Wait Or Walk?

Pat Sentell of Sanford is puzzled whether to walk or wait at the intersection of First Street and Park Avenue. Both instructions light up at the same time. The signals have been malfunctioning at least six weeks according to reports to the Herald. But according to Assistant City Manager Steve Harriet, the Sanford maintenance department is trying to find the cause. He said as many as three of the four wait and walk signals at the downtown intersection of First Street and Park Avenue aren't working properly. "There's apparently a short in the lights and it may require a cut in the street to repair them," Harriet said. "If it's not feasible to repair the lights they will be replaced. Our maintenance department is working on the problem."

School At Home? Judge May Decide

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

The legal question of whether five Sanford children being taught at home fulfill the state's compulsory school attendance law may be decided in April by trial.

Wednesday, Circuit Judge Kenneth M. Leffler set an April 13 date for an adjudicatory hearing — the juvenile court equivalent of a trial — to decide whether the children of Sanford couple Robin and Connie Starnes, who are being taught at home, are fulfilling a state law that requires them to go to school.

State law states that a child may fulfill mandatory school attendance by going to public schools, a private or parochial school, or by being taught by state-certified teachers at home.

The Starnes children are being taught by non-state-certified teachers at home under the auspices of the Seminole County Independent Private School System, Inc., according to the school board attorney Ned Julian Jr., who is joined in the case by Kurt Erlenbach of the state attorney's office.

The school board maintains that children being taught through the private school network — with 13 different teaching sites in the county — are not fulfilling the state law.

The Starnes disagree. They believe a state law allowing private school networks to exist also allows their children to fulfill the state attendance law by going to school under the direction of the private network, according to their attorney Joseph P. Dalianegra Jr. of Trenton, Fla.

The private school network, unlike most private schools which usually employ professionally trained teachers at one location, does not control where its teachers teach and requires only that a person be able to read, write, follow directions, and pay $10 to teach, according to the superintendent of the private school network, Donna R. Brinkle, a Seminole County resident living near Geneva.

State-certified teachers must provide evidence of at least a four-year degree in a specific subject plus courses on how to teach, according to state law.

Mrs. Brinkle said most of the teachers in her private education network are parents teaching their children.

Julian said two cases heard before appeal courts in Florida have ruled that home tutoring by non-state-certified teachers does not fulfill mandatory school attendance laws. Further, he said the Supreme court ruled Jan. 23 that compulsory attendance laws do not violate freedom of religion, the basis upon which the Starnes children are being taught at home.

While the case is being held in juvenile court through a custody hearing route, the state does not want custody of the children, Erlenbach said.

The school board chose the custody route to bring the children to non-criminal court rather than the parents, Erlenbach said.

Hart Coup Unlikely In Florida, Dem Chairman Says

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Colorado Sen. Gary Hart pulled off a surprise victory in the New Hampshire Democratic presidential primary, but he's not likely to pull off a similar coup in this state if he needs Central Florida to do it.

At least that's how Seminole County's Democratic Party chairman Marvin Meltzer sees it.

"Hart has no organization in Seminole County, Orange or all of Central Florida," Meltzer said.

The only three contenders in this area are Reubin Askew, Jesse Jackson and John Glenn, Meltzer said. "No one else has anything here and I don't think Hart can win in Seminole County."

"Seminole County is a middle of the road, conservative area. Hart is perceived as a liberal here and will do very poorly in all of Central Florida," he said.

Sen. Alan Cranston of California has withdrawn from Democratic presidential contention and North Carolina

Related campaign stories, page 2A

Sen. Ernest Hollings is expected to withdraw today.

"If Askew withdraws I think his support will be split between (former Vice President Walter) Mondale and Glenn," Meltzer said.

A Glenn supporter, Meltzer said in his talks with people he has been told they could support Glenn or Mondale, but not as long as Askew was in the race.

While Hart is perceived as too liberal, Meltzer said, "Mondale is sort of coming over to the middle. I think Mondale would be easier for Seminole countians to live with than Hart. Mondale has a lot of quiet support here not only among Democrats, but also among independents and non-partisans."

Hart's victory in New Hampshire was not a sapping of Mondale's strength, but rather the influence of George McGovern's counsel to the voters there not to throw their conscience away in the voting process, Meltzer said. He added that Hart gained votes from the weakness of other candidates including Askew, rather than by taking them from Mondale.

Meanwhile, regardless of Cranston's withdrawal from the presidential arena, Hollings expected withdrawal and the possibility of Askew's withdrawal all three and their proposed delegates will remain on Seminole County's Democratic primary ballot for the March 13 election. Their votes will be counted unless the state instructs Election Supervisor Sandy Goard to program around their votes, she said.

In addition, Mrs. Goard's office has mailed out some 430 absentee ballots for that primary election.

She said the biggest surprise about the absentee ballots is that 216 Republicans requested the ballots even though President Ronald Reagan is listed without opposition in the GOP Primary. Some 214 Democratic ballots have been requested.

It's Cold, But Citrus Crops OK

Seminole County farmers and growers were spared from crop disaster Wednesday night by warmer than predicted temperatures as a killer storm associated with the winter air took 52 lives from the Great Lakes area to New England.

Citrus growers and farmers, still smarting from the Christmas Freeze that severely damaged this year's agricultural crop, worked hard to keep patchy plant-killing bud-dropping frost that reached as far south as the Everglades from their crops.

Temperatures dipped to the low 30s over much of the central Florida citrus belt and the low for the state was 23 in Tallahassee, the National Weather Service reported. Meteorologists said a warming trend was on the way.

High temperatures today were predicted to reach the 60s with lows tonight in the 30s and 40s. Friday's high temperature is expected to be near 70 degrees.

John Jackson, citrus expert for Orange and Lake counties said because the temperatures did not get as cold as expected the citrus and vegetable crop was saved from a death blow that would have eliminated any agricultural recovery from the Christmas Freeze.

"We're in pretty good shape. Hopefully that will be the last bad weather of the season," he said.

The National Weather Service forecast said the northern half of Florida's Citrus Belt was hit with sub-freezing temperatures — but not cold enough to damage fruit or vegetables.

"Things are looking much better," said Earl Wells, a spokesman for Florida Citrus Mutual. "The weather doesn't appear to be any problem. God knows, we've had enough."

Wells said there was some concern for new growth on trees damaged by weather during December.

He said the late-season crop of oranges appeared to be safe.

Elsewhere Wednesday, Floridians and tourists shivered under sunny skies because of bone-chilling winds that gusted up to 30 mph in some places.

Downtown workers in Sanford and the Orlando area bundled up in overcoats and stocking caps as the wind-chill factor dipped near freezing.

Workers across central Florida cleaned up the mess left in the wake of stronger winds on Tuesday that blew down two dozen traffic lights in Brevard County and toppled a greenhouse near St. Cloud.

Tourists, who headed to Florida hearing of last weekend's balmy 80-degree temperatures, were rudely greeted by 50-degree temperatures and colder winds in most areas.

Many of the people killed during the northern snow storm died from heart attacks while shoveling snow, though two children were asphyxiated in a car stuck in a drift.

Roads

Home Buyer Beware: The County May Never Maintain Your Unpaved Street

By Britt Smith
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County wants you to know if you buy a house on an unpaved road the county may never maintain the road. And they want your builder to tell you that before you buy.

By a unanimous vote Tuesday, Seminole County commissioners adopted a get-tough policy with builders regarding road repairs. Basically, the policy is in the form of a disclaimer which will be attached to building permits making builders responsible for the repair of roads — paved or not — which are damaged through their activities.

Failure to make timely repairs would result in the withholding of future inspections, necessary for building to proceed, or legal action.

A second provision of the disclaimer, aimed at the unpaved road controversy, would require builders to tell prospective home buyers that the county might never take over maintenance of a road, leaving it in disrepair or making it the responsibility of those living along it.

The plan comes in response to complaints like those from residents of Rolling Hills, a residential area off State Road 434 near Longwood, who have been griping for years about dirt roads in their community and asking the county to pave them.

The county wants Rolling Hills homeowners to foot the bill, estimated at about $9 million, but they have balked at the cost.

"Rolling Hills isn't the only area with problems like this," commissioner Bob Sturm said. "We have them all over the county."

The new policy may not do much to solve existing problems, but it should at least lessen future ones. Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn said. "This will hopefully discourage builders from putting in homes and telling the buyers that the county will take care of the roads for them. It just ain't necessarily so."

The disclaimers should begin appearing on building permits within the next 30 days, Sturm said.

On a related matter, the commissioners postponed action on a possible change in county road construction requirements to provide for lower-cost roads which would encourage lower-density residential construction.

The current cost of building roads is so high that many developers, responsible for putting streets in their projects, opt for high-density projects, more building units per acre, which better allows them to recoup their costs and make a profit, according to Seminole County Administrator T. Duncan Rose.

In a memo to commissioner Robert G. "Bud" Feather, who had expressed concern about the effect of the county's strict road building requirements, Rose concurred that those standards plus "the economics of development discourage developments with lot sizes greater than one acre. I also agree that there are many places in this county where such development is desirable. For example, in marginal wet areas where very low-density development reduces the impact on wetland functions compared to higher densities."

Rose recommends against changing the requirements regarding the road base

(amount of stabilized soil, limestone and asphalt). "Experience indicates that a lowering of these standards significantly increases maintenance costs to the county," he said.

But he suggests that perhaps corners could be cut in the width of these roadways. Most residential roads in the county are 24 feet wide, though Rose points out that the commission "infrequently" allows pavement widths to be reduced to 20 feet.

Rose goes even further in his memo, saying that "where traffic is expected to be minimal" (determined by the length of the road in question and the number of housing units along it) "only a small portion, perhaps 10 to 12 feet, of the road surface need be permanently hard surfaced. The remainder should be 'stabilized' and sodded to handle the occasional pass/pull-around maneuver."

"This allows heavy fire equipment to have plenty of surface to roll across, but reduces the cost of construction and maintenance by substituting sod for asphalt."

Rose says that a "fine tuning" of the county's road ordinance may be in order "to allow lower-cost roads in those areas" where such a variance would not increase the county's road maintenance bill.

"Such lower costs might encourage lower-density development than our current approach," he said.

It may well be, however, "that when all is said and done, our present system is the best for this county," Rose's memo said.

Rose has suggested that the commission create a Residential Road Task Force comprised of county officials and representatives of the building community "to review the situation and make recommendations."

SCC Fund Raisers Jubilant

$30,000 Given College

The Seminole Community College Foundation's Council For Development received more than $30,000 in a three-week campaign for contributions to gain a state matching grant for the school. Their goal was $25,000.

DeDe Schaffner, co-chairman of the drive, said today the $30,000 means the college will receive a state grant of $20,000 for new technical equipment and to update other equipment.

The state offered to match local funds raised on the basis of $4 for each $6 contributed.

"This is wonderful," said Mrs. Schaffner, an alumna of the college. "The people made us nervous by waiting to make their contributions until the last minute," she said.

The drive officially ended Wednesday at the close of the banking day and contributions had to be received by then to be considered as part of the match for the grant.

Mrs. Schaffner spent much of the day personally picking up checks and depositing them in the bank. "We were swamped with contributions on the last day," she said.

