

STIMSON GIVES TALK ON PACT TO U.S. EDITORS

Leader Of Delegation Speaks At Associated Press Luncheon Staged In New York

NEW YORK, Apr. 21. (AP)—Speaking across the Atlantic to the annual luncheon of the Associated Press, Secretary Stimson described the London naval agreement today as a long step forward in world diplomacy.

The treaty about to be signed at the head of the American delegation to London, represents a practical application of the Kellogg anti-war pact. American officials at the meeting of the United States, Great Britain and Japan, and holding a promise of future agreement also as to the naval establishment of France and Italy.

Mr. Stimson's address, received by the members of the Associated Press at their luncheon here, was broadcast also throughout the country by the National Broadcasting Company.

"The work of the League of Nations," he said, "has long been a two-part problem—the problem of the relations between the major of the United States, Great Britain, and Japan on the one hand, and the problem of the relations between the major of Great Britain, France and Italy on the other.

"These are quite different problems. The first of these has been solved.

"In the second of these, peace has been had and the underlying questions upon which a final solution would have been achieved and established."

The secretary said it was not a chance coincidence that the Kellogg anti-war pact, the League of Nations, and the London naval conference, all necessarily related, the success of the Kellogg pact," he continued.

"The good resolutions of that pact cannot stand alone. They must be followed by national disarmament, constant international effort to effect disarmament, and the progress of an effort which is the progress of an effort which is the line of naval disarmament."

Bad Weather Continues To Interfere With Baseball Games Of Major Leagues

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR., Associated Press Sports Writer.

Most of the baseball news on this season has been that the clubs are due to get a good supply of rains in the southern months. Double headers have been being played at a rate of almost one per game on the major league schedule during the first week of the campaign.

From Monday, the opening day through Friday, 33 games were played and only 13 were played, most of them in the West. The American League was the worst mauler with nine of the 16 post-ponements.

The four western teams of the National League, the only ones to get through all their games so far, provided most of the action yesterday. Cleveland and Detroit alone did the honors for the American League.

At St. Louis, Bill Hallahan of the Cardinal, lured in six more of the brilliant pitching that has marked the start of the season to beat the champion Chicago Cubs, 11 to 1. Hallahan did not walk any batters, but when he got the ball in vain at R. Evers' truck out which only Joe Kill safely, Tolson and Taylor connected for singles following errors in the sixth inning on the way to a 1-0 victory.

The Cardinal, who have dominated the heavy hitting in the West, hit Guy Bush from the mound with 11 hits in the inning, and got the run, when Eddie Sallee's "Warlock" and Lynn Nelson, a pair of recruit right handers.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, with old Ira Flagstead in the lead, did some timely hitting against Babe Ruth to take their third victory in four starts from the Cincinnati Reds, 8 to 3. Flagstead hit a single, a triple and two doubles in the third and fifth innings. Lefty Gandy, though wild at times, was effective on the mound for the Pirates. Ed Delaney's record successive home run and a pinch double by Harry Hillman brought the Cincinnati run.

With Wesley Ferrell, young right hander, taking up his home mound work, where he left last night, the Cleveland Indians beat the Detroit Tigers their first victory of the season. The score was 2 to 1. Ferrell did not allow more than one hit until the ninth. The Indians were able to launch hits of Owen, as tall and wide as the earth, by the witness of Art Heising, his success, and Bill Russell, his error.

Newspapers Of Big Size And Colored Pictures Foreseen

what the firm.

"If correct, the papers that every word in a newspaper, the paper, have become, I believe, great library department stores. The growth of the size of department stores has not been checked merely because every customer did not stop and buy some new chapter of a long counter.

"The firm, I believe, will begin to produce daily newspapers in color, and the combined color and black and white printing, but color work is comparative with the black and white. It is very costly and is not so far on in the process as to be up and up, sufficient."

"If correct, the newspaper will be a new paper, today to be nearly as good as it should be. It is not a book, but a photo gallery and a technical presentation. We need to watch our step in the picture field, particularly because of the fine pictures presented, which are comparable to the reproductions of museum quality on the market."

The first newspaper will be printed in a series of tabular news, he said, and added that the development of a photo composing machine may still further revolutionize the printing industry."

This would substitute film for type in the composing room, and although development of a color factory device has been "a little off," he asserted that he is confident that some day will display the metal type machine.

"Along with the photo composing development," he said, "there must go an improvement in our organizing methods. The present process is too slow and too costly. It is strange that in all these years we have made no progress in organizing. We are still using the same old slow method of sticking a card metal or using a slow setting galleys."

