Seminole high boys track, baseball best in the state

Herald Sports Editor

HAINES CITY - Seminole High School this weekend added to its legacy as having one of the top athletic programs in Florida as the Sanford school's baseball team won the Class 3A state championship in Haines City on Saturday and the boys track team won the Class 3A state title Friday night in Winter Park.

It was the school's first state championship in baseball. The team defeated Tampa-Jesuit 7-5 at the Baseball City Complex.

For Seminole, one of 29 charter members of the Florida High School Activities Association, the track victories represent the fifth boys track state championship in the school's history. The Seminoles were track champions in 1966, 1985, 1986 and 1990.

Head baseball coach Mike Powers said on Saturday, "It's nice for the school to win two state championships in two days. It's a tremendous feeling. The boys track team has won five state championships, the girls track team has won four but

LAKE MARY - Consideration of annexing Lake Mary High School to the City of Lake Mary has come to an abrupt halt. The idea, city officials concluded, would be a costly "nightmare."

The school is located directly across the Longwood-Lake Mary Road from the city limits, and the Eagle Creek subdivision.

Lake Mary Mayor Randy Morris had suggested that annexation of the high school into the City would prevent problems in sidewalks, transportation and police responses. "Every time we start to deal with one of these matters," he said, "we have to have approval by the City Commission, Seminole County Com-mission and the Seminole County School Board." He suggested the annexation would help resolve many of the problems.

After the matter was first brought up for consideration, the city staff was ask to research various situations including costs, police and fire protection, and other aspects that might be involved. The reports were submitted to the City Commission during Thursday night's meeting.

Bits and pieces of city history

Today let's deal with some bits and pieces of information that will take you back a few years. For example, remember the group photo of the two second grade classes back in 1926 that ran in The Herald recently? We had identified the two teachers. The blonde was Miss Pauline Myers and the brunette was Miss Marion St. John. The latter became a principal of one of Seminole County's schools. Two of the pupils in that photo were Beryl Higgs and Robert Goins. I remember how I admired Higgs because he was the first youngster in my time to become an Eagle Scout.

Since The Herald ran that photo of the members of the Kiwania Club ☐ See Stenetrem, Page SA

dealer for many years. And that leads to two other times. One is that if you do not get the weekday editions of The Herald you're missing some great pictures of old Sanford businesses and people. These "Way Back When" photos usually are published on either Mondays or Tuesdays. And, friends, they've generated all kinds of interest.

Since we were speaking of one Morrison family, I had reason to call Mary Nell (Smith) Morrison the other day. Mary Nell is the daughter of the late Sanford physician, Dr. H.D. Smith. He had an office on the second floor of what is now the Touchton Building at First and Magnolia. She is also the widow of Jack Morrison who was an Army officer during World War II and after that operated the Seminole Tire Shop and the Pure Oil station at Park and Commercial, next door to the old Courthouse. Unfortunately, Jack passed away a couple years ago.

Mary Nell was in Seminole High's graduating class of 1936. Remember her brother, Rhett? He graduated in 1932 in the same class with our old friend Roy Britt. Mary Nell and I chatted about a number of old timers and we got around to the Tew family who lived at the southwest corner of Avocado and Second Street. We understand that Thelma, who became a registered nurse, has passed on. So has her brother, L.E. Tew Jr., as well as James. the other Tew son.

L.E. spent most of his life after World War II with the Ethiopian Air Lines and served as personal pilot for the long time ruler of that nation, Haile Science, I enjoyed chatting with Mary Neil. She sounded great and I wish Several Sundays back we wrote abut Cliff Proctoria Trianon. We said it was just south of Five Points on U.S. 17-92. A number of you old timers called to let me know the Trianon was not south of Five Points. Some said it was just about where the Wal-Mart shopping center is now. Yet. there were some who told me it was where I said it was. DOMEAGL' II was a huge frame building and many could remember the night it burned to the ground.

Oh, yea, one caller remem-bered that the name of one musical group that played at the Trianon was the "Mero Syn-copaters."

I got another call the other night from friend Orville Touchton who as a lad carried The Herald to subscribers on Sanford's eastaide. Orville said that M.D. Gatchell's grocery, feed and seed store was not on the southwest corner of Celery and Melionville but rather at the southeast corner of Celery and Sanford avenues. I'm not old enough to remember that but I do recall that the building once housed the Echols family's mattress factory.

Orville gave me more information. I'll deal with at a later date. But he did remind me that I was also incorrect when I wrote that Cliff Proctor's eastside store was her father, W.A. Morrison, was Sipes Avenue. Touchton said it in the photo. He was a Ford was on Beardall Avenue. And he reminded me that the first baseball team in Sanford to be known as the "Glants" was this city's black semi-pro club. Orville remembers that quite a few black players for the Glants went on to play in the Negro major

> To the caller who wanted to know how cold it got during the freeze of 1896 that destroyed all of the citrus groves and truck crops, I did some investigating and discovered the temperature went down to 17 degrees and remained there for some six or seven hours. There are reports there were some areas of Lake Monroe and the St. Johns River actually frozen over.

> From an old Seminole High annual: The student was about to start taking an exam. He asked the teacher what day and date it was. The teacher told him to forget the date. The exam, she said, was more important. The student replied: "I just looked at these questons and I wanted to know the date so I've something correct on its paper." Folks back then must have had a sense of humor too.

> I'm not ready to report all the information I gathered at the 55th reunion of the SHE Class of '38. But I did find out something I had always wondered about Back about 1930 my aunt, Mrs. E. S. (Ada) Rickey invited me to go to Paola with her one evening to attend the eighth grade graduation exercises at Wilson School. There were only two graduates. One was my first cousin, Guy Otis Stenstrom Jr. Beside cousin Guy I could never recall who the other graduate was Well, I found out at the reunion. She was Lucille (Slaughter) Fesler. Lucille was married to the late Walter Fesler. You old timers will remember that he was quite a football player at Seminole High in his day. You'll also remember he operated a Sinciair service station for many years at the northwest corner of Park Avenue and Eighth Street.....

(How many of you old timers, can remember the Sinclair Minetrel Show that was hilled-cast every Saturday night over station WLW in Cincinnati?)

Back to Lucille. She was associated with the Seminole County School Board's lunch program for a number of years. Believe me, she looked great.

Oh, yes, our sympathies go to Lucille concerning the recent death of her younger stater, Jewel Riser.

And, one bit of information about cousin Guy Stenstrom. A number of you will recall that he's a civil engineer and once worked for Seminole County's engineering department under now retired county engineer, Bill Bush. Guy spent the past several years writing an engineer's handbook. The 300-page plus hardbound book was published by McGraw-Hill - the well known New York City publishing house. A copy of Guy's manual can be found on display at the General Sanford Library and Museum.

FERN PARK - Semoinole Center has not had so many cars in its parking lot for years.

But the Seminole County sup-porters of H. Ross Perot, the Texas billionaire who is drumming up support for a bid for the presidency, were out in force on Saturday afternoon. It was the flonal day of their campaign to encouraging others to sign both a petition to get his name on the Florida ballot in November and a letter which will be sent to Perot encouraging him to make his candidacy official.

We want to show him the level of grass roots support we have here in Seminole County." said Judy Dennis, the newly appointed media lisison for the Seminole County group.

Dennis said that Seminole County has produced several thousand signatures. She said that the state network of groups is still rather loosely knit so she has been unable to determine how many signatures have been collected state wide.

That organization will begin to come together when the regional directors meet later this week, possibly in Seminole County.

On Saturday morning, about 25 neighborhood residents dug trenches, plopped down sod and cleared away brush from around the lake. Mayor Randy Morris stood a few feet off Estella Road, atop the slight hill leading down to the work area.
"This is what this is all about," he said, crossing his arms and waething the activity below him. "Most of these people are from the neighborhood. There are only two people from the City and one of them's me."

The City of Lake Mary for the last eight months or so has been sponsoring the renovation or creation of parks throughout the city. There is the hope that there will be a park for the residents of every neighborhood.

In addition to donating their time and labor to the development of the park, neighbors brought out food and beverages for one another and took turns at some of the more physically demanding lobs.

"I think this is beautiful that we can all come together like this," said Keith Abells, who helped coordinate this, the fourth Neighborhood Parks project in Lake Mary. "I've done some of the physical work at some of the other parks

The White House estimates American consumers have saved $10 billion to $20 billion in the last three months from President Bush's decision to roll back a host of federal regulations. The administration says the savings reflect costs that would have been borne by businesses — and passed along to consumers — if companies had been required to comply with regulations that either were pending or already were in effect.

April 29, Mr. Bush extended the regulatory moratorium for another 120 days to help the economy recover from recession. At this crucial moment, as the economy is beginning to grow again, continuation of the moratori-um can provide a helpful stimulus and spur the creation of new jobs. But long-term regulatory relief also is essential to promote economic growth and make the United States more competitive in the global marketplace.

