Assembly prompts revamping of policy

By Jeff Bertinick
 ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS - For now, it's a done deal. The controversy that erupted at Teague Middle School last week has been settled, said Seminole County School Board member Bob Goff, whose district encompasses Teague.

"As far as I'm concerned, it's a done issue," Goff said. "That is, unless someone chooses to make it a bigger issue."

The controversy stemmed from an assembly last Friday at Teague. Professional golfer Tiger Woods was scheduled to appear at a school-wide assembly to celebrate Black History Month. Woods canceled at the last minute and school officials scheduled a group representing the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, a youth fellowship organization that has no official ties to the public school system and is not government funded, but has loose ties to each of the high schools in Seminole County.

Among the FCA activities is the annual Rally At the Pole, a morning prayer held at the school flagpole. Nearly 400 students attended the event at Seminole High School last fall.

Mon Luong, 92, from Viet Nam was the oldest of the 287 immigrants who became naturalized American citizens during a ceremony Thursday at the Sanford Civic Center.

The March of new Americans

287 take the Pledge of Allegiance

By Russ White
 HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - This was the day Mon Luong had thought about for many years. At 92, he felt young again. In less than an hour he would become an American citizen.

Mon Luong sat patiently. He wore a brown suit and blue tie, loosely knotted with the top button to his shirt undone. His wife, Thuc Luong, draped a plush tiger throw over him.

"I'm enjoying this occasion," said Mon Luong from Viet Nam. Mon Luong was the eldest of 287 who became naturalized citizens at a Ceremony at the Sanford Civic Center. They came from 60 different countries and from each of the continents.

One man wore an American flag necktie, another a New York Yankees baseball jacket for the March of new Americans in Sanford.

"This is a very important moment in my life," said Cesar Celis, a 22-year-old from Lima, Peru. "It is a great honor to be a citizen of such a great country."

Ken Birredd, a teacher from New Zealand, had the privilege of being Citizen No. 1 in Thursday's roll call. He sat in a first row seat and read the words to the Pledge of Allegiance before taking the oath.

Venera Reeves, 78, from Panama had been disappointed not to have become a citizen two years ago. She suffered a heart attack, and then was denied a chance when her paperwork ended up in Georgia.

"A couple of weeks ago, Mrs. Reeves got a call that she could become a citizen here today," said Daisy DeFrance, a neighbor from DeLand. "She was so excited, she had another heart attack."

Venera Reeves was well enough to be at Thursday's ceremony. "I didn't give up...here I am."

Lake Mary making sure it can put out the fires

By Shari Bredie
 HERALD FEATURES EDITOR

LAKE MARY - A satellite fire station site is under consideration for the southeast section of the city as fire personnel anticipate a possible move of Sanford's Station 32.

In a work session Thursday night, Chief Duane Mehl told city commissioners that in order for him to support the idea of building a new public safety building on property located near Interstate-4, "I would recommend (finding) a second site on the east side of the city as soon as possible."

Lake Mary has been considering a 6-1/2 acre parcel on property Siemens Telecommunications wants to develop. Siemens would trade the property to the city for impact fee credits for the Development of Regional Impact (DRI) the company hopes the city will approve.

The credits would total $707,850 for the site located adjacent to the Primera DRI. The city has two acres of land in this area and would like to interconnect the pieces.

The new public safety building would replace the current Please See Fires, Page 3A

Winter Springs will host July 4th fireworks, public must pay to watch

By Tony Tizabi
 HERALD CORRESPONDENT

WINTER SPRINGS - Winter Springs commissioners led by Vice Mayor Cindy Oennell, this week discussed residents' disapproval at having to pay to enter a public park for Fourth of July fireworks and the impact of increased signage at a gas station.

Commissioners authorized the city manager to enter into a contract with APC Fireworks for the July 4 fireworks display, worth $17,000. This is to be the second annual event of this nature.

The city would be renting out Central Winds Park for this event. Many disliked that the public would be charged a fee to enter the park since it is a city facility. The city would also split all revenues. Commissioner Michael Blake ultimately made a motion to negotiate with the fireworks people.

In a second issue, a developer asked to increase the signage at a Tuskawilla gas station. In return for this sign increase, the developer would increase the landscaping and construct a wall. This was declared after some negotiation. The property is located on the corner of 434 and Vistawilla Drive. There was much debate on this issue, with several citizens disagreeing with the proposed plan.

City Manager Ron McLemore declared that "this plan is to create a sign to the citizen's benefit." McLemore also said that he put him-

Environment vs. development

It's pastoral now, but the battle of Battle Ridge rages on. Winter Springs recently voted to annex the property that dissenting voter Commissioner Cindy Gennell said is logically land that belongs in Oviedo. The Battle Ridge development involves fewer than 200 homes planned on environmentally sensitive land. Nearby homeowners continue to fight the builders. Bike Week '98: It's all about camaraderie

Southern Riders throw a party for visiting bikers

By Russ White
 HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - The Southern Riders Motorcycle Club of Sanford is a small group of 10 bikers that knows how to celebrate big time.

As part of Bike Week '98, the Southern Riders are having a picnic this afternoon at Ft. Mellon Park and a dance this evening at the National Guard Armory.

Johnell Scott, the president of the group, said that as many as 400 are expected at this evening's dance. Bikers from all over the country who are part of Bike Week '98 come to Sanford for the Southern Riders picnic and party.

"We've got guests coming in from Los Angeles, Boston and all over - they're all welcome," said Scott, 48, who helped form the club four years ago. With a hundred thousand or more biking enthusiasts coming to Daytona for Bike Week '98, many have found rooms in Sanford or come here for visits.

The motorcycle festivities in Daytona Beach conclude with what is called the "World's Greatest Motorcycle Race" - the 57th Daytona 200 at Daytona International Speedway.

