Escapes apprehended

LONGWOOD — James Everett Gentile, 23, of 292 Hilltop Dr. in Longwood, and Richard Anthony Wilcox, 21, of 309 Mandrake St. in Orlando, who had escaped from the Orange County jail on Tuesday, were arrested yesterday afternoon in Longwood.

Longwood Police captured the two after receiving word the escapees may be in the area. Gentile's red Camero was spotted in the vicinity of Acorn and Gary Streets.

When the police attempted to stop the car, the driver, later identified as Gentile, allegedly refused to halt. A short distance later the car stopped and the two allegedly attempted to flee on foot.

Both were apprehended by Longwood police and arrested.

They were later transported to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility where they are being held without bond.

Gentile was charged as an accessory after the fact and the felony possession of firearms. Wilcox was charged with escape.

Bigger driving aids ahead

TAMPA — As Florida's population gets older, road signs, stop lights and lane markers will get bigger.

Ben Watts, secretary of the state Department of Transportation, approved the changes Tuesday under the Older Road-User program to make driving easier for senior citizens.

The plan calls for wider stripes separating lanes, oversized road signs that are easier to read and traffic lights that are bigger and brighter.

In Florida, 17 percent of the residents were over 65 by 1980. By 2020, forecasters say, one quarter of Floridians will be in that age bracket, compared with one in six Americans nationally.

Most changes would be at or near major intersections, statistically the most likely places for accidents.

Some of the proposals have been tested in pilot projects along busy U.S. 19 in Clearwater and New Port Richey, said Chris Call, a transportation department spokeswoman. She said the changes have been cheap and simple to implement — and effective.

Victory is ours

Troops' kin jubilant, cautious

By LAURA L. SULLIVAN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Last night's announcement of U.S. victory in the Persian Gulf was met with jubilation and caution in the Sanford area.

"Thrilled beyond words," said Judy Osborn, who organized the 130-family Sanford's Desert Storm Support Group. Her son Sonny Osborn, a Marine lance corporal in the 3rd Re-Con Battalion, has been stationed in the Persian Gulf since last fall.

"It's been a long, long, long, long, long 40 days."

"We've been trying to remember what we did before the war started," Osborn said. "Maybe now we can go back to living normally without fear constantly in our hearts."

But still, she is waiting for the phone call that will tell her when her 23-year-old son will come back home.

Many families of service men and women in the Gulf said this morning they shared Osborn's cautious celebration.

"I'm very, very, very glad, but I'm still apprehensive," said Cindy Brown, whose husband Dennis is a reservist water purification specialist with the Army Quartermaster Corps. "I'm really happy, but until I talk to him, until he's safe at home, I'm going to be reserved."

Her husband called home to Lake Mary Saturday morning.

The battlefields of the Persian Gulf were quiet today. Saddam Hussein's Iraq, broken by a six-week beating in the air and on the ground, bowed to all allied demands and hewed to the cease-fire announced by President Bush.

World leaders and ordinary Americans alike hailed the cease-fire that appeared to herald the end of the Persian Gulf War — and turned to the sober task of reckoning its costs in blood, money and hatred.

"The cease-fire is holding fine," said the commander of British forces, Lt. Gen. Peter de la Billiere. "I don't think there's much left of the Iraqis to have an incident with."

"The cease-fire does appear to be holding," agreed a senior Pentagon military official. He said there have been small skirmishes, exchanges with groups of 10 or 15 who "haven't got the word" that hostilities had ceased.

At least 126 troops were killed in the war. Seventy-nine Americans died, including 28 in the ground war, and 52 others were listed as non-combat deaths.

Iraqi casualties were far, far higher, with one estimate ranging up to 100,000. Allied commanders have refused to provide any count of Iraqi war dead, and Iraq has issued none recently.

Continuation of the cease-fire was contingent on a halt to Iraqi attacks — in the war zone or with missiles — and other conditions including the immediate release of prisoners of war and any captured civilians.

Iraq's army was in shambles today, decimated by the allies' lightning four-day ground offensive.

County struggles with growing needs

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Seminole County's population growth during the 1980s could prove to be very taxing to current and future residents of the county.

The county's population grew by 60 percent during the 1980s, from 179,752 people in 1980 to 287,529 in 1990, according to the U.S. Census. That's the equivalent of about 30 folks moving to the county every day.

And that's 30 new folks a day grouped into about 12 families looking for 12 homes who will have a total of about 17 cars that will take about 10 six- to eight-mile trips daily on local roads. About 15 of those new people will get library cards and start checking out library books.

About 13 of the new residents will be kids who will attend a nearby school. Several of the new people will visit a county park. Some will need health care or social services and won't be able to pay for them.

Although many of the new people pay property taxes, their demand for county services and facilities exceeds what the taxes will support. County commissioners, over the last 10 years, have been reluctant to increase property taxes as they saw tax revenues increase each year from the new residents.

Last year, that philosophy caught up with them. The county raised taxes by about one mill, $1 per $1,000 of taxable property. It was the largest increase the county has made during the previous 10 years.

Officials ask state to repay county loans

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — The Seminole County Expressway Authority will ask the state to repay $6.8 million in county loans and interest to the authority then ask the county for $363,534 of it back.

Expressway Director Gerald Brinton said the new loan by the county could come from unbudgeted interest on the state's repayment of an earlier county loan so it would not "cost" the county anything. The five county commissioners comprising five-sevenths of the authority said they would consider the request when they receive it, but voted to send the authority request to the county.

In return for the repayment of the loans made by the county to the authority, the authority agreed to give the state the first half-mile of the Seminole County Expressway which has been completed between the Orange County line and Aloma Avenue. Brinton said the state loan repayment could be completed by mid-March.

Brinton said the loan would be needed for salaries and other administrative costs for about 16 months during the design of the final six miles of the expressway between U.S. Highway 17-92 and Interstate 4. The authority approved a request to the state for $7.34 million for the design. Brinton said the advance could not be used for administration.

All of the arrangements approved Wednesday between the authority and the state — the loan repayment, the design money advance and the ownership change of the completed expressway — were part of a deal worked out between state

Long shadow cast on legislation

By CURT ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Nearly every time Rep. Peter Rudy Wallace walks into a room of lawmakers these days, the talk centers on one topic: the shape of legislative and congressional districts after they're redrawn next year.

"Members are actively interested in how their current district will look," said Wallace, a St. Petersburg Democrat who chairs the House Reapportionment Committee. "It takes up a lot of the dinner conversation."

While the actual reapportionment session won't take place until next January, lawmakers are already jockeying to protect their political interests. And that could have an effect on this year's legislation as members try to curry favor with those who have the power to draw the lines.

House Speaker T.K. Wetherell and Rep. Bo Johnson, a Milton Democrat scheduled to ascend to the speakership after the 1992 elections, wield enormous influence over reapportionment.

"It will tend to make members perhaps more responsive to them than they might otherwise be," Wallace said.

Wetherell, D-Daytona Beach, said talk on the subject is mostly speculation.

"They're all talking about what it'll be, and what if," he said. "They don't have the data yet."

The Legislature redraws its 120 House and 40 Senate districts every 10 years based on shifts in the population recorded by the U.S. Census. Lawmakers also draw congressional lines; because of the migration to the South during the 1980s, Florida will get four new seats in the U.S. House.

Democrats have watched in dismay as their share of registered voters has dropped from 68 percent 10 years ago to just 56 percent today as Republicans registered 1 million new voters compared to just 63,000 for the Democrats.

But the 1990 elections kept both houses in the party's hands and put Democratic Gov. Lawton Chiles in Jan. 28 More than 60 Iraqi fighter-bombers find refuge in Iran, which says it is impounding the planes until the war ends.

Jan. 30 First big ground battle fought at the frontier port of Khafji in the northwest corner of Saudi Arabia. Eleven U.S. Marines killed, seven by friendly fire. Iraq forced to abandon centralized control of its air defense.

Feb. 4 Iranian President Hashemi Rafsanjani makes surprise offer to hold direct talks with Iraq and United States.

Feb. 6 King Hussein of Jordan tells sharply toward Iraq, describing war as effort by outsiders to destroy that country and carve up Arab world.

Feb. 13 Allied warplanes destroy underground facility in Baghdad and officials there say many civilians were killed. The United States calls the target a military command center. U.N. Security Council votes 9-2, with four abstentions, to hold closed formal session on the conflict, the first since the war broke out.

