Clinic trims health services

By Nick Pfeiffauf
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SEMINOLE COUNTY - Some health services will be trimmed down in the area while others plan to expand. The cutback will be at the Central Florida Family Health Center in Casselberry. The improvements will be expansions of health and safety training opportunities by the American Red Cross of Central Florida in Casselberry and Altamonte Springs.

Regarding the cutbacks, the Central Florida Family Health Center says it will stop providing adult and child primary care services after July 31 at the Casselberry clinic, 182 Wilshire Blvd.

The reason given is expenses which have continued to exceed revenues at that location. There was insufficient third party coverage (Medicaid, Insurance, etc.) for the patient mix at the Casselberry clinic.

Approximately 2,700 clinic users will be affected, with approximately 48 percent children and 54 percent adults. They are to be informed of alternative sources for care, which include the Central Florida Family Health Center's Sanford clinic at 2400 CR-415A in Sanford (phone 322-8645), Seminole County Health Department's Sanford clinic at 400 W. Airport Blvd. Sanford

(phone 322-2724), and the private medical sector. The Casselberry facility will not close, however. The Health

9:30.

The Sanford City Commission, with an emergency ordinance prohibiting the ignition of fireworks within the city limits, is urging all persons planning to attend to

Florida on fire Lightning sparks new starts Tuesday

By Nick Pfeiffauf
HERALD STAFF WRITER

CENTRAL FLORIDA - Thunderstorms over the northern parts of the state Monday and in Central Florida Tuesday afternoon resulted in an increase in the number of new fire starts and acreage burned, after several days during which the number of new starts and acres burned had dropped. A total of 73 new fires reportedly started Monday with 6,617 acres burned.

The majority of new fires Monday were in Alachua, Marion and Putnam counties.

Tuesday afternoon's thunderstorm produced several more fires, most of which were extinguished within a short period of time by firefighters and in some areas, rainfall.

The Florida Divisions of Emergency Management and Forestry, along with Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), have released the latest information for the period ending at midnight Monday, July 29.

Statistics show 1,489 fires since June 1, with a total of 239,602 acres burned. There have been 30 people, mostly firefighters, injured thus far, but no fatalities.

FEMA says 86 homes and 54 other structures have now been damaged or destroyed with a loss estimate of structures and houses only, set at $190 million.

One of the most recent fires in Central Florida, involving up to 10,000 acres is in the Mims and Scottsboro areas of Brevard County, near SR-46 and I-95 and U.S. 1. Possibly as many as 2,000 homeowners have been asked to evacuate their dwellings, which fire officials say could be in serious danger should winds shift unexpectedly. That area did not have sufficient rainfall Tuesday

Brief relief from scorching temperatures

Brief showers finally paid a visit to Sanford Tuesday afternoon, after temperatures topped 100 degrees. While the rain isn't immediately going to turn lawns green again, a continuation of afternoon showers now appears to lie ahead. On the northern side of Lake Monroe, parts of Osteen recorded almost 1 1/4 inches of rainfall in a brief period, but other areas near Osteen, on Maytown Road where fires have destroyed a large area of woodlands, the rains were not as helpful.

Directory lists government, non-profit organizations

Special to the Herald

The Community Services Network (CSN) announces the release of the 1998 Community Resource Directory, a comprehensive listing of more than 300 government and non-profit organizations in Orange, Osceola and Seminole counties. Updated annually, the listings include agency contact names, telephone numbers, locations, needs and services provided, and more.

"Over the past 20 years, the Community Resource Directory has become an invaluable tool in our community," says Debbie Pritchard, CSN's director of communications. "Not only is the information in the directory detailed and current, it's also designed in an easy-to-use format that allows the user to quickly search by agency name or service."

The Community Resource Directory is available in two sizes—a full-sized desk reference and a mini version. The prices are $60 for the desk reference and $45 for the mini version. Non-profit organizations receive a discounted price of $45 for the desk reference and $30 for the mini version. An electronic version of the Community Resource Directory is also available on disk.

