Water Diversion Crisis Continues 'Friends Of St. Johns' Seek To Aid River

The "thrift" (diversion) of more than 200 million gallons of water per day from the St. Johns River, first revealed in The Herald two weeks ago, has led to the formation of a new organization dedicated to the preservation of the fisheries, water quality and quantity of the river and its tributaries.

OPINION

Heavy rains immediately following publication of the first report on the water diversion from the headwaters of the river temporarily eased the critical water shortage. Since then, little or no rain has fallen and the river is near drought stage again.

A plan by which a 100-man jail facility might be constructed at the Seminole County Port Authority was revealed last night by County Commissioner Chairman Sid Vihlen Jr. The proposal is one of four options for new jail space being developed by Vihlen and County Corrections Chief George Proudfoot and will be detailed during a full-board meeting next week.

Solve One Issue In Five Minutes Board, SEA Clash Over Grievance Procedures

In only about five minutes yesterday, negotiators approved an article on academic freedom which is part of a proposed master contract for the county's school teachers.

At the meeting during school hours, Pelley again said negotiations will take place after school because "teachers are hired to teach."

School Budget Increase Predicted

Yesterday, school officials began hearings on budget requests, and Asst. School Supt. Roger Harris predicts next year's operating budget requests will total about $35.9 million, up $2 million from the current budget.

Budget hearings will continue every Tuesday and Thursday at 2 p.m. in the School Board conference room. Department heads will appear before the Committee to justify their requests, but, as Harris says, "No definite decisions can be made until we hear from the legislature."

Appointment 'Effective Immediately' Spolski Named To Head '91' Operation

John A. Spolski, associate editor of The Evening Herald and veteran Seminole County newspaperman, last night was named supervisor of the county's 911 emergency system.

The 911 program was established by state law which requires that all police, fire and emergency vehicles be tied into a telephone system that would simultaneously alert the necessary services by dialing the 911 number.

Saigon Now Ho Chi Minh (See Related Story, Page 10-A)

TOKYO — Radio Hanoi announced today that Saigon, given the name Ho Chi Minh after the late North Vietnamese president, has been "completely liberated."

"At 11:30 on April 30, 1975, the flag of the traditional revolutionary government of the Republic of South Vietnam fluttered above the palace of the puppet president and on other buildings in the city," Hanoi's Vietnam New Agency said in a news broadcast here.

NATION IN BRIEF

Ford Calls For Nation To Close Ranks On War

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford spent an anxious 24 hours as he made the decision for almost 100,000 Americans from Saigon and waited for the last helicopter to leave safely. When it was all over late Tuesday afternoon and he closed "a chapter in the American experience," Ford asked the nation "to close ranks... avoid recriminations... to work together on the great tasks that remain to be accomplished."

Boy Survives Operation

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — A rare operation in which half of a boy's skull was removed and then replaced several weeks later, has saved 12-year-old Bruce Sandridge of Deadwood, S.D., University of Minnesota doctors report. The surgery came after doctors found he was in such an advanced stage of Reyes Syndrome that doctors felt there was no chance of saving him with conventional techniques. Dr. James Ausman, assistant professor of neurology, removed Bryan's skull from a point just above the eyes to the middle of his head, relieving pressure on his brain. The skin was then put back loosely over his brain. After the youth improved, the section of skull, which had been kept in a sterile container, was replaced.

Twins Have Leukemia

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Nine months after 4-year-old Rusty Byrd developed leukemia, doctors discovered his twin brother, Jamie, was also suffering from the often-fatal disease. "I don't ask the purpose of these things," their father, Jerry Byrd, 29, said Tuesday. "I think there is a purpose behind all suffering and difficulty. I believe this will give us an opportunity to come out better people than we went in." The Byrds have been struggling to pay $20,000 in medical bills and now are threatened with foreclosure on their Orlando home.

Asian Policy Considered

WASHINGTON (AP) — A major task for the Ford administration following the ragged end to the American role in Vietnam is development of a new, realistic Asian policy while warding off possible Communist adventurism, U.S. officials say. The focus of a policy redevelopment ordered by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger will be on Japan, South Korea, the Philippines and Indonesia.

New Aid Bill Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the evacuation of U.S. citizens from South Vietnam complete and Vietnam surrendered, Congress may scrap a $371 million aid bill and start over on an Indochina refugee aid measure that could cost even more. The new bill funding evacuation and the care of Cambodians and other non-Americans as well as some 65,000 South Vietnamese to the United States is backed by House Speaker Carl Albert.

Garbage Becomes Power

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — In an effort to combat rising fuel bills, officials at a 500-bed Orlando hospital will soon start using the facility's garbage to provide power for cooking, heating and sterilizing equipment. Officials of Florida Hospital estimate that a new incinerator, which workmen will begin installing this week will save about $27,000 a year in fuel bills and garbage removal.

County Hires Works Director

A Fern Park engineer was named Director of Public Works last night by the Seminole County Commission. Robert Andrews was selected to fill the position at a salary of $22,000 annually. He is to assume duties "effective immediately."

The action came as part of a series of Personnel Board recommendations from Commissioner Mike Hattaway, but was discussed at length before final approval came.

"If we hire him (Andrews), I want us (the Board) to sit down and have a heart-to-heart talk with him about his duties and the job," Commissioner John Kimbrough declared.

Hattaway agreed this would be a good idea and after the commissioners voted to employ Andrews, Betty Simon, county assistant administrator, was instructed to "advise Andrews and request he meet with the Board on Monday" to discuss the position.

In other action, the Board:

Land Use Violations Cited By Commission

Remember this old saying: Button, button, who's got the button? Well, in the case of a parcel of land adjoining the Seminole Turf Club, it's a question of who's got the deed.

Confusion reigned supreme yesterday morning in the regular weekly meeting of the Seminole County Commission when County Planner Roger Neiswander noted trailers located on the property adjoining the Turf Club and used by horsemen at the track were in violation of the law in three categories.

Those violations included building code, health and safety and zoning regulations. County Attorney Tom Freeman, in commenting on the situation, said, "It is incumbent upon the Board of County Commissioners to enforce the ordinances of the county."

However, it was and still is unclear as to who holds title to the property in question. Neiswander said he decided the property over to Stanley Jubbick of Tallahassee, owner of the race track property, back in 1961, but Neiswander said Casselberry's name still appears on the tax rolls as being the lawful owner.

Tom Berlin, building inspector for the City of Casselberry, denied Neiswander's contention the trailer park was being expanded upon, noting, "I don't see how it can be enlarged because there are no facilities there for more trailers."

Neiswander said, "There are many zoning violations of law and ordinances over this parcel which is inhabited by personnel who work at the track." He said the county should act immediately to put an end to those violations, but didn't know which direction the Commission should take since ownership of the property was in doubt. An attorney representing the Turf Club said, "Apparently one of the major problems in the entire matter is the conveyance of ownership. I would like to straighten this situation out without undue hardship on anyone."

Commissioner John Kimbrough said he felt the Commission had two alternatives it could take: (1) Neiswander could take proper action to prevent movement of any additional trailers onto the property or (2) the commission could turn the entire matter over to the state attorney.

County Attorney Freeman said, "I think the Board would be wise to continue this until we have more facts. It's a critical matter that we determine who in fact is the owner of said property in order to enforce the laws and ordinances."

"How can we cite someone for violations if we don't know who that someone is?" he said. The attorney representing the track said, "We are willing to do whatever we can to alleviate the problem and to work hand-in-hand with the Board of County Commissioners."

However, the track representative said he felt the Commission could wait until the close of the current racing season (June 30) before taking any action because at that time there would be no trailers on the property in question.

Currently there are 11 trailers on the lot adjoining the track and apparently all are in violation of the law, but until definite ownership is established little can be done in the way of enforcing the law with the possible exception of moving the trailers off the property.

City Commissioner May Lose Her Seat

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Three term City Commissioner Helen Keyser may be serving her last year in public office here — not because she does not want to seek re-election this year, but because her district is being eliminated by the city's Districting Committee.

The eight-member Committee, headed by Dave Richards of San Sebastian, was appointed in January by the City Commission in compliance with the new charter which went into effect Jan. 1. The Committee's preliminary draft of new districts was completed Monday night. City Attorney Joe Davis said last night the boundaries and legal descriptions are being checked for accuracy by Zoning Director Curt Engert before the proposal is drafted in ordinance form.

According to the city charter the City Commission has no choice but to accept the committee proposal or it will automatically become law without the governing body's action. Davis, in answer to a question last night, told The Herald there is nothing illegal about a person being denied the opportunity to run for re-election because of redistricting.

Mayor Norman Floyd said that the city's districts, where candidates must reside in order to run for City Commission seats, were "bent out of shape" during the previous administration so that Mrs. Keyser could continue to run for office.

Floyd said that action was taken when Mrs. Keyser sold her home on SR 436 and moved to a new home on Robin Road, a half-dozen blocks away. Mrs. Keyser, in North Carolina on vacation, was unavailable for comment today.

The situation Mrs. Keyser finds herself in is ironic. The new districting proposal places Mrs. Keyser in Commissioner George Perkins' district.

Perkins, elected unopposed in December, was appointed last summer to an unexpired term on the City Commission on Mrs. Keyser's recommendation.

Mrs. Keyser was the city's delegate to the charter study revision committee headed by former city clerk Jane (Mrs. Dave) Richards last year that recommended and pushed through to adoption the new charter containing the mandatory proposal on redistricting.

Mrs. F. Keyser, in her first bid for public office in the city, was elected unopposed in 1969. Her re-election efforts in 1971 and 1973 were also unopposed.

With Mrs. Keyser gone, when her term expires in November, Commissioner Cal DeVoney and Mayor Norman Floyd, completing two years in office, will have the most seniority in the city government. That is, if they both survive the November city election this year.

The new districting claims a population of 16,494 for the city. District 1, which includes the Spring Oaks area where DeVoney resides, supposedly has 3,926 residents. In District 2, combination of both Mrs. Keyser's and Perkins' former districts, 4,044 is claimed.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Fair Trade Law Repeal To Save Consumers Cash

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Repealing Florida's so-called fair-trade law could save consumers as much as 25 percent on the price of products such as television sets, proponents of the measure say. The Senate scheduled debate today on the proposal (SB186) to junk the depression-era law that brands manufacturers to set minimum retail prices for all brand-name products. The House rejected Senate amendments to the bill Tuesday.

The Senate was expected to stand firm today on its amendments to a House-passed medical malpractice insurance bill, setting up a conference committee to settle differences on Florida's malpractice crisis. The House rejected Senate amendments to the bill Tuesday.

Wallace Not Affected

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A proposal to change the date of Florida's presidential primary has nothing to do with any effort to deter Alabama Gov. George Wallace, says House Speaker Donald Tucker. Tucker denied Tuesday a Newswatch magazine report that Florida was considering delaying its primary from March to May as part of a stop-Wallace movement. "The majority opinion is that an early primary is good for Florida and should be retained," Tucker said in a letter to the magazine.

The House Elections Committee has rejected a proposal by state Democratic Chairwoman Ann Cranner to move the primary to May.

Jail Pay Bill Moves

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A bill to require the state to pay counties $8 a day for housing its prisoners has zipped through a Senate committee. The Health and Rehabilitative Services Committee passed the bill (SB465) by Sen. Kenneth MacKay, D-Ocala, on an 8-1 vote Tuesday and sent it to the Ways and Means Committee.

A corrections official said the proposal would cost the state an estimated $4.5 million for more than 5,000 prisoners who have been sentenced for periods of less than a year to county jails for violating state laws.

Writeoffs Hurt Palmer

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — The eight-bank Palmer Bank Corp. hit with $25 million in loan writeoffs in March and April, has agreed to federal restrictions aimed at preserving capital.

The holding company announced a net loss of 20 cents per share for the first quarter after increasing its loan loss reserve $13 million dollars above the $3.3 million level at year-end.

The first-quarter loss compares with earnings of 25 cents per share for the first quarter of 1974.

Winter Park Man Is Jailed As Accessory

By BOB LLOYD Herald Staff Writer

Sheriff's detectives have jailed a 37-year-old Winter Park man on a charge he helped conceal the body of a murdered Altamonte Springs man found March 12 in a shallow grave in the back yard at the victim's home.

Otis Lee Jackson, 37, of 629 Maitland Ave., Winter Park, was being held in the Seminole County Jail on $5,000 bond today following his arrest last night by detective Doug Huth on a Circuit Court warrant charging accessory after the fact, first-degree murder.

Sheriff's investigators examined the decomposing body of 47-year-old Lemo Lovette in a sandy grave under a trash barrel in the rear yard of Lovette's 517 Peachtree Lane, (Tranada South, home at Altamonte after Lovette's teenage nephew dug up the spot and discovered a human hand.

Lovette's next-door neighbor, Wilbur Hall, 41, of 515 Peachtree Lane, was arrested at the scene on a murder charge and is scheduled for trial at Sanford the week of June. An autopsy report stated Lovette had been shot three times.

The dead man's brother-in-law, Wallace Duncan, had started a search for Lovette after he had been missing since March 2. Duncan told deputies that Hall and Lovette had argued on that Sunday over a 1968 yellow Dodge sedan and that there had been a shooting incident and Lovette had disappeared.

The direct information, upon which the Circuit Court warrant charging Jackson was issued, charges that between March 1 and 13 he maintained, assisted or gave aid to Wilbur Hall and aided or assisted in concealing the body of Lovette.

The document, filed by State Atty. Abbott Hearing states Lovette's fully-clothed body was lying on a blue coat and wrapped in a red bedspread and a white towel in the blood-spattered 2 1/2 foot-deep-grave when exhumed by investigators. Approximately 125 persons from the subdivision watched from behind ropes ringing the scene.

Sheriff's Capt. L. J. Krid said an autopsy showed Lovette was killed "by a bullet that entered his stomach and ruptured his liver." Krid said the victim had also been shot in the chest and shoulder areas.

Hall has been held in jail since being indicted for first-degree murder by the Seminole County Grand Jury in the Lovette slaying.

Awakened Congress Would Aid Economy

Some economists have complained to the American Society of Newspaper Editors that reporting of economic news is so laced with gloom and doom that it is undermining America's confidence in the future, thus holding back recovery from recession. Almost as they spoke, the nation's newspapers were reporting that housing starts declined again in March, and that the gross national product had dropped by 10.4 percent in the first quarter, the steepest decline since 1946.

This was not the kind of news an optimist would have hoped for, but newsmen have to tell it like it is. We also would submit that Americans are worried less about the current pace of business as reflected in the economic indicators than they are about the prospects for more inflation in the future. Opinion polls bear out that Americans regard inflation as our No. 1 economic problem, and their confidence in that regard is affected more by the political news than the economic news, particularly what they read about the tax and fiscal policies of the 94th Congress.

Congress has concentrated on efforts to stimulate the economy through tax cuts and other programs even while a consensus was developing that forces were at work within the economy pointing to a turnaround this summer. The decline in housing starts in March does not alter the fact that there is a pent-up demand for housing around the country which can trigger a resurgence in that industry if prices and interest rates can be kept within reasonable range. Despite the first-quarter decline in the GNP, the sold-down inventories in many industries are setting the stage for an increase in production which will reverse that decline.

Readers of economic news thus have grounds for optimism — or why, if Congress were as concerned about inflation as it has been about recession. While we know enough about business cycles to predict that recessions lead inevitably to recovery, we do not know for sure how an economy heading into recovery is going to behave when the government will be borrowing as much as $100 billion to pay its bills. It is the question of whether the inflationary force of such deficit financing will derail our recovery that surely accounts for much of the doubt many Americans still harbor about the immediate future.

Our estimate is that the American people have confidence in themselves and their ability to make their economic system work. We are not so sure about their government to avoid rocking the boat with fiscal policies that aggravate the most serious problem threatening their economic system — inflation.

As breadwinners, consumers, taxpayers and investors, Americans on the whole are sophisticated enough to keep the ups and downs in the economic news in proper perspective. If the news would show that Congress has awakened to the inflationary danger in its own spending policies, then the confidence index of the American people would surely show an upswing.

Subsidies Unfair

More than three decades ago the federal government, commiserating with the plight of farmers gripped by a great depression, began to subsidize crops produced by American farmers.

Times have been good and bad in the ensuing years, but the subsidies continued unabated. On the whole, any student of the farm programs would probably agree that they have been counterproductive.

