

Flea World Access Stirs Hornets Nest For County

Staff members from the Seminole County divisions of traffic and public safety will recommend that the county commission allow Syd Levy, owner of Flea World, on U.S. Highway 17-92, to open an access road from his property onto County Home Road. The road would be used to let cars exit Flea World's parking area on weekends.

But neighboring property owners say they will appear with a 172-signature petition at Tuesday's commission meeting to demonstrate their opposition to the move.

Commissioner Robert J. Sturm said he has been contacted by the late residents, who are led by Karl Lind and Edna Wren, both of County Road 427, which runs along the rear of the 33-acre Flea World tract.

Despite their objections, county engineers' reports agree with those supplied by Levy that at least one access road needs to be opened to relieve weekend traffic near the flea market, Sturm said.

He said Levy had asked to be allowed to use exit gates at both County Road 427 and County Home Road but, at this time, the county staff will suggest only the latter access be opened and that the commissioners reconsider their decision to prohibit access at County Road 427.

Levy, contacted Thursday, said he has spent a great deal of money having engineering studies of the area performed and has found that the additional exits will relieve traffic congestion caused by cars leaving the flea market onto Highway 17-92 Saturdays and Sundays.

The 1,000 dealers who sell merchandise at Flea World are open for business Fridays through Sundays, but Levy said the new exits would only be used on the weekends, when the market is busiest.

Sturm said the staff recommendation will include requiring Levy to provide additional laneage and turning room on County Home Road.

"We are 100-percent willing to take on anything the county would require at our expense," Levy said.

Meanwhile, Lind said he has opposed Levy's plans from the beginning and accused the market of causing traffic congestion in the residential area along County Road 427.

"We don't want that traffic over here. We're wholly against it. The commissioners approved it on the condition that there would be no outlet on County Home Road," he said.

Lind said he moved to Seminole County in 1946 and, until Flea World opened, the area was peaceful. Since the opening, in May of 1982, his house has been burglarized four times, Lind said.

"We had no problems before they moved here. Now we have a big eyesore. A whole lot of people from here are against this," he said.

The commissioners will discuss the issue at their regular meeting, 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in commission chambers, room 200 of the Seminole County Courthouse in Sanford.

Public Praise Overflows

Mayor Gets Wrist Slap

By Charles Cobb
Herald Staff Writer

While the Lake Mary city commission expressed "disapproval" of Mayor Walter Sorenson for collecting expense money in advance and for using city vehicles and facilities for personal business, the overwhelming expression by residents at Thursday night's meeting was support for the mayor.

With emotion revealed in his voice, Sorenson spoke briefly in his own defense. He said most of the allegations were true, but not serious matters.

He said in nine years as mayor his mistakes were few and he felt his overall record was good.

"I never said I could walk on water," he said.

His comments garnered a rousing applause from the audience of about 60 persons.

Only one person spoke critically of Sorenson's actions — Earl Fox, son of former city commissioner Ray Fox, whose allegations stirred up the controversy.

Ray Fox did not attend the meeting.

"I am not speaking for my father," Earl Fox said. "But I saw my father agonize over this. I don't agree with all the allegations, but I don't think this is a witch hunt. My father is a fair man."

"I don't want to see anyone hurt. We see here not so much criminal activity but bad judgment. Are we going to do something about this or just sweep it under the carpet?"

"Shouldn't we say (to Sorenson), 'Hey, maybe you're not the guy for this job?'"

Several commissioners said they felt both Sorenson and Fox were men of integrity.

After the discussion was complete, the commission unanimously passed a resolution expressing "disapproval of the use of city owned vehicles and the use of city owned facilities for personal use and the advance of a stipend or salary for any reason to any city employee."

The commission dismissed all other charges that had been brought against Sorenson.

The resolution, which was proposed by Commissioner Burt H. Perinchief, also called for an attempt to "improve communications between the mayor and the city commission."

The commission also voted unanimously to ask the city manager to review the allegations in relation to city policies and recommend establishing policies in those areas where there are none.

About a dozen persons spoke in praise of Sorenson, including the man he defeated in his first bid for the mayor's post in 1973.

"He defeated me," said Lee Wheeler. "For which I am eternally grateful. He's done an A-1, first-class job. If this (the allegations) is all you can find against him in nine years on this board, instead of censuring him the commission should pass a resolution of thanks."

Another member of the audience suggested a collection be taken up among those present to pay the city back for a $50 breakfast Sorenson hosted.

"If we can't collect it here I'll pay it myself," he said. "Or we could just take it out of the money the city owes him for all the hours he's put in without pay."

Another Lake Mary resident said: "I'm proud that walking down the street I can say 'Hi, Walt' and not see some stuffed shirt."

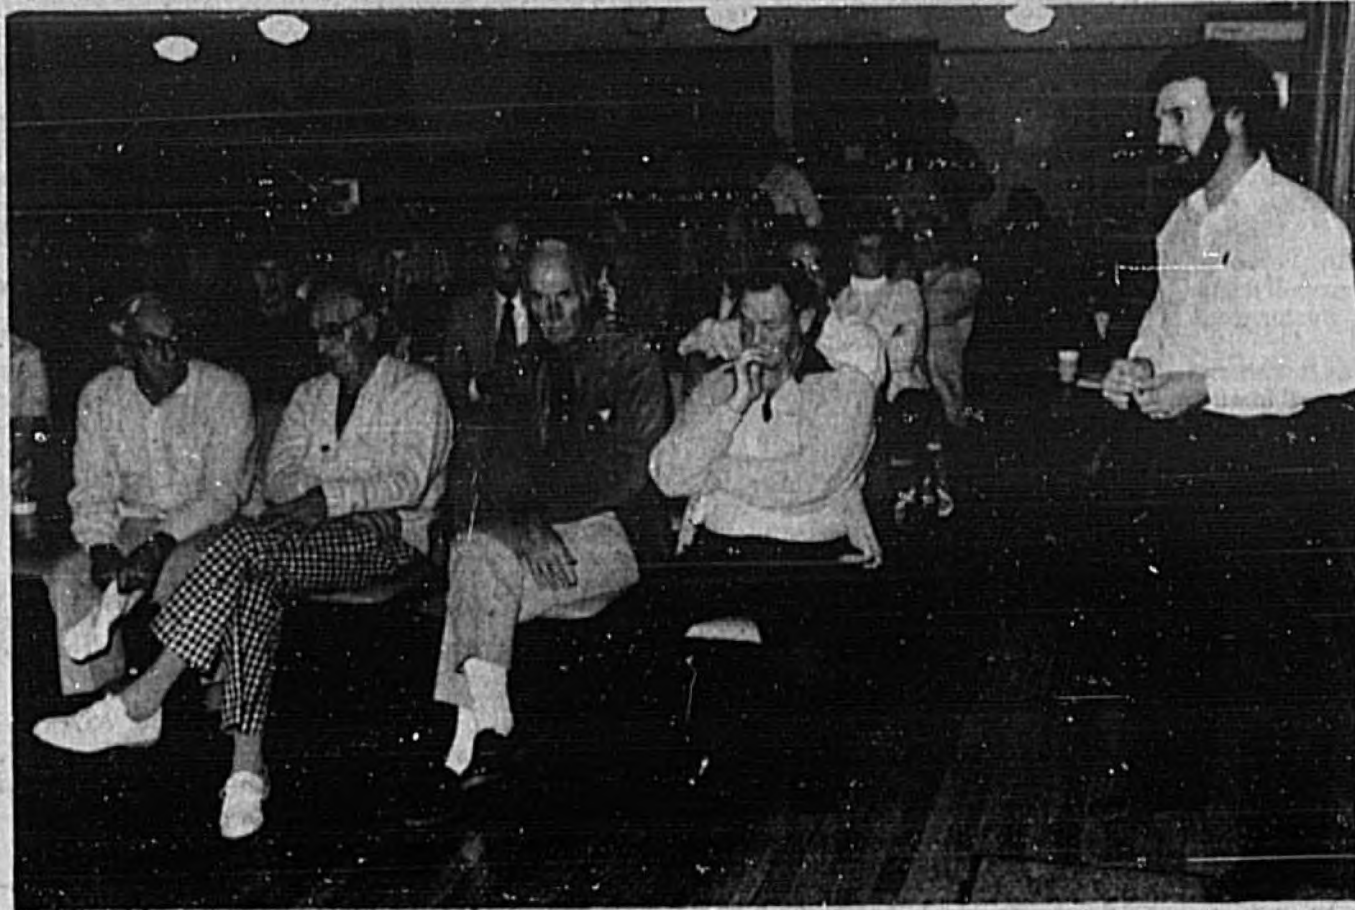

"The commissioner who made these charges should have made them while he was on the board, not just prior to resigning."

Commissioners Ken King and Perinchief, who conducted a probe of the charges, delivered a report on their investigation to the commission.

When the report was presented, Sorenson stepped down as presiding mayor temporarily and stood in the audience. Commissioner Russ Megonegal, who had just been voted deputy mayor, presided during the discussion.

Most commissioners indicated they were most concerned about Sorenson advancing himself unauthorized expense money.

Sorenson said he had drawn his entire annual expense allowance over the first five months of the 1983 fiscal year, rather than in the $200 monthly payments called for by city ordinance.

With emotion showing in his voice, Mayor Walter Sorenson answers charges of impropriety. He stepped down from the commissioners' dais when the discussion began.

Sorenson said he was not aware of that requirement and admitted "ignorance is a lousy excuse."

"I'm very concerned about the stipend," said Perinchief. "I expected more from the mayor. I don't think ignorance of the law is an excuse."

But Perinchief dismissed the allegation Sorenson had prior knowledge of a "discrepancy" on a city employee's job application.

Sorenson did not know of the "falsified — ostensibly falsified" application "until it was investigated by a member of the press," Perinchief said. "When Sorenson found out, so did another commissioner — the same commissioner who brought the allegation. If there is a problem, he is also guilty."

Sorenson admitted he used a city-owned car for personal business including a trip to Cape Canaveral to see a shuttle launch. He said he used his city hall office for personal business about 30 percent of the time and that he had used the city telephone to call his Orlando real estate office when he was kept at City Hall on city business.

"I don't think it's appropriate," said Commissioner Collin Keogh. "If any other city employees did some of these things they would be suspended without pay. If we do nothing about this, we will be setting a poor example for other employees."

Lake Mary city attorney Robert Petree, left, discusses the investigators' report as City Commissioner Collin Keogh listens.

The report by King and Perinchief indicated Sorenson was not guilty of misusing city-owned motorcycles and canoes, as had been charged. It was found the motorcycles did not belong to the city in the first place. Sorenson said he drove one home once for his son to look at. Canoes that were said to be missing apparently are not.

Other charges dismissed by the commission as "petty" included charges that Sorenson:

- Purchased four desks after such purchases were banned by the city commission.

- Advanced a new city employee $451.25 in pay when the man ran into trouble on a trip to New York. The man never returned to work. (Sorenson said the man's trouble was confirmed by a legitimate welfare agency).

- Failed to inform the commission of a purchase of a car.

Two Firms To Locate In Area

Two new industries to employ 50 persons are set for the Sanford-Lake Mary area.

Trusso Manufacturing Co. is leasing a 40,000 square foot facility, formerly used by Cobla Boats, at the industrial park south of the Sanford Airport. It will supply building components for Cardinal Industries. The firm, based in Holmesville, Ohio, expects to employ 30 persons at its Sanford plant.

And A.G. Mauro Co., headquartered in Pittsburgh, plans to construct a 23,000 square foot fabrication and distribution center in the Lake Mary area near the intersection of Interstate 4 and Lake Mary Boulevard.

A.G. Mauro Co., a nationwide distributor of builders' hardware and architectural metal and wood doors, expects to build a new 23,000 square foot facility, financed by county-sponsored industrial revenue bonds, in mid-1984.

The plant is to be built in the Lake Mary area near the intersection of Lake Mary Boulevard and Interstate 4, said Pat Long, director of research for the Industrial Development Commission of Mid-Florida.

The Mauro firm is expected to provide 20 employees initially and to reach 60 employees within three years.

3-Car Wreck Kills Woman

A DeBary woman was killed this morning and an Altamonte Springs man severely injured Thursday night in separate auto accidents.

Marcia Cushman, 79, of 208 Aqua Vista, DeBary, was pronounced dead at Orlando Regional Hospital shortly after a 9 a.m. three-car collision on Kepler Road and U.S. Highway 92. Gordon Cushman, a passenger in the car, suffered minor injuries and was admitted to West Volusia Hospital, a Florida Highway Patrol spokesman said.

Virginia Huber, 63, of 2000 Larchmont Drive, DeLand, the driver of the second car, was also admitted to West Volusia Hospital with minor injuries. The driver of the third car, James P. Moses, 33, of Route 5, DeLand, was unhurt, the spokesman said.

The accident happened when the Cushman vehicle, a 1980 Buick that was traveling north on Kepler Road, collided with Ms. Huber's 1982 Cadillac, which was traveling east on U.S. Highway 92 at the intersection. The Cushman car continued north and crashed into the front of Moses' 1976 Datsun, which was stopped in the westbound turning lane on U.S. Highway 92, the spokesman said.

The Moses car suffered minor damages while the Cushman and Huber vehicles were completely destroyed in the collision, the spokesman said.

Trooper T.D. Herr is in charge of the homicide investigation while Cpl. G.A. Brown is leading the accident investigation.

Thomas T. Carlson, 38, 542 Lake Ave., Altamonte Springs, was listed in serious condition this morning at Florida Hospital-South after his car went out of control at about 10 p.m. Thursday and crashed into the median on state Route 436, two miles east of Apopka, a Florida Highway Patrol spokesman said.

Killed in that accident was Edward Leatherbury, 37, of Veranda Court, Orlando, who was a passenger in Carlson's car.

Police said Carlson's vehicle, a 1983 Datsun 280ZX, went out of control, hit the median and flipped, spewing the driver and his passenger into the street. The car landed right side up but suffered irreparable damage, the spokesman said.

No charges have been made. —Mary Matlack

Mrs. Harper Dies

Former Sanford resident Mrs. Agnes S. Harper, mother of former Florida First Lady Donna Lou Askew, died Wednesday in Miami.

