SANFORD — A proposal to move the courthouse facilities from downtown Sanford to Five Points failed to gain support Tuesday when Seminole County commissioners voted four to one against R.

Only commission Chairman Randy Morris balked at the decision. Morris indicated the studies undertaken regarding the move still did not show the true picture of the impact of keeping Both Keith Reeves of Architects Design Group (ADG), and Brace Andersen of Andersen and Associates were on hand during the morning's commission work session to respond to questions regarding their findings. Andersen had conducted the mitial study on moving the facility. The commission then decided to call for a second study, which was undertaken by ADG.

Both of the studies indicated the facility would be better for Sanford's development potential and economy, and the financial picture todicated it would be less costly, although only slightly, to have the facility remain downtown

Reeves told the commission, "As we look at these two sites, we will admit the city has vested interests, but in looking at the financial considcration, and the benefits to the larger picture, the matter became a wash."

He continued. "But our findings shows that the downtown area offered better potential, especially in the reuse of the existing downtown huilding (courthouse), you would be better off financially. See Courthouse, Page 5A

SANFORD — Though he has been cleated by an internal investigation by an independent agency, some Altican Americans in Sanford are still convinced that Ofc. Robert Unitin used excessive force during the arrest of Katura Campbell on Sept. 18

On Thesday, the Altamonte Springs Police Department's Protessional Standard's Division Issued a oport clearing Curtin of any wrongdoing in the arrest during a domestic dispute.

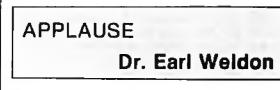

After the Sanford Police Department requested the impartial probe, Altanomic police determined the evidence they found did not show that Curtin had slammed Campbell into the ground while attempting to subdue her, as she had claimed. They found, rather, that Campbell and Curtin had tripped off a low curb during the sculle and that he had fallen on top of her.

SANFORD — The beauty and charm of two of Sanford's most memorable landmarks have been preserved for posterity in watercolor for art collectors nationwide.

The Magnolia Mall clock, a landmark in the downtown business district since the early part of this century, and the Higgins House Bed and Breakfast, have been captured on paper by Titusville artists Jane Vaught and Diane Keith Weaver. A limited supply of numbered prints have been produced by Gilbert Scenes and they will be available for the first time at a reception and artists' signing at the Higgins House on Oak Avenue on Sunday from 4 to 6 p.m.

Beginning next week, they will be available at both Arts and Ends on First Street and at the Higgins House. Prices range from $18,50 to $35.

The Sanford secues are part of the third series of prints produced by Gilbert Scenes to promote both Florida artists and Florida landmarks to art collectors Sce Art, Page 5A arrest report and the internal investigation. LAKE MARY – Hospital Road will be a new access road from Lake Mary Boulevard to the north side of the Seminole Community College campus. Officials have determined it's necessary in order to alleviate some of the traffic problems at the two other access roads.

The exact location of the proposed new Hospital Road however, has become a point of concern. Presently, the area is near a power line right of way, but has not been used as a roadway for several dreades.

Most seriously affected by the location of the road, would be citizens of the Cardinal Oaks Cove subdivision, located to the east of the proposed roadway.

In order to determine the exact location which would have the least effect on the enizens, a Blue Ribbon Unizen's Committee was formed. The committee contains entizens as well as officials from the college. City of Lake Mary, Sanford, and others. Three proposed routes have been

Slaying suspect enters no plea

RICHMOND, Ky. - A drifter suspected of killing at least four women refused to enter a plea at his jailhouse arraignment and was ordered held without bond.

In a 10-minute hearing Tuesday conducted via closed-circuit television for security reasons, Glen Rogers also refused to waive extradition rights and invoked his right to remain silent.

'Once he's made that assertion, nobody can talk to him ... unless he initiates it. This time I don't believe he is going to initiate it," said Rogers' court-appointed lawyer, Ernie Lewis.

Madison District Court Judge William G. Clouse set extradition and preliminary hearings for Tuesday. Rogers also was placed on a suicide watch, standard in such cases. Rogers, 33, who is from Hamilton, Ohio, led police on a high-speed chase over 15 miles Monday, after police got a tip — reportedly from his cousin — that he was in the area. Police cars eventually forced him off the highway near rural Waco and into a field, where he crashed and was arrested.

Rogers was charged with endangerment stemming from the chase, being a fugitive from justice and receiving stolen property - the car he drove that authorities believe belonged to one of the victims, 34-year-old Tina Marie Cribbs of Gibsonton, Fla. Her body was found in a Tampa motel room rented by Rogers.

He is suspected of stabbing or strangling at least three other women in California, Louisiana and Mississippi in the past two months.

Computer chip thieves strike Gainesville

GAINESVILLE, Fla. - Computer central processing units and memory chips in computers have been the targets of knowledgeable thieves in Gainesville and Alachua County in the past few weeks.

Thefts have been reported at engineering and architecture firms, the University of Florida, Santa Fe Community College. the U.S. Department of Agriculture and even the offices of state Sen. George Kirkpatrick, officials said.

Law enforcement officials note the small computer brains, the key component that lets a computer process and store information, can range in from $400 to $1,000 in value. depending on the memory capacity and speed.

High-performance disk drives and microprocessors also have been stolen.

"That's the hottest thing going." Kathleen Evans, president of Computer Source, a Jacksonville computer company, said Tuesday. "It is a hot item, stealing and reselling."

In some parts of the country, she said, armed robbers have actually held up computer manufacturers and suppliers to get the chips.

The largest theft in Gainesville apparently came over the weekend, when 90 computers at the Santa Fe Community College computer lab were hit.

"It was a state-of-the-art lab. The computers were brand new," said Dan McKinnon, dean of technology and applied sciences at the school. "They knew what they were doing. There's no doubt in my mind that this was professionally done.'

The loss is estimated at $120,000 and has left SFCC students nearly computeriess just as course-work crunch time approaches, McKinnon said.

SFCC Police Chief Tony Bialock said a lab door was forced open with a pry bar. Only the central processing unit chips were stolen. 1 4 8 VEILA W

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE Bad schools to get planning money

By JACKIE MALLIFAX Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE - The 161 Florida schools labeled as "critically low performing" last month will be able to apply for grants of up to $30,000 in a few days and will get the money in the next few weeks, Education Commissioner Frank Brogan told state lawmakers.

