Seminole Bills To Increase

Power Firms Are Granted Rate Hike

By ED PRICKETT
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County consumers will be digging into inflation-shrunken pockets for an extra $2 to almost $4 beginning next month to pay their electric bills, power company officials confirmed today.

Although last year's fuel surcharge has eased, the two utilities serving Seminole County have been granted interim rate hikes that will raise power bills by Feb. 1. Also, if President Ford's oil tariff is applicable to oil refined outside the United States, electric bills will go up another $2.50 to $5 sometime in July.

For the time being, consumers connected into Florida Power & Light Co. lines will pay $2.15 more per month for 1,000 kilowatt hours, and Florida Power Corp's interim rate hike will cost its customers $3.23 per 1,000 kilowatt hours. Both firms recently won interim rate relief totaling $69 million for Florida Power. FPL has asked for a total of $148-million, and Florida Power has requested $65.5-million.

Bud Fowler, Florida Power's manager of consumer affairs, said the Public Service Commission (PSC) has set hearings in March to decide whether or not to grant the full amount requested. "Another increase of about $2 will be forthcoming if the full amount is granted," Fowler said. PSC approval of FPL's total increase would add another $1.85 to monthly bills, Fowler said.

FPL fuel prices will decrease from $8.47 to $7.84 for the average household that uses 1,000 kilowatt hours of electricity per month.

SJC Says Funds Needed To Take 'Frosh' Turnaway

Without additional funding Seminole Junior College (SJC) wouldn't be able to accept freshmen transfer away from Florida Technological University (FTU) in the fall, an official said today.

"I don't see how we could handle it under our present situation," SJC President Earl Weldon said. "It would mean a lot more students than funding."

Weldon said SJC anticipates a freshman enrollment of about 2,200, the maximum number the junior college could handle under present funding.

The proposal to eliminate freshmen classes was one of several made by the board's finance committee last week to try and limit spending in the upcoming fiscal year.

A meeting has been scheduled for Feb. 3 in Orlando to discuss the recommendations. The regents govern all nine of Florida's state universities.

Under the proposal only the three football playing schools will allow first year students to register for the fall term.

Football wasn't mentioned Thursday when the recommendations were made, but eliminating freshmen entirely was considered only for non-football playing schools.

The plan wasn't suggested for University of Florida, Florida State or Florida A&M.

Marshall Harris, newest member of the board, led the move to halt acceptance of freshmen at the two schools. Four other state universities already are limited to upper division students, with no freshmen or sophomores in attendance.

Harris said it is much cheaper for the state to educate lower division students in the junior college system.

The issue rose because of the state's financial pinch and Gov. Heubin Askew's orders to cut spending on all levels.

The Regents' Finance committee voted cuts of $9.9 million in the current budget and another $8.4 million from the 1975-76 budget request.

The decision could also apply to the cost of higher education.

County Students Rights Protected

The Seminole County school system, for the most part, grants school children their rights provided by Florida law in suspension cases, School Supt. William Laver said today.

Laver's reply was in response to Gov. Heubin Askew's education adviser who said he doubts Florida school children are being given due process rights such as having an adult defend them in suspension cases.

"We usually have parents in on any suspension—either by person or by phone. That is when we can reach them," Laver said.

Top Askew adviser Claudio Anderson says a recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling increases pressure to allow a child such rights.

The high court ruled 5 to 4 last week that in suspensions lasting one to 10 days, students must be given at least informal notice of charges against them and a chance to defend themselves.

The court said longer suspensions should also have the same protections.

Court Upholds Bundy Ruling

An appeals court affirmation of a Sanford Circuit Judge's suppression of statements by Altamonte Springs Public Works Director Donald Bundy sent State Attorney Abbott Herring's staff to law books today for research to see if they can still bring Bundy to trial on charges of election law violation and conspiracy to commit perjury.

The Fourth District Court of Appeals in West Palm Beach Friday upheld Circuit Court Judge Volie A. Williams' suppression of statements by Bundy on three separate days to Herring's appeals court.

The appeals court order also upheld the suppression of statements in the case by former Altamonte councilman Donald C. Myers, authorities said.

"We're reviewing the case to see if there's sufficient information to go to trial or if the appeals court ruling is appealable," Assistant State Attorney William Staley said today.

Herring appealed the Sept. 12, 1974 circuit court suppression ruling to the district appeals court. Earlier, Herring's office said the appeal and suppression did not deal with renewed and corrected charges facing Bundy but the trial was delayed pending the appeal.

Circuit Court Judge A.J. Hosemann Jr. said he would dismiss the new charges if a key witness, John McGrath, wasn't produced by the state for questioning by defense attorney Newman Brock.

McGrath, the state contends, allegedly gave Bundy $400 to be distributed equally between Altamonte City Councilman

Dan Dorfman and then-councilman Donald Myers. McGrath was last reported in Tulsa, Okla. and reportedly hasn't been questioned by Brock.

Perjury and conspiracy charges against Bundy stem from the state's contention that Myers and Dorfman violated election laws by accepting the money from McGrath through Bundy.

Bundy and Myers told Herring's office they falsely said all $400 was given to Myers.

County Ponders Budget

In an effort to take a closer look at a 1974-1975 budget shortage of a half million dollars, Seminole County Commissioners today have scrapped four planned work sessions in favor of an attempt to balance their mangled budget.

Commissioners learned Friday that their current budget would be about a half million dollars short because of a decrease in county revenue and a cut in state and federal revenue sharing funds.

The county Road and Bridge fund will be about $157,000 short, while General Funds will have $344,000 less than expected.

Commission Chairman Sid Vihlen Jr., said that he requested Administrative Assistant Betty Simcoe and Staff Assistant Eleanor Anderson to study the shortage over the weekend and come up with "alternatives" by today's work session, in order to save commissioners time with the problem.

The first most obvious cuts, though, seem to be "capital outlay items, capital programs, and county personnel" in that order, Vihlen said. But, he explained, the commissioners could probably cut items and projects, such as expenses planned for fire trucks, and the development of parks and recreation programs, before they would have to even consider further cutting the county staff.

