"THE MAN IN IRON MASK" PICKED TO LEAD DEMOCRATS

Gridiron Club Holds Annual Spring Banquet in Washington and Names Presidential Possibilities.

WASHINGTON, May 1. — For entertainment at its spring annual Saturday night the Gridiron Club of Washington newspaper correspondents held a national political convetio with music. It was replete with a hodge-podge of song and satire in which no political party was spared.

The Republican nomination was accorded to President Coolidge, but the Democratic standard-bearer proved to be the most famous dark horse in history, "The Man in the Iron Mask."

The Gridiron singers sang the keynote of the dinner to the tune of "Sixty Seconds Every Minute." We do not intend to show a picture done in oil.

We've turned that one to the wall; We'll display, instead, a good old portrait time can't spoil. One that smiles upon us all. Smiling still through all this stricture.

Is your Uncle Sammy's picture— It's a portrait scandal cannot soil. The chorus brought out, among other things, the lines:

Uncle's never in a jam—don't get the blues, don't give a dam; The country's safe—Three cheers for Uncle Sam.

Robert L. Norton of the Boston Post was initiated as a new member of the club, and William E. Brigham, correspondent of the Boston Evening Transcript, was inaugurated president of the club.

Democratic Problem Perplexing. The club had little difficulty in picking the Republican presidential nominee, but the problem of the Democratic convention was much more perplexing. From his place an inquisitor general was called to issue subpoenas for several distinguished persons. He brought with him his executioner.

The first witnesses were "The Three Musketeers." They proved to be Al Smith of New York, Thomas Taggart of Indiana, and George E. Brennan of Chicago. The trio identified themselves as "expert political swordsmen." Asked what they intended to do in the forthcoming campaign, they announced in chorus: "McAdoo!"

A cowboy, who proved to be William G. McAdoo, rushed in, to inquire, breathlessly, whether the "Three Musketeers" had departed. He asserted he was "William the Conqueror," appearing as a voluntary witness and announced that he would be nominated on the first ballot, "even if I have to claim residence in every state in the Union."

"James the Just" just turned out to be James M. Cox of Ohio. "William the Silent" was identified as William M. Butler, the Coolidge

BRYAN SUBJECT BITTER ATTACK AT CONVENTION

St. Clair Abrams Characterizes Great Commoner As Most Sinister Influence In Democratic Party Today.

JACKSONVILLE, May 1. — William Jennings Bryan, thrice a candidate for the presidency on the Democratic ticket and now a candidate for delegate to the national convention from Florida, was denounced on the convention floor of the state Underwood gathering here Tuesday by Maj. Alex. St. Clair-Abrams of Jacksonville as "the most sinister influence that ever cursed the Democratic party."

The speaker declared that Mr. Bryan, although against Underwood, had stated that he would abide by the result of the primary; "but he would not trust any man who is against Underwood."

Senator Underwood was characterized by Senator Wells as the "most living statesman, able, experienced and capable and predicted that the Alabamian will sweep the country. Other speakers lauded Senator Underwood's character and qualifications and asserted that the rest of the country is looking to the south to supply the next president.

Plans for an intensive state-wide campaign to give United States Senator Oscar W. Underwood of Florida as its presidential choice were laid at the convention of his supporters at the Seminole Hotel. The convention was presided over by Col. Robert W. Davis of Gainesville. W. J. Bivens was secretary.

After selecting a strong executive campaign committee headed by State Senator Harry H. Wells of Chipley, chairman, and Mrs. David Penleton Council, of Lake Worth, as chairman, the convention set Monday, May 6, as the date for the organization of Underwood clubs in every county, town and voting precinct in Florida to carry on the campaign in behalf of Senator Underwood. For the first time in the history of the state, its women have joined hands with the men in a presidential campaign.

The senate passed the naval appropriation bill carrying $275,000,000.

campaign manager, who spoke not a word, but offered a deposition in the form of a weather forecast for Cleveland in June: "Coolidge—fair and calm." "Frank the First," was Frank H. Hitchcock, Hiram Johnson's manager, who was unable to produce his candidate because the latter "miss his train."

