

Sanford Herald

Serving Sanford, Lake Mary and Seminole County since 1908

90th Year, No. 45 - Sanford, Florida

Undercover sting targets auto repair shops

By MARIA OREM
Herald Staff Writer

Dishonest auto repair shops beware.
In response to consumer complaints about establishments performing unnecessary auto repairs, the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services will be conducting undercover sting operations starting with the Orlando metropolitan area.

With 788 registered shops in Seminole County, Florida Bureau of Motor Vehicles Bureau Chief Tom Steckler said he anticipates cities in this area will be included in the operation.

Under the plan, undercover agents posing as customers with car problems will visit shops that have generated complaints and also shops that haven't.

"We're anticipating as the information gets out more consumers will call in," Steckler said.

State reports show for Seminole County there were 52 complaints received in fiscal year 1994-95 and 2,714 state-wide. 68 complaints for 1995-96, 2,616 statewide. 41 complaints for 1996-97, 2,213 statewide.

According to Steckler, whose office handles civil enforcement for repair shops and lemon law enforcement, there has been a decrease in complaints because of stings and undercover investigations. Since 1993 there has been a 25 percent decline in complaints.

"We used to get more than 3,000 complaints a year," he said.

The number one complaint by consumers in engine repair followed by transmissions, air conditioning, and brake repairs, Steckler said. Another

See Sting, Page 5A

Strike up the band

Herald Photo by Tammy Visoni

The Seminole County High School Band Festival, which is sponsored by the Sanford Optimist Club and the Sanford Herald, will be held Saturday evening at Lake Brantley High School. Band members from the county's seven high schools will participate in the event. Appearing at the festival will be the pictured drum majors group: Dulcie Livingston, Karen J. Lane, Jason Milhouse, Lake Mary High, Rachel Barrett, Kevin Stallsworth, Jordana Elliott, Seminole High, Jessica Hall, Aron Opanah, Lake Howell High, Christina Bonatakis, Kelly Signorelli, Brook Farach, Lake Brantley High, Jessica Hilton, Winter Springs High, Enka Witherspoon, Merritt Marin, Cassanova, Jack Westcott, One Distelano, Brook Goodwin, Oweido High, Denise Goggin, John Cryor, Jay Bratcher, Lyman High.

In Chuluota...

No nuders is good news

By RUSS WHITE and DAVID FRAZIER
Herald Staff Writers

CHULUOTA — Seminole County Commissioner Grand Maloy has requested his fellow commissioners strip Chuluota as a potential site for an adult entertainment zone.

Maloy has long been besieged by pleas from residents. To come to their rescue, No Nuders signs are posted on properties throughout the area by unrelated residents who are considering hiring an attorney.

These people are shocked and upset. "I turn on the telephone with them all week and have a ringing in my ear," said Maloy, whose district encompasses the Chuluota location.

A couple months ago when he accepted a $7.50-per-hour speaking engagement at the VFW Post in County Road 409 in Chuluota, Maloy wasn't sure what his topic was going to be. "But," he said today, "has been resolved."

The totally unexpected decision by the county commissioners at a recent work session to strip a site west of U.S. 441 and east of the Loxahatchee River at the Seminole-Orange county line created the strife by those who live in the quiet countryside of Chuluota.

The other site identified for adult entertainment attention is on the East Lake Mary Blvd extension to the entrance of Orlando Sanford Airport. The county is required by the courts to identify appropriate sites and acreage for the use by the adult entertainment industry.

Lance Chandler, the acting planning director for the county, said the sites were selected because they met the 1,000-foot setback from residentially zoned areas under the law. It had nothing to do with the appropriateness of the sites. This matter was up to the commissioners.

Maloy's memo on Wednesday asked the commissioners to remove designated "Site 19" in Chuluota from consideration. He said the item had not yet been advertised for public hearing. "By removing Site No. 19, now countless hours of staff time could be put to more

See Nudes, Page 5A

Centenarian dies

Retired teacher, librarian and school volunteer, Blanche Kisanne, died this week. She was 101. See Page 5A.

Crash! Raccoon, horses, Corvette

By MARIA OREM
Herald Staff Writer

A dead raccoon indirectly resulted in the injury of two horses in a three-car, freak accident Wednesday on State Road 46 near Geneva.

In an attempt to avoid a dead raccoon lying in the middle of SR 46, at about 7:50 a.m., a Corvette driven by Katherine Ann Hines of Deltona hit a truck towing a horse trailer, according to Florida Highway Patrol Trooper J.C. Cox. Hines, 37, veered to the right and overcorrected when she tried to get back on the road, crossing the center line in the process, Cox said.