HEAVY HITTING IS BIG FEATURE OF GAME LAST NIGHT

Piggly Wiggly Outfit Takes Measure Of Independent Boys

By E. H. CULLUM

Local pitching for five pitch men's Independent, proved very good in the Piggly Wiggly Independent ball team, the Piggly Wiggly outfit, smothering the Independent in the score of 31 to 11. Single, double, triple, and home run flowed from the out of the Piggly Wiggly boys with something to spare, in less than eight hours' playing, as evidenced, with the home run, which struck every time a home run was hit. Of this number six, secured three, Moss, Tom, and Long, both and three on each.

After the Piggly Wiggly boys had batted, each inning in the fifth inning, Deane was relieved by Laine, who finished out the game for the Independent. However, Laine faced 11b. Deane and Piggly Wiggly, continued to hit ten their batting average at his expense.

It might also be stated that the hitting of the Independent, another young made, which continued in a small way to lead down.

Some hitting for the Piggly Wiggly, pitched a steady game throughout, never at any time being in danger. While the hitting of the Piggly Wiggly team was not entirely up to par, the few errors made by them were not costly.

The Piggly Wiggly now have a mighty good team in the field, being made up principally of players from the old Florida Light & Power team, the Piggly Wiggly taking them over after the P. L. & P. team abandoned and they are getting to be a very hard team to down.

Mr. Schmidt has requested the city to state that his team, while being known as the Independent, has no connection with any other Independent Association, and is being managed entirely by the player themselves.

SIDE LIGHTS

Moss, first time up hit the ball to extreme right field, the ball landing on top of the American Legion Hall. He is a real hot hitter, hitting in three runs, one of home. His second home run was a long drive to center field.

It seemed that the opposing pitcher was a man of some consequence, but he was not. Tom, who is a very good pitcher, was not in the game.

In the sixth inning, Moss secured a triple, on the relay of the ball to the infield. Holles hit home plate, successful. Ross took advantage of it and promptly scored.

The principal feature of the game was the lightning double play, pulled off by the second and third. Whitehead, first man up, reached Laine hit to Deane, who was on the ball to Miles, forcing Whitehead, Miles then making a fast throw to Moss in time to cut Laine down at first.

THE RESPONSE TO KING

Sometimes I think that if a certain king should come to my frail lodging on the world...

A Step Forward

From a common sense point of view the London conference for the limitation of naval armaments did not end so disastrously as might at first appear.

UNCOMMON SENSE

BY JOHN BLAKE

It is fortunate that the motor car has enabled people to get into the city without cost or effort to the city as the many articles written to their own newspapers in the north by newspaper men spending their winters here.

On Election Day

The Tampa Tribune points to a recent advertisement in the Chicago Tribune which has attracted national attention and which is of peculiar interest in Florida.

"Ranting actors", where have we heard that expression before? Wasn't it with regard to some of our representatives in the last session of the Florida legislature?

"Ranting actors", says the Tampa Tribune, "have brought much grief to Florida. While they have been 'ranting' and 'acting', burdens have been piled upon the people beyond their capacity to carry."

Yes, America needs leadership, but more than America, Florida needs leadership. Florida needs men in the next session of the legislature who are thinkers, not actors.

The people should begin to take an active interest in the approaching Democratic primary, for much of the future of this state depends upon the men who are elected.

For England, Japan and the United States have signed an agreement for limitation, and the relative strength of these three countries has been definitely fixed.

Knowing this, and realizing their financial inequality, it is not likely that either France or Italy will build in such amounts as to endanger the existing leadership of the three other nations.

OF ALL THE many forms of advertising or giving publicity to the attractions of St. Petersburg, probably none is so good and poses so far without cost or effort to the city as the many articles written to their own newspapers in the north by newspaper men spending their winters here.

Telling The World

BY NEAL O'HARA

IN 500 WORDS FLAT

Writing that 500-word history of the United States to be carried in the side of Rushmore: "What are you squinting about, Calvin?"

"I'm writing a 500-word history of the country, and it sure is wearing out my eraser."

"Starting at the beginning, of course with the Declaration of Independence."

"Are you mentioning life, liberty and pursuit of happiness?"

"Well, yes—but I hate to life and liberty are the names of magazines. Wish I could work 'Cosmopolitan' in there too."

"It must be difficult, Calvin, to tell the Nation's history in 500 words."

