Putting Stretch In Shirts Is Mark Of Sport Style

By HUGH THOMPSON
Copley News Service

Exercise has become America's new national pastime, and the men's wear industry has gotten the message. Who knows where it all started. Maybe it was the Royal Canadian exercises of a decade ago, maybe the President's program on physical fitness more recently.

Whatever the inspiration, there is a new breed of American male who is substituting physical fitness for the "easy life." The men's fashion industry, with the aid of advanced technology, has come up with a new approach—dresswear—with fit, fashion and movement in sportswear.

Comfortable clothes that move with the wearer now keynote men's wear, especially for active sports participation. One highlight of this movement is the totally new stretch broadcloth for men's shirts. This material gives and flexes with each move of the wearer, making it an extremely comfortable garment that can serve double duty. It has the appearance to make it practical for business wear, and the stretch-comfort to go on to the golf course or the bicycle path.

This new shirt fabric is a textured polyester blended with cotton which is woven to stretch with complete recoverability. The added "plus" is that it's silky to the touch and still maintains the traditional look of a woven shirting.

This new-type shirt is being produced by one of the national brand shirtmakers. Another maker has come up with the only all-knit tennis jacket on the market. This jacket is made of half polyester and half rayon, adding easy care to easy wear.

The same national department store chain which is introducing this ski sweater also has the latest over-the-boot ski pants, with flare bottoms and bold colors. These pants, which have a water-repellent finish, full-elastic waistband and full stirrups, are made of rayon, nylon and spandex for comfortable fit.

All of these garments are white, with navy and red trim. For the ski slopes there is an all-wool narrow knit sweater, recently introduced by one of the national department store chains. This sweater is in crew-neck styling, with two narrow stripes on the chest and arms to enhance the bold body color.

Golf wear, especially slacks, continues to stress the double-knit approach, with many new patterns appearing in the nation's clubhouses.

FAST RECOVERY — A new stretch woven broadcloth shirting of textured polyester and cotton is designed to recover its natural shape even after the most strenuous bike ride or golf game.

In Reupholstering

Mix Or Match Fabrics

By BARBARA HARTUNG

Q. I need to reupholster a divanport and chair for my living room. My rug is a soft green shag, walls are champagne and new draperies will be the same. Wood furniture is walnut. I also have a small rocker upholstered in tan and green tapestry, a black vinyl recliner and a brown leather chair. I do not want the velvet being shown now but I do wish a good, hard-finish material. The divanport and chair are of excellent construction and warrant a good fabric. There are two south, two east and a large north window in the room, which is 21 by 15 feet. — F.C.B.

A. I would think a cheery stripe fabric in champagne, tan, brown and green would be handsome and would not fight with the tapestry fabric. You would not necessarily need to do both the sofa and chair in the same fabric pattern. You could do the chair in a green (deeper than your carpeting). Or you could do them both alike. I think you can find an interesting woven with a hard surface. The heavy texture would look well with your brown and black chairs. If you are concerned about soiling, you might have your fabric treated with a soil repellent before it is put on your sofa and chair.

Q. I am having trouble decorating one of my bathrooms. I have red, white and blue accessories. Among them is a fantastic red and blue striped shower curtain. The stripes are in a diamond pattern on clear plastic. There is a navy blue tank cover and a bath mat with a red stripe and blue stripe around the edge. Recently the toilet seat stripes became rusted and I have to buy a new seat. Now the problem is the bathroom has yellow fixtures. Red, white and blue just doesn't go with yellow. So I found a real cute red, white, blue, yellow and green flowered toilet seat. But after I got home I realized the stripes and flowers don't go too well. The seat is just perfect to combine the colors but now the problem is stripes and flowers. Can I carry off this type of decorating scheme? What else should I do to pull it off? I have another bathroom but it has a stall shower. — L.D.

A. Rather than a problem of flowers and stripes, it seems it is one of color scheme because a red, white and blue scheme is a dramatic one and fights rather than blends with anything else. I don't know how you could tie it all together. I think you should eliminate the shower curtain, great as it is, and save it and the bath mat for another house, another year. Or you could cut it down for a window in your other bathroom. Or maybe you could do a valance over the shower door. You probably should repaint the yellow walls white and re-

Uniloy Plant Slated For Five Points

By John A. Spolki

Honest, if you have a tip for me, more often than not a simple phone call will suffice, thank you.

Like this morning,..... A gent comes walking in and hands me an envelope. "I'll give you a thousand guesses and you'll still be wrong on what was inside. A Winter Park firm plans to build a 20,000 square foot manufacturing plant near Five Points to produce conveyors for the dairy and beverage industries starting in April.

William Todd, manager of Uniloy Conveyors, confirmed Thursday that the firm, a division of Hoover Ball and Bearing Corporation, Ann Arbor, Michigan, is purchasing 10 acres north of State Road 419 and construction on the new plant is slated to begin January 1.

Todd said access to the plant site will be by opening a platted street, Pennsylvania Avenue. The concrete block construction building will be completely air conditioned.

Todd said Uniloy now employs 23 persons in leased Winter Park facilities producing conveyors marketed primarily to the dairy industry throughout the nation.

"We're moving our present operation to Seminole County where there's room for expansion," he said.

Todd said the firm is beer and soft drink industries.

The new plant at Five Points will be designed for future expansion to 40,000 square feet.

Initial employment will be 30 persons with the first year's payroll estimated at $125,000.

When the plant is expanded to 40,000 square feet Todd said employment is expected to top 75 persons.

"We chose Seminole County for the new plant because land was available and we've also found some of our best employees come from the Sanford area," Todd said.

He said six of the firm's employees at the Winter Park location reside in the Sanford area.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Twenty-eight people were injured, two seriously, today when a modernistic monorail bus carrying Christmas travelers at Tampa International Airport stopped abruptly from a speed of near 30 miles an hour, officials said.

Some 100 persons aboard the train were thrown about the pilotless vehicle when it stopped in the middle of a 1,000-foot long elevated track connecting the main terminal with one of four satellite loading terminals.

"There was glass inside the shuttle but I didn't have time to see where it came from because we had too many injured to look after," said Fire Rescue Capt. Howard Richards.

An airport spokesman said 24 of the injured were taken to two area hospitals. Two persons were listed in serious condition. Most suffered from cuts, bruises and sprains.

Gambler Buys Orlando Complex

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Nevada gambling magnate William F. Harrah, a mod millionaire who restores old cars as a hobby, is moving into bustling central Florida as the new owner of a posh apartment complex.

Harrah, with gambling holdings in Nevada second only to billionaire, reclusive Howard Hughes, has bought a 200-apartment building for a reported price of $10.87 million. The complex, called Americana, is being built by the Boston developer Jeters Corp. on a 30-acre tract off south Orange Blossom Trail near the sprawling $400 million Walt Disney World amusement center.

In the early 1940s, Harrah had a reputation in Nevada where he was known as a free-wheeling owner of a large parlor. He would travel to rival casinos, raise one finger to the bartender and set up the house to drink. That free business and soon his parlor blossomed into a full gaming casino.

Within two years he began turning his organization into such a smooth running business venture some said it seemed more like Wall Street than Nevada. His guiding philosophy is to be once said, "on the seat of my hire professionals who know what they're doing."

Harrah has been married five times—three times within the past four years. His most notable marriage was to country singer Bobbie Gentry in 1969. Last month he wed Roxanne, a 32-year-old former model. Harrah has a reputation of being a perfectionist. He receives monthly reports on the status of employes battling weight problems and top executives in his coffee are reminded of their weights by a prominently displayed chart in the management conference room.

He's concerned with physical fitness enough to work out regularly and jog a mile a day.

His hobby is restoring automobiles and like everything else, he does it big. It's said he has the world's largest collection of some 1,400 cars. About 1,000 of these are on display in Reno.

For Central Florida Stadium Sought At Airport

By BILL SCOTT

The wheels that may some day bring a major league type football stadium complex to a 150-acre site at the Sanford Airport started in motion at this morning's Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce executive meeting, when the group voted to pursue a recommendation from a member that the attempt be made to locate a facility here.

On a motion by Julian Stenstrom, with a seconding from Wayne Albert, the committee gave its support to a proposal advanced by Tom McDonald to interest Orange County officials to help Sanford acquire a stadium complex, which could be used for a National Football League stadium.

McDonald brought out that users such as a Billy Graham Crusade and numerous other events would be coming here, if a way is found to raise enough funds for the undertaking.

