Ambassador Grady Warns Greece That U.S. Aid Might Stop

Marshall Plan Chief Lays Down Bundle Of Complaints Aimed At Government

ATHENS, Mar. 31.—(AP)—U.S. Ambassador Henry F. Grady, in a tough-talking letter to the premier, warned Greece today that "only a government which can secure public confidence" can expect continued American aid.

It was the strongest language yet used by an official U.S. representative in a Marshall Plan country, and it raised immediate speculation that the United States has, in effect, invited Premier Sophocles Venizelos either to resign or to broaden the base of his government.

The letter, unprecedented in Greek-American relations since Marshall Aid began here, laid down a bundle of complaints against the Greek government: complaints of special privilege, inefficiency, subsidies, over-centralized power, high interest rates, superabundance of ministries, excessive spending, absence of an adequate social program and a number of others.

Venizelos, who has just formed a Liberal National union cabinet, was not available for comment immediately. His Liberal Party holds only 46 seats in the 250-member parliament, but elected but it has the backing of rightist groups. The only National unionist in the cabinet is former Premier Pannoyotis Kanellopoulos, now vice premier and defense minister.

Rightists swing support to the government to block formation of a moderate centrist coalition under Gen. Nikolaos Plastiras, chief of the National Progressive Front party, which has been behind the leading Populists (Royalists) in election. The cabinet excluded Leftists. The center parties were given by charges from the progressives and Social Democrats that Venizelos double-crossed them by rejecting a coalition with them. The National Unionist of board.

Bids For Seminole Athletic Building Are All Rejected

Bids on equipment intended for the new Seminole High School Athletic Building were yesterday rejected as too high by the County School Board, Supt. T. W. Lawton announced this morning.

Ranging from $12,225 to $13,000, the bids were for supplies and materials, 100 wire baskets and racks for clothes, Mr. Lawton and Principal Herman E. Morris were instructed to secure further information from suppliers, and set samples of the products.

The Board, accompanied by Elton J. Moughtin, architect, visited and carefully inspected the new room, concrete block addition to the Midway School for Negroes. The addition included in it facilities a central heating system, fluorescent lights, sanitary facilities and drinking fountains.

Well pleased with the building, the board members thanked Mr. Moughtin for his careful supervision of the work and Paul Campbell, contractor, was complimented, said Mr. Lawton, for the manner in which he constructed the building.

The resignation of Otis Munnery, instructor of civics and assistant coach at the High School, was accepted with regret. Mr. Munnery, who also directed athletics at the Jr. High School, has accepted the position of the coach at Miami High School at a considerably higher salary. He will leave for Miami soon.

Provision was made by the Board for granting sick leave absence at full pay up to six days a year to school janitors, bus drivers and clerks. With the exception of the total accumulation of days, the ruling is similar to that given teachers.

The accumulative feature is that if a person is not sick the first year, he will be allowed 12 days absence for sickness the next year. The accumulation is limited to two years.

POINT POOR BILL
WASHINGTON, Mar. 31.—(AP)—House Republicans today attacked President Truman's congressional Point Four program as Communist-inspired and a charade for a world wide WPA.

Democrats countered that it is vital to this nation's foreign policy. As the invasions approached the end of five years of bitter debate, point four remained the administration's three billion dollar program.

12 Nations To Okay Spanish Defense Entry

Military Leaders Are Reported To Favor Leasing Of Airfields From Spain

NEW YORK, Mar. 31.—(AP)—The flow of Army ground equipment for Western Europe starts today under the mutual defense assistance program. A line of heavy mountain guns for Italy was ready at the Army base in Brooklyn for loading (11 A.M. EST) on the freighter Edlona. The shipment is part of a billion dollars worth of military gear headed for Europe under the program of the North Atlantic Pact.