"We're now about the business of serious accountability," Brogan told the House Education Committee Tuesday.

His department came up with the criteria. based on test scores, to compile the worst of Florida's 2,400 schools.

Those criteria will go before Gov. Lawton Chiles and the Cabinet for approval at the end of the month.

Under the rule, the schools on the list will get help from the state for the next three years. One of the first actions the state will take is divvying up $4 million in federal grant money among the 161 schools.

Brogan told the committee that the rule "just didn't fall out of the sky."

Five years ago, lawmakers passed an education reform law designed to get the state out of the business of micromanaging classrooms.

In exchange for the new flexibility, the la said local school officials would be he responsible for how well they taugh Florida's children.

Another provision of that law, which h come to be known as Blueprint 2000, as the state should identify troubled school and give them extra help for three years. nothing works, the law directs the state "take action."

After three years, most schools will eith be off the list, thanks to rising scores, or w show significant improvement although they still qualify for the list, Brogan said.

FORT PIERCE, Fia. - A feud between two hospital pathologists escalated into a plot by one of them to kill the other -- using a hit man, a voodoo curse, a car bomb or pistol.

Those are the allegations made in a $1 million damage suit filed by Dr. Leonard Walker against Dr. John Minarcik. Walker said he was the intended target of a vendetta by Minarcik. None of the plans was carried out, although Walker said he

The allegations stem from a dispute between the two physicians over fees for tests they conducted at the hospital. Minarcik filed suit against Walker in 1993 claiming he had

Man shot

Sanford police are investigating a shooting Tuesday, in the 1000 block of Pecan Avenue in Sanford. According to the incident report, three men were walking in that area, when they said a vehicle with possibly four persons in it, pulled up and stopped.

Police said one man reportedly got out of the vehicle, pointed a small caliber handgun at the three and said, "give it up." According to the report, one of the men told the gun-holding robber, "Well, just go ahead and shoot me."

The man reportedly acknowledged and fired one shot into the man's abdomen, after which he got back in the car and drove off.

The man who was shot was subsequently transported to Orlando Regional Medical Center. Police said he was unable to talk to them at the scene, and are waiting for him to recover sufficiently to discuss the situation.

Police said the other two men who were present during the shooting refused to fill out any statements regarding the situation.

Harassing calls

Sheriff's deputies arrested Robbie Spivey, 34, of 1200 W. 22nd Street, Sanford, at his residence Monday, in connection with a number of cases. When deputies arrived at his residence searching for him, they reported Spivey came out with a large kitchen knife in one hand and a broomstick in the other. After subduing him, he was arrested on a charge of improper exhibit of a dangerous weapon. Spivey was also found to be wanted on two warrants for failing to appear on charges of obstructing an officer without violence, and one for dealing in stolen property.

Deputies also connected him with a series of phone calls to an ex-girifriend's home elsewhere in Sanford. Following complaints about repeated calls from Spivey, a deputy went to the woman's home and answered some of the calls. He reported that the caller threatened the woman as well as the deputy. A caller ID list indicated a total of 27 phone calls had been made to the residence from a street address listed as Bolvey's.

In connection with that situation. Spivey has been charged with harassing communications, and corruption by threat against a public servant.

As the flap over Gov. Lawton Chiles' campaign calls to elderly voters illustrates, Billings added, "Obviously campaigners target them."

An AARP panel has slated meetings for seniors Thursday in Clearwater, Friday in Orlando and Sunday in Deerfield Beach.

AARP volunteers will also open a hospitality suite at Saturday's straw ballot in Orlando where Florida Republicans test the strength of GOP presidential hopefuls. Though the group doesn't

"The AARP is always a powerful force," state Republican Party spokesman Cory Tilley said, though he pointed out, "A lot of groups are putting pre-ssure on these campaigns." GOP hopefuls Bob Dole, Phil

Gramm and Lamar Alexander all say trimming $270 billion over seven years from Medicare growth - national health insurance for the elderly - is necessary to balance the budget.

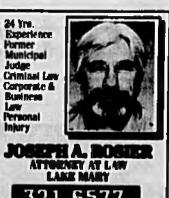

Contender Patrick Buchanan doesn't consider that necessary. But all four agree some kind of change is needed to keep Medicare from going broke. All support reining in spend-

Rest in peace

The majority of the Seminole County Commission voted yesterday to allow the county courthouse facilities to remain in the downtown Sanford area, rather than be moved to Five Points.

Commission Chairman Randy Morris was the long negative vote. During the past few months, Morris has called for more and more study on the proposal, but admits that he is still not satisfied with the results.

The taxpayers have already paid for two extensive studies however, just to prove no change should be made. Hopefully, Morris won't demand more studies in order to prove his point that the facility should be moved to Five Points.

No doubt, there will be more study expenses in the future, but it should be expected. This will be a massive project of redesigning the present court facility, adding additional space, parking garages, and developing other facility work.

Unless there is a failure on the part of the county or City of Sanford to reach a joint concensus on the hows, whats, wherea and expenses of this courthouse improvement project, we believe the entire matter is now beginning to head toward what may be best for all concerned.

In this manner, we hope the other entities which have been holding off on work awaiting a decision on the move, will now be able to delve headlong into their planned projects. Just look at what has been standing in the wings waiting to perform.

We cite the plans along the waterfront proposed by the Waterfront Master Plan Study Committee, downtown improvements suggested by Sanford Main Street, the building expansion project including a new parking, garage planned by SunTrust bank, the creation of Festival Shopping Center including and surrounding the Marina Hotel on the lakefront, and the proposal for a large readential area to the anuthwast of the residential area to the southwest of the French Avenue and Seminole Boulevard intersection.

Nation's inmates need a reality check

In the wake of 10 recent prison disturbances around the country, federal officials are looking for explanations. At a recent press conference, Deputy Attorney General Jamie Gorelick offered several half-baked theories.