There are, of course, critics of the administration's deregulatory action. Public Citizen, Ralph Nader's research and lobbying organization, complains that the White House figures "ignore costs to society of reckless deregulation in illness, injury and marketplace dishonesty."

This is hyperbole. President Bush did not recklessly repeal existing health and safety standards. Rather, he suspended various new regulations that would have imposed high costs on businesses without providing the nation much overall benefit.

For example, the administration rescinded a new rule requiring automakers to install canisters in cars to recapture gasoline fumes. It also gave farmers a break by allowing broader use of certain pesticides.

In addition, the administration pared various regulatory impediments to development of the promising biotechnology in-dustry. And it eased new food-labeling

The financial sector also was provided regulatory relief. Savings and loans now may expand across state lines. Moreover, antitrust guidelines for corporate mergers, such as the recent marriage of Bank of America and Security Pacific, have been relaxed.

The White House war on red tape was prompted by evidence that the regulatory burden on businesses had grown substantially during the first three years of the Bush

President Bush was said to have been upset by a news report that in 1991 the number of pages in the Federal Register which is considered a gauge of regulatory activity, increased by 26 percent, to 67,615 pages. That represented the highest total in 12

Along the same lines, a report prepared for the National Chamber Foundation, a business research organization, revealed that regulatory costs have risen from $4,100 per household in 1988 to $4,300 today, after adjusting for inflation. The regulatory drain on households is projected to reach $4,500 by 1996.

Mr. Bush hopes to reverse the trend toward increased regulation. The four-month extension of the moratorium on new rules is a good start, but is simply a stopgap. The drive to reduce the toll of regulations on businesses and consumers should be made a top-priority roll of both the administration and Congress.

Notes on black and white relations

Andrew Hacker's new book "Two Nations Black and White, Separate, Hostile, Unequal" is timely. It is suggested as the first book since Gunnar Myrdal's "An American Dilemma" to provide a searching analysis of black and white relations in America.

Hacker's introductory comments indicate that the American taxpaying electorate is overwhelmingly white middle class, middle-aged and increasingly ensconced in insulated suburbs. In essence, they are not receptive to racial re-

The fact that chattel slavery was once practiced in this country and that psychologically it was necessary to demean Blacks to justify their inhuman treatment of them. This fact is something that neither black nor white Americans have forgotten. Accordingly, this separates black Americans from all others and they "still subsist as aliens in the only land they know."

America is a "white" country and African-Americans are constricted by boundaries dictated by the white majority. Hacker charges America with a system of apartheid, which correlates closely with the system proposed for dismantling in South Africa. The chief difference is South Africa's system was legally sanctioned.

Assimilation of Germans, Irish, Jews and other immigration to this country was accomplished between World War II and 1990. People from every European country were considered fully ... exceeding the eight percent black occupancy

SEMINOLE OPINION

LURLENE SWEETING

"white" Americans by 1990.

The recent influx of immigrants from Asia and Latin America was also noted. All arrive in this country prepared to compete for middle class careers. Middle class whites do not object to the new groups populating their neighborhoods. They are accepted and allowed upward mobility.

By contrast, Blacks, who are economically able to move to middle class neighborhoods, are kept at an eight percent level. Should the level of Blacks in a neighborhood exceed this percentage, whites will begin moving out and no new whites will move in. Therefore, white America has the power to decide the racial composition of communities and neighborhoods.

Hacker contends that the caste system for African-Americans in this society is such that if a white family remains in a neighborhood that is level that particular family might be viewed a being on a "downward spiral."

In America, the wounds of segregation never really heal and leave scars that constantly remind Blacks of their lack of citizenship. Judgments based upon race cause more harm than any other presumptions Americans hold.

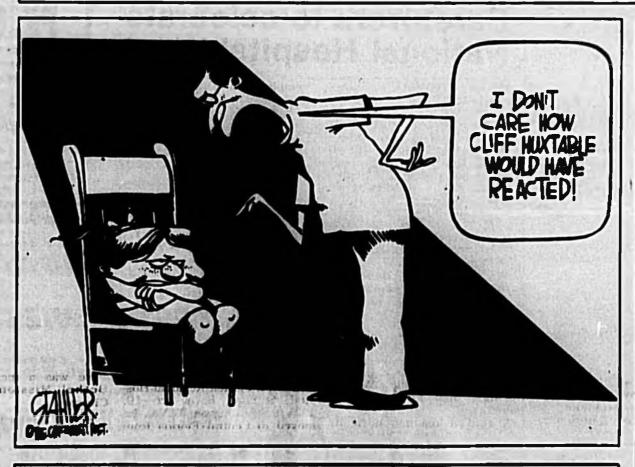

The fact that African-Americans have an unfavorable identity imposed upon them daily is not something conservative whites consider their responsibility.

Institutional racism is associated with organizations such as: colleges, churches, business firms or governmental bureaus. Hacker cited the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Los Angeles Police Department as examples of institutions holding long standing reputations for "antipathy towards Blacks and other minorities."

Hacker was prophetic. The litigation filed by African-Americans against the Federal Bureau of Investigation was recently resolved - with awards, promotions and other changes.

The history of African-Americans is and has always been one of being relegated to different treatment and, in turn, being blamed for being treated differently. The syndrome is known as blaming the victim.

Women rout election apathy

BOSTON — In the aftermath of the Pennsylvania primary, this campaign watcher has had the oddest sense that something is missing from her regular political diet. What Ah, yes, that's it. What's absent is apathy. Alienation from the political process. That old familiar dusty taste of powerlessness.

Until now, we've all been told that people are voting with a sour taste in their mouths. Their appetite has been dampened by disappoint-ment and disillusionment. Expect nothing except dyspepsia.

But Lynn Yeakel wiped the plate of bitters clean in at least one state. She won the Democratic Senate primary not out of voter inertia nor some calculation about the lesser of two evils. She won with - gulp - voter

One woman voter said to Yeakel during a day-after victory tour of a downtown Philadelphia lunch spot, "Thank you for making politics worth voting for." How do you spell relief? Pennsylvania.

The whole thing reminds me of the comedi-an who talks about the time he traded in his mother's ethnic cooking for the Army's. After a week, he felt something was seriously wrong with his digestive tract. It turned out that he didn't have heartburn anymore. There has been a serving of good cheer in the voting

First it was Carol Moseley Braun in Illinois. Now it's Lynn Yeakel in Pennsylvania. In some reverse domino theory, one woman's victory is building on the last. Next come lows, Washington state, California, and New York.

If Yeakel beats Arien Specter in November and makes it to the Senate, she will become part of what's already called the "Anita Hill"class. A fair enough description.

It was watching Arrogant Arien's interroga-tion of Hill that propelled Yeakel into the race. Four weeks ago when we talked ther polling numbers then were in single digits — single, as in 1 percent), she said directly, "I watched the hearing with a sense of embarrassment and fury. It was my senator from my state grilling this woman." The next day her phone started ringing and she started thinking.

Yeakel used the same videotape of the hearings in her ads. Even though Specter was running in the Republican primary and Yeakel was running in the Democratic primary, the ads established her as the candidate who could, would, should go for his sest.

The Anita Hill effect is actually more subtle than it's been described. Yes, the visual impact of an all-white-male Senate was stunning. More important was the spontaneous combustion of American women who rediscovered each other. That famous cry that ignites all movements was heard again: "I thought I was the only one."

If voters had eaten a dreary diet of the status quo over the past decade, that was more true for women voters. We were told that women and women's concerns were political losers. After a decade of backlash, of conservatism, of repeated declarations about the death of feminism, we were on thin rations indeed.

Each time somebody predicted that this would be "the year for women" in politics we got a raincheck instead.

But the long slow groundwork for the "sudden" string of competitive women had been going on all this time. More women entered the other professions. As Yeakel said, politics, the ultimate and sometimes intimidating public world, became the next logical expansion of women's sphere of influence.

A generic 'woman' has an edge over a generic 'man.'

Yeakel herself, the daughter of a congressman, is a political novice. But she trained as an activist and fund-raiser, who founded Women's Way, a highly successful fund for women's services. As the manager of this million-dollar point of light, she learned about the need to change public priorities, "I discovered the poweressness of women trying to solve community problems without access to resources. probably knew then that someday I wanted to be on the other side of that equation."

It is a long, long way from May to November. In the public polling consciousness, for the first time, a generic "woman" has an edge over a generic "man." Women have become the synonym and the vehicle for change.

Still Yeakel is going to need some verbal polish without becoming an old smoothic like specter. The public likes its "outsiders" to sound "senatorial." She's also going to need some money going up against the bulging

But for the moment, it's the women in this election year who are proving that voters are not as alienated, turned off and passive as we've been told. They've just been fed a steady dist of the same old gruel. Lynn Yeakel has provided a nice change of flavor.

POW-MIA unit getting the truth

WASHINGTON - When Ross Perot darkly intoned that the POW/MIA issue may come back to haunt President Bush's re-election, part of his prediction may have been pinned on the work of the Senate Select Committee on POW/MIA Affairs. Perot has been a valuable source.