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, Mar. 31.—(AP)—Atlantic Pact military leaders were reported today preparing to recommend letting Spain through the back door. The military leaders, here for a meeting with the defense ministers of the 12 Atlantic Pact nations, were said to be favoring the leasing of air bases from the Franco government, rather than Spain's direct membership in the Western Defense Alliance.

Reliable sources said the recommendation would be put before the meetings of the pact nations' defense ministers beginning in London May 8.

The majority of the 12 nations were reported as favoring Spanish participation in the pact program, with chief opposition presently coming from Great Britain. The French were said to be backing the British to some extent.

Uniform consent of the 12 nations is needed before use of the Spanish bases can be sought. Some officials of the U. S. State Department also have opposed bringing Spain into the Atlantic treaty group, but they were reported to have modified their views recently.

Informed sources here believe France will eventually withdraw her opposition to Spain if the British Labor Government is persuaded to abandon its ideological objections to the Franco regime.

Backers of the plan to utilize Spanish air bases contend these fields would permit U. S. strategists to fly shorter distances with consequent heavier loads to blast Russian transport and production centers in the event of war with the Soviets.

In addition, the mountain pass connecting Spain with the rest of Europe could be easily blocked off in the event the Russians should overrun the rest of the Continent, the military experts say.

Sources close to the conference here and the leasing of Spanish bases would be a purely military arrangement. It would not imply approval of the Spanish government, they asserted, any more than economic aid to Yugoslavia implies approval of the Tito regime.

Nor would the leasing imply, they contended, that the Western forces envisioned a withdrawal from the main continental area in the event of a Russian attack. Sources here emphasized Atlantic.

CATHOLIC TRIAL

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Mar. 31.—(AP)—The government-controlled radio announced today that ten "high-ranking Roman Catholic clergymen" went on trial at the Prague state court on charges of espionage and seditious activities.

The radio did not disclose the names of the clerics, nor did it give any other information beyond the bare announcement of the beginning of the trial.

Lattimore Is Not U.S. Far East Architect, States Dean Acheson

Lawmakers Say President Will Veto Farm Bill

Measure Will Loosen Controls Over Peanuts And Cotton

LAFAYETTE, La., Mar. 31.—(AP)—Senator Claude Pepper speeded to President Truman today to sign into law a bill which would end Florida cotton and peanut controls. Lattimore, contending that President Truman's veto of the bill, Pepper took time out from his campaign and telephoned his appeal.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 31.—(AP)—Southern lawmakers fretted to see that President Truman may veto a bill raising acreage limits on two major Dixie crops. Lattimore believes the President would veto the bill, and Senator Frank D. White (D-Ga.) said.

The measure, passed by both the Senate and House, would loosen control over peanuts and cotton and reduce them on potatoes. Several senators who asked that they be vetoed, said they had learned that Secretary of Agriculture Truman had recommended a bill to raise acreage limits on the two crops.

At Key West, a source close to the President and yesterday Mr. Truman had not yet decided whether to veto the bill. Senator Acheson (D-Vt.) told a reporter Mr. Truman "would be exercising good political judgment if he vetoes this measure."

It is felt some trouble in the system if it will have a lot more later on in the spring. Aiken, top ranking GOP member of the Senate Agriculture Committee, vigorously opposed the bill, though compromise was reached. He estimated it would cost between $100,000,000 and $150,000,000 for price supports on additional cotton and peanuts above existing supplies.

President Of Korea Postpones Election

SEOUL, Mar. 31.—(AP)—President Syngman Rhee today postponed Korea's national assembly elections from May to November. He said the delay was necessary to give the assembly time to adopt the 1950-51 budget, a requirement for continued U. S. aid.

The current budget expires tonight. A new one must be voted quickly by the government and approved by the assembly. The 13 foreign members of the committee were putting the final touches on their invitations to Bonn and the State to send the text of the invitations will not be published until they have been received by the west German and Saar governments.

The invitation to Germany is to be extended through the Allied High Commission, and to the Saar through the French government. France, which occupied the Saar after the war, attacked it to her economy and took a long lease on its coal mines over strong West German protests.