Defending champion Scott Russell is attempting this year to become the first in history to win the race five times. He won the pole position for the race by driving his No. 4 Yamaha at an average speed of Please See Bikers, Page 3A

Mall opening a flutter with excitement

By David Frazier
HERALD STAFF WRITER

OVIDEO — During a chilly Wednesday morning ceremony, hundreds of patrons eagerly awaited the opening of the new Oviedo Marketplace. Shoppers were ready, frothing at the mouth, to open wallets and change purses to the new offerings before them.

Oviedo Mayor Mimi Bruce put it best when she announced, "Let the shopping begin!" The mayor was one of several dignitaries on hand for the premiere of the new mall. In addition to Bruce, Anthony Deering, president of the mall's owners, the Rouse Company, officials from DeLard's, Gayler's and Regal Cinemas, Oviedo City Manager Eugene Willford, and Oviedo City Council Chairman Robert Dallan aligned the podium before the doors opened.

The release of 5,000 "painted lady" butterflies and the singing by children from Keith Elementary School signaled the finale of the opening ceremony and the com-movement of red, buying ticket tape and colorful but telly balloons fell from the roof top to roll out the red carpet for a new era in Oviedo shopping.

Unemployment benefits
Residents of Florida's disaster declared counties who lost earned income as a result of the recent tornadoes and floods are eligible to apply for disaster unemployment benefits under a federal program administered by the state through local unemployment offices.

Disaster unemployment benefits, funded by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), can be paid to disaster-affected farmers, self-employed persons and others who may not be eligible for the state's regular unemployment compensation benefits, according to Joseph Myers, director of the Florida Division of Emergency Management.

The program is designed to help people make ends meet until they can fully recover from the economic losses sustained in the disaster, Myers said. It became available when President Clinton declared certain Florida counties a major disaster area.

Applicants will be asked to produce documentary evidence of employment and earnings at the time of the disaster in order to determine their eligibility. Those eligible include hourly paid workers, the self-employed in agriculture, self-employed business people and business owners forced out of work because of the disaster.

EDITORIAL

We are in this together

In news brief items immediately following the recent tornado disaster in the Sanford area, many individuals and businesses were cited for their help. It would be impossible to list all of them here, as there would always be someone we overlooked.

But as an example of what we mean; BellSouth Mobility donated a total of $50,000 to the American Red Cross and donated emergency phones; Winn-Dixie stores and others helped collect and distribute donations from the general public; Quincy's of Sanford and a few other businesses held fund-raising events to help those in need. Sanford Food entrepreneur Jeno Paulucci played a large part in assisting survivors through generous donations.

Assistance also came from afar; Citicorp Foundation of Tampa gave the Red Cross $25,000 for tornado victims here in Central Florida. Georgia-based MAP International, a medical and personal care distributor, donated more than $62,000 in over-the-counter medicine.

There was also help from the Salvation Army, Heart of Florida United Way and certain businesses and individuals who wish to remain anonymous.

Such an outpouring of assistance should stand as an example throughout the nation and the world, of how Floridians take care of themselves. All those who live here are susceptible to hurricanes, tornadoes, flooding, heat waves and mosquitoes. With this common ground, each of us knows what the other person is going through when there is a problem.

We hear of states and areas of our nation where neighbors don't even talk to one another much less offer a helping hand. Some even refuse to make eye contact with a fellow citizen. There is fear between people, distrust, negative attitudes, and other problems.

Isn't it great that we live in Florida? Hasn't the response from this tornado and the recent Hurricane Andrew in south Florida proven that we are a united people?

We are a gathering place for visitors. We are standing as examples of how we are friendly and willing to look out for each other. What better image could we ask?

We can indeed be proud of all of the businesses and professional persons who came forward. We also are proud of individual citizens who dropped what they were doing and pitched in to lend a hand.

Recovery for some won't be easy, but we're in this together. Isn't it great that we have each other for support?

The Clintons

There is not now, nor has there ever been, any nationwide right-wing conspiracy against Bill Clinton. With Hillary's long experience as a lawyer, she simply has used the "conspiracy" allegations repeatedly over the years whenever a desperate, last-ditch effort was needed to save her worthless husband and, thereby, preserve her only source of personal advancement, recognition, authority and power.

Virtually since the outset of Bill Clinton's occupancy of the White House I have been among the very strongest opponents of his rotten presidency. I am no right-wing conspirator.

I am a mainstream American, a husband, father, former newsman, public employee and business owner. For reasons of independence and non-entanglement, I belong to no organizations. Currently, I am in voluntary retirement in order to devote more time to crucial political and social issues that threaten the very survival of this great nation.

I loathe Hillary and Bill Clinton—and all who sell their souls in their behalf—because, unlike so many Americans, I have bothered to do my homework about them.

Hillary was reared by her parents in comfort and affluence. Yet, almost before she left home to attend the exclusive, upper class Wellesley College for Women in Massachusetts she began turning away from all of the good things in American life to pursue a course that has led into ceaseless lying, deceit, obstruction of justice and complete disgrace.

All decent women should despise her because she epitomizes the very worst of undesirable traits and behavior in womanhood.

Still worse, in marrying Bill Clinton she knowingly and willingly entered an unholy alliance with a man whose utter rottenness is so awful it defies accurate description and which has weakened the very underpinnings of America's great experiment in democracy.

There appears to be no lie too blatant, nor evil too great that Bill Clinton would not seize upon in pursuing his loathsome personal goals and gratifications.

In all of his years in public office, first in his native Arkansas and now in the presidency, Bill Clinton has accomplished nothing for the people. He neither governs nor leads. He has no real convictions. He merely slips, slides and lies in pursuit of his personal greed while campaigning incessantly toward the next goal in his advancement.