Since the committec's creation last fall. Perot flew to Washington on one occasion and met personally with the committee's chairman and vice chairman, Sen. John Kerry, D-Mass., and Bob Smith, R.N.H. Senior committee investigators were dispatched to Texas for a day-long debriefing of Perot. And he has provided ma-terials from what is described as a vast archive of documents and his own intelligence sources. Kerry confirmed to us that Perot had beep "very helpful. He made himself available. ... He said every time he's ever turned around in this issue he kept running up against drugs and gun deals and nefarious activity."

An ugly epilogue to an ugly chapter In American history

Referring to Perot's penchant for conspiracy theories, one committee source said, "He (Perot) buys it all." Perot has suggested that his own investigation during the Reagan administration was blocked by U.S. government officials involved with arms and drug trafficking.

Racing to finish its work by its year-end deadline, the select committee is plowing new and potentially politically explosive ground on POW/MIAs, an ugly epilogue to an ugly chapter in American history. Kerry is trying to keep peace among the warring factions of his own committee and staff who range from skeptics to dark conspiratorialists whose views echo like a crib from "Rambo."

Already the 12-member select committee has conducted hundreds of interviews and depositions, including some with previously uncooperative sources, and pried loose hundreds of classified documents from the Defense Intelligence Agency and Pentagon.

No longer do only the conspiratorialists believe that there is an untold story behind the 2,273 Americans still unaccounted for. In a recent interview, Kerry told us: "I believe that as we go along in our hearings that the evidence will become overwhelming and clear that some people were left behind in Southeast Asia. And that is the foundation of today's dilemma. Whether or not they are alive today. I don't know the answer to that question. But there is certainly evidence that they were alive for some period of time. Now I'm not going to go into the dates or the period of time or what the state of the evidence is. That's what the hearing process will examine."

Kerry says he is confident that "the committee is going to be telling a story that's never been told before with documentation that's never been provided before." More than a half-dozen POW/MIA investigations have already taken place in the aftermath of the Vietnam War, but Kerry's select committee is the most ambitious and perhaps the most definitive to date.

The committee is also pressing the Pen-tagon to expedite the declassification of classified documents, which committee sources complain has been a too slow process. Kerry told committee members in a letter that this included "redacted live sightings" and "hereasy files." The meeting.

however, was postponed.

One of the documents that has excited the most interest among conspiracy buffs inside the committee is a Sept. 25, 1985, confiden-tial DIA memo that blisters internal management for not observing "some of the most basic analytical tools."

tax loophole draws criticism TALLAHASSEE - Officials at airports, ports and sports arenas around the state fear a loss of business if voters close a tax loophole that exempts some tenants in public buildings from property tax.

A proposed constitutional amendment was submitted to the secretary of state Thursday by the Florida Tax and Budget Reform Commission. The amendment will go to voters on the November ballot.

Some officials warn about unforescen side effects. The plan is drawing fire from officials at public facilities that might bear the brunt of the changes.

"I don't know what it's going to do," Tampa International's executive director. George Bean, told the airport board Thursday. "The problem is, nobody will know until it's too late."

"If it works out that we want to develop MacDill Air Force Base, this could be the kiss of death,"

Opponents say the tax reform group didn't calculate the amount of new revenue the tax will raise or the potential cost of businesses reloca-

Businesses exempted from the law now pay the state a tax of $1.50 for each $1,000 of the assessed value of property, well short of the average county property tax of $21 for each $1,000.

It means airlines could soon be required to pay property tax on terminals they rent at Tampa international, perhaps making them less enthusiantic about underwriting future airport Improvements.

The amendment would "affect our ability to compete with other ports such as New Orleans that subsidize their ports more than we do," said Charles Towsley, deputy port director for property management and development of the Tampa Port Authority.

Dade County Commissioner Art Teele, a tax commission member, was the main sponsor of the proposal.

"I don't think businesses should be exempt from paying taxes for education," he said. "I'm willing to do anything within my power to encourage the airlines to move here and grow here. But their growth should not be at the expense of public education."

The amendment is two sentences long and contains an exemption for the Daytona International Speedway and other groups that signed leases before November 1968.

Critics claim the amendment might affect any company or group leasing property from a government, including concessionaires at stadiums and airports, athletic teams, even non-profit housing groups.

Preserve

Continued from Page 1A Week is to spread the word about the renaissance of downtown. The national theme is "Ccicbrate Your Heritage."

"This is a challenge to proudly display Sanford's rich heritage. Straehla quoted from a proclamation signed by Mayor Bettye Smith.

Strachla called the piente a block party, to which neighborn invite neighbors. Grills, condiments, iced tea and desserts will be provided. Neighbors are asked to bring their own meat or pienie fare. Soft drinks will be sold on the premises. Hours are 4 to 8 p.m. at Park on Park, 8th Street and Park Avenue.

Strachla said Sanford is becoming a proud example of preservation. Recent host to renowned architect Andres Duanny, the city is nearing review of the final draft of Duany's plan to preserve the downtown area. The 13-block area was placed on the National Register of Historic Places a few years ago.

"We are moving toward hav-ing architectural unity and purity. Duany's plan gives us standards for the area," Straehla Strachla said Duany's plan includes more stringent codes for property owners, similar to those in effect in other historic areas, such as Savannah, Ga. and Charleston, S.C. Homeowners will be required to maintain property in keeping with the era. For instance, scrap wood may not be used to patch exterior holes. Standards could be set for fences, windows and porches.

"We are often accused of trving to be another Winter Park. That's not true. We're trying to be the best we can be. Personally. I think we have a few nicer things than Winter Park."

Straehla said the city has been very supportive of efforts to renovate downtown.

"A lot of cities fight to get this done, but Sanford has helped support the Duany plan. They have voted unanimously to accept his concept," Straehla said.

When the final draft of Duany's plan is complete. Strachla said work will begin to get it into code."

Duany created a master plan for the city after conducting interviews with residents and touring the city. A champion of preservation, he believes in mingling many elements of old and new. His services are in demand worldwide.

Public Safety Director Charles Lauderdale had submitted reports obtained from a number of sources including Seminole County, on the police, fire and emergency medical service needs. The report indicated 27 public safety type responses in the school area between Oct. 1, 1991 and May 3, 1992.

Lauderdale suggested the 27 fire and EMS calls would represent an "insignificant additional workload for the Department of Public Safety.'

Commissioner A.R. "Doc" Jore questioned, "If we annexed the land, what changes would there be in emergency medical services?"

Lauderdale explained, "Right now the school has two emergency services, the County Fire Department with ALS. Advanced Life Support, and the same ambulance service we have. It's the best service from two sources."

He continued, "If Lake Mary annexes the school, our fire department would have BLS. that's Basic Life Support." Lauderdale said. "It's the dif-

IN BRIEF

PTO meeting planeed at SHS

SANFORD - Gretchen Schapker, principal at Seminole High School, will meet with parents and other interested members of the community on Monday, May 11 at 7 p.m.

She will, at that time, present her "state of the school"

The address will be a part of the school's Parent Teacher Organization's regularly scheduled monthly meeting.

Also on the agenda for Monday's meeting is the election of the parent and community representatives to the newly-formed School Advisory Council. They will also take on the task of electing officers to the PTO for the upcoming year.

Schapker believes Monday night's meeting will be a good opportunity for parents to come together and be brought up-to-date on the school's accomplishments during the last year and to find out what they can expect during the next year with the expected budget cuts.

BAB to meet

High school report

Lake Mary

Senior Allison Slater

For some, the free day

was test of knowledge

The week just ended was a short one for most Seminole

County students with Friday

However, many of Lake Mary High School's students had Advanced Placement exams and on their Friday off. they had to wake up at dawn to arrive at their 8 a.m. exams.

AP students take classes designed as college courses. then take the exams in the spring to see if they can qualify for real college credit.

The exams will be going on for the next week as well.

Elections

Student Government elections are upon us.

Although many of the of-fices are unopposed, there is one office opposed in each

In addition, all four Student Body offices are opposed.

Students, please do your part and vote for the candidates you choose on Thursday and Friday in the auditorium.

Students will need a picture I.D. to vote.

Prom tickets are now on sale for the 1992 Prom this Saturday, May 16.

The prom will be held at the Stouffer Resort near Sea World. The photographer will not be available after 11:00 p.m., so students should plan accordingly. Tickets will be sold at a discounted rate of $35 on Monday and Tuesday. then the price will rise as the week goes on.

Noles wrap up and ready for next year

SANFORD - Although the school year isn't over, it's time to start thinking about next year's activities. Spring training has already started for both football and volleyball. It takes a lot of hard work and practice to form new teams. It's also time to get out those pom poms and dance shoes, and start warming up that singing voice for cheerleading try-outs and dance team. Vocal group auditions will be very soon.

