SCC loses 13-11 to VCC

SANFORD — The horseshoe was flying Tuesday as Valencia Community College held on for a 13-11 Mid-Florida Conference baseball victory over the Seminole Community College Raiders at SCC.

The two teams used eight pitchers in an effort to stop the offensive fireworks as the clubs combined for 27 hits, including nine for extra bases. Four of the extra base hits were home runs.

The flight was bound for Tallahassee, Fla. No one was injured and there was no fire when the DC-9 landed in a shower of sparks about 10:40 p.m., authorities said.

Publix store robbed

CASSELBERRY — Three armed robbers apparently stripped off a top layer of their clothes as they fled the scene of a 10 p.m. Monday robbery of a Publix store in Casselberry.

Casselberry Detective Lynn Cambre said the gang may be the same that hit two Orange County stores Feb. 25 and March 2.

In the Casselberry case at Publix in Casselberry Collection, U.S. Highway 17-92, the armed men entered at closing time when 15 workers were present. The workers were ordered to the floor and a woman and a man were assaulted and their personal cash stole, Cambre said.

Two of the robbers confronted the store manager in his office and from the safe stole an undisclosed amount of cash. As the robbers fled out a back door, Cambre said they discarded skimasks, additional clothing and a sawed off shotgun. Police consider the suspects dangerous and suspect they may strike again.

Chamber supports mall road plan

SANFORD — The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce board of directors Tuesday voted 18-to-1 to endorse the City of Sanford's decision to help the developer of a regional mall pay for mall roads with property taxes generated from the development.

Before the board vote, City Manager Frank Falson gave a presentation on the $100 million mall planned for Interstate-4 and State Road 46. The city commission Monday annexed the property and gave support of a plan to float $6.2 million in bonds for developer Melvin Simon & Associates to pay for new roads and road improvements needed to accommodate the mall.

Bette Gramkow was the only chamber director to vote against the endorsement.

Get-together to discuss film flops; but several people get in on the act

SANFORD — "Let the games begin." At about half past midnight this morning, it was with those words that Richard Wilson, an attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union, marshalled the forces for legal battle against the board of trustees of Seminole Community College.

Following a four-and-one-half hour meeting at which the board of trustees failed to take any action and even had trouble making a decision on the location of the meeting, Wilson promised to file a lawsuit "within a month" on behalf of those members of the Central Florida community who were displeased with past actions of the board.

COMMENTARY

More controversy could be on the way

By DAVID E. ANDERSON
UPI Religion Writer

When Martin Scorsese's film "The Last Temptation of Christ" was released to the public in 1988, it caused a furor in the religious world, bringing fundamentalists pickets to movie theaters and raising the spectre of censorship, anti-Semitism and blasphemy.

Some people think "The Handmaid's Tale," the film version of Canadian novelist Margaret Atwood's dystopian novel just now reaching theaters, may spark an equivalent reaction.

(The film may soon be seen at area theaters. Renee Dwyer, who books films at Enzian Theater in Maitland, said she is pursuing a contract on "The Handmaid's Tale.")

To date, however, reaction to the chilling, cautionary tale has been muted and the reasons why may be instructive.

First and foremost may be the changed religious and political climate.

"The Last Temptation," which was based on a novel by Nikos Kazantzakis, was released near the height of the political activism of the theologically

Countywide two-clerk ordinance

Board OKs proposal; says it will save lives

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — By May 15, every convenience store, gasoline station and many other stores open past 9 p.m. in Seminole County may be required to have either two clerks on duty or to enclose their single clerk behind a bullet-proof enclosure.

Seminole County commissioners unanimously approved a countywide "two-clerk" ordinance Tuesday night, saying it may not eliminate robberies but hopefully will save lives.

The ordinance will be in effect in all cities that do not have similar late night clerk protections such as Sanford and Lake Mary. Longwood will consider its own two-clerk ordinance March 19.

Seminole County cities may either pass similar laws or choose to "opt out" of the requirements all together, thereby voiding the county ordinance.

The ordinance would apply to many other stores, including video tape rental stores, but not restaurants or stores in shopping centers where most other stores are also open past 9 p.m.

"If it will save one life or many lives, it will be worth it," said commissioner Jennifer Kelley, who sought the legislation in December.

The ordinance has been sought by clerks and their supporters in an effort to provide more security to late-night workers. Many retail robberies and assaults occur late at night when there are few customers in the stores, law enforcement officials have said.

"I think you are being leaders right now with this ordinance," said Sylvester Chang, owner of Sanford Mobile Service Station. "We can't build a fortress around these stores and stop crime. But if we can stop one or two or more robberies, it is worth it."

But many store owners and their representatives oppose the requirements, saying they will be costly and ineffective.

"We think the ordinance is very good and will be effective with one exception," said John Pearman, president of the Retail Grocers Association of Florida. "And that exception is the two-clerk, bullet-proof enclosure option. The figures show that will be ineffective."

Agents reap $300,000 worth of marijuana

CCIB agents gather marijuana plants from this greenhouse in Paola where two people were arrested during a Tuesday raid. More than $300,000 worth of plants were confiscated.

By SUSAN LODEN
Herald staff writer

PAOLA — A 39-year-old man was arrested for the second time in three years Tuesday when drug agents raided an elaborate marijuana greenhouse at his residence and confiscated pot estimated at $300,000.

This time, 148 pot plants from two-to three-foot tall were seized from the property of Wayne Lorraine, 5050 Orange Blvd., Paola, west of Sanford and north of Lake Mary.

City-County Investigative Bureau agents first raided Lorraine's house in May 1987, when 200 mature marijuana plants valued at $200,000 were found. CCIB Commander Lt. Donald Eslinger said. At maturity, Eslinger estimated the value of the current crop at $300,000.

In the Tuesday raid, both Lorraine and his girlfriend, Bonnie Hourtham, 33, were charged with cultivation and possession of more than 20 grams of marijuana. They were arrested after the raid on their house at about 10 p.m. Their two-year-old son, who was at the scene, was entrusted to grandparents when the couple was jailed, Eslinger said.

CCIB and federal Drug Enforcement Agency agents kicked their way in through the front door of Lorraine's rural house. "We forced entry. He wouldn't respond."

Lake Mary recycling program sets good example for county

By LACY DOMEN

LAKE MARY — Since residents began recycling newspapers, glass, plastic and aluminum five months ago, statistics project that 2,225 40-year-old trees have not been felled.

Bob Hyres, division manager for Western Waste Industries, said in a typical month his crew picks up 52,000 pounds of newspaper, 16,000 pounds of glass, 1,800 pounds of plastic, and 1,400 pounds of aluminum in Lake Mary alone. "That's 71,200 pounds a month out of Lake Mary, and all of it is recycled," he said.

