The Presidency: A Difficult Job

76 the campaign and the candidates

EDITOR'S NOTE: Candidates for the presidential nomination of their parties, and other political leaders, were invited by Newspaper Enterprise Association to contribute articles concerning presidential character. What sort of person should be elected president on Nov. 2, 1976, and why? Following is one of these contributions.

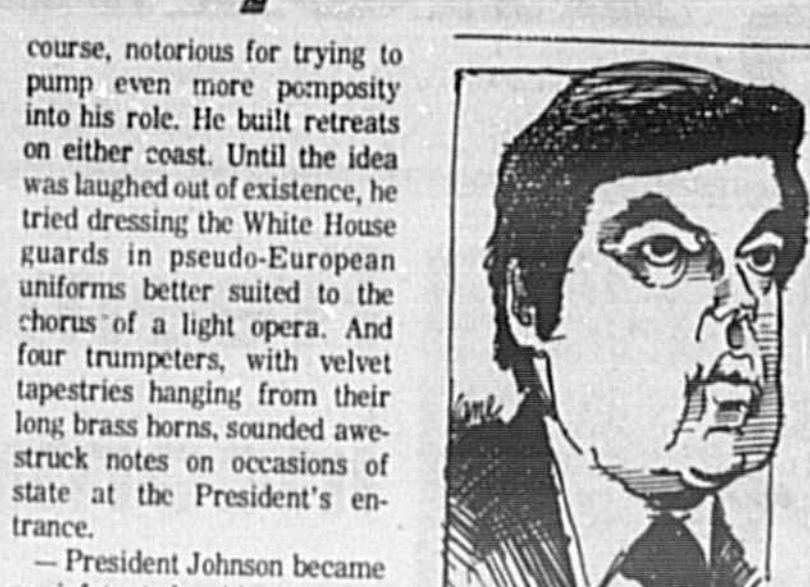

By FRANK CHURCH

There are days when I toy with the perhaps mythical notion that nobody should be our next president. There are days when I almost wonder if we wouldn't be better off without one.

Given the complexity of this country and the trials of this future-shake age, the job adds up to more than any one person can manage.

Certainly that is the recent indication. Presidencies speaking, we have, during the past few years at least, lost more ground than we have gained. So I am occasionally tempted with the notion that, by electing nobody president in 1976, we might at least start breaking even.

But I recover from such reveries by realizing that a man with a common touch, like Harry Truman, once made the presidency work pretty well. He had a saving grace that helped him keep his head, he was immune to the seductive temptations of the White House that readily lead presidents to Sen. Frank Church, Democrat of Idaho, was born on July 25, 1918, in Boise. He received his B.A. and LL.B. degrees from Stanford University, was admitted to the Idaho bar in 1940 and practiced law in Boise until 1944, when he was elected United States Senator. He has been chairman of the Foreign Relations Subcommittee on Public Lands, chairman of the Interior Subcommittee on Public Lands, chairman of the Special Committee on Aging. Senator Church currently chairs the Senate's subcommittee on Intelligence, which is involved in investigating the Central Intelligence Agency and other federal agencies. He delivered the keynote address at the 1960 Democratic National Convention. He served as an Army officer during World War II. He is married and has two children.

...we have heard from him the subtle sign of referring to himself as "Your President." It is the Americanized version of the imperial "we" and few are the presidents who can resist it. But that is the opposite of what our founding fathers had in mind. They were painfully familiar with the arrogance of kings. They believed that the hallmark of our government should be simplicity. And, of course, that's why the Constitution bans princely titles. That's why the founders of the republic insisted that the first citizen be called nothing more than "Mr. President."

...I am so saturated our life of an American president—who combines under our prime minister and chief of state—is laden with pageantry, imperial symbols and the pomp and circumstance once reserved for kings.

Except for President Truman, one wonders if we have had a leader since World War II who could stroll the halls of the White House without humming "Hail to the Chief!" We have had ordinary men who have had a leader since World War II who could stroll the halls of the White House without humming "Hail to the Chief!"

Altamonte Woman On Trial This Week

By ROBERT LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

The trials of an Altamonte Springs woman accused of buying, receiving and concealing a record player stolen by members of a multi-county "steal-to-order" theft ring and a man who surrendered to sheriff's deputies after three persons were held hostage during a bowling lanes robbery at Fern Park are the docket of criminal trials in circuit court this week.

In Circuit Court On Feb. 23
The court also said the government could legally provide federal money to presidential candidates and require disclosure of political donors and expenses.

By ROBERT LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

Trials have been scheduled for Feb. 23 in circuit court for the Altamonte Springs man indicted by a statewide grand jury on two counts of bookmaking and a charge of maintaining a gambling house. Housing Plan Courts Disaster

It is not an exaggeration to state that the federal government's experience in subsidizing housing for Americans has been very discouraging since it ventured into the programs in 1968, propelled by the race riots of the 1960s.

Initially, the emphasis was on providing housing for the very poor. However, seven years of effort have failed to meet this objective to any great degree. Additionally, the various programs encouraged lawlessness and other scandals, and entrenched another lethargic bureaucracy in the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

As of last month, HUD was the owner of 65,000 bonded-up single family houses, enough to provide the residential needs of a city of 260,000, and an additional 35,000 multifamily units valued at $2 billion.

In the meantime, the emphasis of the federal housing programs changed in the early 1970s when federal subsidies were used to assist middle income Americans and contractors in order to prop up a sagging industry and to create jobs.