Feb. 23 The United States and its allies launch a large-scale ground assault against Iraqi troops.

Feb. 25 On the first full day of the ground war, Gen. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, the commander of Operation Desert Storm, says allied troops were moving into Kuwait and Iraq at great speed and that 5,500 prisoners were captured in the first 12 hours. More than 300 attack helicopters from the 101st Airborne Division landed deep into Iraq in what was called the largest helicopter assault in military history. It was aimed at cutting Saddam Hussein's supply lines.

Feb. 26 Saddam orders his forces to withdraw from Kuwait, Baghdad radio reported. The White House reacts icily to the radio dispatch. The Iraqis score a direct hit with a Scud missile attack on a U.S. barracks in Dhahran, Saudi Arabia, killing 28 troops and injuring 100.

Feb. 28 Kuwaiti resistance leaders declare they are in control of their smoke-filled capital after nearly seven months of Iraqi occupation. A majority of U.N. Security Council members insist that Baghdad accept all 12 council resolutions before a cease-fire can be considered, diplomats say. President Bush declares the war will go on.

Feb. 27 President Bush orders coalition military forces to suspend combat attacks at midnight, EST, exactly 100 hours after the ground assault that dooms Saddam Hussein's occupation of Kuwait. "Kuwait is liberated, Iraq's army is defeated," Bush declares. A permanent cease-fire depends on the actions of Iraq, he says.

Virtuoso performance

Gen. Norman Schwarzkopf directed victory

By MIKE FEINGOLD
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — He slapped his pointer on the map, and you had to pay attention. There stood Gen. H. Norman Schwarzkopf in his baggy desert camouflage outfit, spinning a story of how the outnumbered allies duped Saddam Hussein, blasted through his deadly mine fields and barbed wire and left the Iraqi army in tatters.

Schwarzkopf

Far from the routine monotone presentations of his underlings, the colorful commander of Operation Desert Storm put on a spellbinding show in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia.

For the Iraqi soldiers dead in their trenches, he had pity.

For their commander, Saddam, he had scorn.

For the allies, he had a four-star salute.

For the Iraqi soldiers guilty, he said, of committing unspeakable atrocities upon the captive people of Kuwait he had contempt.

Those who did that, he spat, were "not part of the same human race, the people who did that, that the rest of us are."

And even for the Marines, this Army general had praise.

Their achievement in breaching a "very tough mine field with barbed wire fire trenches-type barrier," he said, was "absolutely superb," a military classic likely to be studied for years.

What, he was asked, did he think of Saddam's talents as a military strategist?

"Hah!" Schwarzkopf cried. He leaned on his lectern. He grinned.

"As far as Saddam Hussein being a great military strategist," he said, "he is neither a tactician, nor is he a general, nor is he a soldier."

"Other than that he's a great military man. I want you to know that."

With the skill of a politician,

Schwarzkopf saluted every element of the U.S.-led coalition in the Persian Gulf War.

He hailed the fighting spirit of the French and the "Brits" who performed "absolutely magnificently" and all the Arab partners — "It was the Saudis, it was the Kuwaitis, it was the Egyptians, it was the Syrians, it was the Emiris from the United Arab Emirates, it was the Bahrainis, it was the Qataris, and it was the Omanis, and I apologize if I've left anybody out."

"It was a great coalition of people, all of whom did a fine job."

To keep the Iraqi forces on the defensive along the Kuwait coast, he admitted to a ploy. He said he let the word go out that the allies intended to mount an amphibious landing while all the time he planned instead a powerful northward drive to attack from the west.

He wasn't modest about that strategy. It was, he said, "an absolutely, an extraordinary move ... a gigantic accomplishment."

Schwarzkopf's tone changed with the questions.

When a reporter suggested that the Iraqis' battlefield obstacles were not as troublesome as commanders had expected, he cut the questioner off: "Have you ever been in a mine field?" Schwarzkopf said the number of Americans killed — 79, just 26 in the ground battle — was "almost miraculous," then thought better of that.

His voice seemed to catch, and he added: "It will never be miraculous to the families of those people, but it is miraculous."

He could not say, he told another questioner, why the Iraqis had not used chemical or biological weapons. "I don't know the answer, I just thank God that they didn't."

Nor could he guess, he said, how many Iraqi troops had perished in battle.

"The people who will know best, unfortunately, are the families that won't see their loved ones come home."

National security can sometimes make it hard for a general to tell a good story, but Schwarzkopf, flush with victory, wasn't about to let secrecy rules get in his way. When asked for details about what special operations forces had done behind enemy lines as the attack got under way, he replied:

"We don't like to talk about what the special forces people do, as you're well aware." Pause.

"But in this case let me just cover some of the things they did."

Having paid the Iraqi forces the minimal compliment of blaming their defeat on faulty leadership, Schwarzkopf couldn't resist a verbal blast at the "elite" Republican Guard. He suggested the guard was cowardly in positioning itself to the rear of the front line. The coalition forces foiled that protective strategy with its flanking maneuver.

"And, oh, by the way, they also were well to the rear here. OK, so they could be the first ones to bug out, OK, when the battlefield started folding, when these poor fellows over here who didn't want to be here in the first place, bore the brunt of the attack," Schwarzkopf said. "But it didn't happen."

Schwarzkopf clearly had history on his mind. He made several references to the unprecedented scale of the military moves and to the way a force numerically outnumbered 3-2 foiled conventional wisdom that an attacking force should have at least a 3-1 advantage.

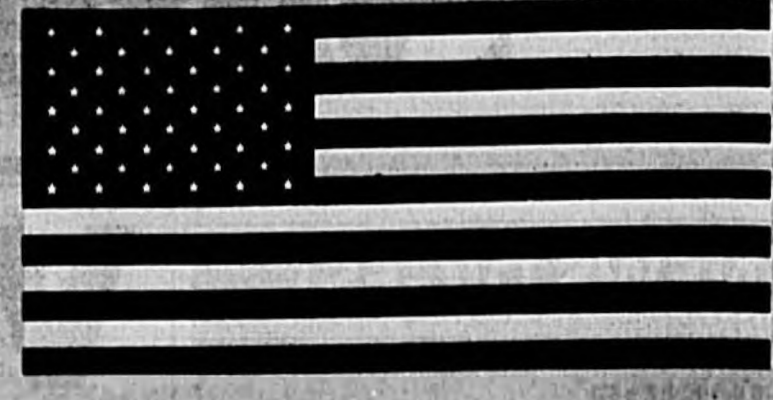

History came up again when Schwarzkopf was asked about his dad's role for body counts.

"I don't think there has ever been in the history of warfare a successful count of dead," he said.

And, playfully, the general could not keep from tweaking the press.

To a reporter who asked if he had been allowed to select the timing for the start of the ground campaign, Schwarzkopf raised an eyebrow and wondered, "Why do you think we did it at the wrong time?"

As usual, the press had the last word. It was this: "Thank you. Congratulations, general."

POLICE BRIEFS

Man turns self in on two warrants

On Tuesday, Elijah Williams, 24, of 510 Cypress Ave. Apt. 2 in Sanford, turned himself into authorities at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility.

Williams was arrested on charges of violating his probation in an aggravated assault case and with violating his probation on an escape charge.

Williams will be held at the jail until after his first court appearance and then be released on his own recognizance, according to authorities.

Grand theft charged

Kim Katherine Kullaug, 19, who police said has no permanent address at this time, was arrested on Tuesday and charged with grand theft.

The arrest report alleges that on Jan. 19, Kullaug was babysitting at the house of the victim when she removed five gold rings and an Amoco credit card from the home. The rings were valued at approximately $3,500.

The report noted that the theft was not noticed until the victim received the bill from Amoco that showed $583.12 in charges for the month of January.

Kullaug was transported to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility where she was held on $500 bond.

Retail theft charged

Howard Warren Robinson of 2358 W. 18th St. in Sanford was arrested on Tuesday and charged with retail theft.

Robinson, the arrest report alleges, was in the custody of store employees at the Winn Dixie store, 2845 Airport Blvd. in Sanford, when Sanford police officers arrived.

Robinson was transported to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility where he was held on $500 bond.

