Proposed Western-Style Lounge Bites The Dust

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Dale Gustafson's plans to operate a Western-style lounge with the restaurant he is building at 1200 French Ave. at 13th Street in Sanford died Monday night.

The Sanford City Commission unanimously denied a beer and wine license for the establishment, which is a requirement before the state will issue a liquor license.

The commission action came after members of the Mt. Shiloh Missionary Baptist Church, led by their lawyer, Kenneth McIntosh, complained that issuing the license would violate a city law and that a lounge selling alcoholic beverages would detract from the new church sanctuary they plan to build.

McIntosh said the proposed lounge would be located just "23 steps" from the church site, adding that the church's 185 members have been paying for the site for three years.

The lawyer said the planned lounge would "adversely affect the public interest" in the Goldsboro community. He urged commissioners not to "throw aside your common sense" by granting the request. McIntosh noted that the lounge also would be close to Sanford Middle School.

Gustafson, appealing to the commission for the license, said the planned restaurant and lounge would upgrade the French Avenue-13th Street area. Gustafson's lawyer, Jack Bridges, said the Planning and Zoning Commission earlier had approved the construction of a convenience store on the site, noting that beer and wine could be sold at that type of establishment.

Bridges also noted that the liquor license Gustafson planned to acquire from the state would have required that 60 percent of the restaurant-lounge's business come from the sale of food, with the remaining 40 percent coming from the sale of alcoholic beverages.

Commissioner Milton Smith said the city has no need for another establishment selling alcoholic beverages, adding that city law forbids the location of two such establishments within 500 feet of one another. He noted that another liquor establishment, George's Tavern, is 404 feet from the one proposed by Gustafson.

Commissioner David Farr said he was sorry that the issue had narrowed down to liquor as opposed to churches. He added, however, that he was elected to express the wishes of the people and that many of them are opposed to the new lounge. The proposed lounge was rejected by the four commissioners present — Mayor Lee P. Moore, Smith, Farr and Commissioner Ned Yancey. Commissioner Eddie Keith is ill and was unable to attend the meeting.

2 INJURED IN MISHAP

Gregory and Kim Rios, both 18, of 135 Lakeside Drive, Sanford, were injured this morning when their car overturned while rounding a bend in Longwood Road, about a quarter of a mile south of Lake Mary Road, Lake Mary police said. Police said the road was slippery from a morning rain. The young couple were transported to Seminole Memorial Hospital, Sanford, for treatment. Hospital officials said this morning that the couple's condition was not yet known.

Sanford Closing Down Feds' Low-Income Housing Program

The city of Sanford is completing final details to close out the federally funded Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program, which was administered by the Sanford Housing Authority.

The city withdrew its sponsorship of the program, designed to purchase dilapidated housing, renovate those homes and resell them to low-income families, after it discovered earlier this year that the housing authority had purchased 11 houses and properties, and renovated and sold seven. Federal funds totaling more than $5 million were spent in the process.

City Manager W. E. Knowles urged the city to withdraw its support, saying the project was costing too much money per dwelling.

As part of the program's closing, the commissioners voted unanimously Monday night to condemn three of the purchased houses at 900, 902 and 904 E. Eighth St. The houses are to be demolished in 10 days.

Knowles told the commissioners that the rehabilitated house at 812 Pine Ave., done as part of the program has been sold for $14,506.75. The proceeds have been placed in a special account, he said.

City Finance Director Henry Tammin is setting up a special account to provide an audit track of all CDBG transactions now that the city is handling the program's closing, Knowles said.

In addition, an auction contract is being prepared, he said, to sell off items purchased with the federal money including building materials currently stored at Sanford Airport and furnishings from the former Housing Authority office at City Hall.

Knowles said the accounting firm of Greene & Dycus of Sanford is reconstructing accounts and auditing the program from its federal approval two years ago to the present.

Two families who lived in houses purchased by the Sanford Housing Authority for renovation and resale have been relocated to public housing operated by the authority, Knowles said.

After the three houses are demolished on E. Eighth Street, the two lots they occupied will also be sold and the proceeds placed in the special bank account, Knowles said.

The city permitted the Housing Authority to cancel its lease of City Hall office space six months before the lease was to expire. Knowles said, however, that the $9,814.92 in rental fees collected by the city from the authority in advance will be held until the CDBG program is completely closed out.

Auditors from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development told the city several months ago that regular Housing Authority operating funds were commingled with CDBG funds during the more than two years the special program was going on.

The auditors said money spent by the authority from its operating funds for the special program should be recovered and returned to the authority. They said the majority of the Housing Authority director's time was spent on the DBIG program, while his salary was paid from regular operating funds. That salary should be recovered from federal funds, the auditors said.

The authority manages 488 housing units in six public housing projects in the city. — DONNA ESTES

Longwood Tax Rate Cut Down Slightly

By DARLENE JENNINGS
Herald Staff Writer

In an unexpected burst of generosity, the Longwood City Commission voted to reduce the tentatively set tax rate from $3.16 of assessed property value to $3.12 during the final budget hearing Monday night.

This means residents will have a 34.2 percent increase in taxes as opposed to the previously announced 35.9 percent.

The commission also adopted the $1.58 million budget for fiscal year 1981-82, which begins Oct. 1.

Commissioner J. Russell Grant proposed that taxpayers be given the lower increase due to the unexpected $5,000 in franchise taxes from Orange-Seminole Cablevision the city recently received.

The city also received an extra $4,000 in unexpected revenue-sharing from the federal government, but the board decided to use this new money for city office equipment and additional furniture for City Hall.

"I think we ought to knock off the millage rate (tax rate) in light of the $5,000 we have found from Cablevision," said Grant. "Let's just change it right now," added Deputy Mayor June Lormann.

The vote to change the tax rate was unanimous.

One resident, however, was vehemently opposed to the city's suggestion to use the additional money from revenue-sharing for remodeling City Hall.

"Making a new office for a mayor has a lot to do with an ego boost and nothing to do with wasting money," the resident, Robert Davis said, directing his remarks to Mayor John Hepp, who has been quoted several times as being in favor of expanding City Hall as a "symbol of pride" for Longwood.

"I think people in this city should have a nice place to come in and talk to their city commissioners," said Hepp in response.

Hepp added that a lot of money that is going into the City Hall remodeling is being gathered from private donations.

In other commission action, Police Chief Gregg Manning reported proposed changes he has worked out with county officials regarding the "no parking" signs that were placed in front of businesses on County Road 427.

Manning said that now some parking would be added from the south side of Warren Avenue and the west side of 427, and from the east side of 427 to the railroad tracks that cross 427 and just before State Road 434.

Two weeks ago the commissioners decided to put up "no parking" signs along 427 between Warren and the railroad tracks, and area merchants came before the board last week to tell the commissioners the board had, in effect, closed down their businesses.

Manning said the county is going to work with the city to re-mark C.R. 427 so that definition of the lanes will not be so confusing to motorists.

The commissioners agreed with the police chief that when the county installs a street light at the intersection of Church Street and 427, some of the traffic problems in the area should be resolved.

The board also accepted a petition for the annexation of a parcel 400 feet north of Wildmere on the west side of U.S. Highway 17-92. Petitioner Walter E. Judge told the board he plans to build two eight-unit apartments on the site already zoned residential by the county.

The board also accepted Judge's proposal to annex an adjoining lot for future commercial use.

City Attorney Marvin Rooks reported that as he sees it, the goal of the double-taxation suit filed by some other county cities, and which is being considered by Longwood is to get as many cities as possible to participate in the suit against the county. In this way, litigation costs could be shared among participating cities, he said.

Hepp instructed Rooks to find out how other cities exploring the suit are handling their investigation into the suit. Hepp said the commission might be able to decide next week whether to enter the suit.

According to Rooks, a preliminary study for the city to determine the feasibility of entering into a suit against the county could cost the city $2,000 in analyst fees alone.

"If we should decide to go into this suit," Rooks said, "we must be prepared

$7.8 Million Budget OK'd

A $7.8 million budget for the 1981-82 fiscal year beginning Thursday was adopted by the Sanford City Commission unanimously Monday night, and a property tax rate of $5.88 per $1,000 assessed valuation was set for the new year.

At a public hearing held prior to adoption, no members of the public spoke either for or against the budget.

The tax rate represents an increase of 23.6 cents per $1,000 over the 1980-81 fiscal year.

The overall budget of $7,824,407 is up 15 percent over the current year's $6,809,718.

The total budget includes general operations of $4,938,454, up from $4,359,920; utility department, water and sewer, $2,233,954, up from $1,974,616; and refuse, $651,999, up from $476,082.

The general operating budget is up $579,434 from the current year's $4,359,920.

The tax rate of $5.88 per $1,000 assessed valuation is up by 4 percent over the current year's $5.64. — DONNA ESTES

Kiwanis Blacks Organize New Club: East-West Club Of Sanford

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

A new Kiwanis Club is being organized in Sanford by business and professional men of the black community, who hope it will be the first new club of the year in the United States for Kiwanis International. The organization's year begins Oct. 1.

The organizational meeting for the club, to be known as the Kiwanis Club of East-West Sanford, will be held at 7 p.m. Wednesday at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce building, First Street and Sanford Avenue.

Special guests at the meeting will be the past governor of the Florida District, Bill Thatcher, of Leesburg; the incoming lieutenant governor of Division 25, Larry Jackman, of Altamonte Springs; and incoming lieutenant governor-elect Jack Weible, of Sanford.

Thatcher will install the officers of the new club, who include Jim Allen, president; Taylor Roundtree, first vice president; the Rev. Hezekiah Ross, second vice president; Earl Minott, secretary, and Oscar Redden, treasurer.

According to Allen, 36 members have signed the petition seeking a charter for the new club. Charter night has been scheduled for Nov. 14 at a location yet to be determined.

Regular breakfast meetings will be held at 8 a.m. each Saturday at Mother's Kitchen, 1407 W. 13th St., Sanford, Allen said.

"Interested men are invited to come and join us and help get the club on the road and do the job we have to do in the community," he added.