Now the administration has taken things a step further by proposing to spend $254 million in the next two years to subsidize 250,000 mortgages and $6.5 billion to generate construction activity. The goal for the next fiscal year is to provide federal subsidies for 500,000 units. Some 42 per cent of the number of houses built last year.

Philosophically, the thought of the federal government subsidizing middle-income Americans goes against the grain, even if the federal government is in some measure responsible for their plight.

Economically, the program is even more frightening. If a middle income family cannot afford a modest down payment for a home, chances are that it will not be able to afford the house itself over the long pull, particularly if the inflation continues. And the rising inflation also will continue to raise the median income, making more families eligible. Finally, the federal budget, already awash in red ink, will not be able to accommodate a home for nearly half of the families. Federal subsidies to construction already were frozen once, in 1973, because of inadequate funds.

It would be easier for the administration to turn back from the impending disaster now, before the program becomes more entrenched and before it gets a vaster constituency than it now has.

Bah! Humbug!

Superior Court Judge Norman R. Dowds has ruled that the windows of the Los Angeles city hall cannot be lighted to form the pattern of a cross at Christmas time, which has been the custom for the last 20 years. The constitutional requirement for separation of church and state, says the judge, rules out the cross as a symbol appropriate for a public building even though Christmas trees and Santa Clauses are permissible.

Judge Dowds rendered to the kind of judicial hair-splitting that is common in this kind of case, maintaining that the cross has a "religious" connotation different from other Christmas symbols. We disagree. If the whole panoply of Christmas decorations do not symbolize a religious idea, what else do they? The attempt to do-Christmasize the public observances of a Christian holiday are leading to some strange contortions of logic — enough to make the angels weep.

The Consumer Bill Proved A Hard Sell

WASHINGTON — House Judiciary Chairman Peter Rodino, the fair but firm architect of the Nixon impeachment hearing, has been less than heroic in championing the consumers.

Two years ago, he called boldly for a multi-billion-dollar consumer bill. It was urgently needed, he declared in a House speech, to control "skyrocketing food prices, energy crises, and powerful oil companies."

Yet after the echo of his brave words had faded, he dilly-dallied and shilly-shallied while business tycoons systematically sabotaged the bill.

The measure would encourage states to sue giant corporations for antitrust violations and award billions in damages to the public. It had the enthusiastic support of the attorneys general from 39 states.

Around

The Clock

Collecting aluminum cans can be profitable. And, many people are using the sale of these discs as a source of added revenue.

Matter of fact, $2,094.36 was paid out to Sanford area residents who turned in 121,126 aluminum cans last month.

Persons receive 15 cents per pound for the aluminum cans and certain other types of clean aluminum is often redeemable at a lower price.

Aluminum Recyclers' mobile unit is in Sanford every Wednesday from 24 p.m. and is usually situated in the parking lot at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce building, 400 East First Street.

One of the reasons for recycling aluminum, aside from all the other advantages, is that by recycling we help to conserve natural resources, such as bauxite ore, from which aluminum is produced.

And, just in case you weren't aware of it, no less than 32,600 beverage cans may be produced from one ton of aluminum.

To identify an aluminum can, remember that if it's aluminum, it will have no side seam or bottom seam and is non-magnetic. Many even have a recyleable symbol stamped on the side.

So, if you want a bit of added spending money, get busy. Get yourself a big poke and start trekking with your eye ever peeled for that discarded aluminum can.

According to figures released this week by Joe Hennessy, director of the Florida Division of Economic Development, the new investment program that this agency has helped locate 25 companies and gained a projected 4,000 new jobs for Floridians in the last six months of 1975.

From July 1 through Dec. 31, the division assisted 25 manufacturing firms, non-manufacturing projects and motion picture companies with a total investment of $193 million, according to Hennessy.

Of the 25 companies, Hennessy said, five came to Florida from New York, three from California, and two each from Indiana and Pennsylvania. The other firms were from midwestern, northeastern and southeastern states.

The Florida locations of the new plants or business endeavors include Casselberry, Quincy, Pensacola, Miami, Opa Locka, Fort Lauderdale, Orlando, Melley, St. Petersburg, Cocoa Beach, Lakeland, Leesburg, New Port Richey, Jacksonville, Marianna, Tallahassee and Monticello.

Hennessy praised local development agencies who have worked with his division in attracting new industries to Florida, saying, "We can offer suggested locations, but it is up to the communities to sell the company on the proposed site. More communities are becoming aware of this and they are being recommended for their efforts in implementing sound programs for economic development."

Hennessy also predicted Florida would make additional gains this year in attracting new industry.

'Critique Of Congress'

Today's topic: "A Critique Of Congress," is argued by Rep. Bob Eckhardt (D-Texas) and Rep. John Anderson (R-Illinois).

This article is adapted from the National Town Meeting which is held each week at the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C., where public figures debate and answer questions on current issues.

How good a job is the 94th Congress doing?

I don't think Congress has been all that good. It's really rather hard to start. The presidency, in the ideal sense, is more or less the ignition system. When there is a divided government — when the naturally more deliberative body, the Congress, is in the hands of what is the more progressive party and when the presidency is in the hands of the more conservative party — our government really doesn't work very well.

