SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 29.

Our office boy says he can think of lots of things he'd rather do than John Coolidge when he goes to see his best girl.

Some of the soldiers returning from the Glades section are of the opinion that the navy should have been called out instead.

Florida lost two of its most distinguished citizens on the same day when State Treasurer John C. Luning and Judge William Bailey Lamar died.

Snow fell in New York the other day, a fact which was generally regarded as particularly unusual in view of the heat being generated by the presidential campaign.

Mrs. Aimes Semple McPherson is seeing Paris. She will probably have some perfectly scandalous things to tell her congregation when she returns to Los Angeles next spring.

Five freshmen of the University of Florida, speaking of freshmen, have been poisoned by indelible ink, used to mark their sweat-shirts. A fact which will probably make them even more book-shy, as their courses progress, than the average.

Among the most pathetic instances of the recent hurricane are the Chicago man who had lived in Florida but six months and lost his wife and four children, another man who lost seventeen close relatives, and the nine hundred children who are orphans of the storm.

W. V. Knott has been appointed state treasurer to succeed J. C. Luning who died suddenly on Wednesday. Mr. Knott, it will be remembered was the Democratic gubernatorial nominee in 1910, but was defeated by Sidney J. Catts in the general election. Voters elected Catts governor.

Wednesday afternoon a well known Jacksonville man, friend of prominent families, met a prohibition agent on the St. Johns River bridge. In an ensuing revolver duel the agent was seriously wounded, the other killed. Thirty sacks of "red eyes" were found in his car. Prominent Jacksonville families would have drunk that "red eye." They can blame themselves for his death.

Portes Gil has been named as provisional president to succeed President Calles of Mexico on December 1. Portes Gil is a young man, being still in his thirties. It is too bad for so young a man to take his life in his hands that way. Most Mexicans wait until they have all this life has to offer before accepting the presidency of Mexico.

Tex Rickard plans to open a dog racetrack in Miami this winter. The operation of the track will be strictly in accordance with state gambling laws which are to the effect that there shall be no gambling. Consequently we presume that Mr. Rickard will rely upon gate receipts alone for his revenue, of course he won't know the bookies are there.

John Coolidge riding back to work from a visit to the home of his best girl is involved in an automobile accident. That's a choice bit of news for us newspapermen. It is not often that the son of a President of the United States has a best girl; it is even less often that he has an auto accident. Nearly everyone has smashed a fender or torn off a bumper at one time or another. But this is a real story. Heavens! What will Cal say?

A state paper says: "No town or community will ever prosper where there is division or strife of any nature." This is a very strong statement, and if it were absolutely true, we are afraid that almost no town or community would prosper. Differences of opinion and strife of some nature are a part of life. But of course the writer meant to carry the idea that we should all pull together when it comes to working for the good of the community, and this is true.

Taxes And The City Election

The recent hurricane which threatened us for forty-eight hours, devastated Palm Beach and the Lake Okechobee section, and sent many of our people to the lower East Coast to view the ruins and to assist in the relief work, has so occupied the attention of our leading citizens and the rest of us that we had almost forgotten city politics.

But the thought occurs to us that during the excitement of the first few days after the hurricane a city charter election was held and at that time it was decided by popular vote that we should have five commissioners instead of three, and that an election should be held in December to select two new commissioners and to fill the place of the commissioner whose term expires.

An attitude seems to prevail among our people that the City is beyond redemption. It has been so long since they have been given a voice in their government that now that they have the opportunity they do not know how to take advantage of it. Very few of them voted in the last City election because they felt that it would make little difference, in the vital matter of taxation, which way the election went.

Nevertheless it seems reasonably certain that five commissioners, working harmoniously together for nothing but the best interests of Sanford, can again restore our City government to a foundation of financial stability. We are not among those who have given our City up as lost. We believe that the proper co-operation between the local government and the bond houses would result in such rearrangement of our City finances that the burden of bonded indebtedness could be materially lessened now, and a very necessary reduction in taxation would follow as a consequence.