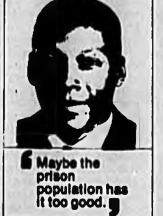

It's time for the nation's inmate population to get a reality check. And the way to give it to them is for federal and state lawmakers to adopt corrections reforms, regardless of whether the inmate population likes it, no matter if they're watching on C-SPAN. The following reforms would enjoy wide support among the law-abiding noninmate population:

.. Curb inmate lawsuits. Jailhouse lawyers are filing suits like they're go-ing out of style. Indeed, a staggering 53,312 made it onto federal court docketa

That's because most are frivolous. Like the California inmate who sued prison officials because they gave him a broken cookie. Or the Oklahoma inmate who sued because he was forced to listen to country music. Or the New York prisoner who sued because he didn't like his haircut.

These suits may seem amusing, but they cost federal and state taxpayers hundreds of millions of dollars a year to defend. And at least some federal lawmakers are ready to rein in jailhouse lawyers.

They are pushing a bill (modeled after an Arizona law) which, among other things, would require that inmates exhaust administrative appeals before taking their claims to court, impose stricter limits on fees that prisoners' rights lawyers can collect (from the taxpayers, of course) when representing inmates, and take away good-behavior credit from inmates who file frivolous sults.

- No profits from crime. One of the sad commentaries on our popular culture is that even the most helnous criminals - like Jeffrey Dahmer, John Wayne Gacy and Charles Manson -- become celebrity figures. As such they become marketable commodities.

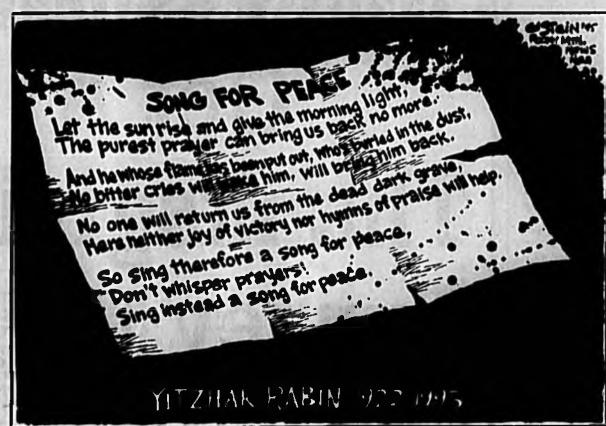

For instance, an all-too-trendy boutique in San Francisco actually had the perversity to sell a line of "Mansonwear." It featured the murderer's likeness on hats, dresses, leggings, jackets, shirts and even children's wear.

And the sickest thing of all is that the cold-blooded killer responsible for the stabbing deaths of actress Sharon Tate and her unborn baby actually reaped a percentage of the sales.

- No government benefits while in jail. If it were not bad enough that drug addicts and alcoholics are eligible for federal disability benefits (under the Supplemental Security Income program), many continue to receive a government check even when they're locked up in county jails around the country.

- Government liability for escapees. If an inmate escapes from prison and commits a crime against an innocent citizen, the victim has no recourse. That's because prison officials may not be held responsible, even if their negligence allowed the escape.

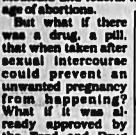

The family of Faye Lamb Vann, a 44-year-old Florida woman, discovered this recently when the Florida Supreme Court callously set aside a $150,000 settlement the family had negotiated with the state. The state justices unanimously ruled that prisons have no special duty to citizens to protect them "from the criminal acts of an escaped prisoner."

SARA ECKEL Contraception a secret?

What if there was a way to cut the nation's abortion rate in half? Would our state and federal leaders be interested? Would right-to-life groups rally in support? Our leaders have certainly been quick to put up hurdles that reduce the number of abortions performed in this country. They've enacted legal hurdles such as parentalconsent and waiting-period laws. And they've put up financial barriers, such as bans on Medicaid and federal health-insurance cover-

While actual work on studying the courthouse move has only been underway since May of this year, the concept has been kicked around for over three years.

Now, with the vote by the County Com-mission, we hope this bickering can end. Lets get on with growth and development for the future, and leave what has proven to be a futile attempt to move the courthouse out of downtown Sanford to rest in peace and never again be brought to life.

LETTER

Net ban

After many fruitiess years of appealing to the Governor and Cabinet for reasonable fishery policies. 72 percent of the electorate mandated an extreme change by passing the net ban constitu-tional Amendment: it is now Florida law.

But it appears that our governor won't give up the career-long support of his commercial net-fishing buddles. Lawton "HeCoon" Chiles has taken every occasion to create new obstacles to enforcing the amendment, his latest gimmick being a move to allow shrimp seiners to use their nets to catch finfish-a loophole in the amendment that Chiles is using to give his netting friends "some slack."

As governor, he is obliged to follow the spirit and letter of the law rather than find ways to circumvent it. His actions are in direct opposition of the voters' mandate and have made him a candidate for an impeachment drive by the grassroots organizations that pushed the net ban. He won his post with a paper thin 51 percent margin; the huge 72 percent margin of the net ban should be enough votes for such an impeachment.

We must let Governor Chiles and the Cabinet know that our demands for healthy fishery resources are sincere. Their continuous irrational support of commercial netters flies in the face of every voter concerned about our irreplaceable fishery and the legacy we leave future generations.

Our lame duck Governor may not be concerned about his political future but the Cabinet members should be concerned about theirs.

Enforce the law Governor Chiles and cabinet members, or face the political consequences. Herb Myles

MORTON KONDRACKE

Pro-lifers block Mid East aid

Congress ought to honor the memory of the martyred Yitshak Rabin by enacting foreign aid legislation to advance the Middle East peace process, but the way is blocked by sealots of the U.S. anti-abortion movement.

Meantime, congressional Republicans are complaining that the Clinton White House did little to break the foreign aid deadlock by choosing a lopsidedly Democratic delegation to attend Rabin's funeral in Jerusalem.

House Speaker Newt Gingrich's, R-Ga., spokesman, Tony Blankley, noted that the balance of House members in the delegation was 17 Democrats to 5 Republicans, with Gingrich the only GOP leader invited, and that the Senate delegation consisted of 12 Demo-crata and 5 Republicana.

