her of almost every care, falls into dangerous company in her efforts to occupy her mind. Mackley Stuart, an idler, who is head of the Invictus Club, fills her head with the propaganda of the organization, one of whose tenets is a sort of free love belief. Before long she begins to think of her husband as a prosaic person with a shrunken soul. In comparison with this conception is her view of the Invictus leader.

On the fourth anniversary of their marriage Winthrop comes home with a jeweled pendant, his symbol of permanent affection and finds his wife in the arms of Stuart. She calmly announces that she regards him as her "elective" mate and declares that she is going away with him. Unable to make her see her folly, Winthrop determines that his wife shall not be lured away and then deserted. To accomplish this he gives the story to the newspapers. He is relinquishing his wife to Stuart at their request. With the publicity that follows Stuart is compelled to marry the former Mrs. Winthrop.

Some time later Winthrop is in Europe. In his travels he meets Mr. and Mrs. Stuart, greets them as friends and presently is dining into Amy's ears all the twaddle that had enabled Stuart to take her from him. The result is startling as well as interesting.

"The Spell of the Yukon"
At the Star Theatre Tuesday, July 11th

Edmund Breese, recognized as one of America's foremost dramatic actors, arranges to find time away from the speaking stage long enough to make a Metro wonderplay occasionally, and his next offering will be "The Spell of the Yukon." Mr. Breese is probably best known to theatre goers for his remarkable performance in "The Lion and the Mouse," the sensational play in which he played the leading part for three years in this country and in England. It was in that play that Robert W. Service, the author of life, and often called "The King of the North" saw Mr. Breese for the first time. They met and a strict friendship resulted. When he came to motion pictures, Mr. Breese suggested that the Service poems offered unbounded opportunities for stories of action and color in the Alaskan country, which had never before been used in the silent drama. As a result Metro made "The Shooting of Dan McGrew," "The Song of the Wage Slave," and "The Lure of Heart's Desire," which were wonderful popularizations of the poems of the same name by Mr. Service.

as a baby, he was left on the doorstep of the Earl of Wesemere by the abused Earl's wife. Huntley, the butler, had picked the infant up and brought him to his master. A note disclosed the identity of the child to the butler, and Huntley had been ordered to give the baby to some woman. The old lady confesses she is Huntley's mother and that her son has the proofs of Bryan's birth.

Huntley lives in San Francisco with his wife, who loathes him for his drunken temper and cruel treatment. She finds the Earl's marriage certificate among her husband's papers, but it is snatched from her before she can grasp its meaning. Myra, Huntley's wife is tired of his brutality and asks her former employer and proprietor of the Montano Cafe for her old position as dancer and singer. Meantime her husband goes to the home of Ames Rutten, a successful gambler and a creditor of his, and endeavors to settle a portion of his debt with the valuable papers proving Bryan's right to the Earldom. Rutten accepts these on the condition that Huntley leaves his wife. With Mrs. Frederick's exceptional acting the story is brought to its wonderful close.

Hickman Don't Tell of His Broken Finger
Villain of "The Moral Fabric" Kept Avident Secret Till the Picture was Completed. At the Lyric Friday.

It was with some unwillingness that Howard Hickman undertook the part of the villain in the Triangle Kay Bee release "The Moral Fabric" for in common with all other players he did not like to appear in a role so unsympathetic. And, soon after he began, an episode in which he fights with Frank Mills for possession of a revolver threw him in a strained position and his finger was broken.

The cause of the accident was a slip on the stairs. Hickman had turned to the right to get a book from a shelf and had stepped on the edge of the book. He was so anxious to get back to his work that he did not stop to think of the danger.

Hickman's recovery is reported to be rapid. He is expected to be back to work in a few days. The injury was not serious and he is expected to be back to work in a few days. The injury was not serious and he is expected to be back to work in a few days.

Have you ever heard of the state of Senawha? No, it is not an Indian principality but the name applied in the original ordinance of separation, to what is now West Virginia, the latter name having been decided on finally by the convention which framed the constitution.

SANFORD WINS TWO GAMES

New Team Gets Away From Post In Great Style

The Sanford base ball club celebrated the glorious Fourth by defeating the fast Orlando team on their grounds by a score of 7 to 5. "Pop" Wallace who was on the mound for the locals knew of no better way of celebrating this said day than by going in the box himself. As it is a fact already known that Wallace has not lost a game this season to the Orlando club.