One of our major problems. However, I think Congress has done a good job, I disagree with the proposition that Congress has put itself too much in the posture of an opponent. We have been present with 39 votes since Ford has been elected with an overwhelming Democratic majority, faced with the White House was entirely glibness in this atmosphere of confrontation. But... on this question of votes, I went back into history and found out that Franklin Delano Roosevelt, even with an overwhelming Democratic majority, averaged 73 votes per day. The President has a right to veto. There has been a thoroughly consistent pattern to most of (Ford's) vetoes. I don't think that the economy simply would not withstand the kind of oversight that was represented in many of these vetoes.

Former Defense Secretary James Schlesinger, of course, is promoting the idea that we're not spending enough on defense and the surge on the part of the Soviet Union for strategic weapons systems, we are going to be completely outclassed. That is a very difficult debate. It is not all black and it's not all white, I supported the cuts in (defense) spending. But all of the cuts can't come out of the defense budget. Some of the reductions made by Congress were probably fully justified but we cannot assume we can absorb all of the additional costs of new programs by balancing them off with a reduction in defense. I don't think this is a realistic view of the world situation today. It is still a pretty dangerous place.

Do we need gun control and if so, why don't Congress pass it?

I have always favored what I think is the practical approach to the what question — that is to absolutely ban the use of hand guns by the public and to virtually nothing with respect to rifles and shotguns. Rifles and shotguns are quite different from handguns in that they are not concealed. I suppose the reason we have not passed legislation is because congressmen have a tendency to respond to the public interest in a very reactive way rather than the general public interest and the relatively short memory. But I think we're coming to the point where we'll simply have to grapple with the question.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Angolan Popular Movement Wants Relations With U.S.

By The Associated Press. The Soviet-backed Popular Movement (MPLA) in Angola wants to establish normal relations with Western countries, particularly the United States, which have backed the MPLA's rivals in the Angolan civil war.

The Times of London quoted Dr. Pedro de Avelar Braganca, the MPLA's director of information, as saying it was in the movement's interests to have good relations with the West.

The MPLA, heavily armed with Soviet weapons including tanks, artillery and rockets and spearheaded by an estimated 10,000 Cuban troops, has scored major victories in northern Angola against the National Front (FNLA) and claims to be pushing back FNLA and National Union (UNITA) troops in the south.

On Monday, an excited group of 40 students, escorted by teachers Randy Keely, Mrs. Esther Hernandez and Mrs. Arlene Tetschbaum, will depart the Sanford Railway Station on their train trip northwards.

Parents and friends are invited to join the group at a farewell party to be held at the station at noon on Monday.

Jack Horner, executive manager of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce will be making a ceremonial and farewell messages are expected from William P. Layer, Seminole school superintendent; Robert G. Feather, chairman of the Seminole County School Board; Sanford Mayor Lee P. Moore and Seminole High School Principal Don Reynolds.

The school land will provide a musical send-off of patriotic tunes.

Kathy Woodruff, National Honor Society president, was given a pewter letter opener from Horner to present to Rep. Bill Chappell (D-Fla.) in Washington.

Members of the touring group will wear "Sanford is Super" ribbons during their trip. They are scheduled to leave aboard "The Champion" at 1 p.m. and arrive at 4:25 p.m. Tuesday in the nation's capital.

In Washington, they will stay at Hotel Harrington and tour such places as the White House and Capitol Building, Bureau of Printing and Engraving, Washington Monument, Embassy Row, Washington Cathedral, Library of Congress, Lincoln Memorial and Smithsonian Institution.

Also included will be tours to Mt. Vernon, Va., Arlington National Cemetery, Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and President John Kennedy's grave.

On Wednesday, they will journey to Williamsburg, Va., and tour that historical city, as well as Jamestown, Yorktown, Raleigh Tavern, Governor's Palace and Wythe House.

Clearly, Big Difference At All Goldsboro Games SPORTS

By SCOTT ABRAHAMS Herald Correspondent

Evening Herald, Sanford, FL Sunday, Feb. 1, 1976—18

Teachers make a difference for the students at Goldsboro Elementary School in Sanford. Last year, most students saw physical education class there as merely a recess because there was no physical education instructor for them. Classroom teachers were responsible.

This year, new physical education teachers Chris Marlette and Linda Riefenrath have provided students with a varied and interesting program.

All elementary students in Seminole County receive a "basic movement education" in their physical education classes, according to county school policy.

For the students at Goldsboro, that technical sounding jargon is the furthest thing from their minds. They're too busy playing flag football, volleyball, chinning the bars, hitting fist against leather in tether ball, knocking softball around a diamond.

"We like to get the kids and enjoy varied activities," says instructor Chris Marlette. "It's much more organized than just coming out and playing, though."

Marlette says he tries to make it fun, but that there are necessary skills to be learned, primarily those involving motor coordination, a sense of balance and poise, and muscular strength.

"These kids have so much energy. If I tell them to run two laps they're ready to go run three more when they finish."

Marlette also introduces the students to games they aren't familiar with.

"A lot of these kids had never played volleyball until we brought it out. They loved it. We also lowered the net so the smaller ones could play and they loved it."

Marlette organized two flag football games with a similar team from Hopper Elementary.

Seven Hungry Mouths At Home Pulling For 'Bass Boss' Pop

No one asked me, but with seven children back home in Apopka, Jim Kremer probably could have used that 43 pounds of bass which won the $50,000 Bass Tournament last week in Sanford.

Seems all fish were released, except the biggest by Orlando Clint Elkins (11 pounds, six ounces), and he has his on ice waiting for the taxidermist.

Don't take up a collection for Kremer, though. He won better than $3,000, and will obviously be bringing home more fish with his new boat.