"if they (Clinton aides) gave any thought to

"If they (Clinton aides) gave any thought to having some effect on legislation, clearly they chose the wrong party." Blankley said. The facel 1995 foreign aid appropriation, containing funds for israel and its neighbors, has passed both houses and 99 percent of House-Benate differences have been resolved, but final passage is hung up - perhaps hopeleasly - by a disagreement on abortion. As part of an aggressive pro-life compaign that is delaying several appropriations bills, the House is insisting on language banning U.B. aid to any international organization that funds abortions or lobbies foreign governments funds abortions or lobbies foreign governments on abortion policy. The Senate refuses to go along, and President Clinton has said he will veto the House provision. As a result, the U.S. government can't do what most Americans surely would like to in what most Americans surely would use to in the aftermath of the assassination of Israel's heroic prime minister by a Jewish extremist: assist those willing to enlist in the peace process that Rabin died for. The foreign aid bill contains 03 billion for israel, 02.1 billion for Egypt, 0100 million for the Palestine Liberation Organization, and 025

The aid bill also contains an 18-month stension of the Middle East Peace Facilitation Act. which permits U.S.-PLO contacts, allows the PLO to maintain an office in Washington, and authorizes aid contingent on PLO fulfillment of its peace promises. Their funds would have to be provided under a foreign aid appropriation or, if none can be agreed upon, under a later continuing resolution covering the remainder of the flacal year.

However, the leader of anti-abortion forces in the House, Rep. Chris Smith, R-N.J., vows to insist on anti-abortion language in the CR, too, threatening the en-tire $12.1 billion foreign aid program.

Gingrich has assigned House Majority Leader Dick Armey, R-Texas, to mediate between pro-life and prochoice forces to reach compromises to permit passage of several hung-up ap-propriations bills. An agreement on the stymied defense ap-Administration? What if it was presently sitting in the medicine cabinets and dresser drawers of millions of women across the United States?

Such a medication exists. It is the birth-control pill, and its effectiveness as postcoital contraception has been called this country's best-kept secret. Here's how it works. If a woman has unprotected sex or if her birth control fails her -- say the condom broke or her diaphragm slipped - she has about a 72-hour period in which and can prevent conception from occurring. Conception. as defined by the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, is the point at which the fertilised egg is implanted in the uterine lining - not when the egg and sperm meet, as popularly believed. Researchers believe that high doses of certain oral contraceptives disrupt a woman's hormonal patterns, thereby either preventing fertilization altogether or stopping the fertilized egg from implanting in the uterine lining, thus preventing a pregthe uterine tining, thus preventing a preg-nancy. This is not to be confused with RU-486, the French "morning after" pill. RU-486, also know as milepristone, has not been approved by the FDA and, unlike postcoital contracep-tion, induces abortion, as it is generally used four to aix weeks after conception. This information is not new. Emergency contraceptives, as they are also called, were discovered meetly 20 years ato and have been discovered nearly 20 years ago and have been maristied in many European countries for the past 10 years.

It's safe, it's effective, and it's not abortion. It could nave American women untold trauma and grief. Bo why is it so little known?

and grief. Be why is it so little known? For one thing, the makers of the drugs that are effective in postcoltal contraception have not tried to get FDA approval for this particular use. The pills in question - Ovral, Lo/Orval, Nordstie, Triphasti, Levien and Tri-Levien - are all approved by the FDA as oral contraceptives but not as emergency contraceptives. There is little incentive for the makers of these drugs to get this approval, as it could cost tens of millions of dollars and would reap little financial reward, since drugs used on a one-time basis aren't very used on a one-time basis aren't very profitable. The companies - Wyeth-Ayerst Laboratories and Burlex Laboratories - also risk having their other products boycotted by right-to-lifers who insist that this is abortion.

A year ago, three prominent health organi-zations -- The American Public Health Association, the American Medical Women's Association and Planned Parenthood of New York City - went to Washington with a modest proposal. They petitioned the FDA to require relabeling of these pills, so that American women could get the information they deserve about these medications. The FDA has yet to take any decisive action on this matter.

Courthouse

Continued from Page 1A Andersen observed, "As we found in our study. the Five Points area will continue to grow even without the court facility." Regarding having the building of such size in downtown Sanford, he projected that it would much better serve the city in its present location.

Reeves also discussed a commitment on behalf of the City of Sanford to pay roughly half the cost of the needed downtown parking garage, which could amount to $3.5 million, and also that the city might be willing to donate property for the garage.

In turn, each of the members of the commission responded to the findings of the two studies. Commissioner Daryl McLain, who originally supported the move to Five Points, commented "With conversations we have had with the city of Sanford, and Sanford willing to work with us on this, I'm happy with the progress we have made through these studies." McLain indicated he would support the Andings.

'I agree," said Commissioner Dick Van Der Weide. "Based on the city's agreement, I believe it's best to keep the facility downtown."

Commissioner Win Adams said he was pleased that the studies had finally ended. "I concur with the decision," he said. "Now it's time for us to fish or cut beit."

Commissioner Pat Warren said she appreciated the work done by Andersen and Reeves and indicated she supported their findings.

Chairman Randy Morris however, acknowl edged that he would be the jone dimenter. "I do not agree with this," he said. "The studies don't show the true impact. Some questions were never asked, such as, might we look at other sites than just these two? I also believe they didn't look at how government operates. They are only looking at the courthouse, and not a time/motion study."

Morris added that the study was misleading in that it focused on a new building to be built rather than expansion of the present building. Adams however, said after what he considered three years of discussion on the issue, it was time the commission sent a message to the citizens that the county wants the facility in downtown Sanford.

Van Der Weide agreed. "Let's make a decision so everyone knows what's going on and other entities such as the Lakefront Development and Sanford Main Street can get on with their plans." "After three years," McLain said, "let's make a decision. We are not committing to what we build here, but where it will be built." A relatively large audience was on hand to hear the discussion, including Sanford Mayor Bettye

Smith, City Manager Bill Simmons, and Director of Planning and Development Jay Marder, who is the city's liaison to the Waterfront Masterplan Development Committee. Smith and Simmons were asked if they wished to speak.

"The study, as a whole, fairly addresses the needs of keeping the court facilities downtown," Simmons said, "but the city commission hasn't actually enacted a resolution, we have only indicated a willingness to participate." Simmons suggested the parking lot, rather than being financed by the city and/or county, might be better built by securing an entrepreneur or developer who may wish to privatize the construction.