Cheerleading try-outs are being held May 11 through 15 from 2:30-5:00 p.m. Each person is required to learn a cheer, chant, and dance and jumps and be able to show flexibility. Dance team auditions are on May 18 through 22 from 2:30-8:00 p.m., also in the SHS gym. A dance routine is taught that displays memorization skills, dance technique and flexibility. The vocal try-outs are being held the following week after dance auditions from 2:30 to 5:00 p.m. Participants must learn a short dance step and have a piece of music alrady prepared to be sung. So start stretching and thinking of music notes because there is sure to be some stiff competition for these very popular, school activities. Don't be afraid; catch the Seminole spirit and get in on the action!

Prom was spectacular and Grad Nite was a blast! Prom night was filled with excitement and glitz. The prom king of '92 is Guy Martin and the queen is Liz Aviles. Seniors voted on the king and queen the week before. Congratulations Ouy and Liz! Both these special nights were filled with life-long memories of fun, laughs, and thrills. Now it's time to move on through these mere four weeks we have left at school. For the seniors, every moment is precious.

Smart Car to to be at SHS

By VICKI Desc Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Smart Car, a vehicle with a computerized navigational system on board, that is being tested by the American Automobile Association (AAA) of Florida will visit Seminole High School soon to help students in the COMPACT program see how their school curriculum can have workrelated implications in the future.

Barbara Kincaid, a secondyear COMPACT mentor at Seminole High School has been working on the Smart Car project for AAA.

The car, equipped with a micro computer, video screen and other technologies that combine to help drivers move step-by-step through their trip. With an in-vehicle computer. drivers can avoid accidents, slow traffic or to find restaurants. hotels, attractions and other locations

Recognizing the students' fas-cination with cars and computers, she has made arrangements to bring the Smart Car to Seminole to demonstrate it for the students.

Though Kincaid has worked with only two of the many students in the COMPACT program, she believes that they would all benefit from getting to see the Smart Car in action.

Chiles prepares plan to benefit state education

Associated Press

TALLAHASSEE - Gov. Lawton Chiles will unveil his budget plans Monday for the June 1 special legislative session, aides said.

Chiles unsuccessfully pushed for sales and business tax changes in the regular session to raise nearly $1.4 billion in new revenue for schools, social services, corrections and the environment.

He's since said he was looking at a plan advocated by Secretary of State Jim Smith to cut out sales tax exemptions, cut the sales tax rate from 6 percent to 4 percent, and still raise additional revenue, though Smith has said he doesn't favor raising $1.4

Hillsman wins award

By VIGILI Description
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD - Melondy Giovanni Hillsman, daughter of Carolyn Hillsman of Altamonte Springs, is the Lyman High School representative of the Commissioner's Choice Award.

The award, which includes an $800 scholarship, is presented by Commissioner Larry Furlong. to the 'hardest working senior' each year. The students are selected by their teachers.

"They are not necessarily the best students, but they are the ones who make the greatest effort to achieve success." Furlong said. "Melondy is the personification of the award. She works very, very hard toward her goals."

Furlong presents the award each year to seniors at each of the district's aix high achools and at Crooms School of Choice. It is the fulfillment of a campaign promise to donate one-quarter of his annual salary to a community cause.

Hillsman, who has played varsity socer, volleyball and softball each of her four years in high school, has still found time to be active in the Beta Alpha Delta Club and in the Lyman Chorus. "I have been singing since I was seven and really enjoy each melody that I attempt to sing. she wrote in the essay she prepared as part of her contest entry. "Maybe you could say singing is my first love."

She said that she puts a high value on education, because it is "the only road to success in the future.

She is a member of the McKnight Achievers Society and the National Honor Society.

When Furiong arrived at her home to tell her that she had been selected as the winner to represent her school, he said she was "very excited."

She said she knows that family finances might be a hinderance to her reaching her goal of a college degree, but it will not be a deterant. The Commissioner's Choice Award will help her reach that goal.

She intends to combine her love of helping people in need with her singing ability to help young people in schools and in the community. "Since singing will always be a part of my life, maybe I can use it along with my counseling to encourage others that they can do the same," she wrote.

Upcoming meeting

0 Tuesday, May 12, 2:80 .m. The regularly scheduled board meeting.

Unless otherwise noted, the school board meets at the district headquarters, 1211 Mellonville Ave., Sanford.

Exhibit opens

'Hats and Flowers,' a onewoman show, opened Friday night at the First Street Gallery. The exhibit will run through June 2. Sanford artist Helen Hickey's work includes sculptures and lithographs. Bill Foster, dressed as Downtown Sanford's turn-of-the-century police man and Laine Wood, who owns many of the works currently on display, is dressed in vintage 1870s fashions. They are with the artist.

Hammock changes opposed

By J. MARK BARFIELD Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - The Florida Department of Community Affairs has opposed two proposed county land use changes for Spring Hammock.

County staff were reviewing the May 6 letter Friday and had no comments prior to a meeting with attorneys Monday. Commissioners are scheduled to take final action on the changes May 12.

In January, commissioners voted against a staff recommendation to change the zoning of six acres adjacent to County Road 427 from light industrial to agricultural to be consistent with the area's recreation and conservation land use designation. Instead, commissioners Fred Streetman, Jennifer Kelley and Pat warren voted to change the land use itself to industrial.

Commissioners Bob Sturm and Larry Furiong opposed the decision. The property, owned by Martin and Sharon Chira was located near Big Tree Park and is in the Spring Hammock Preserve acquisition area. The property was also under litigation. And last month, a Seminole circuit judge agreed the county had used its wetland ordinance to unconstitutionally restrict Chira from developing the alte without compensation. The case is on appeal.

The DCA, in their comments sent by facsimile. stated the county failed to justify the land use change. DCA planners recommended the county either provide justification for the land use change and show how it would protect the natural resources or to change it back to the conservation classifica-

The DCA also opposed the commission's similar 3-2 decision to change the land use for an adjacent three-acre parcel from recreation and conservation land use to industrial, against county planner's recommendations. The property is owned by Charles and Leanne Stephena. The DCA recommended providing justification for the decision or changing it back to its original land use designation. Both parcels are vacant.

Space rendezvous today

By NARRY F. ROSENTHAL Associated Press Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL - Somewhere, Isaac Newton and Johannes Kepler must be smiling.

Their laws of physics, laid down hundreds of years ago, are the unseen umpires in a celestial game of orbital tag that should end today.

The players are Endeavour, a 100-ton spaceplane, and the Intelsat-6 satellite — a shiny cylinder of miniature circuits. solar panels and antennas capable of handling 120,000 telephone conversations simul-tancously. Endeavour is the hunter. Intelsat the prey.

If the chase ends as it should. the two will be at arms' length late in the afternoon at an unmarked crossroads 225 miles above Earth. That will allow a spacewalking astronaut to grab the satellite, strap on a new booster rocket and send it on its way to a working orbit 22,300 miles high. Sir Isaac, who was born in 1642, and Kepler, born in 1571, set the principles for the flight. Long before Sputnik, they determined that any object in orbit obeys the same laws of motion as the planets around the sun and the moon around the Earth.

With computers applying pre-cision to the ancient laws, the game began Thursday evening. As Intelest moved around the Earth at an altitude of 350 miles, the shuttle raced into the sky from its launch pad to a height of 205 miles. They were 8,437 miles apart.

Endeavour couldn't simply blast up and latch onto the inteleat. The satellite needed to be that high to get away from atomic oxygen that would eat away its silver electrical connections. And the 23,000-pound booster motor weight in its cargo bay prevented the shuttle from flying higher.

The answer was a dual rendezvous, each spacecraft doing its part.

One of Newton's laws is that an object in motion will tend to stay in motion. And Kepler determined that the higher the altitude of an object orbiting Earth, the longer that circuit will

Like a tetherball that speeds up as its rope wraps around the pole, a spacecraft circles Earth faster when its altitude is lowered. For example, a satellite at 4,000 miles will take four hours to complete the circle but a shuttle at 184 miles does it in 90 minutes.

Firing a spacecraft's jets from behind not only makes it move faster but causes it to climb higher. A retrograde maneuver has the opposite effect. By firing jets in the direction of travel, the orbiting object slows down and loses altitude but it completes its circuit faster.

The strategy on this mission called for lowering the Intelest's orbit and raising the shuttle's. Endeavour speeded up in stages: the satellite slowed down. It was the first rescue attempt in which two spacecraft maneuvered toward one another; others have involved an active hunter and a passive prey. In the final phase of the aerial dance on Sunday afternoon, Endeavour will be below and behind the satellite. Commander Dan Brandenstein will steer the shuttle around the Intelest to make the close encounter at exactly the right angle.

When the spacecraft are nearly cheek-to-cheek, astronaut Pierre Thuot will reach out with a tool and snag the satellite. Kepler and Newton live.

Associated Press Writer

HOT SPRINGS, Va. - After a recession and the third consecutive slump in corporate profits last year, the nation's business leaders are finally looking forward to some better times.

But the chief executives' degree of optimism depends largely on their line of business and, often, on where they do business.

'I would stress that ... the recovery continues to be alow and geographically different depending on where you are in the country," said H. Brewster Atwater Jr., chairman of General Mills

He was one of nearly 100 top corporate leaders at the spring meeting of The Business Council. which concluded Saturday at the exclusive Virginia.