Orlando started off rather fine, securing two runs in the first inning but from then on they were as helpless as babes. In the seventh inning with the rain fast falling Wallace presented the Orlando club with three more runs. The way the official scorer saw the game it was one earned run made by the Orlando club and four made by the Sanford boys.

Manager Bennett, sent in Davis to work for his club and he more than worked, his curves did out-amounts were sent high and far to all corners of the lot. The heavy hitting of the Sanford club in the pinches was the main cause of the defeat. Orlando's right fielder was run so much during the game that he was forced to be taken out. Chico who was sent in his place was also made to run considerable. Bill Palmer led the hitters with a triple and one single. Sensational catches by Erickson and Burdick were the fielding features of the game. This boy Burdick is proving to be one sweet player. Farina's deadly arm was again working; only one player made an attempt to steal and the star second sacker for the locals made one more stop in the sixth inning. Going on to the seventh inning he had a wild pitch and a double play.

Wallace was very much in the game. He was hit by a ball and he showed something that he had in him.

including the well known home plate, while Leon and Erickson had no respect for the Orlando clubs catcher. Erickson again proved to be a high-way robber pulling down catches that would have made Tris Speaker sit up and take notice. There's no getting around it, you have to knock a ball sixteen miles to get a home-run over his head. Biddy Burdick, the old reliable was also in there. He secured two hits and made a sensational catch in the outfield. His work in the past has been exceedingly great and the local management has about the fastest left fielder in this part of the country. A great crowd was out and everybody seemed to be well satisfied. Despite the rain all through the game both teams played a tight ball. Umatilla plays here today, while Orlando will bring Ruckley back next Tuesday to turn the tables on the local club. Thursday the Sanford club will play at Orlando. A double header will be staged and single price will be charged.

BIG LOSS BY STORM AT MOBILE

PROPERTY LOSS SAID TO REACH THE MILLION MARK

Atlanta, Ga., July 10. Reports reaching here tonight from what were believed to be authentic sources at Mobile, made the loss from destruction of property, including the loss of life, estimated to be greater than that of any previous storm in the Gulf of Mexico.

Damage from falling water, wind, and other causes, estimates were made that damage to property in the city of Mobile, Ala., was in excess of $1,000,000.

Reports from other sources indicate that damage to property in the surrounding country was also very heavy.

It is believed that the total loss to property in the Gulf of Mexico region was in excess of $1,000,000.

Much of the merchandise was involved before the water reached it, volunteer rescue parties being formed. It also was said that city authorities did not count on the possibility of the storm.

Service was resumed today on four trolley lines and electric lights were turned on last night in the business district. It was said few lights were available in the residential sections tonight.

Macon, Ga., July 10. Another serious flood situation has developed at Columbus tonight, where the Chattahoochee river is not only threatening two big dams, but is threatening to flood the city of Columbus. Streets of Girard, Ala., are already under water, according to a direct report to this city.

A rise of two feet in the Chattahoochee river will put the Columbus gas plant out of commission. A five-foot rise will put the Chattahoochee river into the streets of Columbus and there is no forecast tonight but the water may not go to that point.

Reports from West Point at 5 o'clock indicate that a big swell is due to pass Columbus by 6 o'clock Monday morning.

At one point at Columbus the Chattahoochee river is half a mile wide and has overflowed through a creek valley into Girard, Ala., and that town is divided by a rushing torrent of water.

More than a score of negro cabins in Girard are already half submerged. The people are now moving out. In Columbus the basement of the Muscogee Manufacturing Company and the Phoenix Mills are flooded and these plants will not be able to operate tomorrow. Columbus has thirty-six hours' supply of gas stored.

MADE UNDER-SEA TRIP TO AMERICA SAFE

UNDERSEA BOAT FROM GERMANY LOADED WITH GOODS

Baltimore, Md., July 10.—The world's first submarine merchantman, the German underwater liner Deutschland, anchored below Baltimore tonight after coming safely across the Atlantic, passing the allied blockading squadrons and eluding enemy cruisers watching for her off the American coast. She carries mail and a cargo of 750 tons of costly chemicals and dye stuffs and is to carry back home a similar amount of nickel and crude rubber sorely needed by the German army.