The 80-year-old widow of Chase & Co. executive Donald L. Harper died at Greenbriar Nursing Center at the age of 80, following a brief illness.

She was the mother-in-law of former governor and current presidential candidate, Reubin Askew.

Funeral services Mrs. Harper, who moved to Miami in 1979, will be at 10 a.m. Saturday at Brisson Funeral Home, Sanford. Burial will be in Woodlawn Memorial Park, Orlando.

Pot Roast $500,000 Marijuana Crop Burned

A half million dollars worth of marijuana went up in smoke this morning when Seminole County sheriff's deputies set fire to one of the largest crops of pot ever found in the county.

The marijuana field, which sheriff's spokesman John Spolski said consisted of three 65-by-80-foot plots, was discovered by officers late Thursday afternoon.

Officers from Seminole and Polk counties and the Florida Department of Law Enforcement found the pot through a tip received by the Polk County sheriff's department.

Spolski said the field, located off Snow Hill Road near Chula Vista, was a major source of marijuana in Seminole County and it was evident that at least two crops had been harvested from the site. He said that the value of the pot already removed by the growers would add up to several million dollars.

In addition to the 3- and 4-foot plants found growing in the field, a large quantity of the illicit weed was found drying beneath plastic covers.

The well tended plants were watered by a highly developed irrigation system. And Spolski said there was a tent used to house the growers and to store their supplies and firearms.

Two men were arrested at the site. They are charged with trafficking in marijuana, possession with intent to distribute marijuana, and trespassing. Additional charges related to possession of a cache of firearms (shotguns and rifles) found at the site are also pending against the men.

Harold H. Hall, 49, of 438 Perdita St., Edgewater, and David M. Long, 23, of 1122 Temberland Trail, Casselberry, are being held in the Seminole County jail in lieu of $10,000 bond each.

Spolski said other arrests are expected.

Lavelle Conviction Ends 'Sewergate'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rita Lavelle's perjury conviction for lying to Congress and obstructing its investigation into the nation's toxic waste cleanup program closes the books on the scandal that rocked the EPA this year. A federal court jury Thursday convicted Miss Lavelle on four of five felony counts she faced, stemming from answers she gave under oath to two congressional panels Feb. 23 and 24.

and a sworn written statement made to a third panel last Dec. 13. Miss Lavelle, 36, who wept silently and dabbed at her eyes as she stood before the judge, faces sentencing Jan. 9.

IN BRIEF

Women To Get Back Pay In Discrimination Case

TACOMA, Wash. (UPI) — Washington state must pay back wages and give immediate raises to 15,000 women employees who were victims of sex discrimination, a federal judge ordered in a ruling the state says could cost it up to $1 billion.

U.S. District Judge Jack E. Tanner Thursday appointed a special master to help implement his decision that women state employees should receive immediate wage hikes as well as back pay. He delayed his formal ruling in the landmark case until next week.

The union has requested a 31 percent pay raise for the mostly female state workers it represented in the discrimination suit and back pay to Sept. 1979.

Tanner found the state guilty on Sept. 15 of wage discrimination against women because it paid them less than men who had different jobs requiring equal ability.

He rejected the state's solution to wage discrimination — a 1983 law that will give annual pay raises of $100 to women for 10 years, amounting to a 20 percent increase over a decade.

Air Force Probes Gays

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force is investigating allegations of homosexuality and drug abuse at the Pentagon and Washington-area bases, a spokesman says.

Defense Department policy bans homosexuality in the armed forces as "incompatible with military service," on grounds that homosexual conduct "seriously impairs the accomplishment of the military mission."

The Air Force Office of Special Investigations thus far has singled out 55 enlisted men for interviews, among them 11 suspected of homosexuality, 21 alleged to have used drugs and 24 others suspected of both homosexual contacts and drug abuse, said the spokesman, Capt. Johnny Whitaker.

All are assigned to either the Pentagon, Andrews Air Force Base in Maryland or Bolling Air Force Base in the District of Columbia, he said Thursday.

The issue of homosexuality in the services gained renewed notoriety this week with the conviction in a Norfolk, Va., military court of Navy Cmdr. Gerald Vanderwier on charges of engaging in homosexual acts with a member of his crew on the frigate USS Edward McDonnell during its tour of the Mediterranean last winter.

Reagan Announcement Set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan will announce his candidacy for re-election next month in a nationally broadcast address intended to reinforce his image as the incumbent administration officials say.

The officials said Reagan, who became a legal candidate for a second term Oct. 17, has decided to formally declare his candidacy shortly after his annual State of the Union Address to Congress in January.

The disclosure came as Reagan's top campaign advisers wrapped up a two-day meeting in Los Angeles that marked an initial step toward mapping strategy and identifying key themes that will stress the achievements of his administration over the last three years, especially the turnaround in the economy.

Unemployment

Jobless Rate Drops To 8.4%; Lowest In Two Years

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. civilian unemployment rate dropped sharply for the second straight month in November to 8.4 percent, with 740,000 more Americans holding jobs than a month earlier, the Labor Department reported today.

It was the lowest rate in two years, since November 1981 when the jobless figure was 8.3 percent.

The department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said improvement occurred in all major sectors of the job market, as the seasonally adjusted rate dropped 0.4 of a percentage point from October's 8.8 percent level.

That came on top of a 0.5 of a percentage point decline a month ago. The overall civilian rate is now 2.4 percentage points below the recession high of 10.8 percent last December.

Total civilian employment measured by the household survey jumped 740,000 to 102.7 million in November after showing little change in October.

The number of unemployed persons dropped by 520,000 to 9.4 million. It is now nearly 2.7 million below the recession high.

The decline in unemployment was shared by virtually all segments, with the rate for adult men falling from 8.2 percent to 7.8 percent in November. There was a dramatic drop in the rate for unemployed teenagers, down 1.7 percentage points to 19.9 percent, in a category that has shown little recovery until recent months.

The number of newly unemployed persons — those jobless for less than five weeks — fell sharply for the second straight month, and there also was a large drop in unemployment among those who were permanently separated from their positions.

An alternative overall rate that includes 1.7 million members of the military as part of the workforce declined 0.5 of a percentage point to 8.2 percent in November. Labor Statistics Commissioner Janet Norwood, in testimony prepared for a congressional Joint Economic Committee hearing, acknowledged that October's sizable fall in unemployment "was somewhat puzzling to many analysts" but said the latest figures "continued to show strong and widespread employment gains and further declines in unemployment."

"The economic recovery in terms of employment and unemployment developments compares quite favorably to past recoveries," she said.

Mrs. Norwood noted that a separate survey of businesses showed an increase in payroll employment in November of 370,000.

"Stong gains continued in manufacturing primarily in the durable goods sector," she added. "The largest gross was posted by the machinery and electrical equipment industries."

Judge Miffed; Jails Swindler

When Seminole Circuit Judge Dominick J. Saffi found Marc C. Bennett guilty of swindling County Commissioner Barbara Christensen, he told Bennett to prepare a plan "for cleaning up this mess."

Bennett presented his plan to Saffi Thursday and the judge was so displeased with it that he sent Bennett straight to jail.

Last September, Saffi found Bennett, a 47-year-old Altamonte Springs finance broker, guilty of two counts of grand theft.

In a non-jury trial, Saffi decided that Bennett, of 503 Hickory Wood Ave., deliberately swindled Mrs. Christensen and James W. Hickman out of $63,000 two years ago.

The state charged that Mrs. Christensen made payments to Bennett in November 1981 for two Mercedes Benz automobiles, giving Bennett two $4,000 checks as down payment on a final price of $63,000 for the two cars.

About six weeks later, Bennett told her the cars were ready to be picked up at Victoria Auto Dealers in Rotterdam, the Netherlands, and asked her to pay the balance.

Mrs. Christensen, who had suffered financial reverses in the interim, asked a Winter Park dentist, Hickman, to buy into her contract. Hickman, who had already contracted to buy a car from Bennett, agreed and Bennett was paid the full balance.

Two months later, Bennett told Mrs. Christensen that he had given the money to an employee and sent him overseas to get the cars, but the employee had disappeared with the funds. Bennett said the employee was a trusted associate who had worked with him for seven years. He has not been seen since.

In August 1982, Bennett began voluntarily repaying the missing money into an account monitored by the state attorney's office. He has paid $29,000 of the $63,000 he owes Mrs. Christensen, court records show.

When Bennett appeared before Saffi Thursday for sentencing, he proposed a plan to repay Mrs. Christensen and Hickman from commissions he expects to make as a finance broker. Meanwhile, Bennett proposed that he sign over the title to his home to Mrs. Christensen and Hickman as security until the sum is repaid.

Saffi criticized the plan for not being sufficiently detailed, sent Bennett to jail and said he would reschedule a hearing date when Bennett came up with a better plan for restitution.

Mrs. Christensen, who is a real estate broker, said she had no objection to the general idea of Bennett's restitution plan, but it was "haphazard and not well thought out. It was not detailed. There are two mortgages on (Bennett's) house and it's not clear what their status is. This lack of a detailed plan really upset the judge," she said.

"I would be willing to take the title to the house and then deed the house back to him after he pays the sum he owes," Mrs. Christensen said.

"He (Bennett) could live in his house while he's doing this. I don't want to put anyone out of their house. I just want my money back," she said.

Retail Sales Boom

Record November retail sales indicate shoppers will spend more money this Christmas than in the past five years because of an increase in employment, low inflation and a longer work week, analysts say.

"Merchants across the country should have a merry Christmas with average sales gains as high as 12 to 15 percent," said John L. Cohn, executive vice president of the Independent Retailers Syndicate in New York.

"Even with inflation, real sales increases could be 9 to 10 percent."

Sears Roebuck Co., the largest U.S. retailer, based in Chicago, reported a 31.5 percent rise in November sales for the four weeks ended Nov. 26.

Kmart Corp., the No. 2 retailer with headquarters in Troy, Mich., had a 10.5 percent increase last month. Third-ranked J.C. Penney Co., New York, scored an 8 percent gain. Federated Department Stores, the fourth largest, based in Cincinnati, announced a 10.9 percent rise. No. 5, F.W. Woolworth, New York, recorded a 7.4 percent sales improvement in November.

"The main driving forces behind the rebound to consumer spending have been the steady increase in total employment, the low inflation rate and a longer work week, which means there is a lot more income that can be spent," said Jeffrey Edelman, analyst at Dean Witter Reynolds Inc. in New York.

Go-Go Club Dancer Assaulted

Lake Mary Man Jailed In Attempted Rape

A Lake Mary man who picked up a hitchhiker on her way to her job as an exotic dancer has been charged with attempted rape and is being held in the Seminole County jail in lieu of $10,000 bond.

The woman told sheriff's investigators that the man "drove her to his parents home in Lake Mary, and said he needed to make a stop before taking her to work. He then took her to a dirt road near Hospital and Pinetree roads in Lake Mary."

She said the man threatened her and forced her into the backseat of his car where he removed her clothes and told her he had raped someone before.

The woman said she convinced the man that the time and place wasn't right, so he allowed her to dress and he drove to Albertson's on U.S. Highway 17-92, Longwood, to buy liquor.

At Albertson's, the woman made contact with a store employee, who called the Longwood police.

A police officer and a deputy arrived and arrested Thomas Scott Miller, 18, of 107 High St., at 12:45 a.m. today.

GIVES UP

A Sanford man wanted in connection with the robbery of a Seminole County savings and loan turned himself into sheriff's investigators Thursday morning.

Sheriff's spokesman John Spolski said the man had called the sheriff's department Wednesday and said he knew he was a suspect in the Nov. 22 hold-up of First Federal of Seminole County on U.S. Highway 17-92 at

Dead Woman May Have Been Sexually Assaulted

A Sanford woman, whose partially clad body was found in a wooded area of Seminole County Wednesday afternoon, died as a result of strangulation.

Seminole County Medical Examiner Dr. G.V. Garay, who Thursday afternoon completed the autopsy on the body of Christ Brodie, 56, said he believes that Mrs. Brodie also was sexually assaulted. Four young Longwood men looking for metal cans found Mrs. Brodie's body hidden beneath brush at a trash-dump site near Lake Mary.

Since her disappearance on Nov. 18, and the discovery of her car partially submerged in Boat Lake two days later, sheriff's investigators had mounted a massive search for Mrs. Brodie.

Because of advanced decomposition, Mrs. Brodie was identified through skeletal X-rays during the autopsy.

Two businesses and three vacant buildings were burglarized at the Village Plaza shopping center on U.S. Highway 17-92 and Lake Mary Boulevard Wednesday night.

Assistant Sanford Police Chief Herb Shea said the firms were the Pizza Hut and a laundromat. Entry was gained by breaking open the back doors of the buildings.

It has not been determined what property, if any, was taken, Shea said.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: December hit the North with a cold blast, burying western mountains, the Midwest and the Northeast with up to a foot of snow. Drift-covered St. Paul, Minn. declared a snow emergency to clean up from one storm and prepare for the next. Travelers advisories warned of 2-4 inches of new snow today in the mountains of Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona and Utah, and of rain changing to freezing rain over parts of Oklahoma. Light snow fell from northeast Pennsylvania across southeast New York State through central New England. Southern Wisconsin and southeast Minnesota also reported light snow.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Time Bomb Found At U.S. Embassy Annex

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — Security guards found a bomb wrapped like a Christmas present at a U.S. Embassy annex today. A Philippines army bomb squad rushed to the building and safely defused the device hours before it was timed to explode, officials said.

Police sources said the bomb was similar in design to those used by Moslem guerrillas in the southern Philippines because it consisted of several Belgian-made anti-personnel mines in a box crammed with 3-inch nails.

They said the box, wrapped in Christmas paper, had been placed outside a communications center in the downtown U.S. Seafont Embassy annex on Roxas Boulevard and could have caused extensive damage to the building.

At about 1:20 a.m. a Philippine Army bomb squad defused the device, which was timed to explode between 3:40 a.m. and 3:50 a.m.

Bribery Scandal Heats Up

BONN, West Germany (UPI) — Parliament stripped Economics Minister Otto Lambsdorff of immunity from prosecution today, allowing prosecutors to formally charge him with taking a $50,000 bribe in West Germany's worst public scandal in a decade.