It is very difficult for me—and for my wife, Tennie—to watch either Hillary or her husband on television, or even to hear their voices, or read their statements in the print media.

This sickening, hideous nightmare that is the Clinton presidency has tormented America long enough.

Get out!

Paying for child care

The obvious implied solution to "The Growing Problem of Paying for Our Child Care" is simple for all the Ellen Goodman's out there. Just have the Republican Congress without protest approve President Clinton's Child Care Plan ($21 billion direct funding and subsidies). We should also stop calling his plan a "socialized child care system" or "Managed Care". I respectfully request less than equal time for an opposing viewpoint.

Just the other day I discussed this topic with three other men who like me had no dependents at home needing child care. When I asked if they thought their tax money should be used to provide care for children of single parents and couples who both work, they said, "No!" I forgot to ask if they thought couples who leave one parent home with their offspring should contribute to the same program. Because it would be most unfair and unjust for these financially deprived couples to enrich parents who pay for child care, I will say "No!" for them.

President Clinton's Child Care Plan should be opposed for two reasons. It is a not too subtle attempt to attract stay-at-home mothers into working careers. It is another blatant trade for votes pitched at a highly vulnerable segment of society: working parents. I hope other tax payers will join those three men and I and also say, "No!"

Replacing Sanford's Sanitation Department

I am very concerned with the allegations that our Mayor Larry Dale wants to hire private contractors to replace the excellent service we are now receiving from the Sanford Sanitation Crews. Penny-wise/Pound-foolish comes to mind, along with wondering what gain may be in the offing to even consider such a foolish, for-the-residents-of-Sanford, move.

Since Mayor Smith retired from public life, we have had nothing but trouble within the realm of city services that were functioning very well under her leadership, with Bill Simmons at her side. Now the Sanford Police Department is in turmoil, Bill Simmons is ready to retire to get away from it all, and we now stand to lose the City Sanitation Workers who've done a fine job. WHAT'S WRONG WITH THIS PICTURE? Suddenly nothing is right that has been operating smoothly for years?

I would like to ask the Seminole Herald to do an extensive investigation and find out exactly what is going on at City Hall, in particular why we should ever consider replacing excellent sanitation service with private service which becomes more costly with each contract renewal.

I would ask my fellow voters in Sanford to think about all these recent events, and the turmoil within our City and keep it very fresh in their minds come election time.

I would like to know why our City Council Members have not been "raising Cain" and fighting to keep a man worth his weight in gold on as city manager.

Something is drastically wrong within Sanford at the moment. Voters take heed.

The group typically has a presentation featuring loud Christian-related music, skits and religious testimonies in a non-coercive format.

The group appeared Friday and some students attempted to leave the assembly because of its religious nature, citing separation of church and state.

A firestorm started when several local radio stations picked up the story and, by yesterday, school board members were receiving letters and calls from religious leaders of several denominations and calls supporting and calling for the resignation of Teague officials who allowed the event to happen.

Dr. Ron Pinnell, Executive Director of Secondary Schools in Seminole County, confirmed that the assembly contained some material that was religious in nature and inappropriate for a public school setting. In a press release, Pinnell said, "It is the intent of the Superintendent and the school board that all students in our schools, regardless of their religious beliefs, be treated with dignity and respect. An apology has been issued to the schools and faculty at Teague Middle School and steps have been taken to ensure the appropriateness of future assembly programs."

Only Dr. Paul Hagerty, superintendent of the School Board, can make a decision on the status of Teague Principal Gene Brewer, Goff said.

Goff said he hopes everyone can gain a better understanding about diversity from the incident.

"It was an unfortunate incident but we have to use it as a learning experience," Goff said. "I understand some people were offended."

Goff said he received a letter from a rabbi expressing concerns, but also calls supporting Brewer. He added that

Teague officials have been counseled about future assemblies, saying that all material must be reviewed before of the FCA and their relationship with the schools, including charters in each of the seven public high schools, Goff said he hopes the group can

The debate started when Commissioner Michael Blake said the city's Planning and Zoning Board did not know all the ramifications regarding this issue before they approved it and sent it to the commission. Blake also said, "They are talking about the direction of Winter Springs."

continue on as normal and that he hopes no action is taken against Brewer.

"This doesn't have to be a head hunt," Goff said. "We just need to be more sensitive."

About the future of the FCA, Goff said, "That should depend on whether or not they learned from the experience."

Blake also verbally sparred with Mike Jones, an attorney representing the property. "I understand how you could be confused," Jones told Blake.

Blake defended his position and said he was also concerned by the possible noise pollution caused by the gas station's car wash. This sparring continued for quite some time over several issues.

The commission also praised the police, fire and public works departments for their efforts in helping the city recover so quickly from the tornado last week.

He shared, "the walk covers approximately two and a half miles through the historic part of Sanford and along the Seenie Lake Monroe. This is just another way we can help people help themselves. I'd like to encourage people to come and walk. Walking is a way of life to our neighbors around the globe. They walk for food, water, firewood and other needs. We all can make a difference especially in your own disaster area here."

Scott added that "50 percent of the money raised will help the local tornado victims while 25 percent will benefit Grace 'N Girls, Rescue Mission and Second Harvest Food Bank and another 25 percent will assist the Worldwide Hunger Ministries."

Palmetto Avenue Baptist pastor can spell success

By Susan Wenner
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - For the last four and a half years Pastor Ron Williams has ministered to the congregation at Palmetto Ave. Baptist Church in Sanford. Although Williams actually "grew up" in the church he left for Bible College, married and served as a missionary in Puerto Rico for seven years with his wife.

"I'm glad to be back home," said Williams. "The Lord has brought people I knew when I was younger back into my life since I've been back. It's as if I left something that I didn't complete then. It's now come full circle. It's been such a blessing to be back home."