Petty theft charged

Jennifer Michelle Brotach, 19, of 8271 Villa Bella in Sanford and Belinda Deniece Sanders, 18, of 2500 W. 25th St. in Sanford were arrested on Tuesday and charged with petty theft.

The theft allegedly occurred at the Burdines store at the Altamonte Mall in Altamonte Springs.

Brotach was charged with entering the store and allegedly placing assorted hair accessories, a pair of pants and a skirt, valued at about $70, into a store shopping bag and leaving the store without paying for the items.

Store employees allegedly witnessed the thefts and alerted the police.

The two women were transported to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility where they are each held in lieu of $100 bond.

Disorderly intoxication charged

Theodore John Heuring of 6910 Palm Springs Dr. in Altamonte Springs, was arrested on Tuesday and charged with disorderly intoxication.

Police officers spotted Heuring, who was allegedly staggering along the roadside on U.S. Highway 17-92 near Bush Boulevard in Sanford, and asked him for some identification. Police said he took on a combative stance and used profanity toward the officers.

He was taken into custody and transported to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility where he was held on $100 bond.

Results vary in drunk crackdown

By SANDRA WALEWSKI
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI — Florida's new crackdown on chronic drunk drivers scored big in the early going and drew attention from police departments in other states. But the pace of arrests has slowed and some of the initial offenders got less than the expected tough treatment.

In launching Operation Roundup last month, Florida highway officials made a list of 200 repeat drunk drivers apparently still on the road — despite revoked licenses, no insurance and at least six drunken-driving convictions.

Highway Patrol troopers in four counties, some working undercover, stake out these "worst of the worst" and arrest them if they drive.

Walter Boone, 54, of Tampa, had racked up 25 drunken driving convictions by the time he was arrested Jan. 24 for driving with a revoked license. He was fresh off a DUI arrest the week before — his 28th.

Boone was released on a $500 surety bond.

"It's ridiculous. I spent all my time investigating him and he was probably home before I finished my paperwork," said Florida Highway Patrol Trooper Bill Martinez.

It's ridiculous. I spent all my time investigating him and he was probably home before I finished my paperwork.

-Trooper Bill Martinez

However, Martinez credits publicity about the crackdown to a prosecutor's decision to upgrade Boone's latest DUI charge to a felony.

Florida Highway Patrol Trooper D.J. Torres, one of the 16 veteran troopers enforcing the program, said harsh penalties are essential deterrents.

"They're laughing at the system," Torres said. "We can't give them the jail time we'd like, but if we put these guys away, we'll send a message."

His latest target, for example, has an extensive criminal record, including battery on an officer and weapons charges, as well as nine DUI convictions.

The suspect, a delivery truck driver, was released from jail last November and arrested again for drunken driving Dec. 10, Torres said. Despite his license being suspended some 50 times and eventually revoked permanently, Torres said the Haleah man is still driving — with a fake license.

A month into the program, there were a total of 28 arrests in Dade, Broward, Orange and Hillsborough counties, said Maj. Mike Bales, a spokesman for the Florida Highway Patrol in Tallahassee. The program could expand statewide if successful.

"I think some of the most obvious ones we picked up right away," Bales said. "What we're finding now is it's taking a little more time to develop leads on these people."

Police in other cities and states are watching; a similar crackdown is getting under way in Baltimore County, Md.

Although some initial offenders were freed on little or no bail, officials said the penalties are getting tougher as prosecutors and judges hear more about the program and look deeper into defendants' driving records.

Four drivers have been convicted and sentenced to from one day to one year in jail, officials said. The highest bails under the program have been in Dade County. A Miami landscaper with eight DUI convictions recently was held on $51,000 bail on his arrest for driving with a revoked license — an offense with a typical bond of $500.

Despite qualms, Senate chairman will back Martinez as drug czar

By CAROLYN SKORNECK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — Former Florida Gov. Bob Martinez has only the "minimum level" of competence to be the nation's drug policy director, says Senate Judiciary Committee Chairman Joseph R. Biden Jr. But he'll get the chairman's vote anyway.

Biden, D-Del., announced his decision to vote for Martinez at the close of two days of hearings Wednesday.

Democrats blasted Martinez's credentials as well as his drug-fighting record in Florida, saying his drug plan was too oriented toward law enforcement to the detriment of drug treatment and education. Even the drug law enforcement boomeranged, they said, because resulting prison overcrowding forced the early release of violent criminals.

Despite sometimes harsh words, both Democrats and Republicans said they expected Martinez to be confirmed as director of the Office of National Drug Control Policy to succeed

William J. Bennett, who resigned in November.

The Judiciary Committee is expected to vote on the nomination March 7.

The only committee member who has announced he probably will vote against Martinez is Sen. Paul Simon, D-Ill. Simon said he found inadequate the nominee's vows to stay away from partisan politics while directing the drug policy office.

Biden expressed some uneasiness about voting for Martinez. He said he planned to work with the nominee "with great reservation in some areas, with no reservations in others."

The chairman said Martinez's background and competence meet "the minimum level that is required, although I am not convinced that he comes to this job with what I would hope a drug director would come to this job with, understanding that you can't be an expert on all of the fields."

The nomination of the one-term Florida governor, who was defeated for re-election last year, has been criticized by some Democrats as a political payoff. President Bush made appearances on behalf of Martinez and a son, Jeb Bush, was his campaign manager.

Martinez denied the payoff assertions when he testified Tuesday.

Biden said he hoped Martinez would capitalize on whatever closeness he has with the president because that friendship was "the most encouraging thing" about the nomination.

Almost half of 65-year-olds will need nursing

Study questions dominance of 'nursing-home' approach

By DANIEL G. HANEY
AP Science Writer

BOSTON — Nearly 1 million Americans who turned 65 last year are likely to live in nursing homes before they die, and almost 200,000 will spend more than five years there, according to a study released today.

"Over a lifetime, the risk of entering a nursing home and spending a long time there is substantial," researchers wrote.

The study projects that of 2.2 million Americans who turned 65 last year, more than 900,000 of them — or 43 percent — are expected to enter a nursing home at least once before they die.

In their analysis of the findings, the researchers questioned whether nursing homes, which now cost an average of about $25,000 a year, should remain the mainstay of care for the elderly.

"When one in seven men and one in three women who reached the age of 65 in 1990 are projected to spend at least one year in a nursing home, society needs to undertake a fundamental reassessment of long-term care, rather than simply paying for what has been done in the past," they wrote.

The study was based on a survey of 16,587 adults who died in 1986. It was written by economist Peter Kemper and epidemiologist Christopher M. Murtaugh of the U.S. Agency for Health Care Policy Research in Rockville, Md. and published in the New England Journal of Medicine.

Among the findings:

— Nearly two-thirds of the people using nursing homes will be women. This is because women live longer than men, and since they outlive their spouses, there is no one at home to care for them.

— Nearly one-third of all people who reached 65 in 1990 will spend at least three months in a nursing home; 25 percent at least a year, and 9 percent at least five years.

— Thirteen percent of all women will spend at least five years in a nursing home, compared with 4 percent of men.

— In 1986, whites used nursing homes more than blacks. Even when racial differences in longevity were taken into consideration, 38 percent of whites and 27 percent of blacks lived in nursing homes before their deaths.

The number of people in U.S.

nursing homes has risen dramatically in recent years. In 1964, about 500,000 people lived in nursing homes. By 1985, the number nearly tripled.

In an accompanying editorial, Drs. Robert and Rosalie Kane of the University of Minnesota said the study depicts "the dire consequences of the aging of a society" — and said the projections may be too conservative.

They suggested being more creative in finding substitutes for expensive nursing home care.

Cranston remains as Keating five closes

By LARRY MARGABAK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — The Senate Ethics Committee says Sen. Alan Cranston may have committed major ethics violations, but no action is needed against the four other members of the Keating Five.

Cranston, D-Calif., is fighting the allegations, while his colleagues are trumpeting the conclusion of their cases.

The six-member committee's unanimous report Wednesday set the stage for possible censure of Cranston by the full Senate.

The panel said it found "substantial credible evidence" that "Senator Cranston engaged in an impermissible pattern of conduct in which fund-raising and official activities were substantially linked."

The committee, even while ending the four other cases, said Sens. Donald W. Riegle Jr., D-Mich., and Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., "gave the appearance of being improper" in their actions on behalf of former savings and loan owner Charles H. Keating Jr.