It was the first time in the 36-year history of the Bundestag — the lower house — that a member of parliament had been stripped of immunity.

Members of parliament approved the move without debate to give the go-ahead to state prosecutors to charge Lambsdorff with two counts of corruption and taking bribes from the giant Flick conglomerate in a $175 million tax and slush fund scandal.

When the charges are served on Lambsdorff, there will be heavy pressure on Chancellor Helmut Kohl to force the count to resign and to reshape his Cabinet.

Nicaragua Frees Rebels

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Nicaragua's leftist Sandinista government freed 307 Indian rebels imprisoned for alleged crimes against the regime and offered amnesty to Indian guerrillas now fighting against the government.

Announcing the sweeping amnesty program, Gioconda Belli, spokeswoman for the ruling Sandinista Front, said the offer would allow the return of some 13,000 Indians now living in refugee camps in Honduras.

In another development, the official Voz de Nicaragua radio labeled a possible peace offer by the U.S.-backed rebels a maneuver to thwart regional peace efforts.

Managua is expected to reject the guerrillas' offer to stop their fighting if the leftist regime will agree to hold elections. Rebel leaders met with U.S. special envoy Richard Stone in Panama Thursday.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

'Man Hater' Guilty In Murder Of Policeman

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — A 24-year-old woman who "hated men" has been found guilty of first-degree murder in the May 17 shooting death of Jacksonville police officer Gary Bevel.

A circuit court jury took less than 90 minutes to reach a verdict late Thursday against Andrea Hicks Jackson, who could become the only woman on death row in Florida. The state announced at the beginning of the trial that it would seek the death penalty.

Bevel, a 29-year-old rookie patrolman, was shot six times at close range — four times in the head and twice in the upper body — with a .22-caliber pistol as he tried to arrest Mrs. Jackson for filing a false police report.

Bevel had responded to Mrs. Jackson's complaint that her car had been vandalized. But neighbors told the officer that Mrs. Jackson was drunk and had vandalized her own car.

Eyewitnesses testified Mrs. Jackson shot Bevel as he tried to force her into his patrol car.

Book Thrown At Judge

MIAMI (UPI) — Bloodied and shaken, Dade County Circuit Judge Robert Newman admitted with grudging amusement that it was the first time in his courtroom the defendant threw the book at the judge.

Ray Williams, 25, had been arrested on a shoplifting charge. By the time he was arraigned Thursday in Newman's court, Williams was facing additional charges of vandalism.

Williams clutched three paperback Bibles when he was led before the bench. When Newman refused to release him without bond, the defendant let the Bibles fly.

One volume struck Newman in the forehead, opening a one-inch gash over the judge's left eye.

Board OKs New Steakhouse For Sanford

A new Quincy's Family Steakhouse is scheduled to be built in Sanford on the east side of U.S. Highway 17-92 between the Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurant and the new Center Mall.

The Sanford Planning and Zoning Commission approved a site plan for the development at its meeting Thursday night.

The next step is submission of construction plans. Jay Hammond, senior vice president of Spartan Foods

System of Spartanburg, S.C., owners of the Quincy Family Steakhouses, operating in seven states in the south, said today that the Sanford restaurant has been in the planning stage for the past two years. A definite date for construction to begin has not been set, he said.

The restaurant's major access will be from Airport Boulevard, Hammond said.

In other business Thursday, the planning and zoning commission:

- Approved a site plan for the 20-unit Creekwood Condominiums to be built on Collins Avenue. Representative of Ebtide Construction Co. of Winter Springs said the sales price of the condominiums will be in the upper $50,000 price range.
- Denied permission for the construction of duplexes on the east side of Laurel Avenue near 25th Street and on the east side of Maple Avenue near 22nd Street

Vatican On Sex: 'Don't'

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — With stern warnings against homosexuality, masturbation and sex outside of marriage, the Vatican issued its first guidelines on sex education for Roman Catholic parents and teachers.

The document, a 36-page booklet entitled Educational Guidance in Human Love, said that "sexual intercourse, ordained toward procreation, is the maximum expression on the physical level of the communion of love of the married."

But sex outside marriage "loses its significance, exposes the selfishness of the individual and is a moral disorder," said the guide published Thursday.

The guidelines described homosexuality as a "disorder," possibly caused by physiological or psychological factors, education, lack of normal sexual evolution, habit or bad example.

Vatican sources said Pope John Paul II almost certainly would have approved the document, prepared by the Sacred Congregation for Catholic Education, before its publication.

Since his election to St. Peter's throne Oct. 16, 1978, the Polish-born pontiff has taken a consistently conservative stance on moral issues and has frequently stressed the importance he places on celibacy among priests.

The guide upholds the traditional Church view that sex education is the responsibility of parents primarily, with schools playing a subsidiary role.

The guidelines recommend sports for young people "not only as bodily discipline, but also as a healthy relaxation."

Captain Coming

Sanford is getting a new seafood restaurant. Capt. D's, a national chain, is building the restaurant at 2514 French Avenue, south of Bahama Joe's. Ground was broken in late October for the $150,000 eatery. An opening date has not been set.

mission of a breakfast with area developers.

Sorenson said hearing the commission criticize his "poor judgment has been punishment."

• Knew an employee "falsified" an employment application.

In his own defense, Sorenson said his record "is not that bad." He admitted he may have made some poor judgments.

"I make judgments every day. Most of them are not bad. It averages out."

Perin chief praised Sorenson for his "dedication and devotion to the city." This "has been responsible for some of the problems of poor judgment," Perin chief said. "He has been here as a part-time mayor 8 or 9 hours a day when we didn't have a city manager."

Another member of the audience said Sorenson has given more to the city than any other person in Lake Mary.

"We've put Walt on 'rial here. We'd do a great injustice by hurting him anymore," a resident advised the commissioners.

King said Sorenson's attitude "that nothing is wrong bothers me. He's very devoted to the city, but I think he's made some very poor judgments."

"To my knowledge there was no effort to reimburse the city for the 402 miles (Sorenson drove the car) on the July 4 weekend," Perin chief added.

His voice choking with emotion, Sorenson said:

"Yes, I used the car. It was an impropriety. I have devoted a significant part of my life and time to the city, more than I could afford on $200 a month."

Sorenson said he felt Ray Fox was showing "specific malice when he talks about my using this office for (personal) business. There's no impropriety in that."

Former City Commissioner Martin Bacon pointed out that Sorenson was having financial difficulties during part of the time the alleged wrongdoings occurred. "His wife was in the hospital. Maybe some of you don't know what it's like to have these problems," said Bacon.

"Maybe he needs a reprimand, but then let's get on with the job of putting Lake Mary on the map. This kind of publicity is ruining this city."

Gemayel Gets No Quick Fix

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lebanese President Amin Gemayel is being assured of steadfast support from the United States, but officials say America has no magical solutions to the problems of his fragmented country.

Gemayel planned meetings today with Pentagon officials, lunch with Secretary of State George Shultz and a session with special Middle East envoy Donald Rumsfeld to discuss ways to broaden his control of the war-torn country.

An administration official, who requested anonymity, said that in talks with President Reagan, Gemayel was assured of staunch U.S. support.

"Lebanon can count on our help," Reagan told Gemayel in a farewell statement.

But Reagan noted "there is still a long way to go" in securing the pullout of Israeli, Syrian and Palestine Liberation Organization troops from Lebanon.

The official said bluntly there were "no conclusions" on how to proceed, and

"and we're approaching it without euphoria."

Gemayel, the official said, is "looking for mechanisms to implement" the May 17 agreement with Israel which Syria has rejected. Syria has agreed to withdraw only on condition that Israel achieves no gains as a result of its invasion of Lebanon in June 1982, the official said.

"We're talking about a series of steps," the official told reporters. "You're not going to get from me, and I don't think you'll get from the government of Lebanon a grand plan — a description of a magical wand that's going to be waved to get that May 17 plan implemented."

"The impasse is clear," he added.

To create a climate conducive to the removal of foreign troops, the official said the United States wants the Gemayel government to extend its authority — first into unoccupied areas and then into regions now under Israeli and Syrian control.

Beirut Tense After Killing Calendar

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Banks, shops and schools closed in predominantly Moslem West Beirut today to honor an assassinated Druze religious leader, but the Christian half of the city stayed open.

FRIDAY, DEC. 2

The general closing was called by Lebanon's Moslem religious leaders, who gathered today for a memorial service at the West Beirut Druze community center for the Sheikh Halim Takteddine, 54.

In the northern port city of Tripoli, rival Palestinian factions ignored a weeklong, Arab-mediated cease-fire and traded artillery and mortar fire across the northern perimeter of the city.

Rival factions blamed each other for the cease-fire violation, but local residents said the shooting was apparently started by the Syrian-backed opponents of guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat.

Perhaps because the army warned it would arrest all curfew breakers and shoot armed men on sight, Beirut was eerily calm after days of increasing violence that forced President Amin Gemayel's Christian-led government to close Beirut International Airport.

Beirut radio said Takteddine, the second highest-ranking official in the Druze church, let his assailant into his west Beirut apartment around noon Thursday and then sent his maid to prepare coffee.

Examining Dark Galaxies

In launching IRAS, the Infrared Astronomical Satellite, last January, American, British and Dutch scientists undertook nothing less than to map the universe. And they have been spectacularly successful. By the end of this month, when IRAS runs out of the liquid helium coolant on which its infrared sensing devices depend, the scientists expect to have located more than 250,000 objects in space, most of which no one on earth ever knew about before.

What IRAS has been able to "see" are objects in the universe too cool to radiate light and thus previously impossible to detect even with the highest-powered earthbound telescopes. IRAS discovered galaxies, comets, asteroids, and — perhaps most intriguing — massive "clouds" of dust in space, with temperatures barely warmer than absolute zero, where before scientists had thought there was only emptiness.

These dust clouds, the scientists say, are to them "a new component" of the universe, which it may take another 30 years of study to fully understand. But already the IRAS data suggest that many of these dust clouds are in the process of collapsing into stars the size of the sun — that new stars, in fact, are being formed at the rate of one a year in the Milky Way galaxy, far faster than anyone had ever guessed before.

IRAS has sent back data about dark galaxies beyond the Milky Way, which (for reasons still unknown) put out vastly more infrared radiation than visible light, and about a previously unknown dense disk of matter orbiting the star Vega, which may teach us how solar systems are formed. It has discovered five new comets within our own solar system and three dust rings circling the sun (in the area of the solar asteroid belt) that may have been formed by a single cosmic collision thousands of years ago.

The scientists, in their latest progress report on the project, called their IRAS discoveries "astounding" and in sheer quantity "overwhelming." The explorers of our age, they have literally expanded our vistas, redefining the limits of the known universe and of the human capacity to understand it.

Not-So-Late Jesse

Legend, with a little help from 20th Century Fox, has it that Jesse James was just a poor Missouri Civil War veteran forced into a life of crime by an uncaring society. However questionable that notion may be, no one seems to have questioned that James met an early death when a fellow outlaw, Bob Ford, shot him in the back for the reward money.

Until now, that is. Ola Everhard, of Lovington, N.M., who claims she's a third cousin of Jesse James, says she knew him back in the '40s — the 1940s — and that he didn't die until 1951, when he was 103. At least one historian who has interviewed Everhard extensively says he believes her, based on her detailed knowledge and a number of James family letters and other documents.

It seems Jesse wasn't the man gunned down by the infamous Ford; Charlie Bigelow was. Bigelow's wife, who felt mistreated, is said to have been a party to a hoax cooked up by James and Missouri Gov. Thomas Crittenden, who allegedly got most of the reward money after Mrs. Bigelow set up her husband, also an outlaw, for Ford's dastardly act and then claimed the body was that of James.

Jesse, his presumptive cousin says, went to his own funeral, hightailed it to South America for a while, then came back to the United States when his "death" was universally accepted as fact, and lived a quiet life in the Southwest until his natural death long after Hollywood had dramatized his life and death countless times. A skeptic might wonder why he didn't claim some of the royalties.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Andropov? Yuri Andropov? He's not here."

Sheriff John Polk of Sanford has scheduled his first fund-raiser to finance his 1984 re-election campaign.

The barbecue will be held at the Sanford Orlando Kennel Club on Dog Track Road, west of U.S. 17-92, in Longwood, from 2 to 6 p.m. on Dec. 10.

The sheriff is promising refreshments and music along with the barbecue when the "Polk Folks" gather.

Polk, one of the few Democrats in county government, was first elected in 1968, and has served four consecutive four-year terms.

Ed Standley, a Republican and former reserve deputy sheriff, has announced he is opposing Polk's re-election bid.

The other Democratic courthouse officers, both up for re-election next year, are: Tax Collector Troy Ray Jr. and Supervisor of Elections Sandy Goad. Other courthouse officers up for elections and all Republicans are: County Commissioners Bill Kitchin, Barbara Christensen and Robert G. "Bud" Feather; and County Property Appraiser Bill Suber.

State Rep. Carl Selph, R-Casselberry, has been honored by the Florida Association of Realtors as the state association's "Legislator of the Year."

Selph was called the representative who "contributed the most to the protection of private property rights and the preservation of the free enterprise system" during the 1983 session of the Legislature.

Meanwhile, another member of the Seminole County Legislative delegation, Sen. Richard Langley, R-Clermont, was named "1983 Key Legislator in the Florida Senate" by the Federation of Mobile Home owners of Florida.

The federation's official newsletter, the FMO News said, "the federation enjoyed one of the most successful legislative years in its history in 1983 as Florida lawmakers granted mobile residents a wide range of additional protections for their lifestyles, including some that have never before been granted anywhere in the United States."

A member of the Florida Legislature, since 1972, Langley was named recently to a nine-member Mobile Home Study Commission, formed to study the needs of both mobile home park owners and the mobile home owners.

Langley and a member of the Florida House, also named a key legislator, were honored at a dinner held by the State Assembly of the Federation of Mobile Home Owners in Plant City.

DON GRAFF Stacked Deck At The U. N.

"While Washington seems unable to make the United Nations serve its own interests, the USSR has no such problem."

That statement doesn't come from me. It's the Heritage Foundation's, in a study of "Moscow's U.N. Outpost" that has just come to hand.

