

THE SANFORD HERALD Page 3 Wed., Dec. 5, 1931 "Grass-Root" Poll Results Will Be Known In Month

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The Agriculture Department said today it will, in several weeks, possibly a month, reveal results of its controversial "grass roots" survey of farm programs which will be known.

A summary of 48 state reports and more than 3,000 county reports of the survey is being made by the Department at the suggestion of a special subcommittee of non-Department farm and church leaders which advised the Department on the project.

The survey has been termed the "Family Farm Policy Review" by Secretary Brannan. Conducted during the summer and early fall by local and state agencies of the Department, the survey was designed to get suggestions on how federal farm programs might better serve small, low income farmers.

The survey ran into sharp criticism from the National Farm Federation, the National Grange, and some other farm groups. They contended the Department was stepping outside its proper field in soliciting possible legislative action. Some of these critics also declared the Department was seeking ways of extending its control over agriculture.

The Department called the advisory subcommittee in last week to go over the state and county reports and to make recommendations as to how the Department might best use the suggestions for program changes and improvements.

Because of the volume of the reports, the subcommittee asked the Department to prepare a summary of them for submission to it at a later meeting. No date for this meeting has been set. But officials said it may not be held before early next month.

On the subcommittee are representatives from the National Grange, the National Council of Farmers' Organizations, the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities, the National Protestant and Catholic Church groups interested in the welfare of rural life.

The Farm Bureau was invited to send a representative, but it declined, explaining that while it was in sympathy with the declared purpose of the survey, it believed suggestions for program changes and improvements should come from farmers through their own private organizations rather than through an administrative agency of the government.

Secretary Brannan has said that if any recommendations for new legislation are made as a result of the survey, he will offer them as his own and not as those of farmers.

Mr. Hobby further stated that he would yield to no political pressure from higher officials demanding that he look the other way at persons violating the law. He said that it is his intention, if elected, to give the people of Seminole County a fair and impartial administration based upon the principles of clean government.

Mr. Hobby stated that he would do everything in his power to bring before the courts those who are violating the beverage laws of Florida and in particular those who are selling liquor to minors. He stated that he would not allow under any circumstances known to him to be a party to the sale of liquor to minors.

BRINGTON, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The Navy is tightening its guard against an apparently increasing possibility of a Red air assault on the East coast.

The Navy has taken pains in recent days to report the increasing numbers and boldness of enemy planes over the East coast. It said that the Red air assault from U.S. Task Force 77, the increase in Communist activity over the East coast is taken as a sign of their growing confidence in their ability to challenge the Navy's air superiority over the East coast.

Internal Revenue

all the evidence was not in. King announced Nathan as an attempted insurance passer, and Nathan, a 42-year-old North Carolina man who had been in the United States for some time, was arrested at the time.

King said the testimony about Nathan's activities "points up one fact that such persons thrive on any matter official who is more interested in high living than in his own and his government's reputation."

When Nathan testified that "when Nathan approached him about tax matters, he volunteered."

"Probably because they knew I knew so much, I didn't pay too much attention to them. I told them to hire a lawyer."

Committee counsel Adrian DeWind asked Nathan to name some of the people who approached him.

"There was a fellow from Jacksonville, Fla., Nathan said, 'and follows around the race tracks, who knew I knew Mr. Caudle.'"

"How did they know that?"

"They seen me with him," Nathan replied in a surprised tone.

In response to questioning, Nathan said he didn't know any one in the Bureau of Internal Revenue—except that he met "Charlie" Olyphant at the Kentucky Derby once.

Charlie Olyphant is chief counsel of the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

It was at a bar, Nathan said, and he thought someone just pointed Olyphant out to him.

"I never went nowhere with him," Nathan added.

Nathan said with him, Mrs. Caudle, said, Mrs. and Mrs. Caudle.

Asked who else was there, Nathan replied in an aggrieved tone, that he didn't know who all was around. "There was 100,000 people there, I don't know."

Nathan also acknowledged knowing Keith Healy, Charlotte, N. C., business man. Caudle testified earlier in the hearings that Healy sold him three cars at discount while Healy's tax returns were under investigation.

Nathan said he met Healy either in Florida or Washington.

"How did you meet him?"

"Maybe it was Mr. Caudle—maybe it was his brother, Charles. I meet a many people, I really don't know."

Charles Caudle is a Charlotte lawyer.

His only dealings with Healy, Nathan said, was purchase of a car from him about a year and a half ago.

Writer Exposes Truth Of Morals Within Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 5.—(AP)—How immoral is Hollywood? With the nation becoming acquainted almost daily with new revelations of immorality in public life, attention is again focused on this great new center of human follies and follies—Hollywood. Recent headline happenings of Barbara Payton, Franchot Tone, Ava Gardner, Frank Sinatra and others have brought another flood of protest from filmgoers' critics.

But what are the facts? Hollywood claims that it is as normal as any other community, the difference being that when it is not so, it is not so in a very public way. The town's critics claim that it is a cesspool of sin.

Neither view is correct. Hollywood is neither as good as it claims or as bad as outsiders paint it.

Even in this Kinsey age, there is no yardstick for measuring immorality. The film industry often points to the movies as a source of normalcy. Most of them will split in your eye if you so accuse them, but actors are not normal individuals. By the nature of their craft, they are emotional and inclined to erratic behavior. They also are attractive people, and their opportunities for romance are greater than those of normal folk.

As producer Jerry Wald points out: "The trend in recent years has been to publicize film stars as 'just like the girl or boy next door.' Maybe someone in Sanford would be glad to use the information we need."

Before our session of WIT's had ceased the gas situation was being discussed. "I couldn't use my car because the water was so hot we were told not to use the hot water heater—too much air in the pipes!"

"The conditions will soon be remedied and in the meantime you will be glad to furnish us with information about their progress."

However, next time you see a sailor in Sanford, don't expect him to be satisfied with life. You see, a sailor's life is not so happy as it seems.

In the case of Larry Hart, a man, FABRON, it's a little different right now. Larry and his wife, Pat, were just recently divorced. The man has a young girl and the proud papa is wearing a grin from ear to ear. The whole family is presently in New Orleans but will soon return to the home in Orange City.

Welcome aboard to Eidon Farmer who just reported for duty with FABRON from Fight Squadron Thirty-two.

Chief Phil Bell has always been a "land lubber" but the other day he heard the call of the sea. Now he's gotten so enthusiastic about the whole matter that he's almost convinced us that he's happy about it. Phil will soon be transferred and we'll surely miss him.

Chief Lawrence Peckley got his bid last week. He was going hunting in the north side of Volusia County. It was a little late to be celebrating Thanksgiving, but the Chief bagged two turkeys (11 and 15 pounds) so what could he expect.

Hints To Housewives

By Anna Mae Sikes

"How long will it last?" is a question often asked by purchasers of new household equipment, especially the large items such as refrigerators, home freezers, and washing machines, which represent a considerable investment for many families.

Managers of apartments or other rented housing usually estimate about 10 years as the life-time expectancy of such equipment. But no research has been made of the usual life of family-owned equipment. It should last considerably longer than 10 years, say household equipment specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture if it is well made and also properly used and cared for.

But in service in many homes are some of the first automatic refrigerators, washing machines, and vacuum cleaners manufactured. Owners of these early models often report few and only minor repairs during 20 or even 30 years of use. In fact, it is sometimes said that such equipment was "made to last" because thirty families sharing with such well-fallen servants often when new improved models offer more convenience and other advantages.

Many new items in equipment have been given special attention to having qualities because more and more people are using them in their homes. It is a good idea to buy equipment that will be able to stand up to the wear and tear of a long life.

Jones Chosen Master Of Masonic Lodge

VIDAL J. JONES, tire shop operator, was elected last night the master of Sanford Lodge No. 62, P. and A. M., at a meeting held in the Masonic Hall. He succeeded Henry D. Moore.

Elected to other offices were C. J. Wilkinson, senior warden; Roy R. Wright, Jr., junior warden; T. Sheppard, treasurer; and R. C. Whitmore, secretary.

The appointive officers will be announced later. Installation will take place on the night of Thursday, Dec. 27.

Taylor Commandery No. 28, Knights Templar, will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock, instead of Friday night as formerly planned. H. H. Wigfall, past commander, announced today. New officers will be elected and all members are requested to be present.

Hearing Is Planned On Melon Agreement

A public hearing on the proposed watermelon and melon agreement will be held Monday morning in Gainesville, County Agent C. R. Dawson announced today.

The basis of testimony at the hearings Secretary of Agriculture Nathan Mayn will determine the need for an agreement and in the event the hearings are favorable an agreement will probably be held before putting the agreement into effect, according to Mr. Dawson.

The meeting will begin at 9:00 A.M. in the Gainesville City Hall about two blocks north of the court house Dec. 11 and may extend into Tuesday Dec. 12, Mr. Dawson said.

Growers and shippers who attend the meeting will have an opportunity to raise questions and present testimony to support or oppose the proposed agreement, the County Agent said.

State's Attorney Lorin Willis challenged Goldstein's motion for dismissal with sharp criticism of the doctor's testimony. The jurist referred to him as "this man who doesn't wear the name of a doctor." Willis charged that Dr. Gibson "knew what those pills were going to do to Miss Ayres." The jurist referred to contained the drug antipyrine which a witness had said previously was dangerous to persons who were allergic to that drug.

Dr. Gibson asserted Willis was "making and laying his plans" two months before Miss Ayres' death when he inquired and made arrangements for turning over her body to the Yale Medical School.

Billings was accused in indictments of stealing $103,000 from the Rollins home, attempted larceny of $100,000 and conspiracy.

Another person was indicted secretly with Billings but that person has not yet been served.

Billings was named in the conspiracy indictment with James Smith, 41, a former employee of Billings, who is under $2,000 bail.

That indictment charges that Billings on one occasion prepared a mixture of ice cream and barbiturate derivatives and gave it to Smith who, in turn, gave it to Miss Ada Chesney, 65, to give to her aunt, Mrs. Rollins. Authorities asserted Mrs. Rollins did not eat enough of it to be affected.

Mrs. Rollins was reported to have had her money scattered in old places throughout her old three-story frame house.

The widow had made out three wills. Terms of the first were so vague that the city of Sanford was named the city of Sanford worth $100,000 as a memorial to her name.

The third, which someone worth the money and used July 20, 1928, was the last will and testament of Mrs. Rollins. It was the last will and testament of Mrs. Rollins.

Randall Is Elected Altamonte Mayor

ALTAMONTE, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Roy A. Randall won a three-way fight for mayor of Altamonte Springs yesterday on one of six general elections held in three Central Florida counties.

With 59 votes, retired businessman Randall won handsily over Richard Soderro, owner of the Deering Auction Gallery who got 46, and automobile salesman James E. Woods, 15 votes. For town clerk, John C. Goddard Jr. won over Richard Hoffman, 54, a fruit and produce salesman, 107 to 62. Goddard, an artist by profession, did not seek re-election as the town's mayor.

Seven successful candidates for the Altamonte Board of Aldermen were Howard Arnold, retired businessman, 114; Byron L. Kimball, lawyer, 128; H. G. Fuller, railroad operator, 101; Lawrence Swafford, building contractor, 109; Frank Seaman, architect, 101; Raymond Rock, hardware store owner, 99; and Austin G. Galt, carpenter, 94.

The election drew 174 ballots. Only white persons voted, the Negro section having been separated by a Circuit Court order Monday.

Minor Clubs Draft Five FSL Leaguers

COLUMBUS, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Baseball's minor leagues finished up a three-day draft of players today with nine players being drafted by the minor league ladder.