The Ford pickup truck driven by William Edward Varborough of Geneva, and traveling in the opposite lane, was struck by the Corvette on the driver's side. However, Varborough, 36, was not hurt. Cox said the impact caused the horse trailer to fly off, causing the trailer, carrying three horses, to hit the ground.

Cox said it was from the ash assembly that the truck driver, David Hutz of Oweido, the heavy Cavalier was

See Crash, Page 5A

Annual craft show coming

Herald Photo by Tammy Visoni

The American Legion Auxiliary will hold its 10th annual craft and collectible show Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Post 53 on Sanford Avenue in Sanford. Pictured with some of the items to be featured at the show are, from left, Flo Harvey, Bertha Keller, Mary Ann Taylor, president, and Glenda Bates.

Huggins sentenced in home burglary

From Staff Reports

John Huggins, a former Sanford resident charged with the murder of Carla Larson, will be sentenced today in the courtroom at the Seminole County jail on charges relating to a separate crime, according to a sheriff's report.

Circuit Court Judge Seymour Benson will sentence Huggins, 35, to 15 months in the state prison system. On July 24, 1995 Huggins stole $2,100 worth of power tools and lawn equipment from a house near Oweido. As part of a plea bargain entered last year with the State Attorney's Office, Huggins pleaded guilty to one count of dealing in stolen property, but never showed up for sentencing, said Ed McDonough, spokesman for the sheriff's office. In July, Huggins was arrested in Delaware and sent to Seminole County for failure to appear.

McDonough said Huggins has been transferred to the Orange County Jail in

See Huggins, Page 5A

Woman homebuilder is the leader of the parade

By SHARI BRODIE
Herald Staff Writer

Tuesday was a great day for Carmen Dominguez.

Early in the day, she received a special card in the mail from her oldest daughter, who lives in California. Later that evening, she received a grand award from her peers.

Dominguez is president of Bridgewater Homes and the developer of Bridgewater Club in Heathrow. Her entry in the recent Home Builders Association of Mid-Florida Fall Parade of Homes, the "Plaza Mayor", won her the Grand Award in the custom category. The home is located in her development and is the first ever parade entry for this woman who began her career as a homebuilder 12 years ago.

"I've been very lucky," Dominguez said in an earlier interview. The wife of a doctor and the mother of two daughters, she got involved in the building of her husband's new medical office in DelRay and decided that construction was something she enjoyed. She earned her contractor's license and started building single family homes. Bridgewater Homes broke ground on Bridgewater Club in April 1996 in the southwest section of Heathrow, off Markham Woods Road.

The entry also won first place in the $480,000-$499,000 category. The "Plaza Mayor". Dominguez was inspired by a monument in Spain, where friends and family gather to celebrate. There is an Old World ambience that Dominguez wanted to translate into the design of the home, both inside and out.

"I tried to bring the outside in," she said. Five rooms and the attached home office are oriented toward the courtyard pool. The exterior has stone

See Winner, Page 3A

Herald Photo by Arch Booth

Carmen Dominguez sits in the living room of the "Plaza Mayor."

Partly Cloudy

Today: Partly cloudy. Highs near 80. Lows near 60.

For more weather see page 5A

INDEX

Classified.....	4B-5B	Obituaries.....	3A
Comics.....	6B	People.....	3B
Crossword.....	6B	Police.....	3A
Dear Abby.....	3B	Religion.....	5A
Dr. Gott.....	4B	Sports.....	1B-2B
Editorial.....	4A	TV.....	3B
Horoscope.....	6B	Weather.....	2A

"Beauty and grace command the world."

-Park Benjamin

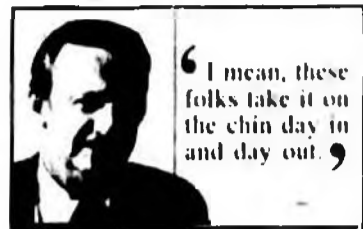

SUBSCRIBE TO THE SANFORD HERALD FOR THE BEST LOCAL NEWS COVERAGE. Call 322-2611

Editorial/Opinion

JOSEPH SPEAR

It's time to pay down the gluts

It seems to me only fair that when Congress occasionally does something right, we ought to raise a toast to them.

"I mean, these folks take it on the chin day in and day out."

I mean, these folks take it on the chin day in and day out and can't even finagle a little pay raise without stirring up the talk radio crazies. But let them do something truly innovative and constructive, and you don't hear a peep.

Who, for example, has praised them for reinventing the glut subsidy? No one, that's who. It got barely a mention.

