HEAVY URIC ACID CAN LEAD TO GOUT

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB—I have gout but I'm not taking any medication for it. I was controlling it, I thought, by dieting. Several years ago a doctor gave me a diet. Through the years I've lost it. Could you send me a copy of a gout diet if you have one?

I have some painful joints—my left knee and hip and my right shoulder and sometimes my fingers. Should I be taking medication and if so what would you suggest?

DEAR READER—The classic gout diet eliminated organ meats which included kidneys, liver and sweetbreads, had medicines for the so-called high purine foods. This included anchovies, beans, sardines, cauliflower, eggplant, lentils, and mushrooms, oatmeal, and spinach. All rich in fat foods were to be avoided but hard to limit the calories sufficiently to avoid obesity.

You may recognize this as the same diet we recommend for people to help prevent fatty-cholesterol deposits in the arteries. The truth is that heart attacks and strokes occur frequently in people who eat that and that's why this type of diet is recommended today, along with the proper medicines to control the gout from forming too much uric acid. There are new medicines that help in this regard. To give you a better understanding of gout, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 83, Gout, Life Acid. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Gout has a tendency to occur in people who are active and prominent. That may be because the tendency of the complications of gout rather than uric acid alone to do the job.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Wednesday, April 9, 1980

YOUR BIRTHDAY
April 9, 1980
This coming year you may form several new friendships with people with whom you'll share a very special interest. One in particular could blossom into a very lovely relationship.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
This is one of those days when you could feel lost in a crowd. It's not that people aren't pleasant, it's that you're dealing with something that needs to be changed. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter, Mail #1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 486, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10101. Be sure to specify birth date.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Heavy obligations not of your making could put a damper on what otherwise should be a successful day. Try to get the culprit to pitch in and help. In a situation you're involved in could work out to be materially fortunate today, but you must be careful not to boast of your good luck in front of one not so favored.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
You're a very pleasant person to be around today as long as others are in accord with your ideas. However, when your views are challenged the opposite might be true.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
This could be a critical day where your finances are concerned. Budget your resources as skillfully as a prudent banker would.

Area Letter Carriers Fight Saturday Cut

By DAVID M. RAZLER

Sanford letter carriers are joining with their national union's drive to block elimination of Saturday mail deliveries, said local president David Powell. The union leader says the cutback will increase the load on already overburdened staff, slowing service while not saving that much money.

Sanford's 19 letter carriers will be sending letters to their congressmen and President Jimmy Carter protesting the budget cutback proposal which would reduce delivery to five days a week, Powell said.

The National Association of Letter Carriers, which represents the country's thousands of post office employees who walk routes delivering mail, says the cutback would actually increase costs while reducing service.

Powell called the letter writing campaign the only action the membership can take to try to stop the cutback.

Additionally, the union estimates 50,000 jobs would be lost nationwide under the reduction plans being proposed, a job loss which would have to be made up through overtime pay, he said.

According to Powell, Sanford's letter carriers are already working large amounts of overtime because the post office has not increased the number of mailmen in two years.

He said he knows of one man who earned 20 hours worth of extra time last week, another who worked 16 hours over the normal number.

"We can't even handle six days of mail in six days," said Powell, asking how the load would be handled by fewer men in less time.

He explained the plan calls for the elimination of the jobs given to "flexible" letter carriers, workers not paid a salary to walk a regular route, but paid by the hour to fill in for sick and vacationing postal workers.

Powell added mail delivery would be bogged down if the flexible workers were not available, a move planned as part of the cutback. There are 49 employees at the Sanford post office, with similar numbers at each post office branch in Seminole County.

Only 19 of the employees are letter carriers, under Powell's union, but the clerk's union is also taking similar action, trying to get its members to protest the plans to eliminate Saturday delivery, Powell said.

But the union leader said, given the chance, he could cut the cost of operating the post office without affecting service.

"I'd get rid of 'snovoprovion' first," he said. Under post office rules, each branch employs a supervisor, who must spend part of each day following around every letter carrier, whether there have been any complaints about service or not, Powell explained.

Powell also accused the post office of being lousy with white collar workers unnecessary to run the system.

With cutbacks in these places, Powell says the system could continue to run six days a week while meeting a tight budget.

Race Track Bills To Bring Windfall?

A windfall of $210,000 will be split among two Seminole cities and the county government in 1981 if legislation sponsored by State Rep. Robert Hatway, D-Altamonte Springs, is approved by his colleagues in the Florida Legislature.

Hatway said today, a companion bill he will be introducing at the same time as one to permit the conversion of the Seminole Harness Raceway to a greyhound racing facility, will call for the imposition of a 10-cent per gallon tax on these existing pari-mutuel Florida wagering establishments.

The resulting revenues would go to the "impact areas" of the pari-mutuel establishments, he said.

He cited as examples that the head tax revenues at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club, estimated at $85,000, would go to the city of Longwood; low tax revenues from the Orlando-Seminole Jai-alai fronton, estimated at $90,000 annually would go to the Seminole County Commission, and the tax revenues, estimated at $35,000 annually from the Seminole Harness Raceway in Casselberry when it is converted to a dog track would go to the city of Casselberry.

Earlier, Hatway indicated the resulting revenues from the pari-mutuel wagering establishments would be distributed to cities state-wide equally.

War Of Words Militants: Hostages Could Die

By United Press International

The Islamic militants holding the 50 American hostages in the U.S. Embassy in Tehran today threatened to kill all the captives if the United States takes military action against Iran.

"We warn the American government with all frankness that if it launched a military aggression against Iran, we shall immediately kill all the hostages," the militants said in a statement broadcast by Tehran Radio, monitored in Kuwait.

The threat came two days after the United States severed diplomatic relations with Iran and imposed a trade embargo. There were growing indications Washington was considering a naval blockade or some other military action should the reprisals not work and the hostages remain held.

The militants said the safety of the hostages, now in their 18th day of captivity, was in the hands of the "criminal" Carter administration.

In an earlier statement, they said Washington's decision to break relations with Iran was a "blessing because these relations were the root of trouble."

Iran hinted Tuesday that it take new anti-U.S. steps because of the sanctions imposed by President Carter, and warned American allies their flow of Iranian oil would stop if they backed Washington.

Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini and Iranian President Abolhasan Bani-Sadr said their country could survive the

Carter Wants Some Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter will try to "keep the door open" with Iran and take Ayatollah Khomeini up on an offer to let the United States check from time to time on the health and safety of the American hostages.

A White House official said today efforts will be made to keep channels with Iran open despite the break in relations. Khomeini insisted in a speech Monday the hostages were in good health and offered to let outsiders visit them if they applied through responsible authorities. "We plan to take him up on that," the official said.

The official also said the State Department is awaiting word from the three clergymen who conducted Easter services for the hostages in Tehran and took messages to them. He said they are expected to bring back tapes from the captives.

He indicated the clergymen had not made contact with all the hostages.

Press secretary Jody Powell, meantime, said in an interview on ABC-TV the hostages "are a constant concern... what those people are going through. It is a situation in which the human dimensions completely overweigh other considerations."

Iran, Iraq Close To Warfare?

By United Press International

Iran declared today it would "overthrow" the ruling regime in neighboring Iraq in a move that could bring the two feuding nations to open warfare.

The statement by Iranian Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh followed a cross fire of words between Iranian strongman Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini and Iraqi President Saddam Hussein.

"We have decided to overthrow the Baathist regime of Iraq," Ghotbzadeh was quoted as saying by official Tehran Radio, monitored by the BBC in London.

Later the radio reported gun duels between Iraqi and Iranian border forces. It said Iraq was the aggressor.

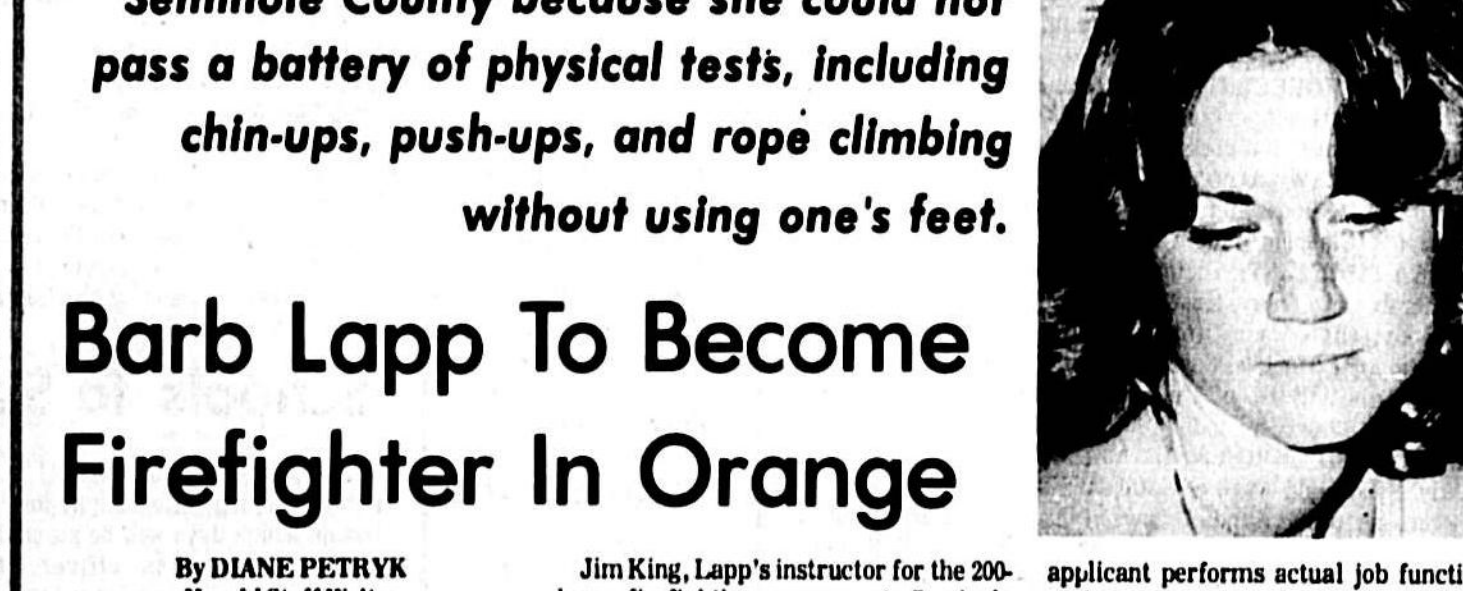

Khomeini demanded the Iraqi army overthrow Hussein's "corrupt" regime. Hussein, in turn, vowed that anyone trying to "will have his hand cut off without hesitation."