The church was founded in 1966 by one of the former pastors. Four and a half years ago when another pastor was retiring Williams was then led by God to return to the states with his family and begin his work with the church of his youth.

Williams has summed up the basis of the work of the church in a catchy way with the word PALMETTO, for Palmetto Ave. Baptist Church. "P stands for prayer," he said. "A stands for acceptance. We want everyone to believe in the power of prayer and practice it. We want everyone that comes to church here to feel acceptance. L is for lay ministry. We want to follow Ephesians 4 when we are told to equip others in ministry. It's not just the for staff ministers. Everyone can be involved. M is for missions. We support 90 missionaries and projects on a monthly basis. We've given $45,000 to these works above and beyond our tithes and offering. E is for evangelism. We want everyone to be saved. T stands for teach and the other T is for train. O is for oneness of spiritual unity in the body of Christ. We want no division and for our members to get along. The church wants to take people from where they are to where they need to be in the Lord."

A middle ground between contemporary and traditional is what Williams described the worship and the atmosphere. He added that the group has a good time worshipping God.

He also cited that members are a light-hearted group with a celebrating type of atmosphere. "There are a lot of traditional, Southern, Florida people in the church. They are given to hospitality. It's really a balance of generations."

According to Williams, the church has something for everyone. Golden Agers meet on a monthly basis for additional fellowship. Classes are available for married, single, empty nest folks and youth.

Youth meet every Wednesday at 5:30 p.m. to go door-to-door and meet people and invite other youth to Teen Impact. Young people meet in the Youth Center called the Mad House (named after a scripture in Jude about making a Difference in their own special time.

The congregation also hosts AWANA on Wednesday evenings at 7:15. This scouting type group encouraging children to memorize scripture, enjoy Christian fellowship, mixed with fun and games and Bible stories. Close to 100 people are involved in this effort.

A "Rest Home" ministry sends several people out every Sunday to teach those in care homes. A discipleship program is specifically designed for new converts with a one-on-one Bible study.

Services for the church are 8:45 a.m. and 11 a.m. worship and Sunday school at 10 a.m. Wednesday Bible study classes meet at 7:30 p.m.

The church also operates a Christian school, Liberty Christian School. The school began in 1973. This is where Williams and his wife met.

With approximately 130 students, the school has grades kindergarten through grade 5 studying the A Beka curriculum and grades 6 through 12 learn with the ACE curriculum. The school has volleyball, flag football, as well as a girl's basketball and boys basketball team. Yearbook, student council and homecoming are all part of the activities.

The church was recently annexed into the city. Members are working toward a 140 by 80 multipurpose building for a gymnasium and additional classrooms.

On March 29 members will host a Public Service Appreciation Day to honor law enforcement, fire department, city and county commissioners and the mayor at the 11 a.m. service. All the honored guests and their families will be feed after the service.

For more information about the church call the office at 323-1583.

THE WEEK IN PREP ATHLETICS

Games of the Week
You're no sports fan if you miss...

By JEFF BERLINICKE
 Herald Staff Writer

Tonight: Winter Park at Lake Mary, boys regional soccer tournament, 7:30.

The Rams are one of the hottest teams in the state. In an overtime win over Lyman earlier this week, the Rams won with defense, allowing the Greyhounds only two shots the entire game.

It is an emotional time for the Rams who are playing in memory of former teammates Dustin Garber and David Trausneck. Garber was killed in an automobile accident last weekend and Trausneck was injured. He sat on the sideline during the Lyman win.

Danny Wymmer and Pat Mangan each scored in the Lyman win. Lake Mary is coached by Larry McCorkle.

Tonight: Boone at Oviedo, girls soccer regional tournament, 7:30 p.m.

Look out for the Lions. Oviedo beat Lake Mary in a sudden-death shootout Tuesday to advance. For Oviedo, it was the second game without a loss to the formerly top-ranked Rams.

Freshman goaltender Tiffany Christiana stared down the Rams during the shootout and Florida-bound Karyn Hall knocked home the game winner.

Other weapons for the Lions include Jessica Bourque, Emily Chapman and Jamille Castro.

Oviedo earned home field advantage in the opener of regionals with a pair of upsets, both of which came after the resignation of coach Roby Stahl.

Tonight: Lake Mary at Lake Howell, baseball, 7 p.m.

The Silver Hawks are off to one of their best starts in school history, at 8-2, under new coach David Vince. Danny Burleson and Ryan Smith are two of the arms that are keying the pitching staff and Jimmy Bloodgood, Roberto Santana and Joe Santilli are only some of the bats that are boosting the Hawks to their strong start.

For the Rams, they are recovering from a slow start and beat Oviedo last night, giving the Lions their first district loss of the season. Brian Bretzer is the team ace and a young group of bats are starting to get the Rams on track.

Also on the schedule: TONIGHT

- Regional soccer - Lake Mary girls vs. Winter Park at Showalter Field, 7 p.m.; Winter Springs girls at Class 3A-District 7 champion, 7 p.m.; Lyman boys at Dr. Phillips, 7 p.m.
- Softball - Pine Ridge at Seminole, 6:30 p.m.; Dr. Phillips at Lake Mary, 6:30 p.m.
- Track - Lyman Relays at Carlton Henley Sports Complex, 4 p.m.

SATURDAY

- Baseball - Tampa-East Bay vs. Seminole at Alumni Field, 1 p.m. (at Lyman at 4 p.m. if Alumni Field unplayable); Tampa-East Bay at Lyman, 7 p.m.

Lake Mary-Oviedo diamond nines blast seven home runs

By Tony DeBormier
 HERALD CORRESPONDENT

Josh O'Brien hit a home run, scored the ultimate winning run and was the winning pitcher in relief as Lake Mary outslugged Oviedo 9-7 at Mikler Field Thursday night.