Lake Mary is the first city in Seminole County to recycle trash, Hyres said. But the trend is growing. By 1992, the State of Florida will require all communities to isolate yard trash. Grass clippings,

Airport wants more information on airline

By LAURA L. SULLIVAN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — A former airline pilot trying to start a Sanford-based airline has asked to lease space at Central Florida Regional Airport.

Sunline Airways will be the first regularly-scheduled passenger airline to locate at Central Florida Regional Airport if the Sanford Airport Authority approves a lease with the new company. If Sunline Airways is successful, the airline will signal success of the airport's long promotional campaign marketing the airport as a reliever airport in the Orlando area.

The Sanford Airport Authority yesterday decided more information is needed about the financial backing of Sunline before the board may vote whether to welcome the fledgling airline. The board has asked for audited financial statements of principals involved in Sunline to supplement a business plan already submitted by the company.

"This will give us the chance to assess the financial horsepower he has," airport Aviation Director Steve Cooke said of Sunline founder E.S. Birchwood. "Right now that's an unknown."

Birchwood, a former airline pilot, founded Sunline Airways late last year. He has been working to build the airlines out of a Longwood office.

Birchwood has asked to lease a building near the airport terminal at special rates, Cooke said. The airline founder has asked for the first year rent-free, the second year at half-rate and thereafter

School board forms business committee to help build schools

By VICKI DeBONNIE
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Since the Seminole County School Board failed to convince voters to pass their $520 million bond issue, they are scrambling for ways to accommodate the 27,000 new students expected to flood the district before the end of the decade. Yesterday, they took emergency action to enact a policy to allow them to form a business advisory committee.

A bumper sticker with "Won't it be great when schools have all the money they need and the Air Force must hold a bake sale to buy a bomber?" written on it was tacked to the wall behind the board in their meeting chamber.

Since the board does not have all the money they need, they said they need to find the most efficient way to spend the money they do have. They will appoint a 15-member committee to give them advice on the business of building and running efficient schools.

According to the emergency policy, which will be advertised publicly at a later date, the business committee will assist the school board in the "planning for business management of the growth needs for the Seminole County school system."

Vice chairman Nancy Warren said she was concerned the board had only included business leaders on a committee that concerned itself with the schools which affect everyone in the community.

"What about the parents?" she asked. "What about the community leaders?"

Chairman Ann Neiswender and board member Pat Telson defended the decision. They said parents and the community were represented in the Local School Advisory Committees and the IFA groups.

"But they do not have direct access to the board as mandated through policy," Warren argued. "Some people might see that as unfair."

Neiswender said she did not feel that was necessary. "It has been my experience," she noted, "that those groups have never been shy about making their opinions known to this board."

The board will consist of a civil engineer, a land planner, a builder/developer, a commercial land acquisition specialist, an architect, a real estate attorney, a strategic planner, an expert in purchasing management, a chief executive officer of a large business, a certified public accountant, a commercial general contractor, a telecommunications specialist, a technology planner, an expert in insurance management and an expert in financial management for the committee.

The board agreed the committee needed to be formed as soon as possible so the district could construct what Neiswender termed the "not quite two" schools they have the resources to build before the fall of 1991.

"We need to get this thing churning," said member Joe Williams Jr. "We can always fine tune later."

Sanford museum a jewel in search of polished crown

The Henry Shelton Sanford Memorial Library and Museum is a jewel on the shores of Lake Monroe. It is, nonetheless, a jewel that needs a larger, polished setting.

The Sanford City commission recently pledged $100,000 toward the museum and library's preliminary goal of $1.2 million for expansion and renovation. That is welcome news and a healthy start for a fund-raising drive that rightly is expected to involve the entire community, not only government sources.

Gen. Sanford and the City of Sanford are well worth the attention and the effort.

Henry Shelton Sanford was a diplomat, lawyer, and entrepreneur with a distinguished career in this country and Europe. He founded Sanford in the 1870s as a business venture. A decade later, thriving on the St. Johns River, the city was known as the gateway to south Florida. The general died in Sanford in 1891. His wife Gertrude, in her will, asked that his library be devoted to establishing a memorial. Their daughter, Carola Sanford Dow, made the books and other of the general's possessions — windows into this intriguing man's fascinating life — available to the city. In 1957, the city erected the library.

Despite an expansion in 1973, the small building with two fascinating wings behind the Greek Revival facade, remains cramped. What's more, many of the general's possessions, as well as other valuable items from the city's past, remain scattered and, as time has worn on, lost.

The time has come to prevent further loss of the city's history. Indeed, the time has come to better showcase this rich and historic past. Such history, while perhaps not enjoying widespread understanding locally, nevertheless from time to time attracts scholars and other students from afar to consult with the museum staff, which is a testament to the value of the collection.

Expansion and renovation, then, is a worthwhile project that will help promote the history of Sanford by illuminating the real life of its founder as well as as the historic life of the city. That, in turn, will be entertaining and educational. There should be no underestimating the value of that for residents' hometown pride or for attracting out-of-town visitors.

The Oscars and 'the great debate'

If the odds on the early favorites hold up, the 62nd Annual Academy Awards will make history, make a statement and make more cynics. Cynicism comes naturally this year for many black Americans. Those in the know are predicting that the golden eunuch named "Oscar" will be awarded to a movie that makes emotional eunuchs out of black men. How do you explain "Driving Miss Daisy" being nominated for nine Oscars (five in major categories), while Spike Lee's "Do the Right Thing" was nominated for only two, and that inspirational tribute to black Civil War heroes, "Glory," was nominated for only four (three of them in technical categories)? I saw all three films:

"Do the Right Thing" was a brilliantly conceived and innovative slice of black sociology.

"Glory" touched a lodestone of patriotic commonality by exalting the capacity of men to triumph in war, even though they were defeated in peacetime. (That irony was also "Glory"'s undoing. The black guys were the heroes.)

"Driving Miss Daisy" drew you into a womb of tender, loving memories of "the good old days," and its success was due as much to its timing as its theme. After years of affirmative-action hassles and racially contentious politics, Americans yearned to embrace a genteel chariot of charm and grace that would softly purr along at 15 miles per hour. "Driving Miss Daisy" is a reminder of an era when life was as gosh-darned pleasant as a cold glass of lemonade on a hot summer day and as reassuring as an easygoing black chauffeur who knew his place. If it does carry off the top prize, the golden eunuch will celebrate that legacy as much it commemorates cinematic distinction.