Addressing a Cabinet meeting, Hussein said: "Iraq is prepared to enter any kind of battle to defend its honor and sovereignty and security of the Arab nation."

Tehran Radio's Arabic broadcasts Tuesday said Iraq had mobilized 20,000 soldiers of its 190,000-man army along the border and had booted at least 15,000 Iraqis out of the country.

Other Persian Gulf states feared Washington's severing of diplomatic relations with Tehran might have had repercussions on the whole area. One report from Kuwait said the entire region has been "put on alert" because of fears of a possible American attack against oil installations in Iran.

Barb Lapp (right) was rejected by Seminole County because she could not pass a battery of physical tests, including chin-ups, push-ups, and rope climbing without using one's feet.

By DIANE PETRYK
Herald Staff Writer

Barbara Lapp will become a firefighter.

The 28-year-old female turned down by a firefighter's job in Seminole County because she could not pass portions of a physical agility test, was hired by the Goldenrod-Dommerich fire district in Orange County.

Lapp was chosen over 11 male applicants, said Goldenrod-Dommerich Assistant Fire Chief Mitch Floyd.

Although Floyd said she is the first firefighter his district has hired since it eliminated the physical agility test, he said Lapp's background and references were better than those of any of the other applicants.

"Just by first glance I'd say she's probably as capable as some of the male employees — now and in the past," he said.

Lapp will start her job at the fire station at Aloma and Palminto Streets on April 14 with a shift 24 hours on and 48 hours off.

"I'm nervous, but excited about it," she said.

"I'll be riding the engine until I get my EMT (emergency medical technician) certification," she said.

She will be on probation for one year, Floyd said she applied for the job because the district does not require a physical agility test. They do require that an applicant have successfully completed a written test at the fire station and pass the state firefighter exam.

Jim King, Lapp's instructor for the 200-hour firefighting course at Seminole Community College, said Lapp's performance in the course was "fantastic."

The Seminole County Public Safety Director Gary Kaiser said in March he rejected Lapp because she could not pass a battery of physical tests including chin-ups, push-ups and rope climbing without using one's feet.

The tests Kaiser used, however, are almost exactly the same as those that were used by the state of Florida until the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) ruled they were discriminatory.

But Kaiser said he would continue to use physical tests because hiring a person with no strength could endanger lives.

"Firefighting is the most physically demanding job there is," Kaiser said. "Hiring someone with no strength could endanger the person's life and the lives of fellow firefighters. That's a chance we're not willing to accept."

At the same time, however, Buddy Dewar, chief of the state Bureau of Fire Standards and Training, said the state has eliminated physical tests because they could not be shown to have a valid relationship to the job requirements.

Because the state has failed to design a valid test since theirs was ruled invalid by the EEOC, Kaiser said he plans to modify the tests to make them more task-oriented. Dewar said tests in which the applicant performs actual job functions such as removing a ladder from a pumper, are easier to validate.

"Lapp said she did not want to challenge Seminole County's tests through the EEOC because if she got a job through such an agency her co-workers would look down on her."

Floyd said his district was under no pressure from the EEOC to hire a woman, but they had an Affirmative Action plan that anticipated hiring by 1980.

"She (Lapp) was qualified," Floyd said. "I'd rather hire a female now who I feel is qualified rather than be forced into hiring one later who isn't."

"But we'll put her to work and see how she does just like anyone else."

Lapp currently works as a lab technician for Dr. Benjamin Newman in Altamonte Springs.

She said she became interested in the firefighting profession after talking with many firefighters in the course of administering stress tests to 150 Altamonte Springs firemen as Newman's assistant.

"I spent about an hour with each of them during the tests," she said, "and we would get to talking about firefighting work."

Lapp said her next challenge is to become certified as a paramedic.

And she has no resentment concerning the physical tests.

She said she feels she should be a good as the men are.

"I'm going to start a program of running and exercise every day," she said.

Midway Woman Says Baby Abused

Seminole County deputies are investigating a charge by a Midway mother that a neighbor sexually abused her 2 1/2-year-old daughter, infecting her with gonorrhea.

The woman told deputies she took her child, who stays with a neighbor during the day, to a physician Saturday, for treatment of an infection she diagnosed as the venereal disease.

Deputies say the little girl identified a man living in the home of the woman caring for the child as the one who sexually assaulted her.

SUIT AGAINST WINN DIXIE FILED
Lurene G. Ball and her husband, Raymond, have filed suit against Winn Dixie Stores Inc., William Law Jr. and Thomas Caudle charging a negligently placed chunk of concrete caused Mrs. Ball to fall in a parking lot.

The suit, filed in Seminole Circuit Court, states Mrs. Ball fell at an undisclosed Winn Dixie shopping center parking lot in the county on Oct. 2, 1979, when she tripped over a concrete car bumper.

The suit, asking for more than $2,500 in damages to cover medical bills and other losses incurred by the Balls, charges the supermarket chain, and the two people who own the building and parking lot with negligence in allowing the bumper to be placed where it was.

The Seminole County School Board will be asked to set the school opening date tonight for the 1980-81 school year and decide which days will be student holidays, said Ralph Ray, school information officer. The Seminole Education Association will have input in the matter, he added.

The school board meets at 7:30 p.m. at the board office, 1211 Mellenville Ave., Sanford. Ray said the board will also consider a request from some Woodlands Elementary School parents that the board reconsider their decision to transfer about 100 pupils from that school to Altamonte Elementary next year.

At the last meeting of the MPO, the state Department of Transportation informed the board that the widening of 436 would have to be postponed for two years and the road reallocated to projects in Orange County, despite the high priority given the project by the planners.

Another Hole In Cuba's Image

Another hole has been punched in the image of Communist Cuba as the land of peace, equality and justice these past few days as up to 9,000 Cubans crowded into the Peruvian embassy in Havana seeking asylum.

The rush for passage out of Cuba began last Friday when Cuban police left their post at the embassy's gate. Several were injured when a van carrying 24 Cubans crashed through it. It is safe to say that the compound of the embassy of Peru wasn't built to comfortably accommodate 9,000 people, including many who are injured or ill.

But they began flowing in as soon as it appeared that escape from Fidel Castro's Marxist regime might be possible.

In the past few years, thousands of American liberals and leftists have been praising the Cuban society they saw as superior to the American way of life. No matter that the Cuban people live on rations; that the secret police are everywhere; that upwards of 20,000 political prisoners still rot in Castro's jails.

Sen. George McGovern of S. Dakota who ran for president in 1972, became a close friend of Castro although he had little to say about living conditions in Castro's "paradise."

Meanwhile, the flow of Cuban refugees into Miami and other American ports continues. They, and the thousands who jammed the Peruvian embassy seeking asylum from Communism are telling us again of the terrible truth of life under Marxism and to what lengths men will go to free of it.

Great Man Passes

Death has taken a great man and a super athlete who was a credit to his nation.

James Cleveland "Jesse" Owens died at 66 in a Tucson hospital, the victim of lung cancer.

He was an outstanding athlete whose achievements may never be surpassed.

In the 1936 Olympics in Berlin, Owens won four gold medals in track and field as a sprinter and long jumper. It was a dramatic display of ability that frustrated Adolf Hitler and his master race.

Born the son of an Alabama sharecropper, Owens never was defeated by demeaning treatment to members of his race. He worked hard to become a successful businessman in Phoenix, operating his own public relations and marketing firms.

He was a celebrated speaker, traveling some 200,000 miles each year and making three addresses each week. His messages were positive ones, on achievement, dignity, inner peace and the value of sports.

He believed, regardless of color, a successful athlete must have dignity on and off the field.

Jesse Owens walked 10 feet tall. His presence brought pleasure to thousands who met him. He left a mark on the world.

"Did you hear that? I think it was something called 'good news'!"

Around

The Clock

By DIANE PTRYK

You can't be too careful about statistics. For instance, consider some data sent to the Evening Herald recently by the Public Service Research Council.

On the surface it appears discouraging news for Florida teachers as compared to a data analysis conducted by the PSRC, a Vienna, Virginia-based group devoted to "non-partisan research and education concerning public sector unions."

The PSRC analysis shows, their press release says, unionized public school teachers receive lower pay raises than do teachers who are not unionized. The data also appears to show that states with compulsory bargaining laws for teachers experience more teacher strikes.

Thirty states, including Florida, now compel school boards to bargain with teacher unions. According to the PSRC, states without compulsory bargaining laws had an average teacher salary increase between the 1969-70 and 1977-78 school years over 4 percent above the average for states with compulsory bargaining laws.

As for teacher strikes, states with compulsory bargaining averaged 64 strikes per state from 1969 to 1977, while states without compulsory bargaining averaged 16 strikes each — almost one-third fewer the PSRC study pointed out.

The press release stated that average gross annual earnings for Florida teachers rose 34.9 percent between the 1969-70 and 1977-78 school years and two teacher strikes occurred. But by contrast, Louisiana, a state without compulsory bargaining laws, had average gross earnings of teachers increase over the same period by 99.4 percent, with two teacher strikes.

What the statistics do not reveal, however, is what teacher salaries were in the 30 states before compulsory bargaining laws were passed, and how they compared then to salaries in states without compulsory bargaining.

Bill Moore, interim executive director of the Seminole Education Association, suggested that a check of these salaries might show that in states with compulsory bargaining, salaries before the compulsory bargaining laws were passed were comparatively lower to begin with.

"Compulsory bargaining may have helped to narrow the gap," he said, "and states where the salaries are pretty good to begin with don't normally push for collective bargaining."

Collective bargaining is a result of lower salaries, he said.

Moore added that Florida's compulsory bargaining law, as the PSRC called it, is not a compulsory bargaining law when one considers that such laws, historically, have been designed to equalize the bargaining sides.

"In Florida that doesn't happen," he said. "We sit down to bargain with the school board, but ultimately we have to take what they give. There's no provision for binding arbitration. That's not truly collective bargaining for salaries."

I asked a representative of the PSRC if data were gathered concerning salaries when they later mandated compulsory bargaining. They said they did not have that data.

But I learned one interesting thing. The PSRC was created by supporters of a teacher in Michigan who was fired in 1973 for refusing to pay union dues to the Michigan Education Association.