Most famous John Doe Heard, casts KDKA. Convinced that the "Democratic ticket to date reads like a John Doe warrant," the inquisitor general subpoenaed "the most famous John Doe in history—The Man in the Iron Mask," who said:

MERO TELLS HOW BATTERY MAY BE MADE FROM JUNK

Loc. 1 Manager of Exide Battery Station Gives Some Useful Hints On The Question of Battery Troubles

"It's human nature to try and get the utmost out of your battery before you scrap it," said Percy Mero of the local Exide Battery Station. "But when a legitimate service station finally tells you that further repairs can no longer be economically made, rest assured that there isn't much left of that battery that is fit for any further use."

"Nevertheless, there are a number of irresponsible dealers who buying up these junked batteries and from the least worn parts, supplemented by a very few new parts, are assembling other batteries which they sell to the unsuspecting, bargain-hunting autosist as "re-built" batteries.

"I understand that only about 5 per cent. of the total number of parts used in these rebuilt batteries are new. These parts are usually limited to a few new plates, an occasional separator and the electrolyte. The cases, shiny, well-painted cases, are taken from whole look attractive, but no matter what is paid for such batteries, they are expensive and it won't be very long before the motorist realizes that another battery is necessary again.

"If motorists could only be made to understand what they are getting when they buy batteries of this kind, they would realize the economy of purchasing standard batteries from reputable service stations, where every effort is made to give the customer maximum service.

LEESBURG, May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The enthusiasm displayed in the citrus sign-up campaign meeting held here Tuesday night clearly indicated that the growers and business people of Leesburg and vicinity are convinced that the only solution of the citrus marketing problem is to be found in co-operation. The meeting expressed itself unanimously as favoring co-operative marketing in principle, following a vigorous address by Col. Walter P. Corbett, of Jacksonville, who completed his speaking itinerary here last night.

Author of America Forgotten But His Works Still Live

"America" is sung on patriotic occasions all over the land, and in other lands where Americans abide and linger. It has been so sung for nearly a hundred years. Dr. Oliver W. Holmes once told Samuel Francis Smith, author of the song: "Your name and fame will live when my works are forgotten. You have made yourself immortal in your poems." Dr. Smith does live in the hearts and voices of the American people, young and old, regardless of sect, party, culture or condition—that is, they keep alive the song, but forget the singer. How little is really known of Dr. Smith, writes The Washington Star.

B. Newton, of Orlando, chairman, nearly two weeks ago. The report had also received the endorsement of the sub-exchange managers' association, which met Tuesday night. Full Discussion of All-Important Question Will Be Held at National Assembly of Presbyterian Church. (By The Associated Press) GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., May 1.—Fundamentalism, allegations of undue modernism among Presbyterian missionaries, charges of too vigorous pacifism in the Chicago presbytery, and renewal of the controversy that has centered about the Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick, New York pastor, are expected to take up much of the time of the 136th annual assembly of the Presbyterian church of the United States here May 22-28. The proposed unification of the Presbyterian Congregational churches and selection of a moderator to succeed the Rev. Charles F. Wishart who retires, also are regarded as matters of business certain to create more than casual interest among the 960 commissioners who are to attend. The New York presbytery, to which the last general assembly referred charges of undue modernism against Rev. Dr. Fosdick, acting pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, New York, has reported Dr. Fosdick's religious views as seeming to it not subject to just criticism. A minority report to the assembly here is expected to renew the attack of the fundamentalists. The charge that the Chicago presbytery has taken too strongly pacifist views in the matter of the individual's right or lack of right to pledge himself not to share in warfare, even though his country be at war, is expected to bring spirited debate on the floor. Several names are being heard in connection with the office of moderator. Most prominently mentioned are the Rev. Clarence E. Macartney, pastor of the Arch Street Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia; the Rev. Robert E. Speer, secretary of the Presbyterian board of foreign missions, and the Rev. Charles E. Erdman, professor of practical theology and the English Bible at Princeton Theological seminary. Charles Evan Hughes, secretary of state, has accepted an invitation to address the assembly the evening of May 25. The senate Daugherty committee heard further testimony on prohibition enforcement and anti-trust policies of the department of justice.

4th Annual Fishing Contest Opened By Ball Hardware Co.