In more recent years U.S. farm subsidies have distorted the agricultural market during a period of world food shortages when a competitive market is needed for efficiency and productivity.

Taking cognizance of these facts, Congress and the administration agreed two years ago to phase out federal farm subsidies. This year, mindful of a recession that again is pinching farmers, Congress has turned the clock back by approving and sending to the President a measure that would partially restore farm subsidies.

Honest Men Find Little Consolation

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — I have just received the following note from a dear Vietnam friend:

"All I finished. There is (not) any hope to save a free South Vietnam. I wait for the latest declaration of Mr. Ford to write to you because I expect to find out some changes in the policy of the United States toward the government of Saigon. But I am really despaired. Only one thing is comforting: the hope that we can be saved by a vast emigration promised by your President."

"In 1971 I returned from the United States because I believed that we can still save a free South Vietnam. But now this free Vietnam can exist only a few weeks or a few months. So that we can have only one choice: to live as stateless persons where we can find a promised land."

"Can you give me some comforting news? Can you enlighten me about the future? Here we talk nothing but abandon and emigration. Can we expect another sort?"

"In this pessimistic prospect, I hope to hear from you and send you my best wishes."

This is a soft Saigon letter. My friend is a youth fought for many years as a guerrilla in Vietnam's war to free itself from the French. He was, for a long time, national secretary of South Vietnam's newspapermen's union. He has of late been publisher of a small hard hitting newspaper regularly in trouble with President Thieu because of his frankness.

Whenever I would visit Vietnam in the old days, he would take me to visit his friends. In the magnificence of politics, they were inevitably the honest ones. Among them:

A police chief forced out because he would not bow to corruption ordered from the President's palace.

The commander of a noncommissioned officer's school who had to resign because he told his students to vote for whomever they personally believed in and refused to order them to vote for Thieu.

A gentle, uncorruptable professor of mathematics who, for a time, was head of the South Vietnamese government until unintentional blunders by the then-American Ambassador forced him out. U.S. officials wrung their hands after discovering their mistake. But it was then too late to turn the hands of the clock back.

The former head of the foreign affairs committee of the South Vietnamese Senate, who the Communists attempted to murder — getting his close friend instead — and politically attacked regularly by the successive military rulers of the South.

What then do we tell honest, decent men like my friend?

When he talked back to Thieu on the pages of his newspaper, he was censored or banned a day or a week. Under Hanoi, of course, he will have no paper.

Marcos Rejects Mercy Plea For Aquino

WASHINGTON — The mother of the Philippines' imprisoned opposition leader, Sen. Benigno S. Aquino Jr., expects her son to die.

She still calls him "Ninoy," his childhood nickname. "My heart is full of anguish," she wails. "We are crying, but we are crying for freedom, for justice, for truth, he will die."

Her letter was smuggled out of the Philippines and delivered to me by relatives, who appealed to me to intervene with President Ferdinand Marcos to save Aquino's life.

The outspoken, 42-year-old opposition leader has been charged with murder and subversion. He swears the charges were trumped up to stop him from criticizing the Marcos dictatorship.

Marcos used to be my friend before he seized dictatorial powers. When I visited Manila, I would drop by Malacanang, the presidential place, for dinner with him and his wife, Imelda. On my last visit, the lovely Imelda took my wife and daughters on a sightseeing-shopping tour.

Marcos has a quick smile and an easy manner. But a sudden earnestness would overtake him when he spoke about his dream for the Philippines. He would talk about breaking the power of the wealthy oligarchs and freeing his people from economic bondage. He wanted to Obviously, most columnists receive all kinds of mail. Some could "light your fire," while others fall into the area of being helpful.

For example, supposing I said we had a letter from a reader which suggests you can actually raise a family, and live comfortably on an income of $500 monthly.

And before you start to berate that statement, permit me to add that "reader" is covering a family of SIX!

Additionally, this family is able to SAVE $50 MONTHLY.

With your permission, I'm reproducing this individual's letter, along with some tips on how to live on $500 per month.

So people cannot live on their income. Here's how a family of six lives in Seminole County on $500 per month. This family lives in an average middle class neighborhood, eats a balanced diet, participates in community activities, parents are college graduates — mother is a homemaker for extra income is not necessary, owns two cars and a vacation home too — all but the house is paid for, here's how:

House Payment (Includes Taxes and Insurance) 95.00
Electricity 35.00
Water 7.00
Telephone 15.00
Garbage 4.00
Life Insurance (pay quarterly, save monthly) 44.00
Car Insurance (Teenagers) 25.00
Entertainment 36.00
Newspapers 6.75
Total Monthly Expense 250.00
TIPS FOR LIVING ON $500.00 per month
1. Choose your home within your income.
2. Use electricity when necessary — your power company will give you a breakdown of each appliance kilowatt usage, this $30 electric bill might be deceiving — we have an electric stove, 17 cu. ft. refrigerator, 13 cu. ft. freezer, dishwasher, washing machine (use cold water), clothes dryer (Never hang anything on line). Figure out how much you can afford and ration yourself.
3. Don't make long distance phone calls when a 10 cent stamp will do the job.
4. Life insurance is very important — see your insurance man for a complete plan.
5. Legally you must have car insurance.
6. Entertainment is family centered — music, chess, camping, ceramics (use for gifts too), woodwork, occasional night out.
7. The children have responsibilities that must be completed before receiving their allowance.
8. How much can you afford for gas and car expenses per month? Ration your miles — plan them to get the most for your money.
9. Learn to sew — buy materials on sale — make girls' clothes, boys shirts, upholster your own furniture, make your own drapes, do your own repairs, think conservatively — hand made gifts are gifts of love.
10. Plan menus by the month, using the farmers' market and field produce as much as possible.
11. Freeze or can fruits and vegetables within your income.
12. Use your talents and extra time to make extra money — save that for a rainy day, vacation, college, or new car or appliance. When you pay cash instead of installments — you really save a lot of finance charges. We put our talent money into reserve. As a result we seldom have to finance.

Is Justice Impartial Or Blind

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The protagonist of the following vignette shall remain unidentified. She is a 22-year-old college student residing in the borough of Queens, and though willing to recount her story, she begs for privacy for her own safety. Justice being what it is, she says, "I'm taking no chances."

In October 1972, the woman was returning to her home from an early morning party. It was 2:30. Her middle class neighborhood was deserted, or so she thought. Approaching her porch she was suddenly grabbed from behind by an assailant trying to grab her purse. She fought the attacker, then screamed and banged on her door with a heavy ornamental knocker.

Fortunately, her father rushed to the rescue. So did a ruddy awakened neighbor. The hastily departing mugger was chased around the home, across a yard to another street. He eventually escaped with the woman's bag but not before his clothing, car and license plate were fully identified.

Given these good clues, the summoned police searched inside of three hours. The man arrested, named Leroy Hamlin, matched all descriptions. His car, too, was a pair of the one seen leaving the scene of the crime. Furthermore, police confiscated several items from the victim's purse in the suspect's vehicle. One was a handkerchief with the initials "S.M." on it. Sigh, the woman says now, "we were so naive."

As is the norm in the criminal justice system these days, the legal particulars of the situation were complex and time consuming. At length, the matter was to stretch through six hearings over a half-year period. Heavy demands, of course, were made on the time and patience of both the victim and her father.

"I remember we told the court officers that my dad's day off were Wednesdays and Fridays," says the woman, "but they scheduled every hearing for a Tuesday or Thursday." Besides this, the hearings themselves were events of discomfort and poor planning: "We always had to wait long hours before my case came up. One time, even, after waiting several hours for our turn, the case was rescheduled for the next day — and we had to come back. The worst hearing, though, was the last. We waited from 9 a.m. to 3:30 before we were called."

As it turned out, the last hearing was also the worst for the victim from the standpoint of her sense of justice. "I had thought the man's conviction was assured," she says, "but when I walked into court that last time I knew something was wrong with my thinking. The defendant and his relatives were all smiling, all happy, but I knew they must have reason to be happy."

When a dictator advertises in advance that his chief opponent may be killed by unidentified enemies, it has the smell of a set-up. Aquino, you see, had a perfect alibi; he couldn't have killed the witnesses. He happened to be safely in custody when the witnesses were allegedly done in. Therefore, the vegeat relatives, whom Marcos suggests may now try to kill Aquino, would be wlaying the wrong man.

The witnesses against Aquino are captured guerrillas who have agreed to testify for the state in return for their own freedom. "They go around in flashy cars," Aquino's mother charges in her handwritten letter. "And to think these killers' words have weight against a legislator of the land in the New Society."

She contends that felons were sent to her son "that if he signs statements endorsing martial law and the New Society, everything will be dropped, he will be released."

"But... true to his forebears, he can die for his convictions. He believes in the freedom of man and his dignity, and no one can enslave anybody."

Kelly Pondering Refugee Problem

WASHINGTON — U.S. Rep. Richard Kelly (R-Holliday) said today he and other members of the Florida delegation are making every effort to see that Florida is not "barred with a disproportionate number of Vietnamese refugees" being brought into the United States.

Kelly's office told The Herald this morning he is receiving conflicting reports about whether Eglin Air Force Base will be used as a center for the refugees. A Kelly aide said the state department is telling one story while the Department of Defense has another and the Department of Immigration and Naturalization has a third.

Originally, Kelly's aide said the use of Eglin was planned as only a standby when it was believed as many as 100,000 refugees would be brought in. Kelly and other members of the Florida delegation in the U.S. House of Representatives urged that the refugees be dispersed around the country rather than being pumped into Florida in great numbers.

"The official agencies do not have the slightest idea what ultimate action will be taken," the aide said, adding the situation is in a state of flux because of rapid developments. "Until we know how many people are coming into Eglin, it is difficult to do anything," he said.

He added Kelly's Washington and district offices have received numerous calls from citizens troubled that the state may be seeing a replay of the Cuban exile situation of several years ago.

At that time the state's economy had to absorb and provide employment for

Altamonte, Commission Meeting Set

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — No agenda exists for the joint meeting of city and county commissioners at 7:30 tonight here, but Mayor Norman Floyd said he has a long list of items he intends to discuss.

Floyd said today the list will include: double taxation, railroad speed, fire hydrant rental fees the county has refused to pay, animal control, the paving of Montgomery Road, countywide mosquito control and access problems at the new Lake Orienta School.

Although it is reported that three (a majority) county commissioners will be at tonight's meeting, it is ironic that probably two members of the City Commission — Helen Keyser and George Perkins — will be absent.

City Commissioners last month said if less than the full five members of the County Commission showed up for the meeting, they would walk out.

Knife-Wielding Bandit Sought

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

Sheriff's detectives today were searching for a man armed with a knife who robbed Tom's Pizza, K-Mart Plaza, Fern Park, last night and escaped on foot.

Deputy R. S. Morton said counterman Lee Dippy, of Wincer Park, said a white male with curly blond hair ordered a soft drink and pulled a knife when he went to the cash register to ring up the sale.

Action Reports

- ★ Fires
- ★ Courts
- ★ Police Beat

Officers said Dippy backed up as the robber pointed the knife at him and ordered, "Open it up. Give me the money."

The man grabbed $40 from the cash register and ran out the front door of the business, officers reported.

Investigators said the knife-wielding bandit was last seen at the rear of the shopping center running toward a nearby apartment complex.

Altamonte Springs Police reported the arrests of two men on assault charges early today.

Richard D. Allen, 21, of Fort Lauderdale, was held on $5,000 bond after patrolman Chuck Randall arrested him at the Holiday Inn, SR 436 and I-4, on a charge of assault in connection with an incident involving a 18-19-year-old girl, police said.

Phillip James Raymond, 24-year-old Gaitersburg, Md., manufacturer's representative, was booked into county jail on $5,000 bond. Raymond was charged with assault with intent to commit a felony when arrested at 3 a.m. at SR 436 and Wynore Road by Sgt. E. J. Overman and patrolman C. Randall.

Mark Lee Hampton, 18, of 310 W. Third St., Sanford, was released from county jail last night on $500 bond after being charged by Sanford police with resisting arrest without violence.

Patrolman Richard Dearing reported the arrest was made after police received complaints from five citizens about a brown station wagon traveling at a high rate of speed and running stop signs in the Valencia Court area.

Officers said when Hampton was located at 814 Valencia Court West and arrested on traffic charges he told them he wasn't going to jail. Officers reported they drew their canisters of Mace in preparation to subdue Hampton and he then surrendered.

Judy Ann Goodall, 26, of 501 Sanlands, Longwood, was being held in county jail today on $5,000 bond after her arrest last night on a circuit court warrant charging grand larceny.

Sheriff's deputies today were investigating thefts of firearms, a water pump, color television and six auto license tags.

Deputy R. L. O'Dell reported burglars entered the home of Lola Anderson on U.S. 17-22, Fern Park, and made off with two shotguns valued at $600.

J. W. Hickman, of Longwood, reported a $400 water pump was stolen from a house at 200 Valencia Drive, Fern Park.

Officials at Quality Inn, SR 434 and I-4, Longwood, reported a $300 color television was stolen from a room at the motel.

Trash Franchise Approved By City

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — City commissioners last night adopted an ordinance granting an exclusive franchise to Dump-All Inc., to collect commercial garbage and trash within the city limits.

The agreement was promptly signed by officials of the Orlando based firm and will become effective tomorrow.

No one appeared at the public hearing, held prior to adoption of the ordinance, to protest the agreement which will put all other commercial carriers out of business in the city.

However, one city businessman, after the hearing had been closed and the ordinance adopted, asked and was granted the opportunity to be heard after the fact.

Albert Pope said the franchise in effect would make his taxes go up. He added the franchise provision permitting the city to collect a 15 per cent fee from the collector especially irritated him.

"I am aggravated that I am being told who I must deal with," he said, adding he had purchased a $700 container recommended by the city and now Dump-All is offering only $200 to purchase it. Pope hinted he might take the city to court over the matter and was told by Mayor Norman Floyd an exclusive franchise arrangement is not an unusual thing.

In other action, the commission:

- Adopted a new building code, plumbing code and gas code.
- Denied a request for annexation of four lots in Little Wekiva Estates south of SR 434.
- Denied an appeal by Edward Zito of 302 San Sebastian Prado to operate a business in his home.

— Designated the Southeast First National Bank of Deltona as the depository for federal grant and loan monies for the regional sewer plant.

— Passed on first reading a storm water drainage ordinance in effect would make his covered by the subdivision ordinance and set a public hearing on the matter for 4:30 p.m. May 27.

— Passed an electrical code, mechanical code and amendment to the swimming pool ordinance on first reading and set public hearings and adoption for May 27.

Commission: Alex Senkevich, Supervisor of Filtration Control; Jim Stidham, department of Natural Resources Water Management; Captain Dave Starling of the GPC enforcement division; David Cox, the biologist project leader who made the study disclosing the 200 million gallon per day diversion and several other officials.

In a telephone conversation with Delbert Cox, who is executive director of the new organization, State Representative C. William Nelson, D-Melbourne, praised the group of dedicated sportsmen for organizing and vowed to do everything he could to help with the problems.

"Friends of the St. Johns" will represent an area from South Brevard County to North of Palm Bay and operations are invited to attend the May 6 meeting.

As guests, representatives will be all governmental agencies. Included are Bill Woods, chief of fisheries of the Game and Fresh Water Fish

Group Seeks Aid For St. Johns

Executive of the St. Johns River, including replacing the 200 million gallons daily which is being siphoned by the special interest groups at the river's headwaters, would go along way toward protecting all of Central Florida's water supply, according to "Friends of the St. Johns."

In a statement noted for its thousands of lakes, crystal-clear springs and innumerable rivers, it seems almost inconceivable there should be a water heritage. That, however, is a fact and the "new organization," "Friends of the St. Johns," intends to start the ball rolling by concentrating on restoring the St. Johns.

The May 6 meeting will have as guests, representatives from all governmental agencies. Included are Bill Woods, chief of fisheries of the Game and Fresh Water Fish

Water OK After Meals

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB: Does drinking a glass of water after a meal do any harm to the digestive system? This water is in place of coffee, tea, milk or soft drinks.

The investigation team recommended not drinking more than one cup of coffee at a time.

My daughter says drinking water after a meal is the same as drinking tea or coffee, "after all, they are only colored water," until, of course, milk and sugar are added.