Reagan's Victory Strategy

WASHINGTON (NEA) — As far as the Reagan camp is concerned, the primaries over Ronald Reagan may suffer several more setbacks along the way, but the nomination is his, say his followers.

This means they now can turn their attention to November and Jimmy Carter. They believe they will win that election. Here is how:

In 1976, Gerald Ford came within a whisker of remaining in the Oval Office.

Jimmy Carter got 297 electoral votes by winning most of the states east of the Mississippi plus Texas, while Ford tallied 240 electoral votes by taking every state in the West save Hawaii and also winning Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and New Jersey. Had the vote turned around in just a few states, Ford would be in the White House still.

The Reagan forces think they can win in November by holding most of those states won by Ford and adding a few he narrowly lost.

Of the states that went to Carter in '76, the Reagan forces are confident they can take Texas (26 electoral votes) and several other Southern states, such as Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, North Carolina, West Virginia and Missouri.

If they can hold the states that went Republican in 1976, this shift of about 45 electoral votes would be enough to give Reagan a victory.

But can they hold the Ford states? As they now see it, Illinois is the Ford state they'll most likely lose. Although far from ready to concede the state to Carter, they admit it will be an uphill battle. But Texas would be an even trade with Illinois (also 30 electoral votes).

Reagan's people believe the key lies with four traditionally Democratic states that Ford won in 1976: California, New Jersey, Michigan and Indiana. If he can hold three of them, they say, then the expected gains in the Southern and border states would be enough.

California is the biggest prize with 45 electoral votes. Although the state is nominally Democratic, Mike Curb, Republican running for lieutenant governor, received more votes than re-elected Gov. Jerry Brown during the last statewide election in 1976.

Reagan had little trouble carrying the state in his races for governor, and no state has been harder hit by the current economic problems. Reagan's people say that, of the four, California will be the easiest to hold.

The Reagan people are aware their choice of a running mate might make the difference to some of the swing states. For instance, Howard Baker on the ticket could deliver Tennessee, which went for Carter in 1976, and make a big difference in several other border states. So, they will choose their vice-presidential nominee carefully.

Most of Reagan's key advisers are championing at the bit to get started with the campaign. They expect the press to label Reagan an underdog, but they say they can win and think they know just how to do it. They can hardly wait.

By late 1978, prices were rocketing up at an alarming rate. Yet as late as Nov. 20, 1978, secret White House minutes reveal that Carter's goal was totally unrealistic — "to reduce the inflation rate to 6 and one-half percent or lower."

He hoped to talk prices down, relying on jawboning and voluntary guidelines. State the minutes: "The President noted that we have a long way to go but that he is satisfied we are putting a balanced anti-inflation program in place."

He pressed for higher interest rates and gas prices, but that more inflation upon the fire. On Dec. 11, 1978, he vowed behind closed doors that "the fight against inflation is, and should be, the top priority for the administration."

He continued to whip up the inflationary spiral that he was trying to kill. At the Jan. 15, 1979, Cabinet meeting, the president was still whistling in the dark. The secret minutes report: "The President indicated that the relatively poor inflation statistics over the coming months would not be indicative of failure of the anti-inflation program."

But the financial whiz who was then his secretary of the Treasury, Michael Blumenthal, was more realistic. He bluntly warned, according to the minutes, that "defensive nerves will be required as the economy experiences (1) a rise in employment; (2) a dip in the rate of growth; and (3) higher than acceptable rates of inflation."

The minutes show that Carter was still seeking a "non-recessionary slowdown." But by all his tinkering with the interest rates, he was not having the desired effect. His chief economic adviser, Charles Schultze, complained ruefully on Feb. 26, 1979, "that during earlier inflationary periods consumers stopped buying but that they are not doing so at this time."

According to the secret minutes, "the President asked for suggestions on how best to keep the economy from sliding into recession with holding down prices." But clearly, the jawboning and the voluntary guidelines weren't working.

Carter, nevertheless, resisted pressure to impose wage-price controls. Declare the minutes: "The President noted that, contrary to some widespread opinion, he has no authority to impose mandatory wage and price controls, and that even if he had such authority, he would not exercise it."

Thereafter, the secret minutes correctly predicted "several additional months of sustained inflation."

JACK ANDERSON

Fight Nets More Inflation

WASHINGTON — For three years, President Carter has fought inflation with more inflation. All that this has produced, unfortunately, has been more inflation.

Hopefully, he has realized his economic sights. At first, he sought an economic slowdown so gradual that it would avert a recession. Then he was willing to accept a recession. Now he would settle for a commonplace, down-at-the-belt slump. But some of his economic experts fear that the fall from the dizzying, inflationary heights could now cause a severe recession.

The president, meanwhile, has pushed up interest rates and encouraged higher gasoline prices, hoping this would cause people to spend less money and force prices back down. The strategy unfortunately hasn't worked, because most of the leading American industries are price-protected.

Prices are set by a few giant corporations, which dominate each industry. The lesser companies quickly fall into step. They have learned to communicate with one another like rare tropical birds — with imperceptible movements and signals.

The anti-trust laws, therefore, no longer deter. In fact, the state is nominally Democratic, Mike Curb, Republican running for lieutenant governor, received more votes than re-elected Gov. Jerry Brown during the last statewide election in 1976.

Reagan had little trouble carrying the state in his races for governor, and no state has been harder hit by the current economic problems. Reagan's people say that, of the four, California will be the easiest to hold.

JEFFREY HART

Cheers For The Losers

Now that Ronald Reagan has the Republican nomination wrapped up, it may be time to take a look back at some of the men he defeated.

In various ways, they are an impressive lot. Even in defeat they all behaved well, and some of them are likely to be prominent on the political scene for a long time to come.

Seldom has effort been so little productive of votes as it turned out to be for Rep. Phillip Crane — but Crane may have succeeded in positioning himself well for 1984 and beyond.

Crane campaigned assiduously for two years, becoming a familiar figure on the highways and byways of New Hampshire and elsewhere.

But his candidacy from the start was based upon some assumptions that did not work out. Crane knew that if Ronald Reagan's candidacy proved to be successful there would simply be no room for another Reagan-styled conservative. For Crane to have had a chance, some disaster would have had to overtake Reagan.

In New Hampshire, as the voting approached, Crane polled consistently in the eight-to-ten percent range. But after the win by George Bush in Iowa, New Hampshire conservatives felt that Reagan might really be in danger. On primary day in New Hampshire, Crane got only about one percent of the vote, and Reagan proved his credentials as the leading Republican conservative.

But Crane is attractive, highly articulate, and has an excellent grasp of the issues. A Ph.D. and former history professor, he speaks from a foundation of knowledge beyond that of most political figures.

Looking ahead to 1984, two of the leading Republicans seem likely to be Crane and Rep. Jack Kemp of New York, men in their 40s and on the threshold of national stardom.

Senator Howard Baker, minority leader in the Senate, won a lot of friends with his primary effort even though he did not win many votes. Obviously able and intelligent, Baker is just as clearly a gentleman. Like Walter Mondale in 1976, Baker simply did not desire the presidency with the passion and single-mindedness needed to attain it.

John Connally made a major effort, but he fell flat in South Carolina, he threw in his hand with grace and good humor and backed Reagan. He offered no second guesses and no excuses.

In political stature, Connally is among the larger figures in our public life, and he would be a tremendous asset in a senior cabinet post in the Reagan administration.

Like Phil Crane, Sen. Bob Dole got nowhere in his presidential bid. Unlike Crane, however, he lacks any sort of committed national constituency, and can probably abandon any ambition he may still have to win a place on a national ticket.

Dole is intelligent, and has an extraordinary sense of humor. In reality he does not at all resemble the dour "heavy" of his 1978 televised debate with Walter Mondale. He will continue to do valuable work in the Senate, and George Bush ought to consider getting out of the race sooner rather than later. He has been able to develop few serious policy differences with Reagan.

Elsie Hitchcock, owner of Diet Center, says she knows the problems that overweight people face — it's based on a true and first-hand understanding of those problems. "I was typical of the overweight diet — lost a few pounds, gained them back, lost and gained again," she said. "I heard about Diet Center in Gainesville and decided to give it a try."

Diet Center worked for Elsie Hitchcock. In fact, she was so pleased with the success she experienced through Diet Center — not just the weight loss and maintenance, but with the change in her mental attitude about herself and toward life — that she bought the Diet Center in Ocala (which she operates). Ms. Hitchcock worked as a Fashion Coordinator and training manager for a major retailer.

Diet Centers have been operating all over the United States and Canada for over 10 years. There are 900 Centers currently open.

We are looking for the right individual to open and operate a Center in this area.

If you seek exceptional earning potential and the independence of self-employment, if you derive joy from helping others, if you are honest and ambitious, if you have overcome your own weight problem or would like to do so, you might be that person.

A background in Nursing, Counseling, Dieting or Nutrition would be helpful. A complete training program is provided. An investment is required.

If you would like to consider a career as a Diet Center Counselor, call for further information.

Police have asked all other persons who want to take credit for the attempted murder (condemned), to report to headquarters as soon as possible.

"Take a number and be patient," said a police spokesman. "It's going to be a long summer."

Lobbyists Outnumber Legislators

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — There are 200 lobbyists registered for each lawmaker in this year's session of the Legislature and past records indicate they'll spend a lot of money to influence legislation.

The total of 3,288 lobbyists registered for the 1980 session is four times the number registered 10 years ago. And their spending has increased more than seven times in that period.

In the 12 months period ending Dec. 31, lobbyists paid out a total of $420,522, not counting their salaries and expenses, in pursuit of their goals.

Most of the money goes to wine and dine legislators, either individually or in groups at large cocktail parties or dinners.

Back in 1969, the 609 registered lobbyists spent $57,683, according to the Joint Legislative Office on Lobby Registration. That was the year the Legislature switched from meeting every other year to annual sessions.

Lobbying has become a fulltime business for some Tallahassee attorneys because either the legislature or one or more of its committees is meeting almost year-round.

Lobbyists range from some minor government employees to powerful former legislators.

Among them are former House Speakers Terrell Sessums, Turner, E.C. Rowell of Wildwood and Don Tucker of Tallahassee, and former Senate Presidents John Mathews Jr., Jacksonville, Louis de la Parte, Tampa, Randolph Hodges, Cedar Key and Mallory Horne, Tallahassee, and one-time Minority Leaders Ken Plante, Orlando, and Don Reed, Boca Raton.

