10-Year Escapee Nabbed

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — An inmate who escaped from North Carolina's Central Prison 10 years ago and fled to Florida is back behind bars at the same prison. John F. Dorman escaped in February 1964 while serving a 6-to-10-year sentence for breaking and entering. An honor grade inmate at the time, he fled by kicking out a window screen. For 10 years he lived in Pahokee, Fla., with his wife and two daughters, who followed him after his escape. He made friends in the community and got a job driving a truck.

Clock Error Backfires

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Daylight Saving Time confused him and that's why he kept his bar open an hour past the legal closing time on Jan. 6, Willie Perry told the City Alcohol Commission. "I told the ladies to set the clocks backward instead of forward that night," said Perry, manager of the Manhattan Club. He returned Wednesday at a hearing on whether his license should be lifted. Police said their visit was on the morning year-round Daylight Saving Time took effect, but the commission suspended the club's license for a week.

Cohabitation Surveyed

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Most of the 300 students surveyed at Cornell University believed living with someone of the opposite sex without being married was an acceptable practice, a researcher says. About one-third of those surveyed admitted sharing a bedroom with a student of the opposite sex, said Prof. Eleanor Macklin of Cornell's State College of Human Ecology. Cohabitation was defined as "sharing a bedroom (and/or a bed) with someone of the opposite sex four or more nights a week for three or more consecutive months."

Nixon Impeachment Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of congressmen say President Nixon told them he will fight impeachment "right down to the wire." Rep. Peter H. B. Redinghuyzen, R-N.J., quoted the President as saying, "Now is a time to fight and to fight like hell."

French Selling Gold

PARIS (AP) — Frenchmen have been rushing to buy and sell gold coins in the wake of France's devaluation last weekend to float the franc and let its value be determined in the market. Many Frenchmen lined up at gold shops to trade in their paper money for gold in the belief that the precious metal was a better investment than the national currency, while others sold their gold in France to reap quick profits from the metal's soaring price.

Phnom Penh Strengthened

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The Cambodian government moved more reinforcements into Phnom Penh's southern defense zone today in an attempt to stem a Khmer Rouge push now in its sixth day. Government units along the 14-mile-long southern defense line have abandoned most of their forward positions and were reported trying to establish a line on the Prek Thnot river, nine miles southwest of the center of Phnom Penh. But insurgent infiltrators were reported to have penetrated to within two miles of the city.

Victoria's Cake Sold

LONDON (AP) — A 133-year-old piece of Queen Victoria's wedding cake was sold Wednesday at Christie's auction house for 70 pounds — about $150. The crumbling fragments are still in the original box with the printed label "Queen's Wedding Cake, Buckingham Palace, Feb. 10, 1840." The buyer was a member of the Australian High Commission acting for an unnamed Tasmanian.

Terrorist Trial Begins

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Two Palestinians went on trial today, charged in the killing of five airline passengers and the wounding of 55 at Athens airport last August. Greek and American military forces in the Athens area mobilized extraordinary security precautions against any terrorist attempt to disrupt the trial. The pair threw grenades and fired pistols into an airport lounge crowded with passengers waiting to board a Trans World Airways flight to the United States on Aug. 5. They told police their mission was to attack passengers going to Tel Aviv on an El Al flight, but they got the wrong group.

Soviet Nuclear Tests

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government announced today it will conduct tests of carrier rockets used to deliver nuclear warheads in the northern Pacific from Jan. 25 to Feb. 10.

French, Kuwait Oil Deal

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — France and Kuwait today were reported on the verge of concluding a large oil barter deal like the one the French are trying to negotiate with Saudi Arabia. The Beirut newspaper Al Anwar said Arab diplomatic sources told it the new agreement would be announced during French Foreign Minister Michel Jobert's visit to Kuwait this week. The paper said the deal would be patterned on an agreement the French had been reported working out with the Saudis. Jobert was due in Saudi Arabia today for a three-day visit.

And Amend Federal Returns Nixon Might Pay State Income Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon seems disposed to pay California income taxes for recent years, and might be expected to amend his federal returns for the same years, a White House source says. Such a move could give Nixon an opportunity to deal at one time with all his tax problems — something the White House says he plans to do. The White House source said that if Nixon files state returns for any of the years since the 1969 purchase of his San Clemente estate, he might be expected to file the amended federal returns for the same period. Although the informant made no such prediction, submission of amended federal returns to claim deductions for state income tax payments also could be a vehicle for changing other controversial sections of the U.S. returns. Under an amended filing, for example, Nixon could voluntarily drop $576,000 in deductions for the gift of his presidential papers to the government. He could add to his income a capital gain his auditor says he realized when he sold part of the San Clemente property to an investment company headed by friend Robert H. Alphanap. The Internal Revenue Service and the Senate-House Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation are investigating the capital gains question and the deduction for the gift of papers. Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., vice chairman of the joint congressional committee, said Wednesday: "It looks as though we'll be asking the President to pay more taxes." Long said this would be the result of an "honest difference of opinion." In disclosing his tax affairs last month, Nixon said that on the advice of private attorneys he paid no California income taxes although he claims San Clemente as his residence. Meanwhile, Rep. Bella S. Abzug, D-N.Y., said she and others are suing Nixon to make him pay back to the Treasury the cost of government-financed improvements at his homes in San Clemente and Key Biscayne, Fla. Rep. Abzug said she, Rep. Louis Stokes, D-Ohio, and others were to file the federal suit today in Washington. "We are bringing this action because the evidence so far indicates that the President authorized spending very large sums of money, perhaps more than $3 million, for improvements at his two private homes that were illegal and unconstitutional and substantially added to the value of his private worth," she said. Rep. Abzug said she supports "the legitimate expenditure of money needed for security and communication purposes."

Watergaters To Probe Gift From Hughes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The $100,000 campaign gift from billionaire Howard R. Hughes and a subsequent reversal of position by the Justice Department led to a probe. The Justice Department's anti-trust division had blocked the purchase, but sources said then-Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell overruled the division after a meeting with Hughes aide Richard G. Danner. But the sources added that the Senate investigators have been unable to prove Mitchell knew about the $100,000 gift and they pointed out that the hotel purchase plan later fell through for other reasons. Deputy Counsel Rufus Edmisten said Rebozo will be among the witnesses called in next week's hearings. The sources said there is also a good chance that Herbert W. Kalmbach, Nixon's former personal lawyer and campaign fundraiser, would be recalled to discuss receipt of a donation from the dairy industry in 1969. The decision to reopen the committee hearings after two months came Wednesday on a 43-party line vote. The committee, noting that Nixon had never responded to its various requests for a meet-

Oil Boycott End Splits Arabs

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — Libyan Premier Abdessalam Jalloud has vowed to fight Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's reported proposal to ease the Arab oil boycott against the United States. The premier told the Associated Press that previously unpublished material expected to be brought out during the hearings includes evidence that Mitchell, against the advice of anti-trust chief Richard McLaren, gave Danner the go-ahead for the Dunes acquisition at a meeting March 20, 1970. McLaren, the sources said, was not aware that he had been overruled until he received a memorandum from then-FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover expressing concern that Danner, Hughes aide Robert Mabou and attorney Edward P. Morgan — all formerly connected with the bureau — were participating in the proposed Nevada venture.