But this lovely film represents another accomplishment. It unintentionally dramatizes what has come to be known in the black community as "the great debate." At the turn of the century, the erudite and impatient W.E.B. DuBois challenged the vocational mindset and accommodative patience of the founder of the Tuskegee Institute, Booker T. Washington, who called on his fellow Negroes to de-emphasize equal rights and concentrate on manual skills. DuBois urged them to exercise their right to vote and educate their minds. Over the years, the protagonists and the issues have changed. But some variation of the great debate has persisted — the politics of integration vs. the economics of self-determination ... the ironic nonviolence of Martin Luther King Jr. vs. the "by any means necessary" strategy of Malcolm X.

But blacks are "invisible men" in the cinematic framing of the great debate. They can authenticate the spokespersons within their community, but they are powerless to influence who receives awards in the movie industry or who gets honored in the arts and letters. I enjoyed "Driving Miss Daisy" in the same way that I appreciate the brief refreshment of a cold lemonade on a hot summer day. But "Do the Right Thing" nourished the depths of my soul. Am I an unusual black American? Or do I articulate what most black Americans are feeling? The answers could inaugurate another great debate. But the differential of nine golden eunuch nominations for "Driving Miss Daisy" and only two for "Do the Right Thing" already proves that Hollywood has yet to come to grips.

Blacks are "invisible men" in the cinematic framing of the great debate.

Bush's transportation cop out

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Transportation Samuel K. Skinner is one of the best people President Bush has brought to Washington — an energetic, intelligent, politically skillful manager, committed to doing a job, not just filling an office. While serving as the administration's trouble-shooter on earthquakes, oil spills and other such matters, he has mobilized his department's talent to produce a blueprint for a national transportation strategy reaching into the next century.

That's the good news. The bad news is that the hard edges of Skinner's analysis were softened by Richard G. Darman's Office of Management and Budget. The document released last Thursday reveals with stunning clarity that even in an area of traditional federal responsibility, the Bush administration will not make the investments America needs to survive and to thrive.

In the introduction to "Moving America," the transportation report, Bush said that "our competitive success in the global economy depends" on getting "our transportation system (geared) to meet the needs of the 21st century." Skinner underlined that observation by writing, "No industry in the nation is more important to U.S. economic growth and international competitiveness than transportation."

Sounds like a challenge to the nation, doesn't it? Wrong. It's a challenge to the states and localities, to private industry and to users of the transport system. The federal government's role is not entirely confined to cheerleading. But it's a far cry from what it's been through most of our history.

The report says the time has come to "increase the state and local share of federal-aid projects...allow greater use of toll financing on federal-aid highways...reduce federal operating assistance for urban transit."

When I interviewed Skinner recently, he was — as always — perfectly clear. Pointing to the scale of the needs — 77,000 deficient bridges in the federal highway system, an annual transportation investment need estimated to range upward from $50 billion — Skinner said, "It's just not going to come out of the federal budget. There are too many competing demands."

The secretary is right in arguing that private investors can probably be found to finance certain high-use roads and rail routes and terminal facilities. He is right in arguing that localities ought to pay a good portion of the costs of circumferential highways which are magnets for development that swell their tax rolls.

But transportation — unlike education — has been regarded as a prime function of the federal government ever since the birth of the Republic. The National Road was authorized and financed by Congress in 1806. The Interstate Highway Act — with 90 percent federal financing of a 41,000-mile network — was sponsored and signed, not by a Great Society liberal, but by Dwight D. Eisenhower. And it's proved to be one of the best investments America ever made.

As this column has pointed out before, the Bush budget — like those of his predecessor, President Reagan — represents a retreat from the historical pattern of infrastructure investment. Budget tables cited here previously and highlighted by the House Democratic Study Group last week show that, in constant dollars, the federal investment in air, ground and water transportation and mass transit declined almost 20 percent between fiscal 1980 and fiscal 1991. The Bush administration projects it to decline another 10 percent by fiscal 1995.

Skinner told me that "the states and local governments are not doing enough." But the long-term trend shows that the costs increasingly have been shifted from higher levels of government to lower. Between 1960 and 1987, the federal share of infrastructure spending dropped from 31 percent to 23 percent, the state share from 29 percent to 24 percent. Localities took up the slack, going from 41 percent to 53 percent. Now they're being told: Do more.

Skinner said that 18 states have increased their gasoline tax in the last two years; he personally lobbied in legislatures for some of the boosts. But despite strong support for higher gasoline taxes among key congressional Democrats, the federal government has not asked for an increase — and will not, so long as President Bush reiterates his "no new taxes" pledge.

When I asked Skinner if the Bush campaign promise played a part in the decision to exclude any additional federal revenue sources from the long-term transportation strategy, he said, "It was a major factor — along with the political climate."

"The political climate?" I asked. "When you're at 80 percent approval in the polls," he said, "you're not inclined to change the message."

But transportation...has been regarded as a prime function of the federal government.

Bush officials soften South African sanctions

WASHINGTON — The Reagan and Bush administrations have found enough loopholes in the 1986 South African sanctions law to drive a steel girder through. And that's exactly what has happened — billions of pounds of steel, to be more precise. In 1987 and 1988 alone, according to Commerce Department records, 1.8 billion pounds of South African steel valued at $350 million was imported into the United States. In spite of a law banning South African steel.

The point of the law was to squeeze the South African economy until the government there was forced to abandon apartheid. Somebody forgot to explain that to the administrations. The law is clear enough on its face: "Notwithstanding any other provision of law, no iron or steel produced, or iron ore extracted, in South Africa may be imported into the United States."

The Commerce, Treasury and State departments claim they are enforcing the anti-apartheid law by not allowing raw steel and iron to be imported. But they say that fabricated steel products are exempt from the law. That was the rationalization Rep. John Bryant, D-Texas, was confronted with when he began asking questions. The steel issue has been boiling on Bryant's front burner ever since he discovered that a bridge to span the Houston Ship Channel is being built with South African steel.

Six months ago, Bryant started badgering two high-level Bush bureaucrats — Herman Cohen in the State Department and Richard Newcomb in the Treasury Department. He demanded to know why they weren't enforcing the sanctions law, but the answers have been nothing but word games played out in memos. So, the two men must have felt a twinge of indignation recently when Bryant stalked into a House hearing room to confront them personally. Cohen and Newcomb had been summoned by a House committee to talk about South African trade issues. It didn't matter that Bryant wasn't on that committee and hadn't been invited to speak. He wasn't about to miss an opportunity to ambush them in public. Wasting no time, Bryant told the subcommittee on International Development, Finance, Trade and Monetary Policy that the sanctions to discourage apartheid had been stymied by "the men sitting at the table before you."

Cohen was the first to get grilled, but he deferred to Newcomb, who responded in long-winded fashion on the nuances of the administration's interpretations of the law. Those nuances didn't impress Bryant any more than they would have impressed Nelson Mandela.