Horne, only member in modern times to serve as House Speaker and Senate president, lobbies for 10 interests, including a horse track, taxi service and the Seminole Indian tribe.

Of the more than 3,000 registered lobbyists, about 750 are government employees. Testifying before committees and answering questions of legislators is part of their job for which they get no extra pay.

The lobbyists represent 4,159 interests ranging alphabetically from accountants and acupuncture to yacht brokers and youth camps.

Most legislators find the information they supply indispensable.

William C. Herrick Jr., son of a former senator who himself was a respected dog track lobbyist, is probably the busiest lobbyist in town. He has 19 clients, many of them with similar interests.

"Lobbying is my business," Herrick said in a weekend interview. "It's hard work. You have to be willing to put in physical labor."

He said that during the 60-day session, his day began at 5:30 a.m. and it is not 10 o'clock.

"I'm tempted to get a pedometer to measure how many miles I walk through these (Capitol) halls," he said.

Herrick thinks the value of having a buddy relationship with a legislator is over-rated. But it is important to know the general philosophy of members, he said.

"You could waste a lot of time trying to sell a conservative issue to a member whose philosophy is way at the other of the spectrum," he said.

Former Sen. George Firestone, now secretary of state, once defended the profession including the cat-and-drink bashes which is part of the job.

"Lobbying is not a dirty word," Firestone said. "It can be the League of Women Voters holding a barbecue as well as the noble home industry throwing a steak dinner."

Scientists Find Way To Sort Out Leukemia Types

BOSTON (UPI) — A doctor at the Sidney Farber Cancer Institute says scientists have figured out a way to classify some types of childhood leukemia which would then help detect which patients are more treatable.

"We now have the ability to discriminate and categorize the children (who have leukemia) into different groups," Dr. Stuart F. Schlossman said in an interview with the Boston Globe.

"We can tell which patients respond to therapy, and we can identify those who do poorly in the past, and try different treatments," he said.

Schlossman, also a professor of medicine at Harvard Medical School, said it has been found, for example, that acute lymphoblastic leukemia occurs in children in several different forms, and some forms are more treatable than others.

"This allows us to dissect populations of cells from one another," he said. "And that is a very important concept. What looked, several years ago, to be acute leukemia in childhood is now turning out to be several different kinds of leukemia."

He said with the use of pure antibodies — substances produced by special hybrid tumor cells growing in culture — it is possible to separate leukemia into several different subsets.

Another important finding is that large amounts of pure, specific antibodies, called "mono-clonal antibodies" recognize and lock onto disease organisms, and set them up for destruction, Schlossman said.

In the new work, these special substances, the pure antibodies, are being made outside the body, in laboratory dishes, and are becoming available in large quantities for research.

"We know we can deliver the antibodies to every leukemia in the body," Schlossman said. "We don't know yet how important this is going to be."

Roaches 'Laugh' At Sprays, Traps

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI) — Cockroaches, perhaps the most persistent of all household pests, are rarely controlled by most commercial traps and sprays, a researcher says.

Furthermore, you might think a commercial spray has knocked out a colony of the ugly creatures but about 30 percent of the sprayed bugs are just a little stunned and eventually will wake up and crawl away.

University of California researcher Don Reiteron, presenting his findings at a Riverside annual department conference, said tests of chemical preparations designed to kill roaches proved consistently ineffective.

What does kill roaches, he said, was a technical grade of boric acid powder, applied fullstrength in the tight closed spaces roaches like to inhabit.

The researcher said cockroaches are a subject for concern because they are carriers of bacteria and viruses, including staphylococcus, poliovirus and hepatitis.

"People with a roach problem will try almost anything if it is packaged and marketed well," he said, "and when they see a lot of roaches in a trap, they think it's doing the job."

Reiteron said two or three roaches in a commercial trap

THE WILD, WILD EAST? In a cloud of dust, this herd of horses moves to greener pastures on a state farm in the Kazakh Soviet Socialist Republic. The horses must compete for grass with the sheep and camels that also play an important part in the region's economy.

Faberge Working On It

Breast-Cancer Detector?

NEW YORK (UPI) — Faberge, a firm famous for perfumes, says it is investing in a breast-cancer detection device that is worn inside bras and could be on the market in six months.

Faberge said the device — heat-sensitive chemicals in thin, pliable triangular wafers that tuck inside bra cups — is undergoing expanded field tests.

Dr. Harold L. Karpman, Faberge medical director, said the chemicals, which he did not name, change color when heat from the breast becomes greater than normal. Cancer tissue tends to be hotter than that of normal tissue.

Faberge said the patented device — called Breast Cancer Screening Indicator — is safe, non-toxic, non-irritating and non-carcinogenic.

Monday, Faberge announced the firm had "entered an agreement" with BCSI Laboratories Inc., a privately held New Jersey firm, "for the clinical study, development and commercial exploitation of a patented, simple, home-use device to aid in the early detection of breast cancer."

Karpman said if all goes well in the expanded clinical trials the product should be on the market in six months to a year.

The associate clinical professor of medicine at the University of California at Los Angeles Medical School is a founder and past president of the American Thermography Society — a group that has been looking for early signs of cancer by taking heat-readings of body tissue.

"The first cancer," he said, "probably is no bigger than the dot made by a penicil tip." It doubles in size about every four months. "With a heat test, the hope is that cancers just the size of the head of a pin can be spotted."

Faberge's announcement said it has acquired rights to purchase up to 80 percent of the BCSI's common stock.

Initial studies at Georgetown University School of Medicine under the direction of Dr. Betty Hamilton showed the chemical heat sensor is an effective means of recording underlying breast temperature in a reliable and reproducible manner.

In addition to that study, another involving 28 patients showed the device detected all breast abnormalities found by physical and other examinations, such as mammography.

Faberge said the sensor wafers are placed in the cups of a bra and worn for 10 to 15 minutes. The devices are then removed and read by the wearer.

DeSantis' Fearless Diamond Forecast

O.K., I've had enough. Life around the office has been unbearable with continuous taunts of, 'come on DeSantis, when ya gonna make your baseball picks?'

Guess there's no getting around it. I will warn however that come September, I refuse to be held accountable for anything I wrote the first week of April. Anybody that goes out on a limb for a 162 game season has been up to the plate one too often without his batting helmet anyhow.

Ninety-five to 97 wins looks like what will win baseball's toughest division this year. After all, the strong charging Milwaukee Brewers racked up 95 victories a year ago and wound up more than a week behind the division winning Orioles.

Still, with all the improvements and maturity of the Yankees appear to be the class of the league on sheer man for man match up, starting rotations, bullpen and depth.

Even die hard Baltimore fans have to admit that the Birds won a phenomenal amount of one-run ball games and got superb performances all season long from every warm body on the roster. A repeat is probable.

Another much improved club in the A.L. East is the Indians. Last season the lack of a strong fourth starter and a weak bullpen kept Cleveland from remaining in the thick of things during the dog days of September.

When you speak of Detroit of course all eyes are on Sparky Anderson. All eyes should be on a suspect pitching staff that will hinder any substantial progress the Tigers would like to make.

The official forecast for the American League East: New York, Milwaukee, Cleveland, Baltimore, Boston, Detroit and Toronto.

I'll go out on the limb and pick the local boys to surge to the top in the final week of the season. Yep, look for the Twins to take the West.

They aren't particularly awesome in any one category but then again they don't have any glaring weaknesses either. Steadiness from the starters and a healthy season could lift them to the top.

The Texas Rangers will be right on Minnesota's heels. The Lone Star gang looks strong all around and owns the toughest bullpen in the West. They figure to be shooting it out all the way to the final week along with Kansas City.

Another club that will have its share of pitching woes is the California Angels. With one of the best pitchers in the game (who is however looking at his lifetime win-loss record) and Frank Tomars as his best batter days, so have the Angels.

Chicago's White Sox may well have the best all-around pitching in the West. Unfortunately that's about all they have. The mound crew will have to take Chicago fans anywhere if they are to move up at all. From this corner they'll need better defense and another big bat or two to improve much.

Guess who's left. The mighty Seattle Mariners. Seattle has a penchant for losing the New York Yankees. Quite embarrassing for the plaidstripers over the past three years as a matter of fact. It Seattle could schedule 182 games against the Yankees they'd be a also-in. Against the rest of the league they remain the familiar role of Western Division cellar dwellers.

I saved Billy Martin and the Oakland A's for last, figuring Billy might have gotten himself fired before I could finish typing this column. The popper-pot and Charlie Finley should provide diamond fans with some interesting entertainment this summer. Two bad the ball club won't be as entertaining. Martin improves the A's this season and makes a serious run at second place next year.

The official forecast for the American League West: Minnesota, Texas, Kansas City, California, Chicago, Oakland and Seattle.

Just a few other tidbit prognostications. After ballooning to 28 pounds, Padre outfielder Dave Winfield gets traded to Oakland for Billy Martin and Steve McDowell's franchise to be named later. But Winfield won't be the trade, trades the Padres for Ted Turner's yacht and 10 percent of the cable television franchise from Turner.

Winfield from Billy Martin Miller for a ride on the boat, the best news, Miller is never heard of again and after being awarded on a heart line in the hot tropical mud, Winfield is expected and decide to switch careers.

He re-enters the sports world as a heavyweight boxer and signs to fight Muhammad Ali, leaving his 4,287th consecutive bid. All baseball. The national position.

Pennant Races Underway Today

By United Press International
With uncertainty over player-owner relations hanging in the air, the 1980 baseball season began today with openers in Cincinnati and Seattle.

Negotiations over a basic agreement between the major league players and owners yielded no progress in New York Tuesday.

Nine more openings are on tap Thursday, with a couple of games on Friday and a full weekend schedule sending 26 teams on their way down a path which will culminate in the World Series in late October.

In contrast to the history and tradition that surrounds this afternoon's festivities in Cincinnati, where the NL opener has been played since the 1870s, tonight's action on the West Coast features two 3-year-old expansion teams.

Some 20,000 spectators are expected to watch the Blue Jays and Mariners begin their quest for .500 seasons.

Dave Lemanczyk, who had an 8-10 record in 1979, will start on the mound for the Blue Jays while Mike Parrot, 14-12, will start for the Mariners.