against those who may be breaking it." He warned that the Libyan government might aid to the punishment of the United States for its support of Israel by accelerating its nationalization of oil production and marketing. The Libyan government has already nationalized the holdings of the American Bunker-Hunt firm and taken over 51 per cent of the holdings of all other major oil companies. He also threatened "very serious results" if the oil-consuming nations form a bloc against the oil-producing countries. He warned Japan and the West European nations not to attend the energy conference President Nixon has called Feb. 11 in Washington, and urged them to discuss their problems directly with the Arab producers. Remarks attributed to Sadat also drew cold water on Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's statement Tuesday that he expected the oil embargo to be lifted before March 5, the deadline for Israeli forces to complete their withdrawal from the Suez Canal. An official in Cairo of the oil-producing United Arab Emirates said Sadat in his tour of the Arab oil nations last week-

British Coal Miners May Strike For Pay

LONDON (AP) — Leaders of Britain's 280,000 coal miners are recommending today that their men stop all production with a strike for higher pay that could bring British industry to a halt this spring. The general secretary of the miners' union, Lawrence Daly, told newsmen he and the union's president and vice president would recommend a strike vote at a meeting today of the executive board of the National Union of Mineworkers. The 27-man executive was expected to approve the recommendation and to call for a continuation, meanwhile, of the 11-week-old slowdown in the mines that has cut production 40 per cent. It will take about two weeks to organize a strike vote. Union President Joe Gormley estimates that more than 70 per cent of the men favor a walkout, 15 per cent more than are needed. The demands for a strike came after Prime Minister Edward Heath told Parliament on Tuesday he would not raise his anti-inflation ceiling on wage increases to meet the miners' demands. He rejected an offer to check the wage demands of other unions if the miners were given what they are asking. Meanwhile, leading members of the Health Conservative party were talking less and less about the possibility that their leader would take his case to the voters by calling a general election next month. A poll in today's Times of London by the Opinion Research Center showed 40 per cent of those questioned last weekend would vote Labor to 40 per cent Conservative and 15 per cent Liberal. The week before the Conservatives led the Laborites 41 per cent to 37.

City Charter Committee Is Formed

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

ALAMONTE SPRINGS—The move made by Mayor Norman Floyd and Councilman Cal DeVoney to change city council meeting times to the evening hours on Tuesdays appears doomed. Council meetings are now at 4:30 in the afternoon. "It is incumbent on us to make the time as convenient as possible for the citizens," DeVoney said Tuesday night. Councilman Don Myers said the council's obligation is to run the city as efficiently as possible, adding he is willing to listen to the citizens. "I am not going to be dictated to by them." Further discussion was delayed until next week. First meeting of the city's new 15-member charter study committee, appointed by city councilmen Tuesday night, was set for 7 p.m., Jan. 30 to elect officers and begin the six-month process of creating a new charter. In addition to the citizens, Councilman Helen Keyser was named an ex-officio member and City Atty. Joe Davis was appointed the group's legal counsel. Davis recommended the committee "do a total job" on the charter, eliminating excess wording, to draw a simple ordinance. Appointed to the committee were George Perkins, Jim Allman, Richard Gal, Betty Bigley, Howard Sims, S. Warren Marshall, Frank Frana, Dr. Raymond Piere, Jim Toomes, Ross Brewer, Mel Schwartz, J.R. # Fire Ant Research Reported

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. (AP) — The bite of a fire ant can be much more than a painful experience, University of Florida medical scientists have told the American Academy of Allergy. A research project reported Wednesday by Dr. Robert Rhoades showed that people with insect allergies can have reactions ranging from mild rash to loss of consciousness. This is important in Florida at this time, Rhoades said, since the South American fire ant has heavily infested the Tampa-St. Petersburg, Jacksonville, Orlando and Panhandle areas.

Scarcely Noticed During Oil Crisis

Middle East Arms Race Continues

By WILLIAM L. RYAN AP Special Correspondent Scarcely noticed in a blitzard of developments, a second string arms race around the Arab East... The Arab East's northern tier is made up of two potentially powerful elements, one with large amounts of Russian arms, the other possessing large amounts of U.S. military hardware.

The whole Middle East long has been vulnerable to the perils of a superpower showdown. After each explosion, Moscow proceeds to rearm Syria and Egypt and Washington to rearm Israel.

The French and British both landed arms contracts in the Arabian peninsula before the outbreak of the October war. Now French diplomacy is highly and competitively visible in Saudi Arabia in the wake of a new deal to deliver weaponry plus industrial equipment and knowhow in return for a guaranteed flow of oil.

maintaining the arms balance in the Middle East, but Americans also are heavily involved in the competition to sell arms in the Gulf area.

Prices Soaring

Oil Assurances Needed By People

More than two months have passed since the Arab nations imposed two major sanctions—selective embargoes of oil sales and leap-frogging prices beyond the wildest imagination of...

with the severity we feared as soon as we expected. For one thing, the United States, because of its wealth, is on the receiving end of the world's black market. For another, we have turned down our thermostats, doused extra lights, closed extra rooms and reduced our highway speed to 55 miles an hour. Also effort of self-efficiency in energy by Americans, albeit just beginning, already has made some contributions.

Many Americans, including ourselves, settled upon the word "crisis," undoubtedly expecting to feel a severe consequence in a relatively short time. Despite those apprehensions, however, American industries are running, American homes are heated and lighted, and the freeways still are choked with cars containing a single person.

St. John's Journal Shut Minds Of American Liberals

In 1974 Congress and the American people will be called upon to make a judgment whether President Nixon should be impeached for the alleged abuse of power. It is, therefore, important to understand the roots of the problem of the powerful presidency.

Don Oakley Giving back the big stick's good name

Diplomatic jaws dropped the other day at Defense Secretary James H. Schlesinger's veiled hint to the Arabs that their oil blackmail, if pressed too far, could lead to forceful retaliation by the industrial nations.

Remember "millions for defense, not one cent for tribute!" President Jefferson and the Tripoli pirates! Stephen Decatur the of "my country right or wrong" fame? That was gunboat diplomacy. Actually, a little more gunboat diplomacy in the Middle East a little more recently might have saved the world a lot of trouble.

Jack Anderson Rebozo Collected More Nixon Funds

WASHINGTON—Industrialist Howard Hughes celebrated $100,000 gift... From sources who have been 100 per cent reliable in the past, we have now learned that other fatcats delivered cash for Nixon to his Florida friend.

An intermediary, after checking with Rebozo, said he acknowledged accepting the $10,000 from the Davises and thanking them.

Our sources say Nixon used the cash as "walking around money" to pay his personal expenses. It is vigorously disputed by Rebozo who insisted, according to the intermediary, that the contributions were turned over to the campaign finance chairman, Maurice Stans.

Earlier, the prosecutors had thought Krogh could tie the President directly to the plumber's operations. They expected Krogh's statement, therefore, to be a blockbuster that would force the President to resign or face impeachment.

"I asked (Krogh) if he had received his authorization to proceed with the burglary from (John) Ehrlichman," Krogh responded that, no, he did not believe Ehrlichman had been aware of the incident until shortly after it had occurred.

"I was not able to reach Stans, although a source close to the fund-raising said there was no record of cash deliveries from Rebozo.