"You all have bent over backwards to make the impact of these sanctions as easy as possible on South Africa," Bryant charged. He later told us that he considers the administration's policy "a blatant violation of federal law," and he called the administration's responses to his questions "devious" and "circumlocutory." Now Bryant has persuaded Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., to use his House Energy and Commerce Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations to look into the enforcement of the steel sanctions. Dingell discovered immediately that the job won't be easy. Our associate Jim Lynch has learned that after one of Dingell's investigators started asking questions at the Treasury Department, the administration offered a deal. The flow of steel from South Africa to the Houston bridge would stop if Dingell's committee would lay off the investigation. Dingell's staff refused and plans to hold hearings on the duplicitous import policy.

The sanctions to discourage apartheid had been stymied.

Haitian president pledges elections

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti — Ertha Pascal-Trouillot, whose swearing in as interim president ended nearly four years of chaotic military rule, said there soon would be elections for a permanent government with the cooperation of the army.

About 400 people attended Tuesday's ceremony at the ornate national palace from which dictators have long ruled Haiti. The crowd included prominent Haitian businessmen and politicians, military officers, diplomats and Haitian and foreign journalists.

Grenada holds peaceful elections

ST. GEORGE'S, Grenada — Grenadians voted Tuesday in the second general election since the tiny Caribbean nation was invaded by U.S. troops in 1983, and final returns left no party with a clear majority in Parliament.

There was no reported violence in the plebiscite, which was watched by several international observers, election officials said.

The National Democratic Congress, led by Nicholas Braithwaite, captured seven of the 15 parliamentary seats that were at stake. The Grenada United Labor Party of former Prime Minister Sir Eric Gairy won four seats. The New National Party and The National Party of Prime Minister Ben Jones took two each. Jones succeeded Herbert Blaize, who died in December.

Rebels say they'll stop killing

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador — Leftist rebels said they would stop assassinating civilian officials and curtail economic sabotage in an attempt to prompt President Alfredo Cristiani's conservative government to soften its conditions for peace talks.

"With these gestures, we are trying to unblock the path toward the initiation of negotiations" aimed at ending the decade-old civil war, said Schalk Jorge Handal, one of five senior commanders of the rebel Farabundo Martí National Liberation Front, or FMLN.

The government did not respond immediately to the FMLN announcement Tuesday.

In telephone interviews broadcast in San Salvador by several private radio stations, Handal read an FMLN statement pledging to halt "attacks against public officials and other civilians" as well as sabotage directed at public transportation, commercial establishments and the telephone system.

The FMLN said the measures would take effect Friday.

Vietnamese call for purge

BANGKOK, Thailand — Vietnamese Communist Party leaders are holding a top-level meeting on party reform amid calls for more democracy and a purge of unqualified and pampered party cadres, official media and diplomatic sources said Wednesday.

The party plenum, which opened Monday and is expected to last about three weeks, brings together more than 100 leaders of the powerful Central Committee of the party as it celebrates its 60th anniversary this year.

In the weeks leading up to the plenum, the party took the unprecedented step of publicizing the draft of party reform proposals that focus on "mass mobilization."

Israeli split casts shadow on peace

By FRANK R. MANN
United Press International

JERUSALEM — Barring a last-minute reconciliation between the Labor and Likud parties, the Arab-Israeli peace process appears to be the chief victim of the breakup of Israel's governing coalition.

With the sacking of Labor Party Chairman Shimon Peres from the Cabinet and the subsequent resignation of 10 Labor ministers, Israel again entered a period of political turmoil that is likely to take several weeks, if not months, to resolve.

With the upheaval, the focus has shifted from the peace process to the Byzantine world of Israeli power politics. Until either Labor or Likud is firmly in power, no progress in resolving the Palestinian question can be expected.

If Labor's is successful in passing a no-confidence vote this week in the parliament, the government of Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir will fall and the peace process will not move forward until a new coalition government is formed or new elections are held.

In either case, it is not certain that Labor will emerge victorious.

If Labor did form a government, it probably would pursue the peace process actively. But it is not clear how far it could advance in negotiations with Palestinians if it lacked a broad consensus in the government.

If Shamir defeats the no-confidence votes, he likely will fill the vacant Cabinet seats with members of the right-wing political parties and religious parties that supported him.

In that scenario, Shamir will be unable to propose any advances in the peace process because of the extreme right-wing positions of the Cabinet members who helped him stay in power. This was what he tried to avoid when he agreed to the coalition with Labor in December 1988.

Both Labor and Likud have tried to portray the other as the one that is not willing to remain in the coalition government to pursue the peace process.

But the breakup of the coalition was the result of fundamental differences between Labor and Likud over the ultimate goals of the peace process and which Palestinians could participate. The differences have simmered below the surface and several times threatened to split the government.

Until now, Labor and Likud leaders managed to patch together compromises that allowed the government to continue.

One of the basic disagreements was over the involvement of East Jerusalem Arabs in the peace process. In his May 1989 peace initiative, Shamir left vague their role. Both sides had agreed to discuss the matter later.

But this month Shamir did not have the backing of his party to avoid the issue once again.

Egypt wants authoritative Israeli leader

UPI report

CAIRO, Egypt — Egypt, discouraged by Israel's newest disruption of the Mideast peace process, would like to see an authoritative Israeli leader like former Prime Minister Menachem Begin take charge and "stick it out until the end," a Foreign Ministry source said.

"If you look back to the time before the (1979 Egypt-Israeli peace) treaty, Begin made some obstacles, and then had the authority to do whatever was seen as being good for Israel," the source told United Press International in a telephone interview Tuesday.

Like Begin, Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir has to convince hard-liners in his Likud Party that the current, U.S.-sponsored peace initiative "offered the best hope for peace in the Middle East, and from this point of view served Israeli interests," the source added.

Gorbachev expands power, slapped with age limit

By JAMES ROSEN
United Press International

MOSCOW — The Soviet parliament Wednesday rejected an appeal by Mikhail Gorbachev to drop the age 65 limit for the post of the executive presidency and geared up for the vote to fill what will eventually be the most powerful position in Soviet politics.

Despite the rejection, Gorbachev, who is 59, would still be able to serve two full terms as chief executive, should he be elected to the post that was created Tuesday by the 2,250-member Congress of People's Deputies. The law restricts presidents to two terms.

The Congress fine-tuned the new presidential law and prepared for a vote on who will occupy the post in a third day of debate on the far-reaching constitutional change.

Gorbachev will almost undoubtedly be chosen but candidates have not yet been formally nominated.

Premier Nikolai Ryzhkov, suggested as a candidate for the new powerful presidency, said the country needs a strong leader for the office. "be it Mikhail Gorbachev or someone else."

The official Tass news agency said the Congress, which was scheduled to end Wednesday, would be extended.

The law approved by the extraordinary legislative congress states that no one younger than 35 or older than 65 can be a presidential candidate.