Men who have lived in Sanford for a long time, men who have homes, farms, and other investments here, should be giving this matter serious thought. TAXES MUST BE REDUCED if Sanford is ever to be a city of any larger population than it boasts at present.

Going To Bat

The football season is upon us, but before we concentrate our undivided attention on the gridiron, there is a little dispute in baseball that must be settled to the satisfaction of millions of sport enthusiasts from one coast to the other.

In view of their easy victory yesterday over the Detroit Tigers, who were defeated by the Yankees in a scoreless tie, the Cardinals pulled ahead by two games to lead the Braves, the Cardinals pulled ahead by two games to lead the Braves, the Cardinals pulled ahead by two games to lead the Braves.

Defeat for the Cardinals in the remaining two games is a possibility but not a probability. In fact, there is more chance for the Giants to lose again today to Chicago, which has been a jinx all season, than for the Cards to be defeated by the Hornsby clan, which has been easy picking for the McKechnie outfit.

With this dose before us, we reiterate that it looks much like a repetition of the 1926 series when the Cardinals, led by the peppery Hornsby, engaged the Yankees, who have won six league pennants in the past eight years.

The big series will open next week. It promises plenty of color. The participation of the Yankees with the mighty Babe Ruth and others comprising the great wrecking crew assures that fact. Not only this, but the spectacular element will also be offered with the Giants or Cards as their opponents.

SIGNING YOUR NAME

It is surprising to see so many people think nothing of signing their names. They may have everything at stake, yet never give it a thought.

Unfortunately, there are many individuals who prey upon such ignorance. Some time ago I represented a woman on a matter of this kind. While she was busy she signed her name to an order which was not filled out. She thought she was buying an electric fixture for her store. Later she was called upon to pay for four electric fixtures. She had returned three and paid for one, but the company insisted that her order was made up specially for her, and called for four fixtures.

Telling The World

By NEAL O'HARA

DELIVER US, O LORD. If radio announcers should act as sports writers during the next World Series—

YANKEE STADIUM, Sept. 29. Good morning, lady and gentleman readers of the Daily Blast. I am pounding this typewriter to tell you of the wonderful World's Series game at the Yankee Stadium yesterday afternoon.

Just a moment, now, dear readers, and I'll tell you about the game. Well, it sure was a pip. The Yanks won it—no, the Cards won it, 4 to 3, in a smashing ninth-inning rally.

Well, dear readers, it sure was a sweet game of ball. The Cards won it, 4 to 3, in the ninth at the Yankee Stadium yesterday afternoon, in case you just started reading about the game in this paragraph.

The Yanks went out in order in the first—no, it was the Cards that went out in order in the first. The Yanks got a run in their half.

In the third, Babe Ruth lifted a whale of a fly into the air. While waiting for it to land, I glanced around and noticed David Belasco in a mezzanine box.

Also scattered through the boxes I noticed Henry Ford, Eleanor Glyn, Dr. John Roach Straton, Clara Bow, Ludwig Beethoven, Gov. Meach of Arkansas, Mark Antony, Addison Sims, Ruth Elder and Alexander Dumas, all friends of mine.

Well folks, that long hit Babe lifted was a foul. Then the Yanks were cut off from scoring by a fast triple play. While I'm trying to find out who made it, I will entertain you with a description of the Yankee Stadium.

Yes, readers, it was a peach of a game and the Yankees won it 3 to 2 in the Cardinal Stadium—no, mean the Cardinals won it 4 to 3 in the Yankee Stadium.

Now, dear readers, this will be my last paragraph, as I'm going to get Branch Rickey to write a little article for you on how he feels about winning the opener and then I'll have Miller Huggins write a few sticks to let his friends back in Cincinnati know he's still O. K. & Goodby all.

JACKSONVILLE JOURNAL

"It is sweet to dance to violins. While love and life are fair, To dance to lutes, to dance to flutes."

This writer, too, in his humble pathos, has stumbled upon John Roach Straton's wrath and been left dancing in the air.

John Roach Straton is not only an eloquent man, he is also a master psychologist and showman. He never overlooks an opportunity to have his name in print.