RAMS 9, LIONS 7
Lake Mary	000 060 3 - 9 8 1
Oviedo	200 022 1 - 7 7 2

OVIDEO - There was a fireworks exhibition Thursday night at Oviedo High School's Mikler Field; one wasn't planned, but that didn't keep it from happening.

The fireworks were in the form of the seven rockets that left the field as the visiting Lake Mary Rams outslugged the Oviedo Lions, 9-7, in a Seminole Athletic Conference and 6A-District 3 baseball game.

Lake Mary's Randy Lewis launched the last and decisive one, hitting a two-out, three-run home run over the left field fence to break a 6-6 tie.

"Balls were just flying out of here," marveled Lake Mary coach Allan Tuttle, whose team slugged three roundtrippers but surrendered four.

"I just told the boys that I've coached over 450 games in my career and this was the most satisfying win I've ever experienced, not just because we won, but how we won. We executed when we had to and guys came through in the clutch."

Adding to the satisfaction was the fact that it was a district and conference win. It came on the road, and came against Oviedo ace Ben Knapp (1-2).

"That's a big part of it, beating him here," said Tuttle. "Knapp is one hell of a pitcher. He had us off balance through the first four innings."

Through four innings, Knapp was working on a one-hit shutout, the only hit coming on a bad-hop single in the first. But in the fifth inning, Lake Mary used three infield singles, two Oviedo misplays on pop flies, a throwing error, and home runs by Eric Otero and Josh O'Brien to score six runs.

Oviedo, which had taken a 2-0 lead on Jeremy Frost's two-run homer in the first inning, rallied to tie the score on a two-run blast by Knapp in the fifth inning and solo shots by Lawrence Pultz and Troy Boutwell in the sixth.

Jose Rosado led off the Lake Mary seventh with a single. Two outs later, he was standing on second base. O'Brien was walked intentionally to set up the force and bring Lewis to the plate. Oviedo left fielder Scott Ferrell made a leap for Lewis' long fly at the wall, but couldn't reach it.

In the bottom of the seventh, the Lions scored one run, had a runner on base, and had the tying run at the plate. But O'Brien (3-0), who came on in relief of starter Brian Bretzer in the sixth, recorded the final out of the game on a swinging strikeout.

Otero and Lewis each had a home run and three RBI. O'Brien had two RBI and a home run. For each, it was his second homer of the season. Rosado added two singles, two runs, and an RBI. Matt Allegra contributed two singles and a run. Daniel Sanford also hit a single. Chad LeGate, Rob Macchione, and Scott Hillnack each scored a run.

Pacing the Oviedo attack were Frost (home run, single, two runs, two RBI), Knapp (home run, two RBI), Pultz and Boutwell (each with a solo home run), Jorge Hernandez (double), Justin Holmes (single), Ferrell (two runs), and Guy Erwin (RBI).

The Raiders, under veteran head coach Jack Pantelias and assistant Eddie Dickmyer, are off to a slow start this season, but will be looking to extend a two-game winning streak when they play the first home night game in years tonight.

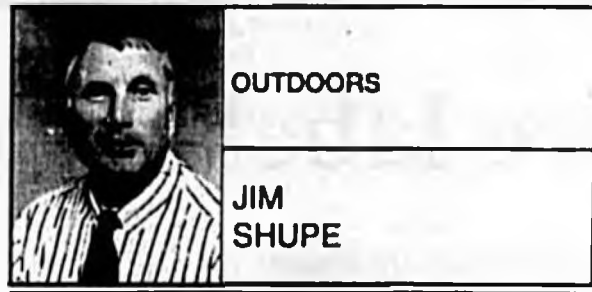

Live shrimp are usually a successful bait

SANFORD - Because of their widespread distribution and reasonably abundant supply, live shrimp are a natural target for fish living in the bays, backwaters, and near shore waters. They are almost always a safe and productive choice for bait.

Shrimp work best when they are alive. Many boats have live bait wells with aerators and recirculating pumps. Anglers with more basic boats can make a live well with a cooler and a submersible pump, or simply use a flow-through-style bait bucket.

One common problem when using live shrimp is the bait's rapid demise on the hook. The trick is to pass the hook through the shrimp's head in front of the dark spot, which is the heart. Avoid the heart and the shrimp will stay alive much longer.

Most saltwater fish won't pass up a shrimp, but some fish truly relish other bait. Permit and tarpon love small crabs. Pompano show a strong preference for an odd looking crab called a sand flea. It lives in the surf zone along the beach and is easily harvested with a sand flea rake or by hand. Sheepshead find another crab, the fiddler, irresistible.

OUTDOORS

JIM SHUPE

Live fish are also a popular bait. Any size fish works as long as it's smaller than the one you're trying to catch. Several species of small baitfish roam the near shore waters in huge schools. Catch them with a cast net or small gold hooks. A cast net opens wide when thrown and can catch over a hundred fish in one cast. To make the net open correctly and catch fish by surprise, however, takes skill acquired only by practice. Cast nets can be used from land, low bridges, and boats.

Anglers fishing from boats, piers, and high bridges can also catch their own bait by using a series of very small gold hooks tied sequentially on a light line and jigged up and down. The glistening hooks look like small crustaceans and baitfish will strike at them without any bait on the hooks.

Catch larger fish in the 6 to 12-inch range, such as grunts, pinfish, and squirrelfish, to use as bait on offshore grouper and snapper excursions. Use light tackle to catch the bait, then keep them in the live well until you're ready to grab the heavy tackle.

SHUPE'S SCOOP

BEYOND A DOUBT, LIVE BAIT CONSISTENTLY PRODUCES LARGER FISH THAN ARTIFICIALS. MANY ANGLERS DO NOT USE LIVE BAIT BECAUSE IT IS NOT CONVENIENT AND IT ALSO REQUIRES ADDITIONAL EFFORT AND EQUIPMENT TO KEEP ALIVE.

