Road Program Puts County's Progress 10 Years Ahead

THESE HIROSHIMA MAIDENS wave happily as they line up in front of Mt. Sinai Hospital, New York, after being discharged. They are the last of the group of 23 young Japanese women who were disfigured in the first A-bomb blast and were sent to the U. S. for treatment of their injuries. (International)

County Residents Will Be Admitted Free To Gardens

World famous Cypress Gardens near Winter Haven will open its gates FREE to residents of Seminole, Lake, and Orange counties when Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Pope owners hold their annual free county day Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 6 and 7. Seminole, Lake and Orange county residents need only driver's licenses for free admittance for the entire family. Four thrilling water ski shows will be presented Saturday at 10:30 - 1:00 - 2:30 and 4:15 and on Sunday at 11:00 - 1:00 - 3:00. Visitors will see famous aquatic acts recently seen in movie and television shorts. World and national water ski champions will perform in routine. Some of the graceful ballet on skis to the high-flying by champions. Children of all ages will delight in the antics of many clown on skis. Visitors will see for the first time many new improvements made to the Gardens during the summer months in expectation of one of the largest winter seasons. An extended boat tour will take visitors through a new and improved section of the Gardens known as the Azalea Islands. New vistas recently opened afford visitors of more advantageous views of the tropical wonderland. Open for the first time to the public since its construction for the Esher Williams movie is the Florida-shaped pool. A recently constructed walkway will enable visitors to see the pool and take pictures of this famous inner attraction. Long known as a photographers paradise, local camera fans will have a field day when dozens of beautiful models dressed in colorful old fashion costumes will be on hand to pose for pictures. Visitors may dine in air-conditioned comfort or enjoy the breezy outdoor dining terrace. A completely renovated gift shop will be seen by visitors. Cabanis to help visitors park will be available to accommodate several thousand cars.

Public Is Invited To Local Wesleyan Foundation Rally

The Wesleyan Foundation Rally will be held Sunday, Oct. 7, at 2 p.m. at the Paola Wesleyan Methodist Church, six miles west of Sanford on West First St. A basket dinner will be served at 1 p.m. An invitation has been extended to the public to attend the first of the fall and winter rallies to be planned uniting the Lake, Orange and Sanford churches of the Wesleyan Church in the Nazarene, Free Methodist, Paola Wesleyan, and the others of like faith, in fellowship.

Annual Teachers Party To Be Staged Tuesday Evening

The annual Teachers Party, honoring teachers of Sanford Schools, will be held Tuesday night at the Sanford Woman's Club. The American Home Department of the Sanford Woman's Club will sponsor the event as has been their custom for several years. Supper will be served at 7 o'clock which will be followed by a short program. Hostesses for the meeting will be: Mrs. H. H. Grier, chairman, Mrs. John Carlton, Mrs. James E. Kern, Mrs. Robert Karns, Mrs. Willis Peacock, Mrs. John Kader, Mrs. Lamar Echols and Mrs. F. E. Bleckenknecht. The annual Teachers Party coincides with the project of the Woman's Club American Home Department which is "Youth."

Salvation Army Gives 6-Month Service Tally

The Advisory Board of the Salvation Army met yesterday at Tuddy's Restaurant with Ralph A. Smith, chairman of the board, presiding. Highlighting the meeting was the six months service report made by Lt. L. Marcella Reynolds, Commanding Officer of the Salvation Army's local post. The Commanding Officer, in her report, pointed out that 93 adult services were held with 1464 in attendance; 31 street services with 178 participating were held; 36 Women's Home League meetings were scheduled and held with an attendance of 225. Also included in the report were 66 youth meetings attended by 1085 young people; and a 18-day Bible School was held with 374 taking part. In the transient assistance programs, the lieutenant reported, 151 meals were supplied, 47 lodgings given, 22 were given transportation, 23 garments were given, 108 men, assisted, 17 women, assisted, and 39 children assisted. A total of 25 grocery orders were given to local families, 928 garments given to local families, 106 pairs of shoes, and 83 miscellaneous assistance aids contributed. Major Guy Hepler of Jacksonville was introduced to the members local plans for the Salvation Army here. Quarterly meetings were approved with the next meeting set for Dec. 8.

WOMAN'S HEAD CUT OFF BY TRAIN

JACKSONVILLE (AP)—Police identified a woman whose head was cut off by a train at a crossing here late Wednesday as Leona Elizabeth Collier, 33. Detective Sgt. O. A. Johnson said the woman also was known as Josephine Murry and was believed to be from Palatka. He said she was arrested on Main Street bridge Sept. 18 and charged with attempted suicide.

Home, Church Parallel

BY MRS. GEORGE E. WELLS "And upon the first day of the week, when the Disciples came together..." So began the era of the Christian's Lord's day. Sunday. It has been that the most profitable of all human activities is affiliation with one's neighborhood church and to participate wholeheartedly in its witnessing for Christ. I like to parallel the home and the church. The home; many and varied may be the interests of the members of the family, but at regular intervals all gather around the board to enjoy food for the nourishment of the body, and equally important, a chance to share those interests, joy and laughter, often problems and perplexities. Because of this regular gathering and sharing together, each member of the family has a bulk-head of combined family strength to bolster the business of daily living. So with the church to assemble together regularly, to share the presence of Christ in the midst, the meat of the Gospel, the Bread of Life, the inspiring hymns, indeed composed a Sanctuary of devotion and fellowship that none can really afford to neglect. Isn't the "shared" crust sweeter and more than "cake" eaten in solitude? The church member, by faithful weekly attendance, achieves a spiritual development not otherwise obtained. Therefore, why not, on this first Sunday of October, Church Loyalty Month, rally around our individual church and establish one and for all regular weekly church attendance. Recall the old axiom: "United we stand, divided we (might) fail."