Tuesday is when they get truly serious around Mayfair Country Club. That's the date for the pro-am portion of the Mayfair Open, a well-visited stop on the State PGA tour.

While scores have been good in practice, a certain amount of levity has permeated the fairways and greens of the Sanford course.

Bill Lewis was serious about the $3,500 he pocketed in the recent Spacecoast tour stop at Mayfair. But he's not content. Seems only a bigger chunk of the fame and fortune from the tiny ball sport will satisfy these young lions.

The tournament proper begins Wednesday.

The state high school wrestling tournament will be in our backyard. Florida High School Activities Association announced Winter Park High will be the site for Feb. 27-28 events.

Tennis Tourney Drops Pro Set

Nothing like rolling with the punches. Seminole High Booster Club had barely set groundrules for its Feb. 14-15 mixed doubles tennis tournament when state arose from the lob and volley set.

Seems plans were to have a pro set format. A few complaints indicated some entrants wanted more than a single stab for the $20 per couple entry fee. So, boosters Lefty Renaud and Wayne Albert rolled with the punch and made it a two-of-three sets, double elimination affair.

Which means the entrants will get plenty of tennis in for their $20.

Tourney will be staged at Emma Spencer courts.

Central Florida's only pari-mutuel harness racing facility will open next May 3 with a new name. Seems the Seminole Turf Club is no more. It's now the Seminole Harness Raceway.

Which is more to the point of harness racing. General manager Neil Makin is planning on a 109-night season of summer racing extending through Labor Day.

This will be the fourth consecutive year of racing in Casselberry, so perhaps by now racing fans will believe the Paul Bowen-operated track is here to stay.

Seminole Community College basketball fans were getting restless with the team 19-3 and on the verge of a fantastic season. Saturday night's game at Lake City could have been the springboard to even greater heights, but the key will come March 4-6 in DeLand at the state tournament.

Seminole's balance will make it a tough team to stop, but coach Joe Sterling isn't making any predictions yet. "We have to get there first," he says.

So true.

That beep-beep sound from Longwood today is at 250-strong field of small fries entered in the Winter Nationals Bicycle Motocross.

Racing at the Bear Claw track at Miller Industrial Park, just off SR 427, begins at 1.

Competitors' ages range from 5 to 16.

and proudly states, "We won 'em both."

The attitudes learned in physical education classes carry over into other areas, according to Goldsboro principal C. C. Roberts. He says there have been fewer discipline problems this year.

"The physical education program teaches good conduct and how to win or lose gracefully," Roberts says. "We tried playing flag football, but there was too much rowdiness before. This year we had better success, and the kids established friendships with the teams they played."

The addition of Marlette and Mrs. Riefenrath has helped the program immensely, says Roberts.

But even Perez will be the first to admit it is Vincent who has made this series what it is.

The Orlando 152-pounder is a flamboyant, cocky fighter who has a permanent nickname. Instead, he is called everything from "Mr. Excitement" to "White Ali," as well as a few unmentionables.

The strange thing about the Vincent-Perez series, is that hardly anyone remembers their first fight. It took place in April 10, 1974, and was held in favor of Vincent after three rounds.

At that time Perez was nothing more than a losing preliminary fighter and Vincent was coming back from a self-imposed four-year exile from boxing.

In fact, after that fight, Perez retired and it looked like the pair would never get together again.

Fate stepped in and Vincent was hurt in an automobile accident while recuperating. Perez returned to the ring to become one of the area's winning favorites.

When Vincent resumed his career, he found Perez not only active but far in front of him in the ratings.

This seemed to infuriate Vincent and the loud talker went to every newspaper, radio and TV station, anyone else who would listen to him.

Vincent-Perez: The Match

Victor "Taco" Perez and Joey Vincent. They aren't exactly the greatest fighters to lace up a pair of gloves. Or for that matter, to ever fight in Central Florida. In fact, there are those who will argue that Perez and Vincent are at best, just mediocre pug.

But in this part of the country they are Ali-Frazier, Dempsey-Turney, and Zale-Graziano all rolled up into one fantastic fight series.

The third version of the Perez-Vincent wars is set to take place Tuesday night at the Orlando Sports Stadium and to find out what attracts the record breaking crowds to their battles, you have to take a closer look at the participants.

Perez, a resident of Sanford, is the one who held the Southern junior middleweight title. He is currently ranked among the Top 10 by Ring Magazine. And he left Vincent on the floor for almost five minutes the last time they met, last August.

But even Perez will be the first to admit it is Vincent who has made this series what it is.

Palatka Man Nabs $14,000

WELAKA (AP) — A Palatka papermill worker who took three days off to go fishing has won $14,000 and first place in the Florida Invention Bass tournament.

Manuel Spencer, 42, caught only one three-pound bass in the final eight hours of fishing Friday, but his three-day catch of 16 bass weighed in at 51 pounds, four ounces and was enough to win the $50,000 tournament.

It was a big payday for the father of five who took the time off from his $12,000-a-year job. "I had some bad luck today," said Spencer. "I'm glad it didn't happen earlier. I don't think my shaky nerves could have held up."

Bill Ward, an Amsterdam, Mo., fishing tackle manufacturer, finished second with 30 pounds, seven ounces. He jumped from 10th place Thursday to win the $4,000 runner-up prize.

Another Missouri angler, Roger Moore of Branson, finished with 29 pounds, six ounces to win the $3,000 third place.