"In this year's budget," Vihlen told the Herald, "there was no featherbedding." Every employee was necessary.

Vihlen said that commissioners will probably study the budget deficit most of today beginning at 9:30 a.m. with the intention of taking definite action at their regularly scheduled meeting tomorrow.

Robbery Suspect Eludes Police In Speed Chase

Casselberry police and Orange County authorities today were searching for a suspect chased Sunday night in a stolen car at speeds reaching 100 miles an hour from the scene of an attempted armed robbery.

Casselberry Police Chief George Karcher said officer Francis Roche chased the suspect from SR-436 and Red Bug Road to a wooded area near the Orlando East-West Expressway. During the high-speed chase, Karcher said, a Highway Patrol car rammed the fleeing vehicle.

Karcher said the suspect fled on foot from the stolen car near the expressway and officers with canine units failed to find the man in an intensive search. Roche was on routine patrol about 11 p.m. when he stopped at the Teneco Service Station-Grocery at SR-436 and Red Bug Road. Attendant Gerald Kessler of Casselberry showed that he was being robbed and a man ran from the store, jumped into a customer's car and fled with Roche in pursuit.

Karcher said the suspect dropped a pistol before speeding away in a car owned by Michael L. Barry III, of Summerfield, Fla. Barry had stopped at the store to buy beer.

Kessler led investigators that the bandit had threatened "to blow his head off" if he didn't hand over the store's money. Karcher said no shots were fired during the incident and a resulting chase.

GLASS SHOW

DRAWNS CROWD

The third annual Depression Glass Show, held Saturday and Sunday at the Sanford Civic Center, was a "smashing" success, according to the show's sponsors, Ed and Sara Myers of Sanford. Collectors of the rare, brilliantly colored glass dating from the years of the Great Depression came from all over Florida, as well as from as far afield as Texas, New York and Connecticut to participate in the show.

A large crowd of viewers from the Seminole County area stopped in during the weekend to admire the glassware.

NATION IN BRIEF

Rockefeller Says Probe To Show CIA In Violation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller says he believes the commission he heads will find that the CIA violated its statutory authority by spying on American citizens and must determine who ordered the allegedly illegal operations. Rockefeller, the head of an eight-member commission investigating the CIA, said his panel's investigation will "go as far as any action leads us, to a Republican president, to a Democratic president or anybody else."

Rationing Support Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — There will be increased congressional support for gasoline rationing if President Ford's energy program fails to cut fuel consumption, says House Republican Leader John J. Rhodes. However, Rhodes said rationing now lacks sufficient support to override Ford's promised veto of such a program. Rhodes said most Republicans now support Ford's plan to put a $3-a-barrel tax on all imported oil. The administration says prices of gasoline and other oil products will rise three cents as a result.

Levi Approval Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — All signs point to a prompt Senate confirmation of Edward H. Levi to be U.S. attorney general, a survey of key senators has disclosed. Levi goes before the Senate Judiciary Committee today for formal questioning after having met privately with many senators in the past month. Levi, 43, an antitrust expert, has been president of the University of Chicago since 1968 and dean of its law school before that. President Ford nominated him for the Cabinet post to replace William B. French, leaving after a little over a year as attorney general to become ambassador to India.

Sanford Council Studies Rezoning

Public hearings to consider rezoning ordinances for property in the city will be held tonight at 7 p.m. during the weekly meeting of the Sanford City Commission at City Hall. The first hearing will be to consider the rezoning of the property east of Ohio Avenue and south of Pine Oak Drive to an agricultural district. Public hearings also will be held to consider the second readings and adoptions of ordinances on: —rezoning the property north of Country Club Road, east of Southwest Road, south of 20th Street and west of Seaboard Coast Line to an industrial district. —establishing a fee schedule for applications for rezoning, variances, review and revision of site plans, approval of plats and applications for annexation. The commission also will receive the city manager's report which includes a letter from the Florida Department of Transportation denying the city's request for a traffic signal at French Avenue and 9th Street. The DOT denied the request, according to the letter, because there was not enough traffic at the intersection to warrant a signal. In other business the commission will have the first readings on seven other zoning ordinances.

To Low Cost Housing Problem Special Zoning Seen As Answer

Editor's Note: The six-month old Ad Hoc Committee on low and moderate income housing in Seminole County has just completed its studies and has issued a final report citing housing problems, and recommending solutions. According to the report, there are currently 4,000 dilapidated, substandard homes that exist in the county — in the next five years, 5,000 low cost homes will be needed, including the renovation of the ones currently rated "substandard."

While there remains a strong need for low and moderate cost housing, builders in the county are devoting their time to the upper middle income type home — which just a few years ago was priced as a low middle home. The reasons, according to the report, are obvious. Higher priced homes do not require the tight profit schedule that lower cost homes do. Besides, it's easier for a new builder to break into the field here by building more expensive dwellings. And, then there's inflation. The result of this is a shortage of low and moderate homes.

Analysis

But the ad hoc report is not irresponsibly pointing fingers. In its documented and Assisted County Planner Bill Kercher, has presented a sound case for alleviating the problems uncovered. The "shortage" of this type of housing not only makes it "inconvenient" for low income families, but it also "retards the development of our human resources as well as the growth of our economy."

This action can be aided with the help of the county commissioners who can make the "development climate as advantageous as possible for the private sector to operate in the county." Specifically, Kercher's report has detailed 36 solutions that will help the commissioners and builders begin to implement what is called a "complex" solution. Sid Vihlen Jr., project commissioner for the ad hoc committee fully accepts the report, agreeing that the county commissioners' will have to look at innovative and flexible ways to provide medium and low cost housing. Vihlen, who wants to see the "activities" of the temporary committee remain even after the committee is phased out, sees the need for a "special zoning ordinance" to give builders of low and moderate homes a break. Vihlen said he has been in support of upgrading zoning and subdivision requirements — utilities, lot size, paving — over the years. But, with the current inflation situation, the only way to overcome the high zoning standards for the lower income family would be to create a special zoning category just for them. Zoning requirements, including lot size, would be less strict under the new zoning, Vihlen said. Citizens living in the target areas should be encouraged to participate in the redevelopment process.