My husband says the water washes away the digestive juices.

DEAR READER—A glass of water after a meal is fine. It also helps to give a person a satisfied feeling without gorging on calorie-rich foods that lead to obesity.

Aside from the calories present in any sugar and cream added to tea or coffee and the calories in soft drinks, they are a great deal more than colored water.

Coffee, tea, and the cola drinks all contain caffeine and that is a drug. Coffee is nothing more than a liquid "go pill." These drinks can be both helpful and harmful, more often the latter. They have the opposite effects of tranquilizers, adding to nervousness and, among other things, stimulate the stomach to produce excess amounts of acid digestive juices. Caffeine can contribute to irregularities of the heart.

For more information on coffee, tea, cola and cocoa, you might wish to write to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1561, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y., and ask for The Health Letter on coffee (number 1). Send 50 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

You are interested in the National Naval Medical Center in Maryland, in which President Ford's doctor, William Lukash, participated. The investigators reported that just five cups of coffee a day caused increases in fat in the blood and raised the blood sugar, and could lead to damage of the nervous system.

improvement. A practical outlet will be found for what you learn.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL
For Thursday, May 1, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be careful toward evening how you treat the property of others. Carelessness could prove expensive, either in cash or hard feelings.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) At the last minute today you'll make a switch in plans. It will be far less beneficial for you than your original idea.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) One you've been depending upon for assistance will suddenly withdraw her offer, due to circumstances beyond her control.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Steer clear today of a friend who often acts rashly. Unfortunately, you'll be judged by the company you keep.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) The more you hurry with household tasks today, the more you're apt to have accidents. Take it easy. The work will wait.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be on your best behavior this evening socially. A faux pas will only serve to tarnish your image.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Keep a protective eye on cherished things in your home today. Put them out of reach of careless guests or frolicking children.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You have a tendency today to unthinkingly blurt things out. Something you say in this manner may offend others in your company.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Before making important purchases today, examine the merchandise for flaws or defects. Don't buy blindly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your mind will be centered on self-interests today. This may cause a friend to feel you are neglecting her.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) You're far from your best at keeping secrets today. It's not that you're a gossip — You're just too loose with your words.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Before taking a suggestion by a friend, quit her thoroughly to be sure she knows from experience that it's workable.

North Vietnamese Troops Occupy Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — The Saigon government surrendered unconditionally today, and Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops occupied the South Vietnamese capital.

Many of the South Vietnamese troops in the city turned in their arms and tried to lose themselves amid the civilian population. But there were periodic outbursts of gunfire — some from pockets of resistance and others from celebrating Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops firing into the air.

Lead explosions were heard in the late afternoon. They were reported aboard an ammunition barge burning in the Saigon river, but they were causing no damage to the city.

Otherwise life returned to a semblance of normalcy in the city. People strolled the streets, greeting the arriving Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops with smiles and handshakes. Motorbike traffic picked up.

On the positive side, coffee in small amounts increases alertness and may even improve typing skill and accuracy.

We Americans not only use the most oil in the world, but we use over half of all the coffee produced in the world. Our consumption has increased with the increase of heart attacks. The increase of direct correlation of coffee to heart attacks is rather meager, but the indirect effects that may lead to heart difficulties are soundly based. There is general agreement that patients with irregularities of the heart and digestive disorders should avoid caffeine — containing drinks.

President Duong Van Minh announced his government's unconditional surrender in a broadcast at midmorning and ordered the South Vietnamese armed forces to turn in their arms.

Four hours later a jeepload of North Vietnamese soldiers brought the 51-year-old retired general back to the microphone, and he appealed again to the government forces to give up.

Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, the foreign minister of the Viet Cong's Provisional Revolutionary Government, said in an interview in Da Nang Tuesday that Minh "might still have some role to play in the future of Vietnam."

The Viet Cong took over the government radio station and announced that they had raised their flag over the presidential palace and occupied all strategic points in the city.

A curfew was ordered from 8 p.m. to 6 a.m. The broadcast also called on all government employees to return to work and on students and other youths to participate in a demonstration at a time to be announced later.

A crowd of several hundred watched as five North Vietnamese tanks, a dozen armored personnel carriers and truckloads of troops drove into the grounds of the palace from which President Nguyen Van Thieu and the late President Ngo Dinh Diem had directed the war against the Communists for nearly two decades.

(Communications from Saigon to foreign countries were interrupted about 1:30 a.m. EDT but resumed about four hours later. There was no explanation of the break.)

Eight cheering men in a jeep flying the Viet Cong flag led the march into the city at noon, along a street a block from the abandoned U.S. Embassy. None of them were wearing uniforms but they carried an assortment of weapons including Communist AK47 rifles. One of the men sitting on the fender told an American newswoman in English: "Go home, go home."

They were followed half an hour later by the first truckload of about 45 North Vietnamese soldiers dressed in their green uniforms and helmets down the Rue Catrain, the city's main downtown street. The truck flew the red, yellow-starred flag of North Vietnam.

A jeepload of Viet Cong drove up and down the street, waving as they sat with their rifles pointed in the air.

Other Viet Cong soldiers walked along the streets, shaking hands with the people.

Don't Blame Long Hair On Jesus

DEAR ABBY: About "Bob's Mom" who was in the middle because her son excused his long hair by saying, "Jesus had long hair and a beard."

It made me think of my sister's boy. He said the same thing when his folks objected to his long hair and beard.

My sister replied, "So you want to be like Jesus? Okay. Jesus didn't have a car — he had to walk everywhere. So just hand over the car keys!"

That same evening the kid walked to the barber shop, got a shave and a haircut.

DEAR MARTHA: That Jesus story doesn't hold up because nowhere in the Bible does it state that Jesus had long hair. In fact, there are Biblical injunctions against long hair men in the New Testament (1 Corinthians, Chapter II, Verse 14).

DEAR ABBY: I have something to say to "Slaying Single," the girl who doesn't want to get married because her two married sisters get nothing but insults from their husbands.

I say things to my wife of 31 years that might sound like "insults" to others, but I don't mean them as such. For instance, I've always called her "my old lady," and if I'm among people who know her, I say with a straight face, "You know, she is 10 years older than me." (I took 20 years older than my wife, but we are the same age.)

It is like the oriental potentate who welcomes a guest into his luxurious castle with: "Welcome to my humble home."

DEAR I.M.: Same as yours, but don't dwell on it. What's done is done. Your daughter will grow up. But what's Grandma's excuse?

DEAR ABBY: As a divorced woman I often was asked, "How's your sex life?" To which I politely replied, "Private!"

It never failed.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a postal reply, write to: ABBY, Box No. 1970, L.A., Calif. 90047. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please. Write to: Abigail Van Buren, 122 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped 10 cent envelope.

Armored Vehicles Surround Palace

SAIGON (AP) — Scores of North Vietnamese tanks, armored vehicles and camouflaged Chinese trucks drove down Unity Boulevard to the South Vietnamese presidential palace shortly after noon today.

Several hundred South Vietnamese applauded as the North Vietnamese troops waved their blue and red flags with a yellow star in the center and stepped down into the broad boulevard.

Meanwhile, in front of the National Assembly building, a police colonel walked up to an army memorial statue, saluted and shot himself in the head. He died a short while later in a hospital.

Shots rang out around the City Hall. A North Vietnamese infantry platoon, dressed in olive drab uniforms and black rubber sandals, took up defensive positions in the square in front of the building.

They exchanged shots with a few holdouts somewhere in the vicinity. A few people on motorbikes rode by and looked apprehensively to see where the firing was coming from. In a short while it subsided.

Between President Duong Van Minh's surrender broadcast and the entry of the Communist forces into the city, South Vietnamese soldiers and civilians jammed several coastal freighters tied up along the Saigon River, hoping they could escape.

They dejectedly left the ships as the Viet Cong drove along the waterfront in jeeps and trucks, waving Viet Cong flags and cheering.

Knots of civilians stood in doorways and watched the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese drive past. At first they showed no emotion.

Later the people began cheering as more North Vietnamese troops poured into the city.

Ky Nhan, a Vietnamese who had been submitting photographs to The Associated Press for three years, came to the AP office with a Viet Cong friend and two North Vietnamese soldiers and said, "I guarantee the safety of everybody here."

"I have been a revolutionary for 10 years," said Nhan. "My job in the Viet Cong was liaison with the international press."

George Esper, the AP bureau chief, served them Coca-Cola and some leftover cakes.

Before you start clearing up your picture make sure everything else is clear.

There's more involved in getting good TV reception than meets the eye. For instance, the first thing to remember when putting up an antenna on the roof is to start on the ground.

Look up and make sure that there isn't a power line close by. The slightest touch of your antenna to a power line could cause you a serious shock.

But checking the space above where you intend to place your antenna isn't all you have to do.

Check in all directions. So if your antenna should happen to fall, it won't happen to fall onto a power line.

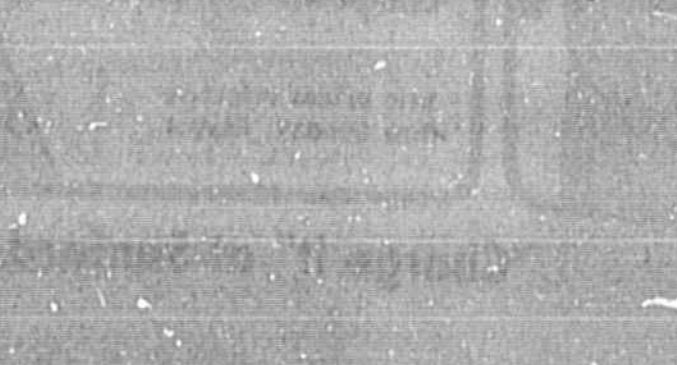

In short, double checking makes twice as much sense.

How far away is a safe distance? Certainly, a distance no less than the height of the mast. In all directions.

And this rule of safety goes for not only TV antennas but Citizen Band Radio antennas or any long metal pole, for that matter. And another word of caution; even if you intend to use guy wires to raise or lower an antenna you can't be assured of positive control.

Why are we telling you all this? We just want to make sure you get a clear picture of what's involved in properly installing or removing an antenna.

This safety message has been brought to you by Florida Power & Light as a public service. Because serving the public is really what we're here for.

Sanford Junior Woman's Club delegates Jan Freeman, club president; Linda Reek, Cathy Bauerle and Eve Crabtree returned jubilant from the recent Florida Federation of Women's Clubs Annual Convention in Hollywood, Fla. Their club had won three first place awards.

The first was for overall Bicentennial observance in 1974, and particularly for the club's Fourth of July observances during which members manned a concession stand, sold traditional holiday fare, organized a "moon walk" side show and generally promoted festive spirits.

The Juniors' varied projects to raise money for the Central Florida Zoo also won them recognition. These projects included the "Glue for the Zoo" in which area students collected trading stamps to purchase items for the zoo; the sale of Central Florida Zoo license plates; donation of a boardwalk plank in the name of the Jersey Coffee family, the club's family of the year; and personal solicitations.

Women's Club of Sanford president Mrs. Robert E. Karns and club members Mrs. Jack Burrey, Mrs. Roy Partin and Mrs. Lorraine Graham also attended the convention. Both local Women's Clubs, who co-sponsor the Community Improvement Project (CIP), won a first place award for this beautification project.

Under the CIP, Sanford Woman's Club and the Juniors have sold CIP bumper stickers, organized a "Take a Park to Heart Week," sponsored citizen salutes in the press and on the air, sold historical books, operated a speakers' bureau and involved other area clubs in Sanford's beautification.

According to Jan Freeman, the Juniors' delegates return bursting with renewed enthusiasm and exciting new ideas to extend the work of their Bicentennial, Zoo and CIP projects, as well as instituting several new ones. At a luncheon hosted by Cathy Bauerle in her Sanora home Saturday, club members discussed a variety of programs, including making get-well books for Seminole Memorial Hospital; arranging a Women's Safety program in conjunction with the Sheriff's Dept.; helping at the Golden Age Olympics; promoting the playing of patriotic music and folk songs on the radio and making "cracker barrels" during which bumper stickers urging the public to keep Florida waterways clean would be distributed by marlin anglers in the busy beaches of the St. Johns River.

A Bicentennial-related project which is almost completed, is the Junior Woman's Club's travelling doll museum which will contain male and female dolls in the fashions of 200 years ago.

"Carefully follow directions in planting, watering, feeding and using pest control materials. This is the No. One rule," he said. "Always have soil tested before treating for nematodes or mole crickets to be sure of the problem before going ahead."

The following slate of officers was elected: President, Miss Eva Hunt; Vice-President, Mrs. Ethel Walter; Secretary, Mrs. Edith Winchell; Treasurer, Mr. Harry Brodt;

Their Club Is Small, But Work Was Bigger

With only 15 members, the Casselberry group won first place in the donations category for the mentally retarded. They won this award over the other 104 Junior Clubs in the State, and were also presented an engraved scrapbook for being affiliated with the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs.

They raised money with a fashion show, bake sales, and gift wrapping booth. With the funds raised, they have donated rain gear, cakes at party time, food at Thanksgiving, and money for a dish washer to the Little Red School House, in Sanford. They have also sponsored 14 children in the local special Olympics.

Nancy Furlong, club member and a vice-president, is chairman of the mental retardation committee, and also works as a volunteer at the Little Red School House. Other officers of the club are, Krystal Hruby, president; Sally McCluan, first vice-president; Nancy Furlong, second vice-president; Chris Campione, treasurer; Eileen Atkinson, recording secretary; and Linda Pennington, corresponding secretary.

Americans Get Heavy TV Closing View Of Vietnam War

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC formally established its Saigon bureau in the summer of 1963, followed by NBC the next year and by CBS in 1965. And soon the Vietnam war regularly came home to America at night on TV.

Americans got a heavy closing view of it Tuesday night as the networks scheduled special programs about the war — from 8:30 to 11 p.m. EPT on CBS, 10 to 11 p.m. on NBC and 11:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. on ABC. Delayed film reports on the final evacuation of Americans from Saigon may appear on TV tonight.

But those era-ending glimpses of the war could prove the last network-timed material from South Vietnam we'll be seeing for a while, barring exceptional luck in getting new network film out.

The networks say a total of 20 of their non-Vietnamese newsmen and camera crews, mostly Americans, were evacuated from embattled Saigon Tuesday in the final hours of America's 30-year involvement in the war.

Network spokesmen contacted here Tuesday said their Saigon offices still were operating, even though their phone and Telex links to New York either were completely out or only intermittently working. ABC and NBC each said they had a staffer and a camera crew and about six Vietnamese employees still in its bureau. But it was Eric Cavallero, a British schoolteacher, who gave CBS its latest news by phone from Saigon as dawn broke in New York Tuesday.

CBS said it had a camera crew and about six Vietnamese employees still in its bureau. But it was Eric Cavallero, a British schoolteacher, who gave CBS its latest news by phone from Saigon as dawn broke in New York Tuesday.

CBS here said he worked nights in their Saigon office for a number of years and offered to report what he saw and heard in downtown Saigon as the American evacuation progressed. He also said he was determined to stay.

And a four-run ninth inning didn't even help. Valencia Community College persisted, would not take no for an answer and finally put away Seminole Junior College 12-7 Tuesday to win the Division II championship. The teams were tied with 11-3 records at the conclusion of the regular season. They split their four season confrontations.

Valencia Taboos Raiders

Marvin Evans' two home runs, a four-bagger by Frankie McDonald and an appearance by One-Hit Mitch could not overcome Valencia.

Three home runs and One-Hit Mitch should be enough to win any baseball game. And a four-run ninth inning didn't even help. Valencia Community College persisted, would not take no for an answer and finally put away Seminole Junior College 12-7 Tuesday to win the Division II championship. The teams were tied with 11-3 records at the conclusion of the regular season. They split their four season confrontations.

Valencia's victory also means that SJC will battle a Division winner and Valencia a Division runner-up in a state tournament, which begins Friday at Joker Marchant Stadium at Lakeland.

SJC will meet Chipola, winner of Division I, Friday at 10 a.m. Chipola was 12-4 in Division I play.

"Certainly, it'd be nice to beat Valencia and win the Division," SJC Coach Jack Pantelias said, "but the state's the big thing. I think (Bobby) Meadows can win, and Wayne (Kurth) can win."

"Yes, I think it will boil down to pitching."

