

RED CROSS CAMPAIGN WILL BE SUCCESSFUL DESPITE THE HANDICAPS

NEED BETTER WEATHER AND MORE SUPPLIES OF ALL KINDS

The Red Cross Campaign committee has faced one of the worst weeks in the calendar for the big drive for membership—the worst weather ever experienced in Florida.

But the rain and the clouds and the cold weather has not dampened the ardor of the committees who have braved the elements and have made a canvass of the greater part of the territory assigned in the city limits.

The ladies have stood in the Red Cross booths on the streets despite the fact that their feet were cold and have taken in memberships and money and have also aided the Red Cross seals by selling them at the booths.

At the close of the day Thursday Mr. Carter, the secretary announced that there were over two hundred memberships in the city and only a part of the territory had been canvassed.

The drive has suffered from a lack of supplies such as service flags, buttons, etc.

The committee also wishes to announce that many of those approached stated that they would join later and that the names will be taken any time Monday night but this does not preclude joining the Red Cross any time and new members will be welcome any time during the year.

The committee wishes to have as many new members as possible by Saturday night in order to make a good showing with the other counties of the state.

Any one wanting information about the drive can get same from Director R. J. Holly at the Herald office who hopes to have more supplies today.

PAY YOUR INCOME TAX

Officers Will Be Here To Tell You About It

In a communication received by this paper, Collector Internal Revenue James M. Cathcart announces that a federal income tax officer will be sent into this county on January 25 and will be here until January 31.

How many income tax payers will there be in Seminole county? If you can guess how many married persons living with wife or husband will have net incomes of $2,000 or over and how many unmarried persons will have net incomes of $1,000 or over this year, then you will know. The Collector of Internal Revenue estimates that there will be three hundred tax payers in this county.

Returns of income for the year 1917 must be made on forms provided before March 1, 1918. Because a good many people don't understand the law and won't know how to make out their returns, the government is sending in this expert to do it for them. But the duty is on the taxpayer to make himself known to the government. If he doesn't make return as required before March 1st, 1918, he may have to pay a penalty ranging from $20 to $1,000, pay a fine or go to jail.

Of course, persons resident in other counties may, if they want to, come and see the income tax man who will be at Sanford.

The collector suggests that everybody starts figuring up now his income and expenses so as to be ready with the figures when the expert arrives. However, don't mean family expenses, money used to pay off the principal of a debt, new machinery, buildings, or anything like that.

Death of A. R. Wiley

The entire community was saddened by the death of A. R. Wiley, at his home on the Orlando road, near Clyde last week, after a lingering illness of several months.

Mr. Wiley was a man of sterling character, 76 years old, born in Boston, Mass., in 1841, served his country in the Civil War from the beginning to the finish. He and Mrs. Wiley came to Florida over thirty years ago and settled at Sorrento. Later they moved to Sanford, where they have a host of friends.

Sanford Audience More Than Pleased

DeForrest & Ford more than pleased the large audience at the Lyric last night with their singing and dancing act. Mr. Harry L. Ford needed no introduction to the people here in Sanford as he has played here the last three seasons with J. A. Coburn's Minstrels and has never yet failed to please his audience.

Mr. DeForrest with his tenor voice sang several good numbers and won applause with each number. DeForrest & Ford will be at the Lyric tonight and Saturday with entire change of program each night.

Cannot Come Home

Christmas Day will find Florida soldiers at Camp Wheeler, instead of at home for a visit. The division will take a holiday on the 25th, but they will not be allowed to leave the camp unless they can go and return within 24 hours.

Gen. J. L. Hayden, commander of the Dixie division has issued positive orders that officers and enlisted men, who cannot go home and back in 24 hours be confined to camp. They will be permitted to visit Macon, but trips of more than fifty miles from camp cannot be taken.

Many of the men did not ask permission to visit home Thanksgiving season, expecting to get furloughs on Christmas. The recent order of the commanding general has greatly disappointed them but there is no remedy for the situation.

Will Spend Winter in Orlando

Mrs. W. D. Holden and son, Mr. Billy Holden came over from Sanford Monday and will spend the winter here. Mrs. Holden and Mrs. Lula H. Lawrence have taken the upper flat of the Rowland House 501 S. Main St., for the rest of the season.—Reporter-Star.

UNIFORMITY IN GRADE AND PACK

STATE MARKETING BUREAU CALLS ATTENTION TO THESE FACTS

"The products of a multitude of small farms can be made uniform as to grading and packing by an organization and by no other means whatsoever. It is a waste of time and breath to even talk about it on any other basis."

The secretary is justified fully in his positive statement, says the State Marketing Bureau. In the old days before the building of railroads and great cities, the farmer disposed of his surplus in neighborhood towns or villages. There were no large cities. Nearly everybody had a hand in growing something—a little of everything—to eat, but not much of any one thing to sell.

Farming communities to be successful and prosperous, as a neighborhood proposition, must have standard uniformity in the kind or variety of their money crops, so as to attract buyers and be able to ship in carlots, as tobacco at Quincy, potatoes at Hastings, celery and lettuce at Sanford and strawberries at Plant City.

None of us know what the next year will bring forth but we are living in the present and we know that as far as possible the people and the merchants are having the usual Christmas this year.

It is good business for the farmer to have two or three major sources of income, balanced between field, grove or garden crops and live stock.

When the prices of particular crops are low, or there is shortage or failure, then live stock becomes very desirable and vice versa.

If population increases as it has in the past, doubling every twenty-five years, we will have over 200,000,000 people in the United States in 1940, and in one hundred years over a billion and a half.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING IN SANFORD

INCLEMENT WEATHER CURTAILS TRADE, BUT CROWDS ARE HERE

The weather has not been of the best for shopping this week but the city has had plenty of people nevertheless and the merchants are looking for a big rush today, tomorrow and Monday.

Luckily there is one more day before Christmas after Sunday and the tired clerks and the equally tired shoppers will have time to rest up one day and then go at it again on Monday.

The merchants of Sanford have not let the war have any effect on their business and they have some of the largest and most complete stocks of goods this year that have ever been brought to this city.

A great stimulus to Christmas shopping and Seminole county was the elegant Christmas edition of the Herald which went to every citizen of the county last week in plenty of time to get them to come to Sanford this week and the merchants who used the space in this edition are profiting by the advertisement.