In keeping with the custom of the firm during the past three years, the Ball Hardware Company has just announced that its fourth fishing contest begins today and extends to Oct. 1. Lovers of this form of outdoor recreation will welcome the usual offer of this popular firm and take advantage of the prizes that are to be offered. The rules are simple and few. There are no strings attached to this offer. In the past this contest has attracted much interest and it is a safe prediction that it will create a great deal of enthusiasm to say nothing of keen rivalry among local "rod and reel experts." There are only three rules to remember in connection with the contest. They are as follows: 1. Fish must be caught in Seminole county. 2. Must be caught with a rod and reel and without assistance of any kind, shape or form. 3. No contestant can win more than one prize. Now here is the list of prizes: first, Shakespeare "Ideal" Level Wind Reel; second, Heddon's Bamboo Casting Rod; third, fishing tackle box and fourth, 50-yard Simson line. The Ball Hardware Company invites you to visit its store and inquire about the contest and incidentally look over its complete line of leading brands of fishing tackle and equipment. The store has a nifty dressed window display which would create a desire to go "fishin'" with any lover of outdoor sport.

'Celery Special' Motor Trip by Coral Gables Postponed Indefinitely

Announcement was made Thursday by the management of the local office of Coral Gables that the "Celery Special" which was to have been run this week to Miami by this company, has been indefinitely postponed. "The Celery Special" will in all probability be run some time during the latter part of this month or the first of June, it was further stated. Decision to postpone the excursion trip was made in view of the fact that many of those who had made reservations, are unable to go at this time. Many local people who desired to make the trip are busily engaged with the harvesting the spring crops of celery and other market crops and are unable to get away at this time. As an accommodation to these, the management has decided to run the special at a later date. To date approximately 120 people or six bus loads had procured reservations for the motor trip and it is with regret that the firm announces that it will be compelled to change the date of departure. However, it was stated, that if there are those who desire to make the trip in the big Coral Gables bus some time within the near future they will do so as the company will continue to operate its weekly bus service. This bus leaves Sanford each Monday morning at 10 o'clock. PROTECT YOUR CHILD'S HEALTH. Through thoughtlessness the slight cough or cold of a child is often neglected and soon becomes serious. ANNOUNCEMENT!

The Sanford Credit Association announces the establishment of its business in this city, with its offices located at 313 First National Bank Bldg., Telephone 666. A. E. Dickson, of the Orlando Credit Association being the owner and Mr. D. M. Sherwood, Local Manager.

Our Function

We cannot make it too plain to our patrons and any other business men who may be interested, that we have no personal interest in the rating or credit standing of anyone. It is our business merely to gather such facts as we can from reliable sources based on the experiences of merchants throughout this territory, and to report such facts in all their boldness and frankness to our subscribers.

Do not imagine that we are asking a favor of anyone when we request a personal statement, not that any reflection on your reputation is implied in this request. It is really a courtesy we extend.

The statements you make to us are fully verified and confirmed; they form the basis of our reports, and if they are favorable to your credit, they put aside all doubt as to your reliability in the minds of the patrons of this agency.

Every man and woman should value a good credit standing as an asset of more than ordinary worth—and this standing need not be based on capital or property, but rather upon the fact that your record for paying your bills is good—has stood the test of time. There are good men who do not pay their bills, and bad men who do pay their bills. There are rich men who are "money-poor," and poor men who manage to have some little money and keep their credit good.

It will be readily recognized that the services of such an agency as we maintain is indispensable in modern business.

The following firms have encouraged the organization of this Association, and are members from the beginning. Other firms not mentioned below are invited to become members. The more members we have the better will be the service.

Tomorrow is McAdoo Day in Sanford.

If some folks would keep their names out of the courts they wouldn't have to worry about seeing them in print.

Apparently that type of man outstanding among which is Frank Vanderlip, is not limited to New York of Washington.

That wasn't any Teapot Dome we had here. That was just an oil bubble and when it burst there was found to be nothing there.

Even if you don't want to see McAdoo president of the United States, you can't deny that he is preferable to Underwood.

If you haven't registered yet and don't register tonight, you have no kick coming if politicians get walk off with all the tax money.

Got the flags out tomorrow and dress up Sanford. Make these McAdoo delegates know that Sanford is right there when it comes to hospitality and entertainment.

"Beware of bunk!" exclaims the Orlando Sentinel. Does it include political bunk?—Times Union.