Meadows, who is among the state junior college strike out leaders, will open the state tournament on the mound for Seminole.

Kurth, who will pitch the second game at state, lost his first game of the season Tuesday against Valencia. Kurth is now 9-1.

Valencia never trailed in its win over SJC. It began with a run without a hit in the first inning and ended with a seven-run outburst in the ninth inning.

In between, Valencia peeked away at Kurth, scoring single runs in the third and seventh and two runs in the sixth. SJC did not score until designated hitter Marvin Evans smashed a towering home run to lead off the sixth inning.

Rightshander Frankie McDonald of SJC smashed a home run in the eighth and Evans ripped another shot, this one a two-run blast, in the Raiders' four-run ninth inning.

But the home runs and the late uprising could not overcome Valencia.

Valencia bunted, ran and capitalized on SJC's mistakes. A walk and a balk and two sacrifices produced a Valencia run in the first. A throwing error by catcher Franny Chamberlain aided Valencia's one-run rally in the third.

A throwing error by shortstop Dwayne Gray and a throwing error by Chamberlain after a Valencia batter had struck out were keys to Valencia's two-run sixth.

Even One-Hit Mitch Gamble, SJC's relief superman, couldn't quiet boisterous Valencia.

Gamble, who makes a habit of leading SJC out of late-inning jams, gave up a bases-loaded double and two singles in the ninth. He faced four batters.

Valencia's fire-balling Jack Ledbetter shut out the Raiders the first five innings.

SJC threatened in the second when Dave Hillfield reached base on an error, Chamberlain walked and McDonald sacrificed them to second and third. But Fritz Lagergren struck out and Steve James flied out to the third baseman to end the inning.

Evans led SJC's fourth with a single to right. After a fly out, Chamberlain walked, but McDonald grounded into a double play erasing the rally. Rallies stalled in the fifth, sixth, seventh and ninth. After Evans' blast in the ninth, three Raiders went down in order to end the game.

Gray started the ninth with a solid single to centerfield. Gary Jacobs walked and then Russ Lizoli grounded to the shortstop for what appeared to be another rally-ending double play.

But Valencia's shortstop, Colin Leisher, threw the ball away and second and Gray scored from second and Jacobs scored all the way from first. Evans followed with his second home run of the day.

After Evans' round tripper opened the sixth, Hillfield singled and stole second base. He sprinted to third when he was thrown from Valencia catcher Ward Wilson scooped into centerfield.

But Chamberlain struck out looking at a third strike and McDonald fanned swatting at a low curve ball.

Fergie Wins Third Straight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It wasn't when he lauged that it hurt, only when he threw his curve ball.

But even though stretched out on a training table Tuesday night with a stiff back the Texas Rangers' 3-2 victory over Chicago, Ferguson Jenkins had cause to smile.

He'd gone the route, scattered nine hits for his third straight victory after losing his first two starts of the season, and now he is due for a vacation.

He developed a stiff back in the second inning and just couldn't throw a curve ball," said Texas Manager Billy Martin.

"We had somebody warmed up all the way, but he kept getting out with his fastball and slider. He's had that trouble before."

"I'm going to give him a hurt-day rest."

Jenkins, a 25-game winner last year after getting off to a 7-8 start, got all the runs he needed when Lenny Randle hit a two-run homer in the third inning.

In other American League games, Detroit beat Baltimore 4-2 in 10 innings, Cleveland nipped New York 3-1, and California whipped Kansas City 1-0. Oakland at Minnesota was postponed by wet grounds.

Texas took the 1-4 lead of Claude Osteen, in front of an inning on walks to Randle and Jeff Burroughs and Jim Fregosi's single.

Randle's homer was the first of the season for the singles-hitting second baseman.

Tigers 4, Orioles 2

Willie Horton hit a two-run homer in the eighth to tie it, and Aurelio Rodriguez and Ron LeFlore homered in the 10th for Tiger's victory.

Mickey Lolich started for the Tigers but gave way to Tom Walker with the score tied 3-2 in the ninth.

Jerry Remy scored two runs and had RBI in the third inning. Orlando Ramirez had four hits in five times at bat, including a double, stole a base, scored two runs and drove in two more for the Angels.

Indians 3, Yanks 1

Don Hood had faced only one batter this season until starting for the Indians, going the distance and pitching a four-hitter against the Yankees.

"I've been tinkering with the fork ball for three years, but I just started using it this year," Hood confessed. "I learned it from a coach in the Mexican League, but I can't remember his name."

Frank Duffy drove in all of Cleveland's runs with a pair of singles.

Angels 12, Royals 1

Andy Hasker scattered eight hits over the distance for the Angels, while Cleveland's three-run double that sparked a nine-run third inning for California.

Jerry Remy scored two runs and had RBI in the third inning. Orlando Ramirez had four hits in five times at bat, including a double, stole a base, scored two runs and drove in two more for the Angels.

IN BRIEF

O'Brien Named NBA Chief; Faces Numerous Problems

NEW YORK (AP) — Lawrence O'Brien, named National Basketball Association commissioner Tuesday, faces serious problems at the outset of his administration.

One is the antitrust suit against the NBA, by the rival American Basketball Association.

Another is the suit against the league's owners challenging the reserve clause, by the NBA Players Association.

And yet another are the negotiations involving the owners and players over a new contract. The present contract between the parties expires in June.

These problems have resulted from the failure of the two leagues to effect a merger. It is felt that O'Brien, experienced in politics and law, eventually will be able to work out satisfactory solutions to all parties.

Although his background does not include basketball, nor any other sport, his political power in Washington is expected to overcome that deficiency.

Lyle Off To Vegas

DENVER (AP) — Heavyweight Ron Lyle is scheduled to fly to Las Vegas Friday to begin two weeks of training there for his May 16 championship bout with Muhammad Ali.

Lyle has been training here for four weeks under the guidance of trainer Chickie Ferrara. He has been sparring with partners resembling the style of Ali, the world heavyweight king.

Sparring partners for Lyle in Las Vegas will be Randy Stevens of New York, Leroy Jones of Denver, Johnny Boudreaux of Houston, amateur Bill Parks of Denver, and Wendell Newton of New York.

Financier Dies

GAINESVILLE (AP) — Coleman Manning Taylor, whose $1.5-million check bounced when he tried to buy the now defunct Florida Blazers football team, is dead at the age of 54.

The Thursday death of the self-styled international financier from Cocoa Beach was announced Tuesday.

He had been admitted to a Cape Canaveral hospital earlier this month for treatment of a liver ailment.

Taylor was scheduled for trial June 6 in Brevard County on six charges of selling unregistered securities.

Bengal Charges Dropped

CINCINNATI (AP) — Bob Maddox, reserve lineman for the Cincinnati Bengals of the National Football League, had charges of assault and battery dropped against him Tuesday at the request of a 22-year-old television camerawoman who claimed Maddox showed a heavy camera into her face.

Maddox, 25, is awaiting trial on charges of possession for sale of a hallucinogen. He was arrested March 12 at his apartment during a raid. Police said Maddox and a friend were bottling hashish for street sale.

Jeanne Esley of WKRC-TV said she was filming Maddox at a court appearance when the 6-foot-5, 240-pound defensive end pushed her camera, injuring her eye.

One Of Those Days...

PARIS (AP) — Tuesday not a good day for the French national basketball team.

Gathering for a training camp here before the European "B" championships in West Germany next month, French star Eric Beugnot failed to report and was dropping from the squad.

Jim McGreggor's Long Beach All-Stars, a group of roving American players, failed to show for a scheduled workout with the French team.

Untouchables...

NEW YORK (AP) — As baseball, a game predicated on statistics, prepared to memorialize its one millionth run, someone raised the subject of the game's unassailable records.

Are there any marks now in the book out of reach of mortal man?

"To my mind," said Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, "the most remarkable record is Lou Gehrig's feat of playing in 2,130 consecutive games. I can't see anyone ever overtaking that."

Stan Musial, the St. Louis Cardinal Hall of Famer, nodded his head in half-agreement and then entered a mild demurrer.

"It would be tough," Musial said, "but, speaking as a hitter, I think the one mark farthest from anyone's grasp is the 56-consecutive game hitting streak of Joe DiMaggio."

Ralph Branca, the former Brooklyn Dodger who served up that historic home run ball to Bobby Thomson of the Giants that decided the 1951 National League pennant, had another view.

"It is inconceivable to me," said Branca, "that any pitcher will ever win 511 games, as Cy Young did. Think of it. That would be the equivalent of averaging 25 victories a year for 20 years."

The three well-known baseball personalities all were principal figures in the establishment Tuesday of a Manhattan control center to keep count of major league runs scored in

Lonborg Dumps Montreal

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jim Lonborg has found himself. The Montreal Expos would like to lose him.

"I finally know myself and I know what I have to do to be effective," the Philadelphia pitcher said Tuesday night after beating the Expos 5-0 with a three-hitter.

"Now I throw all my pitches for location, not just speed. I'm not a power pitcher. I'm aware of what I can do so I relax and try to do it. I got hurt my first year here in the National League because I tried to blow the ball by the hitters. I'm a pitcher now, not a thrower — and that's the difference."

Lonborg, who came over to the National League in 1973 after recognition as a Cy Young winner in the American with the Boston Red Sox, has been a toughie for the Expos to solve. Tuesday night's beauty was Lonborg's second straight shut-out over the Expos — he blanketed them less than two weeks ago in Montreal.

In other National League games, the New York Mets blasted the Chicago Cubs 9-1; the St. Louis Cardinals trimmed the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-0; the Los Angeles Dodgers walloped the Atlanta Braves 8-0; the Houston Astros whipped the San Diego Padres 6-2 and the San Francisco Giants nipped the Cincinnati Reds 4-3. While Lonborg did the pitching for Philadelphia, Greg Zankin and Jay Johnston did the hitting. Each had home runs.

Luzinski powered a Dennis Blair pitch over the right-field wall in the fifth to drive in Mike Schmidt, who had walked. It was Luzinski's fifth homer of the year in almost the same spot. It was all the support that Lonborg needed.

John Miller drove in four runs, three on his first homer of the season, and Joe Torre singled home two more, pow-

Gatsby Falls At Turf Club

CASSELLBERRY — Frank Taylor piloted Western Harvey (84-84) to upset victory over the odds-on favorite The Great Gatsby Tuesday night at Seminole Turf Club.

Overlooked in the watering by a crowd of 1,814 fans, the five-year-old bay gelding stepped off a 2:06 four-fifths mile to set a new lifetime mark. Mc Ga Miss U finished second. Vaneys Best was third. The fans sent The Great Gatsby away the odds-on choice but the captain's freshman star made a break at the outset and was a beaten eighth at the finish.

The 5-6-3 trifecta returned $1,015.50.

Injuries and the flu plagued Buffalo and Philadelphia Tuesday night, but both teams came back to win their National Hockey League semifinal playoff games.

In the opening game of the seven-game series, Flyers' goalie Wayne Stephenson played the hero's role in a hockey fairy tale as he replaced star goalie Bernie Parent, injured at the last minute, and shut out the New York Islanders 4-0.

In Buffalo, the flu bug felled the Sabres' Rene Robert, a knee injury put Rick Dudley out of action, but the Real Cloutier scored two goals Tuesday night as the Quebec Nordiques beat Minnesota Fighting Saints 6-3 to take a semifinal lead in their World Hockey League semifinal, then predicted the Saints just might not have a chance in the playoffs.

"They'll never stop us Thursday if we play in the first period like we did today," Cloutier said after Quebec took a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven series. Robert Guindon, Christian Boudreau and Renald Leclerc also scored for the Nordiques while the Fighting Saints got two goals from Wayne Connolly and George Morrison.

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) — The Boston Celtics are determined not to play giveaway on the court tonight, and the Washington Bullets won't have to give away anything at the gate to lure fans to the Capital Centre Wednesday night.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — "This has been an odd year," admits Bobby Leonard, dean of the American Basketball Association coaches, who thought he had seen everything.

Leonard and the Indiana Pacers have won three ABA titles, and a victory tonight against Denver would put them into the championship series against the Kentucky Colonels, who wrapped up the Eastern Division crown Monday night with a 123-103 victory over St. Louis.

TONIGHT'S HIGHLIGHTS

VANITY, VANITY: George Burns is now making his first movie in 30 years. "The Sunshine Boys." A scene was being shot on location in Northern New Jersey and, while George is usually most cordial with the press, for this scene, it was a closed set. The reason: George works without his hairpiece in the scene, and the 79-year-old veteran actor-comic is sensitive about being seen in public without it.

DOUBLE VISION: We're getting into the age of multiples. Catch the titles of development shows for next season: "Joe and Sons," "Salt and Pepe," "Foster and Laurie," "Mr. and Mrs. Cop," etc. — Milton Berle, once the Friar's tribune to George Burns and Walter Matthau recently noted that ABC was the only network not represented by top brass. "They're all in Hollywood," Berle observed. "They heard Tony Orlando and Dawn are breaking up, and ABC is trying to sign — Dawn — introducing CBS president Robert Wood. Berle joked, "I'm keeping with CBS policy, we paid him (Wood) $25,000."

8 CBS MAGNIFICENT MONSTERS OF THE DEEP: If you're interested in the southern right whale, this real-life adventure could be appealing. Zoologist Roger Payne, his wife and four kids went to the Patagonian coast off Argentina to observe the mammal under difficult circumstances. For reasons unfathomable, Orson Welles is the narrator.

6:30-9 ABC WEDNESDAY MOVIE OF THE WEEK "Starky and Hutch": A pilot film, which won't qualify for general family viewing in the code. David Sinal and Paul Michael Glaser are cast as undercover cops investigating a double murder. Starky actually was supposed to be the victim, but he was spared by mistaken identity.

Book Review

A STAR IN THE FAMILY. By Irvin Faust. Doubleday, 306 Pages, $7.95.

The star of "A Star in the Family" is Bart Goldwine, a Jewish comic who started out snapping jokes at his Brooklyn buddies, made it all the way to the top in clubs, movies and the stage, and then hit the bottle and the odds that eventually dumped him back on the Brooklyn streets of his boyhood.

Irvin Faust, whose novels — "Foreign Devils," "Willy Remembers" — effectively silence the doom crizis who perennially pronounce the death of fiction, tells Goldwine's story through the bits and pieces being assembled by the comic's biographer. These include interviews with many of the people who knew Goldwine over the years — childhood pals, his mother, Army buddies, agents, girl friends, an ex-wife — background chapters in which Goldwine personally fills in some biographical holes, and about, often acrid, afterthought exchanges between Goldwine and his biographer at the end of most of the items.

would have lost just one heart trick. But poor Joe had overlooked one slight extra chance.

After East had discarded on the second club, Joe should have led his nine of trumps to dummy's jack. West would have played his singleton 10 and Joe would have had an extra entry to dummy which would have been all he needed.

Just watch the play. A third club ruffed high. The six trumps led and overtaken by dummy's seven. A fourth club ruffed high. A spade dummy's ace. A fifth club ruffed. The queen of spades led and ruffed by dummy's deuce of trumps. The sixth club would now be good and furnish a parking place for one low heart.

Vegetarianism is Linked To Oldtime Religious Ideas

By GAYNOR MADDOX
The Herald Services
When a young scholar claims that eating meat, fish and fowl "will some day be universally viewed with the same horror that is now attached to can-ibalism," then — if only because of shock — you should listen further to what she has to say.

In this instance it is Janet Barkas who attempts to trace the history of vegetarianism from the days of Jainism and Buddhism down to present times.
Vegetarianism as a religious, ethical and humanitarian creed is what Miss Barkas writes about in her new book called "The Vegetable Passion: A History of the Vegetarian State of Mind." (Scribner's, $8.95).

The book is packed with items of interest, wonder and some almost magical beliefs. But at this point let's stick to the humanitarian angle of vegetarianism.
Geometry students are familiar with the Pythagorean theorem that the sum of the squares, etc. But that Pythagoras is generally known as the "father of vegetarianism" may be news to most people. Born in the sixth century before Christ, Pythagoras is quoted as saying: "...do not defile your bodies with animal foods. We have corn. We have apples — and grapes — sweet-flavored herbs and vegetables that can be cooked over the fire. You are not denied milk or thyme-scented honey. The earth affords a lavish supply of riches of innocent foods, and offers you banquets that involve no bloodshed or slaughter. Only beasts satisfy their hunger with flesh."