"It's clear that I have been unfairly singled out, despite the evidence in all five cases."

—U.S. Sen. Alan Cranston

Sens. John Glenn, D-Ohio, and John McCain, R-Ariz., "exercised poor judgment," the committee concluded. But it said the two "violated no law ... or specific rule" of the Senate.

The panel did not repeat such a statement for Riegle and DeConcini, concluding instead that "no further action is warranted."

Keating and his associates donated $1.3 million to the campaigns and political causes of the five senators, most of it while the Federal Home Loan Bank Board was conducting its examination of Keating's now-failed Lincoln Savings and Loan of Irvine, Calif.

Lincoln was seized by federal regulators in April 1989 at a potential cost to taxpayers of more than $2 billion to cover insured deposits.

The 14-month investigation was triggered by a complaint from the public interest group Common Cause. Its president, Fred Wertheimer, called the decision "a damning indictment of the committee" because "all five senators in the Keating affair are culpable."

Wertheimer called the action on DeConcini and Riegle "indefensible and inexcusable" and said the findings on Glenn and McCain "cannot be justified."

The Ethics Committee findings against Cranston constitute a required statement detailing the specific charges against him — similar to an indictment. He now has a chance to respond and can request a hearing.

Cranston — who says won't seek re-election next year — gave only an opening statement during two months of public hearings in the case.

A Fun Filled Weekend For All

The St. Johns River Festival will highlight the weekend of March 2-3, 1991! The festival, held in Fort Mellon Park on the banks of beautiful Lake Monroe in the quaint and historic city of Sanford, Florida, will be a fantastic fun-filled weekend.

One hundred and twenty (120) artists and craftsmen will display their fine arts and crafts for sale and competition.

Children will be delighted and entertained not only by clowns and face painting, but by "Puff" the dragon who stands with her head forty feet in the air while they bounce merrily around her feet and legs (word has it that many moms and dads enjoy her whimsical bouncy charms as well!)

Continuous live entertainment at the festival is being provided by All American Sing-A-Long. A lively array of song and dance encompassing musical sounds from jazz to country will be on stage.

Complimenting the festival this year is the Spring Survival Sailing Regatta on Lake Monroe. The Lake Monroe Sailing Association sponsors this event in conjunction with the festival, adding to the tremendous variety of interests. Sailors from across the state of Florida will compete for trophies and prizes with the awards presentation occurring on the festival stage Sunday afternoon.

A wide variety of foods will add to the festival atmosphere. Come join the festivities March 2-3, 10:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M. for a most fun-tastic weekend!!

Drill for oil

Over the long term, offshore oil and gas development must be an essential component of America's comprehensive national energy policy.

This means that California's entire 1,100-mile coastline should not be kept permanently off limits to drilling. What is needed is a balanced policy that safeguards the environment — in part by prohibiting exploration in sensitive areas — but also allows for the prudent development of offshore energy resources.

The mere mention of offshore drilling sets most Californians on edge. After all, the state's majestic coastline is one of its most precious assets. It must be protected from reckless development.

But the question of offshore development is not a simple either/or proposition: protect the environment or allow unrestricted drilling. A balanced approach can both preserve the environment and permit greater offshore production. Thus the real question is how best to increase petroleum output without spoiling the coast.

Last summer, President Bush declared all but a small portion of the Central California coast off limits to drilling for the next 10 years. A new exploration plan being considered by the Interior Department honors that commitment. It proposes to lease 87 tracts, covering nearly 800 square miles extending due west of San Luis Obispo and south to Santa Barbara, where significant offshore development already has occurred.

Interior Secretary Manuel Lujan has not dismissed California's concerns and those of the scientific community. Last spring he recommended a delay in offshore drilling, largely on the advice of the National Academy of Sciences. The NAS report warned against further exploration and pinpointed Southern California as an area requiring particular caution, given the complexity of its ocean ecology.

Caution should be the watchword for all future lease sales. No area should be considered where fragile marine life might be destroyed by drilling. Only those areas where there is solid geological evidence of oil or gas should be leased. And care should be taken not to blight the beautiful coastal scenery.

The Interior Department moreover, should provide convincing evidence that every reasonable step is being taken to prevent drilling and the transportation of oil and gas from harming beaches, marine life or wildlife onshore. This will require something more conclusive than the department's routine environmental impact studies, which the NAS has deemed to be "nearly useless."

Major oil spills off Santa Barbara and Huntington Beach have made many Californians understandably wary of allowing any more drilling along the coast. But this wariness should be tempered by the hard reality that energy independence cannot be achieved by exempting California waters from all development.

California should do its part to help reduce the country's dangerous reliance on imported oil, which now accounts for nearly 50 percent of consumption. With a cautious, balanced policy, this objective can be achieved without despoiling the state's magnificent coastal region.

VINCENT CARROLL

How does President Powell sound?

Franklin Roosevelt, who never wasted time on puny achievements, shed two vice presidents on the way to plucking Harry Truman from obscurity. George Bush is luckier. He must only dump a running mate once in order to make an even more historic choice.

Once on his own as president, Truman integrated the armed forces, a large step on the long journey toward racial equality. Now consider how a President Colin Powell (savor the sound of that, please) could consummate that historic trek of 133 years — 1863 to 1996 — just by being himself.

But first things first. There is the matter of J. Danforth Quayle to overcome. Dumping a vice president is hardly a trivial decision, and Bush must have good reasons to proceed.

To be sure, Quayle is not nearly the stone-brained dolt that his worst detractors pretend. Yet he is hardly the second coming of Pericles, either. Too often he still pitches headlong into blank incoherence, as in this pronouncement last year from the Pacific.

"Hawaii," he inexplicably declared, "has always been a very pivotal role in the Pacific. It is in the Pacific. It is a part of the United States that is an island that is right here."

During the same trip, he assured a group of Samoans that "you all look like happy campers to me. Happy campers you are, happy campers you have been, and as far as I am concerned, happy campers you will always be."

By comparison, George Bush is Churchill, and Gen. Colin Powell, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, a virtual Demosthenes.

Even when lued, Quayle appears stiff and stagestruck: It's hard to believe he could win the nomination in 1996 even after eight years at the president's side. If not, Bush will have bequeathed chaos to his party.

Powell, on the other hand, confronts the cameras with an ease borne of healthy self-confidence, and he ad-libs and fences with reporters as Quayle clearly cannot.

Of course, Powell's political views mostly remain a mystery, which Bush or his lieutenants would have to uncover through careful cross-examination. But let's suppose that Powell passed the test, that he emerged as moderate to conservative on most major issues and hence acceptable as the president's running mate in '92. Think of the benefits his candidacy would bestow on this country.

In one stroke, the nation's leading black politician would cease to be a glib leftist with no discernable career except public grand-standing and instead become a man who had risen to the pinnacle of his profession. Jesse Jackson specializes in demands and grievances, not to mention in running down the United States; Powell's standing rests on personal accomplishments and in a lifetime of defending his country.

The example for minority youth could not be healthier. Currently, they hear a virtually unchallenged message from many leaders in their community that the United States is a horribly bigoted society that will do anything to keep them down. With Powell in the White House, they would see through this fraud.

He still pitches headlong into blank incoherence.

Peace barriers overcome

The world has been aghast! The War God Mara has been stalking across the arid desert lands of the Middle East, scattering his dragon's teeth of hatred, despair and death. The birthplace of Judaism, Christianity, Islam, have become nerve centers in the world's escalating crisis of terrorism and war. Use of extremely sophisticated weaponry proves war can be bloodier and more devastating than ever before. Where can we find some answers?

Lent! Passover! Ramadan! Millions throughout the world will attend their respective places of worship. In the symbols of religious faith they will be seeking encouragement and guidance. Symbols are empty and meaningless unless they are forceful enough to challenge the imagination, impelling one into action.

Passover symbolizes God's guiding presence through difficult times. It is a stimulus to cherish freedom and preserve religious identity and conviction, as it promises redemption to come.

Lent, climaxing in Palm Sunday, Good Friday and Easter, offers vivid symbols as suffering and death, discouragement and despair, are replaced with their counterparts, new life and resurrection, triumph and hope. The deepest fears and tragedies of life are overcome by the greatest hopes and promises religious faith can bring.