"That's for sure. It's just the equivalent of ten night letters. The way I write 'em by the way, Grace, look up how you spell democracy, will you?"

"Yes, dear."

"If they lead I didn't know how to spell it, but they'll start another team to send me to Congress."

"I don't see why you want to use such a long word as democracy, may I know why, Calvin?"

"I'll put more stone cutters in work, won't it? That's reason enough."

"Are you going to write down anything about the early Indians?"

"Certainly not! I'm an honorary member of eleven tribes already, not to mention the Lodge of Red Men."

"And of course, you'll say something about George Washington?"

"Sure will! He was a great Republican, wasn't he?"

"And you'll put in about the Revolution, the Civil War, the World War and all the other important upheavals, I suppose."

"Yes, and don't forget that Boston police strike, either."

"Will there be room for all that, Calvin?"

"If there isn't they can put up another mountain."

"Well, the Government didn't get stuck, but still it was nearly Democratic territory. I'll probably leave it out."

"I think as long as it's a complete history of the country, Calvin, you should say something about the ordinary life of the people."

"I'm not only going to say something about the ordinary life, but I'd like to get in a few words about the twenty-year payment and the endowment policies too."

The Trade-mark

OLD SILVERSMITHS, in order to help people tell pure silver from cheaper imitations, marked the real thing "sterling."

In a like manner, manufacturers, who stand back of their wares, identify them with trade marks that are your guarantee of quality.

Only good goods, fairly priced, can flourish in this light of publicity. For no merchandise and no business can thrive under the weight of public condemnation.

That is why a manufacturer, or a merchant, places the whole reputation of his business at stake every time he advertises. His goods must be advertised.

So, in looking through this paper, remember this: the man who spends his money to invite your consideration of his wares backs up his belief in his goods and leaves the final decision to you.

It pays you to read the advertisements. It pays you to buy advertised products.

Advertising is your protection

"The Rogue Song" To Have Three-Day Run At Milane Theatre

The first talking picture to star an opera celebrity has arrived in "The Rogue Song." Metro-Goldwyn Mayer's music picture featuring Lawrence Tibbett, an inventory of the next picture, which opens Thursday at the Milane Theatre, would give something like this:
Filmed entirely in natural color, directed by Lionel Barrymore; drama and adventure interspersed with comedy relief by the team of Laurel and Hardy; music ranging from numbers of operatic magnitude to popular love songs; spectacular Albertina Rasch ballet in color; Elsa Allen and huge women's chorus; symphony orchestra for accompaniment and one of the greatest casts a picture has had in years.
Though the production is primarily a story of love and adventure, still at the same time it is the first talking film to give an audience a taste of grand opera music and ballet.
Tibbett, who was a great singer actor before he became an opera star, is expressive as the swash-buckling bandit chief, who sings as he bares death.
Lionel Barrymore's deft direction brings out the subtle points of the drama with compelling force.

Three Slayings Seen As Revenge On Capone Gang sawing floor.

Walter Wakefield, the fatherly old man behind the bar, a bullet had struck him in the back of the head.
Frank Del Re, sometimes called Frank Fire, also had been shot in the back, apparently he was sought to flee.
Joseph Special, 28, partner of Del Re in the operation of the grocery, lay dead in front of the bar. He had been shot in the chest as the assassin turned to meet in attack. In the dead hand Special clamped a knife.
Detectives saw the murders as a spite against the Al Capone gang, for the three dead men were Capone disciples. They saw the crime both as a retaliation to the reported "peace agreement" between the Capone and the police.
There were political and labor racketeering angles, too, the racketeering possibilities being regarded as particularly significant in view of persistent word lately that Capone had ambitions to "muscle" into labor organizations.
Wakefield, police heard, was a protégé of Dan Serritella, city sealer and Republican power in the first ward. Serritella has been regarded as friendly to Capone. Wakefield and Del Re were active in the recent election in Serritella's successful campaign for nomination.
A man whose name was withheld by police said Wakefield on Saturday night had attended a meeting of "messes," Saturday evening of the breed, crackers yeast and pie wagon drivers union local No. 734.
"Capone planned to take over the union through Wakefield," the man said. "I heard some say following the meeting: 'We'll have to SH was a widow of a few weeks. Scarcely 13 months from the shock of her misfortune, she was deluged with bills from the grocer, the butcher, the doctor, other expenses incurred in the crisis. Her husband's will was frustrated. It meant months of delay before she would receive her inheritance.