What the Congress decided to do, to refresh your memory, is pay the nation's 1,025 teaching hospitals not to train doctors. We have a growing doctor glut, you see. And last year, those sneaky Democrats in the Clinton administration quietly offered New York state hospitals a deal: Uncle Sam would pay them about $100,000 a year for every resident they didn't train.

Hey, wait a minute, the Republicans protested. There are a lot of hospitals in the GOP heartland that could stop training doctors, too. Why shouldn't they be paid? And so the party that believes in limited government and free marketplaces extended the glut subsidy to hospitals across the continent.

Students of government will readily recognize this as a fairly traditional notion. For decades now, the taxpayers have been paying farmers not to grow peanuts and soybeans and so forth. But the idea had a limited application until the doctor glut came along. It is my fervent hope that the sages on the Hill will see that we can take it much further. Why can't we pay subsidies to relieve any glut?

Lawyers, for instance. Why can't we pay law schools to stop training lawyers? Or psychobabble. It's gotten so that the mere sight of a Mars Venus book gives me a rash, and I'd gladly pay to forestall publication. Or loud mouths. I, for one, am up to my knits with Rush Limbaugh and Dennis Rodman and Rosanne and Howard Stern and Pat Buchanan and the like. It would be worth a few million in subsidies to get these rowdy clowns to visit a remote island for a few years.

What we need, clearly, is a new entity to investigate and certify legitimate gluts — call it the National Glut Board — and a pool of money or a trust fund that could be used to persuade the perpetrators to stop doing what ever they're doing.

In some instances, the returns would no doubt exceed the costs. Perhaps you heard about the $333,000, two-hole outhouse that the National Park Service built in Pennsylvania for hikers in the Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area. It has a slate roof, cedar siding, porches and a super sturdy, cobblestone foundation that will survive the tremors in earthquake-prone Pennsylvania. A payment to the Park Service of, say, $250,000 would not only save money but would nip the fancy public privy glut right in the bud.

In every case, the national psyche would be uplifted, and that alone is worth money. Just think, for example, how pleasant it would be to watch the World Series if the NGB declared a Spit Glut and paid baseball players not to expectorate. I calculated that Cleveland manager Mike Hargrove personally worked up 7.7 gallons during the American League championships.

I would like to see a glut declared on stories about the president's genitals. The Paula Jones case is only in the discovery phase and I have already heard all I want to know about Mr. Clinton's "distinguishing characteristics, blemishes or abnormalities." I say we should pay them all to shut up.

Go back to that congressional pay raise. Every time the lawmakers want one, they have to disguise it as "ethics reform" or an "inflation adjustment" and think up ways to vote for it while looking like they're voting against it. How about if the NGB simply declared an official glut in congressional pay raises and paid the scalawags a subsidy not to take any? Give them, say, $3,000 every year not to take a $4,000 hike.

I think you can see there is some real potential here.

Helping those less fortunate

Members of the student body at All Souls School in Sanford rallied to help others, collecting $440.35 for the Outreach Mission, Sanford's only center helping the homeless with food and shelter. A separate facility has been established for women and their children.

Presenting the check to mission director Mother Blanche Bell Weaver are, from left: Student Council Secretary Natalie White, Student Council adviser and first grade teacher Mary Moran, council President Maureen Quinn, President-elect Chita Koczar, Principal Tom Doyle and Mother Weaver.

Rummage sale

First Presbyterian Church of Sanford recently hosted a Fall Rummage Sale to raise money for benevolent projects. Customers Truly Cranston and Marie Giles admire the vast selection of costume jewelry.

AND HERE'S THE LATEST ON THE PEACE PROCESS...

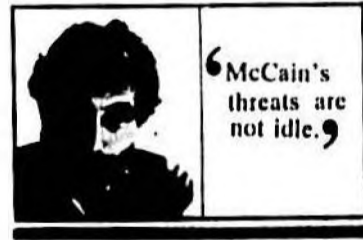

ANOTHER BOMB BLEW UP IN ISRAEL EARLY TODAY AND THE MOSSAD DISPATCHED A TEAM OF ASSASSINS TO JORDAN THIS AFTERNOON.

NAT HENTOFF

Senator John McCain: The Enforcer

Sen. John McCain, R-Ariz., has not forgiven NBC for being the only television network to refuse to adopt a "voluntary" rating system he advocates. Although at an early point in the debate McCain said he would not support punitive legislation that would affect the content of television programs, he has now told NBC that he will attack the network on a number of fronts if it does not surrender.

"McCain's threats are not idle."

As chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, McCain's threats are not idle. In a Sept. 29 letter to Robert Wright, president of NBC, McCain presented these warnings: If NBC does not yield to government pressure (as embodied by the senator), violent programs will be channeled to later hours, and the Federal Communications Commission will be urged to look closely at the license-renewal application of any television station that does not use the new rating system.

NBC, however, will not be moved from its position that "there is no place for government involvement in what people watch on television." NBC voluntarily uses age-based icons on top of entertainment programs as well as screen advisories (e.g., "This program has scenes of violence"). But it will not yield to government mandates.

And NBC West Coast president Don Ohlmeyer notes dryly, "If you read the threats McCain put in his letter, how can anyone say this (rating system) is voluntary?"

Moreover, this rating system — championed by McCain to protect children — is more confusing than illuminating: L (coarse language), D (suggestive dialogue), S (sexual content) and V (violence). What are the specific criteria for coarseness, suggestiveness, sexual content and violence? And what are the qualifications for McCain's censors?

During his jihad, the senator revealed a confused sense of the American tradition of dissent when he said of NBC's intransigence: "How can they call it censorship to add a system that everybody else in the industry has agreed to?"

The First Amendment exists to protect a minority of one against a majority.

But as reported in Broadcasting & Cable magazine, McCain is a formidable warrior for conformity. At a September Commerce Committee hearing on digital TV, he asked FCC chairman Reed Hundt, "Would a station's failure to implement a TV rating system ... raise a substantial and material question of fact about whether its operations complied with the public interest?"

And during a hearing on the confirmation of three FCC nominees, McCain asked each whether a station's license renewal should be tied to its adoption of the new ratings system. Not surprisingly, all were willing to consider the possibility.

Robert Corn-Revere, a lawyer who has worked at the FCC, emphasizes that "so long as the government brandishes its licensing power in aid of its programming desires, no self-regulation" is truly voluntary no matter how many times that euphemism is invoked.

Sen. McCain is not alone in brandishing the new rating system as a sword of Damocles over NBC. Sen. Joseph Lieberman, D-Conn., and Rep. Edward Markey, D-Mass., have also threatened legislation to bring NBC to its corporate knees. Markey promises to put pressure on individual affiliates of NBC — they are the ones that are licensed.

Presumably, if enough of them get sufficiently scared to put internal pressure on the NBC network, the new rating system will finally include all networks. And the children of the nation will be safe.

The Association of the Bar of the City of New York has issued a long, detailed study on government regulation of violence in the media, including licensed media. It quotes a 1952 Supreme Court case, Burzyn vs. Wilson: "Particularly ... where expression is sought to be subjected to licensing, the restrictions cannot be so vague as to set the censor adrift upon a boundless sea" — whether the censor is the FCC or the United States Congress.

Furthermore, as the Bar Association's Committee on Communications and Media Law (the authors of the New York report) put it: "Any rating scheme adopted may well constitute state action that burdens First Amendment interests." Sen. McCain is the very embodiment of threats of state action.

"It is anathema to the First Amendment," said Justice William O. Douglas, "to allow government any role of censorship over newspapers, magazines, books, art, music, TV, radio or any other aspect of the press."

Sen. McCain has often said he does not favor the "course of action" he has taken. But he claims NBC has given him no choice. That sounds like a variation on a familiar violent TV drama: "Save me before I assault the First Amendment!"

Senior officers

Roni Mott, left, director of the Sanford Senior Center, congratulates the new officers of the Sanford Seniors club, which meets the first and third Tuesday of each month. Mott installs, from left: President Rebecca Henderson, Vice President Eileen Stipes, Secretary Helen Lutz and Treasurer Lucia Weaver.

Coming soon: Lots of fun

The Hamilton Elementary School PTA is busy preparing for its Fall Festival which will feature games, prizes, music and food. The event will be held Oct. 31 from 5 - 8:30 p.m. at the school and students and teachers are getting ready by creating a dunk tank and haunted house. Here, Principal Nan Parker, PTA President Patricia Clayton and Food Services Manager Liz Knight go over plans.

BOO!

Haunting!

Halloween can be a real treat if you use a little common sense and follow these important safety rules.

HALLOWEEN SAFETY TIPS

1. Don't go it alone. Trick or treaters should always go in groups, and younger children should be accompanied by an adult.
2. Beware of tricky costumes. Avoid masks that obstruct vision; theatrical makeup may be a better alternative. Additionally, make sure the costume allows child to move and run without tripping.
3. Maintain a high profile. When trick or treating at night, carry a flashlight or attach reflective tape to child's costume.
4. Teach street smarts. Remind your children to look both ways and to cross only at corners. Children should stick to a predetermined route and should be given a specific time at which to return home.
5. Don't invite trouble. Only accept treats at the front door. Never enter a stranger's home or car for any reason.
6. Play it safe. Discard any unwrapped candy and have a parent inspect all treats before eating.