I don't disagree with it, or much else in the analysis of how the Soviets so consistently outmaneuver us in the high-stakes game on the East River, where their almost automatic majority among some 100 "non-aligned" nations is only part of our problem.

There are several answers to why this should be. In part, it is the result of skillful "conference diplomacy," in the study's words, and the effective use — and abuse — of the U.N. machinery by the Soviets going back many years.

There's also the matter of a U.N. Secretariat stuffed with spies. Over a third of all communist-bloc nationals, in the study's estimate, "are officers of their respective secret police under the direct guidance of the KGB."

The Soviets also have done a thorough job of infiltrating and subverting U.N. specialized agencies and associated non-governmental organizations. As a consequence, they are able to write much of the international agenda and disseminate through U.N. organs a propaganda barrage that "has caused Western nations to become exhausted, exasperated or possibly intimidated into silence."

There's more, some of it a bit shrill; but the Heritage people still make a strong case.

Where I part with it is in the recommendations for dealing with an admittedly bad situation. They would clean house at the Secretariat, require personnel to be politically impartial as stipulated by the Charter, condemn Soviet violations of U.N. procedures and restrict the size of communist missions.

All this at the insistence of the United States and its allies.

Forget it. It could never happen. Or if it did, it would mean the dissolution of the United Nations. This might be a solution of sorts, but quite a different one from that intended: to shape up the organization.

The United Nations, oversold to start with, has never and will never function as its own Charter. In the more idealistic passages, would have it. Let alone as we would ideally prefer it.

If a strong case can be made for curtailing or even severing this country's U.N. connection — as the Heritage study does without really saying so — one can also be made for keeping it going.

Imperfect as it is, it has its uses. It is a universal forum. It brings nations together to confront, if not necessarily to resolve, world issues. It compels public debate of those issues and the debates do have an effect.

Forget the specific wording of resolutions, the breakdown of votes and the vetoes. The Soviet Union has been hurt by the U.N. string of Afghanistan and the airliner atrocity.

Our U.N. problem is to a very considerable extent of our own making. If the Soviets have used and abused the U.N. machinery, we have misused it.

There has been no consistency in U.S. policy toward the organization or continuity of representation.

ABC-TV Almost Got Pentagon Help

WASHINGTON — The grim depiction of a nuclear holocaust in the television movie, "The Day After," caused consternation at the White House because it may undercut administration efforts at deterrence-through-strength instead of a nuclear freeze.

The White House reaction to the film was not surprising. What is astonishing is that ABC came close to getting the Pentagon's full cooperation in shooting the film.

Defense Department documents reviewed by my associate Tony Capaccio indicate that official cooperation may have depended on a few seconds of dialogue that many viewers could easily have missed in the two-hour, 15-minute show.

ABC first approached the Pentagon's audio-visual division in May 1982 with a draft script. The network wanted the military to provide National Guardsmen, helicopters, troop carriers, jeeps and pickup trucks — plus

Reagan Is On A Roll

NEW YORK (NEA) — Congress is preparing for the holidays, 1983 is drawing to a close and the curtain will soon rise on that guaranteed quadrennial spectacle, a presidential election year. Is it, do you suppose, pure coincidence that just at this point Ronald Reagan is visibly "on a roll"?

His administration to date could be charted (though hardly evaluated, let alone fully appreciated) by just listing the successive campaigns waged against him by the media. During the first two-thirds of 1981, when Mr. Reagan was pushing his basic programs through Congress, it seemed that every television newscast featured yet another little old black lady being interviewed on how she enjoyed the prospect of starving to death. (Most of them didn't like it very much.) Then, when the Reagan proposals had been passed and Wall Street failed to take off immediately for the stratosphere, the networks switched to asking obliging young market analysts "what signal the market is giving us." (The desired answer, of course, was that the market didn't think "Reaganomics" would work.) Finally, after a slow start, the unemployment statistics began to rise as the recession deepened, and we were treated to monthly orgies of despair on that account.

These basic themes were ornamented from time to time with lesser motifs of various sorts — the Burford flap at EPA, the Watt fuss at Interior, etc. At one point, when the inevitable infighting seemed to warrant it, the media declared hopefully that the Reagan administration was in a general state of "disarray." Wise old owls like Bill Safire and Lou Cannon just didn't see how Ronald Reagan could bring himself to face the voters again.

Yet, here we are in December 1983, with Election Day only 11 months away, and what do we see? The scornful word "Reaganomics" has virtually disappeared from discussions of public affairs. Inflation has been whipped; interest rates are sharply down; the stock market (in whose "signal" the networks have totally lost interest) is joyfully registering new highs. Unemployment has dropped nearly two full percentage points; merchants are getting ready for the best Christmas season in recent memory; even the Detroit car manufacturers are posting impressive gains.

In foreign affairs, too, there is reason for satisfaction in the Oval Office. All three of our key allies — Britain, Germany and Japan — are currently led by staunch conservatives very much in Mr. Reagan's own mold. He has just returned from a triumphant state visit to the Far East. The terrible blow of the Beirut car-bombing was greatly softened, in terms of political fallout, by the invasion of Grenada which immediately followed, and which has proved so popular, according to the polls, that the Democrats reversed themselves in midair and endorsed it. Thanks in part to the shooting down of the Korean airliner, Mr. Reagan obtained from Congress the necessary funds to deploy the MX missiles, while in Europe the Soviet effort to block the deployment of NATO's new IRBM's through popular protests was a failure. Even ABC-TV's own cynical contribution to the hysteria, "The Day After," turned out to be an anticlimactic bust.

Is it any wonder that Tip O'Neill looks positively stricken in recent photographs, or that he has begun lashing out wildly at Mr. Reagan, like a boxer who feels his last reserves of strength ebbing away? Now you see why Ted Kennedy decided to spend 1984 with his children.

Of course, all this is not to say that there aren't grim problems still facing the administration. Domestically, the projected budget deficits are much too large and — since any revenues raised by higher taxes would simply be spent to reduce them — the only possible solution is further cuts in spending, which will have to wait until after the elections. Abroad, the stationing of U.S. Marines in Lebanon poses an obvious peril of more casualties, while their premature withdrawal might trigger a dangerous war between Israel and Syria.

But nobody doubts, right now, that there is an authentic president in the White House, who knows what he wants and how to go about getting it. And the comfort of that realization may prove to be the most gratifying achievement of a brilliant administration.

wrote, "is definitely not a U.S. policy."

ABC modified this sequence to the Pentagon's satisfaction.

Another problem in the first draft was a scene in the closing minutes showing a military firing squad executing a man by the side of the road. "The military firing squad scene is a gross error," the analyst wrote to the film's producer, "particularly since it appears at a place in the scenario where civil authority has been re-established."

The scene — only a few seconds' long — was changed to make the firing squad civil militia, a distinction that was probably lost on most viewers.

The eventual stumbling block to Pentagon cooperation was a sequence involving a radio report that NATO armored units had invaded East Germany, followed by Soviet retaliation. A memo dated June 7, 1982, expressed the opinion that the ABC script was "edging more toward an accurate por-

ROBERT WAGMAN Can Top Dems Halt The Chaos?

WASHINGTON (NEA) — We might be nearing the end of the season's longest-running political soap opera: the continuing battle over the Democratic Party's primary schedule.

The controversy centers on the party's effort to bring order to its primary season by decreeing that all primaries and caucuses must take place between March 13 and June 12. There were two exceptions: the New Hampshire primary, which could take place one week earlier, and the Iowa caucus, scheduled for the weekend before the New Hampshire primary. The exceptions were made because the two states had followed the same schedules for many years.

Then Vermont rolled the waters by scheduling a non-binding "beauty contest" for March 6 — the original date of the New Hampshire primary — and Maine followed suit by moving its primary to March 4. New Hampshire feared that the impact of its primary would be diluted, and it advanced its primary by one week — and then Iowa followed suit by moving its caucus one week ahead.

Democratic National Committee Chairman Charles Manatt said that the DNC would stick to its guns: If New Hampshire and Iowa stuck to their week-ahead plan, he said, the party would not recognize delegates from those states. Instead, the DNC would adopt an alternative means of selecting official convention delegates.

Since this pronouncement, the factions involved have hardened their positions. The DNC has approved the March 4 Maine test. New Hampshire reaffirmed a Feb. 28 date, and Iowa followed suit by voting to hold its caucus on Feb. 20.

In doing so, Iowa tried to shift the blame to New Hampshire, saying it was moving its caucus ahead only because New Hampshire was moving up its primary. Iowa agreed to move its caucus back to Feb. 28 — to the date preferred by the DNC — if New Hampshire would move its primary back to March 6.

In his response, New Hampshire party chief George Bruno said that state law binds him to schedule his primary a week earlier than any other. Therefore, he said, New Hampshire must hold its primary on Feb. 28. He tried to shift the blame back on the DNC by noting that they had approved the earlier Maine and Vermont tests.

The candidates find all of this mad, denying: They still don't know when the early primaries will be, or even if the Iowa and New Hampshire contests will count. All of their plans have been based on the eight days between the Iowa and New Hampshire contests, but the two contests could end up taking place on successive days. The candidates might even have to return to both states at a later date to campaign in a second "official" contest — and this after they've used up all of the funds that federal election laws let them spend in each state.

Therefore, the candidates have not stepped rather forcefully into the fray. They've told Manatt to get the matter straightened out — and fast.

Manatt seems to be softening his stance. In one meeting with reporters, he said the dispute has become counterproductive and could impede the election of Democrats.

trayal of the anti-NATO unilateral disarmament freeze position current in Soviet propaganda than toward an accurate portrayal of U.S. positions."

Pentagon officials suggested that the sequence of events described in the radio broadcast be reversed — Soviet planes violating West German air space before the NATO armored strike against East Germany.

ABC inserted a new introductory sentence in the fictional radio broadcast. But the thrust of the radio broadcast — that NATO forces had made the first move — remained intact.

A letter drafted to inform ABC that it would not get Pentagon cooperation said: "Despite the addition of a new introductory sentence, scenes still convey the impression of a NATO offensive against East Germany followed by a defensive Warsaw Pact response."

The letter was never sent. Instead, ABC was notified by telephone.

Gardening

Christmas Cactus Popular Holiday Eye-Catcher

No gardening column would be complete this time of the year without instructions on the care and management of the popular Christmas cactus. These popular, attractive plants can be found in almost every flower shop and garden center during the Christmas season. They will all be at the peak of bloom period at this time as a result of light and temperature management by the nurseryman producing them. Your success in producing blooms in the future will depend on the knowledge proper procedures to follow.

holiday eye-catcher that produces blooms ranging from red, to pink, to white and combinations of these colors. If you have nurtured your Christmas cactus since last year you will likely want it to bloom at this time. Certain procedures should have been followed in order to be successful.

To make a Christmas cactus bloom properly, you must carefully control the temperature and the amount of light it receives. If the nighttime temperature is maintained between 50 and 55 degrees Fahrenheit, flower buds will form regardless of day length. But if the night temperature is between 55 and 70 degrees, your cactus will need 13 hours of uninterrupted darkness per day to set buds. With nighttime temperatures between 70 and 85 degrees, your cactus will require more darkness — about 15 hours in every 24.

Excessive heat, temperatures above 90 degrees, may cause bud drop. Temperature and short day treatment should be continued until buds are well developed which may mean six to nine weeks.

In the home, Christmas cacti grow well in pots and hanging baskets. During the warm weather they can be grown outdoors but must be brought indoors during winter. Indoors, Christmas cacti prefer a location near a sunny window.

Christmas cacti should be planted in a well-drained medium containing organic matter. A mixture of 2 parts perlite and 3 parts peat is excellent. A soluble house plant fertilizer should be applied every 10 to 30 days, depending on the light and growth.

Christmas cacti need careful watering. Too little or too much will cause flower drop. The plant should receive frequent light waterings, but the soil should never be allowed to remain wet. Good drainage is essential. Overwatering — usually results in root rot.

Christmas cacti are relatively disease free. Mealy bugs are the major insect problem. Light infestations can be controlled by removing bugs with tweezers. You can also wash the plants with soapy water, using a soft brush or cloth.

There are a few problems, but with a little care and special attention, you can enjoy healthy plants and attractive flowers during much of the year, especially throughout the Christmas season.

All Extension Programs are open to anyone regardless of race, color, sex or national origin.

Dare To Be Great, Mom? Here's 10 Tips To Help

DEAR ABBY: The younger generation was asked to submit 10 tips on how to be a good kid, right? Well, I'm a 15-year-old girl who put together 10 tips on how to be a great mom. Here they are:

Dear Abby

1. Don't yell at your kids in front of everyone. (Wait until you get home.)
2. Don't compare your kids to other siblings. ("Joe never did that at your age" and "Karen always got A's in math.")
3. If your teen-agers are at a party, roller rink or the movies, and the curfew is 11 p.m., don't run in screaming at 11:05 to tell them they're late.
4. Don't take things away for the wrong reason. Example: If your son didn't mow the lawn, don't take away his concert ticket; make him mow the lawn.
5. Don't make your kids wear clothes they hate. It's embarrassing to be different from their friends.
6. If you don't like your kids' friends, don't try to keep them apart. It will just make them more determined to get together.
7. Don't snoop around in your kids' rooms, reading diaries or personal letters. (How would you like them to do that to you?)
8. If your children have messy rooms, don't tidy them up — let them do it, and if they don't, they will have to live in them — not you.
9. Don't say "yes" to something one day and "no" the next. It's embarrassing for us to tell our friends that Mom has changed her mind.

10. Tell your children that you love them. They need to hear those words.

TERRION LONG ISLAND

DEAR ABBY: The holidays are closing in. Please ask your readers not to send magazine subscriptions as gifts without first checking to see if they are desired or perhaps duplicates.

My mailbox is cluttered with such. Later come the follow-ups asking me to re-subscribe to magazines I didn't want in the first place.

A subscription to the daily newspaper or one's hometown weekly is a welcome gift.

It bothers me to know that a well-meaning friend has spent money on a gift that is unread, then tossed out.

L. IN SEATTLE

DEAR L.: I read you. And I hope my readers read you (and me), too.

DEAR ABBY: Is it characteristic of all old men to talk back to the TV? It is most upsetting because when my husband watches TV, it sounds like there are three people in the living room — when it's only him.