Arson Probe Is Opened In Barn Fire

By BOB LLOYD Herald Staff Writer

Sheriff's deputies today reported an arson probe is underway in connection with a Saturday fire that destroyed a large barn and several thousand dollars in farm equipment on Beardall Avenue, north of SR-46, in the Midway community east of Sanford. Deputy Luke Stallworth reported the barn was engulfed in flames during a driving wind and rain storm. The barn was owned by William E. Kirchoff, of 1617 East Second Street, Sanford, deputies reported. Investigators said there had been several previous arson attempts including one in which a firebomb was found in the structure and two juveniles were seen leaving the barn on bicycles.

Weekend vandals cut control wires and smashed controls for an automatic sprinkler system at two holes of the Sterling Park Golf Course, Casselberry, sheriff's deputies reported. Damage was estimated at $650. In Sanford, police reported vandals damaged two churches. At the Church of Christ, 1500 Park Avenue, five classrooms and the minister's study were ransacked and vandalized. Patrolman Lewis Coombs said the vandals, apparently juveniles, marked walls with crayons and rubber stamps, scattered dirt on floors and unrolled numerous recording tapes and destroyed them. Patrolman Richard L. Bennett reported an unknown "projectile" was thrown from a passing car and smashed a two foot hole in a window at the Church of God, 804 Sanford Avenue.

SJC Needs Funds For Frosh

(Continued from Page 1A) have to absorb the overflow. Two members of the regents have been quoted as saying the cuts would only be a temporary measure, but just how temporary — no one knows. "It would only apply for as long as there are financial problems," Criser said. Also the question of whether the board has the power to make the final decision to eliminate freshmen has popped up. Criser maintains the board has the final say, but J.J. Daniel, chairman of the finance committee, says only the state cabinet can approve such action.

South Vietnamese Lose Bombers In Air Attack

SAIGON (AP) — Two South Vietnamese A37 bombers were shot down today by North Vietnamese anti-aircraft missiles during a battle west of Saigon near the Cambodian frontier, the South Vietnamese command said. A spokesman said one pilot was killed and the other rescued. In the ground fighting, a communiqué said 41 North Vietnamese and 8 government troops were killed and 29 government men were wounded. The action, on the second anniversary of the signing of the cease-fire accord in Paris, was part of a 9-day-old counteroffensive by 2,000 South Vietnamese trying to block a North Vietnamese division threatening Kien Tuong province.

U.S. Bridge Team Quits

SOUTHAMPTON, Bermuda (AP) — The United States team was expected to withdraw from the world circuit bridge tournament today in protest against the failure of the World Bridge Federation to expel two Italian players accused of cheating by using foot signals. After discussing the charges by an American journalist and others against Gianfranco Facchini and Sergio Zucchelli for nearly eight hours, the federation's appeals committee said the two were "severely reprimanded for unnatural movements of their feet and touching their partner's feet." Italy and the United States were favored to make the finals of the tourney.

Oil Summit Planned

ALGIERS (AP) — The oil-exporting countries have agreed to a meeting with their customer nations and plan a summit meeting of their own in four to six weeks to try to work out a unified position. These decisions were announced Sunday at the end of a three-day meeting in Algiers of the oil, finance and foreign ministers of the 13 members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries. A communiqué said the chiefs of state of the 13 nations will hold OPEC's first summit meeting between Feb. 21 and March 8 in Algiers to thrash out their position.

Democrats Lead Thai Vote

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Senl Pramoi's centrist Democratic party, the chief opposition to Thailand's military dictatorship for 30 years, led in early returns today from national elections intended to set the country on the road to a durable democracy. However, with more than half the results in from Sunday's elections, four parties identified with the military regimes were gaining and had a good chance of figuring in the coalition government that is certain to result.

Sadat Seeks French Aid

PARIS (AP) — President Anwar Sadat of Egypt arrives in Paris today seeking French arms and more diplomatic support against Israel. Sadat's visit to France is part of an effort to show the Soviet Union and the United States he has alternatives to reliance on either of them, Arab sources said.

Student Rights Protected

(Continued from Page 1A) suspensions may require more formal procedures. Laver said before a child is suspended in Seminole County, informal investigations are conducted by principals who inform parents, when possible, before the child is ousted from classes. Charles Miner, state Department of Education general counsel, said Florida children have had the right for two years to hearings before being suspended 10 days or more. He said he did not know of any pupil suspended without being given a reason. But Anderson said, "In many cases, due process means due processing out of school. I say they're not being given due process in view of the fact they're not being represented by an adult or a legal counselor prior to being suspended from school." Anderson said 80,000 students were suspended from Florida schools in the 1973-74 school year at an average of eight days each. He said few were able to defend themselves by having an adult speak for them. "After years of feeling like the 'boy who cried wolf,' the court decision renewed my commitment to continue the task force studies on disruptive students, in hopes of finally bringing about some positive legislation for students' rights and due process," said Anderson. "Many school officials have heretofore used the narrowest and most immediate weapon in their arsenal . . . student suspensions and expulsion," he said. "As an ex-school administrator, I am firmly convinced that the answer to a child's school problems cannot be solved by denying him an education. "Suspensions and expulsions simply aggravate and postpone a child's problem while passing him on to the community, to join the ever increasing welfare and criminal rolls." Anderson said he will seek passage in the state legislature this year of a milder version of a 1974 bill which outlined students' rights and responsibilities and guaranteed students faced with suspension due process. The 1974 measure passed the Florida Senate but died in the House when Speaker Terrell Sessums failed to name a conference committee to work out differences between the chamber's police chief and marshal —