When some deputies suggested removing all age limits, Gorbachev agreed. "We should not mention any age limit either maximum or minimum," he said.

Congress delegates, mindful of the past three aged Soviet leaders all of whom died in office — Leonid Brezhnev, Yuri Andropov and Konstantin Chernenko — voted to let the draft law stand as written, rejecting Gorbachev's suggestion.

The amendment to remove the age restrictions from the draft law required 1,500 favorable votes, or two-thirds of the legislators. It fell short with 1,238 votes.

In arguing against the age restriction, poet and legislator Dov Kugultinov, said that presidents Ronald Reagan and George Bush, French President Francois Mitterrand, and new Chilean leader Patricio Aylwin were older than 65 when elected. Aylwin, inaugurated Sunday, is 71.

"If we adopt a law saying you can't be older than 65, we are not trusting the electorate," Kugultinov said. "I don't think they will elect anybody who is senile."

Another lawmaker, V. Ginzburg, said, "All age restrictions have to do with a lack of confidence in democracy. We (the legislators) are not fools, and the people are not fools."

Before Gorbachev came to power in 1985 as the general secretary of the Communist Party, the previous two general secretaries had been over 65 when elected.

Bulls hot with playoff fever

Playoff fever is having a much different effect on the Chicago Bulls and New York Knicks.

The Bulls are on a roll sending messages to possible playoff opponents they must be reckoned with come May. The Knicks just look sick.

New York, which has lost four of six at Madison Square Garden, dropped a 111-108 decision Tuesday night to the Chicago Bulls.

Chicago, which faces Detroit and Philadelphia over the weekend, posted its 12th victory in its last 14 games.

"This is a playoff atmosphere," said Bulls guard Michael Jordan, who finished with 31 points.

In other games, Cleveland clipped Philadelphia 119-102. San Antonio stopped Indiana 103-102. Boston beat Atlanta 112-100. Denver dumped Houston 117-114. Phoenix defeated Utah 114-106. Portland trounced Orlando 142-117, and Sacramento overran Miami 121-87.

PREP TENNIS

Rams shut down Oak Ridge

LAKE MARY — With the difficult part of their schedule still to come, the Lake Mary High School boys' tennis team ran its record to 7-1 by beating winless Oak Ridge (0-8) 7-0 on Tuesday afternoon.

According to Lake Mary coach Mike Morton, the Rams' toughest matches will be against Lake Brantley, Lyman, Trinity Prep and Timusville Astronaut. All of those dual matches are at the end of Lake Mary's regular season schedule, right before the Seminole Athletic Conference meet.

Both Ryan Rogers and Jake Garmon won the matches without losing a game on Wednesday. At No. 2 singles, Rogers blanked Joe Cannon 8-0 while Garmon did the same to Jason Cannon at No. 3 singles.

The other three singles matches were won by 8-1 margins. Jason White beating Dan Erlingos at No. 1, Jack Davis defeating Ryan McCausland at No. 4 and Richard Weinman knocking off Omar Sharif at No. 5.

In doubles, White and Garmon shut out Erlingos and McCausland 8-0 at No. 1, doubles as Rogers and Keylor Chan beat Cannon and Cannon 8-2 at No. 2 doubles.

Fans stage bonfire in protest

JACKSON, Mich. — About 50 to 75 people tossed baseball mementos into a bonfire in a city park Tuesday night to vent their feelings toward the major league baseball lockout.

Jerry Wright, news director at WKHM radio, said he organized the event to show the team owners and players that baseball fans are fed up with the lockout, which threatens to delay the start of the regular season.

Wright said fans threw baseball paraphernalia, including about 200 baseball cards, 26 baseball bats representing all the major league franchises and mementos from the 1984 World Series.

Wright said the fans represented all ages. "One young boy even brought his Little League baseball bat to throw in the fire."

HOCKEY

Wings' Demers unhappy with tie

Don't tell Detroit Jacques Demers that he should be happy with his team's 3-3 tie Tuesday night against the Chicago Blackhawks.

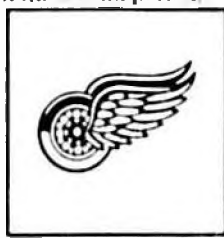

Not if you want to live to see Wednesday.

The surging Red Wings rallied from three one-goal deficits to forge a tie, but may have had a victory taken away by a quick whistle.

Detroit was trailing 2-1 in the second period, when Detroit's Bernie Federko poked in a loose puck in the crease past Chicago goalie Jacques Cloutier for an apparent game-tying goal. But referee Ron Hoggarth's whistle blew, nullifying the goal and enraging Demers.

"There's no question that it was a goal," said Demers who argued in vain.

Elsewhere in the NHL, New Jersey topped Minnesota 3-1, St. Louis clouted Washington 3-1, Montreal stopped the NY Islanders 3-2, Edmonton ripped Quebec 4-1 and Hartford blanked Vancouver 1-0.

Patriots work overtime

Lake Brantley wins in 12, takes solitary lead of SAC

By TONY DeSORMIER
Herald Sports Editor

ALFAMONTE SPRINGS — With its soft, high-arc offerings just begging to be crushed, slow-pitch softball is generally considered to be a hitters' game.

But on Tuesday night at Lake Brantley High School, the Lake Brantley Patriots and Oviedo Lions gave a defensive clinic in an early season battle for control of the Seminole Athletic Conference.

It took 12 innings to regulation high school game is seven innings) for the Patriots to pull out a 3-2 win and improve to 9-2, 5-0 in the SAC. Oviedo falls to 10-3, 4-1.

Michelle Davis finally sent everyone home with a bases-loaded single down the right field line to score Kelly Hartman with the winning run.

Both teams were throwing some serious leather around the Lake Brantley field Tuesday night, turning line drives into easy outs.

Neither team did much to help themselves on the base paths, running into outs and out of innings.

Oviedo has a good fielding team," said Lake Brantley coach Benny Betts. "But we had some girls who regularly go 2-for-4 or 2-for-3 that didn't get on base tonight. We have a very exciting team on offense. We just didn't show it tonight."

Oviedo coach Jackie Miller was a little more to the point. "If you don't get the key hits, you don't win," she said.

Lake Brantley certainly had its opportunities to get its offense in gear, slapping 10 hits and drawing seven walks while Oviedo made six errors. Even so, the Patriots couldn't come up with the big hit at the right time or, in one instance, can themselves out of the inning.

The score was tied 2-2 going into the bottom of the seventh inning. Hartman singled, then was erased on a fielder's choice by Tina Diaz. After Chris Rabaja reached on an infield single, Davis lined a single to left center field.

Diaz, trying to scored from second base, was out.