The last nine were taken in a "delayed draft" at which all clubs were allowed an extra choice—just in case they had overlooked someone that might be able to help them.

Drafting of the nine brought to 162 the number of players moved up in minor league classifications by means of the draft. There was an outlay of $314,200 by club owners for the athletes. Last year the minors drafted 164 players.

Not announced yesterday by means of the draft, there were 10 players in the class B Florida International League included:

Anderson of the Tri-State League, Catcher Ray Dunno from DeLand of the Florida State League and Outfielder Mike Kibbler from Palatka of the same circuit. Artesia, N. M., of the Longhorn League took Outfielder Elton George Hightower from Palatka, Florida State League. Ted of the West Texas-New Mexico circuit drafted Pitcher Fred Jack James from Leesburg of the Florida State.

Morocco Temple To Entertain Members Of Local Shrine Club

Shriners from Morocco Temple, Jacksonville, will entertain members of the Sanford Shrine Club and their wives in a unique annual visitation at the Maytast Inn, Friday night at 7:30 o'clock. The entertainment will be presented by the illustrious Povenate, James W. Gill, and his Divan.

Among the visitors will be Glen G. Searing, chief roaban, Sparks Jones, recorder; John Legleiter, treasurer, and other dignitaries.

Each Noble was today requested by Edward F. Lane to bring a toy of some kind for presentation at Christmas time to the children of the Methodist Home in Enterprise.

The Sanford Shrine Club will preside at the Salvation Army boards on First Street, Friday, Dec. 21, under the direction of Noble J. L. Thornley.

Frank Evans, local chairman of the Shrine entertainment committee, announced this morning that the Triple Trio of the Seminole High School Glee Club, directed by Miss Ollie Reaso Whittle, will be among the entertainers on the program.

Two singers will be featured: Dr. H. W. Rucker, baritone, with Harry Kudell accompanying, and Howard Gordie, Junior High School tenor.

George Swartz, noted here for his travel lectures, will show colored scenes of Florida and places to which he has traveled.

Miss Ellen Driggers will present a humorous monologue. Other performers will be Miss Joan Saunders and Miss Gretchen Kirchoff, tap dancers, and Miss Norma Faye Harvey, acrobatic dancer. Mr. Evans will introduce the performers.

The Tito regimen often had said it would gladly release Magr. Stepinac if he would leave the country, never to take the Archbishop's post in Yugoslavia. There has been increasing pressure in the United States, and elsewhere for the churchman's release, since the Tito regime began moving closer to the West in matters of defense. Several U. The arrest and trial aroused Catholic indignation throughout the world. He was the first high Catholic leader to be imprisoned in eastern Europe after the war.

The last available comment from the churchman himself was made in an interview last April with an Associated Press correspondent, Alex Singleton. Magr. Stepinac said then that the "Catholic Church cannot be enslaved by any state," but that he believed a compromise could and should be worked out between the church and the Communist state. He said, however, that it was the responsibility of the Holy See to are known, perhaps it will not be so hard to catch them.

 A friend of ours brings us

 No, it is not talking about the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

 And it stresses the interest in

Strong Men In The East

Presumably by coincidence, the governments of two Eastern nations were overthrown by military coup on the same recent day, and in both cases the attitude toward Communism appeared to be an issue. In Syria a new pro-Russian premier was seized and ousted before he even had time to go to work. Presumably he would have steered Syria away from the policies of his predecessor, who was partial to the Western Allies and was in favor of the proposed Middle East defense command.
 In Thailand the change went more deeply into the government but the reasons were less clear. After the coup had been carried out, however, the announcement was made that the government would continue an anti-Communist policy, suggesting that the question of a change in that policy must have arisen. The new ruling group abolished the constitution which had been adopted in 1932, during the period when Communist agitation was stirring up all of southeast Asia, and went back to the constitution of the first limited monarchy, set up in 1932.
 Such forceful ways of changing government are startling to Americans, but are common in both of these Eastern nations. Though we can hardly approve the method, we can be glad for the effect, since in both cases there seems to be a bolstering of the governments against Communist influence. The trouble is that in nations with such a troubled history the next day may bring a new change, with the opposite effect.

Railroad Mishaps

Some members of Congress appear to have become disturbed about the number of railroad accidents in the last few years. The operations of railroads are already closely limited by federal laws and regulations, but it may be that more stringent safety regulations are needed. The measures taken by individual railroads to prevent collisions vary widely, yet even the ones which use the fewest preventive devices and procedures seem to be within the law.
 Congress doubtless could pass a law requiring all railroads to install and use the most modern devices for signaling and controlling the movements of trains. But that might work a fatal hardship on some roads which are barely getting by financially. Perhaps the law should merely require that each road's rules on speed and the observance of signals should be more accurately fitted to the capabilities of its safety and control devices.
 Using signaling and control apparatus now available, a railroad can make collisions virtually impossible, and many have done it. More should do so.

Prevention Or Cure

It is strange that the old proverb about the ounce of prevention and the pound of cure has not been more widely adopted by people with toothbrushes in their hands. A visit to the dentist, seeking the cure for a decayed tooth, is dreaded by almost everyone, even though the experience in the dentist's chair today is seldom anywhere near as painful as it was in the days when the traditional picture of the dentist as a torturer was being formed. For the most part the torture has disappeared but the tradition remains.
 The toothbrush is symbolic of prevention; along with effective cleaning of the teeth go proper diet and regular visits to the dentist so that small troubles can be found and corrected before they become big. The people who take good care of their teeth are much more numerous than they used to be. Those who don't do it wish sooner or later that they had.

30 Marine Cadets Are Killed By Bus

CHATIAM, Eng., Dec. 6.—(AP)—A bus plowed through the ranks of 30 marching marine cadets Tuesday night and is believed to have killed 21.
 Bodies of the dying and injured cadets were scattered for 50 yards along a dimly lit road almost in the center of this naval arsenal 34 miles southeast of London.
 "It looked like a gory battlefield after a bomb had dropped in middle of a company of soldiers," a policeman said.
 The cadets, ranging in age from 13 to 17, were marching to the Royal Naval Barracks to see a boxing tournament. Only nine cadets escaped when the bus plunged in the rear of the group, plowing through the ranks and smashing against a lamppost.
 The bus was owned by the Chatham and District Traction Company and the driver, employed by the firm for 40 years, was to have received a medal tomorrow for 25 years of safe driving.

A naval petty officer said, "I saw many pretty grim things in many places during the war, but this was too much for me. I had to come away."
 As teams of ambulance workers lifted the bodies into the ambulances and hearses, dockyard workers and sailors stood lining the roadway, tears streaming down their cheeks.

THE WORLD TODAY
 By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Everybody on the outside now is looking at the Internal Revenue Bureau, which has been shaken root and branch by scandals.
 I wondered what it must be like to be on the inside looking out. So I talked with a man who works in the bureau. He's a thoughtful man, badly upset by what's happened, but he still has a sense of humor.
 I asked him what effect the disclosures about the bureau, involving people little and big, have had on the untouched employees there.
 "Have you noticed any change in the attitude of your neighbors toward you? Are they suspicious of you? Are you embarrassed that you're in the bureau?"
 "Well," he said, "let me put it this way: A year ago when I worked, I always said the Internal Revenue Bureau. Six months ago when I was asked I said I worked for the Treasury Department (the bureau is part of the department)."
 "But now when anybody asks me I just say I work for the government."
 He talked a while. And since he knows something about the bureau, I asked him if he thought so-and-so was a crook. This particular Mr. so-and-so was one of some 50 employees who, as a result of the disclosures, aren't employees any more.
 The man said "I really don't know. How could I? But it's on that very point that the morale of the rest of us in the bureau has suffered a blow."
 I asked him what he meant.
 "Just that," he said, "All that's happened not only makes us wonder about the people involved so far, but more."
 "I think each of us now has to pay attention to the man next to him, or the one just above him, and wonder about him."
 But the morale of at least some of the bureau's employees must have been a bit rocky before the scandals broke open publicly.
 I doubt all of the bureau's more than 50,000 employees were completely surprised when the exposures started.
 Some of them, I'd guess, already had plenty of suspicions about dirty work. It stands to reason they would.
 The stuff which has come to light didn't just happen the day it was exposed. Each item of wrongdoing or indiscretion had a history. And there are a number of such items.
 And in a bureau like Internal Revenue, with those more than 50,000 employees, it must be hard to keep every act of dishonesty unsuspected.
 There are just too many people around, with too many eyes and too many tongues. And once a suspect gets around it doesn't help morale.
 One thing is a safe bet: We haven't heard the end of the bureau's scandals.

Editorial Writers
 Louisville Courier Journal

Ninety-one editorial writers from all over America met last week in Cleveland for an annual conference. It was remarkable in character. Instead of listening to set speeches on the virtues of the press, those who attended spent three days in hot discussion of why editorial pages are not better than they are.
 Several critical points were made which drew blood, or should we say ink, from the page you are now reading. We find that our faults are shared by many others, but that does not make them any more acceptable. There was a general agreement among editorial writers that they dwell too high up in an ivory tower, that their pages are too school-maesterish in tone, that they tend to lecture readers rather than to discuss issues with them, that they give too many pat answers to complex questions and that they are usually written in a slightly stilted style which somebody has christened "editorialese."
 The people who write The Courier-Journal's editorials argue heatedly among themselves. Yet out of this cauldron comes a page which too often has lost its human heat, and has fallen too coldly into a mold of nice, polite prose. A critic at Cleveland, giving us some points of praise, noted that our page would be more effective if the reader could see greater evidence of "struggle and sweat and uncertainty and tormenting, nail-chewing doubts."
 These doubts exist among our staff to an often painful degree. Indeed there is hardly a whole nail among us after some issues are discussed. We are not ashamed of our uncertainties, for it seems to us that only a fool could be really sure of things in this wild and muddled world in which we live.
 We try to make this page reflect honest opinions, honestly but not easily arrived at. We do not believe that readers want the type of editorial that simply circles a subject without taking any position, as a dog chases his tail, though we would spare ourselves many bristkats by maintaining such a dull neutrality. We have done a poor job, on the other hand, if we create the impression of dealing in easy conclusion. We will try in the future to make you share with us our toil, sweat and tears.

 Mr. Rolland Dean, Editor, The Sanford Herald, Sanford, Florida
 Dear Mr. Dean:
 Someone sent me a copy of The Herald of Nov. 27, which carried a story on the talk which I gave the Sanford Lions Club recently.
 Please let me thank you, on behalf of Mutual and myself, for the very splendid coverage you gave this program. This is one of the best pieces of publicity the program has ever received. It is the type of reporting that greatly assists Mutual in keeping the public informed as to what we are trying to do for the industry.
 Your fine news story is greatly appreciated.
 Sincerely yours

Christmas Accented By Women's Groups

A religious theme, "Christmas in Sanford," was beautifully carried out by the American Home Department cooperating with the Civic Department of the Sanford Women's Club at the club luncheon and business meeting yesterday.
Accents on madonnas, choir boys and lighted tapers with greenery at vantage points about the room, centered upon religion in Christmas. The speaker's table held a lovely arrangement of poinsettias and each small table was centered with an angel and lighted white taper.
Mrs. B. B. Crumley presided over the short business meeting, and Mrs. A. G. McNis introduced Mrs. C. C. Welch who read the Christmas story from Luke. This was followed by Christmas prayer by Mrs. McNis.
Reports were heard from the various department heads. Mrs. S. G. Harriman called attention to the paintings on the wall, which were suggestive of Christmas. Announcement was made by the president that E. C. Harper and Al Lyons will hold a Christmas party on how to use laundry equipment. This will be held on Dec. 13 at 1:30 P. M. and at 7:30 P. M.
Mrs. Crumley gave a brief report on the State Board Meeting held in St. Petersburg recently. Mrs. Joe Corley introduced Miss Nancy Williams, Seminole County School music supervisor, who sang Schubert's "Ave Maria" and "Jesu Bambino." Miss Williams then introduced her sixth grade Glee Club of 45 singers who sang "O Come All Ye Faithful," "First Noel," "Deck the Halls with Bowers of Holly," "Silent Night," and "Joy to the World."
Hostesses for the luncheon were Mrs. J. M. Garrett, Mrs. Ernest Southward, Mrs. H. S. Duggar, Mrs. J. E. Fandom, Mrs. James C. Young, Mrs. Ted Williams, Mrs. C. C. Earl, Mrs. A. C. Starke, Mrs. Joder Cameron, and Mrs. D. D. Forrest.