The world is facing many difficult problems. The bankruptcy of Communism finds millions opting for human rights and freedoms, as the winds of "freedom" blow briskly across Eastern Europe. In the Middle East we find stern reminders that terrorism and war in the conduct of human affairs must be eliminated, if the world is to survive. The assurance of peace, with justice and security is a prime necessity. Understanding and brotherhood between opposing ethnic, religious and political "blobs", is a major goal to achieve.

As the Lenten-Passover-Easter season brings a rebirth of religious values and vitality we need to translate these into actions which make an impact upon the world in which we live. The symbols of religious faith are empty unless they become ingrained in the social and political fabric — and actions — of all peoples.

Will Eastern Europe gain the full measure of Freedom? Will the Middle East achieve peace and justice? The barriers can be overcome. The problems can be solved. Passover and Easter offer the word hope in religious faith, they promise triumph and new life, they promise victory and redemption, they promise God has the answers — if mankind will only take the time to listen — and to follow the guidelines He sets before us.

We must maintain resolve

At a time when the men and women in our armed forces are facing their greatest test, we at home are facing a test as well. Our test is to maintain our unity and resolve, as our troops are doing in the Persian Gulf.

We don't want Saddam Hussein to take this country's tolerance for anti-war demonstrators as a signal he should wait out our resolve in a long and bloody war.

I'm outraged at the brutal treatment of our POW's. And I'm saddened to see the media give so much attention to the small number of anti-war protesters who have sprung into action. It seems that every time a few protesters pick up their signs, the cameras swarm around them, and they end up on the news.

Our soldiers have said that they have a job to do and are going to get it done. I feel I have a job to do, too. And that's to stand up in strong support of our troops.

I want them to know that I and the American people are very proud of them. We are all inspired by their bravery.

I hope that you'll print my letter, and others like it, in the days ahead. Thousands of local American newspapers are reaching our men and women in uniform every day. Your newspaper may be one of them. I want the troops to know that we hold them in our thoughts and prayers every day.

Gulf War eclipsing Colombia drug war

WASHINGTON — While the eyes of the world are on the war in the Persian Gulf, the United States is losing the drug war in Colombia. The drug cartels there have intimidated Colombians by violence and cowed their government into submission. Meanwhile, the United States continues to pour anti-drug money into the country — money that the Colombian military would rather spend putting down guerrilla uprisings that have nothing to do with drugs.

After a brutal campaign of terror that took the lives of three Colombian presidential candidates and hundreds of politicians, journalists, judges and others, the drug cartels got what they wanted from their government — minimal jail time for those who give themselves up and no extradition to the United States where the cartels have not been able to terrorize the justice system.

The next step is a proposed constitutional ban on extraditions, which would guarantee that the drug dealers will never have to face a judicial system other than the one they have already brought to its knees.

President Cesar Gaviria Trujillo thinks his plan of capitulation has been a success. At least seven accused drug kingpins have turned themselves in, including the second and third in command of the Medellin cartel. But the program has been widely criticized in the Colombian press as an effort "to secure peace, not to win the war."

U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration agents told us that the new Colombian programs were geared more toward stopping narco-terrorism than narco-trafficking. In other words, the cartels can continue their business as long as they do it bloodlessly.

The result, according to a recent congressional report, has been a redistribution of power among the cartels instead of a reduction in the supply of drugs. The Medellin cartel, which has been primarily responsible for the violence, has been eclipsed by its gentler competitors. DEA officials now say that the Cali cartel is the No. 1 drug outfit in Colombia.

John Mattes, a Miami lawyer, represents a convicted Colombian drug trafficker who, from his jail cell, helped the FBI with a successful sting operation against the Cali cartel. Mattes told our associate Dean Boyd that when Cali cartel members had the threat of extradition hanging over their heads, they warned his client to keep his mouth shut. Now, the Cali cartel doesn't care what Mattes' client tells U.S. authorities. "Today, they're not afraid of anything," Mattes said. "Not only are they admitting what they do, but they're making my client's family pay for all the cocaine lost in the sting operation."

The Colombian government should not take all the blame. U.S. interest in the war on drugs has all but disappeared during the Persian Gulf War. President Bush tried to show otherwise on Feb. 1 when he announced an 11 percent increase in anti-drug funding. But the spending plan is fundamentally flawed.

Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich., chairman of the House committee that oversees government anti-drug agencies, told us, "The administration's approach is largely a military and law-enforcement response to deep-rooted economic problems. What we need is a long-term plan to develop a legal alternative economy in Colombia."

In the meantime, the U.S. money going to Colombia to fight the drug war is being used to fight guerrilla wars. Senior Colombian military officials have admitted that a substantial percentage of the $40.3 million in U.S. anti-narcotics aid going to the Colombian military last year was used to fight guerrilla groups instead.

Cartels can continue as long as they do business bloodlessly.

The deal was reached as part of the state agreement to complete the first section of the expressway between Aloma Avenue and U.S. 17-92 north of Airport Boulevard. State bonds were sold in January to finance the 12-mile project, the first in the state's $1.2 billion tollroad construction program.

Although no land purchases have begun on the final six-mile section of the road, Brinton said Zayra Plaza could be bought for $3 million within 45 days. Plaza owners Brenda Properties sued the authority in 1989, saying the announcement of plans to build the expressway through the shopping center site caused tenants to leave and scared new renters away.

Brinton said he has had "more than a dozen" inquiries from real estate agents with prospective tenants for the center. Other proposals for plaza occupants include a Salvation Army thrift shop and a warehouse and assembly facility for the Habitat for Humanity affordable housing program.

Brinton said the state requires removal of any asbestos discovered in the building before it can be occupied. He said a survey will be done after the authority takes ownership of the building. Should any removal of asbestos prove to be too costly, the building will be boarded up until it is demolished for the expressway, Brinton said.

It was the first increase over a previous year's rate in five years. But largely due to the state's 1985 Growth Management Act, the county now finds it will be about $160 million short during the next five years. That amount represents a need for a 15 percent increase in annual county spending to meet that need.

The reason the Growth Management Act contributed to the act requires the county to provide services and facilities for current residents and businesses before new homes and businesses can be built to increase that demand.

The county can set "levels of service" for the number of library books they'll have for every person, for example. But if the state disagrees with the county's overall plan, it can withhold grants, revenues and even impose fines.

47.83 tons of newspaper, 5.1 tons of plastic, 16.18 tons of glass and 2.04 tons of aluminum during that period. The recyclables collected generated $1,240.99 in revenue for the city, Herman reported. Transportation of the recyclables by Southeast Recycling cost the city a total of $1,920, he said, but the city's landfill fees meanwhile were cut by $1,067.

and the withering 5½-week air assault that preceded it. The fighting reached its peak Wednesday, as allied armies recaptured Kuwait City and lanced to within 150 miles of Baghdad.

"There was nothing between us and Baghdad," said Operation Desert Storm commander Gen. H. Norman Schwarzkopf. He said the allies could have walked into the Iraqi capital unopposed, but had no intention of conquering Iraq.

Hearings

On March 7, hearings will be held on growth-related future land use issues such as the prevention of "urban sprawl." Then testimony will be heard on transportation issues and the capitol improvements plan. Final action of the plan will be taken March 7. The entire plan must be transmitted to the Florida Department of Community Affairs by April 1. The DCA will have 90 days to review the plan and respond with suggestions for any changes. The county then has 60 days to accept those changes and give final approval to the plan, now scheduled in August.

"I would think, politics being what it is, that there will be an effort to keep the majority party in power," Crenshaw said.

DCA then has another 60 days to certify the plan as acceptable or unacceptable. If the plan is found unacceptable, the county must either persuade DCA to change or compromise or face a vote of no confidence and a new DCA.

In Memory Of
Willie "Honey" Debes
July 31, 1914 to
February 28, 1990

What would we give your hand to clasp,
Your patient face to see,
To hear your voice,
To see your smile,
As in the days that used to be.

But in some sweet day we'll meet again
Beyond the toil and strife,
And clasp each other's hand
once more,
In Heaven, that happy life.

Forever in our hearts and memories... Sadly missed by the family.

It took unusual coalition, stunning military moves

By TERENCE HUNT
AP White House Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Seven months after drawing a line in the sand and assembling an unprecedented international coalition, George Bush has achieved the results he promised: Saddam Hussein stands disgraced, his once-feared army broken.