"It is a matter of record, at least, that the $100,000 from Hughes was not delivered to Stans. Rebozo has sworn he kept this money for three days in a safe deposit box at his Key Biscayne, Fla., bank.

DELTONA - The Business and Professional Women's Club of Deltona had the pleasure of having the name and insignia of their BPW Club erected on the billboard that stands at the entrance of Deltona on Deltona Boulevard.

The club is now six years old having been instituted April, 1968, in Deltona, as a member of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women. Mrs. Gertie Williams was the first president serving until 1970.

The club's insignia, Winged-Victory, holding high the Torch, which is the symbol of light, wisdom, principle and leadership, and Woman's Career Advancement Program, which includes education, vocational advancement and progress in the Professions. Explanation of the entire emblem is:

The Winged Victory of Samothrace (Nike), is a symbol of strength, progress, freedom, triumph who faces squarely, the winds of prejudice, and other limitations.

The Wand, winged staff of Mercury, herald of a new day for women and symbol of opportunity, equality, co-operation, leading, harmony and power. It is also a symbol of the Club Health and Safety program.

The Ship of Commerce, typifies the entrance of women into business and the expansion of opportunities until there now remains practically no door closed to the prepared woman, and symbolizes International Relations program of the club.

The Scroll of achievement, begun in 1919, and still unrolling, is the symbol of their Public Affairs and Legislation programs.

All these symbols over the inscription, NFBPWC, are found within the golden circle on a bright green background. The circle represents the globe, signifies unbroken harmony and endless friendship. The components of the completed circle, are Illumination, vigor, tranquility, development and victory.

Through the courtesy of Marvin G. Williams, general manager of the Mackle Bros. Deltona Corporation and Dwight Hawkins, recreational director of the corporation, the club women were given permission to place their sign on the large billboard that stands at the entrance to the Community of Deltona.

Tuesday morning it was placed there by these men and Mrs. Gertie Williams, first president and Mrs. Minoka Midkiff, a charter member now serving as corresponding secretary.

Depression Glass Show Coming Up Weekend Event To Attract Fanciers

By ELDA NICHOLS
Herald Correspondent

A Depression Glass Show will be a special feature this weekend, Jan. 26 and 27, at the Civic Center, in Sanford.

Among the many beautiful exhibits will be an American Sweathart set, in ruby with platinum trim. Margaret Raynor, Sanford, is the owner, and said the set was obtained through family ties in upstate New York, several years ago.

Mrs. Raynor's husband, William, made an attractive lighted showcase in which the set is displayed. The Raynors had been using their set quite casually, until they were told there were only three or four known sets in this particular color. Now they only "show" the lovely set.

Interest is extremely high in Depression Glass at this time, with collectors from all over the country trying to locate needed pieces. Other beautiful glassware will also be shown, including Cambridge, Fostoria and Heisey.

Hours will be 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., on Saturday, and 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sunday, with a small donation.

VIOLA CLARK (L) AND LINDA HUIE
...Modeling Sewing Contest attire

The Fine Arts Department of Sanford Junior College will be sponsoring a Fine Arts Festival and Sewing Contest. Many beautiful objects of art were on display which were made by club members.

The Sewing Contest and Fashion Show was sponsored by Sanford Junior Woman's Club with Louise Gill as the commentator. Both Senior and Junior clubs participated.

First prize winner in the senior division went to Alfreda Jewell, who modeled the teal blue brocade cocktail ensemble she created. The dress featured short sleeves with a piped, curved neckline and a jacket was closed with three rhinestone buttons.

Vickie Renner took first place honors for the Junior Club. Her design was a floor-length gown of purple velvet velour fashioned along the Empire silhouette. Highlighting the creation were bouffant sleeves and a plunging V-neckline accented with a bow.

Other exciting entries included Viola Clark, of the Senior Club, modeling her lovely hostess gown of pink and white polyester gingham check. Representing the Junior Club was Linda Huie showing her own creation, an evening gown of pale aqua knit jersey, fashioned with a jewel neckline, shaped midriff and a front slit. Hostesses were Mrs. Donald

Clubwomen Enlightened On Youth

The Public Affairs department of Sanford Junior Woman's Club was pleased to present Marilyn Gordon to speak on the Youth Programs Inc., at the January meeting.

Mrs. Gordon is the Seminole County Co-ordinator for this program. This new program, started June 1, 1973, hopes to reach 250 youths who have met with problems or trouble. They deal with first time offenders only. The children range from ages 11 through 17.

This program relies on volunteers who receive training and then commit themselves to six months of work with a juvenile. They have around 40-50 volunteers at this time, looking for quality, not quantity in their workers.

The volunteers work on a one to one basis with the child, spending ten hours a month with two contacts a week. They also have group rap sessions and crisis counseling.

The program was most interesting for all the members with many questions asked of Mrs. Gordon.

After the program refreshments were held afterwards. Mrs. Fay Senkirk, Mrs. Mary Blair, Mrs. Jane Szoke and Mrs. Jean Clontz.

The monthly business meeting was held afterwards. Mrs. Pat Shaw, Mrs. Donna Weaver and Mrs. Linda Huie were recognized as the "Clubwomen of the Month" for their work and time spent on the club's CIP project.

New York Philharmonic Set To Make 'First' In Orlando

The New York Philharmonic, founded in 1842, is the oldest symphonic organization in the United States, and one of the oldest in the world. On Saturday, Jan. 25, the Florida Symphony Society is proud to present the New York Philharmonic in its Orlando debut.

This exciting musical "first" for Central Florida is included on the Florida Symphony's 73-74 Subscription Series.

The New York Philharmonic is not only one of the oldest, but one of the most prestigious of the world's major symphonic organizations. It has an annual budget of over five million dollars, and gives some 200 concerts each year to a total live annual audience of nearly 750,000.

The New York Philharmonic is also one of the world's primary recording ensembles. In recent years, television audiences in some 30 countries have come to know the Orchestra through its Young People's Concerts, originally under Leonard Bernstein's direction and now conducted by Michael Tilson Thomas.

The orchestra's young people were preceded by radio concerts, conducted by the late Walter Dunsbach. During the past nine summers, over three million people have attended the Philharmonic's free concerts in the parks of New York City.

The Philharmonic will be conducted in Orlando by one of today's most prolific and multi-talented composer-conductors, Mr. Morton Gould. Mr. Gould's major symphonic works have won world-wide recognition through performances and recordings by leading symphony orchestras and conductors. He has composed for all media, including Broadway, films, television, ballet, and symphonic band. As conductor and performer, Morton Gould has appeared both here and abroad with major symphony orchestras. He is also in demand as a lecturer.

Mr. Gould has produced many popular lighter works, such as the internationally famous standard PAVANE, composed in 1936. His AMERICAN SALUTE, an orchestral setting of "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," is one of the most played compositions of the last fifty years as shown in an official survey of orchestral repertoire.

His ballets include the perennial FALL, RIVER, LEGEND (Agnus de Mille) and INTERPLAY (Jerome Robbins), and he is currently engaged in writing a new ballet with George Balanchine for the New York City Ballet.

Through the New York Philharmonic is making its initial Orlando appearance, Morton Gould will be remembered by area conductors as guest conductor of the London Symphony for one of their memorable Orlando appearances in the summer of 1969.