Simmons also suggested four steps which he recommended be pursued: adopt a site for the buildings, enter into staff negotiations, develop plans, and have the city included in the decision process regarding the building, to insure that it will be beneficial to the downtown area and plans of the Waterfront Committee and Community Redevelopment Agency.

Van Der Weide responsed that while the concept had his support and he was ready to move forward, "if the city is now going to shift the sands, perhaps this whole matter ought to be re-examined. Maybe Banford now wants to take a different approach."

Simmons answered that he didn't see this as a shift in plans.

At the conclusion of the work session on the subject, Mayor Smith observed, "I think this is an exciting time for these two entities. It is very encouraging. Todether, we can do great things for the benefit of all the taxpayers."

Later in the day, during the afternoon formal county commission meeting, when the matter was brought up for an official vote, the recommendations suggested by Simmons had been incorporated into the wording.

The final vote on the matter matched the concensus during the work shop, with only Morris voting against the proposal.

President, Congress remain dug in

By DAYE OKID Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON - Hundreds of thousands of government workers got another day off today as President Clinton and the Republican Congress, after futile private discussions and bitter public recriminations. remained at odds over budget priorities.

And chances were alim that the partial government shut-down that began Tuesday would end soon.

"It is my solemn responsibility to stand against a budget plan that is bad for America and ... that is exactly what I intend to do," Clinton vowed between two Capitol Hill negotiating sessions that left both sides firmly entrenched.

His lead negotiator, White House Chief of Staff Leon Panetta, warned after the second meeting with the House and Senate Budget Committee chairmen that the shutdown could stretch past Friday.

That's when Republicans hope to send Clinton a massive bill bringing the budget to balance by 2002, wringing $270 billion in savings from Medicare over seven years and cutting taxes for families and businesses.

After more than two weeks of House-Senate negotiations, Republicans were racing to resolve remaining differences over school lunches, the federal dairy program and other issues.

The likelihood right now is that they want to proceed with a onuon broose uno fittali anno il vice accondirouno (in shutdown until they have completed work on their budget. That's unfortunate. It makes no sense to the American people," Panetta said.

The immediate negotiations were centered on legislation temporarily extending the gov-ernment's spending and bor-rowing authority past Thanka-giving, perhaps long enough for a deal to be struck with the administration on the long-term bill.

The administration complains that the temporary measures vetoed by Clinton on Monday would have had the effect of committing him in advance to the Republican budget, includ-ing its proposed $7-a-month increase in Medicare premiums.

Republicans insisted Clinton must promise to balance the budget in seven years, using economic and technical assumptions favored by the Congressional Budget Office rather than the White House budget office.

No further meetings were scheduled, but both sides said their staffs would stay in touch, searching for some accommodation. House Budget Committee Chairman John Kasich, R-Ohio, suggested Republicans would be willing to at least examine Clinton's complaint that their budget was based on toopessimistic economic assump-tions, requiring deeper-thannecessary cuts.

Later Tuesday evening, a glimmer of hope emerged that the terms of the shutdown could be eased even if the two sides remained apart.

House Speaker Newt Gingrich, R-Ga., said legislation may begin moving "in the next day or two" to reopen veterans offices, pessport offices and Social Security offices so new applications could be taken.

Gingrich said Republicans would send a transportation spending bill to the president today, with an Interior Department appropriations bill -reopening national parks - to follow by the end of the week.

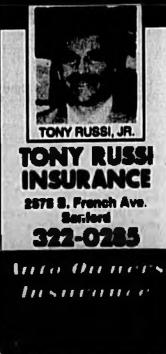

On Tuesday, some 800,000 of were sent home after reporting to work in the morning. Air traffic controllers, military per-sonnel, prison guards and others protecting public health and safety kept working. Employees of the Agriculture and Energy departments remained on the job because regular appropriations bills for those parts of government have been enacted. Social Security and Medicare checks were processed and the fiscally in-dependent Postal Service continued to deliver mail.

In the capital, thousands of noncesential workers drove home in a cold, steady rain. The Smitheonian's museums closed their doors. Clinton furloughed some butiers and press aides at the White House. And GOP senators munched on carryout pizza at a policy luncheon because Senate restaurant workers were sent home.

The American Federation of Government Employees filed a involution's definition of essential workers and its authority to require them to work without knowing when they would be paid. A federal judge scheduled a hearing for Thursday.

SANFORD - Dana Merrick scored 25 points Tuesday to lead Seminole past Lake Howell 68-58 in the second round of the Lady 'Noles Invitational Tournament at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium.

Mindee Hampton added 16 points to help the Tribe to the victory.

"Dana and Mindee have played well the last two nights," said Seminole coach John McNamara. 'We're a young team, and its still very early in the season. We don't know what to expect. We had some pretty good spots, but we also had some bad spots. When we needed a basket, we got it."

The victory was the second straight in the regular season for the Tribe, but it was actually the fourth without a loss, including the second time they have beaten the Silver Hawks already. The Sanford squad also won a pair of games in the Lake Howell Tipoff Classic over the weekend. Lake Howell is now 1-1 on the young season. Seminole took an early 4-0 lead before Lake Howell trimmed the margin to 4-3. The Tribe then took advantage of 10 Silver Hawks' turnovers for a 25-3 lead. Hampton. Merrick and Shemieka Stokes each scored six points in the first quarter to pace Seminole to the advantage. but Lake Howell managed to pull within 25-7 by the end of the period.

'We got too far down too early.' said Lake Howell coach Dennis Codrey, "Seminole is good. They excecuted and shot the ball well."

Seminole had a 31-7 lead with 5:55 before halftime, but Lake Howell closed the gap to 38-19 by halftime. Allison Duncan scored two three point goals to help keep the Silver Hawks in the game. Duncan finished with six three-point goals. Lake Howell cut the lead to 42-26 with 4:23 left in the third quarter. and managed to trim the deficit to 44-32 with 3:30 left in the period. Panthers win seventh straight

MIAMI - The Florida Panthers extended their franchise-record winning streak to seven with a 5-2 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs Tuesday night as Rob Niedermayer's goal capped a furious third-period rally.