The decorating committee was composed of Mrs. Irvin Feinberg, Mrs. Bascot Ellerbe, Mrs. C. C. Henderson, Mrs. George D. Hishcock, Mrs. C. E. Mevin, Mrs. Jack Harkey, Mrs. Phil C. Stanley, Jr., Mrs. Alfred Stanley, and Mrs. Miriam Russell.
Guests included Mrs. S. E. Andrews of Andalusia, Ala., Mrs. Ed Kuhn, of New York, Mrs. A. T. Flynn of New York, Mrs. Glenn Stuart of Duncannon, Mrs. Fames Sizoo of Jacksonville, Tex., and Mrs. Forrest E. Breckenridge, formerly of Live Oak, now of Sanford.
About 112 members and guests were in attendance.

Mrs. Harry Woodruff Entertains At Bridge

Mrs. Harry Woodruff entertained her luncheon and her dessert bridge clubs at the Seminole Country Club on Tuesday at a luncheon and bridge party.
Beautiful white camellias and white chrysanthemums adorned the party rooms of the club house and the individual tables held lovely central arrangements of white camellias.
Bridge prizes were given to Mrs. W. R. Williams, Mrs. Clifford McKibbin, Mrs. Jack Hall, and Mrs. Andrew Carraway.
Club members present were Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. McKibbin, Mrs. Orville L. Barks, Mrs. G. W. Spencer, Mrs. John Levy, Mrs. A. Edwin Shiholzer, Mrs. Carraway, Mrs. J. E. Higgins, and guests were Mrs. J. D. Woodruff, and Mrs. Jean S. Adams.

HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 6.—Any discussion of morality in Hollywood brings up the morals clause. But amazingly little is known about it.
The history of the morals clause goes back to the turbulent '20s. The young movie industry was struck by a series of scandals that rocked its foundations.
The Arbutic case in the rape of a 21-year-old victim of the dope habit, Fatty Arbuckle, lovable comical slapstick shorts, was the first. He was charged with the rape of a young girl. After two hung juries, he was acquitted.
Director William Desmond Taylor was murdered in an unsolved mystery that involved two actresses, Mary Miles Minter and Mabel Normand.
The Arbuckle case is generally believed to be the reason for introducing the morals clause. Since then, most film players have had it included in their contracts. It reads something like this:
"The artist agrees to conduct himself with due regard to public conventions and morals, and agrees that he will not do or commit any act that will tend to degrade him in society or bring him into public hatred, contempt, scorn or ridicule; or that will tend to reflect unfavorably on the community or ridicule public morals or decency, or prejudice the producer or the entertainment industry."
That's a lot of words. It should cover any situation concerning immorality. Yet the joke is that THE MORALS CLAUSE HAS NEVER BEEN INVOKED FOR IMMORALITY.
That's an eye-opener, isn't it? A veteran, top-flight Hollywood lawyer confirmed that fact. To his knowledge, the clause has never been used until the last three years, and then only for political reasons. It was used to fire those workers accused of Communist activities.
"I may be cynical," said the attorney, "but I believe that the producers have never felt the need to cancel a contract because of moral reasons. I think that when a star is involved in a scandal, particularly if it involves sex, the public is generally sympathetic and forgiving."
"But communism is another matter. If a star gets a Red label, he and his pictures are subject to organized and effective pressure. The producer could well consider him a bad risk and fire him under the morals clause."
Contrary to general belief, not every film player signs the morals clause. At least one studio, Paramount, does not require it. The studio apparently prefers to leave the clause un stated and rely on common law.

Mrs. James H. Crapps Entertains Her Club

Mrs. James H. Crapps entertained her bridge Tuesday afternoon at her home on Mellonville Avenue.
Chrysanthemums of yellow and bronze were used as floral arrangements in the living room of Mrs. Crapps' home. A dessert course was served the guests upon their arrival and later in the afternoon light refreshments with Coca Cola were served.
Prizes for the bridge games were won by Mrs. R. F. Symes, Jr., Mrs. Edward Higgins, Jr., and Mrs. Crapps.
Those present were Mrs. B. L. Perkins, Jr., Mrs. Roy Greene, Mrs. Malcolm Higgins, Mrs. B. Odham, Jr., Mrs. Dale Scott, Jr., Mrs. Roy F. Symes, Jr., and Mrs. Edward Higgins, Jr.

Lee and Jackson Studied By U. D. C.

Papers were read on "Partisans of the South," Generals Robert E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson at the meeting of Norman de Vere Howard Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, which was held at the home of Mrs. B. L. Perkins, Sr. on Friday. Mrs. M. S. Wiggins and Mrs. Mary L. Strong were co-hostesses.
Mrs. J. M. McCaskill and Mrs. E. H. Laney gave papers on General Lee and Mrs. K. Rosseter read "Partisans of the South," and Mrs. J. G. Sharon offered an article on "Stonewall" Jackson.
Mrs. W. R. Dymon, president, presided over the meeting and Mrs. A. K. Rosseter conducted the devotional.
Refreshments were served by the hostesses at the conclusion of the meeting. Those present were Mrs. Laney, Mrs. Dymon, Mrs. St. Clair White, Mrs. Sharon, Mrs. Rosseter, Mrs. G. E. Horne, Mrs. Claude Herndon, Mrs. Strong, Mrs. Wiggins, Mrs. McCaskill, Mrs. W. S. Humbley, and Mrs. Perkins.

Men's Bridge Club Is Being Formed

A men's duplicate bridge club was formed on Monday evening at the Sanford Elks Club with 12 members. Others are invited to join the club and are requested to join in groups of four. The next meeting will be held on Monday at 7:45 P. M. at the Elks Club.
Twenty-four hands were played at last Monday evening with winners being Dr. L. D. Rosen and Dr. L. Munson with 51 match points. Runners-up were Clyde Ramsey and John Lambirth with 52 match points.
Those who took part in the duplicate bridge games were Fred Stein, Robert Billhimer, Roger Harris, Cecil Rines, Frank Sandler, Irvin Fohberg, Clyde Ramsey, John Lambirth, John Fitzpatrick, John Williams, Dr. Brown and Dr. Munson. which might have a broader application.
The legality of the morals clause has never been tried. Some lawyers feel that it might be an infringement of individual freedom assured by the U. S. Constitution. But others claim there is basis in common law.
There is one case in which a railroad man was fired because he ran houses of ill repute on the side. His firing was upheld, because the courts agreed he would embarrass the railroad by his outside activities.
On the basis of this and other cases, most of the movie studios still require their actors to sign the morals clause. But it has been invoked only for activity in Communist cells, not in bedrooms and in night clubs.

Red Sox May Trade Ted Williams To Yankees, Says Cleveland Owner

By JOE REICHLER
COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Owner Ellis Ryan of the Cleveland Indians said today it would not surprise him if the Boston Red Sox traded Ted Williams to the New York Yankees.

"I would say the Yankees have the best chance of getting Williams," he said. "That is, if Boston really wants to trade Ted. New York has more to offer, in the way of good young dispensable players, than any other club."

Ryan denied an oft-told story that Williams had been offered to the Indians for ace right-hander Hub Lemon and catcher Jim Hegan. He refused even to dignify a more recent rumor whereby the Indians were supposed to get Williams via a three-cornered deal involving Larry Doby and the St. Louis Browns Ned Garver.

"That's the most ridiculous thing I've heard yet," he laughed. "Ted Williams' name has never come up for discussion in any of our talks with the Red Sox," the tall, distinguished-looking Cleveland executive said. "I have no way of knowing whether the Red Sox have ever attempted to trade Williams to any club."

Previously, General Manager George Weiss of the Yankees hinted that his club would be interested in making a deal for the Red Sox slugger if they were sure Joe DiMaggio was not returning to the active list next season.

"We might be interested in Boston's big fellow if we knew just what our big fellow is going to do," is the way he put it. "If Joe decides to play, then I don't think there would be room for the two of them."

DiMaggio is scheduled to meet with Yankee officials in New York this week. If Williams-to-the-Yankees transaction is made, the guess is that the Red Sox will ask for outfielder Hank Bauer, second baseman Gerry Coleman, pitcher Hub Burgen and a young catcher.

The Cardinals' persistent efforts to land Eddie Stanky as manager were expected to wind up successfully. The announcement may come within the next 48 hours.

President Fred Saigh of the Cardinals, Manager Leo Durocher of the Giants huddled for two hours yesterday, then they lunched for another two hours together, hoping to swing a deal that would be satisfactory to both sides.

"I told Mr. Saigh that we still were determined to get Max Lanier (southpaw pitcher) and said, 'We did not want the other Chuck Diering for Stanky,' Leo follows he offered. He said he'd think it over."

"I think the deal will be made," Leo added with a broad grin.

Durocher and Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, left last night for New York but Vice-President Charles Feeney stayed behind to wait for Saigh's answer. The "other fellows" are Pitches Red Munger and Catcher Del Rice. The Giants were to throw in Catcher Sal Yvars and infielder Jack Lohrke in the deal.

Today you note on the Herald sports pages the fragmentary returns from our coaches' poll to determine the first and second All-Florida East Coast Conference high school football teams for 1951. During the next few days the Herald will publish a running account of the results of this poll until the conference's first and second teams are named.

We chose the FEC loop coaches to select this team because we feel they alone are in a position best to judge the abilities of their own players and the other team players they have opposed during this past season. We feel justified in conducting this poll as a fitting climax to the high school gridiron campaign.

Your comments or suggestions would be appreciated. You will note we set an arbitrary standard of giving three points for the first team pick and one for the second squad selection. It would be interesting to conduct a poll among the football fans and compare it with our coaches' poll.

Two of our Celery Fed grid heroes seem to be "above the" clouds for their respective positions. Ed "Grinding" Gordon appears a cinch for the fullback spot judging from the opponent coaches' selections as he grabbed the par for the course six points. The same holds true for the un-sung tackle Walter Routh. He too garnered full amount of six points.