Hennigan Resigns Longwood Position

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — Tom Hennigan, the city's police chief and public safety director, has resigned effective Feb. 15. He turned his resignation in to Mayor James R. Lormann over the weekend and no replacement has as yet been named. The resignation effective date would keep Hennigan at the helm of the police department through the deadline — Feb. 12 — for the city council to decide whether to accept the Florida Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) as the police department's collective bargaining agent on working conditions and pay. The state FOP last week submitted a petition to the city council said to contain the signatures of 12 of the city's 14 full-time uniformed police officers, including Hennigan, requesting that the city accept the FOP as the policemen's bargaining agent. Hennigan, a former deputy sheriff, an ex-Longwood police officer and a past police chief of Winter Springs, was the center of a continuing battle between the city council and the mayor's office during 1974. He was "hired" by the city council in January, 1974 after the governing body and then-mayor Eugene Jaques desisted on the choice of a police chief. Jaques at the time insisted that according to the city charter the mayor was to appoint the police chief with confirmation by council. The late-councilman E. E. Williamson and council members June Lormann and Don Schreiner took the position, however, that the charter called for the mayor to name a city marshal and the two terms — police chief and marshal —

Helms' lawsuit said the resolution creating the office of public safety director "by its very wording creates a permanent office, vests certain powers in said officer and provides that said officer be paid an annual salary of $10,000, none of which can be done except by ordinance." City council last summer locked horns with Jaques again by adopting an ordinance creating the office of public safety director, designating Hennigan as the person holding the office and setting his salary. The city charter says the mayor may either sign an ordinance for it to become law or may veto a proposed law.

Finding Fault

An Easy Task

The unusual situation in which this democracy finds itself — with its two top leaders holding office without a vote of the people — has drawn renewed expressions of dissatisfaction from critics of the 25th Amendment within the Congress and without.

It seems likely that proposals to repeal or modify the procedures for filling a vice presidential vacancy will win hearings in 1975.

But the alternatives invoke little enthusiasm. The special election advocated by some influential lawmakers would be costly, time-consuming and, particularly under the circumstances that preceded the appointments to the post of Gerald R. Ford and Nelson Rockefeller, a threat to unity with its invitation to partisanship.

A return to the succession process, which existed prior to the amendment, would elevate congressional leaders elected without consideration of potential presidential qualifications.

Abolishment of the vice presidential position, labeled a "non-job" by more disillusioned capital observers, would only make more likely the ascension of a president of doubtful capacity via the succession route.

And suggestions that the electoral college select the replacement to fill a vice presidential vacancy merely implies unmerited respect for a body already considered by many to be an anachronism.

The original sponsor of the amendment, which won overwhelming approval in both houses of Congress and was ratified by the legislatures of 47 states, has not wavered in his support for its provisions — despite a political stand opposed to that of the first two vice presidents named under the law.

"It is easy to find fault . . ." conceded Indiana Sen. Birch Bayh. "It is much more difficult to envision an alternative solution that does not present further faults."

The 25th Amendment has been subjected to unusual strain in recent months, but made possible a smooth transition of power when Richard Nixon resigned as president.

With minor refinements, which some constitutional experts believe could be performed by Congress without further amendment, the 25th should work admirably in normal times. By holding a job hearing on nominations and observing self-imposed deadlines, the House and Senate could expedite the confirmation of a new vice president.

And the role of Congress, after all, is to represent the people who have through the voting process shown confidence in their wisdom and responsibility.

Stockpile Essential

It has been nearly two years since the federal Office of Preparedness recommended that the United States of America make a significant reduction in the size of its stockpile of strategic materials — metals, ores and other commodities which would be needed in a war effort and which would be difficult to obtain from many sources in the event of a war. Congress did not act on the recommendation, and we can now see that it didn't.

As a congressional committee has just pointed out, the reasons which might have existed in 1973 for selling off $6.6 billion worth of these materials must be re-evaluated against a new set of world conditions. The government could still use the money, of course, but the stockpile has taken on a value that goes beyond its importance for defense.

Many Third World countries which produce such raw materials have been learning to work the idea of creating cartels to control their supply and price the way the Arabs have exploited their oil resources. Our stockpile is a potential weapon against such tactics. We can only regret that it does not include oil.

The Office of Preparedness has maintained that the strategic stockpile is much bigger than we might need to see us through a conventional war. Fine. We may need part of it in the future to see us through the kind of commodity wars that the oil exporters, by their example, might lead other groups of nations to undertake.

BERRY'S WORLD

It has most of the ingredients of the Watergate scandal, beginning with a bungled wiretap attempt. The wiretapper was caught on Jan. 16, 1974, and his trail led to oil billionaire Nelson Bunker Hunt. Thereafter, extraordinary pressure was brought to keep Hunt's name out of the scandal.

Because the case has dragged on for five years and powerful people have intervened in Hunt's behalf, we began checking into the secret grand jury proceedings. We have spent several weeks interviewing witnesses in Washington and Texas. We have read through thousands of pages of evidence, including sealed court documents, bank records and private papers.

The most sensational charge is that the Senate's civilian, old president pro tempore, James Eastland, D-Miss., "received a $50,000 payment" to intervene with the Justice Department in Hunt's behalf. The charge has been denied by the senator.

Eastland not only is the Senate's senior member; he is also chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, which gives him enormous power over the Justice Department.

Hunt came to him for help in the wiretap case.

"I think it's time for me to shift some capital from tax-free investments and gold into groceries!"

Around The Clock

Come on, Wally, we're all pulling for you! So many times we take a person for granted until his name comes into a serious discussion, and then it dawns on you the important part he or she is contributing to the welfare of the community.

Such is our County Judge Wallace Hall. It certainly wasn't intended that we will until he becomes a patient in a hospital before we extol his virtues, but unfortunately that is the way it turned out.

Judge Hall underwent major surgery at the Orange Memorial Hospital in Orlando this past Friday and will be in intensive care for the next couple of days.

Obviously, he will not be permitted any visitors, at least for a little while.

However, in the meantime how about if you take a minute of your time, for a man who has devoted his lifetime for the children of this area, and send him a get well card, O.K.?

I'll have more on his recuperation in subsequent columns, and thanks in advance. . .