None of us know what the next year will bring forth but we are living in the present and we know that as far as possible the people and the merchants are having the usual Christmas this year.

RUSSIAN BOLL WEEVILS WANT GERMAN PEACE MAY BE WIPED OUT

COSSACKS WITH 25 MILLIONS ARE AFTER BOLSHEVIKI

A state of siege has been proclaimed in Petrograd and the Ukrainian rada has refused to obey a ultimatum presented by the bolshevik government.

Relations between the Ukraine and the bolshevik governments have not been cordial. The Ukraine has persistently refused to permit maximalist troops to cross its territory to attack Gen. Kutler, and several days ago bolshevik troops attacked the rada as it was sitting in Olissa and was defeated by Ukrainian troops.

Short Wheat Crop Washington, Dec. 19. Government plans for a billion bushel wheat crop next year to help the United States feed its allies have received a setback, it was disclosed by the department of agriculture in the December report.

The actual production will be greater or less than that according to conditions hereafter although a great spring crop is hoped to bring the year's total somewhere near the billion mark.

COMMUNITY CHRISTMAS TREE Will Be In Central Park Next Monday Night

The Community Christmas tree is beckoning us and we have told it to be dressed up at seven thirty Christmas Eve (Monday night).

It stands just southeast of the band stand in Park avenue park or rather it grows there, a friendly old oak which appeals to our hearts as the one suited for a Community tree. Van Dyke's line fits it admirably: "I will sing of the bounty of the big tree, it is the green tent of the Almighty, he hath set it up for comfort and shelter."

So let every one, old and young usher in the Yuletide spirit with one grand mighty chorus—every one be a herald, those who sing and also those who think they can't—no one will be excused from singing. For a Community chorus will lead, the band will be there, the schools will have a part, not forgetting to mention especially the primary children who are to bring their merry bells with them, and who do not love to hear the voice of the little child lifted in song.

That to some may sound a bit strained, for some persons have been heard to complain about our recent temperatures. We certainly have reason to be grateful about our old lot when we read in letters from the north facts like this: "We are buried in snow and ice. It is unusually cold for December, and with so little fuel people are feeling it greatly. Schools are closed in some places."

Our Warm Weather

That to some may sound a bit strained, for some persons have been heard to complain about our recent temperatures. We certainly have reason to be grateful about our old lot when we read in letters from the north facts like this: "We are buried in snow and ice. It is unusually cold for December, and with so little fuel people are feeling it greatly. Schools are closed in some places."

Another letter to friends in Sanford, from Chicago reads "With snow knee deep and bitter weather—eighteen degrees below zero this morning—many are compelled to remain at home."

We have no reason to complain, but rather to rejoice that we get along so comfortably.

Lake county is setting the pace for eradicating the cattle ticks next season, having been the first of the counties which have a chance to clean up and get released from tick fever quarantine next year, to a date for the election to vote for compulsory dipping of cattle.

Germany's intended submarine campaign has not resulted in Great Britain's failure to get her necessary supplies.

Indications of a desire on the part of Germany to turn the peace parleys with the Russians into a general peace conference are reflected in the latest dispatches.

If the statements now concurrent in Petrograd newspaper circles are correct the negotiators of the central powers have expressed interest in the result of Russia's efforts to induce the allies to join in the conference, desiring to learn this before proceeding with the negotiations.

It was also intimated that on their own account they were planning to put the question of peace before all the powers.

Between Monte Grappa and the sea on the Italian front the defenders are resisting desperately new Austro-German efforts to break through the hills to the plains.

The Italians after withstanding strong attacks and inflicting heavy losses on the enemy were forced to retire to new positions, where the invaders brought up reserves.

On the southern end of the Piave line the Austro Germans have been checked in several attempts to cross the river.

On the western front the Germans have not yet given strong indication where their advertised drive is to begin. German guns continue to hammer night sectors along the northern end from the North Sea to the Swiss border.

French raids have been repulsed by the British in the Arcais area and northeast of Ypres, while the French have repulsed an attack near Rezneville northeast of Verdun.

Germany's present strength on the western front is estimated to approximate the maximum reached last July when it has 155 divisions. The allies, however, are believed to have a superiority in numbers.

British shipping losses decreased by four from last week's total. The number above 1,600 tons lost remains stationary, the decrease being in vessels under 1,600 tons.

MANAGER CLARK GRIFFITH AS AN ORATOR

SCRAPPY LEADER OF WASHINGTON NATIONALS.

Clark Griffith makes an interesting speech when he presents a baseball outfit to a detachment of soldiers.

"These outfits," he tells them, "are the tributes of the fans to the soldiers. In giving them we are actuated first by our love and respect for our soldiers. They also are in recognition of what the United States army did for baseball and what it is doing.

"Our army preserved baseball. The game would have died out during the Civil war but for them. They kept it going and have kept it up ever since. They carried it into the Philippines and into Cuba and have made it the international game. With it they civilized the Philippines.

"And now," continues Griff, rising to an oratorical flight, "you are taking this game into France. More than that, you are going to take it into Germany when you roll the Germans across the Rhine. You are the boys who are going to roll them back. Nobody else is going to do it. You are. And when you do, I want you to take this game with you and teach it to the Germans when the war is over. You're going to carry baseball into Germany, and when you do it will teach them sportsmanship and ideas of honor, of which they seem totally devoid."

TYPHOID WIPED OUT IN FRANCE

Professor Vincent Conquers the Most Dangerous Enemy of the Republic.

HELPS INCREASE MAN POWER

In Former Wars More Soldiers Perished From This Disease Than by Bullets—Fever Has Vanished From Belfort District.

Paris.—One of France's most dangerous enemies has now been vanquished—typhoid fever, and the victor is Professor Vincent, an officer of one of the French medical schools.

The war has shown that the most deadly of fevers is at the mercy of science. Typhoid fever was always a great enemy of armies in the field. It has been established that in wars previous to the present one more men died of typhoid than by bullets and shells.

Typhoid Epidemic Stated.
At the start of the present struggle a typhoid epidemic started in October, 1914, and increased through the winter of 1914-1915.

Professor Vincent set out to stop the epidemic by using a vaccine which he had discovered four or five years previously.

Already, from 1911 to 1914, most of the French soldiers under arms had been vaccinated. But the mobilization men arrived in different depots in hundreds of thousands.