Money was still coming in today and Mrs. Schaffner said funds received after the deadline will go into scholarships and other school needs.

The largest contribution during the drive came from Central Florida Regional Hospital with $8,000.

The most touching contribution, Mrs. Schaffner said, came from a school teacher who said SCC was there for her in 1968 when she wanted to begin her higher education. The teacher said if more money was needed, she would dig deeper into her pocket.

NATION IN BRIEF

Reagan Vows To Elderly He Won't Tamper With SS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan is tackling the election campaign's so-called "fairness issue" with pledges to elderly voters he will not tamper with Social Security and Medicare benefits.

The president delivered his campaign-style remarks Wednesday to the National Alliance of Senior Citizens, a conservative group formed six years ago to counter endorsements of liberal candidates by larger and more prominent organizations representing the elderly, such as the National Council of Senior Citizens.

Today, he addresses the American Legion Women's Auxiliary and was expected to touch on many of the same issues.

Reagan told the gathering of elderly Americans that Democrats have unfairly accused him of cutting Social Security and Medicare benefits over the last three years.

Gulf Wooing 'Partners'

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Senate has killed a measure to ban giant oil company mergers, clearing the way for Gulf Oil Corp. to seek a white knight suitor to fend off a hostile takeover by tiny Mesa Petroleum Co.

Gulf, the sixth largest U.S. oil company, confirmed Wednesday it was holding preliminary negotiations with "several" potential merger partners.

Gulf refused to identify its prospects, but industry sources said Standard Oil Co. of California was studying a possible $80-a-share takeover offer that would challenge Atlantic Richfield Co.'s expected bid for the Pittsburgh-based oil company. Social is ranked fifth in the U.S. oil industry and Arco is seventh based on 1983 revenues.

If Arco and Social joined a takeover battle for complete control of Gulf, the sources said the pricetag could run as high as $13 billion to $15 billion — by far the largest merger in U.S. history. Texaco Inc. recently bought Getty Oil Co. for a record $10.1 billion.

7 States Lose Power

By United Press International

A massive blackout struck California and six other Western states during evening rush hour, triggering outages of a few seconds to a few hours in millions of homes, minor traffic jams and many candlelight dinners.

Pacific Gas & Electric Co., which serves 9 million to 10 million customers in northern California, said a 500,000-volt transmission line about 100 miles south of the Oregon line near Redding "went down" shortly before 5:45 p.m. PST Wednesday. At about the same time, a nuclear power plant near Sacramento, Calif., shut down and an inter-tie with Arizona failed.

Within minutes, power failures were reported in large areas of California and in parts of Nevada, Utah, Montana, Texas, Arizona and New Mexico.

PG&E said about 2 million of its customers were directly affected.

The South Is The Key

Mondale Takes Aim At Hart; Field Dwindles

United Press International
With the Democratic field pared down by at least two — maybe three by the weekend — and John Glenn trying to overcome two bad showings, Walter Mondale is making Gary Hart his prime target.

The former vice president, no longer a sure shot favorite to win the Democratic presidential nomination, has decided to rip into Hart with the abandon first reserved for President Reagan.

Sen. Alan Cranston, the first candidate in the race, became the first to drop out Wednesday. Sen. Ernest Hollings of South Carolina will formally announce his decision to give up the race for the nomination today, campaign sources said late Wednesday.

And former Florida Gov. Reubin Askew, who drew about 1 percent of the vote Tuesday night and finished last in the field, is also rethinking his plans. Aides say Askew plans to make a major announcement about his plans this week, possibly as early as today.

Mondale, his strategy of ignoring the large field of challengers destroyed by the New Hampshire primary, has been forced to shift gears.

As Jesse Jackson said, when the returns showed Hart a runaway winner in the New Hampshire primary, Mondale "will have to come down in the streets with the rest of us and get dirt under his fingernails and get to work." Mondale says he is ready to do just that.

In a swift post-New Hampshire parade through Georgia and Alabama Wednesday, Mondale accused Hart of writing off the South and "ignoring a major part of our country."

The timing could not have been better. In less than two weeks, the Southern states have their brief moment in the limelight when Alabama, Georgia and Florida hold primaries on "Super Tuesday" March 13 and South Carolina and Mississippi hold caucuses days later.

The Southern states do not have a monopoly on "Super Tuesday." In all, nine states will hold primaries or caucuses with more than 500 delegates to be chosen for the national convention in San Francisco next July.

But the focus has centered on the contests in Alabama, Georgia and Florida — and to a somewhat lesser extent the Massachusetts primary — and what has become a four-man race among Mondale, Jackson, Hart and Sen. John Glenn.

Glenn, once considered the candidate most suited to the South because of his more conservative views, cut short a rest stop at home to campaign today in Alabama. The highlights are a speech to the Alabama legislature and a private meeting with Gov. George Wallace.

Hart, who virtually ignored the South in his successful efforts in Iowa and New Hampshire, scheduled fly-in visits to Montgomery, Ala., and Atlanta and Jackson was set to return for the duration.

Mondale, once, and perhaps still, considered a favorite in all three Southern states, was prodded by Georgia Democratic State Party Chairman Bert Lance to be "super aggressive" in the South.

The wounded former Vice President responded quickly with a slashing attack on Hart during a news conference at Atlanta's airport.

"This morning Senator Hart said he might actively contest only one Southern state," Mondale said. "That's not enough. In my opinion, a potential presidential nominee of the Democratic party cannot write off a major part of our country."

"I believe that winning across the South is the key to winning the Democratic nomination and winning in the South in the general election is key to winning the presidency."

Lance said Hart, "has got to pay attention to the South. He can't win without the South, absolutely. If he doesn't (win some Southern delegates) he can't win the nomination."

Hart told a news conference in Manchester, N.H., however, "We will be on all (delegate states) of the so-called Super Tuesday southern states."

Hart's deputy campaign manager, David Landau, said, "Right now, we're assessing the situation but we will be down there."

Can Hart Do Well In The South?

By Joey Ledford

UPI Southern Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Upset-minded voters in New Hampshire have dramatically altered the political picture for Super Tuesday, knocking Walter Mondale from his throne of invincibility and creating a new star in Gary Hart.

The Colorado senator swamped the front-runner, and in the process, kept John Glenn in the March 13 primaries in Alabama, Florida, and Georgia.

A key question for Hart was whether he could take his big win South and run well despite having only one paid staffer — and almost no organization — in the entire three-state area.

"The resources are coming in nationally in record amounts and we'll get our share," said the one paid staffer, Steve Hayworth, Hart's Georgia campaign coordinator. "We'll be running a credible campaign in Georgia."

Hart's volunteer coordinator in Alabama, Joan Bowen, expressed similar optimism and said her candidate would be making his first Alabama appearance in Montgomery today.

"It's now a two-man race," she said. "Gary Hart is going to stand up real well with Walter Mondale in the South."

Some old political pros aren't too sure of that.

ANALYSIS

"I do not believe Senator Hart will do well in Alabama," said Jimmy Knight of Cullman, the state's Democratic party chairman. "He has no campaign organization to speak of."

Georgia Democratic chairman Bert Lance said Hart won't be able to target one Southern state while focusing his resources in New England or the western Super Tuesday states.

"He's at a position where he's among the front-runners and he's got to pay attention to the South," said Lance in an interview. "He can't win without the South."

"If he's going to be a national candidate, I think he has to participate in all of them (states)," he said.

Hart lacks a complete delegate slate in Florida, but pollster Claiborne Darden says he expects Hart to run well in all three Southern states.

"He's got a legitimate chance," said the Atlanta-based Darden. "To say that Southerners don't pay attention to New Hampshire is totally inaccurate."

Darden, like most observers, was shocked at what happened in New Hampshire, although he said his numbers showed Hart's late surge of support came from Mondale, not from the other candidates.

"It gave a lot of us a cold shower," he said. "If all of us that needed to get one went to New Hampshire, they wouldn't have had enough cold water."

Sanford Man Suing For False Arrest

A man arrested on a night Sanford police in riot gear swept down a street in force nearly four years ago to close two bars and disperse people loitering on the street, has sued the city of Sanford for false arrest and malicious prosecution.

Bruce Allen Scott, who was 23 at the time and living at 2718 W. 13th St., has filed the suit in federal court, Orlando, stating the police had no reason to arrest him the night of July 17, 1980, and that he was at the location that night as a paralegal talking to a client. He has asked for a jury trial and unspecified damages stating his civil rights were violated.

According to news reports the day after his arrest, 10 people were arrested when Sanford Police in riot gear, with the sheriff's department special weapons and tactical team standing ready at the police station, swept down west 13th Street in Sanford clearing the roadway and closing the Goldboro Bar and the Zodiac Bar. The sweep, which brought a dozen off-duty police back to the job and had detectives in uniform, was initiated after six residents of the street complained to the city council that people were gathering at two bars, across the street from each other, and drinking, smoking marijuana, throwing things at cars driving by and causing disturbances.

Of the nine adults arrested that night — plus one juvenile — for disorderly conduct — including Scott — none were convicted, according to Seminole County Court-house records.

Iran Bombards Iraqi Positions

LONDON (UPI) — Iran said its air force bombarded Iraqi positions on the southern war front but there were no reports of major new battles in the 42-month-old Gulf War.

An Iranian war communiqué said its warplanes Wednesday bombarded "positions of Iraqi infantry and armored forces along Al-Qurna and Al-Amara," — a town about 35 miles inside Iraq on the River Tigris.

The rest of the communiqué, carried by the Islamic Republic News Agency and monitored in London, referred to exchanges of fire on the northern front Tuesday when Iraqi planes attacked the city of Bakhtaran, 30 miles inside Iran.

IRNA said 31 civilians were killed and more than 500 injured, 350 requiring hospitalization.

The possible effect on world oil supplies of the 2-week-old flareup in the 42-month war remained unclear.

British oil executives in London said they were investigating a report that Iran was stockpiling crude oil in tankers anchored outside the Persian Gulf.

A Lloyds of London Insurance company spokesman said he could not confirm the report by the New York newsletter MidEast Report. He said oil shipments from the area were normal.

Iran has threatened to close the 40-mile wide Strait of Hormuz to all shipping if Iraq attacks its oil installations. The non-communist world gets 20 percent of its oil through the strait from the Gulf.

Experts in London were not alarmed that Iran might be storing oil, although Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini reiterated the threat of a strait closure Tuesday if incidents occurred because of U.S. restrictions on flights in the vicinity of American ships in the Gulf.

Pierre Trudeau Resigns; Decided 'During Blizzard'

OTTAWA, Canada (UPI) — Pierre Elliott Trudeau went into semi-retirement today and Canadians began the watch for a successor to the man who served as prime minister for 16 years.

True to form in doing the expected in an unexpected way, Trudeau, 64, announced his resignation Wednesday in a three-paragraph letter, shunning the news conferences he barely tolerated through 16 years as Liberal Party leader.

In keeping with his character as a loner, the prime minister said he made the decision to step aside as Liberal Party leader while on a solitary midnight walk through a blizzard Tuesday.

A devoted father since the breakup of his six-year marriage to Margaret in May 1977, Trudeau has said often he wanted more time with his three sons — Justin, 12, Sacha, 10, and Michel, 8. He said he was now "looking forward to gaining a measure of freedom" and had no plans for his future. "No goals and no offers," he said.