Cincinnati's Tom Seaver, who had a 16-6 record in 1979, was to face Phil Niekro, 21-20, with both the Reds and Braves entering the season as question marks earlier today.

A crowd of 52,000 was expected in Cincinnati where the opening day of the baseball season is a traditionally festive occasion.

Thursday, American League games have New York (Guider 18-8) at Texas (Malack 5-4), Baltimore (Palmer 10-6) at Chicago (Kravec 15-13) or Trout (11-8); Boston (Eckersley 17-10) at Milwaukee (Slaton 15-9); Detroit (Morris 17-7) at Kansas City (Leonard 14-12) and Minnesota (Kosman 20-13) at Oakland (Langford 12-10), 10:30 p.m.

In the National League, it will be Chicago (Reuschel 12-12) at New York (Swan 14-13); Pittsburgh (Blyleven 12-6) at St. Louis (Fasch 11-11); Los Angeles (Horton 11-10) at Houston (Ryan 16-14) and San Francisco (Blue 14-14) at San Diego (Jones 11-12).

The Cleveland Indians play the California Angels and the Montreal Expos face the Philadelphia Phillies Friday in other openers.

Following Long Meeting Miller Hints Owners 'Skirting' Issues

By United Press International
MARTIN MILLER, executive director of baseball's Players Association, says team owners are trying to force a strike by "skirting" the issues and trying to force counter-proposals to union demands.

"It's been our belief since these negotiations started there is a feeling on their side to provoke a strike," Miller said Tuesday after a five-hour meeting with management.

"Back on March 18, the Players Association modified all of its proposals. I'm sorry to say they (the owners) have skirted the most important issues. They have not made any counter-proposals."

Tuesday's meeting was the first of seven that have been scheduled in order to avert a threatened strike by the players, who say they will walk if a new agreement isn't reached by May 25.

"We had about 15 or 18 proposals which we modified," said Miller. "We reduced our demands on a minimum salary requirement and we changed our proposal on when a player could declare free agency from four years to five. All they keep saying is, 'That's not good enough, can you do better?'"

The second meeting between the owners and players is scheduled for Thursday.

"The feeling was cordial," said Miller. "I would say it was constructive. I would not intend to suggest that a great amount of progress was made, however."

Federal mediator Kenneth Moffitt, who is sitting in on the meetings at the request of the owners, said the climate was healthy but confirmed Miller's statement that little overall progress was made.

"We were aware of that when we started these meetings," said Miller. "With certain people nothing can be done unless a deadline is set."

Ray Grayby, the head of the Player Relations Committee, would not speak with the press.

The slow pace, Miller said, showed a clear lack of urgency on the part of the owners to get the issues settled.

Lady Seminole's Edge Seabreezes

Dee Dee Seamed from three other starters in the overtime contest, Robin Higgins and Teresa Behrens both collected three hits in five appearances at the plate.

Behrens also included a double for one of her hits while teammate Marci Kona went 2-4 for the Seminoles.

The win improved the Tribe's season record to 8-3 overall and 5-2 in Five Star Conference play.

The Lady Seminoles got solid plate performances and Barnes. Rinkavage was nailed at the plate as he tried to score on the hit.

George's top advantage of four walks and a hit batter to score four runs in the fourth. Starting pitcher Reginald Hayes walked the first three batters he faced before being lifted.

Seminole Petroleum chipped away at the George's lead, scoring two runs in the fourth and three in the fifth.

Seminole Petroleum used three consecutive hits at the beginning to the fourth inning to score two runs. Tim McKinley opened with a double, Tom Mitchell slugged a triple and Hayes rapped a single.

Doubles by Marvin Killingsworth and Matt Hines and a triple by McKinney helped Seminole Petroleum secure its three fifth inning runs.

Carli Tipton doubled with two outs in the bottom of the sixth, but was stranded at third as Seminole Petroleum was unable to knot the score.

Rivers went the distance on the mound for George's, striking out 10. He didn't walk a batter.

Rivers also led his team in hitting with a triple and a double. Denton had a triple and a single.

Atlantic Bank piled up a 17-0 lead before Jack Prosser. The game was shortened to four innings under the 10-run lead rule.

Floyd Looks For Hot Hand At Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — Ray Floyd isn't expecting another hot hand like he had in the '76 Masters when he tied Jack Nicklaus' record, but he insists he won't be surprised if one of the other golfers do that well this week.

"If the golf course stays in the condition it is now and we have no wind," he said, "21 is in jeopardy."

That number, 17-under-par, is what Floyd shot four years ago when he won the Masters by a commanding eight strokes. It also was Nicklaus' score in 1965 when the "Golden Bear" won his second of a record five Masters titles by a nine-stroke margin over Arnold Palmer, who had won for the fourth time the year before.

Floyd did hedge a little by noting, although the greens have been slow for practice sessions, "you can figure they'll cut them as close as necessary to speed them up later this week. That's what we're all looking for."

While Floyd is not looking for another record score for himself, he claims he'll be ready to make a run at this year's Masters crown when the prestigious tournament begins its four-day run Thursday through the arduous and dogwoods that abound on the famed Augusta National.

"To be green, my game is very sharp," said the 37-year-old North Carolina native. "I'm hitting a few putts these days, so I'm confident."

Masters' favorite Tom Watson disagrees with Floyd's forecast for a possible low score. "Ray has been playing a different course than I have," said Watson. "The rain (Monday night and a heavy downpour for an hour Tuesday afternoon) has softened the greens and it's playing easier than usual. But, you've got to figure the wind is going to dry things of the next couple of days. I think a 10-under '78 would be a fair prediction."

Andy Bean, never better than a tie for 19th in his three previous Masters, said he'd look for the golfer with the hot putter to win this week.

"I don't think you've ever seen a bad putter win the Masters and I think that will be just as true this time," said Bean.

Sanford Little American League George's Survives Late Petroleum Rally 6-5

George's amassed a six-run lead Tuesday and then had to shut off a late rally by Seminole Petroleum in posting a 6-5 win in the Sanford Little American League.

In other games, Atlantic Bank blasted Jack Prosser Ford 17-3, while defending champion Flagship Bank of Seminole blanked Krayola College 10-0.

George's and Atlantic Bank, both 2-4, battle for the lead before Jack Prosser. The game was shortened to four innings under the 10-run lead rule.

CRAFTY GAGE

SCC left fielder Tony Gage rips a double in Tuesday's junior college match up between the Raiders and Valencia Community College.

Valencia did most of the hitting however, pounding out 18 hits for a 16-4 win over the 22-9 Raiders. The win lifted Valencia to 36-11.

Johnson's Bomb Sinks Milwaukee

By United Press International
It could never have happened this way last year. The Seattle SuperSonics, who streaked to the NBA championship a year ago, needed a new rule adopted by the league this season — not to mention a little luck — Tuesday night to pull out a 116-113 overtime triumph over the Milwaukee Bucks.

Dennis Johnson, MVP in the 1979 championship series, hit a 3-point field goal from 27 feet with one second left in the extra period to lift the SuperSonics to a 1-0 lead in their best-of-seven Western Conference semifinal series. The teams met again tonight in Seattle.

Both Johnson and his coach admitted it was a lucky shot. "Truthfully, when I put the ball up, I didn't think it would go in," said Johnson. "I saw it bounce off the rim and I knew it was good when it went through."

Seattle Coach Lenny Wilkens added, "We were lucky. D.J. was in his rhythm and the shot was good."

The Bucks had taken a 113-111 lead with only six seconds to play in overtime when Sidney Moncrief slapped a loose ball off Marques Johnson, who drove half the length of the court for a stiff. The Sonics, who had no time-outs left, had to go with a desperation play.

"The best thing we could do was push the ball upcourt and see what happens," said Wilkens.

The Bucks didn't like what they saw but it wasn't exactly a devastating loss for the Midwest Division champions.

The Bucks didn't like what they saw but it wasn't exactly a devastating loss for the Midwest Division champions.

"You don't get beat by a lucky shot many times," said Bucks' Coach Don Nelson, "and that was a lucky shot."

Seattle led 88-87 with 3:14 left in regulation but Dave Meyers scored eight points in the final 3:44, including a pair of foul shots with one second left, to tie it 109-109, forcing the overtime.

Gus Williams led Seattle with 30 points and Dennis Johnson added 24. Bob Lanier, who had 21 of his 27 points in the first half, scored 16 minutes, followed by Meyers with 20 and Mousouris with 18.

"It was Milwaukee," said Seattle veteran Paul Silas. "I would feel good that it took that kind of shot to beat me. We're going to have to come out tomorrow and play twice as hard."

In the other Western Conference semifinal, Los Angeles defeated Phoenix 118-110 to take a 1-0 lead in their best-of-seven series.

Karwin Abdul-Jabbar scored 30 points and Norm Nixon added 20 to lead the Lakers, who hit their first Road goal attempt in the second half to break open a close game. Nixon scored 10 and Jamaal Wilkes added 7 of his 19 in the third period when Los Angeles trailed from a 64-47 halftime lead to take an 82-80 edge with 1:30 left.

"We did pretty well to come off of a three-day road like this," said Abdul-Jabbar. "When we hit that first Road goal, we did it aggressively and made things happen. That's what we did tonight."

Denver guard Millsie Burke scored 20 points, including five 3-pointers, and Walter Davis had 20 for the Bulls, who played without Truck Boyce.

Eastern Conference semifinal action resumed today when Boston led Houston in the opener of their best-of-seven series and Atlanta visits Philadelphia in hopes of avenging that series 4-1.

The Philadelphia game will be played at 3 p.m. EST, hours of a scheduling conflict with the NHL. Flyers.

Milwaukee's President Selig Had Novel Idea For Opening Day 1st Pitch

NEW YORK (UPI)—All winter long, Bud Selig nursed this wonderful opening day idea.

Selig is the boss of the Milwaukee Brewers, their president and chief executive officer, and over a period of time it came to his attention that one of the team's most loyal and enthusiastic fans was a young man by the name of Kevin Hermering.

Hermering is from Oak Creek, Wis., not far from Milwaukee, and he loves the Brewers. Every chance he gets, he goes to see them play. That was how he spent most of his leave last year when he came back home from assignment as an attache with the U. S. Embassy in Iran.

After hearing Hermering was among those being held hostage in Iran, Bud Selig came up with his idea.

He knew the Brewers opened their season at home with the Red Sox on April 10 and who in the whole world would derive a bigger kick out of throwing out the first ball than Kevin Hermering?