Niedermayer knocked in the game-winner with 14 minutes left. Florida trailed 2-1 after two periods, then scored three goals within 101/2 minutes to win the game.

At 14-4-0, the Panthers have the best record in the NHL and have won five straight games at home. The third-period comeback was the second for Florida in less than a week.

Lightning break streak

ST. PETERSBURG - Alexander Selivanov had two goals and an assist as the Tampa Bay Lightning snapped a four-game losing streak with a 5-3 victory over the Boston Bruins.

The red-hot Selivanov has seven goals and 11 points in his last 10 games. The goals were his ninth and 10th of the season.

Dolphins lose Gray

DAVIE - Miami Dolphins guard Chris Gray will require surgery on his left ankle and is expected to miss the rest of the season.

The surgery to repair ligament damage is scheduled for Friday in Gainesville.

Hurricanes hoopsters ink three

CORAL GABLES - The University of Miami have signed three of its basketball prospects.

Kenny Davis, of Malcolm X Junior College, will be eligible to play in December. Lucas Barnes of South Miami High School, and Jermaine Walker of Ely High School in Broward County plan to enter in the Fall of 1996.

Davis, a point guard, earned third-team JUCO All-America honors last season. He averaged 22 points and 7.5 assists.

Barnes, also a guard, was the leading scorer in Dade County last year with a 33-point average. Walker, a forward, averaged 18.5 points, 11.1 rébounds and 4.8 assists.

Hot hitting warms play at Chase

From Staff Reports

SANFORD - The temperature may have been cold, but the bats were hot as Bottoms Up Pub/Playtime Darts moved closer to title in the Sanford Recreation Department Men's Tuesday Night Fall Slowpitch Softball League at Chase Park.

Bottoms Up Pub/Playtime Darts scored 11 runs in the top of the first inning, but found itself down 14-13 to M.T. Muggs after three innings. The league leaders rebounded to win the last four innings 16-4, however, and came away with a 29-18 victory in the game that featured 50 hits, 10 for extra bases.

Bottoms Up Pub/Playtime Darts then got a win the easy way, as Zoo Crew II failed to field a team and forfeited the game 7-0.

In the other game, Whelehel & Howard raced to a 17-0 lead alter the top of the third inning, but had to hold on for an 18-15 triumph over

Hardaway goes on offensive as Magic hand Bulls first loss

AP Sports Writer

ORLANDO - The only assist Anfernee Hardaway gave the Orlando Magic was 36 points.

The All-Star point guard upstaged Michael Jordan on Tuesday night, completely abandoning his usual role of making sure his teammates are involved in the offense. Hardaway hit 12 of 18 shots in a 94-88 victory over the Chicago Bulls.

Hardaway secred 32 or more for the third time in four games, flourishing as the Magic's go-to man in the absence of injured All-Star center Shaquille O'Neal.

The third-year pro averaged 7.3 assists per game in Orlando's first six games, but didn't have any against the Bulls.

This is a huge win." Hardaway said after the highly anticipated early-acason matchup of the top two contenders for the Eastern Conference championship that Orlando won last season.

"You figured the Bulls would be coming in here, looking for a little redemption from last year's playoffs, and get a victory since we were without Shaq. It says a lot for this team that we can play without him."

Hardaway hit a clutch 3-pointer with just over a minute to go and Nick Anderson made four free throws down the stretch Tuesday night to help the Magic hold off the NBA's last unbeaten team.

Jordan sparked Chicago's comeback from a 10-point, fourth-quarter deficit but missed his last two shots to finish with 23 points - nine below his league-leading average. Beottie Pippen had 17 points and Toni Kukoe added 16 for the Bulls, who made several costly mistakes in the closing minutes. Kukoc's turnover on an inbounds pass with Orlando leading by five with 6.4 seconds left assured defeat.

"We would get ourselves right to the hump. but we couldn't get ourselves quite over the hump." Jordan said. "Every time we seemed to have control of the game, we'd turn the ball over or they'd get an offensive rebound or hit a big 3."

Jordan played with the index finger on his shooting hand bandaged but said it was not a factor in his performance, which included a five-point second half.

"I'm not here to make any excuses." he said after making 8-of-20 shots and contributing seven rebounds and six assists. Dennis Scott's three-point play snapped an 83-83 tie with 1:45 to go. Hardsway's fourth 3-pointer made it 89-83, while Anderson, who had 16 points, made 4-of-8 free throws in the final minute.

Orlando improved the best start in its sevenyear history to 6-1, despite missing O'Neal, who is out until late December with a broken right thumb. Hardaway is averaging 27 points in his abacnoe.

"They've got so much versatility. They've expanded their roles a lot - from Nick Anderson to Hardaway to Scott." said Jordan.

"When the big guy is in there, they seem to have to go in there and then have to get (the ball) back out and the defense has a chance to set up. Here, they isolate you and use their ability quite a bit, which puts pressure on the defense."

Chicago, which had won its first five games for the first time in club history, played without Dennis Rodman, who was put on the injured list Tuesday with a strained call.

Hardaway, matched up against Jordan on offense but not on the defensive end, outscored him 14-10 in the opening quarter. But the Bulls built a 29-16 lend before Hardaway, who had 17 of his team's first 22 points, began to get much help from his teammates.

Orlando wiped out most of the 13-point deficit with a 14-2 spurt, then tied the game at 45 on Scott's with 31 seconds left in the half. Jordan countered with his third 3-pointer for Chicago's 48-45 halftime lead.

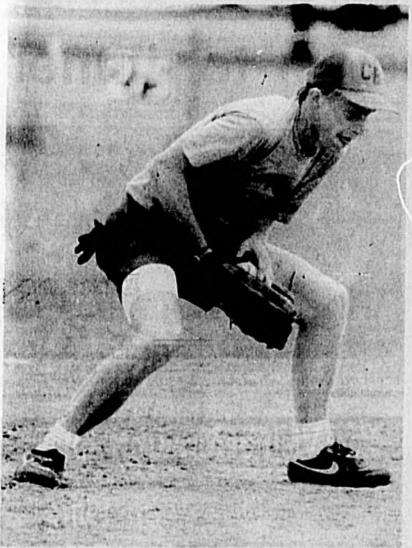

A pair of free throws by Hardaway gave the Magic their first lead of the game just over two minutes into the third quarter, but neither team asserted itself offensively until Orlando made a push in the last 2:29 of the period.