The Philharmonic's program for their Saturday, Jan. 26 concert will include: MOZART—JUPITER; SYMPHONY: STRAUSS—TILL EULENSPIEGEL; BRAHMS—SYMPHONY NO. 1 in C MINOR.

Rock Craft Talk Open To Public

DEBARY - Mrs. Frank Presley of Orange City will give an illustrated talk on "Rock Craft" at the Feb. 7 meeting of DeBary Arts and Crafts Club on Feb. 7 at 10 a.m. in DeBary Hall.

Mrs. Presley became interested in this craft many years ago, when her family had a home on Lake Huron, where many rocks and stone of great interest could be found. These held many varied designs, patterns and were of various shapes. As the years went on the added to her collection of fine and unusual rocks and stones, traveling far and wide to secure more and varied specimens.

From these stones and rocks she had made many beautiful and useful articles. Her dolls, especially, are a work of art. She has exhibited them and won first place ribbons for her work. She has given showings and talks at many women's clubs and organizations.

Some of her works include a rock Judge that stands on the desk of the Supreme Court Judge of the State of Florida; a rock "Mummy" doll as a door stop of an old mansion in DeLand. She will have several of her dolls on display at this meeting.

The public is invited to attend and listen to her interesting program.

Ashland Oil Planning Big Super Port

PORT PIERCE, Fla. (AP) — The Ashland Oil Co. is studying plans for construction of a port for super tankers off the Florida Atlantic coast here, an onshore refinery-industrial complex and a housing development for 45,000, The Palm Beach Post reported today.

The newspaper said Ashland spokesman Harry Wiley confirmed that feasibility studies were currently underway for the massive project and an announcement would be made in the near future.

"It's premature at present to discuss the studies in progress but full-scale investigations are being made for the plans," Wiley was quoted as saying from the company's headquarters in Ashland, Ky.

"It will be a major asset to the Florida economy," The Post said state officials had been briefed on the project at a recent meeting in the Tallahassee office of Jay Landers, an aide to Gov. Reubin Askew.

At the heart of the project, the newspaper said, would be a platform-type port for super tankers 12 miles off the coast in 130 feet of water.

Oil from the tankers would be pumped ashore via a pipeline to a refinery west of this coastal city which would have a capacity to process 250,000 barrels of crude oil a day.

The proposed 15,000-acre construction site near the Florida Turnpike would also include an industrial complex and a development of condominiums and homes for 45,000 the newspaper said.

Unions Question Changes

MADISON, Wisconsin — Can credit unions survive proposed changes in the financial institutions arena? That will be one of many questions on the minds of credit union leaders who will attend one of a series of seven January workshop seminars scheduled across the country. The seven seminars will primarily address the issues raised by the Financial Institutions Act (F.I.A.) of 1973 (recommendations of the Hunt Commission report). Atlanta, Georgia, is the site of one of the two-day workshop seminars scheduled for January 21 and 22 at the Hilton Inn, 1031 Virginia Avenue in Atlanta.

The seminars are being conducted by the Credit Union National Association, Inc. (CUNA), CUNA is the national credit union service association for state leagues with 21,000 affiliated credit unions and 56 million members throughout the country.

CUNA leadership is convinced that the F.I.A. may jeopardize the very survival of credit unions. That fact was pointed out in a statement from a December 3, 1973, letter written by CUNA President George LaChapelle to credit union leaders. "The very survival of the credit union movement, as we know it, may be at stake," The LaChapelle letter also talked about the need for credit union participative action in the seminars. "Credit union leaders will be obliged to take a stand on these far-reaching proposals that could significantly alter their fundamental character as service structure."

Hughes Restates Earnings

Hughes Supply, Inc., has restated its earnings for the nine month period ended October 31, 1973, to reflect net income of $2,374,465 or $1.77 per share, compared to previously reported earnings of $1,914,083, or $1.45 per share. Net sales for the period have been adjusted upward by $911,700 to $73,489,507.

When Hughes previously released its earnings for the period, sales and income were adjusted downward to reflect the maximum potential liability which it thought the company faced under the Economic Stabilization Act. The liability as now determined by Hughes, and as reported to the Internal Revenue Service in a revenue remission plan, is significantly less than had been provided for earlier. The restated figures reflect an impact, as a consequence of the Economic Stabilization Program, of $34,440 net income for the first nine months of 1973 as opposed to the earlier figure of $49,820. Hughes' final calculation of liability and its compliance with its revenue remission plan is subject to audit and possible adjustment by the IRS.

The revenue remission plan which Hughes has filed with the IRS will have an effect on fourth quarter results by requiring Hughes to refrain from any price increases for the remainder of this fiscal year even though Hughes' costs are increasing. Hughes is nevertheless confident that fourth quarter results will compare favorably to the company's earnings of 39 cents per share in the fourth quarter of its year ended January 26, 1973.

Biggest Volume In History

Dr Pepper closed 1973 with a cumulative gain in national gallonage sales of better than 16 per cent over 1972 it was announced in Dallas. It was the biggest volume year in the company's 68-year history. December gallonage was better than 10 per cent ahead of the same month in the previous year and the 132nd consecutive monthly sales increase for the Texas based soft drink producer.

"This gain is pretty close to our earlier estimate for the year," stated W. W. Clements, president and chief executive officer. "We were shooting for a gain of from 15 to 20 per cent which compares with annual increases in that range for the past fourteen years. Dr Pepper fountain sales for 1973 were up sharply with a gain of more than 20 per cent," he noted.

Clements said improved availability and distribution in 1973 was largely responsible for Dr Pepper's continuing progress. "We have a strong bottler organization and feel that prospects for 1974 for Dr Pepper are excellent. An important move made during 1973 was the introduction of Dr Pepper in Japan which is the first major step for the company in the international market. We are highly optimistic over the prospect of this and other expansion moves we hope to make in the near future," Clements added.