Boy Scout District To Gather Monday In Casselberry

BY MRS. RAYMOND MORRIS The St. Johns River District, Boy Scouts of America, will hold a Round-Table meeting at the Community Methodist Church, Casselberry, at 7:30 p.m., Monday, Oct. 6, according to Scoutmaster Walter J. Krohms Jr. Troop 114, sponsored by the Lions Club will be host to scouts and district officials at the meeting. The district committee consists of Krohms, Sanford, Orlando and Casselberry. Plans for activities in the district for the year ahead will be discussed. Krohms also said that the local troop will again be host to the district on Oct. 10, when the first Court of Honor since the end of summer activities will be held here. Many awards of advancement and numerous merit badges will be presented at the court, according to Krohms. Scout troops and Cub Packs representing the entire district are scheduled to attend the court and according to Krohms, those interested in promoting scouting can assist their troops pending standing by attending. The Court of Honor is held four times annually and rotates among the district towns during the year.

Little Miss Helps Santa Select Doll

One young Sanford lady, with her eye on a "sure visit" from Santa Claus, wants to make sure she receives exactly the doll that's been picked out. A letter, properly addressed to "Santa Claus, North Pole" was received, but the little lady failed to put her return address on the envelope or inside the message. Enclosed was a cut out of a doll, which we're sure is the one that she has her hopes on this coming Christmas, a dress which she hopes will accompany the doll, and a hat to match. This young lady wants to be sure she receives the right doll, clothes, and hat, so she sends the cutout pictures, along to match with the selection. It's about that time—when youngsters start setting their hopes and dreams on the coming of Santa Claus. No doubt, the girl from St. Nick will be the topic of conversation among groups of youngsters from now until the early morning hours of Dec. 25.

Lyman Eleven Are Underdogs In Tavares Tilt

The Lyman Greyhounds will have their toughest evening thus far in the season tonight when they play host to undefeated Tavares in Longwood. The Greyhounds had a tough week of hard scrimmages and should be in top form for the contest with the exception of minor aches and pains. The Greyhounds will go into the game two touchdown underdogs, but the powerful Lyman defense has repelled all attempted penetrations for the season and will go into the game unscathed.

Elks Will Stage Dance Tomorrow Night At Club

As a part of the October schedule of entertainment for members of the Elks Club, there will be a dance at the local club tomorrow night from 8 to 1. The Saturday night dance is just one of the five important dates during October that will be climaxed on Oct. 27 with a Halloween Dance.

Dial To Discuss Road Plans Thursday At Highway Planning Committee Meet

In light of recent developments on our causeway and road program many questions have arisen which I feel should be cleared up," Brailley Odham, chairman of Seminole County's Long Range Highway Planning Committee said today. "I have today, thoroughly discussed Sanford and Seminole County's road needs with Billy Dial, Fifth District Road Board Member, and have had presented by him his plans," he said. "Dial stated this morning that the money to continue the four-laning of Highway 17-82 from Five Points to French Ave. is in the current budget and he is anxious to let the contract as soon as right-of-ways are secured and hopeful that the contractor can start on this before the end of the year," Odham said. "This move guarantees us a fine, modern four-lane highway between Sanford and Orlando," the local highway planning committee chairman said. "As to the causeway that we had proposed to connect with French Ave. and cross the lake, for which we would finance the sale of bonds, was made virtually impossible by the recent federal road program. The federal program is to build an interstate system of fast, modern through highways and one of them is proposed for Daytona to DeLand, to Orlando, to Lakeland and Tampa. This route has been designated for years and all previous talk of the federal route that I have ever heard was to go straight south from the existing Lake Monroe bridge," Odham commented. "Seminole County's road board member, working with the federal road people, is trying to bring this road up near to Sanford as possible and has definitely committed that it would be somewhere between the Lake Monroe bridge and French Ave. "Billy Dial has been successful in making a causeway across the lake, starting at the Lake Monroe Boulevard somewhere west of Sanford became tied into a four-lane highway to Orlando City, the first link of the entire interstate road program in Florida," Odham revealed this morning. "That's the total length of the immediate planning," he said, "and future planning will be to extend it north to Daytona, paralleling existing roads. "Where the causeway hits Seminole Boulevard, the plans are for a four-lane tie in to French Ave. for use now and for the next six to ten years," Odham said. "However," Odham explained, "at some future date the plans will be to extend that limited federal access road south somewhere two to three miles west of Sanford." "I want to say," Odham commented during an interview this morning "that I think that working out this program for our area, Billy Dial has moved our program up ten years. Because the effect is that we get immediately a causeway, a fast, modern four-lane highway to the north of us, French Ave. will be used and therefore developed. In addition, 17-82 will be four-lane. "I am calling a meeting of our Seminole County Long Range Highway Planning Committee for

Dark Clouds On FSU Horizon

TALLAHASSEE — Two dark clouds appeared on the Florida State horizon today as Coach Tom Nugent's Seminoles entered final preparations for the invasion of Virginia Tech's powerful football forces Saturday night. First dark cloud is the Tech team itself. The vaunted Gobblers set southern grid experts smack on their ears with a resounding 25-7 triumph over a strong N. C. State eleven last week. Second dark cloud is the "Among the missing" status of two of Florida State's top performing left halfbacks, Bobby Ross and Billy Weaver. Ross suffered a rib injury in the Seminoles' 13-0 win in Georgia, and Weaver came up with a lame thigh muscle in the same contest. That leaves the Tribe Coach Dobos, a fast-moving service returned as the only remaining left halfback, and Dobos, favoring a game ankle, is not in top notch. Nugent stated today that he may move Billy Odum, the speedy right halfback from Mt. Dora, over to the left halfback slot to take up the slack. Odum ran from the port-side position in the latter stages of the game with Georgia, while Buck Metz handled the chores from his usual right halfback side. The Seminoles would have had their hands full of Tech even at full strength, but these two key injuries in the speedy Tribe backfield leaves Florida State with a definite underdog role to powerful Virginia Tech.