Bush said the war against Iraq would not be another Vietnam. Indeed not. It was declared over — and won — in just 43 days.

Bush took an immense political gamble when he decided to send American troops into a faraway desert to challenge one of the world's most dangerous, heavily armed dictators.

Many in Congress doubted Bush's strategy, urging patience and caution. He replied that the crisis couldn't wait.

He vowed Iraq's aggression would not stand. It did not.

He promised to free Kuwait. He did.

And, Saddam's threat to wage the mother of all battles? It crumbled into a myth.

"Kuwait is liberated, Iraq's army is defeated," Bush announced to the nation after 100 hours of relentless ground attacks against Iraqi forces.

Immediately, Bush began picking up political bouquets, even from those who had opposed him. House Speaker Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash., who had urged Bush to allow more time for sanctions and diplomacy, said Bush "conducted this operation brilliantly."

Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell, D-Maine, another

doubter, said the victory was a credit to Bush and his military leaders. Longtime doves in Congress have been turned into hawks, urging Bush to keep up the pressure until he unseats Saddam.

The victory was a testament to Bush's skillful leadership in stitching together an improbable alliance whose membership even included the radical state of Syria. The Soviet Union refused to commit any troops, but was coaxed into consenting to every U.N. resolution proposed by Bush.

In the end, the battlefield conquest was easier than anyone imagined.

By all accounts, Saddam's awful arsenal of chemical and biological weapons was not unpacked. His air force was afraid to fly. His ground troops surrendered so fast they couldn't be counted. Iraq barely put up a fight. American casualties were said to be amazingly low.

Even before the victory was declared, Bush was soaring in the polls with an approval rating near an astronomical 90 percent. Hard to believe, but ratings probably will go higher.

It's a good thing for the Democrats that the presidential election isn't until 1992. It's hard enough to beat an incumbent president — much less one who wins a war. Scrambling for advantage, the Democrats think the recession may help deflate Bush's standing.

There are other hazards for the president.

Beaten on the battlefield, Saddam remains unpredictable. Bush wants him removed from power, but that may be tough to achieve. There have been abortive coups and at least seven assassination attempts against Saddam since he took power in 1979.

He made himself a hero to many in the Arab world by building a match for Israel's military strength and then firing missile after missile at the Jewish state with impunity. There is no obvious leader to replace him.

It's uncertain whether Saddam will surrender the POWs or meet the terms for a permanent cease-fire. Bush has demanded war reparations and threatened war-crimes trials.

"We still have some difficult days ahead," White House press secretary Marlin Fitzwater acknowledged.

The end of the war also puts pressure on Bush to address the long-simmering Arab-Israeli dispute.

Defeated Saddam wins respect

By MONA ZIADE
Associated Press Writer

NICOSIA, Cyprus — Saddam Hussein lost the war, but is facing a mighty army and drawing attention to Middle Eastern issues he has grown in stature in the eyes of many Arabs.

Trying to stave off military disaster, in recent days the Iraqi leader had offered one concession after another.

He raised the Palestinian cause early in the gulf conflict, but abandoned their campaign for a homeland early this week when he ordered his forces to withdraw from Kuwait in the face of a massive allied advance.

Yet in defeat, Saddam retains power and can still claim wide support from Arabs who view him as a hero who stood up to America and other world powers.

To many Arabs, Saddam is the man who fought a coalition of 32 armies and dared to fire missiles into Israel — something no other Arab leader had done in 42 years of Arab-Israeli conflict.

"The allies think a military defeat will humiliate him," said Francis Tusa, a military analyst

Saddam Hussein with the London-based Armed Forces Journal.

"But I'm sorry to say it won't. The fact that he has thumbed his nose at the United States and the rest of the world for eight months is good enough."

Domestically, Saddam's main fear likely was that his army would revolt and topple him in a military coup. But his ruthless secret police had intimidated many opponents and ruled 18 million population.

Saddam's army is now fragmented. Thousands of troops have been killed in the war, more than 50,000 have been captured by the allies and many more have been wounded. It takes some time before any unit can regroup to pose a real threat to his survival.

And even then, they will have to find him.

Saddam has surrounded himself with a group of handpicked bodyguards — either relatives or natives of his hometown of Tikrit with strong clan ties to him.

It is said that no one knows where Saddam is at any given moment. To get to him, even his closest aides, such as Foreign Minister Tariq Aziz, have to first find his son, Oday, who then decides how the contact will be made.

Already Saddam is trying to convert his battlefield loss into a moral triumph.

"Applaud your victory my dear Iraqis. You have faced 30 countries and the evil they have brought here. ... You have faced the whole world. You have won," Saddam asserted in a radio address Tuesday announcing his army's withdrawal from Kuwait.

Seminole cranks it up

Tribe dismisses Gateway

By TONY DeBORNIER Herald Sports Editor

ORLANDO — Certain philosophers will tell you there is no such thing as reality, only perceptions.

Examine, if you will, Seminole High School's 84-48 whipping of Kissimmee-Gateway in the first round of the 3A-District 6 boys' basketball tournament at Edgewater High School on Wednesday afternoon.

Most people would think that a 36-point margin meant the Seminoles must have played exceptionally well. But in the parking lot outside the Edgewater gym, Seminole Coach Greg Robinson stood shaking his head, saying, "There's something wrong when we play that bad and win by 30 points." See Tribe, Page 2B

DAYTONA BEACH — The clock struck midnight for the Seminole Community College men's basketball team Wednesday night as Daytona Beach Community College clobbered the Raiders 97-69 in the semifinals of the Mid-Florida Conference.

Kenny Southall hit 9 of 11 shots from the floor, including 4 of 4 from three-point range. In scoring 24 points to lead the Scots to a 52-22 halftime advantage.

DBCC put this one away quickly. With the score tied 2-2, Raymond Allen hit two free throws that started the Scots on a 39-8 run over

Johnson handcuffs Seminoles

By BILL KERNS Herald Correspondent

WINTER PARK — Andre Johnson struck out 10 hitters in five innings Wednesday afternoon as the Lake Howell Silver Hawks blanked Seminole 10-0 at Lake Howell in a Seminole Athletic Conference boys baseball game.

"He pitched an extremely, outstanding game," Lake Howell coach Birto Benjamin said of Johnson. "He is really coming on strong, really developing."

Lake Howell struck for six runs in the first inning to put the game away early. Marvyl Melendez singled and doubled during the rally and John Ball added a single, but the key to the inning was the five walks issued by starting pitcher Tony Chavers.

Rick Eckstein relieved Chavers with two outs in the first inning and pitched the final 4 2/3 innings, allowing four runs on six hits while striking out three and walking two.