Navy Will Train About 6,000 Men From Colleges Over The Nation

WASHINGTON, Mar. 31.—(AP)—The Navy will train about 6,000 reserve officer candidates from 52 colleges this summer aboard ships and at its Air Marine Corps bases.

Senior and sophomore students will go to sea with the Atlantic and Pacific fleets, and juniors will get four weeks of aviation indoctrination at Pensacola, Fla., and two weeks of amphibious training at Lier Creek, Va.

In addition to the regular Naval reserve students, about 280 "contract" student midshipmen will cruise the Atlantic this summer aboard the escort carrier Mindoro and five destroyers. About 500 senior classmen who have been designated for the Marine Corps will undergo an eight weeks' training program at the Marine Corps schools in Quantico, Va.

Secretary Of State Says Lattimore Spent Little Time In His Department

WASHINGTON, Mar. 31.—(AP)—Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) went to a hospital today for treatment of a sinus condition. Secretary Wherry (R-Mo.) announced that fact to the Senate and asked permission for McCarthy to be absent from the Senate's session. Senator Connally (D-Tex.) quipped up: "How long?" Wherry: "Just today." Connally: "Is that all?"

WASHINGTON, Mar. 31.—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson decried today that Owen Lattimore is not the architect of U. S. Far Eastern policy. He said he did not think in fact that he had ever met Lattimore.

Acheson commented at a news conference on Senator McCarthy's fresh charge of "Soviet Agent" charges against Lattimore, a Johns Hopkins University professor.

McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican blasted in Lattimore in a Senate speech yesterday. He charged that Lattimore has been the chief director of American policy in the Far East.

Lattimore himself has called McCarthy's charges against him "pure moonshine" and an "unmitigated lie."

Acheson pictured Lattimore's contacts with the State Department as sharply limited to a few occasions. He and Lattimore never had been employed by the State Department.

Among other things, McCarthy told the Senate that they can produce a list of names who will appear that Lattimore was a member of the Communist Party.

Science Magazine Burns Article At Request Of AEC

NEW YORK, Mar. 31.—(AP)—Scientific American said today it had pulled a magazine article on the hydrogen bomb—written by a physicist—because the article was "non-scientific" in nature.

The article was by Dr. Hans Bethe, Cornell physicist and former theoretical physics chief at Los Alamos.

A spokesman for the magazine said the nature of the material neither the Scientific American nor Bethe thought it necessary to submit the article to the commission for review.

Bethe, however, followed his usual custom of submitting advance copies of the article to various colleagues, the spokesman said, and one of the colleagues, a physicist, had written a letter to the AEC.

TAFK SPEAKS
PORTLAND, Me., Mar. 31.—(AP)—Speaker Taft (R-Ohio) said today the "only way to get rid of the Communists in the State Department is to change the head of the government."

NOT GUILTY PLEA
NORFOLK, Va., Mar. 31.—(AP)—Capt. John R. Millet pleaded innocent today to charges of neglect of duty in the grounding of the battleship Missouri.

Millet was operations officer on the Big Mo when she ran aground in Chesapeake Bay Jan. 17.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

Bribery was an old practice three thousand years ago. There are subtle forms today. Avoid them. Thou shalt take no gift for the gift blindeeth the wise, and perverteth the words of the righteous. Ex. 23:8.

SO ONLY THY

(From The Yale Review) WORN down by anger and the rap of pride, Corroded by the acids of the blood, How shall I, while the ruthless seasons slide, See to it that all things are understood. And live, illumined? Under the paleful flare Of final sunset, I must trace the rays. That lit my dawn and still can tame this air With golden mercy for embittered days. I must not wait to let my senses know That where time stops to trivial things can go— A wash of silence meets the fretful heart. Now, fresh, no eager still to take your part, There is short hope for you. So only try To hold my spirit lightly till I die. MARION CANNY.