Soviets Veto U.N. Force

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — A Soviet veto and a sharp exchange between the Soviet and American ambassadors at the United Nations ended a French effort to have U.N. peace-keeping troops replace the multinational forces in Beirut.

The Security Council voted 13-2 Wednesday to approve a French draft resolution that would have established the U.N. force and appealed for an immediate cease-fire throughout Lebanon.

Only two negative votes were cast — the Soviet Union and Ukraine — but Soviet Ambassador Oleg Troyanovsky exercised Russia's veto power to kill the proposal. The five permanent members of the council, including the United States, have veto power.

Troyanovsky said "the United States should end its crude military blackmail against Lebanon" as well as the "barbaric firing from its ships." The Soviet ambassador also demanded the United States remove its troops and warships from the region.

Weinberger Back Home

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger's one-day visit to U.S. Marines off the coast of Lebanon underscored the Reagan administration's growing distance from the government of President Amin Gemayel.

Weinberger, arriving in Washington early today, praised the Marines for the way they handled "one of the toughest and I suppose one of the most miserable tasks that was ever assigned."

But the secretary also used the visit Wednesday to indicate American support was not tied exclusively to Gemayel, who was in Damascus reportedly to capitulate to Syrian demands to abrogate the May 17 peace accord with Israel.

Gemayel Ready To Bow To Treaty-End Demand

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — President Amin Gemayel, in a second day of talks in Damascus, is reportedly ready to bow to Syria's demand that he abrogate his treaty with Israel, while Beirut reeled from a deadly car bomb explosion.

Gemayel's first summit with Syrian President Hafez Assad since taking office worried Gemayel's Christian supporters but pleased pro-Syrian Moslem rebels, eager for him to give in to Syrian demands to cancel the U.S.-negotiated May 17 accord that ended Lebanon's state of war with Israel.

Michèle Semaha, an adviser to Gemayel, told the Damascus correspondent of the leftist Beirut newspaper: As Saifir late Wednesday the talks between the two leaders had been "very positive."

Semaha said he could not speculate on the nature of the discussions because the negotiations were held between Gemayel and Assad without aides. As Saifir quoted informed Syrian sources as saying the two Arab leaders have reached an agreement in principle to scrap the May 17 troop withdrawal agreement.

The newspaper also reported today that a top aide to Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafi met with Gemayel before he left for Damascus and discussed Tripoli's opposition to the May 17 troop withdrawal agreement.

While Gemayel and Assad talked, U.S. Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger flew by helicopter from Cyprus to pay a brief visit Wednesday to U.S. Marines billeted on U.S. ships off the Lebanese coast.

Less than three hours later the roar of an exploding 100-pound car bomb echoed through west Beirut, tearing the facade off an 11-story apartment house and engulfing the area in a mixture of choking black smoke and swirling dust. The blast killed three people and injured 43, police said, but no one immediately claimed responsibility.

Another three people died and 20 were injured in unusually heavy shelling and shooting on both sides of the "Green Line" that divides Moslem west Beirut from the Christian east.

Souk Al Gharb, the last Lebanese Army stronghold in the mountains overlooking Beirut, also took shelling from Druze militiamen as did the mainly Christian coastline north of the capital.

In Damascus, Assad gave Gemayel a 21-gun salute on his arrival but the red carpet treatment did not mask the real nature of the meeting — the prelude to Gemayel's final surrender to Syrian demands to cancel the May 17 accord with Israel.

The agreement, brokered by Secretary of State George Shultz, gave Israel military and political concessions in return for an Israeli promise to end the occupation of south Lebanon.

Sheriff Fires Three Deputies, Starts Probe

NEW PORT RICHEY (UPI) — Three Pasco County sheriff's deputies have been fired and an investigation is in progress on the entire department because several of them failed to report prior arrests before they were hired, the county sheriff says.

Sheriff John Short fired the deputies and initiated the investigations on all 195 of his officers Tuesday, after 25 were named in a story published by the St. Petersburg Times detailing the results of a 10-month study of the sheriff's department. "I want to assure the people of this county that I am personally reviewing the employment status of every supervisor at this agency from the rank of major on down," Short said Wednesday. "Anyone who I feel is reluctant to get 100 percent behind my programs is going to be looking for a job."

The story said 25 of the 195 sworn officers on the force have criminal arrest records, and more than half of them did not tell the truth about the arrest records when they were hired.

Ex-Officer Can't Testify

MIAMI (UPI) — The jury in the manslaughter trial of policeman Luis Alvarez won't be allowed to hear the story of an ex-cop who was shot six times by a suspected rapist.

Circuit Judge David Gersten ruled late Wednesday that former Metro-Dade County policeman Rick Wentlandt will not be allowed to testify about his brush with death and won't be qualified as an expert on police shootings.

"There is no relevance to this officer testifying as to his experience," Gersten said.

The Cuban-born Alvarez, 24, is on trial for killing Nevell Johnson Jr., a 20-year-old black man, in a ghetto video game room on Dec. 28, 1982. The shooting touched off three days of rioting in the Overtown slum area that left another man dead and 28 people injured. The trial resumed today.

Disappointed, But Not Defeated

Give Mary Louise Smith the 1984 hanging-in-there award. The first woman to serve as Republican national chairman and a strong supporter of the equal rights amendment, Smith is immensely disappointed with the GOP, but is determined to reform from within.

In a recent interview, she expressed the belief that her support of the ERA and affirmative action caused President Reagan to drop her from the Civil Rights Commission. Yet she has not given up on Mr. Reagan or the Republican Party. When ERA supporters ask her whether they should leave the Republican Party, she says: "The Republican Party needs people like us more than ever. I don't want to see all the women in the Democratic Party. So my answer is, hang in there."

Smith argues that both affirmative action and the ERA should be Republican issues: "I often point out that our party was born in the struggle against slavery. We call ourselves the party of Lincoln, and we have a splendid civil rights record. I find it very hard to explain why we've turned away from the emphasis on civil rights and equality for women. Some would say we haven't turned away, but I don't see a sharply drawn social consciousness."

Specifically on the ERA, she points out: "The Republican Party has always represented individualism, rather than judging people by blocs or groups. That's one of the reasons I could never understand why the ERA was not a good, conservative Republican issue."

Smith's perseverance is admirable. The world would be a better place if more people showed such pluck. However, unless GOP leaders make more effort to accommodate her viewpoints, we suspect that some of the GOP's other female members will decide not to hang in there.

Rolls Royce Cheats

Welfare chiselers nowadays seem to be even more blatant and sophisticated than they were when Ronald Reagan was exposing and denouncing them during his days as governor of California.

A candidate for the all-time welfare queen surfaced the other day in Los Angeles when she was indicted on a number of federal pornography charges.

Catherine Wilson reputedly had an annual income of $500,000 from the sale nationwide of illicit films and literature depicting children engaged in sexual acts with adults.

This provided a high lifestyle for her and her four children: A mansion in the exclusive Hancock Park district of Los Angeles and a fleet of limousines — a Rolls Royce, a BMW and a Cadillac.

Still, Wilson found time amidst her nefarious activities to collect welfare payments regularly.

Her criminal activities finally brought to light her fraudulent welfare scheme wherein she collected more than $12,000. Indeed, the woman drove her Rolls Royce to collect her welfare checks.

This flagrant example of the widespread waste and fraud that continue to disgrace the welfare system in this country certainly does nothing for the morale of taxpayers in the middle of another income-tax season.

COPE a self-help group for the families of the mentally handicapped in Central Florida is almost four years old.

That group meets the 2nd and 4th Tuesdays of every month at the Mental Health Association, 608 Mariposa Street, Orlando. The meetings, which run from 7:30 to 9 p.m. are free and anyone coping with problems related to a mentally ill or emotionally disturbed loved one is welcome to share their troubles and experiences with the group.

The group members gain strength and understanding listening to and supporting each other.

COPE meetings are confidential and members focus on the idea that through self-help they can learn to detach themselves from seemingly overwhelming problems, which they can't solve. Through detachment, COPE members believe people can cope with the problems related with dealing with an emotionally ill family member and can continue to function as responsible citizens.

COPE also works to promote community awareness of emotional problems and to support mental health organizations.

SCIENCE WORLD Psoriasis Outlook Is Bright

By Gino Del Guercio
UPI Science Writer

BOSTON (UPI) — People who laugh about "the heartbreak of psoriasis" don't know just how debilitating and embarrassing the skin disease can be. But now at least many hard-hit victims don't have to be hospitalized.

Massachusetts General Hospital is among the institutions which have expanded dermatologic services in an ambulatory care unit to treat skin diseases, and even cancers, on an outpatient basis.

"Most of our patients are patients that used to have to be hospitalized," says Dr. Ernesto Gonzalez, chief of the unit.

"We have patients who used to come to the hospital four or five times a year. We've kept them out of the hospital all year. Before, there was no facility to treat them."

Now, Gonzalez said, "a patient comes to us for 2 1/2 hours a day to get treatment and then goes back to work."

Psoriasis is a non-contagious disease that causes overproduction of skin cells, resulting in unsightly pile-ups of living and dead skin covered with silvery plaques that flake constantly.

According to the American Academy of Dermatology, at least 3 million to 4 million Americans are victims of psoriasis.

Treatments at day care centers can include application of coal tar and creams and exposure to ultraviolet light for several hours a day over a number of days until skin clears, then home treatments until the next clinic visit is required.

A recent study in the Journal of the American Academy of Dermatology reported day care regimens for 18 days produced 90 percent clear skin among all participants in a study conducted by researchers at Baylor University Medical Center in Dallas and the University of California at San Francisco.

Gonzalez said one patient who suffered with psoriasis over 80 percent of his body was depressed because he required three weeks of hospitalization every three months for application of special creams.

He now attends the day clinic, where others are also seen by specially trained nurses and technicians who use new techniques and try to make visits coincide with patient work and family schedules.

"Their mental state is greatly improved because they don't have to be confined to a hospital for 24 hours a day. They can behave like a normal person. Before, many persons felt like an outcast from society. Now, they don't have to, they can function in society," Gonzalez said.

Psoriasis is not a painful affliction, unless it is on the hands or feet, but in the past hospitalization was frequently required for extreme cases.

Patients suffering from leg ulcers, usually the result of impeded blood circulation, also don't have to spend long periods in the hospital. Other diseases treated daily include eczema, dermatitis, fungal diseases, and those accompanied by itching, scaling and tumors or blistering.

Thailand Is Persecuting Refugees

WASHINGTON — The plight of the Indochinese boat people — desperate refugees trying to flee their communist-ruled homelands — has gone from bad to worse. Their fate should be of particular concern to the United States: Many are forgotten employees and friends whom the U.S. forces left behind in South Vietnam.

To escape tyranny, many have set out in frail boats across the sea. Some have been caught by patrol boats and hauled back to work camps. Others have been lost in storms at sea.

But the greatest menace of all are the pirates who ply the Gulf of Siam. They are cruel thugs who overtake the flimsy boats and assault the helpless refugees, raping and abducting the women, murdering on whim and stealing everything of value. Even gold fillings have been ripped out of the refugees' mouths.