Selected on the stadium committee, which is being formed by McDonald were Stenstrom, Albert, John Spolski and J. S. Cleveland, airport manager.

McDonald said his first effort would be to appear before the Airport Authority at its January meeting to present the plan before that body for approval.

The next step, if the authority approves, would be to contact the East Central Florida Planning Council, as well as officials in each of the three counties (Orange, Osceola, Seminole) to obtain support in the endeavor.

During discussion of the plan, it was brought out by several of the committee members that a major problem in placing the stadium at the airport would be sufficient roads to enable thousands of people to travel back and forth to the facility.

Termining the project "extremely ambitious," McDonald said he felt it could be done if enough help from Orlando could be generated. Mayor Lee P. Moors of Sanford, said a committee member, quipped "Orlando doesn't gush, it takes a year."

Airport manager Cleveland commented "It's worthy of effort, but there are plenty of obstacles to overcome."

Lawyer Says Donations Improper

By DONNA ESTES

LONGWOOD — Donations of taxpayers' funds to civic organizations are improper, in the opinion of City Attorney S. Joseph Davis Jr. but, the lawyer acknowledged "I am wrong sometimes," recommended last night to the City Council that an Attorney-General opinion be sought in the matter.

The opinion was asked from Davis last week when representatives of the Seminole County Association for Retarded Children appeared before the board seeking donation of some $900 to operate the retarded adult educational program.

Council during budget hearings last summer agreed it would donate funds to the Seminole County Drug Action Committee in the new budget year. Davis' opinion of legality was not requested at the time and the funds have not as yet been released to the committee, according to records in the city clerk's office.

Davis told the Council last night that after researching the city charter he could find nothing authorizing the city to make such grants and further that, the donations would be of doubtful value to the city from a legal point of view.

"Where do you draw the line?" he asked. "These are taxpayers' funds." When representatives of SCARC argued the point, Davis replied that he, personally, is in sympathy with the cause, but that his opinion had to be based on what is legal for the city. "I am not here to win a popularity contest," the lawyer declared.

Council needed Davis' recommendation and instructed him to obtain the attorney-general opinion.

Several months ago, the open ditch said to have been the vehicle of drainage for the area for the past 30 years, although no easements are shown in public records, was closed in part by a homeowner.

During heavy rains, last month when one house was completely surrounded by water, the mayor appealed to the property owner to allow opening of the ditch to permit the water to drain off.

Two weeks later, however, L. Shubert of Overstreet Avenue appeared before the board requesting that the mayor's word be kept and the ditch filled in again. The city ordered city crews to fill the ditch immediately.

The drainage ditch, according to reports given at Council meetings, begins in the Longwood Industrial Park off SR 414 and proceeds to an outfall in Fairy Lake.

New Land Use Plan Readied For County

By ANN SHECZKOWSKI

Seminole County planning and zoning board will be presented the latest revised Land Use plan up to the year 1980, according to County Planner, David Farr.

The presentation is to be presented in the form of a narrative which will involve four aspects of the program—first, a description of the population trends, construction rates, economic factors and present development trends.

In an attempt to make clear to all who consider the plan, Farr drafted special terminology for the benefit of those persons. Density, which is mentioned throughout the treatise on the plan is identified as the total number of units in a particular project divided by the total number of acres or square feet of land above the flood-prone area, water body, or any other geographical characteristic which makes it unfit for building.

"Major Thoroughfare Improvements" These are classified by Major Arterials to have the ditch resurfaced, those roads primarily of expressway classification; "Minor arterials," which are roads which connect major arterials and provide access to and from major traffic arteries; and "Major Collectors" — or roads which connect minor arterials and large residential areas or shopping and employment centers. The plan indicates that improvements will be needed on certain routes based on the land use patterns as outlined by 1980. Farr said that all flood prone areas are not and cannot be shown on the land use map. He is of the opinion that before any zoning or development is permitted in Seminole County, the USGS Flood Prone Mapping Series should be considered and no development or zoning should be allowed which is in contradiction to that series.

The Land Use Plan is based on the premise that by 1980, the County will have two general areas of land use — areas which are primarily rural or suburban and the other in-

Pastor's Corner It's Not Just "Another Day"

REV. ALEXANDER D. SUMNER, PASTOR
Holy Cross Episcopal Church

It sure is hard to ignore Christmas these days. The streets are decorated, the cars are adorned by cards from friends and relatives. All the media seem to be full of Christmas ideas.

Still, in spite of the advertising, it seems as though it is difficult to make Christmas "just another day." If we cannot surround ourselves with loved ones, or if things are not going quite right, or if we face sorrow or hurt, we may even regard Christmas as "that awful day."

Then, too, we find it easy to get caught up in the exchange of gifts, the sending of Christmas cards, the stuffing with rich foods, and all that sort of thing. It gets to the point where the cost of the cards is more important than the thought, and the value of the gift more important than the giver.

What we need to remember is the Christ in Christmas. The day is not just a day of feasting and gift-giving, but it is the celebration of God's work among men. Christmas to the day we especially call to mind Christ being born at Bethlehem. We give thanks that God so loved us all that He sent His Son — not with a great sounding of trumpets and great ovens, but in a simple gentle birth of a Child — to a stable in a back-

Christmas Explained To Twelve Year Old

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Dear Sam:

You're 12 now, and after that many Christmases you're probably as jaded by the day as you are delighted. It's a jumbled-up time: crowded stores, music, spending, decorating, and lost fantasies.

You had to give up Santa a few years back to the obvious facts, although we kept him going as long as we could. It was a reluctant realization, usually unspoken, but plainly evident and gradually a seasonal joke.

Sometimes that sort of thing, the mixture of play-acting and the real, the getting and giving, the piled-up packages and their suggestion of mingled greed and generosity, makes the whole affair seem a kind of hokey-up game.

The actual meaning gets blurred and covered up in the clutter. But if there, somewhere, behind the noise and hectic shopping, behind the over-wanting and over-giving, behind the excitement and sometimes tears of that oddly amalgamated morning.

And that's not so good. Because we really ought to pay a little more mind to just what the occasion is all about. Of course you know, maybe a little vaguely sometimes, that it has to do with something that happened a long time ago in a far-off place, and you see the little models of it in the store windows, the woman with the baby, the animals standing around, some strange guys on camels bringing gifts to the Christ child.

It's a strange story, a sort of curiosity. But don't let the fanciful qualities of it make you put it on the same level with Santa Claus. Despite its seeming remoteness from the present, and with all the maddening elements of Christmas, it's about something great and true, right now, this day.

The thing is that when Jesus was born, a new light came into this world, a person who showed us the way of real living and total goodness, who

Kidnap Ransom Is Paid

DALLAS (AP) — The president of the Dallas Morning News, Joe M. Dealey, paid $50,000 ransom today for release of his kidnapped daughter-in-law, who was freed unharmed after being held captive two and one-half days, an associate disclosed.

The young woman, Amanda Mayhew Dealey, 22, was found heavily taped and with her jewelry missing, the associate said.

Felix R. McKnight, editor and copublisher of the Dallas Times Herald, made the announcement. He said Dealey himself left the money for his daughter-in-law's abductors at a spot which apparently had been designated in a series of telephone calls.

The kidnapers' victim is the wife of Joe M. Dealey Jr., of the Dallas morning newspaper's copyediting department.

McKnight related these details of the case, which had been a secret shared by some newsmen until the young woman's safety was assured.

Mrs. Dealey Jr., an attractive former Dallas debutante and volunteer child social welfare worker, disappeared late Tuesday afternoon after parking her car in the driveway of her apartment home in University Park, a fashionable island city surrounded by Dallas.

Authorities later theorized that the kidnapers were waiting in the same driveway. Mrs. Dealey's automobile was left next to the space normally allotted to her apartment.

First contact with the abductors came at about 11 p.m. Tuesday in a telephone call to Joe M. Dealey Sr. that gave brief details and instructions, at the same time demanding a $50,000 ransom in $20 bills.

There was a second contact Wednesday afternoon, again terse and minus any information about the condition of Mrs. Dealey. This time the caller warned, "Have the money ready or the game is over."

The father-in-law received the first specific instructions later that day along with a warning against interference by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. There still was no word on the condition of the missing woman.

A crisp, intense voice informed Dealey Sr. that the kidnapers knew him by sight and could identify his automobile. He was told to be sure no use was made of electronic devices or hidden FBI agents when he went to a rendezvous with the $50,000.