FARM BOY AT NIGHT

(From Kalamazoo) A GRAY mouse rustled Across the floor As I slipped down stairs And out the door. The moon shone bright On our pasture gate; I saw three angels Walking late. Nothing lovelier Ever was, Walking on daisies Among the grass. Then a roan dog howled And broke the charm, The sun came up On our some old farm. Me in my britches And soon straw hat But I saw them once, I'll remember that. BEULAH MAY.

We haven't decided yet whether to cast our vote for 1950's Man of the Year for Dr. Peter Lindstrom or Roberto Rosellini but it should be one or the other.

The American people could save billions of dollars every year if they had a 7 1/2 cent coin, the Senate Banking Committee was told the other day. That is, they could if they didn't spend it for something else.

Further indicating the need for a legislative investigation of Florida's welfare rolls is the statement of Elean C. W. Keith of the Florida Highway Patrol who revealed that over four thousand persons drawing welfare checks in Florida for blindness are also driving automobiles on Florida's highways. See what we mean?

General Eisenhower says he is deeply concerned about the present state of American preparedness in the light of Russia's rearmament program. Of course, that may be just the big brass talking, the big military brass, but suppose he should be right? Remember how they used to pooh pooh the military men's demands for the fortification of Guam, the strengthening of Pearl Harbor. But when the war came, they blamed it on General Short and Admiral Kimmel and sacked them.

The constitutionality of New York state's law banning Communists from public schools has been upheld in the courts for the second time. The constitutional issue of free speech may be argued as a condition to the curbing of public employment. The immediate division of the state's Supreme Court in the case of the Constitution was the Constitution's prohibition of a state from passing laws which discriminate against any race.

Divorce Rates

About 1,200,000 persons were involved in divorces granted in the United States in 1948. The total included 818,000 children of broken marriages who were under 21 years of age when their parents were divorced. This is derived from a report on divorces and annulments by Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. "Divorce in families where there are children is more common than is generally realized" observed the Metropolitan. "Of the 421,000 absolute decrees granted 42 percent were to couples with children."

The more children there are in a family the less likelihood there is of divorce the study shows. In homes where there were no children under age 18, the divorce rate for the United States in 1948 was 15.3 per 1,000 married couples. In homes with one child the rate was 11.6; with two children 7.6; with three children 6.6; and with four or more children 4.6 per 1,000—less than one third of the rate in the homes where there were no children.

Altogether the relative frequency of divorce for couples with children was shown to be only about one half of that for couples without dependent children at the time of divorce.

The difference in divorce frequency between couples with and without children is greatest during the early years and diminishes as the length of married life increases. Even after the 20th year of marriage, however, the ratio is twice as high for couples without children. After the 30th year the rates for the two groups are practically identical. "While some unsuccessful marriages may not be broken until the children have grown up, their number is less than is popularly believed," observes the Metropolitan. "This is borne out by the small difference in the rate between the two groups at the later years of marriage."

Unemployment Figures

Some concern is being expressed over the number of unemployed persons in the nation. The figure has risen continually over the past year or so, and in February it was estimated to approach a level which could be compared with that of 1941, although still nearly a million less than the peak of that year. On the other hand the argument has been heard that the number of unemployed is less significant than the total of employed, which remains higher than at any time except in the peak years of 1947 and 1948. There is much to be said for this argument, although it is not conclusive.

Unemployment represents a strain on the economy, and the strain is proportional to the number of jobless. The unemployed and their families must be supported, and no matter from what source their support comes it is non-productive. An increase in the number of unemployed is not necessarily an omen of impending doom, but it is a warning that less goods and services are being produced, and that available supplies are being tapped to support a rising number of persons who do not contribute to production.

The ability to shape the economic situation, as an alternative to simple acceptance of the economic cycles as they occur, has long been sought. In large measure it depends on our reaction to such warning signs as a rise in unemployment. A reaction which will curtail trade will obviously produce more unemployment. Steps to expand employment in the production of useful, marketable goods might successfully mold the economic trend.