FISHING FORECAST

Bass fishing is getting impossible with all the high water. Fish are scattered and very difficult to locate. Specks can be found drifting in Lake Monroe or fishing structure such as pilings or docks. Bream and catfish are also spotty. Concentrations of fish are hard to find as they are roaming over newly flooded areas.

Snook action at Sebastian Inlet is getting better by the day. Fish from 8-15 pounds are hitting live shrimp worked slowly around rocky structure. Veteran anglers use a bare lead jig and tip it with a live shrimp. Also expect flounder, small snapper, bluefish, jack crevalle and ladyfish.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral has no offshore report due to dirty water and high seas. Inside the sheltered waters of the Port, sheepshead, flounder, and a few snook can be found. Trout and redfish are scattered in the Banana and Indian Rivers.

Bluefish and sheepshead are thick at Ponce Inlet. Listen to the marine forecast before planning a trip, as big waves can make the jetties dangerous. Sheepshead love live shrimp or fiddler crabs. Bluefish will hit just about anything that doesn't bite back. Jigs work well because fish are easy to unhook with the single hook. Trout and reds are rated as fair in Mosquito Lagoon.

Those care labels in your clothes

Your favorite sweater shrank, your new pants puckered, and the colors in your designer shirt ran. You are furious.

Don't toss the clothes out just yet. If you followed the cleaning instructions on the care labels, you can return the garments and ask the retailer for an exchange or refund.

Under the Federal Trade Commission's Care Labeling Rule, manufacturers must tag their clothing with at least one safe cleaning method. Garments sold without a care label-or with inaccurate cleaning instructions-may violate the Rule. Since July 1, 1997, manufacturers may use certain care symbols in place of words on labels. To help consumers understand the new symbols, the FTC says manufacturers must include written explanations of those symbols on hang tags or elsewhere on garments for the next 18 months.

When Is A Label Required?

Care labels are required on most textile clothing. They are not required on clothing made primarily of suede or leather, footwear, items for the head and hands--such as hats and gloves--or on household items like sheets and towels. However, many manufacturers of these items provide care information voluntarily.

The care label must be attached firmly to a garment, be easy to find, and readable for the useful life of the garment. Some garments have more than one piece. If the pieces are sold separately--or if they require different care--each must have its own label. Otherwise, only one label is necessary.

What Should The Label Say?

In addition to giving one safe cleaning

CONSUMER FOCUS

method, care labels must list any necessary warnings about that cleaning method. Trim must be removed before the garment is cleaned, or give a separate care method for the trim.

What If I Have Problems?

If you followed the washing instructions. For example, the label must say whether any step of the care method--washing, bleaching, drying, ironing, or dry cleaning--could harm the garment, or other items cleaned with it.

Does "Washable" Also Mean My Garment Can Be Dry Cleaned?

Not necessarily. Only one method of safe care has to be listed--regardless of how many other safe methods could be used. The label does not have to warn about unsafe cleaning methods. For example, clothing labeled "washable" may not dry clean well.

What About Trim?

Care instructions apply to all permanently attached parts of the garment, such as buttons, lining, or decorative trim. Labels that say "Dry Clean Only, Exclusive of Decorative Trim" do not meet legal standards because they don't explain that the and your red-and-white shirt is now pink or if your garment was dry cleaned according to the care instructions and is damaged, return it to the retailer and ask for an exchange or refund. If the retailer won't cooperate, ask for the manufacturer's name and address, and write to the company.

In your letter, describe the garment and list information from the labels and tags. Estimate how many times you've washed the garment or had it dry cleaned. Include the full name and address of the retailer.

You also can contact the FTC by writing to: Consumer Response Center, Federal Trade Commission, Washington, DC 20580. Although the FTC can't resolve individual disputes, the information you provide may indicate a pattern of law violations requiring action by the Commission.

The FTC also would like to know if you've purchased clothing without a care label. Please include the name and address of the retailer and the manufacturer.

Can I Remove The Label?

Care labels must be attached when you buy clothing. The recommended care could influence your purchasing decision. For example, you may want to avoid "dry clean only" items if you are concerned about cleaning costs.

Although you can remove a care label, you risk losing important information about the proper care of your garment.

Parents' divorce harder on teens?

Dear Mary,

My husband and I finally did what had to be done; we started the process of getting a divorce. We'd waited until our son was a little older because we have heard how hard it is on kids when their parents split. He's 16 now and we were hoping he would take it OK. He had to know it was coming. We've slept in different bedrooms for two years, and there was just a quiet truce between us, certainly no communication. Anyhow, since his dad has moved out, our son has been a raging monster. He either pouts or shouts. If you ask him to do anything, he goes into a rage. He can't get along with anybody; not even his friends. He refuses to do his homework, and had three Fs at the end of the first semester.

When I think back, he was unusually quiet for a couple of months before his dad moved out. He was also almost too agreeable and obedient. If that is possible. It was almost as if he thought he could keep us together if he behaved really well.

I don't know what to do with him now. I've tried to talk to him and tell him it's not his fault we split up, but he won't let me even mention the divorce or how he might be feeling before he goes off the deep end, screaming and carrying on.

FAMILY COUNSELOR

I'm about at my wit's end. I want to be helpful to him now, but he won't allow it and I'm getting real tired of his tirades. His dad doesn't want to have custody, so I feel like I've got to get this under control before he really does some damage to himself or somebody else. Help me.

Monster's Mom

Dear Monster's Mom, Divorce is one of the most traumatic things a kid can go through. Most parents assume, as you and your Ex did, that they don't get hurt as much when they are teens, but some studies indicate that it is actually worse on teens than younger kids. Adults certainly know that it's not easy for them to "get over" a divorce. Trust me, it's not any easier for a kid. Also, parents are so caught up in their own problems, it's often hard to try to respond to our kids' distress signals.