Neighborhood game

Neighborhood rivals Seminole and Lake Mary got together for a Seminole Athletic Conference softball game Tuesday afternoon at Sanford's Fort Mellon Park. While Seminole's Kecia Ward (No. 14) was able to retire Lake Mary's Paula Songer (No. 42) at second base on this play (above), Marti Citarella (No. 24 left) and the Rams still posted an easy 14-2 victory.

Raiders lose 13th straight

By DEAN SMITH

SANFORD — If offense is what you like in baseball, Seminole Community College was the place to be Tuesday as Valencia Community College held on to a 14-11 Mid-Florida Conference baseball victory over the Raiders.

The two teams used eight pitchers in an effort to stop the offensive fireworks, as the clubs combined for 27 hits, including nine for extra bases. Four of the extra base hits were home runs.

With the win, the Matadors improved to 14-16 and more importantly, raised their conference record to 7-3 and putting them in line for a shot at the state tournament in May.

The loss was SCC's 13th straight as they fell to 1-18 overall and 1-8 in MFC play. The Raiders play at home today in a non-conference matchup with Western New England College of Massachusetts starting at 3 p.m.

Valencia pumped out to a 7-1 lead going into the bottom of the fifth inning before SCC started its comeback.

SANFORD — Seminole Community College put a scare into Lake City but the Timberwolves came back to win both ends of the doubleheader in Mid-Florida Conference softball action Tuesday.

The Raiders held an 8-4 lead entering the seventh inning of the first game, but the Wolves scored four to tie the game and went on to post a 14-9 12-inning victory. The second game was all Lake City as the Wolves took a 16-2 decision in a game stopped after five innings by the mercy rule.

With the wins, the Timberwolves improve their record to 29-1 overall and 12-0 in the conference, while SCC falls to 11-19 overall and 4-10 in the MFC.

The Raiders now take their show on the road to Orlando for the next game.

Robinson leads Trail Blazers in hammering of Magic

United Press International

PORTLAND, Ore. — Rookie Cliff Robinson tied his season-high with 22 points Tuesday night to lead the Portland Trail Blazers to their sixth straight victory, a 142-117 triumph over the Orlando Magic.

Robinson finished with double figures as Portland was able to play its bench most of the final period. Clyde Drexler added 19 for Portland. Reggie Miller led Orlando with 25 points, 19 of those coming in the first half. Terry Catledge added 19 for the Magic.

This game was virtually over by halftime with the Blazers ahead 74-52.

Orlando actually led most of the first quarter, but Portland took the lead for good with a 17-1 run that ended the period with the Blazers up 38-25.

The Blazers had their biggest lead of 32 points when Wayne Cooper scored with a 30-10 run in the game to make it 121-89.

By then, the only question left was whether Robinson would be able to eclipse his season-old career high.

The Blazers improved to 14-18, 11 games ahead of their pace from a year ago.

Raider freshman designated hitter Daks Rodriguez got the Raiders going with a 450-foot, two-run home run to left center field. SCC picked up two more runs in the inning on singles by Joey Fisher and David Leugers to cut the Matador lead to 7-5 going into the sixth.

Valencia would score a run in the sixth, two in the seventh and two in the eighth to take a seemingly insurmountable 13-5 lead. But SCC responded with three runs in the eighth to cut the margin to 13-8. The big hits in the inning were doubles by Rodriguez and Kevin Monahan.

Fisher started the last inning for SCC with a single and Dan Peters walked. Rich Knizer singled to score Fisher and pinch-hitter Scott Cural singled to score pinch-runner Jason Sandberg and Knizer. But with the tying run at baseball appeared to gain control about the same time Wilson was sliding into the third. For whatever reason, neither umpire was in on the play. After a couple anxious seconds, the home plate umpire gave a less-than-definitive safe sign that gave the Patriots the tying run.

Hartman led the Patriot attack with four hits, none of them traveling out of the infield. Davis added three hits. For Oviedo, MacLeod had three hits while Zorn and Schrupp each had two.

The Patriots' only other opportunity came in the 11th inning, when they loaded the bases with two outs on singles by MacLeod, Zorn and Melande Schrupp but could not push across a run.

The Patriots, on the other hand, had at least one base runner in 10 of the 12 innings. But Lake Brantley didn't break through until the sixth inning and needed a disputed call to do it.

With one out, Davis singled, Shelley Sturdivant walked and Jen Soost singled to load the bases. After Kristi Wilson's fielder's choice scored Davis with the first Patriot run (Sturdivant being retired at third), Michelle Karr walked to reload the bases.

Timacuan, Hot Tuna both win, continue on collision course

From staff reports

SANFORD — Hot Tuna and Timacuan continued on a collision course by winning their games in Sanford Recreation Department Women's Softball League action at Chase Park Tuesday night.

Hot Tuna broke out of its recent scoring doldrums with a 14-1 victory over SEKO Air Freight and Timacuan posted a hard-fought 5-2 triumph over Thermocarbon.

With two weeks left in the season Hot Tuna and Timacuan are tied with 8-2 records. Thermocarbon is 3-7 and SEKO 1-9. Next week Hot Tuna will take on Thermocarbon at 6:30 p.m. and Timacuan will face SEKO at 7:30 p.m.

Two weeks from now, Hot Tuna and Timacuan will meet in the season finale with the league championship on the line.

On Tuesday night, Thermocarbon again played one of the front runners tough but came up short of victory. The score was tied 1-1 when Timacuan scored two runs in the third to go ahead to stay. Natalie Lewis tripled to score Debbie Mordt and Chris Franco (both of whom had singled) to give Timacuan the lead.

Mordt singled and Franco doubled before Bobbie Salmon singled in two more runs in the fifth to give Timacuan some breathing room. Thermocarbon scored its second run in the sixth.

Providing the offense for Timacuan were Franco (double, two singles, two runs scored), Lewis (triple, single), Mordt (two singles, two runs scored), Julie Stenstrom (two singles, run scored) and Salmon and Sue Blanchette (one single each).

Leading the Thermocarbon attack were Sandy Adams (two singles, run scored), Mimi Raub (two singles), Connie Thomas (single, run scored) and Michelle Widener and Kim Eltonhead (one single each).

The game between SEKO and Hot Tuna was 0-0 until the bottom of the third when the flood gates opened. Hot Tuna scored three runs in the third, four runs in the fourth and seven runs in the fifth to end the game by the mercy rule. SEKO scored its lone run in the fourth.

Doing the damage for Hot Tuna were Missy Martinez (double, three singles, three runs scored), Tina Leman (triple, two singles, three runs scored), Michelle Bishop (three singles, run scored), April Manning (double, single, run scored) and Kristy York (double, single).

Other contributors included Kat Foldeak and Shannon McDowell (two singles and two runs scored each), Renee Sanville and Tiffany Deeb (one triple and one run scored each) and Robyn Dazey (single).