Knowledge, Self-Confidence Train Your Children To Survive

By MARTIN PORISS

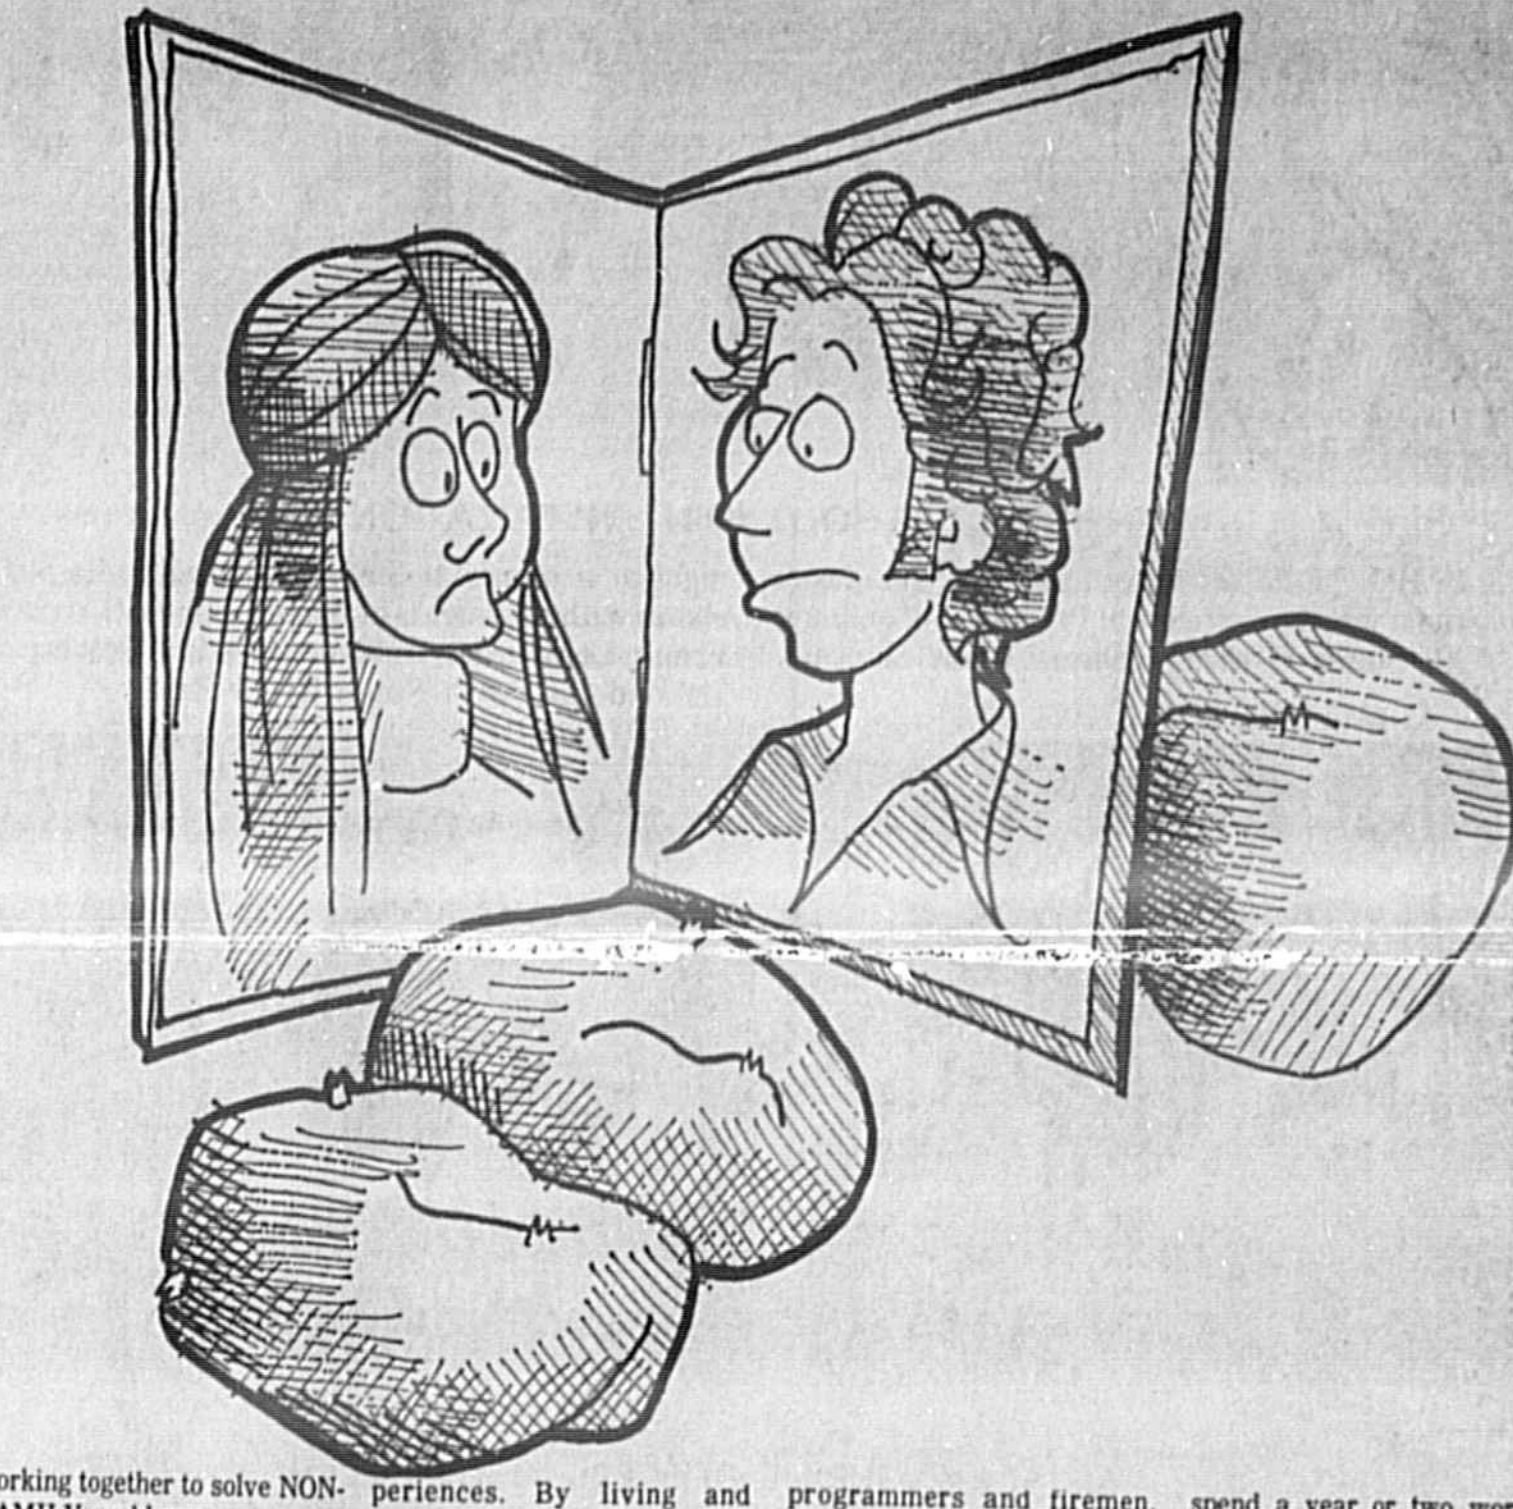

Teenagers are like all good potatoes: both start out a bit green, but all must finally root about in the soil of a hard and rather dirty world. With our economy on the rocks (shall we add an olive or a twist of lemon?) and a college sheep-skin worth less than a lamb's, how can we best prepare our kids (sweet potatoes that they are) for survival in the deep fryer of today's world? Here are a few cheap but good ideas.

Whether your kids are sons or daughters, "intellectuals" or "numbskulls," teach them to use their hands. You yourself might learn how: the same time! When shelves need to be hung, don't call a carpenter or your brother-in-law. Do it yourself, with advice from your local hardware store and help from your kids. Whether (she's 8 or 18, ASK your kid to measure and figure, saw and erect. Plumbing on the Fritz? Don't call the plumber, call the library! They'll lend you a book explaining simple plumbing repairs. The price of tools will be less than a plumber's bill, and you and your kids will acquire satisfaction, confidence and knowledge.

When your lamp, toaster, or clock radio dies of old age, don't throw it away! What broke? Can we improvise a new part? If it can't be fixed, can we turn it into? A book end, planter, door-stop? What parts (hinges, electrical plugs, etc.) can we save for future repairs? What YOU don't know, your hardware storemen, library or neighbor can tell you. Squeeze lessons and SELF-CONFIDENCE from your broken glassos.