Anyhow, it's most likely that depression is the real problem--hiding behind your son's rebellion. It is pointless to get caught up in his acting out until he can find a safe way to let go of the anger and start dealing with what is really bothering him.

Find a counselor for both of you and start working on re-establishing an open line of communication. I'll bet he has turned his sadness and hurt into anger and aggression directed at everyone and everything. Good luck.

Deadbeat boyfriend departs but herpes legacy lives on

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend (I'll call him Harry) and I broke up recently, so now I'm a single mother of a 3-year-old daughter. Harry gives me no money for our little girl and refuses to help me pay off the bills we accumulated together on my credit cards.

He immediately moved in with the girl he cheated on me with during our relationship. He was unfaithful from the beginning, abusive at times, and was never able to hold a job.

So, why do I feel like I still need him? Harry gave me herpes. That's why. Deep down I feel like no one else will ever want me.

I just don't know what to do anymore. Although Harry moved out months ago, and even though I hate him for what he did to me, I'm still making excuses for him. Please help me. I'm ...

LOST IN NORTH CAROLINA

DEAR LOST: Harry is not the answer to your problems; he's the reason you're in this fix. It's time to rebuild your self-esteem and stop making excuses for a man who wasn't much of a man in the first place.

Since Harry is a deadbeat and the credit cards were yours, face the fact that you'll get no help from him. Focus on your daughter and paying your bills.

As for no one else ever wanting you, that's not necessarily so. An estimated one in five people age 18 and older in this country (approximately 40 million to 50 million) have genital herpes, so you are far from alone.

For a packet of information on herpes, write the Herpes Resource Center, American Social Health Association, Dept. PR96, P.O. 18827, Research Triangle Park, N.C. 27708, enclosing $1 to cover postage and handling. ASHA is a nonprofit organization dedicated to stopping sexually transmitted diseases.

Please write again in six months and let me know how you are. I care.

DEAR ABBY: Here's a funny piece a friend gave me. I hope you like it.

RICHARD J. KOVAR JR., BEREA, OHIO

DEAR RICHARD: It is very funny, and I have printed it several times. I liked it so much I included it in my booklet titled "Keepers." A number of readers request it each year, so here it is again -- enjoy!

OLD FOLK ARE WORTH A FORTUNE

Old folks are worth a fortune: With silver in their hair, gold in their teeth, stones in their kidneys, lead in their feet and gas in their stomachs.

I have become a lot more social with the passing of the years; some might even call me a frivolous old gal. I'm seeing five gentlemen every day.

As soon as I wake, Will Power helps me get out of bed. Then I go see John. Then Charley Horse comes along, and when he is here, he takes a lot of my time and attention. When he leaves, Arthur Ritis shows up and stays the rest of the day. (He doesn't like to stay in one place very long, so he takes me from joint to joint.) After such a busy day, I'm really tired and glad to go to bed -- with Ben Gay. What a life!

P.S. The preacher came to call the other day. He said that at my age, I should be thinking about the hereafter. I told him I do -- all the time. No matter where I am -- in the parlor, upstairs in the kitchen or down in the basement -- I ask myself, "Now, what am I here after?"

To receive a collection of Abby's most memorable -- and most frequently requested -- poems and essays, send a business-class, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $2.95 ($4.95 in Canada) to: Dear Abby's "Keepers," P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, IL 61854-0447. (Postage is included.)

Natural history buffs can tour state parks

Special to the Herald

Naturally, history buffs appreciate a good museum, exhibits and renovations depicting Florida's history. Even better, however, are places where you can stand on the actual site where Florida's only Civil War battle occurred; walk through an authentic cracker homestead, practically smelling the home-made pie from the pie safe; wander through grand mansions, some of the only remaining plantation homes in the state, and touch Civil War relics.

Florida state parks make history so interesting the kids will pay attention, so inexpensive you'll hardly pay anything and so much fun, you'll wonder why you didn't go sooner. For history without the textbook, try out a few of these state parks that capture Florida's living history:

Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings State Historic Park (Cross Creek)--Hidden among acres of orange groves sits the cracker-style farmhouse that was once home to Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings, and inspired her to write the Pulitzer Prize-winning The Yearling.

Gamble Plantation State Historic Site (Ellenton)--One of the finest homes on the southwest coast in its time, constructed with a primitive form of concrete called "tabby"--a mixture of water, shells and limestone--this mansion is the only ante-bellum plantation house surviving in south Florida.

Forest Capital State Museum (Perry)--Learn about the state's timber industry and see how Florida pioneers really lived at this original cracker homestead, featuring a kitchen, corn crib, syrup kettle, smokehouse, cane grinder, barn and other authentic cracker accents.

Korehan State Historic Site (Estero)--This water front pioneer settlement was established to be the "new Jerusalem" in 1894, when Cyrus Teed brought his followers from Chicago to form a new religion, "Korehanity."

Stephen Foster State Folk Culture Center (White Springs)--This memorial to the composer who made the Suwannee River famous is more than just a tribute to Foster's life.

Olahee Battlefield State Historic Site (Olahee)--Florida's largest Civil War battle is reenacted annually in February; it is the second largest reenactment in the nation.

Natural Bridge State Historic Site (Tallahassee)--Near the end of the Civil War, the Battle of Natural Bridge preserved Tallahassee as the only Confederate capitol east of the Mississippi River never to fall into Union hands.

Lake Kissimmee State Park (Lake Wales)--In the heart of south Florida's frontier cattle country, this park features a reconstructed 1876 cow camp and demonstrations.