This is the second Kiwanis Club organized by blacks in the Florida District, according to Weible, who has been working with the Sanford group to get the club organized. "It has been in the works for about a year and a half," he said. "I was approached by Hezekiah Ross and 'Pappy' (Timothy) Wilson to help them get a Kiwanis Club organized. This club and one in the Altamonte Springs-Longwood area are the first new Kiwanis Clubs to be formed in this district in nine years."

Smile — This Is A Holdup

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — An 18-year-old high school junior escaped with more than $1,000 in a robbery at the Bank of St. Louis, but apparently reconsidered and surrendered to authorities a short time later, the FBI said.

An agent said the robber displayed no weapon in the holdup Monday but handed a teller a note. One side read: "Over. No tricks." The other side read: "This is a holdup, $2,000 please. Smile."

The teller handed over $1,050 and the robber fled. About 1 1/2 hours later, the agent said LeRoy Ray, a student in St. Louis, telephoned police and admitted the robbery.

Ray had gone to a restaurant where he once worked and talked with the owner, who persuaded him to surrender.

Solidarity Declaring 'War' Against The State?

GDANSK, Poland (UPI) — Official media accused the Solidarity convention of declaring "war" on the state but union officials rushed across Poland to head off a strike today by coal miners in the southern industrial region of Silesia.

Solidarity delegates meeting in Gdansk also expected harsh attacks from Moscow and East Bloc allies following the announcement the dissident group KOR was disbanding to turn over its fight for the "independence of Poland and the rights of man" to Solidarity.

"Every word spoken at the congress proclaims a war against the government and legal-political relations," the Polish news agency PAP said. "The authorities, which wanted to be a partner of Solidarity, cannot have any illusions.

Jews: Happy New Year

Israelis welcomed the Jewish New Year with prayers in more than 7,000 synagogues and hopes for peace but five Jews were arrested in the Soviet Union when they tried to commemorate a Nazi massacre during World War II.

The new year celebrations, called Rosh Hashana, began at sundown Monday and marked the 5,742th year since creation according to the Jewish calendar.

60 Executed in Iran

Iranian authorities took revenge for street battles by executing 60 opponents after trials as brief as 15 minutes and Tehran's revolutionary prosecutor said 9-year-old children could be executed if proven "grown enough."

The prosecutor, Assadollah Lajevardi, said in a telephone interview Monday that the 60 dissidents had been executed in Tehran's feared Evin Prison and added that the cells were full.

An Evin Prison official, who did not want to be identified, earlier said some trials lasted "between 15 and 30 minutes." Tehran residents reported after Sunday's street battles that "anyone who looked suspicious, or even walked fast, was arrested."

Indian Airliner Hijacked

LAHORE, Pakistan (UPI) — Armed Sikh warriors seeking independence from India today hijacked an Indian Airlines jet carrying 111 passengers and landed in Lahore, Pakistan, airlines officials said.

Authorities in Lahore said the Sikh hijackers were holding 111 passengers and six crewmen hostage, but all appeared to be unharmed. Initial reports said only 62 people were aboard the Indian Airlines 737.

The hijackers' demands were not immediately known. Two of them were identified as Rajinder Singh and N. Sachdev of the fanatical Khalsa Party, a Sikh group demanding independence for the wealthy northwestern Indian state of Punjab.

Dollar Slips, Gold Up

LONDON (UPI) — The dollar slipped against European currencies today following further reductions in U.S. interest rates. Gold recovered quickly from Monday's dramatic declines.

The burglary took place between 9 p.m. Friday and 7:20 a.m. Saturday.

Car Lot Owner Won't Be Fined...Yet

Conflicting testimony and the "seriousness of the issue," prompted the Casselberry City Council's unanimous decision Monday night to continue a request by Grady Cobb for relief from payment of extensive fines to the city for alleged building-code violations at his property until the Oct. 5 council meeting.

Cobb, who operates 436 Auto Sales at 870 Semoran Blvd., has been fined $300 per day since Aug. 10 for failure to correct code violations as stipulated by the Codes Enforcement Board, city officials said at Monday night's meeting.

Councilman Frank Schutte told Cobb, "If there is still one violation and all others have been met, there has still not been compliance with the board's requirements."

Cobb, along with his lawyer, told the council all violations determined by the board "have been satisfied as of Sept.

Building Official Frank Broyles disagreed, saying Cobb has not met all requirements for satisfying the violations as determined by the board.

In a letter to the council this week, Broyles said "everything was out of code" concerning Cobb's property. He cited unfinished wiring, stored inflammable materials, blocked ingress and egress to a property structure, and other hazardous situations.

Cobb said he has "acted in good faith" by tearing down a structure used for spray-painting cars as requested by the city because of structural problems. He also said he has done everything he could to expedite correction of other problems.

The council unanimously decided to continue the hearing until Oct. 5 and directed the mayor, fire inspector and building official to inspect Cobb's property and report to the council no later than Wednesday concerning Cobb's compliance or non-compliance with the corrective requirements. The council also decided the $300-per-day fine would be held in abeyance until it can act on the issue at the Oct. 5 meeting.

William Lawless, lawyer for property owner, Mel Pinto of Virginia, asked the council to waive the possibility of a lien being placed against the property for the fine should Cobb "run off" and not pay the fine.

City Attorney Ken McIntosh told Lawless, "The city has no action against you or your client."

Lawless added that if Cobb has not corrected all cited violations by today, the owner will begin civil proceedings against him and evict him from the property.

'Father's Murder Affected Son'

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The Florida Supreme Court has scheduled a hearing for next month to consider whether James Raulerson's death sentence should be overturned because of possible psychological trauma he could have suffered after witnessing his father's murder.

Raulerson's lawyer will present arguments Oct. 8 in hopes of convincing the justices mitigating circumstances existed and Raulerson should not be sentenced to the electric chair.

Raulerson's adoptive father died in his arms of gunshot wounds in the Ohio restaurant they ran together in 1972. Three years later Raulerson gunned down Patrolman Michael Stewart while robbing a restaurant in Jacksonville.

Raulerson's lawyer thinks that more than coincidence is involved and that the death of his adoptive father might have been the motivating factor behind the shooting of the officer at the Salmaker Restaurant.

Two Duval County circuit judges have rejected this, concluding Raulerson was well within his senses when he pulled the trigger taking the 23-year-old officer's life.

The psychiatric issue is one of several raised by Raulerson's public defender in his new attempt to avoid the death penalty.

Raulerson, 31, of Rockmart, Ga., and Jerry Tant robbed the Jacksonville restaurant on April 27, 1975. Raulerson was further accused of raping a waitress during the robbery. A passerby alerted police and in a shootout, Tant and the officer were killed.

Raulerson was convicted of murder and sentenced to death by Judge Susan Black on Aug. 20, 1975. The Florida Supreme Court upheld the sentence three years later and Gov. Bob Graham signed Raulerson's death warrant on April 18, 1980.

But U.S. District Court Judge William Castagna in Jacksonville later threw out the death sentence on the grounds that Raulerson had not been given an opportunity to read a presentence investigation report.

After hearing testimony from Raulerson's natural mother and others, Circuit Judge Ralph W. Nimmmons Jr. reimposed the death sentence on Aug. 12, 1980, saying the officer's murder was "heinous, atrocious and cruel."

The judge listed five aggravating factors and no mitigating factors in setting the sentence.

But the defense believes the earlier murder of Dennis Raulerson could be cited as a mitigating factor for his adopted son.

Longwood's historical-district chickens were given 30 days to move out of the city. The chickens are owned by Mary Holton, who lives across the street from City Hall.

The commission said Monday night that the city must enforce its ordinance prohibiting raising farm animals in the city. Commissioners said the ordinance was being enforced because of complaints from residents about the chickens.

However, Warren Fageley, a resident who last week was told by the board to keep his rooster at home rather than allowing it to run freely over the City Hall grounds, said the only complaint he had ever heard about Mrs. Holton's chickens was from the city's administrator.

"All I've ever heard was that the chickens keep Mr. Chacey (David Chacey, city administrator) awake even during the day," said Fageley.

According to police reports, Allen Joseph Thomas, said burglars scattered contents of drawers on the floors in living room and bedrooms.

The only item missing, however, was a Star .25 caliber automatic pistol taken from a nightstand drawer.

HELD ON AUTO THEFT

John Henry Garrett, 47, of Market St. and Blake, Altamonte Springs, was being held at the Seminole County Jail Tuesday lieu of $5,000 bond.

Garrett is charged with grand theft-auto after he was caught Monday evening with a van that had been reported stolen.

RECRUIT ROBBED

Enlisting in the United States Marine Corps hasn't proved too profitable so far for new recruit David Velen of Geneva. While Velen was taking his entrance physical and being sworn into the Marines in Jacksonville, he left his "ratty beat-up old Pontiac" parked behind the Marine Corp Recruiting station, 2305 S. French Ave., Sanford, said Marine recruiter Sgt. Ike Moon.

Sometime between 3 p.m. Thursday and 9:45 a.m. Saturday someone broke into the vehicle. Stolen, according to police reports, were an AM-FM stereo, stereo tapes, a snack tray and sunglasses, all valued at $150. But that wasn't all.

"They took his notes from 16 hours of biology classes," Moon said. "They even broke into the glove compartment and stole dirty napkins and pencils."

"They just cleaned out that poor kid's car." But Moon said Velen was philosophical about the matter. "He said it could have been worse. The car's ignition doesn't lock and whoever broke in could have just started the car up and driven away."

Medical Program Gains Support In Casselberry

There are at least 704 Casselberry residents who say they will support a Fire Department paramedic program in the city, according to Firefighter Frank Stone.

Stone, along with a handful of other firefighters and residents, has been working since August to gather enough signatures to present a petition for the advanced life-support program to City Council.

"We're very pleased," Stone said. "We have 704 signatures, which have been verified with the supervisor of elections, and all we need to bring the petition to the council was 624 signatures as of Oct. 1." The number of signatures required on the petition is based on a percentage of the city's total population.