Sixteen days out from Bremerhaven to Baltimore, the submarine reached the Virginia capes at 1:45 o'clock this morning, passing in the surface, covered by darkness which settled over the entrance of the bay with the setting of the moon. Once inside the visitor threw caution aside and began shrieking his siren, signalling a pilot and the same time attracting the attention of the United States Fishery patrol.

Three hours later the big submarine was seen by the United States Fishery patrol.

Reporting his vessel as a merchantman, the seapper, whose name is said to be Captain Kurze, was allowed to pass.

Normal Hamilton, proprietor of Norfolk Newport News, heard the news, and started on his trail aboard the coast guard cutter Omondaga. At last tonight tonight the cutter had tracked the submarine and it was reported that she had been sighted at 10 o'clock tonight.

Little was known here tonight about what happened during the epoch-making cruise, which in a small measure at least, breaks the blockade on German trade with the rest of the world. None of the submarine's crew had landed and the agents of her owners had received only meager reports. Such information as was available came indirectly from the pilot and from Captain Hans H. Hunsch, of the North German Lloyd liner Neckar, laid up here since the beginning of the war.

According to the accounts reaching here, the underwater liner's superstructure was standing fifteen feet above the water when she came in. Until daylight she showed no flag, but the German merchant ensign was raised at sun up. Stories were circulated that British or French cruisers chased her at sea Thursday, but could not be confirmed.

The boat is consigned to A. Schumacher & Company, local agents of the North German Lloyd Line, and her cargo to the Eastern Forwarding Company, said to have been organized within the past few weeks especially to handle the boats of underwater liners.

Miss Virginia Brady has arrived home after a pleasant visit to friends at Orlando. She also spent a week with a house party at Wekiwa Springs. Oliver Murrell of this city was also a member of the party and arrived home last week.

BOARD TRADE ORGANIZED LAST FRIDAY

CONSTITUTION ADOPTED AND OFFICERS ELECTED FOR YEAR

At the meeting in the court house last Friday night the Sanford Board of Trade was organized with a large crowd of business men present. F. P. Forster was called to the chair and stated the object of the meeting after which the committee on constitution was called upon and the constitution submitted by J. J. Dickinson. It was taken up section by section for adoption, and at a late hour the election of officers resulted in the following:

F. P. Forster, president; C. R. Walker, vice president; J. J. Dickinson, second vice president.

Board of governors, R. J. Holly, B. F. Whitner, A. P. Connelly, F. H. Mahoney, James Taylor and Geo. G. Herring.

The board of governors will appoint the secretary and treasurer and for the time being a local man will hold these positions.

The next meeting will be in the court house next Friday night at eight o'clock, at which time the board will meet for the first time.

Next Month Notes: The board of governors will meet next month.

Amid the loud shouts of praise and songs of joy it was announced in Sunday school from the rostrum Sunday morning that the Junior B. Y. P. U. had presented the better percentage at the assembly at Lake City, and therefore the Junior cup was to be returned them for another year. This is the second year that the cup has been in possession of the Juniors, and it is to be hoped that they will keep it for another year when the General Assembly will declare the said cup to be the property of the Junior B. Y. P. U. for keeps. This is a wonderful record for Sanford, and one that all should justly be proud of. The fact that this B. Y. P. U. has won the loving cup over all the other B. Y. P. U.'s of the state is enough to show that these boys and girls are wide awake and doing something.

It is the understanding of the officers and directors of the Temple that the Methodist church will be closed for the next two weeks, and the Temple takes this method of extending an invitation to all those that attend the Methodist church to come and worship at the Temple while their church may be closed.

Old War Horse: Capt. R. B. Smith and daughter, Miss Virginia of Sanford are visiting in this city for a few days while they are waiting to get a boat from Tampa to New Orleans. Capt. Smith, who was a Captain in the Seventh Regiment of Florida troops in the Confederate army during the civil war was in charge of the coast guard on Tampa Bay, doing duty on both sides of the bay. When he and his daughter were delayed in Tampa waiting for a boat, as they are going to New Orleans, they came to St. Petersburg, Capt. Smith desiring to see the coasts where he as an army officer searched the south in the army. From St. Petersburg Daily Times.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Barrett left Saturday for Jacksonville from whence Mr. Barrett goes to Fayetteville, N. C., in the interest of business while Mrs. Barrett will visit in Atlanta and Kentucky for a month, when they will both go on to Detroit and remain until their return to Sanford in the fall.