The odds of getting safely to a haven in a neighboring country have always been slim. Now they're slimmer. Here's why:

The United States has given the government of Thailand millions of dollars to patrol the refugee routes with armed vessels and to punish any pirates they catch. But I now have evidence that on several occasions recently, the Thais have used their American-financed patrol boats not to rescue the boat people but to put them in double jeopardy.

The Thais have been rounding up refugees who made it safely to their shores, forcing them back into boats and towing them out to sea. Then they are cast adrift, once more at the mercy of the merciless corsairs.

Thai officials deny this. But State Department cables from our embassy in Bangkok give irrefutable, incriminating details of several incidents.

"There is a long history of push-offs from these areas, but the latest ones are of particular concern because each resulted in the loss of lives and each was committed by elements of the Thai Marine Police or Navy," states one of the cables seen by my associate Donald Goldberg.

One of the tragedies occurred last Dec. 3, when a boatload of 29 ethnic Chinese from Cambodia landed in Thailand. After two days' detention by local authorities, the refugees were put aboard a small craft and towed out to sea by a Royal Thai navy patrol boat.

The motor on the refugees' small boat conked out soon after the patrol boat left. The refugees drifted helplessly for 14 days. "During this two-week period, they twice were attacked by pirates, who abducted six women," one cable stated. "In addition, two small children aboard the refugee boat died of exposure and dehydration."

Finally, the 21 survivors landed once more on a Thai beach. One of the abducted women also made it to safety, put ashore by the pirates. She told refugee officials that she believed at least two of the other women were dead.

The refugees described the boat that towed them out to sea as a 30-meter armed patrol craft with the number "93." A cable to Washington said, "The embassy has confirmed that the (Royal Thai Navy) has a 36-meter patrol craft designated T-93, and that it probably would have been operating (in the area) at the time of the incident."

A second incident involved 72 Vietnamese whose boat landed in Thailand on Jan. 4. The refugees were held for six days at a temple near the Malaysian border.

On Jan. 11, the refugees were divided into two groups. One was put aboard a small boat and towed out to sea by a Thai Marine Police patrol craft. All 33 persons made it safely to Malaysia. A cable tells what happened to the second boat:

"It is not yet clear exactly why, but the second refugee boat capsized and 23 persons aboard drowned. Refugee sources initially indicated that the tow rope snapped and that the Thai fishing boat (towing it) then came about and rammed the smaller refugee boat. Subsequent refugee accounts reported that the refugee boat came apart while being towed at speed."

"The 16 survivors of the second boat who swam ashore were again apprehended by police. The police provided food and dry clothing, and then placed them in another small boat that was towed to sea by Marine Police Patrol craft."

About That Gender Gap

Two maxims: "The failure to listen is the core of ignorance."

That is not a thought by Confucius. It is a thought by me, and it was born during a recent conversation I had with Eleanor Smeal, former president for the National Organization of Women and vigorous advocate of what she views as "women's issues."

The other maxim comes from Ezra Pound: "Every man deserves to have his ideas tested one at a time."

Yes, and in the present case we would have to say "every woman."

Mrs. Smeal is a gently forceful conversationalist, a mother from a Pennsylvania family, and her dark brown eyes bespeak her Italian extraction. She firmly believes that the women's vote will be decisive in defeating Ronald Reagan, and she has just published "Why and How Women Will Elect the Next President" (Harper and Row), a political handbook that sets forth her argument and provides practical instructions for bringing that result to pass. It's worth reading.

Mrs. Smeal has a very practical turn of mind, quite unlike the academic feminists I know who like to argue that Hemingway, D.H. Lawrence and just about anyone else were male chauvinist pigs.

Mrs. Smeal's central thought is that women's experience gives them a different perspective on issues and a different set of priorities from those men are likely to hold. She believes that this can be demonstrated statistically, that it explains the presumed "gender gap," and that it can defeat Reagan.

Women, she says, bear and raise children, and care for the sick and the old. Unlike most feminists you run into, Mrs. Smeal is very family-oriented. Women's experience, she argues, causes them to put a high priority on family, sex, and health matters, and on care for the elderly.

She is incensed, for example, about the decline in polio vaccination among the poor, a result, she says, of federal cutbacks. A revival of polio would be a real threat to middle class families. She believes strongly in federal nutrition programs and prenatal care programs.

She expresses astonishment that the Reagan administration might oppose in court the recent State of Washington ruling that would require women employed by the state to receive equal pay for "equivalent" jobs.

When challenged on the ground that it is probably impossible to establish "equivalence" between, say, nurses and prison guards, she replies that a point system has long been in use in labor unions and other areas that has been accepted as measuring equivalence.

There is no reason for the Reagan administration to fight this, she says, and if it does women will be further alienated.

On abortion, she thinks the administration is both wrong and politically suicidal. "I'm a Catholic," she says, "but I believe the abortion option should be there." The vast majority of women believe this, she says. "I don't know who feel more strongly," she muses, "single women or the mothers of teenage girls. Men simply do not understand the fear of an unwanted pregnancy the way women do. Reagan is promising to appoint only right-to-life justices to the court. This will be a key voting issue for women."

I observed that there is no national consensus in favor of outlawing abortion, she agreed, and observed that outlawing it would produce another Prohibition-type situation, only worse.

Mrs. Smeal's central concerns cause her to shape her priorities in ways that I cannot endorse. She downplays defense issues. She believes that war is "outmoded" despite daily historical evidence to the contrary. Such things as the Kemp-Roth tax cut, designed to stimulate the economy, do not make her pulse beat faster.

But she is an intelligent and forceful woman and she does, I think, speak for a growing and increasingly conscious political constituency.

DON GRAFF

What A Beautiful Country

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (NEA) — The first thing that strikes you in the descent over a landscape that might have been crumpled in a cosmic flat is how beautiful this country is.

Even in the middle of the dry season. The flanks of the mountains and the deep, twisting valleys will not turn lushly green again for another few months.

But there are still hazy vistas under a serene blue sky, and the pervasive brown is splashed with color contributed by bougainvillea and hibiscus, lacy blue jacaranda and poinsettia tall as small trees.

El Salvador's beauty in any season is immediately apparent.

That it is also a country tearing itself apart is not, however, quite so obvious as it was four years ago. Then, the civil war was just getting under way. Every morning brought a fresh crop of bodies along the streets, the night's work of the death squads.

There is much less of that now. The war largely goes on elsewhere and the city is less tense, if not quite completely relaxed. Salvadorans may not have the situation under control but they have adjusted to it.

Protective walls have gone up around many of the villas in the better neighborhoods, but you can drive the streets at night without incident.

The military presence is evident but less intrusive. Troops man guardposts on the main routes out of town, stopping all traffic. But vehicles are no longer stopped at random on city streets and the occupants braced.

The elegant Camino Real hotel, then echoing and emptied of the tourists for which it was built, is now where the action is. At least for the warming international press corps.

The second floor, taken over by television crews and wire services, has the look of newsrooms everywhere — messy.

Mornings, the lobby is the place to be. Camera teams and platoons of correspondents head out for wherever the best guess is that there may be action that day. The Salvadoran economy may be depressed, but the van leasing business has to be booming.

At night, activity shifts to the bar.

In guest rooms, candles and matches are reminders of a time when guerrillas were regularly cutting power lines. But it has been some time since they've been used.

It comes as a surprise when you were prepared for another scene entirely. I'll tell you what a gutsy foreign correspondent I am. As the plane hit the runway, remembering my last visit, I popped a tranquilizer.)

Still, low key as it now is there is a war going on. There's speculation this may be merely the calm before an imminent storm. The date on all minds is March 25 — presidential elections.

Up in the mountains, guerrilla grenades down two government troop helicopters. Maybe a lucky shot, maybe a sign of increasing expertise.

Sometimes the conflict edges closer to the city. Shooting could be heard the other morning during a brief firefight just beyond Ilopango Airport on the road to San Vicente.

Burglary Suspect Steals Only Knife, Exchanges Gloves For Victim's

When David Pugh, 22, and Sherie Buchanon, 20, returned to their Sanford home about 11:45 p.m. Monday and captured a bandit who had ransacked their house, they discovered that the only things the 17-year-old suspect had picked up on his way out was one of Pugh's knives and a pair of gloves, leaving a pair of his own behind.

"I guess he liked mine; they were better than his," Pugh said of the gloves. "He was wearing them when I grabbed him as he was trying to get out through the sliding glass door. He had left his gloves here. I had a hard time holding on to him until the police got here and he did have two knives on him. One of them was mine, but he never pulled them," Pugh said.

"That's all he took, but he was here long enough to tear the place up. We had never seen him before. He was just there at the door when we walked in. I yelled for him to stop, but he tried to run and I grabbed him," he said.

The juvenile, who allegedly broke a bathroom window to enter the house at 2521 Ridgewood Ave., was charged with armed burglary at 11:53 p.m. Monday.

He was turned over to juvenile authorities.

ROBBERY

A clerk at the Handy Way convenience store, State Road 46 at Orange Boulevard, Sanford, turned over an undetermined amount of cash from the store's register to a man who entered the store at about 10 a.m. Monday and when asked what he wanted, said, "This is a robbery place the money in the bag."

The clerk told sheriff's deputies she thought the man might have a gun in his pocket, so she gave him the cash and he ordered her to wait in the rear of the store while he made his getaway.

DRUG ARREST

A Sanford man stopped because his car was allegedly going 40 mph in a 25 mph zone was charged with possession of cocaine and marijuana by the Sanford policeman who made the traffic stop.

The officer reporting seeing what appeared to be, and what a test later confirmed was, a marijuana cigarette on the floor of the suspect's car. The vehicle was searched and two packets of cocaine and an additional small amount of marijuana was allegedly found in the car.

Bennie Lee Arnold, 34, of 32 William Clark Court, was charged at 9:51 a.m. Monday on 11th Street at Mulberry Street, Sanford. He is being held in the Seminole County jail in lieu of $5,000 bond.

QUAALUDE ARREST

PURSE THEFT

A 19-year-old Sanford man who allegedly snatched a woman's purse and hit her with a bicycle when she tried to get it back is being held in the Seminole County jail in lieu of $8,000 bond.

The man was charged with robbery, grand theft and battery by the Sanford police officer who caught him on foot in the 400 block of E. Second Street within a few minutes after the man allegedly robbed and assaulted the woman in the parking lot of the post office at 221 Palmetto Ave. at about 2:15 p.m. Tuesday, a police report said.

The purse, which contained $455 was recovered, and Joe Wayne Alston, 19, of 66 Castle Brava Court, Sanford, was charged in the case.

NO DEPOSIT

An employee of General Nutrition Co., 1128 State St., Sanford, is being held in the Seminole County jail in lieu of $5,000 bond, accused of keeping $638 in company funds which he was supposed to deposit in a bank.

The alleged theft was reported to Sanford police Feb. 21, but the suspect had fled and was not questioned until 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Following questioning, Michael Kenneth Kocach, 24, of 1120 Florida Ave., #208, Sanford, was charged with grand theft.

Robert A. Palmer, 43, of 5885 Red Bug Road, Casselberry, gave sheriff's deputies the name of a suspect whom he believes took a diamond ring, a silver belt buckle and a pair of spurs from his house on Jan. 12.