RETURNS TO SANFORD

Returning to Sanford yesterday after an absence of several years, Robert Holly, former resident, expressed surprise at the growth and improvement of the city. Mr. Holly, who at one time published the Seminole County Sentinel, stated that he will soon assume duties as editor of the Florida Municipal Record, published in St. Petersburg by Lester E. Cole, and sponsored by the League of Municipalities in the state.

MURDER CHARGE

NOVEMBER 20, Pa. Mar. 31—Nicholas Verna, 29-year-old antonarium inmate, will be charged with murder in connection with a fire that killed one patient at the institution, assistant District Attorney Bernard E. DiJoseph said today. Holly's feet should be planted 25 to 30 feet apart. Birds relish holly berries in winter.

THE WORLD TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

That vote in the U. S. House of Representatives, denying Britain further aid funds so long as Ireland remains partitioned, was a tentative affair subject to expected revolve, but it has echoed like a shout in a rocky cavern. Dublin, Belfast, London and other capitals reacted, each according to its lights. The House action was generally interpreted as political by-play but the fact remains that the effect of this surprise maneuver has been to emphasize again that the partition of the Emerald Isle is one of the burning issues of our time.

It's only ten days ago that I discussed this question of partition in our column. At that time I told you a story about a conversation I had in Belfast with the late Lord Craigavon, Prime Minister of Northern Ireland, regarding partition. This disheveled Separatist political leader slammed a fist into the palm of his other hand and exclaimed: "I'm done with Southern Ireland? Never! Never! Never! And what I'm done there are others who will take up the leadership after me."

A sequel to that interview has been given me by Mr. Joseph D. Brennan, member of the Irish legation in Washington. He says: "In 1929 I was at the British Empire Exhibition in Glasgow. At the reception given at the opening of the exhibition, Lord Craigavon was present. My then chief, Mr. John W. Dulanty, who was our high commissioner in London, was also present. "We had just celebrated the 1928 agreement with Great Britain which restored to us the areas which the British held in Ireland. Lord Craigavon congratulated Mr. Dulanty on the occasion of the agreement and I remember him saying: "You did fine, Mr. Dulanty, but you didn't get the North—you will never get the North." "At that point Lord Craigavon, who also was present, broke in to say: "Speak for yourself, James. Never is a long day."

"Apparently Lord Craigavon had a better appreciation of what was likely to occur in the future than her husband had at that particular time. "Lady Craigavon was right. I believe we have a right to expect that sooner or later Northern Ireland and the Irish Republic will be united. The great question is 'when?'"

On this point of time, optimism was expressed by John J. Hearne, the Irish republic's first envoy to America with the rank of Ambassador. Mr. Hearne stopped in New York on his way to Washington from Canada, where he had been his country's high commissioner and told a press conference that he believes Ireland will win unity within the period he is Ambassador here.

Perhaps we may get a better picture of Northern Ireland's viewpoint during the forthcoming visit of her Prime Minister, Sir Basil Brooke, who is enroute here with Lady Brooke. He is not to be confused from this trip by the House of Representatives vote, in by the declaration of Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York that

Color Television

Barnoff, however, said his view on color remained between the extremes of CBS' statement it was ready now and Dr. Allen B. Dumont's prediction that it remained nine or more years in the future. He said he believed "more work remains to be done, even with our own system, before it can be offered for sale to the public as a commercial product."

A neutral manufacturer, Benjamin Abrams, president of Emerson Radio and Phonograph Corp., today described the tube as a step toward practical color television for the public. But Abrams said it was his opinion that even with the new tube, "it may take three or four years" before reasonably priced sets are available for the public. If a start was to be made now, he said, a color set probably would cost two or three times as much as a black and white set, and he predicted it would be some time before color sets could be brought within reach of the average customer.