CSN also publishes three additional specialized directories: the Senior Resource Directory, the Children and Youth Resource Directory and the Support Groups Directory. These will be released later this year.

through," said Jim Solomons, police information officer for the Orange County Sheriff's Office. Oliver first contacted an attorney to set up bail with a bondman. She then was released shortly after posting bond totaling $9,237. The total was from warrants from both counties.

Oliver made history when she became the first woman to give birth live on the World Wide Web at the Arnold Palmer Hospital for Women and Children. Thousands of web browsers accessed the site to see history in the making before Oliver disappeared.

"The Seminole County Sheriff's Office is pleased this came to a conclusion," said Steve Harriett, chief deputy with the Sheriff's Office. Harriett said that the Sheriff's Office dedicated resources to the pursuit of Oliver.

The State Attorney's Office is currently looking into the situation. No trial date has been set for Oliver at this time.

attempt to help extinguish any of the blaze in surrounding wooded areas.

Other fires in the general area were west of Osteen in the Quail Ranch Road area. Tuesday afternoon's rainfall in that area is credited with being of big help in fighting the blaze, but the previous extensive dry spell left the woodlands easy targets for lightning and sparks from other fires.

Additional statistics from FEMA list 126 bulldozers, 123 firefighting engines, 10 helicopters and 22 water tenders have been put into service, along with approximately 2,500 firefighters.

The Florida Division of Forestry and U.S. Forest Service officials are urging Florida residents to remember that as long as the drought conditions remain, a statewide ban on burning remains in effect.

To assist law enforcement in combating arson which is believed to be the cause of many of the fires, the State Fire marshal has set up an arson hotline. The number is 1-800-342-5869.

Members missing out on great opportunities

By: Dan Berger, Vice President
 Lawn Master of Central Florida, Inc.

A mere 8 % out of nearly one thousand chamber members attended June's Business After Hours. I find this hard to understand, as there is no better place to develop long term relationships with fellow business owners.

As vice-president of Lawn Masters, I encourage all of our employees to regularly attend chamber functions. The bigger the business team you have present, the more effective you will be at networking.

You will find that Sanford Chamber Business After Hours is an excellent forum for your representatives to present your company to other business associates and for you to evaluate their performance.

Our community's economic growth relies strongly on a network of local businesses promoting and supporting each other.

Please attend the chamber's next Business After Hours function with your business team and begin to form relationships that will strengthen and grow your business for years to come.

How business can work with schools

Chamber to publish business involvement guide

By: Jeanne Morris

Jeanne Morris, District 5, Seminole County School Board Member

There is an increasing interest in the Sanford area business community about volunteering in the schools. The Education Committee of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, working with the School to Work and Community Involvement offices of the Seminole County Public Schools, will soon have a guide to help business community direct their time and resources where they are most needed. In the fall, when teachers have finished their planning for the school year, the Education Committee will publish a working directory of specific opportunities in the Sanford area schools for business involvement. For example, if you and your business want to be involved in a one time event...maybe you have some time off in a specific season...you might want to volunteer for a one day event as a speaker in a job fair, for example, presenting the details about your career. If you have short periods of time available regularly, you could volunteer to help on a "once a week for a limited time" project, such as for a ten week time span for the Junior Achievement Program. (Don't worry, training and materials are provided).

Of course, if you are willing and can find the time, the need for year-long volunteers to be actively involved is acute. Mentoring (about one hour a week), sponsoring a Career Club at an elementary school (one or two hours a week) or serving on a School Advisory Council are all long term commitments that do not take much time each week.

If public speaking is not on your list of favorite things to do, there are still many opportunities for getting involved. Being a host for a student or teacher to shadow you for a day can have a life changing impact. Becoming a school volunteer, working with the media center staff or office staff, can be a big help. Your in-kind services are always needed somewhere in the schools.

