemeyer and Mr. Bistline. They both said that they had never had such nice strong baby chicks and such good, big hatches, as they received from the Sunnyside Hatchery. Throughout the season the percentage of eggs hatching was much higher than is generally expected.

It is quite an important point for any one who specializes in baby chicks to be on the main railroad, for it assures the purchaser of quick and safe delivery. Mr. Stuart did not overlook this in selecting his location. In fact, he has considered and studied every detail of his business so carefully that Sunnyside baby chicks are recognized to be among the best, the strongest and the highest quality chicks on the market.

A short distance south of Longwood on the Dixie Highway, one is greeted by the sign, "Welcome to Short's Muscovy Duck Farm." The attractive home of Mr. and Mrs. Short stands in the middle of their farm, which appears to be one of the most ideal locations in Florida for the raising of Muscovy ducks. They must have studied the habits of the particular breed they are raising, and then selected a site and designed a plant that would exactly meet these requirements.

Mr. and Mrs. Short were certainly fortunate in being able to combine the utility features with a very picturesque location. Green lawns slope from the highway to a shallow lake which covers about two acres. A brook of clear, fresh water winds across the back of the farm. In the center of it is a small island which is covered with a dense undergrowth, and is the home of hundreds of birds in the nesting season. I asked if the ducks built their nests on the island and was surprised to learn that they do not. While they are at liberty to do so, they prefer the more domestic nesting places which are provided for them in a large barn near the house.

In one end of the pens are small shelter houses, which are divided into nesting places. The drake makes the nest and invites the duck to occupy it. If it does not meet with her approval, the search for a satisfactory nest is continued until one is found which pleases her. "They are like humans about their homes," said Mr. Short. "Pleasant surroundings have a lot to do with their general health."

As soon as the home is selected the duck carefully rounds out the nest and begins laying. She lays from twelve to thirty eggs—one each day. Removing the eggs from the nest has a tendency to cause her to continue laying, and as high as fifty eggs are often laid by a single duck if the nest is robbed. The eggs are, as a rule, all fertile except the first one, which is usually removed the third or fourth day. They are carefully guarded by both duck and drake during the laying season.

All breeding stock on the Short farm is hatched in nature's prescribed way—under the duck that laid the eggs. When ready for incubation, the mother proceeds to pull the fine down from her body and feather her nest. This down is placed in large quantities under the eggs and around the sides of the nest, making it possible for an average sized duck to cover as many as thirty eggs, and bring off a 93 per cent. hatch. It takes five weeks for the eggs to hatch, and this patient mother never leaves her nest for food or water without first covering her eggs with down. The ducklings mature rapidly and are unusually healthy. At six to ten weeks they will weigh two to five pounds.

Often a mother with six-weeks-old babies will be back on her nest again. She doesn't desert her family, however, neither is she cross to them. They go with her to the nest and group themselves around her. Besides protecting her own young, the mother will fight for any other baby duck that is being molested.

Muscovy ducks make an excellent table fowl and are cooked the same as a chicken. If you have had the idea that they are difficult to prepare, Mrs. Short could soon convince you that they are no harder to clean than any other fowl. Mrs. Short is not only an expert in dressing and cooking a duck, but understands them thoroughly from a fancier's standpoint, and takes great pride in her excellent breeding stock.

The Shorts started with a few ducks of the colored variety of the Brazilian Domesticated Muscovys. They have added much fancy breeding stock from both North and South America, and are devoting their entire attention to breeding for higher quality, endeavoring to produce a super-Muscovy duck. And they seem to be accomplishing this, for their ducks have won blue ribbons wherever they have been exhibited. Great care is given to breeding for the different purposes the individual purchaser may require—whether for ornamental and show purposes, egg production or large fowls for meat. Baby ducks, eggs, breeding stock and table fowls are produced here in astonishing quantities and are being shipped to all parts of the country. It is the intention of the owners to increase production at least 200 per cent. next year to meet the growing demands. Mr. Short says, "I plan to build up a business on Muscovy ducks here that will be large enough to make people in the North, South, East and West talk of our duck farm, and Longwood, and Florida, every time they see a duck." And why shouldn't his dream come true? He has an ideal location, which makes it possible for him to produce in quantities, with favorable conditions the year round; he has the highest quality Muscovys that could be obtained, and is constantly improving that quality; and he has a steadily increasing demand for his table fowls, breeders and hatching eggs.

Florida Times-Union: Legislation by treaty is now presumed to be the popular thing in the United States, it being declared that the migratory bird laws now in effect were drawn from an agreement between the United States government and Canada—and this after congress had refused to give up police powers of the states that are guaranteed by the constitution.