And we, in the course of our duties as editor of the Palm Beach Times, were witness enough to comment editorially at that very time on certain shady matrons of Palm Beach who (as we frivolously put it) had "graciously consented to unhinge their knees to Charleston for charity" at a hospital benefit ball.

Abashed and contrite, we were prevented only by a certain elementary knowledge of physiology from making a complete editorial crawl with a confession that knees simply did not assist on perfect ladies. Later, however, we were glad for the good doctor's sake that we had not tried to editorialize out of existence these or any other of the feminine physiologies in which he found so pulsing an interest.

Having known the doctor many years ago in Atlanta when we were a boy and he was a familiar visitor at our father's newspaper office and all other newspaper offices, we felt badly over our editorial disagreements with him when he came to Palm Beach. Wh a he called one

SMITH AS SHERIFF

New York Herald-Tribune

As a justified retort to a cheap sneer as well as for the light it sheds on the character of two candidates for the Presidency, we print the following letter from a correspondent:

"Mayor Walker's speech in Newark, N. J., with the 'wiscrack' that Alfred E. Smith was elected Governor of New York State the year Herbert Hoover cast his first vote, brought forth great applause. There could not have been many members of the American Legion in that crowd."

"It might be well to remind Mayor Walker that while Alfred E. Smith was holding down a soft political job as Sheriff of New York with fees and salary of $42,000 a year, Herbert Hoover was enlisted in war work without salary and paying his own expenses in sending 400,000 stranded Americans home from Europe and children and noncombatants all over Europe from starving to death. No single individual in the Allied cause accomplished more for humanity than Herbert Hoover."

Our correspondent is essentially correct in his statements, Mr. Hoover threw up his career as an engineer in August, 1914 and gave his services to aiding the return of Americans stranded abroad. From that task he went directly into the vast undertaking of feeding the Belgian nation. Mr. Smith was elected Sheriff in the fall of 1928.

The first week in October will usher in National Piggly Wiggly Week which will be celebrated throughout the nation by the 2,700 Piggly Wiggly stores, from coast to coast, also by several hundred stores in Canada and the Hawaiian Islands.
According to officials of the Piggly Wiggly Corporation, of New York City, every store will have special merchandising events with "unequaled values" in merchandise that will interest the public.
Speaking of the event, a local store manager said Piggly Wiggly started in Memphis 12 years ago, as the basis of an idea to properly serve the public with groceries, through a system of self-service that eliminated much expense and gave the customer the privilege of selecting what merchandise he required direct from the shelves. From this small beginning Piggly Wiggly has spread until today there are stores serving practically all important centers of population, and plans are being completed for expansion into European countries and South America.

MILK CONTROL ASKED

Government control of the milk supply of Australia has been asked by country-milk suppliers. Representatives have pointed out to Premier Bavin that it would mean cheaper milk, less costly distribution, greater sales and price fixation, which would benefit both producer and consumer. The Premier is preparing a bill along the lines suggested.

FALL STYLES TO SHOW NEW TREND IN COLOR SCHEME

Fashions For Present Have Little Tendency For Change Of Line

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 24—(INS)—here is an entirely new trend in the fall color combination. The fashion vogue of the moment is, not in color effect, but in the definite color scheme combinations have one, as have colors in direct contrast to each other. It is now a case of subtle blending, such as veronese green with gray beige with lemon brown and ivory. Color is showing a distinct tendency to come out of its pastel hiding place and to its own story.

Handling Materials
Materials are handled in the same way as colors, this group of fashion experts declares. "The illness of jersey offsets the lustre of artificial velvet."

"It is to be velvet year, both plain and printed, and already any of the French houses are emphasizing modes of this material. When it is substituted for silks velvet will be more evidence, as a coat looks just as well even if one does guess wrong on the weather.

More material is used in many of the new models both for evening and daytime wear. Great fullness is being given to skirts and on one of the representatives in Paris comes the report that skirts appear to be longer but "this is merely the case for Autumn and winter."