His meals have been described as bread and honey for dinner and raw and cooked vegetables for supper. He is said to have paid fishermen to return their catch to the sea, stroked wild bears and abhorred animal sacrifice and wine.
Leonardo da Vinci, Tolstoy, Gandhi are brought into the vegetarian picture, largely as detractors of animal slaying. Two particularly strident characters, Wagner and Hitler, were strict vegetarians.
The author, a graduate of Hofstra University, teacher at the New School for Social Research and an editor, has researched her subject diligently.

She rejects the idea that vegetarianism is a cult. Some of her documents on this score are questionable but always entertaining. She tells that we once had a candidate for president who ran on the Vegetarian ticket, that a Seventh Day Adventist and firm advocate of cereals is the diet, Dr. John Henry Kellogg, established the Battle Creek Sanitarium and gave his name to the Kellogg Co. of Battle Creek, makers of breakfast foods. While vegetarians of Canada once held a nudist parade to protest against the rising materialism, a recent headline in the Majority Report, organ of the women's liberation movement, stated: "The All Compassionate Feminist is a Vegetarian."
"The Vegetable Passion" is a valid study of the subject, wide-ranged, ostensibly sincere and fairly objective.

COOKING IS FUN

DINNER FOR FOUR
Turkey Teriyaki Rice
Asparagus Salad
Pineapple Sherbet
TURKEY TERIYAKI
This way to treat turkey wings was given to me by Jim Beard, and it's good.
4 whole turkey wings, about 4½ pounds
Soybean oil
2-3 cups soy sauce
¼ cup sweet sherry
2 tablespoons minced ginger root
2 large cloves garlic, minced
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
Remove wing tips and use for stock another time. Cut each wing into 2 portions at joints. Dip in oil. Place in a single layer in a small shallow roasting pan. Roast uncovered in a preheated 375-degree oven for 45 minutes. Stir together the remaining ingredients and pour over wings. Cover tightly with foil. Continue baking at 375 degrees until tender — about 45 minutes longer. Serve with rice. Makes 4 servings.

FAMILY DINNER
Thriftly Cream
of Asparagus Soup
Veal Patties Potatoes Carrots
Salad Bowl Cookies Beverage
THRIFTY CREAM OF ASPARAGUS SOUP
Worth knowing about!
1½ quarts asparagus ends (the part snapped off and usually discarded)
3 cups water
Milk
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
4 tablespoons flour
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon white pepper
From 3½ to 4 pounds of medium-thick asparagus spears will give the amount of ends needed. Scrub in cold water and drain. Boil gently, covered, with the water until tender — about 30 minutes. When ends and cooking liquid in an electric blender; force through a fine strainer and discard fibrous part in strainer — there should be about 3½ cups this puree; add enough milk to make 4 cups. In a medium saucepan melt the butter; stir in the flour; gradually stir in the puree. Cook over moderately low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and boiling; stir in salt and pepper. Makes about 1 quart.

AFTERNOON TEA
APRICOT LOAF
One of the best quick breads we've come upon.
2 cups flour, stir to aerate before measuring
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup finely chopped dried apricots
1 cup warm water
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, softened
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1 cup orange juice
½ cup brandy
¾ cup coarsely chopped walnuts
Stir together the flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Soak the chopped apricots in the warm water for about 15 minutes; drain apricots and discard liquid. Beat together the butter, sugar and egg; add orange rind, orange juice and brandy and beat to blend. Add flour mixture and stir only until it is moistened. Fold in drained chopped apricots and walnuts. Turn into a greased 8 by 4 by 3 inch loaf pan. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — 60 to 65 minutes. Place pan on wire rack to cool for 10 minutes; loosen edges and turn out; turn right side up; cool completely before cutting. To soften crust and make slicing easiest, wrap in plastic wrap and let stand 4 to 6 hours before slicing. Serve with or without butter.

PEANUT MACAROONS
Good way to use extra egg whites.
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2 egg whites
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup flaked coconut
1 cup chopped cocktail peanuts
In a large mixing bowl stir together the sugar, flour and salt. Beat egg whites until stiff; fold into sugar mixture with vanilla. Fold in coconut and peanuts. Drop by rounded teaspoons onto greased cookie sheets. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until golden brown — 15 minutes. Cool slightly; remove to wire racks and cool completely. Makes about 2½ dozen.

CORN-OIL SPREAD
Based on a recipe included in an article on cholesterol-lowering diets in the Journal of the American Dietetic Assn.
1-2 cup nonfat dry milk solids
¼ cup buttermilk
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup corn oil
2 teaspoons distilled white vinegar
In an electric blender at low speed whisk together the dry milk solids, buttermilk and salt until blended; with blender still at low speed whirl in the oil, a tablespoon at a time — by the time all the oil has been added the spread should have the consistency of soft margarine. Stir in vinegar. Cover and chill; keep in refrigerator and use within a week or so. The spread has a sweetish flavor — good with pancakes and toast and jam. Makes 1½ cups.

SHRIMP SANDWICHES
My sister Phyllis, a calorie-watcher, makes these with less mayonnaise than usual.
½ pound (18 medium) shrimp (cooked, shelled, deveined and chopped), 1 cup
½ cup finely chopped celery
1 tablespoon minced chives
1 tablespoon sweet pickle relish
2½ tablespoons mayonnaise
2 teaspoons catchup
Salt and pepper to taste
Lettuce leaves
8 thin slices bread
Mix together all the ingredients except the lettuce and bread. Use the shrimp mixture, along with the lettuce, as a filling for the bread, making 4 sandwiches. Makes 2 to 4 servings.

For the cholesterol watchers.
1½ cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup corn-oil margarine
¼ cup raisins
1 cup buttermilk
In a large mixing bowl stir together the flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Cut in margarine until particles are fine. Mix in raisins. Stir in buttermilk just until mixture is moistened. Turn out onto a prepared pastry cloth; knead about 30 times. Cut dough in half. Roll or pat each half into a ½-inch thick round; cut each round into 8 wedges. Place a few inches apart on an ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in a preheated 425-degree oven about 18 minutes. Serve hot. Makes 16.

All You Want To Know About Wheat And Corn Crops

By GAYNOR MADDOX
The Herald Services
It's an ill wind that blows nobody good. Forecasts for good weather during the next six weeks indicate the probability of an extra large crop of wheat, corn and beans. Also, the experts report export sales are down from last year.

This means from a consumer's standpoint and from the supermarket buyer's angle a possible reduction in prices of bread and for other wheat products. If there is not a decline in price, at least current prices will be maintained instead of rising under inflationary pressures.
Furthermore, some grain farmers in the Midwest fear that bumper crops and lighter export demands may bring their elevator prices still lower. Many fear that these prices could drop below the profit-making point.
The grain farmers are troubled, too, by prospects of a large crop in the wheat-growing foreign countries. As a result of all these "ill winds" some wheat farmers are trying to persuade others to grow under 20 per cent of the new crop. But before consumers grow hopeful of a reduction in the price of bread and other grain products, they must consider that costs of production include labor, energy, transportation and selling-marketing.

Aside from trying to relate prices to crop and marketing news, consumers also are confused about wheat and corn products. Here are some definitions from Commodity Inspection Branch, Grain Division of the Agricultural Marketing Service as super-market buying guides:

ALL-PURPOSE or family flour is white flour prepared for home use for yeast breads, quick breads, cakes, cookies and pastries.
CAKE flour is milled from low protein soft wheat and is especially suitable for baking cakes and pastries which require light, fluffy flour. Not suitable for baking yeast-raised products.
ENRICHED flour has had vitamins and iron added. This addition is to replace in part what is lost in milling.
SELF-RISING flour is an all-purpose flour in which leavening agents and salt have been added. It is not recommended for yeast-raised products.
WHOLE WHEAT flour is prepared by grinding cleaned wheat so that natural constituents of the flour are unchanged from those of the wheat from which it is milled. It includes the bran and wheat germ. It is also called graham flour.

GLUTEN flour is wheat flour especially milled to have high gluten (protein) and a low starch content. It is used primarily by bakers.
SEMOLINA (considered the finest), is prepared by grinding and bolting durum wheat to a granular consistency with removal of the bran. It has a natural yellow color and is used to prepare pasta products.
FARINA is prepared by grinding and bolting cleaned wheat (other than durum wheat) to a granular consistency with removal of bran and germ. Used directly as a cereal. Also as an ingredient in pasta products.
Among the corn products generally used in home are: WHOLE or regular cornmeal prepared by grinding white or yellow corn, including the germ, so that the fat in the

Dessert Idea: Peanut Butter

By AILEEN CLAIRE
The Herald Services

A hearty dumpling dessert proves versatile. One with peanut butter and apple filling is an ideal offering after a pleasant evening meal. With milk, it offers high protein and essential vitamins as a breakfast treat.

PEANUT BUTTER APPLE DUMPLINGS WITH LEMON SAUCE

Crust

4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
5 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1-3 cup peanut butter
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1-1/2 cups milk

Filling

6 cooking apples, peeled and cored whole
1/2 cup raisins
6 tablespoons sugar

Sauce

3 tablespoons cornstarch

1 can (6-ounces) frozen concentrated lemonade, undiluted
1-1/2 cup water
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

In a bowl, mix flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in peanut butter and butter until crumbs are like coarse cornmeal. Stir in milk and stir until dough cleans the bowl. Place dough on a heavily floured surface and knead a few times until a smooth ball. Roll out dough on a floured surface to an oblong 12 x 18 inches. Cut into six 6-inch squares. Place one apple on each square. Fill center with raisins and sprinkle with sugar. Bring opposite corners over apples and pinch edges together. Place dumplings on a greased cookie sheet. Turn back corners on dumplings so top of apple is exposed. Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven for 40 to 45 minutes or until apples are easily pierced. In a saucepan mix cornstarch and lemonade. Stir in water and butter. Stir over low heat until sauce bubbles and thickens. Serve dumplings hot with hot sauce spooned over them. Makes 6 servings.

Hearty dumpling is filled with peanut butter and apples.

Choucroute Dish Classic Shortcut

By AILEEN CLAIRE
The Herald Services

A classic choucroute is a handsome, filling dish to present to family or guests.

PENNYWISE CHOUCROUTE

1 pounds sauerkraut, drained
1 cup concord grape juice
1/2 cup dry red wine
2 teaspoon caraway seeds
1 large clove garlic, minced
10 juniper berries (optional)
1 medium onion
6 whole cloves
1 pound ground pork
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

Place sauerkraut in 2 1/2-quart casserole. Combine concord grape juice, wine, caraway seeds and garlic. Pour over sauerkraut. Tie juniper berries in small piece of cheesecloth; add to casserole. Make a well in center of sauerkraut and place onion in center with cloves stuck into onion. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Reduce heat to 300 degrees and bake 1 hour. Combine pork, salt and pepper. Shape into 18 meatballs. Place on top of sauerkraut. Bake 1 hour longer. Baste occasionally. Score frankfurters and place on top of casserole. Bake 20 minutes. Remove juniper berries before serving. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Peanut Big Aid To Food Budget

By TOM HOGE
The Herald Services

For generations, peanut butter has been a favorite snack for America's small fry, and for nearly as long govt. leaders have attracted all ages when used in cakes, cookies and candy bars.

But now, with the rocketing prices of meat, fowl and fish sending housewives on a fevered hunt for cheaper substitutes, the peanut has taken on a new role.

Today, we have peanut butter, soup enriched with peanut butter, peanut pancakes and waffles choppiced with peanut sauce, to mention a few. And these dishes have a lot going for them. Not only does the taste turn people on, but housewives have discovered to their delight that peanut butter is 25 per cent protein.

Cooks are also finding that peanut butter combines easily and profitably with meat spreads, soft cheeses and spreads like mayonnaise. There is even a peanut butter dressing for fruit salad.

Here is a recipe that uses peanut butter to make a satisfying cold weather soup.

PEANUT SOUP CREOLE

2 cups chopped onion
2 teaspoons peanut oil
1 tablespoon flour
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon celery salt
1/2 cup peanut butter
2 cups milk
2 cups tomato juice
Sauté onion in peanut oil till tender but not browned. Add flour and seasonings. Blend in peanut butter. Add milk gradually, stirring to blend. Cook and stir till mixture comes to a boil and is thickened. Add tomato juice and bring to a boil. Serve five.

Rib-Sticking Fish Chowder

By TOM HOGE
The Herald Services

Although a veteran chowder buff (Manhattan style) I only recently learned the origin of the word. It seems that chowder derives from the word la chaudiere, the great copper pot once used in hamlets along the French coast. Fishermen returning after a spell at sea would toss choice selections from their catch into the kettle, and the womenfolk would whip up a rich soup to celebrate their safe return.

During a winter in France some years ago, I often wound up the day over a steaming bowl of that wonderful fish chowder known as Bourride. One serving of this soup, which is really a stew, a glass of wine, a chunk of cheese and some crisp French bread and you didn't want anything else.

If you like the taste of garlic, it's easy to see why Bourride is almost as popular a dish in Provence as its elegant cousin, Bouillabaisse. And it is easier to prepare away from its Mediterranean birthplace, since it does not call for any special kind of fish like Bouillabaisse. In its native habitat, Bourride is made from a variety of large Mediterranean fish, such as bass, angler and gray mullet. The secret of good Bourride is the sauce, a pungent delight known as Aoli. This garlic mayonnaise of Provence, to which bread crumbs are sometimes added, is also served with boiled beef and sometimes with snails boiled with onions. At any rate, it imparts a certain magic to Bourride.

Bourride is delicious served over toasted French bread and topped with Rouille, a highly seasoned mixture of chopped pimientos, bread crumbs, tabasco and minced garlic. Here is a recipe for the dish:

1 pound cod filets cut in large chunks
1 medium onion, chopped
Bouquet garni (1 bay leaf, 3 sprigs parsley, 1/4 teaspoon fennel, 1/4 teaspoon thyme, orange peel from half orange, tied in cheesecloth bag)
1 cup dry white wine
3 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon tabasco

In medium saucepan combine all ingredients. Bring to boil, cover, reduce heat and simmer 15 minutes. Remove spice bag and strain broth, reserving fish. To 1 cup of Aoli add small amount broth. Return Aoli to remaining broth and mix well. Heat over low heat, but do not boil or it will curdle. Flake sauced fish and return to soup. Serve over toasted French bread and serve with Rouille.

Special Dessert: Bit Of Passion

By AILEEN CLAIRE
The Herald Services

Swapping recipes is an enjoyable pastime for men and women. Everyone is looking for something different and one such recipe comes from a traveler who took an African photo safari. This was called a Grenadilla Mousse and was served at a game lodge on the Serengeti Plains. The lodge manager explained to the recipe collector that grenadilla is another name for passion fruit. This made a tart-sweet dessert but also proved a shopping challenge when our enamored informant tried to buy canned passion fruit drink or juice.

Specialty food stores do carry this in some areas but the inventive may combine apricot nectar and grapefruit juice as the "grenadilla" base for this light dessert. Serve with food made the cold water method so it won't cloud. Fill quart pitcher with freshly drawn cold water, add 8 to 10 teabags without the tags. Cover and let stand at room temperature or in a refrigerator for six hours or overnight. Remove teabags and serve over ice cubes. Add sugar and lemon to taste.

PASSION FRUIT MOUSSE

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/4 teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons sugar, divided
2 eggs, separated
1/4 cups passion fruit juice or drink
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

In top of double boiler, combine gelatin, salt and 2 tablespoons sugar. Stir in egg yolks and juice. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until very slightly thickened, about 10 minutes. Call, stirring now and then, until slightly thicker than un-benaten egg whites. Beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Gradually beat in remaining 4 tablespoons of sugar. Beat until stiff. Fold into gelatin mixture along with whipped cream. Spoon into sherbet glasses or 6-cup mold. Refrigerate until served or at least 4 hours. Passion fruit juice or drink is sold in gourmet and specialty food shops. If not available, substitute 1 cup apricot nectar, 1/4 cup grapefruit juice and 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind. Makes 6 servings.