When I am talking on the phone, the party I'm talking to always asks, "Do you have company?" I'm ashamed to admit it's just my husband talking to the TV.

Abby, is my husband senile, or is this a form of insanity? Don't use our name. He is retired and everybody thinks he's normal.

TALKER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: He may be perfectly all right, so unless you have other reasons to question your husband's mental well-being, don't worry about it. Thank your lucky stars you have a man who's alive, occupied and entertained. But it might be good for him to get out of the house and talk to some "real" people occasionally.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I moved away from our hometown three years ago because we wanted our children to grow up in a smaller, slower-paced city. We love it here. My husband has family here, but we are 2,000 miles away from my family.

My mother resents my husband for having moved so far from her, but she frequently and willingly comes to visit. When she's here she ignores my husband and acts very bored. Normally she is fun, energetic and likable, so her attitude here is an obvious demonstration of resentment toward my husband. I have asked my husband to overlook it because we see her only a few times a year.

The problem: My husband has had it with her behavior and says if I don't have a talk with her, he will. I doubt that he will be very diplomatic because she really upsets him.

I love them both. How can I solve this problem?

IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: Tell your mother in a loving way that when she sulks, ignores your husband and acts bored while she's a guest in your home, she is hurting you. Explain that he is upset with her and you don't blame him, so if she loves you as much as you love her, she will lighten up and conduct herself as an adult, because her pouting is putting a strain on your marriage.

P.S. And it might help to remind her that your husband did not kidnap you. It was a joint decision to move.

In And Around Geneva

Community Spirit Days

The next two Saturdays have been declared "Community Spirit Days" by Geneva Elementary School. Mrs. Adele Dorman, teacher at Geneva Elementary, applied for a state grant this summer and the funds in the amount of $1,600 are now available to build a perceptual motor playground.

The money awarded will pay for the wood and other natural materials necessary to build the mass of equipment, and the "Community Spirit Days" will hopefully produce the manpower and skills needed to build the 10-station system.

Mrs. Dorman said, "Mr. Bob Hughes, father of second grader Danny, has graciously accepted the challenge of chairing the building committee." Mr. Hughes hopes that everyone in Geneva who knows how to use a screwdriver and hammer will show up Saturday, Dec. 3 at 10 a.m. to help with the project. If everything goes according to schedule, the new physical education equipment should be ready for use on Monday, Dec. 12.

The equipment will include the likes of "over and under" stations, wood and rope ladders similar to those used in military training, and telephone cable spools. The site selected for the building of the Perceptual Motor Playground is the present field where the 4-H horse jumps are located.

Mrs. Dorman added that the school hopes that this will be the first phase of a community wide effort to produce more opportunity for "healthy activities" utilizing school property. It has been suggested that the next project might include a pavilion and picnic facilities.

If you have announcements of community interest, have a birthday anniversary to announce, or other social news for those in Geneva, please telephone 349-5790.

Tribe Pressure Wilts Wildcats — Lyman, Lady Hawks Roll On

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

Sanford's Lady Seminoles used their bench strength at pressure defense to wear down Winter Park's Lady Wildcats Thursday night as the Lady Tribe opened the regular season with a 67-55 victory at Seminole High.

Winter Park handled the pressure well for three quarters, but Seminole's relentless defense enabled the Lady Tribe to pull away in the fourth quarter. Mona Benton led the way for Seminole with 24 points followed by Dielre Hillery with 20 and Maxine Campbell added eight. Tina Pinkney led Winter Park with 18 points while Nina Tobin added 13 and Harriett Battiste nine.

"We didn't want to play their (Winter Park's) game," Seminole coach Ron Merthle said. "They like to slow it down and pass it around. So, we pressed them for four quarters and wore them down."

Seminole upped its record to 3-1 and it will be in action Monday against Seminole County rival Lake Mary. Winter Park fell to 2-3. "We'll have to rebound well Monday," Merthle said. "That will be the key for us against Lake Mary."

Tobin and Pinkney collected 10 points each in the first half as Winter Park held a slim 30-28 lead at halftime. However, Tobin picked up her fourth foul early in the third quarter and that opened up the inside for the Lady Seminoles which outscored Winter Park, 17-9. With Hillery scoring eight points in the last two minutes of the third quarter, Seminole took a 45-39 lead into the fourth.

Tobin came back in in the fourth and combined with Finkney to pull the Lady Wildcats within two points, 47-45, early in the quarter. But, Seminole kept the pressure on and Winter Park, which played mostly with five players the entire game, couldn't handle it. Seminole built a 10-point lead, 57-47, with 4:30 left to play and cruised to the victory.

"We've got our work cut out for us this year," Merthle said. "And we're a long ways from arriving. But, I was very pleased with our performance tonight."

Merthle was also pleased with Campbell's play. She missed the first three games of the season but came out strong with an improved attitude Thursday night, according to Merthle. "Maxine did real well," Merthle said. "She's ready to play and do as much as she can for the team."

WINTER PARK (55) — Pinkney 18, Battiste 9, Ferree 5, Tobin 13, Carver 4, Pierre 6. Totals: 247-1655.

SEMINOLE (67) — Benton 24, Carpenter 6, Pringle 2, Hillery 20, Campbell 8, Smith 3, Stallworth 4, Anderson 0, Jenkins 0. 28 11-18 67.

Halftime score: Winter Park 30, Seminole 28. Total fouls: Seminole 22, Winter Park 24. Fouled out: Hillery.

LYMAN 59, Lake Brantley 45
Four players scored in double figures Thursday night to lead Lyman's Lady Greyhounds to a 59-45 victory over Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots at Lake Brantley High.

Kim Forsyth led the way with 15 points followed by Kim Goroum with 14 and Kim Lemon and Valerie Jackson with 12 apiece. Forsyth and Lemon led the Lady Greyhounds underneath with 12 rebounds each.

"We had pretty good balance both in scoring and rebounding," Lyman coach Dick Copeland said. Lyman now stands at 2-0 for the season and will go up against Seminole County rival Lake Howell Monday at Lake Howell.

Lyman broke open a close game with a 18-10 second quarter blitz to take a 28-20 halftime lead. The Lady Greyhounds continued to build the lead in the third and fourth quarters to clinch the victory.

Michele Brown led Lake Brantley with 15 points, Linda Nunez added 12 and Kim Lubenow and Sherry "Ice" Asplen had eight apiece. The Lady Patriots fell to 1-3 for the year with the loss.

LYMAN (59) — Forsyth 15, Jackson 12, Bouey 2, Goroum 14, Lemon 12, Lubbee 3. Totals: 24 11-17 59.

LAKE BRANTLEY (45) — Lubenow 8, Asplen 8, Nunez 12, Brown 15, Mickle 2. Totals: 20 5-8 45.

Halftime score: Lyman 28, Lake Brantley 20. Total fouls: Lyman 12, Lake Brantley 14. Fouled out: none.

Lake Howell 77, Colonial 39

In other action, Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks improved to 5-1 for the season with a 77-39 rout of Orlando Colonial.

Tammy Johnson poured in 21 points to lead the Lady Hawks while Mary Johnson added 17 and Janene Brown tossed in 14.

Gators, Seminoles Gear Up For Big 1

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — Florida and Florida State are both bowl-bound but the Gators and Seminoles have some unfinished business — each other.

The 11th-ranked Gators, 7-2-1, host the explosive Seminoles, 6-4, Saturday afternoon in a nationally televised contest at sold-out Florida Field.

Even though the Miami Hurricanes are 10-1 — their only loss came in the opening game to Florida — and play No. 1 Nebraska in the Orange Bowl, the Florida-Florida State game is viewed as the showdown for state supremacy.

"One thing about playing Florida every year — I don't have to make any speeches to the team," said Seminole

College Football

Coach Bobby Bowden. "Those things never work anyway. If a guy can't get himself ready to play in this game, there must be something wrong with him."

In a switch from recent seasons, Gator Bowl-bound Florida has more to lose this year. Last year, the Seminoles were riding high when the Gators knocked them off, 13-10, in Tallahassee.

The Seminoles, heading for the Peach Bowl to play North Carolina, are gunning to return the favor.

"Florida is as good as any team in the country," said Bowden. "They are that far from playing for the national championship."

To keep in step, Florida Coach Charley Pell says the Seminoles' record belies their talent.

"They've got such big-play capability," said Pell, noting the Seminoles are averaging 34 points and 463 yards a game. "Every play is so important when you play Florida State."

Pell also says the Seminole defense isn't as bad as some might believe.

"Their defense has played good football the last three weeks. They're probably the most improved defensive team in America. They're beginning to make those big plays."

Florida, which will play Iowa in the Gator Bowl, banks on its senior offensive and defensive leaders — quarterback Wayne Peace and linebacker Wilber Marshall.

Meanwhile, the Seminoles count heavily on running back Greg Allen, who has rushed for 1,080 yards and 12 touchdowns.

A question mark for Florida State is senior quarterback Kelly Lowrey, who underwent arthroscopic knee surgery on Nov. 14. Bowden expects Lowrey to play, but Junior Bob Davis will probably start.

For Seminole County fans, the game presents an interesting matchup as Sanford sophomore defensive tackle Isaac Williams, an all-stater at Seminole High, battles former Lake Brantley standout Scott Trimble, a 6-5, 300-pound senior. Is an offensive tackle for the Gators.

Biorhythms Aren't Right For Chargers, Rams Romp, 42-10

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — San Diego tight end Kellen Winslow offered a possible explanation after the Los Angeles Raiders scored 42 unanswered points Thursday night and clinched the AFC Western Division title with a 42-10 win over the Chargers.

"Maybe the biorhythms weren't right today," said Winslow. "We got trounced thoroughly." Whatever the reason, San Diego fell to 5-9 and out of playoff contention for the first time in six years.

The Raiders, 11-3, won their ninth division crown in the past 12 years.

Los Angeles, behind Todd Christensen's three touchdown receptions, exploded after San Diego had built a 10-0 lead in the first half on a 5-yard touchdown pass from Dan Fouts to Chuck Munce and a 24-yard Rod Benirschke field goal.

Pro Football

"We're notorious for being slow starters," said Christensen. "It took us a while to get going but then Jim (Plunkett) started reading the defenses a little better. It was only a matter of time."

Fouts put together a 7-play, 52-yard scoring drive capped by Munce's TD. He hit Charlie Joiner for 12 yards to bring the ball to the 5 and then threw the scoring pass to Munce on the next play. The Chargers gave their arch-rivals a hard-nosed game through much of the first half, but a razzle-dazzle halfback option pass from Marcus Allen to Christensen triggered the explosion with 1:50 to go in the first half.

The Charger defense reacted to Allen once he got the ball, giving Christensen the jump he needed to beat two defenders and cut the Charger lead to 10-7.

Watch Out For Lake Mary — Patriots, Hawks Rebuild

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

When a wrestling program is just three years old, no one expects it to knock heads with the powers of the Central Florida, much less the state.

But when a wrestling program returns one state champion and another grappler which made it too the final four — then county, Central Florida and state powerhouses better watch out.

More than any other athletic program at Lake Mary High School, coach Frank Schwartz' wrestling Rams exemplify Lake Mary's credo, "The Beginning of the Best." The Rams open the season tonight against Leesburg at home with the junior varelly match getting underway at 6:30 and the varsity set for 8.

"The Rams should be the best in the county, the best in Central Florida...and maybe, if all opponents fall in place, the best in the state. Six returning standouts make that possible for a team which won 11 of 15 matches in just its second season last fall.

"I thought we were the third best team in Central Florida last year behind Bishop Moore and Edgewater," said Schwartz, who is ably assisted by former OCF All-America Doug Peters. "Our seniors are real strong. We have several people like Jack Likens, Robert Rawls, Bob Olson, Ivan Carbia and Ned Kolbjornsen who will win every time out."

Likens, simply, is the best. He was undefeated in his weight class last year (107) and capped a brilliant season by winning the state 3A championship. He is an unusual position where he could win back-to-back state titles in different classifications as the Rams move into the 4A and Five Star Conference this year. He added district and regional championships, too. The intelligent senior will wrestle at 121 but drop to 114 for the tournaments.

"Jack has worked hard on the weights to go along with his moves," said Schwartz about Seminole County's Wrestler of the Year. "He will be very tough at the state level again."

Rawls, a 300-pound behemoth, posted a 29-3 record along with unlimited district and regional titles. "Robert's gotten a lot quicker this year," said Schwartz. "He's going to become a state champion."

Schwartz, who built a state-contending program at Lake Howell several years ago, also thinks senior Bob Olson has a shot at state honors. Olson will wrestle at 148 tonight but will go down to 140 for the tourneys. "Bob is the meanest wrestler we have," said Schwartz. Olson was 22-3 and won the district last year.

Kolbjornsen, a senior who blossomed into a strong, 240-pounder as the Rams' center on the football team, hasn't lost any quickness. "Ned is a three-year starter," said Schwartz. "His wrestling knowledge along with his added strength should make this a championship year for him."

Not all of Lake Mary's strength, though, comes from the senior class. It has several fine sophomores that Schwartz is counting on to come through. The best is Ivan Carbia (115). "Ivan is the sleeper," said Schwartz. "People don't know about him because the 100-pound class was so tough last year. We'll start him at 115, but he'll go down to 109 where he should be untouchable."

Other tough sophs include Matt Broberg (128), Tom Olson (135), Brent Moran (148), Dale Reisenhuler

(108) and Craig Johnson (100). "Broberg was most valuable on the J.V. last year," said Schwartz. "He has worked a lot with Likens which has helped him. Matt's very strong physically and will surprise a lot of people."

Tom Olson is Bob's brother and Schwartz is expecting him to follow his successful footsteps. "He needs to polish his moves some, but he has a great future here," said Schwartz. Moran is up from a good J.V. campaign while Johnson is rated "tough for opponents to control because of his strength." Reisenhuler and Johnson has limited experience but both have good knowledge, said Schwartz.

Two grapplers the Rams were counting heavily on were felled by injuries and won't be available for three weeks. Brent Blakely (158), who Schwartz calls "the most important wrestler on the team," suffered a broken hand in a wrestle off this week. "That was a shame," said Schwartz. "Brent was the hardest working kid we had this year. But he'll be back at practice as soon as he gets his cast. He's determined to show everybody this year."