DEPUTY ASSAULT

An Apopka man who called a sheriff's deputy to his home because a neighbor allegedly hit his son was jailed himself after he allegedly assaulted the deputy.

The deputy reported that the suspect was very upset and angry when he stood in his front yard and explained what had happened between a neighbor woman and his son. The officer explained the procedure for filing a complaint to the man, but he demanded immediate action saying, "If she's not arrested tonight there will be some blood over there. I'm going over there and take care of it," according to the deputy's report.

As the officer tried to calm the man and explain that it would be a criminal act if he took the law into his own hands, she reported that he became abusive and began to threaten her saying, "You had better bring the heavy equipment with you (to arrest him). You'll need it. You'd better bring it because I'll take you behind this house, pull your shirt off and beat you like a man," the deputy's report alleged.

The man further stated, according to the deputy, that he was putting her on notice that he would physically harm her and his neighbor if the neighbor wasn't charged.

When the man went inside his home the deputy called for assistance and at 5:45 p.m. Sunday the officers charged Kenneth Walter Rinard, 36, of 3511 Craig Drive, Apopka, with assault on a deputy. He posted $500 bond and was released from the Seminole County jail and is scheduled to appear in court on March 9.

No Increased Death Rise With Contraceptives

CHICAGO (UPI) — A comprehensive Atlanta study indicates women using contraceptives for birth control have no increased risk of death, Centers for Disease Control researchers say.

Dr. Howard W. Ory and colleagues studied the death rates of 30,580 black women, ages 15 to 44, enrolled in an Atlanta family planning clinic.

The women used four methods of contraception — oral contraceptives, intrauterine devices, injectable Depo-Provera or barrier methods such as foam, condoms and diaphragms.

Ory and his colleagues published their findings in the Journal of the American Medical Association, acknowledging that prior data on the risk of death associated with various contraceptive methods had been "incomplete."

But after compiling their study, they concluded: "There was no evidence that current use of IUDs, oral contraceptives (Depo-Provera) or barrier methods of contraception was harmful to the women in the study."

Instead, they found contraceptive use decreased the death rate among the women by preventing pregnancy and thus complications associated with pregnancy and birth.

In the women studied, 218 died during an 11-year period — 40 percent from accidents and violence. Only two deaths were associated with pregnancy and childbirth, compared with the 24 deaths expected.

"Almost all deaths from complications of pregnancy and childbirth were eliminated," the researchers said.

The risks of death from cancer, circulatory diseases and accidents and violence were similar for the four groups — and similar to women who do not use contraceptives, they said.

"Young black women who used oral contraceptives had no demonstrable excess risk of death from circulatory diseases," they said.

"The previously published annual death rate associated with IUD use of three deaths per million, mostly from pelvic infection, is consistent with our observation of no deaths from this cause."

The controversial injectable Depo-Provera "appears as safe as use of the other three methods of contraception," they said. "Because this is the first time the issue has been examined among users of (Depo-Provera), this aspect of the results is especially noteworthy."

Previous animal studies have shown Depo-Provera to cause cancers and tumors in laboratory animals. The Food and Drug Administration still considers the drug investigational.

Surprising Lady Raiders Tackle Pensacola

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

In the middle of the 1983-84 basketball season, no one would have picked Seminole Community College's Lady Raiders as the only Seminole County team still in action come state tournament time. However, the Lady Raiders have worked hard and played extremely well the past few weeks to earn a berth into the women's Junior College State Tournament which gets underway tonight at the University of Central Florida.

The Lady Raiders, who enter the tourney with a 12-18 record, go up against Pensacola, 17-8, in tonight's second game scheduled to start at 8. The winner of the SCC-Pensacola game advances to Friday's 6 p.m. semi-final against Indian River which has a 15-5 record.

In tonight's first game, Brevard, 12-10, goes up against Miami-Dade North, 13-2, with the winner of that game to meet Santa Fe Friday night at 8. Santa Fe is the top seed in the tourney after posting a 20-0 record during the regular season.

"It's a brand new season for us," SCC coach Heana Gallagher said. "We're peaking at the right time."

Not only will the Lady Raiders hope to continue their winning ways, but they will also be looking to avenge an earlier loss to Pensacola. The last time the two teams met, Pensacola came away with a 82-61 victory.

SCC's success will depend a lot on the play of sophomore forward Val Roesler, who was recently selected first-team all state for the second year in a row. Roesler is averaging 10 points per game and leads the Lady Raiders underneath with 9.7 rebounds per outing.

Roesler and freshman guard Pam Lee have been the leading scorers for the Lady Raiders in the past few weeks. Lee is a fine all-around player as she averages 10 points per game, 4.7 rebounds and 4.0 assists.

The other starting guard for the Lady Raiders is freshman Carolyn Brinkley who averages 4.1 points and 4.8 assists per game.

SCC will look to 6-3 sophomore center Sue Winternheimer and 5-10 freshman forward Juana Coletti for strong play underneath. Winternheimer averages 7.1 points and 8.2 rebounds per game while Coletti averages 7.8 points and 7.2 rebounds per game. The top scorer off the bench for SCC is sophomore forward Evelyn Smith.

Seminole's Bats Explode For 32 Runs In Opener

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

Erasing the memory of a 1-19 season in one game seems pretty hard, if not impossible. Sanford's Lady Seminoles started to put last season to rest as they opened the 1984 season with a 32-8 rout of Trinity Prep's Lady Saints in prep softball action Wednesday at the Fort Mellon softball field in Sanford.

The game lasted just three innings as Trinity Prep's coach threw in the towel after Seminole exploded for 32 runs on 20 hits in three innings. Last year, the Lady Seminoles scored just 47 runs in the entire season.

Sherry Peterson, Shelley Harley and Beth Nelson had four hits apiece to lead Seminole while Katy Barbour added three hits and Janet Hauck two. Barbour, Peterson, Harley and Hauck each ripped home runs for the Lady Tribe.

Strong winds made it hard for the pitchers to get the ball across the plate Wednesday as Seminole starter Christy Gonzales walked six in the first inning. Alycia Dixon came on in relief of Gonzales and went the rest of the way to pick up the pitching victory.

Trinity Prep took a 5-0 lead after one-half inning of play, but the Lady Seminoles responded with 15 runs in the bottom of the first to take a 15-5 lead. Seminole scored six more runs in the second and erupted for 11 more in the third.

The Lady Seminoles will try to make it two in a row today at 3:30 as they travel to Red Bug Park to take on Oviedo's Lady Lions. Seminole lost to Oviedo twice last year, after losing only once to the Lions since the softball program began.

Once again the Seminoles have a young team as Barbour, the starting shortstop, is one of two seniors on the team and one of only four returning players for the Tribe. Also returning from last year are juniors Hauck (short fielder), and Dixon (third base) and pitcher Angie Carpenter who just joined the squad.

The 10 newcomers to the team include, Peterson, Harley, Nelson, Gonzales, April Gordon, Susana Huaman, Jackie Farr, Cassandra Frederick, Bert Detreville and Shelley Saunders.

Lake Howell.....6

Colonial.....2
Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks, the defending district champions and one of the favorites to win it again, opened the 1984 season with a 6-2 victory over Orlando Colonial Wednesday at Lake Howell High.

The Lady Hawks rallied for two runs in the bottom of the first inning as Erin Hankins reached on an error and scored as Sandy Gillies ripped a triple down the first base line. Gillies scored on a single off the bat of Eileen Thiebauth.

Colonial scored once in the third to cut the Hawks lead to one, 2-1, and came back to tie it at 2-2 with a run in the fifth.

After going scoreless and without a hit for four innings, Lake Howell erupted for four runs in the bottom of the sixth to take a 6-2 lead. Cherie Green reached on an error to lead off and Hankins also reached on an error. One out later, Mary Johnson drilled a shot to left field, which tipped off the left fielder's glove allowing pinch runner Jaudon Jonas and Hankins to score.

Thiebauth followed with a single and Grace Ley then singled to drive in Thiebauth. Barbara Helm then singled to drive in Ley with the fourth run of the inning.

Helm then shut down Colonial in the top of the sixth to pick up the pitching victory for the Lady Hawks.

Lake Howell is back in action Friday at 4 p.m. as it hosts Orlando Boone.

The Lady Hawks have 13 players returning from last year's district champions and eight of 10 starters returning.

Returning starters include seniors Johnson, Green, Helm, Tami Hankins and Mary Meier, juniors Thiebauth, Gillies and Beth Saunders and sophomore Ava Gardner who missed Wednesday's game with a shoulder injury. Another returning player, Chris Tibbitts, has a broken thumb and will miss the first part of the season.

The newcomers in the starting lineup are Erin Hankins, a freshman, and Grace Ley a junior transfer from California. Bench strength comes from seniors Caryn Krumweide and Joy Weaver, junior Jennifer Wallace, sophomore Melinda Manuel and freshman Jonas and Carol Roberts.

West Orange.....14

Lyman.....8
In another softball game Wednesday, Lyman's Lady Greyhounds dropped a 14-8 decision to West Orange at Ocoee.

"We froze to death," said Lyman coach Annette Griffin about the Lady Greyhounds' opener.

Riane Richardson led the Lyman attack with two singles while Denise Stevens and Kristy Kaiser added doubles. Kim Reis and Lisa Wright each contributed a single.

Lyman, 0-1, looks for its first win in a rematch with West Orange next Wednesday at 4 p.m. at Lyman.

Seminole's Janet Hauck, above, celebrates her home run with teammate Alycia Dixon, right, after landing on home plate. Hauck had one of three Seminole home runs as the girls successfully opened their 1984 softball season with a lopsided victory over Trinity Prep. Dixon came on in relief of Christy Gonzales and was able to battle the strong winds and throw strikes to pick up the victory. Seminole, 1-0, goes to Red Bug Lake Park in Casselberry to play Oviedo today at 3:30 p.m.

Knight Shakes Up Starting 5, Hoosiers Surprise Purdue

United Press International

Indiana coach Bobby Knight shook up his starting five with it the Big Ten race as well.

Knight started Dan Dakich and Todd Meier in place of Steve Robinson and Mike Glomi, saying his regulars had been lethargic in an upset loss to Michigan State.

The decision obviously affected Robinson, who came off the bench Wednesday night to collect 22 points — including six in a crucial second-half spurt — to lead visiting Indiana to a 78-59 Big Ten upset of No. 9 Purdue.

The loss cut Purdue's conference lead over Indiana and Illinois to a half-game and equaled the worst-ever Boilermaker defeat at Mackey Arena since it opened in the 1987-88 season.

"We're at least in there now (the Big Ten race) with the other two teams," Knight said. "Tonight we put it into a situation where it is up for grabs."

College Basketball

Two ranked Atlantic Coast Conference teams lost Wednesday night when Virginia topped No. 16 Wake Forest 65-61 and Clemson edged 18th-ranked Duke 77-76.

Rick Carlisle scored 18 points in his final home appearance as Virginia collected its third straight ACC triumph. And Clemson, despite scoring only two points in the final six minutes, broke an 11-game ACC losing streak with their victory over the host Blue Devils.

Elsewhere in the top 20, top-ranked North Carolina walloped Georgia Tech 69-56. No. 2 Houston thrashed Baylor 80-65, fourth-ranked Georgetown squashed Pittsburgh 71-52. No. 12 Arkansas beat Rice 79-54. No. 17 Syracuse nipped Canisius 68-64 and No. 19 Maryland topped North Carolina State 62-50.