American women now have the means to get some of the "nuance" clothes into their daily lives. The ensemble idea is such a simple and obvious way for women to attain smart effects that it is likely that there will be any annihilation of interest in it in this country or abroad for some seasons to come."

The idea of having a dress and at of different materials printed with the same design has been worked out in one of the lines prepared for the winter resort and for Spring.

A silk coat over a cotton dress out of key, and the same is true a woollen coat over a cotton dress. But a cotton coat of sufficient weight over a lighter weight material like batiste or a fine cambric, is perfect, the fashion experts declared.

Smart Ensembles
Smart cotton costumes will also be seen in ensembles with a reverse print as the basis of their appeal. The reverse print, idea, is that if the design in red on a white ground, the same design is also printed in white on a red ground and the lighter effect is used for the bodice of the dress, or the dark for the skirt with colored bindings matching the print as the only trimming. The same print as the skirt also makes an effective little jacket or coat to wear over the frock.

"Another idea which is regarded as excellent for cottons is a printed cotton with one and a half inch plain colored contrasting selvedge on one side only. The design of the print is so arranged that the material can be used both on the cross and lengthwise in the same dress, with no one being the winner.

"Cotton is being worn more by the sportsman. The latest thing for riding coats and trousers among men is hop-sacking and canvas back, the roughness of the weave of both fabrics making them both attractive and practical."

WHAT IS BEHIND YOUR BATTERY ??

This may be a new thought to you, but it is just as important to know what is behind your battery as what is in it.

Mere plate structure alone does not guarantee satisfaction—you must have service of real dependability when you need it.

Realizing this, the Englert Manufacturing Company has adhered to a definite policy in this respect.

The DRAGON principle is simply this—to give you the finest battery that can be made, the lowest possible cost, plus a service as broad and impartial as we know how to make it.

But the most attractive feature of the DRAGON is this—it is made by an organization which placed quality above anything else! A battery made under that policy is real MICHIGAN CHANDISE.

"That Glorious Feeling"

Briggs, celebrated cartoonist, says it really is a "grand and glorious feeling" to leave one's home in a Silver Anniversary Buick.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Sept. 29.—It really is a "grand and glorious feeling" to own a new car, either the first or fifteenth, according to Clare Briggs, famous cartoonist. Briggs was one of the New Yorkers to purchase a Silver Anniversary Buick sport roadster and enjoys the gleaming and swiftness of the car, he states, as much as a veritable youngster. "The cars are surely distinctive," commented Briggs on the new body style created by Buick. "The cars are always beautiful and the new Buick style seems to be based entirely on curves. They are graceful and smart."

In addition to the 35 musicians making the orchestra itself the main station staff of some 200 men, a small technical army of 200 experts is on duty throughout the country, with special repeater at almost every town, and telegraph operators and men. This does not include the force of alert linemen who are in readiness for action at any time in case of trouble along the 100 miles of telephone line to the Lucky Strike broadcast.

September 29, 1928 Number 10

Now that the melancholy days have come, we can't have anything to be melancholy about. Don Fay is back from a trip to Chicago and other points in Illinois and states his Chander did the trip wonderfully. No trouble—not a puncture in fact. Chander's tires are a fine combination on a tour. "You can't know too much, but can say too much," remarks "Silent Cal." Henry Schumacher came in and got the low down on a pair of Columbia tires and stated the insurance men are surely working on him. "We wonder why?" Carnes, Absconding Mission Treasurer, Arrested In Canada

Continued From Page 11 they're certain that the man held here Carnes. AANTA, Sept. 29.—(INS)—A 10 prison term faces Clinton S. Carnes, absconding treasurer of the Ithorn Baptist Home Mission board, when he returns to this city for trial on charges of having stolen something like $11,000, officials predicted today.

Carnes who was captured in Winnipeg, Manitoba, after having slyly disappeared here Aug. 15, already been indicted on two counts by the Fulton County grand jury, and more indictments are expected when the audit of his books is completed. Active will be dispatched to the Atlanta city as soon as possible return the fugitive to Atlanta was expected that he will leave soon as the necessary papers prepared. It was reported that Carnes was willing to wait extradition.