These opportunities do not stop with just one school. If you are inclined to invest significant time and talents, the Foundation for Seminole County Public Schools could use you. Call Dede Schaffner, 320-0176 to get more information. Also the Business Advisory Board for Seminole County Public Schools annually has openings for specific business professionals.

When the opportunity list is published this fall, please take a hard look at your calendar and your talents, and reach out to the schools.

Environmental Center makes "friends"

Pat Burkett, Environmental Education specialist, Sanford Chamber executive director Ronald Rose, Gabrielle Milch, and Dede Schaffner, Community Involvement coordinator with Seminole County Public School hosted an organizational meeting of the "Friends of the Environmental Studies Center".

The goal of the "Friends" is to raise public awareness, sponsor fundraising activities. The group has established membership levels, in hopes of collecting seed money. The contribution levels range from $15 for senior citizens, to $250 for corporations.

Anyone interested in joining the friends group should contact Schaffner at 320-0176.

Sanford Post Office Customer Advisory Council being formed

The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce is pleased to announce that Pat Santell, employee representative with the Jobs & Benefits Center of Florida, will coordinate the organization of the Sanford Post Office Customer Advisory Council.

The purpose for the formation of the council is to promote a better relationship between the Post Office and local citizens and businesses. The council will help to improve services, create a better understanding of the Postal Service, serve as a sounding board for the community, provide feedback to the Postal Service on customer expectations and dissatisfactions.

Sanford Postmaster Tom Pierce said "The council will provide an excellent forum for the exchange of ideas and information between postal officials and their customers".

If you are interested in being considered to serve on the Sanford Post Office Customer Advisory Council, please call Pat Santell, 330-6700.

Scientists looking into alligator deaths on Lake Griffin

SANFORD Wildlife scientists from a variety of state agencies are trying to figure out what is killing alligators on 9,000-acre Lake Griffin. At last count, at least 40 gators have died of unknown causes. Meanwhile, adult gators are producing few viable eggs.

The Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission has contracted with Dr. Ferran Ross of the University of Florida's Museum of Natural History to unravel the mystery. Ross summoned scientists and other officials to Gainesville May 19 to firm up a plan to find out why the gators are dying. Major players in the task force include the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, St. Johns River Water Management District and the University of Florida.

"Since the spring of 1997, we've had low hatch rates and high mortality of adult alligators in Lake Griffin," Ross said. "Eggs are dying during incubation or within 5-10 days of laying."

Only 4 percent of the lake's alligator eggs are hatching, and the die-off of adult alligators began in April.

Researchers decided to focus their efforts on four possible causes of the alligators' problems: Cylindrospermopsis (a type of blue-green algae), disease, chemical contamination and nutrition.

Cylindrospermopsis, although never scientifically linked to alligator deaths before, can result in conditions that can kill fish and other animals. It is not toxic to humans in natural concentrations, however.

Habitat degradation, usually the result of human population increases, is a massive statewide problem that affects all wildlife, and can cause a variety of diseases.

Chemical contamination, which already has caused a great decline in the alligator population in nearby Lake Apopka, is another potential cause.

"Lake Griffin has been getting agricultural and urban runoff for the past 30-40 years," Ross said.

Nutrition is another possible culprit. In recent research involving sea turtles, scientists found that turtles that ate a diet artificially high in protein were inclined to produce more eggs—but with an extremely low fertility rate among the eggs.

"Lake Griffin's problems could be the result of any one of these factors or any combination of them," Ross said. "Or it may be something else that we aren't aware of."

SHUPE'S SCOOP

Even though alligators are prehistoric, subtle changes in the environment or unseen pollution can threaten their very existence.

FISHING FORECAST

Bream and catfish will bit throughout the summer in the river. Bass action will be at a standstill except for early and late at night. The Puzzle Lake area will be a hotspot with water well within the banks.