In one of the frankest love stories to come out of the war, Deborah Kerr and William Holden star in "The Proud and Profane" opening Sunday at the Ritz Theatre. Holden is cast as a Marine Raiders Colonel, Miss Kerr as a Red Cross worker in the Paramount drama, a Perberg-Santon Production in Vista Vision. Thelma Ritter and Dewey Martin co-star.

Holden, D. Kerr Star In

A daring and compelling love story, as frankly told as any motion picture medium has ever presented is the latest offering by two of the screen's most successful performers. William Holden and Deborah Kerr, in the classic and Profane. Paramount film opening Sunday at the Ritz Theatre. Taken from the best-selling novel by Lucy Herndon Crockett, the picture promises to be an unusually candid and intensely dramatic emotional experience.

The production handwork of William Perberg and George Sarton makers of "The Count of Monte Cristo" and "The Bridges at Toko-Ri" and "Little Boy Lost," the Vista Vision film co-stars Thelma Ritter and Dewey Martin and features William Holden and Ross Bagdasarian, a cast that guarantees a gallery of fine performances.

The setting of "The Proud and Profane" is the South Pacific island of New Caledonia, an outpost of the critical island invasion phase of the Pacific war. Holden portrays a Marine Raiders Colonel, a hard-bitten disciplinarian implacably hostile to anyone or anything that "softens" his men for combat—an openly expressed prejudice that extends to chaplains and Red Cross women.

Into contact with the navy men comes Red Cross volunteer Deborah Kerr, and the sparks fly from first meeting. She is well-bred, reserved, proper, and icy, virtues that are not to be broken to Holden. He determines to break her at any price and by any means, but he has no inkling of the fire that burns beneath the ice.

In spite of herself, she responds and between these two violently opposed personalities grows a love that defies all convention and overrides all sense of prudence and restraint.

In the role of Miss Kerr's Red Cross boss is Thelma Ritter. Aware of the relationship from the begin-

Former Ziegfeld Girls Popping Up In Unusual Places

You never know where you'll meet a Ziegfeld girl.

The alumnae of the Ziegfeld Follies, probably the most famous group of gilt-edged beauties in the history of the American stage, keep popping up in the most unexpected places.

Take Gertrude Vanderbilt, for instance. Now a fashion publicist, dignified, poised and charming, she dropped in at my office the other day. Said I:

"You're not by any chance the Gertrude Vanderbilt I used to do Sunday features about are you? The dancing darling of the Terrific Twenties?"

Said she: "That's me." Gertrude ran away to join the chorus of a George M. Cohan musical at the age of 11, graduated to the Ziegfeld group, formed a dance duet with Rosie Green, broke hearts right and left, collected several fortunes and gave them away and now is a successful business woman who could give etiquette pointers to any woman's club.

Then there's Barbara Joyner, now Mrs. George Kingdon Parsons and partner in a Wall Street brokerage firm.

The beautiful Mary Mack is another successful broker who made good on her own ability after she quit the footlights.

Marguerite Stanley who owns a bank in Stockbridge, Ga., in partnership with her husband, Charles Loder.

Janet Lawson is in the millinery business in a swank New York shop.

Paul Shepard married an Egyptian prince, but now is back with her sister, Florence, another Ziegfeld alumna, who is happily married to Harry Miller of Rye, N. Y.

Florence O'Denishawn, the famous dancer, now owns a lingerie business.

Conuelo Glowerton M. Flourton Foch has gone back to show business after a successful stretch as executive in a textile company.

U.S. Farms May Supply Much-Needed Cortisone
By HERMAN H. BUNDSSEN, M.D.
AMERICAN farmers may be able to give medical science a growth here ever since announcement of the dramatic antiarthritic activity of cortisone in 1948. This, at least, is the hope of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and, of course, our scientists. Studies are under way right now to determine the feasibility of the plan.

Seminoles Favored 1 TD Over Blue Darters

"This is a must for a victory," head coach Bill Fleming said today of his Sanford Seminoles. "This is a grim, determined task that we are not about to fail in."

And the way things look on the day the Sanford Seminoles invade Apopka for the second game of the season. "We'll be throwing everything we've got to take Apopka," Fleming said, and assistant added emphatically, including the ball.

"They're out for this and have a fine attitude," assistant coach Dave Lauce added.

The general consensus of opinion is that the Seminoles will have a hard time. Both Seminoles and Blue Darters need a win badly, but the fourth place Sanford Seminoles are not about to trade places with last place Apopka.

Panic ran through the Seminoles at the fading days of practice this week. The team was sent to bed for more than a week with an injured leg and a virus attack, and the two weeks' experiments to build a more powerful offensive unit seemed to falter.

But the new fighting spirit of the Sanford Seminoles bounced back, with Charles Fence learning the center assignments for the series of Split-T plays in two days, and Brantley Schirrod, the sparkling of the Seminoles was re-learned at the pivot spot and moved to starting left half-back.