Fresh Pineapple Steals The Show

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Right now through June fresh pineapple should be a good buy because during these months it is in greatest supply. It's at this time of year that we get out our pineapple cutter — one of the best gadgets ever devised — and keep it close at hand. We use it to "cut, core and peel a whole fresh pineapple with one downward pass," as the direction flyer that came with the cutter correctly states it will. The cutter's stainless steel blades and aluminum frame make it rust-proof and it is a breeze to wash and dry. We've never seen these cutters in shops; we bought ours via mail order. We've bought many a kitchen gadget over the years but not all of them have lived up to the makers' or distributors' descriptions that lured us in the first place. We're happy to report that this cutter has. Be that as it may, it's not necessary to have a pineapple cutter if you want to make Fresh Pineapple Sherbet. In the following recipe, we tell you just how to prepare the pineapple using a sharp knife. However, you do need an electric blender for pureeing half the pineapple for the sherbet; the rest of the fruit is diced to serve as a topping. Fresh Pineapple Sherbet is a light and refreshing dessert both epicureans and calorie-watchers are likely to approve. FRESH PINEAPPLE SHERBET

Large fresh pineapple
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup milk
1 egg white, stiffly beaten

To prepare pineapple, with a large sharp knife cut off stem and crown ends; cut off rind all around, from top to bottom. With a small sharp pointed knife remove the "eyes." Cut into lengthwise quarters; cut away core and discard. Cube two of the quarters; in an electric blender puree enough of the cubes — there will be about 1 1/4 cups — to make 1 cup puree. Dice remaining pineapple, sweeten to taste and refrigerate.

In a medium mixing bowl stir together the pineapple puree, lemon juice, sugar and milk. Turn into a freezer tray. Freeze until mushy. Turn into a mixing bowl and beat until smooth. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg white. Return to freezer tray, cover with plastic film and freeze until firm before serving with the diced pineapple as a topping. Makes 1 quart.

Fresh pineapple sherbet is a light and refreshing dessert that will appeal to both epicureans and calorie-watchers.

Pot Roast Is Big Saver For Busy Family Cook

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

One of the easiest ways to make pot roast is in the oven with a barbecue-style sauce. No pre-browning of the meat or range-top-watching necessary. And the result is really good. At the end of the following recipe we give two ways of serving the beef. If you want to offer the dish as soon as it comes out of the oven, serve it with rice, noodles or spaghetti.

If you prefer to cook the roast ahead, chill the meat and sauce separately. Then slice the beef fairly thin and remove the hardened fat from the sauce. Reheat the beef and sauce in a large skillet and serve sandwich-style with seeded rolls.

EASY POT ROAST
2 1/2 pound boneless chuck beef roast
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon chili powder
1/2 teaspoon paprika

8-ounce can stewed tomatoes
1/2 cup catchup
1/2 cup water
2 tablespoons cider vinegar
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
Large onion, cut in thin strips

Cut away any excess fat from around beef. Mix salt with chili powder and paprika; rub into beef. Stir together the undrained tomatoes, catchup, water, vinegar, mustard and Worcestershire.

Choose a casserole with a cover that will just hold the beef. Preheat the oven to 350 degrees and put the casserole in the oven to get hot while it is preheating. Place the beef in the hot casserole and sprinkle with the onion; add the tomato mixture; cover tightly. Bake until beef is fork-tender — 2 to 2 1/2 hours. Remove the meat. Pour the sauce into a small bowl and skim off as much fat as possible. Cut the beef into sections and reheat in the sauce on top of the range. Or use the following alternative suggestion:

When the beef is tender remove it from the casserole and chill. Pour the sauce into a container and chill. Slice the chilled beef fairly thin. Remove the hardened fat from the sauce. Pour the sauce into a large skillet and if it is not fairly thick, let it bubble gently until it is; then add the sliced beef and reheat. Serve beef and sauce sandwich-style with seeded rolls. Makes 6 servings.

Easy pot roast baked in the oven with a barbecue-style sauce and may be served in sandwich fashion and with seed rolls.

Make-Ahead Mushroom Salad

By AILEEN CLAIRE
The Herald Services

A make-ahead, wilt-proof salad fits right in with the coming weeks of class reunions, senior parties and outdoor eating. A hearty one that makes a salad meal or can be served with entrees for dinner, combines sliced mushrooms and macaroni. Mushrooms add a special flavor and texture and are just porous enough to pick up the flavor of a well-seasoned dressing. To prepare fresh mushrooms, rinse them briefly in clear water, jiggle them about a bit, blot dry and slice. If you have an egg slicer, use it as a handy tool for making even mushroom slices.

or 1 can (6 to 8 ounces) sliced mushrooms
1/2 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
2 tablespoons minced onion
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon tarragon leaves, crumbled
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
2 cups cold, cooked macaroni
1 cup chopped celery

Rinse, pat dry and thinly slice fresh mushrooms or drain canned mushrooms. In medium bowl thoroughly combine mayonnaise, mustard, onion, parsley, lemon juice, tarragon, salt and black pepper. Add mushrooms, macaroni and celery. Cover and refrigerate 1 or 2 hours before serving to let flavors mingle and develop. Makes 1 quart.

Employers Should Shun Aliens

The National Can Corp. is adding a new question to its employment applications: "Do you have the legal right to be in this country?" The company is posting warnings in its 62 plants around the country that it is cooperating with the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service in efforts to detect the presence of any illegal aliens on the payroll. Frank W. Conditine, president of National Can, is heading a committee working with the INS to get other companies to follow suit.

How much such steps can accomplish in attacking the illegal alien problem in our country remains to be seen. An illegal immigrant applying for work can always answer "Yes" if he is asked about his status, and hope to get by. However, the program launched at National Can is a welcome sign that employers are awakening to their responsibility to keep the prospect of jobs from luring people from abroad into the pipeline of illegal entry into the United States of America.

If they cannot meet that responsibility on their own, they are likely to have it thrust upon them by the government — through legislation like the Rodino bill which would make it against the law for an employer to hire illegal aliens. As simple as that expedient might sound, it would open both employers and employees to new bureaucratic entanglements with identity cards and other machinery to establish one's citizenship of legal immigration status.

The impact of illegal aliens on job markets in the United States is clearly intolerable at current high rates of unemployment. Immigration Commissioner Leonard Chapman estimates that at least one million jobs are being held by illegals, and relatively few are in agriculture where recruiting legal workers is often a problem. The typical illegal alien today, he says, is living in a city and holding a job that an unemployed American citizen would be glad to have.

The options for dealing with the problem are narrow. The INS would have to add tens of thousands of patrolmen and inspectors to try to seal off 6,000 miles of border and to track down foreign visitors who overstay their visas and disappear into our population. A country known as the citadel of freedom should not confront the world with barricades of police at its borders, however. We need to convey to foreign populations that we welcome visitors — and immigrants, too, within the limitations that our laws prescribe.

The United States also needs to combat the impression, apparently widespread, that it is easy for illegal immigrants to escape detection in our society — an impression that is fortified by employers who now prefer not to make an issue of the citizenship or immigration status of job applicants.

Mission Questioned

The fact that a Soviet Soyuz manned spacecraft failed to reach orbit and was forced to abort its mission raises new questions about the safety of our astronauts in the joint U.S.-Soviet orbital mission planned for July. The purpose and wisdom of this venture are even more questionable today than they were when it was agreed upon three years ago.

It is a Soyuz vehicle that is scheduled to link up with an Apollo spacecraft in test a common docking device that both countries are going to install on future manned space vehicles as they will have a mutual rescue capability. Soyuz has been plagued with mishaps, including one in which three Soviet cosmonauts died on July 30, 1971, while returning to earth. During the joint mission, U.S. and Soviet crews will be visiting each other's capsules. In an emergency, they might have to return to earth in whatever capsule they happened to occupy at the time — a thought that can hardly be comforting to the Americans.

Three years of planning for the joint flight has barely cracked the secrecy which surrounds the Soviet space program. We are left with a space mission that could be dangerous to test a docking system that has only a remote chance of ever being used. Is this showcase of détente-era "cooperation" really worth the risk?

BERRY'S WORLD

"Mr. Brezhnev, he wants to know how the White House's petable garden is coming along!"

Around The Clock

A few weeks back, we devoted an entire column to an ad which the U.S. Chamber of Commerce ran in various dailies throughout the nation, calling attention to What's Right With America.

It was thought-provoking... and a needed reprieve from the doom-and-gloom trivia flooding the airwaves and the news columns.

An invitation was extended to our readers to amplify on the ideas created within that ad... what else could you add to What's Right With America.

Only one person has actually taken the time to put pencil to paper and express their views to us. The honor falls to Seminole County's most prolific letter-writer S.B. (Jim) Crowe.

And while I'm at it, it truly is a shame there aren't more vigilant and well-informed citizens unafraid of becoming involved, such as our friend, Jim Crowe.

Crowe is a very knowledgeable individual, and greatly respected by yours truly. His thoughts on Americanism are as follows:

While I'm at it, it truly is a shame there aren't more vigilant and well-informed citizens unafraid of becoming involved, such as our friend, Jim Crowe.

They are the result of secret agreements secretly arrived at.

Contrary to American principles and custom, the public, which in the end must give support or withhold it, has been kept in the dark.

But the public is not alone in being asked to back programs in which it has had no voice and little knowledge. The same applies to the Senate, House of Representatives and to high cabinet officials.

Foreign policy has been kept hidden from ranking members of the State Department and from ambassadors negotiating treaties. Major military decisions have been acted on without the knowledge or concurrence of senior members of the Department of Defense — civilian and military.

Some very important decisions were taken without the knowledge of the President of the United States. In other cases, the President was informed too late to modify or veto the actions.

This secrecy did not begin with Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, although he has refined the technique. It was prevalent in the time of Presidents Johnson and Kennedy.

At a recent meeting, I heard the State Department official responsible for a key area of the world confess he did not know what agreements and what commitments Kissinger had made for his region. He did not expect to be told. His advice was seldom asked.

To this day, I have not found one State Department official who knows what secret promises Kissinger has made to Soviet boss Brezhnev. Or what he has committed the U.S. to do for Sadat of Egypt — or for Israel.

What's Right With America

"I give you as No. 1, the individualistic American farmer.

"The backbone of the world's food supply and a bulwark against communism. The Russian Kulak was the first to be killed — starved to death — by Stalin in his drive for a collective state farm system, and ever since Russia has been on the borderlines of starvation. Saved by the productive individual American farmer.

"Two hundred years ago it was the 'embattled farmer' who stood at that rude bridge. Today, he is still the embattled farmer fighting against Federal Land Use and Planning, which would federalize the use of his land without just compensation as set forth in the Fifth amendment.

"His battle is also yours, if you wish to remain an individual homeowner for the underlying plan is to put you in that collectivized condominium living condition."

Note — "Busing is just a temporary expedient,

until we can change the housing patterns.

"So I give you a salute to that embattled farmer who started this country and, still embattled, is the bulwark against hunger in the world and farm men's right to live in freedom under God."

"The vets should be happy about this. For many years, young couples seeking to purchase a home were confronted with a problem of trying to convince the lending officer that the spouse's salary should also be included when qualifying for a loan.

In the past this was not acceptable. According to the Veterans Administration, the agency now awards full recognition to incomes and expenses of both veteran and spouse in determining ability to repay loan obligations.

VA guarantees 60 per cent of GI loans (maximum $17,500) private lenders make to military service personnel, veterans and eligible spouses of World War II, Korean and post-Korean Conflicts and the Vietnam-era.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Hard Line Protestants Oppose Power Sharing

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Hard-Line Protestants opposed to sharing power with the Roman Catholics were expected to win a majority of the seats in elections today for a convention to draft a new governmental setup for Northern Ireland.

Such a Protestant victory would offer no prospect for a political settlement to end the 5 1/2 years of religious warfare in Northern Ireland, and direct rule from London is likely to continue indefinitely.

The British government, which suspended parliamentary government in the warring province three years ago, said it would only approve constitutional arrangements acceptable to the "broad mass" of the people, including the Roman Catholic minority.

This means some form of coalition between the Protestant majority and the Catholics. But the militant Protestants are as opposed to power sharing as they were when they toppled the province's first coalition government last summer.

Prince Visits Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Britain's Prince Charles has arrived in south Florida for a sun-and-fun visit, including a black-tie dinner for charity.

The 26-year-old Prince of Wales was met by a heavy security guard when his Royal Navy aircraft landed Wednesday night at nearby Fort Lauderdale. Highway patrolmen escorted the prince to Miami for a supper at the home of his hosts, Robert and Nancy Greene.

Tonight's dinner will be attended by about 75 members of Miami's social set willing to pay $2,000 each to meet Prince Charles and help Variety Children's Hospital here and a British children's charity.

Liz Back In Leningrad

LONDON (AP) — Actress Elizabeth Taylor returns to Leningrad Monday to resume the filming of "The Bluebird."

Miss Taylor left Wellington private hospital Tuesday after 10 days of treatment for the flu. She appeared pale and much thinner than she was when she flew here from Leningrad for treatment.

"I'm much better," the 43-year-old actress told reporters as she left the hospital with businessman Henry Wynnberg. "The treatment was successful, but I'm a little tired."

Ambassador Leads U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Ambassador Rashleigh Esmond Jackson of Guyana today begins a month's term as president of the United Nations Security Council.

He succeeds Ambassador Louis de Guingand of France in the regular alphabetical rotation of the presidency among the 15 countries on the council.

Queen Juliana Is 66

SOESTDIJK, The Netherlands (AP) — Thousands of Queen Juliana's subjects have joined in celebrating the monarch's 66th birthday.

The queen's husband, Prince Bernhard, their four daughters and 11 grandchildren were present for the annual palace parade Wednesday.

Secrety Poisons Policies

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — There is no mystery about the current rash of catastrophic collapses in American foreign and military policy.

They are the result of secret agreements secretly arrived at.

Contrary to American principles and custom, the public, which in the end must give support or withhold it, has been kept in the dark.

But the public is not alone in being asked to back programs in which it has had no voice and little knowledge. The same applies to the Senate, House of Representatives and to high cabinet officials.

Foreign policy has been kept hidden from ranking members of the State Department and from ambassadors negotiating treaties. Major military decisions have been acted on without the knowledge or concurrence of senior members of the Department of Defense — civilian and military.

Some very important decisions were taken without the knowledge of the President of the United States. In other cases, the President was informed too late to modify or veto the actions.

This secrecy did not begin with Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, although he has refined the technique. It was prevalent in the time of Presidents Johnson and Kennedy.

At a recent meeting, I heard the State Department official responsible for a key area of the world confess he did not know what agreements and what commitments Kissinger had made for his region. He did not expect to be told. His advice was seldom asked.

To this day, I have not found one State Department official who knows what secret promises Kissinger has made to Soviet boss Brezhnev. Or what he has committed the U.S. to do for Sadat of Egypt — or for Israel.

Dissent Has Spot In Union

One wonders what the "embattled farmer" of 1775 would have made of events at Concord, Mass., the other day.

As they were at the re-enactment of the Boston Tea Party, the irresponsible political element in America was in today as modifying evidence at Bicentennial ceremonies at Concord Bridge, having the most fun it has had since the heyday of the Vietnam war protest movement.

It was, in an ironic sort of way, perhaps fitting that President Ford should have been heckled and jeered by a bunch of beer-brave Yahoos and yoyos in Concord. He represents the "establishment," and it was against the "establishment" of their time that the Minutemen took up their muskets 200 years ago.

Before Lexington and Concord, it had been a relatively small number of radicals, not all of them admirable characters, who agitated against British rule. Thanks, however, to the heavyhanded and uncompromising reaction of King George and his ministers, and the drawing of first blood at Lexington, what to most colonists had been an unthinkable thing — actual armed rebellion — became a War for Independence that was to last seven bitter years and result in the birth of a new nation.

Aside from that, the radicals of today bear little resemblance to the farmers — turned — soldiers of 1775.

The colonists fought not so much against oppressive foreign rule as to preserve the self-rule they had come to enjoy by virtue of their physical separation from the mother country and the circumstances of existence in a still-rare New World. They fought not to revolutionize their political lives but to defend the rights they already claimed as free British subjects. Only slowly, and only after they did begin to think of themselves as free "Americans."

And it was another eight years after winning their independence that they were able to put aside their regional rivalries and jealousies to fashion a political compact that has weathered the storms of nearly two centuries. The establishment of the United States of America was the most truly radical event in human history.

What our contemporary radicals would obtain and establish, had they the power, is better left to the imagination.