Expect great catch and release snook action at Sebastian Inlet. Flounder, redfish, trout, jack crevalle and ladyfish will also readily strike live bait or artificials. Snook and tarpon are also active back in the Sebastian River.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral reports spotty offshore action. King mackerel continue to hit on Pelican Flats and S.A. Reef. Dolphin and wahoo are scattered and not reliable. Tripletail are in the buoy line and flounder are biting inside the Port. Trout and redfish are rated as good on the flats of the Banana and Indian Rivers.

It's mainly sheepshead at Ponce Inlet. Some flounder are hitting finger mullet along the south jetties. Redfish, drum, small bluefish, jack crevalle and ladyfish are also roaming the rocks. Trout and redfish are rated as good in Mosquito Lagoon.

An upsetting finale

Belinda Anderson was 3-for-5, scored two runs and drove in four, but it was not enough as Sunniland Corporation saw its eight game winning streak end 17-12 at the hands of the Sharks at Pinehurst Park Tuesday.

Sharks end Sunniland Corp. streak, but Sunniland still wins Sanford women's title

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — It was a very strange evening at Pinehurst Park Tuesday night as the Sanford Recreation Department Women's Spring Slow Pitch Softball League closed out its season.

Sunniland Corporation closed out its season the way it began, with a loss, but in between it won all eight games to win the championship.

The Sharks, which wrapped up second place with the victory, did the damage this time, scoring 10 runs in the fifth inning to erase an 11-7 deficit and holding on for a 17-12 upset.

The other two games also had a bearing on the final standings, and they weren't even played.

In the scheduled second game, Vaughan Incorporated broke a tie for third place with the Eagles when the Eagles failed to show up.

The same thing happened in the third game as W.D. Associates failed to field a team, allowing Curt's Alleycats to claim a 7-0 forfeit victory and a share of fourth place with the Eagles.

The final standings are: Sunniland Corporation (8-2), the Sharks (6-3), Vaughan Incorporated (5-5), the Eagles and Curt's Alleycats (both 4-6) and W.D. Associates (2-7).

Sunniland got off to a fast start, scoring six runs in the top of the first inning.

Barb Martin led off the game with a home run. Ann Lanza and Carol Cranick followed with singles and Lanza came around to score as

Sunniland Corp. 888 9 0 0 1 - 15 18
Sharks 208 2 10 0 2 - 17 13

Teresa Finck and Belinda Anderson both reached on errors.

Jeb Bush to serve as Pepsi 400 Grand Marshall

Special to the Herald

DAYTONA BEACH — Jeb Bush, former Secretary of Commerce for the State of Florida, will serve as Grand Marshall for the inaugural night-time running of the Pepsi 400 on July 4 at Daytona International Speedway.

"I am honored to serve as Grand Marshall of the 1998 Pepsi 400," Bush said. "For 40 years this race has been a top-notch event on the racing circuit and has held a special place in the hearts of people of Florida and racing fans everywhere. I wish all participants and fans a successful, safe and enjoyable racing weekend."

During Bush's tenure as Florida's Secretary of Commerce, he saw first hand the worldwide exposure and the economic impact of motorsports at Daytona. He was also the Republican nominee for governor in 1994.

Bush came to Florida nearly 18 years ago. In 1981, with only three employees, he helped start a new real estate company. Today, he serves as president and chief operating officer of that same small business.

However, with more than 200 employees, the Miami-based Codina Group is now the largest full-service commercial real estate company in South Florida.

More recently, Bush established the Foundation for Florida's Future — a grassroots organization that has positively impacted public policy for the last three years.

It was in this capacity, as chairman of the Foundation, that he co-founded the Liberty City Charter School with the Urban League of Greater Miami. This independent public school now serves more than 140 underprivileged kindergarten, first, second and third graders from the poorest sections of Miami.

His father, former President George Bush, may have passed his enthusiasm for motor-

Advancing through the double-elimination tournament undefeated, the Goddards defeated the all-stars from Seminole, Volusia, Osceola and Orange counties.

The lead to Tampa proved difficult, and the Goddards needed two come-from-behind victories to prevail.