Things brightened up still more with Phil Byrd returning from the doctors office this morning with an okay to start in the all important Orange Belt Conference game. The arrival-hipped break away hope for the Seminoles was on the doubtful list until today. Unless the game starts in the rain, or an infection is determined before the game tonight, Byrd will man the right halfback post. If there is a drizzle Byrd will have to see limited action, and quarterback Al Stanley will move back to his post and Bob Johnson will do the signal-calling.

The Apopka Blue Darters will be up for this one and seeking almost desperately for a win for two reasons. First, they have dropped two games in a row; the season opener to a supposedly inferior Umatilla eleven 21-7, and last week they lost a heart-breaker to Leesburg 13-6. If the Blue Darters could win this one, it would move Leesburg into fourth position now held by the Seminoles, with the Blue Darters moving into fifth, and throwing the Seminoles into the basement. Secondly, the Blue Darters are a young ball club with wonderful spirit and good material. They have two games under their belt and have gained valuable experience from each of them. They will be tougher this week than they have been all season.

All this should make a tough outing for the Seminoles, and the Blue Darters will give them plenty of trouble. But the Seminoles have gone through two grueling weeks of the toughest workouts witnessed in high schools throughout this section. With two weeks to find themselves, improve themselves, and get in top physical condition the Seminoles would be formidable competition for any team in the conference. The Seminoles are slated to win by at least one touchdown.

With the vast improvement in the defensive ends, by virtue of another lineup shift, the Seminoles will have placed a solid weld at the weakest link in their team-strength—Tom Brown is the boy who turned the tide in this department. At the beginning of the season the 165 pound Junior showed a lot of speed and ran at the halfback slot. At that time the middle of the line was the weak spot, and Brown was sparkling on defensive tackling. He was shifted to the tackle slot and caused a lot of competition in the line that considerably strengthened it. During the Cocoa game the Seminoles were run ragged around the ends, and no one seemed able to stop them. It accounted for four of the Cocoa TDs. Brown, with his speed and defensive aggressiveness, was tried at the outside defensive post and was natural.

John Williams, the 165 pound Seminoles right end, was the only scorer in the Cocoa game. He caught several good passes and has shown up well in the last two weeks practice. Claude Hittell, 190 pound Junior, is perhaps the most improved man on the squad in the last two weeks. Hittell shows his weight around with a lot of drive when he is the receiver, and has earned the starting berth at left end.

Bill Tyre is a slow starter. He has a perfect physique for a high school lineman, but he had a lot of trouble finding himself. In the last week the 180 pound Junior has acquired a lot of coordination, an essential element to good line blocking, and has earned top billing at left tackle. On the other side of the line, Meredith Scott will be holding down the right tackle post. The 180 pound Senior was out of shape for the Cocoa affair, but all that has changed with the two weeks behind him.

Murray Nance has come up well with a lot of individual attention. The 170 pound Senior has been plagued with a series of minor injuries and has not been running at top speed. This week, however, he seems to have recovered from his last affliction, bruised cartilage of the shoulder, and has shown enough to get the nod for left guard.

Charles Fence came through for the Seminoles in the last few days with flying colors. When it was known that Stotaky was definitely out for the Apopka game the coaching staff was faced with a seemingly insurmountable problem: where would they get another center with only two days before game time so that the heavy backfield could still perform? Fence was the answer.

Perhaps the most consistent blocker in the lineup is 175 pound right guard, Virgil Gracey was a standout in the Cocoa game and his showings have not diminished with the passing of the last two weeks.

Many things will determine who the starting quarterback will be.

A pretty fair estimate shows five men slated for heavy action in the backfield. Bob Johnson, right handed passing sparkler, will alternate with Al Stanley, hard hitting south-paw aerialist, quarterback post. Brantley Schirrod has been tabbed the man to start in the left halfback hole, while Byrd will be counted on as heavily as his conditions permit. When Byrd is not performing at the right halfback position, Stanley is the top man slated to take his place. Terry "The Bull" Goebel, the 190 pound "enlightened" tackle will be running the fullback spot.

It all shapes up like a whale-of-a-game, with the Sanford Seminoles a one touchdown favorite. It's a very short trip to Apopka, there's a motorcade forming at the parking lot of SHS at 6:30, and the fans who make the trip will be amply rewarded by the performance turned in by their Seminoles. Plan to be one of them.

All members of the Chief's Club are expected to participate in the booster caravan, and every car load of Seminoles fans is urged to be in the group.

Be sure your horns are ready to sound off for a big boost to the club, or limber up your throat, Y'ALL COME!

AL COLLINS ON THE GO. Little Al Collins, speedy halfback for the Sanford Seminoles JV's, returns a punt 52 yards to set up a fourth quarter score in the Seminoles JV-DeLand JV game Wednesday in Memorial Stadium. Player in front of Collins attempted tackle and missed, but it caused Collins to break stride enough for player in back of him to make tackle. Collins received the punt on his own 42 yard line and returned it to the Bullpup six before he was finally dragged down. (Photo By Jameson)

Social Security Changes

Members of the uniformed forces on active duty will begin to receive regular credits toward Social Security benefits after this year, Paul K. Weaver, manager of the Orlando Social Security Office said today. Beginning with 1957, soldiers, sailors, marines, members of the Coast Guard and other uniformed services will be covered by the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance program on a permanent contributory basis for the first time.

The Federal Government and the servicemen will share the social security tax in the same manner as employers and employees in private industry. This tax will be at the same rate as that provided for civilian workers and employers. For servicemen the social security tax will be on the service person's basic pay and will not be imposed on such items as value of food, shelter, various allowances and special pay.

The Social Security Administration and the Service Departments are making special plans to issue social security account number cards to members of the services. It will not be necessary for servicemen on active duty to contact Social Security district offices to apply for cards.