For SEKO, providing the offense were Diana Sowers (two singles), Bobbie Mosley (single, run scored) and Sonya Poole, Sandy Reid and Melissa Berger (one single each).

few days as they travel to Valencia for an M-F-C doubleheader at 3 p.m. Thursday before playing in the Matorador Tournament Saturday and Sunday.

With Becky Arrowood leading a 27-hit attack in Tuesday's first game, SCC looked like it would win its first ever regular season victory over Lake City. The Wolves scored a pair of runs in the top of the first inning but Kim King and Bobbie Osborne drove in runs in the bottom of the first to tie the game.

Both teams again scored a pair of runs in the third to keep the game even at 4-4. Ginger York and Val Monico drove in the runs for SCC.

The Raiders took their first lead of the game in the fourth when Sandy Rodriguez singled and went all the way to third when the right fielder bobbled the ball. After King was intentionally walked, Julie Barton lifted a sacrifice fly to right to score Rodriguez.

SCC then scored three runs in the sixth to take a four-run lead. Arrowood and Rodriguez singled before King singled in Arrowood with a run. After Barton walked, Osborne drove in a run with a sacrifice fly as York singled in the third run.

But two singles, two errors, a walk and a double by Phyllis Barr tied the game for the Wolves in the seventh to send the game to extra innings.

The Raiders' best chance to score in extra innings came in the 10th when Arrowood and Rodriguez singled with no one out, but the next three batters grounded out to end the threat.

Lake City put the suspense to an end in the 12th when it scored six runs on five hits and a four-base error. The Raiders could only answer with one run

The Timberwolves ended things quickly in the second game, scoring six runs in the first and eight runs in the second to win going away. Lake City came up with 15 hits in the game with Dana Green leading the way with a 4-for-4 effort, including a triple and a double. Barr added a double and two singles while Woodard also had two hits.

This old house breeds good cooks

By LACY DOMEN
 Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Our Cook of the Week, Debbie Bowlin, moved a house to get the spacious dream kitchen she has always wanted, the same kitchen in the same house her great-grandmother and grandmother used to cook in.

"As a little girl, I remember standing, nose to the kitchen counter, as my great-grandmother cut out long strips of dough for her cobbler. She always asked me if I wanted some as she pinched off globs of it for me to taste," Debbie said.

Debbie and her husband, Henry, recently contracted to have the century-old house moved a half block to its new address on Oak Avenue. In Sanford's historic district, "It was going to be torn down for parking," Debbie said. The Bowlins purchased the house from the First Baptist Church of Sanford for one dollar and the stipulation that it be moved off the lot.

"I have a lot of sentimental reasons for wanting that house," Debbie said. She has many of the original pieces of furniture her grandmother furnished the house with, and remembered "getting in the worst trouble of my life" in that house.

Debbie was a precocious three-year-old playing hide-and-seek, when she decided she didn't want to be found. Clinging to the pedestal base of a table in the hallway, she remained silent as her great-grandparents hunted for her. Debbie's mother, Jean, who was working in downtown Sanford, was called home to help search for the little girl.

"I could see all the feet passing by the table," Debbie said. "When someone finally found me, my great-grandmother, who

Henry and Debbie Bowlin eat their first meal, pizza, on the steps of their "new" century-old home which was moved from one location to another on Oak Avenue.

MIDGE MYCOFF

scaring her, though," Debbie said.

Debbie remembered large midday meals at her great-grandparents' home. "I loved that," she said. "I'd eat a big meal at noon, and go home and eat another for supper."

The Bowlins and their three sons, Chris, 19, Randy, 18, and Matt, 14, have some renovating to do before they move into their home in May. "The foundation has not been poured yet, and we have painting and scraping to do, inside and out," Debbie said. Debbie said her first homecooked meal in her new house will probably be ribs or steak on the grill. "We grill out alot," she said.

The Bowlins did order pizza, the first delivery to their new address, recently.

Matt said, the family's favorite meal is fried chicken. "We like Popeyes," he said, jokingly.

Debbie explained, "I make a lot of chicken dishes, but who likes to stand over hot grease and get spattered?" she said.

"My mom is a good cook," Matt admitted. "She has forgotten things a few times and poured out burned stuff, black as anything though," he said.

"Well, maybe once," Debbie said.

Married to Henry almost 20 years, Debbie said he's easy to please, and eats almost anything. "If I cooked him rice and gravy, steak and a vegetable every night, he'd be happy," she said.

"But he wouldn't fit in the van," Matt added.

Debbie said she and Henry are family oriented, and share their sons' activities with them as well as all household tasks.

Henry said he runs his house. "I run the vacuum cleaner, the washing machine, and the dishwasher," he chided.

Debbie, a teacher, asked her fourth grade students at Pinecrest Elementary School what they think her philosophy of life is. "Almost in unison, my students told me they think I treat others like I want to be treated. I was happy to know I come across that way to them," she said.

The house, full of memories, waits at its new address for the next generation of Bowlins to fill it with laughter and family meals. Here are some of Debbie's favorites.

Asparagus a true sign of spring

One of the most elegant vegetables and a very favorite of mine is asparagus, a true sign of spring. Because the delicate spears require moist cooking, the microwave is a good choice for easy preparation. Choose asparagus spears that have thin crisp stalks with closed tips. To store, refrigerate the use within two days if possible.

Asparagus is low in calories. One pound makes four servings with approximately 15 calories each. Basic microwaving is quick and easy.

FRESH ASPARAGUS SPEARS

 2 tablespoons water
 Snap off tough ends of asparagus spears. Arrange in 10 x 6 baking dish. Add water. Cover with plastic wrap. Microwave on 100 percent power for 6 1/2-7 minutes or until tender. Drain. Serve with butter or Hollandaise sauce.

ASPARAGUS-MUSHROOM SOUP

12 ounces fresh asparagus
 2 cups fresh mushrooms, sliced
 1/4 cup each of chopped onion, butter or margarine and flour

1 tablespoon instant chicken bouillon
 1/4 teaspoon each of thyme leaves and hot pepper sauce
 Dash of pepper
 3 cups milk

Snap off tough ends of asparagus spears and discard. Cut remaining into 1/2-inch pieces. Combine asparagus, mushrooms, onion and butter in 2 quart batter bowl. Cover with plastic wrap. Microwave on 100 percent power for 10-12 minutes or until asparagus is tender. Stir in flour, bouillon, thyme, pepper sauce, pepper and milk until well blended. Microwave on 100 percent power, uncovered, for 10-12 minutes or until mixture boils and thickens slightly, stirring several times.