BIG RANCH FOR CATTLE IN VOLUSIA

SANFORD MAN BELIEVES IN THE FUTURE FOR STOCK

The raising of fine stock in Florida is becoming one of the greatest assets of the state and many large ranches are being put in shape for the cattle business. It is believed that the future of the cattle industry in Florida is bright.

Mr. Hayden, who recently purchased a large ranch in Volusia county, is following the Jacksonville Metropolitan would indicate.

The purchase of two blooded bulls, which cost $1,000 each has been effected for the ranch and other blooded stock will be bought. Mr. Hayden plans to raise only blooded, tick free stock, and to this end will install dipping vats and all modern improvements and accessories. Included will be a number of large sheds for the storage of forage.

How Mr. Hayden came to become interested in cattle raising in Florida was told yesterday afternoon by Mr. Tomlinson. Mr. Hayden attended the South Florida Fair and the Cattle Conference in Tampa last winter, and at the latter heard Mr. Whitner speak on the grasses of Florida and the potentialities of the cattle industry. He requested Mr. Whitner to look for a suitable tract for his account, and Mr. Whitner and Mr. Tomlinson, after investigations recommended the purchase of the piece which was recently sold.

Mr. Hayden intends breeding only thoroughbred cattle, and already has spent considerable money on his property.

Don't forget the ball game today here and the double header in Orlando Thursday. The boys are playing good ball now and deserve your support.

Pat Drew is greeting his many friends at the Lyric this week and driving dull care away.

FLORIDA FIRST CAMPAIGN DERIVE BENEFITS

BENEFITS DERIVED FROM ADVERTISING REPAID ORLANDO

Orlando, Fla., July 10th.—This city was the first to have in the hands of the treasurer of the "Florida First" Commission its share of the money for the 1916-17 advertising campaign for the state. Explaining why Orlando was so prompt and why there is such enthusiasm here for the work of the Commission, Fred M. Allen, secretary of the board of trade, said today:

"Florida First advertising has proven itself so far as Orlando is concerned, and no city in the state is now a more staunch advocate of the plan. When a man unexpectedly finds a way to purchase a better article than he has ever been able to buy before and at a fraction of whatever he has previously paid, he knows he has found a good thing. Orlando has gained more from 'Florida First' advertising than from any other form attempted before and for a fraction of the cost. Hence Orlando considers the 'Florida First' advertising the best yet.

It didn't take much arguing to convince Orlando that the benefits derived from advertising were worth the cost. The board of trade works now in the production of a campaign which will cost $100,000. It is believed that the benefits derived from this campaign will be worth the cost.

The cost of printing paper has risen so high as to drive many newspapers out of business and impose a grievous burden on all of the rest.

Mr. Reagin however is sending the summer in North Carolina, where it is hoped he may soon regain his health and, after a season of rest, return to go forward with the work of developing Florida in the newspaper field, especially in the advertising department, where he has made such a conspicuous success.

Following the announcement that Tampa is to lose, for the present at least, the valuable services of Mr. Reagin, comes the announcement in Sunday's Tribune that Goode Guerry—the only Goode Guerry leaves that paper to go with the Jacksonville Metropolis.

Mr. Guerry has been with the Tribune for the past eight years, and during that time has established his reputation as one of the foremost managing editors of the entire country. His special articles have been reproduced in many of the leading newspapers of the country and as headline artist he has no superior.

The Metropolis is fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Guerry, and his loss to Tampa and the Tribune would be regarded as almost irreparable but for the fact that Robert W. Bentley is to be his successor on the Tribune.

Mr. Bentley is one of the most graceful and forceful writers on the Florida press and as managing editor of the Tampa Times has kept that paper in the front rank of the state's newspapers.

Several of the most prominent of Florida's newspapers L. C. Reagin has sold his interest in the Tampa Daily Times and, for the present is out of newspaper work.