Wonder if all that lightning which scared Sanford children—and the rest of us—last night was sparks flying from the tornado as it ripped up houses in Georgia.

Speaking of the Japanese exclusion amendment, foreign authorities have credited Japan with one hundred per cent literacy, which is a goal for the United States to shoot at.

Work is progressing rapidly on the new baseball park and from all reports Sanford will soon have one of the best athletic fields in the state. After it gets a park it will need a baseball team.

The vacuum cleaning process will take the place of the old-fashioned currying in the United States cavalry," comments the Dearborn Independent, and it might have added, the United States government.

Frank Vanderlip just couldn't keep his mouth shut. Every time the wind blew—and even frequented by when it didn't—his jaw wobbled like a flapper's dress on a windy street corner. He repeated rumors concerning the sale of the Marion Star by Warren Harding and now he is being sued for libel by the present owners of the Star.

A few hours still remain in which voters may register for the June primary. Superior of Registration DuBois will keep his offices open until nine o'clock tonight for the accommodation of those desiring to make sure that their names are on the books. Many have registered and paid their poll taxes during the last few days.

This is an interesting age we live in. Walton caused enough trouble in Oklahoma to satisfy the whole nation for a generation. Mr. Gray, governor of Indiana, tried to out-do him. But it is not only governors who are dissatisfied with the conventional rules of decorum. Secretaries of the Interior and Navy and their assistants and the United States Attorney General and higher officials as well get their jobs and then laugh at the people.

"Goodnight, gentlemen!" is all Judge Stringfellow had to say regarding the rumors which he is alleged to have started concerning the integrity of the city commission. The rumor is that the Hudson Engineering Company has to split its profits twenty percent with the city commission. If Judge Stringfellow has the facts to substantiate this rumor, he is neglecting his duty as a citizen by not inaugurating a thorough house-cleaning. If he has not the facts, he has done his city a serious wrong by circulating dishonest rumors.

The Florida Rubber Industry, What Of It?

About every so often some one comes forward with a proposal that rubber trees be planted in Florida for commercial purposes. Within the last five years probably every newspaper in the state has had occasion to publish glowing accounts of plans for a great rubber industry for southern Florida. But for some reason the project does not seem to get underway.

The Herald has no information as to what would prevent the successful growing of rubber in Florida. Many magnificent trees of the variety from which commercial rubber is taken are found grown to fine size in the more tropical sections of the state, proving, it would seem, that there are no climate nor soil reasons that would prevent the growing of the trees on an extensive scale.

Is it because of the long time required to bring a rubber tree to commercial size, or is it the fear that scientists will find a substitute for "sap" rubber that can be produced at a cost too low for competition by the rubber-tree growers?

So far rubber imported from Central and South America, from Africa and Asia has supplied a demand that has grown to enormous proportions. Automobile tires, alone, must be using millions of pounds of tree rubber every year; and tires are only one item in a list of rubber-made articles that would fill many columns of newspaper space. Rubber, in fact, is used in greater variety perhaps than any of us imagines. They are even using it for street paving in London!

It was an account of the success of the rubber-paved street in London, indeed, that set us to wondering about the Florida rubber plantations. Borough High Street in London was paved with rubber surface three years ago, and its excellent condition today has convinced London street builders that that sort of paving is superior to any other of like cost. What this cost is, The Herald does not know, but if Florida can raise its own rubber it may be able to produce its own street paving material. Scenic highways, rubber surfaced, may be one of Florida's attractions twenty years hence. Can some one give us authentic information as to the progress of the rubber-growing industry in this state?

A Steady Diet.

The concluding chapter in the bobbed hair bandit serial is about to be written and the great thriller is over. The space occupied by news of this twentieth century robber will give place to better news stories.

Beginning in January and lasting until a week ago the activities of New York's famous and perhaps we can say "favorite" bobbed hair bandit occupied the front pages of practically all of the country's newspapers. To many publications the accounts of the activities of this bobbed hair girl proved to be as good as a continued story for readers found it necessary to look forward to the next day's paper to see how the next chapter of the story might turn out.

Six hundred special police officers had been assigned to make the capture of the bobbed hair bandit and her companion but they were unable to do so. After completing their work in the big city the pair, good at the hold-up game, came South but were captured in Jacksonville.