Mr. Paole, chief of Atlanta station today issued a statement regarding the enterprise of the Atlanta Georgian in hiring Pinkerton agents to apprehend Carnes, stating that Pinkerton detective would have traced Carnes on instructions furnished by the St. Paul office of the detective agency.

Mr. Mant, Georgian printed on the 1st page of a special extra today confidential reports from the St. Paul agency, showing how the detective had traced Carnes to Viper, The Georgian however eventually did not publish this information when first received because publication would warn Carnes and cause him to flee.

W. Carnes safely in jail, officials here today prepared for bringing him to trial at an early date. J. H. Walker, former governor of Georgia, has been specialized to lead the prosecution. The penalty on embezzlement charges, on which Carnes has been indicted, but two to seven years and many more indictments are expected, Walker pointed out.

Statutes provide a rather stern for embezzlement, but the will be no many charges against Carnes that he will be sentenced to a long term in prison. We said. Carnes evidently made a mistake when he went to Canada. We added, "Criminals are apt there and quickly apprehended. The Winnipeg police did get work." A reward of $5,000 has been offered by the United States Fidelity.

Machine gun with gangsters, running fights over roofs of a city and other thrilling embellishments mark Lou Chaney's latest starring vehicle, "While the City Sleeps," an underworld romance coming Monday to the Milano Theatre. Chaney plays a New York police detective in the new play and is pitted against a sinister gangster band. The thrills are a background for a pretty romance, with a love story between the detective, Anita Page, M-G-M's new blonde "discovery," and Carol Nye. Intimate glimpses of inside methods of New York police, including the "shadow box," fingerprinting and other details of their work, are shown in the picture. Jack Conway, director of "Twelve Miles Out," directed the new play.

MANY UNKNOWN ENTER WOMEN'S GOLFING TOURNEY

Unheard Of Entrants Push Stars In Play For National Title

HOT SPRINGS VA., Sept. 25.—(INS)—It almost became necessary for the United States Golf Association to append identification tags to the draw sheet for the first round of the women's national championship which will get under way this morning on the hazardous and treacherous course of the Cascade Golf Club half a dozen miles over the mountains from here.

Not in many seasons in the 32 year history of the women's championship tournament has the first round seen so many unknowns as will tee off today. Whether it was because of Arctic weather or on account of the obstacles to be surmounted on the course probably will not be determined, but at any rate golfers to an unusual number who had never before been heard of outside their own ballistics crowded some of the so-called "elect" out of the picture in yesterday's qualifying round and are now safely on the path which has its end in the title itself.

Just a few of these "unknowns" comparatively speaking who are rubbing elbows this morning among the upper ten of the game are Mrs. Lee Mida, of Chicago; Miss Katherine Wright, of Los Angeles; Mrs. J. Austin Purdue, of Chicago; Mrs. E. H. Baker, Jr., of Manchester, Mass.; Mrs. C. K. Bellew, of California, and Mrs. J. G. Ross, of Philadelphia, Pa. It remained for Mrs. Mida and Miss Wright to toss real bombshells into the camp of the leaders by turning in cards of 83 and 82 respectively, to place second and third behind Maureen O'neill's 90 for the medal. And probably had it not been for a lapse here and there either one or both of these newcomers might have blasted the Jersey girl out of the leading position. Miss O'neill did play wonderfully fine golf to card an 10 after missing a ten footer on the 18th green for a 78.

Police Take Robbers After Pistol Battle

PENSACOLA, Fla., Sept. 25.—Two white men, one of whom police believe to be the "Lone Wolf" who raided city schools during the last session, were captured after a pistol battle with the city detectives here early today.

Arrests followed attempts of police to break up the systematic robberies of city schools. These robberies started early last Spring. The robber would usually draw a picture of a wolf on blackboards in the schools he robbed and sign it "The Lone Wolf."

Anxious to get to Canada to engage in farming, a nine-year-old boy stowed away on a ship at Cardiff, Wales, and was not found until it arrived at Swan Sea, whence he was returned to his home.