Each year, take your kids (start them young) for a day in court. It's cheaper and more interesting than going to the movies! Let your kids see justice (?) at work. For example, an inside view of consumer frauds and divorce situations will teach them more about everyday truth and reality, their rights as American citizens, and what to watch for in their business and personal lives than will any semester in most high schools (or universities for that matter!) Law is the track on which this country rides — train your kids to understand the real thing, not the "ferry" mission version.

Get involved in some form of community action for change. Take the kids, explain what's happening, ask for their opinions AND for their ideas of strategy. Bounce thoughts, plans, and goals off each other in a spirit of openness. They'll gain a feeling for the ways in which bureaucracies work and confidence in your — and therefore their own — ability to change the world. Moreover, you and your kids will be relating in a great way:

National Health Plan Uses Shared Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has outlined to key congressmen a proposed national health care plan based principally on private insurance purchased by employers and employees.

It would be designed so that no individual or family after paying a share of the premium would be liable for more than $1,500 a year for the broad range of health services covered by the policy, even in the case of catastrophic illnesses.

Employers would be required to offer the coverage to employees.

There would be a separate government program for low-income families, regardless of their work status, non-working families and those with unusually high medical risks.

Medicare, the Social Security health plan for the aged, would continue with generally the existing cost to the beneficiaries, but with expanded benefits. Medicaid, the federal-state program for low-income persons, would largely be absorbed into the new government plan.

The draft proposal was outlined to the House Ways and Means Committee at a closed session Monday with Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger.

Some details became available afterward. The plan still is subject to modification before its formal presentation to Congress, scheduled for next month.

One major unsettled area is the financing of the public segment of the plan. It was estimated to require $5.3 billion of added federal spending and about $1 billion of added state spending. However, much of the additional state spending would be offset by reduction in existing programs to which the states contribute.

Prospects for enactment of the plan this year are doubtful. Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, where such legislation must originate, said that group might be able to begin work on national health programs if it finishes consideration of tax reform legislation by June.

working together to solve NON-FAMILY problems.

When financial opportunities and hassles knock and strike (and when DON'T they?), discuss them with your kids.

"What would you do?" should be your attitude. Teach your kids — start early — the arts of being politely aggressive and quickly decisive. Maturity is gained only through experiences. By living and working through YOUR decisions, triumphs and crises, they'll be years ahead of their classmates at graduation.

For the same reasons, encourage your local school board to include EXPERIENCES in their high school program: handling salesmen, fireside chats in the classroom with doctors and computer programmers and firemen, renting apartments, buying food and bank loans, legislative lobbying for a better life.

Finally, turn to the job ads in this newspaper's classified section and discuss what you find with your kids. At the same time, encourage them to develop their own (NOT YOUR) interests, and don't be afraid to suggest that your kids spend a year or two working before entering college. It'll sharpen their wits and focus their skills and interests — helping them to get the most out of their college years.

One of the greatest gifts you can give your kids is the knowledge and self-confidence to survive the trials of the modern world. It's a gift that's cheap, but good!

Energy Crisis Brings Trains More Business

By L. EDGAR PRINA
Copley News Service

WASHINGTON — As the gravity of the energy crisis sinks into the national consciousness, more and more Americans are leaving their automobiles in the garage and turning to the railroads for intercity travel.

Although there has been no mass switch in transport mode as yet, the 13 member lines of the National Railroad Passenger Corp. (Amtrak), provisionally, have substantial unneeded carrying capacity and enormous potential for growth.

Even before the Arab sheikhs turned off the oil spigots, highway and airport congestion and the war on pollution had brightened the outlook for a resurgence of the rail passenger train and a better mode of mass transportation system.

Indeed Amtrak was able to announce last May that the yearly decline in train ridership that has continued for decades had been reversed and started on the upgrade.

The 13 Amtrak roads carried 16.2 million passengers in fiscal year 1972, and more than 17.2 million the next year. But the increase in total revenue passenger miles was more notable. From 2.9 billion in 1972, it went to more than 3.2 billion in 1973, an increase of nearly 11 per cent.

For fiscal 1974, Amtrak is projecting a rise of approximately 12 per cent. "There's no doubt that the fuel shortage has been a boon to us, given our unused capacity," Edwin Edel, Amtrak's vice president for public affairs, said. "But it could be a boon only up to a point—that is, until we fill up our present trains."

"Our reservation centers have been receiving calls for reservations or information ranging from 47 to 145 per cent above their volume last year," Edel pointed out, however, that Amtrak operated its nationwide fleet at an average of less than half full while carrying the 17.2 million passengers in fiscal '73.

Amtrak is expected to select the winner of a design competition for the standard passenger cars and award a contract for the first 100 or more by next spring. Fifty-seven new metropolitan cars for the Washington-New York-Boston route was, however, ordered earlier this fall.

The locomotive situation is better. The first 40 completely new Amtrak units have been delivered—the first went into service in June—and another 110 are to be delivered by July, 1974. The new, higher-horsepower locomotives will be from 20 to 25 per cent more efficient in fuel use than the ones they replace.

The need for more and better rail passenger cars is the national appreciation of such a need were underscored when President Nixon in early November signed the Amtrak improvement act despite having serious reservations over some sections of it.

Shock Will Follow Collapse

NEW YORK (AP)—The impact of the financial crisis in higher education will hit the public hardest, said Martin Meyerson, when a stable university goes bankrupt.

Meyerson, president of the University of Pennsylvania, believes it will have the same shock effect as the failure of the Penn State, which was not just the nation's biggest railroad but one of its largest corporations.

Many small colleges already have closed and some of the nation's larger institutions aren't very far from the same unfortunate fate. And the reasons are the same as those in business: income doesn't match outgo.

The Carnegie Commission on Higher Education predicted last year that by 1980 colleges and universities will face a $51 billion gap between income and expenditures, and the prospects for raising the money aren't good.

Americans, while they have some of the most prestigious universities, contribute a lower percentage of Gross National Product to support higher education than in many other developed nations.

If some universities go under, Meyerson believes, it could foretell problems for other voluntary institutions, including churches and church-related social programs, health care, museums, orchestras and other arts.

As with the energy and environmental problems, he said, the nation is failing to heed some of the overt signals emanating from the campuses, among them: —Competition from state universities, especially in the Northeast, where some of the largest independent institutions find themselves competing with suddenly enlarged state universities.

—While voluntary giving looks pretty good, in Meyerson's view, many of the gifts today come with restrictions or limitations on their use.

—The middle-income family has been caught in a terrible crush. It costs about $5,000 a year to send a student to a school of Penn's stature, and many middle-income families have two youngsters in college simultaneously.

—Operating expenditures are rising. Payrolls are the big expenditure for universities and it is difficult to cut them. Automation might aid a corporation, but it is less likely to be of great value to a university. —The college population has ceased growing, studies show. That means the growth of tuition income will slow. And for colleges geared for big enrollments that can mean serious troubles.

Pocket Watch Is Back; Never Looked So Good

DALLAS, Tex. — An old friend, the pocket watch, is back with more flair than ever. "The pocket watch has returned as one of the most visible fashion jewelry items for men," according to Selwyn Leeds, president of Zale Jewelers.