At Atlanta, All-America Michael Jordan scored 18 of his 20 points after intermission to power the Tar Heels, 25-1. North Carolina led by one in the second half before running off a 27-7 spurt.

At Houston, Akeem Abdul Olajuwon had 24 points and 18 rebounds and Michael Young chipped in with 18 points as the Cougars, 23-6, clinched their second straight Southwest Conference regular-season championship.

No Blank Checks From Veteran's Committee

Milton Richman
UPI Sports Editor

POMPANO BEACH (UPI) — How many times have you heard all the complaints about our society being too permissive? I can tell you one group of people that certainly isn't. If anything, the Hall of Fame Committee on Baseball Veterans leans a lot more the other way.

By that I mean the men who make up this body, more commonly known as the Veterans' Committee, don't write out blank checks for anybody. Their sole function each year is to consider and vote into the Hall of Fame no more than two additional members who may have been overlooked for one reason or another in the general balloting by the Baseball Writers in the past, and you have no idea how hard and long they deliberate, in their own minds and among themselves, before making their selection.

The only reason I can tell you about it with any authority at all is because I was fortunate enough to become a part of the committee for the first time last year, and in the 40 years I've been in this business of writing sports, I can honestly say I can't think of another experience I've enjoyed any more.

These guys don't fool around. They work hard to pick the right man or men, those they feel are truly deserving of being enshrined even though they were passed over previously, and that's why I'm kind of eager to get to the next meeting in Tampa, Fla., on March 4.

A couple of revisions have been made in the Rules for Election this year to try to make the process fairer all around.

In 1948, for example, only 121 votes were cast. Today there are more than 400 votes.

The new rules have been modified so that consideration now will be given 10-year players whose careers began before 1946 rather than players who retired before that year. Also eligible will be 10-year players whose major-league careers started after 1945, providing they received 100 or more votes in a writers' election, rather than players who quit after 1945 and drew 100 or more votes.

Moreover, the waiting period has been shortened to only three years. It means candidates have to wait only 23 years instead of 25 to become eligible.

What this does is open up the door now for such players as Dick Bartell, Bobby Doerr, Rick Ferrell, Joe Gordon, Mel Harder, Ernie Lombardi, Johnny Vander Meer, Arky

Vaughan and Mickey Vernon.

Under the revised rules, Enos Slaughter also becomes eligible for election by the veterans for the first time.

Dick Bartell ... What a competitor.
 Bobby Doerr ... He was good for 15 to 20 homers every year ...

Rick Ferrell ... He hit .300 five times, .290 or better three other times and .281 lifetime.
 Joe Gordon ... That rare combination of a home run hitter.

Mel Harder ... toughest pitcher Joe DiMaggio ever faced.

Ernie Lombardi ... Imagine hitting .306 over 17 years without being able to run a lick?

Johnny Vander Meer ... It's 46 years since he pitched those two no-hitters back-to-back for the Reds, and ... no one has matched that feat in the interim.

Arky Vaughan ... A .318 lifetime hitter who led the National League in putouts and assists three times.

Mickey Vernon ... Led American League in batting twice.

And there are so many other worthy candidates. Former players like Hal Newhouser, Phil Cavarretta, Jimmy Dykes, Rick Ferrell's late brother, Wes, Babe Herman, Charlie Grimm, Marty Marion, Tony "Poosh 'em Up" Lazzari, Muddy Ruel, Phil Rizzuto, Pee Wee Reese, Johnny Sain, Riggs Stephenson and Charlie Buffinton.

Ripper's 1st Win Remains Fondest Memory

Willie Mitchell

Fred Miller

Mitchell Unanimous All-Conference Pick

Sanford's Willie Mitchell was the only unanimous selection on the Five Star's All-Conference basketball team selected Monday by the conference coaches.

Mitchell, a 6-3 senior, averaged 18 points and 10 rebounds while leading the Fighting Seminoles to the district championship. He was also a first-team choice last year and was a second-team selection as a sophomore. Mitchell has been a three-year starter for the team.

Mitchell was joined on the first team by Spruce Creek senior guard Rod McCray, Mainland senior forward David Hinson, Apopka senior guard Scott Hughes and Lake Mary senior guard Fred Miller.

Seminole junior swingman James Rouse headed the second team along with Seabreeze junior guard Terry Johnson, Spruce Creek sophomore forward John Fedor, Mainland junior forward George McCloud and DeLand junior center Randy Anderson.

The honorable mention squad was comprised of Seminole's Jimmy Gilchrist (senior, center); Lake Mary's Billy Dunn (senior, guard) and Donald Grayson (junior, forward); Lake Howell's Efram Brooks (junior, guard); Lyman's Greg Pilot (senior, guard) and Reggie Douglas (junior, guard); Lake Brantley's Eric Trombo (senior, guard) and Austin Hodges (junior, forward); Apopka's Tommy Jackson (senior, guard); DeLand's Greg Gilmore (senior, forward); Kevin Weickel (junior, guard) and Darrin Nealy (senior, guard); Seabreeze's Pat Johnson (junior, guard), Darryl Robinson (junior, forward) and John Parks (junior, center); Mainland's Kevin Morris (senior, guard); and Spruce Creek's Ray Lee (senior, forward).

There's one BMX memory which always sticks in a racer's mind. "The first time I won a race," was 13-year-old David "The Ripper" Sanborn's fondest memory of BMX. David, of Sanford, has been racing his P.K. Ripper bicycle for one year now.

David races for the Bicycle Connection of Sanford. "I signed up for Mr. Koch's race team three days after they opened the shop," said David. "I wanted to race, and being part of a BMX team sounded fun."

Has it been fun? "Mr. Koch has been great, we all have a lot of fun."

The Ripper has been racing for one year. "My first impression of BMX was wet, it was pouring down rain, it was scary, I fell," remembered David.

The Ripper has really lived up to his name. Since Ripper has been racing, he has proved to be a tough competitor in the 13-year-old novice class. The Ripper has a trophy each week for either first, second, a third place.

Christy Davis

Herald BMX Writer

"I'm so proud of David. I was worried at first, but he's doing great," said David's mother, Carolyn Sanborn.

The Ripper's big chance to prove himself is in April when the Barnett Park track in Pine Hills hosts the "War of the Stars" series. "I hope I do good, at least make the main event," said David.

This past Saturday's races were exciting at Barnett Park. There were 36 motos, and 13 Sanford riders competed for top honors. Here are the scores:

In the 11-year-old beginner class, Jamie Dellarco, of Lake Mary, raced his second beginner race and placed fourth.

Chris Cullen and Wade Dellarco, both of Lake Mary, dominated the top slots in the 13-year-old beginner class. Chris placed first, while Wade came in second.

In the novice class, 11-year-old Mike Davis tried his hardest, and placed fourth.

Chris Braun, a newcomer from Ft. Walton Beach, dominated the 12-novice class all day long by placing first.

Also racing 12-novice were Jason Overall of Sanford and John Connolly of Lake Mary. Jason placed fifth and John came in sixth.

David "the Ripper" Sanborn placed second in the 13-year-old novice class.

Also racing 13-novice was John "Avalanche" Boatwright. John, wiped out in his first two races, placed fourth overall.

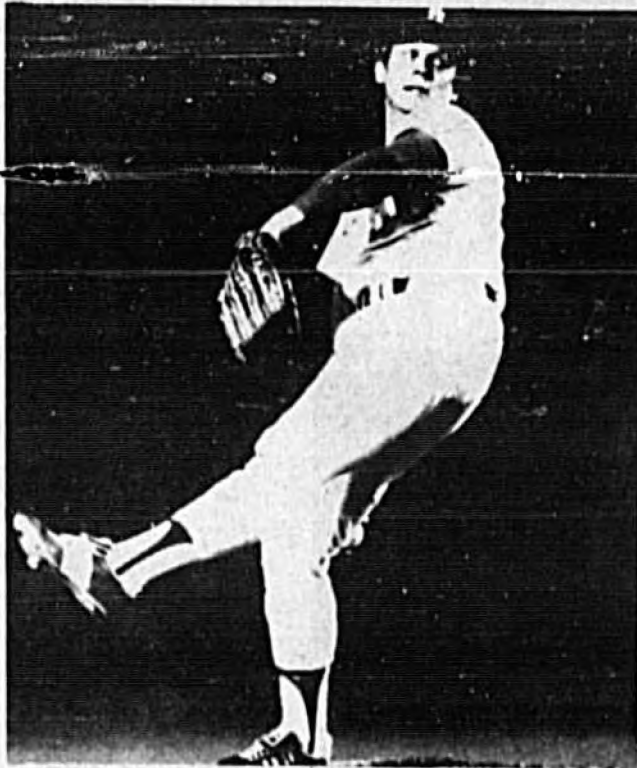

In the 15-year-old novice class, Jimmy Williams, of Sanford, placed first, while John Poole, of Lake Mary, placed third.

Eleven-year-old powder puff Susan "Slash" Koch burned up the tracks by placing first over 12-year-old Michelle Lee.

In the cruiser class, 16-year-old Mark "Coke-a-Roll" Koch placed first.

A reminder for any riders who want to compete in the "War of the Stars" in April. Registration sheets can be picked up and must be mailed in advance.

Also, National Bicycle League (NBL) will be racing under the lights again this Saturday. Registration will start at 6 p.m., and races start at 8 p.m.

Burt Hooton will move to the bullpen.

Yogi's Platoon Plan Irks Nettles

United Press International
The New York Yankees are in mid-season form in the controversy department.

New York's Fort Lauderdale training camp continued to warm up quickly Wednesday with Graig Nettles becoming the second prominent member of the team to kick up controversy against team management.

The third baseman arrived at camp and asked to be traded if the team intends to platoon him with Toby Harrah.

"They told me I'd be basically a team player," Nettles said after a half-hour, closed-door meeting with manager Yogi Berra. "I don't like it and I told him so. I felt I proved last year I'm an everyday player, just like I proved every year. But I guess I didn't satisfy them. As a result, I told them if they can make the right deal they should do it."

Nettles, who will be 40 in August,

Baseball

signed a two-year contract worth $1.8 million on Nov. 3. The Yankees say Nettles at that time agreed to less playing time.

"He said 'yes' as long as I get the contract I want," said Yankee coach Gene Michael.

Dave Winfield ripped team owner George Steinbrenner on Monday, blaming him for the departure via free agency of ace reliever Goose Gossage.

At Scottsdale, Ariz., Al Oliver announced he will attempt to persuade free agent outfielder Dusty Baker to sign with the Giants. Baker said before the Giants' acquisition of Oliver that he did not want to play in San Francisco.

But Oliver, who has batted at least .300 for the last eight years, said, "I'm going to give Dusty a call and tell him, 'Let's do it together. He's a good friend of mine and I'm going to try and talk him into coming to the Giants.'"

Oliver was traded by Montreal for pitcher Fred Breting and a player to be named later. Baker batted .260 with 15 homers and 73 RBI last season with Los Angeles while Oliver hit .300 with eight homers and 84 RBI.