The paramedic program proposes training, equipping and paying six paramedic-firefighters with a budget of $150,000 annually. Stone said the funding for the program will be raised through an additional $1.25 per $1,000 assessed property value tax levy. For example, the owner of a $50,000 home could expect to pay an additional $5.21 per month, or $62.50 per year more in taxes.

Taxes for property owners in Casselberry currently are $1.95 per $1,000 of assessed property value. According to Mayor Owen Sheppard, Casselberry's tax rate is the lowest in Seminole County.

Stone said the paramedic program issue will be added to the Oct. 13 meeting of the council and then, it is hoped, to the Oct. 12 council agenda for the council's discussion.

Stone said the council has several options concerning the petition.

"The council could vote to implement the program immediately or ask us to get more signatures and then re-present the petition, or kill the proposal," he said.

Stone said that if the council disapproves the program, the committee requesting the program will ask that a referendum be added to the December election ballot to have residents decide whether they want, and are willing to pay for, a paramedic program.

$30 Million Coke Bust

MIAMI (UPI) — Federal and state agents raided a suburban home southwest of Miami Monday night and found $40 pounds of high grade cocaine with a wholesale value of more than $30 million, a spokeswoman said.

Agent Lucette Fortier of the Florida Department of Law Enforcement said four citizens of Colombia found in the house were handed over to U.S. Immigration officials.

She said the cocaine was found hidden inside 11 duffel bags at the house. She listed the wholesale value of the cocaine at $30,250,000.

Spy Admits To Espionage To Save His Wife And Son

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Confessed spy Joseph George Helmich Jr. says the Army was the only family he knew and he "knowingly and willingly" betrayed its secrets to the Soviets to keep from being drummed out over a few hundred dollars in bad checks.

In a surprise move, the 44-year-old ex-Army warrant officer stood up Monday at the outset of the second week of his espionage trial and pleaded guilty to a single count of conspiring to peddle military code information to the Russians. In return, the government dropped three charges of actual espionage against him.

Defense attorney Peter M. Dearing said Helmich wanted to "terminate" the trial "because of the pressure on his wife and 10-year-old son."

New Lobbying Try For ERA

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Some supporters have given up on Florida ratifying the Equal Rights Amendment before the deadline next June 30.

But the National Organization for Women says it has such high hopes that it will mount an intensive campaign to put public pressure on anti-ERA legislators between now and the 1982 session which opens in January.

Koziy No Nazi Puppet

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Attorneys for Bohdan Koziy, accused of lying to the government about his role in World War II, will continue their defense this morning after one of his old schoolmates testified Monday that she never saw him in the uniform of a Nazi puppet policeman.

Koziy is accused of lying about his past when he entered the U.S. after the war. Government attorneys contend that Koziy helped the Nazis kill Jewish men, women and children during the occupation of Poland. They are seeking to have his U.S. citizenship stripped, which could lead to deportation.

It's Lights Out In Miami

MIAMI (UPI) — Officials in the Miami area are up in arms about plans to turn off street lights along crime-riddled Biscayne Boulevard and other major thoroughfares in the county this week in an effort to meet budget cuts.

"Are they aware this action is going to give aid and comfort to street criminals? Every study shows there is a direct connection between the number of street lights and the amount of crime," said an angry Miami Beach Mayor Murray Meyerson.

As many as 12,000 lights on some of the county's major streets will be turned off later this week — a move expected to save Dade County $1.5 million, half of what it would cost to keep them shining.

Lovers' Spat Ends In Death

MIAMI (UPI) — A man armed with a .38 caliber revolver went to a suburban Ford auto dealer Monday evening to see his former girl friend and ended up shooting her three times, wounding another woman, killing a customer paying a bill and then fleeing the scene on a bicycle.

Police said they arrested Fidel Eladio Diaz, 23, less than two hours after the shooting about two miles from the scene. Diaz has been charged with first-degree murder, aggravated assault and attempted robbery.

NATION IN BRIEF

Graham Urges Creation Of 'Southern Common Market'

DORADO, Puerto Rico (UPI) — Gov. Bob Graham of Florida urged the Southern Governors' Association Monday to form a "common market" to head off a takeover of banking by northern investors.

Graham outlined his plan for a "Southern common market" at a conference of the Southern Growth Policies Board. He said the region has no bank that can compete with huge New York and Chicago institutions, once nationwide banking comes about, and warned the governors to get ready for well-moned Northern competition in this decade.

"I think the handwriting is clearly on the wall, that soon we will have interstate banking and finance in this nation," said Graham. "There is a very real possibility that our Southern institutions will be absorbed by a nationwide tide centered in New York, Chicago or California."

Weinberger 'Pitches' Arms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Reagan administration made its pitch to the Senate Armed Services Committee, but there was no sign it scored any points on its embattled proposal to sell arms to Saudi Arabia.

Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger, flanked by a dozen uniformed Pentagon officers, testified for nearly five hours Monday on the proposal, which majorities of the House and Senate now oppose. Weinberger maintained the $8.5 billion package would be good for the United States, bolster Middle East security and decrease the chances of Soviet encroachment in the oil-rich region.

Diablo Opening Delayed

AVILA BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — A design discrepancy did what the nation's largest anti-nuclear protest was unable to do for the past two weeks — indefinitely delayed preparations to activate the Diablo Canyon nuclear power plant.

Pacific Gas & Electric, owners of the $2.3 billion plant on the California coast, disclosed late Monday that engineers had "discovered a discrepancy" in a diagram used to analyze stress on pipe supports in the reactor's domes.

County Considers Getting Involved In Multi-Family Mortgage Business

By DARLENE JENNINGS
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Commissioners took no formal action Monday afternoon toward establishing a housing finance authority that would make low-interest mortgages available to low- to middle-income families for multi-family residences.

In August the proposed plan for an authority to issue bonds for single-family residences (SFR) was dismissed when the board decided not to rush into any decision about creating an authority and the state's Sept. 1 deadline passed without the necessary resolution to do so.

There is no deadline for establishing housing authorities that offer financing for multi-family homes.

Jim Easton, assistant county administrator, presented the proposed procedure for setting up a housing finance authority to the commissioners during the Monday work session. Easton told the commissioners that unless they decide to first issue low-interest mortgages for multi-family use, the single-family plan might not get off the ground.

Easton suggested to the board that it consider the formula Orange County used in getting past the higher initial administrative costs for the SFR program.

"The county could issue multi-family bonds and take this money and invest in it a higher interest rate," he said. "Then the county could take the 'profit' and use it to cover the single-family program."

The reason for the higher administrative costs for the single-family homes, according to Easton, is a new restriction that permits finance authorities to charge one percent higher interest rates than are being paid to bondholders.

The U.S. Senate Finance Committee supports an increase in the arbitrage rate — the buying of bonds in one market and selling in another — from one percent to 1.5 percent. However, Easton said, because the Reagan administration is opposed to the arbitrage rate it is unlikely there will be an increase.

Families in Seminole County who could qualify for low-income status, according to a formula developed by the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), are those earning $16,000 a year or less.

Middle-income families would be those with a combined yearly income of no more than $27,750.

Families interested in applying for the low-interest loans would have to qualify for them according to proposed county housing finance requirements. The authority, if established, would consider before granting a loan such facts as the total income of the family, the size of the family, and its ability to compete in the normal private housing market.

However, the commission is not entirely favorable to the idea of creating the housing authority. Commissioners Bud Feather and Bill Kirchhoff have spoken out against the plan several times.

Feather said Monday that he was comfortable with the fact that 20 percent of the units in a low-interest mortgage project would have to be set up for persons who qualify for low-income status.

He added that he was concerned that the 20 percent requirement would bring down the standards of the project. However, one of several builders at the work session told the board he saw no problems with turning out "quality, viable projects."

Kirchhoff said he is not in favor of the plan because he believes the housing bonds will compete with the county's other bond issues.

Of 7 1/2-Acre City-Owned Tract

Apartment Developer Gets 60 Days To Conclude Purchase

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The Sanford City Commission Monday night gave land developer-entrepreneur Tom Rucker of Altamonte Springs 60 days to conclude the purchase of a 7 1/2-acre city-owned tract for development into an apartment complex or the property will be sold to someone else.

The commissioners voted unanimously to extend Rucker's option on the property, located behind the Evening Herald building on French Avenue near the lakefront, until Dec. 1 and accepted a $10,000 non-refundable payment for the extension.

But the commissioners at the same time instructed City Manager W. E. "Pete" Knowles to tell Rucker no further extensions will be granted and also told Knowles to prepare to place the property on the market for sale if Rucker's latest extension expires without positive action on his part.

The city agreed to sell Rucker the former city sanitary landfill site nearly two years ago for a total of $130,000. The idea behind the sale, the commissioners said at the time, was to encourage development of the parcel and thus place it on the tax rolls.

Rucker placed a deposit of $13,000 with the city for the parcel. Recently he gave the city another $10,000 for a time extension on the purchase, pointing to the high interest rate on borrowing development funds.

The commission Monday night, after considering whether to grant Rucker a 90-day extension of his option to purchase for another $10,000, decided on the 60-day time limit.

Commissioner Milton Smith said the property now probably will bring the city $250,000 if it were placed on the market.

Mayor Lee P. Moore said the city over the years has been criticized for "giving the property away." He pointed out that the city previously collected $26,000 in payments from a prospective purchaser when a deal fell through and so far has collected $33,000 from Rucker. Moore also noted that the purpose of selling the property was to have it developed and placed on the tax rolls.

He said considerable work will have to be done at the site before it can be developed, and that the land will have to be dug out to a depth of about six feet and replaced with clean fill dirt to rid the tract of its underlying garbage. The parcel was used by the city for some years as a sanitary landfill.

If Rucker is able to complete the purchase of the property by Dec. 1, the $33,000 he has already paid the city will be deducted from the $130,000 purchase price.

The commissioners told Knowles to call for proposals from others wishing to buy the tract on Dec. 1 if Rucker is not able to conclude the purchase by then. According to the contract between Rucker and the city, he must develop the land into an apartment complex within one year after the purchase is completed.

What's black and yellow and stuck all over?