So Selig got in touch with the youngster's mother and told her what he had in mind for her son. She was overjoyed. Along with that, Selig wrote a letter to Hermering in Iran telling him how much he and other members of the Brewers were looking forward to his getting out and making the ceremonial first pitch.

Unfortunately Hermering will not be able to make it for Thursday's ball game. But the Brewers say he has a standing invitation to throw out the first ball at any of their other games as he gets back home.

In Thursday's opener at Milwaukee's County Stadium, Fran Lane will stand in for Hermering. He'll throw out the first ball, and that isn't an "older" idea of Selig's.

Lane has been in baseball over 30 years and is with the Padres now. Back in 1970, one year after Selig and his group brought baseball back to Milwaukee, he was named general manager and it was his deals that laid the foundation for much of the Brewers' future success.

"In all the years I've been in baseball, this will be the first time I've ever thrown out the first ball on Opening Day," says Lane, absolutely delighted with the idea.

"To me, opening day is something like Christmas Day. As a kid in Cincinnati, I remember paying a quarter to sit in the bleachers the first day of the season. Some of the players I saw when I was only 8 or 9 years old still stick in my mind. Follows like Henne Groh, Jake Dazbert, Morrie Rath and Hughie Critz. They were all with the Reds."

Cook Of The Week

Bird-Watcher Has To Be 'In The Mood' To Cook

Laona Nelson takes a batch of Chocolate Chip Cookies from oven.

During the winter months Laona Nelson and her husband, Ingram, used to live in a mobile home in Sarasota until some friends of theirs, who had a summer home next to theirs in Wauchusa, Wis., invited them to visit their home in Winter Springs.

"The friends were looking for a larger home and the Nelsons like their old home so well, they decided to buy it themselves. They moved into their home in the Highlands last fall.

"We like to watch for birds," said Mrs. Nelson, looking through her kitchen window into the back yard. "It's a nice area for that." They have noticed several types of woodpeckers, cardinals and "some we don't know without a bird book."

"Many of the birds are the same species they see in Wisconsin and she said they plan to put out a feeder or a bird bath soon.

Mrs. Nelson said she enjoys doing needlepoint and crocheting when she's not keeping an eye on the birds. Reading and bridge are other activities she enjoys.

"Of course, I do enjoy cooking," she said, "but not all the time. I have to be in the mood." When she is in the mood she likes to cook for family and friends.

Her family includes a son and daughter in Wisconsin and two grand-children.

SALSA:
1 pkc. Cheddar cheese
1 lb. hot sausage
3 cups Bisquick
Melt cheese in double boiler, add the sausage and mix well. Pour in a large bowl and add the Bisquick, mixing well. Make into small balls (1 1/2 inch) and bake on cookie sheet in 350 degree oven for 15 minutes or until lightly browned.

They may be mixed ahead of time and frozen before baking. Freeze on cookie sheets, then pop in plastic bag and return to freezer. Thaw before baking.

MEAT-SA PIE:
1 lb. ground beef (round or chuck)
2-3rd cup fine bread crumbs
1 tsp. salt
1/2 cup small can of tomato paste
1/2 cup grated Cheddar cheese
1 can mushrooms, drained and sliced
Oregano and Parmesan cheese
Mix beef, bread crumbs and salt and spread in pie tin. Pour tomato paste over top with cheese and mushrooms. Sprinkle with oregano and Parmesan cheese. Bake for 45 minutes in 350 degree oven.

IMPERIAL CHICKEN:
2 1/2 to 3 lbs. chicken, cut up
1 cup fine bread crumbs
1/2 cup Parmesan cheese
1/4 cup chopped parsley
1 tsp. salt
Dash pepper
1/2 cup melted butter
1 clove garlic
Blend cheese, crumbs, parsley, salt and pepper. Combine melted butter and minced garlic. Dip chicken pieces in butter and garlic, then in crumb mixture. Arrange chicken in single layer in baking pan and pour on any remaining butter. Bake uncovered at 350 degree oven for one to one-and-a-half hours, or until done.

PURGOTTEN CAKE:
5 egg whites, beaten stiff
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
1 tsp. white vinegar
Add sugar slowly to beaten egg whites.

Expert Says: Let Birthday Children Help Plan Party

Birthday parties are more meaningful to a child's development if he or she is involved in planning and hosting the celebration, according to leading authorities in child psychology.

In various interviews the experts agreed that even very young children can play some role in party planning, the degree of participation depending on the child's age.

Parents should remember to involve the birthday child as much as possible in deciding on party themes, decorations, invitations, and refreshments.

A birthday party is an opportunity for children to learn how to socialize with others. They can practice their developing skills by writing invitations and helping to organize activities, crafts and decorations.

Many children enjoy helping an adult bake and decorate a cake or cookies. The end product is something which can not only be enjoyed for its good taste, but may be admired as an artistic creation.

When the candles on the cake are lit, it is the most exciting part of the party for many children. Before blowing out the candles, the birthday child is told to close his eyes and make a good wish.

This appeals to a child's way of looking at the world as a place where things happen if only you wish strongly enough—a form of magical thinking, which we never completely outgrow, the experts pointed out.

Pre-party preparations are fun for children when they play a part. The birthday girl feels important on her special day by helping Mom decorate the cake.

Long celebrations should be avoided because of the child's short attention span, and a time limit of one-and-a-half to two hours should set on the festivities.

Listening to records and playing with toys are the best activities and an adult should be there to encourage the children to share when cries of "Mine! Mine!" arise. Two-year-olds tend to play separately, unlike older children who enjoy playing with friends.

Three-year-olds are ready to be consulted about birthday guests, decorations, games, prizes and food, although adults need to assume the major responsibility.

Three-year-olds enjoy listening to stories, drawing, playing with clay, blocks, watching short movies and cartoons. Their interest in colors, shapes and letters may be utilized in paper and craft projects, even in helping to decorate party refreshments. One idea is to spread on the table some decorating squeeze tubes which come in a variety of colors.

The children may then use their own creativity to decorate individual cupcakes.

Do not expect young children to consume much in the way of food or sweets; many will eat only small servings of cookies, cake or ice cream.

Four- and five-year-olds like to choose their own birthday themes such as "Snoopy," "Star Trek," or other current cartoon or movie characters. Supervised parties are the order of the day and, weather permitting,

Parties for 8- to 11-year-olds tend to be either all boys or girls, in keeping with the child's sex. This inclination allows children to group together and identify with those of the same sex, before reaching adolescence when interest in the opposite sex reappears. Adults should respect this need by avoiding emphasis on mixed social activities.

Search On For Outstanding Secretary

National Secretaries Week will be observed April 21-26.

The Herald is embarking on a search for an outstanding area secretary.

So, we are turning to our readers for help. Now, employers will have the opportunity to write a letter about their secretaries. Or, for that matter, if anyone knows of a secretary deserving of recognition, let us know.

We'll accept until April 11 letters submitted by readers about one to one-and-a-half pages of standard size sheets, telling briefly why a particular person is deserving of such recognition. We'll take it from there.

Mail letters to OURSELVES Editor, The Evening Herald, 300 North French Ave., Sanford, Fla. 32771.

Fresh Baked Bread Can Be Served Daily

There's no getting around the fact that today's lifestyle requires skill in time management. Pre-scheduling is needed for work as well as leisure activities.

This time-juggling act happens on a daily basis in the kitchen. The efficient preparation of a nutritious good-tasting meal is a challenge, especially when family members are continuously en route from one event to the next.

Though convenience foods are ideal helpmates, many people still take great pleasure in "from scratch" cooking—even if it happens only on special occasions.

Convenience foods can lead to "from scratch" results with recipes like Quick Bran Breads Mix. Now, every day, freshly baked bread can be on the table in the form of muffins, pancakes, loaf bread and coffee cake. The key ingredient for these breads is a "mix" — a mix you make, store and use when needed.

The package of All-Bran cereal used in the mix gives each recipe an added source of vitamins, minerals and dietary fiber. Now you can have homemade pancakes, apple bran muffins, banana raisin bread and coffee cake — anytime you choose.

Tuna Pot-Luck Casserole is another time-saving recipe designed with the busy family in mind.

QUICK BRAN BREADS MIX

5 cups all-purpose flour
1/2 cup baking powder
1 tablespoon salt
2 cups sugar
1 and one-third cups shortening
1 package (16 oz.) All-Bran cereal

In large mixing bowl, stir together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in All-Bran cereal. Use as needed for following quick bread recipes. Can be stored in tightly covered container at room temperature up to 6 weeks. Yield: about 15 cups Mix

QUICK BRAN MUFFINS

1 egg
3/4 cup milk
3 cups Quick Bran Breads Mix

In medium-size mixing bowl, beat egg slightly. Stir in milk. Add Breads Mix, stirring just until moistened. Let stand 2 minutes. Stir again. Portion batter evenly into 12 greased 2 1/2-inch muffin-pan cups. Bake in oven at 400 degrees F. about 20 minutes or until browned. Yield: 12 muffins

VARIATIONS:

Add 1/2 cup seedless raisins, chopped nuts or finely chopped pared apple with Breads Mix. Sprinkle muffins with mixture of sugar and cinnamon before baking, if desired.

To make 8 Muffins: Follow directions for Quick Bran Muffins except use 2 cups Breads Mix, 1 egg and two-thirds cup milk.

To make 4 Muffins: Follow directions for Quick Bran Muffins except omit egg and use 1 cup Breads Mix and 1/2 cup milk.