Free wage credits of $160 a month for service personnel will not be granted for service after 1956. The new service credits are to be earned by service personnel in addition to the staff retirement systems.

Under the new law service after 1956, however, may carry with it free wage credits for military service performed after 1950 and before 1957. This may be true even if the same period is creditable toward a retirement payment from the service department.

The free wage credits for service prior to 1957 cannot be used toward social security benefits if that service was used in connection with a monthly payment under the civil service retirement system for Federal civilian employees. However under a provision of the new law, survivors may if to their advantage give up all rights to a civil service annuity and elect to have pre-1957 military service counted toward social security benefits.

The Orlando Social Security office is located at 26 East Central Ave.

After a perfect landing ended their adventure, the boys were arrested and later released in parents' custody.

RECHECK ADDS 200 VOTES TO TALLY
TAMPA (AP)—The margin of Nick Nuccio's victory over J. L. Young in the Tampa mayoralty race was only 125 votes. A recheck of voting machines, asked by Young, added 200 to his total final tally showed 23,624 for Nuccio and 23,499 for Young. Nuccio, a county commissioner, and Young, acting mayor, were running for the office left vacant by the death of Mayor Curtis Hixon.

ENGINEERS HELD an emergency meeting in Palos Verdes, Calif., to determine the cause and extent of a sudden earth-slippage near the coastal section of the town, imperiling 900 homes. A three-mile area of cracking has been discovered so far between the main highway and the inland portion of the hillside. Here, a reporter is shown inspecting part of the cracked surface. DEMOCRATIC PRESIDENTIAL NOMINEE Adlai Stevenson rides in an open car through Kansas City, Mo., with former President and Mrs. Harry S. Truman before delivering a Truman-style "give 'em hell" speech. Truman, who a few short weeks ago at the Democratic National Convention said he didn't think Stevenson could win, introduced the nominee as "the next President of the United States." Stevenson noted their disagreements, but said Truman was never a man to "pass the buck."

Lund Says

STEVENSON DOUBLE TALK
When talking to farmers, Stevenson sheds crocodile tears when telling them their PRICES ARE TOO LOW. The next day he tells the city folk PRICES ARE TOO HIGH. As Kefauver, his running mate said (and he ought to know) on April 8th, "Stevenson has one speech for New York and an entirely different one for Florida." He also has one speech for the farmer and an entirely different one for the consumer.

REPRESENT EVERYBODY
I won't deny that my opponent has used his influence to help some SPECIAL IMPORTANT PEOPLE get certain assistance in Washington. But I believe a Congressman should use his influence FOR ALL THE PEOPLE and not just for a certain few. If a Republican does his, the Democrats accuse him of being for "Special Interests." Getting these special favors for a few may explain WHY he DIDN'T have time to answer the 97 important roll calls he missed. Perhaps it explains why HE DIDN'T HAVE TIME to introduce and pass A SINGLE BILL in 8 years that would have helped ALL THE PEOPLE.

While on her summer vacation, Clee, the four-faced "talking" hound based on Jackie Cooper's comedy series, "The People's Choice," (Thursday, 9:30 p.m., NY), displays a side of her nature which would probably astound any breeder of hunting dogs. Living with trainer Frank Inn at the Sun Valley, California ranch, Clee covets with many trained animals. She actually cultivated a friendship with a wild rabbit, whom she feeds carrots regularly. The remarkable thing about this relationship is that hound hounds were originally bred for hunting rabbits. Among Clee's other friends are numbered a raccoon, a squirrel, several cats and numerous other canines, with whom she lives in perfect harmony.

A TRIBUTE TO OUR NEWSBOYS, --
FUTURE LEADERS OF SANFORD AND THE NATION

on _____

National Newspaper Boy Day
Saturday, October 6th.

Restless movement and physical activity is common to all normal boys. Many boys, however, waste this precious energy of youth on an endless round of fun or mischief. Then there are a few boys who think beyond the immediate present, and their need for "having a good time" These boys are your neighborhood errand boys, the part-time helpers in stores and offices --- AND NEWSBOYS! The Newsboy, because he has to "be on the job" every day that the paper is issued. . . because he must never neglect any one of his many customers. . . because he must pay for every paper he carries, learns many lessons of self-reliance, dependability and honesty that will be of untold value to him throughout his lifetime.

21 ROUTE CARRIERS
and
28 STREET SALES BOYS

Deliver The Sanford Herald every evening, rain or Shine Monday through Friday.

Newsboys "grow up" quickly. Every day they come to the newspaper office and see the big press roll, they live in a man's world. The bundle of papers is so much merchandise that they must sell, return payment to the company for the quantity sold, and retain the balance as the profit for their labor. Each "little merchant" deals with several hundred adult customers every day, and he begins to plan early on just what he will do when he too is an adult. That is why so many newsboys become college men, and later-- successful business and professional men.

Commission Gets Funds For Job Finding Service

The Industrial Commission has received $12,370 in Federal funds to finance increased job finding services to older workers, Chairman James T. Vocelle reported today.

Vocelle said the funds will go for salaries for three older worker specialists in the Employment Service Division, one in Tallahassee central office, one in Miami and one in St. Petersburg.

The money is Florida's share of $448,500 allotted by the U. S. Labor Department's Bureau of Employment Security for expanded efforts in helping aging persons find jobs.

Florida last year was given a $20,000 Federal grant for a special study in the Miami office of the State Employment Service on the needs, problems and abilities of older persons in employment.

This study, and seven others in major population centers of the U. S. where older persons are concentrated, showed that special efforts in helping older workers find jobs pay off, Vocelle said.