The other injury was to Mark Lingquist (148). The district place winner had arthroscopic surgery on his knee and will be sidelined until Dec. 13.

A pair of juniors, Walter White or David Kingsbury, will be at 170. White wrestled at Miami South Dade last year. Kingsbury is a three year wrestler.

Willie Green, third in the district last year, will be at 188. "Willie has shown championship forms at times," said Schwartz. "If he can develop some consistency, he will be very tough."

Another topnotch junior is Todd Beauchamp, a three-year grappler at 140. Schwartz said he has the experience to go a long way.

The Rams' will have great depth at 222 or unlimited with Ed Ades. The aggressive senior was a standout guard on the football team and was third in the district last year at 220. This year, though, Kolbjornsen and Rawls have made it tough for him to get mat time.

"We should be real strong," concluded Schwartz. "We have the senior leadership and great individuals. But we're starting a lot of sophomores. They have to come through for us."

Lady Seminoles Win 1st — Boone Blanks Boys, Rams, Lyman Win

Seminole's girls soccer team may have just been born yesterday — but it sure didn't play like it. The Lady Tribe, in its first game ever, upended Trinity Prep's Lady Saints, 3-2, Thursday night at Seminole High.

"For just three weeks practice, it was an incredible performance," said veteran coach Suzy Reno. "All the girls did a great job."

Goalkeeper Sherri Rumlir, who was a standout performer for the Sanford Soccer Club during her younger years, turned in a solid first half with seven saves including a great grab on a penalty kick three minutes before halftime.

Susana Hauman provided the offense with an unassisted goal as the Lady Seminoles battled to a 1-1 first-half deadlock.

In the second half, Reno made a key move by switching Rumlir to center forward and she responded with a goal on a nice assist from Christy Gonzales. Rumlir then returned the favor later in the half, feeding Gonzales for what turned out to be the game-winning goal.

Hauman took over the net for the second half and saved seven shots. She was backed by strong defensive play from Lisa Myers, Tracy McNeil, Ginger Fussell and Briney Tyre. Sanford's offensive leaders were Susan Mann, Alicia Huaman and Gonzalez.

Seminole takes its 1-0 record on the road Saturday against the powerful Lady Greyhounds of Lyman High. The game is scheduled for 7 p.m. at Lyman High.

Boone 2, Seminole 0

Seminole High's soccer team opened the season against some pretty tough competition in Orlando Boone, but the Tribe played well against the Braves, considered one of the top teams in the state, before dropping a 2-0 decision at Boone High.

"Considering the caliber of team we played we did very well," Seminole coach Howard Hawkins said. "Boone has a fine all-around team."

Seminole is back in action Tuesday in a Five Star Conference matchup at Daytona Beach Mainland.

It was a defensive game most of the first half as Boone's only goal came with 11 minutes until halftime as Bobby Seros gave Boone a 1-0 lead and it stayed that way until halftime.

Boone put its second score on the board with 15 minutes left in the match as Dean Warren kicked one in from 12-yards out.

Prep Soccer

Senior goalkeeper Rob Cohen turned in a fine performance with 13 saves. Defensive standouts included Tim Dycus, Stan Baron and Marc Disque while Jessie Rutherford was the offensive leader.

Lake Mary Boys 8, Santa Fe 1

ORLANDO — Lake Mary scored three goals in two minutes late in the first half and built a commanding 5-0 halftime lead en route to a 8-1 shelling of Lakeland Santa Fe Thursday in the opening round of the Evans Kickoff Invitational soccer tournament at Double E Stadium.

The Rams take on host Evans tonight at 8 for the tourney title. Evans upended DeLand, 3-1, in Thursday's other first round game.

"We looked good except for one 20-minute span in the first half," Lake Mary coach Larry McCorkle said. "Those three goals in two minutes was the game. The big lead enabled us to let a lot of players get in the game."

Lake Mary pretty much dominated from beginning to end. The Rams took 53 shots on goal compared to only three for Santa Fe. Donald Kelly and Durrand Richards led Lake Mary with two goals apiece.

Lake Mary's first goal came five minutes into the game as Paul Holmes broke the ice for a 1-0 lead. Nine minutes into the game, Markus Siebmann and Kelly teamed up on a give-and-go with Kelly passing to Siebmann for the goal and a 2-0 Lake Mary lead.

Neither team scored again for 20 minutes, but Lake Mary erupted for three goals in the last four minutes of the first half. Andre Sanders scored the Rams' third goal on a header after a corner kick. One minute later, Richards' shot deflected off a Santa Fe defender and into the goal. Kelly gave Lake Mary a 5-0 lead as he slipped one in past the Santa Fe goalie.

Kelly scored his second goal on an assist from Siebmann in the first minute of the second half and Richards' second goal gave the Rams a 7-0 lead. Lake Mary's eighth goal came on a penalty kick by Jerry Meyers.

Lyman Boys 3, Edgewater 2 (OT)

ORLANDO — Goalie Ben Ritter turned in several good saves and Mark Williamson booted in the deciding goal in the overtime shootout as the Lyman Greyhounds topped Edgewater, 3-2, in the prep soccer opener for both teams at Double E Stadium Wednesday.

"Our goalkeeper made good saves all night," said coach Jim Buckman. "Ben Ritter came into his own tonight. He grew up."

Lyman, 1-0 received two first-half goals from sophomore flash Brian Oasek to take a 2-0 lead at halftime, but Edgewater, 0-1, came back with two in the final 40 minutes to send the game into overtime.

Each team scored on its first four shots until Williamson kicked the game-winner and Ritter turned in a big save.

Lyman's junior varsity used two goals from Gerard Mitchell and one apiece by Scott Kowalski and Zachary Craft to post a 4-1 victory over Edgewater in Wednesday's first match.

The Greyhounds travel to Orlando to play Boone Tuesday. The JV match is at 5 p.m. with the varsity following at 7 p.m.

In Thursday's Evening Herald it was incorrectly reported that Tom Barnes was the Lyman girls' soccer coach. Cathy Well has been the coach of the Lady Greyhounds for the past two years.

Spartans, Terrapins Want Out Of Jersey

United Press International

Forget the shore and the beaches downstate. Forget the crap tables in Atlantic City.

Get Michigan State University out of New Jersey. For that matter, get the University of Maryland out as well.

The Spartans, ranked No. 13 in the country, and the Terrapins, ranked No. 9, were part of a double-header in East Rutherford, N.J., Thursday night and they would have done as well not to cross the state line.

St. Peter's of Jersey City, with the nation's best defense last year, took care of Michigan State 73-66 in the opener and Ohio State finished the evening by beating Maryland 72-68.

The Peacocks had much to be proud of as its gritty defense forced Michigan State off its game. Tommy Best struck for 22 points with seven rebounds and Shelton Gibbs added 20 points and nine rebounds.

In other Top 20 games, No. 10 Arkansas ripped Southeast Missouri 98-69; No. 11 Louisiana State defeated Washington 51-48; No. 14 Fresno State battered Cal-Davis 92-49; and No. 19 Kansas downed St. Louis 67-63.

At Fayetteville, Ark., Joe Kleine scored 19 points and Alvin Robertson added 18 to give the Razorbacks their third victory in four games. Arkansas, with good work from freshman Mike Ratliff, shot 78 percent in the second half.

At Baton Rouge, La., Derrick Taylor tossed in 16 points and Leonard Mitchell grabbed 16 rebounds as LSU had a surprisingly difficult time. Washington sliced an 11-point deficit to 49-48 with 45 seconds left before the Tigers sealed it at the line.

Seminole High's David Linton and Ed Rinkavage both turned in outstanding senior seasons and were selected to the Five Star All-Conference First Team, selected by the conference coaches.

Linton, a guard, made the first team offense which was dominated by conference powers Apopka and Lake Brantley. The Seminole senior guard graded out as the Tribe's top blocker just about every week.

Rinkavage, a linebacker, made first team defense. The hard-hitting senior collected over 100 tackles for the season which ranked him third in the county. He had one 15-tackle game early in the season.

Lake Brantley's Donnie O'Brian was a unanimous choice among the linebackers. Brantley placed three linemen on the first team offense including tackle Brian Hamman, guard Bill Neville and center Curt Mull.

Lake Howell running back Jay Robey was the only other county player selected to the first team offense.

Alpha Golf Schools Schedule Specialized 4-Day Instruction

Beginning in early December, Alpha Golf Schools, Inc., will offer a new series of multi-site instructional programs. Schools are scheduled to be implemented over the Eastern half of the U.S. with three sites in Central Florida kicking off the four-day, weekend-oriented programs, announced spokesman Joseph Deluca Thursday.

Errol Estate in Apopka, Indigo Lakes in Daytona Beach and the Plantation in Crystal River will host the first three sites. Twenty additional Florida sites will be soon be announced.

The Alpha Golf School organization is composed of PGA teaching professionals and a group of recreational consultants who have designed a golf school that differs markedly from the conventional resort-oriented schools.

"An extensive study of the golfing public and its instructional needs was done in 1983," said Deluca. "A pilot school was run in Pennsylvania for nine weeks. All sessions were sold out and the results were extremely good."

Deluca likes the Alpha program for three reasons — instruction, cost and location. He said with the usual golf teaching program the instructor can show the student improvement for four or five days, but when the pro is gone, the student falls back into his bad habits. Deluca said the Alpha program helps the student identify the swing problem and know when to correct it.

Deluca said most golf class of four to five days of instruction cost $1,000-2,000. "The Alpha School of four days is just $375 and is designed to reach a broad cross section of golfer."

With the three prime locations in Florida (Apopka, Daytona Beach and Plantation), Deluca said all three are in commuting areas for the players.

"The school characteristics are laid out with every golfer in mind," he said. "Anyone who desires golf instruction can come out to our schools."

For more information, contact the Alpha Golf Schools at 422-2046.

...Watch Out

"But tournament-wise, this team is better than anyone I had at Lake Howell."

While Schwartz has the luxury of every wrestler returning, two other county coaches — Lake Brantley's Kevin Carpinger and Lake Howell's Joe Corso — face major rebuilding jobs.

Carpinger lost his ace, Jamie Offenberg (114), when he moved to Ohio. Jim Martin, a solid 100-pounder, decided not to wrestle. "We've got five guys back which means eight new starters," said Carpinger. "I was encouraged by our scrimmage the other day, though. We should be better than expected after losing all those people."

Lake Brantley doesn't open until next Friday when it hosts Seminole and Oak Ridge. Carpinger is counting heavily on junior Joe Waresak at 167 this year. Waresak, a multi-talented athlete who has been troubled by knee injuries, won the U.S. Federation Tournament earlier this year at Lyman.

The Patriots' lineup looks like this for Friday: freshman Andy Tousignan at 100, sophomore Kevin Greenstein or freshman Danny Roth at 107, Lyman sophomore transfer Chris Battle at 114, senior Mike Mansfield at 121, sophomore Dan Streetman at 128, junior Dan Black at 134, sophomore Steve Drake at 140, senior Rick Harry at 147, senior David Kohn, junior Ruben Perez or sophomore Tony Rinard at 157, Waresak at 167, junior Dean Shirley or senior Chris Anderson at 187, senior Richard Shumann at 222 and sophomore Andy Craft at unlimited.

"Battle was third in the district at Lyman," said Carpinger. "He should be tough. Mansfield is one of our stronger athletes. Shirley and Schumann, who was troubled by injuries last year, should do well."

Lake Howell, meanwhile, shouldn't have a major rebuilding job on its hands, but it does because only six of 23 of its younger wrestlers decided to return this year.

"I don't know what it is," said Corso, who had a college powerhouse while coaching three years at UCF. "Some get jobs. Others...maybe the sport is too tough for them."

Lake Howell will have a tough time replacing three graduates, Dan Rae (220), Jeff Bryant (Unlimited) and Paul Knoblauch (170). Lake Howell does return one of the best in the state in senior Steve Cina (169). Cina was a district and region champion last year.

Steve's brother, Paul, should be one of the top 107-pounders. He was a conference place winner and a district champ last year.

The rest of Corso's starting lineup is: freshman Todd Miller at 110, freshman Doug Whiting at 111, senior Georgia transfer Craig Carswell at 121, senior David Collyer at 128, senior foreign exchange student from Finland Chris Koski at 134, junior New York transfer Greg Buckley at 147, senior Bob Kerr at 157, senior Lake Mary transfer Zack Martin at 169 and either Jim Sandberg or Hal Crowley at 222, with the loser of the wrestle off moving up to unlimited.

"It's early and we'll improve," said Corso. "We have a lot of kids who work hard."

Corso assisted Pete Leclair last year. Leclair will be his assistant this winter.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Bullets Lose Ruland, Depth Whips Warriors

Depth is the trademark of a contending team in the NBA, and the difference it can make was evident Thursday night.

While the Washington Bullets were unable to deal with the loss of their rugged center Jeff Ruland, the Golden State Warriors showed they had plenty of help from the bench when Joe Barry Carroll couldn't start.

The inside of the normally rough-and-tumble Bullets defense was turned into a poor imitation of itself when half of the Bruise Brothers was absent. Ruland, who is ninth in scoring in the league at 23.1 points per game and second in rebounding at 12.6, sat out the game in New York because of a sore left hand, and the Knicks were virtually uncontested down the lane en route to a 127-93 romp.

In Oakland, Calif., back-up center Darrin Tillis, in a starting role because of an injury to Carroll's left thigh, grabbed 16 rebounds and scored 15 points to lead the Warriors to a 106-95 victory over the Kansas City Kings.

Ruland's loss was particularly painful to Washington because he had been blossoming into one of the NBA's most feared centers. A week ago he had a career-high 38 points against Detroit and on Tuesday night, when he reinjured his hand, he collected 18 points and 16 rebounds against Milwaukee.

"He is our most important player scoring and rebounding," said Bullets Coach Gene Shue, "and he creates opportunities for our other players because he is often double- and triple-teamed. With Ruland not in the lineup it makes it really hard. They had the whole first quarter to themselves."