Doctor Landouzy, head of the medical service in the Belfort district, had 100,000 men vaccinated. Three months later typhoid fever had entirely disappeared from his district, and it was proved that only in districts where men had not been vaccinated was typhoid to be feared.

At present vaccination is obligatory everywhere, and, thanks to this, the number of typhoid cases dropped from seven in January, 1915, to 0.025 in March, 1917.

Number of Deaths Smaller.
The number of deaths through typhoid had also dropped to such an extent that now they have to be reckoned on an average of 10,000 men. So far, for the present year, only 0.04 deaths in 100,000 have been recorded.

"It is permissible to affirm," says Professor Vincent, "that preventive vaccination, for which the antityphus laboratory of the Val de Grace furnished the army zones with 5,513,073 doses of vaccine, has saved a considerable number of men for the country.

"If the morbidity and mortality experienced from November, 1914, to January, 1915, had been maintained and on the hypothesis that between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 men had been sent to the front during that period, the number of cases would have been more than a million and the number of deaths 145,000."

REDUCE PRICE OF SARDINES

Maine Cannery Agree to Accept $5.00 Per Case for Keyless Variety.

Washington.—Let the worried housewife worry no longer. Sardines are safe.

Tinned sardines, small size, should be retailed at not more than 8 1/2 cents, the food administration has announced, as a result of a voluntary agreement just completed with 90 per cent of the Maine sardine canners.

They will reduce their price to $5.00 per case of 100 keyless cans, one-quarter size, in oil; $6.10 for one-quarter key cans in oil and $5.00 for three-quarter size in mustard. Wholesalers have agreed to handle sardines on small margin and the food administration solicits reports of excessive profits.

KEENE ROBES AID SOLDIERS

Deceased Tragedian's Daughter Gives Costumes to Stage Woman's Relief Fund.

New York.—The stage woman's war relief has received from Mrs. Edwin Arden, daughter of Thomas Keene, deceased tragedian, all her father's costumes.

The robes and cloaks of furs and velvet which adorned the tragedian when he appeared as Richelleu and Hamlet will be made into warm garments for those soldiers which the stage has sent into service.

Mrs. Arden has held the costumes among her most prized possessions, but she feels that no more satisfying use could be made of them than that to which the stage woman's war relief will put them.

$5 for Swatting Fly.

Hawatha, Kan.—It cost H. N. Zimmerman, a business man, $5 to swat a fly that did a spiral glide and landed on his bald head. Mr. Zimmerman was attending church when the swatting occurred. The minister was raising money and had asked for $5 subscriptions when a fly alighted on Mr. Zimmerman's head. He raised his hand to brush away the fly and the preacher caught the movement. "H. N. Zimmerman subscribes $5; who will be the next?" the preacher announced. Mr. Zimmerman paid the subscription, as he said it was worth the price to swat the annoying fly.

AMERICANS IN GERMAN ARMY

Enemy Forcing Sons of United States Citizens in Germany Into Service.

Copenhagen.—The German military authorities continue the practice of putting into the army persons living in Germany who have lost their original citizenship without acquiring German nationality. A new order says that former nationals of foreign states, including former Americans, will not be employed with the front-line troops, but must serve in the armies of occupation or elsewhere behind the front. This applies to German-Americans who returned to Germany to live after being naturalized in the United States. The children of such parents are liable to service in the trenches in case they have not completed the necessary steps to obtain American citizenship.

SAND BURR KILLS RANCHER

Gets Into Throat While Victim Is Shocking Corn—Operation Comes Too Late.

Sioux Falls, S. D.—The accidental drawing of a sand burr into his throat caused the death of Clarence McClelland, a prominent Fall River county rancher.

While shocking corn a sand burr became fastened to one of his fingers. He attempted to extricate the sand burr with his teeth. It became loosened just as he took a deep breath and the sand burr was drawn into his throat.

He could not dislodge it, and was rushed to a hospital, where an operation was performed, but too late to save his life.

Family Tree in Window.

Ada, Miss.—The Klinger family tree is on exhibition in a local show window, giving the ancestry of that family from 1705 to the present time. Adam and Eve Klinger were born in 1705 and 1706, twelve children being born to them, from which sprang 1,000 relatives.

SUBSTITUTE FOR OLIVE OIL

Truck Gardener in Colorado Gets Rich Oil From Seeds of Cantaloupes.

Rocky Ford, Colo.—An American substitute for olive oil is believed to have been discovered here by D. V. Burrell, a truck gardener. Burrell has found that a clear, rich oil is in the seeds of cantaloupes and has submitted a quantity of it to government chemists at Washington, who informed him that their experiments indicate a new table oil of the same color and texture as olive oil is apparent, without any refining process. The government chemists are continuing their experiments with the substance.

Proper Judgment.

There is sometimes more sheer courage in the little body of a gray squirrel than there is in the whole vast carcass of an elephant. An old, old story tells of a Sunday-school lad who was asked why the lions didn't eat Daniel. The answer was, "Because most of him was backbone and the rest of him 'was grit.'" It is the inside measurement of a man that counts. We must judge by the moral and not the physical value whether he is strong.

He Had No Idea.

Wife's Wif.—"Do you think my husband can stand an operation?" Doctor (absently)—"My dear madam, you know his financial affairs better than I do."—Pitt.

A Card of Character

A Card is much like a man, after all. The more character, the more power he has. The more character in your card, the more power it has.

The Peerless Patent Book Form Card has more character than any card you have ever heard of before. It can be beautifully engraved, or it can be neatly printed, as the user desires. It is necessarily always clean, because of the binding in book form with tissue paper between each card, and the book form also keeps it from becoming wrinkled or crumpled. Besides it is always "right there" when you need it.

Can you think of more character for a card? Write and get a sample tab of the cards, detach them, noting as you do so, the clean smooth edge, the absence of detachment, and the protection from dust and dirt. They have character to convince you, if you will but see them.

RED CROSS SEALS

Be Sure and Put Them on Your Xmas Packages

The sale of Red Cross seals in Florida this year promises to be greater than ever before. Each community is trying to sell at least one seal per capita, and many will sell three per capita, which is the goal set by Dr. John H. Leeds, state secretary of the Florida Anti Tuberculosis Association. (Headquarters, Duval Theatre Arcade, Jacksonville.) Every organization in the state which is federated with the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs, (with a very few exceptions) is handling the sale of the seals under the able direction of Dr. Grace Whitford, Chairman of their Public Health Department. (Ozono, Pinellas Co.)