THE SPONSORS LISTED ON THIS PAGE WISH ALL OUR AREA CHILDREN A SAFE AND HAPPY HALLOWEEN.

CHRISTINE MADEIRA, B.A.
Animal Care Specialist

There's No Place Like Home
Licensed Pet Sitting Service

- Complete TLC Pet Care
- Convenient -- In Your Home!
- Many Options Available
- Available Weekdays, Weekends & Holidays
- (407) 695-9776

LIS. # RC0022890 FREE ESTIMATE

Yates Roofing

ALL TYPES OF ROOFING SINCE 1928
3rd GENERATION OF ROOFERS

"SPECIAL DISCOUNTS TO CHURCHES & SENIORS"

407-322-1449

Over 5,000 Adult Costumes For Rent!
Loads of Kid's Costumes!
(Make-up Artist - Oct. 30th - Appt. on 31st)

SECOND IMAGE

MASKS MAKE UP FX-EFFS FRANGES

323-9421

102 East First St., Sanford

TWO GOOD OLD BOY'S
Tree Service • Landscaping

Tree Trimming Mulching Stump Removal Lawn Maintenance

Home (407) 302-9053
Pager (407) 675-8974
Pager (407) 675-8968

Free Estimates

Fall Irrigation Special

SPRINKLER SYSTEM $950

REPAIRS - ALL MAKES & MODELS

aws
Advanced Water Systems
(407) 321-3717

DON Z. HANDYMAN
RENOVATION SPECIALIST

Jack-of-all-trades, Master of these:

- Painting, Electrical, Plumbing, Carpentry ••
- Drywall, Screen, Glass, Cable & Phone Jacks ••
- Installations •••

Free Estimates Reasonable Rates Quality Workmanship & Materials

DON ZOPP
(407) 788-8341

SANFORD ELECTRIC COMPANY, INC.
Electrical Contractors

REPAIRS • REMODELING • NEW CONSTRUCTION
Serving Central Florida Since 1925
2822 S. Park Drive, Sanford
(407) 322-1562

Creative Tanning Cuts Special

BUY 1 PACKAGE OF CHOICE GET 2ND FOR 1/2 PRICE

L.C. # 1840001225
Hours: Mon. 10-7 • Tues. & Thurs. 9-4
Wed. & Fri. 9-7 • Sat. 9-4

1748 W. Airport Blvd., Sanford • 322-9229

STOLL & CLEMENS INSTALLATIONS, INC.

CARPET • WOOD • VINYL

Michael Stoll
Phone: (407) 293-8694
Beeper: (407) 788-8631

NEED AN ELECTRICIAN?
CALL: DICK'S ELECTRIC
Serving Central Florida Over 35 Years

321-8733

24 HOUR EMERGENCY SERVICE
Licensed • Bonded • Insured • Lic. # ER000282P
Shop: 909 W. 3rd St. Sanford

Come by the Sanford Herald on Oct. 31st for
Safe Trick-or-Treat night
(kids 12 & under)
5:30 - 8:00 p.m.

COSTUMES UNLIMITED

70,000 COSTUMES for HALLOWEEN

422-4408

CORNER OF PARK & EDGEWATER ORLANDO

People

CALENDAR

Sunrise Kiwanis meets Friday

The Seminole Sunrise Kiwanis Club meets every Friday, at 7 a.m., at Shoney's, US 17-02, south of Airport Boulevard. Guest are welcome. For information, call Tony McDaniel at 324-0469.

Free clinic every Friday

Geneva—A free clinic to include blood pressure check, blood sugar screening and immunizations will be held every Friday, from 9 to 11 a.m., at the Geneva Elementary School in the old school building, corner of First and Main Street in Geneva. The clinic is sponsored by the Seminole County Health Department in conjunction with the Seminole County Sheriff's Office and Geneva Elementary School. For information, call 340-0284.

Substance abuse discussed

SAFE, Substance Abuse Family Education, is conducting a "Families in Crisis" outreach program. Interested organizations wanting to contact the Life Savers Club of SAFE may call Libby Kuharske at 291-4357.

COMA announces meetings

The Concerned Organization of Men in Action (COMA) meets the first and third Friday, at 8 p.m., in the church annex at St. James AME Church, Ninth Street and Cypress Avenue, Sanford.

Seniors meet for lunch

LAKE MARY—A senior's group meets for lunch the second Friday of each month at Lake Mary Church of the Nazarene, 171 E. Crystal Lake Ave. The noon meeting is held in the Fellowship Hall. For more information, contact Bill at 322-1006.