Blackmail Plot Pleads Guilty Threat On Rasko

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 25.—(INS)—Francis C. Mooney, 40, pleaded guilty before Judge Howard MacNeille in quarter session court today to six indictments charging him with attempted extortion and sending threatening letters to Mrs. John J. Raskob, wife of the chairman of the Democratic National Committee. Sentence was deferred until William Goldberg, alleged accomplice in the blackmail scheme can be brought to trial.

During his admission of the crime, Mooney said he had been arrested in 1919 and 1921 in Delaware County on charges of false representation involving a stock selling transaction. He also said he had six sons and a daughter but all of them have disowned him.

Mooney claimed he was starving and desperate when questioned as to why he wrote the blackmail letters threatening Raskob's life unless Mrs. Raskob paid him $100,000.

Get All You Pay For

FULL value cannot be determined by either the yard-stick or the scale. You may get full weight and full measure and yet not get full value. Service and satisfaction are big factors in determining value. It's the aftermath of a purchase that establishes your value, your service, your satisfaction.

You cannot get those things from the transient trader. He's gone—on his way before your goods are fully tested. He makes his "getaway" before the goods make their "give-away."

But, your home merchant is with you all the time—ready and eager to back up his merchandise; maintaining an interest in it because he is vitally interested in maintaining your patronage, year in and year out.

That's why your local merchant cannot afford to sell anything but reliable goods.

Refuses to Be Called "Sir"

LONDON—Oswald Mosley, Labor Member of Parliament and extreme Socialist, inherited a baronetcy recently through the death of his father, Sir Oswald Mosley. The younger man's wife, Lady Cynthia, is the daughter of the late Marquis of Curzon and granddaughter of the late Levi Leiter of Chicago.

Mosley, who is now in France, will not assume his title of Sir Oswald, if he maintains the threat made in a newspaper controversy with his father, who was a staunch Tory, a few years ago. When the son turned Socialist, Sir Oswald said contemptuously that the boy had been born with a golden spoon in his mouth and had never done an honest day's work in his life. Mosley retorted that he would not have become called "sir" when his father died.

ARCHITECTS MAY COPY STYLES OF ANCIENT MAYAS

Old Central American Art May Have Revival in Present Times

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(INS)—Art, which flourished in Central America some two thousand years before the arrival of Columbus, may have a present-day revival among architects seeking native inspiration, to take the place of ideas borrowed from ancient Europe, Asia and Africa. This is the opinion of George Oakley Totten, internationally noted architect.

The great monuments, palaces and temples, of the Mayas offer rich possibilities to the American builders, he declares. Their style may be profitably adapted to modern needs, he believes, with such materials as terra cotta being used to effect economies, and to give the brilliant colors a permanence which was unfortunately lacking in the painted stone of the originals.

"The art and architecture of the ancient Mayas," says Mr. Totten, "were so highly developed, as to fairly rival Imperial Rome with which they were contemporaneous. In Yucatan, Guatemala and Honduras, there are the remains of a score of cities, all now overgrown by the tropical jungle, which offer a field for research unparalleled in any country."

Pyramids and Palaces
Some of these have been excavated. The Carnegie Institution of Washington, D. C., has been restoring the great pyramids and palace of Chichen-Itza. The pyramids are usually square, and are surmounted by temples, with grand staircases leading to them. Some of the temples were used for sacrificial purposes and these had staircases on all four sides.

"The architecture of the Maya civilization was in brilliant colors, applied as thin washes. Unfortunately, colors are not permanent, even today, except when they are fixed by fire as in the case of ceramics and terra cotta. The first impression one has in viewing the great monuments of the Mayas is that it is a pity the color was not of a permanent nature. If one is a modern architect he thinks this is the style for terra cotta—par excellence."

Had Own Literature
"The Maya civilization which began centuries before the Christian era, finally succumbed to the attacks of the Spaniards. The highest development of its architecture probably was between the years of ten and twelve hundred.

"In the course of its growth, it created a literature written in hieroglyphics, and a knowledge of astronomy greater than any people of antiquity. It had a calendar dated from a time approximately 500 B. C., which was as exact as our own, and was invented two thousand years before it.