After a 4.6 percent drop in corporate profits in 1991. Business Council members expect a healthy 15 percent increase this year. But that's an average cloaking a great deal of diversity.

Troubled businesses such as banking are starting to see the first glimmerings of improvement. Some high-tech businesses, which have weathered the downturn relatively well, are wary of disappointing sales overseas. Other companies are hoping to take advantage of improving consumer sentiment in the United States.

"The banking industry I think has seen the worst," said John S. Reed, chairman of Citicorp, the nation's largest bank, "Our sense is that the

But Walter V. Shipley, president of Chemical Banking Corp., the third largest bank, warned it will be a long climb back because of the slump in commercial real estate, which is the basis of 30 percent of all bank loans.

"The real estate sector is as weak as we've ever seen it," he said. "I think we're in a three- to five-year period of continuing adjustment."

Meanwhile, Atwater cited brisker business at General Milis-owned restaurants as an early sign that U.S. consumers are a little less gloomy. But he said customers are still nervous and very price conscious.

Anguish offers reality check for candidates

By TOM RAUM An AP News Analysis

LOS ANGELES - President Bush and expected Democratic rival Bill Clinton both toured Los Angeles riot areas this week and both came away condemning the violence, commiserating with its victims and urging more aggressive government help for America's inner cities.

The two visits were very different, just as the two men are different. One was a presidential trip with all the trappings of power and all the stagecraft. The other was the visit of a candidate with few of the resources of an incumbent. But in many ways, the Bush and Clinton tours were alike.

Both politicians touched the major bases - touring burned-out areas of the city to get a first-hand look at the devastation, even if Bush did most of his touring from the security of an armored limou-

They both visited firehouses. met with police and local officials, heard cries of hopelessness from black city dwellers and cries of fear and anger from Korean-Americans.

Both Bush and Clinton were accused by critics of playing politics in coming to Los Angeles. And the promises for action of both were met with skepticism from residents who have long lived under the burdens of extreme poverty and widespread violence, and pre-

In some ways, the riots and the firsthand look that both presidential candidates got of the devastation may actually be drawing the two parties closer it could be a sign of what Housing Secretary Jack Kemp — who until now had been a lone voice in the policy wilderness on the problems of cities - calls a "critical mass" building toward a solution.

As the president came to Los Angeles, his administration was seeking to blame the riots on the liberal policies of previous Democratic administrations.

He returned to Washington vowing to work with Congress on bipartisan solutions. "Casting blame gets us absolutely nowhere," he told a group of black residents at a youth club in South-Central Los Angeles.

And in a Saturday morning radio address Bush vowed to fight hard for his plans to promote business development and jobs in the inner cities and help public housing tenants buy their homes.

"I can already hear some of the critics out there. They'll say, well, you've proposed all this before. That's true, they're right. But now it's time to act on these proposals," Bush said.

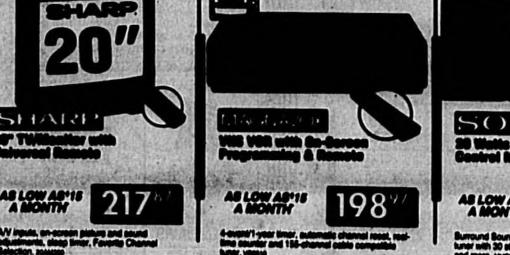

Bush spent less time than Clinton actually moving among the people affected by the riot. But a heavy dose of raw emotion still managed get through the protective envelope in which

Bush travels. Bush heard real pain and anger. He heard it from a black woman who said she was afraid to leave her house or let her grandchildren play in a nearby park. And he heard it from a tearful Korean-American woman who told Bush everything her family had worked for decades for was gone — and now they can't make the mortgage or car payments. And he heard it in the resigned voice of an unemployed black construction worker who said he'd been trying for over a year to get work but "it just won't happen" because "there are very few blacks able to get into that type of work." Democratic Mayor Tom Bradley said Bush "seemed to get information that he was unaware of Maclay's only scoring came in the sixth after Tucker Barr was hit by a pitch and accred after a walk and back-to-back singles.

Westminster crowned in 2A

HAINES CITY - Dan Perkins hit three RBIs as Miami Westminster Christian beat Florida Air Academy 5-1 Saturday for the state Class AA

It was the school's third state title in five

Westminster jumped out to a 1-0 lead in the first inning, as Alex Rodriguez reached on an infield hit, Hugo Bosque walked, and Doug Mientkiewicz hit into a fielder's choice to put runners on the corners. Rodriguez then scored

Westminster (33-2) put the game out of reach in the fourth, accoring three times to up the lead

Florida Air (20-7) managed its only run off winning pitcher J.D. Arteaga with two outs in the bottom of the seventh on Darryl Arrindell's RBI double.

America3 grabs first race

SAN DIEGO - America3 capitalized on a terrible start by Il Moro di Venezia for a great start in the America's Cup finals.

America3 won Saturday's first race of the best-of-7 match by 30 seconds after Paul Cayard, the American skipper of the Italian boat, crossed the starting line three seconds

The second race is scheduled for Sunday.

Tribe Boys crush field in track

Herald Correspondent

WINTER PARK - For Ken Brauman and the Seminole boys' track team, the hardest part of the postsesson was qualifying enough athletes for the state meet.

Once they got to Showalter Field for Friday night's Class 3A State Track and Field meet, it wasn't even close as the Seminoles won their second state title in three years.

A potential showdown between Seminole and Tallahassee Rickards never materialized as the Seminoles used a balanced effort to breeze by second-place Rickards 43-26.

In the girls' meet, Seminole finished tied for ninth with 15 points. Nikischia Lawrence led the Seminoles with a third-place finish in the 330-meter low hurdlen (0:45.64).

The boys' team clinched the title before the 3200 meter race, the meet's second-to-last event. They finished the night off with a thirdplace finish in the 4 x 400 meter relay, recording their best effort of the sesson.

"Everyone ran tremendous today," Brauman said. "There were no surprises."

While only Carlo White and the 4 x 100-meter relay team grabbed the top spot in any event. Seminole used a flurry of high finishes to help Brauman capture his fourth state championhsip at Seminole and sixth overall.

The Seminoles earned 22 points in the field events and 21 on the Perhaps no one personified the all-out effort of Seminole's team than the 4 x 100 relay squad. After three perfect legs by Andre Scott, Cory Wilson and Anthony Neal, senior Bruce McClary had a two-step lend when he back the haton. But with 40 yards left, McClary found himself next to Fort Myers the hate County to hat cleans McClary's lead. McClary, who missed postsesson action last year because of a pulled hamstring. turned it on and held off Green.

"He (Green) hit my hand with his baton," McClary said. "I thought no one was that close to me. Then I knew I had to win it for the boys (his relay teammates)."

Scott ran the race within five minutes after taking third in the triple jump despite leaping 50 feet. 114 inches. Johnny McDaniel of Rickards set a state record in the event with an effort of 50 feet. 10 inches. Scott still holds the nation's best jump this year. He also finished sixth in the long jump (22 feet, 6 inches).

Wilson flashed his speed earlier in the meet with a second-place performance in the 100-meter dash. His time of 10.88 was .27 behind Roosevelt McCall of Ocala Forest, who won both the 100 and 220meter events.

In the field events. Seminole scored in every event except the pole vault, where they had no one entered.

June 1 is the first day hunters who use any of Florida's 72

public hunting areas can pick up quota hunt permit applications for the 1992-93 hunting season.

Regular and special quota

hunt applications are available from offices of the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission and from county tax collectors or their subagents.

Permits will be issued by the Commission's headquarters in Permit recipients will be randomly selected by a computer program from applications received in Tallahassee between

June 1 and 11 via postal or

Business

IN BRIEF

Duke brokers Sanford space

SANFORD — Jim Duke of Duke Properties recently brokered the sale of a 14,500 square foot office/warehouse facility located at 223 Hickman Drive - I-4 Industrial Park, Sanford, for

The purchaser, Ply Trim. Inc. is expanding their Youngstown, Ohio operation which is the manufacturer and distribution of quality exterior building products and supplies.

The seller was First Union National Bank of Florida and was represented by Duke Properties.

Mortgage firm adds Lake Mary woman

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Contemporary Mortgage Services. inc., a leading Central Florida mortgage broker specializing in residential first mortgages, has made two key staff additions to its loan department.

Cathy L. Boatwright, of Lake Mary, and Leanne Bauer, of Orlando, mortgage loan specialists, have joined the company

The addition of Boatwright and Bauer brings to four the number of loan processors employed by the Altamonte Springs-based company which handled a record $70.1 million in residential loans last year.

The 7-year-old company, which employs 19 persons and recently expanded its Central Florida operations is projecting $85 million in mortgage transactions this year and already has logged nearly $20 million through the first quarter this year.