The friends of Mr. Reagin and of the Times will all regret this, especially as the reason thereof is ill health.

Following the announcement that Tampa is to lose, for the present at least, the valuable services of Mr. Reagin, comes the announcement in Sunday's Tribune that Goode Guerry—the only Goode Guerry leaves that paper to go with the Jacksonville Metropolis.

Mr. Guerry has been with the Tribune for the past eight years, and during that time has established his reputation as one of the foremost managing editors of the entire country. His special articles have been reproduced in many of the leading newspapers of the country and as headline artist he has no superior.

The Metropolis is fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Guerry, and his loss to Tampa and the Tribune would be regarded as almost irreparable but for the fact that Robert W. Bentley is to be his successor on the Tribune.

Mr. Bentley is one of the most graceful and forceful writers on the Florida press and as managing editor of the Tampa Times has kept that paper in the front rank of the state's newspapers.

Several of the most prominent of Florida's newspapers L. C. Reagin has sold his interest in the Tampa Daily Times and, for the present is out of newspaper work.

The friends of Mr. Reagin and of the Times will all regret this, especially as the reason thereof is ill health.

Mr. Reagin however is sending the summer in North Carolina, where it is hoped he may soon regain his health and, after a season of rest, return to go forward with the work of developing Florida in the newspaper field, especially in the advertising department, where he has made such a conspicuous success.

The kids had to have these things some time, that they were as sure to come as taxes and funerals, and they might as well come now and be out of the way. People sanitariously intelligent know that such convictions are really foolish, that these infantile troubles are not necessary and that they should be warded off and fought against.

The same thing is true of typhoid fever, malaria and many other diseases that come at any period of life they don't have to be contracted and they may be avoided at the cost of intelligent living and watchfulness.

This idea suggests the reasonable suspicion that it is possible that many may be essentially banished from the community, the state of the world.

A physician who regularly has predicted that it is possible that many may be essentially banished from the community, the state of the world.

A movement was being started in the Southern Medical Association to banish the disease.

It is known that this particular insect is a very dangerous one, and is the cause of the disease.

science today is the protest of opinionated individuals, who declare do not know what they claim to know, that the germ transmission of disease is a fallacy that what was good enough for their fathers is good enough for them, and that the children of one or two generations ago were stronger and better physically than those of today.

But it is probable that, without the earnest cooperation of the large members of society, with the efforts of the doctors to reach better things, the next generation won't be as healthful and as strong as the present one.

Man Who Wanted to Read Bible Without Arousing Suspicion as to His Motive.

His face was of the kind, change features of men who had gone up against the world and won over all obstacles, and he wanted a Bible.

Nothing at all like that, she said. I doubt if you can find such a Bible. We never have any call for them here.

Then perhaps you can find me one with a good stiff back, without the lipovers at the edges, so I can put a cover on it?

The man was quick to perceive the expression.

I know this is an unusual request and an explanation might interest you," he said. "I want to read the Bible. I want to read it all, which means some time as a school, and I am very busy and I can't read the Bible in the usual way.

And I desire to read it without causing comment. You see, I've never been a churchgoer and my business associates and acquaintances have not had reason to regard me as exactly a patron of religion.

I'm afraid they might be suspicious if I were seen reading a Bible. They might think I was a religious fanatic.

The two having been waivered, the second ordinance was then placed on the agenda for reading and final passage.

Such power in the hands of an unscrupulous head of the postal department could be used for selfish ends, and the magazines were quick to see the danger.

Fortunately, there are in congress a number of newspaper publishers who are not to be overruled by the postal department.

They have done so in this instance with the result that the proposed amendment has been shown of its dangers and with the further and greater result that it will further safeguard the freedom of the press.

Adjusting the Bridal Veil

Let the brides of today take notice that there are many new ways for draping the wedding veil. If it is an heirloom of lace the fortunate bride who is to wear it will wish to emphasize its richness and its age.

The veil of lovely old lace shown in the picture looks as if it might have graced a royal bride. It is shown in two arrangements. In one there is a Juliet cap of pearl and crystal beads and the veil is boxplaited across the back and side, falling from a head dress in keeping with it.

MEXICAN CAPTIVE BEGS TO BE SHOT

BOY TELLS A PITIFUL TALE

American Cavalry Sergeant Describes Conflict Between Pity and Duty in Which Duty Won—Raised to Hate Gringo.