"The religion of the people was ministered by a highly organized priesthood and possessed many gods, not unlike the mythology of Greece but also with more or less conviction of a Supreme Being. Learning was confined to the nobles and priesthood."

Mr. Totten has written a book on the subject of Maya Architecture.

Big Power Project Being Planned For Connecticut River

LITTLETON, N. H., Sept. 29.—(INS)—Tests of the earth and rock bottom along the famous 15 Mile Falls in the Connecticut River near here, where the New England Power Association is planning to install a 250,000 horsepower development at a cost of over $40,000,000, are being made by a corps of engineers.

For an undertaking of such magnitude when complete the 15 Mile Falls project will be the largest east of the Mississippi outside of Niagara Falls, considerable preliminary work is necessary. However, diamond drills have already cut to a depth of 250 feet at various spots along the Falls.

The two dams, which will be 165 feet in height, will hold back a vast volume of water and will create an artificial lake about fifteen square miles.

A small army of 4,000 men will be employed for three years in order to hurry completion of the huge project.

In conjunction with the proposed $40,000,000 development, the New England Power Association is now making an industrial survey of New Hampshire. An effort is being made to help existing industries as well as secure new ones for the state.

Watchman Tells How He Choked Daughter

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(INS)—Franklin E. Smith a night watchman, sat calmly in jail today and recounted to juries how he choked his 19-year old daughter, Bessie, to death while in a rage over her failure to provide his breakfast.

Not only did he find no breakfast but there was no food in the kitchen, he said. "I asked Bessie if she had given all the food to John Heele, her admirer, and when she began to give me impudence, I seized her by the throat and began choking her," said the alleged confession. "I threw her on the bed and held her there until I knew she was dead."

Bandits Loot Mail Pouch Of Valuables And Make Escape

RAHWAY, N. J., Sept. 29.—(INS)—Securities and registered mail valued at $30,000 were stolen from the Pennsylvania Railroad station here today and police were working on the theory that Josephine Van Cline, a porter, was kidnaped with the mail pouch containing the valuables.

Van Cline, employed to carry mail bags from the trains to mail trucks could not be found after the theft was discovered. A story told by Edgar Mallen, an employe of the N. and G. Radio Company led authorities to the theory that Van Cline was kidnaped with the valuables by New York bandits.

Mallen told police he saw two cars bearing New York license plates drive rapidly away from the station about the time the robbery is believed to have taken place. The mail bag contained securities and cash for local banks and included $10,000 from the Federal Reserve Bank in New York City.

FLORIDA GATORS SHOW FINE FORM IN PRACTICE TILT

Sauls, Caython, Brumbaugh and Bethea In Thick Of Fracas

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA, Gainesville, Sept. 28.—(Athletic News Bureau)—Big Gator backs pounded themselves through defensive lines in scrimmage Wednesday to turn in the season's best ball-carrying performance.

Article taken

I politely accept these things from professional things can happen in it rarely does, and attention is a form sheet, insurance policy.

Estimating the probable survival of a football team in the big scramble, one cannot afford to consider a team apart from its schedule. That may explain the apparently radical decision I have reached on the following forecast:

Vanderbilt is ranked the most probable winner. Georgia is given second best chance. Alabama is given third place and Georgia Tech fourth.

Georgia is given second place. Georgia not only has the power plant of the great 1927 team intact, but the new bulldogs look very impressive in scrimmage.

Fine defensive work had heretofore stood out as the Florida gridmen were put through actual game conditions, but bigger holes were opened in the lines Wednesday and cooperating in hearty accord, the backfield and line accounted for many notable gains.

Sauls, who put in his first appearance only Monday, has taken a fast grip on the situation, and is being looked upon as one of the many outstanding backs. Together with Betha, Silsby, and Ferguson, Sauls was in the premier freshman backfield last season, and proved a wealth of strength in both offense and defense.