Corporation changes its name

ORLANDO - Orlando Regional Medical Center has chanced its corporate name to Orlando Regional Healthcare System (ORHS). The name change affects only the corporation a as whole, which encompasses the following facilities: Orlando Regional Medical Center, Arnold Palmer Hospital for Children and Women, Sand Lake Hsopital, St. Cloud Hospital and Orlando Cancer Center.

Although the individual facility names will remain the same. each will be identified as "part of Orlando Regional Healthcare

"The corporate name change was needed to avoid confusing the entire organization with a single hospital," said Roy Wright, vice president of business development of the organization. "We have a network of hospitals and healthcare facilities thoughout Central Florida, so the new name stresses the umbrella relationship between the corporation and its divisions. As a result, our patients and the community will have a more accurate perception of who we are, what we do, and where it's done," he said.

Home Shopping Network expanding

ST. PETERSBURG - Home Shopping Network Inc. plans to spin off a new business to operate its 11 television stations around the country, the company announced.

The new company, to be called the Silver King Broadcast Group, would be similar to one announced last month for another soon-to-be independent division. Precision Systems

In the deal for Precision, which developed Home Shopping's automated telephone-order taking program, shareholders are getting stock in the newly created company.

Roy Speer. Home Shopping's chairman and chief executive officer, said Wednesday that further details on the Silver King transaction would be revealed in a filing with the Securities and Exchange Commission in the next two weeks.

The St. Petersburg-based company's UHF stations in the nation's largest markets broadcast the television retailer's Home Shopping Club programs to households without cable service.

Black-owned businesses profit

EW YORK - The nation's largest black-owned businesses posted 1991 revenues of 87.9 billion, a 10.4 percent increase over a year earlier, despite the recession and diminished opportunity, Black Enterprise Magazine said.

The magazine for 20 years has annually ranked the 100 top-grossing industrial and service companies and the 100 top automobile dealerships that are at least 51 percent black-

And the past two decades have seen "phenomenal growth in the number and variety" of black businesses. Earl G. Graves, publisher and editor of Black Enterprise, said Wednesday.

Recovery gaining momentum

WASHINGTON - The national economic recovery is picking up momentum with growing strength evident in such key areas as manufacturing, home construction and retail sales, . the Federal Reserve said.

The Fed's survey of regional economic activity, conducted by its 12 regional banks, was the most optimistic since last summer.

Still, the central bank cautioned that the pace of recovery lags in the Northeast and on the West Coast. And some business sectors, such as commercial construction, oil drilling and defense manufacturing, remain soft, the Fed said.

In addition, the retail industry showed further signs of recovery in April, although cold weather again stymied sales of seasonal merchandise, results posted by big storeowners

Consumers who have gradually increased their spending over the past four months, continued to be drawn by lower prices. Discounters like Wal-Mart Stores Inc. and Kmart Corp. and moderate-priced apparel retailers including J.C. Penney Co. Inc. were among the strongest performers last month.

Drive-through restaurant proposed

By MICK PPEIFAUF Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - A new drive-through fast food restaurant is being proposed in San-ford. Mid Florida Fast Food I, of Clearwater. wants to open a Checkers Restaurant near the Sanford Middle School.

The property being considered is 1501 French Avenue, former home of M&V Motors used car sales. The location would be on the opposite side of French Avenue from the Winn Dixie Plaza.

According to City Planner Jay Marder, "Their application indicates they want to put in a pre-manufactured building on the property, for use as a drive-through fast food establishment.

Checkers, a franchise operation, presently has three restaurants operating in the Central Florida area. The nearest to Sanford is at 1070 West S.R. 434 in Longwood.

According to the Checkers Longwood manager, "The Checkers stores are presently operating only in the southeast, but there are plans to expand it nationwide." He added, "In fact, right now, they're working on opening our first restaurant in Chicago."

Marder said the plans for the Sanford location are presently being reviewed by the City staff. "After that", he said, "the site plans will go to planning and zoning for their consideration."

Marder could not predict how long the process might take before final approvals could be granted. "It all depends on how the rapidly all of the reviews can be completed." he said.

Membership campaign continues

SANFORD - The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce members are still out beating the bushes. Their drive to obtain 92 new members in 1992 got underway Tuesday morning.

A total of 39 teams consisting of one member of the Chamber's Board of Directors and two non-board members, are concentrating this year's membership drive on obtaining new members. According to Chamber Executive Director Dave Farr. "We don't know how many new members have been confirmed yet, but I know they are really working hard on this." Farr said, "Probably, they won't announce how many they have obtained until later in the membership drive, and hope to surprise everyone with their num bers. ne aggeg, "This membership drive is really great competition and a lot of fun.

Each of the teams has a list of up to a half dozen prospective members with which they are to make initial contacts. Later in the drive, the list of almost 250 businesses, will be open for all

The Chamber's 1992 membership prospect list ian't restricted to Sanford, but includes Oviedo, Altamonte Springs, Orlando, Winter Garden, DeBary, and other area cities.

Chamber President Bobby Douglas said, "We have included the businesses in outlying areas because many of them do quantities of their business here in Sanford, or are Sanford residents conducting their businesses in other cities."

He commented, "We have 600 members now, and the goal is to work on increasing that number this year."

Douglas reiterated, "For the first time, the membership drive is strictly to obtain new membern to the Chamber." He added. "We have already made arrangements to handle the renewal of memberships through other means."

PSC hearing on lower phone rates set here

Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY - The Public Service Commission will conduct a formal meeting in Lake Mary Wednesday. The subject is the cost of telephone calls between north Seminole County and the Orlando area.

"We expect a big turnout," Lake Mary Mayor Randy Morris said. "Oriando Mayor Bill Frederick will be there, as will State Senator Toni Jennings, and City officials from Semi-nole County, Sanford, Lake Mary, Geneva, and probably other municipalities."

According to the PSC document calling the meeting, "The purpose of this hearing is to permit parties to present testimony and exhibits relative to any and all issues regarding extended calling between the Sanford, Geneva, Orlando, and Apopka exchainges."

The formal meeting will begin at 10:30 a.m. Morris said, "It is my understanding the meeting will continue right through the noon ", until 4 p.m." He added, "That is the deadline however, if it requires more time for testimony, the meeting will be moved back to Tallahasecc."

ORLANDO - Booming single-family housing starts in the Tampa Bay and Fort Lauderdale areas helped pro-duce a first-quarter rebound in Florida real estate activity, a trade group said Wednesday.

Single-family housing starts were up 35 percent and sales of existing homes were up 12 percent compared to the first quarter last year, said the Flor-ida Association of Realtors.

New home construction jumped 63 percent in the Tampa Bay area, including St. Petersburg and Clearwater, and was up 46 percent in Fort Lauderdale, the association said.

The two metropolitan areas also benefited from other real estate improvements. Bales of existing single-family homes were up 27 percent in Tampa Bay and 14 percent in Fort Lauderdale, while multi-family housing starts were up 11 percent in Tampa Bay and 12 percent in Fort Lauderdale.

"I think it just substantiates that statewide things are really beginning to move," said Jerry Matthews, executive vice president of the association.

The greatest improvement in Pre greatest improvement in asies of existing homes came in Ocala, up 35 percent, and Broward, up 26 percent. In contrast, Jacksonville sales were down 16 percent and Orlando 3 percent — the only declines reported in the survey.

Sales prices were stable from year to year. Only two Florida metropolitan areas have median sales prices above $100,000: $154,500 for Naples and $112,900 for West Palm Beach.

SANFORD - It's been almost 50 years since Ruth Dellarco joined husband Lew to build a strong family unit and two businesses.

Back then, she believed in hard work, in flerce family loyalty and in being respectful of others' differences.

She still does, according to daughter, Delnora Jones, who nominated her mom, one of our "Mom of the Year" winners.

Before I was even born, she worked with my father in their bakery. She started work at 4 a.m. until 6 p.m. six days a week. She carried my brother and I to the bakery with her everyday. There was no daycare or sitters for us," Jones, now 44

Dellarco said she considers heraelf very lucky to have had the opportunity to spend time with her children and work by her husband's side. 'Sometimes circumstances don't permit, but I was lucky. We were in business for See Dellarce, Page 98 ourselves. I fixed a little place in the corner of the bakery and never left them with a babysitter. I still believe you should spend as much time with your children as possible. They are the most precious gift," Dellarco

Jones said she is still amazed at her mom's ability to give so much of herself.

"To this day I don't know how she did it. She managed to help bake , wait on customers, wash pans as well as cook and care for us. She even washed and ironed a neighbor's shirts while his wife was in the hospital. She washed her only uniform by hand every night so it would be ready for the next day," Jones said.

Through the lean years building di business. Jones never remembers hearing her mom complain. Jones does remember the joy on her mom's face when they spent precious time together.

Little things make each day special for family

Herald People Editor

SANFORD - She lost her own mom when she was just six. Through her years as a foster child, she vowed life would be different for her children. It is, say her twin 10-year olds, Katic and Glen Knudsen. The fifth-grade students at Hamilton Elementary School nominated their mom, Katie Knudsen, chosen one of the best moms in Seminole County. "My family is my life. Everything revolves around them. If my kids can't go, I don't go,' Knudsen savs.