The National Red Cross has asked that this year a considerable part of the funds raised by the sale of seals shall be used to care for tubercular soldiers. The president of the Canadian Pacific Railroad states that as many Canadians have died from tuberculosis since the war began as have been shot down by the enemy. Tuberculosis is the greatest enemy of civilized nations. The average death rate from tuberculosis in Florida is greater than that of the United States, because we have neglected to fight this enemy. The rest of the money from the seal sale will be used to start a campaign for county sanatoria and for public health nurses.

The seals this year are especially attractive, a beautiful Christmas tree replacing the familiar face of Santa Claus. Every moving picture house in the state is being asked to run a slide containing a picture of the seals. As some people who wish to assist in this great Red Cross and public health work feel that they cannot use as many seals as can be purchased for $5 or $10 or even a dollar's worth, (they sell at one cent apiece) arrangements have been made whereby seals may be sent to Dr. Whitford or Dr. Leeds and they will be forwarded to the camps for the use of the soldiers. One dollar will make ten fellows happy, not only by providing them with these little brighteners for their letters and packages, but they will know that somebody cares about their welfare.

Red Cross Notes

Owing to the fact that next Thursday, Dec. 27th is moving day, the work room being changed from its present location at the Elks Club to the Fin Block, the cutting committee will not meet on Tuesday or Thursday as has been their custom, but the entire committee are requested to meet at the new rooms in the Fin block Friday morning, Dec. 28th.

All work now being completed will please be turned over to the distributing committee, by Wednesday, Dec. 26th, as a shipment will go forward on that date.

The Chapter will appreciate the offer of a truck to move their belongings on Thursday morning next.

There are also much needed the donation of 3 sewing machines and 6 straight chairs.

Anyone who can render either of the above services will please phone Mrs. Deane Turner, No. 309.

Pagantry

Dulces and buttercups gave way to brown, waving grasses, lined with the warm-red sorrel; the waving grasses are swept away and the meadows lie like emeralds set in the bushy hedgerows; the tawny-tipped corn begins to bow with the weight of the full ear; the peppers are bending amongst it and it soon stands in sheaves; then, presently, the patches of yellow stubble lie side by side with streaks of dark red earth, which the plow is turning up in preparation for the new, threshed seed.—George Eliot.

Measles Most Easily Taken

And Lead to Something More Serious
State Board of Health

That the most highly communicable and most easily transmitted disease known to man should be one liable to leave or bring about the most disastrous after effects seems enough to make preventive vigilance a common practice.

Yet there are over a million cases of measles every year in the United States, many of them paving the way for such infection as bronchitis, pneumonia, tuberculosis or some kindred malady and not infrequently affections of the kidneys, or eyes and ears.

To avoid measles keep away from persons who have colds. Anderson and Goldberger of the United States Public Health Service have demonstrated that measles is caused by a filtrable virus or ultra microscopic organism which is thrown off in the nose and throat secretions of the infected individual. Outside of the body it does not remain virulent long.

This malady may be contracted only during the period of catarrhal symptoms and until the cessation of abnormal mucous membrane secretions—a minimum period of seven days or two days before to five days after appearance of the rash.

The secret of controlling measles lies in an early recognition of the disease. The first danger signal is often a slight elevation of temperature. This is followed by congestion of the eyes, catarrhal symptoms and a pronounced condition on the lining membrane of the mouth—Koplik spots. All of this usually comes before the eruption appears on the body and with the disease is as infectious as at any time during the period of communicability.

Persons exposed to the disease should be isolated and examined daily for a period of one week to eighteen days after contact with the person having it. The suspected individual should be put to bed promptly and every one except the doctor and nurse excluded from the room. At termination of the case, all bedding, towels and handkerchiefs which may have been soiled with mouth and nose secretions or exposed to them should be boiled or otherwise disinfected. Also the room and furniture should be given a thorough cleansing and then well aired for a few days.

There is a very old saying that "few escape smallpox and love." This is more true of measles for, since introduction of vaccination, the prevalence of small pox has become the penalty of negligence. Measles which is the most highly communicable disease is distributed throughout the entire world. There are more deaths today from measles than from small pox; but, besides the deaths from measles itself, there are more deaths resulting from diseases that come from measles. Therefore, every precaution should be exercised to prevent spread of this malady.

A wrong impression seems to prevail among many parents that it is best to allow their children to be exposed to measles, have it and get over it. A thought of the after effects liable to result from measles should be sufficient to convince them of the folly of their position.

Measles is at present generally distributed over Florida. At this season of the year pneumonia and other serious complications are liable to follow the disease, as has been demonstrated at some of the military camps of the south. Caution and forethought by each individual in the state can prevent its spread to a large extent.

Oviedo Xmas Red Cross Drive

The Red Cross Christmas membership drive in Oviedo began with a service at the Methodist church Sunday morning. The pastor, Rev. C. E. Gutteridge in his farewell sermon to his charge before leaving for his new field in Haines City spoke on Red Cross work. The campaign manager of the Christmas drive spoke on the purpose and meaning of Christmas membership.

Sunday a special Red Cross service was held in the colored Baptist church in charge of Principal Monroe who is directing the membership campaign of the Red Cross branch among his people. The meeting was well attended and a number of inspiring talks were given by interested workers.

On Monday the advertising committee composed of Misses Elsie Marshall, Ruth Young and Elizabeth Lawton put up the posters and advertising connected with the drive. Today the above committee displayed a Red Cross service flag in every business house in town, many of the firms having every employee represented by additional crosses on the flag.

The banner of the campaign will be a large service flag now on display at the postoffice. At 5 p. m. each day crosses will be attached to the flag for each member enrolled during the day.

The flag committee, composed of Miss Elizabeth Moore, Miss Mabel Swope and Mrs. A. K. Crawford have also completed a similar flag for the Oviedo public school which will be hoisted for the first time at the Red Cross service flag raising tomorrow afternoon.

The members of the membership teams held an enthusiastic meeting yesterday afternoon with Mrs. H. B. McCall as chairman. The committee, perfected plans to see that every person in Oviedo will have an opportunity to wear the Red Cross button. All members of the committee will report each day's results at headquarters of drive in the O. P. Swope Land Co. office every afternoon at five o'clock.