The entire series of robberies conducted by the bobbed hair bandit is strangely free from gun play. And the fact that one lone bobbed hair girl, with one companion, was able to hold up a big city for a month, eluding six hundred officers, kept everybody guessing, carries with it considerable significance.

Along with other things bobbed hair came in for its share of frat advertising and the public has been educated to the fact that in all activities bobbed hair is coming to play an important part.

While readers of The Herald will miss the news stories telling of the robberies of the bobbed hair bandit, they will be kept supplied with other robbery stories because at the rate this class of news is being received it is almost safe for a paper to predict that it may be considered a regular feature in the life of the newspaper.

I shall detain you no longer in the demonstration of what we should not do, but straight conduct you to a hill-side where I will point you out the right path of a virtuous and noble education; laborious indeed at the first ascent, but else so smooth, so green, so full of goodly prospect, and melodious sounds on every side, that the harp of Orpheus was not more charming.—John Milton.

INTERNATIONAL MANNERS

ST. AUGUSTINE RECORD

It seems only fair to take the explanation of the Japanese ambassador at its face value. When he used the expression "grave consequences," he says, he did not mean to make any threat but only to point out that hostile legislation against the Japanese would injure the good will existing between America and Japan.

But verbal expression of policy, as the Japanese envoy's unfortunate experience shows, is a different matter. And to tell the truth, the situation in the senate, when the bill was debated, was just as unfortunate as Mr. Hanthra's "break" because it tended to stir up hard feelings rather unnecessarily.

So much may be admitted, and Ambassador Hanthra and his government may be excused, and the incident be declared closed, without reconsidering or apologizing for the "immigration" policy adopted by congress.

In diplomacy especially, it seems to matter less what is said than how it is said—less what policy is enforced than what kind of language is used in enforcing it. In no other human relations are uniform courtesy and precision of language so important as in international relations. There is no greater guarantee of international peace than good international manners. This is a fact which congress, especially the senate, sometimes overlooks.

To a married man—and it doesn't make any difference how long he has been married, either—the workings of the female mind are puzzling.

We talked it over and finally we compromised. "Compromised on what?" "On silk."

Nearly everybody is acquainted—or should be—with the little tale of the husband who was describing to his friend the result of a difference of opinion with the estimable woman who bore his name and shared his lot.

There is another yarn vaguely related to the foregoing little chapter out of the domestic life of a happily wedded pair. Mr. Smith comes home with furrows of care in his brow.

"I believe in glee and take," he said; "we started out that way at the beginning and we've always kept it up."

"Mary," he says, "the way bills keep piling up is scandalous. We're spending more than I make. We've got to cut expenses to the bone, both of us—if we expect to make ends meet at the end of the year. We've got to make personal sacrifices, starting with the little things and going all along the line. Now, what would you suggest?"

"Oh, bully. Now, for instance, here a few months ago we were going to buy some new draperies for the living room and I had my eye on a pair of beautiful ones."

As Brisbane Sees It

Shocking Bolshevism. Beautiful Faith. Great Praxiteles. Preserved Microbes. Copyright, 1924

THE RUSSIAN government is importing shiploads of meat from South America, a million and a half pounds in the first lot. The idea is to break the high price of meat and provide cheap food for the Russian people.

In name of the holy venerated rights and lofty financial morality, did you ever hear anything of more thoroughly socialistic, anarchistic and Bolshevik than that? Let us pray that no such idea of government may ever reach this happy land.

MRS. WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN gives an interview expressing great faith in Raymond T. Richey, revolutionist and "hothead" by faith. Unable to move from his invalid chair, Mrs. Bryan goes a long distance to hear this earnest man preach. And she feels much better already.

IF HER faith is strong enough, she will be healed says Mrs. Bryan. If not, "I will simply accept it as evidence that I do not believe strongly enough in God's power to cure."

The ordinary mind tries fairly to understand why Divine Omnipotence, able by mere effort of will to relieve misery and cure disease, should refrain, regardless of intervening revivists, and of everything except the natural impulse to relieve pain and misery. But what can a human insect on this earth understand of Divinity? Nothing.

THERE IS "money in it" when it really is art and also other things more important than money. Long ago, eighteen hundred years before Columbus sailed for America, Praxiteles, a Greek sculptor, was studying the still greater Phidias, dead before Phidias was born. Among other things, Praxiteles made a statue of Hermes Greek god, corresponding to the Egyptian Thoth, inventor of arts and science.