If the poll were complete as of today this is the way the first and second teams would look on paper:

First Team	Second Team
Leaholt, Daytona 12	Leaholt, Daytona 12
Miller, Palatka 10	Miller, Palatka 10
Stark, Daytona 8	Stark, Daytona 8
Walker, Daytona 6	Walker, Daytona 6
Mathews, Palatka 6	Mathews, Palatka 6
Anderson, Daytona 6	Anderson, Daytona 6
Watson, St. Augustine 6	Watson, St. Augustine 6
McGregor, Orange 6	McGregor, Orange 6
Seixas, Daytona 6	Seixas, Daytona 6
Bergelin, Daytona 6	Bergelin, Daytona 6
McGregor, Orange 6	McGregor, Orange 6
Seixas, Daytona 6	Seixas, Daytona 6
Bergelin, Daytona 6	Bergelin, Daytona 6

These selections of course reflect in some measure the Ketterlinus of St. Augustine and Palatka coaches, who thus far are the only monitors reporting personal preference toward their own players but surprisingly not as much as one might expect. At any rate the daily results from other coaches will be very interesting to watch as they are reported on the Herald's sports pages everyday.

TAMPA-HRANDEIN
BOSTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Coach Benny Friedman and Brandeis University's 30-player football squad were scheduled to fly to Miami Beach early today for their Sunday game with University of Florida.

Friedman plans to drill his players at the Florida resort tomorrow and Saturday.

Two Sanford Men Nominated To All Conference Team

Herald Dream Team Takes Shape With First Returns In

By KENT CHETLAIN

The Florida East Coast Conference 1951 prep dream football team is taking shape following the initial returns from the first annual Sanford Herald's coaches' grid poll.

The Herald All Conference Football team is based on the nominations turned in by the eight league coaches with three points given for the top nomination and a single point for the second team choice.

Today's results came in from the two of the eight coaches in the conference, giving seven players unanimous first team nominations. Players receive three points for first team rating and one for second team ranking.

The seven unanimous nominees for the FEC Conference's first team were Sanford Seminoles' Ed Gordon, fullback, and Walter Routh, tackle. Others were as follows: Richard Leaholt, quarterback; Ed "Grinding" Gordon, fullback; Walter Routh, tackle; Ed "Grinding" Gordon, fullback; Walter Routh, tackle; Ed "Grinding" Gordon, fullback; Walter Routh, tackle.

The two reporting coaches were from Palatka and St. Augustine. They showed impartiality by naming at least one player from each of the eight schools in the conference. St. Augustine lead, however, with 12 players named to the poll. Next was Palatka with seven with Sanford and Gainesville following tied at six each. Stark and Daytona Beach placed five men on the list with Deland getting two and New Smyrna Beach getting one.

About 340 tons of meal and 42,000 gallons of oil were produced by-products of sealing operations on the Prilloff Islands in 1951.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The Eastern College Athletic Conference, which torpedoed the early code last winter to save the NCAA, is coming up with a much stricter proposal to cure the ills of college athletics. At least, the ECAC members will listen to Commissioner Asa Bushnell's seven-point program. One thing, Asa proposes enforcement by the college presidents under an "honor system". In this connection we'll just quote a gent who is closely connected with an ECAC college: "It's not quite fair to jump all over college presidents. Some of them don't know what is going on in their institutions; they depend on the dean or athletic director to keep them informed, and the reports of those men have not been complete." Asa's "students only and no pay" program sounds like the ideal of all colleges, but you can hear plenty of objections to it. If that's what they want, we can offer a one-point program that would be just as effective: Let each school decide exactly what it considers honest. If any appreciable number agree, that's so much the better. Then each individually would tell the ones that are obviously out of line with their ideals (and it's easy enough to learn about them): "We won't play you, chums, because we don't want to."

Reverse Enrich
Rudy Larvik, former football coach and athletic director at Arizona State and now director of physical education there, was talking to a Phoenix High School football squad. He fumbled around for the words to express just what he had in mind, then came out with this suggestion: "If any of you should get an athletic scholarship, I would advise that you cheat a little and get an education on the side."

Sportsmentation
When 48-year-old Moe Roberts of the Chicago Blackhawks assistant trainer, played a period in goal this season he became the oldest net-minder in National Hockey League history. Previously Lou Patrick's one-and-only appearance as goalie at the age of 44 had been the record. Three Yale basketball players, Dave Sears, Jack Klindel and Bill Roy, are pre-med students. If Red Klack hasn't seriously considered quitting the army football coaching job, he may begin now that the 1952 schedule is out. Trip to Los Angeles for Southern California and Atlanta for Georgia Tech don't make it any softer. Leo Sierra, Cuban-born horse trainer, had a whole stable of horses, including a jockey, flown to Tropical Park.

Sanford NAAS Wins Cage Opener With Orlando Five

By BOB ANTHONY

After trailing at the end of the first quarter the Naval Air Station Basketball team scored ahead to win its opening game over Orlando Junior College 50-35 at Orlando's Davis Army Air Club last night.

Harold Walker led the scoring for the Navy five as he wished the nets for a total of 22 points. The Bluejackets maintained complete control of the backboard as the team worked like a well-oiled machine. The navy men really moved ahead in the fourth period as every man on the squad got to play.

Joe North was second high point man for the Air Station quintet as he registered eight points. High scorer for the Orlando Junior College five was Ed Favre with 12 points while Bob Williams was a close second with 10 total of nine points.

Tomorrow night the navy team will travel to Tampa to battle with the powerful Tampa University squad.

Basketball Fix Scandals Bring Bribery Arrest
NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—A 44-year-old Altoona, Pa., shoe manufacturer and former race horse owner, Donato LaMont, who goes under the name of Daniel LaMont, was booked early today on a charge of bribery in the collegiate basketball scandals, which already have involved 31 former players from seven schools and at least seven other persons as fixers.

LaMont was arrested in Altoona yesterday and waived extradition. District Attorney Frank C. Hugon described the Pennsylvania as the "money man" behind the bribing of Harvey (Connie) Schaff, former New York University court star. Schaff is serving six months for taking $2,000 to hold down NYU's score in a Madison Square Garden game last Jan. 1. NYU won, 69-56.

LaMont denied to reporters when he arrived here that he ever had fixed basketball games, but William Sirignano, assistant district attorney, said LaMont had made "substantial admissions" regarding the NYU-Cornell game.

The shoe manufacturer was described by authorities as a wealthy ex-bookie and a race horse owner barred from New York tracks for gambling.

LaMont was refused an owners' license in 1948 by the Jockey Club (New York). At the time he was the owner of El Mono, long shot winner of two big stake races, including the Widener Handicap, at Hialeah Park.

More than 12,000,000 acres of land were treated by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service in 1950 for elimination of gophers and other rodents.

Shoeless Joe Jackson Dies Still Maintaining Innocence In Scandal

GREENVILLE, S. C., Dec. 4.—(AP)—"Shoeless Joe" Jackson, one of baseball's greatest hitters, died here last night still maintaining his innocence of any wrongdoing in the 1919 World Series scandal.

Jackson, 63, was one of eight Chicago White Sox players accused of accepting bribes to throw the series to the Cincinnati Reds. Jackson, who played the outfield and hit .375 in the series won by the Reds, five games to three, had been plagued by heart trouble in recent years.

Last night he went to bed at 9:30 and awakened shortly after complaining of chest pains. He died before help could be summoned.

After his banishment, Jackson returned here, citing his acquittal of conspiracy charges in a Chicago court as proof of his innocence. A civil court later awarded him the unexpired portion of his salary from the Chicago American.

In the 1920's Joe starred as a player and manager in semi-pro baseball at Waycross, Ga. when his baseball years ran out, Joe settled near his boyhood home here and kept in contact with textile and sandlot baseball.

He owned and operated a liquor store in this textile city but found time to help youngsters hoping to make the baseball big-time. Several years ago, a large following of fans who fervently believed in his innocence, staged a "Shoeless Joe Jackson" day and showered the old-timer with gifts and testimonials of their faith.

Things looked bright for Joe this year. Only a few months ago the South Carolina Legislature adopted a bill urging that Joe be reinstated in the good graces of organized baseball. Joe was to have appeared on a national television show in New York Dec. 16, but he died before the show.

Joe was born in the Brandon community adjoining this textile city on June 10, 1888. He broke into baseball with the Greenville club of the Carolina League with a smashing .346 average in 1908. Later he played with the Philadelphia Athletics and began a five-year stand with Cleveland in 1910. The Indians sold him to the White Sox late in the 1915 season for $10,000 and three players.

He had a lifetime major league average of .356 for 1,330 games and was regarded as one of the game's most natural hitters. In 1911 he hit .408 but lost the American League batting championship to Ty Cobb who hit .420.

The "Shoeless" tag was hung on him thanks to a story that he once played the outfield without shoes in the minors because of a sore heel.

District Attorney Sent From Court For Threatening

Newsman Testifies In Trial Growing Out Of Gambling Fight

LAKE CHARLES, La., Dec. 6.—District Attorney Griffin T. Hawkins was ordered out of the court room here today for threatening Kenneth L. Dixon, newsman on trial for allegedly defaming Hawkins and other public officials during an anti-gambling crusade.

Dixon testifies in his own behalf had just said from the witness stand:

"I believe the people of this parish knew that at the time of the alleged defamation and know now what kind of officers the district attorney and sheriff were and are."

Hawkins, who yielded the prosecution to assistant Louisiana Attorney General M. E. Culligan of New Orleans because Hawkins was one of the persons allegedly named, strode from the side of the court room where he had been listening to the testimony to the judge's bench.

Hawkins, speaking in tones that could not be heard in the rest of the court room, talked excitedly to the judge and pumped his fist at Dixon, who watched it all from the witness stand.

Hawkins then turned and started out the court room, changed his mind, and walked back toward Dixon on the witness stand.

"I told you to leave the court room, Mr. Hawkins," Judge J. Bernard Cocks said.

Dixon was testifying about the editorial and column he wrote leading to his indictment.

"We don't understand the action of Mr. Hawkins threatening the witness," defense attorney Clement Moss told the judge.

Judge Cocks did not reply.

Hawkins grimaced as he stared at Dixon shaking his fist. It was impossible to hear all of the conversation between Hawkins and the judge.

Moments after the disturbance Judge Cocks recessed the court session for lunch. Hawkins who had been in the corridor outside the court room charged back into the court room and up to Dixon who had just left the witness stand.

After Hawkins spoke a few words audible only to Dixon, deputy sheriffs took Hawkins by each arm and led him out of the court room.

Dixon, a former Associated Press war correspondent, is on trial for the alleged defamation of a district attorney, an assistant district attorney, and the 13 members of the parish police jury (county governing body).

Earlier, Sheriff Henry A. Reid, one of the officials allegedly in-line should there be a third World War.

Attlee protested that it was never suggested that the U. S. air bases here should be used for delivering atom bombs to Russia. But Churchill snapped back:

"That is the impression which, however mistakenly, they seem to have derived."

Attlee cautioned Churchill to be careful on this, adding "we had conversations and the Americans have no illusions whatever as regards our position in this matter."

Churchill took up the matter of a European army—a sore point in relations between the U. S., France and Britain. The Prime

Stepinac Release Is No Help, Says Vatican's Paper

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 6.—L'Osservatore Romano, the Vatican newspaper, said today the conditional release of Mgr. Alojzije Stepinac from jail does not "alter the sorrowful situation" of the Catholic church in Yugoslavia.

"This," it said, "unfortunately remains."

The newspaper declared Yugoslav authorities assumed a right that is "not their's nor of any other state" by referring to Stepinac as the "former Archbishop of Zagreb."

L'Osservatore said that survival of Stepinac in a parish house would be easier on him than being in jail. But, it added, "There can be no talk of liberation, and even less of rehabilitation."

In the past Vatican sources have said that the Vatican wished Stepinac's release to be without conditions and with his reinstatement.

Minister said Britons "must be agreed that there should be a European army and that Germany must take an honorable place in it." But he added:

"So far as Britain is concerned, we do not propose to merge into the European army. But we are already joined to it and we shall do our best to make a worthy contribution to the deterrents against aggression."