Bo Dowden, of Natchitoches, La., with 27 pounds, four ounces was fourth, winning $2,500. Bill Dance of Memphis, Tenn., the top-ranked bass pro in 1974, collected $1,500 for fifth with 26 pounds, six ounces.

Cooper, 61, who has been winning golf tournaments for 30 years, shot a one-under-par 71 Friday on the Disney World Magnolia Course for a total of 140 after 36 holes.

He was the only one among the 100 first-round leaders not to falter.

Fred Wampler of Denver first round leader at 67, slipped to 74 and Bob Watson of Rye, N.Y., who had an opening 68, fell to 75 to tie for second at 141.

At 144 was Bill Ezinicki of Bolton, Mass., a former National Hockey League player, on a pair of 72s. At 145 were George Bayer of Detroit, 70-75, and Morgan Fottrell of Rancho Mirage, Calif., 74-71.

Defending champion Charlie Sifford, a former tour regular and now a pro in Brecksville, Ohio, was at 148 after a pair of two-over-par 74s.

Sam Snead of Hot Springs, Va., earned 73-77-150 and Doug Ford of Tuckahoe, N.Y., shot 78-74-152.

Gators Eying Orlando Tilt

ORLANDO (AP) — The University of Florida will play its Nov. 27 football game against the University of Miami in Orlando's expanded Citrus Bowl if the stadium can be rented at a reduced fee.

The University of Florida will submit a formal lease proposal for the 52,000-seat facility to the Orange County Civic Facilities Authority next week asking for a reduction in the standard 12 1/2 per cent rental to 10 per cent.

Apopka Fisherman's Lead Holds, Crowned Bass Boss

By BOB ORRELL Herald Outdoor Correspondent

Jim Kremer, Apopka, out-fished a field of 135 contestants and walked off with the grand prize in The American Bass Fisherman Tournament held at Morroe Harbour Marina the last three days.

Kremer took home $3,100 cash, a Hurst bass boat, trailer, fully equipped with a 135 hp. Evinrude motor, electric trolling motor, and electronic fish finding equipment.

His total catch for the three days amounted to 43 pounds the five ounces outstripping his nearest rival, Warren Crabtree, Summerville, S.C., by 16 pounds.

In the big bass category, Clint Elkins, Orlando, survived a last minute scare as his 11-pound, six-ounce lunker was challenged by one which hit the scales at slightly under 11 pounds. Elkins was awarded a Hurst bass boat with electronic equipment.

The awards dinner, held Friday night at Lake Monroe Inn, was a scene of utter confusion, good natured kidding, and happy smiles as George Oates, president of the AFB, handed out checks to winners as far down the ladder as 35th place.

Top money winners in the contest underwent a polygraph test immediately following the final weigh-in to assure that the tournament was strictly on the square. Oates announced that only one infringement of rules happened and that was accidental. One boat suffered mechanical failure and could not make it back to the marina.

Through a misunderstanding, the days catch was brought in by car, an improper procedure. However, it had no effect on final scores.

One of the winners, asked where he caught his fish, replied, "In the mouth."

Mrs. William Small won the $20 door prize: "First thing I ever won in my life," she said.

Only one mishap occurred in three days. Joe Wilson, who came in third, hit an underwater obstruction knocking a hole in his boat. Humming fast with the drain plug out and his partner bailing water like mad, Joe didn't quite make it to the dock. He had to beach the rapidly sinking craft North of 14 bridge.

All the professional bass men agreed, "It was a great tournament—one that really tested the skill with all the cold weather and low water."

Kremer, grand prize winner, works in a tool and die shop, is married and has seven children. Asked if he planned to enter all the tournaments on the circuit, he replied, "Can't make 'em all, got to earn a living for these seven kids."

Not owning a sophisticated bass boat, Kremer was indeed happy to come in first. He said that he plans to use his newly acquired rig to "fish as often as possible and enter as many tournaments as he can."

Oviedo, Trinity Prep Escape Brushes With Defeat

Lucky 13 By Hird Too Much

By LOUIS SAPHIS
Herald Correspondent
OVIEDO — It proved to be a lucky number for Gary Hird Friday night as the sophomore jumping jack led the Oviedo Lions to a 62-43 upset of the Kissimmee Kowboys.

Offensively, Hird banged in 13 rebounds but it was his 13 rebounds and numerous blocked shots that caused his head coach, Dale Phillips, to yield praise after the Orange Bell Conference game.

"I'd want you to say it was Gary's best all-around effort," Coach Phillips explained after his charges had gotten revenge in an earlier 66-38 loss to Kissimmee. "A contest in which Hird accounted for 26 markers) he had a better offensive game than tonight he had in any of his previous games."

"I'm really anxious to get out of the year and play in the state," Hird said. "I'm really looking forward to playing. It's not work, it's fun."

The super strong Northern Modified will run for five nights, the 10th through the 14th, and the Late Models will run Feb. 12-14. Jerry Cooke and Richie Evans have stated they will be there just south of the state line. The Late Models will be for three Southern cars that have not raced at any tracks past the Mason Dixon Line in 1975.

This is an oddity as it will give a very big advantage to Florida based cars as they will not have to compete against some of the super strong Northern Modifieds. Ota has also put out a big race for the 3 tracks for both groups of cars on the top 20 cars in the 104 lap features will split up $3,000.

The Stadium is located in the heart of Daytona at Highway 92 the way to Daytona International Speedway. Practice period will start daily at 2 p.m. with the first heat starting at 7 p.m. The races should be quick and furious as there is an 11 o'clock curfew.