What Praxiteles got for that statue, from which the right arm is now missing, nobody knows—probably just enough money to continue making other statues. You couldn't buy it now for twenty millions or any price.

THE GREEK nation, in a friendly mood, thinks of sending that marvelous statue to the United States to inspire artists. It would lead to study of Greek history, not by children, that hate history, but by men that long to know it. That statue as it travels through the United States with the beautiful face that Praxiteles alone could make, would take Americans back to the days a century before Praxiteles, when Pericles was building Athens, a magnificent city, a magnificent pupil of his great master, the philosopher, Anaxagoras.

MAYOR Hylan, of New York, anxious to build a magnificent center for that rich city and opposed by the foolish, might deliver a lecture in New York using the Greek statue to remind the public that Pericles, who was to Athens what Mayor Hylan is to New York, was also asked on the ground that he was spending too much on fine buildings.

Pericles, a plutocrat, although leader of the Democratic party, did what Mayor Hylan couldn't do. He offered to pay for all the work himself if they would allow no name but his own to appear on the buildings.

DON'T FAIL to see Hermes if he comes and don't be prejudiced by the fact that his relations with Venus were not in all respects regular. They didn't know as much about morals in those days as we know.

IN LAYING cornerstones it is customary to put certain coins in great praise of the ruling monarch, some expressions of religious faith. That was all.

The future will be enlightened when it digs up the cornerstone of a hotel—hospital just laid. That cornerstone contains films of moving pictures showing surgeons performing modern operations, also "class" stained specimens of germs that produce disease and a collection of drugs, now called "spicifics" for certain diseases with a list of diseases that we consider incurable.

THOSE PRESERVED microbes will be especially valuable as curiosities, if they survive a few thousand years from now, for in time disease germs will become extinct. And those microbes, preserved, will be as precious to future scientists as are to ours, those dinosaur eggs dug up in Asia.

Editor The Herald. Hear Sir:—An article appeared in your paper in the issue of April 26, under the heading of Wage Increase to Railroad employees by the Atlantic Coast Line. I wish to make a correction in this article, which you will find attached herewith, and kindly ask you to give this space in your paper at an early date which will put this question in its true light just how the wage increase was handled and who was responsible for it. You need not sign my name unless you find it necessary to do so. This wage increase has been under way for some time being handled by Mr. G. W. Laughlin, General Chairman of the Engineers on the Atlantic Coast Line. Under the Chicago agreement the general chairman of the engineers makes a joint contract for employees and firemen on roads where the firemen's organization is in the minority. Mr. Laughlin had with him two Grand Officers in the settlement of this wage movement.

MIAMI IS FORTUNATE TAMPA OBSERVER

The Miami News-Metropolis, bought by J. M. Cox, will be a great paper. But since Cox bought it it wielded no influence whatsoever. It prospered because it was published in Miami, but its policies showed that those in charge of the editorial columns were not familiar with Florida or its affairs, and it was a fence-riding on all State issues. But Mr. Cox woke up and now has Morton Milford as editor, and it will have a fixed policy and state matters will be intelligently discussed. Papers with no policy—with men unfamiliar with Florida's affairs—cannot wield any influence, and Mr. Cox knows this. So Mr. Cox has secured in Milford an editor who has made a study of Florida affairs, and the News-Metropolis will prove a power.

FOR WORKING PEOPLE

The best of workers get out of sorts when the liver fails to act. They feel languid, half-sick, "blue" and discouraged and think they are getting "lazy." Neglect of these symptoms might result in a sick spell, therefore the sensible course is to take a dose or two of Herbine. It is just the medicine needed to purify the system and restore the vim and suppleness of the body.

YOUNG STRIBLING CONQUERS BURKE WITH NO TROUBLE

Georgian Easily Outpoints Mike Burke in Six Round Bout For Benefit of Milk Commission in New York.

NEW YORK, May 1.—Young Stribling, light heavyweight of Marietta, Ga., outclassed Mike Burke, Greenwich Village, at the Olympic Games benefit fund show Wednesday night in a bout limited to six rounds by the Georgian's age. Burke did not at any time hit the canvas, but he was outclassed in every round.