The most spectacular of those wins came when D.J. Hicks blasted a towering three-run home run in the sixth and final inning to overcome a two run deficit, and give the West Seminole All-Stars the championship.

When asked how he felt about his heroes, the unassuming Hicks simply said, "Good."

Head coach Carl Safford optimistically looks forward to the upcoming state tournament. Having coached in the league for nearly ten years, he noted that this year's bunch is one of the strongest he has ever seen.

His players have yet to disappoint him.

Sam Ryder made an amazing shooting catch in the tournament. Like his teammate Hicks, he did not brag about his play, which his coach noted would be difficult for a major league player.

Said Ryder, "I didn't know if I would catch it or not."

The team is filled with other talented, modest young players like Adam Safford, whose team hit 64 home runs over the fence this year, and Christian Tamayo, an extraordinary shortstop. Josh Ledford hit two home runs, and batted superbly during the tournament.

Alex Mendes best summed up the attitude of the team when asked what he hoped most to accomplish in Tampa, whether to hit a home run or make a great catch, said, "Just helping my team out and getting base hits."

"The kids are a blast," said assistant coach Chris Ledford, "and we've got a great coach, Carl's a blast."

Coach Carl Safford also gives credit for his team's success to the parents, especially assistant coaches Ledford, Greg Straka, and Art Ryder.

As the youngsters ran about practice, shooting each other with water guns large enough to put down a hot, Coach Safford explained how he tries to avoid putting pressure on the kids, and tells them simply to try to do their best.

So far, it's worked pretty well.

Tip of the Week
The wok is a centuries old design for cooking. The bowl shape concentrates the heat. This allows for the very fast cooking time. Used in oriental stir fry cooking. When cooking in a wok use only a minimum amount of oil in the bottom to keep food from sticking. Make sure the oil is smoking hot before adding food. Do not try to cook too much at a time, 1 to 2 cups at most. You must stir constantly using the sides of the wok to flip items over in order to insure even cooking. Most foods cooked in a wok are done in a minute or two so be careful not to burn or over cook your meal. With practice you can make almost anything in a wok. In many Chinese homes it's the only pan they use.

There is no question that Chinese food is one of the most popular types of food people in this country eat. The fact that there is hardly a town that doesn't have a Chinese restaurant in the area is proof of its popularity. Despite all the jokes about the "questionable ingredients" in Chinese cooking we love to go out for Chinese food.

China is an enormous country with centuries of culture and uncountable varieties of cuisine and recipes. We are generally aware of only a few varieties which are offered at restaurants. Cantonese is the most well known followed by the more spicy Szechwan style. However, the Shantung gives us Peking duck, Fukial produce, great soups and stews and Homen provide sweet and sour dishes to name a few.

The Chinese consider cooking a true art form and precision, texture, presentation are as important as taste. After all they have had thousands of years to practice their art. The typical meal is served with individual servings of rice or noodles and soup. The main course is generally a number of different dishes placed in the center of the table so the guests may choose for themselves.

Even though we love to eat Chinese food, we seldom, cook it at home. There is really no reason why you can't produce a great authentic Chinese meal in your kitchen.

The following recipes are a small example of the great foods that the Chinese culture have given us. They are simple to make and use easily obtainable ingredients. I hope after trying them you check out some of the other great recipes from China.

As I mentioned earlier, all meals are served with a bowl of rice or noodles, so I won't list either as a course for this meal. In addition, tea is always served and can be one of three types: green, black or oolong all of them are served weak. However, you can always break with tradition and drip whatever you want with your meal. After all this is America, not China.

Egg Flower Soup
(serves 6 to 8)
2 pints chicken stock
6 large eggs, well beaten
2 the. light soy sauce
1 tsp. white vinegar
1/3 tsp. sugar
chopped green onion for garnish

Veterans' health care rumors not factual

DEAR ABBY: I am writing because your column reaches thousands of people every day, and I'm hoping you'll send a message to all the veterans of all branches of the service.
An item I read in the Savannah, Ga. newspaper said that if a veteran has not registered at a Veterans Affairs Hospital since Oct. 1, 1996, on Oct. 1, 1998, he or she will lose all medical benefits for life. It went on to say that the VA cannot notify veterans about it - the information must be disseminated by word-of-mouth or by letter.