Employment Service Director William U. Norwood Jr., said that "Special counseling, job locating and placement efforts produced almost five times as many job placements of older workers in experimental groups than were placed from matched groups of older workers given only normal services."

Norwood points out that one-third of the population today is over 45, and in a few years one-half will be over this age. He also noted that while Florida's population gain from 1940-1950 was 48 per cent, her gain in persons over 45 was 51 per cent.

"Even though 18 counties of the State declined in population, every county had an increase in numbers of people 65 and over," Norwood said. "This results from the fact that people are living longer today and more older persons are coming to Florida. We must improve our Employment Service program to help such people find jobs."

Vocelle noted that a major problem in the success of special services to older workers is winning employer acceptance in hiring such persons. Older worker studies dispelled myths about inability of this group as results demonstrate that persons over 45 compare favorably with other groups in productivity, skill, attendance, health and other qualities.

"We are not trying to win special consideration of these people for jobs, but are seeking to get employers to consider this growing source of manpower on the individual's ability to do the job, regardless of age or other traditional requirements not important in accomplishing the work to be performed," Vocelle said.

"That's awfully kind of you, Mrs. Featherstone."

"Not at all. Not at all. I'd like to think of you wearing it. You look beautiful tonight, my dear, really beautiful."

Val thanked her warmly. What had happened to Mrs. Featherstone?

The sudden change to reasonably good weather seemed to have brought almost everyone out of their cabins. The lounge was crowded and most of the passengers had dressed for dinner.

Dirk was leaning against the bar waiting for her, tall and thin, immaculately dressed as ever, the ideal partner for glamorous hotel holding rooms and fashionable night clubs. She was quite sure that Dirk would command the head-writer's full attention when you arrived with him; that is, if he could afford to take you there.

She saw her standing hesitantly in the doorway and came quickly toward her. He caught both her hands and stood a moment looking at her.

"Well, so fairy tales do come true," he said.

"The transformation is aided by borrowed plumes," she said. "Mrs. Featherstone's white mink cape. She ran her fingers lingeringly down the sides of the cape. "Something even movie stars don't sniff at."

"Oh, Aunt May does herself proud in the matter of clothes," he said, and went on, "but of course Aunt May's really loaded."

She ceased smiling and the precious sense of gaiety she'd had recently died.

"Is that how you feel about Mrs. Featherstone?" she asked quietly.

"Ify, boy, what is all this?" he said, giving her a quizzical look. "Are you accusing me of playing up to Aunt May for ulterior motives?" His gray eyes looked down into her face, half accusing, half respectful.

"I don't mean to infer anything," she said quickly.

"That's not good enough. Come along over to the bar and we'll thrash this situation out." His voice was no longer light.

"I thought you were going to walk on the deck."

"I thought you were going to take me for a walk on deck," she suggested.

"All right, let's get a dose of ozone and then we'll come back in here and settle the argument."

"I didn't know there was an argument," she said as he held the door open for her to pass through out onto the deck.

Val stepped out beside him, loving the brush of the wind against her face. Tonight the moonlight glowed on the waves; waves no longer angry but comparatively gentle. She didn't even mind when Dirk laid his hand through hers under the mink cape, or when his fingers pressed into the soft warmth of her arm. But her sense of enchantment with the moonlit night died swiftly as Dirk began to talk.

"You think I'm hanging around a rich woman for no other reason than that I was briefly, very briefly, engaged to her daughter, hoping she will leave me something. That is what Bruce Harridan told you this afternoon, isn't it?" His voice had suddenly sharpened to a challenge.

"You know I saw Doctor Harridan this afternoon?"

"I knew," he said.

"And you're trying to tell me you've no interest in my patient's money?" she asked.

"I won't pretend I've no interest in her money, for you wouldn't believe me if I did." He smiled slightly. "But on the other hand, I say, and you must believe this, Val, I'd try and be as decent as I'm being to Aunt May if she hadn't a penny. You see, she has no one but me."

"But you said the other day that she had relatives," Val murmured.

His gave a short laugh. "They loathe her, and she loathes them. Naturally they'd be pleased to accept her money when she dies. But luckily I don't think she'll die for a very long time. Although I don't believe it, do you?" He'd stopped walking abruptly.

"Do you?" He repeated it, and added irritably, "For Heaven's sake, say exactly what you think, Val!"

CHAPTER 11

WITH A faint sense of inward derision, Val mentally tipped her cap to Dirk. When she went back into her patient's cabin, not only was Mrs. Featherstone apparently delighted that Dirk and Val should dine together, but she insisted that Val should dress up for the occasion.

It would be fun to get out of uniform for a change, and since a friend of Val's in London was a mannequin, sometimes she was able to get her clothes the girls had worn at shows at greatly reduced prices.

Even Mrs. Featherstone looked impressed when she came back into her cabin wearing a lovely floating gown.

"My, you do look lovely, child," she murmured almost involuntarily.

Val, delighted at the praise, turned slowly so that her employer could better appreciate the gown. For the first time in their association she hadn't called Val "Nurse." Surprisingly she added, "Take my white mink cape. You may be cold if you're going to walk on the deck."

State Development Groups Will Spend Over $3 Million

Florida state and municipal development organizations will spend a total of $3,349,476 this year for advertising and promotion. Their purpose is to help attract tourists, vacationers and industry to the state.

The research department of The Curtis Publishing Company has made public its tenth annual survey of the amount set aside by respective state, area, and community groups in this matter of advertising and promotion. The report states that Florida will spend a total of $2,879,314 to attract vacationers and tourists and $370,162 to attract industry.