The 1975 Senior mild auto racing season will begin with the first annual Jack Cornell Memorial event. Set Feb. 6, at the super fast Volusia County Speedway, the race will honor the memory of Jack Cornell, a promising young driver, fatally injured here one year ago.

During the 1975 Volusia program, Jack was involved in a seemingly minor fender. His car slid into the crash wall and young Jack did not move. Rescue crews found him slumped over the wheel, a major bruise on the side of his head. Jack Cornell did not regain consciousness; he died May 20, 1975.

The 1975 Volusia Speedway midweek races will again list the Cornell Racing Team as an entry. "Jack would want us to be there," advises his brother, Carroll Cornell. The Memorial Memorial Race is the first of a four day series of mild auto racing set for par on the 2.125 yard track at the Rockwell Center and Country Club course, and Murphy and Irwin matched 69 in the duet, tripping, shifting winds, and the car had lost 100 lbs of weight.

Johnny Brown is making good progress on the revamping of his new record running circuit as the body has been retouched and painted white. He was fitting in a new rear suspension. Brown expects the car to be finished in the next couple weeks in time for the IHRA Winter Nationals in Miami.

U.S. Open champion Lou Graham and three others were at 136 and two more players were at 137, leaving nine men locked within two shots of each other at the top halfway through this chase for a $46,000 first prize.

Graham shot a 69 and was tied with 1975 Rookie of the Year Roger Maltbie, Tommy McGinnis and Al Geberger. Maltbie didn't make a bogey and didn't have a "9" on his card in his bid, matching the best score of the day. Geberger had a second-round 70, McGinnis 69.

5 T-Birds For Coach In Victory

ORLANDO — Trinity Prep and Tabernacle Christian played sea-saw Friday night, alternating winning quarters before Trinity held on to scrape by with a 43-40 win.

One of Trinity's biggest problems was converting free throws, canning but 12 of 27 attempts. Had they made more, they would have been close.

Trinity's hero never did get into double figures, but the team got a balanced effort from Coach Phillips and Norbert Seals with eight each, and Mike Denicore and David Syre with seven each.

That night lines were clearly drawn. Fans were either for Perez or Vincent. There was no middle ground. And like two armed camps the groups sat and waited for their respective hero to finally meet in the showdown.

That bout took place on Aug. 5, and most walked out that night feeling it was finally over. Perez had finished off by that time, but a numbing injury that left Vincent for dead on the canvas during fourth round action.

A slight controversy arose immediately after the fight when Vincent claimed he was laid low by a head butt. But movies taken of the fight proved otherwise.

The movies did show something — that Vincent did most of the plucking in the fight and Perez did most of the catching.

The winner walked out of the bout with the Southern title, but he also walked away with a broken nose and a sound recollection of Vincent's punching power.

The loser has insisted since that night that he went into the ring in pitiful shape. He admits it was his fault, because he took Perez too lightly and the importance of the fight to him.

Ball Benefits Seminole Youth Ranch

Proceeds from the 1976 Valentine Ball, sponsored by the Sanford City Council of Beta Sigma Phi, will benefit the Seminole Youth Ranch, Inc. The Ranch, located on a 21-acre wooded lot off S.R. 419, Winter Springs, is a non-profit, interdenominational institution for troubled juveniles. "In 1962, a young boy hanged himself in the County jail, and this stirred up the public," explained James Lynd, executive director of the Ranch. The boy was in jail not because he was delinquent, but because there was no other facility in the county to place a troubled, homeless youth, Lynd added. The result of the tragedy was the purchase of land by concerned citizens and construction of a cottage to house troubled and delinquent children. It opened in September, 1974. Meantime, the Seminole Juvenile Detention Center was established, providing shelter for delinquent juveniles. The Youth Ranch took under its wing these children whose family and home life was intolerable. Since it opened, 40 children, mostly boys, have been housed at the Ranch. A maximum of 12 can be housed at any one time, and ages range from 10 to 18. About 90 per cent of the youth are from Seminole County. "We need to expand the facility," said Lynd. "At the moment there are more children needing shelter than we can provide for. And we would like to build a second cottage to house girls some time in the future." He said it costs on the average $11 a day to support each child. In August 1975, the Seminole Youth Ranch changed its name from Sky King Youth Ranch. In addition to Director Lynd, the Ranch is staffed with a secretary-bookkeeper and a man-and-wife team of house parents. A Sanford resident for six years, Donna's hobbies and special interests are reading, sewing, knitting, piano playing and all phases of music. Donna has served Gamma Lambda as parliamentarian, corresponding secretary, recording secretary, publicity chairman, social chairman and program chairman.

Aunt's Birthday Is Affair Fit For Queen

By RIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old boy who has what I think is a rather unique plan.

My Aunt Shirley is going to be 50 years old in April. Her birthday falls on the same day as Queen Elizabeth's. In fact they will both be 50 on that day.

I had in mind to send Queen Elizabeth a very elaborate birthday card and in it, ask her if she would please send my Aunt Shirley a congratulatory letter on her official stationery.

My friends and relatives to whom I have confided my plan think I am crazy. They say Queen Elizabeth wouldn't be bothered with such a ridiculous request, but I want to give it a try all the same.

DEAR ABBY: Please settle something. My lady friend and I and another couple went to a supper club. When we came in, the other couple saw a gentleman they knew, so they stopped to greet him and introduced him to us. (He was alone.)