HO, HO, HO.....WE'LL VISIT ALL GOOD CHILDREN
Sanford Police Sergeant Doug Bishop turned his motorcycle around in order that Santa Claus would be able to see all of the routes which he will travel in the early morning hours. Before he left the area, he was heard to say, "I'll be back, boys and girls...."

Again Hits Public Food Cost Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer prices climbed another three-tenths of one per cent in November, virtually erasing President Nixon's hope of bringing the inflation rate down to three per cent or less in 1973.

Prices in the last three months, instead of declining to levels between two and three per cent, as would have been required to meet the anti-inflation goals—rose at a 4.2 per cent rate, the department reported. This compared with 2.9 per cent in the preceding three months.

The more rapid rise this fall was blamed on food prices; they rose 1.1 per cent in November after seasonal adjustment, whereas all other commodities increased only one-tenths of one per cent.

The month's report closed the first year of Phase 2 of the wage-price control program. In that period the Consumer Price Index rose 3.5 per cent, the report showed, compared with a climb of 3.8 per cent in the eight months of 1971 preceding the wage-price freeze imposed by Nixon on August 15.

Whereas retail food prices usually show a large decline in November, the food price index for grocery stores increased five-tenths of one per cent last month. Prices for pork, eggs and fresh fruits declined, but less than seasonally. Restaurant food costs climbed four-tenths of one per cent, twice the increase in October.

Apparel led the nonfood increase. Used car prices continued to go up and new car prices increased slightly.

Elderly Day Care Grows

By LYNNE OLSON
Associated Press Writer

"Before I came here, I felt like I had been thrown away for good," said Minnie Smith. "Now I feel like a person again. I think people really do still care for me."

The 76-year-old widow, her hands wrapped around a cane, was talking about her attendance at an Atlanta day care center for the elderly, one of a growing number throughout the country.

About 50 such centers, many of them in operation less than a year, are located in 20 states, and several more are in the planning stages, according to a study being prepared for the federal government's Office of Long-Term Care Services.

The day care centers are part of an intensified effort to keep physically and mentally limited senior citizens in the community and out of nursing homes.

Participants include stroke and heart patients, amputees and people with such diseases as arteriosclerosis and Parkinson's disease. Some centers also accept mildly senile persons.

Most of those attending the centers live with family members who work and can't give their elderly relatives the constant care they need. Others live alone.

President Nixon, in a report to the White House Conference on Aging last December, recommended that alternatives be found to placing the elderly in institutions.

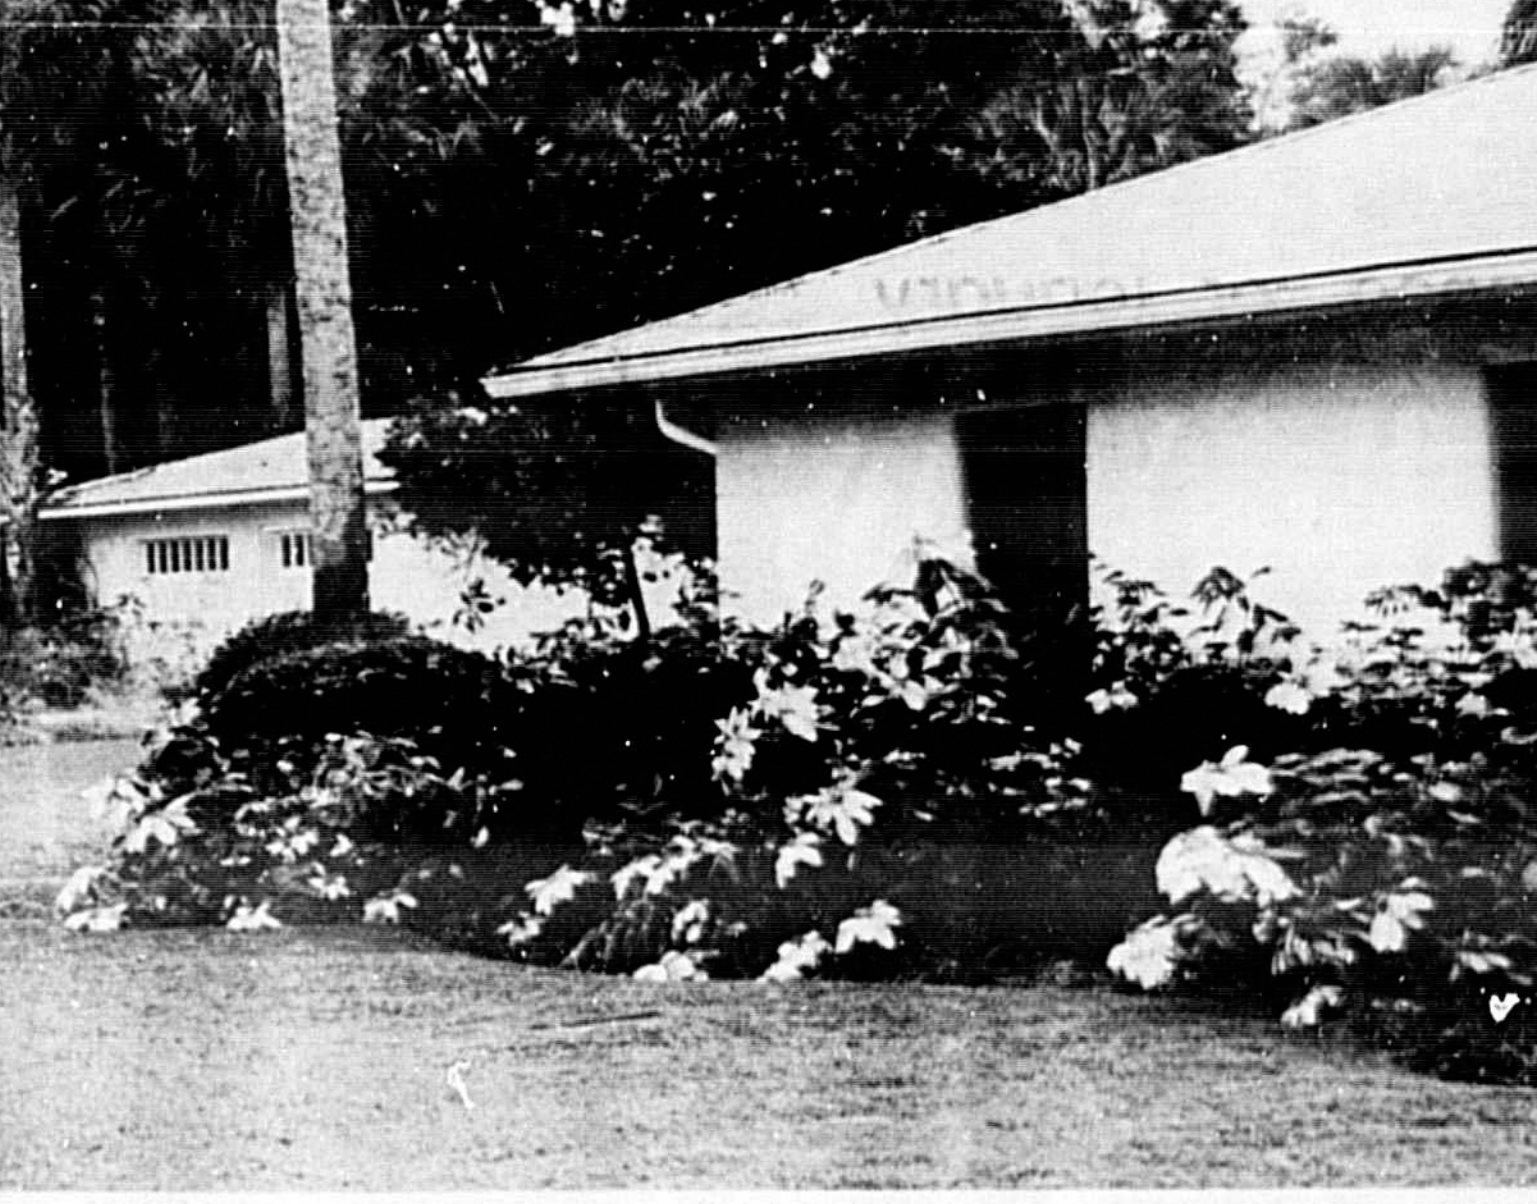

The U.S. Administration on Aging recently provided grants to three day care centers, "in order to stimulate and guide the development and expansion of other day care centers."