News From Camp Wheeler

Macon, Ga., Dec. 19.—For five days Co. C has shivered. Starting with last Saturday the thermometer went into winter quarters and has kept its head down ever since. Tuesday night enough sleet fell to cover the ground fairly well and some of it is still to be seen in spots. We went on guard Wednesday night and all day Thursday, and with the ground covered with ice and a cold wind it was far from pleasant.

Strange as it may seem the cold weather has cured most of the colds that were so prevalent for awhile. Three weeks ago almost every man in the camp had a cold and lots of them were severe. Today only a very few have colds and they are not bad.

There have been a few changes in the company. James J. Estridge of Sanford has been transferred to the Ordnance corps. One man from every company was transferred at the time. They are to be taught in some arsenal the repairing of all kinds of guns and then sent back to this division. Cy Cox has been transferred to the veterinary corps but for the present he is attached to this company.

Private Kramer and Beck were discharged recently on account of physical defects. Beck is from Sanford and Kramer is from Jacksonville. Kramer was not a member of Co. C but transferred to us from the First-Florida.

Private Thomas L. Sullivan has been made corporal, replacing one of the boys who recently fell from grace and had to be reduced. He is the second Sanford man to be promoted in the last month. Oscar Speer, another Sanfordinite, has been detailed to the canteen and is now selling Chero-Cola by the case.

A number of comfort kits were recently received from the Red Cross Society of Orlando for the men who did not get them at first. They have been distributed and the fortunate men vie with each other in expressing their thanks and appreciation. We who have had them all the time know how much they mean, and we can't do without them. No word yet about Christmas furloughs but we are hoping.

Depends on Circumstances. "One should always serve from the left side. That's right, I believe." "All depends. In serving suppers you sneak up from the rear."

Unframed Pictures.

To fasten unframed pictures on the wall so that the wind cannot tear them loose, take a narrow ribbon and brass tacks and, beginning at one corner, fasten the picture, then stretch the ribbon to the next corner of the picture, then another tack, and so on clear around the picture. Use ribbon to harmonize with the color in your picture and the effect will be pretty.

Great Little Men.

Size is no criterion of valor and ability. Napoleon was no giant. The duke of Luxembourg, the most famous captain of his time, was a dwarf. Malheur, the leader whom, during the closing scenes of the Confederacy, Lee most relied upon, except Gordon, was described as "a spry midget, full of Irish fire."—Buffalo Times.

The Sanford Herald is out with a fine Christmas edition. We are proud of the Florida press in the Christmas "extras." Fine work. This includes the dailies and the weeklies.—Orlando Sentinel.

We're glad to be assured that that fine Sanford lettuce crop escaped without injury. Sixty two car loads shipped in one day since it was "ruined" is Sanford's answer to the calamity monger who started the story of this disaster.—Lakeland Telegram.

"True patriotism" and the "horrors" of war are not only for the man at the front, whose feet freeze in the trenches. The man who stays at home and works to support the man at the front; who pays taxes and donates, and donates and pays taxes, and loses his income from poor business and donates and pays taxes is just as truly a patriot, and works as hard for his country, and does his duty just as truly as the man who shoots and dies and dies.—Lakeland News.

RIDING THE NEWSPAPERS
 Why is it that a newspaper may donate a hundred dollars' worth of space to any good cause and never receive more than the merest perfunctory "thank you," while if a person or firm in any other line of business donates a quarter's worth from that person's or firm's stock to the same cause, they are given a card of thanks—at the expense of the newspaper? asks the Lakeland Telegram, and we are surprised that the Telegram didn't go right on and give the answer. Of course Editor Hetherington knew the answer every newspaper man knows it, and he is one of the best informed in the business. But if the public would care to be told, the answer is simply that the newspaper is considered by the public as a public bill board, with the publisher furnishing the marking pot and brush, or paste for sticking the bills as the public may choose. To the great majority of the people a newspaper is merely the means by which they become famous or acquire information of value and represents nothing in the way of enterprise or industry. The free space so liberally given to worthy and noteworthy causes has emboldened the recker of notoriety to ask continually for more, and the generous compliance with all requests has made many think that they now confer a favor upon an editor by bringing in

 There's much that calls for song!
 To fate lend not thine ear,
 Take time to live;
 The world has much to give."
 —Thomas Curtis Clark, in Friendly Town.

of a long winded appeal through which somebody will win either fame or money, for himself or the cause mentioned.—Times-Union.

A CHRISTMAS GREETING

My first impulse was to write above, A Merry Christmas To You! But a second thought ruled out that wording as inappropriate at this season. This will hardly be a merry Christmas to anybody. It will be an unhappy one to many. To most of us Americans it will be a mixture of sorrow and pity, but I hope with a faith in God, that there will be compensations for this war that will justify its being.

It may be that the customary Christmas text, "Glory to God in the Highest, and on earth peace among men, in whom He is well pleased," will give place this season to the words of Jesus: "Think not that I came to send peace on earth; I came not to send peace, but a sword." I take that to be a prophecy which we are fulfilling today.

Whatever interpretation men may put upon these words, our nation, which claims to be Christian has felt itself impelled to take up the sword with brother nations "to save democracy for the world." I am quite sure that I am not alone in the belief that an ideal democracy is what Jesus was talking about when He taught His disciples to pray: "Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven." (The latest approved translation of this and all other references to the kingdom of God in the New Testament reads: "Thy reign begin, Thy will be done," etc. This conveys a somewhat different idea.)

Jesus said that all of the law and the prophets was wrapped up in the first two commandments: "Thou shalt love the Lord, thy God, with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind . . . and thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." Our Declaration of Independence voices about the same idea, thus: "All men are created equal, and are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights. Among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." The basis of our Government is an acknowledgment of the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man.

One more, Scripture seems to be called for here: "The wisdom that is from above is, first of all, pure, then peaceable." We are in a time now when men are trying, "Peace, peace, when there is no peace."

In the midst of our affliction there are many things we may rejoice in at this season. I mention, briefly, a few:

We may take comfort in the possession of a Woodrow Wilson for President; a clear headed thinker, who knows what to say and how to say it, and what to do and how to do it, as occasion demands. I quote a late sample: "What I am opposed to is not the feeling of the pacifists, but their stupidity. My heart is with them but my mind has a contempt for them. I want peace, and know how to get it, and they do not."