Hmm...That's a tough one! Here are some more factual hints that will help you answer that question.

You'll find them on most new major appliances. Whenever you're ready to purchase a major appliance, they will help you compare features and energy efficiency so you can make the best buy! Always compare models of similar size with similar features.

There are MORE THAN ONE KIND. To be more specific, there are THREE KINDS!

The first describes ENERGY COST! You'll find it on: Refrigerators, freezers, refrigerator-freezers, and water heaters showing the range of operating costs of competitive brands. It will also show you the cost of running a dishwasher or clothes washer with gas vs. electricity. Your salesperson or utility office can tell you the cost of gas or electricity for your area. There is a large number in the center describing estimated yearly cost to run the appliance, based on an electricity rate of approximately 5-cents per kilowatt-hour. The bar underneath shows the range of operating costs for competing models. The table at the bottom lets you figure your yearly operating cost for the appliance based on your local utility rate.

The second describes EFFICIENCY and you'll find it on room air conditioners. The large number in the center is the rating. The higher the number, the more efficient the appliance. A cost and use table is included so you can calculate the energy cost of the air conditioner based on local electricity rates and number of hours you'll use it each year.

The third is GENERIC and you'll find it on furnaces. It tells you how to conserve energy at home and refers to an energy fact sheet with information on the furnace system's components and the overall efficiency of various combinations. Well, what's the answer?

You guessed it...

Apply The Brakes Gently

President Reagan wants to apply the brakes gently to the cost-of-living increases scheduled next year in Social Security benefits and other income programs indexed for inflation. This would affect more Americans than anything Mr. Reagan has proposed so far to hold down the federal budget deficit.

The president has warned that the new round of budget cuts he will announce tonight will demand "blood, sweat and tears," but that may be overstating the case where the action on Social Security and other entitlement programs is concerned.

Contrary to the Democratic thunder rolling out of Congress, Mr. Reagan is not proposing to cut anyone's benefits for the sake of keeping his economic program on the track. An occasional flash of lightning in this political storm illuminates the fact that he is proposing only to delay the effective date of benefit increases scheduled next year.

The delay would affect Social Security; the Supplemental Security Income program for the aged, blind and disabled; veterans' benefits; military retirement pay and pensions for federal civilian employees and railway workers.

These programs have one thing in common. By action of previous Congresses the benefits rise automatically on specified dates to reflect changes in the consumer price index. In most cases the increases would occur next July 1. Mr. Reagan wants to postpone the date until Oct. 1, trimming $5 billion from a deficit threatening to get so large that it will smother his economic program in its cradle.

Rep. J.J. Pickle of the House Social Security Committee and other Democrats are arguing that it is unfair to retired people to withhold these increases. We would argue just the opposite — that it would be unfair to exempt them from any sacrifice at all during a government fiscal crisis which their own "entitlements" are helping to create.

The automatic cost-of-living escalators in federal programs are one reason presidents and Congresses in recent years have been unable to keep a lid on their budgets — a reason why a $42.5 billion deficit projected only a few months ago is now looking more like a $65 billion deficit. When Congress made these benefit increases automatic, it surrendered its power to adjust them to what the economy in a given year could support.

We would refer Mr. Pickle to a report issued by the U.S. Census Bureau last month which revealed that the median family income of Americans fell by 5.5 percent in "real" terms between 1979 and 1980. Wages actually rose by 7.9 percent, but a 13.5 percent increase in prices turned that into a net loss in buying power.

But the Census Bureau pointed out the decline in real income occurred only for families supported by wage-earners. Families supported by Social Security, SSI benefits or other pensions indexed to consumer prices saw their incomes rise at the same rate as inflation. Pensioners have the benefit of this inflation insurance while others must bargain for pay increases or work harder to keep their incomes abreast of inflation.

Social Security beneficiaries received an 11.2 percent increase in benefits last July 1. Mr. Reagan is proposing that their benefits remain at the current level for 15 months instead of 12 months. No matter what Mr. Pickle says, that doesn't strike us as cruel or unfair.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Ronald Reagan isn't the only one with a growing lack of fiscal credibility."

The Commercial Division of the United Way of Seminole County, which kicks off its 1981 campaign on Sept. 30, will employ some new ideas this year in seeking support of the county's business community, according to Robert Walko, division vice chairman.

Oct. 12-17 has been designated Seminole County United Way Commercial Week and volunteers from the various United Way agencies are being encouraged to make most of their solicitation visits during that week. Prior to calling on the businesses, they will be contacting them by letter and phone.

Each of Seminole's United Way agencies will have the opportunity to participate in a special charity fair on Oct. 24, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. in the concourse leading to Robinson's at the Altamonte Mall. The Altamonte Mall Merchants Association will award $100, $50 and $25 prizes for the three best displays.

"In the past 'Ma and Pa' merchants haven't had the money to participate so this year we are making it easier for them," Walko explained. "If they can't make a cash pledge they can contribute goods or services."

The goods and services will be auctioned off on Oct. 25 at 2 p.m. at the Lake Mary High School auditorium with the proceeds to go to raising the additional funds agencies need this year due to inflation and cutbacks in federal funding, Walko said.

Bahia Shrine Temple will hold its 15th annual Benefit Paper Sale, Oct. 2 and 3, with local Shriners hitting the streets to peddle their papers.

The annual paper sale and other special projects provide 45 percent of the more than $67 million annual operating budget for the Shriners Hospitals. Shriners are operating 18 Orthopedic Hospitals and three Burns Institutes throughout North America for treatment and research in both fields. These include the germ free ward in Boston, new burn vaccine development in Cincinnati and brittle bones research in Chicago, to name a few.

The first Shriners Hospital for Crippled

Children opened in Shreveport, La., in 1922. The hospitals are run entirely on a charitable basis and each contains 30 or more beds. They are open to crippled children of every race and religion.

The paper sale gives the public an opportunity to share in making some scarred child normal or helping some crippled child to walk.

Telephones are a convenient and essential part of our modern living, but can, if not correctly and courteously used also be annoying and disruptive. Take the case of one new Sanford residence whose phone has a number one digit off from the number assigned to a large local discount store.

She gets three to five calls for the store a day and is ready to tear out her phone. Reluctant to change her number since she has just invested in printing up business letterheads, etc., with the number on them, she has asked us to remind callers to check the phone numbers carefully in the directory and take time to dial the number correctly.

So listen up, all you wrong number dialers.

Sharks And Cancer

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Research on the biological characteristics of one of man's most feared predators may one day help scientists in their effort to prevent one of man's most feared diseases.

Sharks appear to have a lesser incidence of cancer than other animals. Discovering why this is so might give researchers clues to lowering the risk of cancer in humans.

Pathologist Ray Jones of the University of Maryland has been working since August to determine how resistant sharks are to cancer. He has injected 48 embryos taken from spiny dogfish sharks with cancer-causing chemicals and during the next year will check the embryos periodically for tumors.

"A hypothesis published last year (in the Medical Hypothesis journal) stated that sharks have a lower incidence of tumors," said the 42-year-old Jones. "I think that's true, but I want to see for sure. Later, I would like to see why it may be true."

Another research finding published in 1976 in the Journal of the National Cancer Institute showed that transplanted lung cancer tumors did not develop in 69 percent of mice treated with shark serum. Tumors did eventually grow in the remaining 31 percent, but researchers said those mice survived longer than untreated mice.

Once Jones' initial work is complete, he plans to take a closer look at shark tissue to determine precisely why sharks are resistant to cancer. That work would involve "manipulation of shark tissues," or treating shark-injected tissue with substances from sharks to determine what it is that prevents or retards cancer.

Jones said sharks have already been found to have a high level of vitamin A, which in turn has been shown to help prevent cancer. "It could be that the amount of vitamin A is responsible, in which case my work would support other research showing that vitamin A helps prevent cancer," he said.

Jones said sharks also have been shown to have a "high osmotic pressure" — a large number of dissolved particles in the blood. That may also contribute to the shark's ability to fend off cancer, the researcher said.

He said the injected shark embryos have shown no sign of cancer, but cautioned that it may be too early to tell if they will develop malignancies.

"We're going to keep them around here for a year," he said. "Hopefully, we'll either see something or not see something during that time."

Jones, an associate professor of pathology, said he first worked with sharks 15 years ago as an undergraduate at Old Dominion University in Norfolk, Va.

He did more work on sharks while studying for a master's degree at the University of Delaware and became interested in sharks and cancer upon learning of the 1976 study of the effects of shark serum on mice.

Jones said his early work is being funded by the university's Bressler Fund. He said he may eventually apply for outside grants to further his research.

"If we prove this hypothesis, then we can move forward," he said. "Maybe someday all of this will help people."

California Airport Used For Amin

WASHINGTON—At the lowest point in U.S. relations with Idi Amin, a Ugandan airliner made an unauthorized landing at a California airport and was permitted to leave with what was apparently an illegal shipment of high explosives. Amin is the homicidal maniac who ruled Uganda until his overthrow two years ago.

The incident was yet another chapter in the weird saga of Frank Terpil and Ed Wilson, the fugitive ex-CIA agents whose sordid exploits I have been reporting for the past year. The two renegades had made a lucrative career supplying explosives and terrorist training to Amin and his Libyan buddy, Muammar Qaddafi.

The airport incident occurred on Sept. 20, 1977, according to secret Justice Department reports examined by my associate Dale Van Atta. The United States had not had an embassy in Kampala since 1973; just seven months before the mysterious cargo pickup, President Carter had denounced Idi Amin as a ruler whose actions "have disgusted the entire civilized world."

Pollution Has No Barriers

TORONTO (NEA) — "There is one central question," says an angry John Roberts, Canada's minister of the environment. "It is whether the United States is going to stop dumping its polluted airborne garbage on this country."

Behind a facade of diplomatic charm, Roberts is furious about the millions of tons of pollutants that originate in the United States but land in Canada in the form of dilute yet damaging sulphuric acid and nitric acid.

Canada, he notes, must undertake a $400 million program to deal with the growing problem of acid rain during the next two decades, but the United States will have to spend five to eight times that amount — $2 billion or more — to clean up the eastern North American airshed shared by the two nations.