At Bradenton, pitcher John Candelaria joined the Pittsburgh Pirates for their first full-squad workout. Candelaria skipped early workouts — something he is entitled to do by baseball's Basic Agreement. He would not explain his absence, but it was reported that Candelaria, who has teared several times with management, had asked to be traded.

At Vero Beach, the Dodgers are assigning right-hander Burt Hooton to the bullpen.

Garden Of The Month

The home and grounds of Mr. and Mrs. Ryals Milner, 154 Upsala Road, have been selected by Central Circle of the Garden Club of Sanford for the club's Garden of the Month award. Selection was based on the neat overall appearance, particularly for this time of year, according to a circle spokesman. The Milners also received a gift certificate from the Sunniland Corp., Sanford.

Big Bucks Fight Cancer

Ann Moore, assistant secretary and treasurer of Sunniland Corporation, Sanford, presents a $2,500 check from Sunniland to Donald C. Bauerle Sr., president of Codisco Inc., Sanford, for the annual American Cancer Crusade in the Sanford-Lake Mary area. The crusade raises funds to help cancer victims and for educational research. Bauerle, chairman of the ACS corporate donations, says the crusade will continue until April. Corporations with donations for ACS are asked to call Bauerle in Sanford.

Smile Until Face Breaks When Parents 'Butt In'

DEAR ABBY: I am a 28-year-old woman, happily married for eight years, with two children and a wonderful husband.

Dear Abby

I work part time to help with the expenses. My husband has always worked full time. Ever since our marriage my parents have concerned themselves with the way we spend our money. We aren't "rich," but we manage to live comfortably and have never missed a payment of any kind.

We recently bought two snowmobiles for family recreation. Needless to say, Mom and Dad had plenty to say about how "foolishly" we spent our money.

No matter what we buy, they ask, "How much did it cost?" Or, "How much are the payments?" When I get a birthday or anniversary gift from my husband, my mother never says, "How lovely." She says, "How much did it cost?"

We have never asked my parents for a dime. They are in their 70s now, and we'd like to enjoy a good relationship with them. My husband and I are not irresponsible children, Abby. How can we tell them to "butt out" without being disrespectful?

RESPONSIBLE AND FED UP

DEAR RESPONSIBLE: You can't. Your parents still regard you as their "child," but there is nothing you can do about it. You can't change anyone else; you can change only yourself. So, brush off their prying questions with a good-humored, "Don't worry, we haven't missed a payment yet." And smile until your face hurts.

DEAR ABBY: You are mistaken when you say that if a man forces his wife to have sex with him he is guilty of rape. He should not have to "force" her; the Bible says it is a wife's duty to submit to her husband.

A wife who isn't willing to submit to her husband should not have gotten married in the first place. It is little enough to pay for the protection, security and lifelong partnership the marriage license provides.

Most women should take a good, long look at themselves after about 10 years of marriage, and thank God their husbands still feel like having sex with them at all! If they've had one or more children, they're probably 20 to 30 pounds heavier than when they married. Who wants to make love to a blob?

Let's face it, Abby. Women probably invented marriage because what they have to sell fades fast, and they know they had better market it before it spoils.

FED UP IN SMITHTOWN, N.Y.

DEAR FED UP: If you are married, my condolences to your wife. And if you're single, please stay that way.

DEAR ABBY: Don't be so quick to condemn the husband who came home reeking of another woman's perfume. He was not necessarily guilty of fooling around with another woman.

I also came home "reeking" of perfume, and I had not been with another woman. However, I had been in a department store to buy a Valentine's Day gift for my wife, when a pretty girl sprayed me (without my permission) with some new fragrance she was trying to promote, sign me ...

Shanan Stewart

Ballet Guild Dancer

Shanan Stewart, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Roger Stewart of Sanford, auditioned to become an apprentice company dancer with Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole in 1983.

A sixth grade student at Sanford Middle School, Shanan is active in band and computers. She has received leadership, citizenship and speech awards in school. Her hobbies are skating, swimming, dancing and roller hockey.

Her ambition is to become a general surgeon or journalist. Shanan says she likes being involved with Ballet Guild and wants to become a better dancer.

Ballet Guild, a non-profit dance company based in Sanford is in its 16th year. The 21 company dancers and several guest dancers will perform in an outdoor extravaganza, "Dr. Peppercorn and the Amazing Outdoor Traveling Show" on March 24 in the stadium of Lake Mary High School.

Sing With 'Adelines'

Singers who would like to be part of an organization which performs for civic groups, presents shows all over Central Florida and competes annually, contact membership chairman Lorraine Gariani, 299-0047, for further information.

Using Gold Salts To Treat Arthritis

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm 34 and have had rheumatoid arthritis for seven years. I take 12 Bufferin tablets a day, plus 5 mg of prednisone.

At my last checkup my doctor noted the inflammation was not controlled enough and suggested I consider taking gold salt injections. Could you tell me a little bit about gold salts?

DEAR READER — Injections of gold is an old treatment. It fell into disrepute a number of years ago, but in recent years it's been revived to treat rheumatoid arthritis. It's very helpful in selected cases.

No one knows how gold works and it usually doesn't do any good unless you have 20 to 30 treatments.

It has a number of side effects. It can affect your blood-forming mechanism, which is why it's important to be carefully monitored when you're taking it. I'm sure your doctor will do that and I wouldn't be afraid to try it if your doctor has suggested it.

You could also consider taking a little more prednisone. Less than 10 mg a day usually won't cause any complications. The large doses used in the early days of treating arthritis with corticosteroids are not commonly prescribed anymore.

Other forms of treatment are briefly discussed in the Health Letter SR-10, Rheumatoid Arthritis and Ankylosing Spondylitis, which I'm sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband developed frostbite on his toe. He used every precaution he could think of but he still got a spot of it. How can he prevent this from happening again?

DEAR READER — The feet are more susceptible to cold than the hands. You can warm cold hands by exposing them to warm temperature or warm water. But the feet will not get warm unless you warm the entire body. Therefore, to prevent cold feet, you must keep the entire body warm.

Heat is rapidly conducted through the bottom of footwear to the surface on which a person is standing. If a person is standing on cold stone, it's almost the same as being barefooted. You want as thick a substance as possible between the bottom of the foot and the cold surface.

Thermal socks and several layers of socks with a shoe or boot that has a thick sole are recommended. Wool socks, a shoe pac and a felt liner can reduce the heat loss from the foot to less than 30 percent.

Your husband should pay particular attention to how thick the material is between his feet and the surface on which he is standing. He should keep his body adequately warmed and avoid exposure over a long period before he is able to warm his entire body.

You can protect the hands with wool mittens or leather gloves or some other solid, tough material. The combination of wool gloves and leather gloves will reduce the heat loss from the hands to 30 percent.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY MARCH 2, 1984

Something of importance will occur this coming year to strengthen your faith and philosophical outlook. These factors will add marvelous new qualities to your character.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Through no fault of your own, today will not be without its frustrations. However, if you're mentally flexible, you'll know how to get around whatever occurs. Major changes are in store for Pisces in the coming year. Send for your year-ahead predictions today. Mail $1 and your zodiac sign to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Send an additional $2 for THE NEW Matchmaker wheel and booklet, which reveals romantic compatibilities for all signs, plus more.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) What you set out to do can be accomplished today, but you must be tenacious and consistent. Don't let interruptions get you off-course.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In dealing with others today, place friendship above things of a material nature. If you reverse this procedure, all could go awry.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Career ambitions can be advanced today if you are willing to put forth the effort. Don't rely upon associates who have been undependable in the past.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Have total faith in yourself and your abilities today, or minor setbacks could cloud your mind with negative thoughts. Treat mishaps philosophically.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your financial prospects look encouraging today in situations where you earn by using your talents. Gambling for an increase could be another story.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Others will act upon your cue today. If you show a willingness to be cooperative, they'll do the same. Set the example and see for yourself.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A coworker may try to overshadow you today. Step out of his shade so that the boss knows who to reward for what has been accomplished.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) The activities that are likely to give you the greatest pleasure today will be those that are the least expensive. Extravagance isn't necessary.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Even though it may cause you some inconvenience today, make it a point to complete to the last detail that which you set out to do.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your hunches aren't all that swift today. You'll learn this to your dismay if you follow them, instead of using your practicality and logic.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) The possibilities for fulfilling your ambitions look good today, provided your objectives are kept within realistic bounds.

WIN AT BRIDGE

work on one of those contracts.

"At trick two he ruffed a club and made the normal play of cashing one high spade. Then he led a heart to dummy's queen and East's king. Back came another club. Edgar ruffed and cashed two spades to pluck West's trumps. Then he led another heart and stuck in dummy's nine. East took his 10 and shifted to a low diamond. A club lead would have been better, but the diamond lead gave Edgar a real problem." Who had the queen of diamonds? With his usual skill in locating honors, Edgar had no problem. He played West for either a doubleton or a tripleton queen. So he let the diamond ride to dummy's ace and cashed his king, ruffed a third diamond to pick up West's queen, and his jack of diamonds became the contract trick.

"How did the other South go wrong? He didn't. Bill Root and Dick Pavlicek competed to five clubs. They went down one, so needless to say our team won the board."

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby
Jim: "It seems that a large part of our team's victory in the Reisinger came from four-spade contracts that they made while their opponents didn't."

TONIGHT'S TV

Steamy Streetcar

Ann Margaret and Randy Quaid star in A Streetcar Named Desire, a steamy TV adaptation of Tennessee Williams' Pulitzer Prize winning classic airing Sunday on ABC. Critics call the adaptation an emotionally stunning remake of the 1951 film that made Marion Brando an overnight star. It is truer to the Williams play than the original — minor editing was approved by the playwright before his death. Miss Margaret plays fading Southern belle Blanche DuBois and Williams is her crass brother-in-law Stanley Kowalski. Quaid (The Longriders) plays Stanley's shy friend Mitch. Beverly D'Angelo (Coal Miner's Daughter) plays Blanche's younger sister Stella. Miss Margaret's Blanche is both sexy and pathetic as she flirts vainly with animalistic brother-in-law who hates her for her unwillingness to accept what her life has come to — living off his charity in his dingy flat at the end of a streetcar line in New Orleans.

Teen Would-Be Bomber Gets 90 Days, Probation

A 16-year-old Fern Park youth who pleaded guilty to planting a time bomb outside the home of a Fern Park doctor was sentenced to 90 days in jail and 15 years probation Wednesday.

Daniel Eugene Huguenard, 16, of 330 Spartan Drive, pleaded guilty Nov. 15 before Circuit Judge Robert McGregor to placing or throwing or attempting to discharge a destructive device.

Huguenard was sentenced by McGregor at 11:30 a.m. in the courthouse. The youth was given the option of serving the 90 days straight or on weekends. Because he is in school, he chose weekends.

Huguenard faced up to 15 years in prison, though at the plea hearing the issue of probation was discussed by the court with McGregor agreeing to a 15-year maximum sentence with no mandatory minimum time served.

The 16-year-old, born in Ft. Wayne, Ind., pleaded guilty to setting a bomb in bushes near the front door of the home of Dr. Victor Hochman, 215 Yarmouth Road, Fern Park, on Aug. 20. Huguenard was arrested Aug. 22.

Authorities said the bomb, made by Scott Andrew, 15, of 1921 Collier Drive, Fern Park, contained 145 grams of smokeless gun powder and was made of items found around the home. He reportedly sold the bomb to Huguenard for $35.