Abrams predicted further that even after color arrived, black and white sets would continue to be bought by many persons because of their lower cost. As described by RCA, the new color tube contains a fine metal screen with 117,000 holes. The picture screen is a sort of mosaic containing tiny dots in triangular grid three—one red, one green and one blue. As now constructed, the tube face contains 35,000 of these dots—although the number presumably could be increased later to give a picture with finer detail.

As the electronic beam that "paints" a picture on the tube face passes through each hole in the

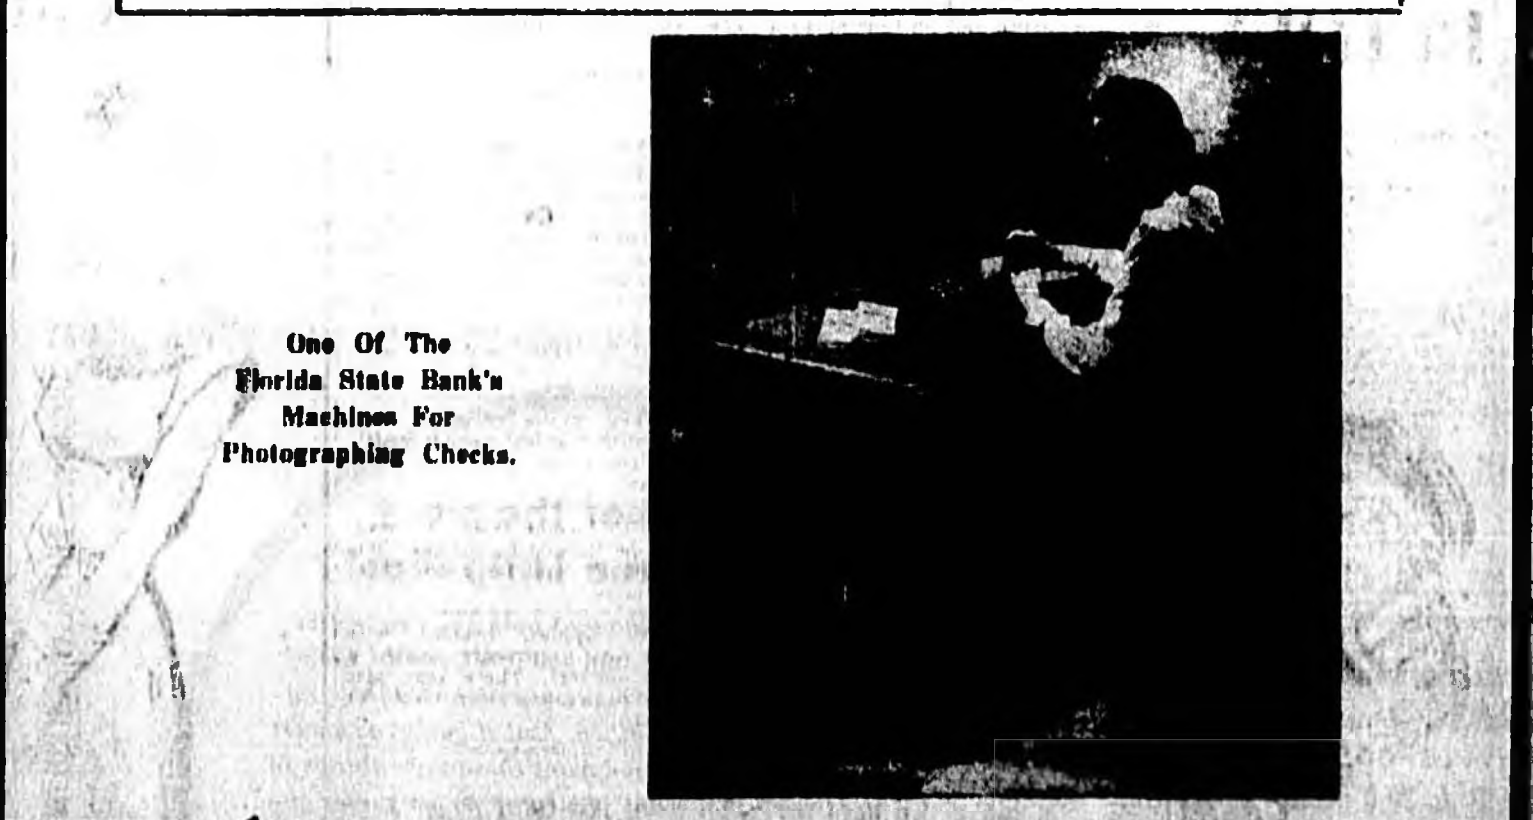

Sir Basil won't be welcomed at New York City Hall because the Prime Minister's government banned the recent St. Patrick's Day celebrations. At a luncheon in London Sir Basil said: "It seems to me that the only attitude for me to adopt is that if my hosts don't like the looks of me they can always engage a cabin—if one is available—to send me back. I have offered the hand of friendship to Southern Ireland, but it has not been accepted in perhaps the way one might have wished."

Garden Gate

By MRS. L. E. SPENCER

The following is part of an article by Mrs. Mame J. Heron and anyone wanting to know more about palms may call her or drop her a card and she will give you all the data:

"As we are nearing Palm Sunday, we would like to tell you about the Phoenix Dactylifera or date palm. It grows in many Mediterranean countries; also Arabia and Palestine. This palm is never found growing wild, but has been in cultivation from time immemorial for its nutritious and delicious fruit. There are many varieties, one of them seedless. This is the most celebrated palm of its family and is the one mentioned in the Bible. When Christ made his triumphant entry into Jerusalem, some of the people strewed palm branches along the way. It has always been supposed that the date tree (Phoenix Dactylifera) was the one implied, as that species is growing in Palestine. The fruits for Palm Sunday are used by the Catholic Church, the Christians and the Passover of the Jews. In this country Florida and California supply most of the palm leaves used for Palm Sunday.