One of the three facilities is run by Levindale Hebrew Geriatric Center and Hospital, a Baltimore nursing home.

Participants include stroke and heart patients, amputees and people with such diseases as arteriosclerosis and Parkinson's disease. Some centers also accept mildly senile persons.

Counselor Helps Save Marriages

By CLARE OGA

NEW YORK — A well-known pastoral counselor is helping to save middle-aged marriages on the wings of a hymn and a prayer.

The Rev. Frank A. Kosty of Montclair, N.J., associate editor of the United Church Herald, has drawn on 20 years as a pastor and counselor to try to deal with the crises that can strike at a couple's silver wedding anniversary.

"According to national statistics," Kosty says, "the period 25 to 29 years after the wedding is one of the times that the traditional marriage is most threatened. The rate of divorce registers as high as 30 per cent.

The period to which he refers occurs when children leave for college, a job or marriage. Some couples are shattered when their adolescents run away from home.

There are many ways to handle a crisis in middle age, but Kosty recommends several steps that have helped many of those he has counseled.

First, he advises couples to start where they are, examining their problems as objectively as possible and getting some idea of the direction in which they would like to go. They should use the resources already at their command—their ideas, their opportunities and their physical advantages—rather than searching for magic answers and track solutions, which really do not exist.

Moreover, Kosty urges couples—and individuals, too—to be willing to ask for help, explaining, "It is true that Christians can really be anti-Christian in their feeling that somehow they must solve their own

Streaming Government To Cut Costs

President Nixon's drive to streamline the government during the next four years is a worthwhile venture which will get good press mileage but actually do little to cut the cost of government spending.

Mr. Nixon has made a distinct point of attempting to cut down the number of employees in his own executive branch. What the President has espoused is a whittling down of the bureaucracy, reshuffling of top-drawer administrators to assure a kindling of fresh interests, and a general move to make big agencies more responsive to public needs.

On paper, the plan sounds good. In reality, however, most Washington hands agree that Mr. Nixon is only unloading one cost accounting item from his budget into the hands of someone else. Ultimately, the taxpayers' cost will remain the same or go up.

The best example of the problem is in Mr. Nixon's announced plan to cut his own White House staff by more than half from over 450 jobs to something under 200.

White House second echelon workers who will get the axe are men and women who came to Washington in the President's 1968 wave of victory. Virtually all were untrained or ill suited for the federal service but had performed tasks either in the campaign or in private which pleased the President's inner circle.

Throughout the years, such rewards—in Democratic and Republican administrations—have been called patronage. Mr. Nixon's staff has not rewritten the book.

Between now and early February, however, many of the 1968 hangers-on will go. Unfortunately or otherwise, most will stay in Washington and continue on the federal payroll. The biggest group of disenfranchised White House workers cut under the Nixon edict will drift to the city's biggest payroll carrier—Congress.

Most, if not all of the workers deemed dispensable by the White House will not find greener pastures in offices of House and Senate members or in a variety of standing or special committees set up by Capitol Hill.

One example of this change involved a former newspaperman who, following Mr. Nixon's rollback order, contacted a leading Washington newspaper syndicate about hiring on.

The writer, who jumped from a salary of near $15,000 in private industry to something near $21,000 with the government, was listed as not needed in the next four years of the administration. The former reporter knew the handwriting was on the wall because his supervisor, paid in the $35,000 annual range, also was considered excess cargo in the next four years.

Realities of competition in the Washington job market soon caught up with our friend. He was well qualified but overpaid to fit back easily into the media market. But also like most of the Nixon expendables, he had acquired a taste for Washington which included an advanced style of living and a costly suburban home which could not be unloaded overnight.

Not our man Walter Matthau, the current top banana among film laughs. He is as natural as sunshine and cheerful as a mountain spring. Walter weathered dire poverty in his childhood and six years ago survived a life-threatening heart attack. With a background such as that, Matthau doesn't need anyone to tell him how to enjoy his present success.

"Life to me is funny, real humorous," he said at lunch the other day. He was celebrating the completion of his most recent film, "Pete 'N' Tillie," in which he and Carol Burnett star.

"I don't know why, but life seems to make me laugh most of the time now. I try to use a philosophy for every specific moment, but it changes so rapidly I guess I don't have a general philosophy."

Now 52, although he could easily pass for an athletic 40, Walter reached the peak after a long apprenticeship in both living and acting.

After his father deserted the family when Matthau was only 3, he and his mother and a brother moved through a series of cold-water East Side tenements because they were unable to pay the rent.

At 11, Walter was acting in a Yiddish theater at 50 cents a performance. During the intermissions he sold soft drinks in the lobby.

After earning six battle stars as an aerial radioman and bomber gunner overseas during World War II, he worked his way through acting school working as a floor scrubber and cement hauler.

Slowly he became known as a competent and conscientious craftsman in Broadway plays and as a Hollywood film villain.

Then his 1963 appearance in the stage play, "The Odd Couple," made him a comedy sensation. His next film, "The Fortune Cookie," in which he teamed with Jack Lemmon, confirmed his success. Since then it has been roses, roses, all the way for Matthau.

He still tends to think of himself as a character actor rather than a star, and likes to play in serious as well as funny films or shows.

His case is not isolated. White House employees either fearing or knowing the Nixon cut are stampeding to the offices of congressmen and senators. Because of the big turnover in Congress this year, most will make it.

Comedians No Fun To Be With

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The average comedian is about as much fun to be with as a 35-year-old Anglican bishop with an acute case of goat.

Black Schools

The Real Tragedies Of Education

By VERNON E. BROWN Copley News Service

The educational system throughout our country and especially in the inner city areas has deteriorated to the point tearing destruction.

Committed teachers fight overwhelming odds in order to accomplish the little good there is to do. Teachers are asked to come into classrooms literally fearing for their persons.

Let's discuss the real tragedies of the black educational system. Recently, it was brought out that the public school system of Los Angeles has more minority students than white. Let's look at some of the other metropolitan areas—Washington, D. C., New York, Newark, Detroit—and we will find the same statistics to be true.

White America's decision to flee the central city areas has technically conceded big cities to the minorities, mainly the blacks.

When whites move out of the neighborhood, business leaves and much of the money leaves. And the most important ingredient relating to school, the concerned parent, also leaves.

There is no public school system in the United States with a majority of its students black that is equal to a white suburban school system.

One reason is that white folks demand quality teachers, proper facilities, moderate-size classes, and the best in equipment needed to teach.

I've yet to see or hear President Nixon put forth his strength and energy in the direction of making black schools equal to the white ones.

The black student who wants to learn has very little chance to learn. In school systems predominantly black there will be more killings and a higher rate of drug addiction. Soon the parents of students will arm themselves to take their children back and forth to school.

If any of you know people who teach or work in one of these ghetto school systems, they deserve our total respect and a very strong vote of confidence, for they are the real soldiers fighting the battle for black America!

Why is it that so many federal government agencies work at cross purposes? This is a question that the Nixon administration is trying to answer in its current reorganization.

Any official or newsmen who has worked in Washington can provide his own list of absurdities. A program pushed by the Treasury and Commerce department negotiations, or the Food and Drug Administration moves sharply to enforce a new policy on food safety and the Agriculture department starts a venture which nullifies the FDA's effectiveness.

The concern at the White House over this problem goes back to the early days of the Nixon presidency. A key member of the staff used the following example during a conversation at that time:

"The interstate highway system was begun as if it had nothing whatever to do with anything else. The results have been calamitous in most places because the people involved had one idea. As far as they knew, their mission was to pour concrete and seal to it the federal funds were not stolen. If they did that, they had done their job. They had no idea of what the consequences would be for the nation's urban systems. Many interstate highways so that the overwhelming majority of blue collar jobs created in the last 15 years have been located on the fringes of metropolitan areas, whereas the people looking for work are located in the centers.

What's wanted, the Nixon planners believe, is some sort of clearing house similar to the National Security Council, where goals would be decided and painstakingly defined, and where all existing and proposed programs would be analyzed to determine whether or not they fit these overall aims.

Thus Treasury Secretary George B. Schultz's role as head of a newly created Council of Economic Policy, with representatives of the Labor, Commerce, Agriculture, State and Treasury departments and the Council of Economic Advisers, the Office of Management and the Budget, the Cost of Living Council and the Council on International Economic Policy.