Rinker Schedules Classes

Florida Baseball Schools will hold its Christmas Classes on December 19-21 for ages 9-12 and December 26-30 for ages 14 and up. The classes will be held at Sanford Memorial Stadium from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. for 9-12 year olds and 10 until 3 for the 14 and up age group. The fee for 9-12 age group is $55 and the fee for 14 and up is $85.

For more information contact Wes Rinker at 323-1046.

Boosters To Elect Officers

The Seminole High Athletic Boosters will hold a meeting on Monday with the election of new officers the top item on the agenda.

Seminole High will hold its football banquet on Thursday, Dec. 15, in the high school cafeteria.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY DECEMBER 3, 1983
This coming year you will be more fortunate in projects or ventures that you originate rather than in those where you participate with others.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You may have a special need today that can only be fulfilled by a dear friend.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Avoid persons today who could make demands upon your time.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you are looking to escape today's boring routines, pick a perky partner who also has a sense of adventure.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) You are not likely to feel fulfilled today if you fail to spend your time productively.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Persons who meet you for the first time today will be favorably impressed.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Conditions contributing to your basic security are firming up at this time.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Strangers or pretentious people could make you feel uncomfortable today.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Second place will have small appeal today.
ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll require a rather high level of activity today.

Milk Intolerance: Little Can Be Done

DEAR DR. LAMB - I developed an intolerance to milk when I was about 45 years old. This followed a severe case of food poisoning. My physician had never even heard of lactose intolerance.

Thanks to several of your columns over a period of about a year, I was able to diagnose my own problem. Since then, I've been able to keep it under control pretty well. It really helps to have a wife who prepares almost all of our food from scratch, since most prepared foods these days contain whey, which is loaded with lactose. A lot of bread you buy from the stores also contains whey.

oil may not contain any lactose, they pose a problem in the amount of saturated-fat they contain. The lactose problem is discussed more fully in The Health Letter 7-2, Milk Products: Good and Bad. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am 31 years old. I was never more than 10 pounds overweight, but now I have cellulite on my thighs and seat. What causes cellulite and how in the world do I get rid of it?

DEAR READER - Cellulite is a term dreamed up for those rolls and lumpy fat in the midsection, on the thighs and buttocks. But those lumpy fat deposits are just more body fat. There is nothing unusual about them at all. They are not caused by inflammation or a disorder of metabolism, or any other disease process. Some individuals, usually women, have a genetic tendency to have such fat deposits, which makes it hard to eliminate in some areas. And despite a rigid diet and exercise program, some of the fat tends to remain.

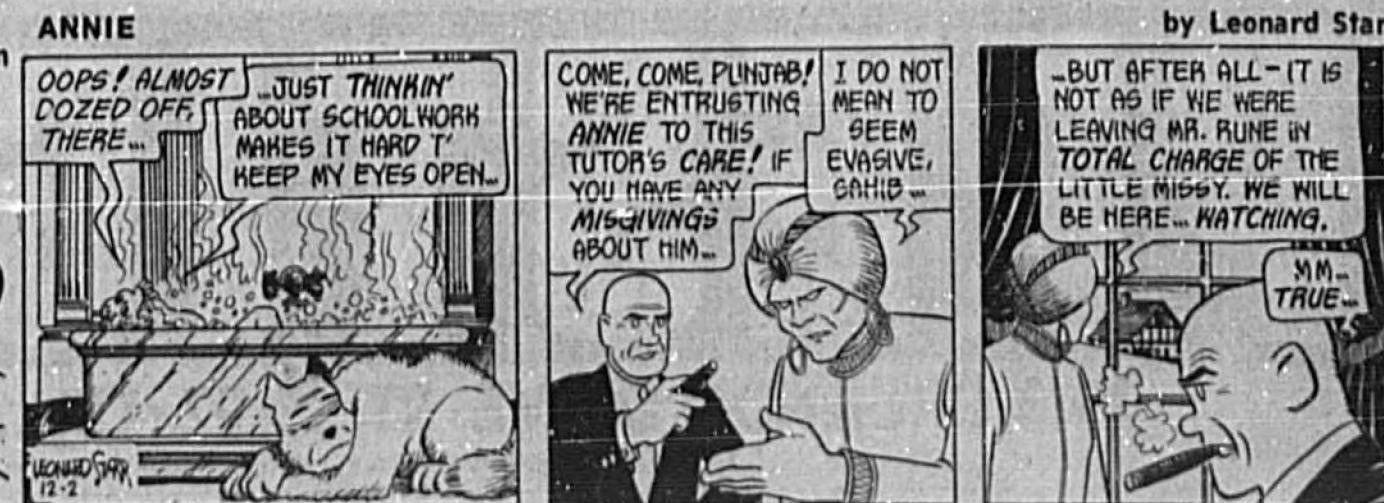

WIN AT BRIDGE

Table with North, South, East, West hands and dealer information.

West opened his ace of clubs and shifted to the three of diamonds after East had followed with the seven.

ability would explain his raise to two clubs. It was equally obvious that West held both major suit kings for his opening bid. The diamond was surely a singleton, and it looked as if West's distribution was 3-4-1-5. The spade finesse was not going to succeed and South was faced with a spade loser, two club losers and a ruff.

Imagine 1 Million Crickets Chirping

Lake Monroe Couple Raises The Critters For Fun And Profit

By Micheal Beha

Jiminy Crickets!

That famed animated insect created by Walt Disney is not one of the several hundred million crickets that are born and raised annually at Stewart's Cricket farm in Lake Monroe.

Myra and Norborne Stewart have turned gray hybrid crickets into gold, raising two crops per week to be shipped to bait shops and to their ultimate fate as fishing lures all over Florida and the Southeast.

In the spring, when demand for crickets is at its peak, as many as 800,000 of the little critters are shipped per week from the Stewarts' farm, according to Mrs. Stewart. Volume falls to only about 300,000 crickets per week this time of year, but that's still enough to make all the largemouth bass in the state lick their collective lips in anticipation.

This being the off season, activity has slowed somewhat at the cricket farm. Only three employees are working. But come springtime, when things really pick up, an additional two workers will be hired and more cricket boxes put out.

The Stewarts' farm grew from humble beginnings. They worked with Norborne's uncle at his cricket farm in Pensacola for two seasons after Norborne retired from the Air Force.

Late in 1974, they bought property in Lake Monroe and decided to raise their own crickets. "When we bought the place the man asked us what we planned to do with the property. We told him we were going to raise crickets and he just laughed."

But crickets are no laughing matter.

Their first crickets were raised in their unheated garage where they rigged high intensity lights to provide heat. The first two crops of crickets were ready for sale April 1, 1975.

"We drove to Orlando, down to Okeechobee, anywhere we heard that there was a baitshop," said Mrs. Stewart. Before long, their business was jumping.

Today, the Stewarts have a building full of long plywood boxes, each of which is home to several thousand crickets. The boxes are equipped with a light for warmth and screens for adequate ventilation. And there's a 4-inch wide strip of enamel paint around the top which keeps the leggy critters from hopping out.

"Some people come out to the farm and they ask how we keep them in the boxes," said Mrs. Stewart, who's known as "The Cricket Lady" around Sanford.

"I tell the people we train the crickets to stop when they get to that line," she said. "Actually, the crickets can't get a grip on the enamel paint to jump out."

Crickets are moved from one box to another as they hatch and grow. It takes several weeks for them to mature, leading the good life with a constant supply of food and a cozy 85 degree environment.

When fully grown, the crickets are scooped up and placed, 1,000 to a box, in specially built cardboard boxes with vents in the sides to be shipped to buyers. A potato is cut up and placed in each box to provide food and water for the crickets while en route.

Myra Stewart loads up another batch of crickets at her Lake Monroe cricket ranch

When they're packaged, the crickets are hauled to the post office or to the bus station to be sent to bait shops.

And how do postal clerks react when Mrs. Stewart walks in with several boxes of the little critters?

"I remember one time a lady asked me how I got so many crickets," she said. "I said I'd looked under every cow chip, in every old fence post and anywhere else I could find them."

The Cricket Lady has a sense of humor.

'Scarecrow' Ought To Be Put Out To Pasture

By David Handler

In her newest TV incarnation, Kate Jackson has become Doris Day. Charlie's sensible Angel is now a spunky Little League mom named Amanda King, a suburban divorcee with dishes to wash, two sons to tend to and an adorable wisp of hair that she's always blowing out of her eyes.

Amanda's a "wholesome mom with a mortgage and a station wagon." Even her mom (Beverly Garland) lives with her. Mom is enjoying a second girlhood and happens to be dating a guy who thinks she has sexy feet. Amanda makes do with potboiler romance novels.

Then into her life, quite by accident, comes Lee Stetson (Bruce Boxleitner), a dashing, boyish secret agent. He enlists the aid of this dubious innocent bystander.

Amazingly, from that day on, it seems the entire U.S. intelligence network cannot get its job done without Amanda's naive, amateurish spunk.

Every week she's needed for a new mission. Who knows why. Maybe they're hoping to wangle an intro to Farrah. Whatever. It says little about our intelligence community, or our network television.

Scarecrow and Mrs. King is a remarkably inept CBS one-hour show. It makes me flidget. The premise doesn't even make any sense. Don't they have any professional female spies?

Let's be realistic. This isn't a show. It's a vehicle for two "stars" whose employment records continue to mystify me. I mean, why are these people always working?

Kate Jackson is reasonably pretty but she cannot act, never has been able to act, never will be able to act. And if there is one thing in this world she definitely cannot do is play comedy. I mean, did you see Topper?

As for this guy Boxleitner, who is this guy? Every year he has a new series and every year it's a flop and they keep right on hiring him. He's a decent looking hunk but he's totally vacant. All he has going for him is a last name nobody can pronounce. Some agent he's got.

Put these two people on screen together and you don't exactly get sparks. Their on-screen chemistry makes Remington Steele look like Charade. No sexual tension. No nothing.

"This is kind of like a fantasy," she chirps at one point. "I used to have fantasies about secret agents." "In this business you have to keep your feelings separate from your job," he returns stonily, possibly to account for his performance.

Scarecrow and Mrs. King is a show that perspires with effort. It isn't easy to come up with ways to get these two people on screen together every week. It seems like they've had to borrow some ideas from Saturday morning shows.

One week the parents of a boy computer whiz are snatched by the Soviets and Lee has to protect him. Since our hero knows nothing about kids, he seeks out someone "who has motherhood carved on her bones."

Then he masquerades as a compulsive gambler who works for the government, and asks her to be his ex-wife.

Against soft Monday night competition, Scarecrow and Mrs. King has pulled down pretty good ratings. But I can't believe people will continue to watch it. I refuse to believe people will continue to watch it.

Brosnan Not The Mystery Steele Is

DEAR DICK: I think Remington Steele is the most refreshing show on TV. It's such an interesting twist. But Pierce Brosnan appears to be as much a mystery as Remington Steele. Where did they find him? Where is his home? Where did he get his accent? — B.B., Limestone, N.Y.

Brosnan is Irish-born and English-raised, so he comes by his accent honestly. He trained in England for the theater and did work in several plays there. He did The Manions of America in 1981 and says he came to Hollywood just "to look around" without any idea of staying. In fact, he had just bought a new home in London. But he happened to visit the MTM studio when they were searching for an actor to play Remington Steele. They saw him, liked him and signed him. So here he is — and it's not so mysterious after all.

DEAR DICK: On The Flintstones, why do they show only reruns? Did the maker of them die or what? Why can't they make new ones? — D.N., Westville, Ind.

They stopped making them when Hanna-Barbera, the studio that made them, decided they had enough. Nobody died, the decision — like all show biz decisions — was an economic one. They had enough to put together a syndication package. Maybe some day, if they decide there is profit to be made in making new ones, they'll make new ones. Probably not.

DEAR DICK: You could help solve a long argument between my girlfriend and me. I say that Jethro of The Beverly Hillbillies is now playing Matt Houston. She says he's not. Dinner is riding on the answer. — D.E.D., Stuart, Fla.

Walter, give the check to the gentleman. Max Baer Jr. played Jethro and Lee Horsley is Houston, and never the twain shall meet.

DEAR DICK: I have a new shirt riding on this bet, so please tell me I'm right. Who played Luke on How the West Was Won? My sister thinks it's Doug Barr of The Fall Guy, but I don't think so. — T.R., Mount Clemens, Mich.

Ask Dick Kleiner

Order one in silk. Bruce Boxleitner, now on Scarecrow and Mrs. King, played Luke.

DEAR DICK: I would like to know if Mary Frann, who plays Bob Newhart's wife on Newhart, is the lady who played Dr. Greg Peters' wife on Days of Our Lives. — Mrs. A.B.C., Springfield, Mo.

Yes, Mary Frann did play Amanda Peters on the soap for four years.

DEAR DICK: My daughter and I have a dinner date, your answer settles who pays. I say that the actors who play Doug and Julie Williams on Days of Our Lives went together about five years before marrying, but my daughter says they were married "right away." — M.B., Eureka, Calif.

I would say you win. Bill Hayes (Doug Williams) joined the show in 1970. Susan Seaforth had already been there for two years. At the time they met, Bill had just been divorced and Susan was engaged to be married. She says she fell in love with him "instantly." They quickly became friends, but weren't married until 1974 — which is hardly "right away."

DEAR DICK: I hope you can help end a family feud. I say that Doran Clark of Emerald Point N.A.S. is the same person who played a "crazy lady" who was in love with Jonathan on an episode of Hart to Hart last season. My mother insists she is not and won't let it drop. This is important to us. — R.M., Milford, Ind.

Your mother has good reason to stick to her guns. Miss Clark has never done a Hart to Hart, crazy or otherwise.

Weather Or Not, Smith Enjoyed 'Wolf'

By Dick Kleiner

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — One day in 1979, an actor named Harrison Ford left for England where he was to make a movie called Raiders of the Lost Ark. On that same day, another actor named Charles Martin Smith shot the first scene of a movie called Never Cry Wolf.

Raiders has been out a long time and has already established itself in the public memory. Never Cry Wolf is just being released.

Charles Martin Smith has been working on his film all that time — three and a half years. What took so long?

"Many things made it a difficult movie," says Smith. "The weather was the big thing, of course."

Never Cry Wolf is about wolves in the north in Alaska and one man's efforts to study and understand them. So it had to be shot in the country where wolves are at home.