After we were seated, this newly introduced gentleman came to our table and asked me if I minded if he danced with my date. I very politely said, "Yes, sir, I do mind." Of course, he left.

I am now a "bad guy," according to my lady friend. She thinks I should have given her the privilege of deciding whether or not she wanted to dance with this man.

I told her that he didn't ask HER — he asked ME, and I felt that he was intruding.

Please give me your opinion.

Pretty blonde Mindy Balmer, 2 1/2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Balmer, 116 Clover Ln., Longwood, is Central Florida's poster child for the upcoming United Cerebral Palsy (UCP) telethon.

Her daughter loves all the attention Mrs. Balmer said. A victim of cerebral palsy since birth, both Mindy's legs and her left arm are affected by the disease. She wears short leg braces.

However, this in no way prevents her being an active, energetic youngster, says her mother. She recently learned to walk on her own and loves to ride her tricycle with brother Jason, 4.

"Mindy's made wonderful progress since she's been having therapy at the (UCP) clinic," commented Mrs. Balmer. The treatments are free at the Orlando clinic, which is supported by funds donated during the annual telethon.

The telethon will be broadcast from the Orlando Municipal Auditorium. The public is invited to attend. Stars performing for UCP will be Gordon and Meredith MacRae, and Ruth McFadden.

According to Jerri Kirk, overall chairman, an unusual variety of items has been donated. An added feature of the fête will be a bake sale under the direction of Margaret Loucks, Mary Drew and Mary Gray.

Food Welcomes Chinese New Year 4674!

Looking for a reason — or an excuse — to have a dinner party? Why not celebrate Chinese New Year which this year falls on Jan. 31.

On the Chinese lunar calendar it will be the first day of the year 4674. The Chinese name each year after an animal (following a 12-year cycle) and 4674 is the Year of the Dragon.

The Year of the Dragon, which starts Jan. 31, follows the tradition of naming the years after constellations of the Zodiac in 12-year cycles. In order after the Dragon are the constellations of Snake, Horse, Sheep, Monkey, Rooster, Dog, Boar, Rat, Ox, Tiger, and Rabbit.

Nowadays the celebration of the New Year is concentrated into a few days. In days gone by, according to Oriental lore experts of La Choy Food Products, preparations began a month in advance and festivities lasted a full month after New Year's Day, from new moon to full moon.

Weeks before the New Year, villages ousted with housecleaning activity, befitting the New Year as a time of renewal. Men in masks and warrior costumes symbolically chased pestilence out of the town. A village, garbed as a sorcerer, ran through the streets with an ax in hand driving out evil spirits. All debts were to be paid before the old year ended.

The Chinese say if you were born in the Year of the Dragon (that would be 1904, 1916, 1928, 1940, 1952 or 1964), you will have good health plus lots of pep and energy. Dragon people, the Chinese tell us, are also good leaders who get things done easily and get angry easily. But people trust them because they're honest, brave and sophisticated. They're nobody's fool, however, and never borrow money or make speeches.

In any event, whether you were born in the Year of the Dragon or not, you'll want to try your hand at Chinese cookery to usher in this festive holiday.

Quick-frying is perhaps the most common method of Chinese cookery, was developed to help conserve scarce cooking fuel and has the added advantage of preserving the vitamins in food, particularly in vegetables.

By this method, food is cooked in a small quantity of oil over very high heat, for a very short time. Ingredients are cut into small and uniform pieces, so that they cook quickly and finish cooking at the same time.

You can cook Oriental dishes in your own home using the basic utensils you already have in your kitchen. There is no need to purchase special Oriental equipment.

The most important differences between Western cooking and Oriental cooking are two: the care taken in the preparation of all dishes, and the artistry of each meal's presentation at the table.

Oriental cooks strive to make each dish a masterpiece for both the palate and the eye.

Valentine King Contest Aids County Youth

It's election time again for a Valentine King of Hearts, and each penny you give counts as one vote for the king candidate of your choice.

Sponsored each year by the Sanford City Council of Beta Sigma Phi, in conjunction with the annual Valentine Ball, money collected by king contest candidates is put toward the total benefit for the selected charity.

This year, sorority members have voted to donate all proceeds from the king competition and ball to the Seminole Youth Ranch.

In 1975, $2,600 was raised for the Central Florida Zoo. Beta Sigma Phi hopes to do at least equal, and better still, improve on this total in 1976.

Contestants so far are: William E. MacLaughlin, Lions Club; John Kader, Elks Club; Skip Senkark, Sanford; Seminole Jaycees; Rich Quigley, Sanford Police Department; Nick Martucci, Knights of Columbus; and Bill Sheppard, Optimist Club.

King of Hearts in 1975 was Larry Blair, sponsored by Sanford-Seminole Jaycees, with John Foster, Sanford Police Department, as first runner-up.

More king candidates are expected to enter the contest during the coming two weeks. All candidates will be staging a variety of events to raise "votes" to win them the crown and the Youth Ranch a substantial benefit.

Sheppard and his comrades in the Optimist club, for example, are sponsoring a "Trash and Treasure Sale" at Sanford Plaza Hotel, from 9 a.m. - 4 p.m. to garner votes for the Youth Ranch benefit.

The Sanford "friend of youth" service club is also selling donations on $200 worth of groceries.

Jaycees Present Drama

An American history lesson, witty and exciting, will be dramatized when Dana Andrews, Howard Duff and Monte Markham star in Norman Corwin's play, "Together Tonight!" Jefferson, Hamilton and Burr.