The United States, the Canadians argue, has transformed that airshed into an airborne sewer by releasing approximately 30 million tons of sulphur dioxide and 75 million tons of nitrogen oxides into the atmosphere every year.

Although the Clean Air Act of 1970 requires strict emission controls on all new power plants constructed in subsequent years, most of the sulphur dioxide comes from generating stations exempted from the law because they were already operating at the time it was enacted.

About half of the nitrogen oxides come from automobile and other motor vehicle emissions.

In contrast, Canadian sources are responsible for only about 5.5 million tons of sulphur dioxide yearly and slightly more than 2 million tons of nitrogen oxides annually.

Because prevailing winds over the eastern half of the continent generally blow from south to north, Canada estimates that approximately half of the acid rain that falls on its soil originates in the United States.

Many of the pollutants can be traced to massive coal-fired electric generating stations in states located in or near the Ohio Valley — notably Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Kentucky, Missouri, West Virginia and Tennessee.

Canada, on the other hand, long held the dubious distinction of serving as the home of the continent's single most prolific source of sulphur dioxide contamination — an Inco Ltd. nickel smelter in Sudbury, Ontario.

Toronto journalist Ross Howard, author of a book on acid rain, notes that provincial officials who have jurisdiction over pollution did "a dismal job" until recently but now "have finally cracked down" in Sudbury and elsewhere.

Canada's efforts to convince the United States to adopt a similarly tough approach to the problem met with considerable success during the administration of President Carter.

Preliminary negotiations were held in 1976, the two nations issued a Joint Statement on Transboundary Air Quality in mid-1979, a joint research organization was established and in August 1980 leaders of the two countries signed a memorandum of intent calling for development of "a bilateral agreement... to combat transboundary air pollution."

When President Reagan visited Canada last March, his speech to both houses of Parliament included a commitment "to continue to work cooperatively to understand and control the air and water pollution that respects no borders."

But when Roberts went to Washington in June for further negotiations, he was rebuffed by Anne M. Gorsuch, administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency. "Canada got very little in the way of a favorable response," says Howard.

Who Says You Can't Beat IRS?

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Decisions of the U.S. Tax Court rarely get much attention in the popular press. But one recent ruling deserves mention because of both its potential widespread application and its sharp departure from past interpretations of the tax law by the Internal Revenue Service.

For years the IRS has held a taxpayer can deduct a casualty loss from his taxes only to the extent the loss was not covered by insurance. The loss has not been considered deductible if the taxpayer did not seek reimbursement from his insurance carrier.

Now along comes Dixon Miller, who cracked up his sailboat for damages totaling $842. Miller feared his liability insurance would be canceled if he told his insurance company about the accident, so he simply paid for the repairs and claimed the loss on his tax return.

When the IRS disallowed the deduction, Miller appealed the decision to the Tax Court. Surprisingly, he won.

The court ruled a taxpayer could have "pragmatic considerations" for not filing an insurance claim — such as fear that his insurance might be canceled — and that in such cases he might be able to take the deduction.

It should be noted Tax Court rulings apply only to the particular case at hand; the court would not necessarily rule on another similar case as it did on Miller's. And the IRS will not change its interpretation of the casualty loss deduction on the basis of this decision.

But at least it may provide another option to the taxpayer who faces an insurance cancellation if he reports an accident.

The general-election campaign for president may begin much earlier in 1984 than it has in the past.

The party in the White House traditionally holds its convention in mid-August, while the party out of power usually meets a month or so earlier.

But Charles Manatt, the Democratic national chairman, says that his party may need more campaign time in 1984. So, he is considering scheduling the convention for as early as the third week in June.

If he does so, you can bet that the Republicans will not allow six weeks or more to pass before they get together. Thus, both the 1984 conventions could be over — and the "fall" campaign in full swing — by late July.

For many years the Central Intelligence Agency regularly sent unclassified research papers to reporters and from time to time gave groups of reporters off-the-record briefings on world affairs.

CIA Director William Casey stopped both practices because he considered it unseemly for a spy agency to deal so closely with journalists.

Recently reporters all over Washington received in their mail large envelopes bearing the CIA's return address. The envelopes were empty.

Was this another part of Casey's non-information campaign? No, says a CIA spokesman. A mailroom employee had simply forgotten to stuff the envelopes with a routine news release.

secret reports. This time he found a shipment of explosives waiting to be loaded.

"The liquid explosive, with a flash point of 110 degrees, was sitting on the runway in cans," he told investigators. "As the day got hotter, the cans began to burst and the liquid was seeping out onto the runway and later onto the floor of the aircraft."

The explosives had come from Brower's company. The Customs agent also spotted some 55-gallon drums of an unknown substance nearby, but was told they weren't part of the shipment. He told investigators he didn't know if any of the mysterious drums had been loaded on earlier, but another Customs agent said he had seen some in the cargo hold.

But when the agents checked with the State Department in Washington, they were told there was no reason to prevent the export of the explosives. The plane was approved for departure, and flew out that day after filing a flight plan to Canada.

"All bills for food, fuel and airport services were paid in U.S. currency out of a suitcase held by the pilot," the reports said.

Brower pleaded guilty earlier this year to one count of illegally shipping explosives to Libya in 1976 through Terpil. The Aerojet Inc. facility chief at Ontario, Frank Donlinski, told investigators he had let Brower, who once worked for the company, use the hangar, and was shocked when he learned it had been used to load a Ugandan aircraft. Donlinski was reprimanded by Aerojet officials, according to one report "for allowing Brower, known to do anything for money, to use their facility."

One thing is not clear: High explosives had been embargoed for shipment to Uganda. So why was a Ugandan airplane allowed to pick up explosives? One Customs agent at the airport said the load was not inspected because he "wouldn't know one explosive from another anyway."

Footnote: Indictments are expected soon in a similar case a month after the Ontario incident. It involves Wilson, Brower and the illegal shipment of 20 tons of C4 plastic explosives from Houston to Libya.

Crooms' Panthers will kick off their season tonight at 7:30 at Seminole High School against the Lake Brantley Patriots in what should be a very exciting freshman football game.

It will be exciting to watch this year's Panthers mainly because of running back Deron Thompson's blazing 9.9 100-yard dash speed and tackle Frank Brumley's 295-pound size in the defensive line.

"Thompson is faster than Tim Raines was when he was at Crooms," said Panther veteran assistant coach Ernie McPherson. Brumley is one of the biggest players Crooms has had.

Last year, Crooms finished the season a disappointing 2-4, including a 40-20 drubbing at the hands of the Patriots. Head Coach Bill Klein points out the Panthers had less physical players and a fairly small defensive line.

"This will definitely be a better year," confirmed assistant coach Chris Marlette. We are a little better off size-wise since I've been here," Klein and Marlette have been at Crooms for four years.

Whelchel, McCloud Share Quarterback

Mike Whelchel and Jo Jo McCloud will be alternating at the starting quarterback position. Whelchel has an accurate arm, but McCloud is observed to be a better runner. Their passing targets will include wide receivers Rod Alexander, who has very good hands, and Clifton Campbell, who has exceptional speed.

The running game will be a definite Panther strong point, due to Thompson's blazing speed. Along with McPherson's assessment of Thompson's speed, Marlette concurs.

Thompson Faster Than Tim Raines

"Without a doubt, he's the fastest we've ever had," said Marlette. Along with him, Donald Grayson and Mike Dubose will be alternating at the fullback position.

Another good area is the line with guards Strickland Smith and Scott Larson, tackles Anthony Hall and Tony Cox, and center Jerry Walsh. Walsh and Strickland are the two smallest of the five, while Hall weighs in at around 198 lbs, and Cox at approximately 200 lbs. Much better size here this year.

295-Pound Brumley Anchors Defense

The defense, again, has much better size. Hall doubles his playing time here, along with Frank Brumley, who weighs an astonishing 295 pounds, down from his previous 310. Along with those tackles are ends Fred Brinson and Mike Dubose. Dubose, also a fullback, is one of the better defensive players of the squad. Cox and Walsh alternate tackle positions.

Grayson Heads Up Tough Linebackers

McCloud, Campbell, Thompson, and Grayson all do double duty linebacking. McCloud, according to Marlette, will be playing a lot of defense. And, he also commented that, "Grayson is one of our top prospects. He will be playing both ways most of the time."

Alexander will be the only (free) safety, assisted by cornerbacks Brian Brooks and Charles Smith. This is in collaboration with the "50," on five linemen defense the Panthers will use this year.

Grayson and Grady Caldwell are the two most likely people to be kicking off this year, and both have good distance. Marlette says that, "Grayson is probably our best all around athlete this year." He is doing better in practice with kickoff distances. Punting for Crooms will be Cox, who has "Not too bad distance, but still needs to work out a little more," states Marlette.

Volleyball Lady Raiders Plaster Polk

This one wasn't one to lose any sleep over. In fact, it was one that put most of the spectators to sleep. Seminole Community College ripped Polk City Community College 15-1, 15-9, 15-6 in Division II volleyball action Monday night at SCC.

"We walked all over them," said Lady Raider Coach Illeana Gallagher. "We had a great crowd. But most of them left after the second game."

The Raiders used the strong serving of Patty Corso, Nan Gallagher, Fran Rhodes and Debra Dyer to plaster Polk in game one. Corso, ex-Seminole High, and Gallagher, ex-Lyman High, combined for 10 of the points before Dyer finished off PCC.

"They couldn't return our serves," pointed out Gallagher.

Seminole CC, 2-1, goes to Rollins tonight to play Flagler at 7. Thursday, the Raiders partake in the Manatee Junior College Tournament at Bradenton. They return home Oct. 8 against Lake City CC, the team which beat them in five games to open the season.

Tribe JV Trips Rams; Blockbuster Match Tonight At Howell

Seminole High's junior varsity volleyball team swept two games from the Lake Mary JV Monday night 16-14, 15-1 and 15-9, 15-5 at Seminole High School.