We can enjoy this French-style salad at a cookout with ribs. Made well in advance so the vegetables can absorb the flavor

SPRINGTIME ASPARAGUS POTATO SALAD

1 pound small new potatoes
 1/2 cup water
 1 pound fresh asparagus spears
 1/4 cup white wine vinegar
 2 teaspoon each of sugar and Dijon-styled mustard
 1/4 teaspoon each of tarragon leaves — 1/4 teaspoon if using fresh
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 2 cups whole fresh mushrooms, halved
 2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
 Lettuce leaves

Scrub potatoes; cut into 1/2-inch slices. Place in 2 quart casserole. Add 1/4 cup water. Cover with casserole lid. Microwave on 100 percent power for 5-6 minutes or until potatoes are partially cooked. Snap off tough ends of asparagus and discard. Cut remaining into 1/2-inch pieces. Add to potatoes. Cover. Microwave on 100 percent power for 5-6 minutes or until tender. Drain liquid from vegetables into 1 cup glass measure. Add additional water to make 1/2 cup. Uncover potatoes and set aside to cool.

Add vinegar, sugar, mustard, tarragon, and pepper to water; mix well. Pour warm dressing over potatoes. Carefully stir in mushrooms and eggs. Cover. Refrigerate at least 3 hours. Stir before serving. If desired, drain off excess dressing.

Arrange on lettuce leaves and garnish with egg slices, fresh tarragon.

A quick luncheon dish that used fresh or frozen asparagus.
HAM ASPARAGUS BAKE
 1 package (10 ounces) frozen

asparagus and spears

8 thin slices (10-ounce) cooked ham
 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup, undiluted
 1/2 cup milk
 1 tablespoon dry sherry (optional)
 1 tablespoon sliced or slivered almonds

Put asparagus, icy side up, in casserole; cover and microwave six minutes or until almost tender, re-arranging once. Drain well. Assemble with remaining ingredients as above, omitting almonds. Cook 4-5 minutes or until heated through. If desired, sprinkle with toasted almonds.

Who's cooking?

The Sanford Herald welcomes suggestions for cooks of the week.

Do you know someone whose food is always the highlight of company picnics, church potlucks, receptions or covered-dish luncheons? It might be an acquaintance who has won a cooking contest or invented a new twist to the peanut-butter-and-jelly sandwich.

Novice cooks and ethnic cooks, as well as experienced cooks and master chefs, add a different dimension to dining. Who is your choice? Maybe it's your mother, father, brother, sister, son, daughter, spouse, friend or boss.

Submit your nomination for Cook of the Week to the Herald People editor at 322-2611, ext. 34.

Cancer link to birth control pill invalid

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've been on birth control pills for 14 years. A recent TV show indicated that after seven years on the pill, a woman has a 70 to 75 percent chance of getting breast cancer. Is there truth to this claim?

DEAR READER: I do not believe this claim is valid. Oral contraceptives have not been shown to increase the risk of breast cancer; however, there is some evidence that women who take birth control pills before their first pregnancies may be at slightly higher risk for uterine cancer.

Statistically, there are five characteristics that seem to make women more prone to breast cancer: close family members with breast cancer, prior breast cancer, never having been pregnant, older than 30 at first pregnancy, and early first menstruation (or late menopause). The reasons for this association are not completely understood.

Since you seem uncomfortable with the consequences of long-term oral contraceptive use, I suggest you share your concerns with your gynecologist.

To give you additional information, I am sending you free copies of my Health Reports "Contraception: An Update" and "Breast Cancer and Disorders." Other readers who would like copies should send $1.25 for each report to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Having read about the problem of constipation in one of your columns, I would like to share my remedy - raw broccoli before my main meal. Previously, I had problems to the point of impaction, yet this simple cure has eliminated my symptoms altogether.

DEAR READER: Congratulations. I do not know the reason for your success, except that any raw vegetable contains fiber, which is an effective bowel stimulant. If you can stand eating broccoli every day, fine; it won't hurt you.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm an elderly lady with dentures. Because my gums are shrinking, I use a cream to hold the dentures in place. What is this goop made of, and is it harmful to use?

DEAR READER: The active ingredient in most denture adhesives is sterculia (karaya) gum, a natural plant product completely free of health haz-

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Over the artificial two-club opening, West pre-empted with four clubs. Back around to South, who now bid four spades, his long suit. North now bid five clubs, showing a control and implying decent spade support. South bid five diamonds, showing the ace, and then, even though North subided with five spades, South continued with a six-club cue-bid, suggesting the possibility of a grand slam. So North showed the diamond king. South bid the heart ace, and North trusted that South's bidding denoted a hand that would provide an excellent play for all the tricks. South did have just such a hand, with one proviso - he needed to play the hand as well as he bid it.

Declarer won the ace of clubs and casually played the ace of spades out of his hand. He of course intended next to ruff a club, then pick up trumps and later pitch his losing heart on the long diamond in dummy. But all these plans went kaput when West showed out on the spade ace. Declarer had no excuse for going set. After West had bid four clubs, it was likely that he would be void in spades.

The contract easily makes if declarer first plays the queen of spades in dummy. He can now take a finesse against East's jack and still handle ruffing the second club in dummy. And his play will then be consistent with his bidding.

Bridge score table showing North-South and East-West scores, including a vulnerable North-South deal.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osool YOUR BIRTHDAY March 13, 1990

You will be extremely effective in the year ahead in fulfilling your social and material desires. You've learned a lot over the past few years and this is the time it could be put to advantageous uses.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your most outstanding talent today is your ability to reorganize a matter that has everyone going around in circles. You'll know how to do it in a way that will make everyone happy. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you to understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) A lift of emotions will be the result of the sensitive way you handle a situation today where you have to choose to satisfy another's needs above your own.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Relationships with others should go very smoothly for you today, because once you become in-involved, it will arouse your cooperative instincts and they will follow the example you establish.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You have the ability today, if you choose to use it, of turning mundane tasks into creative, productive adventures. Make your efforts meaningful.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Others will appreciate your companionship for two important reasons today. One, you'll let people do their own thing and, two, if they don't know what to do, you'll devise ways to inspire them.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Desirable results are likely today in situations where you are strongly motivated to be sure things come out your way. Where there is a will, there is a way.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You may be in for a pleasant surprise today when you'll find a good reason to change a bad opinion about someone you know only casually. This could be the genesis of a friendship.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Constructive measures can be taken today to reinforce situations that are meaningful to you in material ways. You're on a lucky roll and it should be rather easy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Without being selfish today, try to devote as much time as possible to situations that can advance your personal interests. Big strides can now be made.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) In your financial dealings today you are likely to fare better if you follow your own perceptions rather than listening to others who are not as familiar with your arrangements as you are.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A close friend could be instrumental today in revising your outlook on something about which you've been dubious. This friend will know how to lift the veil.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) A little extra push may be required today in order to achieve several objectives which are presently of great importance to you. You have the reserve required, so move ahead with confidence.