"A cherished companion of our grandfathers, the pocket watch was more than simply a functional timepiece. It also reflected the personality of the man who wore it, and was treasured as an heirloom to be handed from father to son."

"With the turn of the three-piece suit to the fashion scene and the growing mood of nostalgia to the country, the pocket watch, available to affordable prices, has had a meteoric resurgence in popularity," Leeds observed.

Zale offers the discriminating man a collection of pocket watches. One favorite for the executive is the Baylor pocket watch with an engraved case and 17 jewel movement.

The watch is as stylish as the three-piece suit itself. Just a touch of the stem and presto, the covering case opens to reveal the classic, easy to read face.

Hours are designated by slender Roman numerals, and long thin black hands point the time on the gleaming white dial. A sweeping second hand helps the busy executive split the minutes into seconds.

A Waldemar watch chain anchors the Baylor timepiece to a watch fob, to the vest button, or to another possession tucked in the vest pocket, such as a favorite pocket knife.

Dear Abby His 'Last Hope' Is A Sex Change Operation

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a "hermaphrodite." I have breasts like a woman, and my mind and emotions of a woman, yet the lower part of my anatomy is like a man.

I have been away from home and financially independent for two years. I don't think I am wrong for wanting to be the sex I think I was meant to be, but I can't get anyone to agree with me.

I have talked to several ministers, and none of them has ever heard of this condition. They think I am "queer."

DEAR MISERABLE: Yes, write to the Erickson Foundation. 4811 Hundred Oaks Avenue, Baton Rouge, La. 70888.

DEAR ABBY: In response to your statement that humans are the only animals that blush, I have wanted a sex change operation for a long time, but my parents are against it.

DEAR R. E. I.: Something they heard, I presume!

I made the same mistake. When my husband started coming home for lunch I asked him to please eat downtown because it upset my routine.

DEAR WISER: Wives, take note!

DEAR ABBY: What a dum dum—what wife who asked her husband to eat lunch downtown because when he came home it "ruined" her day?

DEAR ABBY: I am 74 years old and have been a widow since the age of 29. I raised 5 children and 12 grandchildren, and what a thankless job I had.

I have a sister who married well. She is two years older than I am, and she has never known a lonely hour.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 122 Lasky Dr., Westbury Hills, Cal. 90212.

Questionnaires Mailed To Executives Cite Energy As Largest U.S. Problem

By DONALD C. BAUDER
Copley News Service

Last year, before the Arab fuel embargo, an international executive search firm, Consulting Partners, mailed a questionnaire to chief executives of the 1,200 largest American companies, asking what they considered the most critical problems facing industry for the next five years.

"Since the survey was unstructured—that is, we didn't give the respondents any guidelines—we expected general answers, such as multinational business or executive development," said

Phyl Uron, Chicago, who works for Consulting Partners.

Much to the group's surprise, the responses were specific.

The largest group, some 22.6 per cent, listed energy materials shortages as the single largest problem.

After the embargo, many respondents who had already sent in their answers sent new letters expanding on their views.

Wrote one company president, "The major issue today, and for the next five years, is energy supply. Our nation's immediate problem is to forestall economic stagnation—by minimizing the disruption of shortages of energy supply.

"Simultaneously, we must achieve greater profitability to support heavy investments toward the energy goals of expanded supply and greater self-sufficiency."

He hit on the key: profits. As the Chase Manhattan Bank has stated, to generate the $1.35 trillion needed for operations from 1970 through 1985, the oil companies must increase earnings 18 per cent a year.

Yet, according to the Research Institute of America, Congress is about to "clobber" the major oil companies, because their recent profit improvements "run against the grain."

Richard Salzman, director of the institute, said in an interview. "However, these moves by Congress should not negatively affect capital investments of the oil companies. Government will prod firms to invest in more production."

"The government wants them to increase capital investment in exploration, development and refining, and cut back on marketing activities which lead to manipulation of prices."

Salzman said that, through playing off domestic and international oil, "in their marketing the major oil companies have a tendency to control prices." Proof is hard to document, he said, "but it's a surprise that most students of the industry make."

Whether the manipulations charges are true—the courts can sort that out—it is clear that the U.S.-based oil companies are making major capital expenditures both here and abroad.

Heavier percentages of their outlays are for exploration and development (as opposed to refining, marketing and distribution) and for research, such as oil shale development.

According to the economics department of McGraw-Hill Publications, subsidiary of McGraw-Hill, planned domestic expenditures by domestic companies for 1974 will be $14.3 billion, up 38 per cent from last year. By contrast, industry in general will be up $13.6 billion.

An additional $7.1 billion will be spent by the domestics overseas, for a total of $21.4 billion, up 25 per cent from 1973.

Such expenditures have to be generated in the main from internal earnings; the oil companies are limited in what they can generate from debt and equity financings.

Dear Consumer States To Aid Insurance Buyers

By Virginia Knauer
Special Assistant to the President and Director
Office of Consumer Affairs
Department of Health, Education and Welfare

For most consumers, life insurance is an important purchase.

While an estimated 70 per cent of the population is insured by one or more life insurance policies, many consumers and their families are not adequately protected.

Why?

Among other reasons, traditionally the consumer has not received adequate information to help him make an informed decision about the kind and amount of coverage he is getting for his money.

To remedy this situation, my office has been working with both the insurance industry and the state insurance commissioners to help consumers understand and compare the true costs and benefits of competing policies.

The following are some of the things being done at the state level to give consumers this kind of information:

- The National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) has developed

Customers Are Waiting

JACKSONVILLE — The automobile market is in a "holding pattern" now with many would-be customers just waiting for the gasoline situation to stabilize before they buy a new car, in the opinion of Robert D. Burger, general sales manager of Buick.

Burger, 49, who took over the top sales spot at Buick on Jan. 1, was in Jacksonville today for a meeting with area dealers.

In the Jacksonville zone, he said sales of Buick's smaller-sized cars showed a 22.9 per cent increase in 1973 over the previous year, with most of the gain being in the intermediate-sized Century and the compact Apollo. Regular and luxury size Buick sales in this zone were off 10 per cent for the year.

Nationally, total Buick sales were up 1.3 per cent in 1973 — a total of 682,757 units, the second best year in Buick history.

"Admittedly, right now new car sales are slow," Burger said, "but we still have a strong feeling that we're in a holding pattern, with many customers just waiting for the gasoline situation to clarify before entering the market. And when they do decide to buy a new car, many of them will want the comfort, luxury, safety and performance of a full-sized American automobile."

Consumer Action

By Doyle Conner, Commissioner
Florida Dept. of Agriculture & Consumer Services

It has already taken more than a dozen years and it may take still another year, but a system to eliminate human error from citrus inspection will become a reality soon.

Electronic equipment to be used will most revolutionize the efficiency of our field inspection in determining pounds of solids per box of oranges. And it will furnish readily assimilated and accurate data to both the processor and the fruit supplier.

Most of the equipment now is in a stage where it can be used. But the Bixomies which reads the percentage of soluble solids in the fruit thus far has not been sufficiently accurate.

However, there is a fourth generation unit which is said to be the ultimate and will do the job. This season, the automation program is being used in a moderate-sized processing plant.

This way, the tests can be readily checked and no one—the processor or the supplier—can be harmed.

