UPSALA AND GRAPEVILLE

Mr. Henderson has been worried about the condition of his father who has been very weak of late and fell Saturday striking his head by the fire place.

A good number out to Bible study last Tuesday night. Next time we are invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Menlor for a cottage meeting as there are a number who find it hard to get to the church.

It is very dry and forest fires are all about. Monday we in Upsala were very much excited by one that swept down from Paola way where they had been fighting it around Miss Taylor's place for a couple of days it came like a race horse and although a number near by fought it and back fired but in spite of all it leaped into Neil Swanson's place and burnt up his barn and only by strenuous efforts was kept from the house. A tree close to the house was on fire and a limb had to be sawed off. The old Anderson house, now owned by colored people also caught but was soon put out. A number came out from town to see it. It will be quite a loss to Mr. and Mrs. Swanson as it contained a lot of tools, three gallons of paint, lumber to ceil the kitchen, chicken feed and rolls of fencing etc. Mr. Swanson was at the ice plant.

The fire burnt up most of the straw in the road, threatening the church and other buildings. We think these forest fires are a big mistake, causing a great deal of loss for the little good they do.

Seymore Pritchard is busy plowing and fertilizing his new orange grove. Mrs. Neese and children spent Tuesday in town with her sister Mrs. Hamil Tolar.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Lundquist were calling on Sanford friends, Mr. and Mrs. Henson, after service Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Krell, and children have returned home to Windmore after spending a few days at the home of their parents Mr. and Mrs. Turner, leaving Tuesday.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP OF PUBLIC UTILITIES SAVE CITIES MONEY

Mayor Martin, of Jacksonville, Tells People of Orlando Some Facts

ORLANDO, Feb. 17.—Drawing a picture of how Jacksonville back in 1895 bonded for $75,000 to build its electric plant, and how the people, through subsequent bond issues have added to that plant until today they have put into it, through bond issues some $800,000, Mayor Martin, of Jacksonville, the principal speaker at last night's mass meeting, told some hundred and fifty tax payers that this plant had put into the general revenue fund, which money had gone towards lowering taxes, a total of $2,400,000, and that today the plant and its system is worth on a fair appraisal $2,500,000. The additional cost of the plant such as extensions, etc., above the bonded indebtedness of $800,000 having been taken out of the earnings of the plant. A city with the beauty of Orlando Mayor Martin said, should take pride in its government, and there are three cardinal things which are necessary for good government: First, good health; second, a good fire department; third, a good police department. To insure the health of any city, its sanitation must be guaranteed and to this end its water is a great item. To insure it against destruction from fire it is entirely dependable upon the water system, coupled with the fire fighting ability of the department. Its police department makes it possible for people to live and enjoy their pursuits of happiness, and to enjoy these privileges municipalities have been formed to give to the people those things good for civilization and good health. Taxation is the only means through which money can be raised to obtain these privileges and advantages. In the course of construction these municipalities have constructed beautiful streets, electricity is needed to light these streets, and in Jacksonville the only solution to the vexing problem of the water and light question was municipal ownership. According to Mayor Martin it was the efforts of the late J. N. C. Stockton that Jacksonville obtained its own water and light plant. This plant in 1895 cost $75,000. The people at that time fought the issue, as it is most always contested when first brought up in every city, but later the city asked for more bonds and they were more cheerfully voted and again in 1912 a bond issue of $600,000 was passed. And the plant which cost the city $800,000 to build and equip by taxation has paid into the general revenue fund, which money goes towards lowering taxes, a total of $2,400,000, and the plant today is worth $2,500,000. Mr. Martin believes Jacksonville is making its electricity cheaper than ninety per cent of the cities in this country where the power is derived from fuel. According to his figures his city manufactures a kilowatt at a cost of .901 of a cent at its plant and delivers it down town at a cost of one and three-quarters cent. It sells this service at seven cents per kilowatt hour to the small consumer, where the service is $50 a month and up and it is graduated down. The water plant Mayor Martin said could not show anything like the profit that the light plant did, because its operation and cost of extensions were so much greater than that of the light plant, however, Jacksonville's plant last year turned into the general revenue fund $75,000, besides this amount $37,500 was spent in extensions. The minimum rate charged is one dollar per month per household with an allowance of 600 gallons per day. Mr. Martin is not a believer in municipal ownership of all business. This he said, would be socialism, bolshevism and worse, but there are certain utilities which directly affect the people and these should be run for their benefit. It makes no difference if they are run by a private concern, corporation or municipality, the people must ultimately pay the bill. Any company will be allowed a reasonable amount of profit upon its investment, but just what this reasonable amount is, there are at times great difference of opinions, and as the municipalities can run the plants in the same efficient manner as can a corporation, this profit can be cut to a minimum and the profit absorbed in cheaper rates.