It is expected that the new initiative in economic policy, foreign and domestic, would originate in this council or be screened here. The member departments and agencies would be responsible for policy than for the efficient administration of the policies and programs decided on.

In his efforts to achieve more efficient management, the President currently is coming closer to the military system of a general staff which concentrates on policies and field commands which concentrate on carrying out those policies.

Not all the behind-the-scenes negotiations relating to peace in Vietnam are taking place in Paris.

The Nixon administration has been doing a lot of quiet planning with a view to rebuilding the economies of both North and South Vietnam as well as Laos and Cambodia, according to a recent issue of Business Week.

The details are being kept secret, it says, because U.S. officials want to encourage a genuine multinational reconstruction effort rather than present prospective aid-givers with a "Made in U.S.A." style program.

"No," counters one of the nation's leading calculator manufacturers.

There's no question that the ability to handle simple arithmetic is a vital goal of basic education, says Edward A. White, president of Bowmar Instrument Corp., which turns out more than 2,000 machines a day.

But, he argues, a youngster at age 16 has probably learned all the simple arithmetic he is capable of absorbing, and we must recognize that some individuals have an inherently deficient sense of arithmetic and remain "underprivileged" in that respect all their lives.

"The student with low mathematical talent, often amounting to a total blank, has always labored under that disadvantage," he says. "The calculator will now redress it."

White, who invented the first pocket calculator, says that for more advanced courses, pencil-and-paper computation is only time-consuming drudgery and may easily be one of the classroom irritants that keep young people to question the "relevance" of the educational process.

Other aids, such as slide rules, are used in classrooms all the time, he points out. The calculator, which does similar computations faster and more accurately, should be viewed as a positive contribution to learning.

Since Bowmar introduced the first American-made machine in 1971, other companies have entered the market and sales are now expected to reach the billion-dollar mark annually.

The forecast is that within five years, there will be a pocket calculator in one out of every three U.S. homes.

A 'General Staff' System Is Tested

Hostages Unharmed

5 Gunmen Nabbed

By JIM PIERSON Associated Press Writer

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Five gunmen who fled an abortive supermarket robbery in Chattanooga, Tenn., with three hostages surrendered early today and released their captives unharmed.

One of the men, identified by police as Felix Bernard Lundy, 21, surrendered after the getaway car was stopped on U.S. 41 about 35 miles north of Atlanta.

The other four gave up after authorities had their car towed, with them and their hostages still inside, to the Fulton County jail in Atlanta.

But he added, "They didn't beat us or threaten us or anything."

The bandits left Chattanooga en route to Atlanta, but their car was stopped by police roadblocks about five miles south of Cartersville, Ga.

They sat on Parupkinville Creek Bridge on U.S. 41 in the bright glare of spotlights and surrounded by officers for 4 1/2 hours before they agreed to surrender at Atlanta and face federal kidnap charges, Beardsley said.

While in Fleming's Bond chased beautiful women in his off hours, Schlesinger, an academic by training, watches birds.

A pipe-smoker, whose necktie usually askew, Schlesinger is a dedicated family man with eight children.

A careful man, he seldom leaves home without consulting a road map, even though the trip might involve only a jaunt of several miles to a dinner party.

While working for the Federal Reserve Bureau, he drove to work in what an aide described as an "old beat-up car that has a blue book (list) value of about $45—he gave me a ride home one night, and I was afraid of the brakes."

Schlesinger brings to his new job a background in economics and social science including an associate professorship in economics at the University of Virginia; service at the Rand Corp. "think tank" in Santa Monica, Calif., where he advised the government on nuclear arms and other national-security subjects. He joined the Budget Bureau in 1963 and became an assistant director when the agency became the Office of Management and Budget (OMB).

In the OMB job, Harvard-trained Schlesinger was responsible for framing the energy policy of the government, especially as it might affect air and water pollution.

In 1971, he headed a little-known survey designed to evaluate the nation's intelligence-gathering activities.

That led to a sweeping reorganization of the intelligence community—including an expansion of CIA Director Richard Helms' job to new authority covering the whole $5 billion-a-year U.S. intelligence effort.

A Budget Bureau aide once said Schlesinger "has an analytical mind that's as incisive as the cutting edge of a steel die."

Once he's made a decision, Schlesinger has no reluctance to display confidence in his own judgment. When after a long court fight with environmentalists, the Anhecht nuclear test was allowed to proceed earlier this year, Schlesinger took his wife and two of his daughters with him to an Aleutian Island observation post.

3 California Sea Lions Expire On Way To Tampa Zoo Female

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Three young sea lions being rushed from California to lend comfort to April-the-heartless-sea-lioness died en route — just as the species was put on the government's protected list.

The deaths in Tampa Thursday may mean an unmitigated loss for April, a sad and blubbery beast who has gorged herself and roamed aimlessly around the Jacksonville Zoo since three companions died last spring.

"We had this lovely female waiting and we planned to start a harem," said a zoo official. "We even cleaned the pool. April's been waiting in a nearby tank."

Collage Is Artistic Hobby

If you're stuck on collage, you're not alone. It's a fascinating hobby that anyone can do with or without artistic talent. What's more, it costs almost nothing. Create a collage now, even if you've never considered it before this moment. You'll be off on an adventure in art. Collage is simply a fancy term for a "picture" or work of art you've made yourself by pasting meaningful (to you) objects on cardboard. Sound too easy? It is easy but your arrangement should be interesting, pleasing to the eye—and colorful. It's even more satisfying if your finished work "says something" if only to you or to the person it's meant for.

Collect your treasures before you start a collage. You'll find them tucked away in desk or dresser drawers. They're the little things in your life you could never toss away. Theater tickets, which remind you of a happy evening; a valentine from long ago; a post card from a faraway land—these are such treasures. Photos, greeting cards, bits of fabric—any you get the "picture."

Collage was once a tedious operation which required acrylic paint and messy glue. Now it's easy—with the aid of ink markers and glue stick. You'll take cardboard as a base—the type that comes in shirts from the laundry, a stiff cardboard box you cut apart or go to a specialty store. The only other tools necessary for your selection of art can be found around the house—scissors for the single-edge razor blade, an iron and a clothes iron. You're working with dry objects.

Do advance planning. Is this effort for yourself or for a gift for someone dear? In which room will it proudly hang? Will your collage be in the form of a picture or merely a pleasant arrangement of unusual objects? Ready to take the plunge? Your background is your first decision. Will it be a splash of color or a pretty fabric leftover from your sewing basket? If color is your choice—and this will set the mood of your collage—cover the cardboard with color, using an El Marko ink marker in one of eight vivid colors. Fabric your selection? Cut fabric a little larger than your cardboard, iron it carefully, then glue it to the cardboard with Superclear, the lipstick-shaped glue stick that's neat 'n' easy.

HER PRINTS CHARMING

This amateur decorator selects advertising calendar prints of original art for framing. When the out-of-date calendar and advertising portions are cut off, many colorful illustrations rival expensive prints as decorator pieces. Art prints are becoming increasingly popular for covering bare walls. Aware of the trend, advertisers are reviving the use of high-quality art calendars, according to the Specialty Advertising Association International. Features are the works of well-known artists and designers. Subjects range from turn-of-the-century nostalgia to pop art. Advertising messages and calendar dates are tactfully printed on easily detachable borders.

Art Association Has Yule Buffet

Officers and members of Sanford Art Association gathered at the Holiday House of Steak Dec. 15 for a sumptuous buffet. A cocktail hour preceded the buffet between the hours of 7 to 8.

Guests arrived festively arrayed and in a real holiday mood. The women were brilliant in their sparkling ensembles but the men surely merited a second glance... everyone present was wined and dined in a style befitting a king. Several skills were entered into by various members and caroling singing with Karl Lind serving as accompanist on his charming "squeeze-box" accordion. Karl sang several German carols much to the delight of the guests. Maude Humphrey accompanied the group on the organ.

Mrs. Marie Richter, president, greeted the guests as they arrived. Prizes were generously furnished by local merchants and artists of the association and were awarded to lucky ticket holders.

Dear Abby

Wife withholds sex as punishment

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Should a wife withhold sex to punish her husband? Well, that is what my wife has been doing lately and I am sick of it. Whenever we have a little spat, always apologize whether I think I'm wrong or not, but she refuses to accept my apologies. I get over being mad in 30 minutes, but it takes her anywhere from two to three weeks!