Yet dismissing the lunatic political fringe, which seems always to have been present in this country, or movements, indicates that we are still a long way from achieving that "more perfect Union." For all their excesses and inanities, the Yankee Doodleheads of 1975 do reflect the existence of unresolved inequities and injustices in American society.

Still, the fact that the protesters remain free, and as their opponents would not be if things were reversed, to express their opposition to the "establishment" and, if they so choose, to work within the system for the attainment of their goals, testifies to how successfully the dream of the patriots of 1775 has been kept alive by the descendants and heirs of the Minutemen for these 200 turbulent years.

INTERNS AT IDYLWILDE

By BOB LLOYD, Herald Staff Writer

A yellow van believed used in the theft this morning of $642 in cash and checks from a Sanford service station eluded officers moments after the theft, local police said today.

Bill Sellers, attendant at the Pina Service Station, 13th St. and Park Ave., reported that three bank bags were taken from a desk drawer five minutes after he opened the station at 7:35 a.m.

Sellers told Patrolman D.H. Whitmore that he had three customers waiting when he opened. The driver of the yellow van ordered a dollar's worth of gas, had the vehicle's oil checked and then purchased another dollar's worth of fuel.

Police said although only one man was seen in the van it is possible that another was inside.

A patrol car was approaching the location when Sellers telephoned police and the van was last seen traveling north on Park. Officers converging on the scene, but the van is believed to have eluded police by turning onto a side street.

"WASH POT STRIKES AGAIN" Sheriff's deputies today reported that "the wash pot thief" has struck again in the Midway community east of Sanford.

Last week residents reported three iron wash pots stolen from yards the day after a man inquired about buying them. The old-fashioned wash pots sell at antique outlets for approximately $50 each.

Today Henrietta Knight, of 2306 Jitway Ave., Midway, reported a large iron wash pot was stolen from its resting place beside the rear door of her house. Deputy R.J. Harley reported the yard is fenced.

Frederick James Gearing, of Orlando, was being held without bond today in Seminole County Jail on a Texas fugitive warrant.

Gearing, 35, who listed an Orlando address, gave his occupation as accountant for a Houston, Texas firm. Local officials said the fugitive warrant alleges Gearing is an escapee from a Texas penal institution.

Robert People, 28, of 1021 Avocado Ave., Sanford, was in County Jail today on $5,000 bond. People was arrested yesterday by Sanford Police Detective Walter Jones on an aggravated assault charge.

Frank Bruce Owen, 18, of Dale Road, south Seminole, was being held without bond in county jail today on a charge that

10 Per Cent Of Monthly Bill, Up To $1

Sanlando Utilities Co. To Begin Collecting City Tax

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD—Sanlando Utilities Co. today was to begin collecting city utility tax from its subscribers of water service within the city limits. The tax—10 per cent of the monthly bill up to $1—will be levied on those users residing in Winsor Manor, Devonshire, Sleepy Hollow first addition and The Moorings subdivisions, north of SR 424.

City Attorney Ned Julian Jr. reported to City Council this week that although Lester Mandell, president of Sanlando Utilities, is on vacation, an attorney for the firm said a decision will be made within the week on whether city officials will be permitted to inspect the company's books.

"If the books are not made available," Julian said, "there is a possibility the City will take the firm to court."

Receipts to the City from the utility tax to be collected with this month's billing is estimated at $250, Julian said.

The city has asked to examine the firm's books in an attempt to determine the total of utility tax monies Sanlando has failed to collect and remit to the City over the past four years it has been serving municipal areas.

"The total could be $5,000 or $50,000, we have no way of knowing," Julian said.

In other business, the City Council: Heard a report from Council Chairman J. R. Grant that expenditures for the Land Avenue drainage project must be totaled before work can be begun to correct Church Street-Bay Avenue drainage difficulties.

In addition, Grant said, the City has not found out whether it can dump the drainage waters into a proposed canal Department of Transportation holding pond. Pipe costs for the Church Street project are estimated at $15,000.

—Heard an announcement from Grant that the Schrimsher annexation and rezoning ordinance will be considered for first reading at the May 12 meeting. The 43-acre parcel is north of SR 434 and west of Range Line Road. An office park is planned at the site.

Grant said the annexation is being delayed until Julian has prepared and Council can adopt an ordinance which will stop the practice of zoning for speculation purposes.

The ordinance will automatically return property to its original zoning if development has not begun within 18 months. It will also provide time extensions for valid reasons such as a "recession."

—Approved a request from the zoning commission for Julian and consulting Engineer A. E. O'Neill to attend the Board's May 14 meeting with developer Al Stolte.

Stolte has submitted preliminary plans to the zoning commission for development of an industrial park on north SR 427. The parcel was annexed a few months ago and rezoned from agricultural in the county.

'Folk Trek' Starts For Local Minstrel

By JEAN PATTESON
Women's Editor

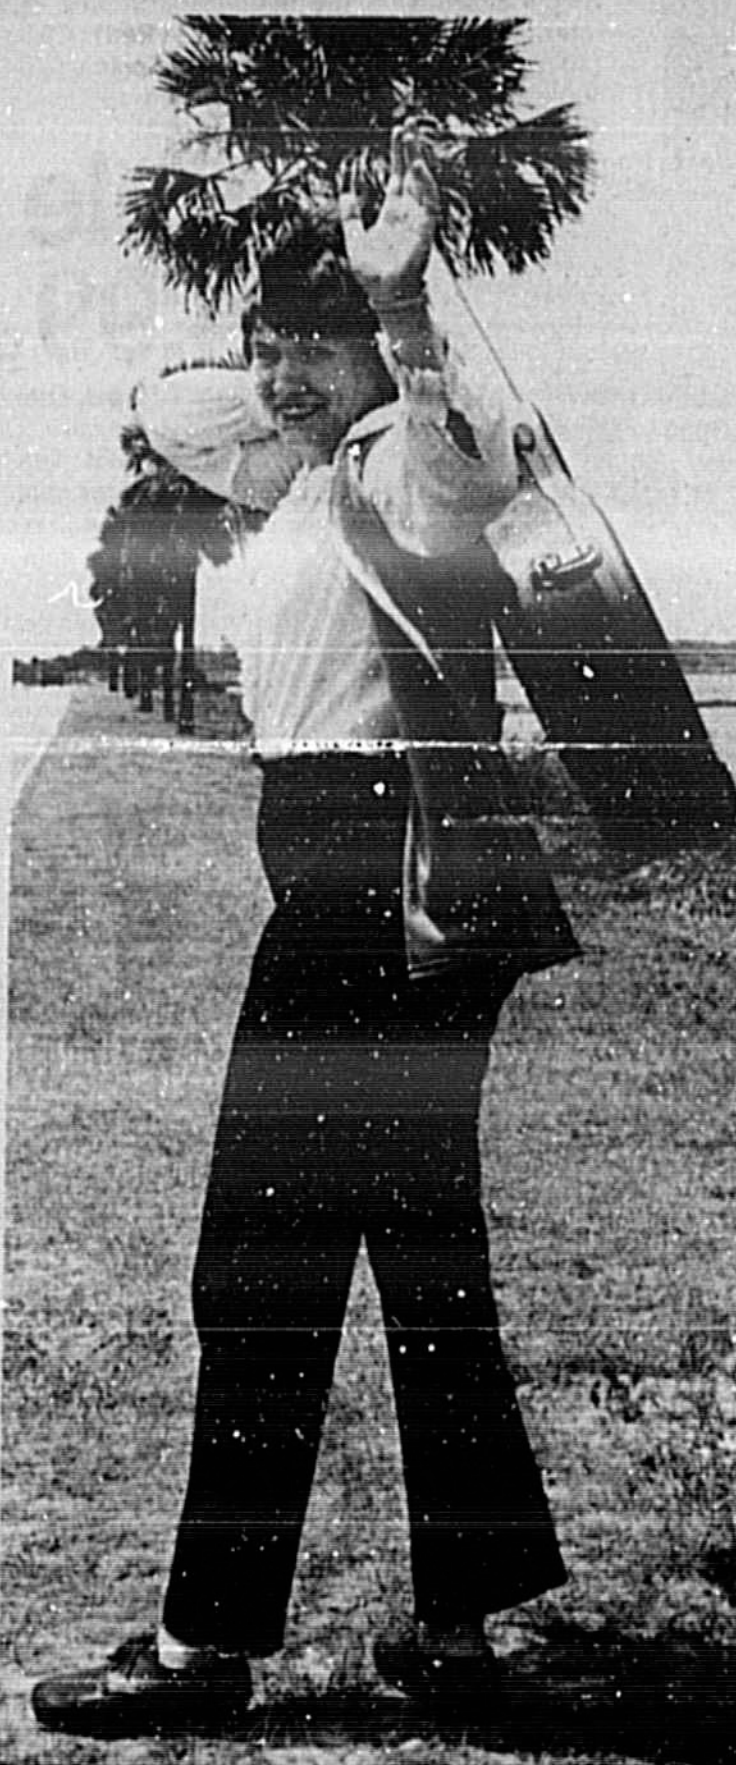

It's about 1,000 miles from here to Philadelphia, and by the time summer's over, Barbara Muller believes she'll feel as if she has walked the whole way.

Barbara, who is teaching music at Seminole Community College while completing her Masters degree, sets off today on a "marathon march" to nation's seat of Independence. Sponsored by the Seminole County Bicentennial Committee, she plans to travel from Sanford to Philadelphia, collecting all varieties of American folklore along the way.

Originally, Barbara intended footlogging every inch of the distance, but having second thoughts about those "miles of empty miles," she will now be traveling between towns in a van donated by George Brown of Southern Line Clearing.

Once in the towns along her route through Florida, Georgia, the Carolinas, Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, District of Columbia and Pennsylvania, Barbara will hit the highways and byways on foot. Seeking out old-timers and descendants of old-timers, she hopes to gather folk songs and stories, folk remedies, superstitions, recipes and sayings.

"This is not a publicity stunt, but a scholarly endeavor to collect American folklore," Barbara stressed.

Sidewalk Sale

Dozens of area clubs and organizations will be setting up shop on the sidewalks of downtown Sanford tomorrow, and all promise bargains galore, according to Mrs. Doris Steln, who is in charge of allocating space in the Downtown Business Association's Sidewalk Sale which gets underway this weekend.

Myra Schanel from Gamma Lambda Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi called in to say the group will be selling terrariums, dish gardens, hanging baskets and flower arrangements at their stall. According to Gamma Lambda's ways and means chairman, Janie Carpenter, "the price will be right!"

This promises to be the theme of the entire sale. Area women as well as the downtown merchants have been working hard preparing for the sale — let's all be there to support them.

Class Of '65

The 1965 graduating class of Seminole High School is making plans for its 10 year reunion to be held this summer.

Class members who have not been contacted should call Diane (Mrs. Stephen) Groover, Sanford, or Andrea (Mrs. Jim) Bewlin, Longwood.

Addresses are needed so that pertinent information regarding the reunion can be mailed.

Winning Draw

You're all invited to be present when Sanford Mayor Lee Moore draws four winners in the Central Florida Chorale's contest for a year's music lessons, a ceramic nativity scene, ceramic Christmas tree and a beautiful painting. The drawing will be staged in the old Land O' Fabrics building in downtown Sanford. Winners will be notified by telephone or mail.

Rituals Awards For Theta Epsilon Gals

Theta Epsilon Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, participated in the City-wide Ritual held at the Chamber of Commerce on April 11. Chapter president, Pam Knowles conducted the Ritual of Jewels ceremony. The following chapter pledges became sisters of Beta Sigma Phi: Sandee Atkinson, Fat Moya, Linda White, and Linda McKinnin. Each sister received a yellow rose and her Ritual of Jewels badge.

The pledge ritual was also conducted. The following new members became pledges: Arlene Dudley, Casey Sharrow and Marti Smith. Each pledge also received a yellow rose and her pledge pin.

The April 22 meeting of Theta Epsilon Chapter was held at the home of Sandee Atkinson. Sandee was in charge of the program for the evening. She introduced her guest speaker Phyllis Yoder, who demonstrated cosmetics and discussed glamour. Plans were made for a "Fifties party" to be held at the Florida Power Corp. Clubhouse on May 3. A dance and best costume contests are scheduled.

Along with nine other chapters, Theta Epsilon participated in a Founder's Day Luncheon held April 26 at the Capri Restaurant. After a delicious luncheon, awards were presented by each chapter. Theta Epsilon president Pam Knowles gave a summary of the chapter's busy year. Debbie Bowlin was given recognition since she represented the chapter at the Valentine Ball.

Girl of the Year is the highest award a chapter can bestow on a member. Linda Sapp was chosen, and she received the Girl of the Year pin and a bob-bon dish.

Army Brat Has Problems

DEAR ABBY: You are my last hope. My father is in the Army, and we always move just when I meet new kids and start doing well in school. I've never lived in one place longer than 18 months, except when we were in Europe.

My parents don't seem to realize that this moving around so much every year is what's tearing my life up. My grades are going downhill, and my chances of being anything in school are ruined.

Kids tell me I should try out for cheerleading, but I can't because I know we'll be moving. I can't even have a boyfriend because just when someone gets interested in me, I have to move.

Abby, I am not the complaining type, but here I am, nearly 16, and I don't have any roots, and I am sick of it. Please tell me if there's a solution to my problem. Outside of running away, that is.

ARMY BRAT
DEAR BRAT: Forget "running away." That's a stupid trip. I know how frustrating it must be for you, honey, but look at it this way: You are making friends all over the world and seeing places that few kids get to see.

Concentrate on the advantages of moving, not the disadvantages. You'll soon be old enough to live alone, but for now, you belong with your family.

DEAR ABBY: My 16-year-old daughter received a phone call from a nurse at the Department of Public Health, who asked her to come in for some "tests." When my daughter asked, "Why?" she was told that a boy (I'll call him "Bill") who is being tested for V.D. had had been in contact with her. Abby, my daughter is so

Sanford Rotary Roars Into '20s

By JEAN PATTESON
Women's Editor
Balhtub gin and jitterbug; baubles, bangles and long strands of beads.

Add 70-or-so high spirited Sanford Rotarians and their fringed and feathered ladies, the foot-tapping music of Nick Pfeiffauf's band and a straw hat or derby for everyone in the room, and you have the Roaring '20s recreated.

This was the scene at the Mayfair Club on Friday night when the Sanford Rotary Club, under the leadership of Lee Wheeler, Tony Russi, John Pierce, J.S. (Red) Cleveland and Bill Register, threw a lively Spring Social with 1920s theme. Even the buffet, with delicious cold meats, sub sandwiches and onion rolls, featured the bygone era's air of lavish elegance.

Tops among the dancers — Charleston included, of course — were Tony and Betty Russi (top right) as well as Wally and Jane Phillips; Gib and Jeanne Edmonds; Dr. Jurge and Luzzella Gomez; John and Barbara Hunt; Ralph and Ann Larsen, John and Juanita Mercer; Don and Alice Merrifield; George and Mabel Vogel and Gib and Shirley Blake.

Small Florida Town Reflects Attitude On Refugees Changing

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP)—A softening of the local citizenry's opposition to a temporary village of South Vietnamese refugees in their midst is evident even as confusion spreads about how many are coming.

The initial reaction to the sudden announcement that refugees was apprehension, City Manager Jamie L. Corbin said. He said he had been told by a neighbor, Neville said late Wednesday. "I think opinion is changing now that people know it won't be like the Cuban exiles at Miami."

About 500,000 Cuban exiles arrived in South Florida during the 1960s after a Communist government took over their island. The influx was greatest in the early 1960s and federal programs to relieve the local impact were controversial and slow in gearing up.

Air Force spokesman and officials of the local community have said the Vietnamese exiles will stay at Eglin Air Force Base at least 15 days. State Department spokesman said most will stay longer while being taught American ways. No one will be dumped on area welfare or jobless rolls when their processing is completed, officials said.

While Air Force Maj. Lester Smith said some 1,000 to 1,500 refugees will arrive by Saturday, Martin Smith of the State Department said in Washington that Eglin will merely take refugees that Camp Pendleton, Calif., and Ft. Chaffee, Ark., have no room for.

The State Department spokesman said Monday is the earliest any refugees will arrive in Florida.

However, Air Force and civilian crews working through the night to erect 170 canvas-and-wood living quarters plus laundry, shower and toilet buildings at Auxiliary Airfield 2 on this 734-square mile base.