Daughters of Confederacy

Norman deVere Howard Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy meets on the last Friday of the month. For information, call 322-1425.

Meet the new First Lady of Optimism

Audrey Ogden grew up in Windsor, Ontario, a delightful Canadian town that happens to be south of Detroit, Mich.

As a youngster she enjoyed trips north to America - either to go shopping or catch a Detroit Tigers baseball game.

Ogden's been in Sanford the past 12 years. She has two daughters, one of whom is married and the other graduating from Seminole Community College and ready for the University of Florida. Ogden also has two granddaughters. Her husband, David Ogden, is retired.

Recently, Audrey Ogden became president of the Optimist Club of Sanford, and it's a role she genuinely enjoys.

This was evident at the club's meeting Wednesday afternoon at the Colonial Room Restaurant.

"Being president of the Optimists is something very new for me," Ogden said. "Until now, I've always been content to being a behind the scenes person."

Former Optimist president Peggy Hardin says she realized from the day Ogden joined the club four years ago she would be a "worker."

The two met at the schools where Hardin taught and Ogden's daughter, Kelly was a student. Audrey Ogden was extremely active in PTA activities.

"What I found out the more I got to know Audrey was that even beyond being conscientious and knowledgeable, Audrey was extremely creative," Hardin said.

"I prided myself on being fairly well organized, but I never could take things the extra step Audrey does because of the creative twist she applies to each project," Hardin said.

It was of concern, once, that the Optimists needed more women. Hardin was the first in the club and remembers being the lone woman until she did something, about it, by recruiting others.

"I think they're (the men) sort of getting used to us now," Hardin said. "We have equalized things."

RUSS WHITE

Staff Writer

she said. "Show them what it means to be an Optimist."

"I sure like Audrey's enthusiasm," Hardin said. "If she has a fault it's trying to do more than is humanly possible. There's no way anyone can do all the things she wants to do."

Ogden says she would like to see the membership of the Optimists of Sanford to double from its 30 current members. "This way we will reach and help more young people, which is our mission."

Those who are invited to be members will have a hard time saying no to Audrey Ogden, Sanford's new first lady of optimism.

Audrey Ogden

Moral Vigilance Protects Future From Crimes of Hatred in Past

DEAR ABBY: I was troubled by your response to the letter from Betty Newton. While I feel as you do about the heroic and noble deed of her father in saving the lives of a Jewish family during World War II, I am not in agreement with your comment that "we are living in a country where people will never encounter such horror," but only an informed, vigilant and morally active society can prevent such a horror from ever happening again. We should never say never.

DEAR DARRELL: You have written a strong and profound letter, to which I would add: In order to protect our freedoms, it is vital that we exercise them to the fullest. I refer specifically to our right to vote.

We live in a society where it's still possible to achieve success through hard work and dedication. If that is to continue, people must educate themselves about the issues that are important to them, make their wishes known at the ballot box and select candidates they trust to represent them. It's a big responsibility, but the future of our country depends upon everyone assuming it.

DEAR ABBY: When a person

ADVICE

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

receives a box of chocolates as a bread and butter gift, some people expect it to be opened and passed around. At a large party, it can be finished off, and the host or hostess might not even get to taste it.

I feel that a gift of chocolates should be opened when and where the recipient wants, and shared (or not) as the recipient wishes. What do you think, Abby?

CHOCOLATE LOVER IN LOM-POC, CALIF.

DEAR CHOCOLATE LOVER: I'm a chocolate lover, too. However, a gracious host does not put the box of chocolates aside, but shares the wealth.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to reply to "Raped Virgin." Yes, you are still a virgin. You have lived a clean and godly life. Please don't sell yourself short. Your parents love you and cherish you. Go immediately to your bishop. He is trained to handle many situations and will not look down on you. Most of all, please remember your Heavenly Father loves you and will heal your heartache if you allow it.