The travel industry is booming as Americans enjoy higher family income and increased leisure. Yet it faces fierce competition from without and within as other industries fight for a greater share of the consumer dollar.

The Curtis report is based on a study of 283 state, area and community development groups located in all parts of the United States. It reveals the importance that these respective groups attach to the promotion of tourist trade as a means of increasing employment, payroll, and the purchasing power in each area.

The Florida report is based on responses from more than thirty community development organizations, among them the Miami Beach, the Jacksonville, the Savannah, and the St. Petersburg Chamber of Commerce. These organizations reported, respectively, that they would spend $343,000, $37,000, $14,750, and $119,000 to attract tourists. The Coral Gables Chamber of Commerce, the Tallahassee Chamber of Commerce and Greater Tampa Chamber of Commerce reported that they would spend $3,300, $17,400 and $49,000 to promote industry.

Krider Proposes Junior College On County Home Site

School Locating Here Will Mean Much Progress

"We have a site in Seminole County that is one of the most desirable locations in the State for one of the Junior Colleges that are being planned by the State Board of Education," John Krider, Seminole County Chamber of Commerce Executive Secretary said today.

"I have proposed that we do away with the antiquated County Home," Krider commented as he spoke of his proposal to offer the State a site on which to locate one of the new schools.

"This site, where the County Home is now located, is much more desirable for a Junior College than for its present use," he said.

In offering the State Department of Education the site where the County Home is now located, we are offering them a site located on a main highway, easily accessible to a population that runs well up into the six figure bracket, commented Krider.

"A Junior College located on Highway 17-92 would be outside of a heavily populated area that would tend to reflect its exclusive use there," Krider said.

The County Commissioner-elect said that "it would be easy to keep the county's machinery, locate its garage, maintenance and repair shops on property not as valuable as the County Home site, and on property now owned by Seminole County."

"The newly proposed nursing home for our elderly citizens could be located on a site more suitable," according to John Krider.

The property where the County Home is now located is a beautiful site on one of the main highways of the State and easily accessible from the north, south, east and west, and with the proper planning could be offered to the State to be used for one of their new colleges for which they are now searching for locations," John Krider explained.

"I have thought about this proposal for a long time," Krider (Continued on Page 10)

County Vocational Teachers Offered Education Course

A Vocational Education Course is being offered to all vocational teachers in Seminole County, said Fred Murray, director of adult and vocational education. The course will begin this afternoon, starting at 4 o'clock, in the Board Room of the School Administration Building on Commercial Ave. J. A. Morrison will be the instructor for the course which will cover nine weeks with instruction from 4 to 6 o'clock every afternoon. The course is being conducted by the University of Florida Extension Service with instructors from the University of Florida staff.

Official Suggests Private Nursing Home For Elderly

"It is time now to provide better care for our elderly people in their sunset years, and at a lower cost," John Krider, City Commissioner and Executive Secretary of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, said today.

"The idea of a county 'poor house' is antiquated and in the proper way to take care of our older citizens," Krider said.

Krider said that it is time that Seminole County modernize its facilities for this important phase of the county's obligation in line with other counties throughout the state.

"It is feasible to do this," said Krider, "for each and everyone of them is entitled to something—Social Security, old age pensions or Welfare Department aid."

The care for our elderly people should be put on a private nursing home basis, said Krider, where they will get the proper care, the proper food, diet, exercise and medical care.

In the proposal for such a radical change in the county's policies, Krider said that the county, perhaps, would necessarily have to subsidize the move to a certain extent—but not at the excessive cost that is now budgeted by the county government, and paid out of the taxpayers' money.

He explained that the average elderly person receives approximately $60 a month while the average cost for operating the nursing home would be in the neighborhood of $100, including the cost of maintenance, the necessary equipment, and everything else in the operating expense.

"All the county would have to do," Krider said, "would be to supplement the income of the elderly people by about $40 a month."

In other words, the cost to maintain the 16 people in the (Continued on Page Seven)

Higginbotham Seeks Re-Election To Post

"I should like to announce that I will be a candidate for re-election to the City Commission for a three year term on Nov. 6, 1936," Earl Higginbotham said this morning.

Commissioner Higginbotham, who is the second commissioner to announce for re-election said "I do this solely on the basis of wanting to see the City of Sanford continue to grow and expand as it has done in the past few years."

"While serving as a commissioner during the past three years," said Higginbotham, "I have had the pleasure of serving with a group of men who have helped the city progress more than any time in the past. We have had some of the major problems of all time come up before the City Commission during this period. The sewer system was constructed which helped to give services to many people. The sewage treatment plant is still a problem to be faced. The city has undertaken a street surfacing program that has been needed for years."

Commissioner Higginbotham recalled that "The past three years has seen the settlement of the electric franchise with the power company. This has meant added revenue to the city in a fair settlement of a big question. The revenue is being used to give the people of Sanford a community center, fire station, and many other things we have needed for years."

In addition, Higginbotham said (Continued on Page Seven)

Board To Discuss Improvement Plan; Okay Appointment

The Board of Sanford City Commissioners will meet tonight to discuss one of the lightest agendas to confront the five-man group of city fathers.

Top item on the two-item agenda will be the discussion relative to the financing of Sanford's Capital Improvement program which includes a Sanford Civic Center, a new Municipal Fire Station, new fire apparatus, a Colored swimming pool for the Goldsboro Recreational Area, the Municipal Boat Basin, and new equipment badly needed for various departments of the city's general government.

A committee appointed by Mayor F. D. Scott to look into Capital Improvement Program financing will probably report on their findings. Two important bids hinged on the success of the committee's securing of the necessary money which is to be backed by the Florida Power and Light Company franchise agreement retained.