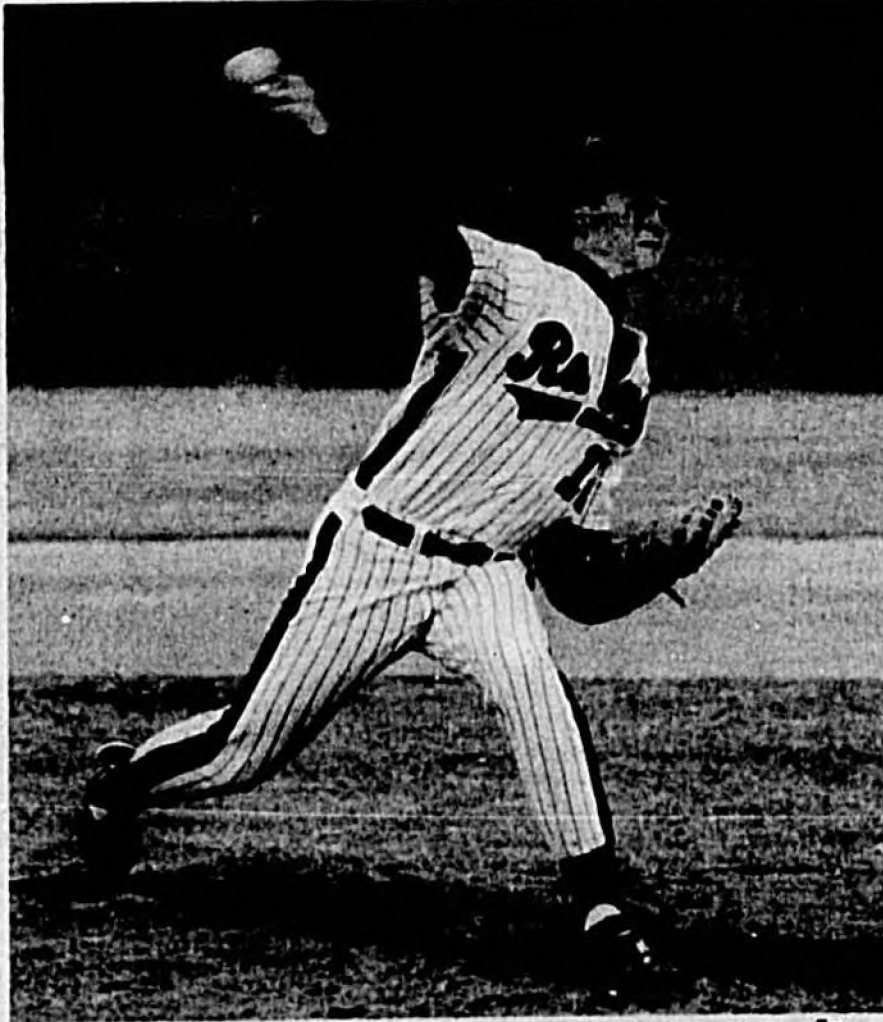

"We hit the ball well today," said Johnson. "We scored a lot of runs, something we haven't been doing lately."

Seminole, now 3-6, could not mount a comeback as Johnson allowed only four hits and walked one. Matt Freeman, Rick Eckstein, David Eckstein, and W.L. Gracey produced Seminole's only singles.

Seminole coach Mike Powers summed up his team's task: "We've got to get some strikes, we've got to get some leadership from our seniors, we've got to get some hitting, and we've got to get some wins."

For Lake Howell, Marvyl Melendez had two doubles and two RBIs. See Hawks, Page 2B

Jackson leads Rams by DeLand

By PHIL SMITH Herald Correspondent

LAKE MARY — Chris Jackson threw a three-hitter to lead the Lake Mary Rams to a 3-1 victory over the DeLand Bulldogs in a Seminole Athletic Conference baseball game Wednesday afternoon at Lake Mary High School.

Jackson was in complete control of the game, allowing only one unearned run while striking out three batters and walking two while stranding seven runners.

"All three pitches (fastball, curve, change-up) were working today," said Jackson. "I had a good, strong outing today, but I feel that I can do even better."

The Rams gave him a cushion early by scoring all three of their runs in the bottom of the first inning. Chris Haney led off with a single and stole second. Then, with one out, Neil James walked. Haney and James completed a double-play. See Rams, Page 2B

Oviedo's Blanton extends shutout streak

Blanton, 2-0 with two saves, allowed three hits while registering five strike outs without giving up a walk in a game stopped in the bottom of the fifth inning by the 10-run mercy rule.

Ryan Alkire paced Oviedo's offensive attack by ripping a game-winning inside-the-park home run to go along with a triple, single, four RBI and three runs scored.

Rufus Boykin and Chris Huff each had a double, single and an RBI. Pete Arcomone singled twice, scored

The Lions scored three runs in each of the first, fourth and fifth innings while putting two runs up in the second inning.

Now 7-1 overall and 2-0 in the SAC, Oviedo will play again Saturday at Mainland in a 1 p.m. contest. Lyman, 6-2 and 0-1 in the conference, will host Lake Mary in a 7 p.m. game Friday night.

Lowe pitches, hits Lake Howell past Bishop Moore

From staff reports

WINTER PARK — Junior pitcher Diann Lowe limited Bishop Moore to just two hits while collecting three hits herself to help lead Lake Howell to a 9-3 victory over the visiting Hornets in a girls' softball game played Wednesday afternoon.

Lowe contributed a single, double and triple to the Silver Hawks' 18-hit attack. She also scored three runs and drove in two more.

Tina Leman also chipped in with three singles and an RBI for Lake Howell. Joy Joseph added a single, triple, two runs scored and one RBI while Table with 2 columns: Player Name, Stats. Lists statistics for players from Lake Howell and Bishop Moore.

Wendi Van Horne and Kat Foldeak each had two singles, Horne also had an RBI.

Michelle Conclaldi, Karcy Larcher, Kristy Hill and Kristy York each had a single for the Silver Hawks.

Lake Howell scored two runs in the bottom of the first inning to take the early lead over the Hornets, expanding its advantage with a single run in the third inning and two more in the fifth.

Then, in the top of the sixth, Bishop Moore parlayed its two hits and a couple Silver Hawk errors into three runs, cutting Lake Howell's advantage to 5-3. But the Silver Hawks bounced back with a four-run rally in the home half of the sixth.

Now 8-2, Lake Howell will host Lake Brantley this afternoon at 4:15 p.m. in an early key match-up between two of the Seminole Athletic Conference's top teams. The junior varsity teams from the two schools will play a game following the varsity contest.

Unbeaten Bradbury up by two with two to play

From staff reports

SANFORD — Bradbury's Auto Salon, Sanford's only remaining undefeated team, clinched a share of the Sanford Recreation Department Wednesday Night Polar Bear Slowpitch Softball League title at Chase Park with a 2-1-4 shelling of the Aronow Survivors.

In the other games, Hall's Stucco clipped the Sanford Police Benevolent Association 8-2 and Direct Collection Connection won a 17-16 slugfest with Smitty's Plumbing.

With two weeks left, Bradbury's Auto Salon is 8-0, two games ahead of DCC (6-2). They are followed by Hall's Stucco (5-3), SPBA (3-5), Smitty's Plumbing (2-6) and the Aronow Survivors (0-8).

Contributing to a 21-hit Bradbury's attack were E.B. Bacon (two doubles, two singles, four runs), Chris Wire (double, three singles, four runs), Will Bland (three singles, three runs) and Jack Hearn (three singles, three runs).

Also contributing were Mark Hoffman (triple, single, run), Randy Ferguson (double, single, two runs), J.R. Johnson (two singles, two runs), Eric Torbio (two singles, run), Tom Bledsoe (two runs) and Jim Heffington (run).

Capt. Nemo's clinches tie for Pinehurst crown

From staff reports

SANFORD — If you like close games, it wasn't a very exciting night in the Sanford Recreation Department Wednesday Night Polar Bear Slowpitch Softball League at Pinehurst Park as all three contests were won by at least seven runs.

Captain Nemo's clinched a tie for the league title with a 10-3 win over Pratt Automotive, the Liquor Store blanked Bikini Beach 12-0 and Harcar Aluminum Products crushed the Liquor Store 14-1.

With two games remaining, Captain Nemo's (8-2) has a two-game lead over the Liquor Store (6-4). Following the leaders are Pratt Automotive (4-8), Harcar (3-6) and Bikini Beach (2-8).

Doing the damage for the Liquor Store against Bikini Beach were Shawn Wyman (double, two singles, four runs scored), Tim Waddles (three singles, run scored), Tom Shanley (home run, single, two runs scored), Robert Burgess (two singles), Andy Dickens (single, two runs scored), Dennis Carroll (single, run scored), Brian Jones (single) and Kay Robinson (run scored).

Seminole was able to cover its mistakes — turnovers, poor shot selection, forced passes, missed assignments on defense — with its superior athletic ability over a slower, smaller, less skilled Gateway team.

As a result, Seminole would turn the ball over, steal it back, force up a shot, fight for the rebound and stick the ball back in. It was effective against Gateway: Would it be effective in Friday's 8:30 p.m. semifinal against the winner of Wednesday's Jones-Leeburg game?

"If we play like this, we won't advance past Friday night," said Robinson.

The Seminoles got a boost from Jeff Hall against Gateway. With Shawn Washington out with the flu and Carlo White gone for the season with an injured knee, Hall was the only big man on the floor for the Tribe. He responded with game-high in points (20), rebounds (10) and blocked shots (six).

J.J. Wiggins added 17 for Seminole. Kerry Wiggins had 14 while Ron Coffield added 10 points (including a pair of three-point field goals) and a game-high five assists.