"It was very cold in Alaska and northern Canada," says Smith. "But it wasn't just the cold that was the problem. It was that the weather there is so changeable. We'd go out in the morning and it'd be cloudy and we'd start, then it would rain and we'd have to switch to a different scene. Then it would clear up and we'd have to switch again."

Another problem was the herd of caribou — reindeer — which was important to the story. One key scene has Smith running through the caribou.

The herd they were using was one that natives cultivated commercially. The animals' horns are ground up and sent to China, where they are considered to be an aphrodisiac.

"Every year, on June 1," Martin says, "they cut off all the caribou's horns. We had already started the scene with all the horns on. So we couldn't finish it with the horns off. We had to wait a whole year until the horns grew back to finish the scene."

Then Martin got pneumonia — understandable, because for eight solid weeks, he was either soaking wet or naked in the snow — and he had to stay in bed for several weeks. Then director Carroll Ballard got pneumonia, and another few weeks went by.

After the filming was finished, Smith spent another year and a half helping Ballard write the voice-over narration that is essential to the film.

It wasn't done in the lap of luxury, either. They spent a lot of time in campers and tents in Skagway, Alaska, and in deepest northern Canada. They also spent some time in an army gym.

"On days we couldn't work because of the weather, or because somebody was sick," Smith says, "there really wasn't much to do. When we were in that gym, we played endless games of volleyball. Other places, the only thing to do was drink and play the piano."

But it was, he says, one of the most exhilarating experiences of his life. Smith, who was one of the original American Graffiti group, doesn't look like his Graffiti character now. He has matured, grown a genuine beard, acquired a serious look.

He has fallen in love with the north, too. He is a Los Angeles native, but now he has an apartment in Vancouver, British Columbia, and spends a lot of time there. He is working with a company that stages Shakespeare's works, and recently played Iago.

He also enjoyed the days and weeks he worked closely with the wolves. He found it fascinating, but he didn't come back with a wolf pup for a pet.

"Wolf pups are great," he says, "but they grow up to be full-grown wolves, and wolves are wild animals."

Smith doubts he will ever have a part like it again. "It totally spoiled me for other roles," he says. "I don't know what I'll do after this. I could never settle for just one of those run-of-the-mill parts any more."

Charles Martin Smith enjoyed his role in the movie Never Cry Wolf. However, the film took 3½ years to complete and most of that time was spent in cold Alaska and Canada.

Who Watches Cable And Why

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — Cable television viewers are spending more time in front of the tube, watching a greater variety of shows but are not necessarily enjoying themselves more than their non-wired counterparts, a study showed.

Researchers with Television Audience Assessment Inc. asked 3,000 people in New Britain, Conn. and Kansas City, Mo. to record their evening viewing habits for a two-week period. The cities were chosen for contrast.

The survey found average cable viewers are larger families with household incomes greater than $15,000, own more sets than non-subscribers and keep those sets busy with video cassette recorders and video games. Cable viewers also are more interested in sports than their non-cable counterparts.

Non-subscribers are typically older, members of smaller families and more interested in the arts, social concerns and local and international news. The group also includes a higher proportion of college graduates than cable users.

Cable viewers also are inclined to spend a little more time in front of the tube — an average of 13.1 hours compared to 12.6 hours in homes with conventional broadcast services. They also are more likely to watch two programs at the same time, giving them a unique view of the medium.

Also, cable viewers are more likely to have a positive attitude about program quality. Forty-three percent of the survey participants believe "TV has a good influence on children," compared to less than 30 percent of non-cable homes.

Researchers said the results are important since cable television is used by 35 percent of the 84 million homes in the United States that own televisions. Cable households are expected to climb to 80 percent by 1990.

Rabbits are rarely found deep in forests. They prefer places where bushes or clumps of tall grass are available for hiding.

However You Spell It, Stephanie's A Success

By Peter Meade

No matter how you spell it Stephanie seems to be a popular name for a television actress. Stefanie Powers has enjoyed four seasons on "Hart to Hart," Stephanie Zimbalist is currently in her second season on "Remington Steele" while Stefanie Kramer is part of NBC's new sitcom "We Got It Made."

While Miss Powers and Miss Zimbalist have always used their current first name spelling, Miss Kramer admits she originally spelled her name the same way as Miss Zimbalist.

"But when I went down to join the Screen Actors' Guild they already had a Stephanie Kramer listed," she says, "so I threw an f in there."

Her first name amended, Miss Kramer is now trying to spell success with her Thursday evening NBC series. It was aided by an extensive amount of pre-debut commercials and got off to a fast start as the first of the new season's series to debut.

"We were put on three weeks early so the exposure would help us gather an audience," says Miss Kramer. "And whatever programming wizardry was used I think it worked."

The series' Executive Producer Fred Silverman, the former program chief for CBS and ABC, and former president of NBC, realized the show faces strong competition from CBS' tough Thursday night lineup.

"He's been so supportive," says Miss Kramer. "He's here all the time and most of the network executives have been here on Friday nights when we tape our show."

Two shows are taped on Friday nights after the cast has rehearsed from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Miss Kramer finds the schedule is "spoiling," because the studio is only 15 minutes from her Sherman Oaks, Calif., home and the late start allows her a chance to go to the gym before reporting to work. But she does miss other aspects of her routine that she cannot get to now with the demands of a weekly series.

"Singing is vital," she says, "and unfortunately now I don't have the time. But during hiatus I hope to put my show together and look for a record deal. Singing is just acting with elongated notes."

Washington, D.C. is the first city in the world specifically planned as a nation's capitol.

Donald Sutherland Breaks TV Barrier

By Vernon Scott
UPI Hollywood Reporter

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — It reads like a movie marquee:

Donald Sutherland, Teri Garr, Tuesday Weld starring in The Winter of Our Discontent.

They're all movie stars, right? And The Winter of Our Discontent is taken from John Steinbeck's famed novel, right? And you figure with that cast and that property, the budget's gotta run $10 million, right?

Wrong.

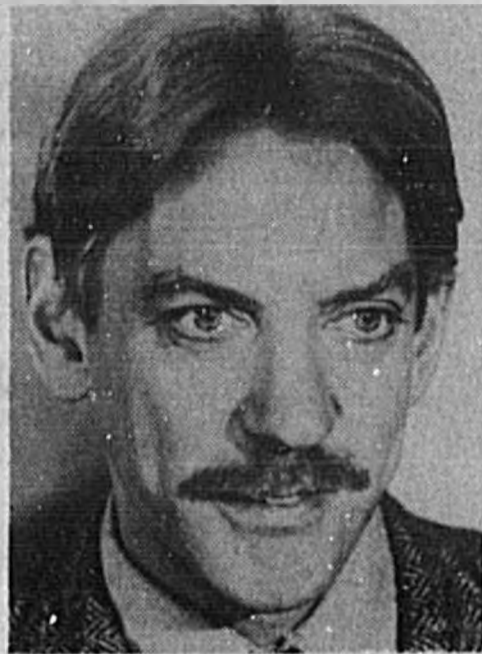

The three movie stars comprise the cast of a two-hour television movie version of a Hallmark Hall of Fame scheduled for Tuesday on CBS-TV.

This is high-powered stuff indeed for the tube. But then Charlton Heston moved from the big screen to TV earlier this year for the Chiefs miniseries and Gregory Peck did the same for The Scarlet and Black.

Sutherland's last appearance on American television was in The Sunshine Patriot some 16 years ago, before reaching prominence in the movie *M*A*S*H* and such other successes as Klute, The Eagle Has Landed and Ordinary People.

His decision to appear in a TV movie, as opposed to feature films, playing opposite Miss Garr, another screen stalwart in Mr. Mom, Oh, God! and Tootsie, is clearly a portend of things to come.

Sutherland, Garr and Weld, as film

Donald Sutherland

box-office names, are further erasing the demarcation lines between TV and movies.

Certainly, their agents and managers must be convinced that the move to TV won't hurt their reputations as film actors. Neither, it seems, are they concerned about a loss of prestige.

Sutherland, at any rate, does not think he has taken a step backward.

"This was not a major career decision for me," said the tall, laconic

Canadian.

"In the old days I said an automatic no to television. Now I look at everything as a possibility. If it's good, I do it. Anyway, my wife and my agent ordered me to do The Winter of Our Discontent.

"For the past couple of years I have looked at TV plays seriously.

"Whatever reservations I've had about television my agent has dismissed. He didn't ask me to do this TV movie; he told me to."

My agent has a good sense of what I should do and what I shouldn't. And he's always right."

Sutherland broke into his sly grin and allowed as how he has rarely enjoyed an acting experience as much as his first major project in television.

"It was a very happy time and a most creative experience," he said.

"Television provides the same time pressures as the theater. It doesn't require so much energy as it does intensity. We didn't let up for a minute in any scene.

"It was a last minute decision on my part. I was in Canada when the call came and the next day I was in Hollywood ready to go to work. My wardrobe came out of my own closet."

Sutherland watches almost no network television. He subscribes to all the pay-TV and cable TV that is available to him for news, information and public affairs programs. He also watches classic movies via the tube.

It's not that Sutherland is a TV snob. He simply has no interest in prime time soap operas, squealing-tire action shows or situation comedies. He's never watched them and doesn't intend to.

When he's not absorbed in cable films, he tunes in sports, especially his beloved Montreal Expos.

"I have three monitors in a bank on the wall," he said. "Sometimes I watch three different shows simultaneously. At other times I will tune in the same show on all three monitors, giving me peripheral vision and total consciousness to whatever I'm watching.

"It never occurs to me to tune in the three networks unless it is to watch Peter Jennings on the ABC news and Ted Koppel on Nightline."

He thinks, however, he would make an effort to see The Winter of Our Discontent because of its social significance.

ABC's 'Trauma Center' Is A Decent Show

By David Handler

Trauma Center is one of those terse procedural dramas where all of the team members have nicknames. There's Hatter, Hooter, Cutter, Skate, Six, Buck, Deck and Beaver.

They belong to Medstar, a special Los Angeles hospital emergency unit set up to handle only accident cases and handle them fast.

After an accident a victim needs helpin what is known as the Golden Hour. Medstar's mission is to get to them before that hour is up. It takes choppers, ace ambulance drivers and a highly efficient, committed team of professionals to get it done. But they do get it done.

And not a bad show, really. Trauma Center is tight and suspenseful. There are some top performers in it, among them James Naughton (Medstar leader Dr. Michael "Cutter" Royce), Dorian Harewood, and Jack Bannon. Plus some extra effort has been made to give the characters human touches and the scripts a social conscience. This ABC outing is definitely above average.

Cutter is new to the team. He's been brought in from Baltimore to run it. He is a battler, and he almost resigns right off when he learns that the clicapskate hospital administrator, Sternhauser (Arlen Dean Snyder) has stiffed him on his equipment budget.

"I gotta stop taking these things so seriously," fumes Cutter. "There's no reason for me to care this much."

He does find a way to raise the money himself though, and he sticks around. The other surgeons — Skate (Harewood), Brigitte (Wendie Malick) and Beaver (Bill Randolph) — are glad he does. So too the nurse, Hooter (Jayne Modean), the dispatcher, Decker (Miss Heckart) and the Odd Couple ambulance drivers, John Six (Lou Ferrigno) and Hatter (Alfie Wise).

Cutter is a man with ideas. He inaugurates a chopper assistance program. The Highway Patrol's helicopter honcho, Buck (Bannon), is an old Vietnam buddy.

Each week they rush out to help the victims of auto accidents, household accidents, construction site mishaps. They never know who they'll get. One week it's Howie from The Fall Guy, who has a stunt car accident. That kind of thing happens to you every once in a while if you work in L.A.

Along the way they stress how important seatbelts are, offer emergency first aid tips and take potshots at drunk drivers.

Meanwhile, our heroes are gradually being fleshed out. Cutter is in L.A. partly because he's running away from his ex-wife, who follows him out one week. They have a temporary reconciliation.

Brigitte can't seem to meet a fella. Skate can't stop pestering his sister to make something out of her singing talents. Six is hearing-impaired (as is Ferrigno in real life, a nice touch) and constantly has to prove to Sternhauser and himself that he can do the job.

ABC isn't giving Trauma Center an easy assignment. The series started the season opposite Magnum, P.I. and now is being pushed back an hour so it's opposite Simon & Simon and Cheers, competition that has already bumped off ABC's 9 to 5 and It's Not Easy.

This isn't a great show, but it's good enough to warrant moving it to a slot where it has a decent chance to find its audience.

Entertainment and Restaurant Guide

Aggie's: Take Their Food Preparation Seriously

Come to one of the liveliest places in town . . . Aggie's, that restaurant at 2520 S. French Avenue in Sanford.

If you're interested in enjoying fine food at reasonable prices, prices that haven't changed in more than a year, try this delightful restaurant. It's away from the bustle of crowds and the management aims to please.

A prime rib for the hearty appetite, the Diamond Jim Brady, is offered for a mere $11.95. A more modest version, dubbed the Lillian Russell, carries at $9.50 tab. And these dinners are among the highest priced on the menu.

The people at Aggie's take pride in their dry-aged prime rib preparing it in special ovens where low temperatures turn out an elegant dish.

From the sea come 10 fish dishes, shrimp scampi, scallops, lobster tails and flounder stuffed with crabmeat, among them. Prices start in this tempting category at $7.95.

Also for beef lovers, there are five steaks and a shish kebob from which to choose, or steak oregano, strips of beef prepared with garlic and seasonings, a Hellenic touch. Along this line of fare are roast leg of lamb for $6.95, chicken Athenian, broiled and basted with lemon and butter, and the combination plate of Greek delicacies with mousaka and dolmades, all from family recipes.

If you dare, consumate the feast with a luscious homemade dessert, perhaps an Aggie's Surprise, a mystery concoction.

Early bird specials are offered from 4:30 until 7 seven nights a week with prices starting at $5.95. Luncheon specials are offered each noon and reduced drink prices and free hors d'oeuvres are provided during the attitude adjustment hours from 5 until 7.

Reservations are now being accepted for holiday parties with private banquet facilities for the affairs.

Mike Evans is currently entertaining Friday and Saturday nights.