We have reason to rejoice and take courage in the way that the loyal citizens of our country have met, and are meeting the challenge of the world's crisis. Our democracy and fraternity have been, and are being, tested to the limit, and we are responding to its every demand in the fullest measure.

We may well be grateful that the war is teaching us that "life is more than meat, and the body is more than raiment." Life does not consist in our material possessions, but in what we are. Life is good will, service, friendship, brotherhood, character. Life is spirit.

Many of us thought at the beginning of the war that Christianity was a failure. But we are beholding Christianity as a vital force, indispensable to the winning of the war. The war has awakened the Christian spirit, not only in the church, but in men as citizens of our Christian nation. The church has become one of the chief beneficiaries of the war. We will have an improved church after the war.

An inestimable benefit growing out of the war will be an Internationalism of Fraternity that will bring to this world a peace that will endure from everlasting to everlasting.

"Take time to live;
 The world has much to give,
 Of faith and hope and love,
 Of faith that life is good,
 That human brotherhood
 Shall no illusion prove;
 Of hope, that future years
 Shall bring the best, in spite
 Of those whose darts and spears
 Would stir our doubts and fears;
 Of love, that makes of life,
 With all its grief, a song;
 A friend of conquered wrong;
 A symphony of strife,
 Take time to live,
 Nor to vain Mammon give Thy fruitful year."
 "Take time to live;
 The world has much to give"

KAISER'S PEACE OFFERING
 The Terms Are Very Generous To Germany
 Washington, D. C., Dec. 20.
 What purports to be an outline of the kaiser's much advertised "Christmas peace terms" has reached here through the same neutral diplomatic channels which earlier in the week received information to support intimations from abroad that a new peace offer was coming.

In the main, the terms as described follow the lines of those said to have been written by Foreign Minister von Kuehlmann, last summer. At that time they were denounced as having been written purely for political purposes. The so-called terms are said to leave the disposition of Alsace-Lorraine to a plebiscite of inhabitants.

England to pay Germany for her lost African colonies and the money to be used for the rehabilitation of Belgium, Serbia, Roumania and northern France.

Russian provinces bordering the Baltic, the Black Sea and Prussia to become independent under a German plan.

Poland to be called an independent state under Austrian suzerainty.

Bulgarian freedom of the sea and commerce to be left to the peace conference.

Roumania, Serbia and Montenegro to retain their original boundaries, with the right of access to the sea being granted to Serbia.

Turkey to remain in tact.

Whether such a proposal of terms is merely another step in the German propaganda to impress the public mind that the allies are responsible for a continuance of the war, or whether it really is a feeler for peace is a subject for the estimate of the government concerned.

At first glance, some are inclined to regard them as the kaiser's much advertised Christmas peace terms, probably designed to keep the German people under the illusion that they are fighting a really defensive war against foes who insist on the dismemberment of their country.

There is a very decided impression in competent quarters, however, that Germany, having gained great advantages in Russia, might find it to her advantage to yield to the

In the main, the terms as described follow the lines of those said to have been written by Foreign Minister von Kuehlmann, last summer. At that time they were denounced as having been written purely for political purposes. The so-called terms are said to leave the disposition of Alsace-Lorraine to a plebiscite of inhabitants.

England to pay Germany for her lost African colonies and the money to be used for the rehabilitation of Belgium, Serbia, Roumania and northern France.

Russian provinces bordering the Baltic, the Black Sea and Prussia to become independent under a German plan.

Poland to be called an independent state under Austrian suzerainty.

Bulgarian freedom of the sea and commerce to be left to the peace conference.

Roumania, Serbia and Montenegro to retain their original boundaries, with the right of access to the sea being granted to Serbia.

Turkey to remain in tact.

Whether such a proposal of terms is merely another step in the German propaganda to impress the public mind that the allies are responsible for a continuance of the war, or whether it really is a feeler for peace is a subject for the estimate of the government concerned.

At first glance, some are inclined to regard them as the kaiser's much advertised Christmas peace terms, probably designed to keep the German people under the illusion that they are fighting a really defensive war against foes who insist on the dismemberment of their country.

There is a very decided impression in competent quarters, however, that Germany, having gained great advantages in Russia, might find it to her advantage to yield to the allied demands in many other directions which in the estimate of her own statesmen would strike a balance. This is one of the reasons why some close observers believe an offer of peace coming at this time probably has more real intentions of peace behind it than the previous ones. No one believes here Germany's best terms would be put on the table at the first offering, and those inclined to this view think a proposal of peace now is at least an attempt to start a discussion of terms.

From what is known of the war aims of the allied governments, as expressed by their statesmen and by President Wilson, such an offering of terms as outlined in the foregoing could not be considered as the basis of a satisfactory peace, although it might contain some of the elements.

COBURN HELPS MAKE THE WORLD LAUGH
 Music, Song and Dancing and Clean Clean Jokes—Everything Minstrel Ought to Carry

J. A. Coburn's Greater Minstrels closed their engagement last night at the Columbia Theatre. The aggregation delighted three people's wags and they move on to other points to help make the world laugh. Coburn has everything a minstrel ought to carry. The evening's entertainment is replete with music, song, and dancing, and the performers win the good graces of their audience from the start. Charlie Gato fully sustains his reputation as a black face entertainer, and the mystery of show, Denton, carries the house by storm. The program made a flying start with the opening chorus from the entire company. Several catchy songs proved a warm debut. Simpson and Ry won applause in the Darktown Strutters' Ball, "So Long, Mother," was well sung by Charlie Cameron and Nate Mulroy made a hit with "Hit the Trail for Alabam." "Hello France" by James Bishop was easily one of the leading musical numbers and the spectacle was joined in by the chorus. "Saddle de Moch," a comic volume by verses, Ras skillfully presented by Jimmy Russell and he Ras followed by Lester Lucas who sang, "Sentinels Asleep." "Called-You My Sweetheart," proved a well accepted number from Arthur

Fulton. The principal ensemble was concluded by Eddie C. Clifford with "The Trumpeter" and "Last Night When the World was Mine."

Charlie Gato as the "Cock of the Club" made good with a rush. His "Jokerhop" is heavily stocked with clean, witty sayings and his songs compel the audience to look, listen and laugh.