Playing one night only, this salute to the country's Bicentennial will be presented by the Orlando Jaycees, Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. at the Orlando Municipal Auditorium.

"There ever been a time when people called each other so many foul names as they do now?" wondered Aaron Burr in 1799. "Everything I have achieved," he is reported to have said, "is in spite of Alexander Hamilton."

America's most famous duel, between Burr and Hamilton, is fought on stage in "Together Tonight!"

The production is bursting with tension as three highly explosive and opposing historical characters come together on stage to speak, argue and demonstrate their feelings on government, freedom of the press, slavery, morals, women's liberation and a host of other subjects.

The salute is historically accurate in context, with all the drama and conflict that was an integral part of this country's founding.

Tickets are on sale at Altamonte Mall Ticket Agency and Colonial Plaza Ticket Agency. Prices: $7, $8, $5 and $4.

For Older People Save On Some Vegetables

THE HERALD SERVICES
Broccoli, collards, spinach, other dark-green vegetables, and sweet potatoes are what one consumer reporter calls "blockbusters" because they supply substantial amounts of vitamin A as well as some vitamin C and minerals such as calcium and iron. Vegetables high in vitamin A include carrots and winter squash. Though every vegetable supplies some vitamins and minerals, most can't match for nutritional value these vegetables listed above.

In terms of actual cost, broccoli and spinach are relatively expensive, with fresh broccoli at about 15 cents a serving, based on August 1975 prices. However, you can often save money on dark greens including broccoli and spinach, by buying them at the frozen food section of the grocery store. Since the manufacturer can use smaller, broken leaves and stalks for chopped frozen products, they often cost less than fresh whole produce.

Many other fresh vegetables cost a good deal less than the dark greens. Cabbage, carrots, celery, lettuce, and potatoes all sold for about 6 cents a serving in August 1975.

Some vegetables, on the other hand, usually cost so much that we advise you to scratch them off your shopping list, unless they are specially priced. These vegetables include artichokes, asparagus, and cauliflower. You can almost always save money by buying vegetables in season. They not only cost less but are usually fresher. However, most vegetables are generally available throughout the year.

One of the best nutritional buys in the marketplace is potatoes, which are usually available at about 6 cents a serving. If cooked and eaten with the skin, potatoes contain significant amounts of 39 important nutrients to sustain human life longer than any other single food, including cow's milk. They supply significant amounts of 39 important nutrients, a variety of vitamins, plus protein. Though potatoes are commonly thought to be fattening, in fact a medium-size potato has about 90 calories when baked, and 80 when boiled. It's what you add to the potato — the gravy, butter, or margarine — and the way you prepare it that determines how fattening it really is. For instance, a potato that is fried has as much as four times the calories as the same amount of baked potato (served without margarine or butter). Potatoes often come in bulky bags that can be inconvenient for the shopper who cooks for only one or two. Frozen and instant potato products are easy-to-prepare alternatives. They are just as nutritious and generally cost no more than a variety of sizes and types, and, best of all, many of them are not expensive — as most other convenience foods are.

Frozen french fries can cost about half as much as french fries prepared at home. Instant mashed potatoes are also less expensive than homemade mashed. Fancier commercial potato products, however, such as hash browns, scalloped potatoes, and potato puffs, are not the same bargain. Dehydrated scalloped and hash brown potatoes and frozen potato puffs all cost more than the same type of potato cooked at home.

In And Around Chuluota
Fire Hall Named For Don Loftus
The Don A. Loftus Civic Center is the new name for the Chuluota Fire Hall. The Chuluota firemen were proud to receive the deed to the building from Loftus for a permanent community center. The presentation of the deed was a memorial occasion that brought back memories of the days of the beginning of the community as we know it today.

The chicken bar-b-q held by the Chuluota firemen was a big success both socially and financially. The firemen worked all day preparing the cook-out. A happy, hungry Chuluota citizenry enjoyed the chicken, baked potatoes and salad which was served by the capable junior firemen.

Plans are being made to have such a dinner once a month to raise the necessary money for taxes and insurance on the newly acquired civic center.

We have another new addition to Chuluota. Jennifer Diana, born Jan. 25 to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burke of 6th Street, Jennifer has a brother, Robert Jr., who is intensely proud of his little sister.

Dorothy Dunnington of Clinton, Md., is the guest of Ruth Boswell. Ruth is happy to have Dorothy here because she was a favorite cousin of Herbert's. Dorothy, incidentally, is enjoying Central Florida and

The Community Church held its annual congregational meeting Sunday after church services to install the newly elected officers for the coming year. The one new deacon, Henry Willett, had been consecrated at the 11 a.m. service with an impressive ceremony conducted by Rev. George Downs.

After talking to Mildred Byrnes, I am happy to report that her husband, Carl, is recuperating after his recent surgery at Winter Park Memorial Hospital.

Plan Embroidery For Whole Room
It's natural to want to use your needle artistry to decorate your home. But, watch out! — this is sometimes less effective than it might be if not worked out beforehand as an integral part of the decorative scheme. The woman who plans a room in its entirety, adds a few accessories, will often add her embroidery in a haphazard way. She may start with a pillow in which the colors were chosen to complement the room, then add a creased embroidery picture — and find that somehow it doesn't work. This is the beginning of a series of compromises: either the subject of her embroidery or its color scheme may suit the room, yet the finished project looks like an afterthought. It remains as a woman who is dissatisfied with her appearance and adds a piece of embroidery, a belt or a scarf in a futile effort to improve it.