Philippine Volcano Erupts Fourth Time

MANILA, Friday, Dec. 7.—Raging Hibok Hibok volcano spewed out a new rain of fiery ashes late Thursday in its fourth major blast in three days. Additional casualties were feared.

Official reports from the terror-stricken little south Philippines island of Camiguin said Philippine Naval Patrol Boats moved close ashore Thursday night to pick up survivors at Mambajao on the northern coast.

The latest eruption from the fiery mile-high inferno was reported to have occurred at 4 P. M., Thursday (3 A. M., Thursday, EST).

Some 200 persons, mainly Chinese storekeepers and their families, and Philippine Army troops, had remained in Mambajao.

Dispatches from the Philippines News Service and Manila Times correspondents on the 13-mile-long island said the latest eruption apparently came from a new vent on the northern slope. The new vent was opened Tuesday night.

The Philippine News Service report indicated there were deaths and injuries among those who had remained in Mambajao.

in his Archbishopric.

Mgr. Stepinac himself, in an interview to newspaper correspondents at his native village of Krasic, to which he has been confined, today firmly indicated he had not accepted the Yugoslav action.

Formosa Is Rocked By 20 Earthquakes

TAIPEI, Formosa, Dec. 6.—Twenty earthquakes terrified residents of southeastern Formosa yesterday and snapped bridges like match sticks, reports reaching Taipei today said.

Stretches of railroad track near Taitung were twisted out of shape. Heavy property damage was reported, but few people were hurt.

A long series of recent quakes had forewarned them. The shocks centered on Taitung.

Three of Wednesday's quakes were strong. Reports said Taitung's biggest building shook like jelly. It is a branch of the Han of Taiwan (Formosa). People fled, screaming in horror.

The earth quivered so violently, "that people could hardly keep on their feet."

The first big shock occurred in the morning. The two heaviest came in the afternoon in quick succession—at 2:58 and 3:09.

The 2:58 shock was classed as powerful, the strongest type of earthquake on the scale used by Formosa seismologists.

Cotton Pests Thrive, Boll Weevil Stopped

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Cotton bolls in many of the Boll Weevil belt are in check by strong opposition this year. But other cotton pests thrive.

That was the general opinion of some 400 planters and entomologists who met in Memphis today for the 15th annual cotton insect control conference here today.

Weevil control in 1951 was featured at less than that recorded in either of the two previous years. But bollworm, Pink Boll Worm, aphids, thrips and several other pests caused serious losses.

Recommendations of various chemicals for pest control ended the two-day convention, sponsored by the National Cotton Council.

A new chemical, heptachlor, was favored for weevils and, mixed with other poison, for other pests as well. Other chemicals recommended in the weevil fight, however, came hexachlorocyclopentadiene, heptachlor, dieldrin or dieldrin.

DDT was listed as the best chemical to fight bollworms, with heptachlor, dieldrin and dieldrin recommended as the best poison against pink boll worms.

The conference stressed the importance of care in handling the highly toxic poisons now being used in pest control. It stated that farmers be trained in their use, where possible.

short of the normal 100 required for rotation. Marshall had 23 planes in only 24 missions, far missions and Creighton 58.

The three squadron leaders are not complaining because they can't go home.

Davis is the hottest pilot in the Far East.

Asked if he has any goal, the Texan told a news conference:

"Well, I'd like to get them all!"

Marshall is lean, serious and balding at 32. His squadron mates call him "Homes." He is the only one of the three without World War Two combat experience. He regrettably rode out the war as a fighter pilot in Panama.

He's making up for it now.

"More MIGs than we've ever seen before keep coming down every day," he said, "and they're better than ever before."

The Sabre is still a match for the MIG, he added, "but we use a better engine that would make a lot of difference up there. When things get hot for the MIGs they just pull their nose up and take off."

He attributes the MIG's speed to a lighter airframe, plus the fact that they are flying close to home and carry less fuel.

"That really makes a difference in turn radius," he said. "But we just don't let them get in a situation like that. We won't use their tactics and we won't get in a turn with them."

"We always seem to be the aggressors. The first time I had a flight there were 12 of us and 60 MIGs. We just piled into them."

"It just seems to be the American way of doing it—just pile in like that."

"That seems to upset them. Sometimes they go everywhere."

Atomic Bomb Type B-36s Back After Non-Stop Flight

PORT WORTH, Tex., Dec. 4.—Six Strategic Air Command B-36 bombers—the kind that could carry an atomic bomb 10,000 miles and more—returned today from an historic training flight to Africa.

They landed at one of the brand-new American air force bases. It is one of several super-secret air fields being built around the world for global defense.

Major L. A. Proulx, intelligence officer of Southbridge, Mass., said it was the first time flights other than local ones had landed at the 81st Strategic Air Force Base, Morocco, field.

Crewmen shrugged off the actual flying as routine.

The planes flew non-stop to Africa and non-stop on their return to their home field. Each well Air Force Base here. Distance one-way is 4,284 miles.

The first giant 10-engine bomber touched down at Casablanca at 12:47 A. M. (EST). The planes took off from Africa at approximately midnight, Tuesday.

It was the second flight across the Atlantic for B-36s. The first was to England Jan. 12. They returned Jan. 21.

Crew members for the first time had an opportunity to try out on a Trans-German flight the galley, a modification of the B-36. It has an electric stove.

Blues In The News

By RALPH GASSMAN

The Naval Auxiliary Air Station has been undergoing an Administration Inspection by the Commanding Sixth Naval District, Inspecting Party. C. W. Roland is the District Inspector General. Capt. Roland and his party landed at Sanford Tuesday morning to begin the inspection of material and records kept at the Air Station.

This Administration Inspection is an annual inspection held in all Naval Districts.

Prior to the inspection all hands were kept busy putting the finishing touches on records and files in an attempt for the Station to receive a 4.0, the highest naval grade given. As the inspection drew to a close yesterday, the crew breathed with relief, but kept their fingers crossed in hopes for a high mark.

Chief Howard Haynes returned to NAAS yesterday morning from Glynn Springs, Ga., where he has been putting in some flight time in blimps. Chief Haynes is the man that is in charge of blimp landings at Sanford.

Today Chief Haynes is "ship-pling over" in the Navy his career. With 18 years of active service behind him, Chief Haynes feels that he can't go wrong by making the Navy his career.

Chief Haynes has been almost all over the world serving on many ships and shore stations. As a chief, Haynes has held five different jobs and now is Chief Photographer's Mate. During World War II, Chief Haynes was a Lieutenant Junior Grade and was active on submarine patrol as a blimp pilot.

Chief and Mrs. Haynes make their home in Orange City.

A new "weather guesser" has reported aboard NAAS. Bob Stiff reported in several days ago from the U. S. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Fred Peterson, a photographer on duty with NAAS from Attack Squadron 35, went on ten days leave last Friday. Fred traveled all the way to the big city, New York, and will return to Sanford on Dec. 11.

Buddy Mock reported in to NAAS Monday from leave. Buddy's leave was very eventful for he returned with a wife. He and Faye Johnson of Sanford were married Nov. 26 at the First Baptist Church. Faye and Buddy spent their honeymoon at Daytona Beach. The Mocks are now at home at 1005 Bayville Avenue.

Basketball seems to be the king of sports at the Air Station. Recently two basketball courts were built between the crew's barracks. Now every day at noon during show and after school at 4:00 P. M., a large crowd of sailors turn out for a game of ball or just to try for a few practice shots at the basket.

Besides basketball courts, several volleyball courts have been laid out and several teams of volleyball players have developed. Of course, the old favorite, football, is still around and almost every afternoon a game of football is being played at the field.

McCarthy Accuses His Ouster Group Of Wasting Money

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) today accused a senate elections subcommittee of spending tens of thousands of dollars without authority on a probe of whether there are grounds to oust him from Congress.

In a letter to Senator Gillette (D-Iowa), the subcommittee chairman, McCarthy said the group has no jurisdiction to conduct the investigation of demands by Senator Benton (D-Conn.) which has been under way for several weeks.

"The obvious purpose is to dig up campaign material for the Democrat party for the coming campaign against McCarthy," the Wisconsin Republican declared. McCarthy is running for reelection next year.

"When your elections subcommittee, without Senate authorization, spends tens of thousands of taxpayers' dollars for the sole purpose of digging up campaign material against McCarthy, then the committee is guilty of misfeasance just as clearly as though the members engaged in picking the pockets of the taxpayers and turning the loot over to the Democrat National Committee," McCarthy said.

Gillette told reporters he would have no immediate comment on the McCarthy letter. Gillette said he probably would acknowledge it later and would make the reply public.

Yugoslavia Raps Russia For Faking

LONDON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Yugoslavia accused Russia today of faking a spy letter to bolster its charges that a U. S. Air Force plane forced down in Hungary by Soviet fighters was to be used for dropping saboteurs on Communist nations.

Borba, organ of the Yugoslav Communist party, said the letter was sent personally to the Yugoslav Minister of the Interior from the Hungarian town of Zalabar.

Written in Hungarian on paper from a school copybook, the letter arrived by regular post without delay and the customary censorship, Borba said. It quoted the letter as follows:

"Center 20 XI. We need 10 automatic rifles. We received set at specified spot where dropped by plane. Saboteurs in charge. Soviets are taking everything out of country. I shall cross again on first day Christmas, and will return only with you. Machine station has become ours. Tomas Mikhtomal in woods headquarters. Other news carried by courier."

The Borba story, distributed here by the Yugoslav News Agency Tanjug, described the letter as "an awkward and cheap comminor provocation." The comminor is the propaganda organization of Russia and its East European satellites.

Every time you use an aluminum saucepan you should clean it thoroughly with a steel wool pad, then with soap and water. This scouring is necessary because any particles of food left on the surface of the saucepan may cause a tiny pit mark.

the act, which they charge as set out in finance anti-Communist underground movements inside their borders.)

The White Book apparently had gone in press before the latest incident, in which Russian fighter planes forced down a U. S. transport plane inside Hungary on Nov. 19. The plane and its crew of four are being held by Hungarian authorities. Hungary charges that the plane—flying from Germany to Belgrade, Yugoslavia—was to be used for aiding saboteurs and spies in this country. The U. S., denying these charges, has demanded the immediate return of the plane and the crew.

The White Book said America's "hostile deeds" were manifested in "offensive statements by officials (U. S.) persons, spreading false rumors, organizing networks of spies and saboteurs, economic discrimination, support of various Hungarian Fascist complexes, and encouragement of military organizations (made up) of the most obstinate enemies of Hungary abroad."

Roy Patience Is Back On Florida Payroll At $400

TALLAHASSEE, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Roy Patience of Crescent City, member of the five-man Racing Commission whose reappointment of the 1951 Senate refused to confirm, is back on the state payroll at $400 a month.

Patience was hired Dec. 1 as an inspector by the State Approval Agency for private schools on the recommendation of C. L. Clark, administrative assistant to Governor Warren. The agency, which supervises private schools participating in the Federal Veterans' Training Program, operates under the Governor's office.

Clark said he recommended Patience to the agency "and a couple of others because he is a good, capable man."

Patience is one of five persons employed by the agency. Taylor has an assistant and a secretary in his office here and there is

Airport Funds Are Threatened By CAA

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Administration (CAA) has indicated that federal aid funds for the Houston, Tex., municipal airport may be cut off unless improved seating facilities are provided for Negro passengers.