Tall specimens of the date palm are found in many Florida gardens but rarely bear fruit, but if they do the taste is likely to be insipid because we have too much moisture here. Only a very dry and hot atmosphere can mature the flavor satisfactorily. The Arabs have a saying the date palm must have its "head in the fire and its feet in water," in order to bear good dates.

To vary vanilla ice cream make it with crushed peanut brittle before you store it in a refrigerator tray.

Rolls that come from the freezer can be thawed by placing them in a 300° F. oven for about 20 to 30 minutes.

Baked apples, stuffed with prunes and nuts, make a delicious dessert. These may also double as an accompaniment for meat or poultry.

Acheson States

The office declined to say when or how the data was supplied to the FBI.

McCarthy told the Senate that one of his documents proves that Lattimore is a Soviet agent who received instructions in Moscow as far back as 1936.

Acheson's comments on McCarthy's speech began when he was asked whether Lattimore, an expert on Asia, had been connected with or had exercised influence on the State Department.

Leaving through a notebook Acheson said he had a memorandum saying exactly what Lattimore's connections had been. He declared that the following is the complete record:

1. On Oct. 15, 1945, Lattimore was appointed an economic advisor to the United States reparations mission to Japan and continued in that assignment to Feb. 12, 1946.

2. On June 5, 1946, Lattimore delivered a lecture to the Foreign Service Institute on a program for fledgling diplomats which is called "meet the public." Lattimore appeared along with 26 other persons. He was not employed by the State Department and not compensated for his appearance.

3. On Oct. 4-8, 1946, Lattimore and 27 other people participated at the State Department in a discussion on U. S. Foreign policy in China. A record was kept of this twenty-day discussion and was read in the State Department.

Acheson said this kind of confidential technique has been used on many occasions. There was nothing special about last October's use of it, he said. Lattimore's expenses for coming to Washington were paid by the State Department on this occasion, Acheson said, but Lattimore was not an employee of the department.