The consistent play of Penny Morris, Arlene Jones, Toni Washington, Susanna Huarman and Jill Janak helped the junior Tribe to its first game win according to Coach Donalyn Knight.

In the second game, Janine Stallworth, Tracy McNeil, Julie Farr, Debbie Sillaway and Octavia Horn overwhelmed the Rams with their serving.

Tonight, the Tribe varsity swings into action with a blockbuster tri-match at Lake Howell at 6. Five Star conference leader Lake Howell hosts Seminole and DeLand, who are both one-game back.

"We're ready to go after them," said Knight about tonight's matchup. The Lady Seminoles won the conference last year, but were upset by the Silver Hawks in the district.

Waltrip Increases Point Advantage

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Darrell Waltrip's victory in Sunday's Old Dominion 500 stock car race increased his lead to 43 points in the 1981 driving championship chase, NASCAR announced Monday.

The victory raised Waltrip's point total to an even 4,000. Second place Bobby Allison has 3,957. Harry Gant is third with 3,882.

Others in the top 10 included 4. Ricky Rudd, 3,532; 5. Terry Labonte, 3,413; 6. Dale Earnhardt, 3,331; 7. Richard Petty, 3,296; 8. Jody Ridley, 3,286; 9. Dave Marcis, 3,043, and 10. Benny Parsons, 3,035.

Tampa Bay Buccaneer defensive end Scott Hutchinson (no. 70) moves in on a St. Louis ball carrier in Sunday's Buc victory. The former Winter Park High and Florida Gator standout is a backup end for the Bucs. Sunday he recorded Tampa's only quarterback sack in the fourth quarter.

Buffalo 'Hutch' Thaws Out In Tampa Bay

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

One cold Buffalo morning Winter Park's Scott Hutchinson woke up from a sleepless night, rolled over, took one look at the frosted window and asked himself, "What the hell am I doing here?"

Maybe it didn't go exactly like that, but for Hutchinson, an ex-Wildcat and standout defensive performer for the Florida Gators, there was no room for snow in his pro football career.

So when the Tampa Bay Bucs acquired the 6-foot-3, 245-pound defensive end earlier this year, it was like a coming home for the former Gator. "Yeah, I'm glad I'm here especially since Buffalo lost today and we won," said "Hutch" while undressing Sunday afternoon.

Hutchinson is being used in a reserve role for the Buccaneers, but was called on when defensive end LeRoy Selmon went down with an injured right knee. Selmon will not play Sunday against Detroit.

Which is bad news for the Bucs, but maybe a little good news for Hutchinson's playing time.

Buccaneers

"I've been filling in where I'm needed," said Hutchinson about his playing time. "They've been working me in some on passing situations to rush the passer or to fill in on either end when someone is tired or hurt."

Selmon's "hurt" Sunday gave Hutchinson a chance to show his wares and he responded well. The giant end broke past Cardinal guard George Collins in the fourth quarter and dumped Cardinal quarterback Jim Hart on his butt.

On a previous play, Hutchinson also batted down a pass. "I took him (Collins) upfield and then spun inside," Hutchinson said about his defensive maneuver. "That's when I blocked the pass."

"That kinda got him guessing a little bit to what I was going to do. On the sack, I got a good jump off the ball. Hart took a little deeper drop than usual and Collins pushed me right in there."

Sunday's win gave the Buccaneers a 2-2 record and a tie for the division lead.

"Hutch" sees a battle down the wire and figures if the Bucs duplicate the 1979 record (10-6), it should win the division.

"Ten wins would be a good enough record. But if you get any less than that you're going to be pushing it," Hutchinson said.

Hutchinson was impressed by the showing of place kicker Bill Capece (two field goals, two extra points) and punter Larry Swider who boomed for nearly a 50-yard average.

"The young guys showed they can do it today," Hutchinson observed. "It was great. I just hope they can go out and do it every week."

Speaking of young guys, Hutchinson is just 25 years old and in his fifth season. What does the rest of the season have in store for the ex-Gator?

"Hopefully, I'll get some more playing time and be able to help the club," reasoned "Hutch." "And I'd also like to be part of a championship team."

No doubt the rest of the Bucs will second that notion.

Irvin's Punt Return Dash Crashes Bears

CHICAGO (UPI) — It isn't every day that a team gets a punt return for a touchdown, nor is it every day that a defense can stop a Walter Payton.

But that was what happened when the Los Angeles Rams shut down the Chicago Bears 23-7 in Monday night's nationally televised game of the week.

For the first time in 20 years, the Rams got a punt return for a touchdown when second year pro Lefty Irvin dashed 55 yards in the third quarter to put the Rams out of reach from the Bears.

While Irvin was turning in his dramatic punt return — the first for a TD by a Ram since Dick Bass went 90 yards against Green Bay in 1961 — the revitalized L.A. defense was dominating the Bears and Payton.

The perennial NFC rushing champion was held to just 45 yards and 17 carries and fumbled twice against a Rams' unit which had given up 73 points in its first three games.

The only real drama, however, belonged to Irvin.

"Our coaches drill us at every meeting that it has been 20 years without a TD return," said Irvin, who fielded the ball at his own 45 and broke several tackles enroute to his touchdown with 9:46 left in the third quarter.

"You don't get a TD like that all the time, it was just the right place at the right time."

USC Passes Test, Retains Top Rank

NEW YORK (UPI) — There may have been just a trace of smugness in John Robinson's voice Monday, but it's easy to understand why the coach of the Southern California Trojans believes his team deserves their continued No. 1 ranking by the UPI Coaches' Poll.

"I assumed we'd be No. 1 again because we passed a fairly severe test this past Saturday," Robinson said. "I put some credence in the strong vote for us. I know we have to improve, but I'm very pleased with our team so far and pleased to be ranked at the top."

The Trojans, who pulled out a 28-24 victory over the Oklahoma Sooners with two seconds left to play Saturday, were a near-unanimous choice for the top spot Monday, receiving 39 first-place votes from the 42 coaches on UPI's Board of Coaches.

Southern Cal totaled 626 points to easily outdistance No. 2 Penn State, which moved up a notch following its 30-24 triumph over Nebraska. Penn State received 565 points and two first-place votes.

Seminoles Savor Edgewater Victory Cigar

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

Just like puffing on an extra-long cigar, the Seminole High football team will have a long time to savor its exciting 41-38 four-overtime victory over Edgewater last Saturday.

Coach Jerry Posey's Tribe will be off this week before traveling to Apopka Oct. 10 for a key Five Star Conference meeting. Seminole is 1-0 in the Five Star, thanks to a 9-6 three-overtime win over Lake Howell.

"We're going to get started on them right away."

Following the film viewing by the coaches over the weekend, the Seminole coaching staff had these awards to hand out. On offense, the Hatcherman awards went to offensive tackle Isaac Williams, quarterback Jeff Litton, halfback Victor Williams and fullback Lenny Sutton.

1. Williams played up to his "blue chip" status in the win over Edgewater. The 6-foot-3, 243-pound strong tackle opened gaping holes for the Tribe backs.

One of the beneficiaries was Sutton. The powerful fullback rumbled for 190 yards on 32 carries and showed no signs of his bruised Achilles tendon. Sutton also bulled for three touchdowns from short range.

Along with his Hatcherman Award, Sutton was named Seminole Player of the Week by the Sanford Optimist Club and was nominated for Burger King Player of the Week.

Litton was a complete quarterback Friday night. The maturing senior's play will probably hold the key to Seminole's conference chances. He threw 20 times and completed nine for 126 yards.

He found huge light end Frank Rowe four times for 48 yards and wideout Joe Calloway three times for 53 yards, including a 31-yard scoring strike. Litton added 34 yards on the ground via six carries.

Turning to Coach Dave Mosure's defense, tackle Bill Painter and defensive back Willie Carter earned Headhunter awards for their sterling performances.

Painter made the defensive play of the night when he chased Marcus Slade from his left tackle spot and pulled the 4.6 (40-yard dash) sprinter down from behind for a four-yard loss. On the next play the Eagles' George Burkett had his 25-yard field goal blocked by Byron Washington to set up the winning kick when Seminole got the ball by Alan Cahill.

Cahill, by the way, picked up a Savage award for his work on the speciality team. The smooth-booting senior earned two field goals and five extra points. He has eight straight successful kicks.

Junior Harold Gaines also picked up a Savage award for his work on the kick coverage units. Gaines made several tackles while covering punts and kickoffs.

The Bucs, 2-0, scored a touchdown in the last four minutes of the fourth quarter and then tacked on the two-point conversion to upend the Bulldogs, 1-1. Mainland owns wins over Lyman and New Smyrna Beach for its 3-0 mark.

Seminole (1-0), Lake Brantley (1-0) and Spruce Creek are all tied for second place.

DeLand is followed in the standings by Lyman (0-1), Apopka (0-1) and Lake Howell (0-1). The Greyhounds are 2-1 on the year, however, thanks to stunning Winter Park, 7-5, Friday. The Wildcats were the second-ranked 4A team at the time.

Winter Park and Seminole's conquest of Edgewater, Lake Brantley tipped Boone, 14-7. Apopka also nailed Colonial, 17-14.

Correction

In the outline below a picture (Page 1B) of Lenny Sutton in Saturday's paper, the Evening Herald incorrectly declared that Seminole beat Boone, 41-18 Friday. The victims, of course, was Edgewater. The Herald realizes the Tribe would have beaten Boone by more than three points.

Porter's Double Keys Card Victory

By United Press International

Darrell Porter has given the St. Louis Cardinals only a nickel-and-dime return on their million dollar investment this season. Yet, he may still lead them to that pot of gold.

Porter, signed as a free agent to a five-year, $3.5 million contract by the Cardinals last winter, has struggled for most of the season, missing much of the campaign with a tear in the rotator cuff in his right shoulder.

The Cardinals' catcher was hitting only .226 entering Monday night's game against the Montreal Expos, yet he delivered a two-run double off reliever Grant Jackson to highlight a five-run fourth inning that carried the Cardinals to a 6-2 victory.