'She led a pretty rough childhood. Maybe that's why she's so good to us. She works full time and still finds time to be an excellent mom."

Katie believes in spending quality time with kids, talking to them and taking an interest in what they do. She says she lets them know they're special and she encourages them to study hard and become in life whatever they want to become. The high standards she has set for them are paying off now. Both are straight-A students and Tonya is already expressing herself as a poet.

"They're exceptional kids, no trouble. Being there for them when they were little and being there now is important." Katie says.

Tonya is impressed that, although her mom has faced recent health problems, she puts her family before herself.

"She's had six surgeries in two years. She has made a good come-back. She always thinks of others before herself." Tonya says.

Knudsen explains that doing little things to make her family feel special pleases her, too. She surprises them with cards, notes and presents for Bee Kaudsen, Page 98

Glenda Morgan

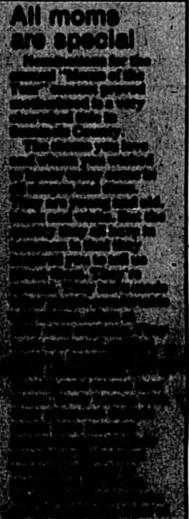

Single mom Glenda Morgan was "hit with some pretty bad news" by her daughter, Lori Weller, who nominated her. Still supporting two children at home, the Sanford women works long hours but takes time to lieten to problems. Walter announced her prognancy at 17. Her mom stood by her, despite her young ago, through a marriage and then through a miscarriage. Weller credits Morgan with seeing her and her husband through a time that was very hard on them.

Elouise Brooks Williams

Elouise B. Williams, left, taught her daughter, Cindy Philemon, who nominated her, about trying hard and never giving up on the people you love. Philemon said her mom "came from poverty, chicken feet and rice, to making her dreams come true." Williams bore six children after marrying at 17. She often went to bed hungry so they had enough. She went to college during the day so she could be with the children at night. She worked long hours on weekends to make ends meet. Today, Philemon's role model mom is a teacher at Midway Elementary School.

Pearl Harper

'Granny' Pearl Harper, almost 80, raised six children of her own and has "babysat with half the town," according to her daughter, Susan Connor, who nominated Harper. A 60-year resident of Geneva, she still babysits two children five days a week. Connor said the active octogenarian never judges people and has never met a stranger. She still cuts her lawn on her riding lawn mower. She attends the First Baptist Church regularly. ### Grace Tincher

Grace Tincher was nominated by one of our Mome of the Year, Katle Knudeen, who lost her own mom when she was 8. "Grace is not my mom, but she is just litte my mom would have been. I'm sure of that," she said. Tincher, in the past three years, has lost her own daughter, who was nine months pregnant. The beby died, too. She just her mother-in-law, then her mother. And through it all, she was strong. She put friends and other family members before her own grief. She even helped Knudeen plan her recent wedding, just like she always dreamed a mom would do for her daughter. Tincher works full time as a bue driver and is an avid church-goer.

Jane West

Jane West is like a mother to Stacle Hendricks, the neighbor who nominated her. Hendricks relocated to Florida, leaving her own mom behind 10 years ago. Eight years ago, she had the good fortune to move next door to West. West and her husband took the Hendrickses under their wings, treating the family as their own. Even Hendricks' twin daughters think of West as a grandmother. West is there in good times and bad. Hendricks feels if West's worth were measured by all the lives she has positively touched, she would be as precious as gold.

Linda Shull

Linda Shull was a mom long before her first child was born at 17. She helped raise her two brothers, sharing her own lunch money with them so they could have extra treats. After she married her Air Force sweetheart, Bob, she finished raising her brothers when their mom died. Shull had cared for her mother-in-law, too, after her cancer diagnosis. She and her husband have lived in Sanford for 24 years. Shull most recently has also been caregiver to her husband's sister who suffered from a brain tumor. Working all day as an executive secretary didn't stop her from being there when her kids needed her either, say her nominators and children, Rhonda Raiston and Robbie Shull. Grandchildren Jacquelynn and Lee sit in front of Rob, Rhonda holding Danielle, Keith, Linda and Bob.

Sue Ebaugh

Brian Ebaugh nominated his mom, Sue, for all the work she continues to do with children. The Longwood woman started a pre-school when her children were very young, earning extra money but staying with her three sons. She is the youth director at the family's church, helping teens through the trials of growing to adulthood. She spearheaded efforts to match teens with elderly retirement home patients. Kids adopted the seniors and visit them regularly. Brian said his mom may not have a fancy title, but he is very proud of the job she has. She's Mom.

Emma Lee Mack puts the needs of everyone before her own, her daughter, Dorothy Mae Mack, who nominated her, said. Dorothy said God gave the world many powerful things, but not until mothers came along did the world experience love. 'Always' is a word used to describe Emma Lee. She is always there for others, always doing nice things for others and she will always listen to problems.

Hitton Burke

Hilton Burke raised nine kids working three jobs, her daughter and nominator, JoAnn Moran said. She still made time to listen when problems cropped up. She always tried to help, and still does. Moran said her mom has been her strength raising her own four children. Moran, right, said Burke instilled the value for life and respect for others into her.

Barbara Hughes Gregg

Berbara Hughes Gregg's 12-year-old son Joey nominated his mom for several reasons. The Sanford woman is a whiz at helping him understand homework doled out at Sanford Middle School. And Gregg is no meddler in her son's affairs. She is there when he needs her, he said, but when he needs time alone, she respects his privacy. She makes his friends feel welcome. As the Seminole, County Agricultural Extension Home Economist, Gregg has introduced Joey to many new things, such as the 4°H Club, where camping and trips to Disney World are common. Joey said every once in a while he gets home late but he doesn't get in trouble with his mom. "Because I don't do it all the time," he said. # This marriage made in heaven

If there were ever a marriage made in heaven, Clayda and Ashby Jones affirm that theirs

The Sanford couple met in 1937 when both were singing in the youth choir at the First United Methodist Church and they have been singing together since at the same church. They were married May 3, 1942, in the church and celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on that day after the 11 a.m. worship service last Sunday. Ashby said, "This is the way we wanted it." After church, they came down from the choir, took off their choir robes, and greeted the church congregation with a large calla lily arrangment in the background to represent the bouquet Clayda carried on her wedding day. They were married on Sunday at 9 a.m., before Sunday School in 1942.

Did the couple reaffirm their vows on their golden wedding anniversary?

Ashby chuckled and said, "The first one hasn't worn out

The couple's two children. who were reared in Sanford are: Leslie Vanlandingham of Memphis, and Asby Glen II of Ormond Beach. There are three grandchildren.

The children and their families presented their parents with a surprise stereo sound system for their home which was installed while the Joneses were away. And they love it!

Clayda and Ashby have lived in Sanford all of their married life except for when he was in the service and stationed at Waycross, Ga. They remained in Waycross for a short while before returning to Sanford.

Since his retirement, Ashby's first love is painting which has won him numerous ribbons in various art shows. Next to his art, he plays golf and cares for his yard.

He retired as administrative assistant to the Board of County Commissioners after 24 years of service in the offices of the Seminole County Clerk of the Circuit Court. Previously, he worked for Wall Plumbing and McReynolds Drug Store.

After Clayda raised her family, she went to work for the Seminole County School Board and later Seminole Community College for a total of 16 or more years in the work force.

Although Clayda's claim to fame is her lovely soprano voice she is also a proficient hoofer. She is a high-stepping tap dancer with a chorus of senior citizens who put on quite a show. Clayda also enjoys quilting and crafts.

The Joneses have had a good marriage because, as Ashby puts it, good-naturedly, "I always let her have the final word."

On a serious note, Ashby said the marriage has stayed intact because of "our faith in God...it works out."

For a successful marriage, Ashby says, "Stay close to the church and Christ. That's the only way. There are too many things against you."

Artists to install

The Sanford-Seminole Art Association will install officers at a dinner Monday, May 11, at the lake Monroe Inn.

Don Reagan, chairman of the nominating committee, has announced the following slate for the 1992-93 year: Paulee Stevens, president; Marnita Patton Molenock, first vice president: Anna Herbet, second vice president; Leta Long, secretary; and Edith Tanner, treasurer.

Kings henored

April 27 is a big day for Rubye and Leo King who celebrated their 48th wedding anniversary on that day as well as Rubye's birthday.

A series of festivities began for the couple when the Kings loined Nellie and Boyd Colemen for dinner on the town in celebration of Leo's and Boyd's birthdays, which arrive close together, and Rubye's and Nellie's birthdays, also near the same date.

On Sunday, April 26, Glenna and Estes Brockman entertained the Kings at a buffet in their home. Rubye said the table was beautiful and the foods were delicious. There was a "beautiful birthday cake" in her honor and the guests enjoyed playing party games.

Celebrating this event with the honorees and hosts were: Frieda Tyre. Mildred Coker, Mary Boone, Lottle and Lamar Echols, Nell and Orville Touchton and Nellie and Boyd Coleman.