The test equipment is hooked into a small computer which can print out the test results automatically without the possibility of human error. This will mean more accuracy and uniformity in the testing.

Delegation Requests Committee 'Truce Sought In War' Over Hospital

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

A "peace commission" of Seminole's Tallahassee representatives Thursday night ordered a warring county commissioner and Seminole Memorial Hospital trustees to settle their taxing battle with a joint committee.

The stormy legislative delegation meeting in Altamonte Springs City Hall saw the four Seminole Legislators unanimously agree on a compromise on the county's proposal to reduce to three the hospital's millage "cap" will be dealt with at the Feb. 14 meeting.

If no compromise on a local bill or a general act is worked out by the joint committee, warned Rep. Eugene Mooney, R-Casselberry, the entire matter may be dropped for the year.

Delegation chairman Mooney said the compromise committee should be made up of one legislator, one trustee, one legislator, and a "layman" appointed by the delegation.

The commission backed down, as predicted Monday by Chairman John Kimbrough, on a section of the requested ordinance which would have given the county "line-by-line" budget approval power over the hospital.

Trustees had threatened mass resignation on the issue, claiming they could not function if they lost financial authority, and said the county already controlled capital expenditures such as building programs.

Assistant County Atty. Howard Marrese said the county commission sponsored bill would decrease from five mills annually to three mills the amount which voters can approve to establish and maintain a hospital. It also would limit to one-quarter mill the hospital board's powers to order levy of annual millage for hospital maintenance and repair and reduce to 25 mill the county's authority to levy annually for equipping, repairing and adding to a hospital.

County Commissioners withdrew a section of the proposal that would require county commission line-by-line approval of the hospital budget.

Marrese said general law presently permits a total 10 mills tax levy for the hospital, (Con't. On Pg. 8A Col. 5.)

Deluge Of Bills Filed To Stop Big Oil Gains

By John A. Spolski

Most of the day's news events deal with monetary attachments in the millions, and higher.

The one which struck me as the "most important" revolves around a measly $1.85.

As difficult as it may be to accept on the surface, all of it is the absolute truth. Not a syllable or adjective added as embellishment.

It happened last night at a local movie theatre.

Two young girls, ages 13 and 12 were inside watching the film.

A young woman (whom we later assumed to be a sister—not the mother) had two children with her as she entered, and seated herself in front of the two young girls.

The woman turned around and asked the girls "would you like to make $1.85 for babysitting?" She had with her a boy who was approximately four years old, and a girl... maybe two.

The two girls could use the $1.85 for a pizza treat after the movies were over, so they agreed to "babysit" with the kids, right there in the movies.

At that point, the "sister" gets up and leaves the building, ostensibly to do some shopping in the adjacent shopping plaza.

Pardon me for getting personal at this point, please... I do not know the name of this woman. However, I do have a message for her.

"Give me a call, or come in to the paper for your $1.85. You need it to go out and buy some 'smarts' for yourself!"

What makes this so much more poignant is that only this week I attended a sex seminar with approximately 100 law enforcement officers as they were instructed by Walter McLaughlin—retired FBI agent for the past 37 years.

His subject was on child molestation. He had photos of the victims (which only those trained to accept this as a way of life could view without emptying their insides).

I learned what can happen to the unsuspecting. And here I'm told of an incident such as the one I've just reported, and I can't help but feel awfully weak... and grateful that these two young girls were the ones who indeed did protect the lives of two innocent children.

Solons Assure CROP

Two members of the Seminole County Legislative Delegation assured members of CROP (Committee to Resist Oppressive Politicians) Thursday night of assistance in their fight against the county's proposed ordinances limiting the rights of mobile home owners.

Rep. Eugene Mooney and Sen. John Vogt after listening to CROP's complaints during an informal hearing near midnight promised to aid the group in gaining attorney general opinions on the constitutionality of the county move.

Representatives of the mobile home owners said County Commissioner Sid Vihlen has admitted the county proposal which would limit their rights not only to park their mobile homes, but also the numbers of animals and how they can be used in agricultural areas is unconstitutional.

Vihlen, not present at the hearing, was unavailable for comment today.

Sen. Lori Wilson said only a court can determine if a law is constitutional.

As the persons in the audience insisted they have complained but were not heard, Mooney said, "You are making a noise and you are being heard."

Earlier in the delegation's five-hour hearing, a bill submitted by the school board to repeal a local law allowing purchases up to $1,000 without competitive bidding was approved. Mooney said the county after repeal will come under a general law which permits purchase up to $4,000 without going to bid.

The delegation also approved a proposed bill to abolish the St. Johns Indian River Canal District, which has been defunct for the past year. The district asked for the legislation.

Throughout State Move Grows To End DST

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The growing number of school children killed in early morning accidents has brought a rush of activity from state officials to end Daylight Saving Time in Florida.

County School Board member Jean Bryant said today regarding time change she still feels that school openings should have been moved back an hour throughout the county.

"The county school superintendent is the one who is supposed to make recommendations and if he should propose this change I'll back it all the way," she said.

Mrs. Bryant also suggested the board should go on record as backing State Education Commissioner Floyd Christian's request that the state go back to Eastern Standard Time.

At least eight have died while en route to school since Jan. 6, when the new time went into effect as an energy saving measure. Two died in the comparable period last year.

Askew also called for a special meeting of the state Cabinet on Monday, which is also the Board of Education, to determine a course of action.

Possibilities included ordering or urging school districts to move school hours back an hour from the pre-DST schedule, which some have already done, ordering safety measures or asking Congress for a repeal, said Don Price, Askew's press secretary.

Sessums said he shared Here's concern and called for reports on the fatal accidents

County Jail Investigation Planned For 1:30 Today

Conditions in Seminole County Jail will be investigated today by Chief Circuit Court Judge Dominic Salfi and colleagues Robert McGregor and Wallace Hill in response to complaints filed with the public defender's office and the State Supreme Court.

The scheduled 1:30 hearing in the courthouse was to feature witnesses called by both the public defender and state attorney's offices, and was to be open to the public.

Salfi announced no details of the probe, and his office could not say whether the judges planned a personal inspection of the aging jail facility, currently undergoing renovation, in Sanford.

Salfi Wednesday announced the three-judge probe into charges of overcrowding, poor health conditions, lack of exercise and recreation, food and other complaints passed on by both prisoners and jailers.

While Sheriff John Polk, who has acknowledged many of the complaints to be accurate, does not hold out hope until the new Five Points jail is built, Salfi and others have said immediate action may be necessary.

"If the complaints are justified, the problem is now," Salfi said. "I do not believe we can wait until a more modern facility is built."

Earle Announces For Gunter Job

By CHRIS NELSON
Herald Staff Writer

State Rep. Law Earle, R-Maitland, today jumped into the race to replace Seminole Congressman Bill Gunter, and then leaped into the middle of two "hot" issues — school starting times and uniform city-county land planning.

"We now have one of the most god-awful traffic problems in the whole state," along the I-4, SR 436, U.S. 17-92 corridors.

Earle said, adding "that's one of the things you get when you don't have comprehensive land use planning."

Accompanied by his attractive wife, Bobbi, Earle refused to be drawn into the Seminole-Lake County squabble over the proposed $60,000-per-acre Three-Rivers development along the Wekiva River, saying he "generally" supports local people solving local problems.