George and George do some very clever acrobatic work, and their performance on the springing mat is entertaining and amusing. They are bouncing bouncers of a high class variety. The five synchronized saxones and the jazz jugglers and the figgers execute a clever stunt that pleases. Kent Gage gives a musical treat with his harp. His selections include a ragtime and the classical, the mysterious "Miss" Denton got her full share of applause. Vocal selections and searching for "one ba" in the audience was a whole show in itself and the house shook when she revealed herself as a him. The cast of four rendered good quartet selections and the entertainment closed with a laughable sketch "The Submarine Chasers."

A Christmas Message to the People of Florida

By Braxton Beacham, Federal Food Administrator, Florida

In the approaching observance of the great universal festival of Christmas, the true spirit of which calls for the practice of self denial, and the greater blessings of giving than of receiving, I call upon the people of Florida to respond more fully to the Christmas spirit, and while in anticipation of the joys and pleasures of the day may they give due strong effort to making the Christmas of 1917 more noted through their self-denial.

It is not necessary that we take from ourselves and our children the joys and smiles that are inherent rights, but we should make those joys and smiles embody a self-satisfaction that we have helped to make more secure the peace at home, and more certain the return of peace abroad.

Let us refrain from careless uses of those needful foods, and fully realize that all we save will be a greater support to our soldiers, and a greater defense against the dangers that confront them, and a sure and powerful factor for an earlier peace throughout the world.

Let us use wisely, give wisely, and ever remember that in observance of this Holy Christmas, we can, by our thoughtful self-denial win the respect of our friends, the gratitude of our country and allies, and the blessings of God.

Woman's Club Notes

The Music Dept. held their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, Dec. 18th at the Club House. This afternoon was devoted to a benefit program, proceeds to go to the Children's Home Society, Jacksonville, and, despite the inclemency of the weather there was a fair attendance and the sum of $6.60 was realized.

The program was most interesting. The different members of the department told the story of an opera; it would then be played on the phonograph.

The most of the numbers were reproductions of the phonograph taken from the world's famous artists. Still by no means the least enjoyed was "One Fine Day," from Madam Butterfly, sung by our own Mrs. Takach.

Selections from Carmen and Faust were sung by the club chorus.

During the short business session following the program rising votes of thanks were given by the department to the Gibson-Wallace Music Co., for their kindness in furnishing the phonograph and records and also to Mr. Albert Frye for her services given as chorus accompanist.

The Social Dept. announces their Xmas dance to be had New Year's night at the Carnes Hotel. Mrs. Morse, hostess.

At their last meeting this department voted to invite the members from the other departments of the club and their husbands to attend the dance. Tickets $1.00 a couple. This is a new invitation as heretofore these affairs have been restricted to department members only.

A Finished Job.

A suitor objected because his bride-to-be had a short leg and humped. "You are wrong in objecting to that," said the marriage broker. "Suppose you marry a woman whose feet are sound and straight. What do you gain by it? You are not sure from day to day that she will not fall down and break a leg and then be lame for the rest of her life. Just consider the pain, the excitement and the doctor's bills. But if you marry this one nothing can happen. Here you have a finished job."

Easy to Raise Sheep.

Sheep are docile, easily handled, will live on a greater diversity of food, will thrive on pastures earlier in the spring and later in the fall and require less grain than other stock.

AMERICANS ADEPT AT POLICE WORK

Detailed to Help Out French Constables in Maintaining Order.

SHOW STUFF THEY'RE MADE OF University Graduates Speak Little French, but They Render Valuable Service—People Should Be Careful What They Say.

Somewhere in France.—One of the features of American military life in France is the municipal police work performed by several companies in various parts of France.

In one town near to the regional camps I noticed a very excellent example of American adaptiveness to any sort of work that necessity gives rise to.

The captain of a certain company who graduated from the American school with high honors and the usual grade was not long before he got promoted to his present rank. He is beloved by his men and can "get anything out of them," it is said.

These men are not used to police work. But that is no matter. They do it all the same. In this company alone I counted as many as 131 university men. They are all men who volunteered for the army at the start. This shows the sort of stuff they are made of.

On Patrol Duty.

In the evenings you see groups of these military police stationed at various parts of the city and patrolling about. In the day time they do the same sort of work. They are detailed to look after the American troops and see that they get fair play in any misunderstandings that may arise.

One difficulty that the local French police have to contend with is the lack of constables, who are mostly at the front. But this is no difficulty to the American captain, who promptly details as many men to help as many be needed.

The captain is treated with great respect and has an office for his lieutenants in the local police buildings. What strikes one as strange is that the local police officials seem to think that the Americans, after coming over to France to take part in this war, paying their way, supplied with every sort of food for man and horse, clothing and munitions of war, ought to speak French also. The host is decidedly on the other leg, think the American boys. The French authorities ought to have officials who speak English, or, if this is not convenient, then they ought to have men who can act as interpreters for the boys. This is a crying evil and ought to be remedied at once. Volunteers are wanted to teach the Americans the elements of French as spoken.

The Language Question.

One Frenchman said to me: "I cannot understand how it is that your men who come—that is, so many of them—from schools and colleges where they are taught French cannot speak the language a little, anyhow." Now this nettled me somewhat, and I replied: "How is it that with all your schools and colleges in France so few of your people can speak a word of English? And how is it that the most of them do not even want to learn English? Why is this?"

One of the many duties of the American military police is to arrest suspicious characters. It would surprise many to know that this sort of person is particularly busy at the present time and meets with severe experiences when found out. American civilians as well as the soldiers cannot be too careful what they say and where they say it at present.

PLANES TO CARRY WOUNDED

Physician and Corporal Declare This Form of Transport Superior to Ambulances.

London.—Tests recently made on the western front with an airplane fitted with two stretchers for carrying wounded have proved highly satisfactory. No wounded were carried during the tests, but Doctor Chassaling of the army medical service and Corporal Tetu represented wounded passengers during a twelve-minute flight, the equivalent of a fifteen-mile journey.

Both the physician and the corporal declared that this form of transport is far superior to an ambulance, of which both have vivid recollections, having been wounded two years ago.

Doctor Chassaling, who removed a muffer from his head and unfastened straps during the flight, expressed the opinion that there would be no unnecessary pain to a wounded passenger, because the equilibrium of the airplane is so perfect. The machine was constructed by the aeronautic service of the army, which hopes to use this form of transport for the severely wounded.