I don't drink or mess around with other women. If I did, I might deserve this kind of punishment, but she gives me the cold treatment for every little thing.

What do YOU think about a wife like mine? I HAD IT!

DEAR HAD IT: She's unfair, unwise, and unfeeling. But more significant, sex is obviously no pleasure for her or she wouldn't deny herself a treat in an effort to punish you. When you are on good terms why not discuss it with her and try to improve the situation?

DEAR ABBY: Hilda, my neighbor's daughter, became engaged and her aunt gave her a shower, which was a huge success. She received more than 50 beautiful and expensive gifts. I saw them myself.

A week later, the wedding was called off. Hilda made no secret that the boy asked for his ring back.

Her mother told me that Hilda was sending out notes saying, "Thank you for the shower gift. The wedding has been called off. If you can't come by and pick up your shower gift, let me know and I will get it back to you."

A whole month has passed and I have received no such note. Since I live right next door, all she'd have to do is TELL me, and I'd go over and pick up my gift. I think she is waiting for me (and others who gave her a gift) to tell her to keep it, which I am not going to do.

As far as I know, not one person who gave her a shower gift has had a note from Hilda, nor has she returned one gift. I gave her a pair of good pillows which I could use myself. What should I do? ANGRY IN BUFFALO

DEAR ANGRY: Tell Hilda she needs't bother to send you a note—that you've come for your pillows.

Ailing Palm Trees Respond To Antibiotics

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — A University of Florida scientist says ailing coconut palm trees are responding to treatment after being given injections of antibiotics normally used to combat human infections.

Dr. Randolph E. McCoy announced Thursday the use of wonder drugs may be at least a partial answer to halting "lethal yellowing," an epidemic disease threatening to rob Florida of thousands of its stately palms.

The ailment causes the palms to prematurely drop their coconuts and turns the normally green fronds on the bushy-headed tree to a bright yellow.

"We've had at least 10 remissions out of 35 to 40 trees we've treated," said McCoy who works at an agricultural experiment station here. "But only in trees showing early signs of the disease."

Trees can't build up resistance so booster shots are needed, he said.

McCoy uses what he calls a "big needle"—a four-inch long hollow steel bolt with a hole in the side—to inject about one quart of solution containing the antibiotic tetracycline into the tree.

However, it takes 120 pounds of pressure provided by an air tank to place the drug in the tree's sap stream. Different methods of application are being tried so the homeowner may one day treat his own sick coconut palms, McCoy said.

The disease which affects the coconuts, flares spread from the Florida Keys and was first noticed on the mainland in November 1971. Since then more than 3,000 coconut palms of an estimated half-million in Dade County have been killed by the disease.

Dr. Bryson James, director of the agricultural station here, said the "potential threat of the disease is real and severe."

"It could very well destroy that tree which most symbolizes south Florida really—the coconut palm," he said. "It's capable of eradicating all of them."

The origin of the ailment has stumped scientists for more than a decade but McCoy believes a tiny organism called mycoplasma is transmitted from tree to tree by an insect.

Land Use Is Planned To 1980

...volving areas inside cities or served by a full range of public and private facilities and services, but outside municipalities.

In describing the uses indicated on the Land Use Plan, Farr said that the Agricultural-exclusive category is comprised of lands which should be reserved exclusively for the production of agricultural products. Residential uses for this district are limited to farmers or other tending personnel, for a maximum density of one unit per five acres.

The agricultural-residential zoning includes primarily the production of citrus fruits and use as country estates, for a maximum density of 5 units per acre or one unit for every two acres.

In the low density-residential, while primarily residential, some commercial ventures of the neighborhood type will be allowed. If compatible with the surrounding zoning and uses, it is possible that some multiple family dwellings could be allowed.

Those areas located in cities and urban service areas, classified as low density—urban residential, have much the same uses as those in the residential category. However the density could reach a maximum of six units per acre.

Medium density residential category is similar to the low density residential category in that so much of these areas are outside the urban service areas. In this district, the density maximum is ten units per acre.

Also defined by category were the medium and high density, urban residential; commercial, urban and highway; industrial, office professional, public and quasi public, and the large flood prone areas.

In conclusion, Farr said that the plan is to be submitted as a suggested guide for the growth of Seminole County up to the year 1980 — it is a guide only — not a map or legally binding document.

"With its adoption, Seminole County will go on record with existing citizens, future citizens and proposed developers indicating its proposed characteristics of Seminole County," Farr concluded.

Commission Chairman Greg Drummond said that anything of this complex a nature won't be rubber stamped by any commission. "I feel the density is too high in many areas, but Farr did a good job in presenting his recommendations and we know it is the result of a lot of hard work on his part."

Many Nagging Problems Brezhnev Cautious

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

As Leonid I. Brezhnev says, perhaps the new U.S. bombing campaign against North Vietnam endangers the new trend in Soviet-American relations.

If so, it can mean also that the Soviet Communist party chief's own problems will multiply and he will face difficult times. This prospect is probably what made him sound like a man tiptoeing through treacherously thorny underbrush in his speech hailing the 50th anniversary of the U.S.S.R.

Brezhnev's situation seems painfully uncomfortable. He is responsible for the policy that opened new channels to the United States. He has staked so much on it that it would be no surprise if he were desperately frightened of rocking the boat too much, lest it tip over.

Yet rock the boat he must, at least to a point, because Brezhnev cannot in his position remain silent. At the least he must issue a pro forma denunciation of the United States and make it sound convincing.

It might have sounded somewhat more convincing to the North Vietnamese and to Communists around the world if Brezhnev had denounced President Nixon by name.

Brezhnev said that his summit with the President in Moscow last May was "a big step forward," and that the future would depend on events, particularly with regard to ending the Vietnam war. The teacher spoke of "American" crimes and outrages.

One gets the impression that perhaps the President had alerted the Kremlin in advance about the plan to renew the heavy bombing, precisely so that Brezhnev would not overreact.

Brezhnev did not react violently in his 3½-hour speech to an audience representing all the world's Communists except the Chinese. Bitter as his words might have sounded in some passages, he seemingly was careful not to say anything that could threaten severe damage to the currently developing pattern of U.S.-Soviet relations.

The speech itself indicated troubles that could prompt Brezhnev to be careful and pitfalls he might face in pursuing his policy. Obviously there are hardliners in the Soviet Union who are unhappy with that policy, and these probably include influential military figures, representatives of the voracious "metal eaters" who insist on priority of heavy industry to feed a constantly more powerful military machine.

That such people had to be placated seemed likely from the latest Soviet budget and from a passage in the Brezhnev speech making a bow to those elements.

"The Soviet people highly appreciate and love their army because they know that they need a well-equipped army so long as forces of aggression exist in the world," he said.

Hanoi Air Defenses Toughest In History

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers and other warplanes are braving more than 850 missile launchers and anti-aircraft guns in striking the vital Hanoi-Haiphong area of North Vietnam.