Marathon, Tex.—Serg. I. Sturimwald, Troop A, Fourteenth cavalry, who guarded Lieut. Col. Alvarez and Manuel Torres, Mexican prisoners in the Boquillas raid, told a story of a conflict between pity and duty in which duty won. He said: "It was my business to watch the prisoners on the long ride to Marathon from the Rio Grande. For the minute it was all the business I had and they were surely watched. Our first camp was at Matamoros, Texas. There we gave the Mexicans steak and onions and coffee—just what our men had."

Raised to Hate Gringo.

Torres is little more than a boy. When we took the road again he told me his story. His father, he said, was a poor farmer in the Sacramento district. They had little to eat and when, six months ago, Alvarez at the head of fifty or more bandits told him there were food and new clothes to be had in abundance in gringo stores along the border, he followed. He had been raised, he said, to hate the gringos and rather liked the idea.

He claimed he had not been in a gringo store and the Mexicans were not admitted getting his clothes from some of the riders who had.

He said he had the bandits' hands put after an American party by some certainty. He had hidden in a hole and watched the gringos take the American party to the border. He said he had seen the gringos take the American party to the border. He said he had seen the gringos take the American party to the border.

Summery Frock of Sheer Material

Here is a little summery frock of organdy which might just as well be of lawn or voile or any other material, just so it is sheer and crisp enough. There is a refinement in sheer fabrics which is half their charm, and this accounts for the use of lively colors in transparent cotton and silk goods. Either may be used to make a dress exactly like the model pictured which is sure to compel admiration.

The skirt is hemmed in a three-inch hem and two groups of narrow tucks introduced in it, one above the hem and the other above the knees. The ruching is set on above and below the lower tucks, and at the lower side of the other group. It is used for joining a wide frill to the elbow sleeves and as a decoration for the blouse.

The blouse opens at the front in a V, and one might expect it to be finished with a quaint flaby. But instead it is collared and capped in the unmistakable 1916 mode, and instead of a snail a narrow ribbon girle is fastened with a little cluster of cherries.

ARMY GROWS ITS POTATOES

British Soldiers Are Planting Spuds Between Camp Ruts to Increase Supplies.

London—The army has started to grow its own potatoes. Instructions have been sent out to every command, indicating the lines which should be followed.

Military requirements are very large, and little more than half the usual supplies of potatoes are coming into the markets, with the result that prices to the public are nearly doubled.

At one camp in Surrey digging operations began last week, and the seed potatoes are to be planted in a few days in rows between the huts. A number of men are being told off each day for digging and others are being used to help in sowing them.

BOTH HOUSES EAGER FOR EARLY ADJOURNMENT

Washington, July 12.—Democratic and Republican leaders in the senate will hold a conference to discuss measures of expediting important legislation...

Republican senators today appointed a committee to confer with the Democrats on the subject. The Democratic Steering Committee also met decided on a legislative program and voted to hold the senate in session nine hours daily until it is completed.

The attitude of Republican senators reflected in today's conference aroused hope of a reasonably early adjournment. General sentiment seemed to be against a continuation of the shipping or revenue bills.

Democratic supporters of the bill, however, are under considerable pressure to expedite the bill. They are anxious to get the bill passed before the adjournment of the session.

SEMINOLE TO JOIN THE BIG MOTOR CADE

SANFORD TO CHICAGO BY AUTO FOR ADVERTISING

The new Board of Trade of this city is doing things and their motto is "Nothing too small or too large to tackle for the benefit of Sanford." Among the many good things in the advertising line is the project of taking a bunch of Sanford boosters from this city to Chicago by auto.

This trip is now being negotiated by a bunch of Lake County Boosters who started last week with six cars and they are now in Indiana where the many cities are receiving them with open arms and giving them banquets and big times generally.

The Lake County Boosters are making speeches at every stop and distributing literature and it is certain that the Lake County Motorcade will get more results for that county than anything that has ever been attempted before.

President Dutton of the Sanford Board of Trade is thinking seriously of arranging such a trip in August and after the Lake County Motorcade returns, he will be asked to provide the figures and log of the trip and out arrangements will then be made.