Let's see if we can help someone out. This offer comes from the Sanford Rotary Club — perhaps we have a deserving person in this area who can take advantage of a fellowship grant.

The Mercer relayed the information relative to fellowships in foreign countries being available through the Rotary Foundation. As a matter of fact, for our area there are two fellowships offered: graduate with 4 year degree; under graduate — with 2 year degree; or a technical training award.

The deadline for application filing is March 15. The only requirement, other than the academics, is that the individual live in the Sanford Rotary Club area, or go to school in the Sanford area.

The fellowships will be for the year 1976-77. Assuming that you'd be interested in going to France, it would be expected that the applicant be proficient in French, or whatever other foreign choice may apply. Contact either Mercer at Flagship U.S. Bank of Seminole, or Tom McDonald at The Abstract Corp., in Sanford for more information.

It doesn't happen frequently, but the folks at Disney World were in a bloop when they laid claim to "having the only mountain" in the state. This proclamation was made at the recent opening of their Space Mountain attraction.

For the record, and according to Cal Zethmayer — administrative assistant to Rep. Vince Fichtel, there is a mountain located in Lake County. "As a matter of record, it's located off Highway 561, between Astatula and Ferndale. It's called Sugarloaf and overlooks Lake Apopka," said Zethmayer.

Go ahead and look it up if you want to. . . it's official and is credited with being 300 feet above sea level.

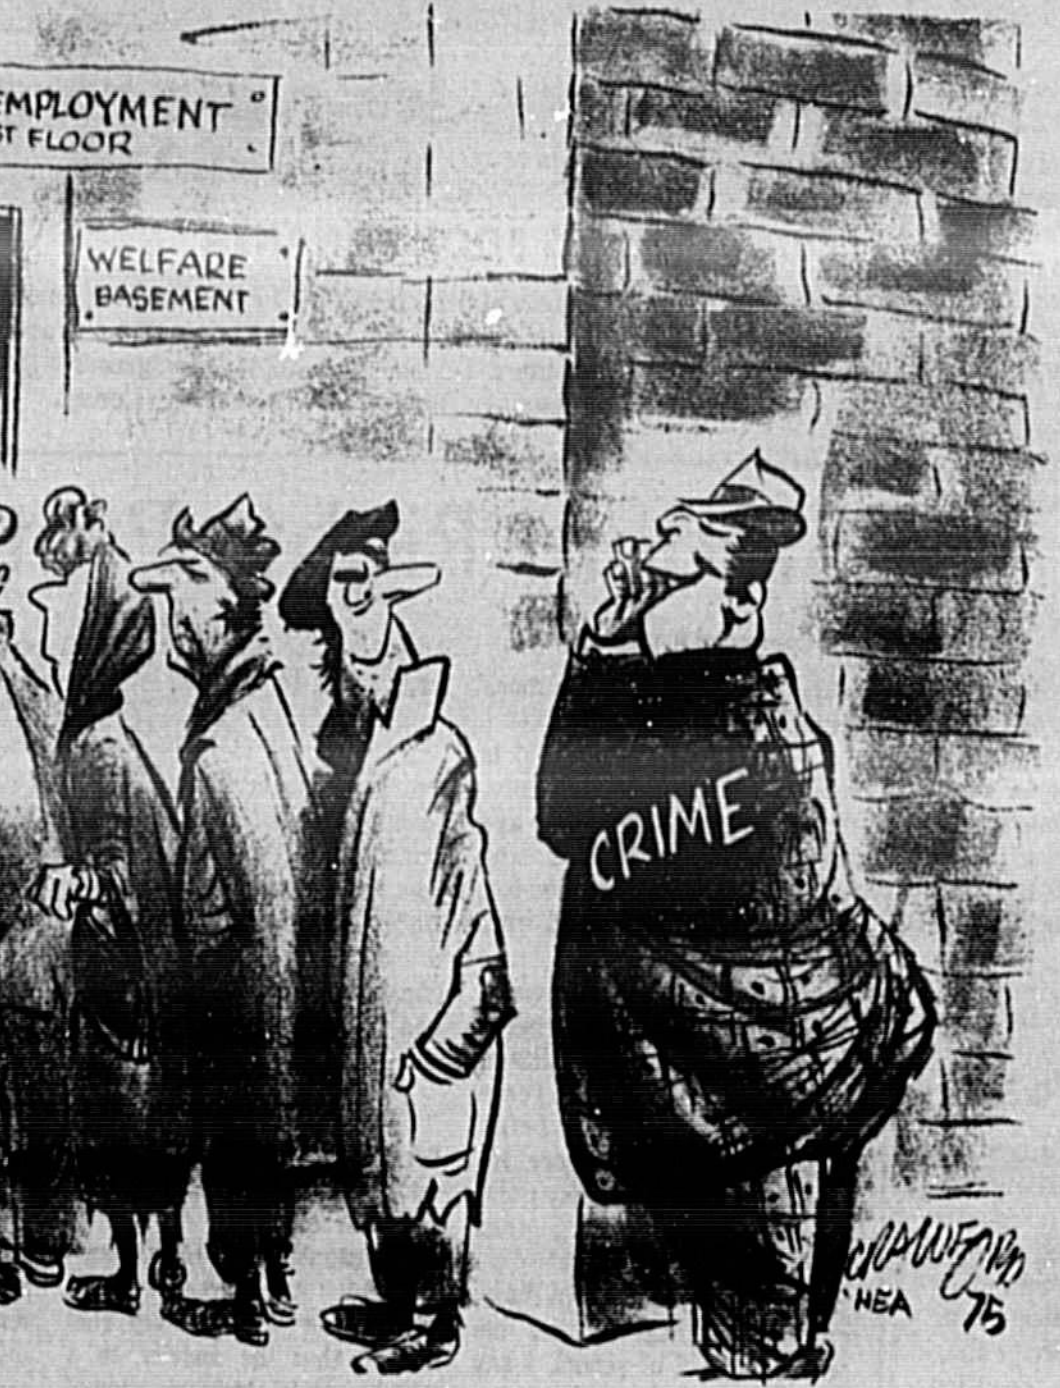

(Now if the Disney folks want to change their claim to read — the state's only "mouse-made" mountain, well that's another breed of cat, or rat, or whatever!)