The Kings traveled to Leesburg on April 27 where they were joined by their son and his wife, Richard and Lynn King, for luncheon. There was another gift and another birthday cake as well as anniverary congratulations.

On April 28, Frieda Tyre was hostess to a dinner party honoring the Kings at the Deltona inn. "It was just beautiful," Rubye said. Attending this celebration with the hostess and honorees were: Jean and Pat Guerry. Glenna and Estes Brockman and Mildred Coker.

Lucile turns 68

Lucile Pope Johnson was honored on her 88th birthday with a surprise party at the Altamonte Springs home of a nephew, Bill Lanier.

She was born in Sanford, May 2, 1903. Her parents are the late O.J. Pope and Rosa Lee Cobb.

column all the time, but can't remember ever seeing anything in it about people traveling out of state and being suckered into automobile repairs.

My family and I were on vacation last week, and while we were getting gas at a service station, one of the local mechanics "graciously" offered to take a look under our car while my husband pumped the gas. He peeked under the trunk and told my husband the springs in our car were "bowed-in" and needed immediate replacement because it would be dangerous to drive with the car in that condition. Abby, the day before we left on vacation, we took our car to our own mechanic for a complete safety check and oil change. We knew for certain that the car was in perfect running order and that nothing needed immediate at-tention. However, just to be sure, my husband checked the springs for himself a few hundred miles further on. He has worked on enough cars to know what good parts like like, and he assured me that our car was just fine.

DBAR NOT SUCKERED:

Thank you for a valuable reminder. It is vital that those planning to travel any great distance by car have their vehi-cle "assety-checked" before they go, which can prevent damage to the vehicle, or a nesty accident. Then, should a stranger announce that expensive (or extensive) repairs are needed, get a account opinion — which may prevent you from becoming a victim of fraud.

IN BRIEF

Be Heart Healthy

SANFORD - HCA Central Florida Regional Hospital is offering Heart Healthy, a food and nutrition course designed to teach participants to reduce the risk of developing heart disease by modifying eating habits and by changing some cooking methods. The three-class program is held on the second Wednesday of each month. May's class will be this Wednesday from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. in the hospital's Cardiopulmonary Rehabilitaton Center classroom, suite 211, of the Medical Arts Building behind the hospital.

The three classes rotate each month throughout the year and participants can join at any time. Cost for the entire course is $15 and participants should pre-register.

For more information and to register, call the hospital's Nutritional Services department at 321-4500 ext. 5780.

Green Seminars offered locally

LONGWOOD - South Seminole Community Hospital, 555 W. S.R. 434, will sponsor the Green Seminar for weight reduction and smoking cessation.

The smoking cessation seminar will be held on Monday from

The weight reduction class is on Thursday from 7-9 p.m. The first 45 minutes is a free orientation in which the programs will be fully explained. Following the orientation, participants will be charged a one-time fee of $50. This fee includes the second part of the program which is the hypnotic conditioning, as well as a behavior modification booklet, a home reinforcement tape, a telephone support line and unlimited free repetitions of the seminar if needed.

Since 1981, both seminars have been tested and proved by over 100,000 people and is now being sponsored by over 40

For more information, call 800-848-2822.

Directors, officers named

LONGWOOD - The board of directors of Seminole County Better Living for Seniors, 636 Florida Central Parkway, a recipient of the 1992 Disney World Community Service Awards, appoints seven new members who will become "points of light" in the agency, which depends heavily on volunteerism to provide services to the elderly in need.

Newly appointed directors are as follows:

Pamela Poole-Weber, an attorney. Robert Poignant, engineering manager for Siemens Strom-

Mary Jo Jones, marketing director at Rosemont Health Center.

Beverly Wallace-Klopfer, former senior planner for the Area Agency on Aging.

Lynda M. Dennis, director of finance and administrative services for the City of Oviedo. Maureen Liberatore, chief of services for the department of safety for the City of Lake Mary. Dr. Nallan Charl, president of Altamonte Hearing Clinic.

The new 1992 officers are: Vicky Remus, president: Karen Campagna, vice president: Jo Ann Bandy, secretary and Kurt Seland, treasurer.

Parkinson's group changes meetings

SANFORD — The Parkinson's Support Group, meeting at HCA Central Florida Regional Hospital has a new schedule of Beginning this month, the group will meet on the third Friday of each month throughout the year. The next meeting is Friday from 10-11 a.m., in the hospital's classroom.

The support group is open to Parkinson's patients and their licensed mental health counselor. The program includes presentations covering all aspects of the disease for both the patient and family members.

For more information, call the hospital's Social Services department at 321-4500 ext. 5760.

Lozano addresses depression

LONGWOOD - HCA West Lake Hospital, 589 W. S.R. 434, is sponsoring a free presentation on Women and Depression.

Speaker, Marie J. Lozano, M.D., clinic director of the hospital's Women's Issues Program, will enable participants to: Explore the dynamics of depression.

Define issues unique to women which impact on relationships in their lives.

· Identify, understand and formulate treatment goals to improve self-image and self-esteem.

The seminar will be held Friday with registration beginning at 8 a.m. The presentation will be from 8:30-9:30 a.m.

To make reservations, call the hospital at 260-1900 or 800-221-4223 by Thursday. There is no cost for the seminar.

A maze of information

For health care and social service professionals who provide comprehensive services to pregnant women, knowing where to turn can often become a mase of confusing options. On Tuesday, May 19, the Health Professional Advisory Committee of the March of Dimes hopes to de-mystify the experience with a one day seminar at Florida Hospital entitled "Unity for a Healthy Beginning: Negotiating the Maze."

In diabetes the retina is affected as a result of damage to retinal blood vessels. Blood vessels are the arteries, veins and capillaries that carry blood through the body.

Diabetic retinopathy is classified in two categories: background diabetic retinopathy and proliferative diabetic retinopathy.

In background diabetic re-tinopathy, the blood vessels of the retina are damaged and become incompetent or leaky. They may leak blood, plasma, lipid or cholesterol into the retina itself.

If enough leakage occurs, the retina becomes swollen or edematous. If the area of edema is in the central retina, an area also called the macula, vision is reduced. This is the most common cause of visual loss in diabetic persons.

Macular edema can be treated by the laser, a technique called macular photocoagulation.

Photocoagulation refers the effect of the laser on the retina. Laser is used to seal off the

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osol YOUR BIRTHDAY May 10, 1992

It might appear as if your early efforts in the year ahead are stymied by things over which you have no control. But be persistent, because these initial obstacles will turn out to be your stepping stones to success.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) The aspects indicate that, starting today, things could take a turn for the better for you in the romance department. Cupid has singled you out for special attention. Taurus, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for Taurus Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your material prospects look very encouraging at this time. It appears you may soon receive rewards for something you've been working on very diligently. Keep plugging.
CANCER (June 21-July 22)

Two people you've recently met might be instrumental in enlarging your social circle. You're in a cycle where you could make friends more easily than usual.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If there is something important in the pipeline you could derive substantial gains from, deal with it today instead of tomorrow. You can be very lucky in your material affairs.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Joint endeavors might have only marginal success today. It will be from things you originate or personally direct that could prove the most fortunate.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Someone who has your best interest at heart is working behind the scenes on your behalf at this time. As a result, you could be in for two very happy surprises.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) There is justification for your high hopes and expectations at this time, so go ahead and be an optimistic visionary. Lady Luck will help you do the rest.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're reasonably secure today taking calculated risks on things that are well thought-out. How-ever, shot-in-the-dark gambles should be avoided.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Operate in accordance with your highest standards today, and don't be overly concerned as to what another might think about your methods. If what you're doing is right, it doesn't matter.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Guard against the inclination today to gild the lily. If you've done something noteworthy, let others sing your praises; don't toot your own horn.

One reason bridge retains its appeal is that identical-looking positions aren't always the same. Because of entry constraints, for example, it may be right to play a suit in an unusual way.

Against your four-heart con-tract. West leads the diamond king. How would you plan the play? Would it make any difference if dummy had the A-K doubleton of clubs?

North, with his minimum hand, correctly bid two hearts instead of making an unlimited one-spade bid.

With the annoying duplication in clubs, you note that you are faced with three guaranteed red-suit losers. Somehow you must avoid losing two trump tricks.

You have only one dummy entry, so you can lead a heart toward your hand only once. If whenever East has the queen or either opponent has both heart A-Q-x. honors, you can succeed only when East has A-Q doubleton.

Now suppose that the honors are split. If East has ace doubleton, you must lead low to your king. But if East has queen doubleton, you must finesse your jack. It is a guess.

The key position occurs when West has a singleton honor. If it is the ace, you cannot make the contract (unless you are clairvoyant and lead a low trump from hand at trick two). However, if he has the singleton queen. you can succeed. You should win trick one with the diamond ace, cross to dummy with a club and lead a heart to your king. Here the queen drops and you are home.

If dummy has two club entries, the percentage play changes. You should lead a low heart to your jack, succeeding