Andrew was sentenced Sept. 8 to an indefinite period of probation after pleading no contest to the charge of making an explosive device. According to court records, Andrew may have learned how to make the bomb from an Army manual on unconventional warfare devices and techniques.

The bomb would have worked, according to authorities, if the fuse had been properly connected.

According to Jack Martin of the Altamonte Springs Police Department, the bomb Huguenard set was capable of destroying part of the doctor's home — would have killed anyone in the home's living room — and would have killed or injured anyone within 300 feet of it.

Seminole County sheriff's investigators said the bomb apparently was placed at the doctor's house in retaliation for Hochman reporting Huguenard to deputies in connection with vandalism. —Deane Jordan

Bartender Says He Saw 4 Men Rape Woman

FALL RIVER, Mass. (UPI) — The bartender at Big Dan's Tavern, where a woman was allegedly raped on a pool table while patrons cheered, testified she was knocked down and raped by four of six defendants.

Carlos Machado, speaking in Portuguese through a court interpreter, said he witnessed the "dirty thing" at the bar in nearby New Bedford last March and was stopped by one of the defendants when he sought help for the woman.

Machado described the attack, which he said lasted for about 35 minutes. Prosecutors have estimated the alleged gang rape lasted as long as two hours.

When she came into the bar, the woman watched two of the defendants playing pool and chatted with most of the men in the tavern who clustered around her, Machado said.

At one point she "had her arms around Victor Raposo," another of the defendants, he told a Bristol County Superior Court jury Wednesday.

Machado said that after several drinks, the 22-year-old mother of two again headed for the bar and the six defendants, led by Daniel Silvia and Joseph Vieira, followed her.

Then, he heard "a loud boom on the floor" and saw Vieira and Silvia were trying to tear off her jeans, Machado said.

The woman was "on the ground, screaming and moaning," and two other defendants — Virgilio Medeiros and Jose "Blondie" Medeiros, who are not related — were pointing at her and yelling, "Do it, do it. That's it," the bartender testified.

Some Lake Mary residents have raised their pens in battle and submitted petitions to the city commission to abandon its plan being discussed tonight to eliminate confusing similar road names in the city by renaming certain streets.

According to city manager Kathy Rice, all of the citizens on Almyra Drive and Lakeshore Drive have signed a petition asking the city commission not to rename several streets.

The commission has been discussing the street renaming because of similarities in the names of several streets — Pine Circle Drive and Pine Drive Circle — and same-name streets separated by a body of water, Mrs. Rice said.

The confusing names and same-names streets hamper police, fire, and rescue efforts, she said.

The resident object to the added cost of having to change their address, Mrs. Rice said.

Also on the commission agenda tonight is a discussion of the city proposed changes in connection fees and water impact fees.

Mrs. Rice said the city charges for connecting onto the city's water system but does not charge an impact fee a means by which new construction pays for its added burden of service on the system.

One debated item of the proposed impact fee is whether it should be a flat rate revised periodically by the commission or whether the ordinance creating an impact fee should have a built-in yearly rate increase.

Two issues regarding the use of land are also scheduled to be on the commission lists of things to do tonight.

One item, a proposed ordinance placing a moratorium on building where a planned cloverleaf exit from Interstate 4 to Lake Mary Boulevard will be located has raised the ire of many land-owners, according to Mrs. Rice.

The city commission is considering a moratorium on building where the proposed exit — construction date unset — will go because of necessary road cuts and curb construction.

Mrs. Rice said she has received several calls from land owners in the area of the proposed exit who feel they are discriminated against.

Traffic is also central to another commission issue, the rezoning of property along Rinehart Road, north of Anderson Lane from manufacturing use to residential property. The Planning and Zoning Board turned down the zoning change request because of the amount of traffic the proposed 500 home units would create.

Also up for discussion is whether the city will expand its utility services to an area near NCR where new construction is planned, Mrs. Rice said.

The meeting is scheduled to be at Lake Mary City Hall at 7:30 p.m.

Burglar Doesn't Want Probation, Gets Longer Jail Term

A Sanford man sentenced to four months in jail and five years probation for burglary told the judge he didn't want probation. So, the judge obligingly resented the man to 18 months straight jail time.

Richard Leon Waterhouse, 22, of 316 Oak St., was sentenced Jan. 6 by Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize Jr. for the June 6 burglary of a sheltered workshop at 408-414 S. Sanford Avenue. He was found guilty Oct. 18 of the break-in by a five-man, one-woman jury.

However, after being sentenced, Waterhouse objected, saying he did not want probation which includes having to make monthly reports to a probation officer, obtaining permission to travel out of the county, paying for his supervision, and submitting to search and chemical tests if he had been suspected of having illegal contact with drugs.

Mize obliged Waterhouse's request and sentenced him to 18 months behind bars, giving him credit for 265 days already served. The net effect of the sentence, therefore, is that Waterhouse will have to serve an additional 282 more days in jail.

In other court action: William D. Bradham, 23, of 411 Bell Ave., Sanford, received two years probation for carrying a concealed weapon. For Bradham's Dec. 19 guilty plea, the state did not prosecute a second count of possession a controlled substance.

Bradham was arrested Aug. 30 by Sanford police at Uncle Nick's Oyster Bar, 2605 Park Drive, after an officer noticed he was carrying a weapon.

According to court records, Bradham was armed with a fully-loaded .44-caliber handgun and a large hunting knife.

A Winter Park man, Leron Redfin, 35, of 1147 Kapen St., was sentenced to 30 months for grand theft and fleeing or attempting to elude a police officer.

According to court records, Redfin kept a store clerk busy while a female friend took $175 worth of clothes. Redfin then joined the woman and left the area in a foreign sports car. The car was spotted by police, but Redfin refused to stop. He was eventually caught in heavy traffic.

Robert Edward Borsdoff Jr., 23, of 2557 Palmetto Ave., Sanford, was sentenced to one year in prison for possession of a firearm by a convicted felon.

Borsdoff was convicted March 22 for a 1977 arson in Jackson County. The same day, violating parole, he pawned a shotgun at a Seminole County pawn shop for $20. The pawn shop owner told Borsdoff he could not take the gun unless he also got a thumb print. Borsdoff obliged, the print was checked and he was arrested.

An Altamonte Springs man was sentenced to 18 months in jail and 3 1/2 years probation for leaving the scene of an accident in which one of the victims was his brother.

Nicholas Patrick Glynn, 22, of 537 E. Alpine, pleaded guilty Feb. 22 to leaving the scene of an accident with injuries Nov. 23.

According to court records, Glynn drove his car around a car stopped at a stop sign at Hillcrest Drive near Altamonte Springs and ran into a car travelling on Palm Springs Road. After the accident, Glynn fled the scene on foot, leaving his brother with head injuries and a broken jaw and two people injured in the other vehicle.

The leaving the scene of an accident conviction violated his parole for burglary and petty theft in 1979.

He is scheduled to be sentenced May 11 by Circuit Judge Dominick Saffi and faces a 1 1/2 to 3 1/2-year prison term. An Altamonte Springs man has been sentenced to 18 months in jail and 3 1/2 years probation for leaving the scene of an accident in which one of the victims was his brother.

Robert John Olson, 18, of North Street and Raymond Avenue, pleaded guilty to the Nov. 29 burglary of a home owned by John M. Rashleigh, 435 Howard Ave., Longwood.

Olson was arrested Nov. 30 for the burglary and confessed.

He is scheduled to be sentenced by Saffi May 18 and can receive up to one year in jail.

Sally Ann Floyd, 28, of Orlando, has been sentenced to two years probation for her arrest with five other night club dancers for possession of cocaine and solicitation of alcoholic beverages.

Ms. Floyd, also known as "Summer," was arrested Sept. 9 with five other dancers at the Club Juana in Casselberry. The other defendants are in various stages of litigation.

The arrest came after two weeks of investigation into cocaine sales at the night club that features topless dancing on U.S. Highway 17-92.

Ms. Floyd must also serve 20 consecutive weekends in the Seminole County jail starting March 4.

A Sanford man has pleaded guilty to a charge of grand theft by burglary.

Gregory John Green, 21, of 2001 W. Wind Court, Sanford, has pleaded guilty to burglarizing a safe owned by Eugene and Nancy Robinson, 355 2nd St., Lake Mary.

According to court records, on Oct. 25, Green helped open a safe containing $250 in cash and $1,750 in gold and jewelry. He was originally charged with grand theft, grand theft by receiving stolen property and accessory after the fact. For a guilty plea on grand theft by receiving stolen property, the state agreed not to prosecute the other charges.

He is scheduled to be sentenced by Saffi May 18 and faces up to 15 years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Deane Jordan

Florida Seeks Federal Money For Beach Study

By United Press International

Florida lawmakers are trying to stop erosion from eating away at beaches in the Sunshine State, and they're asking the federal government to pay for a major 10-year study they hope will bring a solution.

"We're looking for a better understanding of some of the conditions that lead to the erosion of sand, both from natural and human activities," said Stan Tait, director of the Florida Association of Beaches and Shores. "There's simply an awful lot we don't know."

State environmental officials want a $250,000 supplemental appropriation in the 1984 budget to survey erosion damage caused by natural forces and development along the coast.

The Florida congressional delegation, led by Rep. Claude Pepper of Miami, is backing the request and Pepper said he is confident of getting the money this year.

Pepper said the $250,000 would pay for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to start collecting information for the project. Further funding would have to be sought for each year the study continued.

Aides to Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Lakeland, said he also backs the request and will try to find the money as ranking Democrat on the Senate Budget Committee.

Many government agencies, including the Florida Department of Natural Resources, the Army Corps of Engineers and local governments, monitor beach erosion in their jurisdictions. But experts say those efforts generally lack coordination and long-range planning.

"Even with the money that we now have available to us (for renourishment projects), we suspect we're not spending it as wisely as we could," said Tait, whose organization lobbies for waterfront cities and counties.

Congress approved a similar study for California in 1981 after a series of storms damaged beachfront property there.

Seminole Deputy Captures Escapee

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

An Orange County prison escapee was captured by a Seminole County sheriff's deputy at 1:50 a.m. today and is being held without bond for Orange County authorities in the Seminole County jail.

Deputy T.A. Brown spotted the suspect, who had escaped from his work release program job at an Orlando mattress company on Aug. 26, 1983, as he walked across the intersection of state Road 434 and Montgomery Road, Altamonte Springs, carrying a stick in his right hand and with what appeared to be a purse strapped across his shoulder. Brown's report said.

When the deputy stopped the man and asked for identification he allegedly produced a driver's license in the name of a George A. Watson and the social security card of a Keith L. Gibbs. He also had a social security card in his own name and when Brown ran a check on the suspect's identification he discovered that the man was a convicted burglar who had been sentenced to serve 51 weeks in the Orange County Court Alternative Center starting on Feb. 23, 1983. He arrested the man and transported him to jail.

When Rufus Dumas, 25, of 206 W. 15th St., Apopka, was booked into the jail he reportedly had a check in his possession made out to South East Acceptance, Corp., by Don Covy Roofing, Longwood. The prisoner said he found the check on a railroad track, according to the sheriff's report.