I called the VA and it is true. This law will affect thousands of veterans, and many will not learn of it before the cutoff date. It's wrong to deny veterans their rights. Abby, please print this information in your column.

SUE KITCHEN, UNION STAR, MO.
DEAR SUE: I'm pleased to print your letter, although the news article was in error, and the situation is not as bleak as portrayed.

After contacting the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA), I learned that this is a wild rumor spread via the Internet. According to Kenneth W. Elser, M.D., VA undersecretary for health, "There is good news for veterans who are distressed over incorrect information spread via the Internet that suggests they will automatically lose their VA medical benefits if they fail to apply for the VA's new health-care enrollment program by Oct. 1, 1998. It isn't so!"

"The VA is required by law to begin an enrollment system for its health-care services by Oct. 1, 1998. However, this does not mean veterans who have not applied for enrollment by that date will lose their eligibility for VA medical care."

"Veterans can apply at the time they need VA care, before or after Oct. 1. In fact, we have been automatically processing enrollment applications for veterans treated by VA since Oct. 1, 1998."

"If all veterans who are eligible for VA medical care do not apply by Oct. 1, 1998, the VA will be forced to deny them VA medical care. However, this does not mean veterans who have not applied for enrollment by that date will lose their eligibility for VA medical care."

ADVICE

to veterans with service-connected disabilities.
"After enrollment begins, some veterans can still be treated by VA without being considered Veterans with a VA disability rating of 50 percent or higher will receive care without enrolling veterans with service-connected disabilities will receive care for these disabilities and veterans discharged while on active duty will receive VA care for those disabilities within the first 18 months of discharge."

DEAR ABBY: The letter from Norm Tsey about wearing a complete body armor is an excellent description of a man who is afraid to die. A philosopher of long ago stated that a man who is afraid to die does not know how to live.
Abby, keep up the good work. You are wonderful.
GEORGE D. LUNDBERG, NACHES, WASH.

DEAR GEORGE: The philosopher may have been right, but you and many of my readers missed the tongue-in-cheek humor in Norm Tsey's letter. Read it again with that in mind, and I think you'll agree that it's humorous.

DEAR ABBY: I'm writing this letter for all of those well-meaning folks who insist that the victim, "What he or she doesn't know, won't hurt them."
After my father was killed at his restaurant during a robbery (at age 48), my mother and I were at his attorney's office to start proceedings, and the question of "date of marriage" came up. Mom said, "Aug. 23, 1925," and I said, "No, Mom - it's 1924." She turned to me and said, "Hush. We'll talk about this later."

I was 23 years old when I learned I had escaped illegitimacy by just 34 days! First I felt betrayed, then foolish because in mom's large family, I was the only one who was unaware of this fact of my birth. When I asked her, "Why, Mom, why?" she said, "Because Dad made me promise you would never know of it in his lifetime."
Apparently this proud man could not bear the thought that I might consider him imperfect. It was easy for Mom to go along with it because she always tried to protect me by withholding unpleasantness.

Abby, all this happened 50 years ago, and I have long since forgiven them. But I have not altogether forgotten that I was deceived by those I trusted most.
CANT FORGET IN L.A.

DEAR CANT FORGET: It is for that specific reason that I advise parents never to lie to their children.

DEAR ABBY: In response to "Don't Look Handicapped," who is walking tall in the Midwest - I, too, have a handicapped placard. I had a car accident in 1990, breast cancer in 1991 and a heart attack in 1992.

I look OK, and I'm not a whiner. I have a standard answer for anyone who tells me, "You don't look handicapped." I say, "You don't look ignorant, either. It just goes to prove you can't tell by looking."