TWITCHELL FUNERAL SERVICES SATURDAY

Walter Hawley Twitchell, Worcester, Mass., who has been for a number of years a winter resident of Florida, suffered an attack of angina pectoris about 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, and death came within the hour. The sudden summons created a profound impression throughout Daytona where he is well known and great sympathy was expressed for the deeply bereaved wife and son, over the sudden shock and separation.

Mr. Twitchell was in his usual health; he had spent the evening Tuesday with some friends. He ate a light breakfast as was his custom, and refused to go on a hike with a group of men, with whom he had been walking each morning, saying he had some other things he wished to do. When the men returned from their walk, they found a desolated home, for their friend had passed on. Funeral services have been tentatively set for Saturday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock at the Bingham & Maley chapel.

Mr. and Mrs. Twitchell for the past three years have been occupying one of the Rutter apartments on North Palmetto avenue. Last winter they took a motor trip to California, but were glad to return to Florida again this winter. Mr. Twitchell would have been 59 years of age on February 22, and Mrs. Twitchell had invited some friends in for that evening to help pass the milestone. He was born in Brookfield, Mass. He founded and was the head of the W. H. Twitchell Plating Company, of Worcester, Mass., retiring from business in 1913. Twenty-five years ago he was married to Miss Lottie Wright at her home in Tanagerine, Florida, who with their one son, Richard H. Twitchell, survives. The Twitchells made their home at 9 LaGrange street, Worcester, where Mr. Twitchell was a member of the Congregational Club and a life member in the Worcester Mechanics Association. He was a member of the Old South Congregational church for years.

The family has been spending the summers at Oak Burr Island, Martha's Vineyard, and the winters in Florida since Mr. Twitchell retired from business.

On the streets Wednesday the announcement of his passing brought many expressions of appreciation of his sterling worth, and many character and deep regret over his passing. Mrs. Key, of Sanford, a sister of Mrs. Twitchell, and A. K. Key, a nephew, arrived as soon as they could reach Daytona after the news of his death had been received, and will be with her for the present.

Following the services on Saturday the body will be laid away in the chapel here until spring, when it will be taken north for burial.—Daytona Journal.

Mr. Twitchell, with his wife and son spent the winter of 1914 in Sanford, and at that time, and since, having made other short visits to our city at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Key and made many friends who will regret his passing and sympathize deeply with the bereaved family.

The merchant marine program, it was added, has been virtually determined, and today was in the drafting stage, with Chairman Lasker and experts of the shipping board engaged in the preparation of a tentative bill for introduction in both branches of congress late next week when President Harding plans to submit the administration recommendations.

A direct subsidy amounting to about $250,000,000 annually was said to have been agreed upon by the President, Chairman Lasker and other Republican leaders. The basic rate, it was added, would be one-half of one cent per ton per hundred miles. This would be paid to operators of American ships to aid in their operation and the extension of their trade route. The one-half cent rate would be given to vessel of low speed, and a sliding scale, it was said, would increase the rate to as high as one and three-quarters cents per ton per hundred miles for the speediest American vessels.

The direct subsidy, it was stated would be the principal charge upon the treasury, while more benefit officials believe, would be received by the merchant marine from the indirect subsidies. These would include special rates for carrying the United States mail and preferential railroad rates. The latter, under the tentative administration bill now being prepared, technically would be in the form of reduced cargo rates on American vessels, but actually would amount to reduced railroad rates.

Under the plan said to have been agreed to, shippers would be given a reduced cargo rate on American vessels when shipping merchandise to an American port for export—on vessels operated by the emergency fleet corporation.

Another suggestion said to have been made by Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, Chairman of the Senate commerce committee, to be incorporated in the administration bill, would require that a certain and substantial percentage of immigrants would be required to come to this country in vessels flying the American flag. The definite percentage has not been agreed upon but was said to range from fifty to sixty per cent, of the total number of immigrants coming to this country.