Bear Too Familiar.

Conrad, Mont.—George Robinson has killed a brown bear at their home on Sheep creek. Old Bruin had been making regular visits this last summer, and, in fact, was getting to be altogether too familiar with the surroundings. On the evening of his last appearance he was seen looking through the kitchen window.

SOLDIERS AT GOVERNORS ISLAND TO HAVE SPORTS

Soldiers stationed on Governors Island plan to spend all their spare time in athletic recreation, according to the calendar of sports scheduled for the coming months.

Practically every company of the Twenty-second Infantry has organized either a baseball, football or basketball team. The baseball tourney is nearing its end and a bitter fight is being waged for the championship. A basketball and football schedule is being made up, with the opening games to be played shortly.

GRIDIRON SPORT MIGHT DIE

Effect of Action of Yale, Harvard and Princeton is Puzzling to Football Fans.

The fact that Yale, Princeton and Harvard, recognized as the leaders in football, have suspended activities on the gridiron for the duration of the war, has set the devotees of the game to thinking. The universal question of those interested in the matter is: What ultimate effect will this have on the sport pursued by the smaller colleges?

Is football to die until after the war or will those who have the sport's interest at heart bring strong enough pressure to bear for its conservation? Action by the "Big Three" in canceling their schedules is patriotic indeed, it is true, but there is probably some practical method obtainable which will give the young collegian a chance to indulge in his favorite autumn sport. Football should not be allowed to die a natural death when means can be adopted for its preservation. It is part of every college man's life, and without its moral and physical effect he will suffer.

Graduates Two First Sackers.

The Lincoln club of the Western League enjoys the odd distinction of graduating two first basemen to the majors in one season. Pug Griffin was sold to the Philadelphia Athletics and Ray Schmidt was drafted by the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Chiff Dealers Still Exist.

Although the earliest chiff dealers were prehistoric, these dealers have existed in almost every age of the world. The ancient Romans derived their name from their practice of lying in wait and subsequent abuses. An Arab tribe in Palestine still occupies the mountainous caves, and a tribe of chiff dealers has been recently found in Mexico.

A Soldier's Hope Chest
Private Smith, of the Eighth squad, was as busy as a whole hive of bees as he shook the dust from a Rumford baking powder box and proceeded to fill it with a miscellaneous assortment of articles. A gorgeous tie of rainbow hue graced the bottom, and this was followed by several collars. Next he pitched in, in rapid succession, a box of perfumed face powder, a silk handkerchief, a watch and chain, and various and sundry small articles of jewelry.

About this time several other members of the squad betrayed an interest in Smith's movements, and began to sit up and take notice, as with a frown on his features he searched among his belongings for other things to deposit in the wooden case. He found a bottle of astringent, a jar of massage cream, a pair of socks that would have blinded an army mule, and also a book entitled "How to Make Loke." All these things and many more found their way into the ex-baking powder box, but the climax was reached when this enterprising member of the Eighth fished out a large picture of a beautiful member of the fair sex as ever drew the breath of life. He gazed long and pensively at the photo, and then roughly shied it into the now filled up box. At this, the chief-inquisitor of the squad could hold out no longer, and he questioned:

"Whatinhell is that for?"

"That," said Smith, "is a hope chest."

"A hope chest," howled the gang together.

"Yes, sir," Smith went on, that's a hope chest. I'm hoping, by gum, that the day will come when I can use all those things again."

The above article appeared in "Trench and Camp" the camp paper for Camp Wheeler.

Smith was no other than Arthur Dickens of Sanford and a member of Company C. The article was written by Thomas Hewlett.

A Solace to Pride.
"You have made some powerful enemies." "That's all right," replied Senator Sorghum. "In so doing I have at least demonstrated that I couldn't be whipped by the little fellows."

Her Best Wishes.
It was the last day of school. The teacher was giving a farewell party for her class, as she was to be married in the near future. The children spent a pleasant afternoon, and before they realized it the time came to say good-by. One by one they marched up and shook hands with their dear teacher. Doris said: "I hope you will get as good a husband as my papa is."

Home Produced Platinum.
The United States produces refined platinum from crude placer platinum imported mostly from the Colombian republic. There is a small home production—in California as a by-product in gold dredging, in Oregon from beach workings and hydraulic workings, in Nevada from the platinum bearing gold ore of the Boss mine and also from the Rambler mine in Wyoming. There is a considerable production of platinum in the United States by refiners of copper matte and gold bullion, both imported and of home production.

Men Really Not in It.

Barnacle-Covered Lobsters.
"Lobsters shed their shells annually, but none of us knows how long they keep on doing it," said an old Penobscot lobsterman. "I am sure they do not shed all their lives, for I have caught many big lobsters on whose backs was a heavy incrustation of barnacles that must have taken several years to grow."

The Oldest Joke.
Johnny Hoy claims that the oldest joke is one about the farmer's wife who went to the door and found an agent. "Can I sell you an exterminator for vermin?" asked the agent. "No," said the farmer's wife, who had been pestered to death with agents. "We have all the vermin we need."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

First Air Flight.
The first really authentic account of a man being raised in the air was in Paris, October 15, 1785, when Piltre de Rozier was lifted 50 feet into the air by a balloon made by Stephen and Joseph Montgolfier, to whom belong the honor of having built the first successful man-carrying, lighter-than-air vehicle.

THE DANGERS OF TAKING CALOMEL

If you only realized the terrible injury you do yourself when you take calomel, you'd never put another grain in your mouth. It's rank poison.

Instead of calomel, use that splendid guaranteed vegetable compound, Martin's Liver Medicine, the medicine that is winning favor. It is excellent for headache, constipation and kindred ills. It acts forcibly and quickly without griping. Causes no loss of time from business; does not impair the appetite.

While the prescribed dose is one tablespoonful, I have found by experience that a teaspoonful at bedtime promotes sound sleep throughout the night and a comfortable movement before breakfast. It gives me great pleasure to be able to recommend Martin's Liver Medicine as a pleasant and thorough laxative.—Andrew M. Beck Mason, Ga.

Martin's Liver Medicine is made according to the prescription of a celebrated Southern physician who used it for years in his practice. It is purely vegetable and is guaranteed to give satisfactory results. If after using it you are not satisfied, return the empty bottle and receive your 50c.