Meanwhile Acheson said Russia apparently has resumed "on a grand scale" the process of detaching the southwest province of Sinkiang from Communist China.

He told reporters a Moscow announcement disclosing a settlement of joint Russian-Chinese companies to exploit oil and mineral resources of the province is "now familiar penetration."

The Secretary said one-half of all oil and minerals produced will go to Russia—leaving only one-half for the use of impoverished China.

"It seems clear," he added, "that the effect of one of the unpublished agreements arrived at in Moscow last winter was to award the U. S. S. R. prominent rights in China's strategic western provinces."

McGrath Claims He Will Not Obey Senate Subpoena

WASHINGTON, Mar. 31.—(AP)—President Truman said today the November elections "may well be one of the most crucial tests of liberalism in this century."

Attorney General Declares His Views in Boston Speech

BOSTON, Mar. 31.—(AP)—Attorney General McGrath says he has no intention of obeying a Senate subpoena for confidential FBI files.

The subpoena, issued by a foreign relations subcommittee, was served on the Justice Department yesterday. The committee is investigating charges by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) of Communist infiltration in the State Department.

"The Department of Justice," McGrath said, "can't make a Red out of someone merely because he works for the United States and someone doesn't like his Liberal views."

The Attorney General made the statement in an address before the Boston real estate board.

"I'd resign office," McGrath said, "before I'd take to court any citizen of the United States unless I had the evidence to convict him, especially on the question of subversives."

He said no one in the United States detests Communism more than President Truman. "I wouldn't retain for a minute any officer who did not do his full duty to ferret out subversives," McGrath declared.

McGrath defended his department against Senator McCarthy's declaration that he had lost confidence in the FBI and Department of Justice in loyalty matters.

"I don't think the country judges his views of lost confidence,"

The Secretary recalled that soon after Communist China had concluded its so-called friendship economic pact with Moscow he had said the important thing was not the published provisions but the results that would follow.

He added: "We now see the apparent re-orientation on a grand scale of the process of detaching of Sinkiang province, a process begun years ago and interrupted only briefly during the most desperate period of the last war."

"Evidently Soviet economic aid is not cheaply bought, requiring as we see in this case, both impairment of sovereignty and the abandonment of 50 per cent of current production."

The subpoena, issued by a foreign relations subcommittee, was served on the Justice Department yesterday. The committee is investigating charges by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) of Communist infiltration in the State Department.

"The Department of Justice," McGrath said, "can't make a Red out of someone merely because he works for the United States and someone doesn't like his Liberal views."

The Attorney General made the statement in an address before the Boston real estate board.

"I'd resign office," McGrath said, "before I'd take to court any citizen of the United States unless I had the evidence to convict him, especially on the question of subversives."

He said no one in the United States detests Communism more than President Truman. "I wouldn't retain for a minute any officer who did not do his full duty to ferret out subversives," McGrath declared.

McGrath defended his department against Senator McCarthy's declaration that he had lost confidence in the FBI and Department of Justice in loyalty matters.

"I don't think the country judges his views of lost confidence,"

The Secretary recalled that soon after Communist China had concluded its so-called friendship economic pact with Moscow he had said the important thing was not the published provisions but the results that would follow.

He added: "We now see the apparent re-orientation on a grand scale of the process of detaching of Sinkiang province, a process begun years ago and interrupted only briefly during the most desperate period of the last war."

"Evidently Soviet economic aid is not cheaply bought, requiring as we see in this case, both impairment of sovereignty and the abandonment of 50 per cent of current production."

McGrath Claims He Will Not Obey Senate Subpoena

WASHINGTON, Mar. 31.—(AP)—President Truman said today the November elections "may well be one of the most crucial tests of liberalism in this century."

Attorney General Declares His Views in Boston Speech

BOSTON, Mar. 31.—(AP)—Attorney General McGrath says he has no intention of obeying a Senate subpoena for confidential FBI files.