The triumph in the opening game of the two-game series moved the Cardinals within one-half game of the Expos in the National League East with six games left to play.

"I've been giving the best I can even though I know it hasn't been very good," Porter said. "I'd like to have done better but I know every time I've gone out on the field I've given 100 percent."

Porter had only 35 hits in 156 at-bats when he came up in the fourth but he said he felt no extra pressure.

Montreal, which had won seven of its previous eight games, jumped in front 1-0 in the fourth on back-to-back doubles by

NL Baseball

Andre Dawson and Gary Carter after Rodney Scott was thrown out at the plate trying to score from first on Dawson's hit into the right-field corner.

Giants 4, Reds 0

At Cincinnati, Al Hargersheimer and Greg Minton combined on a four-bitter and Jerry Martin hit a two-run homer to give the Giants a victory over the Reds. The loss dropped the Reds 2 1/2 games behind first place Houston in the NL West. Hargersheimer, 1-1, making his second start since being recalled from Phoenix of the Pacific Coast League, struck out four and walked four in seven innings.

Astros 2, Padres 1

At Houston, Art Howe's bases-loaded, checked-swing single delivered Jose Cruz from third base with two out in the ninth inning to snap a 1-1 tie and give the Astros their victory. Tony Scott opened the ninth with a single and was forced by Cruz. Alan Ashby walked on four pitches and Cesar Cedeno also walked before Howe punched a single through the right side.

Phillies 12, Mets 4

At Philadelphia, Lonnie Smith banged out three hits and scored three runs and contributed a sparkling defensive play to lead the Phillies to victory. Smith,

Braves 7, Dodgers 1

At Atlanta, Rick Mahler and Rick Camp combined on a six-hitter to lead the Braves. The triumph snapped a four-game losing streak for Atlanta while the loss was the third in a row for the Dodgers, who were no-hit by Houston's Nolan Ryan on Saturday and managed just two hits off the Astros' Don Sutton on Sunday.

Pirates 6-1, Cubs 0-3

At Pittsburgh, Rick Rhoden tossed a four-hitter and Bill Madlock drove in two runs to carry the Pirates in the opener. In the nightcap, Dave Gisel, making his first start this year and only the second of his career, pitched a shutout for five innings and Steve Henderson added three RBIs as the Cubs salvaged a split.

Brouhard's Homer Solves Problem; Vuckovich Keeps Brewers In Suds

By United Press International

Pete Vuckovich needed just one run to win. Getting it for him proved to be a problem that only Mark Brouhard could solve.

"When I hit it was pretty sure it was gone," Brouhard said Monday night after his seventh-inning homer vaulted the Milwaukee Brewers into first place in the AL East with a 1-0 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

"I was just happy for Vuckovich," continued the 25-year-old outfielder. "He really deserved this game. From the time he stepped on the mound, he was going to do what he had to do to win, even if it meant throwing a shutout. He pitched a super game."

So did Frank Tanana, but the left-hander made one mistake — the pitch that Brouhard hit into the left field bleachers for his second home run of the season.

"I just hit the ball hard," Brouhard said. "I haven't hit a home run for three months. I just got lucky... Tanana hit my bat, but I'll take it."

The game marked the beginning of a three-game set and placed Milwaukee a half-game ahead of second-place Detroit while Boston fell 1 1/2 games back. All three teams have five games left, and all of Milwaukee's are at home.

"I would have to say definitely being at home is an advantage," said Vuckovich, 14-4, acquired during the offseason with catcher Ted Simmons from St. Louis. Like Brouhard, "Vuke" appeared more interested in spreading credit than in taking it despite his masterful three-hitter.

"Everybody's got to be chipping in," he said. "You have to give them (his teammates) credit, too."

Boston Manager Ralph Houk praised both pitchers, and particularly mentioned Tanana, whose 3-10 record is less than impressive.

"I thought both pitchers deserved to win," Houk said. "Vuckovich pitched a heckuva game, but so did Frank. Tanana has pitched better this year than his record indicates."

Vuckovich was in such complete control that Milwaukee Manager Bob Rodgers never even thought of replacing him, even though the Brewers have the league's premier reliever in Rollie Fingers.

Orioles 7, Tigers 3

In Detroit, Eddie Murray doubled home two runs in a four-run third and hit a two-run homer in the seventh to support Sammy Stewart's 8 1/3 innings of shutout relief. The Tigers staked George Cappuzzello, 1-1, for a 3-0 lead against Jim Palmer but failed to solve Stewart, 4-7, who lowered his league-leading ERA to 1.95.

Royals 6, Twins 1

At Bloomington, Minn., Willie Aikens and Hal McTae each slugged a two-run homer and Dennis Leonard, 12-11, pitched a five-hitter. The decision increased the Royals' lead to 3 1/2 games over the Twins in the race for the AL West second-half title. Dave Engle, who extended his hitting streak to 14 games, had three of the hits off Leonard, including a home run in the fourth. Aikens hit his 17th homer off Brad Havens, 3-6, with one man aboard.

Indians 6, Yankees 2

At Cleveland, rookie Tom Brennan, 2-1, tossed a six-hitter and Jorge Orta drove in three runs with a pair of singles to pace the Indians. After grabbing a 1-0 lead in the first on an RBI single by Toby Harrah, Cleveland chased Rick Reuschel, 4-3, with a two-run second on singles by Jerry Dybziński and Miguel Dilone and Orta's two-run single. New York's Reggie Jackson hit his 15th homer.

Angels 6, White Sox 0

At Chicago, rookie Mike Witt scattered six hits and Don Baylor and Brian Downing each drove in two runs to lead the Angels. Witt, 7-9, posted his first major-league shutout. It was the 21-year-old righthander's third triumph in as many starts against Chicago. He struck out four and walked one.

Rangers 6, Mariners 5

At Seattle, Mark Wagner hit a three-run, second-inning double in support of Rick Honeycutt, 11-6. Jim Kern pitched the final 1 1/3 innings for his fifth save. The Rangers belted two pitchers for 14 hits and tagged Glenn Abbott, 4-8, with the loss.

RSVP Celebrates National Anniversary

Joan Madison, director of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program, (RSVP) received a plaque for outstanding community service. Debbie Shannon of the Junior Woman's Club of Sanford, made the presentation.

"This plaque is especially meaningful to us coming from an organization which has also contributed so much to our community," said the

RSVP Director as she accepted the award at the 10th anniversary celebration of RSVP at the Senior Citizen Multipurpose Center in Casselberry.

Commissioner Barbara Christenson, representing the Board of County Commissioners, presented a resolution in "appreciation and acknowledgement on behalf of the citizens of Seminole County, and to commend the members of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program for their services."

Students from Northside Christian School presented a patriotic program and Joe Miele, a RSVP volunteer who entertains weekly at Life Care Center, provided music for the special occasion.

Widow's 'Live-In' Causes Gossip

DEAR ABBY: My husband died a year ago. My neighbors were very considerate at the time of the funeral, bringing in food, etc. But after that, I never heard a word from any of them. (I'm not complaining, I'm a working woman and not the type to socialize a great deal with my neighbors.)

Three weeks ago I quietly married a fine gentleman I had known for years. I had intended to have a little wine-and-cheese party and invite my neighbors in to meet my husband, but I guess I wasn't quick enough, because I just got a call from a friend telling me I had better hurry and announce my marriage because my gossip neighbors were talking. It seems they just found out I have a man living with me, and they think I've got a live-in boyfriend! I think it's rather funny.

What should I do?

LEGALLY HITCHED

DEAR HITCHED: Don't do anything. Let your gossip neighbors find out you're married just like they found out you had a man living with you.

DEAR ABBY: Your answer to "Flat in Front" was all wet. "Flat" wanted to surprise her husband and have her breasts surgically enlarged because he always ogled big-busted women. You said, "Don't surprise him. Ask him. He may like you just the way you are."

Abby, I went through this kind of surgery 10 years ago because, like "Flat," my husband ogled big-busted women. When we'd go to a party, he'd wander off, and I'd always find him next to a woman who was well-endowed.

Finally I went to a plastic surgeon to ask about silicone implants and was told it would cost $2,000 (this was in 1970). I asked my husband for the money. He refused, so I sold my car and paid for the operation myself, and it was the best investment I ever made.

I got a gorgeous figure out of it (37-26-38), but my husband couldn't take the whistles and compliments, and the confidence I had acquired. I realized then what a loser he was, and I divorced him.

Now I'm married to a real winner who loves me the way I am.

BUILT AND LOVING IT

DEAR BUILT: Hubby No. 1 was a loser for sure. But Hubby No. 2 is a winner only if he also would have loved you the way you were.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a wonderful guy, but he is very unreasonable when someone is late. Abby, I don't mean really late like 45 minutes or an hour, I am talking five to 10 minutes.

Both our kids are married and they are responsible adults, but they sometimes run a little late.

Well, yesterday we were going out for dinner with our kids, and we had a 7 p.m. reservation at a place about a 10 minutes' drive from here. Our daughter and her husband weren't here at 6:30 like they were supposed to be, so my husband insisted that we leave at 6:45 on the dot! I begged him to wait another five minutes, but he wouldn't do it. My husband is the kind who has to be at the airport an hour early, and he has absolutely no patience with anyone who is even five minutes late for anything.

Is there any way to cure him?

MR. PUNCTUALITY'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Don't look for a cure where there's no disease. Mr. Punctuality will probably train his family before they "cure" him.

DEAR ABBY: I am 12 years old. My grandfather died before I was born and my grandmother lived alone for 13 years. She got married again four years ago. Here is my problem. What shall I call her husband? Should I call him "Grandpa," or should I call him "Harold," which is his name?

I haven't been calling him anything so far because I'm not sure what to call him.

NOT SURE IN GEORGIA

DEAR NOT: Ask your grandmother's husband what he wants you to call him. Or ask your grandmother what she thinks he'd like to be called.

Children's Theatre To Open Season

The Children's Theatre of the Civic Theatre Guild is opening its seventh season of plays with "Baba Yaga, The Witch," a Russian folk tale, Oct. 23, at the Tupperware Children's Theatre in Loch Haven Park, Orlando.