He could have saved her the embarrassment of meeting creditors with empty hands, increasing from friends and relatives to meet his obligations.

Return To First Suspect In Endeavor To Unravel Mystery

WASHINGTON, Apr. 21 (AP)—The police today returned to their first suspect in their effort to solve the mystery of the death of Mary Baker Young, government employee, who was assaulted and murdered near Arlington National Cemetery.

Fred Wilson, an architect in the employ of the treasury department, who was the first man arrested in connection with the crime, was again brought into police headquarters for questioning on the alibi which he offered and on his relation with the dead woman.

Meanwhile, the authorities still were holding Marvin Sisson and Julian Gallagher, traveling salesman of Wytheville, Virginia, who were arrested over the road kill. These were of the opinion, however, that if all of the facts could not be shaken in spite of the fact that Sisson was identified yesterday by a witness as having been near the scene of the crime on the night that it occurred.

From a lineup of four men, Charles Quartermen, the former man of a government mapping crew at work in the nearby Potomac River picked at Sisson as the man from whom he had picked an overcoat and a watch on the night of the murder.

Increase In Selling Price Of Newspapers Presaged By Survey Made In Canada

(Editor's Note: The Convention of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association beginning on April 23 in New York and the front page prominence which the problem of the newspaper has achieved recently lend special interest to the following survey of the Canadian newspaper situation based on a comprehensive investigation.

Editorial boards of the newspaper industry in the United States are alarmed by the fact that the total number of all periodical publications in the United States amounts to 23,000 against 22,000 in 1935. The second country in the world to have the largest number of newspapers, the United States is being overtaken by Canada. This is particularly true if the Canadian newspaper situation is viewed in the light of the fact that the United States is a country of 100,000,000 people and Canada is a country of 10,000,000 people.

The American newspaper industry has been steadily increasing in size and scope. The total circulation of newspapers in this country has increased from 200,000,000 in 1910 to 500,000,000 in 1935. The number of newspapers has increased from 15,000 to 22,000 in the same period.

With such a mission on their minds, the newspapers are entitled to take better care of the world to which they are selling their product. The paper industry in this country is being overtaken by Canada. This is particularly true if the Canadian newspaper situation is viewed in the light of the fact that the United States is a country of 100,000,000 people and Canada is a country of 10,000,000 people.

When monthly after the war the symptoms of the over-expansion of the industry began to appear, the newspaper industry sought ways and means to reduce supply and demand. In 1927 the Canadian Newspaper Association was organized to study the situation and to propose ways and means to reduce supply and demand.

The first sign of impending difficulties was forecast toward the end of September, 1929, when the Canadian newspaper managers held a national conference in Montreal. The purpose of this conference was to study the situation and to propose ways and means to reduce supply and demand.

At that time the newspaper industry was in a state of general expansion. The total circulation of newspapers in Canada had increased from 500,000,000 in 1910 to 1,500,000,000 in 1929. The number of newspapers had increased from 10,000 to 15,000 in the same period.

tested against what they termed to be the browbeating of the industry. The manufacturers, on the other hand, stated that the address of the Premier was misunderstood. The day approached when the manufacturers would have to announce their price for 1930, an increase of which over that of the previous year was anticipated.

It was a French Canadian daily paper, the "Evening Star" of Quebec, which first fired the warning shot in the campaign against the proposed increase of newspaper prices. A barrage of criticism was directed at the Premier's speech, with the "Evening Star" in the lead. The way was cleared for the Premier's resignation, and the efforts to replace the forest with replanting were made and insignificant, mostly confined to private enterprise.

Provenzo G. Howard Ferguson of Ontario, took charge of the defensive forces in the middle of November. The government investigation had up to the present failed to distribute the forest replanting material in any part of the province. The number of newspapers in Ontario has increased from 10,000 in 1910 to 15,000 in 1935. The total circulation of newspapers in Ontario has increased from 500,000,000 in 1910 to 1,500,000,000 in 1935.

Events began to move more rapidly. The Board of Directors and Paper Committee of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association in 1930 issued a report that because the Canadian newspaper industry was not producing the quantity of newspaper material required by the United States, the industry was being overtaken by Canada.

In December, 1929, the industry began to announce their prices. They offered a 20% increase over the previous year. The industry was being overtaken by Canada. This is particularly true if the Canadian newspaper situation is viewed in the light of the fact that the United States is a country of 100,000,000 people and Canada is a country of 10,000,000 people.