QUICK BRAN PANCAKES

1 egg
1 1/2 cups milk
2 cups Quick Bran Breads Mix

In small mixing bowl, beat egg slightly. Stir in milk. Add Breads Mix, stirring just until moistened. Let stand 10 minutes. Stir again. Dip up batter, using slightly less than 1/4 cup for each pancake. Pour onto preheated, greased griddle, spreading batter slightly. Cook until done, turning once. Yield: 10 to 12 pancakes, 4 inches in diameter

BANANA RAISIN LOAF

1 egg
1 1/2 cups mashed, fully ripe bananas (about 4 medium)
1/2 cup seedless raisins
4 cups Quick Bran Breads Mix

In medium-size mixing bowl, beat egg with mashed bananas. Stir in milk and raisins. Add Breads Mix, stirring just until moistened. Let stand 2 minutes. Stir again. Spread in greased 8 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan. Bake in oven at 350 degrees F. about 50 minutes or until tests done. Yield: 1 loaf

STREUBEL-TOPPED COFFEECAKE

1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/4 cup chopped nuts
1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon margarine or butter, softened
1 egg
1 cup milk
4 cups Quick Bran Breads Mix

Combine brown sugar, nuts, cinnamon and margarine until crumbly. Set aside. In medium-size mixing bowl, beat egg slightly. Stir in milk. Add Breads Mix, stirring just until moistened. Let stand 2 minutes. Stir again. Spread evenly in greased 8 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan. Sprinkle with nut topping. Bake in oven at 350 degrees F. about 40 minutes or until tests done. Serve warm. Yield: 8 servings

TUNA POT-LUCK CASSEEROLE

1 cup bran flakes cereal
1 tablespoon margarine or butter, melted
1 cup shredded American cheese
1 can (7 oz.) chunk light tuna, well-drained and flaked
2 cups egg noodles, cooked and drained
1 can (10 1/2 oz.) condensed cream of mushroom soup
1/2 cup mayonnaise

OPTIONAL INGREDIENTS:

Choose your favorite ingredient from one or more of the following groups:

- 1/4 cup cooked peas
- 1/4 cup cooked, sliced carrots
- 1/4 cup cooked, French-style green beans
- 1/4 cup thinly sliced celery
- 1/4 cup sliced water chestnuts
- 1/4 cup toasted, sliced almonds

1 can (3 oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained
1/4 cup finely chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento

1. Toss 1/2 cup of the 40 percent Bran Flakes cereal with the melted margarine. Set aside 1/4 cup of the cereal, stirring until well combined. Microwave on full power 2 to 3 minutes or until cereal is crisp. Set aside.

2. Stir together all remaining ingredients except 1/4 cup of the cereal. Stir in any optional ingredients as desired. Spoon into 1 1/2-quart glass casserole.

3. Bake in oven at 350 degrees F. about 25 minutes or until thoroughly heated. Yield: 6 servings

Microwave Directions:

1. Decrease margarine to 2 tablespoons. Microwave margarine in glass pie plate until melted. Add 1/4 cup of the cereal, stirring until well combined. Microwave on full power 2 to 3 minutes or until cereal is crisp. Set aside.

2. Stir together all remaining ingredients except 1/4 cup of the cereal. Stir in any optional ingredients as desired. Spoon into 1 1/2-quart glass casserole.

3. Microwave on full power about 6 minutes or until thoroughly heated, rotating casserole once. Sprinkle with reserved cereal. Microwave on full power about 3 minutes longer or until cheese is melted. Top with crisp cereal. Serve immediately.

Sherry Gives Exotic Touch To An Old Favorite--Hash

Hash comes from the French "hachis," meaning "to chop up." And that's pretty much just what hash is — a mixture of various chopped, cooked foods, commonly including meat or poultry, potatoes, and seasonings.

A tasty hash can stimulate your appreciation of the marvelous flavor changes that occur when a variety of foods are cooked together. Just as a flavorful stew is far more than the sum total of its ingredients, so, too, does a hearty hash gain an incomparable elan from its brief cooking in the skillet.

Salmon Hash is ideal for any informal occasion, be it lunch, supper or brunch. On a relaxed weekend, it takes but a few minutes to prepare and calls for ingredients you're likely to have on hand. Aromatic vegetables and herbs add spice to the hash, while potatoes lend body and substance. Rich sour cream envelopes the mixture, making the dish most inviting indeed.

Turkey Hash makes excellent use of extra meat from Sunday's roast turkey. The addition of yams, green pepper pieces, and fragrant dry sherry turns the dish into an exotic version of a beloved favorite.

When you're next looking for a comfortable family meal remember delicious, dependable hash. It's a sure winner.

SALMON HASH

2 cups (1 1/2 ounces each) salmon, drained
2 cups cooked, cubed potatoes
1/2 cup chopped celery
One-third cup chopped onion
1 clove garlic, crushed
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon flavor enhancer
1 cup sour cream
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon dried ill
1/4 teaspoon salt
One-eighth teaspoon pepper

In a large skillet, melt butter. Add salmon, potatoes, celery, onion, garlic, lemon juice and flavor enhancer. Cook over moderate heat, stirring occasionally, until mixture begins to brown and vegetables are tender. In small bowl, combine sour cream, milk, salt and pepper; pour over hash, mix well. Cook until heated through. Yield: 4 servings.

TURKEY HASH

1 pound cooked turkey, shredded
2 medium yams, cooked and cubed or 1 can (16 ounces) yams, drained and cubed
1 medium onion, chopped
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 cup flour enhancer
1/4 teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons butter or margarine, divided
1 tablespoon flour
1/2 cup chicken broth
1/2 cup milk
1 tablespoon dry sherry
1/4 teaspoon salt

In a medium bowl, combine turkey, yams, onion, green pepper, flour enhancer and pepper. In a large skillet melt 2 tablespoons butter. Add hash mixture and cook over medium heat until browned on bottom. Turn mixture over to brown top. Remove hash from skillet, set aside. Melt remaining 1 tablespoon butter; stir in flour, cook 1 minute. Slowly stir in chicken broth, milk, sherry and salt. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture boils and thickens. Return hash to skillet, heat and mix well. Yield: 4 servings.

Potpourri

PORK STEAK ITALIANO

4 pork blade steaks, cut 3/4 inch thick
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon Italian seasoning
1/4 teaspoon basil
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
1/4 cup water
1 slice mozzarella cheese

Brown steaks in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Sprinkle salt, pepper, Italian seasoning and basil over steaks. Combine and add to tomato sauce and water. Cover tightly and cook slowly 30 minutes. Place a slice of mozzarella cheese and a green pepper ring on each steak. Cover tightly and continue cooking slowly 30 minutes or until done. 4 to 6 servings.

SAUSAGE-IN-A-BLANKET

1 cup butterflied pancake and waffle mix
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon liquid shortening
1 cup raisin bran, crushed
12 cooked sausage links
Cranberry-Pineapple Syrup

Prepare pancake mix with egg, milk and shortening as directed on package, adding cereal to batter after beating. Bake as directed. Roll warm pancakes around sausages and serve at once or keep warm. Serve with Cranberry-Pineapple Syrup. Makes 12 pancakes or 6 servings.

Cranberry-Pineapple Syrup Combine 1 cup Log Cabin syrup and 1/4 cup ground cranberries in a saucepan. Bring to a boil and simmer 2 minutes. Add one 8-oz. can crushed pineapple and a dash of salt. Serve warm.

RIB EYE ROAST

Place a 4 to 6-pound beef rib eye (Delmonico) roast, fat side up, on rack in open roasting pan. Insert roast meat thermometer so the bulb is centered in the thickest part, being sure it does not rest in fat. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) to the desired degree of doneness. Allow 18 to 20 minutes per pound for rare, 20 to 22 for medium and 22 to 24 for well done. When thermometer registers about 5 degrees F. below desired degree of doneness, remove roast from oven and allow to "rest" 15 minutes before carving. The meat thermometer will register 140 degrees F. for rare; 160 degrees F. for medium; 170 degrees F. for well done.

LIVER AND MUSHROOMS

1 pound liver, sliced 1/2 inch thick
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 can (4 ounces) mushroom stems and pieces
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1/4 teaspoon ground coriander
1/4 teaspoon parsley flakes
1/2 cup water

Combine flour, salt and pepper dredge liver and brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add mushrooms (including liquid), soy sauce, coriander, parsley flakes and water. Cover tightly and cook slowly 20 minutes. 4 servings.

Savory Stuffed Peppers

1 1/2 pounds ground pork
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 can (10 1/2 oz.) cream of celery soup
1 can (7 ounces) whole kernel corn, drained
1 medium onion, finely chopped
3 large green peppers
6 tomato slices
Salt
Parmesan cheese

Lightly brown ground pork in large frying-pan; pour off drippings. Sprinkle salt and pepper over meat. Add celery soup, corn and onion and cook slowly 10 to 12 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cut green peppers in half lengthwise and remove membrane and seeds; cook in boiling salted water for 2 minutes; invert and drain thoroughly. Fill pepper halves with meat mixture and place on rack in roasting pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 15 minutes. Sprinkle salt on both sides of tomato slices and place on top of stuffed peppers. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese and bake 15 minutes longer. 6 servings.

Low Blood Sugar Diets Can Vary

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am a hypoglycemic person and my doctor tells me to eat more sugar and more carbohydrates. I'm now 215 pounds and getting bigger by the day. I'd like your diet on this.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I'd like some information on not being able to perspire. I'm 23 and have had this problem since puberty. It affects my arms, hands, knees and feet. I cannot go out into the sun or humidity for any length of time. I saw a doctor and he told me to stay away from salt and to use strong sun screens and to take pills to open my pores. What, if anything, is this doing to my system? Is this a rare problem and can I ever get completely cured? Will I ever be able to spend the day at the beach?

DEAR DR. LAMB - Absence of perspiration is a rare condition. Sometimes it can affect the whole body or it can affect localized regions. Perspiration is an important mechanism of cooling the body. In fact, at the onset of a heat stroke a person may stop sweating, which is a signal that he's not eliminating body heat.

You should see a neurologist. Sweating does depend on the presence of functional sweat glands in the skin. It also depends on nerve stimulation of these glands to secrete sweat. Various defects in nerve fibers and nerve systems can cause an absence of perspiration. There are also some skin diseases which can cause it.

Delicious Little Tea Sandwiches Easy On Budget

Entertain the bride-to-be with a tea and some delicious, little sandwiches made with Florida cucumbers. Grown in Florida eight months of the year, the home economists at the Florida Department of Agriculture says firm-fleshed, dark green cucumbers add crisp distinction to tiny tea sandwiches. And, they are so inexpensive that the tea will leave hardly a dent in one's budget.

Rich Mousse Perfect End To A Meal

Chocolate mousse, the American favorite with a French accent, is synonymous with elegance. Luxuriously rich yet delicate and refreshing, it's the perfect ending to a party meal.

Whether you prefer the classic, an almost sinfully sumptuous mousse pie or family-style pudding with mini-marshmallows - kids should go for that - each of these pies requires minimum kitchen duty. Because cocoa blends in readily, directly from the can, there's no baking, chocolate is smooth, no pans to scorch - or scour. Texture should be creamy. And since cocoa is chocolate in highly concentrated form, flavor will be "deed chocolate."