This was disclosed yesterday. A complaint of racial discrimination at the airport had been filed with the CAA by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

The CAA called on Houston officials to provide Negro travelers at the airport with eating facilities as suitable as those now available for white passengers.

Officials of the federal agency said this carried with it at least an implied threat of denying further federal aid if city authorities fail to comply.

To date, they said, the Houston airport has received more than $1,700,000 in federal funds under the Federal Airport Act and an additional $163,070 has been earmarked for the current year.

prohibition as the Attorney General has attempted to infect into it. The Legislature never intended that the great party of Jefferson and Jackson should be hamstringing its honorable and legitimate function of raising funds to promote the welfare of the people by any such narrow-minded interpretation of the laws of this state as the Attorney General has made in this instance.

Hungary Issues "White Book" On U. S. Opposition

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Hungary issued a 323-page "White Book" today charging the United States with 137 hostile acts against the Hungarian (Communist) regime since 1947. A foreign ministry spokesman said the document was forwarded to the United Nations.

The book, titled "On the Hostile Activity of the U. S. Government Against the Hungarian Peoples Republic," accused the U. S. of aiming to overthrow the "freely elected Democratic regime of the Hungarian people" and of preparing for a new war.

A chronological time table listed 137 cases starting early in 1947 when, it said, the American element of the Allied Control Commission attempted to defend certain smaller party members who had been accused of conspiracy.

The last item in the book is the recent Hungarian protest in the U. S. against the $100,000,000 mutual security act.

Something Special Reveals Christmas In Every Place

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—The every community across America something particular happens to put a flame to the Christmas spirit.

In Manhattan it is the annual erection of the great Norway spruce gathered at great expense and put up with prodigious effort by the merry little elves of Radio City.

It takes about a week for the elves to finish hanging the lights on the tree and check the insurance liability of any late waverer who might accidentally short circuit his posterity by wandering through it.

But these are Squire Rockefeller's problems. The first view of his big fat green tree on the horizon means Christmas just as much to the big city as the first robin bingles in spring.

Right now the white star of hope is riding high on the tree and the electricians are betting each other overtime pay that the whole blamed thing will be lit up well before Santa Claus takes the place of Hopalong Cassidy.

Oh, but once that tree shows up the midtown people let go. They begin to believe in green boughs . . . Good will to man . . . Peace on earth . . . and buy-what-you-want-and-you-don't-have-to-pay-until-February.

It stirs the masses to vying and buying. It drenches the thing in the classes. The benison of Christmas cheer reaches to all.

There is a gladness about it to most, a high-jump of the spirit. But there is also a sadness about it to many.

For some men look down from their tall towers at the Christmas tree. And it reminds them they have to start planning for the Next Year.

"I guess we'd better make Fromm's McJammla a vice president," muses a man looking down on the tree. "And that means we'll have to retire old Job O'Steady. Hell, business is business—and you can't please everybody."

He feels bad about it, but that's the way it has to be. He has to do his job as he sees it. Moodily he watches the Christmas tree going up—and he wonders if someday it will signal his own farewell.

There has to be a signal for the end of one year and the birth of a new year coming up. It is this signal that is the raising of a tree than the lowering of a tree.

But every year when they raise the Rockefeller Tree in Radio City I wish it could be postponed for another day . . . a week . . . a month.

It is lovely to see a shining thing of green and lights against the stark white concrete jungle of Manhattan. But I always think of those who look out and admire its splendor . . . And then are called in and told their day is over.

They go out and look at the tree again. It is just as fair as before. They can see the twinkle of its Christmas promise—but for them there is no new year glitter of hope among its branches.

They come out of the solid skyscrapers and walk beneath the singing laughs of the tree and go to their homes. And when another great tree is raised next Christmas, they do not pass that way again or see it.

'73-No Survivors' Is Old Lady's Will

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 6—(AP)—This is the way police said it happened:

An elderly woman with a cultured southern accent went in the travelers aid desk in the Union Station here and asked for directions to Savannah's best hotel. She apparently had arrived on a train from the north.

She wore an inexpensive black coat and hat, and her cotton stockings were twisted.

The Aravalera said, suggested a less expensive hotel, but the woman insisted on the best.

"I might spend the winter in Savannah," she said.

Soon afterwards she registered at one of Savannah's leading hotels. The name she gave was Amelia Samuels; her address, Shelton, Mass. Her only luggage was a small black bag.

Before she went to her room she deposited a little more than $100 with the clerk.

A day passed.

Monday afternoon her body was found in her room. There was a brief note nearby:

"'73—no survivors. The money which I have will pay the hotel bill and the funeral expenses."

Dr. Harold Smith, coroner for Chatham county, said last night the death was a suicide. An overdose of sedatives, perhaps.

He made the customary check. Shelton, Mass., is not listed in the U. S. Postal Guide. A specialties case had only the one word "Syracuse" for a clue.

Dr. Smith examined the small black bag. In it he found a dress without a label, needles and thread, a pocket knife, and a paring knife.

Today, the body of the little old woman who had a cultured

Fun In Sanford When Santa Came To Town

Thousands of joyous children, and adults too, greeted Santa Claus when he came to town last Wednesday to appear (upper center) in the big Christmas parade sponsored by the Sanford Merchants Association, and directed by the Jaycees. Kids enjoyed riding the Ferris Wheel, upper right, and a merry-go-round, upper left. Among those who participated in the parade, lower left to right, were Judy Zittower, riding on the Christmas Seal float; Margaret Jones in cowgirl regalia; Ronald Ruff, marching with baton; Pat Smith, as Cinderella with Terry Collins and Prince Charming; Eugene Six, at lower right, tending to what his pet monkey, on his shoulder, is saying.

Dead Man's Letter Solves Court Case

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6—(AP)—A letter written by a man now dead helped a judge determine custody of his six-year-old son.

The letter was written by Maj. George H. Walsh two years before he and his wife were lost on a flight over the British Guiana jungles in 1948.

It was presented as evidence yesterday when Mrs. Hertha Walsh, 55, petitioned for guardianship of her grandson, Michael Walsh, 6. She said Walsh had always wanted his son brought up in the Catholic faith, but that Mrs. Edith Jaeger, the maternal grandmother, was rearing him as a Lutheran.

The letter, addressed to Walsh's mother after a visit to the Pacific, stated:

"I have come to the conclusion that it is foolish to argue about politics, religion or race. That is what makes America. Everybody has his particular idea and when you put them all together you get the melting pot of the world. It is a combination no nation can beat. I realize that when I looked at the Marine graves markers on Iwo Jima. When it came voice, and were twisted cotton stockings and said she wanted the 'beat,' less unidentified in a funeral home here.

FEPC Is Target For Blasts By Senators

JACKSON, Miss., Dec. 6—(AP)—Two Mississippi congressmen blasted President Truman's action in setting up a Fair Employment Practices Committee for defense industries.

The two Democrats are Rep. John Bell Williams, who called Mr. Truman "power mad," and Rep. Frank Smith, who said the only way to stop the threat of upsetting the balance of power between legislative, administrative and judicial branches is to "get a new executive."

Both issued strong statements against the committee and Mr. Truman Tuesday.

Williams said, "If we sit idly by and submit to this kind of dictatorial usurpation of Congress' legitimate prerogatives by a power-mad president, we may well forfeit our heritage of free and representative government."

He said the FEPC order would promote discord in defense industries, encourage the Communist Party and rekindle the flames of racial hatred.

"The President," he said, "has fired another gun in his war against the South and Mississippi in particular. This has been the Stripper An Art BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Dec. 6—(AP)—Time was when you could turn up your coat collar, duck into a main street burlesque house, and watch Lili St. Cyr shake her clothes for 85 cents.

Later, after she moved to a plush night spot on Sunset Boulevard, the tab assumed the proportions of a $20 bill. There was no cover charge, because what could you say was covered? But food and drink come high where the lights and the music are low.

Lili's next public performance, however, is going to be free.

The jury trying Miss St. Cyr on charges of staging an indecent performance Oct. 23 was informed by her attorney yesterday that she will repeat her show in the courtroom. The idea, he said, would be to prove that when Lili strips to the buff, it isn't rough stuff, it's art.

PRETTY DETECTIVE DIES CLEAR CITY, Calif., Dec. 6—(AP)—A young and pretty private detective who specialized in Hollywood cases is dead under mysterious circumstances.

Mrs. Shirley Fawcett Kivlin, 21, died in her home here Monday night. An autopsy was conducted Tuesday but further tests will have to be made before the cause of death can be determined.

She collapsed Monday night while in Long Beach discussing a case with her boss, C. N. Deuler, operator of a private investigation firm. He said she began "acting strangely" and he drove her home.

Mrs. Kivlin was divorced a year ago and was estranged of a 2-year-old daughter.

Immunization In State Paying Off In Fewer Diseases

JACKSONVILLE, Dec. 6—(AP)—Florida's immunization programs are paying big dividends, the state board of health said today.

Dr. Wilson T. Sowder, public health officer, said the programs are contributing to Florida's welfare by preventing diseases and saving lives.

In a report here, Dr. Sowder said private physicians are playing a significant role by "making mothers immunize their children with the result that more babies and children are receiving this protection early in life."

However, the report said, one dark spot on Florida's health picture is whooping cough.

The report said 823 cases including 21 deaths have been reported so far this year.

It said immunization for whooping cough has been developed within the past few years but "interest lags."

Other features of the report. Small pox, which in the past caused many deaths, has become a medical rarity in Florida. The last reported death was in 1943 and the last reported case in 1944.

Immunization is still considered necessary to prevent recurrence of the disease. County health departments last year made 48,894 injections against small pox. And many more persons were immunized by private physicians.

Typhoid immunizations have jumped from 52,926 in 1945 to 116,146 in 1950. Deaths dropped from 14 in 1945 to one in 1951.

For diphtheria, only eight deaths were reported in 1950 compared to 30 deaths in 1945. Diphtheria immunizations rose from 29,579 in 1945 to 58,256 in 1950.

For tetanus, immunization jumped from 52,156 in 1949 to 69,937 in 1950. Deaths have declined sharply from 53 in 1945 to 35 in 1950.

ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY OKINAWA, Dec. 6—(AP) Gen. Robert Beightler, who was proposed as a U. S. presidential candidate without his consent, said yesterday "I am sure that neither Senator Taft nor President Truman is quaking in his boots."

Beightler's name was put in the running by J. Radloff Yearwood of Georgia and Florida. In a press release Saturday, Yearwood said friends of the general had asked him to manage Beightler's campaign.

The general said "The proposal is too fantastic to merit comment from me. However, suffice it to say 'I do not choose to run.'"

The boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Chafin, had a lot of presents under the tree, waiting to be opened. Everything he ever mentioned that he wanted was there, including a guitar he will never play and a toy tractor he will never ride.

There wasn't anything under the tree for Mr. and Mrs. Chafin. There's only one thing they really want this year, and so far it hasn't arrived. If it does, it will be a miracle.

Russians Race Against Time To Develop All-Weather Interceptors

By ELTON C. FAY
Associated Press Military Affairs Reporter
WASHINGTON, Dec. 5—(AP)—The Russians, with an eye on the growing capability of American long-range bombers to strike in darkness or storm at high altitudes, are hastening to get all-weather interceptor planes into the Soviet air defense system.

This was pointed up today in information contained in the newly published edition of Jane's "All the World's Aircraft," a privately published manual on planes. It probably is the first really successful Soviet jet bomber. The publication believes this plane is designated as the TU-10, designed by Andrei Topolev, who also copied the American B-29 to produce what the Russians call the TU-4 strategic bomber.