Children's Theatre is operated by guild members, as well as community volunteers. All areas of production need volunteer help. This includes actors, costume and set designers, property people, and light and sound technicians.

Auditions for the locally produced plays are open to everyone.

Coming in December is a prestigious puppet group from New York, The Starry Night Players, who will present "The Griffin And The Minor Canon" in the Edyth Bush Theatre. This production is sponsored by Red Lobster Restaurants.

For the second year in a row, The Theatre for Young People from the University of North Carolina will visit our theatre to bring The Dancing Donkey. This third play opens in Edyth Bush Theatre, Jan. 29, 1982.

The final production of the season will be The Wind In The Willows. This beloved classic by Kenneth Grahame will be directed by Ginny Light in the Tupperware Children's Theatre beginning April 23.

Season subscriptions for the four plays are now on sale for $10. Individual tickets will be sold for $3 each. Call Edyth Bush Theatre for tickets and information — 896-7365.

Where can you feed a family of five for $1 and take advantage of furniture bargains by the truckload at the same time?
 Come to Garrard's Furniture at 2905 Lakeview Drive, Fern Park, (in back of Club Juana and just off of State Road 436). Owner R. Gary Garrard is celebrating his truckload sale this Saturday by serving Pepsi and hot dogs for only 10 cents each.
 To add to the festivities WDBO Radio Disc Jockey Perry Moore will be on hand from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.
 "You get what you pay for" is the familiar old adage, and we expect to pay a little extra to get the kind of furniture that will last for many years.
 But does paying more really make it better? Gary believes customers shouldn't have to pay more for fancy showroom frills — just for quality furniture.

Based on this philosophy, Gary opened his no-frills furniture store in 1980 and stocked it with brand name furniture at discount prices. He made nationally known brands such as Restonic bedding, Broyhill, American of Martinsville, Bassett and many others available to the public as a great savings.
 Garrard's has furniture for every room in the house including living room, bedroom and dining room sets, and incidental pieces such as end tables, wall units, rockers and recliners, desks, coffee tables, bunk beds and lamps.
 How are these for bargains? Garrard's has brass plated head boards — any size — for only $33 and full-sized bedding at just $75 a set.
 Delivery and set up are available. Master Charge and Visa credit cards are accepted and Garrard's has a layaway plan.

High Court's Secret Opinion

Gay Lawyers Can't Be Barred

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The state Supreme Court has ruled in a secret opinion that people who pursue their sexual desires in private with other consenting adults may not be kept from practicing law in Florida, the St. Petersburg Times reported Monday.

The court gave the confidential opinion to the Board of Bar Examiners after the board withheld a license from a New York lawyer applying to practice in Florida.

The lawyer, who admitted a sexual preference for men, appealed to the high court, which has the authority to render secret rulings to the board, an agency of the Supreme Court which deals solely with licensing of attorneys.

Chief Justice Alan Sundberg will not admit the ruling exists and the New York lawyer's Miami attorney, Robert Eimers, said the court's clerk told him to keep it a secret.

But Eimers told the Times he has asked that the opinion be made public, using only the initials of the New York homosexual involved, because he thinks the public has the right to know the rulings of the court, controversial or otherwise, so they can govern their conduct accordingly.

Sundberg said since secrecy is for the protection of the applicant, the applicant can make it public if he wishes.

While the opinion came in the case of a homosexual, the lawyer thinks it also would apply to heterosexuals, including lawyers who live with someone of the opposite sex outside of marriage.

The court's opinion, according to the Times, said, "Private non-commercial sex acts between consenting adults are not relevant to prove fitness to practice law."

The ruling, made on June 18, was first made public in July by a gay-oriented newspaper in Miami and by the American Civil Liberties Union newspaper, the Times said.

Sundberg said the only opinions the court keeps confidential are in appeals from bar examiner board decisions and appeals by practicing attorneys of private reprimands issued by the Bar for misconduct. In juvenile cases, where the law protects the names of defendants, the opinions are made public, using only the initials of the party involved.

This is not the first time the court has given a similar ruling, this one to Eimers himself, though the earlier opinion dealt specifically with homosexuals, the Times said. In 1971 when Eimers was being denied admission to the Bar after admitting a homosexual preference, the court ruled 6-1, "We cannot believe that the candidate's mere preference for homosexuality" rendered him unfit to practice law.

Eimers gave his consent to having the ruling published using his name.

Justice Joseph Boyd dissented in both opinions, says the Bar should not admit anyone whose sexual lifestyle contemplates routine violation of a criminal statute. Boyd said Florida law makes it a misdemeanor to commit an unnatural and lascivious act with another person.

Interviews Begun For PSC Finalists

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The Public Service Commission Nominating Council began interviews Monday of 18 finalists for PSC appointments, including incumbent Commissioners John Marks and Susan Leisner.

Council Chairman Nat Polak of Tallahassee said it is likely Marks and Ms. Leisner will get the new terms they are seeking, but he doesn't believe the other finalists are wasting their time.

The council must submit at least three names to Gov. Bob Graham for the Marks and Leisner seats and Polak said he sees no reason why the two incumbents won't be re-nominated.

He will recommend to his council colleagues that if Graham reappoints the incumbents, any other people also nominated be automatically considered for any PSC vacancy that may arise next year.

The terms of PSC Chairman Joe Cresse and Gerald Gunter will be up at the end of 1982 and Cresse says he may retire, which would mean a wide-open race for one commission seat.

Over 300 people applied to succeed Marks and Ms. Leisner, whose terms are up at the end of this year. The council met two weeks ago and selected 17 persons for interviews, including the incumbents.

One candidate chose not to come to Tallahassee for an interview, Barney Lee Capehart of Gainesville, a University of Florida associate professor in engineering.

Marks and Ms. Leisner probably have had "the inside track" all along, said Polak, but the nominating council had no choice but to act as if there were two vacancies on the utility-regulating commission.

"There has been talk that everything is wired in as far as Marks and Leisner are concerned. Of course, our only concern is that they are qualified to go forward again," he said.

One of the candidates being interviewed is Stephen Kiser of Naples, a blind attorney whose brother, Curt, of Clearwater, is a nominating council member and House Republican leader. Curt Kiser has abstained whenever his brother's name came up before the council for a vote.

Also being interviewed are Wilson Wright of Tallahassee, a lawyer-lobbyist; Dorothy Owen of Tallahassee, an accounting official for the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services; Larry McLenagan, Coral Springs businessman; and Kenneth Most of North Bay Village, a Florida International University accounting professor.

Also, Robert Dempsey of North Miami Beach, assistant director of the Metro-Dade County Police Department; Richard Gunter of Tallahassee, aide to PSC member Kile Nichols; Claude Davis of Rockledge, a NAS engineer; James Henry of Sarasota, a mechanical engineer specializing in energy conservation; Charles Lockwood, a Lutz attorney; Donald Proctor, a Pompano Beach lawyer; Kemper Merriam, a University of South Florida accounting professor from Clearwater; Stuart Stein, a Fort Lauderdale attorney; and Pat Dove of Tallahassee a Florida State University law professor.

Dieters Can Lose More Than Weight

DEAR DR. LAMB — My sister is in her mid-20s and has always been pleasantly plump. She decided to lose weight and in about a year she lost 40 pounds. I think she lost far too much. She is very thin now but says she feels fine. This weight loss seems to have changed her whole personality and what's more she has not had her period for about a year.

Many of her friends told her this is normal and even her doctor said not to worry. But isn't this something to be concerned about? I know she wants to get married some day and have children. Won't this affect her organs and perhaps make it impossible to bear children? A word from you could help.

DEAR READER — Since you didn't comment on your sister's actual weight it would be difficult for me to even guess if she has lost too much weight or not. Friends and relatives often react emotionally when a person loses weight, even when the weight loss is essential to improved health. You may be one of those people.

And you do not know why your sister has stopped having menstrual periods. She was correct in seeing her doctor about this. But you are correct that overdoing weight loss can be one cause for a woman not having menstrual periods. Fat tissue does serve an endocrine function in women. Ballet dancers or thin women athletes often have menstrual problems or irregularity.

This is only one of the many things that overdoing weight loss can do to your health. You'll be interested in the other things that can happen discussed in The Health Letter number 16-2, Dangerous Dieting, which I am sending you.

Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

menstruation that is actually caused by being too lean is a temporary state. As soon as the woman gains a little fat tissue and has a more normal body composition, her reproductive functions return to normal. So if that is the case with your sister she will be able to have a family like other normal women.

DEAR DR. LAMB — For 40 years I have worked very hard as a butcher. I'm 58 years old and he is a butcher, too. We both have a problem the doctor calls a protein fluid that settles in the right testicle. The doctor said I need an operation to close the bag. What I want to know is what happens to the fluid?

Where does it go? To the left side? I have it drained at least once a year. It is a very delicate situation. Please advise.

DEAR READER — You evidently have what we call a hydrocele. There is a sac-like structure around the testicle that looks a lot like plastic wrapping paper. In certain conditions two layers of it can accumulate fluid, like a cyst with the testicle inside the cyst.

It can be drained as you have had done, but usually it just fills with fluid again. The sac can be removed or closed. When this operation is successful the problem is cured and the fluid doesn't show up some other place or in the other testicle.

The smooth round swelling is simply a bag of fluid. It can get quite large, even 10 inches in diameter.

South won the club lead in dummy in order to lead the seven of trumps toward his hand. All this took no time at all.

East showed out and after long, prolonged thought, South conceded down one.

Just a little thought earlier would have given South his game and saved the long thought before conceding the set.

South should win the first club in his hand and lead a low trump. West could play low, rise with an honor, sing a sad song or do anything except defeat the contract.

Suppose that East had held all four trumps. Then dummy's 10 would lose to the king or queen. Later on, South would lead the last trump from dummy and take the proven finesse to win the game and rubber.

Suppose trumps had broken 2-2. South would lose one trump trick on any line of play and make five odd.

Suppose trumps had broken 3-1. South might well have lost two trumps instead of just one, but he could afford that.