Two free throws by Brian Shaw anapped a 57-57 tie and Hardaway made a difficult abot on the baseline and banked in a 3-pointer over Pippen to put the Magic up 68-62 going into the fourth quarter.

Chicago, meanwhile, missed 15 of 18 shots in the third period and got just one point from Jordan (0-for-3 from the field) on a technical free throw. The Bulls were outscored 23-14 in the quarter and fell behind 81-71 before methodically climbing back into the game.

Pippen scored six points and Jud Buechler delivered a clutch 3-pointer to finisk a 13-3 spurt and tie the game for the last time, 83-83, with 2:40 left.

Church leaders survive scares as Flames clinch

From Diall Reports

SANFORD - The top three teams in the Sanford Recreation Department Fall Church Slowplich Softball League at got a scare but still came out winners Saturday morning at Chase Park.

The undefeated Sanford First United Methodist-Flames clinched at least a tie for the league championship by using a five run seventh inning to break open a close game, then surviving a Sanford Spanish Assemblies rally to win their eighth game of the season 9-6.

Second place Deltona Trinity Assembly of God-Majesty got in a slugfest with Sanford Central Baptist, and needed a sensational diving catch by Toody Rosas in right field to cut off a Central Baptist rally in the bottom of the seventh inning to triumph 20-18.

Sanford Church of the Nazarene jumped out to a 9-2 lead in the sixth inning and held on to won its fifth straight game to move into sole possession of third place with a 12-7 victory over Sanford All Souls Catholic.

The Flames (8-0) need just one more win, or a Majesty loss, in the final two weeks to claim the title outright. Majesty (6-2) leads Nazarene (5-3), Spanish Assemblies (4-4), Central Baptist (1-7) and All Souls (0-5).

There will only be two games played this Saturday because of a conflict with a church activity. At 8:30 a.m., Majesty takes on Spanish Assemblies, while All Souls battles Central Baptist at 10:30 a.m.

Spanish Assemblies took a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the first inning, but the Flames came back to take the lead with two runs in the second inning. Spanish Assemblies tied the game with a run in the bottom of the second inning, before the Flames took the lead for good in the top of the fourth inning. The Flames added a single run in the fifth inning to lead 4-2 and then exploded for five runs in the top of the seventh inning. The big blow was a two-out, two-run single by 60-year-old Dean W. Smith.

The Flames were led by Jerry Camus (triple, three singles, three runs, RBI), Dean W. Smith and Mark Blythe (two singles and two RBI each), Chris Dapore (two singles, run), winning pitcher Robert Jones (single, three runs, two RBI), Robert Smith and Jack Eltnohead (one single each). Trent Smith and Paul Stein (one run each) and Dean L. Smith (RBI).

Getting the hits for Spanish Assemblies were Ralph Navarro (two singles, run), Hector Fernandes (triple, run), Luis Rivera (double, run, two RBI), Adrian Lucas (single, run, RBI), M. Navarro (single, two runs), Pedro Garcia (single, two RBI) and Roberto Ramos (aingle).

Majesty fell behind 7-2 after the first inning, then took a 10-7 lead in the top of the second inning before Central Baptist came back to tie the game at 10-10 after two innings. Majesty went back on top 19-10, but Central again rallied, making the score 20-14 heading into the bottom of the seventh inning.

Central cut the lead to 20-16 and had runners on second and third with no one out. A looping fly along the rightfield line by Erik Luce appeared headed for at least a two-run single, but Roass made a diving shoe-string catch, holding Central to a sacrifice fly. Robert Thacker drove in a run to make the score 20-18, but a liner to the pitcher and a fly to left ended the game. Pacing Majesty were Rob Mullet (triple, double, single, two runs, three RBI), like Mendoza (two doubles, singles, two runs, three RBI), winning pitcher Steve Jarrett (double, two singles, two runs, RBI), Adrian Bourgious (triple, single, three runs, RBI), Ron Silva (two singles, three runs, two RBI), Steve McGuigan (two singles, three runs), John Sever (run, two RBI), Ross (three

A tasty, tart answer to dinner

By MARIALISA CALTA United Media Services

A few weeks ago, I received the delightful news that a long-lost friend was dropping by for an dinner. The bad news was that there WAS no dinner to speak of, and my car was in the shop. I was about to revert to my trusty stand-by - Progresso Lentil soup and toasted cheese sandwiches when I spied Lorraine Bodger's book, "Savory Tarts" on the shelf. Now, I'm not a "savory tarts" kind of person. For one thing, making the crust scares me. For another, I'm not overly fond of eggy-quichey-like con-coctions. But I also knew from experience with Bodger's other books which include "Chutneys and Relishes," "The Complete Vegetable Cookbook" and "The Christmas Kitchen" -that her recipes are generally simple, always work, and include DETAILED instructions and helpful little drawings. "Savory Tarts" did not let me down.

In a large bowl, combine the flour and salt. Add the margarine and butter in pats and cut them in with a pastry cutter. The mixture should have the texture of coarse cracker crumbs.

Sprinkle 4 tablespoon of ice water evenly over the flour mixture.

Firmly stir with a fork until the dough forms clumps. If the dough won't quite hold together, sprinkle it with the last tablespoon of ice water. Gather the dough into a ball.

(If you make this in a food proces sor, you probably won't need the fifth espoon of ice water.)

Shape the dough into a disk about 6 inches in diameter. Use immediately; if it feels too soft, wrap it in plastic and refrigerate for 20 minutes. If making ahead of time, wrap the dough in plastic and refrigerate, letting it come to room temperature before proceeding Yield dough for 1 10- or 11-inch tart. Great American Smokeout

DEAR ABBY: You have been kind enough in years past to devote an entire column to encouraging your readers who smoke to participate in the American Cancer Society's Great American Smokeout. Your support and encouragement have provided smokers across the country with a great morale boost as they make the effort to "kick the habit" — at least for one day. This year, media headlines have drawn unprecedented attention to the toll tobacco use exacts on our nation. People who are trying to quit smoking need our support now more than ever.