The University gymnasium Wednesday evening was turned into an indoor practice field, as the 30 minute evening "skull lecture" was given over to signal drill, coaches stressing thorough understanding of assignments on certain plays.

Yanks Win Pennant While Giants Drop Game Which Almost Eliminates Them

McGraw Loses Another Game To Cubs And Thereby Practically Forfeits Any Chance To Overcome Cardinals

By Davis J. Walsh International News Service Sports Editor NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—It was only 12 hours ago that officials of the New York baseball club were hasting hither and thither, as it were or maybe was, warning a distracted populace that it simply was no use asking for them again. They had no reserved seats left for the bait game between the Giants and Cardinals tomorrow and, if every body would just be patient and wait a little longer, they could guarantee to have even less than that.

All I can say now is that things have come to a parlous state when a man just knows that he won't sleep a minute more than 12 hours tonight, worrying about what the holders of these tickets might be able to use them for if the Cardinals beat the Braves again this afternoon, I will be equally at a loss to fathom this problem even if the Cards don't beat the Braves this afternoon. For they can blow that ball game and still take a bow as champions of the National League, provided the Giants blitherly boot another to the Cubs.

The Cardinals can join the Yankees today and make the 1928 repeat itself. All they have to do is take the Braves again and this should be no trick at all for a ball club that can win two 15 inning games of almost tragic importance within four days. Besides, the Braves are all out of miracles after holding a prospective pennant winner scoreless for five straight innings between the 10th and the 14th inclusive yesterday.

The Cardinals this morning virtually are "in." They can go wrong but undoubtedly they won't. They got this yesterday by pulling out another of their theatrical 15 inning finishes, while the Giants again were finishing a rousing second to the Cubs. The St. Louis entry thus went two games ahead of the situation with exactly two games yet to be played.

YANK GAMENESS BRINGS VICTORY TO HUGGINS' MEN

Hugmen Win Pennant Being Resourceful In Critical Pinches

By Les Conklin International News Service Staff Correspondent NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—On the eve of the annual football game with Harvard, a group of Yale undergraduates once wired to the student body at Cambridge the message "may the best team win" the scholarly sons of Harvard reciprocated somewhat chidingly as follows—"may the better team win!"

Well, the better team and not the best team, won the American League pennant this year when the New York Yankees beat Detroit yesterday and the Philadelphia Athletics were mathematically eliminated. The Yanks clearly outplayed the A's, 16 games to 6, but against the rest of the league the Mackmen had an edge of 7 1-2 games on the New Yorkers. With the Philadelphia-New York Yanks tests eliminated, the A's won 91 games and lost 38 while the Yanks won only 84 and lost 46.

Be that as it may, the Hugmen were victorious in the pinches and that gameness of theirs may give them another world's championship, despite the loss of Pennek, the poor condition of Lazzeri, Ruth and Koenig and the injury of Earl Combs, star center fielder. Combs, who fractured his right wrist when he crashed into a concrete wall Thursday, is out of the series, in all probability. Paschal will take his place against southpaw pitchers and Durr will get the call against right-handers.

But the other Yankee regulars, their jubilation over winning New York's sixth pennant in eight years somewhat tempered by the loss of Combs, believe that Ruth, Lazzeri and Koenig can round into shape by taking a complete rest in the five days remaining before the start of the post-season classic.

Ruth's ailing knee does not seem to be affecting his batting, as he has walloped three home runs in his last three games. If a trick should run over the Babe in the next few days he might get a peevish and hit about a dozen homers in the World Series.

George Pipgras' 24th victory yesterday was New York's 100th triumph of the season. Victory last year by 19 games, the Yanks played a 13 1-2 game lead this season and were out of first place three weeks ago. Today Huggins' worries should be over, but he just beginning to worry about the World Series.

The twins were charged with being in a gang that assaulted M. Arthur. The complainant declared that John had hit him and a witness said that one of the brothers did it, but he could say which one it was. A photograph labeled "The Peril Game" which was found on Edward when he was arrested, was produced and the fiscal said that it was included in the company. ward, however, asserted that photograph was his property, that he was included in the picture and that Edward was not the declared John guilty.