Raiders

Even though there was little doubt in the outcome, the Raiders refused to quit and closed the gap to 23 points, 65-42, with 10:04 remaining in the second half. But three 3-pointers and a couple of breakaway layups pushed the DHCC lead back to as many as 34 points, 84-50.

singles, scoring two runs and driving in three. Also guiding the Hawks were John Ball (double, single, two runs, two RBI), Jaron Proulx (double, RBI, run) and Rob Bologna (single, two RBI, run).

Also adding to the offense were Hubby Coleman (two runs), Bob Andino (run, RBI), Jason Schwiegerath and Paul Giambolvo (single), and Jason Rasmussen (run).

Rams

before scoring on Dana Dearth's single.

Dearth advanced to second when the centerfielder misplayed the ball and later stole third and scored on a wild pitch to give Lake Mary a 3-0 lead.

"We hit the ball great in the first inning," said Lake Mary Coach Allen Tuttle. "After that, we let up a little, but I felt that we played a good game today."

Freeman 10.

DeLand's only run came in the top of the fifth. After Dana Forsythe reached on a sacrifice bunt Felder's choice, Kevin Wright reached on an error and Lea Giles hit an infield single with to load the bases with two out. Steve Mize then walked to score Forsythe.

Scott Davidson (1-1) will get the starting nod on Friday evening for the Rams when they travel to Longwood to face the Lyman Greyhounds.

Auxiliary honors state president

Over 180 American Legion Auxiliary members and guests attended a dinner dance Feb. 8th at the American Legion Post #53, Sanford, honoring Ruby Bell, Department of Florida Auxiliary President.

The R.O.T.C. Sabre Team from Seminole High School raised their gleaming swords, forming an impressive arch under which honor guests were presented. They included Bell, Unit #53 President Cayrl Hogsett; District 6 President Bernice Wolfrom, Orlando; Department Secretary-Treasurer Vivian Stratton; Eastern Area President Ann Sokolowski and Department Assistant Eva Sutherland.

Man's suicide leaves family struggling to pick up pieces

DEAR ABBY: My brother committed suicide last November. This tragic loss has brought out emotions that I never knew I had.

My family is struggling to find answers to the questions that surface after a loved one chooses a permanent solution to a temporary problem.

I started attending Survivors of Suicide meetings, which have helped a great deal. I know the painful feelings that a survivor of suicide experiences, and I wrote the "1-2-3's of Survival" to help those who are faced with such a trauma.

COPING IN FRESNO, CALIF.

DEAR COPING: Please accept my sympathy on the tragic loss of your brother. It is reassuring to know that you and your family have gained a measure of comfort and perspective through the support of other survivors of suicide.

I am printing your "1-2-3's of Survival" in the hope that it will help others who have experienced feelings of helplessness and grief after losing a loved one to suicide:

1. Accept what we cannot change.
2. Believe in a higher power.
3. Seek support when the need arises.
4. Do not repress your feelings.
5. Express your feelings to someone you trust.
6. Forgive your loved one.
7. Allow yourself time to grieve.
8. Help your family members through their grief.
9. Live in the present, and put the past behind you.
10. Keep those special memories of your loved one close to your heart.
11. Make time for yourself.
12. Pick up the pieces of your life and slowly

ADVICE

put them back together.

13. Quit blaming yourself.

14. Take good care of your health; focus on survival and hope for the future.

15. Dwell on the positive, and your zest for life will return.

For those families who wish to find a nearby chapter of Survivors of Suicide, send a stamped (20 cents), self-addressed, business-sized envelope to: Survivors of Suicide, 3251 N. 78th St., Milwaukee, Wis. 53222, Attention: Sharry Schaeffer.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 43-year-old divorced male. (No children, fortunately.) I would like to propose marriage to a very lovely 31-year-old woman. My question: Should I buy a diamond ring and surprise her with it? Or should I propose first, and let her pick out her own ring? She has never been married.

E.W. (MY REAL INITIALS)

DEAR E.W.: Don't surprise her. Propose first. And if she accepts, invite her to go with you to pick out the ring.

Oxygen, neurologists aid cluster headaches

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've suffered from cluster headaches for 10 years, despite taking various medications and having surgery on the nerve in my face. Recently, I discovered that breathing oxygen from a tank for about five minutes gives me relief if I use it as soon as I feel a headache coming on.

My niece, who has cluster headaches, found a cure in Chinese herbs called Nan-Lien Chulifong Toukuwan. Another family member with these headaches was helped by taking prednisone. I think your readers should learn of these cures.

DEAR READER: Cluster headaches are severe paroxysms of head pain, usually confined to one side of the skull. They are often associated with dilation of the facial blood vessels on the same side, as well as excess mucous secretions from the nose and increased tearing from the eye. No one knows the cause of cluster headaches; however, they seem to be related to circulatory imbalances affecting the cranial arteries. In this respect, they resemble migraine.

Traditional treatment has included pain medicine, drugs (such as methysergide) to stabilize cranial circulation and psychological counseling to reduce stress. Prednisone, a form of cortisone, benefits some patients but has dangerous side effects, such as diabetes and susceptibility to infection. Oxygen constricts arteries, so—in theory—it could help reverse the arterial dilation that characterizes cluster headaches. However, it has not benefited enough patients in clinical studies to warrant a general recommendation.

I am not familiar with the herbs you mentioned; nonetheless, if they are free of dangerous side effects, I see no reason why they could not be used, providing the patient's doctor agrees.

As a general rule, patients with cluster headaches will be helped most by a neurologist or specialists in a headache clinic.

Before resorting to untested treatments, I urge patients to explore more customary therapy, under their doctors' supervision. Cluster headaches are often difficult to treat because patients differ in their response to therapy. Therefore, I am passing on your advice without further medical comment.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

WIN A

By James Jacoby

North and South were using the two-over-one game force. (Responding to partner's opening bid in a new, lower-ranking suit on the two-level forces to game.) North could therefore quietly raise two spades to three spades to invite a cue-bid if South had anything resembling slam values. With only 11 high-card points South was quick to sign off in four spades.

Declarer won the opening diamond lead in dummy and ruffed a diamond. Then he played a spade to dummy's king and a spade back to his jack, losing to West's doubleton queen. Technically this was not the best play in the trump suit, but declarer was concerned with the deal as a whole. West played another diamond, ruffed. South next played three rounds of clubs, ending in dummy. West held the master club, but declarer now played dummy's last club, discarding a heart. West had to win the club and lead away from the ace of hearts to give South his contract.

The finesse in trumps was only a slightly inferior play with this particular suit combination. If you take into account that letting West win a trick with the trump queen allows declarer to guarantee his contract whenever West holds four clubs, South's play in the trump suit becomes the winning line.

YOUR BIRTHDAY
March 1, 1991

Greater self-confidence in your abilities and ideas is likely to come about in the year ahead. Once you start to truly use your talents, you could attract competent partners for various endeavors.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You might learn of the loyalty of a friend whose affection you thought had been wavering a bit of late. It should help restore your faith in human nature. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences which govern you in the year ahead. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today by mailing $1.25 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 81428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Conditions are a trifle unusual today in that you might profit in some manner from the labors of others. You'll do your bit, but they're likely to do more.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You tend to emulate the attitudes of people with whom you'll be involved today. Try to associate with people who are positive and have high expectations.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You'll be able to step in and help where needed today, and this will make you an enormous asset to others. Making them look good reflects favorably on you.

CANCER (June 21-July 21) Your influence over your social circle is much stronger than you may realize at this time. Even if you aren't aware of your impact, your peers will be.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be on the lookout for an opportunity today that could enable you to reap rewards from something you commercially do for another.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) In order to advance a collective interest today, you might have to be a trifle more assertive than usual, especially if the people involved with you are afraid to speak up when they should.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You have two effective attributes today that could be used to your advantage. They are your abilities to use reasoning and intuitive faculties to serve a singular purpose.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Involvements you have today with groups or organizations should work out beneficially. This is because you'll instinctively know how to do what's best for the largest number.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Keep your objectives to yourself today, at least until you're absolutely certain you've got everything under control. Premature announcements could invite unwelcome interference.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Keep an open mind today if you get into a conversation with someone whose personality you dislike, but whose mind you respect. Something of value can be learned.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Sometimes, you can rely upon your ingenuity to get you over the rough spots. But, if you hope to succeed today, tenacity and resolve will be the tools necessary to do the job.