The appointment of H. N. Sayer as Finance Director for the City of Sanford will be finally approved by the Board and Sanford City Commissioners. Sayer's position will be the top position in Sanford's City government, next to that of City Manager Warren E. Knowles. (Continued on Page 10)

Touhy To Attend Savings, Loan League Confab

Over 200 savings and loan executives, including George Touhy, Executive Vice-President of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Seminole County, and their guests will attend the Thirty-third Annual Convention of the Florida Savings and Loan League, October 11-13 at the Duval Hotel in Tallahassee.

Joseph S. Guesoway, president of the League, states that the three day meeting will feature addresses from national leaders in the savings and loan business and round tables on various aspects of the business.

The convention opens on Thursday afternoon, October 11, with a round table on Internal Audits and Controls lead by Verne C. Bonesteel, Director of Division of Examinations, Federal Home Loan Bank Board, Washington, D. C. Other participants will be John P. Harbison, Chief Examiner, Fifth Federal Home Loan Bank District; Myron Williamson, Miami Beach Federal Savings and Loan Association; and Robert G. Landis, Home Federal Savings and Loan Association of Holly. (Continued on Page 10)

Orchid Expert, Writer To Speak At Luncheon

The Sanford federated Garden club averages 333 members, most of whom will be on hand to welcome Miss Mary Noble, author and orchid expert and her mother, Mrs. Fred B. Noble, garden editor and feature writer for Florida horticultural magazines. The various circles will band together for a reception and covered dish luncheon on Thursday, Oct. 18th.

Requests have been pouring in for Miss Noble to speak of orchid growing and also from another of her four books, "Plants Indoors." She will talk briefly on both subjects. Mrs. Noble has been asked by the majority to speak on the federated clubs and their worthwhile projects as seen in her Listening Post columns and throughout her fourteen years of service to the Florida garden world.

Lions To Observe District Governor Week At Meeting

The Sanford Lions Club will observe "District Governor's Week" tonight at their second night meeting held at the Yacht Club beginning at 6:45 p.m.

A program in honor of District Governor David Lundquist of Orlando, has been planned.

Principal speaker for the occasion will be past District Governor Earl Ziebarth of Pierson.

The annual light bulb sale, according to Ben Wade, chairman of the Sanford Lions Club committee for the event, will get underway on October 15.

"We will canvass the entire Sanford area," said Chairman Ben Wade, "to give everyone an opportunity to participate in the 'light conservation' program of our club."

Members of the Sanford Lions Club will go from house to house, in the Sanford area, selling light bulbs, proceeds from which will benefit the light conservation program of the club.

"We have furnished eye glasses, and have had examinations made leading to the prescribing of eye glasses, for children who would not otherwise be able to secure the proper attention for their eyes," Chairman Wade said.

"Of course," he said "this is only a small portion of our program but it is the most outstanding part of the work we do in our Sight Conservation program." The light bulb sale will start on October 15 and continue throughout that week, Wade said.

ACTIVE CLUB WOMAN DIES

MIAMI (P)—Mrs. T. V. Moore, 79, active in politics and Dade County civic affairs since 1901, died last night.

She was past president of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs and the Florida Women's Methodist Missionary Society and a member of the state Democratic central committee.

Volunteer Fire Dept. To Sponsor Barbecue Nov. 10

LONGWOOD—The Longwood Volunteer Fire Department announced yesterday that it will hold a barbecue on Nov. 10 (Saturday) in Sonnyshade Park.

Funds raised from this event will be used to purchase new equipment for the truck (auxiliary) they had acquired after the barbecue held last year.

Co-chairman Larry Chunnitt and Co-chairman Larry Chunnitt and Paul Cloutier, state that serving will begin at 3 p. m.

"YOU CAN GROW ORCHIDS" says Miss Mary Noble to her mother, Mrs. Fred B. Noble. This seems no surprise to her listener, as mother Noble realizes that the book titled "You Can Grow Orchids" by daughter Mary is now in its second printing and the subject of book reviews in the major federated circles of Florida garden clubs. Mother Noble is distinguished in her own right, being garden editor of the Florida Times-Union and for years on the governing board of the Jacksonville federated Garden Club.

Yankees Take 3-2 Lead In Series; Mantle Hits Homer

NEW YORK (P)—Don Larsen of the Yankees pitched the first perfect game in World Series history and Mickey Mantle hit a telling home run today as New York whipped Brooklyn 2-0 in the fifth World Series game and took a 3-2 lead in games. Larsen didn't give a hit or a walk and not a Dodger reached first.

Never before in World Series history had there been a no-hit game, much less one in which a team failed to get a man on base.

Larsen, a 6-foot, 4-inch native of Michigan City, who now lives in San Diego, Calif., pitched superbly with the peculiar no-windup style he adopted during the regular season. He struck out seven, including last man to face him, pinch hitter Dale Mitchell.

A crowd of 65,519 was almost breathless at the finish as Larsen set a new Series record by retiring 24 Dodgers in order through the first eight innings and faced the tail end of the Brooklyn batting order with a perfect game in sight.

Mantle's homer in the eighth inning stands in the fourth inning of the preceding day—although the Yanks got three more hits off Sal Maglie in the sixth and scored a second run.

Maglie, winner of the first game of the Series, pitched well enough to win most games. He gave up only five hits walked two and fanned five.

The nearest previous approach to a World Series no-hitter was in 1917, when Floyd Bill Beens of the Yankees held the Dodgers hitless for 8 2/3 innings before pinch-hitter Cookie Lavagetta singled. Bevens gave up ten walks that time and lost the game 3-2.