Hip prosthesis should fit well

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 46-year-old husband recently underwent a hip replacement operation that left him 1-1/2 inches taller on the operated side. His knees are not even. The surgeon, after ordering a lift for his shoe, won't pay any attention to him. Is this discrepancy common after hip surgery?

DEAR READER: No, it isn't. Someone messed up. Ordinarily, orthopedic surgeons make great efforts to match the prosthetic hip to the opposite, normal hip. When performed properly, the surgery should result in two legs that are of equal length. Nothing is perfect, however, and after the surgery, there may be a fraction-of-an-inch discrepancy. An inch and a half is monumental. While your husband can probably learn to compensate for the disparate lengths by using a lift and altering his gait, this surgical complication is likely to result in future hip and back pain.

I suggest that he be examined by an orthopedic superspecialist at a major hospital center. While replacement of the ill-fitting prosthesis may be an option, there may be other alternatives too. In my view, a second opinion is mandatory.

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "An Informed Approach to Surgery." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've developed a soreness and a seepage where my ears are pierced. The reaction invariably occurs with earrings in place, and lessens when they are out. My podiatrist told me it was a yeast condition that would never clear up and gave me salve, which hasn't helped. What do you think?

DEAR READER: I think that your podiatrist should limit his practice to the feet.

Infected ear lobes are a common consequence of ear piercing, because the integrity of the skin is altered and bacteria can enter the holes. In such cases, the lobes can become hot, red and swollen. The situation is aggravated by the presence of earrings, which provide access for the bacteria.

However, there is another possibility. You may be allergic to certain metal alloys, especially those containing nickel. Such alloys are often used in inexpensive earrings, and can cause symptoms identical to those of infection.

Here's what I suggest: Avoid earrings or posts for several weeks, until your lobes look and feel normal. During this period, carefully and thoroughly clean your lobes with alcohol twice a day. Once the skin reaction has disappeared, use only high-quality gold earrings — no cheapies or silver types. If an allergy is to blame, your ears should be fine thereafter. If infection is the culprit, your lobes will again bother you. At that point, you'll have to decide whether or not to forego pierced ears altogether.

DR. GOTT

DEAR DR. GOTT: My two girls, ages 8 and 10, have inverted nipples. Is there a procedure to correct this? Will they be able to nurse their own children?

DEAR READER: Many prepubescent girls have inverted nipples. However, once the children begin to mature, their nipples will enlarge and assume the normal configuration under the effect of female hormones. In some instances, the nipples remain inverted; however, when the women later become pregnant, the surge of hormones usually corrects the inversion, making breast-feeding easy. Don't consider a surgical procedure at this time. During the next few years, your daughters' breasts should develop normally.

Not only the domain of declarer

By Phillip Alder

In the last two days, I have shown you a brace of beautiful deception plays by declarer. Well, a defender can also pull the wool over declarer's eyes. Here is French world champion Michel Perron playing against Italy in Tunisia last October.

In the other room, the Italian East opened with a weak two-bid. Neither North nor South had quite enough to bid, so two hearts became the final contract. With the aid of some friendly defense, declarer emerged with six tricks: 100 to France.

Perron is a believer in the sound approach. Needing a better suit for a weak two, he passed as dealer. Norbert Bocchi, South, opened with a weak no-trump, showing 12-14 points.

In leaping straight to game, Giorgio Duboin, North, hoped his club suit would be useful.

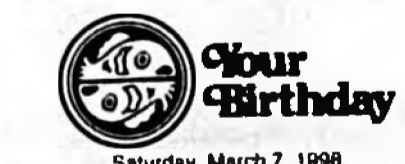

Paul Chemia (West) might have started with the diamond four, but he preferred to lead from his club sequence, selecting the queen as per his partnership's agreement. Declarer won with the ace and returned his second club. What should Perron discard?

Well, you or I would throw a low heart without more thought. That's why we weren't playing in the world championship. Perron flicked the spade eight onto the table!

West switched to a diamond, South taking East's nine with his jack. Now declarer had to find the spade queen. Remembering Perron's discard, Bocchi led a low spade to dummy's jack. However, Perron produced the queen as if out of his back pocket. Then the defenders cashed four diamonds and a club for three down: 150 to France.

HOROSCOPE

Saturday, March 7, 1998

Conditions indigenous to your status and finances could show marked improvements in the year ahead. When opportunity knocks, be there to usher in him or her.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Endeavors you personally direct today will be the ones with the strongest probabilities for success. However, you must keep control over all the aspects. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2.75 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) The race does not necessarily go to the swift, but to the determined today, so staying power is the major requirement. Select your objectives and follow your focus.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Open the windows today and let in the fresh air. If you harbor anger or resentment, they will work against your best interests, while forgiveness removes impediments from your path.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your four-leaf clover will be working for your benefit where your worldly affairs are concerned today, but you might not be as lucky in situations where friends are involved. Do not take pals for granted.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you view life philosophically today, it will enhance your victories and take the sting out of failure. Both will be operating on the same level.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Things should work out reasonably well for you today where your worldly interests are concerned. You may not get everything you want, but you'll do OK.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Today, if you're seeking a joint involvement, do it with friends with whom you've been successful previously instead of with people who are yet to be tested.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A vain acquaintance might cling to your coattails today and try to claim credit for your achievements. If he or she isn't entitled, brush the person off.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You will be both resourceful and imaginative today, but your negative thoughts could overpower your bright ideas if you're not careful and steal some of their luster.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Impatience could be your least attractive trait today and weaken your position of entice you to make impractical moves. Focus on your strengths, not on your weaknesses.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you're negotiating a matter of importance today, do it in the fairest manner possible, even if it is with a person you dislike. You could be in for a surprise.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Financial conditions in general look favorable for you today. Do not let doubts cast a pall over your opportunities and probabilities.