A shuttle of cargo planes brought 37 personnel and all equipment, from Eglin Air Force Base in Louisiana. Field kitchens were en route from Robbins Air Force Base in Georgia.

"We were told to have our facilities ready by 5 p.m. Thursday and we expect to do so," Maj. Smith said.

Changing public sentiment was indicated by a listening-opinion program on radio station WFTW, Fort Walton Beach.

Tuesday, 90 per cent of the callers bitterly opposed the Vietnamese refugees as neighbors. Some expressed fear that the refugees would eat up welfare money and compete for jobs in a community where hundreds of construction workers recently saw their projects go bankrupt.

When Col. William R. Lafere arrived with his hospital staff, he was in familiar territory. His family home in Pensacola, 50 miles west, he said he will feel at home with the Vietnamese, having spent a year in their country in 1967-68 as the head of a hospital.

"We believe, from reports at Guam, that the refugees are in good physical condition," Lafere said. "They have some measles, chicken pox and pneumonia, but no serious communicable diseases."

In Washington, Cynthia Weyland of the State Department said schools will be set up at Eglin to start teaching English to children and adults.

She would not estimate how long the schools would operate and said the plan is to move the refugees out as soon as they can be assimilated into U.S. society.

"Almost all of the people we expect will be non-English speaking and there's no way they can be assimilated into the schools until they know some English," she added.

She said the schools would be set up by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Rebates Intended For Saving Bonds?

WASHINGTON (AP)—At the same time it is sending tax rebate checks to American taxpayers, the Ford administration will be trying to sell new Bicentennial Saving Bonds.

One source said the Bicentennial Bond will be virtually the same as a regular U.S. Savings Bond, except that it will carry a special Bicentennial design, such as George Washington's portrait. The bonds will be issued in denominations of $5, carry 6 per cent interest if held for five years.

One official said the Bicentennial bonds are being issued to commemorate the nation's 200th anniversary and that it was not known there would be tax rebates when the bonds were originally proposed.

He said it was unlikely the bond sales would absorb a significant portion of the money being put into the economy through the tax rebates.

He said the bonds will be buying and selling on the open market, or putting their money into savings accounts anyway," he said. "People who want to spend their rebates will go ahead and spend their rebates."

Heart Word Mix-Up

DEAR DR. LAMB — What is the difference between a heart attack and a cardiac arrest? DEAR READER — The terminology is hopelessly confused. The term heart attack is not a medical term. It has come to be used for problems resulting from a sudden blockage of an artery to the heart muscle and usually means a myocardial infarction (damage to the heart muscle). Heart attack is a term also used by the public for attacks of any sort that are sudden and involve the heart. That can include any number of different forms of heart irregularities, such as rapid heart action. It can mean a transitory pain correctly called angina pectoris.

Dr. Lamb

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB

doesn't contract. For this reason the episode is often referred to as a cardiac arrest. This irregularity can also occur without having heart muscle damage. It can result from inadequate circulation to the heart muscle from fatty cholesterol deposits, even when the heart muscle is not damaged.

Then, to make matters worse, the heart can just stop — totally and completely. This is true cardiac arrest. It can be caused by reflex means. It is sometimes the cause of a person fainting. Often the heart resumes beating again on its own.

When I first started testing jet pilots who were healthy young men, I was startled to see the number who had complete stoppage of the heart with breath holding, or while being tested on a tilt table like those seen on film strips of testing astronauts after space flight. The cardiac arrests sometimes lasted only a few seconds and sometimes did not even cause a faint. In other instances they were associated with fainting.

So, you can see from the above why I say the terminology is hopelessly confused. Cardiac arrest can mean at least two different things. Heart attacks can mean almost anything, including cardiac arrest which may not be an arrest at all but really ventricular fibrillation. Confused?

DEAR DR. LAMB — What is a malabsorption syndrome? Is it a form of anemia? DEAR READER — Mal means bad, as in the word malodorous, maladjustment or malfunction. So, it means bad absorption. It refers to poor ability of your digestive tract, specifically the small intestine, to absorb food.

When the poor absorption leads to an inability to absorb important vitamins, particularly vitamin B-12, it may cause an anemia.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Would you kindly advise me if you feel it is unwise, from a health standpoint, to put young children (ages 8 to 16) on a more or less vegetable diet with no meat except fish and chicken?

Seminole High School

'It hurt when the team faltered. It wasn't fun watching the kids lose.' — Gordon Meyer

'We feel that what we do... should have no politics or that sort of thing involved. It is difficult sometimes but we try.' — Fred Good

EDITOR'S NOTE: Herald Staff Writer Glenn McCasland spent two weeks talking to Seminole High School officials, coaches, boosters and athletes, probing the rise, the fall and the rebirth of SHS athletics. The third of his four-part series appears today.

No athletic program is worth its salt without backing. And throughout the years — lean and fat — Seminole High School has been lucky in this respect.

For 15 years, parents and businessmen that comprise the Seminole High School Boosters Club have supported the athletic program, buying equipment and handling bankets. And for the most part, the club's activities have been rewarding at the highest level.

That is, until the past three years. "It has been a strain, but we feel the worst is over," one booster declared. "It hasn't been easy."

The businessman was referring to the fall from 104 in 1970 to 19 in 1972 and the long haul back.

The program was redrafted," club president Fred Good said. "We decided to work on the stadium."

And so it was that the boosters began a campaign in June of 1974. They saw the new athletic complex used in the fall of the same year.

"This year, they look more determined than ever and that makes our job easier," Good said.

Good, Bill McLaughlin, Jim Rowe, Gordon Meyer, John Carli and the rest have redoubled their efforts to produce a well-run, well-meaning organization that supports the system and rejects petty problems and personal feelings.

"We feel what we do to help the athletes is a community-wide program and should have no politics or that sort of thing involved," Good said. "It is difficult sometimes, but we try."

The stadium project, a $250,000 building program, is 75 per cent completed cost-wise, and the club is hoping to develop other major projects to boost athletics at the school.

One of the club's past projects is becoming more and more a major part of the operation today with athletes using a weightlifting machine, along with individual weights.

"It hurt when the team faltered. It wasn't fun watching the kids lose. But the more they lost, the harder we worked to help support them," Gordon Meyer explained. "The idea was to provide a solid line of support that would help the overall operation — not just one sport."

Many of those involved with the boosters have no boys in a sport's program.

McLaughlin's children have been part of the band program, but the long-time businessman says that all he can do to help the athletic program helps the band as well, in addition to the school and community.

"So we work at helping the school," he said. "It is a rewarding feeling."

The boosters admit they did not enjoy the losing seasons between the 1940 mark of 1970 and the past year. It was a hard pill to swallow.

But with the advent of a new coaching staff, a strong-willed principal, who has the kids in mind, and a new desire from the athletes to right the wrongs of the past, most feel things are in the right perspective.

"The school changed from 1969 through 1972, and it hurt. The racial problem was with us and that hurt. The teams lost, and that hurt," Good said. "It was one blow after another."

"Then Don (Reynolds, high school principal) came back and we had a bright spot in a dark situation. It has gotten brighter each day since."

"We are happy that Jerry Posey is coming back to Seminole, but we will be the first to say Coach Claude Woodruff did a good job," Good said. "He kept the program from going under."

At one point, the boosters found the athletic department in such bad financial condition that it couldn't have helped the athletes, even if the coaches wanted to do it.

"It was awful," Good reflected. "We decided to pitch in and work toward bettering the situation, taking the attitude that we didn't mind if the teams didn't win at that time. The result has been a slow but steady change."

McLaughlin recalls the period at Seminole High when "my daughter would not use the school rest room because of the problems in the school. Now, it's not so bad — but only TOCOCA FALLS, Ga. — Americans are a record-oriented people. Whatever it is loses luster if it's not the oldest, the shortest, the first or the longest.

And now folks, another longest... Toconca Falls Bible College of Toconca Falls, Ga. played the longest soccer game ever. It began last Friday at 3 a.m. and ended 37 hours later.

KISSIMMEE — Lyman, Lake Brantley and Winter Park are expected to battle it out today in the District VI High School Golf Tournament at Kissimmee's Poinciana Golf and Racquet Club, home of Osceola High School.

The three favored teams join 17 other District high schools and two girl golfers in today's 18-hole tournament. The winning team and the individual medalist will compete in the state championship, which will be next weekend at Vero Beach.

Tribes Bopped From District; Colonial Attacks, Massacres

WINTER PARK — All good things must end sometime, and that was the case Wednesday for Seminole High School's baseball team.

The Fighting Seminoles fell 13-3 to Colonial High School in the District IV Baseball tournament at Harper-Shepard Field. The loss closed Seminole's 1975 season.

Handy Brown, who started the game for the Sanford squad, ran into trouble on the opening pitch when Willie Phillips parked the ball beyond the leftfield fence.

That was the start of the finish for Coach Jerry Mays' team. Colonial scored twice more in the first, added five in the third, two in the fourth and one in the fifth before officials stopped the game because of the 10-run rule.

Mark Simco came on with two men out, five runs across and in an 8-0 hole.

Simco finished the game, walking four, fanning two and allowing the final three runs.

"We couldn't get anything together except in the fifth and by that time, it was too late," Mays said. "It was just a bad day all the way around."

Experts Critical Of Prime TV Time Crime

By RICHARD STARNES
The Herald Services

WASHINGTON — (NSA) — On the TV screen the street is filled with emergency vehicles — police cars, ambulances, fire apparatus. Reporters, photographers, TV cameramen swarm. Flashing red lights set a vision of doomsday on the walls of a warehouse.

Inside the building, an agonizingly deliberate bomb disposal expert lurches over an armed and ticking machine. The suspense ends in a tremendous roar. Flame bursts through a wall. The warehouse collapses with a great rumbling crash.

Well, you win, you lose some.

Television drama has lost a bomb disposal expert but it may have won a fractional advantage in the bitter struggle for primacy in the ratings.

Last year, 1,965 real bombs and incendiary devices were planted throughout the United States. About 40 per cent exploded, killing 10 and maiming 150.

"Any bright kid who watched that TV show," said one security agency expert concerned with bombs and bombing, "came away with a pretty fair idea of the basic techniques used in building a sophisticated, timed-trigger explosive device."

Perhaps a typical bright kid would be unlikely to use the information. But the unstable youngster, the ghetto youth who can't discriminate between the real world and the plastic world of TV violence, might.

One authority on the torrent of murder, mayhem and tasteless brutality that saturates television has estimated the average American child will witness 1,500 video murders per year between ages 5 and 15. That's nearly four killings a day, or perhaps enough to persuade suggestible children that murder is a commonplace and acceptable adult method of resolving differences.

Although many behaviorists are convinced that children learn aggressive behavior from

TV, and to a lesser extent from movies, there has been remarkably little research calculated to prove it.

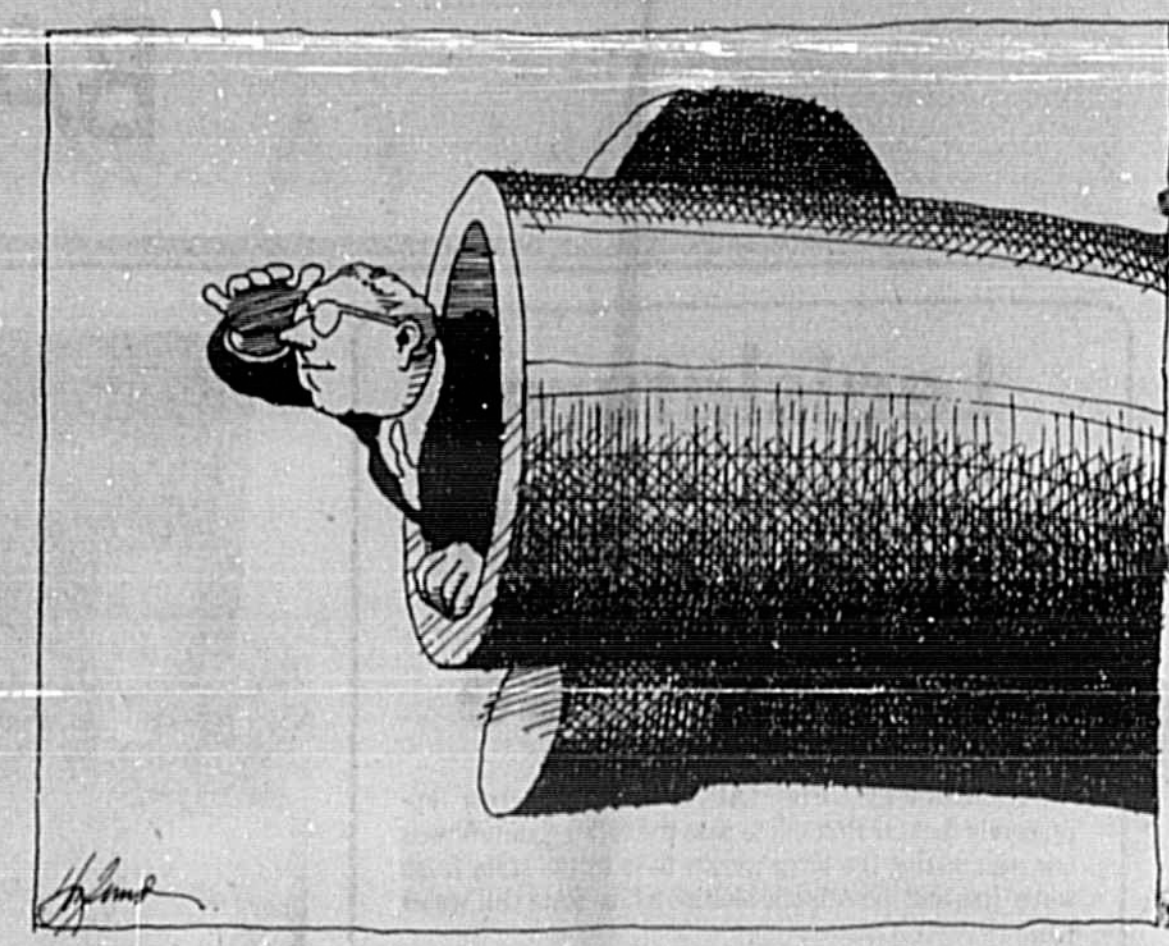

One study in upstate New York undertook to follow 873 children from third grade through high school in an effort to find the sources of aggressive behavior. The research project ran into problems (the local American Legion Post accused researchers of using "mental health" to promote conformity to the Marxist ideology), but eventually it found that "preference for a violent television diet in the third grade leads to aggressive behavior at that time and also in late adolescence."

Other research projects have tended to reinforce this finding, but no truly massive study to prove or disprove the proposition once and for all has ever been undertaken.

The days when Marshal Lillion routinely gunned down bewildered villains seem tame by comparison with some contemporary shows. Mass rape, bombing and a savagely explicit account of Lizzie Borden's exploits as an ax murderer are some of this season's TV triumphs.

But there are growing indications that this chronic affront to good taste may have run its course.

Poverty Is Setting Back The New South

The Herald Services

RALEIGH — (LENS) — Forty years after Franklin Roosevelt offended southern pride by calling the South the country's number one economic problem, it is in distress again. The present recession is undetermined some of the progress made in the years between.

During the 1960s, indeed, the South's economy grew more rapidly than that of any other region and for two decades it suffered no real recession. The South's integration into the national economy began with World War II, when many big military camps were installed in the southern states. Thereafter, year by year, industrialization, taking advantage of the labor released from an increasingly mechanized and diversified agriculture, provided new kinds of employment and higher levels of income.

Not only white families but also many black ones, lived well; the gap between southern incomes and those in the rest of the country narrowed. Between 1959 and 1968 there were major reductions in the numbers of families living in poverty, except among families dependent on the earnings of black women.

But beginning in December, 1973, unemployment in most of the 11 southern states, from Virginia to Texas, climbed steeply. No southern state equaled Michigan's fall into double-digit distress, with a rate of unemployment that rose from 5.4 to 11.1 per cent of its labor force, but North Carolina's rise from 3.2 to 8.1 per cent was sharper.

By January, 1975, there were 283,000 North Carolinians without work, compared with only 103,000 a year earlier.

The impact of layoffs has been most severe in goods-producing occupations. The collapsing construction boom has idled workers from lumber stocks of textiles and clothing — the traditional products of the mill-towns of the southern Piedmont — have discouraged the placing of new orders by businessmen.