You know, at the rate things are going, the Arabs will all be driving Cadillacs and we'll be riding camels.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is a letter to Sanford Mayor Lee P. Moore from the Sanford Recreation Department which requested that the letter be published.

Mayor Moore: The Sanford Recreation Department would like to take this opportunity to publicly recognize the great work done by the Sanford Police Department led by Chief Ben Butler and his fine Detective Division in regards to the quick action taken on apprehending burglars that did break into the Sanford Recreation Department and steal several exercise machines.

Due to the alert action of the Sanford Police Department, the machines were quickly traced down and the guilty parties apprehended and the equipment returned to service to the Sanford Recreation Department.

This is the type of police protection and service which the Sanford Police Department has long given the citizens of Sanford and I think that we are very fortunate to have a Police Department headed by a superb administrative staff led by Chief Ben Butler and his specialty forces of Traffic Control Officers, Detective Division, and general operation of the Police Department is certainly one to be commended.

Speaking as a private citizen and, also, the Director of the Recreation and Parks Department and the Recreation staff, we wholeheartedly endorse and support the Sanford Police Department and feel quite secure in knowing that we have such an excellent law enforcement agency in the City of Sanford.

Once again our sincere thanks to the Sanford Police Department for the continued cooperation and excellent law enforcement they are offering the citizens of Sanford and the Sanford Recreation department throughout every day of the year.

Sincerely,
James F. Jernigan
Director of Recreation and Parks

Seeing Synthetic Eyes Are Forecast Soon

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Synthetic eyes that see could be developed in six to eight years, says a University of Florida researcher tackling the problem of blindness.

Dr. William Dawson, director of the UF sight laboratory, says it's a tough project. But he adds he's optimistic that researchers using new space technology are near a breakthrough.

Dawson says Gainesville scientists have been working to duplicate the retina, perhaps the most crucial part of the eye. The eye's cornea and lenses already had been duplicated, he says.

The retina, the eye's innermost portion, is the "seeing" instrument. It focuses light rays and transmits them to the brain. Retinal disease and damage account for about 20 percent of all blindness and are, for the most part, incurable, Dawson says.

But Dawson says research by the Gainesville team has shown that it takes only a very small electric current to prompt the retina to send visual messages to the brain.

A tiny electrode placed on the eye's outer surface can transmit electrical currents to inner layers and cause a blind person to see light, Dawson says.

One of Dawson's volunteers who saw light for the first time in a year's described the scene as "brilliant as the aurora borealis."

In other labs, animals are undergoing tests to determine how much electrical current is needed to produce the actual visual image on the eye, Dawson said.

The University of Florida plan involves implanting 50,000 to 100,000 tiny light converters, microscopic replicas of the solar light panels used on the Skylab space station and other space vehicles.

But Dawson says that to be sighted, researchers must make the artificial retina so complex it would be able to recognize subtle differences in intensity from thousands of points that reflect light to it each second. Without this sophistication, a person would see only gross light patterns rather than specific objects.

In addition, Dawson said, researchers must develop a natural synthetic eye to fit against the surface of the retina and support thousands of the light

Panel Sought
On Justices

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — It would be more fair if Supreme Court justices or a panel appointed by them did not judge the qualifications of fellow justices, says Senate Government Operations Chairman Kenneth Myers.

Myers, D-Miami, said his committee will work on a constitutional amendment to have either the Senate or a specially appointed panel of citizens hear disciplinary recommendations against justices made by the Judicial Qualifications Commission.

"When a justice is the subject of a disciplinary action and obviously when the JQC recommendation is presented to the Supreme Court, you have at least a semblance of a conflict," Myers said.

"I am sure some change would be for the benefit of the Supreme Court justices as well as the public. The justices want to avoid any color of conflict of interest."

A seven-member panel, including retired Justice Richard Ervin, is considering recommendations of removal made by the JQC against Justices Joseph A. Boyd Jr. and Hal P. Dekle. They are accused of improperly accepting a proposed opinion from a utility lawyer in a utility tax case.

The same panel, with a replacement for Ervin sitting, is considering a separate removal recommendation against Dekle on a charge of attempting to interfere in a Panama City lawsuit.

Chief Justice James C. Adams Jr., and Justices B. K. Roberts, David McCain and Richard Ervin selected the six lower court judges to sit with Ervin in considering the utility cases against Boyd and Dekle and a seventh judge to sit in Ervin's place in the separate charge against Dekle. The panel also includes Justices Dekle, Boyd and Justice Ben Overton disqualified themselves.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Heel-Of-The-Year Nominations Made

DEAR ABBY: My nomination for Heel of the Year is "Slim Smith," which, of course, is not his real name. Slim is good looking, clean shaven, and believe it or not, he wears his dark, wavy hair cut short. He's a sharp dresser and a natural born salesman with a million-dollar smile and sparkling blue eyes, like Paul Newman. He came into the cocktail lounge where I'm a waitress, had two drinks and we started talking. Then he discovered somebody had lifted his wallet. I took care of his bill, and then he asked me if he could see me home after work. I said okay (We used my car because his was in the shop).

When we got to my place, he said his pad was being painted and asked if he could sleep on my couch. I said okay. The next day, he drove me to work in my car, and promised to pick me up after work. He never showed up. You guessed it. That heel had taken everything in my apartment he could hook, and he took off with my car. Not only that, but I lent him $100. The police found my car in a town 300 miles away, and Slim is still missing. Sign me...

DEAR ABBY: I think the title of "Heel of the Year" should go to that no good so-and-so who robbed the blind man who sells papers and magazines on the corner near my house. It was bad enough to rob the poor old guy, but he beat him up so bad he had to go to the hospital. I found out later that wives and husbands WERE invited, and he had told everyone at the party that I was home, sick in bed.