Last year, a number of your readers let us know that they were determined to quit smoking because they had read about our campaign in your column. Would you please alert your readers to the Smokeout again this year? Thank you for your dedication ---- and for all of your help in the fight against cancer

happy to be able to help. DEAR READERS: Tomorrow, Nov. 16, 1996, will mark the 19th Annual Great American Smokeout, a one-day campaign to encourage smokers to quit smoking for 24 hours, just to prove they can do it.

Last year, nearly 11 million schem tried to quit for the day.

This represents 34 percent of the nation's 46 million smokers.

Breast cancer used to be the biggest killer of woman, but the No. 1 cause of cancer death among women and men today is lung cancer. Because women are not quitting at the same rate as men, lung cancer is on the decline in men — but on the increase in women! It's estimatod that early in the next contury, more women will die of lung cancer than men. An estimated 187,000 people will die of lung cancer in 1995. Tobacco claims one life every 12 seconds!

And now a word about smok-ing-related diseases — emphy-sems, chronic bronchitis and heart disease. This year, an esti-mated 435,000 will die from one of these. This total exceeds the number of U.S. battle deaths in World War II; it's eight times as many as died in the Vietnam War, and 10 times as many as people who die in automobile accidents annually.

Sanford Herald, Sanford, Florida - Wednesday, November 15, 1995 - SB

And what about secondhand smoke? Does it damage nonsmokers to be in the presence of smokers? Yes! According to a 1993 report issued by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, secondhand smoke is categorized as a Class A carcinogen on a par with asbestos and radon. And studies reveal that the children of smokers are more prone to lung problems and allergies than are children of non-smokers.

For years, I have begged young readers, "If you smoke, quit now. If you don't smoke, don't start!" Yet, every year 1 million more American children become addicted to cigarettes before it's legal for them to purchase the product. Three thou-sand American children begin smoking every day. The average smoker lights his (or her) first cigarette at age 9 and is a regu-lar smoker at age 12. Although smoking by high school seniors declined significantly in the 1970s and leveled off in the '80s. it appears to be on the rise in the 1990s.

If you're hooked and have been telling yourself, "One of these days I'm going to quit," why not start tomorrow? It won't be easy, but it will be the best Thankagiving present you can give yourself — and those who love you.

LOVE, ABBY

Grecian Skillet Rib-Eyes, the 1995 National Beef Cook-Off® "Best of Beef" winner, can add a splash of excitement to busy weeknights.

White cell count signals infection until the process repeats. I've noticed that my symptoms seem to be worsened by eating cheese. I'm 40 years old, a working mother and hope you can help.

DEAR READER: I don't know what tests your doctors have performed to shed light on your attacks of abdominal pain and gas. However, I think you have unknowingly put your finger on the problem - once again proving that most diagnoses are found within the patient's medical history. I believe the relation of cheese to your symp-

Milk products contain a type of sugar (lactose) to which many people,

old and young, can become intolerant toms is the key that solves the puzzle.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have to have a white cell count to check for infection. What is this all about?

DEAR READER: The blood contains red cells (which supply oxygen to tissues) and white cells (which fight infection). Although this is somewhat of an oversimplification, the number, type and age of the white blood corpuscles reflect the state of the body's immune system and our ability to combat infection.

Thus, in the presence of infection, the healthy body pours millions of while cells into the bloodstream, much like the mobilization of soldiers in preparation for war.

The normal white blood cell count is 5,000-10,000 per microliter. In the presence of infection, the WBC is commonly between 12,000 and 20,000, depending on the severity of the infection. This elevated count may also contain an increased number of immature forms of white cells, called "bands."

Therefore, I conclude that your physician proposes to verify his suspicions that you may have an internal infection by obtaining a WHC, which is merely one of many tests, including Xrays and other blood analyses, used for this purpose. An elevated WBC does not tell where the infection is or what's causing it. Rather, the elevated count simply reflects the presence of an infection somewhere in the body. For example, if you had severe abdominal pain, a high WBC would indicate appendicitis, diverticulitis, galibladder irritation, or other infection for which you might need surgery or antibiotics. On the other hand, in the presence of a normal WBC, the doctor would have to address the noninfectious causes of abdominal pain, such as kidney stones, or intestinal obstruction

The WBC is a simple and useful test that, in conjunction with a thorough examination and other tests, helps doctors diagnose a variety of allments. To give you more information. I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Blood - Donations and Disorders." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long. self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station,

New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title. DEAR DR. GOTT: I've besitated writing you because I come from another country and my doctors blame my problem on stress About once a week for the past year, my abdomen becomes very hard and painful. It feels as though something is pulling my belly button from inside. Then I get bad cramps, diarrhea and a lot of gas. This seems to (lactase) that digests lactose. Without lactase, patients suffer abdominal pain, bloating, gas, and diarrhea when they eat or drink dairy products.

Here's my advice. Return to your primary-care physician and request a breath test for lactose intolerance. Undoubtedly, he'll be stunned by your medical knowledge. (You needn't inform him where you learned about this.) More important, the test may provide the answer you seek.

Bridge can be an extremely frustrating game. For example, you play a con-tract perfectly yet go down. Your oppo-nent at the other table, a less able performer, adopts an inferior line that works. You played better, yet finish a loser.

Today's deal occurred during a major knockoul team event. Both North-South pairs bid aggressively to seven spades. Both received the club-king opening lead. How should the play go? The declarers needed three heart tricks so that they could discard their two club losers, but their approaches differed. The better declarer won with the club ace, cashed the spade ace, played a heart to dummy's king and rulled the contract could no longer be made. If only the hearts had been 4-3, South would have ruffed high, played a spade to dummy's jack and cashed the heart ace jack for his essential discards. This line has about a 65-percent chance of BUCCESS. After winning the first trick, the less able declarer drew trumps and played a heart to the jack. As you can see, the 50-percent finesse worked perfectly. When this sort of thing happens, you cannot help feeling down. As the Irish writer George Moore observed, Nothing is more depressing than the conviction that one is not a hero." It was hard for the unlucky South to feel like a hero, even though he had played like one.