MOTHER OF ANOTHER RAPED VIRGIN

THURSDAY PRIME TIME

Channel	6:00	6:30	7:00	7:30	8:00	8:30	9:00	9:30	10:00	10:30	11:00	11:30
2	News 2	6:30 News 2	Let's Laugh	Real TV (In Series) II	World Series: Game 5 - Atlanta Braves vs Florida Marlins at Baltimore Orioles at	World Series: Game 5 - Atlanta Braves vs Florida Marlins at Baltimore Orioles at	World Series: Game 5 - Atlanta Braves vs Florida Marlins at Baltimore Orioles at	World Series: Game 5 - Atlanta Braves vs Florida Marlins at Baltimore Orioles at	World Series: Game 5 - Atlanta Braves vs Florida Marlins at Baltimore Orioles at	World Series: Game 5 - Atlanta Braves vs Florida Marlins at Baltimore Orioles at	World Series: Game 5 - Atlanta Braves vs Florida Marlins at Baltimore Orioles at	World Series: Game 5 - Atlanta Braves vs Florida Marlins at Baltimore Orioles at
3	News	CBS News	Hard Copy II	Frazier (In Series) II	Promised Land	Master's Revenge	Magnum, P.I. (In Series) II	Magnum, P.I. (In Series) II	Magnum, P.I. (In Series) II	Magnum, P.I. (In Series) II	Magnum, P.I. (In Series) II	Magnum, P.I. (In Series) II
4	News	AMC Wild News	Jeopardy!	Wheel of Fortune II	Walking Special: Spirit and Substance	Walker, Texas Ranger (In Series) II	Walker, Texas Ranger (In Series) II	Walker, Texas Ranger (In Series) II	Walker, Texas Ranger (In Series) II	Walker, Texas Ranger (In Series) II	Walker, Texas Ranger (In Series) II	Walker, Texas Ranger (In Series) II
10	Living Single	Cooby Show	Mad About You	Seinfeld (In Series) II	The Glass 000 (1974, Horror)	Gregory Peck, Lee Remick	News	Edna (In Series) II	World (In Series) II	World (In Series) II	World (In Series) II	World (In Series) II
23	NewsHour With Jim Lehrer II	Business Report	Family Feud	Melrose Place (In Series) II	Melrose Place (In Series) II	Melrose Place (In Series) II	Melrose Place (In Series) II	Melrose Place (In Series) II	Melrose Place (In Series) II	Melrose Place (In Series) II	Melrose Place (In Series) II	Melrose Place (In Series) II
15	News	Grace Under Fire	Home Improvements	Home Improvements	Home Improvements	Home Improvements	Home Improvements	Home Improvements	Home Improvements	Home Improvements	Home Improvements	Home Improvements
52	Old Time Gospel Hour	Sonny Hill	Woodward	Law & Order	Law & Order	Law & Order	Law & Order	Law & Order	Law & Order	Law & Order	Law & Order	Law & Order
55	News	Call In Freedom	James Robison	Friday News	Friday News	Friday News	Friday News	Friday News	Friday News	Friday News	Friday News	Friday News
50	News	Provenom	Provenom	Provenom	Provenom	Provenom	Provenom	Provenom	Provenom	Provenom	Provenom	Provenom
56	News	Judge Judy	Judge Judy	Judge Judy	Judge Judy	Judge Judy	Judge Judy	Judge Judy	Judge Judy	Judge Judy	Judge Judy	Judge Judy

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 31st IS

SAFE TRICK OR TREAT NIGHT

at the

Sanford Herald

300 N. French Ave., Sanford

Parents, bring your little characters (ages 12 and under) to our office from 5:30 - 8:00 p.m. Friday, October 31st for a safe Trick or Treat Time.

SAFE TRICK OR TREAT NIGHT

Sponsored By:

- Two Good Old Boys
- Sanford Electric Company, Inc.
- A Second Image
- Creative Cuts
- Costumes Unlimited
- Dick's Electric
- Christine Madeira, B.A.
- Advanced Water Systems
- Don Z. Handyman
- Stoll & Clemens
- Yates Roofing
- Sanford Herald

Call 322-2611 for more information.