DEAR ABBY: Can the Heel of the Year be a woman? If so, I'd like to nominate daughter-

DEAR ABBY: I have hypoglycemia and would greatly appreciate any information you could send me about it. My oldest brother is a diabetic. My endocrinologist has me on a 1000-calorie high protein diet.

DEAR READER - The interesting thing about your diagnosis is your brother's diabetes. Sometimes hypoglycemia (low blood sugar) precedes the development of diabetes (high blood sugar).

In these instances the defect is really in the islets of Langerhans of the pancreas, the place where insulin is produced. Normally when the amount of sugar (glucose) in your small intestine rises after eating sweets the islets release an increased amount of insulin. Your body literally releases whatever amount of insulin you need to control the level of your blood sugar.

When the islets are defective they may release insulin too late, long after the peak sugar load. The result is the extra insulin, released into the bloodstream after the blood glucose level has already started to fall. The extra insulin drives the level lower still and hypoglycemia develops.

As the islets become more defective, they fail to produce enough insulin. The defect literally progresses from producing too late to also producing too little. Then you have diabetes.

There are many factors related to low blood sugar, some are endocrine and others are related to diet. A lot of people get that diagnosis who have other conditions, including anxiety. For more detailed information write to me at P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019 and ask for the booklet on low blood sugar. Send 50 cents to cover costs.

It is common to put people with this condition on a high protein diet. I presume your doctor thinks you are also overweight and is restricting your calories for that purpose. In general, even for patients with low blood sugar, I prefer a well-balanced diet, with plenty of bulk and relatively low fat. So you need to be careful where you get the protein, since some protein foods are loaded with fat.

DEAR DR. LAMB - Do you think cancer can be cured when a person is in his or her 70's? DEAR READER - Of course. It depends not so much on age as it does on how far it has progressed.

Two Multiple Births: She'll Risk A Third

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) - Charlotte and Alvin Lange wanted a family of two girls and two boys. But when Mrs. Lange failed to conceive, they said they felt it was "the end of everything, of all our hopes."

Then they learned that Mrs. Lange could bear children with the help of the drug Pergonal. She bore quadruplets. None survived.

She bore sextuplets less than 13 months later. Only one survived.

"I ask why it happened to us, why twice?" Mrs. Lange said in an interview. "Alvin always tells me life comes with no guarantees. We're not too religious, but we both believe things happen because God makes them. Without that belief we'd be in trouble because there wouldn't be anything that we could help us understand."

Mrs. Lange, 26, never saw the quadruplets who died shortly after birth Nov. 23, 1973. She has held only one of her 10 babies - Jolene Rene, the sole surviving sextuplet born Dec. 8, 1974.

Jolene is gradually strengthening her grasp on life with intensive care at Valley Medical Center here. The Langes say they have been told they may be able to bring her home by March.

"Children fulfill a marriage," Mrs. Lange said, looking happy and rosy-cheeked despite her recent ordeal. "Even with a good marriage like ours there's always something lacking. We felt the two of us would be able to give something to children, to provide a good home."

Mrs. Lange said she is considering taking a fertility drug again. Her husband, a $12,500-a-year armored car guard, said they would rather try to have another baby on their own before they would consider adopting. "We want more children," said Lange, 31, who was an adopted child. He said they have not consulted an adoption agency, but they talked with friends familiar with the process and decided it was too long and complicated.

Dr. Vincent Nola, Mrs. Lange's obstetrician, said by the time she is ready for a third pregnancy new techniques may be available to help avert another multiple birth.

"She is a healthy woman," he said in an interview. "There is no reason for her not to go through another pregnancy."

The last previously reported sextuplets were born Jan. 11, 1974, to a Cape Town, South Africa woman after a full-term pregnancy, and the last in the United States were those of the Eugene Staneks of Lakewood, Colo. Five of the Staneks sextuplets survived. Mrs. Stanek also used a fertility drug.

Ms. Frieda Gerners of Oviedo, a volunteer worker at the Central Florida Zoo, stamps a shielded on the backs of these youngsters' hands, indicating they have made their donations and may enter the zoo and visit their favorite animals. Heidi Smith, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Smith of Oviedo, and Sean Marston, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tim Marston of Sanford, are regular visitors at the zoo.

Women Are Speaking Out On Sex, Marriage And Politics

By The Associated Press "It's a tremendous victory against the kind of sex-based stereotypes that were at issue," Elizabeth M. Schneider, an attorney with the Center for Constitutional Rights in New York, speaking of the Supreme Court ruling that women may not be excluded from jury duty because they are women.

"I've really only been married twice. If this doesn't work, I shoot myself." Hungarian-born actress Zsa Zsa Gabor, who married businessman John W. Ryan in Las Vegas, saying Ryan was the only man who competed for her affections with the late George Sanders, her third husband. She said the four other husbands were father figures.

"Men have been boosing us around long enough. I've been very successful in business and

"I'm convinced women can run this country," Sunrat Telan, hotelier and founder of the Thai Soil Party, campaigning for a seat in parliament in Bangkok.

"This is the year of the woman. Perhaps that's why the Pope accepted me. By this, he has opened the door for other women." Bernadette Olowo of Uganda, the first woman to serve as ambassador to the Vatican.

"There I was and I had been married just two days and my husband was getting shot. I just knew if I shot into the three, I would kill my husband." Policewoman Lee Genson, who held her fire then, but later helped shoot one of the two men who fought with her husband, Detective Dan Genson, in Atlanta. Genson was unhurt.

The DeBary Garden Club is hosting a Silver Tea to benefit the Central Florida Zoo Feb. 7 at 2 p.m. at the DeBary Civic Center along with its regular meeting and program, "Tapestry for a Flower Show."

Chairman for the program is Mrs. Alvin Becker, who invites the public to attend this meeting of the Garden Club of DeBary, and meet its members at the Silver Tea.

"It's for the zoo," said Mrs. Becker, "which is the best possible reason for joining us for tea and what promises to be a most enjoyable program."

"My edge is that when people look at me they see all legs and a toothpick," said Gabriel, the 64-year-old Patriots coach said. "Especially when you consider all the Patriots players who are in the line."