Stribling made the bout as lively as he could, considering that most of the time he was encircled by Burke's arms.

Complete Master Always.

Stribling jabbed and hooked his opponent at will, chasing him around the ring from round to round. Burke resorted to holding on tactics, but the Dixie boy countered with a vicious swinging attack that left Burke on Burke's face.

RECORD CROWD EXPECTED AT BOXING BOUTS

Much Interest and Enthusiasm Is Being Staged Here Tomorrow Night.

Some real two fisted fighting, dazzling boxing and plenty of action of all kinds is expected tomorrow night in the ring where four topnotch glove battles are to be waged under auspices of the Sanford National Guard. Twenty-eight rounds of boxing in all are scheduled, with the first preliminary bout of four rounds scheduled to start at 8:30 o'clock. This will be followed by a six round affair and then will come the eighth round semi-final bout, between Battling Myers, of Boston, and Mickey Dugan, of Bridgeport and the headline argument of 10 rounds between Young Wallace, of New Orleans and Ben Brewer, welterweight champion of South America.

This Wallace-Brewer fight is expected to be a hummer from start to finish and whether the bout goes two rounds or 10, is sure not to lack in interest. These boys will have a lot at stake tomorrow night, for a victory by either will rank him as among the leading contenders for the welterweight title now held by Mickey Walker.

Wallace is lightning fast, a hard puncher, a ring general and has the ability to assimilate punches like a sponge does water. He has stood up before some of the south's hardest sockers and has taken everything they had and landed enough punches of his own to gain decisions over them.

Brewer's records stamps him as being a real swatter, as his list of knockout victims demonstrates. He has poked a lot of victims out of the picture down in South America and has laid a pair of opponents on their shoulder blades since coming back to this country. The New Orleans boxer will have his hands full taking care of Mr. Brewer, that is a cinch.

Battling Myers made a big hit here in his first appearance in the squared circle with his aggressiveness, ability to hit hard and often and general personality. He will probably have the crowd with him when he squares off against Dugan, who comes here with quite a reputation of his own as a real little scrapper. These boys are both featherweights and are headed for the top of the heap in the opinion of boxing critics.

Orlando Bulldogs Make Clean Sweep With Bradentown

BRADENTOWN, May 1.—The Orlando outfit cleaned up with the series three straight, shutting out the Growers 3 to 0 here Wednesday. The Barkemen scored virtually at will, while the Growers were cut off on every side by double plays and high flies. Four doubles were successfully executed. Scattered hits, one a frame, helped Growers batting averages but didn't make scores.

Score by innings:

Orlando	102 000 310—13 18 1
Bradentown	000 000 000—0 10 3

TAMPA, Fla., May 1.—Thumping three pitchers in free style the Highlanders finally came out on top of a struggle here Wednesday afternoon 8 to 6. The score was tied frequently during the game. Good fielding was in evidence by both teams.

Score by innings:

Lakeland	102 013 000—8 8 2

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., May 1.—Allowing the Saints but three hits Daytona bid adieu to St. Petersburg Wednesday with the final game of the series tucked safely away by the score of 3 to 1. June Gaken, ace of the Lakeland pitching staff, was backed up by almost perfect fielding. A feature of the game was Porter's home run in the sixth. Red Craig on the mound for the Saints gave up only four hits, but his error accounted largely for one of Daytona's runs.

Says Piles Heal Up and Disappear forever

Seldom Fails to Give Absolute Relief from All Pain and Suffering. Guaranteed by All Druggists.

Many sufferers from Piles or Hemorrhoids have become despondent because they have been led to believe that their case was hopeless and that there was nothing in the world to help them.

To these people we say, "Go to your druggist and get an original box of MOAVA SUPPOSITORIES." One of these inserted into the rectum according to directions will be found to give immediate relief. They reach the source of the trouble and by their soothing, healing, antiseptic action first lay the pain and soreness and then by direct contact with the ulcers and piles cause them to heal up and disappear forever.

It's simply wonderful how speedily they act. Blessed relief often comes in two days. Even in cases that have steadily resisted all known treatments, marvelous results have been obtained. MOAVA is one of the wonderful discoveries of recent years and any sufferer from Piles or Hemorrhoids who is disappointed with its use can have their money refunded. All druggists.