ELEGANT MOUSSE (Makes about 8 servings) one-third cup butter or margarine 5 egg yolks 2 tablespoons rum (optional) 4 egg whites 1 1/2 cups heavy cream 1/2 cup cocoa 1/2 cup sugar 1 teaspoon vanilla 1/4 cup sugar Chocolate curls

PARTY-PERFECT CHOCOLATE MOUSSE PIE (recipe below) 1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, softened 1/2 cup cocoa 1 cup confectioners' sugar 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla 2 cups heavy cream

CUCCUMBER TEA SANDWICHES 1 loaf white bread 1 loaf whole wheat bread 2 medium cucumbers 1 small onion 3 tablespoons mayonnaise, approximately 2 1/2 oz. packages cream cheese, room temperature Salt Pepper Wash cucumbers and grind in food processor or with food grinder. Grind onion, then mix with cucumbers. Mash cream cheese, blend in cucumber onion mixture and thin with mayonnaise until good spreading consistency. Add salt and pepper to taste. Cut out bread, spread with cucumber-cheese mixture. Place on a plate, cover with damp tea towel and refrigerate until serving time. Makes 20 or more tea sandwiches, according to size.

50 YEARS OF SHOPPING PLEASURE. where shopping is a pleasure. Publix

Sherried pound cake, left, topped with strawberries, is a delightful treat any season. Peaches and cream show up in dessert, at right, which is delectable as well as economical.

Pudding Cake needs no icing.

Tempting Fruits In Limelight This Spring

A recent mini-survey reveals that fresh ripe strawberries bring out a stubborn and nostalgic streak among most who enjoy the berries on some kind of cake. There are those who swear by biscuits. Others prefer sponge cake. And still others enjoy their favorite dessert served with pie crust wedges. But whatever their preference, they are unlikely to turn down a big dish of berries and cake. Capable of turning the head of even the most adamant shortcake devotee, this pound cake laced with sherry, butter, brown sugar and eggs and topped with whipped cream.

Take shelf-and refrigerator-friendly ingredients and you've got the makings for a delicious dessert that will please your family and your budget. Peaches and Cream Pudding — make with quick-cooking tapioca — is the key. Simply add thawed frozen whipped topping and top with drained canned peaches, and it's ready. PEACHES AND CREAM PUDDING 3 tablespoons quick cooking tapioca 1/4 teaspoon salt 3 tablespoons sugar 2 cups milk 1 egg yolk 2 tablespoons sugar 1/2 teaspoon vanilla 1 cup thawed non-dairy whipped topping 1 1/2 cups drained canned sliced peaches Mix tapioca, salt, 3 tablespoons sugar, the milk and egg yolk in saucepan. Let stand 5 minutes. Meanwhile, beat egg white until foamy; gradually beat in 2 tablespoons sugar, and continue beating until mixture will form soft rounded peaks. Set aside. Cook tapioca mixture over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture comes to a full boil, 6 to 8 minutes. (Pudding thickens more as it cools.) Gradually add to the egg white mixture, stirring quickly just until blended. Stir in vanilla. Cool 20 minutes; stir. Chill about 1 hour; fold in whipped topping. Top with peaches. Garnish with additional whipped topping, if desired. Makes about 3 1/2 cups plus fruit or 6 to 8 servings.

Put in the cake mix - whether you add a packaged pudding mix or buy a mix with pudding it - is not the same as really adding pudding to cake. In fact, the differences in formulation of cake mixes with or without pudding are very slight. Mixes with pudding added contain a little more starch and two emulsifiers: tetrasodium pyrophosphate and disodium phosphate. In this recipe for Banana Pudding Cake you add real pudding not just powder - to create a special dessert with excellent moistness and "keeping powder" (preventing it from becoming long) Canned pudding is spread over the top of the batter before the cake is baked. While the cake bakes, the pudding seeps toward the bottom, spreading its saucy goodness through the cake.

BANANA PUDDING CAKE 1 double layer size banana cake mix 1 can (17.5 oz) banana pudding 1/2 cup milk Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. (325 degrees F. for glass pan). Prepare cake mix according to package directions. Spread batter into well-oiled 9x13-inch cake pan. Combine pudding and milk. Carefully pour pudding on top of batter. Do not mix pudding and batter! Bake for 45-60 minutes or until cake tests done. Serve warm from the oven. Or refrigerate and serve chilled cake with whipped topping and garnish with banana slices. Other flavors of cake mix and pudding can be substituted.

QUICKEST RAISIN LOAF 1 loaf raisin bread, sliced 1/2 cup soft butter Toppings 1/4 cup honey 1 tablespoon grated orange peel 1 1/2 tablespoons sugar 1 1/2 tablespoons ground cinnamon 1 1/2 tablespoons sugar 1 1/2 tablespoons instant powdered coffee 1 cup powdered sugar 2 tablespoons milk 1 1/2 teaspoon single flavoring Spread bread slices with soft butter. Mix honey with orange peel. Spread on one-third of slices. Mix 1 1/2 tablespoons sugar with cinnamon. Spread on next one-third of slices. Mix 1 1/2 tablespoons sugar with coffee. Spread on last one third. Place in loaf pan. Cover with aluminum foil. Bake at 425 degrees for 10 minutes. Remove foil. Toast for 10 more minutes.

Meanwhile, prepare maple icing by beating powdered sugar, milk and maple flavoring until smooth. While loaf is still warm, drizzle icing over top. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 1 loaf.

CELEBRATING THE FABULOUS FORTIES When you're shopping for value the name to look for is Publix. What's in a name? Publix officially got its name in 1930. George Jenkins liked the sound of "Publix" and chose it for his supermarkets. ## Yummy Treat Comes Straight From Cupboard

The fresh fruit season and the promise of spring are reasons enough to prepare this luscious dessert. Strawberry Chantilly Tart is all the convenience of preparation that you'll need - vanilla flavor pudding and pie filling and strawberry flavor gelatin - right from the cupboard. Top with a dollop of whipped topping and a slice of strawberry before serving. STRAWBERRY CHANTILLY TARTS 1 package (4-serving size) vanilla flavor pudding and pie filling 1 package (3 oz.) strawberry flavor gelatin 2 1/2 cups water 1 container (4 oz.) non-dairy whipped topping, thawed 12 commercial pastry shells in aluminum foil cups Combine pudding mix, gelatin and water in saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil and is thickened and clear. Remove from heat and chill until slightly thickened. Fold in whipped topping, blending well. Chill. Spoon into tart shells. Garnish with additional whipped topping and halved strawberries, if desired. makes 12 tarts.

ENTERTAINING IDEAS

There's no need for a fancy mold - a baking pan will do - to make this tempting salad. Cherry tomatoes and asparagus garnish the simple salad.

Colorful Salad Is As Welcome As Springtime

"Fresh As Spring Salad" is a delicious way to welcome spring and enjoy the arrival of fresh asparagus to the marketplace. This colorful salad is so easy to make: unflavored gelatin is simply dissolved in a bowl, then mayonnaise, bottled Italian dressing and fresh vegetables are blended in. And there's no need for fancy molds... all you need is a simple 9-inch baking pan. Served as either a delightful appetizer or side dish, it's sure to become an annual springtime treat! FRESH AS SPRING SALAD 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin 2 tablespoons sugar 1 1/2 cups boiling water 1 cup mayonnaise 1/4 cup bottled Italian dressing 3 tablespoons lemon juice 2 cups chopped cooked asparagus (about 1 1/2 lbs.) 1/2 cup chopped tomato 1 1/2 tablespoons finely chopped onion In medium bowl, mix unflavored gelatin with sugar; add boiling water and stir until gelatin is completely dissolved. With wire whip or rotary beater, blend in mayonnaise, Italian dressing and lemon juice. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture is consistency of unbeat egg whites. Fold in remaining ingredients. Turn into 9-inch round baking dish and chill until firm. Garnish, if desired, with asparagus spears and cherry tomatoes. Makes about 6 servings.

ITALIAN BEEF SANDWICHES 1 pound thinly sliced cooked roast beef 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) beef consommé 1/2 cup catsup 1/2 cup water 1 medium onion, cut crosswise in slices 1 small green pepper, cut in strips 1 clove garlic, minced 1 teaspoon leaf oregano 6 large rolls, halved Combine consommé, catsup, water, onion, green pepper, garlic and leaf oregano in large saucepan or frying-pan and heat to boiling. Add beef, cover tightly and cook slowly 25 to 30 minutes. Drain off and reserve cooking liquid and dip cut surfaces of bottom halves of rolls in it. Place hot beef and vegetables on bottom halves. Dip cut surfaces of tops of rolls in reserved liquid and place on top of sandwiches. Serve hot. 6 sandwiches.

FIESTA CREPES EN CASSEOLE 2 pounds ground beef chuck 1/2 cup finely chopped onion 1/2 cup finely chopped celery 1 can (17 ounces) cream-style corn 2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce 1 envelope (1 1/2 ounces) taco seasoning mix Cornmeal Crepes 4 ounces Cheddar Cheese, shredded 1/3rd cup sliced ripe olives Brown beef, onion and celery in large frying-pan. Pour off drippings. Stir in corn, combine tomato sauce and taco seasoning. Spoon remaining meat mixture in 13 x 9-inch baking dish. Place crepes, seam side down, on top of meat. Spoon remaining tomato sauce over crepes. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for 20 minutes. Sprinkle with cheese and top with olives. 10 servings.

CHESTLESS MUSHROOM QUICHE 3 cups milk, scalded 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, divided 2 slices stale bread, cubed 8 ounces fresh mushrooms 1 cup chopped onion 2 eggs, beaten 1/2 teaspoon salt 1 1/2 teaspoons ground black pepper Preheat oven to 325 degrees F. In a medium bowl combine milk, 1 tablespoon of the butter and mushrooms; set aside for 10 minutes. Rinse, pat dry and slice mushrooms (makes about 3 cups). In a large skillet melt remaining 2 tablespoons butter. Add onion; saute until tender, about 3 minutes. Add mushrooms; continue to saute for 5 minutes; let cool. Add eggs, salt and black pepper to cooled mushroom and onion mixture; mix well. Pour into a greased 1-quart baking pan or quiche pan. Set pan in a larger pan containing hot water. Bake, uncovered, until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean, about 45 minutes. Serve for brunch with bacon and broiled tomatoes, if desired. Yield: 4 to 6 portions.