The TU-10, as described by Jane's, appears to be a light bomber. Significantly, it is reported to have been put into service by the Soviet Air Force in Eastern Germany. The function of a light bomber is to support ground troops by close-up bombing or attacks on rail and highway supply routes of enemy ground forces.

The TU-10, Jane's believes, "is heavily armed, especially in the nose and tail, and is thought to have radar." (Radar in this type of plane would be for the primary purpose of locating ground targets such as bridges, tanks, supply dumps, with perhaps other radar gear to detect approaching hostile fighters.)

The publication discusses the TU-15, widely used in the Korean war against United Nations fighters and medium bombers. It also comments that in the Soviet aviation day show at Tushino last July five new swept-wing, jet fighters were demonstrated.

Russia allowed only certain of her satellites to have anything resembling a modern air force, apparently choosing to keep tight control on this highly mobile and hard-hitting arm of military strength, a study of Jane's indicates.

Particular care seems to be taken by Moscow in the instance of the Balkan satellites, an area of the Communist empire from which there was serious defection when Yugoslavia announced her autonomy.

Poland, Jane's says, is permitted the same size force as Bulgaria. On the other hand, Poland and Czechoslovakia appear to fare better, although Jane's does not estimate the size of their air forces.

The Polish air force, the book says, is organized similarly to the Soviet air force; all first-line planes are of Russian origin and many of the senior appointments in the Polish air force are held by Russian officers.

The Czechoslovakian air force went through a major reorganization after the Communists seized power in 1948, with purges in the senior command. The set-up now appears to be an air force of several corps, the corps constituted of air divisions made up of air regiments.

Jane's states there are fighter, bomber and reconnaissance regiments, with major emphasis on air support of ground forces in the field. A "number" of paratrooper regiments also are reported. The Soviet Union's own air force is composed of three major units:

1. A support force (the largest of the three) directly under army command, whose planes include ground assault, light bombers, reconnaissance and interceptor fighters.

2. A home defense force for protection of military centers and big cities. In addition to jet fighters and all-weather jet fighters, this force operates anti-aircraft units.

3. The strategic bomber force (like the home defense force an independent organization). Jane's says it uses the "multi-engine heavy bombers, such as the TU-4."

In addition to these organizations, Soviet air power includes gliders, transport planes and parachute troop carriers, attached to the army and deployed in the field as situations require.

CANCER VICTIM DIES
SPRINGFIELD, O., Dec. 5—(AP)—Eight-year-old Kathleen Gaines, who celebrated her Christmas on Nov. 19, died late last night in Mercy hospital.

A cancer of the brain had afflicted Kathleen for nine months, gradually taking her sight and hearing.

She had a Christmas party with a tree and gifts on Nov. 16, and had received messages of cheer from all parts of the country and from Korea. Among them were telegrams from Dr. Ralph Bunche of the United Nations and columnist Walter Winchell.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gaines.

Three Arkansas Communities Have Disappeared, Says Census Bureau

By HARLEY PERSHING
KELSO, Ark., Dec. 6—(AP)—In its 1950 enumeration, the U. S. Census Bureau listed three Arkansas communities as having dropped from a populated place to no inhabitants since 1940. In other words, they were ghost towns.

It just ain't so, say folks residing in two of the zero-bracket places—Kelso and Rhower, in DeSha county, in the Southeast delta cotton country. They are six miles apart.

There are 35 or more residents in Kelso and 50 to 60 in Rhower. The census bureau was correct in listing Grayson in Clark county as a ghost town. In 1940, it had two inhabitants. In last year's nose-count, it didn't have a soul. Grayson, former sawmill town, is in Central Arkansas.

The bureau also was correct in listing Douglas, Ark., with a population of one and making it the smallest populated place in the nation.

There has been a slight change in the size of South Bend, Ark., since the census taker visited that Arkansas river hamlet last year. Instead of two residents, it now has nine. This came about when Ben Price and his wife moved out and D. N. Wood, his wife, six children and a daughter-in-law moved in.

South Bend and Douglas are in Lincoln county, which adjoins DeSha county on the west.

In 1940, the official populations of Kelso, Rhower, Douglas, Grayson and South Bend were, respectively: 27, 142, 4, 2 and one.

How did the mixup on Kelso occur? This is one theory: Kelso has no postoffice. Mail is delivered out of the Watson, Ark., postoffice. When the federal enumerator came around, the Kelso residents gave their postoffice as Watson.

No explanation has been offered on how Rhower was classified as non-existent. Unlike Kelso, Rhower has a postoffice and during World War II it was the site of a Japanese relocation camp.

Both Kelso and Rhower were incorporated in 1913. Each place has a cotton gin and two or three general stores. Rhower is 12 miles northeast of McGehee, southeast Arkansas railroad center.

Grayson was incorporated in 1907 when Grayson Lumber Company began operations there. In its heyday, it boasted a population of 500 and 100 business houses and dwellings. Today, weeds and underbrush have overrun the town site. Grayson began fading away when the lumber company closed its doors in 1933.

South Bend once had 100 inhabitants. That was before the disastrous Arkansas river flood of 1927, when the village virtually was washed away. It wasn't rebuilt and folks just didn't return.

Douglas is five miles north of South Bend. It had two stores when it was incorporated in 1898 and soon developed into a short-lived thriving rural cross-roads.

In 1905, the State started buying land around Douglas for Cummins State Prison Farm. Folks

FAMILY DOCTOR OF 151 LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6—(AP)—After virtually half a century of practicing in the same town, Dr. Albert C. Yoder of Goshen, Ind., has been named America's "Family Doctor of the Year."

The award was announced yesterday at a meeting of American Medical Association. Dr. Yoder, 84, started answering medical calls in Goshen on a bicycle in 1902 and still handles a large practice.

Four and a half years ago a doctor more than 20 years his junior declined to take the case of five auto crash victims brought into the Goshen hospital late at night.

"You'll have to call someone younger. I'm too tired," that doctor explained. The physician who answered the call was Dr. Yoder.

Dr. Yoder, who will celebrate his 57th wedding anniversary Christmas day, has four children.

KILLED ENTERING CAR CHICAGO, Dec. 6—(AP)—Domingo Di Liberto, 21, was shot and killed Tuesday night by a police detective who thought he was attempting to steal an automobile.

But, police said, the auto which Di Liberto was about to enter was his own.

Detective Raymond Harming said he fired at Di Liberto, an apprentice printer, when the youth attempted to grab his pistol. Di Liberto shot behind the left ear, was dead upon arrival at a hospital.

Harming said he and his partner, Charles Walsh, had watched Di Liberto looking at cars in a theater parking lot at 80th and Halsted Streets for a half hour.

The shooting occurred a few blocks away where Di Liberto had parked his car. The detectives said they attempted to question him when he appeared unable to open the car.

Par-sealing on the Pribilof Islands netted the U. S. Treasury $1,593,277 in the 1950 fiscal year.

Terminal Bond Issue Fails To Win In Court

Decision Hinged On Pledging Of Parking Meter Revenue; Other Rulings Made

TALLAHASSEE, Dec. 7.—(AP)—The Florida Supreme Court today declined to approve a $350,000 bond issue proposed by the City of Sanford to build port terminal facilities.

The opinion, by Justice B. K. Roberts, said the City should not have pledged parking meter revenue for helping to retire the bonds because the port would have nothing to do with traffic control.

He pointed to a 1940 Sanford ordinance under which parking meters were installed in the city to control traffic. The ordinance provided income from the meters should be used to operate, supervise and replace them.

The court said it only disapproved the bond provisions pledging parking meter revenue for their retirement. It made no ruling on whether the whole bond issue was invalidated by the parking meter sections.

The decision reversed the Seminole County circuit court which was directed to reconsider the case.

The Supreme Court also overruled an injunction that was holding up a recall election in an election in Daytona Beach.

The court said Lancaster had waived his right to question sufficiency of the grounds for his ouster by publicly consenting to the recall election.

The recall election was set for Oct. 1 but was held up on a temporary injunction granted by Circuit Judge Herbert H. Freese.

The order was reversed by the Supreme Court today.

Another action today the Supreme Court reversed itself to return to Edna O'Hara of Orlando her license as a reactor. (Continued on Page Eight)

November's Sales At Farm Market Reach New High

November sales of fruits and vegetables at the Sanford Farmers Market hit a new high mark of $478,764, an increase of 31,140 units, and a valuation gain of $208,526 over November, 1950. It was announced today by Samly Anderson, market manager.

The leading commodities of Florida produce sold at the market during November were beans, celery, cucumbers, grapefruit, oranges and tangerines.

Prices realized on practically all produce were considerably higher than during November, 1950, and on some commodities, such as cabbage, cucumbers, eggplant, romaine, yellow squash and watermelons were doubled, said Mr. Anderson.

He pointed out, however, that prices received for citrus were less than November, 1950. The demand for all produce has exceeded local supplies.

The first local supplies of iceberg lettuce and cabbage are now on sale at the market, and the quality and prices received are reported to be very satisfactory.

The bean deal was very active during November, and the average price received was $4.18 per bushel hamper. With 57,070 hampers sold, the total realized was $238,800.

Cucumbers averaged $5.12 a bushel and brought $88,150. Grapefruit at a $2.44 average totalled $35,309 in sales. Tangerines brought $3.75 a box for a total of $24,075.

Out of state cabbage brought $3.75 per 50 pound sack to bring $18,742, while local cabbage at $2.05 average brought 1,350 total sales of out of state products totalled $28,204.

TRUCK ACCIDENT

WILKINSON, Fla., Dec. 7.—(AP)—Gordon M. Epperson, 41-year-old resident and member of a pioneer local family, died today of injuries when his car was crushed beneath the wheels of a loaded gasoline truck.

Epperson, about 60 years old, and a former major league baseball pitcher, was taken to the Alachua general hospital in Gainesville where he died in the emergency room. It was reported that the truck apparently rolled over his chest.

RED BAN

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(AP)—The city board of education has voted unanimously to disband teachers found to be members of the Communist Party or any other subversive group.

The action was taken yesterday at a session at which opponents of the ban protested angrily.

Ex-Capone Lawyer Cites 'Clique'

Fitts Appoints Sub-Committees To Study Port

Groups Will Seek To Obtain City Lease And Road Rights

The Port Terminal Investigating committee, under the chairmanship of Albert Fitts, took positive steps last night toward finding out the possibilities of erecting a dock and warehouse in Sanford by appointing four sub-committees at a meeting at the Yacht Club.

G. W. Stines was named to head a committee to ask the City Commission to obtain a 99-year lease on the 20-acre plot of land on Lake terminal where the original 1940 terminal was to be constructed.

Valle Williams, Sr. and Harry Fooks were appointed to handle the second major obstacle confronting the project, that of obtaining the right-of-way over State route 17-32 from the State Highway Department.

Mr. Williams explained that preliminary investigation by his son, Ren. Williams, revealed that the Road Department didn't know anything about a permit in 1940 giving the City commission the right-of-way on route 17-32 for a terminal.

Mr. Williams pointed out that the 1940 agreement with the Road Department hinged on whether the City approved the project and whether such action were taken before the end of the year (1946).

Mr. Williams voiced optimism, however, in the present group's ability to obtain the right-of-way.

H. B. Pope, Henry Simpson and W. G. Miller were next appointed to investigate the site, type and cost of erecting a warehouse and dock. This committee's action will commence work following the work of Mr. Spencer's and Mr. Williams' groups.