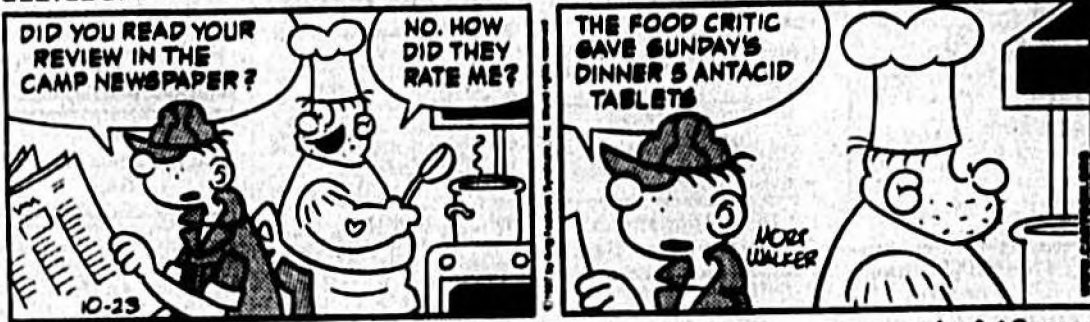

BLONDIE

by Chic Young

BEETLE BAILEY

by Mort Walker

THE BORN LOSER

by Art Sansom

PEANUTS

by Charles M. Schultz

ECK & MEK

by Howie Schneider

TUMBLEWEEDS

by T.K. Ryan

ARLO AND JANIS

by Jimmy Johnson

FRANK AND ERNEST

by Bob Thaves

GARFIELD

by Jim Davis

ROBOTMAN

by Jim Meddick

Be aware of white-coat hypertension

DEAR DR. GOTT: Being a worrier, my blood pressure is often higher in a doctor's office than at other times.

MEDICINE PETER GOTT, M.D.

I have religiously followed his instructions for two weeks and I feel terrible. Fatigue, dizziness and unsteadiness haunt me, and I seem to have no energy.

In instances like this, I prefer to obtain a series of blood pressure readings, over a week or two, before committing a patient to therapy.

The medicine you were given caused your blood pressure to plummet, leading to the symptoms you described.

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Hypertension."

DEAR DR. GOTT: Following a leg amputation two months ago for cancer, I have experienced phantom pain.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Following an amputation, the nerves to the stump may remain active for several months, causing a sensation of pain, even though the "painful" extremity is no longer present.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Following an amputation, the nerves to the stump may remain active for several months, causing a sensation of pain, even though the "painful" extremity is no longer present.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Following an amputation, the nerves to the stump may remain active for several months, causing a sensation of pain, even though the "painful" extremity is no longer present.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Following an amputation, the nerves to the stump may remain active for several months, causing a sensation of pain, even though the "painful" extremity is no longer present.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Following an amputation, the nerves to the stump may remain active for several months, causing a sensation of pain, even though the "painful" extremity is no longer present.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Following an amputation, the nerves to the stump may remain active for several months, causing a sensation of pain, even though the "painful" extremity is no longer present.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Following an amputation, the nerves to the stump may remain active for several months, causing a sensation of pain, even though the "painful" extremity is no longer present.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Following an amputation, the nerves to the stump may remain active for several months, causing a sensation of pain, even though the "painful" extremity is no longer present.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Following an amputation, the nerves to the stump may remain active for several months, causing a sensation of pain, even though the "painful" extremity is no longer present.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Following an amputation, the nerves to the stump may remain active for several months, causing a sensation of pain, even though the "painful" extremity is no longer present.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Following an amputation, the nerves to the stump may remain active for several months, causing a sensation of pain, even though the "painful" extremity is no longer present.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Following an amputation, the nerves to the stump may remain active for several months, causing a sensation of pain, even though the "painful" extremity is no longer present.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Following an amputation, the nerves to the stump may remain active for several months, causing a sensation of pain, even though the "painful" extremity is no longer present.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Following an amputation, the nerves to the stump may remain active for several months, causing a sensation of pain, even though the "painful" extremity is no longer present.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Following an amputation, the nerves to the stump may remain active for several months, causing a sensation of pain, even though the "painful" extremity is no longer present.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Following an amputation, the nerves to the stump may remain active for several months, causing a sensation of pain, even though the "painful" extremity is no longer present.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Following an amputation, the nerves to the stump may remain active for several months, causing a sensation of pain, even though the "painful" extremity is no longer present.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Following an amputation, the nerves to the stump may remain active for several months, causing a sensation of pain, even though the "painful" extremity is no longer present.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Following an amputation, the nerves to the stump may remain active for several months, causing a sensation of pain, even though the "painful" extremity is no longer present.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Following an amputation, the nerves to the stump may remain active for several months, causing a sensation of pain, even though the "painful" extremity is no longer present.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Following an amputation, the nerves to the stump may remain active for several months, causing a sensation of pain, even though the "painful" extremity is no longer present.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Following an amputation, the nerves to the stump may remain active for several months, causing a sensation of pain, even though the "painful" extremity is no longer present.

though the "painful" extremity is no longer present. Called "phantom pain," this symptom can be very distressing for its victims.

Crossword puzzle grid with clues and answers.

Bridge game hand with cards and scores.

The rabbis can bid and play

By Phillip Alder. The deal from the fifth daily bulletin in Albuquerque was made more interesting for me in that one of the players was "my" rabbi, Leonard Helman.

Horoscope section with birth date and zodiac signs.

Horoscope

peers today. Pals will gravitate towards you. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your analytical faculties could be exceptionally keen today.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your greatest asset today may be your ability to bring out the better qualities in people.

ANIE

© 1997 by NEA, Inc.