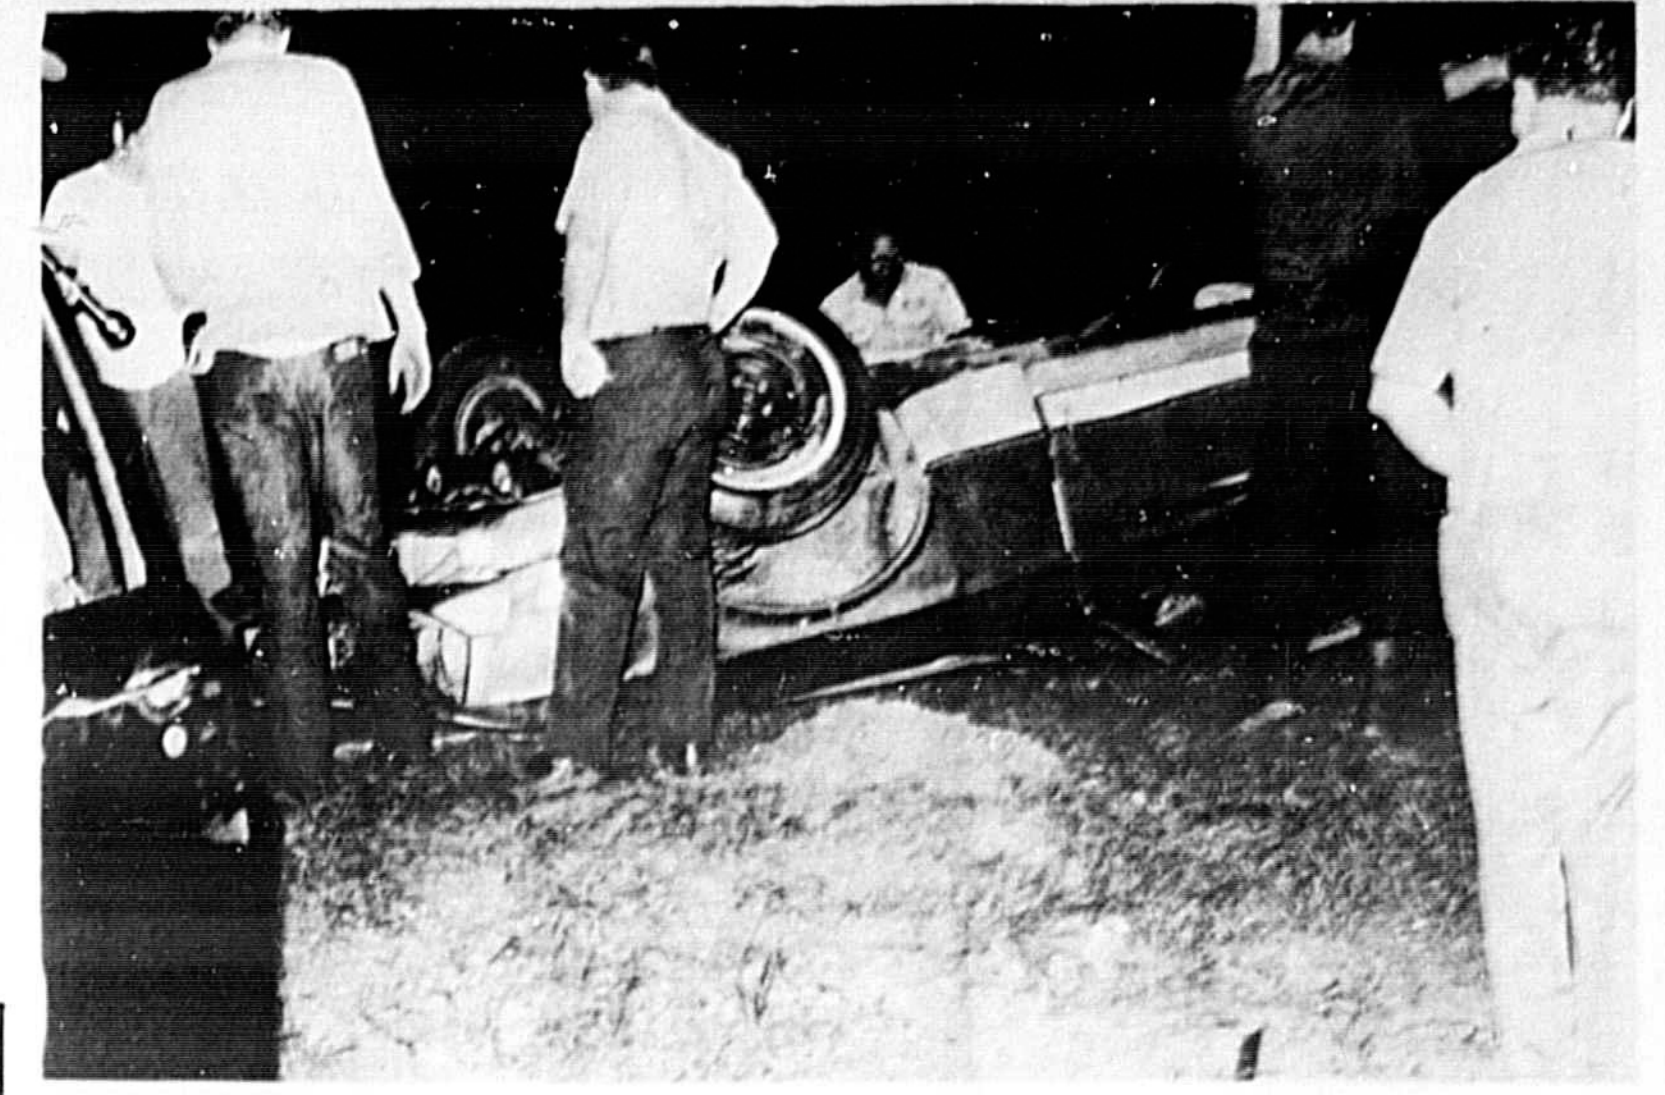

These figures, obtained from Pentagon sources, show what that area is called "the most heavily defended piece of area in the history of warfare."

The Air Force lost eight of the huge B52s in the first four days of the great raids.

"We knew it was going to be rough, and it has been," said one senior officer.

The loss rate for the eight jet heavy bombers worked out to about two planes for each 100 sorties. A sortie is a single flight by a single plane.

"The loss rates are not out of line with expectations," said one official who indicated the Air Force had calculated the

U.S. Bombs Hanoi As Deaths Mount

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SANIGON (AP) — Punishing U.S. air blows battered Hanoi and Haiphong without any indication of a letup today, and American casualties soared to their highest level in 19 months.

The U.S. Command reported the loss Thursday of two more B52 heavy bombers and two more fighter-bombers, with 16 more crewmen missing. This was the heaviest toll in U.S. personnel since the week of May 23-29, 1971, when 56 Americans were reported killed in action or missing.

Radio Hanoi claimed a total of 34 American planes downed, including three more B52s and two fighter-bombers at dawn today. It has reported a number of airmen captured but has given no total.

Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency said that air strikes Wednesday and Thursday damaged the main American prisoner of war camp which the POWs have nicknamed the "Hanoi Hilton."

The report said a number of the prisoners were injured and added that many U.S. airmen captured this week had been sent to the camp.

The broadcast said singer Joan Baez, attorney Telford Taylor and two other American peace activists now in Hanoi visited the camp and inspected the damage.

Communist China claimed that one of its merchant ships was damaged in Haiphong harbor during a raid Wednesday and its crew "gravely endangered." The Peking government said it "strongly protests this provocation on the part of U.S. imperialism and is closely watching the development of expanding U.S. war activities."

Hanoi reported earlier that the bombing damaged the Cuban and Egyptian embassies in Hanoi, sank a Polish ship in Haiphong and damaged a Soviet ship.

Bombing Apology To Egypt

CAIRO (AP) — The senior American diplomat in Egypt today expressed his own and his government's regret at the damage to the Egyptian Embassy in Hanoi during an American bombing raid Thursday.

Joseph N. Greene was called to the Foreign Ministry after Foreign Minister Mohammed Hassan el Zayyat announced the United States would be held responsible for the damage. The roof was reported demolished and doors and windows smashed, but no one was injured.

Greene met for half an hour with Undersecretary Ismail Fahmy. American sources reported Greene expressed official and personal regrets, but they gave no further information.

HOMER JOHNSON, 65, of Jacksonville was injured and his 1971 Plymouth was a total loss after he lost control of the car on wet Interstate-4 and rolled down the embankment of the highway. Nixon Man's Firm Is Called 'Illicit'

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Argentine investigators, in a 1964 report denouncing foreign oil corporations, said a company headed by William P. Clements Jr. paid commissions that were "illicit and contrary to the public morals" to obtain one of the largest drilling contracts in history.

Clements, 55, has been nominated by President Nixon to be deputy secretary of defense. No. 1 position in the Pentagon with direct authority over defense contracting.

The Dallas multimillionaire, chairman of Seton, Inc., a worldwide drilling company, could not be reached for comment on the Argentine report.

But Seton general counsel Tom B. Rhodes said it was put out by politicians and "politicians say any damn thing they please."

The report by a special investigating committee of the Argentine Chamber of Deputies said negotiations leading to contracts awarded Clements company, then known as South-eastern Drilling Co., and other foreign oil corporations were conducted in a "frame of profound immorality and corruption."

The 1960-1962 contract between the government oil monopoly and South-eastern was one that the investigators said they gave special consideration because, they said, there was evidence of illicit commissions which "in this type of operation normally is hard to fall down."

1973 Meat Import Quotas Suspended

By JAY PERKINS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has suspended meat import quotas for 1973 in an effort to stop the rise in supermarket meat prices.

Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz, who announced the decision Thursday, cautioned that consumers should not expect a reduction in meat prices.