Mr. Pope volunteered to get an engineer to draw the plans if and when the terminal project reaches this stage from Arthur Simpson in Jacksonville.

The final committee was set up by Mr. Fitts following a lengthy discussion on the type of freight traffic and transportation affiliations to be made. Mr. Fitts appointed J. Blalock Higgins and W. C. Hutchison, who first made a report on freight possibilities of citrus growers in 1949, said he would write the Williams group line in Jacksonville to obtain a list of prospective northern firms who desire to ship into Sanford. Mr. Williams originally compiled a report on prospective northern shippers in 1944.

Mr. Fitts also designated T. E. Tucker as assistant to E. G. Kilpatrick as treasurer.

NOVEMBER COLD TAKES TOLL OF STATE'S CROPS

Agriculture Report Says Other Crops Escape Cold Wave

ORLANDO, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Some Florida crops were badly hurt by the five-day November cold spell while others generally escaped with minor damage, the U. S. Department of Agriculture said today.

In its report as of Dec. 1, the department said cold winds and low temperatures from Nov. 17 to 22 caused rather extensive damage to tender vegetables such as snap beans and cucumbers.

Weather conditions otherwise were generally favorable for hardy crops. Shipments have been comparatively light, but the volume should improve materially during December.

Snap bean and tomato crop harvesting is now at its peak.

In California, vegetable crops have made excellent progress due to favorable weather, the USDA said. Weather conditions in Texas also were favorable for recovery of tender crops which escaped serious damage in early November. Hardy crops were making very good progress.

The report on Florida crops:

Lima beans—reduced plantings in Pompano-Bellay sections making fall to good progress. Will be mid-December before any volume develops but some harvesting in Fort Pierce section.

Snap beans—fall crop yield prospects greatly reduced by cold. Everglades peak harvest reached with volume expected to decline after middle of December. Harvesting light in Dade and Pompano sections. Manatee-Ruskin bean crop seriously damaged.

Cabbage—young plantings generally making good progress with light cuttings coming from Everglades area.

Cauliflower—crop condition generally good. Light harvesting expected start in Manatee-Ruskin section around Christmas.

Celery—marked improvement noted in past two weeks. Average (Continued on Page Seven)

NEWSPAPER TRIAL

LAKE CHARLES, La., Dec. 7.—(AP)—The issue of whether public officials were defamed by newspaper criticism was in the hands of a Louisiana judge today following the trial of two newspaper editors charged with criminal defamation.

Judge J. Bernard Cooke had under advisement the defamation cases of Kenneth E. Dixon and James Norton, managing editor and city editor of the Lake Charles American Press.

Judge Cooke said his decision, which will be written, may not be forthcoming for at least a month. He said he would set a date for argument of the case later.

Sentences Of Bradley Cage Stars Removed

Former Internal Revenue Officer Sends Word To Probers He Is Not Too Well

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Saul S. Streit today gave suspended sentences to three former Bradley University basketball stars in the bribery scandal and assault on David Owen, Bradley president, whom he said gave "universally" sanction to their moral debasement.

In Florida, Owen said he had no immediate comment to make.

The former players were Gene Melchiorre, George Chianakis and William Mann.

They had pleaded guilty Oct. 26 to a charge of conspiracy to fix a Mar. 19, 1949 game with Bowling Green in the Madison Square Garden. They faced a maximum sentence of three years in prison.

The three were among 31 former players from seven schools involved in point-fixing scandals. Of the others, five have been sentenced to jail and nine others have received suspended sentences.

The three former players stood for more than an hour during the court proceedings. Their faces were pale and tense.

Assistant District Attorney Vincent A. G. O'Connor told the court District Attorney Frank S. Hogan recommended clemency for them so that they might return to "useful lives."

O'Connor praised Chianakis for his testimony before the grand jury.

"He honestly poured out the depths of his heart and soul to give the jurors every possible ounce of his truth, both favorable and unfavorable to him," O'Connor said.

Prior to the sentencing John E. Cassidy, a Florida lawyer and former Illinois Attorney General, pleaded for mercy for the trio. He said Bradley's growth had been "too fast and its athletic program too ambitious." This was a sentiment echoed later by Judge Streit.

"The defendants at the bar were corrupted and demoralized by a system which set athletic success above education," Streit said, praising Owen "for his stand against the prevalence of academic standards." Streit declared:

"By his acquiescence in their subordination before the grand jury travelling with the members of the team while their studies were (Continued on Page Seven)

Dr. W. P. Brooks Is Elected Head Of Church Group

Dr. W. P. Brooks, pastor of the First Baptist Church, was elected president of the Seminole County Ministerial Association at its final meeting at the Yacht Club today. Dr. Brooks succeeds Rev. A. J. McInnis as president of the group.

Other officers elected were: Rev. Frank Morgan, vice president; Rev. L. R. Kushon, secretary; treasurer, and Rev. B. E. Newell, assistant secretary.

In assuming his office, Dr. Brooks expressed his appreciation for the work of the retiring president during the year. He cited the active participation of Mr. McInnis in matters of the association, and in leadership of the Association in a number of special services during the year. Dr. Brooks urged a full cooperation in the association with the work. A resolution of appreciation to Mr. McInnis and the retiring officers was unanimously adopted.

The association has urged cooperation with the Annual Christmas Concert of the Seminole High School Glee Club on Dec. 12.

Further action of the association included the order of a letter of appreciation to Mrs. Clara Ginn, and the Seminole Church Society, of which she is president, for the rendition of "The Star" under the direction of Mr. Roger Harris on Dec. 2.

Plans were discussed for full cooperation of the association with the two-day convention of the Florida Chain of Missionary Assemblies to be held this year Jan. 28-30 in the First Presbyterian Church.

Chinese Report Cut In No. Of U. S. Prisoners

Allies Drop Demand For Joint UN-Red Inspection Teams

MUNSAN, Korea, Dec. 7.—(AP)—A Communist correspondent hinted today that no more than half of the 19,000 Americans reported missing in Korea are prisoners of war.

The report came from a Chinese newsmen at Munsan, where Allied troops negotiated today opened a major effort to reach agreement on a composite program for policing an armistice.

The Allies dropped their demand for joint U. N.-Red inspection teams.

HONS DIES

BOSTON, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Harold W. Ross, 60, whose sharp wit was reflected in the New Yorker magazine which he founded 20 years ago, died last night of a lung ailment.

The exact nature of the ailment was not revealed but he had undergone a lung operation at the New England Baptist hospital where he had been receiving periodic treatments since last April.

AMERICAN PUBLIC IS BLAMED FOR Atmosphere Of Political Graft

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(AP)—The entire nation must share responsibility for an atmosphere which allows political graft and corruption to flourish, William H. Ruffin, outgoing president of the National Association of Manufacturers, said today.

In a speech delivered at the winding session of the NAM's 50th Congress of Industry, Ruffin said:

"It is not enough to stand aghast at revelations of mink coats on government secretaries. It is not enough to sear at exposures of internal Revenue scandals and corruption in RFO loans, to be revolted by nation-wide crime syndicates protected by prominent politicians, or shocked by baseball bribery.

"If we are true to our American motto, we will look behind the sensational headlines and see how the graft is done."

The Durham, N. C., executive manufacturer thus restated the dominant theme of the three-day NAM convalescence which brought 5,000 industrialists and businessmen to the Waldorf-Astoria here.

The leadership of the NAM was in the hands today of a new president, William J. Grede, president of Grede Foundries, Inc., of Milwaukee and a director of the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank.

Oliphant Fails To Appear At House Hearing On Tax Frauds

Judge Assails President For Contributing To Lowering Of Moral Standards

CHIEF BOATSWAIN FRANCIS A. AMETRANOX tells a group of highly attentive fourth grade children at Hutchison School, North Pelham, N. Y., the dramatic story of the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941. Not one of the youngsters had been born when that event occurred. Ametranox holds a photo of a burning U. S. battleship. The veteran was on watch the fateful morning a decade ago when the Japs struck and he poured bullets at the raiding planes with a .50 calibre machine gun. (International Exclusion)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Charles Oliphant, after demanding an immediate public hearing by House tax investigators, failed to appear today at a committee session called to hear him. He sent word he wished to delay his appearance "several days."

Oliphant, 42, resigned two days ago as chief legal officer of the scandal-hit Bureau of Internal Revenue. He said then he felt unable to endure any longer the "vituperation" to which he had been subject at hearings by a House Ways and Means subcommittee. The group is looking into charges of irregularities in the tax collecting service.

Oliphant blasted particularly at the "scurrilous charges" linking his name to an alleged "clique" of Washington officials which a witness had sworn he was told was on the look out for "soft touches."

This story came from Abraham Teitelbaum, Chicago attorney, who said two men tried to shake him for $500,000 on the assumption that they would have him from "tax troubles" through their connections with the alleged "clique." He named the two men as Frank Nathan, Pittsburgh promoter and man about Washington, and Bert K. Naster, Hollywood, Fla. business man.

Since Oliphant was not ready to testify, the committee recessed until 1:30 P. M. Chairman King (D-Calif.) told reporters later that Naster might testify at the afternoon session.

Reporters telephoned the Oliphant home in an effort to learn why Oliphant, after first pressing for a hearing, had failed to show up.

Mrs. Oliphant, reached after noon, said her husband was sleeping and she could not awaken him to answer questions. Asked if Oliphant were ill, she said she would "rather not comment at all." Joseph J. O'Connell, Oliphant's (Continued on Page Eight)

Odham Raps Adams Cargo Plane With Ten On Board Is Reported Missing

C-47 Was Last Heard Only 40 Miles From Its Marseille Base

MARSEILLE, France, Dec. 7.—(AP)—A U. S. Air Force cargo plane with 10 persons aboard, disappeared last night after circling for only 10 miles, its destination, Marseille.

The plane, a two-engine C-47, was believed down in the mountainous terrain along the French Riviera, east of here, or perhaps in the Mediterranean. It was coming in from the U. S. air field at Tripoli.

A C-47 normally carries a crew of four, and the other six aboard were presumed to be passengers. The plane was attached to the U. S. Air Force base at that waterside field.

The French army sent ground patrols fanning into the mountains while search parties, hampered by fog and limited visibility, took to the air. The search force included French aircraft from Paris and U. S. Air Force planes from both the French and U. S. bases also straggled into the area to comb the Mediterranean waters. Italian naval and airplane rescue centers were alerted.

The French army said they did not know how many persons were aboard the missing aircraft but assumed it carried only a crew normally four men.

Air Force authorities said the plane last reported by radio at 7:41 P. M. (1:31 P. M. EST) yesterday. It was due to land at Marseilles Field on Marseille 16 minutes later.

Airport officials said the plane was only 40 miles away, flying at 2,000 feet, when it gave its last position.

The plane took off at 2:47 P. M. (8:17 A. M. EST) from its base at Wheelus Field in Tripoli.

Two other U. S. Air Force transports have been downed in Europe in the past month.

Sanford Elks Lodge Attends Eustis Meet

A group of 25 members of the Sanford Lodge of Elks, No. 1217, motored to Eustis last night to be among the more than 200 Elks who attended the meeting of Elks Lodge No. 1878 on the occasion of the official visit to the home lodge of Willis V. McCall, district deputy grand exalted ruler.

Members of the order from DeLand, Cocoa, Leesburg, Gainesville, Tampa, Orlando, New Smyrna Beach, Daytona Beach, Ocala, and Pensacola, together with the Sanford delegation, had the largest representation.

Eleven new members were initiated, according to Leo Butner, local lodge secretary. A barbecued chicken supper was enjoyed.