Justice Foreign To Lyman

By TOM KEYSER Herald Sports Editor LONGWOOD - Is there no mercy? No justice? There is none for the Lyman High School basketball team.

In desperate need of victories, Lyman came unbelievably close Saturday night against Clearwater Central Catholic. In fact, it seemed the Clearwater team teased Lyman before finally winning 88-89 in double overtime.

Lyman apparently had the game won but Central Catholic's Dave Hadden swished a 15-foot jumper with 10 seconds left in the fourth quarter to tie the game at 73-73 and force the first three-minute overtime.

In the overtime period, Lyman led 84-79 with 30 seconds to play. But the CCC Marauders rattled off six points to knot the score at 85-85 and cause the second overtime.

Central Catholic outscored Lyman 13-4 in the final three minutes.

"I just wish we'd win one for the boys," Lyman Coach Rick Steink said after the game. "That's the whole thing. I'll be in this game a lot longer, hopefully, than they will. They'll be in it a year or two... and they've got to learn how it feels to win a few games."

Lyman is now 2-15.

"Lack of experience on our part told the tale. These kids are young, they haven't played much. We've tried to teach them, bit by bit, but it just seems we can't teach enough to win a ball game."

"But they'll be at practice Monday working hard and enthusiastic about the next game. They've got the best attitude of any 15-16 year olds in the state."

Lyman was plagued Saturday night by what

Steinke called "the best shooting team I've ever seen."

"We'd work for our points and then they'd take the ball down court and in five seconds they'd have their points."

Central Catholic is a fast-breaking and shooting team. The Marauders are not big and Coach Nick Cavallaro has molded them into a well disciplined, speedy team.

"Speed and quickness, that's all we have to rely on," Cavallaro said. "But Lyman has a very good team. The only problem is they play teams like Evans and Boone."

In an effort to control the game Saturday, Steinke benched 6-8 Jon Kaufman for most of the game and 6-4 Bernard Wright for part of the second quarter.

But it was smooth-moving Wright underneath and Clyde Hudson outside who hurt the Marauders. Wright controlled the boards and sank 26 points. Hudson, camping 20 feet right of the basket, hit 21 points - 17 in the second half and overtime periods.

The game was even throughout.

Central Catholic's Tom Spellissy and Lyman's Wright scored 12 and 10 points respectively in the first quarter as the teams tied 20-20.

Central Catholic leaped ahead 39-34 at halftime, scoring its first 10 points on fast breaks.

The Marauders led 59-54 after the third quarter. But Lyman sank 10 straight points early in the fourth quarter to take a 64-61 lead. The Marauders came right back and moved ahead 69-66, but a light Lyman defense and the inside work of Rick Shuett gave Lyman a 74-69 lead with 1:30 to play.

Central Catholic's Tim Killelea threw in a 15-footer with 40 seconds left to cut the lead to 72-71. Lyman's Shuett sank the second of two free throws

Navy Breaks Losing String With Slim Win

By SCOTT ABRAHAM Herald Correspondent Breaking a long losing streak is sweet. Coming from behind to win is even sweeter.

Sanford Naval Academy did both here Saturday, upsetting Tampa Temple Heights 68-58 in a game decided by Mark Bassett's field goal with three seconds left.

Bassett's final bucket topped a sizzling fourth quarter of 27 points that powered Navy to its first win in six games, despite an 11-point deficit at the start of the fourth quarter.

Both teams began sluggishly and shared the lead during the first two periods. At the half, Tampa led 21-18.

Navy's Bill Ross brought the midshipmen within one point early in the second half, and Hubert Kerkow's inside footwork gave Navy a brief 28-27 lead with 4:52 remaining in the third quarter.

Tampa broke the game open the remainder of the quarter, outscoring the midshipmen 17-0 to go ahead 44-33.

Being behind spurred the midshipmen and the momentum Tampa enjoyed in the third frame swung to Sanford in the fourth.

Outscoring the Eagles 12-4 in the first three minutes, Navy quickly was back in the game and Tampa's apparent victory was threatened.

Leading 48-45, Tampa doggedly clung to its three-point lead for the next three minutes as the two teams exchanged buckets four times.

With 1:50 left, Navy's Tommy Acheson narrowed the score to 56-55 with two free throws. But a quick Tampa layup put the Eagles back in front by three.

Steve Mock added a free throw to bring the Middies within two, and Tampa's Hobson missed one and one with 48 seconds left to keep Navy's chances alive.

Bassett then sank a 12-footer to apparently tie the game, but the officials nullified the shot, claiming Navy players called a time out.

Navy finally tied the Tampa team with 23 seconds remaining when Kerkow sank two free throws. Temple Heights, which did not score in the final minute and a half, could not break the tie. Bassett then polished off the Eagles with his clutch field goal.

Navy ended the quarter with 27 points to Tampa's 44. Kerkow accounted for 12 of those final winning points, and led all scorers with 23.

Garcia and Cox of Tampa each had 16 points. Acheson and Bassett scored 15 and 12 respectively for Navy.

The naval academy is 3-11 and Tampa Temple is 5-6. The two teams play again in two weeks, but Coach Chris Marlette was too busy savoring the win to think ahead.

"This is the best game I've seen since being here," the third-year coach said. "Especially when you consider all the Patriots players who are in the line."

I've only had seven players to dress out because of that, leaving two subs. I've been starting two freshmen and a sophomore.

Those three - Jon Summers, Steve Mock, and Hubert Kerkow - have done well, but losing Dickens hurt."

Sanford Naval Academy's two other basketball teams also won.

Frank Leicht hit 14 points and 18 rebounds in leading the JV midshipmen to a 46-36 victory over the Tampa JVs. Ricky Taylor and Ricardo Acosta added 10 points while Acosta pulled down 12 rebounds. The JV's stand 8-6.

Pete Bilzer led the junior school midshipmen with 20 points as Bobby Williams' crew sank the Eagles 54-19 to set its record to 8-2. Phil Martineau hit 13 points and Jeff Junper 11.