He said the action hopefully will halt the current rise and stabilize the price.

The nation has been operating without import quotas since July when Nixon removed the quotas then in effect. Shultz said some countries, notably Australia, responded to the July action by shipping larger quantities of meat.

Only about seven per cent of the meat on American markets comes from foreign sources. Shultz said this percentage probably would increase to eight per cent because of the suspension.

The total supply of meat available in America is expected to increase by three per cent, with much of the increase coming from domestic production, he said.

Shultz declined to comment on whether other steps would be taken to halt a rise in prices.

"This action," he said, "demonstrates the President's firm determination to bring about a reduction in the cost of food to the American consumer." He said the suspension was not aimed at American farmers.

"Our purpose is to remedy a short term shortage that is beyond the ability of our farmers to fill in 1973," he added. "The vigorous growth of employment and income we foresee in 1973 will mean an increase in the demand for meat in this country which, despite an increase in meat production, will put upward pressure on meat prices."

Shultz said the suspension is expected to continue throughout 1973 but added that quotas could be reinstated if market conditions changed substantially. He said the secretary of agriculture would review the situation every three months.

Eight Score Falls Greyhound Matmen 'Pin' Eau Gallie

By HERKY CUSH
Special Sports Editor
Bill Lyman's Lyman Greyhounds are seemingly back in the groove after losing their opener earlier this week. The Hounds came back to win the Daytona Mainland Christmas tournament and then last night posted an impressive 4-0-4 triumph over Eau Gallie.

The Hounds were eight of the 12 matches and all of the victories recorded by the Longwood crew came as the result of pins. Six of those falls came in succession in the final half dozen matches of the evening.

Greyhounds back in the lead at 1:45 when he pinned Bill Miller at the 2:45 of the 2-45 mark of their 1:30 pound match. However, the visitors from the Cape Coast Conference recaptured the lead when Jack Bonner scored a fall over Guy Campbell in 1:25 of their 1:30 pound tussle.

What Price Monopoly?

It's really hard to comprehend the thinking of certain high ranking individuals within the National Football League. And we do not mean just Pete Rozelle and the "blackboards."

BATTLING TO get his pin is Lyman's Mike Tenmanson as he rolls Eau Gallie's Jack Saults onto his back in their 167 pound match last night. Tenmanson got the fall and Hounds whipped Eau Gallie, 42-14.

"HEADING" FOR a pin is Lyman's heavyweight Mike White as he applies pressure to Eau Gallie's Mike Swartz in last night's dual meet at the Lyman gym.

NO "SUPER" DECISION

Who's to say what city should get the game? Certainly not the league nor the front office brass. This should be dictated by the two teams who reach the finals. Impossible you say? Well how possible will it be for the average supporters of any Miami and Washington game should those two clubs make it that far. And it's not stretching the imagination a bit that those two could make it.

There's a great deal of revenue to be made from having the Super Bowl game in your city. Thus, Los Angeles will be receiving the rewards of other cities' success.

'Recycled' Pack Gets Nod Over Old 'Skins'

By HUBERT MIZELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Maybe Washington's pro football elders are being a little bit greedy when they pick Green Bay's recycled Packers to outfit the Redskins in the "second season" and Santa Claus arrives early for the nation's NFL nutties—two Saturday playoff games and two more on Christmas Eve.

Cleveland will be afire over being made an 11-1/2-point underdog, not to mention 36-1/2-1/2 in win the Super Bowl. But, it won't be enough. Miami should win this one with Earl Morrill, Bob Griese or Jim Del Gaudio.

Lyman JV's Score Easy 48-30 Win Over Commodores

Lyman's Junior Varsity grapplers evened their record at 1-1 with an easy 48-30 victory over Eau Gallie last night.

Four Greyhounds scored victories in falls, Joe Nich at 1:15 pounds, Jim Howarth at 122, Robert Abbott at 138 and Gregg Wallick in the heavyweight class.

WAS DALLAS HELPED?

It was an injustice last year when Miami fans had a full day's travel to make it to New Orleans for the Super Bowl while Dallas fans could make it in half the time.

It was then moved to New Orleans where the football crazy fans of that city really appreciated it a great deal more.

Turning to the blackout situation the NFL may cut its own throat when it refused to listen to the plea from the highest office in the land, more specifically Mr. Richard M. Nixon.

COSTLY DENIAL?

After learning that Pete refused to lift the blackout ban the office of the President issued the statement to the effect that Congress would be asked to look into the situation.

D.C. FANS SPECIAL?

This does not seem right in itself either. Are we led to believe that the NFL would have been safe from Congressional investigation as long as the city of Washington did not have a championship football game at home? It would certainly appear that way since the Redskins were champs last year but did not host the playoff game in which they were involved.

Steeler Fans Plan Rare 'Pep Rally'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — After the Pittsburgh Steelers whipped the Cincinnati Bengals 46-17 earlier this season, raising Coach Paul Brown mad a joking remark.

"Where did they have the 'bore' last night?" he inquired facetiously.

Meet Pitt Tonight Wooden Returns To Bruins

By TED MEIER

No more banana splits or chili dishes for UCLA's Johnny Wooden, the winningest athlete in college basketball.

Wooden missed his first game in nearly 25 years last week because he was in the hospital with a mild heart condition. His doctors have given permission for his return provided he takes things easy.

The game was ruled a season undefeated, said Minnesota Coach Bill Musselman. "Now let's try to do it."

Morris Receives 'Gift' From Pete, Nine More Yards

MIAMI (AP) — Miami Dolphin runningback Mercury Morris has received an unexpected Christmas present from National Football League Commissioner Alvin "Pete" Rozelle—the nine yards he needed to get into the 1,000-yard club.

Morris yardaged the Dolphins all year long team rushing mark to 1,960, even further above the record once held by the 1936 Detroit Lions, and made the Dolphins the only team in professional football history to have two 1,000-yard rushers in one season.

The Church...

...THE HOPE OF OUR COMMUNITY, OUR NATION!

visiting foreigners

That's what the Wisemen were—foreigners! They came from distant countries. They were not Christ's own countrymen.

And yet they knelt before the manger. They offered precious gifts—gold, frankincense and myrrh.

The world had found its Center—a Life and a Love to bring men together.

The visit of the Wisemen is the first step in the universal mission of the Church—to bring the whole of humanity into the Kingdom.

But man has been a long time accepting the lesson of the Wisemen. We are still suspicious of strangers, of foreigners, of our new neighbors.

Before our day, the peoples of the earth lived in many mansions. Now we are all under one roof—drawn together by modern communication and travel.

With the transformation of today's world the decision over the Wisemen can no longer be postponed. All of us, human beings from every corner of the globe, must realize our need for one another, our need for love and understanding. Together we must kneel down before the manger.

And this shall be a sign unto you; We shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger. And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

Sanford May Get Petition

By BOB LLOYD

Sanford housewife Stella Woodhouse is scheduled to present petitions to city commissioners at their Tuesday 7 p.m. session objecting to any and all "piecemeal" disposal of city-owned lakefront land.

Mrs. Woodhouse, who unsuccessfully opposed City Commissioner Meyer in his bid for re-election earlier this month, said the citizen's group she heads "feels a master plan for the lakefront area should be developed by the city commission before there are any sales of city-owned property."

Saturday Mrs. Woodhouse said the group is circulating 10 copies of the petition and had gathered nearly 200 signatures so far during the holiday rush.

If the petitions bear signatures Tuesday of a large number of city property owners it could have a bearing on the pending sale of a city-owned lot at North Myrtle Avenue and Seminole Boulevard.

Last week commissioners Harry S. Truman, un-conscious and increasingly unresponsive slipped into critical condition early Saturday for the second time in his five-week hospital stay.

Doctors made the condition change after noting increased lung congestion and further complications with decreased blood pressure.

Douglas Stenstrom, 190,000 and Winter Park developer J. W. Hickman and W. F. Holt and Sons, Inc., Nashville, ($35,000).

Commissioners have indicated they want the property developed to its highest use and to the city's best interest.

Also on Tuesday's agenda is consideration of a request to increase taxabul rates in the city, establish hours of operation, fix all cab rates and increase required insurance coverage.

A proposed ordinance requiring sprinkler systems in all new structures over 15 feet in height will also be discussed.

Some sources have said such a requirement would add $150 per square foot to building costs and could "kill" any future high-rise construction in the city.
